DERBY MISS—That's this Clarkston girl, Dawn Funck, 11, of 5333 Burgundy. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Funck and will be attending Sashawbaw Junior High this fall. Dawn gained the crown by writing an essay on the Soap Box Derby. All girls in Oakland county age 9 to 12, were eligible. Her story was titled "The Big Day." Mrs. Funck says Dawn writes whenever she isn't reading, which is most of the time. Dawn will preside over the county Soap Box Derby in August.

Contract talk halted

The Clarkston Education Association and the Clarkston School District have reached agreement on all noneconomic portions of the contract for 1970-71 according to Assistant Superintendent George Barrie.

Barrie, who is the chief negotiator for the school district, announced that contract talks would be recessed until action in the State legislature would determine the amount of state aid to be allocated to the district. At that time salary negotiations would begin.

What it's all about.

Planners reject Mall

The proposed Waterford Hill Mall has been turned down by the Independence Township Planning Commission. The vote was taken at a special meeting of the Commission June 25.

According to one planner the township professional planners, Vilican-Leman and Associates of Southfield, recommended denial of the zoning change requested by the developers, Gershensons, of Detroit.

The planners agreed that the area (Waterford Hill Golf Course) would be a good market area, but development of it as a shopping mall and multiple dwellings was a poor land use, according to the V-L report.

The Commission vote was 4 in favor of denial, 3 favored approving the request for change from recreation to Commercial, 1 member abstained and 1 was absent.

The request now goes to the county coordinating and planning committee. They will return it to the Township Board with their recommendations and the Township Board will make the final disposition.

Milliken coming

Governor William Milliken will be the featured speaker at the meeting of the Republican Committee of Oakland County July 14 at 8 p.m.

He will address the county GOP at Groves High School, 13 Mile at Evergreen.

The Governor's appearance was announced by GOP chairman, Robert B. Webster who said, "I urge all Republicans to attend this meeting and meet the governor."

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Let's swing through a collection of notes and comments.

I don't hear much comment any more about the stock market dipping to new six year low or taking heavy losses in a given period. It must be something like the gal who yelled "wolf" once too often.

The attitude seems to be . . . So, the stock market went down. Big deal.

Does anyone every apologize to public officials, elected or appointed, when they are proven right? One particular meeting Don Ringler, deputy director of the county DPW, really took a lambasting. He took it, too. Though obviously shaken, he stayed calm, repeating county policy, stating what had happened in other instances, sticking with statements of fact when the audience wanted to hear something else.

A few weeks later, in some cases it was days, the problem was resolved just as Don had said it would likely be. Quite a few people owe him an apology for that night. There must be many other public officials deserving the same.

I didn't get around to comment earlier on the four per cent sales and use tax now being imposed on businesses in Michigan by Detroit Edison. The State Legislature made it all possible.

Whom does the Legislature, that august body in Lansing, think is going to pay this money that ends up in state coffers? Think the businessmen are going to take it out of profits?

The letter from Edison was dated May 14 and of course the collections reverted to May 1.

Speaking of utilities . . . it seems to me that the image of utility companies in the eyes of the public is at an all time low. A newspaper man remarked to me last week that Michigan Bell would do well to spend about a million on public relations.

Maybe it has something to do with their lobbying activities, maybe pollution is involved, maybe it's the general attitude of people and maybe it's me.

A note from one of our suppliers had this comment . . . A mini-recession is a depression that only breaks small businesses.

And to even things up let me quote from a Richard Sheridan play: "The newspapers! Sir, they are the most villainous, licentious, abominable, infernal - Not that I have ever read them. No, I make it a rule never to look into a newspaper."

Largest entry in the July 4th parade was that of the Dixie Baptist Church. Above are a few of the signs carried by church members. Many were bigger. There were 4 bus loads, all singing. This proportion of God and Country brought the thrill of tears of patriotism to many. Their entry won first place.

The crowd Saturday at the firemen's 4th of July parade was estimated to be about the same as other years, but there was a difference. The spectators seemed nervous and unusually quiet, and word of a possible disturbance had its affect, apparently. Entries in the parade were termed "lighter" by some firemen. But crowd response to the American flag was spontaneous and loud.

The kiddie firefighters from Hadley got a hand from the crowd.

What Have We To Lose?

If the State Legislature is going to work part time then maybe they should be paid part time wages.

One Lansing-based reporter said, "The Legislature works only in a crisis." The fact is, they don't do very well even in a crisis.

The Legislature, both House and Senate, is a horrible example of how government should be run. The 148 men and women who represent the people of Michigan spent seven months in Lansing doing nothing, leaving the big decisions to the last ten days of the recent session.

If they had WORKED at all, they would have completed their work long ago and the taxpayers would have benefited. But they fiddled around.

They were so worried about this being an election year that they tried to put off voting on such important issues as abortion, parochial, state school aid and education until they finally BLEW the whole mess.

For example, they left hanging in limbo a $55 million state grant bill, because they forgot about it. The bill was DISCOVERED just prior to adjournment when a majority of so-called "lawmakers" had gone home so that those who remained could not reach a quorum.

Another example. Last November the Senate passed and sent to the House two bills dealing with school aid. School districts across the state, including Oxford, eagerly awaited action on the bills. The House finally got around to them last week. They had spent almost eight months doing nothing for our state's schools.

It is safe to say that a majority of Legislators last week did not know what a bill consisted of when they voted for or against it. Bills were going through so fast last week that sponsors of certain legislation

"If It Fitz . . ."

Men just don't understand women

And then I wrote . . .

A familiar answer was received when I asked Anne how come she cried when my wife had a sore throat.

"You just don't understand women," she said.

So true.

My wife, Pat, had a rusty throat last week and when she talked it sounded like a screen door being opened for the first time in 50 years. Anne told Pat that she couldn't converse with her at any great length because her (Pat's) scratchy voice made her (Anne's) eyes water.

This incredible empathy didn't surprise Pat. It's no wonder. She cries when she sees the beams of huge searchlights sweep across the sky because gas station is having a grand opening and she is touched by the meaningfulness of the occasion.

I have heard tales of husbands having sympathy pains when their wives were pregnant, but I have never actually known a man who has experienced this phenomenon. Myself, I didn't feel a thing until months later when Blue Cross rates went up. Therefore, I remain dubious about Jack gagging when Jill is choked. But there was no arguing with Anne; those were wet, real tears in her eyes.

I asked how such a thing could be and that's when I got the standard you-just-don't-understand-women answer.

There is no reasonable retort an honest man can make when faced with this declaration of feminine omnipotence. A man can know a woman so well he can safely predict her reaction to a given situation — she will always prefer a restaurant 15 miles back, for instance. But he can never understand how, while passing it at 60 mph, she can be absolutely certain the skipped restaurant served better food than is offered at the crummy dive where her stupid husband stopped. She even knows there is soap and clean towels in the rest room 15 miles back, and she has didn't know whether it had passed or not until they read the morning papers.

Our hard-working (?) politicians also did us a big favor (?) and slipped in several new tax hikes. These hikes will cost Michigan taxpayers $150 million more this coming year.

The Legislature did finally pass a school aid bill, but having no guts to make the decision themselves, they left the matter in the hands of the Supreme Court. Another $22 million in tax money left hanging.

Thanks to the Senate, three anti-pollution bills, which passed the House, bogged down in committee and died.

According to legislative experts, the main purpose of a Legislature is to adopt a state budget. The last session of the Legislature barely achieved this.

Normal sessions of the Michigan Legislature enact 150 bills. The last session enacted less than fifty.

The current Legislature adjourned recently so the members could campaign for reelection, which a majority of Legislators consider more important than passing needed legislation.

Maybe the public should surprise these lack-luster politicians by voting for someone new. What have we got to lose?

Letters to the Editor

It's still the land of the free

July 5, 1970

Dear Editor,

Commendations and congratulations to the Dixie Baptist Church — Pastor and members — who displayed a positive approach and a show of courage and conviction when the community of Clarkston was threatened on July 4 by a group associated with the desecration of the American flag, destructive behavior, and lack of patriotism.

Commendations, also, to the Village Police, Sheriff's Department and State Police for the swift way in which they provided tight security and protection that prevented possible trouble.

We are proud to be a part of this community and it's nice to realize that America, even with all of its problems, is still the "land of the free and home of the brave."

Race way a head ache

June 30, 1970

Dear Editor:

Did the Clarkston School system build their new, paved and extremely well lighted parking lot for the private all night "go cart" racing pleasure of one of its adjoining neighbors? Perhaps they don't understand that some of us enjoy sleeping.

Why don't the local police stop such annoying activities?

never poked her smart nose inside the place.

If you ask her how she knows such things, she'll tell you it's because there was a cute baby sitting in a car parked in front of the restaurant. And if you get frustrated enough to drive 15 miles just to prove she is wrong, you'll find out she is right.

So what man could understand?

Take our dog, and someone did. We gave it away. This Monster Dog did nothing except bark and chase cars and it plainly needed a home in the country.

Except at the actual time of delivery, there were few Fitz tears shed over the departure of Monster Dog. It was generally agreed, after considerable brainwashing by Old Dad, that big dogs do not belong in the city. Even softhearted Pat went along with the giveaway. "No more Monster Dogs for us," she vowed, looking at the table leg Monster Dog had chewed in half. But as I type these words, there is another Monster Dog on our back porch. It has been there several days. No one knows where it came from. I know where it is going — nowhere. My wife and children are feeding it. "If you feed that mutt, it will never go back where it came from," I said with usual male logic, all brilliant.

"It's hungry," my wife said, "where's your heart?"

"Yeah, yeah, yeah," said the kids who will feed that dog faithfully until I say it can stay and then they will never feed it again, I will.

"But you said you'd never own another big dog," I whimpered.

"This is different," Pat said with usual female logic, all dense.

Don't ask me to explain this. The only thing different about this brown and white collie is its bark — it's hoarse.

Which brings us back to Anne and her empathy. She may be credible, after all, because every time that lousy dog barks, I cry. †

THIS WEEK'S Spiritual Message

FROM

Father Francis A. Weingartz

"Everyone must obey the authorities that are over him, for no authority can exist without the permission of God; the existing authorities have been established by him, so that anyone who resists the authorities sets himself in opposition to what God has ordained, and those who oppose him will bring down judgment upon themselves." (Romans 13:1-3)

We are obliged to honor those in lawful authority over us in the government. Yes, we must show honor and respect to the mayor, the governor, the President and other civil officials. We must show honor to all civil officials because their authority comes from God. When we honor them and respect them we are giving honor and respect to God. But just how do we show honor to those in authority in our city, state and federal governments? We show honor to the officials of our city, state and federal governments by obeying their just laws and by speaking respectfully of them. We honor them by praying for them and cooperating with them in promoting public health and sound Christian morality. We honor them by serving cheerfully in the military services of our country and by paying our taxes promptly and cheerfully and by voting.

And so make up your mind to do all that you can to promote respect for all civil authority. Do this first of all by obeying the law yourself. Take to heart the exhortation of St. Peter: "Be submissive to every human authority for the Lord's sake; whether to the king since he is supreme, or to governors since they are delegated by him." J. Doolittle

Shel George

You remember Jimmy Doolittle? Admittedly if you say yes, it will date you. There were many heroes during the second World War. You remember the second World War? That was the umpteenth war to end all wars. As people, we're slow learners.

Recently I read that Jimmy was given an award for something. I recall that devotion to his country had something to do with it. Little does he realize it, but I could present him with a heroes award.

My childhood play-days were during World War II. Naturally, I read or heard about Doolittle and his famous flying escapades. Ah, it all sounded so exciting. Without even trying, he captured my imagination.

Living in a small, rural Ohio town, many of my friends were farm kids. On occasion I would pick up odd jobs helping some of these friends. I remember once carrying water for a threshing crew. I don't recall the wages, but WOW was the noon meal worth it. I still suffer from the propensity to over-eat.

In those days, most farms had some livestock. Perhaps only to supply the immediate needs of the family, but a few chickens, a cow or two, some pigs, and a multitude of cats could easily be found around the barn.

When winter set in, the cows were limited to the barn and the barnyard. Nobody went after cows in the fields in the winter. There was nothing for them to eat out there anyway. The source of food supply was the corn fodder and hay that had been "put up" in the barn during the summer. Not only did it serve as winter food, but also as bedding. After the morning and evening milking, the cows were turned out in the barnyard and some fodder and/or hay tossed down from the loft.

Well, by the first spring thaw, the barnyard was knee-deep in leftovers. Of course the sanitary conditions had somewhat deteriorated by then too. This provided ammunition for the annual springtime game called "Jimmy Doolittle" or, "pitching out the barnyard." It was a bargain at fifty cents a day, plus those scrumptious noon meals again, and best of all, a chance to drive the steel-lugged tractor pulling the manure spreader. That's where the game part came in.

When we got the spreader loaded, we'd head for the field that was to be fertilized. Out the gate, down the lane turn left, full speed ahead and throw the spreader in gear.

Boy did the leftovers fly. We'd pretend we were flying with Jimmy Doolittle and the "contents" of the spreader were bombs falling on the enemy. We won every battle and never once lost a plane.

Everything then was clear cut. The "Japs" were the enemy. Today, it would be hard to decide who the enemy really is. Maybe as my friend Pogo says, "We have met the enemy and they is us."

Invitation TO DELIGHTFUL EVENINGS

An after-dark barbecue dinner under the soft glow of gaslight... all it takes is this popular patio pair. There's a charm and friendly warmth to a gas lamp that helps entertain friends, and your handy gas grill cooks instantly with true barbecue flavor. The warm winds of summer aren't far away. Now's the time to put a gas lamp and grill in your backyard for more outdoor living after sundown.

Pollution

by Haslett Hemmor

Sure is time that folks got concerned about pollution and what the egg-heads call "ecology." It's getting so most of the cricks and rivers don't have trout or big bluegills any more. Guess about all that can live in that sludgy water is carp and maybe some kinds of bullheads and bass.

Thing's been developing gradual like for a mighty long time, because lots of folks and lots of industries didn't want to go to the expense and trouble of thinking about the other guy. No matter how the papers and radio and TV yack on it, the roadsides still get littered every day with beer bottles. And people living right on the edge of lakes fight putting in sewer systems.

Chemical junk keeps pouring out of factories, and the big shots pretend they really don't believe their plants can be doing anything bad for anybody. Know better, they do, but it costs a heap to get rid of smoke and waste right. So they pretend, and mostly nobody really raps 'em on their knuckles.

Farmers cry-baby to each other about what dirty rats the factories are, but they keep right on loading up the ground and the streams with DDT and phosphates and whatever suits them, personal. Never did see so much finger pointin' at the other guy and making out like their so blooming righteous themselves.

Mostly everybody knows, but they figure that if they squawk loud enough about somebody else, that nobody will blame THEM.

Then there's the characters that sure enough are just plain honest dumb and can't see their own corn-cob pipes for the smoke that's blown back in their faces.

Take old Clawson Tutt as a for instance. Claw's been farming in these parts for near fifty year. Knowed Claw for maybe half that time. Always got a big cud of chawin' baccar in his jaw. Guess he couldn't say ten words on end without spitting. Sloppy spitter, too. Spits into the wind like as not, and it sure shows up on his chin and shirt.

Always got near black streaks hanging down from the corners of his mouth like a droopy Foo Man Chu mustache. I've seen some hippies that look like that without chawin'. Anyhow, old Claw's never been accused of being pretty. And he doesn't much care.

Couple months back, he gets a price off Jack Bearing on building a new concrete milk house. Says go ahead and build her. Jack tells Claw that he's got to get a building permit and Claw yells and rants

'about how you can't tie your own blamed shoes no more without greasing the Township palm.

Final thing, Claw goes over to get the permit and the building inspector says he'll have to look things over first. Comes out and eyeballs Claw's place and says it looks OK, but he's got to get rid of the outhouse because outside privys ain't allowed no more.

"Forget the milk house," Claw yells at him, "and forget the privy."

"Can't," the building inspector says, "inside plumbing's required by the County sanitation code and the Township zoning ordinance. Got to do that, milk house or no."

"Anybody that brings his outhouse into his own home has got no sense of decency," Claw tells him.

Court order's pending but old Claw insists he'll never bring pollution inside his private home.

Michigan Fairs highlight summer

Eighty-one county, 4-H and agricultural fairs, and two state fairs highlight a summer fair season which opens July 2 and runs through October 10 in Michigan.

"Everyone of Michigan's eight million citizens is within one or two hours' drive from a county or regional fair this summer," said B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. "Fairs offer consumers and producers of Michigan's agricultural bounty a chance to meet and observe progress through agricultural, educational and commercial exhibits." 1.

Michigan's two state fairs are the Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba August 18-23, and the Michigan State Fair at Detroit August 28-September 7.

Other fair locations and their dates, as compiled by the Agriculture Department's Fair section, are:

10 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS

July 14, 1960

The Chester Adams family of Sunnydale returned recently from a week's camping and sightseeing trip in the New York Adirondacks. While there they also visited Mr. and Mrs. William Krause, former Romeo residents.

The Leslie Purslows of S. Main St., left last week for California where they will visit relatives and do some sightseeing.

Excitement is reaching its peak for the Boy Scouts who will represent the Clinton Valley Council at the International Jamboree in Colorado Springs, Colorado. The group from here will be John Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones; Allen Aulgur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Aulgur and Scout Leader, Mr. Jack Frost.

"OH, ALL RIGHT THEN. GO PLAY GOLFI!"

Sprechen sie deutsch?

by Jean Sura

Think it's easy to learn a new language? That's a laugh. I found that it's pretty hard and almost ended up in the divorce court to boot.

When on a vacation trip I'm one of those eccentrics who read all the stuff in the Triple A books.

"Good night, we're coming to a state line. Mom will be hauling out her book and reading about all the flora and fauna," the kids would groan.

With that kind of a reputation you can bet that I was going to prepare for all emergencies when I went to Austria several years ago.

My kind librarian was the one to blame because while she was digging out all those romantic Austrian history books for me, she came across some German language records.

"With all these books your historical background will be fine but how is your German?" she said one day.

"My German? Holy sour kraut and weiner schnitzel!" I hadn't given that a thought.

And that is how my marital difficulties began.

I played those records for weeks. I would pretend that I was a contessa and practiced my German as I went about my genteel tasks -- like scrubbing floors, waxing and ironing.

The little man on the record would greet me in German and then he would wait until I repeated the phrase or answered the question with the proper response.

He taught me all kinds of little goodies - like - "Where is the men's room?" (which I really didn't need) and where is "die damen toilette" (which I thought might be extremely important to know).

I'd get so involved in proper pronunciation and parroting the answers in the allotted time that I didn't notice Gene drive in the yard. Nor did I notice that minutes later he drove out again.

After about a week of this he came home one night and said, "Jean, we're going to settle this once and for all. You're going to have to choose between me and your German friend. I will not go on any longer with you entertaining a man here while I'm at work. And don't bother to deny it. I've heard you two cooing like a pair of German doves."

The saddest part of this story is that all my effort was in vain. When I got to Europe I discovered that every rest room I encountered had a list of words printed on the door. It said "men" and "ladies" in about five languages and just in case that wasn't enough they had a little stick figure of a girl on the one door and a little figure of a boy on the other.

I did learn one phrase that came in handy. "Ich liebe dich" got me back in Gene's good graces.

BARBECUED TURKEY

For a turkey that's roasted to a ruddy, rich, brown color, skin crisp and flavorful, meat moist and with more flavor than any you've tasted before try roasting this wonderful bird on an outdoor barbecue grill. (That's what the instructions said!)

You'll need a grill with a dome type hood to close over the turkey. The heat will be reflected down on the bird, making an oven out of the grill. You can make a hood from wire coat hangers and heavy duty aluminum foil.

1. Clip off hooks of 6 or 7 coat hangers with wire cutters; straighten wire with pliers.

2. Form 2 or more lengths into a firm circle, using picture wire to bind ends together. This is the base of hood and should fit just inside grill.

3. Loop remaining wires umbrella fashion and attach to base circle, using pliers to twist ends. Fasten together with picture wire at top.

4. Cover with heavy duty aluminum foil. Leave small portion of foil loose at top to open for draft.

The grill should be at least 24 inches in diameter if the round brazier type. If rectangular in shape, it should be about 14 inches wide by about 24 inches long. These will accommodate turkeys up to 14 pounds ready-to-cook.

1. Set up the grill on a terrace... in a carport... or the doorway of the garage, out of the wind.

2. Build the fire at one side of the end of the grill, using about half of a 5 pound bag of charcoal briquets. At the other side of the grill place a shallow foil-lined pan.

3. Place the grate in position over the charcoal, and when the fire is burning enough to create considerable heat, place the turkey on the grate over the pan... not over the fire. The turkey is stuffed and trussed in the usual way.

4. Cover or place a foil hood on the grill, adjust the damper so fire burns moderately. Don't try to rush the roasting. Brush the turkey once or twice with melted shortening or a basting sauce of wine or cider and herbs.

Should the side of the turkey closest to the fire tend to brown too quickly, protect with foil. Add additional briquets once or twice during the roasting, a few damp hickory chips towards the end.

5. Roast the turkey about the same length of time as for oven roasting. A 14 pound turkey should take about 4 hours. The usual tests for doneness can be used... the drumstick and thigh joint should move easily; press the meat of the breast with the fingers, it should feel soft. An oven thermometer inserted in the thickest part of the thigh should read 185 degrees.

Drippings in the foil-lined pan will make wonderful gravy.

Good luck!

Around the Town

Firemen, friends, fun

By Doje

The Independence Township Fire Department held their annual 4th of July party on Saturday evening at the home of Chief and Mrs. Don Beach. Former fireman Ben Norris and Mrs. Norris of West Palm Beach, Florida were in town for the weekend and everybody enjoyed seeing them again.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muscat of Robertston Ct. and Mr. and Mrs. Art Sands of Rattalee Lake Rd. hosted a family party on Saturday at the Sands home. The occasions were many. Along with the 4th there were 7 birthdays and 1 anniversary. Grandmother Mrs. Zwicker celebrated her 73rd birthday and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hinds their 45th anniversary. The rain failed to dampen the spirits of the 30 children and 20 adults.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost of Cramlane planned a replay of last years 4th of July party hoping the weather would be the only thing that failed to attend. Five families enjoyed swimming and eating between rain drops. Everyone who remembers last year will recall the severe storm we had on the 4th. Better luck next year, Char and Jack.

Sue Hampshire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hampshire, was home for the weekend to celebrate her birthday on June 30. Her two roommates, Kathy Sheridan of Peck and Carol Rose of Hastings, Michigan, came with her to help with the celebration. All three girls are stewardesses for American Airlines stationed in Buffalo, New York.

Boy Scout Troop 126 will leave on Saturday, July 11, for their annual week camp out at Lost Lake. It will be a week of swimming, cooking and all around out door living. Good luck to the boys and their fathers and we hope the mosquitoes failed to get their invitation this year.

Lynn Tower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tower of North Main Street was the guest of honor on Sunday, July 5th, at a family dinner to celebrate her 16th birthday. Happy Birthday, Lynn.

The Calvary Lutheran Church youth groups will be going to Cedar Point on Sunday, July 12th. We know they will have a great time and come home, ready to sleep all day Monday.

The Jr. Hi MYF are busy completing their plans for a swimming party on July 19th. Let's all talk to the weather man and see if he won't order up a nice warm day.

Drug Therapy

There is a widespread belief that physicians must limit themselves to prescribing only those drugs that are absolutely safe. And we expect the government and the pharmaceutical industry to provide us with this protection, without realizing that it isn't realistic or wise.

You see, no form of medical treatment is absolutely without risk. We realize this when we're talking about surgery, but many of us don't accept this when it comes to medicines. We expect "wonder drugs" and medical "cures" to be available without any danger of side-effects—and that is almost impossible.

Naturally, we want to keep the danger to a minimum—(and the FDA does a good job in providing that protection)—but we must realize that each and every drug has more than one effect on the body's complex chemistry. This applies not only to prescription drugs, but to all those others we use without a second thought: coffee, tea, alcohol, tobacco and aspirin.

This doesn't mean we should stop using drugs, or stop searching for the best form of medical treatment. It does mean that the patient must be extremely careful in following the advice of the doctor and pharmacist regarding a prescription. One tablet twice a day means just that; two tablets four times a day won't work any better, and could be dangerous. And it does mean that we must be careful about leaving such drugs around where they can be swallowed by children or "borrowed" by friends and relatives. In short, "take as directed."

Orientation

Some 750 high school students who expect to enroll as freshmen at Eastern Michigan University in September attended one-day orientation programs on the campus last week (June 15 through 19).

During their visit, they received individual and small group counseling and registered for the fall semester. A campus tour, an opportunity to meet other freshmen in residence hall surroundings and 24 hours to become acquainted with campus routines were others parts of the program.

A special parents' orientation was held twice daily. The parents heard talks by University personnel and had a chance to ask questions. Gary King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert King, 5651 Chickadee, attended the program.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Calvary Lutheran Church of Clarkston was beautifully decorated with a huge replica of the Eagle medal in honor of the boy scouts receiving Eagle rank at this Eagle Court of Honor on Monday evening, June 15.

The ceremony began with Senior Patrol Leader, James Loba, leading all present in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. Norman Hunt delivered the invocation

Scoutmaster, Dr. Forrest Hunt, made the announcement that Troop 189 was 6 years old. Appropriately, everyone joined in and sang "Happy Birthday."

Dr. Hunt introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Howard Shelley, photographer of "Michigan Outdoors." Developing on the fact that adventure is his business, Mr. Shelley recited a beautiful poem called "Just Plain Fishin'." told stories and showed movies of some interesting and dangerous experiences in photographing fish and wildlife all over the world.

Mr. Shelley, addressing the boy scouts, told them to remember three things. He said, "Courtesy, Common Sense, and Good Manners never hurt anyone."

The award ceremony began with Junior Assistant Scoutmaster, Mark Willis, presenting Tenderfoot Awards to Jim Falardeau and Leif Gruenberg.

Mark Willis also presented the Second Class Award to Gerry Runkle.

Advancement Chairman, Mr. Norman Hunt, presented First Class Awards to Curt Smith and Eric Gruenberg.

Assistant Scoutmaster, Mr. Ray Loba, presented the Star Award to Kirk Robenault.

Dr. Forrest D. Hunt presented a Bronze Palm to Matthew Moore.

Ass't. scoutmaster, Mr. Herschel Fry, presented eagle awards to James and Dennis Loba. This is the highest rank a scout can achieve and the goal of every boy scout. Mr. Fry also presented each of them with an eagle certificate and a personal letter of congratulations from

Mr. Alden Barber, Chief Scout Executive of Boy Scouts of America.

Dennis Loba's impromptu presentation of a tie slide he had carved in the shape of a tooth was a pleasant surprise for Dr. Hunt.

The closing ceremony was impressive. While listening to a recording of the late Senator Everett Dirksen reciting "The Star Spangled Banner" the audience was shown slides of the American Flag taken at home and abroad.

Refreshments of coffee, punch and a decorated cake honoring the eagle scouts were served in the church activities room by Mrs. Richard Butler, Mrs. Norman Hunt, and Mrs. Herschel Fry.

On June 13 Boy Scout Troop 126 went on their 1970 canoe trip. The boys were picked up at their homes by assigned drivers at 5:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

The trip started at Hinchman Acres Canoe Service in Mio and ended at the McKinley Bridge in McKinley. They traveled 22 miles in a period of 4 1/2 hours.

At camp Saturday night there was swimming and fishing.

"We broke camp Sunday morning for the trip home," said troop scribe, Mike Smart.

TROOP 189 CANOE TRIP

Twenty-one boy scouts and 13 scouters participated in Troop 189's annual Canoe Trip on the week-end of June 12, 13, and 14.

Friday night was spent setting up camp and swimming in the Manistee River.

The weather was beautiful for the troop's 14 mile trip down the river on Saturday. The trip was highlighted by swimming, dunking the canoes and each other. Franz Tresenreiter caught a trout with his fly rod. He cooked the fish and enjoyed eating it.

The adult leadership was provided by scoutmaster Dr. Forrest Hunt, ass't. scoutmaster Herschel Fry, and committeemen John Mayo, Norman Hunt, Richard Hammerstein, Roy McIntire, Frob Gruenberg, Jim Zelenak, Bill Keller, Bob Baynes, Bill Jewell, Dick Robenault, and Ed Falardeau.

Boy scouts attending were: Franz and Karl Tresenreiter, Craig and Matthew Moore, Curt Smith, Mark Baynes, John Mayo, Leif and Eric Gruenberg, John McIntire, Ray Grant, Mark and Paul Zelenak, Bill Keller, Gerry Runkle, Mike and Rusty Jewell, John Fry, Jim Falardeau, and Mike and Kirk Robenault.

FEELINGS

By Diana Bond

When feelings get hurt,
It certainly is funny,
But the words "I'm sorry"
Make a cloudy day sunny

FEELINGS

By Renee Lussier

Feelings are a time for sorrow,
Feelings are a time for pain,
Feelings are happiness,
That you could regain,
But feelings for people will Never stay the same.

SPRING

By Kim Koch

The season of spring is a beautiful thing,
When the flowers are in bloom
There is no gloom,
You can hear the wind
Whispering through the trees,
And the smell of honey
Made by the bees.

THE WORLD

By Ken Zawacki

Big, round
Revolving, turning, moving,
Lonely, happy, sad, and fighting
Ball.

MY OWN WORLD

By Marie Rathsburg

I wish I had a world of my own
But I don't,
So I'll use the globe
To be my little world,
It's fun to imagine the world
As happy, laughing, funny, lovely,
Beautiful, but I hate to imagine even though

I sometimes do
the sadness, hatefulness and hunger too,
So in my world are the
Happiness of the good things
Coming true.

AMERICA

By Michelle Wen

It has a flag that flies
so proud and true,
To show us of our freedom,
It reminds us of our ancestors
Who roamed this country, new,
We have a statue bold and brave
That reminds all of us,
That life and freedom are not to be Taken for granted by you or me.

LOVE

By Chelli Gavette

Love is when you share with others,
Love is when you care for your brothers,
Love is sharing,
Love is caring,
Love is something nice to have,
Soothing as a salve.

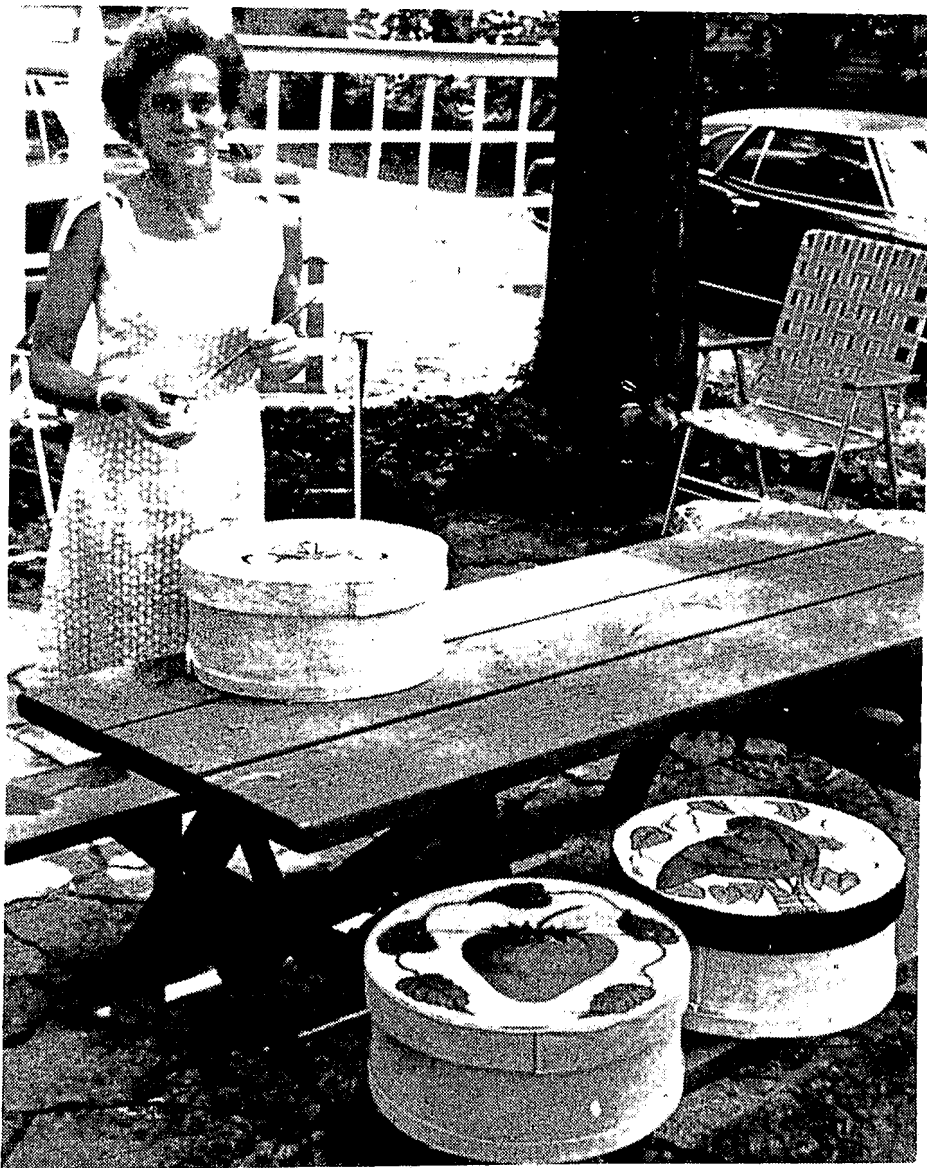

MY ROCK

By Steven Graham

This is my rock,
THIS IS MY ROCK!
And here I run,
To seal the secret of the Sun.

This is my rock,
THIS IS MY ROCK!
And here come I
Before the night has swept the sky.

This is my rock
This is my rock,
This is the place
to meet the evening face to face.
THIS IS MY ROCK!
My Peace!!
