Jim's Jottings

Some people in north Oakland are so sufficiently conscious of garbage dumps that any word bulges an eye and strains an ear. Many know the idea of making part of any or all the townships north, east or west of Pontiac into a sanitary landfill is still alive.

John Leonard, Metropolitan's man in Lakeville, saw the headline, "Gigantic Rail Dump Proposed," in the Miami Herald Dec. 29. He sent it to me. Datelined Chicago, it says in part, "Tons of trash from Chicago, Central Illinois and possibly Indianapolis would be shipped by rail to a giant dump near Pontiac under a plan revealed here today.

"The proposed site covers almost 1,200 acres and could accommodate refuse for more than 100 years, according to the Pullman-Standard division of Pullman, Inc., sponsors of the proposal.

"The Livingston County board of supervisors will meet Monday in Pontiac to consider the plan for what the company calls a sanitary landfill. Nearly 1,200 acres east of Pontiac, on the Illinois Central Railroad tracks, have been optioned by Pullman, Inc. said John G. Satter Jr., county state's attorney."

I was as shook as John when I read this clipping. First I figured east of Pontiac was Bald Mountain where there's been illegal dumping for years. Then the Livingston county bit made me think the paper had goofed (some do) and out east when it meant west. This would bring in Livingston county. Property there was listed as second choice to Oxford in the original Metropolitan Detroit planners lump plans.

The hint of it not being an Oakland County scheme came in the railroad, Illinois Central. When I read the clipping to Bill Offer, one of the vice presidents in charge of vacations at Sea Ray Boats, he said, "Wait a minute. We used to have a boat dealer in Pontiac, Illinois."

My relief was greater only after looking in the World Almanac to find Pontiac, Illinois is the county seat of Livingston County, Illinois.

I would still like to know what the progress is in this dump plan. I don't know whether to send John Leonard to Florida so he can keep reading the Miami Herald or to call the head of the county DPW, R. J. Alexander. I'm sure he is watching his Illinois event with great interest.

Plan Recognition Nite

Postmaster retires after 36 years

Clarkston is losing its postmistress. Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk, after 36 years of dedicated service to the community, has announced her plans to retire.

"February 6th will be my last day," said Mrs. Ronk. "I don't have any definite plans or special hobbies, but there are a lot of things that I haven't had time to do over the years. I'm going to give them a try now."

The Clarkston Rotary, representing a grateful community, has planned a "Recognition Nite for Elizabeth Ronk." They have reserved the high school cafeteria on February 9 for the occasion. Members of the community, friends and relatives are invited to attend the banquet and program that will recognize and salute Mrs. Ronk for her past and present services to Clarkston.

"Many citizens have suggested that the community show their appreciation in a concrete manner," reported one Rotarian, "so we have asked Mr. Charles Robinson at the Pontiac State Bank to accept any contributions that clubs or individuals wish to make for this purpose."

"The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. and tickets are available at Hallman's Apothecary, the Pontiac State Bank, Wint's Funeral Home or from me," said Dr. Ernest Denne, ticket chairman.

Asks rezoning

Application for zoning changes to allow a housing development of major propositions has been received by the Independence Planning Commission. Involved are 611 acres between Crooked and Whipple Lakes, south of Oak Hill road.

Several hundred mobile home sites and several hundred apartments in multiple dwellings are proposed. Irvin Cohen of Detroit is listed as the potential developer.

The planners will have time to study the application, then have a public hearing. The earliest date would be some time in February.

Plan commission nix rezoning

The Independence Township Planning Commission voted to recommend that the request for the rezoning from Suburban Farms to Multiple Dwelling of the property on the south side of Waldon Road and west of Gulick Lake be denied.

About 100 citizens attended the January 15 hearing, many of them members of the Clarkston Gardens Improvement Association whose property abuts the tract.

The request for the change was made by Stelmach-Frome, Developers.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk

"I think the main objection to the proposition," said Mrs. Jean Bray, commission member, "was based primarily on the lack of sidewalks along Waldon Road and the resulting danger to children traveling to and from school. It was felt that a traffic and safety problem would be analogous with the construction of a multiple residence."

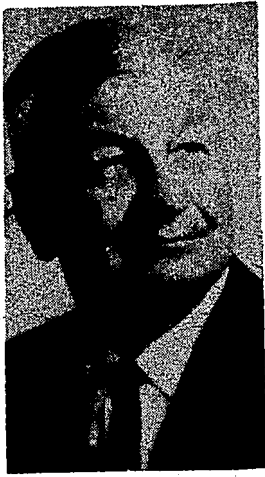

Keith Humbert, President of the Clarkston Garden Improvement Association, who campaigned against the rezoning said, "We feel that this is as it should be at the present time. We are sympathetic with the developers who have spent time and money, but we are convinced that there are better places still available for this type of housing without encroaching on our property."

The case will now go to the Oakland County Coordinating Committee for their recommendation and then the Township Board will make their decision. If the Township refused to grant the request the developers' avenue of appeal would be through the courts.

Nostalgia is Durgin-Park

By Don Lytle

One of my favorite civilized locations on earth has got to be the Boston, Concord, Lexington area of Massachusetts, the "birthplace of America," the "hub of the universe." And a unique eating place out there in Boston Haymarket Square is the Durgin-Park Market dining room.

In the shadow of Faneuil Hall, Boston's town hall in 1742, Durgin-Park boasts of a menu of extreme diversity but of moderate price. Almost greasy and definitely always crowded with a full range of crushing humanity, this shabby facade takes pride in remaining authentically Boston working-class.

The two-page menu includes: Frankfurt and Beans (cooked in stone crocks), New England Boiled Dinner, Broiled Tenderloin Steaks (they add that they are not responsible for any steak ordered well done), Broiled Shrod, Ipswich Fried Clams, Lobster Stew, and a hundred more main courses. Dessert and other garnishes include fresh strawberry shortcake covered with a 40% cream, coffee jelly, spruce gum candy and delightful renderings of early American standbys like Indian pudding (a recipe that is available to the public) and cornbread. This is food to win a revolution by.

These are served unceremoniously on time-worn tables of various vintages and shapes. The odoriferous kitchen, plopped unstrategically in the middle of them all, is about as subtle as LBJ's humor; but it gets the job done. Durgin-Park's unwashed, worn look is its appeal.

On the back of our particular menu was this poem; a kind of nostalgic thing with some lingering message in a generation questioning the survival of the traditional family. It is called "Just A Boy."

Got to understand the lad—
He's not eager to be bad;
If the right he always knew
He would be as old as you.
Were he now exceeding wise,
He'd be just about your size;
When he does things that annoy,
Don't forget — he's just a boy.

Could he know and understand,
He would need no guiding hand;
But he's young and hasn't learned
How life's corners must be turned.
Doesn't know from day to day
There is more to life than play.
More to face than selfish joy.
Don't forget — he's just a boy.

Being just a boy he'll do
Much you will not want him to;
He'll be careless of his ways,
Have his disobedient days.
Willful, wild and headstrong, too,
He'll need guidance kind and true;
Things of value he'll destroy,
But reflect — he's just a boy.

Just a boy who needs a friend,
Patient, kindly to the end;
Needs a father who will show
Him the things he wants to know.
Take him with you when you walk,
Listen when he wants to talk.
His companionship enjoy,
Don't forget — he's just a boy.

Durgin-Park is a place to reminisce and enjoy the nostalgia that the past always affords, whether via architecture, verse, event or cuisine. Wonderful old Durgin-Park, dedicated to a time when.

Caffeine

We often read about how "dangerous" such-and-such a drug is, if it's mis-used. The truth is, there's no drug that is absolutely safe under all conditions and for all people. Mothers know that even aspirin must be kept out of the reach of children who might swallow too many.

This is also true of many things we no longer think of as "drugs"—tobacco and alcohol are good examples. And now coffee and tea have been blamed for physical disorders, when drunk to excess.

For example, Dr. Hobart A. Reimann recently reported the case of a woman who seemed to suffer from a continual cold over a six-month period. She had a low fever and chills, couldn't sleep, and felt irritable. After losing 20 pounds, she was admitted to a hospital — where her symptoms disappeared within a few days.

Her problem, Dr. Reimann said in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, was that she drank up to 18 cups of coffee a day. This represents something like two grams of caffeine — twice as much as would be expected to produce mental confusion, vomiting, diarrhea, shivers and tremors.

Coffee and tea contain chemicals known as xanthine alkaloids and these, taken in too great a volume, can induce symptoms that are mistaken for more common illnesses.

Kaleidoscope of Collective Bargaining

Signing of a contract for 1969-70 last week ended 10 months of negotiations and brought a truce between the Clarkston Board of Education and the Clarkston Education Association (CEA).

The truce may be uneasy as both sides feel that they have made sweeping concessions.

It may be of short duration, for next year's contract should be on the agenda in a month or two.

The final solution to Clarkston's educational problems is not in the hands of the teachers or the Board of Education alone, but rests with all the citizens of the area.

Relief, in the form of a more practical basis for school financing, is in the machinery of government in Lansing.

This community should be bombarding their elected officials to speed up these processes and provide Michigan schools with the necessary money to operate successfully next year.

Few jobs are more vital to our nation's well-being than that of the teacher. Let's indicate our willingness to pay a higher price, but for quality material.

Let's insist the Governor's Aid to Education bill not be made into a political tug-of-war.

Let's indicate our serious intentions by holding our legislators responsible for shaping this assistance without regard for party politics but with high respect for the educational needs of the children of Michigan, and immediately.

Let's not wait until September.
Let's do it now.

Silence from Middle America

By Jim Fitzgerald

The Gallup Poll says Richard Nixon is the man "most admired" by Americans. He is followed closely by Billy Graham and Spiro Agnew, in that order (law and).

But Time magazine says the Man of the Year for 1969 was none other than you. Time is a paper for the middle Americans.

Where are you in the middle. Middle America is a vast area. It's the land of the heartland. We've got it all here. We've got it all here, they're here together, by a crummy fringe of weirdos, righteous Birchers on the top and grass-smoking hippies on the bottom.

So something's screwy here. How come the Man of the Year isn't the Most Admired Man?

Gallup only talks to Middle Americans (who do you think voted for Billy and Spiro, the Black Panthers?). Why didn't Mr Middle vote for him??

Maybe because, among our countless other virtues, we Middle Americans are humble. We don't go in for public prancing — except once a year, when Bert Parks is singing.

John Wayne and Willie Nelson. American preter John Wayne, who is here, to the thought. Cowboy. Our philosophers are Norman Vincent Peale and Billy Graham. We reject the crude charge that we are prejudiced against blacks.

"I'm not against all blacks," said a Mrs Middle from New York. "If they're halfway decent, who minds them? If you get the right people, okay. But not the families that come here." (If you are halfway decent, I guess, you are also halfway indecent.)

The idea of a US detour. Vietnam troubles the Middle. "We may find out some day what we're doing in Vietnam is wrong," said a Brooklyn Mr Middle whose son is fighting in Vietnam by the name of Sherman. "It's my country, right or wrong." (Time was unable to interview the son.)

The Middles are disturbed by youthful efforts to equate marijuana with martinis. We know that smoking pot can lead to worse things, such as heroin or reading poetry aloud. But what's the harm in getting drunk? (Besides, liquor contributes to bloody highway statistics which are happy to point at when saying there are more fatal things than the Vietnam war.) All hail to the 20-year-old judge in Virginia who, Time says, ate and a 20-year-old student to 20 years for a session of marijuana.

Time magazine has a theory that most of the blame for Nixon's Silent Majority, which may explain why the Middles didn't brag themselves up as "Most Admired" to the Gallup pollsters.

A young voice from the rear might well say that we Middles have a lot to be silent about. †

DSA to Don Cooper

Man from Bell 'Boss' of the year

By Jim Sherman

It didn't take Clarkston Jaycee members and guests long to find out how Lawrence M. Carino feels about television, student unrest and parochialism Wednesday night.

The occasion was the 8th annual Bosses' Night for the local club and Carino was guest speaker.

He is the editorial writer for WJBK-TV, "TV-2" he calls it, and also serves as vice president and general manager of the station. He appears each day on a newscast with an "Editorial," and he strongly favors all stations giving their opinions in such a manner.

He told the all-male audience, "TV is the most believable media and is the one people would least want to give up." He backed his statement with a survey result.

His opinion on editorials was that they encourage, even spur people to think. Regardless whether they agree or disagree, at least editorials get them thinking, he said.

He blamed campus unrest on "Soft hearted and soft headed" administrators and professors. And, he gave reasons for opposing parochialism. He compared it to asking public support of private country clubs ... their failure would cause an over-running of state parks by members unable to support their private clubs.

Before and after the introduction of Carino, some of the projects of the Clarkston Jaycees were reviewed and awards presented.

President Jerry Bradley called on officers to name 4 of the over 60 projects ... O-U swim program, Pontiac State Hospital kids snowmobile program, road racing event and snowmobile race of last week.

Certificates of appreciation were given to Sr. High principal Milford Mason, village president Frank Russell, Kelley Burnette, junior high principal; Jean Bray, Lakeland Tribune writer; Duane West, Rudy Swartz, Les Howe and Jim Sherman for support in various ways in 1969.

Named Boss of the Year was Elsworth (Al) Sage with Michigan Bell. Sage, whose home is in Oxford, was noted for his 20 years in Boy Scouts, past president of Oxford Rotary, 8 years as Oxford Fire Chief, and several more on the department, being a past master of Masonic Lodge 84 and several other achievements.

Don Cooper was given the distinguished service award. This is given annually to some man between 21 and 35 in the community who has done outstanding work and had extreme interest in others.

Cooper has been on the Clarkston Council since 1964 and is an unopposed candidate for village president. He's a Clarkston Junior High teacher and active in the Republican party. He, his wife, Sharon and 3 youngsters live on Washington Street.

Al Sage, right, was presented the Clarkston Jaycee Boss of the Year award by Larry Thompson.

Mike Haines, right, got the "Jaycee of the Month" award Wednesday night from Mike Simonson.

Mil Mason was one of the 8 winners of appreciation awards.

Cougars slay Dragons

By John Abbott

The Sashabaw Cougars won their third straight victory on Wednesday, January 7th as they defeated the Lake Orion Dragons 57 to 48.

Sashabaw had a lead of 6 points at the end of the first quarter, 17-11. Lake Orion never got within 6 points of the Cougars throughout the game. The Cougars led 37 to 26 at the half and 47 to 31 after the third quarter.

Top scorer Larry Miracle, with 17 points, did an excellent job controlling the boards with the help of second high scorer, Steve Ogans. Green, Recknagle, Crawford and Medlin handled the ball well and made key shots frequently.

The entire team showed great effort and teamwork in the game.

Jaycees Celebrate 50th in '70

Founders Day

Thursday, January 22, will be the 50th Anniversary of the founding of The United States Jaycees.

Founders Day will be celebrated in innumerable ways around the country as Jaycees pay tribute to Henry 'Hy' Giessenbier and to the men who initiated their respective local chapters.

In 1910, Giessenbier had a vision of young men being involved in their communities, and formed the Herculaneum Dance Club in St. Louis, Missouri. At that time in the nation's history, they were concerned over preserving more conservative dance steps, such as the two-step, and preventing the serving of liquor at public dances.

In 1915, Giessenbier and his handful of friends became the Young Men's Progressive Civic Association, in 1917 Junior Citizens, and upon the urging of the first backer of the organization, Clarence Howard, the Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1918.

January 22, 1920, marked the day of the first caucus during which The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce was officially formed, with Giessenbier to be elected President at the First Annual Meeting the following June.

At the time of the First Caucus, there were 29 cities represented; today there are in excess of 6,000 chapters across the United States, totaling over 300,000 young men involved with today's community and social problems.

As they culminate their 50th Anniversary celebrations from Jaycee Week to the Annual Meeting in St. Louis in June, where will the U.S. Jaycees be at the next 50 year mark, in the year 2020?

The answer to this million-dollar question lies in the last line of the Jaycee Creed... "service to humanity." Hopefully, the organization will still be performing vital services, in an even more unified and concerted effort across the country.

A major part of that answer lies in what local chapters are doing today in their communities... what a chapter is doing today to motivate and serve humanity... to respond to the critical human problems that plague the disadvantaged, disenfranchised, and disillusioned elements of the citizenry.

What the chapter does through second generation planning for an effective future, to prepare for the next 50 years, will determine where this entire organization will be at its 100th Anniversary.

The U.S. Jaycees represents a partly-tapped potential for significant social progress. It might be characterized as football team on the 50-yard line. There are 50 yards of experience behind, but another 50 lie ahead for creating environment for change through people.

Each individual Jaycee, the young man next door, who is concerned about his community's future, his country's future, is the quarterback.

Clarkston woman PAUF chairman

Mrs. Vincent Bronsing, of Thendara Blvd. took over the leadership of the Pontiac Area United Fund Women's Division Thursday, January 15 at their annual meeting, when she was elected chairman of the Women's Division board. Mrs. Bronsing will step into the position held by Mrs. William Wright, Pontiac, who served as chairman for the past two years. Other officers elected at the meeting were Mrs. Paul Gorman, Mrs. Thomas Follis and Mrs. Glenn Griffin, all of Pontiac.

A new board member from this area is Mrs. Vernon Study, of Warbler Drive and another member still active from previous years is Mrs. Richard Jorgensen of Bluegrass.

Mrs. Bronsing stated at the meeting:

"Working for one's own community, I believe is one of the most exciting and rewarding experiences anyone could have the pleasure of enjoying; especially in this decade of the 70's. We have all been acutely aware of the labor pains of the turbulent 60's. With the birth of the 70's we see an awareness on the part of the people for a commitment: a commitment to work for a better world. We all realize that a better world must start right here on our home front.

"We, the women of the United Fund, Women's Division will do all we can to achieve this goal."

Mrs. Bronsing led the PAUF campaign this year as the division chairman with the highest percentage of goal or 124.3%, which was $4,025.00 over the Community Division's goal of $16,548.00.

The total PAUF campaign closed with a late victory this year on December 22 with 101% of goal or $1,241,736.00.

A SPIRITUAL Message

"As for us, we have this large crowd of witnesses around us. Let us rid ourselves, then, of everything that gets in the way, and the sin which holds on to us so tightly, and let us run with determination the race that lies before us."

Hebrews 12:1 T.E.V.

JANUARY THAW

About this time of year there often comes the January thaw. The snow seems to relent and melts back to little icecaps here and there if it doesn't go altogether. Some years this thaw brings outright warmth in the air. I remember on a campus in Kansas in a year when the week of Christmas and New Year's Day was marked by a huge blizzard and people on campus were snowbound, yet in the January thaw a few weeks later it was so balmy that one hardy student who usually went in shirtsleeves regardless, took off his shirt entirely and sunbathed on the slope of the sunken garden!

In religious affairs we have tried to soften crusty Christians with hard labels by the experience just past of the week of prayer for unity. But such crustiness is hard to dissolve and the history of the Church as one put it, is the history of the stubbornness of man and the faithfulness of God.

Men are called on by the Hebrew writer to run with patience the race of life which is set before them. If things should be so cooperative as to ease up a bit at this season, then a man might catch his breath and be ready to go again when winter freezes over once more.

Churchmen of various heritages are slowly learning that the faith of our fathers is not so much to be defended as to be made use of to guide them through life. Of course when the faith is lived in this way it does meet resistance as the Biblical writer testifies: men through faith had to conquer kingdoms, enforce justice, receive promises, quench raging fire, escape the edge of the sword, win strength out of weakness, put armies to flight. But these men were of the breed who trembled so before their God that they never found it necessary to tremble before their enemies who would nullify the faith.

If we do get a breather this week let us use it not to quarrel among ourselves, but to fight the good fight and run the race ahead through any wintry blasts which come.

Clarkston matmen impressive this year

By Lou Lessard

The Clarkston Varsity wrestling team is continuing to prove itself as one of the toughest teams in the area. So far they have compiled an impressive 7-1 dual record. Their only loss was to a tough Fenton squad who has won 25 dual meets in a row.

Clarkston started the season by running over Walled Lake Western, a team that is now ranked seventh in the state, 33-18. The Wolves have remained undefeated in league competition by downing Northville 43-9, Clarenceville 36-20, Milford 30-21, Bloomfield Hills Andover 58-0, and defending champions of the league, Waterford Kettering, 23-22.

A note should be made here concerning the Bloomfield match. With 60 being a perfect score, Clarkston scored 11 pins (5 pts. each) and one decision (3 pts. each).

Head coach Rich Moscovic and assistant Mike LaMagna deserve a lot of credit for the job they have done with the team this year. Credit should also go to co-captains Jeff Quigley and Tom Jones. Tom, along with Al Knake and Virgil Martin, are undefeated in dual meets this year.

Clarkston is fortunate in having a well balanced team. They have enough strength in each weight class to come through when the chips are down.

An example is the recent dual meet with Waterford Kettering. The Captains were in front by nine points going into the last two weight classes. The Wolves picked up two pins, the last one coming with only 40 seconds left in the match.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News, Thurs., Jan. 22, 1970 9

This was enough to sneak Clarkston past Waterford by one point. This meet proved how tension filled and exciting wrestling can be.

The Wolves are expected to continue to prove themselves on the mats when they go to Brighton this Thursday. The program starts at 6:30. The next home match for Clarkston will be against Rochester Adams at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 5.

JC Travelogue shows Ceylon

Ralph Gerstle, a man whose filming projects have taken him literally around the world and even under the sea will visit the Rochester High School Auditorium Saturday, January 24, to present "Ceylon The Resplendent Land."

Gerstle lived among the aboriginal Veddha people of Ceylon during the filming of his presentation which is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p.m.

Keen interest in the world beneath the sea has lead Gerstle to film the magnificent coral reefs of the world. Saturday's audience will have views of the great coral reefs of Ceylon at this third Travelogue presentation by the Rochester Jaycees.

JCs give $500 to library fund

The Clarkston Jaycees last week presented a check to Mrs. Virginia Leonard, treasurer of the Independence Township Library Building Fund.

Presenting the check in the name of the organization was Mr. Robert Key.

The funds, according to Mr. Key, were voted by the Jaycee membership at their December meeting, to be used to buy some of the furnishings needed for the children's section of the new library.

"This is a wonderful gift," said Mrs. Leonard. "We estimate that the furnishings in the children's section will cost $1500. This is a big step toward that goal."

Dan Fife called "Mr. Steady"

Dan Fife, a 6-2 guard from Clarkston is again the "Mr. Steady" on the basketball team of the University of Michigan, according to Assistant Sports Information Director, Grayle Howlett.

"Fife can't be accused of grabbing headlines. His solid performance may stave off the opponents' rally and his play may spark Michigan to a win but the play of Michigan's All-American senior, Rudy Tomjanovich, is apt to overshadow Fife in the reports of the game.

"As a sophomore, and so far this year," continues Howlett, "Fife has been 'Mr. Steady'. Last year, in his rookie season, he proved he could play at a Big Ten guard position. This year, he seems capable of taking over the 'quarterback' duties which Ken Maxey left when he graduated."

Head Coach John Orr is one person who's not surprised by the outstanding play of Fife. "You know, you go to other places and you mention the name 'Michigan' and they say, 'Oh yeah, you got Tomjanovich!'" the exuberant Orr relates.

"But I want to tell you, brother, Michigan also has a pretty good one in Fife. Last year at the Kentucky Invitational he was the best guard that played in the tourney—the best guard—and that includes Kentucky's Mike Casey. I want to tell you, Fife does the job, but he's so consistent you don't notice him."

In 9 games this season Dan has scored 50 field goals out of 119 attempts for a 42 percent average. He has dropped 26 free throws for 66.7 percent. His average of 14 points a game puts him in the number 3 spot behind Tomjanovich and Ford. He has picked off 51 rebounds.

Basketball fans would be wise, when watching Michigan play, to keep their eyes on No. 24.

Of course to Clarkston basketball fans this comes naturally. They have been watching Dan for the last decade. Maybe the daily papers overlook his capabilities but in Clarkston people are apt to say, "Tomjanovich? Who's he?"

The Clarkston (Mich.) News

Thurs., Jan. 22, 1970 13

Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Ashe of Allen Park are happy to announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Louise, to Dale Laurence Fitch. Mr. Fitch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Fitch who live on Hummingbird Lane. The couple plans to be married on April 17, shortly after their graduation from Michigan State University.

Kutting Korners

By Jean Sura

I am still yearning for good, substantial fare. Guess I haven't recovered from the holidays yet.

The other day I made an old fashioned stew. We prefer beef but lamb makes a pleasant change.

I roll my cubed meat in flour and salt and pepper. Better yet, shake it up in a paper bag. Brown in hot grease. Add enough water to keep it from burning and cover and simmer until tender.

While the meat is cooking I boil the vegetables. I am as economical about the use of pans and dishes as I am in shopping, so I put the vegetables that take the longest time to cook in the pot first and then add the rest in the sequence of their cooking time.

My stew includes potatoes, carrots, celery and whole onions. Invariably I toss in some tomatoes too.

When all the vegetables are cooked I drain the liquid onto the meat, bring it to a boil and thicken with a flour and water mixture. Now add the vegetables. This way they aren't apt to get overcooked or mashed.

Here is an excellent spoon bread to serve with your stew.

SPOON BREAD

1½ cup corn meal
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1½ cup boiling water
1 egg
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
1½ teaspoon baking powder

Add salt, sugar, and baking powder to corn meal. Pour boiling water over all.

Cover and let stand 10 minutes. Beat egg well and add to milk. Add this liquid and the melted butter to the corn meal.

Pour into a deep earthen dish, (I have used Pyrex), well greased. Bake in moderate oven, about 350 degrees, for 1 hour. Occasionally, sprinkle a few tablespoons of milk over the top to keep it soft.

Serve with a spoon and put a wedge of butter on top of each serving.

Try this cake for dessert.

1 package of yellow cake mix
1 package vanilla instant pudding
4 eggs
¾ cup cooking oil
¾ cup sherry wine
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Mix all ingredients. Blend at medium speed for 5 minutes. Bake in a greased angel food cake pan at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Cool in pan for 5 minutes before placing on rack. Sprinkle with sifted powdered sugar. Serves 10 to 12 and keeps well.

I like to live dangerously. When I tried this recipe I didn't have any nutmeg and the only cake mix on hand was a lemon cake.

We were delighted with the results; a delicious, moist, lemony flavored pound cake.

ACCESSORIES FOR THE WEDDING RECEPTION. Cake boxes, place cards, coasters, cake bags, place mats, ashtrays, stirrers. All available with name and date imprinted. Come in now and place your order at the Clarkston News, 5 South Main, Clarkston.

Clarkston Jr. Miss vies for state crown

The Twelfth Annual Michigan's Junior Miss pageant, sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees, will be held January 23 and 24 at Pontiac Northern High School.

Clarkston's Junior Miss, Susan Griffiths, will be among the 24 finalists in the contest to select Michigan's Junior Miss.

Pamela Greenwald, Ortonville's Junior Miss; Jan Felt, Pontiac and Constance Crawford representing Waterford are also in contention.

A total of over $5,000.00 in scholarships and awards will be presented during the pageant. The winner will be crowned by Lynne Barry, 1969 Michigan's Junior Miss.

The 1970 Michigan's Junior Miss will be presented over $1700 in scholarships and an all expense paid trip to the National Finals in May in Mobile, Alabama.

Judging the contestants on physical fitness, talent, poise and appearance in evening dress will be Bonnie M. Coughlin, president of the Lawyers Wives of Michigan; George Thorndyke Dwelley, president of Pandora Products Company; Fred M. McEvoy, Director of Admissions, University of Detroit; Patrick M. Nowak, president of the Michigan Jaycees; E. John Rapson, Merchandise Manager of J. L. Hudson's Northland store; and Caroline Ann Roulier, assistant to the President of the University of Detroit.

Scholastic ability, mental alertness and personality will be judged in personal interviews during pageant week.

The Friday evening 8:00 preliminary performance and Saturday evening final performance at 8:00 will be open to the public. Tickets are available at the door.

Around the Town

Winter sports fans jog for joy

By Barb Humphreys

This has been the best winter we've had in a long time for skating, skiing and snow-balling. The cold weather hasn't stopped our youngsters from enjoying the many hills we have around Clarkston. It's great to get away though, and some of our neighbors head north for their winter fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman of Maybee road report the skiing is very good at Boyne Highlands. They stayed at their cabin near Atlanta recently so their son, Rob, and his guest, Ann McGrew, could enjoy the fun on the big slopes.

Daughter Nancy, a sophomore at Michigan State, missed the skiing trip, but was home last weekend for a visit with her family and friends.

Mrs. William Kickery of Sashabaw road has been driving to Pontiac General Hospital each day since Dec. 23. Her husband is there and is under treatment for a heart condition. She reports, "His spirits are good and he is showing some improvement, but we'll both be glad when he is able to return home."

Those little canisters are still waiting for more Betty Crocker coupons. The Michigan Jaycees have collected 47,222 coupons so far, which have purchased 6 kidney machines. The canisters are located in the schools, and the businesses in town, and will be there 'til June. Most General Mills products have them on the box and it only takes a second to clip them out and deposit where they'll do some good.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Broadway, of Northview, and daughters Fran and Char, have returned from a motor trip through some of the southern states. Their first stop was Indianapolis, where they visited some cousins, then to Memphis, Tennessee where a sister and her family lives and then to Little Rock, Arkansas. Mr. Broadway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Broadway, have their home there. Carol had to miss the trip because of her job.

The Clarkston High School and college youth group of the First Baptist Church of Clarkston is holding a county-wide youth rally on Saturday, the 24th of January at 8 p.m.

"All are welcome, and a good time is promised," said secretary, David Erickson.

Kluesner sparks ski team

A young, experienced boys' ski team returned this year with hopes for a successful season. So far they have a 1-2 record and the girls are 0-3.

The boys lost their first meet by only 7 seconds to a strong West Bloomfield team. In their next effort they beat Walled Lake Central by 59 seconds. On January 15 the boys lost by only 3.2 seconds to undefeated Waterford Mott. Jim Kluesner has won two first places and a third so far this season.

Other starting members of the boys' team are Gary Harvey, Bill Conrad, Jeff Ollila, Chuck Wheeler, Matt Gilford and Kirk Hart.

The girls' ski team is still a developing team, and they are looking for their first victory. Starting members of the team are Denise Meyers, Kris Johnson, Sue Schmude, Nita Wheeler, Debbie Fife, Kathy Mayer, Linda Bradley and Lisa Braun.

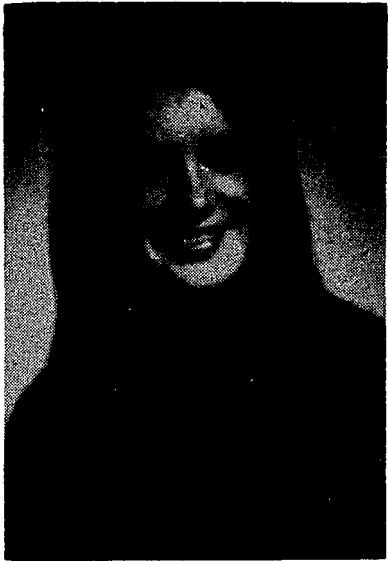

The teams are coached by Howard Webster who was the assistant ski coach last year.

Life among the pygmies

By Jean Sura

We had a house guest last weekend. No more jogging or jumping rope for me. I've had enough exercise to last for a year.

When our guest arrived on Friday night we called him "Mr. Wonderful." He had a time schedule and a list of dos and don'ts pinned to his coat. When he left on Sunday we just called him "Mr. One." I called myself "Mrs. One Hundred."

Friday evening was routine, we paraded him through super markets and up and down Main Street, hoping to run into a few acquaintances. We made a couple of stops at friends' homes. We gave the world a break.

The little tyke bedded down like a champ.

"Not much to it," said Old Dad. "We should do this more often."

Life was beautiful until six a.m. Groping for my glasses, the light and the list, with just two hands was a fete. There was nothing scheduled, he was supposed to sleep until eight. I was off in left field, all on my own.

Should I punt, pass or run? My instinct told me to put the pillow over my head. Maybe it was a bad dream and would go away.

The lad had strong lungs — his howl penetrated the feathers.

I wrung him out and applied dry poultices in the proper spots. An egg, a bowl of that gucky baby cereal and a glass of milk later and Mr. Charm was ready to start his day.

It was 6:20 a.m.

I smuggled a cup of hot coffee into the living room and settled in a comfortable vantage point to survive until morning nap time, which the list said was at ten.

People who give infants pounding toys should be condemned to the public stocks. When I wrapped his little hammer in cotton wadding, he lost interest in the game and turned his attention to climbing the stairs, which he maneuvered like greased lightning.

Unfortunately for me, he had no idea how to get down. He would blithely walk off into space, assured that I would be there to catch him.

Shuddering at the bloody picture of his return to his parents minus all his teeth, I built an ego warping barricade. All the while I was moving furniture, I took pleasure thinking of Dr. Spock languishing in jail. I didn't care for what offense. His book was reason enough.

By nine o'clock, when Happy Grampy arrived on the scene, I was ready to wring an orange on his nose. I was an agitated old lady.

Mr. One's performance that night with the pretzels in the cheese dip at the cocktail party was slightly unsanitary, but so was his remarkable ability to snake up the lids on toilets, to say nothing of his ability to pry open cupboards and drawers.

I'm sure they will make funny stories, just like all the other little tricks he played. When I have regained my strength I'll have to write them all down.

Right now I'm putting in a request for a little R and R.

The real dope

Once Over Lightly

By Jim Sherman

Mrs. Ronk is retiring as postmistress of Clarkston ... and what a shame the department couldn't have let her close a new door behind her. 36 years of service, 34 as postmistress, in a crackerbox ... considering the excellence of the local postal service, what a tribute to her and her colleagues.

February 9 the Clarkston Rotary Club is staging a big affair in Mrs. R.'s honor. Tributes, the whole thing, including a gift. You may want to help with the latter.

If you do want to add a check or one from your club, drop it off or send it to Charly Robinson at the Clarkston Bank (Pontiac State).

We find in this business that some people want us to hear about something before anyone else and others would just as soon we never heard about it. We hear rumors that turn out to be true and false, printable and unprintable.

There are a couple going around now about developments which is usual in a fast growing community, that might be true, but if they are we have no authority to print them. We usually have to wait until there is something on the public record, like at the Planning Commission.

The possible trouble we can get into printing rumors ain't worth it, usually.

Sooner or later someone is going to call the News office and ask the elevation of Clarkston. This is about an annual occurrence in Oxford (1044.86).

We checked out Clarkston's altitude with township clerk Howard Altman and John Lynch, who's with Kieft Engineering, Inc., helped.

John's first suggestion was not to tell the people who call, but tell them to go to the old Methodist Church. On the front of the church, south of the steps, near the corner, about 3 feet up from the ground, behind a bush is a bench mark with the altitude at that point. For further help, John says it's an aluminum plate.

I went up to look for it, but went to the wrong corner. That's why I got specific in the above directions.

Anyway, at the top Green Acres it is 1138 feet above sea level. At Miller and Holcomb it's 1010 and it's just over 1200 feet a mile north of Clarkston, Howard said.

Larry Carino, TV-2 editorial speaker, was Clarkston Jaycee Bosses' Night speaker last week. In his opening remarks Carino read, "A survey shows television is twice as believable as any other media."

I took very few notes after that. I figured no one would believe it anyway.

Usual thing, it's sort of comforting to visit with Doc, whether it's an office call or talking with him at the restaurant or after church. A chat with old Doc sets your mind at ease. At least it does usual—not always.

Doc can be what Miss Boone at the bank calls a gadfly. Seems sometimes to kind of like to stick a big old prickly burr under your saddle and just watch you try to buck enough to shake it loose. Mostly, though, he's nice people.

Like a while back, he said to me, "Haz, you just seem to be a member in good standing of the great silent majority club. Matter of fact," Doc goes on, mighty near purring and putting his hand on my shoulder real friendly like, "Yes, matter of fact, I'd just sort of automatic nominate you as one of the silentest of the great silent majority."

"Well, Doc," I agree, "Spouse I don't do a lot of complaining. Sure don't do any protest marching. Try to just mind my own business and keep my nose clean."

Doc nods and pats my shoulder. "Yep," he says, "Some folks burn our flag. Some burn down the towns. Kids shooting heroin. Figures on murder and rape and armed robbery climb up every year, but the solid citizens like you don't get in trouble. Just don't get involved in all this violent protesting of the dirty war and stuff like that."

"Just do my job, Doc," I tell him modest like. "Never knew no different but to work hard and shoot square and keep my nose out of other folks business. Guess you could say that 'live and let live' is my motto."

"Have any idea how many thousand youngsters are hooked on heroin?" Doc asks me.

"From what I hear, there's plenty," I say. "Sure feel sorry for their folks but I suppose I shouldn't take all the credit for OUR kids being part of the old silent majority, too. Effie's due most the bouquets for our kids staying on the straight and narrow. Great old gal, that Effie. Maybe they do follow their old man a little at that. Smart enough not to get involved, that's what they are."

"You," snaps the Doc, "You and yours have just been plain lucky. Remember 12-15 years ago when the kids, a few at least, were playing 'chicken' on the highways? Risked their lives and others inviting head-on collisions. A few, not really big numbers, did die and they took a few innocents with them. Terrible, but nothing compared with the narcotics problem of today. Kids play chicken with heroin, and a fantastic share of them have the monkey on their back the rest of their lives. To call what's happening a 'national disaster' would be an understatement."

"Poor parents," I agree, "Just somehow lost control of their kids. Sure glad it hasn't hit our little burg."

"You," Doc growls at me, "You are not only silent—DUMB is maybe a better term—but also you are blind to what is happening right here and now. We have our share, maybe more than our share of teenage and sub-teen addicts. Most of them have nice, solid silent parents who figured that as long as they didn't get involved in problems, that maybe the problems would go away."

Natural thing, you wonder what kind of problems old Doc's just run into. Could maybe be those Beaver boys. Bad lot. Just the kind, you think to yourself, that would get mixed up with dope.

"Now look here," Doc warns me, "Don't go blowing your bazoo to people about how half the kids in the area are all hopped up. I just said it's happening here, and I'm telling you that one kid with a habit is too many, but it'll get a lot, lot worse before it gets better. And don't make any wild guesses about kids on the wrong side of the track. It's maybe most likely to happen to youngsters with too much money—though maybe next most likely are the very deprived, of which we have remarkably few."

"Who do you figure is behind all this, Doc?" I ask him, "Maybe the Commies?"

"Know who I think it is?" Doc whispers to me, "Know who I think it really is?"

"Don't stick your neck out on this," I warn him, "I'd never talk but some would. Who's behind it, Doc?"

He crooks his finger for me to bend down close and tells me, "I'm pretty sure it's the great silent, uninvolved majority."

Wolves bump Kettering

By Dan Hallman

Clarkston held off a late Kettering rally and soundly defeated the Captains by a score of 61-52. The Wolves had a comfortable 18 point lead going into the final quarter but Kettering was not to be denied.

As in the Northville game, the Captains threw a full court press which forced Clarkston into many timely turnovers, cutting the score to 57-52 with 2:50 remaining.

Clarkston led at the half 28-20, and broke the game more wide open in the third quarter behind the shooting of Don Brown and Steve Kratt and the fine floor play of Steve Warman.

The Wolves went a little sour in the fourth stanza but they made ten charity tosses to ice the game.

High scorers for Clarkston were Don Brown and Steve Kratt, who hit for 18 and 13 respectively. Mitch Foltz hit 11 points for the losers.

The Wolves came up against a balanced scoring attack last Friday and it resulted in a 65-59 victory for the Milford Redskins. The Redskins placed four players in double figures while Clarkston managed only two, Don Brown and Rick Prasil.

The game was very close in the first half with the lead exchanging hands several times. The score at halftime was 29-28 in favor of the Wolves, but the third quarter brought about a complete change with the fired-up Redskins taking a commanding lead.

Gary Neighbors started hitting from the outside and couldn't miss. Milford also controlled the boards in the second half behind the fine efforts of Mike Monnier and Rick Heimke.

Once again Clarkston had trouble finding the basket as they only sunk 19 field goals compared with the winner's 24. The one bright spot for the Wolves came in the free throw department as Clarkston shot an impressive 21 for 29.

Don Brown, a junior, paced the Clarkston attack with 23 points, and Rick Prasil added 10. Mike Monnier led the Milford scorers with 21, Neighbors had 15, Heimke 13 and Harris hit for 11.

Clarkston now holds a 2-4 mark, good enough for fifth place in the Wayne-Oakland League. The Wolves are 3-5 overall, with a non-league win over Hamtramck.

This Friday the Wolves will play host to the Brighton Bulldogs who hold an impressive 5-1 league mark.

The Bulldogs are led by sharp shooters Ed Gardner and Bob Musch. The Junior Varsity game will start at 6:30 and the Varsity game will get underway at approximately 8:00.

Near the end of last year the announcement was made of the incorporation of Kieft Engineering, 5852 S. Main, and of Delton Lohff and Ralph Jones becoming stockholders with former owner Howard Kieft.

Kieft Engineering, Inc. has been based in Clarkston since its inception in 1954. At that time Kieft had his offices in the Terrace building downtown. In 1960 the present building was built, with space for other offices, and in 1968 the engineering quarters were added to. This doubled their space.

It was 1955 when both Lohff and Jones started working for the engineering company. The firm now employs 17 regularly and this number goes to 25 in summer months.

Kieft says their company has a wide variety of services in both surveying and engineering. They have done considerable work in subdivision development, sewer projects, water systems, mobile parks, drains, apartments and condominiums, golf courses and municipal engineering services, mostly in southeast Michigan.

Kieft Engineering has done the engineering work for Clarkston village for several years.

Howard Kieft, who is overall manager of the corporation, has a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering, with a major in sanitary engineering from Michigan State, 1941. For 4½ years he was a Navy officer in aeronautical engineering, he had 6 years in various capacities as municipal and consulting engineer in southwest Michigan, and had 4 years in engineering sales.

He is a registered professional engineer and registered land surveyor, member of Consulting Engineers Council of Michigan and US, Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, Michigan Society of Registered Land Surveyors and has been on the state board of directors of this group for 4 years.

He is past president of Saginaw Valley Chapter of Registered Land Surveyors.

Kieft was also president of Clarkston Rotary Club in 1964 and a member for 15 years.

He and his wife, Marie, live at 7270 Sagamore. They have 2 children, John in Washington University in St. Louis and Carol in Ann Arbor.

Del Lohff, 6716 Laurelton, came to Clarkston from Pontiac. He is chief engineer of the new firm and has a Bachelor of Science degree from Lawrence Tech, 1957.

He is immediate past president of the Saginaw Valley chapter of Land Surveyors' Association, has been on the Independence Planning Commission since it was formed in 1963, and is chairman of the congregation of Grace Lutheran Church in Pontiac. He is also a member of the Michigan Society of Land Surveyors.

He and his wife, Marian, have 2 girls, Beverly, 12 and Barbara, 10.

Ralph Jones, as a registered land surveyor, is chief surveyor of Kieft Engineering, Inc., overseeing this part of the organization. He has lived in Clarkston 42 years.

Outside the firm he is very active in Boy Scouts, a past Scoutmaster, and in the firm he is treasurer of the Saginaw Valley chapter of Registered Land Surveyors.

He and his wife, Shirley, have 4 youngsters, Frank, 18, at Ferris State; Sharon, 16; Sandy, 14 and Thomas, 11. They live at 5559 Warbler and are members of the Clarkston Methodist Church.
