Jim's Jottings

Vincent O'Shee is a medical doctor in the intercity, he says. He's also Irish and he doesn't have to tell you that. You can tell by his brogue, constant chatter and ability to tittle, occasionally.

At a party last week he started telling tales, one of which was about taking his dog to a veterinarian. He compared the vet to a kindly old general practitioner. I likened it in my mind to the one Norman Rockwell drew of the family physician. A gentle man with warmth and affection for dogs, Vince said.

It's hard to get an Irishman to shorten a good story, and he didn't, but it turned out this general practitioner veterinarian was a consultant. He diagnosed Vince's dog's problem as stones in his bladder, sent him to a veterinary surgeon, and said $4.00 please.

It was rewarding to hear an M.D. tell the rest of the tale. The specialist re-checked the dog all over, took x-rays, determined that the dog had stones in his bladder. From then on the Irish doctor took us through the operation, convalescence, and complete recovery, then added, "I don't even like the stupid dog in the first place."

One more dog story. Remember my writing about dentist Jim Arcure of Rochester putting a gold inlay in a dog? It replaced one large, canine tooth that had broken. The dog had been trained at the Rochester Leader Dogs for the Blind School.

I was in Rochester recently talking to Harold Pockington, who has been manager of the place for many years. I asked about the dog and Pock chuckled.

He said, "Yeah, that was quite a story. You know I used to pose with that dog a lot and I'd tell this story as I traveled the countryside.

"I posed with that dog so much, holding the lip out and up for the camera and visitors, that that dog seemed to get real proud of his gold tooth. In fact," Pock said, "it got so the dog would sort of tip his head, and kind of raise his lip by himself whenever a camera came near."

There's a guy in town who is trying to get the idea over to his wife about things slowing down a bit, and that they should curtail

Win in Primary

Jones, Westlund and Davison were the winners in the primary race for Village Trustee. With their victory they have gained a spot on the ballot for the March 9th election, where they will be opposed by Ruth Basinger, Jack Hagen and Gerald Hennig.

Complete returns are as follows:
Donald Cooper, unopposed for president, 78.

Artemus Pappas, unopposed for clerk, 80.

Mary Ann Pappas, unopposed for spending for a while. He told her not to write any checks for one week.

He said she didn't either. However, she asked him for an extra $20 each day.

Senator Phil Hart's note to Mrs. Ronk on her retirement had the best expression of all, I think. It said, in part, "No political words can take the place of the community recognition being given you." So true, and the only politician who expressed it so simply.

Ralph Thayer, unopposed for assessor, 82.

Robert C. Jones, trustee, 59.

David K. Westlund, trustee, 55.

Leonard F. Davison, trustee, 50.

E. Nelson Kimball, trustee, 49.

Ronald R. Draper, trustee, 24.

Approximately 100 ballots were cast.

Appointments

Monday night the Independence Township Board made two appointments to fill vacancies on the planning commission and a constable post.

Frank Reynolds of Waterford Hill Terrace was reappointed to the planning board. He replaces Jerry Anderson, who resigned last month. Reynolds served on the Commission previously, but resigned when he had to fulfill a service commitment.

Kenneth E. Wilson is the new constable. He will fill the unexpired term of Kenneth Pawley who has moved from the area.

The Board met Monday night instead of Tuesday this week.

Crash kills O'ville man

Robert L. Anderson, 40, 576 Allen Rd., Ortonville, was killed at 7:30 a.m. on February 16 in a car-bus collision on M-15 just north of the I-75 overpass.

Anderson, according to reports, was stopped, waiting to turn into a gas station when another car rammed the rear end and pushed his car across the median and into a Clarkston school bus which was proceeding in the northbound lane.

The school bus was preparing to pick up its first passengers on the morning run, according to school authorities. It was driven by Lila Robinson, 40, of Pontiac.

Anderson, the father of 3 children, died at the scene of the accident.

Youth injured in fall

A 13-year-old youth was injured when the minibike on which he was a passenger hit a bump and flipped over.

Daniel Evans, 13, 2053 Kohler, Drayton Plains, according to County Sheriff's reports, was the passenger on the bike driven by Allen Stamper, 13, of Sashabaw Road.

The boys were riding on private property at 3:30 p.m. on February 14. Deputies stated that Evans was injured.

Name homemaker of tomorrow

Ellen D. Sweet, 17, has been named Clarkston High School's 1970 Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow." Selected on the basis of her score in a December 2 homemaking knowledge and attitudes examination for which a record 646,041 senior girls in the nation's high schools were enrolled, she is now eligible for state and national honors. She will receive a silver charm from the sponsors of the contest.

"I'm delighted to win. The test surprised me. It didn't really have too many questions about cooking or sewing or the things that we think of as home-maker knowledge. It dealt with reasoning and making decisions," said Ellen.

Ellen lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davis, her 2 brothers, 20 and 14, and a sister, 12, on Allen road. The family moved here last year from Lapeer.

"Ellen was a born homemaker," said her mother. "Everything about it just comes naturally to her."

Sewing is Ellen's favorite pastime. She has been making her own clothes since she was in the 7th grade. She plays the piano, but is strictly a spectator when it comes to sports.

An above average student, she carries a B+ average in her studies and plans to attend Oakland University and work toward a career in the field of social work.

"I think that my interest in the home will make me a better candidate for this kind of work," said Ellen.

The test papers of all school winners in the state are currently undergoing additional judging, and a State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named in March.

Rabies clinic scheduled in Ortonville

On February 22 the Oakland County Division of Animal Welfare has scheduled a clinic for rabies inoculation at the Brandon-Ortonville fire hall in Ortonville. The clinic will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. The fee for each dog will be $2.00.

A 1969 act of the State Legislature will make it mandatory after March 19, 1970 that proof of inoculation will be required when purchasing animal licenses throughout the entire state.

The Animal Welfare Division of Oakland County is proud of the 1969 record when there were no confirmed cases of rabies in Oakland County.

Thirteen cases were reported in the state but, for the first time in history, none of the cases were in cats or dogs but in wild animals.

"In the opinion of animal control authorities," said Dr. Hugh Wilson, Director of the County Animal Welfare Division, "it is necessary to immunize all animals to continue to keep the situation under control. There is a known reservoir of the disease in encircling counties as well as Mexico, Ontario and some southern states. Modern day transportation creates a constant threat."

On February 21 a clinic will be held at the Oakland Township Hall, 4393 Collins Road, Goodison, and on February 28 one will be held at the Central Garage, County Service Center at 1200 N. Telegraph Road.

Armchair travels

A trip to Taiwan

PART 2

By Mrs. Hazel Moore

Saturday we visited the world's largest Buddha (72 ft. high), a temple and other areas around the lake. The Monks are "branded" by 9 burns on their shaven heads. There are male and female monks. They dress the same and look alike. They pray to their Gods and then toss 2 moon-shaped blocks three times to see if their prayers will be answered.

While the Chinese were praying, we were taken through the temple. It seemed like a common occurrence and nobody seemed to mind at all.

Our boat pilot was a Chinese woman and she was quite capable. We were advised that if we took pictures of any Chinese at Sun Moon Lake we would be expected to pay each person 10 cents (American money).

We lunched at 11:30 a.m. and made our way to the train station at Taichung and arrived back in Taipei at the hotel with only 10 minutes to spare before leaving again on a night tour of the new Recreation Center to see the night-life activities of the Chinese. I will never forget that night!

The bus took us through an area of the city that reminded me of the Michigan State Fair in Detroit. But it is like this every night. Outdoor restaurants, milling people and children, merged with young people on motorcycles or bicycles.

Foods I had never seen before were sitting out in the open, uncovered.

We attended a funeral for a few minutes. Our guide described the procedures in a loud voice and it was no surprise to the Chinese.

That night I saw my first Cobra. The attendant let it loose on top of its cage and I was standing in the front of the crowd - about 5 feet away. Next he put a loop around its head and skinned it. Our guide drank the "bile sac" with some kind of fluid. He said it is the Chinese medicine for arthritis or rheumatism.

The new recreation center had 8 floors. We started by first going to a Mongolian Bar-B-Q and we attended 14 different activities after that. Our guide led us in and seated us, explained whatever was going on in a loud voice so all could hear (in English). Then after watching for about 15 minutes he would clap his hands and hold up both arms, which was our signal to follow him to the next activity.

At the classical opera I was shocked to hear him and others talk so loudly while the audience was listening to the performance.

"The Chinese expect the audience to do this," he explained.

The things we saw were of Chinese culture of the old days except the Rock and Roll. The noise here was terrific and I was glad to return to the hotel.

Sunday morning we went on a shopping tour to some government sponsored shops. We returned to the airport after lunch to catch our plane back to Okinawa.

Is your home going to turn into a desert this winter?

In wintertime, people in houses with flame-type heating wake up mornings with that stuffed-up feeling. With hoarse, dry throats. Furniture dries out and starts creaking.

Sound familiar? You bet it does. The best way to stop it is with electric heat.

You see, electric heat isn't a dry or drying heat.

So you usually don't need a humidifier. The moisture from bathing and cooking is all you need for natural comfort.

An Edison-Approved Electric Heating Contractor will be glad to tell you all about comfortable, moisture-retaining electric heat. He'll figure your operating cost, and there'll be no obligation. And right now, your contractor's offering a $100 trade-in on your old heating system. Call him for an electric heat survey, or mail the coupon below.

He'll show you how to turn your desert into an oasis.

Hearing

Undetected hearing loss can result in juvenile delinquency, according to a recent study in Kansas. Researchers there found a high number of reform school children with hearing loss.

None of the ear problems had been detected, and parents and teachers described the children as stubborn, withdrawn, retarded and delinquent. Sometimes the child failed to pass school grades, or just dropped out of school.

About 10% of the nation's school children are believed to have some hearing disability, with 3% severe enough to need treatment. But not all states have screening programs to detect these problems, and most of those that do exist are limited to the early years.

That means a hearing loss in later childhood or adolescence must be severe, if it's going to be detected. In Kansas, for instance, some hearing problems of older boys may result from gun blasts while hunting, and from tractor noises. In any part of the country, ear problems can develop from large or infected tonsils or adenoids, allergies and sinus infections.

Experts agree that when a child is doing badly in school, both his sight and hearing should be carefully checked.

Instruct your children not to pick into the ear canal with tooth picks, hair pins or similarly dangerous objects, since this can lead to an infection in the canal or may puncture the ear drum.

INSPIRATIONAL GUIDELINES

A prophetic statesman

George Washington not only provided superb leadership to make our embryonic republic work, but guidelines which are still timely and sound. This is particularly true of his Farewell Address which he used to give advice for the future. This future still has not been fully realized and many of his words can serve as a challenge today.

For example, in administering the affairs of the new government of the United States, he urged "efficient management" with "as much vigor as is consistent with the perfect security of liberty." He said, "Liberty itself will find in such a government, with powers properly distributed and adjusted, its surest guardian."

He valued religion highly, saying, "It is substantially true that virtue or morality is a necessary spring of popular government." Our

Love is crowding the world

By Jim Fitzgerald

These days, half the stories in newspapers and magazines say there are too many people. The other half tell about people who would be long dead except the brilliant doctors won't let them die.

So go explain it to your children.

At one end, we're trying to plug the baby flow. But the poor people, who can't afford kids, also can't afford to have them aborted. And they can't afford the pill, or maybe they can't read and don't even know what birth control is.

The birth stoppers say it should be against the law for any couple to have more than 2 kids. They say the government must reach these over-productive mothers and feed them pills and give them abortions.

Otherwise, in 50 years it will be so crowded you'll need armed guards to keep squatters off the 18th green. You want to putt through a family of 6?

Any fool can see that we got trouble right here in Crowded City. But look at the other end. Already there have been people kept alive through the benefit of 3 hearts each. The valentine poets must be going nuts searching for rhymes for transplant.

You need a liver or a kidney or whatever? Put in your order. Or maybe you're just plain old and you need a few dozen tubes to stay alive. Tubes into your nose and mouth and veins, constantly pumping life to displace death. Hospitals are full of people who might as well be in cemeteries.

The brain can be gone. Absolutely no communication possible. Complete coma. But such people are kept alive through the miracle of science and medicine. Sometimes just for days beyond the minute when they should have been allowed to die in dignity. And sometimes for years. While the family suffers and the savings disappear.

But no one dares say "Forget 1 tube for 1 second. Let him die." That would be illegal, unchristian, immoral and besides, what if the neighbors found out? A new miracle drug might be discovered tomorrow; we can't give up hope. Can we?

So who is going to tell a sorrowing wife that her husband of 50 years should be allowed to die? Who is going to withhold the capsule, jerk out the tube?

Who is going to say there are too many people; that we all are going to die someday; and it would be nicer for the world if a few fatally sick people die today instead of tomorrow? Including your husband.

Who is going to promote doom in the interests of balancing the herd with the grazing land? Not me. The 2nd worst job in the world would be telling a family that their loved one is being dumped for the greater good of the world.

The 1st worst job would be enforcing the law that says no couple should have more than 2 children. How are you going to do that without feeling like a storm trooper?

It's not going to stop me from laughing, but there's no denying the tough days ahead. To do my part, I insist my family make no unusual efforts to prolong my life. When I cease to function, I want to go with no stalling around just because Dr Kildare is stubborn and Blue Cross is solvent.

Sorry, but it's too late to do anything about our 3rd kid. But I'd sure like to see some bureaucrat convince my wife we shouldn't have had him. Wow.

Hate causes many problems in this world. But when you begin messing with life, at the beginning or the end, you discover that Love can be a problem, too.

first President also emphasized the need for education when he said that, "In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened."

He also saw the need for government economy, expressing his opinion that public credit should be cherished as an important source of strength and security. "One method of preserving it," he said, "is to use it as sparingly as possible, avoiding occasions of expense by cultivating peace, but remembering also that timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it."

When he talked about the need for patriotism he showed both eloquence and wisdom:

"Citizens, by birth or choice, of a common country, that country has a right to concentrate your affections. The name of American, which belongs to you in your national capacity, must always exalt the just pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local discrimination. With slight shades of difference, you have the same religion, manners, habits and political principles. You have in a common cause fought and triumphed together; the independence and liberty you possess are the work of joint counsels, and joint efforts of common dangers, sufferings and successes."

Truly his words retain their validity as we seek answers to the problems of our day.

Matmen win league title

By Lou Lessard

The Clarkston Wolves' wrestling team ended their dual meet season last Wednesday by defeating Holly (48-5). This gave the Wolves an impressive dual record of 12-1 this season. Tom Jones, Al Knake and Virgil Martin remained undefeated in these meets for the entire season.

In a close and hard fought battle the Clarkston matmen won the league championship last Saturday. Although they received some set-backs in the preliminary rounds, the Wolves remained strong to come out on top with a score of 83. Waterford Kettering took second with 77 points and Milford had 66 points to take third.

The Wolves deserve a lot of credit for the job they did. Their team unity, which could have been a deciding factor, was impressive. No wrestler from Clarkston ever took to the mat without his teammates being there to encourage him. When he came off the mat, whether he had won or lost, his team was still behind him. It took a close-knit team to win on Saturday.

Clarkston had only two individual champions. Mike Packer took the 98 pound weight class title by defeating Larry Bridgewater in the finals by an overtime referee's decision.

Tom Jones (145 pound class) took the other first for Clarkston by defeating Dennis from Kettering in the finals 6-2. Second places for Clarkston went to Bill Williams (130 pound class), Al Knake (155 pound class), Virgil Martin (175 pound class), and Pat Rose (185 pound class).

The only third for Clarkston went to Jeff Quigley (137 pound class).

Clarkston had three fourth places, Lou Lessard (107 pound class), Bud Mumbower (115 pound class), and Al Hamilton (165 pound class).

Clarkston will wrestle in its district tournament Saturday at Pontiac Northern.

Wolverines hit 95

Clarkston Junior High's 9th grade basketball team rolled to a 95 to 69 victory over Milford Highland last Thursday.

The win was the 7th for the Wolverines against only 3 defeats, and avenged an earlier loss to Highland in early December.

Every player saw action and scored with coach Dave McDonald using a shuffle system of substituting with 10-14 boys playing at some time during every quarter. Scoring leaders were: Bruce Soulbey, 21 points; Bill Hamilton, 18 points; Dave Partlo, 16 points; Rick Hunt, 8 points; and Thor Olafsson, 7 points.

Cougars break loose

By John Abbott

Sashabaw Jr. High broke loose with a strong defense and steady offense, as they gained a six point lead over Detroit Country Day, in the first quarter in their game on February 9.

The Cougars' second period was no exception as they posted 28 points, to Detroit's 5 points, and the Cougars had a 21-point lead at half time.

In the third period, the Cougars' defense allowed more points than any other quarter of the game. The teams scoring was slowed temporarily, as they scored 10 points.

The Cougars scored easily in the fourth quarter. Terry Green was high scorer for Sashabaw, with 15 points. The final score was Sashabaw 60, and Detroit Country Day 24.

The Cougars will travel to Milford Highland on Thursday, Feb. 19th.

Mustangs throw Wolves

By Dan Hallman

The Clarkston Wolves came close, but not close enough as they bowed to the Northville Mustangs by a score of 71 to 66. It was a combination of things that caused the Wolves to fall this time. The Mustangs were just a little stronger in all categories.

Terry Mills directed the Northville assault with his alert defense and fine floor play. Bernie Bach, a junior for the Mustangs, controlled both the offensive and defensive backboards with aggressive rebounding. But it was the fine shooting of Ron Hubbard, a senior, which finally led to the Wolves' downfall.

The Mustangs jumped off to an early lead and kept it up through the third quarter. The Wolves would not be denied and they kept the score reasonably close but the Mustangs went into the locker room leading 33-27.

Northville couldn't find the range from the charity line, however, as they combined for a poor 17 for 34. As it turned out, this statistic kept Clarkston in the game.

The fine shooting of Steve Warman and Bruce Hardy brought the Clarkston team back to tie the score at 59-59 late in the fourth quarter, but Mills and Hubbard iced the game with fine shooting in the final two minutes.

Hubbard took the game honors with 26, and Clarkston's Don Brown checked in with 19.

Friday the Wolves will entertain the Milford Redskins. Milford beat the Wolves the last time these two teams met, but the Wolves are hoping for different results this time. Milford is led by Gary Neighbors, Mike Monnier, and Tom Harris.

UPSIE — and right out of the picture. Larry Raschella, head of Pine Knob's ski school, executes a maneuver that puts him in the professional class.

A-One skier

By Jean Sura

In one sense, Larry Raschella has come home.

Nine years ago, at the suggestion of some young ladies, Larry put on a pair of skis for the first time at the Pine Knob Ski Resort and became what he calls a "Survival Skier." Today Larry is the head of the ski school at the same area.

In the interim, the 5-foot, 9-inch, slender Grosse Pointer has acquired 3 years of college; he has completed 200 missions as a helicopter crew chief in Vietnam. He has spent 1 year in an army hospital while his shattered right arm was repaired. He has been decorated with the Air medal with 2 bronze oak leaf clusters and a V device for valor and heroism and the purple heart.

In addition, he has been certified to teach the American parallel technique of skiing, as well as the American technique which is approved by the CUSSA and the G.L.M. technique, which deals with the length of the skis.

"We use the American technique in our classes at Pine Knob," said Raschella. "It is best suited for our circumstances. It teaches defensive skiing and starts with the snow plow. Many of our students take one or two lessons and then feel capable of handling the gentle slopes of Southern Michigan, so we feel it necessary to give them this training. Normally, if we were able to teach them for a period of one whole week this would not be necessary. It is because of necessity then, that we teach the stem turn and stem christie as exercises leading to the parallel, instead of the direct American parallel method."

While Larry was hospitalized at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, he hitch-hiked to Camelback, a resort in the Pocono Mountains where he not only polished his own skiing skill, but became an instructor. He also has instructed at Jay Peak in Vermont.

This season, Larry heads a ski school at Pine Knob that boasts of 30 instructors (4 of them women). All classes are held to a maximum of 10 students if possible.

Yes, Larry Raschella, survival skier, has come home a professional, to Pine Knob, to run one of the finest ski schools in the area.

Larry Raschella, head of the ski school at Pine Knob, demonstrates proper ski position for his students.

Milford Mason, left, principal; James Chamberlain, teacher, and James A. Sherman, publisher, study the questions on the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Test.

Area girls become "Candy Strippers"

Three Clarkston girls, Beverly Hanson, Snow Apple; Christine Watterworth, Bridge Lake Road and Dingena Weeks, Snow Apple, received their uniforms and became full-fledged Candy Strippers at Pontiac General Hospital on January 30.

Candy Strippers are a group of girls from 16 to 18 who are recommended by their counselor and successfully pass a screening committee at the hospital.

After completing 12 hours of training, they are presented with the red and white uniform which enables them to work at the hospital, feeding patients, reading to patients, assisting with children patients, doing clerical work and fulfilling other volunteer needs.

The experience gives them a complete view of the hospital work, and, it is hoped, will interest them in pursuing studies that will enable them to become a permanent part of the medical profession. The Candy Strippers are sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary program. Mrs. Richard Jorgensen presented the girls with their uniforms at the completion of their training.

The cap, which accompanies the uniform of the Candy Stripper, is only awarded after the girls have completed 30 hours of volunteer assignments.

Halloween candy?" one question asked.

"I checked my answer honestly," said Mr. Sherman. "I checked the one that said that if they didn't stop fighting they would all be sent to bed.

"Deciding right or wrong in many instances on the test was just a matter of opinion. It would have been easy to put the answer that I knew was wanted, but I am an honorable man. Like George Washington, I could not tell a lie."

This flurry of conversation came when the results of the test were disclosed and it was announced that Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Mason had won with a tie score. They scored 65 out of a possible 90.

Mr. Sherman also took the test.

It's sew nice

By Jean Sura

It's nice to have a man around the house, especially if he can cook and sew.

When the opportunity arose to broaden the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Search to find the man in the community who would top the field, we couldn't resist.

Because of a serious shortage of tests and time we limited the contestants to an easily available representative group of three: James Chamberlain, teacher; Milford Mason, principal; and James Sherman, publisher.

On December 2, the same day the test was administered to the girls, the three dredged up all vestiges of culinary information, checked all available lore on flat-felled seams and crocheted buttonholes and sat for the test.

One of the first questions asked was what they would make for dinner if they had only one hour to prepare the meal and then gave them a choice of swiss steak, liver, flank steak or chuck roast.

With typical male appetite, they all selected one of the steak dishes. Naturally, they were all wrong. Liver, which cooks in mere minutes and doesn't require much handling, would have won a point.

All three of the gentlemen were equally distressed at the methods from which they were allowed to choose to measure $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of shortening. None of them were aware that shortening can be measured by placing $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of water in a measuring cup and then spooning shortening into the water until it brings the level of the water to the top of the cup.

Questions about welt, wale and bias of material proved equally unpopular with all of the valiant threesome. Nor did any of them know that when sewing a plaid garment it is wise to buy extra material to allow the seamstress to match the pattern in the plaid.

Many of the questions asked required the type of decisions that parents must make in raising children.

Setting up the clock

"Cleaned me a little German clock yesterday," says big Gene Lowstrom.

"Take a deep breath and hold it," Doc tells him.

"Bet you don't know," chuckles big Gene, "what German clock I'm talking about."

"My time is limited," Doc snaps at him. "Take a deep breath, hold it and shut your big mouth for a minute. Can't hear you anyway with this earthworm analyzer in my ears."

"Can I breathe now? Please Mr. Doctor, Sir?" asks Lowstrom, after Doc has thumped him pretty good on the back and chest. "If I bring a note from home can I please tell you how I cleaned the little German clock?"

"'Spose there's no way to shut you up," Doc grumps. "'Spose you're going to tell me another story about how unbelievably cute and clever you are."

"Clever, you say? Cute, you say? Yes, I'll have to admit that it was a pretty good trick to clean the German clock. You do know him, Doc. You're always telling me he's really not stupid at all. Know who I mean, Doc?"

"Don't know," Doc barks at him, "and I sure don't really care to hear you blow steam about how you've fooled someone else. Just don't have time to listen to your long-winded story about how you wheeled and dealt. You never did impress me as having much respect for your fellow man or the truth. Tell Nurse Annie that I want you to come back for another check in about 30 days."

"OK, Doc," Gene quips, "if you don't want to hear about how I conned Herman Klok out of $7500, I'll tell old Tugboat the yarn. Feel so good about it I'm just bustin' to pop off to somebody. Turned the trick this very morning."

"Well, now," says Doc, just about cooing, "you think that after trying all these years you finally put one over on little Herman. Don't know what you did, but I'm not too much concerned about your fooling Herman. That is, I don't give you credit for out-thinking him. You may have cheated him or persuaded him to believe one of your outlandish lies but you didn't get the best of him on anything honest."

Big Gene slapped his leg at that remark. Laughed and laughed. "Didn't say a misleading word, Doc. Just let him talk me into selling him that land-locked $7\frac{1}{2}$ acres of mine that the new highway cut off from the old road. Didn't tell him anything about it. Just answered his questions real truthful."

"What questions he ask you?" Doc queries. "Fact is," Gene says, rubbing his chin like he's trying to remember exact, "fact is, I guess the only question he asks me is 'how much'. Got my money out of it when the highway left her marooned. Never could persuade Bob Spring to give me an easement to get in or out from the $7\frac{1}{2}$ acres. Said he wouldn't sell an easement to anyone for less than \$20,000. Robber!"

"Don't blame Bob for that," says Doc. "Seems like I remember a shady deal on what was supposed to be a genuine antique Oldsmobile."

"Bob Spring is always bragging on how he's such an old car buff. Can't help it if he believed me. I'm no expert. Anyways, Bob at least can speak English pretty good. He don't have no German accent like old Herman does. Lived here 10 year and he's still got that goofy accent. Property would be worth 5 times the $7500 I got for it if it just didn't happen to be landlocked. Little old German Klok didn't happen to ask about that or natural I would of told him."

Doc's huffing and puffing and mumbling something about dirty cheat while he dials Bob Spring on the phone. Gets him.

"You got a piece of property for sale just off the Super?" Doc asks Bob. "Oh, sold her, did you? Mind if I ask who bought it? You say it was Herman Klok? Well, thanks for the info, Bob."

Then Doc slow puts down the phone and turns to red-faced Gene.

"First off," Doc tells him, "your stupid little German sucker isn't stupid and second off, he isn't German. He's from Holland. Far as the accent is concerned, the poor little feller has an accent in six languages. Tell me next time about how smart you are, Gene. Sure slickered yourself this time. Sure did."

GIRL SCOUT

Clarkston Neighborhood Girl Scouts celebrated their Annual Thinking Day Rally on Wednesday, February 18 in the Junior High gymnasium.

The Clarkston Neighborhood group is composed of Girl Scouts from Andersonville and Clarkston Elementaries, Clarkston Junior High and Clarkston Senior High.

Over three hundred girls and 70 adults honored the Girl Scout program by recognizing the 43 member countries all over the world dedicated the principles of Girl Scouting. Through voluntary contributions, girls and adults in the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts help strengthen and extend their principles wherever the need seems greatest.

Special recognition was given to sister World Association Guides and Scouts by the Clarkston Girl Scouts when they appeared in the uniforms and carried the flags of these 43 foreign countries.

Juliette Low, founder of Scouting in the United States was symbolized in the dress of her years, receiving each individual troop's contribution.

By giving their funds for Friendship, the Scouts make needed program tools available at the World Association Centers: Sangam, Our Cabana and Our Chalet. They make more international opportunities available for USA Girl Scouts. They also bring more Guides and Scouts to visit throughout the USA. They send leaders and advisors into remote areas to start new and re-establish old troops.

The USA has two international centers which are the Edith Macy Training Center near Pleasantville, New York and Girl Scout National Center West in Wyoming.

Troops in charge of arrangements for the 1970 Thinking Day Rally were Brownie Troop 692, Junior Troops 880 and 453.

A recruiting drive has been scheduled for all first grade girls in the Clarkston school system on February 24 at 4:15 p.m. at the Clarkston Elementary School by the Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls. Both girls and leaders will be sought to form new Blue Bird groups.

The Blue Bird level of the Camp Fire Girls program features small groups of from six to ten girls who meet once a week in the homes of the leaders to learn to work and play together in harmony.

All mothers of interested girls should plan to attend the meeting. Camp Fire Girls are a member of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

MA CA KI YA

The girls of the MaCaKiYa group attend "Something every Saturday Program" at the Detroit Institute of Art. They are in the midst of a contest which will give credit for attendance, remembering dues, reading books, wearing uniforms, and beads that are earned.

80 WA DI TA KA

This ambitious group are learning to knit and their first project is making an afghan. They are also busily engaged in making seed valentines for Indian children. They took time out from their projects to visit the Coca Cola Bottling Co. in Pontiac. After touring the plant they were treated to a "Coke."

An area leaders' meeting is being planned for Campfire Girls' Birthday week. Area service projects that are scheduled are making cookies and sending them to service men in Vietnam and presenting a birthday gift to the Independence Township Library.

Displays of the various projects will be placed in the schools and the Clarkston News Office during Birthday Week which is March 15 to 23.

The area mothers will hold their next meeting on March 4th.

Unit 166

A skating party with a bonfire and topped with hot chocolate and marshmallows was a highlight for the month of January for the girls of Unit 166.

On January 23 they visited the Fisher Body Plant in Pontiac to see how the Pontiac car is made, and stopped on the way home for snacks.

Unit 0115

This Blue Bird group has been busy making seed valentines for the American Indian Service Project.

Sunny Daisies

The Sunny Daisies enjoyed a skating party recently.

The birds in their neighborhood are singing just a little louder as they enjoy the pine cone, peanut butter and bird seed treats the girls made for them.

Star light, star right

by Jean Sura

Have you read your horoscope lately? It's the latest thing. If you don't read your directions from the stars it's hardly worth getting out of bed in the morning. You just "ain't got no couth!"

I decided I had better not be gauche (that is a word that means lacking social grace). Isn't it a dandy?

Bearing all this in mind, one morning last week I hunched into my husband's old sheepskin lined coat, tucked my pajama legs in some big, old boots and headed for the end of the driveway and the paper. I prayed all the way out and back that the neighbors were busy doing their work and not looking out the window. I would see what the stars predicted for the life of a Libra.

Back in the house I opened the paper to the Horoscope section. Here was what it said. "Home life comes under favorable influences today. Thoughtfulness advances career efforts very nicely. It is not often that you get a chance to help Cupid, but you have the opportunity to do so now!"

That's what it said. So help me!

The favorable influence happened to be that my husband had been up all night enjoying a case of the flu.

"You bet there is a favorable influence around this house today," he said. "I've stopped throwing up!"

"Yes, but you are an Aries and this luck is for a Libra. Are you sure you feel better?" I asked.

The look he gave me sent my attention flying back to the paper. So I read on to the next line. "Thoughtfulness advances your career."

"Hmhmhmhm, I'd better be full of thought," I thought.

Just then the phone rang. It was the office. The weekly edition was off the press and the pictures on the front page were all mixed up.

"Thoughtfulness, smoughtfulness," I muttered, "much more of that kind of mix-up and there ain't gonna' be no career."

Still trying to be a believer I went on to the last prediction of the stars for that day.

"It is not often that you get a chance to help Cupid, but you have the opportunity to do so now."

Wonderful — they finally clicked on something. Just how do you suppose the stars figured out that I planned to shop for Valentines for all those wonderful grandchildren, that very day? Astounding!

Encouraged, I decided to give it a try another day.

The next morning it was the same driveway, the same coat, same boots, same prayer.

"Libra, your personal life must be kept clear of your professional life at present," the article began.

You had better believe that I can't take dirty dishes to the office. There is no hot water.

"Delegate more authority to younger people," it continued.

"Come on, you lazy little ragamuffins, put down those rattles and sweep the ashes, clean the dishes, dust the floor. I'm sick and tired of you all just sitting around looking cute." I really told those grandkids.

The last part of the prediction really had me filled with intrigue. "Incoming mails should be very interesting."

Who knows, maybe the mailman is bringing a nice letter, or better still, a check.

"He probably is bringing a stack of bills," said the old optimist.

I'll give this horoscope business a couple more tries — but really — I'm from Missouri.

The parents of Rebecca Maciuszek, Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Maciuszek of Livonia, announce her engagement to Terry Dutcher. Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Dutcher of Clarkston. Rebecca and Terry are Michigan State University students. A September 12 wedding is planned.

"Our 55 years of successful marriage doesn't have anything to do with good management," said Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Jones of N. Holcomb Street. "It is a plain and simple case of good luck." The couple, who will celebrate the anniversary of their marriage on February 27, have 3 sons, Gordon, who lives in Drayton Plains, Ralph, whose home is on Warbler and Walter, of North Branch.

Roadbuilders meet in the Bahamas

By Barb Humphreys

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mandilk of Church Street are happy to be home, but they have many pleasant memories of a week spent in the Bahamas recently. They were part of a group attending the Michigan Roadbuilders Convention. Even though the main purpose was business, there was still time for lots of golf, which they both enjoy.

It may have been a little late, but Mrs. Edward Vallad (Sandy Ryckman) was pleasantly surprised last week by a call from her husband who is in Hongkong. He called to wish her "Happy Birthday." Sandy has been staying with her parents, the Don Ryckmans of Dubuque, while Ed was in Vietnam. She has now moved to her own apartment and is busy furnishing and decorating in preparation for his return in March.

Last Saturday was the occasion of a very happy birthday for Mrs. Ada Bemis of Pontiac. Her family gathered at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fairse and children, Nancy, Brad and Ann, on Almond Lane to celebrate her 70th birthday. Another daughter, the Chester Drobeks and Jeri, Teri and Julie came from Pontiac, as did the great-grandchildren, Billy, Vincent, Gail, Cheryl and Lori with their parents, the Bill Blands. Mr. and Mrs. Ron Chidester, Ken and Ronny drove over from Rochester to be with grandmother on this happy day.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bullen of Robertson Court hosted a surprise birthday party for Charlie Robinson, also of Robertson Court, on a recent Tuesday evening. Many friends gathered in the French Cellar at Howe's Lanes for the cocktail party and dinner and enjoyed the music of Mickey Gonzales. Charlie was caught completely by surprise because he thought the party was to be held on Wednesday.

Our volunteer firemen held their annual dinner for the wives last week. Sixty people attended the affair in the French Cellar of Howe's Lanes.

A group of Clarkston Area Jaycees attended the Jaycee "Winter State Meeting" in Flint on February 13 and 14. The group received the U.S. Jaycee Banner award, which is a 50th anniversary membership award. There were 57 chapters out of 262 chapters receiving this honor. The following members and their wives attended: Jerry Bradley, Terry Kelley, Jerry Powell, Mike Thayer, Bob Jones, Gary Rollison, Don Celtson, Don Hamaker, Mike Simonson, Jerry Darling, Bob Smith, John Powe, Harold Morgan and Art Ripley. Also attending the meetings were Dick Powe, Mike Madison, Mrs. Carl Gusie and Dick Wilton.

The February meeting of the Jaycettes was held at the home of Mrs. Jerry Bradley on Snowapple. There were twenty-three members present and guests included Mrs. Dave Nadolsky, Mrs. Larry Ettinger, president of the Waterford Jaycettes; Mrs. Bruce Sias, Mrs. Ralph Richard, Mrs. Al Ruckey and Mrs. Jerry Wasker, all of Waterford. Sworn in as new members were Mrs. Al Strom, Mrs. Steve Barnett and Mrs. Garth Gordon.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Terry Kelley, Mrs. Terry Lopucki and Mrs. Rod Allen. While in Flint at the State Board meeting our ladies received a "Q" award for their pumpkin pie sale held last October. The proceeds from this event were donated to the library fund.

On a recent Thursday evening, fourteen of these busy Jaycees and their wives took about sixty children from the Fairlawn Center of Pontiac State Hospital snowmobiling. Two of the snowmobiles were donated by Evans Equipment and with four others available, it was hard to tell who had more fun, the kids or the adults.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waters and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bullen hosted a coffee for Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk in the Waters' home on Robertson Court.

About 40 business people and old friends of Mrs. Ronk came and offered their congratulations on her retirement.

Mrs. Gladys Sherwood, of Seymour

Lake reports Mrs. Cleve Chamberlain, Fred Chamberlain and Mrs. Lester Howe of Waterford attended the funeral of their brother and uncle, Calvin Lindaman of Roscommon on Monday.

Four of the many area girls receiving their "caps" from Lourdes Nursing Home last Tuesday evening were: Therese Morrow, Cathy Connelly, Scarlett Hysen and Brenda Lewis. These girls have put in many hours of hard work and now these "Lourdettes" will continue to help the patients and Sisters in every possible way.

Girl Scouts

Troop 907

On Wednesday, Feb. 11, Junior Girl Scout Troop 907 of Bailey Lake School held their investiture and rededication ceremony. Twenty-one girls were initiated into the troop. The ceremony was witnessed by friends and parents of the Scouts.

Refreshments were served by troop leader, Mrs. Edward S. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wice of 6910 Walters announce the engagement of their daughter, Rena Ialeen, to D. Rex Rhoads, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Rhoads of Rochester. Miss Wice expects to graduate from Clarkston High School in June. Mr. Rhoads is in the United States Navy and is stationed in New Jersey. The wedding is being planned for June 20.

A.B.W.A.

The Waterford Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association held their Feb. 11 meeting at Clark's Restaurant.

Incoming officers for 1970 presided over the February meeting.

The guest speaker for the evening was Lynn Allen (County Clerk-Register of Deeds), who discussed citizenship.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Woodward Horton.

Once Over Lightly

By Jim Sherman

The trouble with a cluttered desk is that you sometimes lose notes such as the one sent to me Nov. 20 by John Roda of Everest Drive. He says he's been a reader of the News for 9 years and enjoyed it.

I certainly shouldn't have lost that part of his letter. John was promoting a neighbor and friend who had taken over the Sinclair Gas station at Sashabaw and Maybee Sept. 15. He's Mike Nelson.

In the 15 years I've been publishing a paper I've never received a letter like John's. I've had lots of people write for self promotion and project promotion, but not direct promotion of a businessman.

From the number of vacant stations I think Mike has joined one of the toughest fields. It appears to be a field where one has to work long hours and have a pleasant attitude to make anything above a living wage.

In our short talk with Mike I'd say his pleasant attitude rates high. He's been in Clarkston since 1955 and lived on Console for 6 years.

While on the phone with Mike, we asked him how people were reacting to the new signal lights at the corner of Sashabaw and Maybee. He said, "After the first day there haven't been many violations."

The first day, he said, one car sat through 4 light changes, then turned left on a red light.

The lights are up there mostly through the efforts of supervisor Duane Hursfall. He has pressured the county road commission for a long time, and though the traffic count is the final determiner, Hursfall's persistence undoubtedly moved the installation date up on the calendar.

A note from the Clarkston Jaycette Gazette: "Did you know that 25 percent of the Waterford Jaycettes are P.G.? They certainly are an active group!"

Charles W. Klann

Klann promoted to sales manager

Robert W. Militzer, General Manager of A. E. Parker and Sons Company, a unit of Ex-Cell-O Corporation, announced the appointment of Charles W. Klann to the position of Sales and Marketing Manager for Ex-Cell-O Work Centers. The Parker unit builds the Ex-Cell-O Work Centers in addition to its own line of special machine tools.

Mr. Klann will be responsible for marketing and sales efforts relating to the complete product line of Ex-Cell-O Work Centers and related equipment. He will report directly to Mr. Militzer.

After experience with the engineering sections of several Detroit-area firms, Mr. Klann joined Ex-Cell-O in 1960 as a proposal engineer. He holds the degree of Mechanical Engineer from the Chrysler Institute of Engineering in Highland Park, Michigan.

Mr. Klann, a native Detroit, now resides in Clarkston, Michigan with his wife and five children. A graduate of the Air Force University, his hobby is flying. He joined the Civil Air Patrol in 1960 and presently holds the rank of Colonel and the position of Commander of the Michigan Wing.

W.S.C.S.

A W.S.C.S. general meeting will be held Wednesday, February 25 at 10:00 a.m.

After a brief business meeting Eleanor Driver, counsellor of Oakland University Continuum Center, will speak. Her topic will be, "Color Your Middle Years Orange, Not Blue."

Mrs. Driver is the mother of 5 sons, with 17-year-old twins still at home. She is an example of what Oakland University calls the mature woman who returns to school after the family needs are lessened.

Mrs. Driver will be speaking at 11:00. The public is invited.

Staff changes

The Clarkston Community Schools announced the following additional staff changes for the second semester of the school year.

Three former teachers returning from leaves of absence are: Mrs. Barry Breidenbaugh, Mrs. Gordon Grice and Mrs. Lewis Wilson.

The remaining positions have been filled with the following new employees: Mrs. Michael Feliska received the Bachelors Degree from University of Detroit, and has been assigned to North Sashabaw Elementary kindergarten.

Miss Nancy Gardner, a graduate of Michigan State University, with three years previous teaching experience will serve as sixth grade teacher in Clarkston Jr. High.

Miss Susan Case, a Michigan State University graduate, a former teacher in Ingham and Oakland Counties, will fill the English position in Senior High School formerly held by Miss Janet Gabier.

Miss Jennie Oliver of Central Michigan University will teach fourth grade in North Sashabaw Elementary.

Miss Cynthia Schlutow, a former Clarkston High School student and a graduate of Western Michigan University, will be teaching home economics in the Clarkston Junior High School.

Mrs. Patricia Highstreet, a former teacher in Oxford and a graduate of Oakland University, will teach vocal music in Sashabaw Junior High and Clarkston Senior High.

In addition to regularly assigned classroom teachers, the Board of Education has employed three permanent substitute teachers: Miss Karen Johnson, a graduate of Clarkston High School and Oakland University; Mrs. Dwayne Kelsey, a graduate of Asbury College in Kentucky, and a former Florida teacher; and Miss Judy Olsen, formerly of Bloomfield Hills and a graduate of Alma College.

CHURCH OF THE RESURRECTION
 EPISCOPAL

The Rev. Alexander T. Stewart,
 Vicar

"Whether therefore ye eat, or drink or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

(I Corinthians 10:30)

We are now a week into Lent; and it has been increasingly evident in recent years that Lenten customs and disciplines have been changing. No doubt this year will see a continuance in this evolution. Certainly there are many who question the appropriateness to present-day life of both the length of Lent and certain of its devotional practices. However, regardless of its length or its disciplines the essential feature of this season can never change for it is central to the Christian life in any age.

We do not keep Lent as a special period of religious discipline simply because it has become traditional or because the Church tells us to do so. We keep Lent, as we do everything else in the life of Faith, as our response to God's love for us in Jesus Christ.

The only right motive for prayer, fasting, sacrificial giving or study is our deep desire to please God. There can be no other worthy reason for what we do than this: our longing to respond in love to that Love who first loved us. Once we realize that we must turn to the loving God, we begin to see our Lenten discipline not as a chore but as an opportunity.

Keeping Lent, therefore, is no different from the challenge every Christian faces daily to respond anew to the call of Christ to take up the cross and follow Him whose yoke is easy and whose burden is light. Can there be a more appropriate time for us to show our faithfulness than in the weeks before Holy Week and Easter?

The ways in which we respond to this opportunity may differ widely. The precise form of our Lenten devotion is of less importance than our motive in offering it. "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

DEDICATED TO ELIZABETH RONK
POSTMASTER EXTRAORDINARY

"Good morning," she said in her business-like way
As she started her work of another long day.
Thus hundreds walked past her each day of the week,
The halt and the lame, the strong and the weak.

The problems of each she must stand there and hear
As each did insist she would lend them an ear.
The troubles that each experienced at home
She gathered, each day, to add to her own.

But then, there were good things that came with the morn,
She knew about babies before they were born;
Yes, she could have written a column of news
Of future predictions and political views.

The scandal that flows through a small country town
Could have won her a place in the "Hall of Renown,"
But all of these things she just took in her stride,
Small talk of the day, she was able to hide.

She gave of herself to the job right at hand
And dispensed with great care the mail of the land.
So loyal was she to her work through the years
That eyes, through her loss, will be misty with tears.

The town will sure miss her "Hello" and her smile,
Her business-like way through days of great trial.
It's fitting for you here, and we far away
To honor this lady upon such a day.

That she might know of the friendship she's won
Through long years of service and work that's well done;
Whatever we do here, whatever we say
Will not be enough, our thoughts to convey.

Kutting Korners

By Jean Sura

Have you ever put your whole dinner in the oven at one time, set the thermostat at a given temperature and then set the timer to one time? Forty minutes later, presto. Your whole dinner is finished to perfection.

Try this if for no other reason, just to see if it works. After this is proven, you can work out combinations of your own. The whole idea saves nervous strain as well as electricity.

Timed Oven Meal Menu

Meat Patties, Lima Casserole
Hashed Potatoes, Peach Dumplings
Cooking time: 30 to 45 minutes.
Temperature: 400 degrees.

Meat Patties

1 lb. ground beef
1 t. salt
1 c. tomatoes
1 egg, beaten
1 c. Bran flakes
1 chopped green pepper

Mix all ingredients together and form into patties. Wrap each patty with a strip of bacon and fasten with a toothpick. Place in a greased baking dish and bake uncovered.

Hashed Potatoes

6 medium size potatoes, cooked
¼ c. melted butter

½ t. salt

1/16 t. pepper

Slice cold (cooked) potatoes in shallow pan. Season with salt and pepper; add butter. Cook in uncovered pan or dish.

Lima Casserole

1 pkg. frozen lima beans

½ t. salt

2 T. butter

1/16 t. pepper

Combine all ingredients and place in baking pan or dish. Keep the vegetables covered during the cooking process.

Peach Dumplings

6 peach halves, canned

4 T. granulated sugar

½ t. butter

¼ t. cinnamon

Pastry for one pie crust

Roll pastry to 1/8" thickness and cut into 6 squares, large enough to hold a peach half. Place peach half on each square of pastry and fill the hollow with a mixture of sugar, butter and cinnamon. Fold corners of pastry over peach and twist together. Prick crust to allow steam to escape and bake in greased pan.

Blue and Gold Banquet. Frances Criger was banquet chairman. The Rev. Mark Caldwell gave the invocation.

Charles Warman made the introductions and led the group in singing. Many awards were presented, among them the institutional appreciation award, which was presented to the Rev. Caldwell.

Frank Amadure, a ventriloquist with his robot, had a very delightful show that pleased the young and old alike. All proceeds from Mr. Amadure's shows are used to make Easter baskets for the retarded and crippled children in the Pontiac and Lapeer hospitals.

Wendell Stringer and Mr. Warman presented Den Mother certificates to the following: Janice Ayotte, Valerie Griffith, Joan Hall, Melissa Bailey, Janet Steinhoff, Sally Church, Eusebia Ming, Janice Ferguson, Pat Pritchett, Sally Warden, Joanne Warman, Jill Stringer, Doris Rhyndress, Frances Criger.

Webelo leaders, Bob Hall, Tom Callahan and Marvin Fuller gave out the following awards: Gene Warman, 1 gold and 1 silver; John Ferguson, Wolf Badge; Elbert Pritchett, Bear Badge, 1 gold and 2 silver.

The following Webelos were presented awards: Brian Weber, citizen and scholar; Robert Hall, scholar; Jack McDermott, artist and citizen; Ronald Carter, aquanaut and naturalist; Mike Cooper, athlete, citizen and scholar; Tim Cooper, citizen and scholar; Larry Dean, craftsman and scholar; Scott Harrison, scholar and showman; Donald Jones, athlete, citizen and scholar. Boyd Brokenshaw was promoted to Boy Scouts.

Pack 134 will host the Manito District Cub Round Table on March 5 at the North Sashabaw School.

Tom Rademacher will be showing the completely new Camaro February 26 at his showroom on Dixie at M-15. This area's Chevrolet dealer says the Camaro's design concept combines prestige car styling with remarkably responsive performance handling. Its distinctive long hood, new front end and swept-back roof and rear deck styling are only a few of the many new features found in this sporty model, Rademacher said.

Music fills the halls

By Polly Hanson

Besides the chorus classes that are offered in the high school, vocal-musically minded students can take part in other music activities.

Madrigal Singers were organized in 1967 by Miss Beth Tobin. The group for 1969-70 consists of: Carmen Blackerby, Jim Decker, Joanne Donaldson, Kathy Fletcher, Karrie Garlak, Michelle Gray, Debbie Hoopengartner, Patti Jubenville, Rich Klein, Tammy Mahar, Debbie Peters, Dan Race, Lorrie Rice, Ellen Taylor, Mark Taylor and Cathy Wilson. The Madrigals have been holding fund-raising activities and are planning to hold a candlelight concert later this spring. They will also be participating in the annual spring concert in early June.

On January 19, the Madrigals sang at the Clarkston Credit Union dinner, where they were directed by Debbie Hoopengartner.

The members of the Wayne-Oakland County League Choir have also been chosen by Mrs. Pat Highstreet, chorus instructor. They are: Penny Bigger, Lezlie Crum, Annette Dengate, Jim Decker, Kathy Fletcher, Karrie Garlak, Debbie Hoopengartner, Pat Jubenville, Tammy Mahar, Debbie Peters, Mark Taylor, Mike Walker, Kirk Williard, and Cathy Wilson.

The WOCL League Choir Concert/Banquet will be held at Clarkston this year. It will be at 8:00 p.m. in the CHS Little Theatre, Wednesday, February 18. The other schools in the Wayne-Oakland League are: Clarenceville, Brighton, West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Andover and Milford. The admission prices to their concert are 75c for adults and 50c for students.

Letters

EDITOR'S NOTE

This week, again, the Clarkston News received an unsigned letter. We repeat, we are unable to print letters that have no signature. If the writer desires we will respect his wish and withhold names when letters are published.

Dear Mr. Sherman,

Please continue my subscription to the "Clarkston News." We all enjoy reading the news about the people in Clarkston. We also like the "new" Clarkston News too.

Sincerely,

Unhappy

To the Editor:

Last week the ice shanties on Deer Lake were broken into, ours included. We notified the State Police and reported our stolen articles knowing that they shall never be recovered.

As long as the citizens won't get involved when they see a crime and the judges let the offenders off, nothing will be safe.

5 South Main Clarkston News 625-3370

GUEST speaker, Bud Guest, was well received at the dinner-program sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club in recognition of Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk. Next to Mr. Guest is the toastmaster and Rotary President Lew Wint. A check for $750 was given Mrs. Ronk from friends for a trip.

HONORED mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk and her two sons, John, left, and Tink. John is holding one of the oil paintings of his mother presented the sons by the Clarkston Rotary Club Monday night.

SEN. L. Harvey Lodge reads the entry made in the State Senate record paying tribute to Mrs. Ronk for her 36 years of work in the Clarkston Post Office, 34 years of which she served as postmaster.

FORMER Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, long time friend of Mrs. Ronk and her late husband, spoke to the 360 gathered at the high school.

Wanted: cards and letters

"Barbie" has gone to Boston.

Barbie is Barbara Kevern, 6, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kevern of Hummingbird Lane. She is the sister of Susie. Barbie is the smiling little girl who was the Clarkston News Easter girl last year. She has cerebral palsy.

Barbie has gone to Boston, leaving on February 17, and she will have corrective surgery performed on February 19.

"We hope that the surgical procedures will correct deformities and will give her better posture and balance and more proper position for walking and standing alone," said her mother.

Barbara's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Herbert Sanquist of Tucson, Arizona are with her in Boston, where she will be hospitalized for from 2 to 3 weeks. Mr. Kevern will fly out at a later date.

Through steps taken by Action Line, a feature in the Detroit Free Press, American Airlines has made special arrangements to fly Barbie home when she is ready, in her toe-to-underarm cast.

This will be accomplished by removing the arm rests between 3 adjoining seats and rigging up special seat belts.

Arrangements have already been made for Clarkston High School student volunteers to visit her when she gets home, to read and play with her during the 6 to 8 weeks she will be in the cast.

What can you do? Barbie is very fond of mail. Her address is: Barbara Kevern, Children's Hospital; 300 Longwood; Boston, Massachusetts 02115.

Just about a year ago, Barbara Kevern brightened the front page of the Easter issue of the Clarkston News. Today, Barbie, a victim of cerebral palsy, is undergoing corrective surgery in Children's Hospital in Boston.

A new traffic light has been installed at the corner of Waldon and Sashabaw Rds. Drivers, who are not aware or forget about its installation, are having difficulty getting used to it.
