Jim's Jottings

Joe Backus of Metamora stopped in last week. Joe edited the Clarkston News for me from August 1968 to January 1969, then departed for the Coast Guard. He had a little difficulty in officer's candidate school, and quickly found himself in Seattle on an ice breaker.

However, to hear him tell about it doesn't sound all bad. That is it doesn't sound bad until you realize a couple things. 1. Ice breakers aren't likely to be long in warm climates.

And, 2. Long trips of breaking ice must get mighty lonely. I think Joe found it that way. He's engaged now and planning to wed before heading out for another long trip.

One trip Joe made sounded adventurous, at first. This was the history making voyage of the "Manhattan" through the polar ice cap. You remember, it was the first time a ship had ever gone through this frozen region.

The trip took 4 months, from Seattle to New York City. I asked Joe how the crew took a trip like this, was there a claustrophobia. No, but some nearly went stir crazy. Once he got off the ship and walked on the ice. There were movies, but they got too routine. It was a great bore for Joe. It would be for most of us.

There were 3 ships, all icebreakers, involved. Besides the Manhattan there were 2 Coast Guard sister icebreakers. I asked Joe how far ahead of the Manhattan the Coast Guard ships stayed. He chuckled. The Manhattan led the others.

Joe explained that the width of the Manhattan was nearly equal to the length of his ship. The Manhattan was over 1,000 feet long. Its brute strength was much greater than the smaller vessels. Once the big ship got stuck and the little ones came to its rescue.

How do icebreakers break through 15-20 and 25 ft. ice? I figured they had a sharp bow and used it like a pointed hammer. No so. The ships have rounded bottoms. They ride up on the ice and break it down just by the weight of the steel.

I imagine it is a little like doing the butterfly stroke in swimming... raising the bow high out of the water, then dropping down and repeating it over and

3 spots open

5 vie for place on March ballot

The February 16 primary election will give voters a choice of 5 Republican candidates to fill the 3 spots on the ballot for the March 9th election, when they will compete with Democrats, Ruth Basinger, Jack Hagen and Gerald Hennig. Unopposed candidates on the primary ballot are: Donald Cooper, President; Artemus Pappas, Clerk; Mary Ann Pappas, Treasurer and Ralph Thayer, Assessor.

Here are profiles of the 5 GOP candidates.

LEONARD F. DAVIDSON, 47, lives at 7 Robertson Court. A 10 year resident of the area, he moved here from Davisburg. He and his wife, Yvonne, have a 7-year-old son, Michael. Mr. Davidson has never held public office. A graduate of Pontiac Central High School, he owns and operates his wholesale green plant business, Quality Gardens, in Milford. The ex-Jaycee from Davisburg belongs to the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church.

"Government at the local level is important. I feel that by working with others, I could add ideas that would make our village a better place in which to live."

RONALD R. DRAPER, 29, lives at 100 Clarkston Road. A resident of the area for the past 4 years, he has served as an auxiliary policeman but has never held any other public office. He has attended Henry Ford Community College and Oakland University studying Sales Management. Mr. Draper is the Sales Manager of Monroe International, a business machine firm, located in Detroit. Mr. Draper and his wife, Donna, have a daughter, Ronda, 2. He belongs to the Clarkston Jaycees and is a member of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Livonia.

"As the Jaycee representative to the Village Council meetings, I found myself, more often than not, sitting alone in the "gallery." I was surprised to see a general sense of apathy in the community. Therefore, I decided to "get involved" and run for the office of Village Trustee."

ROBERT C. JONES, 31, lives at 79 Robertson Court. He has never held an elective office. A native of Clarkston, he was born on Holcomb Street. His wife, Marietta (nee Neubacher) attended Clarkston High School. They have 2 children, Timothy, 11, and Jennifer, 9. Mr. Jones attended Central Michigan University for 2 years and now is the Standard Oil Agent (Fuel oil and supply).

over, week after week.

All the ships had helicopters and great communication equipment, so there really was no fear of getting frozen in or lost. But, can you imagine plowing through that wasteland for that long? And, what did it prove?

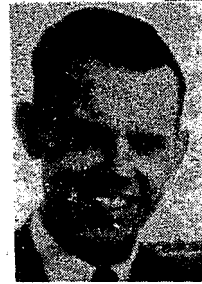

For the most part the men spent their time just like they would have back at home base, except for one thing, playing cards and gambling. That's probably the only thing I'd remember from WW II experiences.

Draper

Jones

Davidson

Kimball

Mr. Jones has been a volunteer fireman since his high school days. He is a member of the Clarkston Rotary and a past president of the Clarkston Jaycees. He is on the council at the Calvary Lutheran Church.

"I am interested in the development of this community having been born and raised, and now living in the village. I am familiar with the many issues concerning our village and feel that I can be of service in helping to resolve them."

E. NELSON KIMBALL, 57, makes his home at 72 N. Main Street. Mr. Kimball is a graduate of Choate Prep School and Harvard University where he earned a B.S. degree in Political Science. This 5 year resident and his wife, Madeleine, have sons, William Morse, 28, and Mike Morse, 26. He is an engineer in the Product Planning Division of the Chrysler Corporation in Highland Park. He belongs to the Wednesday Night Dance Club and the Birmingham Unitarian Church.

"The most direct answer to the question, "Why are you running?" is that I have two sons, and have hopes of having grandchildren - and we want our grandchildren to enjoy Clarkston as much as we do, including the swimming in a lovely lake. To have this happen, we need a concerned citizenry. Running for council is my way of expressing my concern; I hope that other concerned citizens will vote for me."

DAVID K. WESTLUND, of 115 N. Holcomb is 35 years old. He has lived in Clarkston for 5 years and has never held public office. He and his wife, Zita, have 4 children, Peggy, 10, Dale, 9, Nancy, 7 and Mark, 3. A graduate of Northern Michigan University where he earned his B.S. degree, he holds a M.S. in Education from the University of Michigan. He is the principal of the Pine Knob Elementary School here in Clarkston. Mr. Westlund belongs to the Michigan Department of Elementary School Principals, the Clarkston Eagles and St Daniel's Catholic Church.

Tributes from afar

A capacity crowd of 350 people met at the Clarkston High School on February 9 to honor Elizabeth Ronk, Clarkston's Postmaster for the past 34 years, on her recent retirement.

A community gift, a plaque expressing their appreciation and $750 to be used for a dream vacation by steamer to Banff, Lake Louise and up the inland waterway to Alaska, was presented to her by Robert Skerratt.

Among those in attendance were her sons, John and Frank and their families. One long table was occupied by Mrs. Ronk's Post Office employees, among them her successor, Ray Klein. Her brother and 2 sisters, nieces and nephews, occupied another.

Lewis Wint, President of Rotary, the sponsoring organization presided as toastmaster and moved the program along with a deft hand.

Mrs. Gloria Parker, representing the Postmaster General, traveled from Chicago to present an award for meritorious service to the Post Office.

Proclamations were read by Frank Russel, Village President, and Duane Hursfall, Township Supervisor, and the Rev. Frank Cozadd presented thanks from the clergy of the community. Keith Hallman read congratulatory messages from the office of President Nixon, Vice President Spiro Agnew, Senators Griffin and Hart, Representatives Broomfield and McDonald, Governor Milliken and State Representative Loren Anderson.

State Senator Harvey Lodge presented Mrs. Ronk with a citation of service from the legislature and a personal gift of a silver dollar, minted in 1904, the year of her birth.

Ex-Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, who was in office and recommended Mrs. Ronk for the appointment to Postmaster, extended his greetings and congratulations.

The audience was taken back 60 years in Clarkston history, when Robert L. Jones presented a resume of the area and the events during Mrs. Ronk's lifetime.

Edgar (Bud) Guest, Radio Station WJR's "Sunny Side of the Street" philosopher, was the main speaker and entertained the audience with his warmth and humor.

In a quiet, but resolute voice, Elizabeth Ronk thanked those present for their kindness and then, surrounded by her family, proceeded to the library where her friends and relatives could extend their personal wishes for her long, happy retirement.

Gas station appeal made

Clarkston's Board of Appeals will be hearing the public February 17 on a request to build a gasoline service station at the corner of Waldon and S. Main (M-15).

Application has been made and the hearing day set for 7:30 p.m. in the Village Hall, February 17.

Linda Beardslee, Jackie Larkin, Gerta Hoskins, Carolyn Place and Louise Day are ready to model the spring styles at the Pine Knob PTA's fashion show. There will be no charge at the 7:30 showing which will be held at the school tonight, Thursday, February 12.

*PTA model
spring fashions*

Mrs. Robert Pearson, chairman of the Project Committee, announces a spring fashion show will be held at Pine Knob Elementary, Thursday, Feb. 12 at 7:30.

The committee recommends that you come and give the February "blahs" a lift, viewing the bright new spring fashions modeled by mothers and teachers.

There will be no admission charge but 15% of all sales will go to the project committee. The money will be used toward the purchase of materials for the school. Last year the PTA purchased filing cabinets.

Mrs. Miertle's Cadet Girl Scout Troops 927 and 987 will provide free babysitting service. Door prizes and refreshments will be provided.

Child Study group hear students

The members of the Clarkston Child Study group heard a discussion by a panel of high school students at their recent meeting.

Mrs. Richard Johnson introduced the panel moderator, Mrs. Paul Hanson, and the nine students from Clarkston Senior High School. The students ranged in age from 14 to 18.

Mrs. Hanson began the discussion by asking, "What are the qualities you admire most in your friends' parents?"

Respect, not embarrassing them and trust were among the answers received. One topic mentioned was the number of highway deaths compared to the number of deaths in Vietnam. A comment made by one young man was that given a choice he would rather take his chances here on the highway than in Vietnam.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Brancheau of Langle Drive. Mrs. Kenneth Barks and Mrs. David Bickerstaff served as co-hostesses.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with a Valentine motif. Pink sprayed mums with cupids and red hearts formed the centerpiece.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Hamaker with Judge Kenneth H. Hempstead, District Judge of the 51st District Court, Waterford Township, as speaker.

St. Valentine's Day massacred

by Jean Sura

My facts may not be historically accurate, but at our house we celebrated the St. Valentine's Day Massacre on February 13.

That was the night that all the Valentines had to be addressed, enveloped and licked for the school party on the morrow. This was the day when the heart-shaped cookies had to be baked, frosted and trimmed and, for heaven's sake, this was the day we had to get our Valentine mail boxes ready to take to school and hang on our desks.

This was the day of massacre and mayhem.

"Mom, can I have some money? I've gotta get another pack of Valentines," yells one son.

"If he gets more I want more too," chimes number two. "I bought my Valentines with my money out of my bank. How come you're gonna give him some?"

"She did not."

"She did too."

Art teachers hold forum

Oakland County art teachers are invited to "Operation: Reachout Number One," a forum and exchange of ideas, an explanation of classes at Pontiac Creative Arts Center and will give information on coming shows.

The operation will be held at the Creative Arts Center, 47 Williams Rd. in Pontiac, and is co-sponsored by the center and the Pontiac Area Community Arts Council.

The Thursday, February 12 meeting is scheduled to meet from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Tea will be served.

"Did not."

"Did too."

"Not."

"Too."

"Okay. Now hear this," I boomed. "There will be no more money spent on Valentines this year. What is this deal? How many kids are really in your class? Don't tell me there are more than 50. You each had 50 Valentines, now what is the problem?"

"Well, for crying in a sock, Mom, we can't send this mushy love stuff to the kids. If we send 'em to the boys they'd laugh their heads off and if we send 'em to the girls, they'll think we mean it and then they chase us all over the playground trying to kiss us. Yyyech!"

"Oh, come on now, you jerky kids. Nobody takes these verses seriously."

"Oh yeah!"

"Oh yeah!"

"Last year Robert sent that drippy Inez a Valentine that said 'I love you little, I love you big, I love you like a little pig.' And you know, Mom, that dumb girl went around showing it to everybody and her girlfriend said that she said she was going to marry Robert. Sheeeese, you can't take a chance."

"Look at this dopey one. It's got kisses all over it. I couldn't send that one to a boy or a girl."

"You're just being silly," I said. "Now come on, get those things finished up. It's almost bed-time. You've been messing around for hours. Hop to it. You've got a party tomorrow."

"Hey, good thing you mentioned the party. I'm supposed to bring 50 heart-shaped cookies or else 50 cupcakes with pink frosting."

"Oh, yeah, Mom, I told my teacher that you could make slick mail boxes for Valentines' Day, so she said it would be okay if you make six extra ones for the kids whose Moms don't know how."

"By the way, here are your Valentines."

"Gosh, boys, so many! How come?"

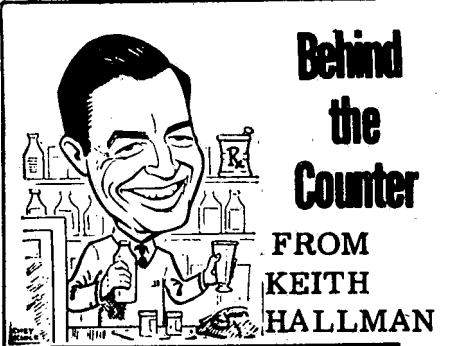

"Well, see, you're the only girl that we know that isn't so dumb and drippy. Hey, don't forget to make my box good and big 'cause I think I'm going to get a lot of Valentines. Well, maybe you better make it little. Maybe I won't get any Valentines at all. Gee, wouldn't that be rotten, not getting one single dumb Valentine?"

"Hey, Mom, can I borrow back some of those that I gave you? I better send one to those dumb kids, anyway. I'll cross off all of this mush."

***

The cookies were frosted. The crepe paper was taped in place on the shoe boxes. I wrote a mushy poem.

Dear Boys,
Roses are red.
Violets are blue.
Some Valentine's Day
I'm gonna massacre you.
But for today
You mobsters will do.

Behind the Counter

FROM KEITH HALLMAN

Quite often, I'm made to feel like the neighborhood villain when I must refuse to refill a prescription. But there is a very good reason for such a refusal.

A prescription is your doctor's personal request for specific drugs to be used as part of his treatment of your illness. He specifies how much of the drugs you are to receive, and, he will sometimes place a limit on this by stating "Do not refill." This usually means that he wants to see the patient again, before providing more medication.

I would be wrong if I gave you the wrong amount of a drug, or the wrong kind of a drug. And I'd also be wrong in giving you a drug over and over again, by overlooking the doctor's instructions about refilling.

You see, drug dosages aren't the same for every patient, and they must often be changed every once in a while to suit the patient's needs. You may need less than the standard dose, or perhaps you will need more. Your doctor can gauge this by re-examining you after your first prescription has been used up.

Also, some drugs are habit forming and some are too dangerous to be taken without regular medical supervision.

If I refuse to refill your prescription, it is to protect you from possible danger. And I would rather have you annoyed with me than guilty of jeopardizing the health of you and your family.

Leave your headlights alone

That's how Automobile Club of Michigan feels about a practice that is becoming widespread nationally. Whenever proponents, or opponents of some public matter want a "Silent Majority" or a "Silent Minority" to express an opinion, they appeal to all motorists who agree, or disagree, as the case may be, to turn on their headlights, or honk their horns.

Headlights have a purpose, and so do horns. But it is not to attract attention and let anyone know how motorists feel about more taxes, no taxes, war, ending war, Democrats, Republicans, youth, militants, peaceniks, hawks, doves. It is to illuminate the road in front of one, and to let other motorists know one is coming.

Lights should be turned on before dusk comes, and when one is passing through an area where woods throw the road into shadow during sunny times, to let other motorists see the location of one's car.

We have had too many appeals to motorists to turn on headlights for some project. All this does is create antagonism on the part of motorists who disagree and do not have their headlights on.

Feelings run strong on issues as should we get out of Vietnam right now, or should we instead fight harder. This is a part of democracy. But if you respond to a public appeal and turn your headlights on to register your feeling, you may be courting a bumped fender or worse from some cantankerous soul who disagrees.

At best, this has nothing to do with driving a car safely. Let's leave headlights and horns to safety and to driving only.

"If It Fitz . . ."

I didn't really mean it

By Jim Fitzgerald

It's only a matter of time and numbers before President Nixon gets around to nominating me for the U.S. Supreme Court. In preparation, I hereby repudiate what I said at that Young Republican meeting in 1952.

You've probably read that J. Harrold Carswell is currently Nixon's choice for the Supreme Court seat that was too good for Abe Fortas and Clement Haynsworth. Carswell, now a Georgia appeals court judge, may also have trouble gaining Senate approval.

Carswell's problem is something he said 22 years ago when he was waging a losing campaign for the Georgia legislature. He painted himself with bigot stripes and the damning words are still on public record, as easy to see as a burning cross at midnight. Here's what he said:

"I yield to no man . . . in the firm, vigorous belief in principles of white supremacy and I shall always be so governed . . . Segregation of the races is proper and the only practical and correct way of life in our states. I have always so believed and shall always so act. I shall be the last to submit to any attempt on the part of anyone to break down and weaken this firmly established policy of our people."

Such an attitude would seem, to exclude Carswell from serving on the highest court in the land. Unless you want the justices to wear white sheets instead of robes.

But maybe not. Carswell doesn't deny bragging about being a racist in the 1948 speech given before an American Legion post in Gordon, Georgia. But he was just a 28-year-old baby then, fresh out of diapers and law school. Today he has changed his mind. "I denounce and reject the words themselves and the thoughts they represent," he said when asked about the tattletale speech.

And Carswell's flip-flop is supported by U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell whose full time job is defending Nixon's Supreme Court nominees. His wife does everything else for him. "I think it is unfortunate that a judge of Judge Carswell's high qualifications could be subjected to criticism based on remarks made 22 years ago . . . in the heat of a political controversy," Mitchell said. Many others agree that Carswell should be judged on his recent record, not his old speeches.

Right. Judge Carswell may be a phony. But what the heck, the world is full of phonies and someone has to fill that Supreme Court seat. If the Senate continues to be so picky-picky, they'll have to wait for the second coming of Christ.

Besides, Carswell or any other Supreme might eventually get dumped for some really serious indiscretion — such as speculating in U.S. Savings Bonds. And I'd like to feel that my past words won't prevent me from filling the gap when Nixon beckons.

In 1952 I stood up and told a Young Republican club that there was no such thing as a young Republican. "The minute you become a Republican, you become old," I said. "It's automatic, the same as joining Rotary."

Of course, these words were spoken in the heat of political controversy. They had just appointed me chairman of the Help-Feed-Nixon's-Dog committee and I was trying to get out of the job.

Since then I've changed my mind. I denounce and reject the words themselves and the thoughts they represent. It is only fair that you judge me on my recent record, not on what I said long ago.

Last week will be recent enough, thanks. †

National Merit Tests given Feb. 14

CMS News

By Polly Hanson

On Saturday, February 14, the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given at Clarkston High School. Students who take this test become eligible for many college scholarships.

The Merit Program is conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), an independent, non-profit organization established in 1955 by grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The Merit Program combines a yearly nationwide search for talented youth, with services designed to increase financial assistance for able college-bound students. To help each student derive maximum benefit from his participation in the program, various reports and guidance materials are provided for tested students and their schools.

The sixteenth annual (1970-71) Merit Program begins with the administration of the 1970 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) in participating schools. The top scoring students in every state will be considered for one-time National Merit $1,000 scholarships and for four-year sponsored Merit Scholarships. The winners of Merit Scholarships in the 1970-71 program will be announced in early May of 1971.

In 1969, 3,125 Merit Scholarships with a value of over $7.5 million were awarded; 1,000 were one-time, nonrenewable National Merit $1,000 scholarships financed by NMSC and sponsors, and 2,125 were four-year Merit Scholarships underwritten by sponsoring organizations. Since 1956, when the first Merit Scholarships were awarded, 21,800 Merit Scholars have entered college. Thousands of high-scoring students also have obtained financial aid from colleges and agencies utilizing the NMSQT results.

NMSC honors high performing Merit Program participants and provides several services to increase their opportunities for financial aid. These activities and the program procedures determine the Merit Scholars.

The names of semi-finalists are announced publicly. To increase opportunities for financial aid, their names are listed in a booklet sent to colleges and scholarship granting agencies.

Eligible commended students and other high performing participants are identified by NMSC for Special Scholarship Programs or for scholarship granting organizations that utilize NMSC's facilities.

In addition, the names, home addresses, college majors, proposed career choices, and scores of Merit Program semi-finalists and commended students are sent to the colleges they named as their first and second choices at the time that they took the test.

Only semi-finalists who advance to finalist status are eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration. Winners of all Merit Scholarships are selected from the finalist group.

Further information and registration materials may be obtained by contacting the counselors.

Honor scouts at Calvary

Last Sunday, Feb. 8, was the Sixtieth Anniversary of Boy Scouting in the United States. Calvary Lutheran Church celebrated by involving members of Boy Scout Troop 189 in the morning worship service.

Four scouts acted as ushers, and the other members of the troop who could be present, sat as a group, dressed in uniform. Scout John Mayo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mayo of 6872 Bluegrass, acted as Lector and read the three Scripture lessons for the day. Mr. Herschel Roy Fry, Scoutmaster, and members of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, gave a ten-minute Temple Talk on Scouting and its connection with the Christian church.

Mr. Fry pointed out that the Scout Oath and the Scout Law both stress the boys' relationship to God and their church, as well as to their country. He praised the Scouting movement for fostering the kinds of values and attributes sought after by Christian people, and he publicly thanked the members of Calvary for their interest in and support of their troop.

The Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe, pastor of Calvary, spoke for a few minutes on the subject "Paths, Not Ruts," and pointed out that many parents make the mistake of trying to force their children into correct ways of life, instead of encouraging and supporting them to choose for themselves from the paths which are available to them as maturing adults.

He asked the parents present to offer their children paths, rather than confining ruts, and suggested that the parents' role ought to be one of guide and companion, in which the parents can walk along with their children, instead of pushing or pulling them.

His talk was based on Proverbs 22:6, which says "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

A SPIRITUAL Message

DRAYTON HEIGHTS FREE METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. H. C. Cranston

Lent, a Period of Self Denial and Communion

"That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death..."

Philippians 3:10

The Apostle Paul was willing to abandon all things most people thought important to learn more about Christ's sufferings. The Apostle could claim a great family heritage, a thorough education, a zealous spirit, a faultless reputation. Of these he writes, "But what things were gain to me, these I count loss for Christ."

The heart of Christianity is a denial of self. Jesus said, "If a man will come after me, let him deny himself, take up his cross daily, and follow me." (St. Luke 9:23)

Self denial is a means to the end that we may "know Him, and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings..."

One wrote, "A sense of sins, consciousness of guilt, penitence, and a fresh fuller committal to the claims of Christ are essential if the season is to yield spiritual profit. A little less food will clear our minds so that we can understand more clearly all that the Saviour willingly endured on our behalf. Genuine sorrow for our sin will deepen our heart's love for Him. The prayerful remembrance of his shame and anguish will lead us into a fellowship of his sufferings, which Paul wrote about.

Let us associate closely any self denial of the Lenten Period with a greater knowledge of Jesus Christ who suffered all things for our Salvation.

Deciding vote

Until he got appointed to the village council, Jim Colt was not too bad a sort. Folks knew Jim was never extra special careful about the truth, but mostly they agreed that it didn't do too much harm if he bragged on himself long as it didn't stretch the truth on things that involved others.

The Council appointed Colt to fill the vacancy left when old Willis Hunt resigned. On account of health, Hunt said, but everyone knew it was because his youngest boy got hauled in on that narcotics charge. Just couldn't face the public after that, old Willis couldn't, so he up and quit.

Wouldn't a been so bad to put Jim Colt on the Village Council, but right soon a funny thing happened. Seven of them on the Council and they pick a village president from among the seven. Never did seem right to me that the Council had the job of picking the village president from its own group. Guess that's the rule, but it sure seems funny to me that the Council has the right to pick the big wheel.

Fact is that, in our village set-up, the Council President acts as Village President, so it kind of gives this guy quite a little power. In a way he can control what comes before the council and then, wearing the Village

President hat, he can do some things without council approval. S'posed to be on an emergency basis, but it's up to the guy, himself, to decide what's an emergency. Real goofy set-up if you ask me.

The funny thing I spoke of previous was that right after Jim Colt got appointed to fill the council vacancy, the annual election of Village President comes up.

Council's been kind of split in two groups. This shows up in the vote when the secret ballot count is three for Johnson, three for McNutt and strange thing, one for new member Colt.

McNutt says he'll abstain on the next ballot and tells 'em that Johnson would make a good village president. Now the count goes three for McNutt, two for Johnson and still one for Colt. Takes a majority of four to elect, according to rules, and it's now apparent that McNutt was voting for Johnson instead of himself.

They vote again and now Colt gets two votes. Fourth count. McNutt says that to break the deadlock, he's going to vote again. He does and it's back to 3, 3 and 1.

Johnson says that as both the past and acting Village President, he declares an emergency and that a simple majority vote will win and that 4 votes will not be required. There's a lot of grumbling and Johnson says that under the circumstances he, himself, will now abstain and all others will immediately cast ballots. More grumbling and someone says it's a heck of a way to run a railroad.

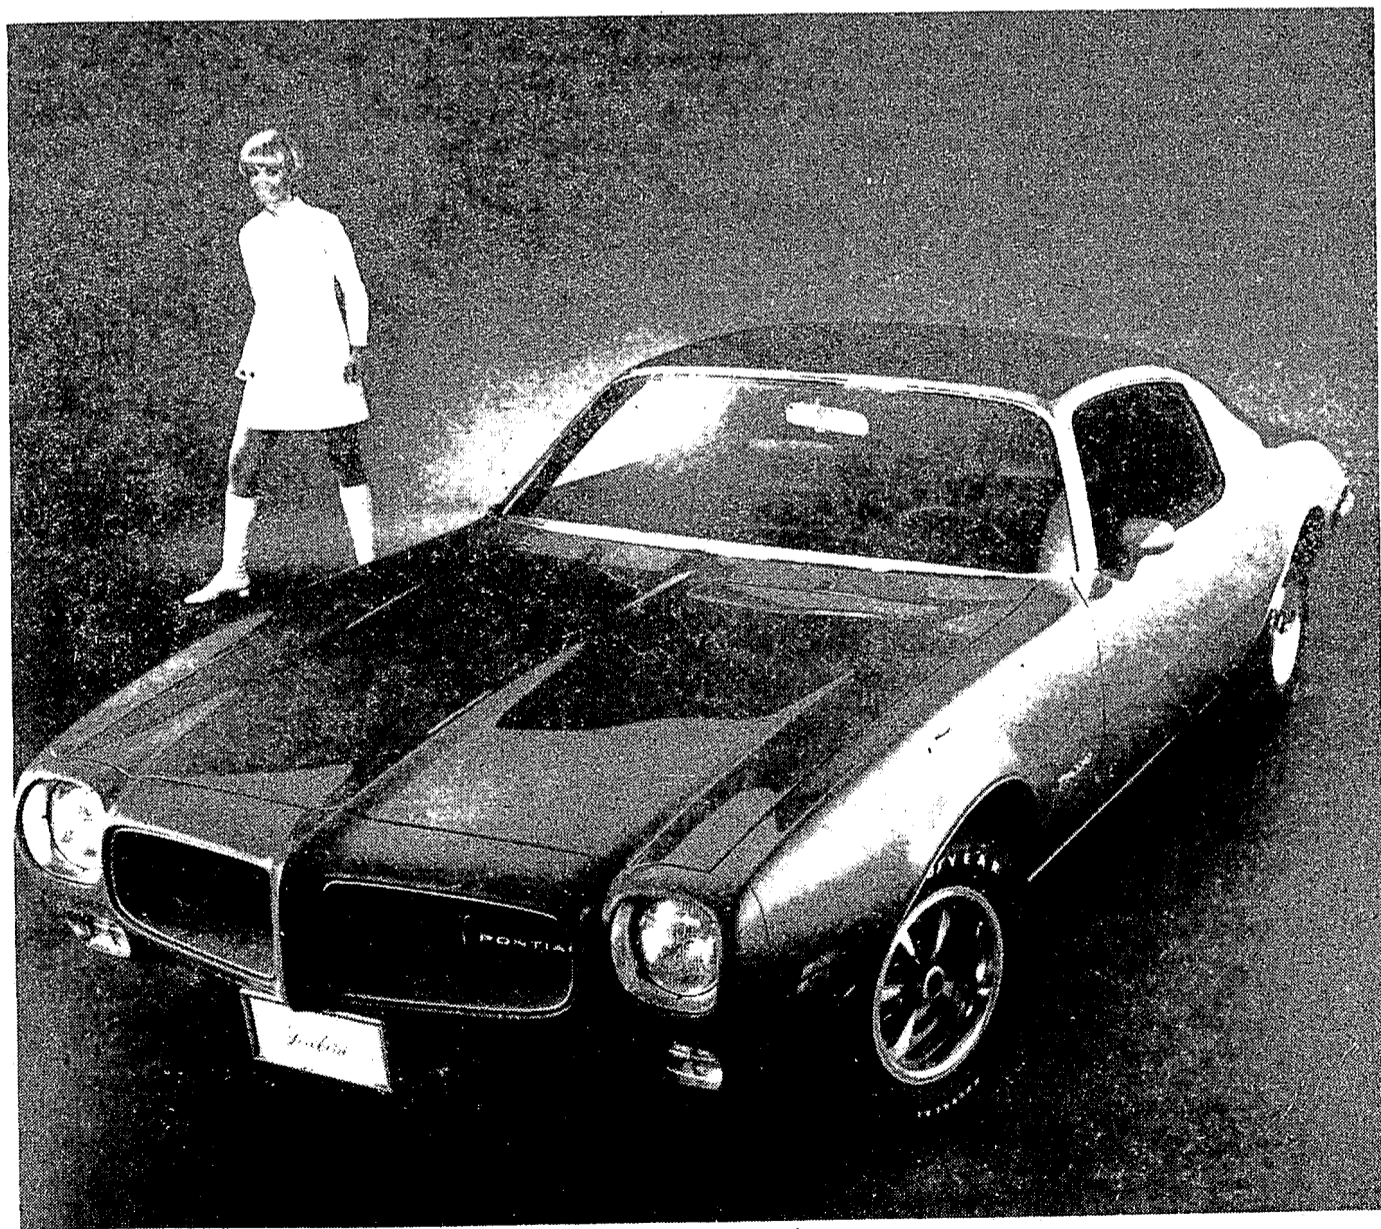

For this vote, the new man, Jim Colt, is appointed to count the votes and write results on the little blackboard. He collects the folded pieces of paper and then opens 'em up. Gets a funny look and says maybe somebody else should count because they're all blank but one. Five blanks and one vote for Colt.

"So write it on the board," Johnson yells at him, "if all these goofballs think they're so smart by handing in blanks, it serves 'em right to get you for a president."

Old Jim writes his name on the blackboard. Meanwhile, couple of the fellows are going over the pile of slips - all blank but one.

Finally, Pete Mason walks up to the blackboard with a slip in his hand. He looks first at the slip - then the board. "Yep," he says, "it must be authentic. They're the same writing."

Kutting Korners

By Jean Sura

Here are 2 seasonal suggestions:

VALENTINE COOKIES

1½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
1 cup butter
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond flavoring
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar

Cream sugar and butter. Mix in egg and flavorings. Measure flour. Blend dry ingredients; stir in. Refrigerate 2 to 3 hours. Heat oven to 375 degrees. Divide dough in half and roll out on a lightly floured board or pastry cloth to 1/16 inch thick. Cut in heart shapes and place on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake 5 to 7 minutes or until delicately golden. Cool and frost with pink-tinted icing. (see below). Trim with coconut and cinnamon dots or tiny hearts.

EASY ICING

Blend 1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon vanilla or other flavoring (lemon, almond, peppermint, etc.) and liquid to make easy to spread (about 1 tablespoon water or 1½ tablespoons cream). Tint with a few drops of food coloring. Spread on cookies with knife or spatula.

Here is a treat for your scouts or cubs.

LINCOLN LOGS

Make Brownies (the ready mix packages are pretty good).
2 squares unsweetened chocolate (2 oz.)
1/3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

½ cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease an 8x8x2 pan. Melt chocolate and shortening over hot water. Beat in sugar and eggs. Blend flour, baking powder and salt. Stir in. Mix in nuts. Spread in pan. Bake 30 to 35 minutes or until slight imprint remains when touched lightly with finger. Cool. Frost. Cut into bars about 3x¾ inch. Draw prongs of fork through icing down length of each to make it resemble a log. Decorate with star or with a tiny flag.

CHOCOLATE ICING

Melt over hot water 1 teaspoon butter and 1 square of unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.) Blend in 1½ teaspoons warm water. Beat in about 1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar or enough to make icing spread easily.

How about a Dried Beef Casserole for an Early American flavor? Prepare it the day before you need it.

DRIED BEEF CASSEROLE

1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup milk
1 cup finely cut Cheddar cheese (about ¼ lb.)
1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni
3 tablespoons fully chopped onion
¼ pound dried beef, cut in bite-size pieces
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
Stir soup to make a creamy consistency. Add rest of ingredients except eggs. Fold in eggs. Turn into buttered 1½ quart baking dish. Store covered in refrigerator at least 3 or 4 hours or overnight. Heat oven to 350 degrees and bake 1 hour, uncovered. 4 to 6 servings.

Dead reckoning . . .

Ashley Montagu talks of love

By Don Lytle

Recently I accompanied some high school students to the Michigan State University symposium on "Man, the Endangered Species." Ashley Montagu, a quotable anthropologist and social biologist who has been on many radio and TV talk shows of late, was the final speaker in a three-day series featuring such notables as former Senator Wayne Morse and Senator Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin.

According to Montagu, the cause of the world's environmental crisis is Western Man's traditional inability to fully love or to be lovable. Montagu, as an anthropologist, believes that man is born with an "in-built" desire to be loved which is the center of all of his other in-built needs, such as his need for oxygen, food, liquid, bowel and bladder elimination, reaction to certain dangerous stimuli, etc.

Our culture has perverted this natural need "to be loved" by itself being a poor example of love in action. To learn a language, a child must be spoken to; to learn love, a child must first be loved. The parents in a given culture then have a major responsibility. Montague insists that the Western Man has not ever really learned to love his own kind nor his world as is demonstrated in the accelerating crime rate and his major influence in the earth's deteriorating environment. Western Man's mores and technology are copied now by the whole world.

To survive as a species, homo sapiens (man) must learn to love. He must rediscover his evolutionary destiny, which, according to Montagu, is "to live as if to love and to live were one."

Humorously, Montagu suggested that the term "homo sapiens," which literally means a "reasoning or intelligent animal," should be altered to the more accurate term of "homo sap," because man is frequently too clever for his own good.

The most educable animal on the face of the earth, man is also the most potentially dangerous because of his ability to learn untruths and put them into practice just as readily as he learns and practices truths. The "socialization process," better known as our educational processes (school, church, home) have been the chief culprits in man's misunderstanding his proper role on this spaceship earth.

Montagu agreed that "overpopulation or "population," as one student coined it later, is the world's number one problem. The successful agricultural system of the Western world, now used, has allowed man to grow people at fantastic rates, hence our present problems. More people cause more pollution, more demands on natural resources, more problems in general. If a particular culture, like America's, also has a very high standard of living, then the problems can be catastrophic in their magnitude.

"Nevertheless," Montagu hastened to add, "the quantity of life is always secondary when compared to the quality of life. A man's length of life is never as important as the quality of his life," he said. "It is better to live a sermon than to hear one." He urged the students to be part of the solution and not part of the problem. "You must be the changers of the world."

Concluding, he reiterated that man must love all life, "both animate and inanimate," before he can ever really call himself a human being. Until man, and Western Man in particular, learns love and reverence of all life, he is only a "people" and very destructive and dangerous. When he learns to love, he then qualifies to be called "human." He added that the Western world has few "human" beings.

The students, who expected, I guess, to be scared into action by the doomsday pronouncement of the present ecological trends and statistics, seemed visibly disappointed after the brief lecture; but they gradually discovered how fundamental, how basic Montagu's lecture really was.

The "reverence" philosophy has been advocated by such unconventional thinkers as the Christ, Saint Francis of Assisi, Thoreau and Emerson, Leopold and Albert Schweitzer and a score of others throughout Western history. But the very thing these men philosophized — reverence of life — is the very thing, now SCIENTIFICALLY DEMONSTRABLE, that seems obviously lacking in our Western culture.

Man is not only the "endangered species" biologically; he is the "endangering species" actively. He must change.

Wrestlers eye league tourney

by Lou Lessard

The Clarkston matmen had a busy week last week. They started by defeating Bloomfield Hills Andover on February 3 with a score of 48 to 5. On February 5, the Wolves walked past Rochester Adams with a score of 38 to 8.

***

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows showed surprising strength by taking first place in the Clarkston Invitational on Saturday with 87 points.

Second and third places went to Avondale and Clarkston, scoring 79 and 76 points, respectively.

Individual champions for Clarkston were Mike Packer in the 98 pound class and Al Knake in the 165 pound class. Second places for the Wolves went to Bill Williams, Jeff Quigley and Tom Jones.

The wrestling team was encouraged by the help they received with the tournament and also the many spectators who supported the team.

This Saturday, February 14 is the league tournament for wrestling. This is the most important tournament of the year, as it decides who will be league champion. Every wrestler on the team has been working all year with the thought of this tournament in the back of his mind.

The Wolves have a good chance to win as they have beaten every league team so far this year.

The tournament is being held at Clarenceville and finals will start at 7 p.m.

"We were encouraged by the enthusiasm of our fans at our Invitational," said Coach Muscovich. "The boys hope we will be backed again by a strong representation."

Wolverines roll

Clarkston Junior High's 9th grade basketball team scored their season's high of 74 points in defeating Waterford's Mason Junior High on February 6. It gave them a 74 to 66 win.

The game marked the last away game of the regular season for the Wolverines who play host to Milford Highland on Thursday, February 12 and Milford Muir on Thursday, February 14. They will enter the Brighton Invitational Tournament on February 23.

Leading both teams in scoring was Bruce Souby with 28 points, while Dave Partlo picked up 18 points and 17 rebounds. Rounding out the scoring were Al Hux and Rick Hurtt with 10 points each and Bill Hamilton with 8.

Boosters going to Big-Ten game

The Clarkston Area Athletic Boosters have scheduled their 2nd annual bus trip to Ann Arbor to attend a Big Ten basketball game for Saturday, February 21.

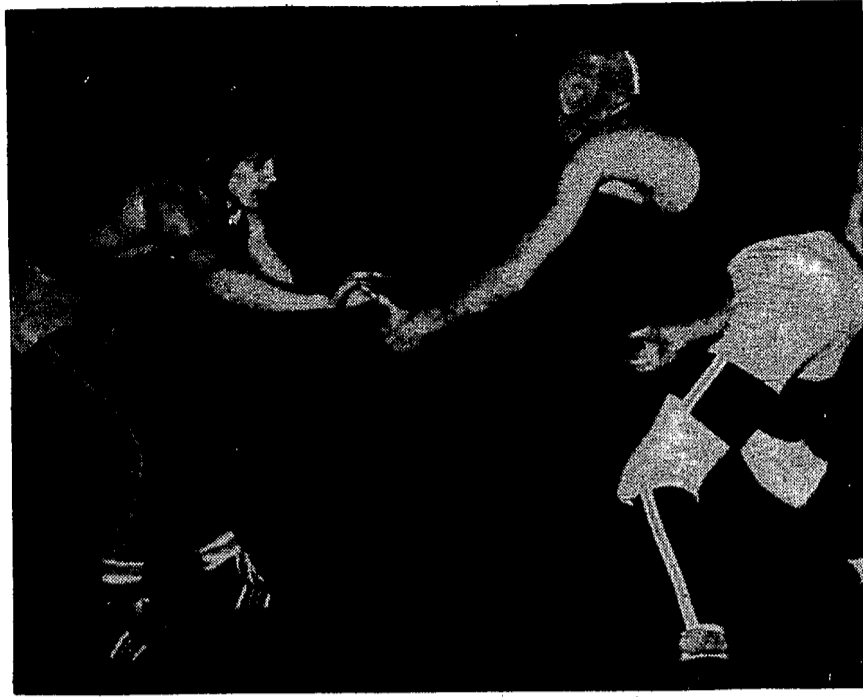

Eighty seats will be made available to local fans who wish to attend. Buses will provide round-trip transportation from the Clarkston Senior High School. They will leave at noon (sharp).

The game will be played between the University of Michigan and the University of Minnesota. Game time is 2 p.m.

"Fans of Dan Fife, Clarkston's all-State basketball player, will be glad to know that Dan is in the starting line-up and that he has been a steady contributor to the squad in this, his Junior year," said Duane Richardson, president of the Boosters and chairman of the event.

"Tickets, at $5, will cover the game and bus ride and may be purchased at the senior high school office, or Ronk's Barber Shop. Mr. Bill Mansfield, 625-5818, has tickets and so do I. They will be sold on a first come basis."

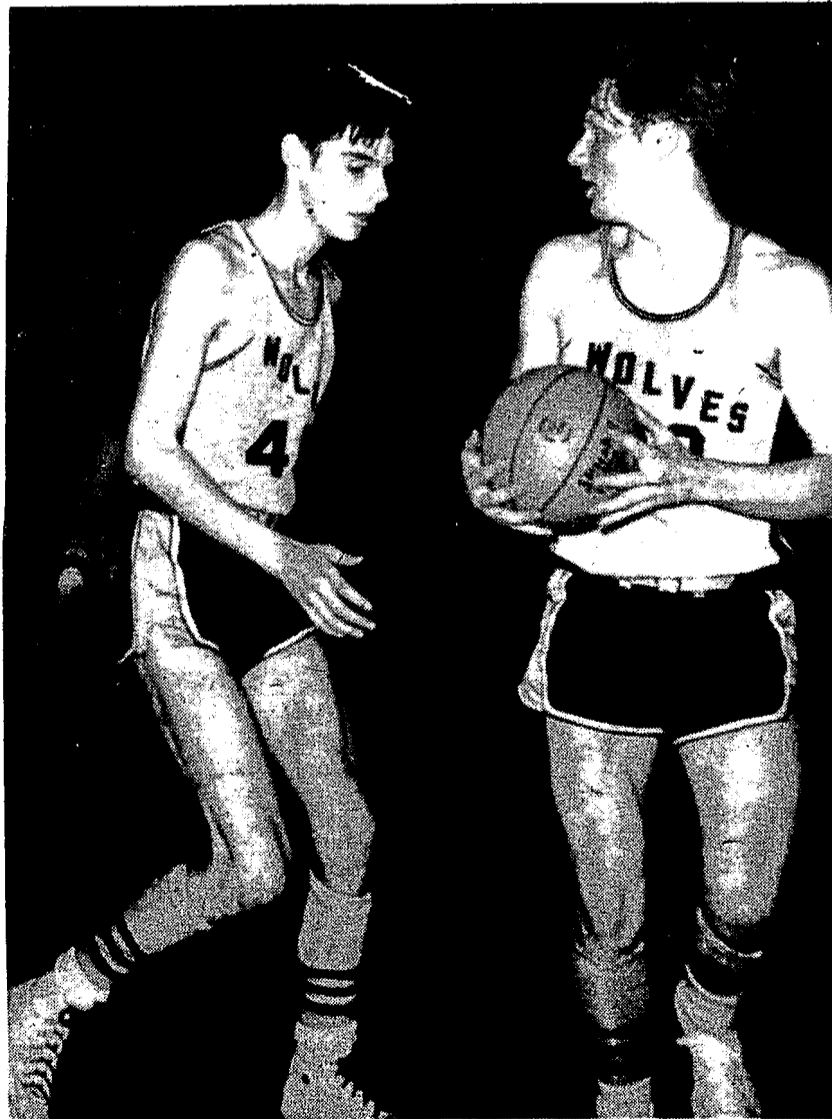

Mr. Richardson's phone number is 625-3466.

HELPING Clarkston to a third place finish in their own invitational is Mike Packer, left, in the 98 pound class. He and Al Knake in the 165 pound class won first in their divisions.

LOOSENING UP — All three of these Wolves won second place in their wrestling divisions Saturday in Clarkston's First Invitational. Eight schools competed, and Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows won, Avondale was second, Clarkston third. Getting his neck muscles stretched above is Bill Williams and doing the massage is Jeff Quigley. Tom Jones stands by.

IT'S MINE — The stances look silly, but it's just that Bill Craig, left, and Dane Cinder were going for the ball at the same time in a recent Junior Varsity game.

Skate in hockey championships

Bob and Rick Reis, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reis, 3823 Maiden, and Paul Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Olson, 7730 Visgar, will be trying along with their teammates to win the Detroit City Hockey Championships for their respective divisions. The championship games will be played at Olympic Stadium, Detroit on Saturday, Feb. 14.

Paul is a pee wee on the Marquette Machinery team, Bob is on Marquette Machinery's bantam team and Rick skates with Myr Metals midget team.

The Myr Metals midget team recently won the North American Silver Stick Tournament in Sarnia, Ontario, an honor usually won by a Canadian team.

The three boys all attend Clarkston Community Schools and are in the seventh, eighth and tenth grades.

Exhibition and championship games will run continuously from 8:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. on February 14.

The public is invited to attend.

Trojans sink Wolves to league cellar

By Dan Hallman

Clarkston went down to Clarenceville last Friday and played an uninspired brand of basketball, which resulted in a 65-55 verdict in favor of the Trojans.

The loss threw the Wolves into a last place tie with Waterford Kettering, Milford and Clarenceville.

The Trojans had a relatively easy time of deposing the visiting Wolves after Clarkston lost its usual first quarter lead.

The Wolves jumped off to an 11-5 lead, which didn't last very long.

The Trojans' Bob Ridling blistered the nets for 10 points in the first quarter. Clarenceville received balanced scoring in the second quarter from all five starters and went into the locker room leading 40-32 at the half.

In the third quarter Bruce Hardy tried starting a Clarkston rally, but he had little help from his teammates and the Trojans kept their lead.

The reserves from both teams played most of the last quarter as both teams suffered from poor shooting.

The Wolves never came any closer than 10 during the remainder of the game.

Game honors went to Clarenceville's Bob Ridling who hit 21. Clarkston's Don Brown checked in with 16.

Friday the Wolves will entertain the Northville Mustangs. Clarkston will try to avenge an earlier loss to the young Mustangs. Northville is led by Jerry Mills and Ron Hubbard.

PACK 133

Pack 133 did not fold up! We have been so busy working on badges, Webelov Arrow of Light, Christmas project, Pinewood Derby and now the Blue and Gold Banquet, that the News deadline slipped by each week.

James Zelenak, Cub Master, who was active in the Pack for five years, retired this Scout year; and, Jack Parr became the new Cub Master. Bob Baynes and Bill Purves are still our Webelo Leaders. They are grooming 8 Webelos for the Arrow of Light.

Isobel Zelenak, Mae Proffitt, Betty Parr and Shelby Parsons have been doing a tremendous job with Bobcats, Wolves and Bears each month. This makes the job of Den Leader Coach an easy one for Marge Runkle, who is in her 5th and final year of Cubbing.

Bob Runkle, Committee Chairman, who is also in his 5th and final year of active Cubbing, has the following committee: Craig Combs, Tom Grimsley, Al Palmer, Walter Parsons, Fred Proffitt, Lester Smith, James Zelenak and Al Pope.

The Pinewood Derby last week saw Freddie Proffitt take 1st place in the race with Billy Caraway a close 2nd. Judging for the 3rd year were Al Hinz, Lanny Hinz and Jerry Scarborough.

WOLVES: Originality, 1st, Terry Parsons; 2nd, Jeff Kelley. Design, 1st, David Potts; 2nd, Jeff Pope. Workmanship, 1st, James Zelenak; 2nd, George Palmer.

BEARS: Originality, 1st, Jeff Smith; 2nd, Larry Runkle. Design, 1st, Kenneth McDonald; 2nd, Randy Woods. Workmanship, 1st, Tom Grimsley; 2nd, Pete Mason.

Webelos working on Arrow of Light award to become Scout Tenderfoot Rank are: Karl Tresenreiter, David Vincent, Paul Zelenak, Tim Purves, Kevin Mason, Bill LaMarbe, Mark Baynes. Bob Hecker just became a Webelo.

Den Chiefs from Troop 189 are: Gerry Runkle, Mark Zelenak, Curtis Smith and Franz Tresenreiter.

CUB SCOUTS

PACK 49

Genius kit projects were made by Pack 49 Cub Scouts with the help of their dads. The kits were given to the boys at the January pack meeting and were made up of a variety of items: blocks of wood, clothes hangers, string, glue, nails, paper cups, straws, newspaper, etc. The boys will display their creations at the Blue & Gold Banquet.

The Blue & Gold Banquet will be at the Clarkston Junior High on Wednesday, February 18, at 6:00 p.m. Parents will be notified by the den mothers what dish they are to bring. Please bring your own table service. The meat, rolls and butter, coffee and milk will be furnished by the pack.

On Sunday, January 25, the Cub Scouts and their families toured the submarine, USS Piper, which is docked at the Naval Armory in Detroit. Despite the weather, a group of 124 persons made the tour.

In a coy moment, two members of Oakland University's Studio Company, Robert Denison and Pamela Parker, strike a characteristic Elizabethan pose in their production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." One of the company's touring performances will be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 at Clarkston High School.

Weather assists CAP program

The cadets of Clarkston Composite Squadron Civil Air Patrol have spent 2 action packed weekends. Orientation flights from Oakland-Pontiac Airport took advantage of the near-perfect flying weather on Saturday, January 31, while the weekend of February 7 was spent on an overnight camping trip.

Orientation flights are an important part of Civil Air Patrol's Cadet Program. Qualified pilots in Civil Air Patrol extend the classroom lessons completed by each cadet with practical demonstrations of navigation, aircraft controls, communications and flight safety.

Pilots for the flights for 20 cadets from the Clarkston unit were Colonel Charles Klann CAP, Michigan Wing Commander, who flew cadets in a Beechcraft Musketeer. Gerald Lawrence, one of the Squadron's new senior members, flew cadets in a twin-engine Cessna Skymaster.

Camp Snow near Holly was the site of the weekend training mission February 7 and 8 for 23 Clarkston cadets. Each cadet reported with equipment to make him self-sustaining. Purpose of the outing was to provide experience in land search and rescue, principles of first aid as well as survival techniques that included constructing simple shelters and fire-building. One problem assigned to the cadets was to find three survivors of a "plane crash," treat their injuries and evacuate them to safety.

Boys and girls 13 to 17 years of age who would like to learn more about CAP's cadet program are invited to visit a meeting of the Squadron at the Oakland-Pontiac Airport terminal any Wednesday from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. 1/Lt. James Peters, Commander of the unit, or a member of the Squadron staff, will be able to answer any questions regarding the CAP program.

Dear Editor:

Receiving the Clarkston News is like receiving several letters at once from Clarkston. I am so happy to receive it. Some times it is only about 8 or 10 days late.

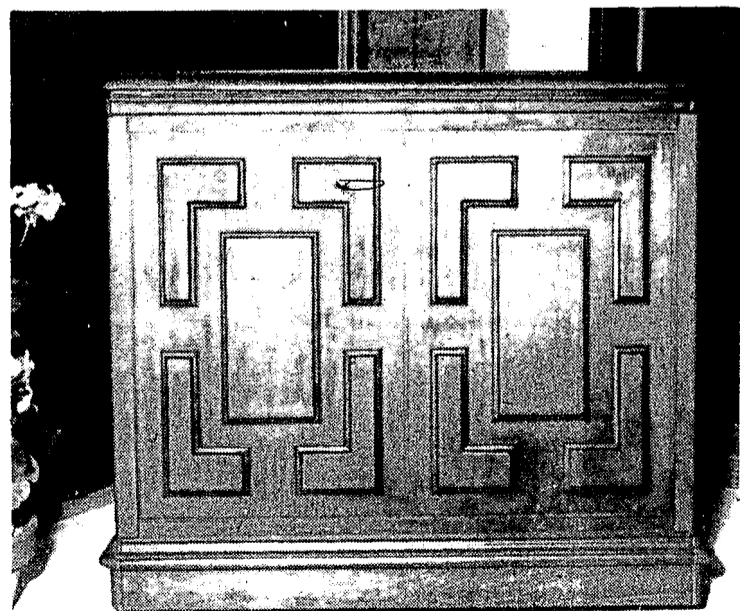

I am sending you an account of a trip that I took to Tiawan.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Hazel Moore

A trip to Taiwan

Part I.

by Mrs. Hazel Moore

Our China Airline jet left Naha, Okinawa at 9 p.m. on November 26. The plane was chartered by the Okinawa Tourist Service for more than 125 DOD teachers. It was a good flight and we arrived in Taipei in an hour. We stayed at the Ambassador Hotel which is one of Taipei's best hotels. The tour service was excellent. World travelers eventually get used to customs, etc., but it is still very new to me.

Several buses were waiting to take us to our hotel. Taipei is Taiwan's largest city with a population of 1½ million people. We tried to see everything on our way to the hotel. Our Taiwan (English speaking) guide talked all the way to the hotel.

Shops are open until midnight every night so many of the travelers went shopping that night. We toured the city and suburbs all the next day.

A special Thanksgiving dinner was given for us at a downtown restaurant. It was in the traditional American style with turkey, dressing, and pumpkin pie.

We visited an Aboriginal village 20 miles south of the city, in the mountains. They aren't as primitive as they were, years ago and "no heads have been taken in the last 50 years."

The bus trip out there was unbelievable! The driver had one hand on the horn almost constantly and sailed through very narrow, congested streets and country roads. People, on foot or bicycle, competed with motorcycles, cars, trucks and buses for the right of way. It seemed that whoever got there first won. I didn't dare ride in the front seat of the bus. My nerves would have been tied in knots. The traffic flow is even worse than in Naha, on Okinawa.

Friday we breakfasted early and were bused to the train station. About 35 of us took the 2-day tour to central Taiwan and Sun Moon Lake. It took us 3 hours by tourist express train and then 3 hours by bus to reach this resort area, high in the mountains.

We arrived in the season of harvest. All the land is terraced, right up the mountains, and grows something useful. We saw rice, sugar cane, garden vegetables, banana groves, tea, ginko nut, and camphor trees growing. Whole families were out harvesting rice or working on their plots of ground. The people have a hard life and a low standard of living. Every one was very friendly and went out of his way to speak with us. They speak good English, much better than any other people I have met, except in Curacao last year.

The people speak different dialects and communicate with each other in English.

The Chinese language has a distinctly different sound from the Okinawan, nor do they resemble each other in physical features.

***

Next week Mrs. Moore will take you to a Buddhist Temple and through a Chinese Recreation Center.
