Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

In a couple weeks Michigan's top Democrats will be meeting in Grand Rapids. It's their convention, at which, among other things, they will select a candidate for Secretary of State.

I'd like to see them select Billie Sunday Farnum.

I was going to say I'd like to see the Dems pick Billie because I like him, but I find in saying that I should define what I mean.

Well, I enjoy being with Billie. Though sometimes he loses me with figures (he's a former State Auditor General so it's understandable), he'll slow it down so even I get the message.

Most of us admire someone who works hard and Billie works as hard as anyone I know. He's really been working for this nomination. He gets 25 hours out of a day.

Too, Billie has the personality, drive, sincerity, and interest to win the Secretary of State's job for the Democrats in November. It may be the only victory they will be able to claim.

You may think you've had it up to here with politics, but you ain't seen nothing yet. From now until November the print and airways media will be filled with statements and denials.

And, we better pay attention. Some 70 percent didn't pay attention in the primary. The choice is narrower now and we have time to learn about each one.

Thinking of high school football the other day and wondering what a district would do if the court ruled schools couldn't charge for games, my mind went back to the early 40's and my playing days, which weren't many.

We played ball after school on Fridays, about 3:30. No one showed up to cheer. Of course, there was nothing to cheer for, but that's beside the point. There was no revenue from the gate.

This prompted the thought... how did that school board squeeze money out of their meager budgets for uniforms?

Following the recent Supreme Court decision on districts buying textbooks, some school administrators said they would recommend no football if charges couldn't be made for games.

I wonder if they could really get

Found dead in apartment

The body of Jane Elizabeth Utter, 46, was found on August 10 by the caretaker of the Riverview Apartments on Dixie Highway where she had lived.

According to the records of Michigan State Police, the caretaker of the building had been contacted by her family when they failed to hear from her for several days.

Upon investigation the body was discovered and Detective Wilbur Massey and a trooper from the State Police were summoned to the scene.

Arrangements for Mrs. Utter's funeral are being made by the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home.

Tot drowns in Townsend Lake

Doctors, firemen and sheriff's deputies tried for 9 hours to save the life of drowning victim, Donna Lee Aldrich. Twenty month old Donna, who lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Aldrich and a brother and sister at 4830 Harding, in Independence Township, was found by her mother in Townsend Lake at 1:50 p.m. on August 7 just 20 minutes after she was discovered missing.

Deputy Carl Anderson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department attempted to revive the child by means of mouth to mouth resuscitation. He was relieved when the Independence Township Department arrived with their resuscitator.

Dr. O'Neill and Dr. Heatly assisted in the attempt and when the Fleet Ambulance arrived accompanied them to Pontiac General Hospital where Donna was placed in the intensive care unit.

The attempts to revive the child were only temporary and she died at 10:42 p.m.

Donna is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Aldrich of Waterford Township and Mr. Arnold Davis and Mrs. Fred Schwab, both of California.

Services were conducted from the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home on August 9.

Sect. 6 gets hearing

Property owners in section 6 of Independence Township were given the opportunity Monday night to tell the Board if they wanted their land rezoned from Agriculture to Suburban Farms.

Presently, the section is about half and half. The Township Planning Commission and County Coordinating and Planning Commission have recommended rezoning the balance of the section to SF.

Supervisor Duane Hursfall said he sent letters to all property owners whose zoning is Ag and asked them to attend Monday's meeting.

away with no football. Ah, well! I needn't ponder longer. The charges can be made for games and they will probably go up.

He told the group if they desired to have their zoning changed they could do it now without incurring rezoning charges later. He pointed out that on SF zoning horses could be kept, but on Ag zoning of parcels of less than 10 acres they couldn't. He said he felt the zoning of parcels of 3 up to 10 acres should be Suburban Farms. He also said he would not recommend the change if owners desired to remain Ag.

The final zoning decision will be up to the entire Board. This may come at the next meeting, August 18.

On the agenda for the August 18 meeting, again, is the Singer-Kaplan mobile home park request on Clintonville road. This meeting will be at the Township Hall at 7:30.

"Wonderful time at Goose Lake"

By Jean Sura

"Yes, I went to Goose Lake Rock Festival and I had a wonderful time."

The voice on the telephone sounded like that of a little girl. She was actually 18 and she went to Goose Lake with a group of young people from the Clarkston area. They ranged in age from 17 to 19. She went with her parents' reluctant permission.

"She asked to go. I hated to give my permission but felt if we couldn't trust her, many years of moral training had been wasted," said her mother.

This is her story of what happened. "We got to the area about 5 o'clock on Thursday evening. The crowd was just beginning to arrive so we had no trouble, just drove right in. On Friday the crowds really started to come.

"We took a tent and sleeping accommodations but it was warm and so when we slept we just put our sleeping bags on the ground. Of course we didn't sleep very much. I don't think that I slept more than 9 or 10 hours all the while I was gone.

"Our group located near the stage. The stage was revolving and each musical group would entertain for about a 20 minute interval and then the stage would turn and the next group who had been setting up on the other side would come into view and continue the performance.

"The music was great. I guess that my favorite was John Sebastian. Some of the better groups were Chicago, Mountain, S.R.C. and others.

"There was plenty of food. There was free food and food to buy. Most of the kids brought fruit and other food and were generous about sharing it. We kept water in jugs.

"There were bath houses where you could get cleaned up. The kids would loan you their soap or towels and hold the faucets for you. They were just very friendly and kind."

"What about sex and nudity?" I asked. She continued, "There were some kids who took their clothes off but nobody paid any attention to them. The little tiny kids who came with their parents didn't wear any clothes and they had a ball.

"As far as sex is concerned there was very little that I saw during the day. Of course, I can't say that a lot of things didn't happen in sleeping bags at night."

"What about dope?" "Well, you could get all the dope you wanted. They sold it all over."

"Did you take any?" "No."

"Why not?"

"I have no desire to. I don't know what it might do. I can't recommend it."

"Did others in your group take dope?" "Some did, but nobody forced you to. If you didn't want it you just had to shake your head.

"The time went by quickly. Some of the kids brought instruments and entertained themselves and people around them when the music stopped around midnight.

"We talked a lot. I talked to a boy who was a follower of Hare Krishna. You know, the ones that shave all but one patch of their hair."

"Would you let your 15-year-old daughter go to a Festival like this?"

It would depend. Some kids are mature at 15 and others will be 50 and still won't be.

"I wouldn't want her to go if she wasn't mature because she might take drugs."

"I thought everybody was so kind and didn't force you to take drugs if you didn't want to."

"Those people selling the drugs don't care who they sell them to. And, of course, if she was taking drugs some boy might talk her into sleeping with him."

"Even though they are kind, boys are boys."

Clarkston golfers qualify for Hale Open Tourney

Five Clarkston golfers qualified this past week for the Hale Open International Golf Tournament to be held this year at Shanty Creek on August 21-22.

Local golfers qualifying are Hal Ford, Al Hamilton, Jake Leonard, Jerry Anderson, and Terry Thomas.

Local families who are planning their vacations during this period of time in order to attend the tournament should get their reservations in early.

According to Al Hamilton, spokesman for the local qualifiers, many of the hotels and motels in the immediate vicinity of the tournament site are already filled to capacity. There are some rooms available within a sixty mile radius, but, these are expected to go fast.

Jake Leonard, who has been under the supervision of a professional this past year, is rated as the dark horse.

The odds from Las Vegas place Jerry Anderson and Hal Ford at 3-1: 4-1 respectively to win the big one.

Local astrologers give the nod to Al Hamilton but the big money is on the local golfer who hits the big tee shot from the left side.

Tickets may be purchased from any of the local qualifiers or any member of the PPGA.

Want floats for parade

The Clarkston Rotary, sponsors of the Labor Day parade, announced this week that they are now taking registrations for floats to be entered in this year's parade.

The theme this year is "Michigan, the four season State."

"We hope to have the biggest and best parade ever," said Jack Frost, Parade Chairman. "We urge individuals as well as businesses and organizations to get started planning their float right now."

Floats may be entered by calling 625-1735 and registering your intentions.

briefly told

The Oakland County Historical Society is offering a program of afternoon tours at the Governor Moses Wisner Home at 405 Oakland Avenue in Pontiac during the month of August. Hours are from 1 to 4, Tuesday through Saturday until August 29.

Election inspectors confirmed the official election count for the recent primary election. Duane Hursfall received 826 votes instead of the originally reported 856 and Louis Gavar 485 instead of 495. The difference resulted from an arithmetical error.

Oakland County Treasurer, C. Hugh Dohany, has now received the final shipment of the popular Sesqui-Centennial Commemorative Coins and has delivered them to the Banks and Savings and Loan Offices throughout the county for final sale.

A total of 5,000 Silver Coins numbered and in a plastic case were minted. They sell for $10 each. A total of 1,000 commemorative coin sets were minted which consist of 1 Bronze and 1 Silver, numbered identically and placed in

C.H.S wrestler competes in AAU tourney

Mike Packer, all conference 1969-70 wrestler and co-captain of Clarkston High School's 1970-71 wrestling team has just finished a successful summer tournament schedule, with a championship at Muskegon in the A.A.U. Jayhawk Freestyle Invitational.

Competing at 105 pounds, representing The Michigan Wrestling Club, Packer did well in every tournament entered, frequently wrestling older men.

One of his biggest accomplishments came at the annual A.A.U. Open a green leather case with a white satin background with the Oakland County Seal in gold stamped on the satin. These sell for $12.50.

The coins were designed by the internationally known sculptor, Marshall Fredericks who is a local resident.

Sunday, August 16, the annual Pontiac Kennel Club will present its All-Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trial with 1,349 entries and 80 different breeds.

The show will be held at Lakewood Farms on Bogie Lake Rd., two miles south of M-59, White Lake Township.

The show is licensed by the American Kennel Club (AKC).

A shaggy dog story

by Jean Sura

I'm not of the "Pepsi Generation." I can't even remember when I had my first Coke. In my day, we used to make our own root beer and pray that it wouldn't all explode all over the attic before it was through aging.

So it is quite natural that I am not too red hot on today's long hair styles. I guess you might call me the "brush cut generation" or "princeton" if you are being really kind. But I have a right to my opinions, too.

With all the stuff in the newspapers and on television about the "hep" kids that went to Goose Lake last week my scissors are itching to get some of those boys.

But I have second thoughts when I think of my haircutting experience. My first victims were my kids.

I had been mesmerized by one of those spieler type salesmen in the dime store and had plunked down two bucks for a "handy-dandy" home hair cutter.

"Golly," I thought, "it wouldn't take me any time to make up that money. With two boys and a husband with fast growing hair I would have quite a business."

Naturally, they had just all had haircuts so I had to bide my time and wait for the opportune moment.

It came one Sunday morning. We were ready to start off for Sunday School. As I combed the boys' hair I noticed that it was in need of a trim. Out came my "handy dandy" kit.

We didn't even go to Sunday School—or any place else—until we could get to the barber shop and even off their ears. The barber really had to peel their heads to smooth out the gouges I had taken.

Shunned and avoided by the family I decided that the least I could do to get full value from my bargain was to use it on the dog.

Our dog was a springer spaniel and grew feathers and curls that got snarled and matted if she wasn't clipped from time to time. Good natured animal that she was, she would let me do anything to her. She was no sissy either so one day I spread the papers on the floor and proceeded with the trimming.

All went well until something startled her—or maybe me. We both jumped. The snippers jammed into the hair on her chest and nipped the skin making it bleed.

With a yowl she bolted through the house up the stairs and under the bed. Three hours later the kids bribed her but with a pound of fresh hamburger.

From that day on, whenever the old mutt saw me pick up a knife or scissors she would take off for Alaska or some far distant point.

Not only that, but the kids looked at me as though I had murdered their grandmother.

The old saying is true.
 "It is tough to be popular in your own home town."

Officials made wise decision

The Independence Township Board and owners of the local Pine Knob Ski Area deserve a pat on the back. They deserve high praise for refusing to permit the proposed Rock Festival to be held in this community.

It is not the intent of adults to prevent young people from enjoying themselves. But there must be lines of order established. Our elected officials drew these lines.

The Music Festival at Meadow Brook proves that young music tastes can be fulfilled without the accompaniment of the "hawking" of dope and promiscuous sexual behavior which was in evidence at Goose Lake.

The Pine Knob owners should be praised for their willingness to sacrifice material gain in the best interests of the community.

The kids who attended the Goose Lake event are not sure that all people can handle what transpired there. If it is music that they want why don't they try Meadow Brook? Some of the young "swingers" I know tried it this year and found it to be "a blast."

For and against proposed drug law

A House subcommittee in Washington recently approved a comprehensive drug bill authorizing the government to hire 300 more narcotics agents, stiffen penalties and expand rehabilitation for drug users.

The bill also includes a controversial, Nixon-backed "no knock" provision, which is probably unconstitutional.

The bill deals with barbiturates, tranquilizers, amphetamines and hallucinogens, such as LSD, all widely used illegally by young people.

The House bill does not deal with hard narcotics, such as heroin and opium. Another House committee is considering a bill dealing with these drugs and eventually the two bills will be merged.

We feel Clarkston area residents should write Jack McDonald, our U.S. Congressman, and urge him to help pass the rehabilitation and treatment part of the bill's program.

We also feel that more narcotics agents are needed to help control our nation's growing problem of drug abuse.

However, we are opposed to stiffer penalties to users, other than pushers.

The problem of drug abuse is not solved by placing an 18-year-old in jail for from one to ten years. The only way to solve our drug problem is to convince young people not to start using drugs and to provide rehabilitation for those who become addicts.

5 a. m. love letters

By Jim Fitzgerald

Every morning at 5 o'clock, comedian Red Skelton gets out of bed and writes a letter to his wife.

They live in the same house. They probably even sleep together, just like us common folks. But Red still writes her a mushy letter every day. He probably has his own mailman and a stamp machine beside the bed.

Skelton calls the daily messages "Letters to Little Red." (He's Big Red, get it?). He says the letters are "his thoughts and ideas." They can include a short story or a musical selection.

Cynics may laugh at Big Red. Or sympathize with Little Red who is probably way behind in answering her mail.

But there is no denying that Big Red is a romantic guy. And there is no denying that women like to be romanced. Don't knock it if you haven't tried it.

So I sat up on the edge of the bed at 5 a.m. the other day and wrote:

Dear Little Fitz:

Yawn. Red Skelton must go to bed earlier than I do. And I'll bet he doesn't have the trouble finding a pencil that I did. I finally found this stub in a paste jar which will be my excuse if this letter turns out sticky (ha ha, Honey). And I hope you don't mind my writing on this pillow case. The only paper in the house is in the bathroom but I couldn't use that because there's a funny little man in there, squeezing it (ha ha, Honey).

Well anyway, Honey, you're probably surprised to be hearing from me like this. But I wanted to give you my thoughts and ideas. I'd even write a musical selection but I don't know how to write music. I'd hum it but that would probably wake you up and you would think I was just getting home, instead of getting up to write you a love letter, and I don't need anymore of that kind of trouble (ha ha, Honey).

The weather outside is nice. You can hear the birds chirp at 5 a.m. which is probably because no one is mowing his lawn yet. There are 3 socks and 1 shoe on the floor on my side of the bed. I just looked in the dresser mirror to see how I look at 5 a.m. But all I saw was that I don't wear pajama bottoms. I forgot that a husband can never see his face in his bedroom mirror unless he is a midget or is married to a basketball player.

Do you know I've killed 16 mosquitoes in this bedroom this summer? I just counted the spots where I smashed them against the walls. And did you know you have 42 shoe boxes and 38 of them are on my side of the closet? I'll bet I'm the only man in town who has to hang his pants on a tie rack (ha ha, Honey).

I just went to take a peek at the children. They aren't home. Every night that man on TV says "It's 11 p.m., do you know where your children are?" I don't even know at 5 a.m.

The weather outside is . . . I guess I already said that. I'd certainly like to know what Big Red Skelton finds to write about every morning. Maybe he tells what he dreamed about that night.

Last night I dreamed I loved you. Now I'm awake, at 5 a.m., and I still do. And I can reach out and touch you. Let Big Red Skelton write letters. He is a big clown.

Letters to the Editor

"Multiples, trailers no indication of progress"

Dear Editor,

Recent events have made it clear that the current economic climate of high interest rates, high building costs and higher property taxes, coupled with continued demand for low cost housing, will result in a steady flow of requests and proposals to use Independence Township property for mobile home, parks and low cost multiple family dwellings.

In recognition of this kind of pressure on Township officials, primarily in the form of rezoning requests, our Club feels it is necessary that interested property owners and service organizations formally state the philosophy and posture that they would have the Boards take on issues relevant to these concerns.

The location, highway system, topography, beauty and relatively low population density make it possible for Independence Township to become any type of community it desires: the development of the area into a most attractive and desirable community will result from firm commitment to, and execution of, good planning and sound, stable zoning, that will withstand the pressures to compromise the long run gain for the short run profit ventures of opportunistic developers.

The concept being encouraged is the deliberate planning of all the Township's land, with the highest and best use of this land as the dominant condition in the long run.

We, The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club, urge your consideration of the natural beauty that is our Township. The many lakes and streams, wooded areas and open fields that make up Independence Township shouldn't be sacrificed to high density populations that trailer parks and multiple dwellings bring.

The balance of nature is upset not only at the particular site, but in the surrounding area and if water is involved, then along its course. In this day, when suddenly we have become very much aware of the ills of pollution that our past growth has brought us, not every new building or shopping center, multiple dwelling or trailer park is an indication of progress.

At this time, might not the preservation of land kept to low density

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Thurs., Aug. 13, 1970 5

August 4, 1970

Dear Editor:

Two good things happened recently in Independence Township. The boat launching site at Deer Lake was improved and the "Rock Festival" was denied for Pine Knob.

One woman has complained that there population be the best choice of a Township—a Township that people in future generations can look upon as one that cared, rather than one that has X number of trailers, with X number of people that have no stake in the future of the community or the Township?

The fundamental question to be answered for any community in the critical stage of development is that of who, in fact, is going to monitor and guide the process with deliberation and stability?

Is it to be the elected representatives of the residential landowners, who will spend their entire lives in the Township—or will the persistent, aggressive, short run oriented developers prevail? It is the answer to this question that interested landowners and service organizations must continue to influence for the long run benefit of the community and the township.

We, the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club are interested, we hope you are also.

Yours truly,
Clarkston Farm and Garden

were all questions, but no answers on zoning. Couldn't the Board get all tax figures, projected population estimates, traffic figures, and most important school needs and other pertinent data together in their study meetings, then publish these figures as part of the agenda for the evening?

A limitation on the number of items on the agenda in an evening would seem in order. A meeting that lasts after midnight is uncalled for.

Disillusioned

Dear Editor:

After the farce, "Clarkston Board Meeting" of July 28th on Case No. 129 and 134, with a capacity crowd voicing their opposition to rezoning, the question must have arisen to most present, "Do some members of the board feel so insecure in the coming election, that they will settle for a last monetary gain while still in office, or job security after election from some secret commitments with the developers or engineers?"

I'm sure we hoped their integrity was above this when we elected them. What other conclusions could we form, when 99% present were not even considered.

P.S. I was never so disillusioned by the term, "Servant of the People" at this meeting.

Sincerely,

Says 3 closed minds

Dear Editor,

Wake up, Independence Taxpayer! The Township Board meeting of July 28, was a cut and dried meeting. The board members went through the motion of holding one but the supervisor and the two trustees have had a closed mind on "Singer & Kaplan Mobile Homes and The Mall."

"NOTHING" and I sincerely mean "NOTHING," facts, figures and law statements wouldn't even budge them. This controversy has been going on for about two months.

99 percent of the people present of the capacity crowd were vehemently against the rezoning. Several voiced their opposition to the rezoning until 1 A.M., but they closed their minds.

Mr. Howard Altman and Mr. Ken Johnson are the only two members that are for the people and listen to our pleas. They have voiced their opinion time and again against more Mobile Homes and The Mall.

They have voted "NO" each time but the majority of "YES" votes ruled and we now have a K-Mart.

August 1, 1970

The 1970 Exchange marks the 23rd consecutive year that visiting foreign cadets have been entertained in the United States while CAP cadets visit overseas.

Oakland County was the last stop on an 11-day visit to Michigan for eight IACE cadets and their escort from Portugal and two IACE cadets from India.

CAP families provided housing for the visitors and CAP cadets and senior members escorted them on tours of Oakland-Pontiac Airport, Greenfield Village and Williams Research Corporation.

A visit to the polls on election day gave the visitors a chance to see the democratic process in action.

Swimming, sailing, relaxing and getting acquainted occupied the cadets during the afternoons and they were introduced to the American "pot-luck Supper" as CAP units in Holly, Clarkston, Walled Lake and Waterford furnished the evening meals during their stay.

Centuries ago, apothecaries prepared their own medicines from available herbs, leaves and roots. From these materials gathered in nearby woods and fields, they prepared extracts and infusions to treat a variety of ailments. Each chemist had his own secret file of "receipts" that would cure stomach aches, skin disorders, and general weariness. If he wasn't afraid of being accused of witchcraft, he might even be able to whip up a love potion or two.

These chemists often placed the bottles of multi-colored liquids on shelves or windowsills, where they didn't take up too much space but were readily available. These bottles gradually became identified with the chemist's shop, just as three golden balls and a striped pole marked the pawn shop and barber shop.

Today, of course, drugs are developed through intensive research, and the pharmacist has a difficult enough job keeping track of these without preparing all his own compounds. But you still see ornate bottles of colored water in many drug stores, as a professional symbol. These "show globes" are a reminder of the druggist's heritage and tradition, even in this day of antibiotics, hormones and other "wonder drugs."

Meanwhile, drug researchers have turned back to the old apothecary recipes, to see if there is an active ingredient that can be extracted from the same roots and herbs the ancient chemists used for so long.

Originally scheduled for Saturday, August 29, it was announced last week that the trip had been rescheduled for Sunday, August 30. The change was made to accommodate all junior football players who will be attending conditioning camp the previous week.

Howard Bliss (Or 3-3980) and Cheryl Shrapnell (625-5735) are in charge of the arrangements and can answer any questions concerning the plans.

Mrs. Blasey in the high school office will accept all the $10 payments to defray the cost of the trip. The payments must be made by August 21. Hours at the school office are from 9 to 12 and 1 to 4.

Departure time will be announced next week in the Clarkston News and it will also be posted in town.

"Jobs for teens"

seeks employers

The "Jobs for Teens" program that is sponsored by the Clarkston Jaycettes has had poor response this summer.

This program was designed to assist area residents in spending a more relaxed, enjoyable summer by lightening their tasks as well as providing activities, experience and spending money for girls in this age bracket.

To date, 62 girls are registered and anxiously waiting to be employed.

"Just call one of these numbers this week and we will send you a highly recommended and screened worker to assist you with odd jobs, baby sitting, and a variety of other tasks," said the committee.

This week's committee and their phone numbers are: Jan Lopucki, 625-4709; Kathleen Heald, 625-5407; Donna Draper, 625-1785; and Pat Martin, 625-5148.

Vacation limericks

Shel George

We vacationed by car and we didn't go far,
From Lake Michigan's shore we could see all the stars
It was lots of fun
As we burned in the sun
While we swam from polluted sand bars.

The bugs they were bad and we almost would cuss
The mosquitos would come in formation to bite us,
We would swat and spray
But they wouldn't go away
So we'd retreat to the house without much of a fuss.

If you counted the dog there were fifteen in all
And you had to take turns just to pass in the hall,
The food was delicious
We used paper dishes
Alka-Seltzer was always the last call.

On one of the nights to town we did go
For an evening of culture at a musical show
But the "carnie" was there
Along with the fair
And the culture ran out along with our dough.

Sometimes it was crowded with parents and kids,
The babysitting always went up for bids,
There was only one shower
And hour after hour
I was glad I used Dial, I wish everybody did.

Too soon it was over, the time it had gone
So we packed and we hunted and searched to atone
For toys that were lost
Midst cries "I loved that one most"
Then the freeway beckoned and called us all home.

The beach with its sand, its bikinis and fans
Was littered with alewives and empty beer cans
With shovel and rake
A clean beach we did make
And proceeded to "get with it" for tans.

Sometimes it was frantic and costly I hear,
And we'll all be in poverty for months I fear,
But the unanimous shout
As we all drove out
Was, "see you all same time next year."

The neighbors were young and full of vigor
In fact the gal had quite a "figger"
If we strayed from our towel
The wives they would howl
Which happened, 'cause her bikini wasn't bigger.

I greatly acknowledge the valuable assistance of my friend, political adversary and poet laureate of Jennison, Michigan, Mr. John Whaley, for his collaboration on some of these verses.

We ate till we suffered and stomachs did bob
From tomatoes and pancakes and corn on the cob,
The eggs were too done
And we lacked hot dog buns
But desserts we devoured like slobs.

McDonald sponsors new draft reform bill

Congressman Jack McDonald (R-Michigan) Friday co-sponsored legislation which would prevent a draftee from serving in a combat area unless he had given written consent to the order.

title may be assigned, without his written consent, to serve in any area not under the jurisdiction of the United States in which an Armed Force of the United States is engaged in armed hostilities."

"This amendment (to the Selective Service Act) is consistent with my advocacy for an all-volunteer Army," McDonald said. "Committees in both the House and Senate are scheduling hearings on draft reform," he added.

"The legislation, if adopted," McDonald said, "would provide the opportunity for gauging the effectiveness of an incentive program as well as provide interim relief for the inductees."

The language in the amendment says: "Except as hereafter expressly authorized by the Congress, no individual inducted after January 1, 1971, for training and service in the Armed Forces under this

"In the absence of a national emergency, the defense needs of this country can adequately be met by an all-volunteer Army," McDonald declared. "This legislation is the first step toward accomplishing that goal."

The bright side of students

Contributed by one of the high school newspaper editors who were taking part in the summer seminar at Colombiere College. The seminar was sponsored by the University of Detroit.

The juniors and seniors who make up the team are Don Brown, Hat Walker, Curt Richardwon, Mark Poole, Gary White, Dave Kirby, Sparkey Johnson, Rick Prasil, John Hux, Tom Hall, Dave Cinader, Tom Burton, Greg Curry, Chuck Granger, and Chuck Leif.

According to team members, Clarkston's has a good chance of clumbing to the top of the "summer league."

Boys play summer basketball

By Judy Yunk

The Clarkston High School gym is alive at night with boys and basketballs as they work their way toward a winning season. Most of the boys who are "beating the boards" in the winter basketball events are also working out this summer to improve their skills. The result of their energy is a varsity basketball team that competes with area high school teams during the sometimes dull summer months.

Tryouts for the summer varsity team were held shortly before the end of the school year. Fifteen out of approximately 30 who tried were selected. There were also enough interested underclassmen to form a junior varsity team which is composed of 20 players. The boys practice weekday evenings under the volunteer coaching of B. J. Hansen and D. L. Pierson, who also coach the teams during the school year.

Because the boys are eager for the practice and competition that the summer sport requires, there is little problem with disinterested team members who fail to carry their own weight on the team.

To date, Don Brown is the highest scorer of the Clarkston team, but all of the other players, are also adding a substantial number of points.

"Unload all your worries on to him, since he is looking after you."

1 Peter 5:7

GOD CARES FOR US

St. Peter in his Epistle tells us to cast all our worries and anxieties upon God because he cares for us. This is the gospel message—God cares for us. The Lord not only takes care of the just but he goes out, as the Good Shepherd, and seeks the sheep which is lost. Christ's message in St. Luke's gospel might be summed up simply in these words: "God is your Father, who loves you and cares for you." Yes, the all-good God has a special interest in each and every one of us. He cares for everyone whether he be rich or poor, saint or sinner. God cares for us and leads us lovingly and gives us everything we need on the way to heaven.

Just as God cared for the Israelites during their journey through the desert into the promised land, so he cares for us on our journey through life to our home in heaven. He lights up our way. He protects us from our enemy, the devil, and he feeds us with the Bread from heaven.

Really, our life is in God's hands. He has thought out beforehand the smallest details of our lives and directs each event to our eternal destiny. St. Augustine says: "God cares for each of us as if each alone were the only object of his love; and he cares for all of us as he does for each."

Teresa Wagoner cuts a generous piece of 4-H blue-ribbon winning Carrot Cake.

Kutting Korner recipe wins at 4-H Fair

Teresa Wagoner of 6123 Overlook, likes Carrot Cake. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wagoner found the recipe for the cake in the Kutting Korner Column of the Clarkston News.

Her flare for baking was a natural, her maternal grandfather had been a baker in Copenhagen, Denmark. The combination was too much for the judges of the 4-H Fair.

Teresa was awarded a blue ribbon for her efforts.

"Did you follow the directions just as they were printed in the Clarkston News?" we asked Teresa.

"Well, no," she replied, "I made a mistake and spilled a little more cinnamon than the recipe called for."

So take heed all you would be bakers. Spill a little extra cinnamon in your carrot cake.

The Wagoners packed the cake, along with Teresa, grandmother, Mrs. Inga Larsen and poodle, Suzie and headed north in their camper.

In the mean time the 4-H Fair continued. Other area winners were: Robert Steele, chickens; Stan Rekawek, Junior rifle; Martha Stutzman, foods and people and Diane Huffman, (10-11) dog book category.

All-Stars bid for titles

Participating teams include 2 in each age group from Clarkston; 1 in each age group from Holly, Ortonville and the Lakeland Athletic Association; a widget team from Drayton Plains and a midget team from Fenton.

By Jean Sura

By request I am repeating my recipe for making a lot of pie crust to keep on hand in the refrigerator.

This mix can be stored indefinitely. When needed, just add water, roll and bake. By all means, I suggest that you use lard for shortening.

PIE CRUST

1 Pie	4 Pies
2 1/4 cups flour	9 cups
1 1/2 teaspoon salt	4 teaspoons
3/4 cup lard	3 cups
1/4 cup water	1 cup

6 Pies	8 Pies
13 1/2 cups flour	18 cups
6 teaspoons salt	8 teaspoons
4 1/2 cups lard	6 cups
1 1/2 cups water	2 cups

By the way, there are 2 cups of lard in a pound so it is easy to figure what you need and then just cut off the proper amount. No need to measure.

Mix all dry ingredients and blend well. Use a knife to cut the lard in first and then blend by hand. Store in a heavy plastic bag or container in the refrigerator.

When needed, measure required amount into a bowl. I figure approximately 1 heaping cup for a single crust and 2 cups for double and then add water.

When I was taught to make crust they said, "Pretend that each drop of water that you add to your crust costs at least $1 a drop so use it sparingly." By today's standards that isn't so expensive so it might be good to think in terms of $100 per drop. I usually measure out the amount on the recipe table above but seldom put it all in.

Just add enough moisture to mix and remember keep the mixture cold. Roll on a well floured board. Fill with your favorite filling. Top with slices of butter and put on the top crust, being sure to make some cuts in the top crust to permit the steam to escape.

Brush the top crust with milk. Bake in 450 degree oven for 15 minutes or until top is brown, then continue baking at 375 for 30 minutes for fresh fruit pies, and 15 minutes for pre-cooked fillings.

As I suggested in another column, I use pie tapes to prevent the juice from dripping all over the oven. These can sometimes be bought (though I haven't found any for a long time). I take 2 inch strips of old sheets. Wet the strip thoroughly. Wring it out and then wrap it around the edge of the pie. Be sure there is an overlap. When the pie is done just peel the tape off while it is still hot.

I can't resist reminding you that transparent apples are in season right now. They make my favorite pie. Those are the little green thin-skinned apples that are so good for pie fillings and apple sauce.

I put 8 pies in my freezer last week. The recipe above and about 1/2 bushel of apples will do it and make enough extra for a pie to bake.

My favorite seasoning for the filling is about a cup of sugar for enough apples to heap a 9 inch pie pan. I use a combination of dark brown and granulated sugar. Then add 3 tablespoons of flour and cinnamon to suit your taste. Start with 1 teaspoonful.

Put the sliced apples, (with transparent apples I don't bother to peel the apples, just remove the core) sugar, flour and cinnamon in a large bowl and stir so that all apple slices get coated with the sugar-spice mixture.

Place in unbaked pie shell, dot with butter slices, cover and follow above baking instructions.

For freezing just top with a crust with no openings and place in a plastic bag or other freezer wrap. I sometimes freeze them with no wrapping and then place in a bag or foil.

When you are ready to bake remove freezer wrap. Cut openings with a sharp pointed knife. Brush with milk and bake as directed above.

Serve it hot with ice cream but don't cry when you get on the scale. It's worth it—at least once in a while.

Take note of it

By Haslett Hemmor

Drove up North near 500 miles last week to chew the rag with my old friend, Jim Sherman.

Publisher fellow, Jim is. Runs a couple nice little weekly newspapers, south part of Michigan. Big guy, old Jim is, and he sure has got a heart to match.

Anyway, traffic's heavy so it's near 5:30 in the afternoon by the time I pull in front of Jim's office. Try the door before I see the typed note that's taped to the door. It reads, "H - - -", couldn't wait any longer. See you at the house."

Shook me up a mite to read that note. Planned on surprising old Jim, I did. How he could of knowed I was coming didn't make much sense. Sure wouldn't have no occasion to call me by phone. Matter of fact, no one at the garage knew where I was going, and Effie was away visiting that sister of hers.

Guess it had been 10 year or more since I saw Jim, and that was down at my place when they stopped on their way to Florida. Had the whole gang of 'em, including the girl and boy, out to the house. They got another young one now. Got a card a few years back.

Now I don't know where old Jim lives but did read in his paper about how they'd built a new house, and something about the Missus having quite a time about wallpaper.

So I drive into a gas station and ask where he lives. Fellow tells me how to get there and says it's a big colonial house with pillars and all.

Jim's out in the front yard when I drive up his long circle drive.

"Hi," he waves to me. "Be with you in a minute soon's I get this little maple tied up straight. Be a big tree in 80 years if she makes it."

So I just sit and about five minutes later old Jim saunters over.

"Want to come in, Haz?" he asks me like I stopped by every day.

"Long as I drove 517 miles to get here," I reply sarcastic, "it would be right neighborly of you to invite me in."

Now this here guy would actual break his neck for you, but he sure wouldn't act shook up if you turned into a bat-winged buffalo in front of his eyes.

"Aw, don't be that way, Haz. Of course you're welcome."

"Sure I won't be discommoding you none if I come in for five minutes?"

Old Jim just gives me that big grin. "Stay 10," he says, "or even 12 minutes."

"Really should get started back soon."

"Kids will be glad to see you. They think you're a real hick character."

"With you for a pa, they think I'M a hick?"

"Didn't want to call you a hillbilly," he chuckles. "That's what they really think. From down South and all."

By now big old Jim's reached into my back seat and is carrying my suitcase like it was a bag of popcorn. Not even by the handle.

"Tell me, Jim, how'd you ever know I was coming? Saw your note on your office door."

"Country editors got a fifth sense for these things," he tells me.

Matter of fact, I'm near back home before it dawns on me that the "H" he left the note for was his wife, Hazel. The big lummoX.

SCOUTS

Summer camp for the boys scouts of Troop 189 was at Clinton Valley Council's Lost Lake campsite near Clare during the week of July 26.

Each day began with the flag ceremony and continued through the day with the troop learning about nature, and new scoutcrafts.

The excitement continued until the last song was sung around the campfire. When the embers were extinguished 23 tired boy scouts crawled into their sleeping bags.

Troop 189 participated in a waterfront carnival, taking 1st place. All troops that competed received 2 watermelons, and a third watermelon went to the 1st place troop.

Some of the advancements accomplished at camp were in hiking, scout lifeguard, knife and ax, first aid, compass and firebuilding. Several boys performed the mile swim.

An airplane belonging to the Conservation Department of the State of Michigan hovered overhead and the pilot used a loudspeaker to inform the scouts of the methods the Conservation Department uses in fighting fires.

Leadership for the camp session was provided by Ass't. Scoutmaster Herschel Fry and Committeemen Lewis Jewell, Chuck Johnson, Richard Robenault and Kenneth Whitenton.

Troop 189 is sponsored by the Calvary Lutheran Church.
