The following appeared in Dick Brown's column in the Ingham County News recently. I think it's an interesting story.

Once, many years ago there was a great Indian chief who was renowned for his hunting prowess. The years took their toll and he could no longer take his place among the mighty hunters of the tribe. He was forced to stay in the village with the women and the children.

In the hunting grounds of this particular tribe was a herd of wild horses so wild and so cunning that the young bucks could not come even close to catching it.

Time and time again the young hunters tried and failed until they reached the point where they gave up.

The old hunter volunteered his services but the younger braves scoffed. The old hunter vowed to make them eat their words.

He set off for the roaming area of the wild horse herd and started his plan.

First he scattered grain over a small area and provided fodder and water. Every day for months on end he did this.

At first the wild horse herd ignored the offerings but gradually the weaker-willed and the lazier horses in the herd started to nibble at the offerings.

After months of this the old hunter built a fence just one foot high. The herd, after a couple of days, stepped over the low fence and took a handout.

Each week the old hunter would raise the fence a few inches with the horses exerting just a little more effort to get inside in order to partake of the easy food.

Finally he reached the point in his fence-building where the final tier of logs was so high the herd could not jump out of the enclosure.

He called the tribe's hunters together and showed them the results of his months of hard work and patience.

He waved off the young hunters' congratulations by saying:

"Those horses kicked up quite a fuss when they saw they were trapped but after a few hours they went back to eating the hay and grain I provided and drinking the

Leak wins election

David Leak of Middle Lake Road was elected to a 4-year term on the Clarkston Board of Education in the school election on June 8. He received 427 votes, 48 more than his opponent, Ingrid Smith, who tallied 379.

Eugene Johnson, with 14,508 votes and Earl Anderson with 14,575 easily swept into the trustee positions at Oakland Community College. The Independence Township voters preferred the same candidates. Johnson led with 341 votes and Anderson got 308.

The results of the election were made public by Walter Wilberg, secretary, at the regular meeting of the Board of Education on June 8.

A unanimous vote decided that the annual organizational meeting be held on July 13.

The Oakland County Allocation Board notified Dr. Greene, superintendent, that the tax allocation would be paid in the same amount this year as last.

Thirteen mills for operating expenses have been voted in excess of the regular 8.31 mills. Seven of those mills are to be used for debt retirement.

Mrs. Carolyn Mosher, chairman of the grievance committee for the Clarkston Education Association, informed the Board, by letter, of Richard Schadel's request that his grievance be submitted for arbitration.

Representatives from both negotiating teams will meet before June 19 in an attempt to reach agreement on a local arbitrator.

In further action, the board agreed to the terms of a contract between themselves and Independence Township.

This contract provides that the Board pay 50 percent of the cost when joint elections are held.

It was pointed out that this is basically the same arrangement the 2 bodies have used in the past, but puts the terms in contractual language to benefit both parties.

A letter from attorney Thomas Schwarze recommended that the Board of Education send a resolution to the Village and Township, requesting that they adopt a trespassing ordinance.

This would assist school officials in removing undesirables from school property.

Mrs. Mary Strome, of Paramus Drive, presented a complaint regarding the unsanitary, inoperable condition and lack of facilities and equipment in the lavatories and locker rooms at the Clarkston Junior High School.

She stated that she had contacted the Board of Health and they reported to her that they had recommended corrections after their inspection on March 5.

"Some of these corrections have been made, but some still exist," she said.

Dr. Greene expressed the feeling that Mrs. Strome had good reason to question the situation.

"We are proud of our record for cleanliness," said Greene. "The old building and equipment plus the shortage of employees complicates the situation, but are not sufficient excuses. The buildings must be clean, dry and sanitary."

"We have pin-pointed the responsibility and the condition will be corrected."

Mrs. Ida Caverly pursued the situation of her son's recent suspension and questioned the school's attitude toward his return to school for the coming year.

After discussion, terms were defined that would enable him to do so.

Speak at Commencement

Steven Kratt's topic at graduation will be "The potential of today's student in tomorrow's world." Steve is an honor grad and earned a 3.974 grade point average. He will attend the University of Michigan, where he will study nuclear engineering.

Sue Griffiths has earned a 3.974 grade point average at Clarkston High School. She will deliver a speech, "The Internal Revolution," at commencement exercises. Sue plans to attend Western Michigan University, where she will study sociology, psychology or education.

David Lehman plans to attend the University of Michigan after graduation from Clarkston High School. He will study physical anthropology. Dave earned a 3.722 grade point average in high school. His topic will be "The Indoctrination of United States Education."

water I gave them."

He closed with an interesting thought, "There is no animal, bird, or fish on the face of the earth which I cannot trap and pen if I can just get him to depend on me for his food, water and shelter."

So it is with man.

Socialism and communism have made their biggest advancements toward the enslavement of other people by using the tactic of the old Indian. That is the same tactic we in the United States have fallen for.

By appealing to the avarice and laziness of the individual and groups of individuals the programs of handouts, of security and womb to tomb care have brought us into the socialism enclosure.

Each day, each month, each year, the fence of socialism blocking escape gets a little higher. The number of those contented Americans who would rather have someone else feed them and care for them than do it themselves gets a little larger.

And thus came about the demise of freedom loving and independent American animal known as man.

Mrs. Truman (Gladys) Godfrey will retire from the Clarkston Schools at the completion of this school year. Mrs. Godfrey has taught 1st grade here for the last 14 years.

Teacher retires

When the school year comes to a close next week the teaching career of Gladys Godfrey will also come to an end.

Mrs. Godfrey's teaching days began in Plymouth, Michigan where she taught all 8 grades. In 1956 she came to Clarkston and for the past 14 years has taught 1st grade at the Clarkston Elementary School.

A graduate of the Detroit schools, Mrs. Godfrey attended Wayne State University, where she received her limited county and life certificates. She pursued her education at night and in the summers until she received her B.A. degree.

Mrs. Godfrey's childhood was spent in Oregon and Alberta, Canada. Her family homesteaded 160 acres in Alberta. They traveled to that remote place by covered wagon and lived in a soddie (house made of sod). The 2 mile distance to school was covered by walking or riding a horse.

Mr. Godfrey, (Truman), is hoping to retire at about the same time so the couple can travel to warm climates. Their immediate plans include spending several months at their summer home on Bois Blanc Island in the Straits of Mackinac.

The Godfreys have a daughter who is married and lives with her husband at Kiesler Air Force Base in Mississippi.

"I am looking forward to retirement but the years that I have taught school will be warm memories. I think that the biggest thrill I experienced in teaching was hearing a little first grader chuckle at something he had read by himself. The delight and amazement reflected from his ability to read and comprehend. It's something I won't forget," said Mrs. Godfrey.

The PTA at the school recognized Mrs. Godfrey for her years of service here in Clarkston.

This last week has been filled with fellow workers' and students', past and present, extending their wishes to Mrs. Godfrey for a long, pleasurable retirement.

Crash injures 4

Elizabeth Morouse and her 13-year-old daughter, Michell, of Amy Drive were injured when the car in which they were traveling south on M-15 collided with a pickup truck on June 4.

The pickup was owned and driven by Don Beach, Fire Chief of the Independence Township Fire Department, who along with his passenger, William Rausch, was injured.

According to Beach, he was traveling north on M-15 on his way to a fire, with his siren blowing and light flashing. As he approached Clarkston-Orion intersection he noticed Mrs. Morouse approaching from the opposite direction.

He said he was unable to avoid hitting her car when she proceeded to turn onto Clarkston-Orion road. Beach and his passenger required stitches to repair their injuries. Mrs. Morouse and Michell were also injured.

Yvonne Minor, 17, of Center was injured and taken to Pontiac General Hospital by her father on June 6. Miss Minor claimed that she was forced off Holcomb just south of Ellis by another car, according to Oakland County Sheriff's records. When her car left the road she hit a tree.

The other car did not stop.

Drowning

It's tragic to think of how many people are rescued from drowning — and then nobody knows how to provide artificial respiration. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is easy to learn, and should be practiced from time to time.

You can begin this as soon as the drowning victim is pulled into the boat, or on to shore. First, place him halfway between a face-up and a side position. Then lift his neck with one hand and, holding the top of his head with your other hand, tilt his head back. Pull his chin up with the hand that was lifting the neck, so the tongue doesn't fall back to block the air passage.

Take a deep breath, and place your mouth over the victim's nose or mouth, making a leakproof seal by holding his lips closed with your thumb, or pinching the nostrils closed. In mouth-to-nose breathing, be sure your lips don't seal the victim's nostrils.

Blow your breath into the victim's mouth or nose until you see the chest rise. Then remove your mouth and let him exhale while you take another deep breath. As soon as you hear him breathe out, replace your mouth over his and repeat the procedure. Repeat 15 times per minute.

The same technique can be used for victims of suffocation by plastic bag, electric shock, concussion and choking on a foreign body. It's well worth learning.

chain-reaction accident, according to Michigan State Police reports.

The accident occurred on June 1.

Other cars involved in the accident were driven by Dwight I. Pettengill of Transparent, Janet J. Trarop of Pine Knob Road and Dorothy Konsak of Waterford Township.

All cars were headed southeast on Dixie, according to police. Apparently Venner's auto collided with a car driven by Donna L. Pfeiffer of Pontiac Township.

The accident is still under investigation, according to State Police.

John Wesley Metzelberg, 49, of Holly was severely burned and listed in critical condition in the University of Michigan burn unit where he was taken by helicopter-ambulance on June 3.

Metzelberg was burned when his tractor-trailer missed a curve and went off Oakhill Road north of Ellis. It hit a tree and caught fire. He was burned over 90 percent of his body, according to police.

Ask twp. recreation for Woodhull

Some beach areas of Woodhull Lake may come under the Independence Township recreation dept. Residents in that subdivision asked the Township Board for a commitment Tuesday night.

These representatives said the activities by non-residents are increasing and disturbing. George Woody said recreation director Paul Tungate was going to look the area over this week and see what kind of recreation program might be best for the area.

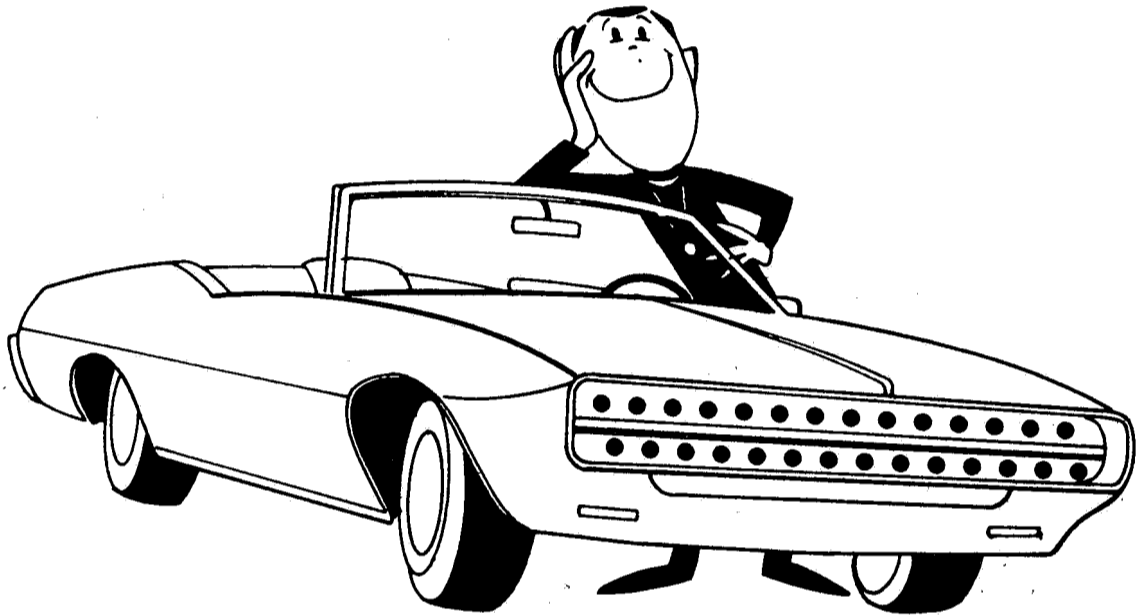

Woody said the area lacked recreation facilities and that there weren't any within several miles.

At present the township has no right to go into the area with a program, according to supervisor Duane Hursfall. The subdivision association, which could give the township jurisdiction, has not reported as a non-profit organization in over 2 years and must be reorganized.

Hursfall said, "If we could get a bona fide lease, like we have on Deer Lake, we'd develop the beach area at Woodhull."

He said the township was committed to help, and they would take over maintenance and control which would include fencing, lighting, and supervision.

Letters to the Editor

Explain effects of housing

Editor's note:

This statement was written, and originally intended to be read at the May 26 meeting of the Independence Township Planning Commission.

Because of the number of people attending the meeting and wishing to be heard, Dr. Greene did not present the statement but mailed it to the Planning Commission and to Howard Altman, Independence Township Clerk.

With Dr. Greene's permission we print it.

The Clarkston School District is represented here tonight because it is legally responsible for financing the education of the children residing in the district. Thusly, the Board of Education is concerned as to what decision the Independence Township Planning Commission and the Independence Township Board might make, relative to approving additional mobile unit parks, as it will affect the tax revenue available for school age children.

For this reason, we would like to supply the following information:

The term "mobile home" at best is a misnomer as most mobile homes are moved only once and that is from the factory to the mobile home site, and they approach the size of single dwelling residences. 79 percent purchased in 1966 were 12 feet wide or wider and 60 feet long or longer. The new double widers (2-12 foot trailers side by side) are gaining in popularity and contain anywhere from 1440 square feet upwards.

Further, they are not mobile as they come in Early American, French Provincial and Contemporary styles among others. You can even obtain a Mansard roof or a brick exterior. Modern mobile homes often include wood parquet floors, exposed beam ceilings, prefab fireplaces as well as built in inter-coms and stereos.

Contrary to developers' propaganda, mobile homes are not housing for the retiree or the aged. Statistics show that nationally only 20 percent of mobile home dwellers are retirees and in Michigan the figure is believed to be as low as 10 to 12 percent, while 27 percent are skilled workers; 18 percent are professional workers and 20 percent are military personnel.

Livingston County studies covering 15 parks of 719 spaces reveal that there existed .36 school age children per unit. Four newer mobile parks with 262 units housed .58 school age children per unit; 99 apartments in the same area housed .10 school age children per unit, while 124 homes housed 1.48 school age children per residence. If we convert this to tax dollars, we find that apartment dwellers pay $1,955.00 per school age child per year, single residence dwellings pay $222.00, while mobile home dwellers pay only $126.00 per school age child.

Another study reveals that the average mobile home provides a total yearly tax of $86.00 as compared to $292.00 per apartment dweller and $302.00 per single residence dweller.

In 1966, one out of every five single family dwellings built was a mobile home; 11,000 were bought in Michigan the same year. While single dwellings dropped 15% below 1968, mobile homes construction increased by 39% to over 400,000 from 1968 to 1969. The tremendous impact of the industry is evident when one realizes that the goal of the industry was set at 400,000 units per year for 1975, and that that goal was attained in 1969.

If mobile home parks continue to increase at this staggering rate, and if they continue to be taxed at today's rates, it will put a burden on the home owners of the district that will be insurmountable because there is no way to finance a $600.00 per year per child education cost with a $126.00 per child income from mobile homes.

We would like to point out also that mobile home manufacturing in Michigan is over a million dollar a year business and that efforts to change the current mobile home tax laws have failed to date. There has been no increase in trailer tax since 1957, while residence tax has increased considerably. Further, a 1965 Senate bill introduced to cause trailers to be taxed on assessment the same as residences was never reported out of committee and though Senate Bill 468 introduced this fall is now out of committee, its passage is by no means assured.

The Township Board should weigh carefully the information from a study in Macomb County in which it was determined that the approximate tax dollar income from mobile home parks per acre was $1,000.00 as compared to $1,500.00 per acre for single dwelling residences and $5,000.00 per acre for multiple dwellings.

We would also urge the Township Board to strongly consider that construction for multiple dwellings and individual dwellings has largely ceased because of governmental restrictions on interest rates and other measures to prevent price escalation and dollar erosion. The one avenue that apparently is still available is that of mobile housing. Such developing provides a means for developers residing outside the Township to profit considerably, through providing low cost housing for mobility-oriented families currently living outside the Township, whose sole interest in moving into the area could well be a lower cost of living, and when this situation no longer prevails, they, with a minimum of sacrifice, migrate to another area.

This does not appear to be much of a package to offer the people that now reside in the Township and who have historically paid to develop the Township environment that exists to date.

Should the Township determine that such mobile parks in such numbers be to the best interests of the present inhabitants of Independence Township, then we would urge that you consider the feasibility of adopting, restricting, and enforcing ordinances, so that no more than 4 to 5 units be allowed per acre and that the parks be provided with curbs, gutters, sidewalks, storms, sanitary and water, to the same specifications as are required of single resident subdivisions; to encourage as aesthetic and economical a development as possible.

Thank you for your most courteous attention.

Establishment is all wet

By Jim Fitzgerald

"It isn't just their long hair and goofy clothes," said John Straight. "But they act so silly. Getting high on grass and strumming guitars. It's disgusting."

John was talking about "those damn kids." He is a member of what the kids call "the Establishment" and he's proud of it.

"The so-called Establishment is what makes this country great," John Straight is fond of saying.

I guess all my friends could be considered Establishment. I cannot deny membership myself. At my age, and with my paunch, I fit into no other category.

I'm just not in shape for romping in the meadows with the Love Children. And I don't have time for protest marches. I must work or the milkman will be protesting non-payment of his bill.

But I've got a problem, doctor. Every time my friends start talking about what's wrong with this country, I begin to squirm.

Hair is a good example. I know men who turn purple at the sight of a boy with long hair. To guys like John Straight, there's nothing worse than some dumb kid who doesn't get a short haircut every 2 weeks. He sneers audibly every time he comes near a long-haired male.

"They are all communists," he explained to me. "Only communists would disgrace this country by looking so terrible."

I usually argue with the Straights, even if they're buying the lunch. I don't care how a kid wears his hair. It's his hair, I figure. And that seems like a pretty fair attitude for The Land of the Free, doesn't it? There's gotta be more important things to fret about.

John Straight says maybe I'm not a card-carrying communist but I'm certainly a pinko and I'd better watch what I say or I'll be buying my own lunches. The Establishment will disown me.

Well, I figure Ron Ziegler is a member of the Establishment. He's President Nixon's press secretary. The other day, at a Washington party, Ziegler was pushed into a swimming pool by a Democrat. He was wearing his best blue suit.

Ziegler didn't just glub-blub. The guy who pushed him was Len Bickwit, an employee of Senator Philip Hart. Ziegler enlisted the aid of 3 friends who promptly dunked Bickwit. Sly Bickwit slipped out of his suitcoat before he was tossed in the water. But Ziegler wasn't thwarted. He had the jacket thrown in, too. "We got it as wet as we could get it," he later told Bickwit. So there, your grandfather's moustache.

It wasn't reported whether Ziegler and Bickwit and friends were boozing. But I'd hate to think they'd act that way sober.

My point is simple: Ziegler and Bickwit have short haircuts. Their clothes are conservative, when dry. They are full-fledged members of the Establishment.

Now, I wouldn't say it is dangerous to approach a full pool in the company of ANY man with a short haircut. I'll even concede all short-hairs who push clothed people into pools are not communists.

But they are obviously communist-inspired. Everyone knows the communists want to poison our water.

Don't invite Spiro Agnew to your pool party.

Leita Oman hands the keys of the beauty salon on Main Street to the new owner, Mrs. Patricia Hall. Mrs. Hall is a 1967 graduate of Murray's Beauty Academy and has had experience at 2 shops prior to coming to Clarkston. She will be assisted by 2 experienced operators. Mrs. Hall and her husband, Norman, an electrical supervisor at Pontiac Motors, live with their 4 children on Bronce Drive.

Robert Emiry of 21 Fay St., Independence Township, is the new proprietor of the Richardson Dairy Bar on Main Street. He and his wife (a former Clarkston resident, Delores nee Bailey), have 3 children, Robert, 9; Chris, 8; and Sherri, 3. The Emirys will add a short order restaurant and bakery and will be open from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. for the summer. The new owner was the manager of the Richardson store on M-59.

Lutherans plan informal discussion at picnic

This Sunday, June 14, is Flag Day. People in the neighborhood of Bluegrass Drive will know that something special is happening when they see people gathering on the lawn of Calvary Lutheran Church.

Calvary's annual Church-Sunday School picnic and outdoor service is scheduled at 11:00 a.m. Everyone will join in a worship hour on the front lawn.

"Members and friends are asked to wear sport clothes and bring blankets to sit on," said the Rev. Arlon Stubbe.

The service will include the pledge of allegiance to the flag and a short flag ceremony. The sermon, called "Caesar or God?", will be in the form of a group discussion on the issue of church and state and will touch on such topics as aid to parochial schools, taxation of church properties, abortion reform, birth control and war and peace.

At the conclusion of the sermon time, Pastor Arlon Stubbe will attempt to sum up what has been said, and add a few comments based on the teachings of the Bible and the Lutheran Church.

The prayer that morning will center on the need for a new and vibrant kind of patriotism, and will use the flag as a symbol for such thoughts.

At noon, immediately following the service, families will join in a picnic on the church grounds. Each family unit is asked to bring its own food and table service. Coffee, ice cream and recreation will be furnished.

All members of the Clarkston community are invited to attend.

Noises draw resident ire

Complaints of noisy parties and motorcycles came to the township board Tuesday night.

One Walters Lake resident said Saturday night, May 30, "a bunch of hippies" were having a loud party at the southwest corner of the lake. He said four were waving beer cans and stopping traffic on Orion road and inviting people to join them while others went door to door asking if any kids wanted to come to the party.

He said the state police quieted things down around midnight.

Supervisor Duane Hursfall said he was called by a resident and went to the area after notifying the police. He said he didn't get to the party.

Other Walters Lake residents

mentioned the heavy motorcycle traffic on private property west of the Lake. Access is by Stickney road they said. One resident said her husband was threatened with a gun when he asked them to be quiet.

Hursfall said it was difficult to control the traffic because it was private property and the owners don't seem to care or wish to press charges.

Walters Lake area gets spring clean-up

Sunny Beach Country Club Property Owners' Association had a clean-up day on June 6 at Walters Lake.

Between 20 and 30 area residents started out at 9 a.m. and worked until 3 p.m. on the project.

Their reward was a clean area, 1 dead skunk, 2 old mowers and several hundred beer cans.

Joe Rhoades furnished his truck to haul the bags of trash to the dump.

Joe Rhoades takes a load of debris, gleaned from the Walters Lake area, to the dump.

Deer Lake Beach opens June 13

Club stakes

by Haslett Hemmor

Last week when our investment club met, old Paul Worden said we oughta change our club name. Paul's maybe right that it sounds a little silly to keep on calling ourselves "The Millionaires, Ten." Jack Fine suggested that maybe "The Paupers, Ten" would be a better moniker.

Got together 'most five years ago, we did, and agreed to put $7.50 apiece in each month. Comes a little harder now, with bad times and all, so we're thinking about dropping her to five dollars a month 'til things pick up a bit.

Before the market started to slide, we figured we were real shrewd cookies. Every month one of us held the meeting, and the guy doing the hosting also gave the pros and cons of some stock he studied up on, and we'd either buy that stock and plunk down our monthly 75 bucks on his say-so or leave her ride and maybe invest $150 on something else the next month.

Guess it was only two—maybe three—times the pot got sweetened until we had $225. When we bought that much at a time, we figured we didn't have to take any lip off our stock broker. 'Course, we actual always knew we weren't big wheeler-dealers, but $225 ain't exactly peanuts either.

Anyhow, we buy mostly low priced stocks, so we got lots of shares. Like Tony Brasso says, "A diversified portfolio." Tony's had an uncommon lot of schooling. Figured once to study doctoring, but he gave it up. Said he figured he'd get too personal involved with folks that didn't have a chance to pull through. Talks real booky, Tony does, but guess two years at college would smarten up most anybody.

Now stocks over-all are supposed to be down maybe a third. Could be a little more. Our "diversified portfolio" isn't doing quite that well. Fact is, we're off about 50 per cent according to Paul, who's now our financial secretary. Rotate that secretary job every two years. Corresponding secretary and purchasing agent we elect the first Tuesday of every January.

Been going 62 months now, we have, and including last week, we paid in a total of $4500, which is no piddling amount. Counting the $300 we got on hand uninvested, our net worth according to the stock reports last Tuesday come to $2336.

Guess you can figure that even if the market is way off, that not one of us would have saved that extra $233.60. Still it is right painful to figure you spent $450 to latch on to $233 worth of stock, including $30 in cash for each of us.

Should maybe invest that $300 in bonds or something before the old market takes a nose dive again. Guess none of us do too much braggin' any more on how smart we are about picking bargain stocks just before they go up, up, up.

Good thing none of us is smart enough to know how much the dollar has dropped, too, during the last 62 months.

Only bright spot is like old Tony says, that even the financial wizards who been doing nothing but buying and selling stocks for 25 years aren't doing too much better. At least we got the excuse we're supposed to be dumb. We sure are.

Mrs. Richard Wartewig

Honeymoon in Virginia

Before an altar decorated with white flowers and palms at the Gethsemane Lutheran Church in Holly, the Reverend Melvin Younger united Jean Marie Lussier in marriage with Richard F. Wartewig on June 6th.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lussier of Greenview Drive, chose a gown of organza and Venice lace. Her detachable chapel train was accented with lace applique. A demish bonnet covered with matching lace and seed pearls held her shoulder length veil of silk illusion. She carried a prayer book with miniature white roses.

The maid of honor, Laura Waterworth, wore a floor length gown with white bodice and sleeves which featured pink chiffon over a taffeta skirt. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

Katrina Lussier, the bride's sister, was the flower girl and Daniel Luzi of Lapeer was the ring bearer.

Paul Morene performed the duties of best man and Joseph Martin and Terry Treat were the ushers.

A reception in the church parlours followed the ceremony, after which the couple left for a honeymoon in Virginia. They will make their home in Birmingham upon their return.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil R. Wartewig of Largo, Florida.

Shel George

One of the best things about summer is that vacations roll around. Perhaps you are fortunate enough to have a week or two off when it's cold. Unless you are a winter outdoor sport, about the only thing to do is follow the birds south for the sun and the surf.

For most of us, however, vacations come in the summer time. Kids are out of school, most factories and offices gear their schedules for summer vacations, and if the weather cooperates, all is great.

I recently had a conversation with a friend concerning the occupying of travel time during vacations. This man and his wife had enjoyed a few days with another couple in Louisville during the recent running of the Kentucky Derby.

For several years now, this has been an annual event for the four of them, even to the point of reserving the same rooms in the same hotel. To hear him tell it, they seem to enjoy it more each year and look forward to it with much eager anticipation.

In case you're wondering, I don't know what their won-loss record is at the track.

To help pass the time while driving, they have developed a game (of which there are many variations) which sounded like fun. Since vacations are upon us, I'll pass it on to you.

Certain animals and objects are assigned points. The occupants of the car are divided into two teams with the goal being to accumulate 1,000 points before the other team. The rules are governed by the honor system.

Points are as follows: Pigs, sheep, cows, 10 points. One or several still only count ten points. If cows, for instance, are in two adjoining fields, each field gets 10 points but not per cow. Horses 75 points, white horses 150 points. These are counted individually. Dogs 50, cats 150.

A dinner bell is worth 200 points, and I understand can usually be spotted near the back door of the home. Many a stiff neck has resulted from the quick turn-around trying to be the first to spot these objects. Goats (you furnish the clothes-pin) score 250 each. A donkey or a mule pushes the point total up 500 each and if by chance the mule is white, you get 1,000 points and the game.

Mule-headedness does not count. It must be the actual animal.

Another "instant winner" is a wild animal. Opossum, raccoon, fox, rabbits, muskrats, etc. are all eligible, but they must be alive. On one trip, one team member actually spotted a buffalo that apparently was a pet of some farm family.

If you pass a cemetery on your side of the road, subtract 100 points.

As you can see, one team could be well ahead, only to lose because on the other team's side of the road stood a white mule.

You can alter this game to suit your family if necessary. As indicated in the title of this column, birds just don't count. So don't "chicken" out or become a "stool pigeon" and may you have a "pheasant" vacation.

See you at the track?

Petitions due in

Springfield

June 16

David Fields, Springfield Township Clerk, announced that June 16th at 4 p.m. will be the latest that petitions may be filed for the Primary Election to be held on August 4th. Springfield Township elections are still held on a partisan basis.

Elected offices which will be on the ballot are as follows: Supervisor, Clerk, Treasurer and one Trustee, as well as two members of the Parks and Recreation Commission of the Township. Any person interested in filing a petition for any office must have it in on time to have his name on the ballot.

Also appearing on the primary ballot in Springfield Twp. will be an advisory proposal to close the Township to hunting. This is on the ballot so the Township Board will know how the majority of voters in Springfield feel about hunting in the Township and to determine if the Board should proceed to consider a "No Hunting Ordinance."

Marinate in the following mixture:

- 1 can beer
 - ¼ cup brown sugar
 - 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- Pour the marinade over the ham slices and set in covered dish in refrigerator for from 6 to 8 hours.

Grill over charcoal fire for approximately 10 minutes on each side.

HOT DEVILED POTATOES

Instant mashed potatoes for 4 servings

- ½ cup sour cream
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onions
- paprika

Prepare potatoes according to directions. Heat sour cream; do not boil. Add mustard and salt and sugar. Stir into potatoes and add onion. Spoon into individual shells or casserole. Can be kept warm in oven or refrigerated and heated for 30 minutes at 325 degrees.

Whoever said that "travel was broadening" was surely right. I can prove it with this dessert that we became acquainted with while on vacation. It has many varieties but this is the one we prefer.

KEY LIME PIE

(from the Florida Keys)

Whip 3 egg yolks with 1 can (14 oz.) of sweetened condensed milk. Gradually beat in ¾ cup lime juice. I use the bottled Realime.)

Pour into a baked, cooled 9 inch pie shell (or chilled crumb crust). Chill 6 hours.

Whip 1 cup heavy cream, spread over pie. This may be substituted with meringue topping:

Whip stiff 3 egg whites; whip in 6 tablespoons sugar, one by one. Pile on top of pie. Brown 3 to 4 minutes in 425 degree oven. Cool and serve.

If you prefer an extra-sharp lime flavor, add ¼ teaspoon grated lime rind to the filling.

If you aren't too keen on pie, serve the filling in sherbet glasses, topped with whipped cream or topping, along with a vanilla wafer or other plain cookie.

CHS News

Student government names '70-'71
officers

By Polly Hanson

On Thursday, June 4, an assembly was held to familiarize CHS students with the candidates for Student Council offices. Each candidate was introduced by his campaign manager and then gave a speech stating his plans and policies, if elected. Sue Griffiths served as campaign manager for Nancy Vollbach, candidate for SC secretary. Nancy ran unopposed and will assume the duties of secretary from the present secretary, Linda Champeau.

The candidates for treasurer were Crinker Kojima with Karrie Garlak as campaign manager, and Kim Blasey, with Marcia Fahrner as her campaign manager.

Candidates for the vice presidency were: Joe Lessard, with his campaign manager, George Bennett, and Al Watson, with his campaign manager, Jane Richard.

The presidency of Student Council is a very important office. He must not only be a competent leader, but also willing to devote his time to make Student Council an efficient school organization. The other qualifications for this office have been the subject of much controversy in past weeks. A movement to amend the constitutional requirements was voted down in a special meeting of the Student Council. Candidates for the office of president were Linda Slate and Kirt Stalker. Their campaign managers were Bill Latimer and Dan Hallman, respectively.

Voting by secret ballot began on Thursday, immediately after the assembly. On Friday afternoon the results were announced. The 1970-71 Student Council officers are: Nancy Vollbach, secretary; Kim Blasey, treasurer; Al Watson, vice president; and Kirt Stalker, president. They will be replacing the 1969-70 officers: Linda Champeau, secretary; Marcia Fahrner, treasurer; Karin MacDougall, vice president; and Lou Lessard, president.

Sashabaw splits last two games

The Sashabaw Cougars split their final two games of the season — beating Avondale on Monday 7-2 and losing their final game to Clarkston Junior High 4-2. Kirk Comstock was the winning pitcher with Steve Graham providing bat support.

In Friday's game against Clarkston, Larry Miracle was brilliant in defeat, scattering 7 hits but allowing 3 unearned runs on passed balls.

Sashabaw rallied in the sixth, when, trailing 3 to 2, Brian Gerber hit a long double but Dave Lape was out at the plate and Gerber was then erased to end the threat.

The Cougars, under coach Tom Ford, ended their first baseball season with an 11-7 record, and are looking forward to playing on their home diamond next year.

Hello world

by Jean Sura

Under normal conditions I'm a cool customer. I don't get goosebumps at worms or garter snakes. I don't throw tantrums or dishes, nor do I beat my head against the wall.

There is one thing that drives me up a tree. The red flag that triggers me off is a simple statement.

"Do you want to see the baby, Granny?"
"Of course I do. That's why I came."

So off we go, down one of those long, sterile, smelly, shiny corridors. Destination - nursery.

Now if you have never seen a hospital nursery you are lucky. They remind me of an aquarium. There are a series of large windows with a whole field of little rectangular cages.

The sign on the glass usually says something cute like, "Show begins at 7:30."

Fluttering around in the background is an ogre disguised as Florence Nightingale. In the cages are the babies. There is enough light beaming down from the ceiling to conduct a third degree investigation.

The babe in white can diaper the poor little tyke with one hand because she's throttling it with her other.

"I wonder where she learned to wrap a baby?" somebody asked me.

My personal opinion is that she used to wrap mummies for the Pharaohs of Egypt.

"Look at that poor little kid. He's wrapped so tight that he can't wiggle a finger. But he couldn't find a finger anyway. They're all tied up in long white mittens."

I don't understand their theory on crying, either. Why develop a baby's lungs, anyway? Somebody will just be yelling at him to be quiet the rest of his life.

They just smile and let them cry it out. The result is that when they are taken in to be fed, they act drugged and miss the feeding. So then they can go back to the nursery and cry some more.

It isn't that I want to tell anybody how to do their job, BUT -

Any human with no teeth or hair is bound to remind you of a little old man. The difference is, to whom do they belong? When they are yours, they are beautiful little old men.

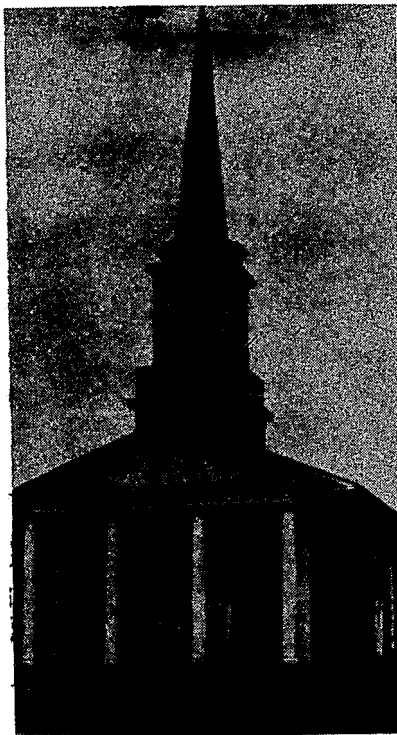

I'm going on record. The next time I have a grandchild, I'm going to carry a brick in my purse to break the dawggone window and beat the white witch.

I'll have no more tears or sobs or quivering chins for my grandchildren.

In case you didn't guess, Wonder Grandchild IV, a boy, arrived last week.

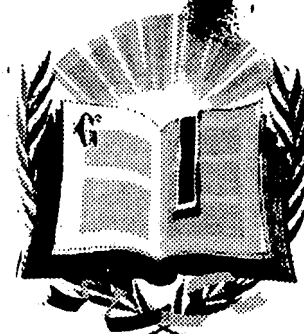

I guess that this qualifies both of our kids for full membership in the "Establishment." They each have a wife, 2 children, a mortgage, a car payment book and receding hair lines.

Welcome aboard.

PROCESSIONARY CATERPILLARS

Processionary Caterpillars feed upon pine needles. They move through the trees in a long procession, one leading and the others following - each with his eyes half closed and his head snugly fitted against the rear extremity of his predecessor.

Jean-Henri Fabre, the great French naturalist, after patiently experimenting with a group of the caterpillars, finally enticed them to the rim of a large flower pot where he succeeded in getting the first one connected up with the last one, thus forming a complete circle, which started moving around in a procession which had neither beginning nor end.

The naturalist expected that after a while they would catch on to the joke, get tired of their useless march and start off in some new direction. But not so.

Through sheer force of habit, the living, creeping circle kept moving around the rim of the pot - around and around, keeping the same relentless pace for seven days and seven nights - and would doubtless have continued longer had it not been for sheer exhaustion and ultimate starvation.

Incidentally, an ample supply of food was close at hand and plainly visible, but it was outside the range of the circle so they continued along the unbeaten path.

They were following instinct - habit - custom - tradition - precedent - past experience - "standard practice" - or whatever you may choose to call it, but they were following blindly.

They mistook activity for accomplishment. They meant well - but they got no place.

Ralph "Doc" Thayer

"Doc" Thayer retires

Chances are that if you jammed a finger or twisted your ankle at the Clarkston High School, you would have had an opportunity to meet "Doc" Thayer.

"When I started teaching school," said Doc, "the coach handled the first aid equipment and became somewhat of a trainer so all injuries were directed to us. Before long, the kids just started calling you "Doc."

So "Doc" Thayer it has been here in Clarkston for the last 33 years. When the semester comes to an end next week he will retire.

Ralph E. Thayer who lives on Miller Road will join his wife, Elinore, who retired from the Clarkston High School 2 years ago.

Several generations of Clarkston kids will remember "Doc." He came here to teach after 5 years of experience in Chelsea, Deckerville and Swartz Creek.

A graduate of Eastern Michigan University where he had earned a B.S. degree in physical education, he attended Cleary College, taking a year of business to enable him to teach that subject.

He supplemented his teaching duties with a little coaching. In his day, he has coached football, baseball, basketball and golf, some years all at the same time. To fill in his spare time he also taught driver education.

"Doc" and his wife have 2 children. Mike, who is married and has 5 children, lives here in Clarkston. Daughter, Patience Lowry, her husband and 2 children are presently located in St. Louis where his job with the Chrysler Corporation has sent them.

Plans for the Thayers' future include lots of hunting, fishing, golf and travel (and not necessarily in that order). Retirement plans also include the continuation of "Doc's" job as Village Assessor, a post he has filled for the past 5 years.

He has also been a village trustee for 3½ years, Village Clerk 8½ years, and has served as a trustee on the board at the United Methodist Church.

The joys of coaching and teaching will make pleasant memories for "Doc." There are the memories of the boy who didn't smoke "because 'Doc' didn't." Or there was the kid who finished school "because he figured that 'Doc' figured that he should." "Other than pay, the intangibles were the rewards," said "Doc."

If the good wishes for a happy retirement from all "Doc's" students and teams were laid end-to-end, it would make a long road for him to travel with his camper.

Phillip Burke

Young artist wins

By Jean Sura

Phillip Burke got a letter last week. The letter told him that he had been awarded an honorable mention in a state-wide 1970 Christmas card contest.

"Phillip's entry (which was made of colored kernels of corn), was especially creative," said the letter.

Phillip is busy building a rabbit cage at school. His teacher, Mrs. Bidinger, has promised him a black rabbit as a special reward.

Phillip is 11 years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burke and he is in the Adjusted Study Program at the Sashabaw School. The award came from the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children.

The Adjusted Study Program is one of the special education programs established by the Clarkston Schools in cooperation with the Oakland County Schools. It is one of the benefits that come from citizens' voting millage to support these programs.

There are 10 children enrolled in this class. All of them are of average or above average intelligence. Each of these children has some problem that makes him unable to function in a regular classroom.

A special plan of instruction is designed to suit each child's needs. A specially trained teacher is assisted by a lay person so that the children receive very personalized attention.

In addition to the Adjusted Study Program, Clarkston Schools also provide programs for mentally retarded children in the school district.

Our familiar impact drive sprinklers have made our name a household word. But did you know that you can get a similar sprinkler in a Pop-Up (with no gears or cams)? Until the water is turned on, the sprinkler is protected underground. Positive Precision-Jet Arm no-splash action allows placement along sidewalks or walls. Large water flow channels pass sand or dirt without difficulty.

Vote P.D.

Independence residents will again be able to vote on a police department.

The decision was made Tuesday night to put a millage vote on the November ballot.

In 1967 township voters turned down a 1-mill vote for police by a 2 to 1 margin.

The amount to ask for this year has not been set by the board. One mill would bring $61,000. Supervisor Duane Hursfall said this amount might be adequate, but they would investigate police dept. costs in other communities.
