Jim's Jottings

The most frequently asked question upon the return from Freeport, Grand Bahama Island, is "Would you go back?" I usually hesitate. There are so few places I've traveled to. Would I go back? yes, but not until I've seen more.

There are extenuating circumstances. However, I don't expect too many like the one that took so many of us on this trip. After all, how many times does a friend win a week's vacation with all expenses paid for 25?

But, there is something uneasy about this island. It's brand new. Practically everything except the Bahamian huts has been built since 1963. To me there is something inwardly upsetting about congested tourist attractions anywhere, Michigan, Florida, or Freeport. Mix it with big time gambling and the uneasiness spreads.

Mind you, now. These things didn't concern me at the time. We partied, shopped, played the part of the tourist to the hilt, including a straw hat. Paul Gunnerfeldt, one member of our group, mentioned something about us being the Ugly American.

But, home, telling about our trip and putting together some of the conversations, I am a little uneasy about the island.

A newspaperman there sat with us at Rotary. Later we talked. He said it would take me 2 weeks to tell you all there is about this island and what is going on. He mentioned something about there being shootouts at night as gunmen come ashore in boats.

There is a conflict between the Bahamian government and the Port Authority. It seems an Act passed by the government in the 1950s is haunting the government. They think they gave too much power to the Authority. The hinting of who the Authority really is was also scary.

The newsman mentioned that construction was dropping sharply and some contractors would sell for 60 cents on the dollar to get out.

On the flight from Freeport to West Palm a 14-year-old girl next to us, who lives on the island said, "You wouldn't believe what is going on there." Below us was a carved out subdivision, canals all built, ready for building. She said it (Queen's Cove) was stopped

Sue Griffiths named "69-70" Jr. Miss

Sue Griffiths, student extraordinary, poised and pretty, danced her way into the crown of Clarkston Jr. Miss for 1969 and '70 and a $600 scholarship on Saturday night.

Just a week ago she had won the distinction of receiving the D.A.R. award as the outstanding girl at the Clarkston Community High School.

Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Griffiths of Pear Street. Both Mr.

because they built the airport up to the edge of the sub.

A construction worker, on the islands for 4 years, 1 at Freeport, said he'd had it. Because of cutbacks in wages he could now make more in Florida, regardless of tax savings in Freeport.

One way to tell about Freeport might be to say that it is new and clean, but 2 out of 3 of the hotels we stayed in had leaky roofs.

and Mrs. Griffiths are teachers in the Clarkston School system. Mrs. Griffiths teaches 3rd grade at Clarkston Elementary and Mr. Griffiths is a 6th grade teacher at Sashabaw Jr. High. She has 2 brothers at home. Joel, 14, is a 9th grade student at Clarkston Jr. High School and Mark, 19, is a freshman at General Motors Institute.

The 16 contestants culminated 6 weeks of hard work on Saturday, when their day started at 8:45 a.m. with the round of personal interviews with the judges.

The judges for the contest were Mrs. Robert Eusele, Mrs. Diane Wright and Mr. Archie Patton.

With the completion of the interviews, the girls were honored at a luncheon with the judges and sponsors of the contest. The evening's activities started for them at 5:30 and came to an exciting peak when they demonstrated their talent and poise to the judges and an overflow audience at the Clarkston Little Theatre.

The routines that demonstrated their coordination and physical fitness were arranged by Mrs. Beth Ladd. Mrs. Marilyn Hennig and Mrs. Pat Osler wrote original words to the song that set the "Moon theme."

Tom Osler, who was the master of ceremonies, presented questions to each of the formally gowned girls.

Osler announced the winners: the judges' award for the most original and sincere talent went to Marcia Fahrner; the Jaycettes' award for the most outstanding talent, with the accompanying $25 bond, was given to Tammy Mahar; the runner-up, and recipient of a $250 scholarship was presented to Claudia Sawyer.

Miss Jean Lussier, 1968-69 Jr. Miss, crowned Sue Griffiths as Clarkston's new Jr. Miss.

Chairman of the entire pageant was Gerald Hennig of the Jaycees. Trophies were provided by Mr. Don Auten and the scholarships were donated by a group of 19 merchants.

Clarkston's Jr. Miss will compete in the regional contest at Holly on December 12 and 13.

29th Goodfellow papers worth more, 2 ways

For the 29th time in the 30-year history of their club, Clarkston Rotarians will become Goodfellows this weekend . . . selling Clarkston Goodfellow papers on the streets and shopping centers nearby.

Like all Goodfellow paper sales, the proceeds go to the needy. Among these Rotary Christmas projects is their shoe program. Last year over 50 youngsters were fitted to new shoes by the club, with cooperation of Jim Stiles at Clarkston Shoe Service.

The Oakland County Society for Crippled Children is also a beneficiary of Goodfellow paper receipts. Area families are assisted not only at this season of the year by the Clarkston Goodfellows, but throughout the year.

Paul DeLongchamp, a past president of the Clarkston Rotary Club, is this year's chairman. He will have the help of nearly every member of the club Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5 and 6, selling papers.

This year the paper is something extra special. It's an all new, special 8-page edition made up by the Rotarians with some help from the Clarkston News. Pay even more than you usually do for a Goodfellow paper. It's worth it . . . 2 ways.

United Fund drive successful here

The highest amount ever raised in the Pontiac area was reported yesterday, November 25, at the final Pontiac Area

United Fund campaign report meeting.

Although the goal of $1,240,000 was not reached, the amount reported, $1,210,926.50 was $122,809.99 over the $1,088,116.51 raised last year. Based on this, the Pontiac Area United Fund holds this year's record with the highest percentage over the amount raised last year of all larger funds in the state of Michigan.

Mrs. Vincent Bronsing of Thendora Blvd. was the winner of the 1969 PAYF Drag Race and was awarded the trophy for this annual contest between the divisions.

Mrs. Vernon Sturdy, chairman of Independence Township collections, reported collecting 126% or $3,467.00 of their $2,750.00 goal.

DAN FIFE

Fife hustles into Jr. year

"A hustling, 6 foot 2 inch junior," is the way the Department of Sports Information at the University of Michigan describes basketball player Dan Fife.

Dan, of course, is well known to Clarkston basketball fans, having starred here during his prep years at Clarkston High School.

Michigan's basketball season got under way on December 1, at the University of Detroit.

"We will be an exciting team, but Purdue, Ohio State and Illinois have to be considered strong title contenders this season," said Johnny Orr, who is starting his second year as varsity coach, "but we may surprise some people."

Fife, who received honorable mention for the all-Big Ten last year, will be playing at the guard spot. He averaged 12.4 points per game last year.

The team is depending heavily on the play of Rudy Tomjanovich, who made several All-American teams in his junior year. He seems to have shaken the effects of a back injury sustained last year.

Michigan's varsity rolled to a 112-73 victory over the freshmen as Tomjanovich scored 24 points and Danny added 16 for the Wolverines.

Mechanical mistresses

by Don Lytle

That deer hunters migrate north each November is an accepted annual phenomenon; that these same hunters rendezvous with mistresses—mechanical mistresses, that is—is a fact that has been hush-hush for the past couple of years.

A camp I visited in the western portion of the Upper Peninsula recently illustrates this amorous aversion. This particular camp had bad luck this year—no kills and only one shot fired. But the melancholia I was expecting was not evident; rather, a kind of child-like merriment prevailed in the camp.

This puzzled me until I discovered why—mechanical mistresses or snowmobiles, as they are popularly called, were parked outside.

After a long day's stand or sit or walk or whatever, fatigue dissipates like water on a hot wood burner as the modern hunter cranks his 438 cc's two cycle Hirth, hears the steady "vroom," sees and smells the small cloud of blue exhaust rising snake-like from the machine, and straps his gun on the seat trembling in wild expectation.

He roars out in a swirl of white powder in the direction of the cabin in a kneeling position (a type of devotion, I'm sure), leaning first one way, then the other way with just the proper amount of body English, around gigantic pines, by prolific numbers of birches and poplars.

The usual tiring walk back to camp becomes a flat out, competitive snow fantasy filled with laughter and the smell of the omnipresent gasoline. Quite a siren, a mechanical mistress is.

Back at the camp, the time-honored Playboy fold-out that adorns 93% of all deer hunting shack interiors, now competes with a Rupp or Ski-doo brochure displaying the trim machines at full throttle and airborne in glorious, sensuous color.

Even the men's conversation after their evening meal of beef, bread and beverage comes alive with the new sound of "cc's,"

"fuel-air mixture," "track alignment," "gallons per hour," or a detailed narrative of how one hunter negotiated his mechanical mistress through a dense pine forest at speeds in excess of 62.5 miles per hour and lived to tell about it.

After supper, the "quiet hour" before bed, traditionally the time of the poker games now gives way to an hour or two of communication with the frosty elements via safari through a farmer's back forty or the government's fire trails.

Each man and his mechanical mistress assault the unknown, doing their thing at full throttle. Eyes flowing from the cold air, cheeks rosy red, face cracked in a titillated smile, each hunter becomes one with his snowmobile, a romantic, itinerant Mackenzie or an aggressive A. J. Foyt making fast paces by moonlight.

The day's poor hunt fades away. The modern mechanized hunter with his love on a moonlight night—fun.

When just before bedtime, one of my buddies made a final trip to the machine to give it a final check, to tuck it in for the night, if you will, I was amused. But when he reached down and gave its imitation leather padded seat a pinch, I was just a little embarrassed.

I expected the mechanical mistress to respond by a movement on the tach or a flash of the headlight, but nothing. Real communication between lovers went on there anyway. (Whatever turns you on, I say.) I guess it all proves that hunting a diminishing deer herd can still be fun if not actual affection. (I don't know how the deer feel about this.)

SOME ADVICE to wives and girlfriends of deer hunters and of the other devotees to the practice of maintaining mechanical mistresses: beware of that machine your man makes off with on the coming weekends; it could mean real competition. I suggest you get yourself in good running order so you can do your thing by moonlight better than IT can.

Vroom! Vroom! And sputter.

A defense against Spiro

By Jim Fitzgerald

First the TV networks. Then the New York Times. Spiro Agnew is obviously working his way up and it is only a matter of time before he gets around to small-town editors. I plan to be ready for him.

Spiro says we writers are no longer free from criticism. Which sure shows how dumb I am. I always figured I was the most criticized slob in town.

At the country club recently, several merchants kept tripping me as I walked around the pool table. And under the poker table, they kicked my shins. They were peeved because I'd printed that they should have uniform store hours instead of each store locking the customers out on a different half-day. "Let's hang him," said a car dealer, "but not until he buys a round." Only my economical nature saved my life. Fortunately I had bought my round for 1969 the month before.

On my desk right now is a sweet postcard from a reader who really knows how to hurt a guy. He sends me an insulting note every week, which is bad enough, but he doesn't even pay the postage. The newspaper pays it. This clown somehow got a large supply of our return-postage-paid cards. You are supposed to use these cards to order subscriptions but this anonymous bird uses them to call me names. The latest message said: "You nigger lover. You want to raise a nation of half-breeds and mulattos. I'd hate to see your family. Why don't you wake up and wise up?"

I wasn't particularly stung by the snide reference to my family because I don't get along so well with them, either. In fact, they are my severest critics. My wife says I'm unfair to women, my daughter won't speak to me because I wrote she didn't play the guitar so hot, and my

Taxes then, too

Mr. Robert Seaman brought this article which he found in a Pathfinder Magazine. The magazine was a 1930 issue.

He thought it fitting for our times.

Taxes 1930

Tax the farmer, tax his fowl,
Tax the dog and tax his howl.
Tax his hen and tax her egg.
Let the bloomin' mudsill beg.
Tax his pig and tax his squeal,
Tax his boots run down at heel;
Tax his plow and tax his clothes;
Tax his rags that wipe his nose;
Tax his house and tax his bed,
Tax the bald spot on his head.
Tax the ox and tax the ass,
Tax his "Henry," tax his gas;
Tax the road that he must pass
And make him travel o'er the grass.
Tax his cow and tax his calf,
Tax him if he dares to laugh;

He is but a common man,
So tax the cuss just all you can.
Tax the lab'rer, but be discreet,
Tax him for walking on the street.
Tax his bread, tax his meat;
Tax the shoes right off his feet.
Tax the pay roll, tax the sale,
Tax all his hard earned paper kale;
Tax his pipe and tax his smoke,
Teach him government is no joke.
Tax the coffins, tax the shrouds,
Tax the souls beyond the clouds.
Tax all business, tax the shops;
Tax the incomes, tax the stocks.
Tax the living, tax the dead,
Tax the unborn, before they're fed.
Tax the water, tax the air,
Tax the sunlight if you dare.
Tax them all and tax them well,
And do your best to make life hell.

household, some young rebel wrote it on the basement bathroom wall."

That's just the type of thing Spiro was talking about. He doesn't believe in censorship by government, but he doesn't believe in censorship by newspapers, either. His scorn is for the news executives who censor the available news, choosing what to print and what to scrap. Some dummies call this editing, not censoring, but what were they ever vice president of?

The next time you go to the butcher, don't accept those lean pork chops, so neatly trimmed from the whole pig. Insist that all the discarded fat be included, too. Tell 'em Agnew sent you.

In the meantime, I am preparing my defense. My offense, as I see it, was taking a quote out of context and applying it unfairly.

So I am making a list of all the other dirty words on that bathroom wall.

smart-aleck son goes through every edition with a black crayon, circling misspelled words.

Geez, I remember once when I wrote that our churches were full of prejudiced phonies. The next day I walked down main street and so many people crossed to the other side to avoid me, the downtown area tilted.

But Spiro Agnew says newspaper writers weren't criticized until he came along. And from now on we should be prepared to defend ourselves, he says.

Far be it for me to argue with the man who is a breath away from this nation's top office. I might better spend my spare time praying for President Nixon's health.

But just recently, while in a rather giddy mood, I did write something like this: "The name of Spiro Agnew has now become a household word. In my

Miss of '68-'69; Claudia Sawyer, runner-up and winner of a $250 scholarship, and Marcia Fahrner, winner of the Judges' award for originality and sincerity.

While the crown is placed on queen Sue Griffith's head on stage by last year's queen, others are waiting offstage with flowers and scholarship papers.

Susan Griffiths, Clarkston's 1969-70 Jr. Miss, receives her trophy.

The 1969-70 Clarkston Junior Miss, Sue Griffiths, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Griffiths. The Griffiths live at 6606 Pear St. Sue has two brothers, Mark, 19 and Joel, 14.

Surprise, delight, responsibility

By Jean Sura

Lightning struck twice in Clarkston. It landed in the same spot both times. Pretty, poised Sue Griffiths, senior, second in her class scholastically, cheerleader and athlete, was named Clarkston Jr. Miss and received the D.A.R. outstanding girl award within 2 weeks' time.

How does a mother feel when a community piles these flattering accolades on her daughter?

"Well, of course I'm prejudiced," said Mrs. Griffiths, "but I did think she had a chance. Sue has worked hard at everything all her life. Her good grades in school are the result of organization and hard work. When she sets out to do anything, she throws her whole self into it."

"Even feeling the way I did, it was a wonderful surprise when she won the Jr. Miss title."

What does an 18-year-old girl feel when she is honored in this fashion?

"It was a great shock. It was a moment when I felt disbelief, excitement, happiness, elation. All these emotions seemed to hit me at the same time," said Sue. "It was wonderful."

Sue has received a tentative acceptance at Western Michigan University, where she plans to major in sociology in the field of education.

Is a young woman like Sue apt to lose her perspective with all these honors showering down on her in a brief two-week period?

"Who? Sue?" Obviously one of her brothers could be heard in the background. "What's she gonna do? She's gonna be a bum."

With brothers 14 and 19 who have an irreverent impression of girls in general and a sister in particular, it will be difficult to forget who she really is.

Clarkston's new Jr. Miss has a large responsibility on her young shoulders. She has a responsibility to the other contestants, to the D.A.R., to the Jaycees, to Clarkston High School, to her family, but most of all to herself.

Her responsibility is to prove these people were right in their selection. She has the responsibility of being intelligent.

Sue has the equipment.

What does a girl's father think when his only daughter is picked from all the attractive, poised and intelligent young women to be honored in this fashion?

Mr. Griffiths was not available for comment. At last report he was on "Cloud 9."

Dressing room fever is in high pitch as the word spreads that the time to make their formal presentation on the Junior Miss Pageant program is drawing closer.

Dear Sir,

Once again we come to the time of year that we give thanks to the Lord for the many blessings He has given us. We will honor His birth, with helping those less fortunate than we are. I am retired, but working for our missions around the world.

Will you be kind enough to ask your readers to save the stamps off their cards and letters, and mail them to me.

Also, if they will save their Christmas

P.S. We will collect papers all next year.

Thank you,

Report events at Co-op Nursery

Members of the Clarkston Cooperative Nursery met Tuesday evening at the United Methodist Church for their monthly parent education meeting. As it is close to the holidays, Mrs. Alma Goldner, program chairman, arranged for a work bee in which items were made to be used in the school, such as doll clothes, puppets, rhythm instruments, etc.

Field trips for the boys and girls this past month included a visit to Upland Farms in Rochester. They delighted in milking a cow, feeding animals, a hayride, and were the guests of the "farmer" for hot chocolate and cookies.

The four-year-old class visited a Christmas tree farm, where they saw several animals, including a hen laying an egg; climbed aboard a tractor; and were later treated to hot chocolate at the home of Mrs. Richard Marshall.

The children are also becoming "excellent" cooks. They made biscuits and their own butter one day in class, which they thoroughly enjoyed at snack time and even shared with the working mothers!

A 3:30 a.m. fire on November 26 caused the Paul Cook family of Hadley Rd. at Seymour Lake Rd. the loss of a barn with several head of cattle, plus hay and some equipment. Fire departments from Brandon, Oxford, Independence and Hadley saved another barn and outbuildings. Shortly after their arrival at the fire, Independence Township Fire Department received a call to a house fire at 4507 Major. When they arrived, the Waterford Department was already fighting the blaze. Damages to the house were estimated at $25,000 by Chief Don Beach. Ownership of the house and the cause of the fire is under investigation.

Choral program sets holiday spirit

A Christmas choral program will be presented by the Oakland Community College Chorale — Orchard Ridge Campus for all OCC faculty members, their families and guests. Families of participating students are also invited to attend the concert which will be held at the Orchard Ridge campus, Orchard Lake Rd. at I-696 on Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. in the Art Dept., L Bldg.

The Chorale, directed by Gerald Woughter, associate professor of music, will offer a program of traditional Christmas music followed by group carol singing. After the concert refreshments will be served by OCC faculty wives.

Faculty wives are asked to bring small unwrapped gifts suitable for children from 2 weeks to 18 years which will be taken to Oakland County Children's Village Donation Fund.

Loses control

Behind the Counter FROM KEITH HALLMAN

Warts
Cures for warts range from "the merely weird to the somewhat disgusting," it has been said. Your forefathers were urged to rub them with fresh lard, with milkweed juice, or with a grasshopper's "tobacco spit." Tom Sawyer believed that warts would be cured by burying a dead cat at midnight in a place where someone evil was buried.

Warts have been considered almost supernatural, in the way they come and go, but they are simply viral infections of the skin's outermost layer. They are not caused by contact with toads, but apparently can be affected by mere suggestion.

Warts most often occur on the hands, fingers, soles of the feet, the groin, and on the face and scalp. Treatment today depends on the location, size and number of warts.

One method is "cautery," by which the warts are dried up by sealing off the blood supply and nerve endings. An electric or supercooled needle are used in this process, which seldom leaves a scar. Sometimes warts must be cut off, or an acid solution may be used to destroy them. Corn plasters may soften the warts so that they can then be scraped off.

Some doctors have hypnotized warty patients successfully, and suggestion therapy is widely used. Dr. E. W. Rosenberg, of Memphis, sometimes paints children's warts with a harmless ointment that glows under ultraviolet light. This "magic" convinces the children that the warts will disappear—and they do.

Brains, poise, talent and beauty win

.....by POLLY HANSON

Clarkston's Junior Miss for 1969 is Susan Griffiths. First runner-up for the title was Claudia Sawyer. Tammy Mahar received the award for the most outstanding talent presentation.

Sue Griffiths is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Griffiths of Pear Street. Besides Sue, (their only daughter), the Griffiths have two sons, Mark and Joel. Along with being very active in school activities, Sue maintains a high grade-point average, placing her second in the class of '70. Sue's activities include: Varsity cheerleading, G.A.A., National Honor Society, Pep Club and others. Earlier this year, Sue was also chosen to receive the DAR award. In spite of injuring her hand last week while playing volleyball, Sue was still able to compete in the pageant as planned. As Clarkston's Junior Miss, Sue will receive a $600 scholarship.

Runner-up, Claudia Sawyer, is also an honor student at CHS. Claudia's activities include: Varsity cheerleading and Pep Club. As runner-up, Claudia will receive a $250 scholarship to use at the college of her choice.

Tammy Mahar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mahar of Miller road, received the award for the outstanding talent presentation. In her performance of songs from "Funny Girl," Tammy not only sang, but she also accompanied herself on the piano and organ. Tammy plans to major in music when she attends college next year.

Calvary Lutheran

The Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe

Who
Are You
Who is born
In the next room
So loud to my own
That I can hear the womb
Opening and the dark run
Over the ghost and the dropped son
Behind the wall thin as a wren's bone?
In the birth bloody room unknown
To the burn and turn of time
And the heart print of man
Bows no baptism
But dark alone
Blessing on
The wild
Child.
I
Must lie
Still as stone
By the wren's bone
Wall hearing the moan
Of the mother hidden
And the shadowed head of pain
Casting tomorrow like a thorn
And the midwives of miracle sing
Until the turbulent new born
Burns me his name and his flame
And the winged wall is torn
By his torrid crown
And the dark thrown
From His loin
To bright Light.*

Foul - Fowl

By Jean Sura

I really fouled myself last week — and that's not good! The three sisters-in-law in my husband's family take turns cooking Thanksgiving dinner. This year it was my turn.

"Why don't you all come here for cocktails and then we'll have a nice dinner at the country club?" I suggested.

I threw in a couple of sad tales about the plight of the working woman and how our family keeps getting bigger each year.

Finally, to prevent my tears from flooding the area, they good naturedly consented.

"Well, it won't be just the same, but we guess it's only fair to give it a try." They're good sports.

So on Thursday they all hooked up their sleighs and came over the river and through the woods, by way of I-75, to grandmother's house. Only, I had to share the limelight because great-grandmother and great-grandfather came too.

Now of course that was fine, but in my heady state of complacency at arranging the deal, I volunteered to have Wonder-grandchild III take his nap at our house while Dad and the kids put up a few more carloads of molding at the old dream house that is still a little rough around the edges.

The preparations I had to make for the gathering, I could do with both hands tied behind my back.

To make a long story short, Wonder III didn't think he needed a nap so great-grandma and great-grandpa caught me with my levis at half-mast when they arrived early.

Bathing a baby in the wash bowl, brushing your teeth, jumping into your skivvies while applying eye makeup at the same time is a good trick. We came sliding down just as everyone arrived. The college set were home in beard and maxi coat. All the other kids had grown from 3rd grade to high school in 3 months since I'd seen them. With no k.p. I could enjoy them all.

Our dinner at the club was excellent — only one kid coughed, one cried and the waitresses took orders while great-grandfather said the grace. Wonder child I had to go to the ladies' room during the soup and developed chills and a fever by dessert. Wonder child II goes to bed at 6:30 p.m. promptly. She sounded off like an alarm during the main course. Wonder III, with no nap, ate 24 bread sticks and fell asleep. The seven-year and 14-year-olds played chopsticks on the piano. They eat faster than adults.

We didn't dilly dally over dinner. One car load got the wrong directions for the way home and were lost for half an hour. But we had fun, really!

"This is a rotten Thanksgiving," my son said at 10 o'clock. "There's no turkey to pick on in the kitchen. And what's worse is — there won't be any pumpkin pie for breakfast and no cold dressing, either."

Well — Thanksgiving is all over. It was a noble experiment. Today is Saturday. I've recovered. Know what I'm doing today?

I'm stuffing a turkey and baking pumpkin pie.

Having fouled myself, I get a free throw. I get to throw this turkey right in the oven.

I'll eat away my frustrations.

Section 2

The Clarkston (Mich.) News

Thurs., Dec. 4, 1969 13

Golden wedding bells are ringing for Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hanson of Buffalo Street. The couple were married in Detroit on November 26, 1919. The Hansons have made their home in Clarkston for the past 16 years. Prior to that time they operated a fruit farm near Charlevoix. Their only son, Paul, his wife, Marilyn and granddaughter, Polly, will honor the occasion with an open house on December 7.

Around the Town by W.O.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Miller of Bridge Lake Road wish to announce the recent marriage of their son, Samuel R. Miller, to Kay Olsen of Pontiac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bailey of Rochester. The young couple will make their home in Lakeville.

The family of Mrs. Vincent W. Richard was disappointed when she didn't arrive as scheduled at their home on Cramlane. Mrs. Richard is visiting her daughter in Portland, Oregon and had planned to visit her son and his family on her way to her home in Great Barrington, Massachusetts.

The American Legion Campbell-Richmond Post 63 will have their annual Christmas Party for the whole family on December 14. Dinner will be served at 1 o'clock at Howes Lanes.

Speaking of the Legion, we understand that Vern Ridgeway and Cliff Miner are on the sick list. We wish them a speedy recovery.

WANTED: a lady who would like to write our Around the Town column each week. It can be handled very well from your home and would not require much more than an hour or two per week. If you are interested, call the Clarkston News, 625-3370 and ask for the Editor.

Speak vows

Mrs. Roy Annett of Dixie Highway announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Smith, to Caldwell A. Beattie of Clearwater, Florida.

Reverend Frank A. Cozadd officiated at the November 22 ceremony at the Clarkston United Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Beattie were attended by his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Beattie of Pontiac.

Guests attending the wedding from out of town were: Mr. Beattie's son and daughter-in-law, the C. B. Beatties of Washington, D.C.; his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hewison of South Lyon; his sister, Mrs. Edward Snyder; niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. John McClain, all of Bellefontaine, Ohio; and niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Learned of Pompton Plains, New Jersey.

A reception for the immediate families was held following the ceremony at the Club House at Independence Square.

After a honeymoon in Jamaica, Mr. and Mrs. Beattie will be at home at Independence Square until after the holidays when they will spend the winter in Clearwater, Florida.

Clarkston girl

Miss Dorothy TenEyck Wilson, a senior, at Lake Erie College in Painesville, Ohio, is a member of the College Madrigalists. The Madrigalists, directed by Mr. David Gooding, and the College Choir, directed by Dr. Harold Fink, will be featured in the school's traditional Christmas Vespers, Sunday, December 7. Miss Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Wilson, 8555 Clement Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bazany of Spring Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Marianne, to Charles Timothy Jockwig, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Jockwig of Balmoral Terrace, Waterford. Mr. Jockwig graduated from Clarkston High School in 1961 and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Michigan State University in 1966. He returned recently from military duty in Vietnam and has returned to Michigan State University where he is working toward a Master's Degree. Miss Bazany graduated from Michigan State University in 1969 and is presently teaching instrumental music in the Morrice School System. Plans are being made for a March wedding.

Soules to make home in Keego

Susan Marie Gallivan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gallivan, became the bride of James Vincent Soules in a five o'clock ceremony performed by Father Alexander T. Stewart at the Church of the Resurrection on November 29.

The bride chose a short gown and veil. The gown was covered with layers of white and silver netting. She carried a cascade of white roses, carnations and chrysanthemums.

Maid of honor, Jackie Lynn Paul of Union Lake, wore a gown of rose colored chiffon. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Robert Cram was the best man and Perry Buhl and David Anderson were ushers.

A reception was held at the Mountainview Country Club.

The couple will make their home in Keego Harbor.

Girl Scout News

Senior Troop 902 set up a booth at the United Methodist Bazaar on Nov. 22 and added quite a bit to their treasury and goal. They would like to thank the Women's Society of the United Methodist Church for the use of the chairs, tables and floor space.

Senior troop rededication has been reset for Dec. 10 at the Methodist Church at 7:00. All parents are invited to the candlelight ceremony, which will be followed by refreshments.

Presently, the troop is selling candy. It's only a dollar a can or box and Dec. 26 is the deadline. All proceeds go toward the troop trip to "Our Cabana" in Mexico in 1971.

On December 17 and 21, the sounds of Christmas carols may be heard in your neighborhood. If they are, it will probably be Troop 903.

Winter survival camping is Jan. 23-25 and co-ed camping is Feb. 7-8. More about that later.

Turkey is versatile bird

Turkey is no longer a "seasonal" meat limited just to holiday dinners, but it has been the traditional bird since the Colonists had their first Thanksgiving feast in America in 1621, and there is a plentiful supply of turkeys for our 1969 Thanksgiving on November 27 - and for the months ahead.

How many of you recall the first turkey you were called upon to prepare? The turkey took on unbelievable proportions and you wondered just what you were going to do with the "monster."

You simply forgot about your large wooden salad bowl when it came time to prepare the mountains of dressing - and at a time like this how could you be expected to remember that the broiler pan of your new range would also "double" as an ideal roasting pan.

The biggest challenge of all was having everything come out even - ready to be served at the same meal. Enough of the old - and on with the new.

Turkeys have gone modern and are now available in a size and style to fit every family. Your decision of which to buy depends on the size of your family, the number of servings you need, the amount of money you wish to spend, the amount of time you have to prepare dinner and the amount of convenience you desire.

HOW MUCH TO BUY

When buying whole ready-to-cook turkeys under 12 pounds, allow  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1 pound per serving. For larger birds allow  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  pound. With uncooked boneless turkey roasts allow  $\frac{1}{3}$  pound per serving.

In most cases, large turkeys are more economical and excellent for use in future meals, such as Turkey a la King and Turkey Souffle Sandwich.

COOKED TURKEY CARE

As soon as possible after serving, remove every bit of stuffing from the wish bone and body cavities. Remove meat from the bones. Cool stuffing, meat and any gravy promptly. Do not wrap tightly until cooled. Refrigerate, each wrapped separately and tightly, at 36 degrees to 38 degrees F. Use gravy and stuffing within 3 to 4 days. Heat stuffing thoroughly and bring gravy to boiling point before serving. Serve cooked turkey meat within 2 to 3 days after roasting. Small meal-size units, properly wrapped, may be frozen and held up to one month.

Never freeze an uncooked stuffed turkey or a roasted stuffed turkey! Cooked poultry slices or pieces covered with broth or gravy may be held frozen up to 6 months. When frozen not covered with liquid, use within 30 days.

TURKEY A LA KING

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped celery
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup finely chopped onion
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup finely chopped green pepper
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sliced mushrooms
 2 cups chopped cooked turkey
 3 cups medium sauce or turkey gravy
 Salt
 Pepper

Optional:
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sliced pimiento stuffed olives
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup slivered blanched almonds

Cook vegetables and mushrooms in a little water until tender, then drain. Add vegetables, turkey, olives, almonds and mushrooms to sauce. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Heat thoroughly over low heat or hot water.

Serve on toast or biscuits or on cooked rice.

6 servings.

TURKEY SOUFFLE SANDWICH

8 slices enriched bread
 1 cup diced cooked turkey
 2 tbsp. finely chopped pimiento
 2 tbsp. finely chopped green pepper
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup shredded process American cheese (2 oz.)
 3 eggs, beaten
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cups milk
 1 tsp. salt

Trim crusts from bread. Place 4 slices

The Clarkston (Mich.) News
 in greased 8-inch square baking dish. Combine turkey, pimiento and green pepper and spread over bread in dish. Sprinkle cheese over all and top with remaining bread slices. Stir milk and salt into beaten eggs. Pour over bread. Bake in slow oven 325 degrees F. 40 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

During the ship's fifth consecutive deployment in Vietnamese waters the crew visited Hawaii, the Philippines, Hong Kong and Sasebo, Japan.

Once Over Lightly

By Jim

There's a guy in town who claims he gets home only one afternoon a year, that one on the Friday following Thanksgiving... and he always watches a soap opera. He says he hasn't missed any of the plot yet in this doctor show.

Anyhow, last Friday the stars were giving a kidney transplant. This friend's son, who was watching the same tear jerker, asked his dad if he might share his kidney with his son if need be. Ol' dad says, "Son if you had my kidney, you'd be up 3 times a night." The son was old enough to understand, too.

Gene Sura, a former toiler in the administration of Lake Orion High School and now assistant superintendent at Anchor Bay, was looking for a tree cutter last week. He saw an ad and called the number. After telling the guy on the other end who he was, the voice said, "I know you. You expelled me from school once."

Gene asked if that made the price of tree cutting a little higher and the guy said no, that he reckoned he was older now and perhaps understood better.

"La Strada" was the worst show I've seen at the Fisher Theater in Detroit in the last 3 years. At the beginning of this season the management apologized at their first program for the previous season. I may have to go to the first show next season to see what they say about the current one.

But, the night wasn't a total failure. We dined at Joe Muer's, 2000 Gratiot. For fine food and great service this restaurant is tops in the city.

Kutting Korners

by Jean Sura

It doesn't seem possible, but here we go — we're into the busy Christmas season. Mrs. Richard Buechler sent me this recipe for cookies that will delight the kids. If you don't wait too long, until you are too busy, you can let them share the fun of helping to make them.

Painted Cookies

Combine and beat until smooth:
 ¾ cup soft butter or margarine
 1 cup sugar
 2 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Sift together:
 2½ cups all purpose flour
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt

Add sifted dry ingredients; mix well. Chill for at least one hour. Roll out on a floured board. Cut in desired shapes. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Paint with egg yolk paint. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, for 6 minutes.

Egg Yolk Paint

Mix 1 egg yolk with ¼ teaspoon of water. Divide among small custard cups and color each cup a different color with vegetable coloring. Paint designs on the cookies with small paint brushes, using a separate brush for each color. If the paint thickens while standing, add a few drops of water.

"I make gingerbread boys and paint their names on them. The kids love to get in on the act and paint their own," says Mrs. Buechler.

Sounds like fun. I believe I'll try them the next time I am babysitting, Bobbie. Thanks. And a Merry Cookie Christmas right back to you.

***

All that is needed to keep cut Christmas trees lasting longer and greener during the holiday season is a simple, proven household preservative made from 4 teaspoons of regular chlorinated household bleach, 2 cups of light corn syrup and 4 tablespoons of horticultural micronized iron that can be obtained from local stores. The ingredients are mixed with a gallon of hot tap water and poured into the Christmas tree stand after sawing off an inch from the bottom of the tree trunk. For the horticultural micronized iron, look for Green Garde. Get the supplies now so you have them on hand when needed.

***

Here is a tip for the Christmas shopper. Make sure you wear your most comfortable shoes, and treat your feet to a cool, tingling bicarbonate of soda bath when you get home. Spend a little time on foot care. Keep them happy so you can dance happily through the holidays.

by Haslett Hemmor

Old Eff figures that she follows a "live-and-let-live" policy. "If my neighbors fight," she'll tell you, "it's their business and not mine. If my friends don't make their kids go to Sunday School, she'll point out, "it's none of my affair."

Now this is really the way Eff believes.

Every time I've seen her "hands off" policy tested over the past 24 years or so, she's sure enough flunked the test. Figure that, after being married to her for near a quarter century, I can fair predict how she'll react.

Take the Lumpkin tribe, for example. Fourteen of 'em in all, there are. Whole passel of 'em - nine girls, three boys and Rudy and Nadine Lumpkin live in the old two room shack up there on Walnut Road.

Calling that shack a two-roomer is stretching it a mite. Fact is, there's a sort of a half wall that separates the stove, sink and refrigerator from the rest of the house. Doesn't even have inside plumbing unless you can call the hand-pump over the sink "plumbing." Drain from the sink runs out to a buried oil drum. Ground's usually a little soggy around the buried barrel.

Anyway, old Eff last year was chairman of the Garden Club Christmas Committee. Each year this gang of green-thumbers makes up grocery baskets and gifts for local needy families.

Now last year, the only needy family they could find was the Lumpkins. Rudy sometimes works as sort of a mechanics helper but mostly he decides his back is bad and he just lies around the house drinking beer. Eases the pain, he says. Most folks that know anything about the Lumpkins agree that old Rudy Lumpkin is usually feeling no pain. Nadine knows that Rudy is shiftless as a Model T Ford but she does claim that Rudy's back really does give him fits-sometimes.

So, seeing as how the Lumpkins are it and being that Eff is the Christmas Chairman, she calls on them to see what the kids can use for Christmas and to see if county welfare has made any arrangements about food and all for the holidays.

Eff knew Nadine Lumpkin from back when they went to school together. Guess Nadine dropped out after tenth grade and married Rudy. Worked regular then, as a young fellow, Rudy did. Changed jobs a lot but it wasn't until long after he married Nadine that folks started joking about Rudy the Red Nosed Reindeer.

Got so bad last year that about the only time old Rudy would work at all was when he'd make the rounds of service stations until he found one that would pay him two-three bucks for an hour or two of clean-up so he could buy a couple six-packs and get back home to take care of his back.

Rudy is pretty well schnoekered when Eff calls to check on what they can use for Christmas. Eff saw him stretched out on one of the cots in a corner but didn't say anything and didn't go in the house. Made the excuse that she had a cold and didn't want to give it to everyone. Nadine didn't invite her in, anyway. Eff told me that it looked like there was just about an aisle between cots to get to the kitchen area. She said there was a table up against a wall but didn't see how anyone could get to it. Kids milling around like a colony of ants.

Eff talks to Nadine a few minutes like she's just stopped down for a visit and then just says goodbye. No mention made of turkey or Christmas or anything.

Down she goes to see Father Dutton down at the parish house. All Eff said was that she talked to the Father for two hours about this and that. Only thing Eff did tell me was that she was told the Lumpkins hadn't been in church for ten-twelve years. Eff and I are Baptist, so we wouldn't know.

Well, upshot of it is that Father Dutton drives out every morning for the next three months to pick up Rudy for janitor work at the church, sick or well, drunk or sober. Father turned the money over to Nadine. Finally Rudy gets desperate and gets a job with the village. Worked out OK I guess. Rudy's been with the village quite a while now. Back seems to have kind of cured up. He's even planning indoor plumbing.

Like Eff says, she didn't interfere at all for even a minute, but whatever Father Dutton did and said sure turned the trick. Hope it lasts.

Christmas vacation starts Dec. 24

Children in the Clarkston Schools' Christmas vacation will begin on the 24th of December and school classes will resume on January 5, according to a spokesman for the school administration.

The slight shortening of the number of days' vacation was necessitated by the time lost during the teachers' strike earlier this semester.

A committee of teachers and building principals have reached tentative agreement and it is also probable that Easter vacation will begin March 27 and consist of Good Friday, the Easter weekend and Monday and Tuesday. School would again be in session on April 1.

Word has been received, according to Tom Brown, Clarkston Education Association (CEA) president, that the attorneys representing the 2 factions have reached agreement on the contractual language of the arbitration clause.

"Mr. Wax assured me that he and Mr. Keller have reached an agreement and that we would receive the finished product on Tuesday or Wednesday, December 2nd or 3rd," said Mr. Brown. "This would — hopefully — make it possible for us to get it into the rest of the contract and enable us to present it to the teachers for ratification by Friday.

"It has taken a long time and we will be glad to have the situation resolved."

Reminder-bring title when buying plates

Michigan motorists are reminded that they must bring in their vehicle titles when they go in to purchase new 1970 Michigan license plates.

"Our branches are experiencing many plate buyers who do not have their titles with them," said Secretary of State James M. Hare. "By law, titles are necessary this year to obtain plates."

Hare supplied a further checklist of items needed when plate buyers go to buy their plates. These are:

Filled out application.
Proof of liability insurance (P.L. & P.D.).

Money enough to pay for the plates and an extra dollar for the insured fee under the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

All uninsured vehicle owners must pay an additional $35 into the fund.

Hare emphasized that the $35 uninsured fee is not state insurance.

"These drivers are not covered. If they cause an accident and a claim is paid out of the fund, the uninsured driver must repay the fund for the total paid out because of his negligence."
