Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

One of the many trade magazines we receive has been running a rather informal contest (the prize is a free ticket to the next solar eclipse) on the best interoffice memo. I read one of the "winning" entries a few weeks ago, making a mental note to save the article for future use.

The memo was from the head of the Department of Sociology at M.S.U. Maybe it was U. of M. or Buffalo Grove Barber College. It was addressed to one of the senior staff members and went something like this:

From: Dr. Whittington D. Snuff, Ph.D.,
LLD, Ph.T., L.S.M.F.T.

To: Instructor I. M. Teachingear, H.S.D.
(High School Diploma)

Dear Mr. Teachingear:

As you know, we are a tax supported institution. This year, due to the legislature's inaction, it has been necessary to, as they say, tighten the ol' belt. Our Department, I'm afraid, is no exception. Word has come down from the trustees to reduce the staff.

This has been the hardest job of my career as head of the Department. Who could we possibly get along without? What is the most fair way of making such a selection? I don't mind telling you I spent many sleepless nights until the solution came to me.

And the answer was simple, really, as I'm sure you will agree. The one to be released should be the very best man on the staff. The man who should, therefore, have the least trouble getting another job. The man whose many years of service have created such a fine reputation that other Universities will be clamoring for his services. (Of course, right now, they are having the same financial trouble that faces us, but it can't last forever.)

The man I describe... the man with all of these fine qualifications, is, of course, you. And because you are "the best man," I'm sure you'll agree that my solution was the logical one. That you, of all the staff, with all your years of service, will find it easiest to find another position. Why the very fact that you have served so long without promotion is in your favor. Naturally, the more promotions a man receives, the higher he goes, the more difficult it becomes to find another job. There are, of course, fewer jobs at the top, in contrast to the many vacancies there must surely be at your level.

You may be sure that I speak from my heart when I tell you how much your efforts here have been appreciated. The Board insisted that I pass on their warmest regards, and they will send you a personal note of appreciation just as soon as they get a chance.

It is too bad, however, after serving so faithfully for almost 40 years that you couldn't hang around for another four months, so you would qualify for the

Of course, should you need it, I will be more than glad to write a letter of recommendation. Just give me a few days notice. And we are equipped now to give you all the copies you may need for just 25c per copy thanks to the new photo-copy machine we have just installed. If you haven't seen this new, $250,000.00 machine, stop in and look it over before you leave. One of the three men we had to hire to operate this "little gem" will be glad to tell you about it.

With warmest personal regards,
Dr. Snuff, Ph.D., Etc.

Vandals hit village

The weekend in Clarkston was marred by 2 acts of vandalism. On Saturday night, June 27, a fire bomb was thrown at the Clarkston High School. According to Oakland County Sheriff's records, no damage resulted as the bomb hit the wall and fell to the ground, burning a small area of grass.

It was reported that a coke bottle was used to hold the liquid.

The Jaycee's bulletin was the target for the weekend's second act of vandalism. Sometime during the night of June 28 the word "pollock" was stenciled in large letters across the sign at the village parking lot on the corner of South Main and Washington Streets.

Killed in farm accident

Samuel D. Miller

Samuel D. Miller, 59, life-long resident of Springfield Township was killed on June 23.

According to Michigan State Police, Miller was cutting hay when the tractor on which he was riding struck a hidden tree stump. The impact threw him into the path of the mower.

The Miller home on Bridge Lake Road is a Centennial Farm.

Active in local fairs, Miller was a member of the Springfield Township Zoning Board for the past 8 years. He was also a member of the Clarkston Farm Bureau, Elks Lodge No. 810, the United Methodist Church of Clarkston and was a former member of the Soil Conservation Board.

Surviving are his wife, Bernice; five children, Sharlene, at home; Samuel R. Miller, of Oxford; David of Detroit; David and Carol Seivers, both of Prescott; and 3 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on June 26 from the Sharpe-Goyette Funeral Home and burial was in Lakeview Cemetery.

Crib Deaths

More than 20,000 sleeping American children die each year in a rapid and mysterious way. The mother sees the child drifting off to sleep and — sometimes only a few minutes later—the baby is found to be dead, for no apparent reason.

Much of the present research into these sudden, unexplained infant deaths is centered around the virus theory. Most deaths occur during the winter and spring, when respiratory infections are common, and parents sometimes recall a minor cold or snuffle that neither they nor their doctor was worried about.

Experts say crib deaths most often strike infants between two and four months of age; boys more often than girls; and they appear to be most common among people living under poor and crowded conditions. They discount the idea that a baby will smother in its blankets, or that a sleeping mother will roll over on her child.

The problem is so mysterious, researchers admit they don't really know where to begin their search.

But they have trouble convincing parents that they aren't to blame. Other children in the family sometimes unconsciously share their parents' sense of guilt. Doctors and baby sitters are sometimes blamed. Neighbors have shown an alarming degree of suspicion, spoken and unspoken.

Of all the theories connected with crib deaths, only one is considered generally true: the parents had nothing to do with them, nor could they have prevented them.

Special services offered for youth

John Greenhill, case worker from the Oakland County Court is situated at his desk in the new Special Services Building. Welcoming him to his new surroundings is Milford Mason, Director of Special Services.

Co-champs of the Clarkston Community Schools Sixth Grade Boys' Softball League were the following students from Pine Knob Elementary School: First row—Bobby Burke, Jim Dyke, Kevin Borsh and Tony Papi; second row—Matt Cardona, Doug Manigold, Bob Fuller, Ed Ball and Bob Heath; third row—Kevin Kerr, Bill Mathews, Steve Pearson, Brian Comstock, Floyd Frick, Tom Ross and Mike Bennett. Missing when the picture was taken were: Greg Hickman, and Mr. Wolven, Manager.

The cooperation of the Oakland County Courts, the Clarkston Schools, Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston is providing a special service to the district. John Greenhill, who holds a B. A. in psychology from Michigan State University has been assigned as a case worker to help area youths solve their problems on a voluntary basis. Clarkston will share his time with Brandon and Holly.

Under terms of the present arrangement the court pays his salary while the other agencies provide office space, secretarial service and referrals. In exchange, Greenhill will carry a case load of young people who are not court problems. "We hope to get to these youngsters and help them solve their problems before they become too serious," he said.

"In addition to working on an individual basis with these young people, we hope to work with community organizations. Our Youth Assistance Committee here in Clarkston is functioning well with the support of the community. Though we are always looking for more people we have a strong 17 working on the committee now."

Mr. Greenhill has recently been established in new quarters in the Clarkston Schools Special Services Building which was the former Administration Building. He will be in Clarkston on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 8:30 to 5.

ONWARD—THE AMERICAN WAY

THE SPIRIT OF LIBERTY

"The name of America must always exalt the just pride of patriotism." What better words than these to commemorate the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence!

From the lips of George Washington came many admonitions and statements of faith that all of us would do well to recall on this Fourth of July when our nation is fraught with dissension. As for example: "While we are contending for our own liberty, we should be very cautious not to violate rights in conscience in others..."

And to those who resort to violence to force their viewpoints upon others, or to voice their displeasure by destroying property, we commend these words of General Washington: "The very idea of

Letters to the Editor

Township had Planner letter

June 29

Dear Editor,

We have one of the nicest scenic areas around. As a concerned citizen worried about the future of our township being cluttered with mobile homes, I have returned to attending the Twp. Board and Planning Board meetings.

I noticed at the last meeting that knowledge of a letter from our new planners, Vilican-Leman, was ignored. Why?

The Twp. Board has one member on the Planning Board, Mr. Bauer, and they also have one member on the Appeal Board, Mr. Bennett. Is it not the purpose of these two men to report back to the Twp. Board their findings?

Mr. Altman should be commended on producing the letter which was available to all Township members. As Mr. Parker, chairman of the Planning Board stated, minutes and correspondence were in a file in the main office and even the public has access to them.

With special meetings held with both the former twp. planners and Vilican-Leman, is it the intention of the Twp. Board, who should represent the citizens of this community, to ignore them and our new planners who specifically stated:

"REZONING PETITIONS No. 131 & 128. We have reviewed both of these petitions within the framework of the Township's Zoning Ordinance, General Development Plan, existing mobile home park development and the specific properties under consideration.

Based upon this initial review, together with the fact that in our opinion the Township's Zoning Ordinance is rather vague with respect to locational criteria for mobile home park development, we would suggest that any action on these or other petitions relating to mobile home park development be delayed to afford the Planning Commission, Township Board and our office to study mobile home park standards in detail before making a recommendation.

It should be recognized that there is a substantial land area involved in these two requests and that careful consideration must be given to the ultimate impact of both proposals in terms of land use patterns, density, traffic, etc."

I'd like to see notices on all meetings of the Twp. Board and Twp. Planning Board in our paper and also the subject on their agenda. Please make mention of July 7th meeting on the mobile site on Clintonville.

Thank you,
Marie Brendle

Ed note: Petitions 131 is for the Brodsky mobile home request off Mann road. Case 128 is the Cohn property near Crooked Lake).

the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposed the duty of every individual to obey the established government. . . . Every valuable end of government is best answered by the enlightened confidence of the people, and by teaching the people themselves to know and to value their own rights...to discriminate the spirit of liberty from that of licentiousness—cherishing the first, avoiding the last—and uniting a speedy but temperate vigilance against encroachment, with an inviolable respect to the laws."

Today the President of the United States is seeking to end dissension in this nation—to bring peace and harmony both within and without our borders. May the American eagle proudly soar aloft—a symbol of "liberty and justice for all." And may that phrase become a living reality!

Sympathy for the doctor

By Jim Fitzgerald

A medical doctor confessed to me that he doesn't like to be called Doc. I know exactly what he means.

Looking around the crowded bar where the doctor and I sat, I could see 3 other "Docs". None of them is a doctor. One guy is call Doc because his late father was a veterinarian. Another man is a Doc because he used to jerk sodas in a drugstore. The 3rd man is a Doc because he once dated a nurse.

"I worked and studied a lot of years to become a doctor," my medical friend explained. "I like to be called Doctor. Or by my first name or my last name; or both. But not Doc. I think I've earned more respect than men who might be called Doc because they sell bandaids, or because they're in a cartoon with a rabbit who wants to know what's up."

Yeah. When a man earns respect, he likes to get it.

Listening to Doc's (whoops) Doctor's problem, I almost sobbed aloud. It's not only that I'm naturally sympathetic and I had a lump I wanted him to look at between drinks. But I was reminded of the day I was promoted to Corporal. You probably won't believe what happened but keep reading anyway. There's nothing but reruns on TV while I've never told this story before . . .

IT WAS LATE 1945 at Camp Polk, Louisiana. I had already been in the army about 2 years. My presence in Germany helped us win the war there. The mere threat of my presence in Japan led to our victory there (I was about to set sail for the South Pacific when Japan heard about it and surrendered).

Despite this tremendous contribution, I was still a Private

First Class. This rankled. My mother kept writing that all her friends' sons were admirals and generals. She threatened to pull the shade in front of the blue-star flag in her window. I was ashamed. I was also dreadfully sick of doing KP and scrubbing floors. Corporals and sergeants didn't have to do that dirty work. Only privates.

Suddenly, my luck changed. I was made an assistant to the Catholic chaplain who was a full colonel. He was a vain man and he didn't want any lousy private working for him. He immediately promoted me to corporal. Wow.

I immediately purchased 62 sets of corporal's stripes and mailed out 32 change-of-address cards, mostly to my mother. I was stenciling stripes on my arm that evening when the sergeant said it was time for a GI Party. That means scrub the lousy barracks. I just sat there and laughed.

"It's great that we non-commissioned officers don't have to do such awful work, isn't it, Sarge," I said to my new comrade, slipping my arm around his shoulders. "Let's you and me slip over to the NCO club for a beer or 12. Let these slob privates scrub away."

The sergeant handed me a broom and showed me a written notice just received from the company commander. It said that, due to an unusual number of promotions, there were no longer enough privates to do all the KP and clean all the barracks. From this date forward, it said, corporals would also do KP etc. Just as if they were privates.

And when I fell on the floor, screaming and kicking and scratching at my new stripes, a dumb private looked at me and said:

"What's up, Corp?"

Farnum runs for Sec. of State

Billie S. Farnum announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination at the Democratic Convention on August 22 and election to the office of Secretary of the State of Michigan in the general election in November 1970.

In making his announcement, Farnum said, "the office of Secretary of State is primarily an administrative position and my five and one-half years as Deputy and Assistant Secretary of State, as well as my four years as Auditor General, place me in the position of being uniquely qualified to administer the vast functions of the Department of State."

Imagine owning this ten room colonial home, situated on a 200 x 400 ft. lot, in the Clarkston school district, featuring 3 large bedrooms (possibility of more), 2 full baths, central air conditioning, carpeted living room, basement, garage and barn. Priced at $39,900 a land contract is considered for this desirable aluminum sided home.!

I do declare

by Jean Sura

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

I hold these truths to be self-evident and to prove this, I let these facts be submitted to a candid world.

I do declare that I feel like a window shade with my hem lines snapping up and down so fast I can't print money fast enough to keep up with it.

I do declare that men with long hair and sideburns are pretty strong evidence that we did evolve from the ape.

I do declare that I won't join the feminist movement until husband, Gene, has all the heavy work done.

I do declare that I won't take the job as a topless grandmother waitress.

I do declare that Jackie and Ari should never pose in bathing suits for the front page of the Free Press.

I do declare that I'll start chewing tobacco

if Gene goes and gets his hair styled and sits under a dryer wearing a hairnet.

I do declare that I protest against protest.

I do declare that it is much more fun to try to gain weight than to try to lose it.

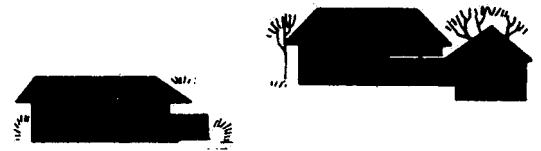

I do declare that the mosquitoes around our house thrive on any kind of bug spray used.

Retires after 16 years

By Jean Sura

A familiar face will be missing from the window at the Clarkston Post Office. Edith Holcomb, who has served the community at that station for the past 12 years has retired.

Her fellow employees honored her 16 years of service with a dinner on June 26.

Mrs. Holcomb lives with her husband, Ferris, at 52 N. Holcomb. Mr. Holcomb is a career officer for Oakland County and is presently working for the Friend of the Court. They have 3 daughters: Inez, who lives in Lake Orion; Jeanne (Mrs. William Haslock) Belford, New Jersey; and Ruth (Mrs. James Hennig) Clarkston; and 2 grandchildren.

Mrs. Holcomb came to Clarkston almost 35 years ago from her home in Pontiac to work for the Ford Dealer, then known as Beatty Brothers.

She is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and attended the Pontiac Business Institute.

"It will be a little hard to get used to retirement," said Mrs. Holcomb. "I have met so many wonderful people. The post office has been a warm and congenial place to work. I have no definite plans but to catch up on some unfinished projects, enjoy my grandchildren and when the opportunity presents itself, take off for some trips in our camper-trailer."

Resigns from Library Board

The Clarkston (Mich.) News, Thurs., July 2, 1970 9

by Jean Sura

Mrs. Kenneth Valentine relaxes at her Pheham Drive home, after her resignation from the Library Board.

Mrs. K. B. Valentine has tendered her resignation as Chairman of the Independence Township Library Board. After nine years of dedication and effort she said, "It's not as though I won't be around and interested, but I feel that we have completed our immediate goal and that a change would benefit the project. It would insure that its ideas would be fresh and not become in-grown."

The project that Mrs. Valentine (Pat) speaks of is the library building on Orion Road, truly a memorial to her efforts.

Many people and organizations have contributed to the materialization of the building but Mrs. Valentine's hands, along with those of her committee, have been a strong and steadying influence in blending the community efforts together.

The Valentine family adopted Clarkston in 1958 when they moved to their home on Deer Lake. Mr. Valentine was a native Detroit but his work as a metallurgist brought him to the Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors. Today he is the Materials Engineer for that company.

Mrs. Valentine was born in Tecumseh and raised in Kearsarge, a small town near Calumet in the upper peninsula. She received her B. A. degree from Butler University in Indianapolis and a M. A. from Bryn Mawr in Philadelphia.

After teaching English at Valpariso

University she settled down to marriage and her family.

The Valentines have 3 children. Mrs. Jo Anne Simson has her Ph.D., in anatomy and has accepted an assistant professorship in a medical school in South Carolina.

Another daughter, Mrs. William Pierce, lives in Lansing. Her husband will graduate from Michigan State University as a landscape architect at the end of the summer.

Richard, the Valentine's only son, who is completing work on his masters degree in Tucson, Arizona, teaches physics in a high school in Hinsdale, Illinois.

There are 3 grandchildren in the family, Maria, Julie and Sean.

Pat Valentine has been employed by the Gallop Opinion Poll for the past 10 years. This work requires that she conduct interviews and surveys in the Clarkston area. She intends to continue this work.

"Reading books is like a disease with me," said Mrs. Valentine. "I certainly don't intend to lose interest in the library. I will have a little more free time for golf and bridge though," she said.

When the Township accepts her resignation we are sure it will be with deep regret. Pat Valentine's service to the community cannot be measured.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class John E. Wooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Wooley of 9520 Hadley Road, is participating in a mercy mission to earthquake-torn Peru aboard the amphibious assault carrier USS Guam.

The Guam carried three highly specialized Navy surgical teams, a large quantity of emergency supplies and 16 Marine Corps helicopters to the stricken nation.

The "choppers" are transporting food and medical supplies into devastated areas from the port city of Chimbote, 240 miles north of Lima.

Hundreds of disaster victims are being flown to the carrier for medical care. Other medical teams consisting of Peruvians, Americans, Brazilians, Argentinians and Canadians are being airlifted by the Marine helicopters. Peace Corps volunteers are also assisting in the operation.

Soft ball program ends in tie

Approximately 75 sixth grade boys in Independence Township participated in this year's softball program which ended in a first place tie between Pine Knob and North Sashabaw. Both teams finished with identical 7 and 1 records.

Program directors at the schools included Ken Wolven, Pine Knob; Tim Kaul, N. Sashabaw; Jim Ashmore, Clarkston Junior High; and Dick Swartout, Sashabaw Junior High.

The level of competition was well balanced throughout the year and the outcome of first place was not decided until the last inning of the final game of the season.

Special thanks is extended by the coaching staff to parents who provided transportation for the teams and to the high school students who served as umpires.

Day Campers dampened

By Doje

Clarkston Girl Scout Day camp ended in a down-pour on Friday morning, but this didn't dampen the spirits of the 75 girls and 15 leaders who had spend the night. Fortunately, the rain held off until morning so they had a good time around the camp fire singing, popping corn and just enjoying a beautiful summer evening.

The township recreation program got underway on June 22nd when the playgrounds opened at Clarkston Elementary, Bailey Lake, Sashabaw and Andersonville schools. The playgrounds will run for six weeks, five days a week from 8:30 a.m. until 12 noon. All children are invited to attend and join in the fun of games, crafts, sports and making new friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson of Robertson Court have had grandchildren Diane and Tommy Woolston of Ohio as house guests this past week.

Summer is the time for children exchanges and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wint have traded daughter Joy for nephew Mark. Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Euler of North Olmsted, Ohio and will be in Clarkston for a week, while Joy is in Ohio. We hope Mark has better luck the rest of the week than he had the first day of his visit. He fell, and the cut in his head required three stitches.

Welcome back to the Jaycees and their wives who attended the National Convention in St. Louis. It sounded as though they had a grand time. Those attending were: Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Krick, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamaker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gussie, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ripley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Powell.

Still more attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Colton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilton, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rollison, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Simonson, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Darling, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hawke, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lepucki, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. John Powe, and Gordon Spelbring.

Nancy Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman of Maybee Road has recently completed her sophomore year at Michigan State University and is at home for a short visit before leaving to spend the summer near Lewiston where she will be working. Nancy had a very active year at school. Among her many activities she found time to read to a blind student one hour a week and helped out at an old people's home near East Lansing.

Saturday, the 4th of July, will be a big day in Clarkston, starting with the parade at 10 a.m. followed by many picnics and family gatherings. We hope everyone has a safe and happy holiday.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Theriot honored their parents' 25th wedding anniversary on June 21st. Guests from as far away as Louisiana joined other friends and relatives at the open house in Lake Orion.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Humbert attended the General Motors Institute Alumni program in Flint on June 27. Humbert received his 25 year graduate alumni key. Mrs. Humbert attended a program that was planned for the ladies. After the day's activities the Class of '45 had dinner together.

Walter Cattin was presented with a 10 year alumni key on the same date. Cattin graduated with the Class of 1960.

"Tis Abee"

Shel George

Altogether now on the first stanza. "My Country tis abee..."

The words may not ring any bells but I'll bet you recognize the tune. Anyway, if you hung around our home very much, this is the way you would sing it. Did you ever know a three year old boy to be wrong?

Somehow I doubt if Samuel Francis Smith, the author of "My Country, Tis of Thee" would be concerned with "tis abee." Granted it may lose something in translation, but what really counts is intent, not content.

Tis a beautiful country. In spite of smoke, smog and sludge we still have rocks and rills and woods and hills. These belong to us by birthright and are ours for the looking.

Tis a bountiful country. Where else does opportunity, privilege rights and material gain abound in such abundance.

Tis a brave country. Without debating the validity of our causes, many brave people have counted the cost and found the cost to be worthwhile. Even liberty is not free, but it brings freedom. Not necessarily from ourselves but from alien sources. Eternal, brave vigilance is the price of liberty. Pat Henry said, "Give me liberty or give me death." Sometimes today it seems all we hear is "give me."

Tis a beloved country. Not "America, love it or leave it." That is nothing more than blind love. Love for one's country takes into account the faults. A country is no more or no less than its people want it to be. Love will express itself in active and equitable concern. Our need is for 20-20 vision.

Tis a breath-taking country. Every time taxes are raised, it takes our breath away. At least I hear a lot of heavy sighs when news like this is announced. To comprehend the national debt "taxes my mind" - "Wait until Congress tries to collect on that. They'll get short-changed."

Tis a bedraggled country. And sometimes boisterous, and sometimes blase', and somewhat bigoted (who isn't) and slightly bruised and blemished. At times we're confused, soiled, disorganized, frustrated, angry, unfair; you name it we're that way. But!!!!

Tis a blessed country. Not because we deserve it but in spite of ourselves. And I feel a sense of beholden to this beacon of liberty, my country.

"Tis abee." Of thee we sing. The second verse same as the first.

Lavender Orchids

by Haslett Hemmor

Whether it's deep purple or pale purple or pink purple or just purple purple, it's all putrid purple to me. Can't help it. Hate that color.

Maybe it all started because Miss Moller always used to wear purple. As a kid, even her stinkin' perfume smelled purple to me. Got herself a new dress every 3-4 years, and sure's shootin' it would be another one in some weird shade of bilious purple.

Miss Moller was our roomer when I was a youngster. Pa got this big old house. It was the original farmhouse before they laid out the subdivision. Had five bedrooms, it did. And one kind of cobbled-up bathroom, maybe made out of a real big clothes closet, upstairs. No window at all.

Well, we moved into this old barn of a house and Pa cut a window in the bathroom. Near fell off the ladder couple of times, but he kept at it until he got the window in. Must have been put in crooked 'cause you never could open it in warm or wet weather.

Later on, some plumber owed Pa some money, so we got another bathroom put in between the two front bedrooms. No tub or shower, but it did cut down on the morning traffic tie-ups.

Come a depression and Ma says we might as better."

Never did get to know her much and sure didn't want to. You could see that big purple mountain a mile away, to say nothing of smelling her stinking perfume. Must of been a dime store special, that purple stinko she splashed on herself. Get up close to her and you couldn't hardly breathe for gagging. Price must of been right.

She had to use the family bathroom when she took her Saturday afternoon bath, and I sometimes sort of pictured to myself how that old purple elephant must squeeze herself to get in our ordinary sized bathtub. Out in the hall, and even down to my bedroom, you could hear her splashing around like an old rhino.

The way it stunk all over the house, she maybe used gallons of that rotten perfume instead of water. Air in that house wasn't blue. It was just plain putrid purple. Worse than the smell of cooking cabbage.

Sure don't like purple. No shades of purple. Even today, when I see that color I near gag. Funny how something like that stays in your craw and in your snout. Remember that song about Purple People Eaters? Good idea, but purple people sure aren't on MY personal diet.

well rent out one of the two front bedrooms. That's how come we got Miss Moller as a roomer. Ma figured she'd be good pay, being a teacher and all, so that's how she got the room instead of one of the other two people that answered the ad.

Sure was a big one, that Miss Moller. Guess she went a good 225 pounds, but being near six-feet, she didn't actual look too blubbery. Mostly she just looked horse-faced, and she was big enough to eat baled hay. Sure way.

First time I ever saw her, I was 'bout 8 year or so and hurrying to get down to breakfast. Ran smack into her, and it was like sudden colliding with a big elm tree. Kinda bounced back, I did. She grabbed me and shook me 'til I saw bright flashing purple spots.

"No running in the halls," she tells me. "You'll get there in time and without accident by walking. What's your name, boy?"

I was sure scared, and it used to be when I'd get nervous, I'd stutter some. "I'm Haslett," I told her, "and I live here, I think."

"I'm Miss Moller," she booms down at me, and she looks like a very unjolly purple giant. "I'm Miss Moller and I live here, too, so don't you forget it, boy. Don't forget it for one minute. Walk in the halls and we'll get on

THIS WEEK'S Spiritual Message

FROM

Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe

Worship - 9:30 a.m.

"... we have beheld his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father."

St. John 1:14

Ever since the Chinese lit the first pile of gunpowder thousands of years ago, man has been fascinated by displays of fireworks. Most of us were not more than a few years, perhaps months old, before we were taken to our first Fourth of July celebration, and sighed in amazement at the beautiful colors and dazzling patterns of light.

Somehow such events seemed to add something missing from the usual kind of day. That kind of display happened so seldom we had to wait a whole year for it to occur again. And yet the memory of those lighted rockets against a darkened sky glowed brightly in our minds for months to come.

The writer called John reminds us that, as long as man can remember, the world has been dark with Sin. The clouds of despair and suffering and hatred and war and prejudice and poverty have been gathering since original Adam left the garden and began to make his mark on the world.

Everywhere we look, the effects of Sin are present. It has turned an otherwise beautiful world into a hazy, polluted sphere - physically and spiritually. In such times as these, it would seem that men are longing to witness a new display of light. We need to be dazzled again with a vision of glory and brightness.

What better kind of fireworks can we have but that vision which men long ago came to believe in, the glory of a Risen Jesus Christ? For He died that men might have newness of life. He suffered that other men might be free from suffering. He said that He was "the light of the world." And He hoped to have us share in His glory, that all men might have hope. That's a kind of fireworks that's good for July 4th, and the 5th, 6th, and every other day as well.
