Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Bill Race may be the most courageous man I know. I told him so when he insisted on letting me drive his Jenson while he occupied the passenger seat.

Ever hear of a Jenson? Bill says there are only 12 in the United States. They cost something like 7400 pounds in England, where the Jenson Motor Company holds forth. That's over $15,000 in American dollars.

No, Bill didn't pay that much. Nor is his Jenson new. It's 3 years old. General Motors had purchased the car, put it through their tests and advertized for bids. Bill, a car lover from way back, was high bidder by $2.00.

However, a 3-year-old $15,000 car isn't exactly junk. In fact, it is in great shape except for the paint job that is bleached out.

I realized the courage of Bill when I found I had to get into the passenger side to drive the thing. The automatic shifting is done with the left hand, turn signals are with the right. The foot action is the same as on our cars.

This Jenson has more gadgets and dials on the instrument panel than the 747. There's one switch that stops tires from skidding, should they start when you apply the brakes.

Anyway, I took it out on I-75. Bill says "kick it," and 390 horses put the 4-wheel drive across the cement road pretty good. There is a tendency in driving from the right to crowd the center line. And, the best way to see behind you is by turning your head around. The rear view mirrors take more getting used to.

You might wonder what makes a car worth $15,000. Workmanship and ideas. Everything is reinforced. Everything is insulated or padded to cut down noise. There's power everything, too. But, the interior is where you can really see the money. Both the front and back seats are like sculptured leather shaped like chairs. The front seats will recline almost fully. The dash, the roof, the side panels are all soft

Village holds budget to $115 increase

The next fiscal year for Clarkston will be almost exactly like the last based on the budget adopted last week.

There is an increase of just $115.74 over actual expenditures, anticipated over actual.

Some areas of income and expenditures vary from the last budget; however, none are very different.

The total budget calls for receiving and spending $35,444.56.

Municipal services are expected to cost $4,000, the police department $6,500, and the sewer system calls for $15,000.

The major source of income is expected to be property taxes, $10,300; however, sales tax returns from the state are set at $10,000. Next highest income is anticipated to be from the state income tax, $3,600, and the only other income figure over $1,000 is $1100 from intangibles tax.

C.E.A. elects new officers

The Clarkston Education Association held its system-wide election Thursday, April 30. Elections were conducted by secret ballot. The following slate of officers were elected for the 1970-71 school year:

President, George White
Vice president, Doug Doty
Secretary, Lee Stillwell
Treasurer, Gerry Granlund

Region Seven Representatives, Tom Brown, Tim Kaul and Ruth Motney.

The fourth negotiating session with the Board of Education will be held Thursday, May 7.

yellow leather.

The Jenson is a sedan, not a sport car. However, the back seat has about as much leg room as a compact. That's the only thing that keeps me from trying to talk Bill out of it. That and Hazel.

Somehow our Model A doesn't appeal to me as much as it used to. But, maybe it's because our son decided the "A" should have Volkswagen seats. He found out it's not, but, by then he had torn the upholstery off a set of springs. Kids and cars, where do they get it from?

Mrs. Harry Yoh

A Mother's Day salute

By Jean Sura

We have selected Mrs. Harry Yoh as Clarkston's esteemed and respected "Mother of the Year."

Mrs. Yoh is the wife of Dr. Harry Yoh and mother of Harry (Bud), Helene (Mrs. Frank Russell), both of Clarkston and David of North Muskegon. She has 4 grandchildren.

The Yoh family have made their home in Clarkston for over 30 years. Before that time they vacationed at their farm home on Hadley Road and lived in Pontiac.

Mrs. Yoh was born on the west side of Detroit, but has had a life long familiarity with this area, having spent as many summers as she cares to remember at the family cottage on Lake Orion.

Over the span of years, Mrs. Yoh has been active and held office in club, church and professional organizations. She loved the animals that they raised; particularly, the beautiful brown Swiss cows that were a part of their lives on the farm.

Over the years the Yohs have traveled to many places, but they took a very special trip several years ago when their son, David, who is a minister, had a congregation in Jamaica. They made their first flight when they flew to the island for a visit.

David now has a church in North

Muskegon which enables the family to remain reasonably close. He and his wife have one son.

Bud, the eldest of the Yoh children, lives with his wife and two daughters here in Clarkston. He is a manufacturer's representative.

Daughter Helene, a registered nurse, is also married and lives in a home with property adjoining that of her parents on Parke Lake. Helene's husband, Frank Russell owns a factory where he manufactures conveyors. Mr. Russell was Clarkston's Village President last year. The Russells' daughter is married.

The Yohs are members of the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

In the comfortable living room of their home, are pictures and mementos of the family. In one corner is a tall cabinet of figurines. Each object has a special recollection of a person or occasion for Isabel Yoh.

In a lovely room overlooking the lake, Mrs. Yoh is now working on her third afghan. Here, too, she can keep an eye on her doctor husband who has offices in the adjoining wing.

We salute Mrs. Yoh on this Mother's Day, 1970. We extend our good wishes, thanks and remembrances to all good mothers.

"I got my big birthday present early," said Barbara Kevern. "I have straight legs." Barbie, who has cerebral palsy and recently underwent surgery is strengthening her new straight legs with therapy. Head therapist is Barbara's mother, Mrs. Donald Kevern.

2 seek name on ballot

Petitions for the vacancies on the Clarkston School Board have been issued to 2 potential candidates, according to Floyd Vincent, Assistant Superintendent of Schools.

David Leak of Middle Lake road and Mrs. Ingrid Smith of Eastlawn have indicated their interest in having their names placed on the ballot for the June 8th election.

May 11 at 4 p.m. is the last day for filing nominating petitions at the school offices on Middle Lake road.

The trustee's seat that will be filled at the election is for a 4-year term and is presently held by Walter Wilberg. Wilberg has not indicated his intention to seek re-election at this time.

May 8th is the last day for citizens to register to vote in the June election.

To shopping mall

Citizens voice objections

Traffic. In a word, that is the major objection residents voiced at the public hearing last Tuesday night. This was the hearing on rezoning Waterford Hill Golf Course for a shopping mall and townhouses.

The basement room of Independence Township Hall was overflowing with over 100 persons. Most of them were against the rezoning.

And, most were against it for the likely increase in traffic that would be created on Parview which runs between the golf course and Greens Lake.

A Waterford Hill resident said their association of 142 families would fight the rezoning to the end.

There were also comments on the increase in traffic on Dixie.

Some residents favored the township, or anyone, buying the land and maintaining it as a golf course or establishing a recreation area for township residents.

There was concern that should the southeast portion of the golf course, 26 acres, be rezoned, other requests for multiple zoning would be forthcoming and precedence would be established assuring rezoning.

Litter, policing, fire protection, excessive drainage to Greens Lake, and lack of need for a shopping mall in this area were other voiced objections.

Not all questions were answered, nor were all comments questions. James Scharl, representing Kieft Engineering, answered some questions from the audience and Joel Gershenson, son of William Gershenson, who applied for the zoning change, answered others.

Scharl explained the drawings and maps shown the people. He said the commercial area was about 40 acres and the main entrance would be on Dixie Highway for both the mall and subdivision.

They anticipate 2 lights being added on Dixie, one being a stop light at Maybee road. The initial store in the mall would be a K-Mart and "20-30" others could be built in the complex.

Both Scharl and Gershenson compared the layout or style to that of the Pontiac Mall and Tel 12 ... both of which are owned by A and W Gershenson.

Gershenson said, "We stake our reputation on Tel-12 and the Pontiac Mall. We do everything we can for both the street customer and our clients who operate the stores."

He mentioned having their own security police, keeping their areas as clean of litter as possible, and said there had to be traffic to support the stores.

Their studies showed, he said, that Clarkston area was ready to support a shopping mall and that was one needed here. He called the location south of M-15 on Dixie a "prime" spot.

It would be the largest commercial development in Independence, should it be rezoned.

This decision will be a few weeks in coming. The Planning Commission, which conducted last week's hearing, will study the proposal next week, then make recommendations for township consideration. This won't come until after county review, which may take a month.

Sal Pomante

New pro at Spring Lake

Salvatore (Sal) Pomante, well-known golfer-teacher, has been appointed pro at Spring Lake Golf Club.

Pomante, regarded as one of the best teaching pros in the state, has also done well competitively, finishing 10th in the Michigan Open.

Sal, who began as a caddy at Plum Brook, played collegiate golf at the University of Detroit. During the last 25 years he has devoted his life to golf and is well-respected in the area; spending the last seven years as head pro at Indianwood, Lake Orion.

He has operated a golf range; was secretary of the Michigan Publix

Association for four years and taught golf at winter schools and clinics. For four years Sal was captain of instructors for the PGA Detroit News free golf school.

Pomante also has authored several golf instruction articles, one of which was published in "Golf World" magazine.

Sal and wife, Rosemary, reside in Centerline with Mike, 16, who also hopes to become a pro. Daughter, Frances, is a teacher and Sal, Jr. is now serving as assistant at Sunny Acres Golf Club, Roseville.

Doctor re-elected to AAGP membership

Roy Anthony Landry, M.D., Clarkston, has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of family doctors.

Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

What's in a name?

by Haslett Hemmor

Bob Heister maybe won't win no prizes for diplomatic. Bob takes a heap of pride in saying things right out. "Lay it right on the line," he says. "Let the chips fall where they will but speak your mind with no buts or maybes."

Can't quarrel with the way Bob lets you know exact where you stand. But I do kind of draw the line on being so durned blunt that you hurt folks needless.

What I actual mean by that is, for instance, when Bob introduces his boy Jerry to folks. Like as not old Bob will say, "This here is my boy Jerry. He's the runt of the litter. Say hello to these good folk, Jerry."

Far as I know, young Jerry Heister has never bawled out his paw for this heavy-handed intro, but the way he sort of laughs, nervous-like, you can tell he don't like it too good. After all, when a lad is coming up 20, he shouldn't have to keep hearing that he's the runt of the Heister litter. He maybe knows that already by now.

Bob's got two other boys and a girl, but he maybe favors "Jerry the runt." In his own way it could be that Bob figures that if people hear the boy's own dad call him a runt, that they automatic take the kid's side and warm up to him like he was the underdog.

Could be, on the other hand, that I'm giving old Bob too much credit for being devious-clever. I'm sure he wants folks to like his boy, but if he's that smart and is really using bluntness to make folks cotton to young Jerry is a good question.

Part of the reason that the kid is so short is that he's real bow-legged. My Eff says it was most likely caused by rickets when Jerry was real little. I've heard others guess that maybe they forced him to walk before his leg bones was hard enough to take the weight. Whatever the cause was, he sure enough could never catch a greased pig, but he's built just right to ride a fat pony.

Ain't nothing that boy is a-scared to tackle, though. Got to give him that. Like when he went out for football in high school. Weighed in at about 135 and the other kids sort of joked about how it was too bad he was too old for the junior high team. Didn't bother Jerry none. He just went to work on the second string JV squad and the other fellows quick learned that even 135 pounds could hit pretty good at full speed. Made the varsity backfield as a junior and got named as alternate on the all-county team his senior year. Ran like a bandy-legged antelope and dropped the biggest ones with his jet-speed tackles. Had to take your hat off to the crazy runt. Played like the whole world depended on each run or pass.

Kids in high school really loved "Shrimp," as they called him. School yearbook shows that the senior class voted him most popular and also "least likely to succeed." Youngsters sure can be cruel without no real intent to be.

After high school he went to work for the McNaulty Bakery and they soon put him in charge of pastries and such. Kid seemed to catch on real fast to fancy cake decorating and such. Sure did seem kind of out of tune with the way he always charged in on everything he ever done before.

The bakery is just four doors down from the fire hall and so when they were begging for volunteer firemen, Jerry was maybe first to say he'd help. Probable thing if there had been enough others, they wouldn't of accepted him, but they turned up short handed so they took him.

Maybe you read last week about how he carried that old fellow out of the rest home. Big man it was, too, and near total helpless in a wheelchair. They say this man went over 200 pounds so nobody could figure out how Shrimp carried or dragged or rolled him out. Fact is, he did and he went in after him in spite of the Chief ordering all his men to stay out of the burning building because it looked like she was about to cave in. Roof collapsed about three minutes after Jerry staggered out through the smoke with the old guy on his back.

Last night, at our father and son banquet, old Bob Heister didn't even mention the fire, but he did say, "I'm Bob Heister and I'm proud to introduce my son to you. My boy's name is Jerry - Jerome Michael Heister."

"If It Fitz . . ."

Polluting the St Clair

By Jim Fitzgerald

The current crusade against pollution is so popular I am worried that everyone will be so busy picking up beer cans they won't have time to eat apple pie, kiss mothers and paste flags on bumpers.

I don't mean to be cynical. It's just that now they have banned fishing in St Clair River because the fish, like cigarets, may be hazardous to your health. Dow of Canada is dumping mercury into the water and this makes the fish risky eating, the scientists say.

I don't doubt it. I grew up on the banks of the St Clair, where it separates Port Huron, U.S.A. from Sarnia, Canada. I never fished in my life because I wouldn't want anyone putting a hook in my mouth. But I used to swim regularly in the St Clair. And in those days, also, Dow and other factories were spitting large amounts of suspect waste into the water and air.

Where were the anti-pollutionists then, while I was getting mercury all over my body?

I know. There's nothing deader than an idea before its time. There was the Big Depression in the 1930's. The important thing was to get the factories operating, so Dad could earn a paycheck. Who had time to worry about smog and litter and dirty water? Who cared if a little boy got hazardous water up his nose?

People had some interesting attitudes regarding pollution in those days. At least my parents did. I still remember the first time I polluted the St Clair directly from Dad's place of business.

Dad and his father operated the Dry Dock Iron Works on the St Clair. They repaired boats. Their rickety collection of wooden buildings and sheds sat partly on the river bank and partly over the water, held up by long, thick spiles.

There was no executive restroom. There was 1 restroom for everybody, including the boss's 5-year-old son. The first time I used it I was thrilled. The john was in the part of the building jutting out over the water. When you looked into the toilet seat, all you saw was the St Clair River, about 30 feet below.

"Gee Dad," I said, "that's neat. You don't even have to flush it."

During those same years, my mother used to take me swimming in Lake Huron. And she always cautioned me to go to the bathroom before swimming, or after, but NOT in the water. It just wasn't the right thing to do.

I guess she never used the facilities at the Dry Dock Iron Works.

All of which is certainly more nostalgic than constructive. I have no illuminating moral to make about pollution in the St Clair, yesterday vs today. My father's business long ago folded and, in fact, literally collapsed, thus adding more litter to the St Clair (no one was on the john at the time). Dow and the other factories are still polluting - but now people want it stopped and someday, maybe, it will be stopped.

In the meantime, you can be fined $100 and jailed for 90 days if you are caught fishing in the St Clair River. Sportsmen say they should be allowed to catch the fish and then throw 'em back in. But, so far, the law says no-no.

I think a better idea would be to catch the fish and then throw 'em through Dow's front window.

It was a lot easier when all a true American had to do was eat apple pie. †

Wolverine's take

6 in a row

Monday, April 27, the Clarkston Wolverines hosted Pontiac Catholic Central.

Three runs were scored in the first inning, 2 for Clarkston and 1 for Pontiac Catholic.

The score was tied in the second 2-2. Bill Hamilton smashed a homer into left field with no men on in the 3rd, making the score 3-2.

Two additional runs were scored by the Wolverines during the next 4 innings.

The final score, Clarkston 5, Pontiac Catholic 2.

Starting pitcher, Greg Fogg, pitched seven innings, facing 30 batters, walking 1, striking out 10, and giving up 6 hits.

The 6th straight victory was chalked up by the Clarkston Wolverines when they defeated Waterford Cray on April 30.

The first 2 innings were scoreless but in the 3rd Clarkston scored 5 runs.

Seven additional runs were scored in the 4th, making the score 12-0 in favor of Clarkston.

Unchanged in the fifth, the score became 15-0 in the sixth on three runs by Clarkston.

Those figures remaining constant in the seventh left the score Clarkston 15, Waterford Cray 0.

A one-hitter was pitched by Rick Hunt, who throughout the seven innings of play faced 22 batters, striking out 6 and walking none.

Behind the Counter FROM KEITH HALLMAN

From time to time, people ask why a drug store sells such a variety of non-drug items, and there are always jokes about the "supermarket" or "department store" pharmacy.

Of course, there are professional pharmacies in many of our cities that do handle only prescriptions and related drug products. These are often located in or near clinics and hospitals, or in office buildings that are occupied mostly by doctors and dentists.

But in many communities (and in many neighborhoods of even our largest cities) there just isn't enough prescription business to enable a pharmacist to operate such a drug store. The margin of profit on prescriptions is very low, and it takes a huge volume of business to justify a purely professional trade. Even if the average pharmacist were to triple the selling price of the prescriptions he fills, he still wouldn't make enough money to pay for his help, his rent, and his other store expenses.

To augment his prescription trade, a pharmacist relies on the profits from lipsticks and candy bars and greeting cards. These can be sold in sufficient volume to meet the "overhead expenses," so that he can stay in business. In fact, if it were not for such items, there would be far fewer drug stores, and you would have to travel for miles to get a prescription filled.

Also, our customers find it a convenient and pleasant way to shop. We hope this is true in your case, too.

Save open space

April 27, 1970

Dear Sir:

Must we have a shopping center and/or gas station on every corner? I refer to the proposed development of the Waterford Hill Golf Course. At a time when there is national focus on ecology and preserving a few areas of green grass, let us not allow a profit-seeking developer to cover everything with buildings and concrete!

Very truly yours,

Kutting Korner's

By Jean Sura

I steamed some cherry stone clams and made them into New England clam chowder last week. The clams were a gift from a generous friend, but I had never fixed any before so it was a new experience. Here is what I did and it turned out very well.

I washed and vigorously scrubbed the shells with a metal brush and rinsed them several times. Then I inverted an aluminum foil pie pan in the bottom of a dutch oven, added about 1 cup of water and the clams, covered and steamed them for about 15 minutes or until the shells popped open.

I then removed the clams to a bowl, saving the liquid in the bottom of the dutch oven and put the clams through a food chopper (coarse). I was now ready to make my chowder.

New England Clam Chowder

About 2 cups of minced clams (3 10½-oz. cans will do)

½ pound lean salt pork or bacon, diced

1 cup chopped onion

3 cups diced raw peeled potatoes

1 teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon pepper

2 cups half and half

2 cups milk

2 tablespoons butter

paprika

Steam open clams. Strain and reserve liquid, then coarsely grind or chop the clams. If canned clams are used, strain and reserve liquid. Measure clam liquid, fresh or canned. Add enough water to make 4 cups. Fry pork in large kettle until golden. Remove and reserve. Drain off all but ½ cup fat. Add onions and saute for 5 minutes. Add potatoes, salt, pepper and clam liquid. Simmer until potatoes are tender. Add clams, cream, milk and butter. Reheat, but do not boil.

Top with the crisp pork and sprinkle with paprika.

This makes 3 quarts.

P.S. Using canned, minced clams would make this a simple dish. Would it taste as good?

It was delicious, but next time I think I would like to try this Manhattan clam chowder.

Manhattan Clam Chowder

¼ pound salt pork or bacon diced

1 large onion sliced

½ cup green pepper chopped

½ cup celery chopped

½ cup carrots, chopped

½ cup turnip, chopped

3 cups diced raw potatoes

3 cups water

1 teaspoon salt

1 pint of clams and liquid

1/8 teaspoon ground thyme

3 cups cooked or canned tomatoes

salt and pepper

2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Saute pork until soft and golden. Pour off all but ¼ cup fat. Add onion, pepper, and celery. Saute until golden. Add carrots, turnips, potato, water and salt.

Shuck clams, chop hard parts and add to soup with clam liquid. Chop soft part of clams and reserve. Simmer, covered, over low heat for 30 minutes. Add chopped soft parts of clams and thyme and tomatoes.

Simmer for 10 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

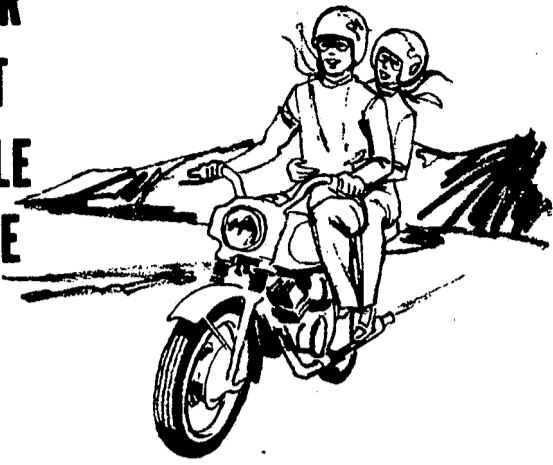

Makes about 3 quarts.

And here are a couple of Kutting Korner tips:

Save orange rinds and dry them ... grind and add a small amount to tea leaves when brewing tea - gives richer flavor at no cost.

Store your bottle of rubber cement upside down. Once the bottle has been opened, the volatile material in the cement evaporates even though the cap is seemingly tight. To avoid evaporation around the cap - store the bottle cap down.

Sashabaw Jr. Hi wins 3

By Tony Karrick

Sashabaw Junior High School snapped a three game losing streak last week and went on to win three baseball games.

On Monday, Sashabaw waited until the fourth inning to take command as they defeated Waterford Cray 11 to 5. Larry Miracle and Curt Johnson were the top hitters as Ed Medlin picked up the win.

Wednesday, the Cougars traveled to Avondale and picked up a tight 5 to 4 win behind the four hit pitching of Larry Miracle.

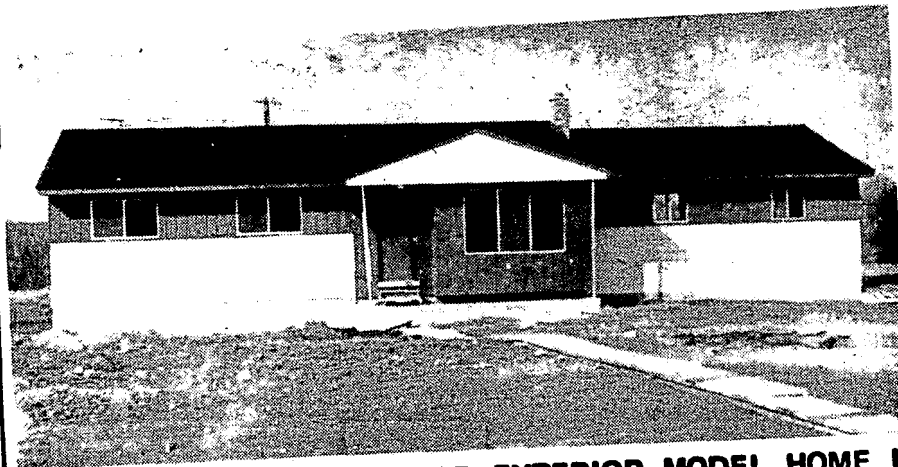

On Thursday, Sashabaw with Ed Medlin pitching, picked up their third win of the week, downing Brandon J.V. in a slugfest 9 to 6.

These wins bring Sashabaw's record to 4 wins and 3 losses. This week they also have three away games, but will be at Clarkston Junior High diamond next week Monday, May 11, against Rochester and Friday, May 15 against Linden J.V.

Batter out

by Jean Sura

Have you ever stopped to think how tough it would be to overcome the reputation of being a tomboy? Well, I speak from authority. It's tough, if not impossible.

When I was a kid we lived next door to a playground in the big city. I was an active kid so I got involved in all the games and activities that come along.

You start a tomboy career a little at a time, like taking marijuana. First you learn to stand up on the swings to pump yourself up higher than the other little kids. Next, you sneak a piece of waxed bread wrapper up the slide with you and sit on it for the trip down.

"Yoiks." It makes the slide so slippery that all the other kids go sailing into the sand pit at the bottom.

The maypole is something else. They got to be so dangerous that they don't even install them anymore.

We used to wait until the playground teacher was off in a corner supervising "Sandbox 3" and then we would play what we called "High Flyer."

Each kid would get hold of a bar at the end of a long chain and stand close to the pole. Then the hari-kari expert or high flyer in the group would take his chain and walk around the rest, looping his chain over theirs.

When he had made a complete circle, everybody would start to run around the maypole.

Old "Hari" would fly out and around like a missile. If you were ever going to lose your courage, it was a good idea to wait until you were back down on the ground and not in the middle of your flight.

Being small (and brainless), I was a popular "Hari."

It was all good fun but when I got to be a teenager I was still stuck with the reputation of "tomboy." The only phone calls I got from boys were when they needed me to fill in at shortstop.

"Jean," my pretty little sisters would yell, "your boy friend wants to talk to you on the phone." And then they would giggle.

"Hello."

"Hey, Jean, you through practicing your dumb fiddle?"

"No. My dad and I had a fight 'cause he says that you can't play the violin and chew gum at the same time. I'm proving that you can but it takes longer."

"Well, don't be stupid. Hurry up."

"Why, what in heck business is it to you?"

"Well, Elmer's mother made him go to the store for a loaf of bread and we need a short-stop. Tell your dad that you'll show him later. Hurry up or we'll all have to go in."

In high school I figured it out that there was more to boys than had met my eye.

The problem was that if guys have called you up to fill in a scrub game, they don't think of you when they get mushy. That's when they call that pretty little girl who was always afraid that she would get her dress dirty.

I figured of necessity, that if I played my cards right and acted sort of delicate, maybe my mother would get me some clothes that had ruffles and weren't dirt colored.

"What's the matter, Jean, are you sick?"

"No. I just thought I would sit here and read this nice book."

"You mean you're not going out to play? That bunch of calves have been bawling for you for half an hour."

"No, my dress is quite new and I didn't want to get it mussed up. Anyway, I really am interested in this book. It is soo exciting. Then I want to practice on my violin. Maybe I'll get to play a solo in the concert."

Mom walked away, talking to herself.

Later I overheard her say to Dad, "Sure is fun having a tomboy around the house isn't it? Well, Camille, out there is your baby. Get her outside so that caterwauling stops and before her fainting makes me sick."

Like I said, it's hard to overcome a bad reputation.

Our familiar impact drive sprinklers have made our name a household word. But did you know that you can get a similar sprinkler in a Pop-Up (with no gears or cams)? Until the water is turned on, the sprinkler is protected underground. Positive Precision-Jet Arm no-splash action allows placement along sidewalks or walls. Large water flow channels pass sand or dirt without difficulty.

Choice? We've got bubblers for delicate flowers; Hi-Pops to clear 2" thick turf; Stream-sprays that sprinkle less than 2 g.p.m.; and heads to solve practically any other sprinkling problem.

Mrs. Thomas Knibbs

Vows exchanged at St Joseph's Church

Wearing an ivory colored gown and long lace train of her own making, Kathryn J. Granger became the bride of Terence L. Tansey of Lawrence, Michigan at a wedding ceremony in the St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Lake Orion on April 25th.

The bride's father, George Granger, gave his daughter in marriage. The Grangers live at 5194 Woodlane.

Mrs. James Woods of Clarkston was the matron of honor and Barbara Tansey of Lawrence was the bridesmaid. They were identically gowned in mint green shantung and carried yellow daisies.

The ring bearer, flower girl and train bearer were Kurt, Karen and Cheri Moss, all the children of Mrs. Dale Moss of Oxford.

Best man was Charles Granger, groomsman, William Granger and the ushers were Edward Granger and Larry Davis.

Mrs. Granger, the bride's mother, chose an aqua silk ensemble for her daughter's wedding and the groom's mother selected a dress of aqua brocade. Both wore yellow daisies.

Mrs. Terence Tansey

The young couple will make their home in Lapeer.

Brother performs marriage

Sharon Kay Hanson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Hanson of Oak Park road, became the bride of Thomas Knibbs, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Knibbs of Pontiac.

Officiating at the May 2nd service, which was performed in the First Open Bible Church in Pontiac, was the groom's brother, the Reverend Michael Knibbs.

The bride's gown was traditionally styled. It featured a sculptured neckline and bouffant skirt with a chapel train. It was fashioned of tiered chantilly lace and taffeta. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a jeweled headpiece.

The bride's attendants formed a rainbow in pastel dotted swiss gowns.

Nancy Petty of Waterford was the maid of honor and the bride's sister, Carol Hanson, Linda Peters and Marcia Hilley were bridesmaids.

Terrie and Tommy Jidas were the flower girl and ring-bearer.

Performing the duties of best man was the groom's brother, Jon Knibbs. Groomsman were Paul King, Bruce Williams, and Estil Shelton. Michael Hanson, the bride's brother and John Maglott, seated the guests.

A reception was held at the David Grayson Elementary School following the ceremony. The couple are making their home in Pontiac.

Among the candidates was Gail Olson of 6022 Cramlane, who received a B.A. degree in elementary education.

A highlight of the ceremony in the Sports and Recreation Building was the awarding of an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree to D. B. Varner, who had served as OU Chancellor throughout the institution's first decade.

Results prove rec. program a success

A recreational program for sixth grade boys and girls from Pine Knob Elementary, North Sashabaw Elementary and Sashabaw Junior High School was inaugurated this year at Sashabaw Junior High.

The girls' program which lasted during the months of January and February, consisted of such items as volleyball, basketball, stunts, relay races and cheerleading. The girls acted as cheerleaders for their school when the boys played their basketball games. Teachers from the school system who served as organizers for the girls' program were: Joan Swartout, Jean Kinser, Sue Haner, and Shirley Keneipp.

The boys' program was started in January to give the boys a comprehensive program of basketball. The program's most important goal was to give each of these boys a basic knowledge of the principles of basketball.

The first four weeks of the program were devoted to teaching these sixth grade boys the basics of basketball before involving them in team play. Over 80 boys turned out to participate in the program. These boys were divided into 7 teams - 2 each from Pine Knob and Sashabaw Junior High and 3 teams from North Sashabaw. The team members were chosen on the basis of ability so each team would have equal members of good and poor players. During the months of February and March each team participated in a six-game schedule. Coaches for the teams were members of the Clarkston Community School staff: Tim Kaul, Nat Kinlund, Dick Swartout, Gary Haner, Dave Westlund, Tim Hewelt, and Ken Wolven.

Dave Whitehead, Tom Klyder, and Mike Heath, students at Sashabaw Junior High, served as scorekeeper and timer for the basketball games.

Tom Gates and Dan Hallman, students at the senior high, refereed the games.

Parental support was tremendous in order to make this initial program highly successful. The final standings were:

Team 6 Pine Knob	6-0
Team 7 Pine Knob	5-1
Team 3 North Sashabaw	4-2
Team 5 North Sashabaw	3-3
Team 1 Sashabaw Jr. Hi	2-4
Team 2 Sashabaw Jr. Hi	1-5

Seek cooperation

The Student Government of Clarkston Junior High School announced their satisfaction with the accomplishments made on Grub Day (Earth Day).

Plastic bags, provided by the Jaycees and the trash pick-up provided by Powell's truck helped considerably in making the day so successful, according to officers.

Concern was expressed by the workers that lack of cooperation by the community might undo all that had been accomplished.

"We hope the citizens of the community will take pride in the new, clean look and cooperate to maintain the improved appearance," said a spokesman.

Clarkston schools commended

Dr. L. F. Greene, superintendent of schools, received two letters of commendation last week.

Harold B. Wagner, Supervisor of School Transportation Section for the Department of Education of the State of Michigan, sent a letter to accompany the certificate, which was issued to the school by the State Police and the Department of Education in recognition of the recent school bus inspection program.

"Your school district," Wagner's letter stated, "is one of the 224 districts that had every bus in its fleet meet the high standards set during the 1969-70 inspection year. This is praiseworthy achievement."

It continued, "You and your transportation personnel are to be congratulated for this effort in obtaining safe vehicles for your community's children."

Another letter was received from Alex Maxim, shop instructor at the Center Line Public Schools.

Mr. Maxim acknowledged the conscientious cooperation of Clarkston High School's Industrial Arts Department. He expressed his special appreciation to Larry Thibault, Doug Pierson and Conrad Bruce, who acted as judges for the recent Regional Industrial Arts Student Project competition which was sponsored jointly by the Detroit News and the Michigan Industrial Education Society.

Spiritual Message

NATIONAL FAMILY WEEK
May 3-10

In the church calendar, this is National Family Week. Dr. Forrest Stevenson, Christian Family Counselor from Allen Park, Michigan, wrote: "The most needed revival today is the revival of the Christian home." We are aware that much of the rebellion and insecurity in our youth has been caused by the breakdown of the Christian home.

Our children have needs that often can be best met in the home. They need love, acceptance, security, independence, faith, guidance and control.

Dr. Clate A. Risley, often called Mr. Sunday School, wrote a tract, "Every Home a Kingdom." Let me quote those thoughts in this column.

EVERY HOME A KINGDOM
"The Christian home is a sphere where love rules but where proper discipline is maintained.

It takes more than beautiful walls and comfortable furniture to make a home. To grow up in a home where Christ is known, loved, honored and recognized daily in consistent living means more than wealth or fame.

The Christian home is an abode where the family dwells together in love and harmony, each delighting in the company of the others and seeking the good of all. Such a place cannot be maintained without the Bible, prayer, praise, playing and planning together.

There is more to have a Christian home than having all members Christian. It's "togetherness" at the Christian level that makes a home Christian.

No home can be Christian until Christ has been invited, received, and made central in the thinking and actions of the family.

Every Christian does not have a Christian home, but if he remembers to be a Christian even when his home is not, his testimony before other members of the family is the greatest sermon they will ever hear. His life becomes a wedge for Christ and eternity or a block between the family and Christ.

It takes effort to have a Christian home. True happiness doesn't just happen. It takes planning and leadership to make the right things happen. The results of selfishness and laziness are costly, both here and hereafter.

God intends every man to be a king, his wife a queen, every child a prince or princess with their home as their kingdom.

May God grant that every king and queen, and every prince and princess will thoughtfully determine and assume his rightful share of the responsibility to make his kingdom a real Christian home."

Wolves at home May 11, 13, 14

Last week's hot weather had a chilling effect on the Clarkston Wolves as they dropped their 2 scheduled games.

The Northville game on April 27 got off to an even start as each team scored 1 run in the 2nd inning. Northville exploded in the 4th to score 3 runs, added 4 more in the 5th and 1 in the 6th.

Clarkston came back, gamely, with 3 runs in the 5th, but just couldn't muster enough power to match the 13 hits of the Northville nine, even though Mike Turk and Bob Klann had extra base hits.

Mike Turk was the losing pitcher.

Clarkston and Waterford Kettering matched runs in the first 2 innings of their game on April 30th.

Kettering edged out in front with a run in the 3rd and put the game on ice when they scored 3 in the 5th inning.

Nine Clarkston batters were victims of strike-outs and 3 errors sealed their doom.

Bob Hoy was the losing pitcher.

The bright spot of the week came when Mike Turk slammed out his 2nd home run of the season.

The team now has a record of 3 wins and 7 losses.

Box scores:

Northville	9	13	3
Clarkston	4	5	1

Clarkston	2	3	3
Waterford Kettering	6	7	0

Mike Turk was named most valuable player of the week because of his hitting (including a home run) against Waterford Kettering.

Help with clean-up

On April 30, Thurs., Miss Conley's 6th grade room started to pick up garbage from the Clarkston Jr. High to town.

Rudy, of Rudy's Market, generously donated large plastic garbage bags for the cause.

In town, as a treat, Miss Conley bought the kids a ice cream cone.
