Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Oh! Oh! The poster fight for the State Senate is getting dirty. Some Briney boosters are tacking their signs over the top of Ingrid Smith's.

Seeing the GOP and Dem posters cluttering the neighborhoods is most upsetting. Chuck Woodhead of Michigan Bell says it can also be dangerous. He says utility poles and lines belong to the companies and as such are private property.

He says he's asked Dick Robinson and others not to tack signs on poles, Chuck says a line-man's safety belt could get caught on an unseen poster and cause a fall.

Gary Stonerock has also come in for utility criticism, and some public knocking, by hanging signs over power lines across roads. I doubt if they have done the good he hoped for.

By the way, why is it you seldom see posters for incumbent politicians? New candidates "litterally" litter the countryside and inevitably the incumbent is favored.

Another case where posters may not get the desired results is Independence Township, where Bobby D. Hurst is seeking a post in "Independence." At least that's what it says in the bottom left corner of his signs.

I was attacked by a blue bird Sunday evening. Funny? Not really. I'm glad I had a rake in my hands. That thing scared me, all 225 pounds of me. I saw Alfred Hitchcock's film "The Birds" and wondered at the writer's imagination, but not any more.

I took it for a while, scaring the bird off when it got to within eight feet. Then it left for a couple of minutes and brought back some friends. Eight of them were circling and zooming. But one would fly at my head, stop in mid-air and flap its wings, and thrust out its beak. It was like the pictures one sees of big birds beating or attacking an enemy. Wild!

Time after time it attacked until I decided to head for safety in the living room.

On the way to the house I learned the bird's concern. Its baby was clinging to the front of our garage. Mother's love is really strong when it puts a few ounces of feathers against a man, but she won.

Mexican visitors meet at picnic

By Jean Sura

The Clarkston Community is the host to 2 more exchange students through the "Youth for Understanding" program.

The Donald Johnsons of Hogback Lake Road who have recently said goodbye to Paulo, their exchange son from Brazil, are now enjoying the company of Guillermo Salorio, 12, a native of Mexico City.

Their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Audley Arpoika of Andersonville Road, are the host family for Pablo Santa Maria, 13, who also calls Mexico City home.

Both boys will spend 2 months here in Clarkston and will return home in time to start the school year in September.

Gil, (as the Johnsons have nicknamed Guillermo) has traveled extensively. His father is an engineer and he has 3 older sisters.

Pablo's father is also an engineer. He has 3 older brothers and his 12 year old sister is spending the summer in Grosse Pointe on the exchange program.

A mutual friend of the boys in Mexico is Mario Mijangos, 13. Mario is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooley of Lake Orion. With all the visitors being close by, it was easy to arrange a picnic last week.

The visitors were all agreed that the most fun for them here in the United States was swimming in lakes instead of pools like they do at home.

They are all enjoying their families and agree that people in the United States are very friendly.

The Johnsons, wholehearted members of the exchange program, are expecting their Japanese daughter for the next school year to arrive in late August.

Cost near $50,000

Court decision dents local school budget

The Clarkston Area Schools stand to lose around $50,000 this year, according to Superintendent L.V. Greene, as a result of the Michigan Supreme Court decision that was handed down last week.

The reports said that the Court ruled it will be illegal for public schools to charge students for any textbooks, special courses such as band or shop and athletic programs.

In the past the Clarkston school system has provided for the rental of textbooks in grades 1 through 12. The cost is $5 per year for grades 1 through 8 and $6 for grades 9 through 12. Kindergarten fees of $2 were charged to cover the cost of instructional materials.

In addition, fees were charged for consumable materials in the Art, Industrial Arts and Mechanical Drawing Department. A flat rate was charged for the use of towels in the physical education department and the bookstores provided supplies with just enough mark-up to defray the cost of the operation.

At the present time the athletic program in Clarkston is self-sustaining, drawing its main revenue from gate receipts at interscholastic games.

"If the interpretation would prove that this source of financing must be eliminated our athletic program will be in jeopardy," said Dr. Greene.

"This estimate of $50,000 is necessarily a quick estimate," he continued. "I haven't received the actual copy of the decision so I can't give an accurate answer to the problem."

"There is no question that the money will have to be figured into our budget. Eventually, of course, it will have to come from State Aid or increased local taxes."

Previous to this assignment he was principal of the Will Rogers Elementary School, Pontiac. He has been with the Pontiac schools since 1961, coming to this area from Flint where he served as Superintendent of the Utey Community Schools.

Dr. Condon has a M.A. degree from University of Michigan and an Educational Specialist degree from Michigan State University.

Mrs. Condon is head librarian at Waterford Kettering High School. The two Condon boys, Bill and Jim, attend the Clarkston Schools.

Health Costs

Although drug costs have remained fairly stable (while other health costs have climbed steadily) Americans over 65 are now spending about five times as much for drugs as are young adults. Average annual spending totals about $42 for older persons, compared with $8.25 for those between 15 and 24 years of age.

Those costs were estimated for those who are not in an institution. The cost of drugs for those in hospitals, nursing homes and extended care facilities could be even higher.

The largest part of the older person's drug costs was the money spent in treating high blood pressure. The next largest amount went for the treatment of heart disease. On the average, women over 65 spent more ($46.70) than men ($34.70) for their prescribed medicines.

The best way to keep ahead of medical costs is to figure out what your health insurance doesn't cover: doctor's home and office visits, drugs, eye care and dental bills. Take a good hard look at your medical expenses for the last couple of years, and try to anticipate your costs for next year.

If you can set aside a small amount each payday for these normal medical expenses, you may discover they are easier to pay when they are no longer financial "emergencies," but just expenses to be met out of your regular budget and savings.

Letters to the Editor

Sign problem

Dear Editor:

The attached letter was sent recently to primary candidates with the exception of candidates running for city offices. The Road Commission has sent this type of letter in the past; however, it is difficult to estimate the effectiveness of such an appeal. We have attempted to be quite consistent over the years in removing signs of any type from the public right of way, and generally speaking believe that we have been relatively successful in keeping the county roads free from signs because they obviously detract from the appearance of our roads and frequently create vision or safety hazards.

Prior to an election it is impossible for us to assign sufficient men and equipment to the task of removing political signs in order to keep up with the problem, but we still remove them as quickly as possible and continue to do so for sometime after the election. The cost of this activity to the Road Commission is estimated to be at least $5,000 per election. We suspect that the candidates themselves are infrequent violators, but that their friends and campaign workers are the principal violators.

Board of Road Commissioners
Editor's note: This was the letter which was sent to all candidates:

July 15, 1970

Each election year, our office is besieged with complaints regarding the posting of political signs within the right of way of highways in Oakland County.

The laws of our State prohibit the affixing of signs to trees upon any public highway and further prohibit the placing of unauthorized signs within county rights of way. The laws provide for both civil and criminal liability for violation.

Aside from the unsightly conditions which these signs cause, and the ill feeling which is sometimes generated among candidates for office; there is an expenditure of Road Commission funds in removing illegal signs, which we feel could be better used for the maintenance and construction of highways.

We do not believe it to be the desire of any candidate for office to knowingly violate the laws of our State. Therefore, we ask your cooperation in making this information known to all campaign workers in an effort to see that our highways are kept free from all political advertisements during the election campaign.

Sticky business

July 15, 1970

Dear Editor:

The other day a fellow came to my home to ask what he could do to help with the election in which I am a candidate. My campaign manager suggested that the fellow could offer bumper strips to his friends and ask their permission to put them on their cars until after the August 4th primary election.

A few days later, Steve Burton, campaign assistant, was in Clarkston and discovered that someone had broken one of our campaign rules by placing a Briney bumper strip on something other than a bumper. Steve immediately removed the posted bumper strip and called this to my attention.

I have called this to the attention of all of the people associated with the "Briney for State Senator Campaign" and have re-emphasized our policy which is, to run on our own merits and not at the expense of others.

I might add that our bumper strips are made of vinyl and will not hurt the finish or the chrome on a vehicle. Should any of you find any of our literature or stickers "out of place" please call this to my attention by calling Briney Headquarters at 334-2382. You may also write to Briney for State Senator at P.O. Box 454 Pontiac, Michigan 48056. Or, if you like, please feel free to remove it yourself.

Sincerely,
James W. Briney, Jr.

Help yourself

To the Editor:

About a month ago Deer Lake was fortunate enough to receive 14 rubber innertubes from a kind patron of the beach.

During the weeks following some people felt more privileged than others and took it upon themselves to increase their stock of innertubes, not to mention 3 frizbies, 3 styrofoam rings, 2 styrofoam surfboards, 3 inflatable life rings, 2 buckets and 1 shovel.

We would like to bring it to the attention of all, that they missed 1 beach ball.

Everythings yours,

Cheerleaders win 2nd place

The Clarkston Varsity Cheerleaders, Bev Arrowsmith, Kim Blasey, Jan Easton, Cindy Porritt, Gail Ragatz, Sue Surre, Pam Toutant, and Debbie Wyckoff are having a busy summer. Besides their 2 or 3 regular practices each week, they have many extra activities and responsibilities.

Once again, after attending the International Cheerleading Foundation's Cheerleading Camp the girls returned with second place.

Each day, while there, they would learn completely new and different cheers and were evaluated by an instructor each night. On the last day the squad received a comprehensive evaluation by all the instructors on any one cheer they had learned during the week.

The girls were coached in pompon routines, skits for pep assemblies, and ways to raise funds. They plan to use many of the ideas to improve school spirit here in Clarkston.

Each girl is enthusiastic about next years program and plans to work hard to stimulate this same spirit in others. In their efforts they appreciate the continuing support of both students and the community.

Parks aren't paying for themselves

By Jim Sherman

We are unalterably opposed to the ¼ mill tax renewal for Oakland County.

By the way, the ¼ mill is misleading because recreation funds are matched by at least 50 per cent from other government sources. This means even more of your tax money will be spent.

County taxpayers were told that the parks developed by the ¼ mill approved in 1966 would be self sustaining. Kenneth L. Van Natta, director of Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission, said that in January, 1969, in an interview with the Oxford Leader.

So we won't be accused of taking that statement out of context we'll repeat it entirely. Both Van Natta and his assistant Gerald Lacey agreed that the $2 million investment at that time would not become a burden to the taxpayer. They even listed the fees to be charged at the parks.

"If people pay they will have a better feeling for taking care of the property. This is part of the theory behind the fees. The other reason is that we are not in the welfare business and don't expect once people invest in properties like these that they should continuously keep coming up with the money to operate them. We are making the projects self sustaining." Kenneth L. Van Natta.

Lacey further pointed out at that time, "Operation of the parks isn't going to work as a burden on the taxpayer. That's why I think our program is unique."

Self sustaining? Not a burden? Let's see.

The P & R dept. has bought 1613 acres in the county since 1967. For the five sites, they have paid about $670 per acre on an average or a total of $1,083,071, according to their figures.

But look at what they have gotten in the last 3 years. Total county valuation as equalized for 1967, 68, and 69 was $10,484,051,576. The quarter mill gave the P & R $2,621,012,894.

In 1969 alone the ¼ mill brought very close to $1 million. Add to

Violence at the drive-in

By Jim Fitzgerald

This is about violence or the generation gap or, maybe, just bugs. You figure it out.

On the 4th night of a beach vacation, our family finally grew tired of telling lies about how nice it was without TV. We decided to go to the nearest drive-in movie, no matter what was on.

The marquee said "The Losers", which meant nothing to us.

"It must be a movie about husbands," I told my wife.

"If it is, the children shouldn't be allowed to see it," she answered.

As it turned out, no one should be allowed to see it. It's one of those motorcycle films that are currently turning kids on. I'd never seen one before. Gee, I thought, this is my chance to broaden my perspective and reach out across the generation gap. Maybe I'll learn what that kid was trying to tell me last month when he tore up my lawn with his motorcycle.

(Also, I thought very quietly, maybe there'll be a little nudity for turning older men on).

But no, no, no. It was all shooting and slugging and bombing mixed in with a great spinning of wheels and roaring of motors. There was a little sex but every time a guy found the right-on girl, he got a bullet in the head and she got his blood all over her best skin.

that the matching funds obtained. It adds up to quite a sum of money.

But there is more to our objection than that.

Following the county's purchase of the Buhl estate (Addison-Oaks) in Addison Township for $389,000, Van Natta said to township residents in March 1969, "Your assessment roll was decreased the exact amount of the assessment of the property. You have a credit for $389,000 taken off the roll."

Did they? In 1967 Addison's valuation was $8,032,600. In 1968 it was $8,341,151. In 1969 the valuation went to $12,004,200.

Not a burden? What about to the school systems involved or local townships? The burden of paying for these falls to taxpayers . . . taxpayers who generally don't use the recreation facilities provided by their county.

In January 1969, Van Natta stated, "We are going to use our resources to develop our present park sites." In July 1970 the story is different.

The P & R Commission has put out some literature asking for approval of another ¼ mill for 5 more years. One part says, in bold print, "Parks Pay for Themselves." It goes on to say the parks will not be a continual drain on your pocketbook after land is acquired, equipped and staffed.

Yet past history, over the 5 years of ¼ mill and over $2.5 million, shows otherwise. The P & R has over $1.5 million to put the present sites on a self sustaining basis. Let them prove their theory works before approving giving them over $1 million a year for 5 more years. Vote NO on the recreation millage August 4.

"OKAY, OKAY, OKAY... I SAID I'D PRUNE IT, DIDN'T I?"

Trade training for non-college students proposed

A new program to provide non-college bound students with trade training was introduced last week by Camp Oakland officials.

However, though the president of Camp Oakland, Inc., Robert Dearth, and director Bill Matus presided over the informal presentation, both emphasized they wished no credit, and would rather another organization promoted the program.

Proposed was a new cooperative study program to give high school students a choice other than "dropping out." It is patterned after the Job Corp Program that is being phased out.

The major differences are that it would bring job training within the community where the student lives, serve both male and female and bring a diploma for job accomplishment rather than entirely academic.

As Matus said, "Basically, this proposal suggests that we provide the same opportunities of academic, remedial, vocational and para-professional training to boys and girls in their communities as the Job Corp did in wide spread areas.

"We suggest the utilizing of existing schools for the academic and remedial program, and private enterprise and public agencies and their present facilities for the vocational apprenticeship and para-professional programs.

"We suggest that the refinement of this proposal and the application of it with a final evaluation will prove that it has in it many problem-solving benefits which this country, and particularly the large cities, are searching for."

Matus concluded, "While we recognize there are hazards in opening up all occupations to young people in this proposed program, we reject completely that they are nearly as severe as smoking pot, using drugs, going to reform school or prison, attempting to outrun a policeman's bullet or rioting and looting and burning down our schools."

The new program was proposed for Detroit on an experimental basis. The Federal government, Detroit schools, State Dept. of Public Instruction, private enterprise and public agencies (hospitals, schools, etc.) would be involved.

Students would be allowed at age 15 (younger if possible) to go to work in whatever field they desired. They would be paid minimum wage or whatever the employer chose, provided there is a change in child labor laws.

As Dearth said, "A formula for a pay scale shall be developed and a minimum wage paid to the apprentice determined. He also said, "The duration of the program for each child shall be not less than 2 years and shall culminate in a high school diploma."

The 2 men listed some of the gains they feel can be made with the program they outlined. They said they know the gains are possible from their experience at Camp Oakland.

1. To allow those young people who are not college-bound to develop skills and receive training equal to quality to the college-bound student.

2. Decrease the number of school drop-outs substantially, which would in turn:

A. Decrease the number of children out of school and out of work walking the streets.

B. Cut down student unrest from high school to college level.

3. Utilizing the resources of private enterprise and public agencies, we will be saving the tremendous expense of duplicating these facilities at taxpayer's expense as part of our educational system.

4. Likewise, utilizing the public school for the academic training could mean the schools and faculty will be used on a twelve month basis.

5. The students who select this curriculum most probably would represent a large number of low income families." These students, receiving a minimum wage, will in fact be supplementing the family income by being in large part self-sustained.

6. An evaluation at the culmination of this project could:

A. Provide sufficient knowledge to assist in the updating of the Child Labor Laws in a logical way.

B. If successful, this study could result in the adoption of this program on a national level and the renaissance of education in this country long overdue.

"I'll Never Walk Alone"

In these summer days, most of us have an opportunity to spend some time alone. Perhaps our solitary hours are spent on a seashore, or in a small boat out in the middle of a big lake. They may be spent in a quiet forest or among the barren rock fields of the mountains. But whenever we go apart, a great sense of "aloneness" suddenly sweeps in upon us. Since most of our days are lived among crowds, this unfamiliar feeling of being alone is refreshing to our fevered spirits. Refreshing as this may be, we know we have to return to our various responsibilities.

CLARKSTON UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Frank A. Cozadd, Minister

We know, too, that we would not always want to be alone. It is not good for us to be alone too long. God did not create us to be solitary. We are truly human only in relationship with other persons. This is the larger meaning of the verse in Genesis, "It is not good that man should be alone."

When we sin in many areas of life, it seems natural to say to God and man, "Let me alone." We want to escape both our guilt and our responsibility. Our greater sin is that we consider other persons, or

God, a threat to our independence and self-esteem. For you see, God has so ordered life that no one ever is, ever was, or ever will be completely a law unto himself.

He who tries to "go it alone" has separated himself from both God and his fellow men, not so much by defying them as by displacing them. This kind of isolation which displaces God and enthroning self leads ultimately to a self-hatred, as well as to a sad and lonely isolation from other human beings.

In this we are most miserable. We are lost, and lonely, and uneasy. An amazing thing about Jesus now comes into focus. He never seemed to be really lonely with the exception of that awful moment on the cross when the sin of the world momentarily seemed to separate him from God. Jesus was concerned about what the loss of his presence would mean to his followers and so he said, "I will pray the Father, and he will give you another comforter, to be with you forever, even the Spirit of truth... for he dwells with you, and will be in you." He is the instructor, the comforter, and the constant companion of all who seek him. Truly we can say, "I'll never walk alone."

Many of his Community and Jaycee friends donated to the Memorial fund in his name, as a remembrance of his enthusiastic desire to better his community.

The display case will be used by the Library, and will also be available for all Community Service organizations to use for displays. These displays can be arranged through the library. (Mrs. P. Smith.)

This is the season for potluck picnics and family reunions. What are you going to take for your "dish to pass?"

Here are several that may strike you as something good but different for a change.

SERBIAN SPINACH

2 cartons large curd cottage cheese
6 eggs, not beaten
6 tablespoons flour
½ cup oleo or butter cut into 8-10 slices
½ teaspoon salt
2 packages thawed chopped spinach (well drained)
1 - 8 slice package Old English cheese (cut into bits)
1 teaspoon oregano
Mix in order given. Pour into a buttered 3 quart casserole. (The size is important or it will bubble out in the oven). Bake uncovered for 1¾ hours at 350 degrees. Serves 8 to 10.

Now that fresh zucchini squash is coming into season try this.

SCALLOPED ZUCCHINI SQUASH

2 medium sized squash
16 squares of saltines
1 5-1/3 oz. can evaporated milk
Seasoning to taste
Butter

Pare squash and cut in this slices. Butter 1½ quart casserole and put in layer of vegetable. Crush ½ of crackers in your hands and put over top. Also add several pieces of butter and seasonings. Repeat this then pour evaporated milk over all. Bake uncovered about one hour in 350 degree oven. If, when tender, it seems a little dry, add some milk or cream. This may be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated but baking time must then be increased slightly. Serves 4.

For a finale here is a dessert recipe sent in by Mrs. Jack Davis. She and her husband belong to a club that gets together frequently and try to tickle each others taste buds. Marge guarantees that this is great.

PEPPERMINT MINT DESSERT

Crust:
1 cup flour
½ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup butter

Press into bottom of 8 x 10 pan. Bake 15 minutes or until golden brown.

Filling:
Drain large can crushed pineapple. Put juice in pan, bring to boil. Dissolve 1 package (3 oz.) lime jello in juice. Cool. Cream 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese with 1 cup sugar. Blend into jello mixture.

Stir in pineapple, chill until thick but not set. Make up 1 envelope Dream whip as directed. Add 1/8 teaspoon mint extract. Beat until stiff. Fold into jello mixture. Let set 2 hours.

One hour before serving spread 1 envelope of prepared Dream Whip on top.

Have a good time.

Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene has announced that Sue Surre of 7160 Perry Lake is one of more that 1,600 Nazarene teenagers from the United States, Canada, and abroad to be chosen to attend International Institute at Estes Park, Colorado, July 14-20.

After 19 years of trying to convince me that we should have a camper and go camping, Harry finally won. He purchased a camper and got it all ready for the big shake down at the Expressway Campsites in Holly on Tuesday, July 14. I was still not convinced and held to my statement that "he could park it at any motel and I would go along."

With son Mike away at Scout camp it left Harry with mother and two daughters to set up camp. Thank goodness he is patient. He thought the thunder storm on Tuesday night was sure to mean a Wednesday morning pack up. I figured if I could live through that I could make it through anything.

Wednesday and Thursday were beautiful days and when it came time to leave on Thursday afternoon guess who said, "Let's stay another day?" You're right! I have to admit it was great and I am all ready to go again. Which just goes to prove old dad was right again.

The Clarkston Jayettes are very busy this week getting ready for two big events on Saturday. It will be Womens Fun Day in Pontiac in conjunction with the Oakland County Sesquicentennial.

They will hold a flea market in front of the Courthouse. All articles sold will be hand made by the Jayettes. It is also the day of the Powder Puff Soap Box Derby. Pat Ripley of Clarkston will be driving in the car they made and named The Banana Split. Good luck, Pat.

The annual Stanley reunion, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stanley of Sashabaw Road on Sunday, July 12. A potluck dinner, swimming and games were enjoyed by the 63 guests who attended.

The Fahrner family reunion was held in Ann Arbor on Sunday, July 19. Over 80 members of the family gathered in the rain and enjoyed the first get-together in many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Fox and daughter, Marilyn, of Milford, Massachusetts, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Max Fogg of Snowapple Drive. The Foxes are former residents of Clarkston and their old friends were very glad to see them.

Kim and Karen Schebor, Kim and Linda Hamilton and Janice Adams all left for two weeks at Camp Sherwood on Sunday, July 19. The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schebor of Holcomb Street, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Hamilton of Middlelake and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Adams of Sunnydale.

Holly Hawk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. Hawk got over her case of chicken pox just in time to make the deadline.

Mr. and Mrs. Tink Ronk of Overlook Drive, daughter, Kathy and son, Steve, joined family members from Jackson and Milford at Cedar Pointe for two days this week. I hope the rain stayed in Michigan. Little Robbie Ronk stayed at home with grandma, Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk.

Mike Fogg of Snowapple Drive was taken to Pontiac General Hospital on Thursday where he underwent emergency surgery. This is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Fogg to have a hospital stay this summer. I'll bet school can't start soon enough to suit Mrs. Fogg.

Jill Lopucki joined cousin Kim Winship in celebrating their birthdays on July 17. It was Jill's 2nd and Kim's 4th. The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lopucki of Peach Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Winship of Snowapple Drive. Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lopucki of Royal Oak joined in the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kenyon of Transparent Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Victoria Denise to Private Elbert Douglas Burnett. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert C. Burnett of Sashabaw Road. A September 25th wedding is being planned.

At last

Shel George

The following conversation was overheard recently. The son was sitting in the family room, soft drink in hand, watching a basketball game on the "tube." The Father entered.

"Hi Son, whatcha' doing?
"Hi Dad, watching a basket ball game."
"Oh. What's the score?"
"Uh, 86 to 82."
"Who's ahead?"
"86."

That's known as being forthright and to the point. If time happens to be of prime importance, you can't beat this approach.

That's how young kids are. I don't know why I say young kids. There aren't really any other kind. But anyway, kids come right to the point.

Our neighborhood kids' latest thing for summer fun has been the performance of stage plays, garage circuses, side shows, way-off Broadway and so forth.

These are no second rate, hastily put together functions. I mean when you receive a hand printed handbill three weeks in advance of opening night, that's professional polish. Not only that, but I personally have had a sneak preview of the performance by viewing parts of the rehearsal, costumes, props, curtain and all.

One particular handbill caught my eye. It answered a question that I have pondered over and over in my mind, always to no avail. At last, at long last, I know where childhood ends and adulthood begins.

The information on the handbill outlined what the performance was to be and in whose garage. Date, time, performers and their roles, all information was included. The best part was that Kool-Aid and popcorn would be free. Admission was as follows: up to 4 years old, free; 4 up to adults, five cents; adults and over, seven cents.

If you have any question as to your adulthood, just attend this function. If the kids let you in for seven cents, then you're an adult. If they charge you five cents, you've got some growing-up to do. Kids come right to the point.

I guess I'd better go and find out where I stand. Several of my friends keep questioning me about this: "Why don't you act your age?" O.K., so I'm going!

The last line on the handbill also gave this admonishment. "If you be bad, my mom will send you home." Like I said, right to the point.

Darn tootin'

by Haslett Hemmor

It pleases old Effie to pretend that I do a regular nice Dr. Jekyll to fiendish Mr. Hyde switch when I get behind the wheel of my car.

Now it doesn't matter none that this is 200 per cent silly. She saw this goofy thing on TV and maybe at first said that it was like me just to hear me fuss. Time goes on, howsomever and she keeps saying, "Clench your teeth and rev up the motor good." Fact is she says it so many times that when I slide under the wheel acting particular relaxed and smiling, she just says, "Don't try to fool me, Haz, your knuckles are white from squeezing the wheel and you got that crazy look in your eyes again."

Silly it is, but it's mighty annoying that she acts like she believes it for a fact. Junk like that ought to be barred from TV as absolute unfair to the minority—us poor henpecked males.

Pull up at a stop light real casual behind some woman and old Eff tries to goad me. "Stupid female stopped at a red light," Eff eggs me, "Blow your horn at her. Curse her for holding up traffic. Yell at her for being so stupid."

It's all got me so upset I don't even grouse about it out loud if some dumb dame keeps her left turn signal on for two miles and then cuts cross-traffic to turn right. Can't say a dum word or Eff will bark out, "Get her for that. Ram her off the road into a tree. Kill! Kill! Don't take nothing off any idiot females. Kill! Kill!"

So like as not I'll ask, "Did she do something wrong? Really didn't notice. Sure is a beautiful day, isn't it?"

Fact is though that maybe my acting so all-fired unconcerned just fires up Effie all the more and she sure won't let up none on that grim monster behind the wheel stuff. Should be a law on that TV gag. Bar it on the grounds of causing high blood pressure or something. Sure should be a law about giving wives ammunition for heckling husbands.

Guess maybe the payoff was last Friday night when we went on our weekly grocery shopping trip. Store closes at nine, and it was past 8:30 when old Eff finally got her list all wrote down and this crossed off and that added and all that stuff she could just as well do in her head while I'm pushing the card around.

Late as it is there's a pretty good lineup in the street while one, two cars swing into the lot. We maybe move 20, 30 feet at a time and then just sit and wait.

Sure enough there's a goofy girl driving the car in front of us and she just sits in the road to let five or six cars come out of the lot.

Now it's supposed to be one way traffic in here and there's a big sign up that says, "No exit here—drive out behind the store." So this twirpy dame just sets there combing her stupid long blonde hair down over her shoulders like life couldn't go on if she had one stinking lock out of place.

Final thing after a good long while I mutter something about dames shouldn't even be given a driving license and I lean on my horn for four, five seconds maximum.

This girl swings open her door and walks back to our car. Only it isn't a girl. It's a guy about 6'5" high and near that wide. "Trouble, gramps?" he asks me.

"Just happened to hit the horn with my elbow." I tell him. "Sure isn't any trouble."

He slow walks back to his car. Old Eff says nothing. Just sits there smiling sweetly.

Compound interest

by Jean Sura

One of the men in my life has a black eye and a compound fracture of the arm and he can blame it on his interest in kinesics.

"What are kinesics?" you ask.

Kinesics are the scientific name for a new and exciting discovery—it is body language, a non-verbal form of communication.

The whole idea is that a person, trained in this field, can tell just what kind of a person you are by the way you sit, cross your legs, arms or even the way your eyes dilate.

For instance, if a mother crosses her legs and then the members of her family cross theirs it means that she rules the roost.

I might cross my legs first at our house but if the roosters in my family thought that was symbolic of my authority they'd die of a "charlie horse" before they would budge a muscle.

The experts that developed this discovery contend that a normal man's eye becomes twice as large when he sees the picture of a nude woman.

"Kenesics, schenesic," I said when I noticed my friend's positive reaction. "I'll bet that Adam's eyes got a little bigger when he saw Eve for the first time and he didn't even know what a woman was, to say nothing about clothing.

"Furthermore," I said, "I don't care if your eyes do bulge when you look at those stupid pictures but I'm telling you—that loud, ear-splitting whistling has got to stop. It gives me a headache."

"Calm yourself, my dear," he replied. "You see, you're stroking that shirt again. According to the book that's a sure sign of your inadequate feelings."

"You bet your dilated eye ball it's a sign," I shrieked. "It's a sign that I've been standing over this hot ironing board all day and the shirt that I'm stroking is yours and I'm stroking it with a hot iron so you can wear it to cover up some of your dog-gone body language."

He lifted one eyebrow—in kinesics, a sure sign of disbelief.

That's when I threw the book!

I would like to contribute some scientific data to the experts in this new and exciting field.

Dear Sirs:

If you think that a man's eye dilates when he sees a picture of a naked lady, you should see both of them pop open when he sees a book flying at his head. And, if you think that crossing his arms over his chest and lowering his head is a sign of coyness you'd probably be amazed to know what a large amount of protection it provides against flying missiles.

***

I really didn't mean to break the poor fellow's arm. My actions when I grabbed him were quite legitimate because, as the book says, "a woman who is interested in a man may use the signal of touch."

That's what I call "Compound Interest."
