

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

I was reviewing the stories we printed in the Clarkston News and Oxford Leader last week on local resident experiences at the Goose Lake Rock Festival, when the thought occurred, "Why did I ask for these stories?"

Each interview got quickly to the question of drug use. Why? If there weren't drugs there would be no story. Why have the news media hit so hard on the drug uses or abuses? Surely that isn't the reason every one of those 250,000 persons went to Goose Lake.

So, I reasoned, the media covered what people would read.

But, basically, I'm a little disturbed at "official" reaction since the festival. Somewhere out west at governor's conference Mr. Milliken berated drug pushers and wondered aloud about banning rock festivals in Michigan. His speech probably got him some votes.

However, he knew the festival was coming. Why didn't he stay here and observe first hand. He'll be at the Michigan - Michigan State football game, State Fair, or wherever a dozen people are gathered before Nov. 3.

The festival sponsors say they cooperated fully with the local police recommendations. These recommendations must have been pretty sound. There was no violence reported.

So there was open pushing of drugs. Think there isn't here? It was just more concentrated there and it becomes good politics to make loud, threatening noises.

I think the teenagers did a darn good job of controlling themselves. They're criticised for leaving litter, bathing nude, committing acts of sex openly, letting their hair grow, drinking wine, and doing silly things like dancing wildly.

What would happen if 250,000 adults were put in a 390 acre field for 3 days? My answer to this was, "War!"

Our prejudices, built up through our extra years, have grown to open hate in many cases of race, color, creed and religion.

We adults would leave more litter, do more skinny dipping, get drunker, commit more adultery and do a lot more silly things than our offspring.

After all, we have experience on our side.

The sale of drugs and use of same is illegal in Michigan, therefore it

C.H.S. holds orientation

An orientation program for incoming 10th graders and new transfer students at Clarkston High School will be held in the school gym on August 27 according to Mrs. Marilyn Hanson, counselor.

The guidance department has notified all known students by mail.

The purpose of the program is to acquaint them with the high school program before they enter school in September. Schedules will be handed out at this time and students will be able to get their identification cards.

All parents are welcome to attend the 9 a.m. meeting with their sons or daughters.

Sail regatta set for Labor Day

The 5th Annual Deer Lake Sail Regatta will be held shortly after the Labor Day Parade on September 7. The race will start at approximately 11:30 a.m.

Any size or shape sail boat may enter the race and all boats will be given time handicaps at the starting line. It is required that each boat be manned by 2 people.

The course will be the same figure 8 route between the sand bars that was run last year.

A LeMans start will be used this year. At the sound of the gun sailors will raise their sails and start the race. Smaller boats will start first, followed by the larger entries.

Three trophies will be given to the winners. If there are more than 2 entries of girls, 1 trophy will be awarded to the team that finishes first. Trophies will be presented by Keith Valentine, president of the Deer Lake Properties Association.

The race will get under way from in front of MacDougall's house and boats may be docked there for 10 days in advance.

In the event that the wind is insufficient on the appointed day, the race will be run on the following Sunday.

Book fees plague schools

The Clarkston School District, along with all school districts in Michigan is still undecided on what procedures to follow as a result of the Michigan Supreme Court decision requiring public schools in the state to furnish free textbooks and supplies to all students.

The ruling will cost the district should not be allowed anywhere. But let's not condemn the teenagers who go to the rock festivals for a good time... without drug and drink inducements.

Bible School students and teachers from the Calvary Lutheran Church work up an appetite by hiking to town. The reward is an ice cream cone.

CEA - Board talk salary, finances

George Barrie, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, reported that negotiating teams for the Clarkston School District and the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) met for 2½ hours on August 18 to begin final negotiations on the 1970-71 contract.

Both sides were encouraged by the optimistic, good attitude that prevailed at the meeting, according to spokesmen from both teams.

Ground rules were established and both sides indicated their willingness to meet daily, if necessary, to reach agreement before the teachers are scheduled to return to school on September 3rd.

A committee, with members Mel Vaara representing the administration, got to work immediately to supply basic figures which would make a projection for future costs in the athletic and extra-curricular areas.

The teams will be in telephone contact daily and both sides felt confident that meetings would be resumed in a day or two and that full agreement would be reached within the next 2 weeks.

approximately $50,000. Last year $41,000 was spent with an enrollment of 6450. This year the projected enrollment figure is 6600 which would swell the figure to that amount according to Dr. Greene.

"It is impossible," said Greene, "to know the exact position of the district. If this were known the district could determine what was most needed and proceed in that direction."

"The legislature is attempting to pass a resolution that would ease the pressure of the program. Unfortunately," said

Greene, "they are aiming their assistance at the time when the total cost is assessed. This might take as long as 3 years."

In the meantime Greene indicated that several procedures have been taken locally to ease into the program.

Fewer books will be ordered. In areas where text books were being up-graded or changed, they will continue, for the present, to use the old text book.

In another attempt for a solution it has been proposed that text books, where possible, be left in the class room thus making them available to more than 1 student.

Here is a way to prepare yourself for a rainy day. As dry as the weather has been for the past few weeks we can be sure there will be rain - probably when you plan that big picnic next week.

This menu can be prepared leisurely without fear of getting water-logged over the outdoor grill. It saves on dishes too by using aluminum foil.

HOBO HAMBURGERS

- 1 pound round steak (or good ground beef)
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tomatoes, sliced 1/2 inch thick
- 2 medium potatoes, peeled, sliced 1/4 inch thick
- 1 large onion, sliced about 1/4 inch thick
- 1 10-ounce package frozen mixed vegetables (1 use fresh leftovers)
- 2 3-oz. cans mushrooms, sliced
- Salt, pepper, thyme

Mix together ground round steak, salt, pepper; divide into 4 portions; form into patties; brown in butter (do not cook through) and reserve the drippings. Place one patty in the center of each of 4 18-inch squares of heavy duty aluminum foil; gather foil loosely around meat and top each patty with slices of tomato, potato, onion, 1/4 package mixed vegetables and 1/2 can sliced mushrooms.

Season with salt, pepper and thyme and pour 1 tablespoon drippings over top.

Close foil around food sack fashion, allowing the ends to flare out like a hobo's knapsack and place on baking sheet.

Bake 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees for 4 delicious servings.

If you really want to carry out the hobo theme use foil hobo sacks of fruit, and bandannas for napkins and place mats.

Serve with hot dinner rolls.

Here is an easy dessert to top it off.

CHOCOLATE STICKS

- 3/4 cup butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 6-ounce package chocolate bits
- 1 cup shredded coconut, toasted

Cream the butter; then add sugar gradually, continuing to cream until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs, salt, vanilla; beat well and gradually add flour; mix thoroughly. Fold in chocolate bits and toasted coconut.

Fold 2 36-inch pieces of heavy duty aluminum foil in half lengthwise; make a pleated pan by folding foil crosswise in 1 inch pleats or troughs; open slightly to fit baking sheet approximately 17 inches by 14 inches.

Drop level teaspoonful of dough into "troughs" in the pan about 2 inches apart; do not use 2 outer troughs. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in 325 degree oven. Cool five minutes; pull edges of foil to flatten pleats; loosen sticks from foil.

This simple recipe will yield four dozen crescent-shaped sticks.

Honeymoon in north

Rev. Dale Evanson performed the wedding ceremony that united Mrs. Rita Sildis of Gingellville and Mr. Frank Adams of Andersonville Road in matrimony on August 20th.

The families of the couple met at the St. Stevenson Lutheran Church on Sashabaw Road to witness the rites.

The daughter and son-in-law of the bride were the attendants. After the services the couple left for a trip to Northern Michigan.

Police urge use of water safety rules

Michigan is headed for a record number of water deaths in 1970.

This bitter assessment, recently reviewed by Col. Fredrick E. Davids, State Police director, comes in the wake of a long, hot summer that has already claimed more drowning victims than last year at the same time.

"Provisional figures," Col. Davids said, "indicate we will have more water deaths this year than the all time high of 347 recorded in 1969." Davids said many factors enter into the tragic pattern including prolonged hot weather, more un-supervised swimming and the use of dangerous areas such as gravel pits for swimming parties.

Davids pointed out that while local enforcement agencies have been empowered to police boating rules and regulations, little is being done to improve non-boating water safety programs. "When you consider that two-thirds of all drownings do not involve boats, the need for more water safety education and control is obvious," Davids said.

The director is especially concerned with the remaining weeks of summer. Pointing out that the three weeks prior to Labor Day are always critical for water safety, Davids cautioned parents against permitting un-supervised swimming. "The end of many recreational programs at schools and camps, prompts young people to seek the old swimming hole," Davids said. "If parents will heed the warning of this sort of activity we can save many lives yet this year."

State Police officials hope the well known water safety rules will be followed by swimmers. They cite the buddy system as one of the best. Never swim alone. Also, know your limitations and do not over extend your ability in the water. Avoid gravel pits and other restricted areas when swimming and do not be complacent about the back-yard pool. Home pools claimed 23 victims in 1969.

Lonely in the outfield

By Jim Fitzgerald

It was written somewhere, perhaps Tom Sawyer whitewashed it on a fence, that a father should take his son to baseball games.

My dad took me to Navin Field to see Hank Greenberg knock home runs into Cherry St. And I take my son to Tiger Stadium to see Al Kaline knock home runs into the grandstand where Cherry St used to be. Cherry St was moved back and just the other day they renamed it Kaline Drive. Onward and Upward.

My only problem with my dad was that he wasn't just a fan; he could also play baseball. He once pitched a no-hitter for the University of Detroit and he was signed to hurl for the Washington Senators. Only a chronic sore arm prevented him from becoming a major league hero. At least, that's what Grandma and Grandpa used to tell me.

Naturally, Dad would like to have seen his only son shine on the diamond. He never said much about it, but I knew that Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges at Navin Field were second choices. He'd rather see me pitch for the Port Huron Skunks at Pine Grove Park.

So I tried. From the time I was old enough, I went out for every team there was. It turned out there were just 3 things wrong with my game. I couldn't hit the ball, I couldn't throw it, and I couldn't catch it. But I was a great cheerleader.

Because of my lungs, I was allowed to join several schoolboy teams. And in later years, I even belonged to an army team that starred a couple of guys who later played professionally. My position then was behind the wheel, driving the team bus.

The only time I got in a game was when only 8 other guys showed up. Then they'd stick me behind the pitcher. Sometimes I played 10-man softball and the 10th man was always stationed right in front of me.

I didn't give Dad much to be proud of. He never complained, but I've never forgotten the humiliation of inning after inning in right field, never touching the ball. And when a left-handed pull hitter came up, the manager switched me to left field. And when a tardy teammate finally arrived, perhaps limping and blind in 1 eye, he'd always pinch-hit for me.

I was a real Charlie Brown.

So the other day I got wondering about my son, Eddie. I raised him to be a baseball fan — I like his company at Tiger Stadium — but I never pressed him to be Babe Ruth or Sandy Koufax. He's on a midget league team and I didn't want him to think he had to make me proud.

So I told Eddie about what a bum I used to be on the ballfield

I confessed to all those lonely innings, stuck far in the corner of the outfield where the ball never came.

"That's nothing," laughed Eddie. "I play the outfield, too. And there's always a man out there cutting the grass. He never stops; he just cuts around me. He knows nothing's going to happen out there. I'm getting to know him pretty well."

Marvelous. No wonder I like to watch ballgames with Eddie sitting beside me. Fortunately, we usually take his mother, too. If a foul ball comes our way, she can catch it.

What really bugs me is to read where some scientist just told Congress that Wheaties, Jack Armstrong's Breakfast of Champions, is no good. I grew up on that stuff. And this scientist says Wheaties has so little energy value, a guy might as well have a shot of whiskey for breakfast. Now he tells me.

Records are made to be broken. Remember reading or hearing that statement. I read about some unusual records while on a recent vacation.

George Plimpton has a new book out about golf entitled "The Bogey Man." It covers numerous, and in some cases, weird anecdotes about the game. He lists several records that have been established. One is the distance a golf ball bounced off a caddies head. This record can be broken depending on the availability of willing caddies. "Newsweek" reviewed the book and concluded that it was "really a book about a kind of madness with rules..."

I also enjoyed establishing some unusual (and in some cases weird) records while on the same recent vacation.

I was one of three members of the Granny Goodwitch Water-treaders. It no doubt will be some time before Plimpton or anyone else for that matter writes about the records we established. But we set and broke many of them with daily regularity.

Our team happened to be composed of two other vacationers and me. Not only did our team have a name, but we were also affectionately known as Aquaman, Flipper and Lloyd Britches. Try to visualize superb, trim and bronzed athletes. Now substitute tolerable for superb, moderately obese for trim and sun-burned for bronzed and you'll have a fairly accurate mental picture of our team.

Fortunately the game is simple to play. Imagination is mandatory while skill is optional. The rules are enforced by the honor system and change quickly depending how tired or bored the players get.

Any body of water will do. It's best if you can beat least waist-deep. In our case, the Great Lake Michigan made an excellent playing arena. When the surface of the water changed, so did the records and rules. As you can plainly see, the latitude for establishing and breaking records was legion.

Equipment is minimal. Find a round floatable sphere about the size of a softball. The object of the game is to keep the ball on the move in the air by batting it back and forth between the players.

Get a load of one of the records we established. For consecutive airborne movement in a moderate sea with right or left handed batting in waist-deep water with audible cadance without sunglasses is 182 times. Whew!!! Keep in mind, this is a three man team record. The two man record is 54.

To illustrate how easily new records can be set, simply change the circumstances. The above record in a moderately HEAVY sea is 79. By definition, a moderately heavy sea is one where the waves do not come above the neck. Just think, the Granny Goodwitch Water-treaders have already provided material for a new book. Can't you just visualize the valuable information this one will contain?

The most outstanding record set was when the teammates headed toward shore and a lunch break.

As our team broke from the water, on the last day, with heads high and stomachs in (for the benefit of the local gentry) our battle cry was, "Wait'll next year."

It will take us that long to recover. In the meantime, does anyone know where George Plimpton can be reached?

TIPS

Start lawn establishment plans now, especially if quackgrass, bentgrass or tall fescue is a problem in your lawn area, says a Michigan State University expert.

If any of these weeds are present, you will need to apply Amitrol-T four or five weeks before your planned date of seeding or sodding, points out Dr. William Meggitt, MSU weed control specialist.

Information on herbicide application rates is available in Extension Bulletin 653, "Lawn Weed Control." Details on lawn establishment is provided in Extension Bulletin 673, "Lawn Establishment."

These bulletins are available from county Cooperative Extension Service offices or on request from Bulletin Office, Box 231, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

Highway fund share increased

Second quarter receipts to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund—up nearly $14.2 million over the same period last year—are being distributed to Michigan counties, cities and villages, according to the State Highway Commission.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said net receipts of the Highway Fund during April, May and June of 1970 amounted to $87.1 million, an increase of 19.3 per cent compared to the second quarter of 1969.

Stafseth said the increase is due to several factors, including a one-month extension for obtaining motor vehicle license plates; an increase in the rate-of-weight tax for trucks; and the normal increase of the number of motor vehicles and miles being driven.

The license plate deadline this year was moved from the last day of February to the last day in March, resulting in a substantial portion of license plate fees showing up in the second quarter instead of the first quarter.

Oakland County received $2,073,472, an increase of $363,112 over 1969. Clarkston's share was $2464, a gain of $388.

Highway Fund receipts are derived from motor vehicle license plate fees and a state tax on gasoline and diesel fuel, collected by the Department of State.

Lew Wint was surprised when his wife, Diane, gave him a birthday party on Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Krick of Cramlane. It was Lew's over-the-hill birthday. The guests were all members of the over-the-hill group and were very happy to welcome him to their midst. Swimming, food, and music made the time fly. The gifts were all treasures Lew will long remember. Right, Lew?

Meadow Brook Theatre announces its 1970-'71 season

Terence Kilburn, Artistic Director of Oakland University's Meadow Brook Theatre has just announced plans for the theatre's 1970-71 season.

The local, resident, professional theatre will open its fifth season with Thornton Wilder's comic free-for-all of the human race, "The Skin of Our Teeth" on Thursday, Nov. 5. The eight play schedule also includes "Life With Father", which still holds the record for Broadway's longest running comedy, opening on Thursday, December 3. January 7 is the date for unveiling a revival of Arthur Miller's "The Crucible." Considered by many as the author's greatest work, "The Crucible" deals with an individual's defiance of a repressive society. Moliere's classic of satiric wit, "Tartuffe," will begin its run on February 4.

Works of a more contemporary nature will usher in the spring season with "The Rainmaker" by N. Richard Nash opening on March 4. Set in the Southwest, "The Rainmaker", is a poignant comedy about a charming confidence man who turns life upside down for a lonely, young spinster. Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" will bow on April 1 with the now-famous couple, George and Martha, playing their cruel games of violent communication.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Thurs., Aug. 20, 1970 13

An eccentric Pied Piper leads his happy band of Manhattan non-conformists against the system in Herb Gardner's "A Thousand Clowns" opening on April 29.

Meadow Brook will salute the spring season and present its first musical when "The Fantasticks" opens on May 27 as the last offering of the theatre season. The whimsical comedy by Harvy Schmidt and Tom Jones has delighted audiences around the world.

HOW MUCH DO YOU WANT TO EARN ON YOUR SAVINGS

PICK A NUMBER

There's a lot of confusion about interest rates . . . and there doesn't have to be. You decide how much you earn. Based on three factors. One, the size of your deposit. Two, the length of time you can leave it undisturbed. Three, whether you take, or accumulate your interest.

Every family saves differently. Some deposit small amounts regularly, and never touch the principal or earnings. Some deposit a large lump sum, and use the earnings as income. Some take advantage of the higher earnings available through time deposits. Some, . . . well, you get the picture.

Community National Bank has a variety of savings programs for individual families. Because, no one program or service could ever be best for everyone. Savers select their own rates here. They pick plans with supplementary services appropriate to their needs. Like free checking, personal check guarantee identification and automatic lines of credit.

Call or visit us. Describe your plans and requirements. Let us help you to pick the number that best meets all your savings objectives.

Rabid Reuben

By Haslett Hemmor

Reuben Little has got to be the most hated guy in these here parts. Still, there's them that ain't onto him.

Lots of us call him "the reverend" as sort of a joke about him pretending to be so deeply concerned about the well being of other folks. There's them, too, that call him "Ho Chi Minh" because he figures himself to be some kind of dictator—kind of a power-behind-the-throne thing like the fellow that pulls the strings to make the puppets dance.

Old Doc Breem says Reub Little has got himself a Napoleon complex. Doc don't think the whole thing is too very funny. Not a bit funny.

"You watch," Doc warns me, "this here gink with his Napoleon complex is nothing to fool around with. Fact is, somebody deflates his personal balloon and there's liable to be a real violent situation with somebody getting hurt or killed. This character figures he's conquered a small piece of the world, and he's got a right to make his own laws if it looks like his dictatorship is being threatened. Perfectly capable of convincing himself that whatever HE wants MUST be right."

"Don't exact agree with you, Doc," I reply after giving it a slow think. "It's more like you got a vicious dog that's penned up but smart enough to wag his tail like he's real friendly. If you are dumb enough to forget he's already bit a dozen people, you might step right into the pen to pet him and you'll sure enough get chewed up good. Keep your distance and don't pay no attention to that friendly act and you're safe."

Doc just shakes his head like it sure is too bad he can't drive no obvious facts into my thick skull.

"You sure can make things so simple that you kid yourself into believing you're safe," Doc explains.

"Look," Doc says, "I'll go along with you that he's a vicious dog. Can't agree, though, that it's like he's in a cage and all you got to do is keep your distance.

"This here dog is on the loose and he mingles where he wants and when he wants.

"Fact is, he's convinced a lot of people he's a regular Rin-Tin-Tin just waiting to untie poor maidens that's been trussed up on railroad tracks.

"There's them, too, that he's conned into figuring that he's a great big old friendly St. Bernard with a jug of brandy for poor travelers that's stranded in the snow."

"Guess you could say that he's on the loose," I admit, "but there's sure plenty of us that knows he's vicious and keep our distance."

"And plenty that's plumb confused about his claims that he's never bit nobody, and that mean folks are telling lies about how he's evil and not trustworthy."

I admit to Doc that the "Rev" sure has got a heap of good folks fooled by the way he goes around looking sad and mournful like a St. Bernard, slowly wagging his tail and licking hands left and right.

Doc chuckles. "Know why old Ho Chi Minh does so much hand licking?" he asks me.

"Suppose it's just to get 'em off guard so he can really sink his fangs in good," I say.

"Partly that," Doc muses, "partly that. But old 'Reuben the Rabid' is maybe a fastidious eater, so he likes to have his next meal licked off real clean and nice before he tears out big chunks. He maybe even ties a neatly pressed napkin around his shaggy neck before he gobbles up the poor guy or gal that he's just set up with his hand-lickin'. Cute, he is."

In a period when the price of most goods is steadily rising, you may be surprised to learn that drug costs are a smaller part of America's health-care dollars than ever before. According to the Department of Commerce, only 14 cents of that dollar is now spent for the purchase of drugs from retail outlets—and only 9.8 cents of that is spent on prescription drugs. The figure was 17.5 cents, 20 years ago.

At the same time, these drugs are saving you money because they are more effective. Three decades ago, a case of pneumonia would cost the patient a $500 hospital stay, not counting the loss of time away from work. Today, the patient is cured with 30c pills prescribed by his doctor. A case of mastoiditis might entail an operation (and possibly impaired hearing) that could cost more than $1,000. Now the inflamed mastoid is cured for $15 to $20 worth of prescription drugs.

In 1930, a mental patient could expect to remain in an institution for 30 years, or for the rest of his life. Today, with the help of new drugs, 75 percent of these patients are discharged after the first year. It once took more than a month for patients with lobar pneumonia to be cured and back to work. Now $15 to $30 worth of drugs will cut that time from five weeks to two, at a time when it costs almost $60 a day to keep a patient in the hospital.

Yes, prescription prices have increased less than the general increase in the cost of living, so it is now possible for your drug dollar to buy more in better health today than ever before.

Choo Choo may run again

East Lansing—The Michigan State University student Railroad Club is tackling the massive job of rebuilding a 240-ton Pere Marquette steam locomotive.

The "1225," one of two in existence, was donated to MSU in 1957.

Once it becomes operative it is expected to be self-supporting and will be run on a nonprofit basis. The students plan to run 100-mile round trips as their primary source of revenue.

The locomotive is located on a campus railroad siding and will be open for close inspection during the school year. The engine club members are currently selling chrome-plated rail spikes to raise funds to repair the engine and build a shelter for it.

Jaycettes plan bake sale

The Clarkston Area Jaycettes entertained a special guest at their monthly meeting on August 12. Mrs. Larry Ettinger, District 12 vice president, was their guest speaker.

Much of the meeting was spent in making preparations for the Labor Day celebration during which time they will again man the "Coke Wagon" for 4 days. This year plans are also being made to hold a bake sale on Saturday morning.

It was reported that the Clarkston group has collected 61,247 Betty Crocker coupons which have assisted in the purchase of 12 kidney machines by the Michigan Jaycee Auxilliary.

The committee announced that the collection will continue and urged that the community continue to support this project.

The Jobs for Teens program will continue for several more weeks. Residents are urged to call the following numbers to provide work situations for the 62 girls who are willing to do odd-jobs.

Call: Kathleen Heald, 625-5407; Donna Draper, 625-1785; Pat Martin, 625-5148; Jan Lopucki, 625-4709.

IS GOD HIDDEN?

PSALM 10

"Why dost thou stand afar off, O Lord?
Why dost thou hide thyself . . . ?"

The idea that God hides crops up regularly, some people are grief-stricken at the thought; others seem to count on it.

That God is away from the scene seems to be easily documented both by the Psalm writer and in today's newspapers. The ancient writer complains that the wicked in their lust for possessions have cast off restraints of religion, blaspheming God, denying his existence as a deterrent, taking by violence, robbery or murder what they can't finagle by crafty speech. The daily headlines in our day testify to a father who beats a five-year old son so severely as to require brain surgery, a playboy-philosopher who in the name of sexual freedom entices men from 17 to 70 to look on women as toys, labor leaders and industry executives who each in their own way exploit the consumer and the country's resources, governments who ban people without hearing or trial, adored entertainers who ride roughshod over their own fans as special persons of privilege beyond the law.

Does God condone or is he away or doesn't he care? A French peasant woman said in the midst of war which was tearing her country apart, "Le bon Dieu! le bon Dieu! Ah! le bon Dieu est en permission!" God is on vacation!

The Psalm writer suggests a direct and blunt action to start with. Go to the source with complaints. God is a spirit and therefore unseen, but if you think he is hiding, go in the way he has provided and keep talking to him about it.

Admit also that there are still a few mysteries in this universe which God has not yet chosen to let us in on. Some of his ways are "past finding out." If he says now and then, "So far, but no farther!" then that is his right.

Even in times when God seems hidden he does not leave us alone. We are placed in families for mutual support. We can be aware of God's presence in the most solitary situation. Admiral Byrd at the South Pole after a lonely monoxide scare wrote, "The universe is not dead. Therefore there is an intelligence there, and it is all-pervading. Though I am cut off from human beings I am not alone."

For Christian descendants of the ancient Psalmist there is another discloser of God, one who is called "God with Us" or Immanuel. When we wonder where God is or if he is, this Immanuel says, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father also."

Lower to half-calf

by Jean Sura

Get out your sewing kits ladies. You might as well start sewing ruffles right now. In spite of all the sighs of regret from the women with pretty legs and the caterwauling of the LWI (Leg Watchers International), the skirt lengths are doomed to plunge.

"Do I smoke marijuana?" you say.

"No."

"Am I taking LSD then?" you counter.

"No."

"Well, then," you continue, "you must have been on a drinking spree."

"No, I swear. But I'm sure that I'm right."

"Okay, tell me how you know that skirt lengths are going down to mid-calf."

"There are two reasons for my being so sure of what I am predicting. The first one is the result of a discussion I overheard between four 8th grade girls. It went like this:"

"I'm so tired of wearing these drippy short skirts. They are so oldfashioned," said one named Holly.

"Honestly," said Terri, "you should see the neat skirt that I found in a trunk in our storage room. My mother wore it when she was in college, I think."

"How long is it really?" asked Lu.

"Will your mother really let you wear it to school?" asked Debbie.

"Oh, it's way down to here, and gosh, no. She hates it now, but all you do is roll it up around the waist until you get to the school bus stop. Then roll it down and it is really neat. Just before you get home, roll it back up."

"Won't she be able to tell?" asked Holly.

"Well, golly, when she was a girl she told me that her mother made her wear dumb clothes to school. She used to sneak her dad's shirts and put them on in the school lavatory."

"That's nothing, my grandmother used to have to wear long underwear. She told me that all the girls would roll it up over their knees when they got to school and then roll it back down before they went home," said Lu.

"Golly," said Debbie, "I'll bet that got awfully lumpy around the ankles."

Holly chimed in, "Isn't it a shame that mothers are so square about catching on to neat styles. You sure are lucky, Terri. I wonder if I can find any good, neat, long skirts in our attic. I guess I'll go home and look."

"Hey, that's a wonderful idea. Guess I'll go home and take a look too," said Lu and Debbie. "See you."

***

And that is the first reason that I know that skirts are going to plunge.

The second reason that I am sure they are on the downward trend is personal opinion.

When styles change I am slow to react. It takes about five years for me to get hep. I have to get used to things.

But the fact is that I got tired of sewing facing on the bottoms of all my dresses. I got tired of seeing people draw little squares in the air when I walked into a room. I got tired of the snorts of disapproval from my own family.

This summer I got devilish and bought some new, honest-to-gosh short dresses. I have thrown both caution and modesty to the winds. I'm past the stage of sneaking my skirt up a notch with a belt. I've liberated my knees.

In my book that's absolute proof that the styles are headed in another direction.

There is one consolation. A couple years of rest probably will strengthen the eyeball muscles of the LWI.
