Jim's Jottings

Last spring Harold Houck, a cleaner in Lake Orion and launderer in Oxford, let me read a letter he had received from Grand Bahama Island. It stated he had won second prize in the Grand Bahama Really Open. 25 free trips of 7 days and 6 nights, all expenses paid from any point east of the Mississippi.

I tried to act enthusiastic, but Harold knew I thought it was a hoax. And so did he, but not to the point of tearing up the letter. He remembered he had played golf and filled out some form last winter when he played golf there. "But, I never broke a hundred," he said.

Anyway, he did win, they figured on a handicap basis, and I immediately became a much closer friend. So did some fellow league golfers, Garbet, Patterson, Buechler, Salswedel, Kastelic, Ruch, Phipps, Pickford, Baldwin, Gunnerfeldt, Sura, Bossardet, 2 Petersons and Fredericks. Others added were the Grant Houcks, Dr. Browns, a couple from Clawson and a couple from California.

Harold only invited men, naturally. Of course, he had to include his wife, Gerda. That was fine. But, soon someone, apparently not free to leave the homestead unmanned, asked about taking women and the dam burst. All the women went.

Up to this point it was all expenses paid. Taking a woman not only adds her room and flight, but they seem to have preparatory expenses that are exceeded only by the national debt.

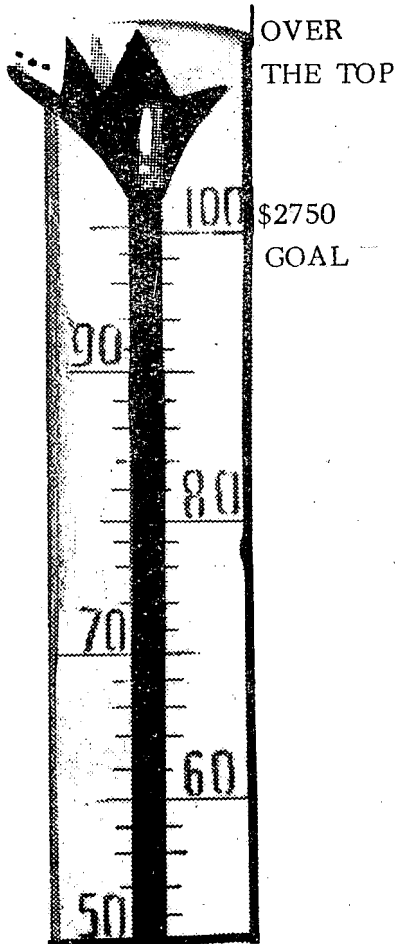

The bus being an hour and a half late in picking us up in Oxford didn't bother me as much as the sight of me being among 10 other men carrying his wife's wig box. A male beautician must have designed those things, knowing men would end up carrying 'em. What a way to get his kicks.

Flight smooth and great, the only trouble was that after a couple months of planning and reservations Eastern oversold the flight and 5, including the hosts, had to take a plane to Miami instead of West Palm. We had their luggage and smuggled it into Freeport.

We all knew each other, except for 2 couples, on a friendly, first name basis for years. We party together, play golf, hunt or something here, so you know we

Explorer Post chartered by Rotary

Formal presentation of the Charter for an Explorer Post of Boy Scouts of America was made at the regular Monday meeting of the Clarkston Rotary on November 10.

Representing the sponsoring institution was Dr. Gary Ushman.

The post, which will be comprised of 8 Scouts, all of Eagle rank, will specialize in scouting skills of first aid, pioneering, signaling, etc. Their advisor is Al Domrose.

The group will meet twice a month.

had a good time. As a stewardess said, "You'll all have a good time, but I don't care for Freeport. It's not a friendly or comfortable place."

And we did have a great time. It rained most of the time, but it was warm and I needed a bath anyway. Some lost a couple dozen golf balls playing golf. The roughs are jungle-like. Impassable.

I found the people wanting to talk. I didn't discover that right away, probably because of what the stewardess said. But cabbies, clerks and workers, Bahamians, liked to talk. They joke easily, they respond quickly, they were friendly.

Next week a few notes taken at random.

Crash takes 2 lives

A 4-car collision took the lives of 2 Highland Township youths on November 5. The accident occurred at Dixie Highway and Big Lake Rd. at 3:30 p.m., according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Joseph E. Borden, 16, of 3851 Hillcrest, the driver of one car, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital. He was the son of Joseph E. Borden, who is the proprietor of Joe's Sunny Service on Dixie Highway. Richard E. Mason, 16, of 253 Center, a passenger in the car, died at 7:10 p.m. Both boys were students at Milford High School.

According to deputies, the 2 boys were traveling north on Dixie Highway, when the driver apparently lost control of the car, causing them to veer into the path of 3 oncoming cars in the southbound lane.

The occupants of the 3 cars were Cathy Jo Moore, 18, of 8660 Big Lake Rd., John M. Smith, 27, of 8674 Big Lake Rd. and Gale P. Calhoun, 44, of 40000 Grand River, Novi.

Deputies reported that none of the 3 was injured.

Authority ready to work on sewers

The utility Authority formed by Independence and Pontiac Townships is now ready to do business. This week officers were elected, thus getting all the preliminaries out of the way.

Walter Smith of Pontiac Township's Board was named chairman and Howard Altman, Independence clerk, was elected vice chairman. Attorney Paul Mandel was elected secretary and Norman Daniels will serve as treasurer. The latter two need not be township officials.

A budget for the Authority was approved; however, this will also have to be approved by the township boards.

Altman said there was a special reason for having Mandel on the board. "Because of our inexperience in matters of an Authority Mandel will give us direction and legal counsel," Altman explained.

The Authority was formed to give residents of the two townships, or others who might join, a second choice in some matters related to construction of laterals in the sewer program. The other choice is with the county Department of Public Works.

Supervision and maintenance of the lines once they are in seems to be the main concern of the North Oakland Authority Utility representatives.

Altman said they would continue to invite others to join the Authority.

DPW studies paying township

The county Department of Public Works is seeking legal advisement on whether or not to reimburse Independence Township for a portion of the cost of laying temporary water lines to the Woodhull-Eagle Lake area.

When the wells of Independence residents in that area started going dry a couple months ago, township officials agreed to lay an 8-inch emergency water line from their wells to the affected people.

Township Clerk Howard Altman wrote the DPW of the cost incurred, $8,332, and asked for the county agent to consider reimbursing them for the portion of it.

This line is now open and serving the people still without wells. The water was cut to some homes by construction of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor. For some time after the water line was laid by the township the water couldn't be used because of contamination. It has now been clear a couple weeks.

Second row: Kathleen and Michael Glowzinski, Brett Kline, Matthew Coleman and Jay Noonan. Third row: Paul Glow, Ed Leichtnam, Kim Coleman and Elizabeth Place.

United Fund goes "over the top"

Mrs. Irma Sturdy, Independence chairman, reported that collections for the United Fund Drive in Independence Township have surpassed expectation and gone over the goal that was set.

On Monday, November 10, according to Mrs. Henry Kline, publicity chairman, $2823 or 102.6% had been received. More money had been collected but had not been officially registered and tabulated, so was not included in the report.

Over 6,000 people in the Independence area were served this year by PAUF Agencies. The PAUF also contributed $1,575 toward the Independence Citizens' Recreation Committee.

Mrs. Vincent Bronsing of Thendara Drive heads this year's community division.

Teachers-Board cool heels

Attorneys delay contract agreement

Thomas Brown, president of the Clarkston Education Assn. (CEA), in a letter to the Board of Education, expressed concern over the delay in finalizing the contract between the CEA and the Clarkston Board of Education. According to Mr. Brown, a meeting of the teachers has been scheduled for November 21 to discuss alternative actions that may lead to a final settlement.

Dr. Leslie Greene, Superintendent, explained that the delay is being caused by the inability of the attorneys, Charles Keller and Harvey Wax, to concur on the intricacies of the wording of the final agreement. He explained that he felt confident that they would solve the problem by the week's end.

Fernando Sanchez was appointed to represent the Board of Education on the Tenure Committee.

The Board voted to again hire James E. Moore as auditor. Mr. Moore has acted in this capacity for the past 20 years.

Howard Bliss was granted his request to use the Sashabaw Jr. High School gym twice each month to conduct a recreation program for Boy Scout Troop 105.

On the recommendation of the administration, Raymond Cooper was granted tenure.

In further action, the Youth Assistance Committee was granted permission to investigate the practicality of providing films on drug addiction to 4th and 5th grade students.

The permission was granted with special stipulations. Films would first be previewed and approved by the committee, faculty and parents before they would be shown to the children. Children would be required to have written permission from their parents before being permitted to see the films.

A contract between the head custodians and the Board of Education was approved. The contract was basically the same as last year's contract except for the salary figure.

The custodians had worked previously on an annual salary. The new contract called for a change to an hourly rate.

Head custodians in the elementary buildings will be paid $3.68 per hour, a 7.7% increase over last year. At the secondary level, the rate was established at $3.88 or a 12% increase.

The contract assured the building supervisors 17% pay over that of their staff. It permitted 12 days' sick leave and Blue Cross health insurance is to be provided by the Board of Education. After 10 years' service, 3 weeks' vacation will be granted.

A grievance that was filed by Lola Bliss, a bus driver, was discussed and tabled for further study. Mrs. Bliss was informed that she would receive a written decision on the Board's action within 2 weeks.

Supervisor Duane Hursfall asked the board members to think about giving township employes a 4-week vacation after 15 years of service to the township. They presently get 3 weeks after 10 years. The matter will be brought up again.

Short-sighted proposal

Practically everyone agrees that our jerry-built national tax structure needs an overhaul. But practically no one agrees on just what should be changed.

Admidst all the clamor, however, one fundamental truth is plain. Any sound and equitable tax reform proposal must consider what is good for the American economy as a whole.

Surely existing capital gains tax laws benefit the economy by encouraging individual risk takers to pump savings into the system. Risk capital finances a large percentage of the new factories, the new products and the new equipment that mean new and better jobs.

It isn't surprising that such booming industrial nations as Canada, West Germany and Japan don't tax capital gains at all. They recognize the fact that an economy cannot progress without a constant supply of venture money.

Yet in the name of tax reform, proposals now before Congress call for sharp increases in capital gains taxes. By extending the holding period from six months to a year and raising the rate, Congress may well diminish the incentives people have for investing, for putting their money into the real growth of the country.

Of course, there are many needs for revisions in the tax structure. But any proposal that may discourage people from investing capital in overall growth is not only short-sighted — but dangerously short-sighted as well.

Flags fly

The flags flying on Clarkston's Main Street this week are flown by the Clarkston Rotary to reflect community spirit and commemorate Veterans' Day.

By unanimous consent of the club, according to President, Lewis

Wint, it was decided to allow the flags to remain flying through the period of "moratorium" to indicate support of the government and respect for the men serving the country in Vietnam.

Silent sergeants hurt image

By Jim Fitzgerald

It's 24 years since I was an army sergeant but I still wear my hair in the standard topkick fashion, with most of my ugly skull showing through.

I was reminded of this recently when pictures of Sgts William Wooldridge and William Higdon began appearing in the newspapers.

These guys are right out of Central Casting. The photos showed only their few hairs, many stripes and brave jaws. But you can bet a 3-day pass you could cut your finger on the crease in their pants. They always stand stiff and bark yessir and nossir to officers. Back at the barracks, their beds are made so tight you could bounce a bowling ball off the blanket.

Such sergeants are made of the stern stuff required to keep America safe. They make Little Old Ladies feel secure and they furnish the raw material from which John Wayne fashions Academy Award nominations.

Soldiers like Higdon and Wooldridge are usually pictured on recruiting posters. But here they are on the front page and the headline says "Sergeants Take Fifth in Kickback Scandal."

Goodness gracious. Is nothing sacred?

Higdon and Wooldridge appeared before a U.S. Senate investigating committee. They are accused of having their meaty paws in Uncle Sam's pockets. It is charged that millions of bucks were swiped in a sweet racket wrapped around the operation of army service clubs in the U.S. and overseas. Given a chance to deny the accusations, the sergeants refused to answer for fear they might incriminate themselves.

They have a perfect right to clam up, of course. It is one of Titles are a big thing this year, at least when buying your new 1970 automobile license plates. The new plates will go on sale on Saturday, November 15.

Motorists will be required for the first time in 5 years to bring their car titles when purchasing their plates. This is to update Secretary of State records which are being computerized.

In addition to the vehicle title, motorists will be required to supply a license application, which most car owners received in the mail, plus proof of insurance.

Owners of commercial vehicles or trailers will also be required to furnish proof of the vehicle's weight.

All license sales will be made for cash. Checks are not acceptable.

Persons with proof of insurance must pay $1 into the State's uninsured motorist fund and those without proof $35, in addition to the cost of the plates.

The 1969 plates will expire on March 31, 1970, a month later than last year.

weirdos those professors are. Some of 'em even wear beards and carry signs.

All responsible parents raise their children to understand that the more hair a man has, the less likely he is to be elected commander of the Legion post. But now comes some crewcut sergeants to fog up our prejudices.

What's the answer?

Well, I just remembered why I bucked so hard for sergeant's stripes 24 years ago. It was so I could be admitted to the Sergeants Club at Camp Polk, La. That's where all the action was — booze, girls and gambling. I gained a lot of bad, longtime habits to go with my short hair. And my conduct has been somewhat suspect ever since.

I think I'll be a good boy, turn over a new leaf, and let my hair grow.

Heard at the Council

Bill Rausch of 15 Waldon asked the Council Monday night if they could tell him anything about the proposed gas station at Waldon and M-15. The Council said nothing had come before them on the station.

Rich Johnston, member of the Council, read a portion of the ordinance dealing with stations which stated a public hearing had to be held by the Board of Appeals and what proportion of the property owners had to agree to the change.

Rausch told the Council the property had been staked out.

Councilman Jack Hagen suggested to Rausch that "he keep on top of it or you'll find gas pumps there some morning."

Refreshments will be served so those in attendance will be able to eat right on the premises. The public is welcome.

Traffic and water from sub of concern to Council

Only a very small corner of Deerfield Farms subdivision, the former Ford Farm, is in the Village of Clarkston, but whatever the developers do in the first phase needs village approval.

The preliminary plan came before the Council Monday night. The developer's engineers, Howard Kieft Engineering, who also work for the village, presented the plans.

One of the exits from the property is within the village, running into Miller road at Holcomb. The Council seemed concerned at what this additional traffic might mean to village streets, specifically Miller and Holcomb.

The Council delayed action on the preliminary plan until their attorney, Jack Banycky, could work with the engineer and developer on wording a resolution that might give the village some assistance should road improvements become necessary.

Another problem, apparently created by the development of Deerfield Farms sub, is of drainage. The engineers have proposed a storm drain from the hill west of the village to a point west of the end of Miller. Here the water would be collected and a run-off pipe installed to carry the water to the Mill Pond.

Councilmen pointed out that during the July 4 rain there was heavy erosion of the clay-water mixture across yards on both sides of Holcomb.

Approval of the drain was granted pending the attorney's review. The engineers said they plan to start installing the drain within 2 weeks.

Plate sales start Sat.

New 1970 passenger car license plates go on sale November 15 in Michigan ... but everybody will not be able to get them on that date.

November 15 falls on a Saturday this year and individual branch offices will make a determination of whether they will be open on that date to sell plates to "early-bird" buyers.

The Waterford Township Branch of the Secretary of State's Office at 4520 Pontiac Lake Rd., which also serves the Clarkston area, will be open.

"We not only will be open, but are extending our office hours that day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to accommodate people who want to get their licenses at the earliest time," said Patrick Daly, who is in charge of the office.

"We hope that all motorists will heed our warning and bring their car titles and proofs of insurance with them. Commercial vehicles and trailer applications must be accompanied by some proof of weight as well. All plates will be sold on a 'cash only' basis as usual."

Remind hunters

It's autumn, and the stores are advertising shotguns and rifles, duck decoys and moose calls, tents and sleeping bags ...

It's that time of the year when the Michigan Heart Association, a Michigan United Fund agency, does its best to do the job it was organized to do—namely, reduce heart attack. So Dr. Edward W. Green, its president, issued the annual warning:

Please, if you are sedentary — a man unused to physical exertion — and you must hunt, be moderate and reasonable in the exertions which accompany it.

"Again and again, it has been demonstrated that men in poor physical condition incur an increased risk of heart attack — sometimes a greatly increased risk — when they undergo intense physical exertion.

"One thing you should do now is get an examination from your doctor and, with his approval, begin some moderate exercising," said Dr. Green, director of Cardiology, Children's Hospital of Michigan, in Detroit.

He listed some other reminders for hunters:

Don't run to duck blinds or after game.

Don't get chilled or overheated.

If you kill a deer, don't try to drag or carry it out yourself.

Don't stay out until you are exhausted.

Don't spend the night drinking and playing poker, but if you do, take it easy the next day.

If you have a heart condition or are taking medication, tell other members of your party.

Don't hunt alone.

Don't overclothe yourself; choose lightweight but warm clothing.

"All these don't's," said Dr. Green, "perhaps add up to another don't: Don't suffer a heart attack."

Mrs. Gwen Weston, secretary, has spent 13 years contributing to the efficiency and congenial operation of the Clarkston High School office.

Gwen Weston resigns

Thirteen years of dependable service and dedication came to an end last week when Mrs. Gwen Weston resigned from her position as secretary at the Clarkston High School.

Sensing the degree to which she would be missed, the teachers honored Mrs. Weston at a special coffee hour in the building.

A dinner at the Villa Inn in Lake Orion, which was preceded by a cocktail party at the home of Mrs. Ron Allen, was attended by 24 secretaries from the Clarkston School system on October 26, to honor their fellow worker. Mrs. Marilyn Hanson and Miss Jan Gabier co-hosted a party for friends of Mrs. Weston on November 1.

To round out the expressions of sadness at her leaving and heartfelt good wishes to her in her new home, was the presentation of a gift by the Student Government at an assembly on October 30.

Mrs. Weston will make her home in Grand Rapids near the home of her daughter, Gail. Her son, Harold, lives in Indianapolis.

When Mrs. Weston was congratulated on her retirement, she said, "Oh, I'm too young to retire! And anyway, I would miss not being around school. I think that I will try to find a place in the schools in Grand Rapids as soon as I get settled."

Many more expressions of regret, and gifts to go along with friends' and associates' good wishes, and Mrs. Weston will need to hire a special van to move her possessions from Clarkston.

Clarkston Masons receive 32nd degree

Five Blue Lodge Masons from Clarkston were in Detroit over the weekend to receive the 32nd Degree in Scottish Rite of Freemasonry.

They were: Charles L. James, 5490 Oak Park St.; James H. Helvey, 6205 Sashabaw; James H. Sutherland, 6141 Paramus; Samuel E. Smits, 6607 Plum; Dr. Lonnie F. Moore, 8576 Clarridge.

These men were among a class of 565 Masons from Michigan's 11 southeastern Michigan counties to receive the honor.

The class, biggest in more than 12 years, was named in memory of the late Circuit Judge, James R. Breakey of Ann Arbor, who died in April of this year.

Judge Breakey, a 33rd Degree Mason, was a Past Commander-in-Chief of the Detroit Consistory of Scottish Rite.

The two-day reunion ended Saturday evening with the traditional 32nd Degree banquet in the Fountain Ballroom in which some 1800 Masons were in attendance. Judge David C. Vokes, Commander-in-Chief of the Detroit Consistory was the speaker.

Counties represented in the Detroit Jurisdiction are Branch, Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawée, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne.

WSCS readies "Holiday Bazaar"

The Women's Society of the Clarkston United Methodist Church is busy getting ready for its annual "Holiday Bazaar" to be held November 21 from 9:30 to 7:30. In addition to their many colorful booths of bazaar items, they will also serve a luncheon between 11:00 and 1:00 and dinner between 5:00 and 7:00.

For the past several years, the Women's Society has been making this an annual affair and are fortunate this year in having the new expanded facilities of the Methodist Church. They wish to extend an invitation to everyone to come and see their festive displays and have lunch or dinner on November 21 at the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Strep

Rheumatic fever most often strikes children between the ages of five and 15 years, and often leaves a damaged or impaired heart. Research has disclosed that the fever is preceded, in most cases, by a sore ("strep") throat.

When a child complains of this and is taken to a doctor, the area of the sore throat is swabbed. The doctor may not tell the parent that he suspects a strep infection, but he obtains a culture from most of the sore throats that he sees, just to be safe.

The swab is mailed in a special kit to a laboratory, where it is examined for streptococci. If the culture is "positive," the laboratory notifies the doctor immediately — sometimes by phone. Other tests must then be made to rule out other diseases, but full diagnosis is usually quite rapid.

Treatment of the infection can then begin immediately, to prevent the usual inflammation of the joints, heart muscles and valves, which usually follow about two weeks after the sore throat disappears.

A variety of drugs has been found useful in treating the many steps of rheumatic fever, but if caught early enough, the disease no longer presents the continued threat it once did.

Prompt therapy is essential, so don't take a chance with your youngsters' sore throats — make sure your doctor sees them in time to swab their throats for possible strep infection.

J.S. Eliot's play at Meadow Brook

Malcolm Morrison will direct the Meadow Brook Theatre's second production of the current season, T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party," which will open a three week run at Oakland University on Thursday, November 13 at 8:15 p.m. The comedy will re-open a seven performance run at the Detroit Institute of Arts on Wednesday, December 3 at 2:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Morrison, a faculty member of the Academy of Dramatic Art at Oakland University, has directed several plays in his native England.

Director Morrison describes "The Cocktail Party" as "one of Eliot's greatest works and one of the theatre's enduring masterpieces. The verse easily conveys the changing rhythms and the attitudes of the characters, as they challenge their own beliefs, showing us the inner struggle of people trying to find a purpose for their existence — which most of us will recognize as being all too familiar."

Tickets for "The Cocktail Party" are available now at all Hudsons', the Meadow Brook Theatre Box Office, the Detroit Institute of Arts Box Office, call 962-0353, 832-2730 or 377-2700.

The remaining performances of "The American Dream" and "Black Comedy" at Oakland University are sold out, but tickets for these two comedies at the Detroit Institute of Arts are available for some performances. "The American Dream" and "Black Comedy" will open a seven-performance run at the Detroit Institute on Wednesday, November 5 at 2:15 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Graduate

Mary L. Coulson of Perry Lake road and Robert L. McCarrick of Middle Lake road were among 455 students who were candidates for degrees in the October graduating class at Central Michigan University.

Those successfully completing requirements will receive their degrees immediately and may take part in commencement exercises next January on campus.

Who could think of refurnacing
at a time like this?

Seems like a funny time to talk about replacing a furnace, huh? Actually, warm weather's the best time to make home repairs. Like replacing a cranky old heating system with modern electric heat.

And now's an especially good time to convert. Right now, your Edison-Approved Electric Heat Contractor will give you $100 for your old heating system when you change to electric heat.

Why electric heat? It's comfortable—really comfortable. No chill one moment nor blast of hot, dry air the next.

And operating cost is guaranteed. Call Edison for details, and some names of Approved Electric Heat Contractors.

So if your old furnace won't make it another winter, remember now's the best time to refurnace... to modern electric heat.

Who's who in
"Charlie's Aunt"

.....by POLLY HANSON

Here are the results of last week's play try-outs.

The cast for "Charley's Aunt" is as follows: Stephen Spettigue, Alan Rose; Colonel Sir Francis Chesney, Jim Klark; Jack Chesney, Kirt Stalker; Charley Wykeham, Todd Vanaman; Lord Fancourt Babberley, Mark Taylor; Brassett, Kirk Peters; Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez, Polly Hanson; Kitty Verdun, Tootie Robinson; Amy Spettigue, Julie Wilford; and Ela Delahay, Debbie Merkel.

The play "Charley's Aunt" is a comic farce that takes place in England in 1892. It is Commemoration Week at Oxford University, where Jack, Charley and Lord Fancourt are students. Jack and Charley, fearing that their sweethearts (Amy and Kitty) will leave for Scotland too soon, invite them to luncheon so that they can tell the girls of their intentions.

Since it is not permissible for the boys to invite young ladies to their rooms unchaperoned, Charley and Jack need to find a chaperon. When they learn that Charley's aunt from Brazil is coming to visit, they think that all of their problems are solved. But alas, at the last moment, they receive a telegram informing that that the aunt will be a few days late, and so they are once again without a chaperon.

When Lord Fancourt is called upon to play the part of the aunt, the real fun

"HOW DO I TELL RIGHT FROM WRONG?"

Four factors need to be considered in making moral decisions:

1. Our own personal feelings and judgments are important. We must listen to our "inner-self." Our feelings and judgments may be confused. If so, we may need help in clarifying them. Our feelings and judgments may be wrong. If so, we should correct them. But, our inner feelings and judgments must be considered when we are making a moral decision.

2. Certain principles are important in making moral decisions. Some examples are: honesty, justice, sacredness of life, freedom, and love for our neighbor (most basic principle of the Christian faith). Not everyone agrees on exactly what principles are important or how they should be applied. There are exceptions to any principle.

3. Situations affect the way we make decisions. We have to take into account time, place, persons involved, history, and other conditions. What is right in one situation may be totally wrong in another.

4. Results or consequences are also a factor. We have to imagine what the effects will be for our actions. We are guided by the principle that we should act to bring about the greatest good and the least evil. Many people have conflicting ideas about right and wrong. It is up to each of us to draw upon the resources of religion, history, and our family. Then it is up to each of us to decide what is right and wrong, and to live by our decisions.

Twsp. building values take sharp rise

Building values in Independence Township more than doubled in October, according to the Independence Township Building Department report.

Though only 27 permits were issued, compared to 31 for September, the value of construction was increased over $350,058. One building, a chapel, was valued at $260,000. Even taking this one large expenditure into consideration there was an increase of over $90,000.

Other permits were issued for: 10 new houses, $256,168; 4 garages, $7,100; 7 remodeling and additions, $18,350; 2 swimming pools, $6,200; 2 storage sheds, $4,000; 1 filling station, $15,000.

Need proof

There's a special delight in cutting down your own Christmas tree and hauling it home to your fireside. Many Michigan residents traveling to the north country before the holidays, such as deer hunters, continue this nostalgic tradition.

However, transportation of Christmas trees and evergreen boughs is illegal in Michigan without a bill of sale or proof of property ownership. Provisions of the law are spelled out by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

During December, an exception to the law permits transportation of not more than two trees without a bill of sale, if they were legally obtained. Necessary legal forms are available from the Lansing and regional offices of Michigan Department of Agriculture, State Police posts, county extension offices and county sheriffs.

Girls win CAP award

Barbara Corey, Denise Corey and Beverly Moore are the only female cadets in the Clarkston Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol.

These three young ladies are looking for company — and help. Competing with nearly 30 male cadets in drill and inspections is difficult with only three of them in the flight, but they have managed to earn the Honor Flight Award twice in the last month.

They are looking for other girls in the area who are interested in aviation and aerospace subjects who want to get in step with the Space Age as CAP cadets.

Barbara is a junior at Kettering High School and Denise is a 9th grader at Mason Junior High School. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Carey of 3230 Warringham Drive, Drayton Plains.

Although Beverly is the youngest of the three girls, she has been a CAP cadet since January. She is studying her second Phase II subject, "Navigation & the Weather." She is an 8th grader at Clarkston Junior High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Moore, 6650 Amy Drive, Clarkston.

Join them at the Squadron's Headquarters, Terminal Bldg., Oakland-Pontiac Airport on Wednesdays from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bickerstaff gave a birthday-pajama party for their daughter, Ann, on October 31. Sharing in the fun were Melinda Ledbetter, Lynn Cooper, Mindy Widener and Cindy Lawrence.

We have heard of Christmas in July, but "Christmas in October" was something new. But, that is what it was last week when the children of Mrs. George Perry presented her with an early gift, a color television set. It certainly will be an added pleasure for Mrs. Perry to view all the wonderful Christmas shows in color, but must give her more warmth and inner color to know that she is held in such high regard.

Diane Hoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoff of Wealthy Street, is carrying on a family tradition as the 18th member of the family who has attended Northern Michigan University in Marquette. Diane is enrolled in the secondary education curriculum as an English major.

Child Study hear about First Aid

Mrs. Donald Cooper introduced the speaker, Miss Ruth Byers, an anesthetist at Pontiac State Hospital, to the Clarkston Child Study Group.

Miss Byers' topic was "First Aid."

"The first thing to remember when an accident occurs is the old 'Stop, Look and Listen' rule," she said, "and try not to panic. If you don't follow this rule,

The Skirts 'N Shirts Square Dance Club will meet on Saturday, November 15 at the Township Hall from 8 to 11:30. Refreshments will be served from 10 until 10:30. Western Square dancers are also welcome. Cost per couple is $2.25. For further information call 338-6353.

Word has leaked out that the contingent of Clarkston Jaycees and Jaycettes that attended the Treasure Hunt sponsored by the Lake Orion group had more fun than anyone else, but won the "Booby" prize. Congratulations to the Gusies, Wints, Kricks and Wiltons for their persistence.

Is it true that every time there is a treasure hunt Lew Wint is in the last group? Maybe he has a trophy case for booby prizes.

We suggest that Terry Kelley contact the Rotary Club. They are giving boots to children. Maybe they will have something to help him out.

more harm than good may be done." Miss Byers also pointed out that many of the concepts of first aid have changed in recent years.

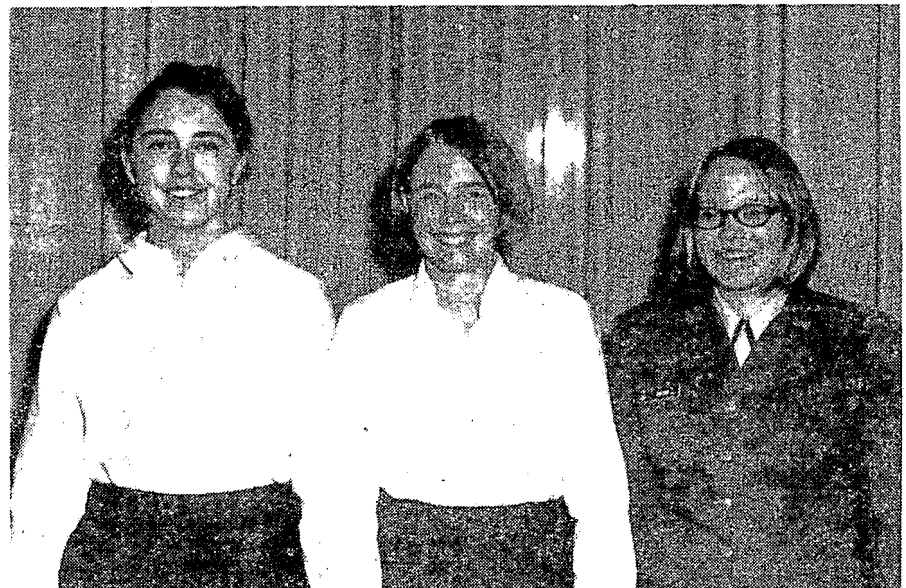

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Brumback on Church street. Mrs. Robert Beattie was co-hostess. There were sixteen members and one visitor, Mrs. Shelton George, present.

Chatham Club plans Christmas Dance

The Chatham Club committee members met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brook Bennett November 1 to plan their Christmas dance and to make tentative plans for the rest of the club year. The seven couples on the committee remind the club members that dues are to be paid by November 16th so that new members can be notified before the December dance.

Individual cocktail parties will be held at committee members' homes before the Christmas dance. Members will be notified through the mail as to which cocktail party they will attend.

Kutting Korners

by Jean Sura

The basis for one of my family's favorite meals is a simple dish called "City Chicken." I think that it is frequently called "Mock Chicken" too. This recipe has many variations but here is the way I prepare it.

City Chicken

(This recipe originally called for a combination of pork and veal. If veal prices are reasonable I use the combination, though I don't think that anyone can tell the difference. Usually I just use pork. I find that the best and most acceptable cut is a rolled boneless roast or for small amounts, just use pork steak. Fresh picnic ham or plain fresh ham are very good, but make more work in the preparation. Frequently I make the legs in advance and freeze them on a cookie sheet and store in a heavy plastic bag. This way I simply dip in for the number that I need (approximately 2 per person).

Cube the meat in 1-inch squares, cutting off most of the fat.

Place about 5 or 6 cubes on a skewer. (Skewers can be obtained, usually without cost, from your butcher just by asking.)

Dip in a liquid of beaten egg that has been thinned with a little milk and then roll in cracker crumbs. Bread or corn flakes can be used, but I am partial to the crackers for this dish.

Brown in a hot skillet. Season.

When all the legs are browned, add a little water, cover, lower fire and simmer for about an hour. Be sure to check occasionally, to prevent them from cooking dry. If this happens, just add a little more hot water.

Remove the legs to a pan and place in a warm oven. Scrape the skillet and make gravy by adding water and salt. Bring to a boil and stir in a smooth mixture of flour and water very gradually, stirring rapidly as you do so.

When the gravy is complete you can place the legs in a casserole and cover with the gravy and hold in a slow oven or serve immediately, either combined or separately.

Fried or baked apples or applesauce are a great companion for this dish.

Don't forget to call or write the Clarkston News, 625-3370, with your helpful tips and recipes.

221 traffic deaths recorded in State

Michigan traffic deaths for a sixth month in a row this year topped the 200 mark, as 221 fatalities were recorded for October, according to State Police provisional figures. The total was 25 or 10 percent below the all-time high of 246 set in that month last year. The October average was 222 for the five years 1964-68. Low mark for the month was 97 in wartime 1944.

The October deaths raised the accumulated count for 10 months to 2,022 which was 83 or almost four percent more than 1,939 in the same period in 1968.

Litter pickup expensive

Litter is not only disgusting to look at—it's downright expensive; and many innocent taxpayers are helping to foot the bill for its removal.

David Williams, a researcher in Michigan State University's Department of Resource Development, says it costs U.S. taxpayers an estimated $500 million annually to remove litter from streets, highways, parks, beaches, streams, and other public property.

"Recently, $15.5 million was spent in a single year to clean up and maintain national recreation facilities and sites administered by the U.S. Forest Service," says Williams. "Litter on Michigan highways costs approximately $534,000 a year for removal."

The MSU researcher says that by using litter bags when driving and litter barrels when stopped, Michigan citizens could save more than a half-million dollars a year that could then be used for improving the state's highways.

Mich ahead in snowmobiles, yours registered

The snowmobile season has arrived in Michigan.]

All snowmobiles are subject to a 1968 law which requires registration with the secretary of state and attaching (or painting) identification numbers to each forward side of the snowmobile.

"There are two exceptions to this law," Hare explained. "No registration is needed for those machines used on the owner's property, or on lands under his control. And no registration is necessary for a snowmobile operated exclusively in a special snowmobile event of limited duration. This event must be conducted according to a prearranged schedule under a permit granted from local authorities."

Urging Michigan snowmobilers to register early, Hare pointed out: "Registration fees from now until December 31 will be $5.00. This fee will be scaled down to $3.00 on January 1 for the second year of the three-year registration cycle."

Growing popularity of snowmobiles in Michigan is unquestioned, and the number of owners has grown quite dramatically just in the past year.

"Consider these aspects of Michigan snowmobiling," Hare insisted.

"... Michigan leads the nation in snowmobile ownership with approximately 75 to 100 thousand snowmobiles. The Department of State has already registered over 70 thousand of these machines.

"... There are over 4,000 organized Michigan snowmobile owners.

"... Last year this state experienced 100 organized snowmobile safaris and 100 competitive races."

Calling for greater attention to snowmobile safety, Secretary of State Hare outlined the following suggestions:

1. Know your machine. Carry tools, necessary spare parts, extra fuel.
2. Stay on marked trails when on public lands.
3. If you can carry litter in ... you can carry it back.
4. Know ice conditions. Check thickness, know thin spots and old fishing holes.
5. The new owner should not go on his own. Stay with experienced drivers.
6. When in strange country, check conditions.

Unusual accidents plague road crews

Hot tar, chickens, Hereford cattle and 20 tons of dressed beef were on the menu for discussion at a recently conference of Department of State Highways maintenance engineers.

The subjects were prompted in part by a rash of unusual accidents on Michigan highways, including:

-Hot tar from an overturned truck spilled and hardened in a freeway culvert on Interstate 94 west of St. Joseph.

-A three-truck accident released a flood of lubricating oil and a load of white-faced Hereford cattle into 70 mile-per-hour traffic on Interstate 96 near Okemos.

-A load of plastic bags scattered during a rainstorm on Interstate 75 (Chrysler Freeway) in Detroit.

-Several thousand live chickens spread over a half-mile of Interstate 94 near Interstate 196 in Berrien County.

-Twenty tons of dressed beef dumped on a ramp of the Ford-Lodge Freeway interchange in Detroit during the late afternoon rush hour.

-Liquid wax from an overturned tanker spilled and hardened on an Interstate 94 exit ramp east of Battle Creek.

-A load of paint solvent exploded and burned on Interstate 94 east of Baker road near Ann Arbor, cracking several hundred feet of pavement.

All of the incidents snarled traffic from one to seven hours. Maintenance engineers are still trying to get the tar out of the culvert and alarmed motorists still report an occasional chicken at Interstate 94 and Interstate 196 in Berrien County.

Beware of your thermos bottle

Treat your vacuum bottle with tender, loving care.

According to Gerald E. Montgomery, Executive Director of the Safety Council, vacuum bottles are potential bombs looking for a time and a place to explode and a moment of carelessness on your part could lead to a lifetime of blindness.

As an illustration of the danger, consider the worker in Hamilton, Ontario, who was spooning soup from a quart-size vacuum bottle when the bottle exploded in his face.

It seems the metal spoon cracked the glass lining causing it to implode, then explode, sending glass fragments out the thermos opening into the worker's face.

One of the worker's eyes had to be "frozen" to remove numerous glass splinters. He also suffered cuts to his face.

The damage to his eye did not affect his vision.

The Council says the following safety guidelines for the home as well as on the job can be concluded:

Never insert metal utensils or other objects inside vacuum/thermos bottles.

Avoid sudden temperature extremes, such as pouring boiling hot coffee into a thermos containing ice cubes.

Handle with care as you would any other glass object.

Dead reckoning . . .

For the moment, victory in Alaska

by Don Lytle

The public is a mighty sword. Even the robber barons of the oil industry recently felt the power of a concerned American public who bombarded its governmental leaders in this case, the Department of Interior, the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee and the President—with its requests for the establishment of environmental quality guidelines for Alaska's oil-rich North Slope. Although the green light has been given to the Trans-Alaska Pipeline System (TAPS) to construct its 48-inch pipeline across the area between the Arctic Coast of the Beaufort Sea south to Valdez, a deep water port on the Gulf of Alaska, Secretary of State Hickle did not grant permission until guidelines had been established. Hickle said that the Interior now has "a set of stipulations which will insure that wildlife and ecology of the Arctic, along with the culture and opportunity of Alaska's native citizens, will be enhanced."

TAPS must build a pipeline that will be properly insulated or separated from the earth so that hot oil flowing through the line will not cause the ground to thaw (this area is all permafrost) or cause the line to sag or rupture. TAPS must construct its line within the environmental and ecological guidelines established from the research of the Interior's own scientists, independent authorities and from the Alaska public hearings conducted by the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee earlier this year.

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) will oversee the construction practices of the pipelines as well as the haul roads through the Federal lands. The BLM has directed the Secretary of Interior to "see that the full authority of your bureau is brought to bear to prevent any practices which might vary from the stipulations which have now been established." The BLM or TAPS will repair any environmental damage incurred, but TAPS itself must bear all costs of that repair.

Here are a few specific stipulations now governing the pipeline construction: "TAPS must have a detailed contingency plan for controlling oil spills and possible pipeline leaks."

"Pollution abatement controls — including those for sediment and silt — must meet established Federal standards for Alaska. TAPS must prevent harmful heat pollution, and may use no herbicides or pesticides not approved by the Department of the Interior.

"Except where the pipeline must cross a stream, the route must allow a 300-foot buffer strip between the pipeline and any streams. Settling basins must be used to remove silt where necessary to protect fish spawning beds."

"Passageways for fish must be provided where the pipeline crosses over a stream. In all cases the pipeline will go under the stream bed unless otherwise authorized by the Department. The line will cross beneath the mile-wide Yukon River."

"Construction may be halted to protect key wildlife areas during seasonal nesting activities and fish and game migrations."

But guidelines are only guidelines; their teeth are effective only in proportion to the muscle that moves them, the BLM and the Interior in this case. With these bureaus rests much responsibility. Men, and sometimes insensitive men, will be involved in all phases of the pipeline construction and policing. There are apt to be a few minor eco-catastrophes along the way, but FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY, ENVIRONMENTAL AND ECOLOGICAL GUIDELINES HAVE PRECEDED BIG BUSINESS INTO A WILDERNESS AREA RIPE FOR MINERAL DEVELOPMENT. This is victory, for the moment, at least. Certainly this is progress and reflects an awakening in the American citizenry and its leadership.

We have been asleep a long time and have trusted the world of high finance to maintain our environment for us. Perhaps this has been our mistake. We must be sure that in the future this public trust is never violated again; for once our natural heritage is gone, it is gone forever. We have effected controls over the development of Alaska's North Slope, and we can continue to do so as long as the American will rise to defend his beliefs that this "wilderness spirit" is an integral part of his spirit. God save Alaska.

apply the fertilizer. Which is a reminder that this is the time of year to broadcast sulphur phosphate over your flower garden.

EVERGREEN CARE

Keep your evergreens well watered at this time of year. They should go into winter with well watered roots.

BIRD FEEDERS

If you expect your feeding stations for the wild birds to be well populated this winter, now is the time to start tempting them with food. They form habits just as humans do, so teach them early that you are a dependable source of food. Your reward will be their cheery presence throughout the long winter.

TIPS

from the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club

FORCING BULBS

This is the time of the year to plant bulbs for winter bloom. No special soil is needed. Add a lump of charcoal to the pot and be sure to soak the clay pots before planting. Water the plants well after placing the bulbs in the pot.

Now place the pot in a cold room in the basement or garage, but make sure you have protected the pots from mice.

The pots may be brought in for forcing as soon as roots have developed to the point of coming through the drainage hole in the pot and the top growth shows indications of starting up. The time required will depend on the variety of plant.

It is most important that the new growth should develop slowly. Bring them into the light and the heat slowly.

HOUSE PLANTS

The house plants that have enjoyed a summer outside in the sun and rain should be returned to their spot in the house by now. Don't kill them with kindness and overwater them. Remember, the most common reason for plant leaves to turn yellow and drop is from over-watering. Only water them when they need it.

Feeding the plant may be your next item of concern. It is recommended that you withhold feeding all plants that have summered in the garden until January. This gives them a chance to become adjusted to conditions in your home.

ACID FOOD

A good acid plant food for azaleas, camellias and gardenias is made by combining 1 teaspoon of vinegar and 1 quart of water.

FERTILIZING

Remember - never put fertilizer on dry soil. Always water the day before you

Letters from Marguerite

by Marguerite Slater

Dear Jeanie—

Yeah, I do owe you a letter, but you see, I have a thing about friends and all that there. So when any of them are in deep trouble, I'm involved and for the time being I sidetrack all my world-gadding, disgustingly healthy bunch of friends such as you.

You said I promised to tell you about my paternal Grandfather, whom we once discussed briefly, so here's to Grandpa. Long may he wave.

He was quite a guy. He practiced medicine until he was 98 and died, for no good reason, at 104.

I don't know how my Grandmother put up with his Prussian disposition for so long. Maybe she just loved Prussians. As I look back at the two of them, they were as different as night and day.

She was a cute little wren-like gal, an early graduate of Darlington Seminary, and she met my future Grandfather, Henry, when he also was in Pennsylvania attending medical school.

They got married. Many years and 4 children later, after one of her annual visits to Michigan, she didn't return to Henry in Pennsylvania! She explained it every neatly: His practice was in Pennsylvania but she felt better in Michigan. You'll never believe me, Jeanie, but I was an adult and married before it ever dawned on me that they were "separated."

Everyone looked forward to Grandfather's month long visits twice a year. I've heard my father say many times that they never heard a cross word between their parents. But this is getting mushy; let's get on with the nutty Grandpa stuff.

Picture him when I knew him best: a very tall, slim man with jet black, dyed hair, goatee and small moustache. To his death day, he always had black hair. Do you suppose, Jeanie, I'm a throwback in as much as I make my hairdresser keep me an ash blonde?

You remarked one time that he must have been hilarious. He was far from hilarious, but his heavy-handed methods of solving problems landed him in ridiculous situations.

I know this dark secret only from my father, about the time Grandfather ordered by mail a new hair dye. When he applied it, every hair in his goatee, moustache and head came out a bright, glorious lilac. Undaunted, he simply went back to his old brand.

I don't know as Grandfather was so concerned about our being godly, but he sure was determined about being cleanly. Many times he'd greet me with "Have you had your bath today?" Such a scrubber he was. I can remember the racket he made while he was scrubbing several sets of celluloid cuffs and stand-up celluloid collars in a big basin of soapy water. The cuffs he attached to his shirt sleeves with metal clips. Believe it or not, they were called "cuff holders."

He was keen to his dying day. (No pun intended.) When in his 90's, I went to pay him a long overdue visit. He was reading. I stopped in the doorway and said, "Hello. Know who I am?" In his usual brusque rumble, he said, "Of course. You're Will's girl. Say, where are those two brothers of yours, still in college?" When I nodded yes, he finished them off with, "My God, they'd go to school all their lives if your father would pay their tuition." Some memory.

During one of his August visits to Grandmother and Michigan, he went with his family to their local Presbyterian Church. It was a beastly hot morning so the double doors were left open. Easy it was, then, for a huge hound dog to wander in, out of the sun. Hound dog moseyed down the aisle to where Grandfather sat with his hand and arm dangling in the aisle, resting on the arm of the pew.

Ol' Hound Dog stuck his wet nose in Grandpa's palm. Raising his hand, he gave the dog a powerful chop right across its nose. A chop from him would be a Dusey. (Doozie?)

Ol' Dog just folded his long legs and took off — not for the open front doors but, baying like a banshee, galloped straight to the front of the church and the pulpit.

Presbyterians, I believe, have a special sense of humor (that's probably how we can endure being Presbyterians) so it's easy to understand that the congregation became practically hysterical.

Guess what? Grandpa got up and stalked out! I've heard he happily stayed away from church thereafter. I've always assumed he just didn't want to meet up with that dog.

Whenever my father, who was a chip off the old block, would take an arbitrary, hard-nosed stand, my smart mother would say, "All right, Henry." My father's name was, of course, William

Best wishes to you,
Marguerite

New law-title needed to buy plates

If you plan to buy your Michigan plates early this year . . . commercial and trailer plates are already on sale and passenger and motorcycle plates go on sale November 15 . . . it will be necessary that you have your vehicle title.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said some vehicle owners have already suffered frustration because they have become used to showing their previous year's registration in place of the title. "Under a new law passed last year and which was made effective with this licensing year, it is now necessary to show your title along with proof of liability insurance, prepared or filled-out application, and enough cash to handle the transaction," notes Hare.

He said that because Michigan law for the past several years stipulated that titles be sent to lien holders, such as banks and finance companies, there may be some vehicle owners who still do not have titles in their possession, although these lien holders were obliged by law to send the titles to the owners by January 1, 1969.

So, he has urged that owners with Michigan financing check into their title situations right away.

He said he anticipated more problems with out-of-state lien holders.

"If you have a lien on your vehicle with an out-of-Michigan financing agency, all Michigan license plate branch offices have forms that may be filled out and sent to the lien holder requesting use of the title," Hare said.

The title is sent to the branch office making the request and after the plate transaction is completed, the title is returned by the branch office to the out-of-state financial institution.

Twp approves Ten-Hi transfer

With the approval of a transfer of license by the township the Ten-Hi Bar on Dixie Highway should soon be under new ownership.

Independence Township Board told the Liquor Control Commission they had no objection to Mr. and Mrs. Loy Limbaugh owning the tavern at 6761 Dixie Highway (next to Tom Rademacher's).

Mrs. Limbaugh, in her appearance before the Board Tuesday night, said they plan to remodel the building and upgrade it. The license allows take out as well as by the glass service and dancing.

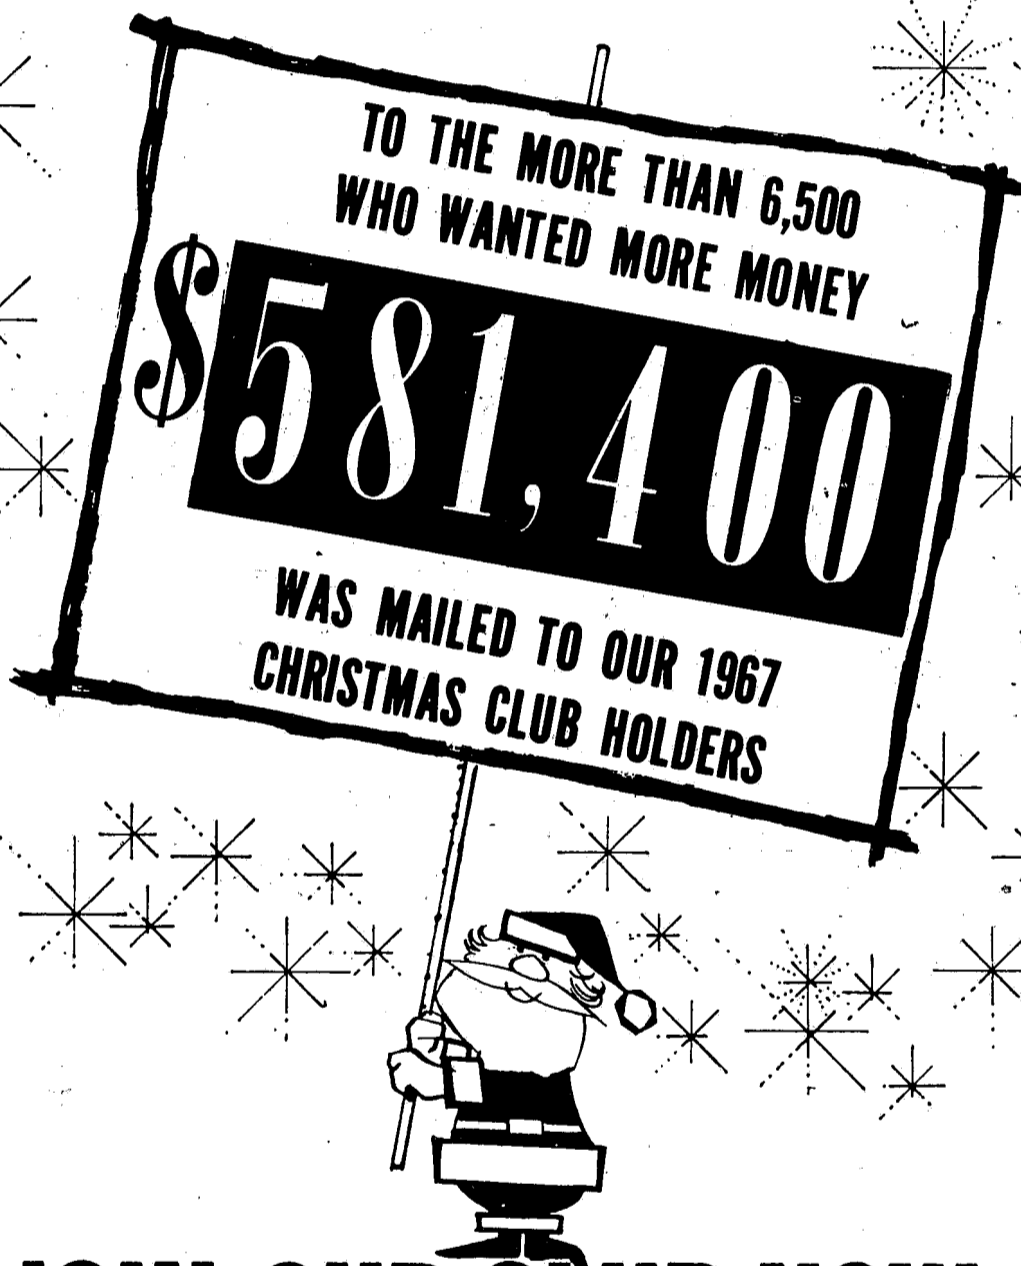

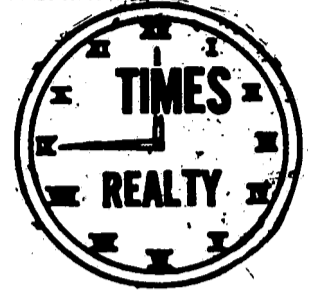

Joe Fodor is the present owner of Ten-Hi.

Hamburger is basis for many dishes

According to recent figures Detroiters eat over two million hamburgers a day in 1,364 commercial establishments specializing in 'burgers and in the 3,500 other establishments which have them on the menu.

"That's a lot of ground beef and doesn't begin to count the tons and tons of hamburgers mom cooks at home or pop grills on the patio. For years the annual consumption of ground beef has risen at a steady 5 percent annually. Recent beef-price hikes have jumped ground beef consumption to 20 percent.

Nutritional values of a serving of ground beef is comparable to nutritional value of any other cut of beef (with a medium amount of fat).

To help with the problem of serving attractive, nutritious foods, the homemaker might well spend several hours preparing the following Italian Meat Sauce "Starter" which can form the backbone of many meals.

TO THAW: Put container under hot water and let hot water run long enough so that contents can be slipped out. Or remove from freezer and let stand at room temperature several hours before using. Or remove from freezer the night before using and keep in refrigerator.

SAUCE FOR 5 DELICIOUS DISHES FROM 1 FROZEN "STARTER"

Ho hum— good show!

By Jean Sura

I have a crazy cousin but I don't suppose that there is anything very unique about that. Everybody has a few characters in his family.

When I say that Bob is crazy, I speak kindly, and don't mean to be derogatory. He really is quite a guy.

I got thinking about him last week on Veterans' Day. In our family he has the most right to be called veteran. You see, Bob was a prisoner of the Japanese for a long time during World War II, about 4 years. Surprisingly, when he was released he felt no bitterness but had extreme feelings of patriotism.

When in later years he was bringing up 4 children he went to great lengths to pass these feelings on to the kids. And so, it was a natural, being a Texan, that he planned with his wife to take the kids to the Alamo, the famous Texas monument, and let them feel first hand respect and awe for the pioneers of our great land.

The morning of the great, exciting day arrived. Carefully, Bob laid the ground work for the trip. The deeds and bravery of the men who had died were told and discussed in length.

As frequently happens in human planning, Arthur, one of the boys, woke up in the morning with a high temperature and a sprinkling of chicken pox or measles. It was impossible for him to make the trip.

With promises to dry his tears with mementos, souvenirs and first hand reports by the other three and the special privilege of a day all alone with his Mom, Bob and the other 3 kids started out.

It was a great day and they spent a great deal of time practically enacting the whole drama of the famous siege. Daddy Bob was in his glory!

When the day was over they drove back home in a high state of patriotic enthusiasm.

"Now remember," said Bob, "when we get home you can tell Arthur all about what you saw and felt, but don't say anything that would make him feel any worse than he already does about missing the trip."

"Okay, Dad," they agreed.

Arthur was delighted with the trinkets and baubles that they had brought him, but was still suffering slightly from envy when little brother Tommy solved the whole thing.

"You know, Arthur, you are lucky that you didn't go to the Alamo like we did. It took Dad so long to drive all that way that by the time we got there all the bodies had been moved away and they had even wiped up all the blood. It was just like going to some crummy old museum. I sure wish I had gotten to stay home with Mom all day."

Wolves close winless season

By Mike Saile
The Clarkston Wolves ended their 1969 football season with a 0-9-0 record. Last Friday the Wolves lost their ninth game to the Avondale Yellow Jackets by a score of 22-14 on Avondale's home field.

One big disadvantage that the Wolves, the Yellowjackets and the referees had was a large mud bog which sat in the center of the field. In one play, Rick Prasil took a headfirst dive and ended up covered with mud. Coach Rakow stated, "We did better in our last game than in any other game of the season."

Clarkston scored the first touchdown of the game within three minutes of play. O. J. Bullard, No. 40, crashed through the Yellow Jackets' defense for the td. Mark Walter came through on a run and scored the extra two points.

Then Avondale hit back, scoring their first touchdown and also picked up the extra points. The score stood at 8-8.

In the second quarter, Avondale again came on strong and marked up another touchdown with two extra points on a running play.
