Jim's Jottings

Another job I won't be competing for is driver training instructor.

I sat through several hundred white knuckle, Rolaid eating, miles on our recent trip.

The people who ruled that a student driver should be accompanied by parents the first 30 days of his eligibility are sadists.

When I first learned I had to ride with my son behind the wheel, while he learned to come back onto the highway, I reasoned it was supposed to be so he would listen to Dad's suggestions... suggestions offered from years of experience behind wheels of numerous vehicles.

This conclusion was wrong. Suggestions from the passenger seat are taken no differently than from the dinner table, bedroom or woodshed. The effect of parental guidance on a 16-year-old is about as lasting as a plank in a political platform.

The first thing I did when son Jim took the wheel was go to sleep. This wasn't from confidence. My nerves were shot from anticipation of the occasion.

Jim knocked down two plastic highway marking cones, approached the rear of a very slow moving tractor at 65 mph, narrowly missed a bridge and otherwise kept his former loved ones in constant danger.

I've got to check with the driving instructors to see if they teach students to keep the right two wheels off the pavement so they get more traction.

I noticed he never drove with less than two hands on the wheel. I don't believe that is part of the instruction either. At least you never see a teenager, without his parents, in a car with two hands on the wheel.

Speed is Jim's bit, too. I'm going to try to overcome that one by limiting his solitary driving to our old Model A, however, some elderly people have told me that didn't stop them.

By the way, why is it taxpayers have to pay to have my kid learn how to drive in high school? I would think under the new court ruling it would be charged for... and should be.

Teachers - Bd. of Ed. ratify contract

At special meetings of the Clarkston Board of Education and the Clarkston Education Association (CEA), on August 31, both bodies ratified the contract proposed by their negotiating teams for the 1970-'71 school year.

According to CEA president, George White, the teachers approved the contract, with 137 voting for ratification and only 4 dissenting.

The new contract provides for a starting salary of $7840 for teachers with a B.A. degree and reaches a maximum in 11 equal increments of $12,490. Minimum salary for an M.A. degree is $8465 and $13,550 is maximum.

An EDS (Educational Specialist Degree) will receive $9250 minimum and reach a maximum of $14,550.

Two additional steps were added for longevity teaching in the Clarkston system. After 16 and 20 years' service to this community, a teacher will automatically receive an extra increment proportioned as the other steps.

Increases were also granted for extra curricular activities.

The new contract provides that desirable goals in class loads will be recognized: 28 in kindergarten; 30 in grades 1 through 6 and the ratio of 30 to 1 as prescribed by North Central Accreditation Committee for secondary grades.

If the class load exceeds the 32 to 1 ratio, a committee, consisting of building principal, a person from central administration, the teacher and a representative of the CEA will meet to resolve the situation.

The Blue Cross-Blue Shield Insurance was changed from the deductible policy in effect last year to a comprehensive hospitalization policy. Group life term insurance in the amount of $5,000 will be provided by the Board of Education.

A reclarification of teacher's personal leave day was stressed. Each teacher will be allowed 1 day for personal business. He must notify his principal of his intentions in advance and state his reason for requesting the leave.

If he violates the contract and the day is used for affairs that could be transacted outside of a school teaching day, the administration may withhold his pay for the day.

The school calendar in the contract provides that 2 days will be provided for in-service parent-teacher conferences. School will be closed on November 26 and 27 for the Thanksgiving holiday. Christmas vacation will begin on December 24 and school will resume on January 4.

Easter holiday will last from April 8 until April 19. Students will be dismissed for summer vacation on June 11 and teachers will complete their year on June 15.

David K. Westlund, 35, of 115 N. Holcomb, was named Trustee by the Clarkston Village Council. He will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of James Mahar.

Westlund, principal at Pine Knob School is a graduate of Northern Michigan University and the U. of M.

He and his wife, Zita, and 4 children have lived here for 5 years.

Hawk employees take strike vote

Employees of the Hawk Tool and Engineering Company of Clarkston, members of UAW Local 540, voted to strike this week when their contract with the company expired at mid-night on August 31.

The union and company are seeking settlement of a new contract at the present time, according to Tom Hawk, a spokesman for the company.

If the negotiations break down the International Union will be authorized to call a strike.

Disabled vets get increase

The Veterans Administration reported today that a bill the President signed August 12th will increase monthly compensation payments for most of two million veterans who incurred disabilities during military service.

Mr. Robert M. FitzGerald, Director of the Detroit Regional Office, stressed that since the increased payments are automatic, veterans need not contact the VA to receive them.

He said veterans will receive their regular monthly checks for August on September 1, computed at the old rate. Later, in early September, most veterans will receive another check which will reflect the retroactive increases for July and August. The following month regular checks will include the increases.

He said the 12 percent increase goes to totally disabled veterans, including those who also receive additional compensation for such disabilities as deafness, blindness and the loss of — or loss of use of — arms and feet.

SPEND THE HOLIDAY IN CLARKSTON

"Hey, lady"

by Jean Sura

Have you ever thought that you had things under control and then have them back-fire?

Several weeks ago I went out and bought a couple of dresses which were on sale. One was a plain white number with a yellow checked coat.

I debated about the use I would get out of a coat in the summer, but I really did like the dress.

"Oh, take it home and see if your husband likes it," said the saleslady.

Famous last words!

You know what happened, of course. I kept it.

Just a week later, I had reason to feel smug. We were invited to a wedding. I didn't have a worry in the world. I had just the thing to wear. Not only that, the day of the wedding dawned, very cool and damp, perfect for wearing a summer coat.

The wedding was one of the greatest. The food, champagne, music and company couldn't have been better. The coat, however, got a little warm.

Before long I draped it over the back of my chair, out of harm's way.

Five minutes later, as I stood catching up on the times with an old friend, I felt a tap on my shoulder.

"Excuse me, is there any more champagne?" this bethailed gentleman asked.

"I don't have the slightest notion," I answered. "I'm not drinking champagne."

"Well, would you mind going to see if there is any," he pursued.

"But, really," I said.

And then the light dawned on both of us.

"I am terribly sorry," he said and he hurried away.

Fifteen minutes later, another well meaning

Petitioners oppose mall on golf course

By Jim Sherman

1758 signatures are on the petitions calling for a referendum on the rezoning of Waterford Hill Golf Course for a shopping mall.

Kenneth Rogers, 6395 Waterford Hill Terrace, turned the petitions over to Township Clerk Harold Altman Wednesday. The number of signatures may be 700 more than needed to qualify the question for the ballot.

It will be Altman's job to verify the signatures. They have to be from people who own property in and reside in the township of Independence. He has estimated the number of signatures needed for a referendum at between 1,000 and 1,200.

Earlier this year, petitions were submitted to the clerk asking a referendum on rezoning a parcel on Walton to multiple dwellings. The clerk's verification of signatures was stopped on this one by court order.

Altman said it was highly unlikely the current question would be ready for the ballot in the general election in November.

A third petition is also expected to be given the clerk. Residents are seeking to overturn the rezoning decision on the mobile home park on Clintonville road.

Rogers, who is president of Waterford Hill Ad Hoc Committee, said this group was opposing the shopping mall and multiple dwelling use of the land because they feel it is a "misuse of land."

He said the master plan for the township called for the land to remain recreational and that 2 of the 3 bodies who advise future land use in the township opposed the change. Both the planners, Villican-Leman and Associates of Southfield, and the Township Planning Commission, voted no to the change, he said. The township board approved.

Another reason for the opposition, Rogers said, was the traffic flow problem on Dixie Highway. "There are 19,500 vehicles per day passing on Dixie with a township population of 17,000. The projected figures are for 90,000 people in the township in 10 years," Rogers told the News. "We are on the edge of a population explosion and we've got to plan shopping areas and others so safety factors are considered."

"The traffic problem would be ridiculous" if the township doesn't plan properly, Rogers said.

Possible pollution of area lakes is also a concern of the Committee, according to Rogers. "There will be X acres of asphalt with water run-off going into nearby lakes. The Dept. of Natural Resources said the resultant drainage problem could injure these lakes. We do not have a satisfactory answer to what the developers plan to do with the run-off."

Rogers said he found in circulating the petitions that people in township subdivisions are anxious to support referendums because they feel proper planning is not being done, nor what is done, followed.

person leaned over and said, "Miss, I dropped my fork. Would you get me another please?"

Two more episodes of this type had me crying all over my pretty new white uniform.

Thanks to my good friend, the groom's dad, the situation worked out pretty well, for that day anyway.

Somewhere he found a red scarf and tied it around my neck.

Would you believe me if I told you that the other dress that I bought was black and I wore it to shop in a large department store.

"No, lady, I don't work here. I'm sorry. I don't know where the perfume counter is, sir."

Believe me, I'm buying all my dresses in shocking pink plaids from now on. In the meantime I have uniforms for any occasion.

Honor Labor Day in proper way

By Congressman Jack McDonald

Next Monday the wheels of commerce in this nation will halt. Schools, banks, factories and most stores will close in honor of the only national holiday with no historical or religious significance.

The occasion is Labor Day, the first Monday in September.

President Grover Cleveland followed the tradition of many individual states and made the first Monday in September a national holiday for federal employes.

It is appropriate to note that while President Cleveland was signing this important document, the nation was in the midst of a labor turmoil that was not to end for 50 years.

But the friction that brought turmoil to this nation also brought it unprecedented growth and a new standard of living for its working population.

Free enterprise is effective only when industry and labor can remain free to negotiate, a situation which is unique in this country.

Through a partnership of trust and confidence, labor and industry have met the challenge of rapid technological growth and increased demand for goods and services. The producers and consumers each have benefited from this dialogue, and will continue to do so as long as the lines of communication remain open.

In recent years, Labor Day has had the additional responsibility of signaling the end of summer vacations for more than 100 million working Americans. Highways leading to favorite camping and fishing spots will be clogged as citizens take one last giant fling at vacationing.

Labor Day was conceived to honor this nation's labor force, and born in recognition of the part this force played in America's growth. It is for remembering the struggle for a new life style by early laborers, and for projecting into the future all the benefits a rapidly expanding technology can offer.

I would hope that this Labor Day will be a tribute to labor, and not a statistical memorial to carnage on the highway. Please drive carefully.

Please cut the gas

By Jim Fitzgerald

On the day the war ended in Japan, I was aboard an old Liberty ship, seasick on the Atlantic, in the brig, headed from Germany to Japan via a 30-day orgy at home.

25 years later, almost to the day, the U.S. Army again made splendid use of an old Liberty ship. The Pentagon brains loaded the ship with nerve gas and sank it in that same Atlantic.

Was it the same Liberty ship? Maybe. Unfortunately I can't remember the name of the ship that brought me home. But no matter.

The important thing is that it is the same U.S. Armed Forces.

While military scientists were littering fish to death, the Air Force was also involved in a magnificent operation. At Lackland Air Force Base in Texas, 15 airmen were spending the day cutting out 10,000 pictures of their commanding general.

The base newspaper had printed a photo of the general, showing only his head. You couldn't see his stars and decorations, for goodness sakes. So the officer in charge ordered that 10,000 newspapers be distributed with 10,000 holes in them. He also fired the editor, always a wise move in such cases.

You are probably wondering what happened to the 10,000 offensive clippings. Well, I'll tell you. They were stuffed into a steel foot locker. The locker was put aboard an old LST landing craft. The LST was pushed to the middle of the Mississippi by 2

Pfc's in GI swimming trunks. A helicopter then dropped a small atom bomb on the craft, sinking it and the clippings forever.

But getting back to my Liberty ship, you are probably wondering what a nice fellow like me was doing in the ship's brig (that's the jail, landlubbers). Well, I won't tell.

Rest assured, I was an innocent victim of circumstances. And the circumstances were much crueler than they might have been. That lousy brig was in the bow. There was a terrible storm on the North Atlantic and you can't believe how that bow went up and down, up and down. Seasick? Those were the most miserable 5 days of my life.

So I hope it was my Liberty ship that carried the nerve gas to the bottom. But that was only 1% of the U.S. supply of the deadly gas. What's going to be done with the other 99%?

The gas is a marvelously inhuman weapon and any self-respecting fiend would be proud of creating it. But the nerve gas is indiscriminate and leaky. It could turncoat and kill us all simply because we can't find an enemy we hate enough to spray with the stuff.

It is a military mess and an ordinary, exasperated civilian is tempted to ask: "Why don't they just cut it out?"

Ah. Obviously a job for the Air Force officer who ordered the 10,000 cut-outs.

HOW MUCH DO YOU WANT TO EARN ON YOUR SAVINGS

PICK A NUMBER

There's a lot of confusion about interest rates . . . and there doesn't have to be. You decide how much you earn. Based on three factors. One, the size of your deposit. Two, the length of time you can leave it undisturbed. Three, whether you take, or accumulate your interest.

Every family saves differently. Some deposit small amounts regularly, and never touch the principal or earnings. Some deposit a large lump sum, and use the earnings as income. Some take advantage of the higher earnings available through time deposits. Some, . . . well, you get the picture.

Community National Bank has a variety of savings programs for individual families. Because, no one program or service could ever be best for everyone. Savers select their own rates here. Letters to the Editor

May we quote you ?

Dear Editor,

Your "If It Fitz" columns are genuine contributions to journalism. They are lucid and powerful as they reflect with sensitivity and depth on significant patterns of contemporary society.

Although I spend much time reading daily papers and weekly newsmagazines (while finishing a Ph D at U of Southern California and then as Chairman of the Radio-Television Dept. at the U. of Detroit for the past 3 years), I am rarely affected by written observations as I have been instantly swept up by your columns.

Your "Patton" column makes good, strong points with an unaffected combination of what might be called "visceral intelligence." Frankly, I was surprised and delighted to find a small local newspaper featuring the kinds of comments which are in your column - this one and previous ones as well.

Might I suggest that you consider exploring the possibilities of syndicating your column - complete with banner title and photo, if possible. Your reflections and value-judgments, and the swinging impact of your style, would much interest wide audiences.

Each week the head of the U. of Detroit broadcast center and I produce a radio program for distribution to 19 cities, including WCAR (50,000 watts, 1130 kc, Sundays 7:30-8 a.m.) in Detroit. Called "The Church Today," it is a magazine format with pop records, quotations from current literature and political-social scene, and casual conversations. Might I have your permission to quote portions, or even lengthy sections, of some of your articles from time to time?

Bonnie Helvey weds James Webb

The Clarkston (Mich.) News, Thurs., Sept. 3, 1970 9

In a double ring ceremony at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church on August 22, Bonnie Jay Helvey became the bride of James L. Webb. The Rev. Theodore Allebach officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Helvey of Sashabaw Road. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Webb of Pontiac Drive, Sylvan Lake, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Carrying a bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and stephanotis, the bride wore a floor length gown of white organdy over taffeta with embroidered daisy appliques. A Juliet cap secured her waist-length veil of silk illusion.

Maid of honor was Bonita Williams of Pontiac. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Peter Duthie of Colorado Springs, Colorado and Debra Helvey of Clarkston, a sister of the bride. Also serving as bridal attendants were the sisters of the groom, Annette and Lynn Webb of Sylvan Lake and Susan Dawlyn of Lucas.

All wore identically styled, floor length gowns of apple green chiffon over taffeta and carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and white carnations.

Richard Erickson of Cincinnati, Ohio, a cousin of the groom, stood as best man in proxy for the bridegroom's brother, Jack Webb, who is in the Marine Corps stationed in Okinawa.

The guests were seated by Tom Graves of Columbus, Ohio; Gary Osborn of Dearborn, Fred Stiktbery, Anderson, Indiana; Douglas Hibbons of Toronto, Canada and Robert Erickson of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The bridal couple greeted their guests at a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony and then left for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

Mrs. James L. Webb

The bride is a graduate of Clarkston High School and Hurley Hospital School of Nursing. The bridegroom graduated from Pontiac Central High School and General Motors Institute.

HALLMAN

Although we say our health is priceless, there's a limit to the price we can pay for health care. And it's a fact that the cost of medical care has risen sharply in the last few years.

The average American paid 50% more for medical expenses in 1966 than in 1960. Most of this represents an increase in hospital costs but, of course, modern drugs and therapy cut the amount of time you spend in the hospital—and represent better treatment while you're there.

Pharmacists and drug companies are doing their best to hold the line. A recent Consumer Price Index indicated that the cost of prescription drugs dropped 1.5% last year, to a record low. Drugs which cost $5 in 1958 were down to $4.40 in 1967.

During the same period, the price of "all items" measured by the C.P.I. rose by 16%.

If you're old enough to remember the drugs prescribed 30 or 40 years ago, you'll realize you're now getting more value for your dollar. With the drugs presently available, you don't go to the hospital as often, you spend less time in bed, and you're feeling better much faster.

Remember, it's your good health we're interested in.

LINE UP — Recently the men of Haupt Pontiac challenged the men of Pontiac Retail Store to a softball game, and Sunday they met on a Drayton field. It was a fierce, tough battle ... with perhaps the toughest part coming when Don Short, above, in the jockey hat, cigar and pencil in the middle, trying to figure out a starting line up. The Haupt men lost, 10-2, but according to owner D. I. Pettengill, the other team brought in some "ringers." To the left, salesman Skip Williams catches a pop-up while Ron Zerba looks on.

Mrs. William Gardiner

Pamela Compton wed in Christ Lutheran

Pamela Elaine Compton, the daughter of Mrs. William Fawcett of Maple Drive and Mr. Howard Compton of Milford, became the bride of William Gardiner on August 22 in the Christ Lutheran Church, Waterford. He is the son of Mrs. Viola Gardiner of Drayton Plains.

Before a candlelit altar the couple spoke their vows to the Rev. Arlon Stubbe.

The bride chose a floor length gown of embroidered fabric trimmed with Venice lace. Her chapel length illusion veil was secured by a Venice lace spray headpiece and she carried white carnations and baby pink sweetheart roses.

Karen Craft was the maid of honor. Rosemary Sexton, Waterford; Cindy Compton, Milford and Cindy Helzer, Clarkston were the bridesmaids. Lori Helzer was the junior bridesmaid and Shannon Kangras of Grand Rapids was the flower girl. The attendants were all gowned in shades of pink and white and carried baskets of flowers in the same hues.

Scott Sexton of Waterford was the ring bearer.

The best man was Ronald Love of Clarkston. Ronald LeClair, Greg Compton, Randy Compton, Steve Compton and Rick Runyan seated the guests.

After a reception at the CAI Building in Waterford the couple left for a trip to Northern Michigan. They will make their home in Pontiac when they return.

Around the Town

Weight watcher's nightmare

by Donna Fahrner

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waters and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bell have returned from a trip to Hershey, Pennsylvania. What a great place to eat, eat, eat! Everything in the town centers around the chocolate theme: street lights, signs and shops. If you enjoy hot fudge sundaes as much as Mrs. Waters, you can imagine the fun she had. Drop in at their house for dinner any day and you will see that the menu is green salads. But they say it was worth every pound they gained.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Landon are the proud parents of a son, Christopher Lee, born August 24, at St. Joseph's Hospital. The baby was welcomed home by brother John. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Winston C. Farmer, Sr. of McCaulley, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Landon of Holly.

Mr. and Mrs. Darl Hess of Andersonville Road are receiving congratulations on the birth of their son, Scott Ray, born August 24. Grandparents are Mrs. Gerald Hess of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Royce Wilkins of Pittsburg, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davidson and son, Mike, have returned from a trip to Florida. They enjoyed many side trips but decided there is no place like home.

Dr. and Mrs. Patrick S. Jewell of Grosse Pointe Shores were hosts to a group of former Clarkston High School athletes and teachers at an informal buffet on Saturday. The occasion was in honor of Ralph "Doc" Thayer, who formerly coached at Clarkston High School. The afternoon and evening was spent reminiscing about former athletic events and other school happenings. Dr. Jewell was a member of the 1951 graduating class.

An open house was held on Sunday, August 21, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. David Beals' 50th anniversary. Their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cook and sons, Gary and Reg, arrived from Santa Ana, California to join in the celebration.

Ben Bullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bullen of Kingfisher, will be returning to school this week with his leg in a cast. Boys will be boys and those backyard games can get pretty rough.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Thayer and sons, Jeff, Craig and Kurt, have returned home with no fish from their week long trip. They tried many spots in Thessalon, Chapeau and Wa-Wa, but the fish just weren't cooperating. Better luck next time.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Birkelo and family have arrived at their new home in Butte, Montana. They enjoyed the trip out west and say things are a bit slower out there. I know they would love to hear from friends in Clarkston. Their new address is 102 Country Club Lane, Butte, Montana 59701.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warren of Snow Apple celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary last Saturday with "dinner out" and an "evening on the town." Many happy returns.

I would like to move the Russell Colts and the Donald Colton families back to Church Street. Last week, according to reports here, they lived on Holcomb Street. But that was my error. Have a nice trip?

The 1960 graduation class of Clarkston High School held their reunion on Saturday, August 29, at Howes' Lanes. About 100 people attended the affair.

After dinner, class sponsor, Mrs. Paul Hanson, reminisced about the group's days in school.

The class was disappointed that illness made it impossible for sponsor Floyd Vincent to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richard Brown of Buffalo Street are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a son, Charles Richard, Jr., born August 23. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs.

Frank Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Cleo R. Brown. Great-grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Harry Yoh and Mrs. C. W. Russell of Clarkston, Mr. and Mrs. Conley Brown of Arizona.

The stork has been very busy in Clarkston this week. The one that was circling the Jerry Powell home found its roost on August 27 when Kyle Lyn arrived. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynady and Mrs. Ben Powell of Clarkston. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Lydia Niva of Drayton Plains and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Setzer of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lawson of Clarkston and Alice Shriber of Sawyer, Michigan have returned from a two-week tour of upper Michigan. On their way back they stopped in Grand Rapids at the Veterans' Administration to visit Frank Molter.

By Jean Sura

Mrs. Donna Coulter requested that I furnish some cookie recipes that are suitable to take to social functions and still not too difficult to make.

Now that September is here, I guess that it is the time. So here are a couple. Easy and good.

CHINESE ALMOND COOKIES

2½ cups flour
¼ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ cup lard
1 egg
2 tablespoons water
1½ teaspoons almond extract

Sift the first 4 ingredients into a large bowl. Blend in the lard with a pastry cutter. Beat in the egg, water and extract. When thoroughly blended, form into balls the size of a walnut. Place on a cookie sheet and press with the heel of your hand. Press 1 whole almond into the top of each cookie and brush each with slightly beaten egg white. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. This makes about 3 dozen.

Our passing on the recipe of carrot cake was extremely popular, so here is another carrot recipe to try.

CARROT COOKIES

½ teaspoon lemon extract
1 teaspoon vanilla juice of 1 orange finely grated rind of 1 orange
¼ cup sugar
1 cup less 2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
1 cup finely ground raw carrots
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon butter

Mix together the first 4 ingredients. Blend sugar and shortening until light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Add carrots. Mix flour, baking powder, soda and salt and add alternately with half of the lemon extract mixture. Drop by rounded spoonsful on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. When cool, spread with a mixture of the remaining lemon extract, confectioners' sugar and butter to make a thin glaze type of frosting. This makes 3 dozen.

Doctors- coaches help

Varsity football team gets in shape

An enthusiastic squad pick their way through the tires to develop muscle tone and running dexterity.

An innovation was tried by the Clarkston High School varsity football team when 50 boys and their coaches attended a 6-day conditioning camp last week.

The camp was the dream of head coach Paul Rakow and was made possible through the generosity and concern of local doctors. Dr. James O'Neill volunteered the use of his grounds and buildings for the camp. Doctors Bullard, Landry, Hamilton and LePere contributed by donating all the money that was paid to them for athletes' physical examinations.

Each boy paid $10 to assist in the program and the boys' dads contributed if they cared to when they attended the steak roast on the last day.

A well balanced program of exercise and conditioning was carried out each day.

Each morning began when the boys ran trails before breakfast. A typical morning schedule consisted of periods of drill and padless practice. A shower and swim eased muscles and put an edge on appetites.

Rudy's truck arriving with the catered food was a popular part of the day and appetizing, well balanced meals were served in the open.

The afternoon session was much like the morning. After dinner at night there were chalk talks and football movies before an early curfew.

The 50 participants bedded down "wall to wall boys" in sleeping bags and on cots in the O'Neill guest house or under the stars.

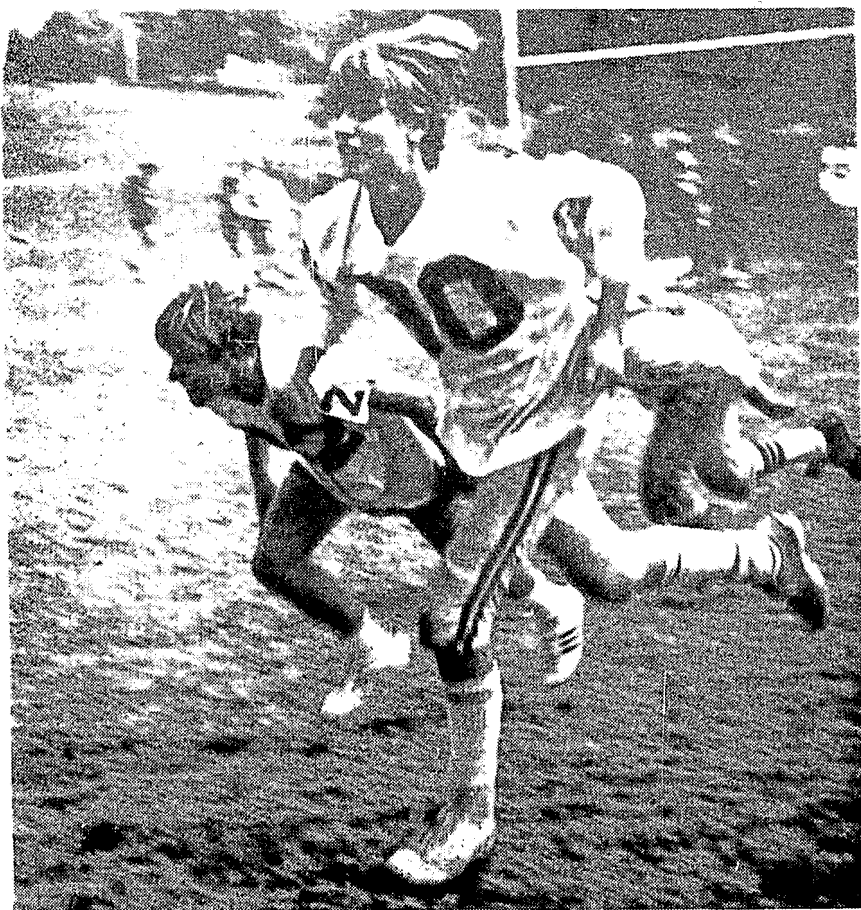

"The experience of living together under these circumstances," said Rakow, "has done wonders for the team morale and I feel that we will be in top physical shape when we start the season. With the experience of our 15 returning lettermen and the enthusiasm built here at camp, I can't help but feel enthusiastic."

Last year, Rakow's first in Clarkston, the Wolves suffered through a winless year.

If physical conditioning and esprit de corps play a part in winning football games it looks like Clarkston has an exciting season ahead.

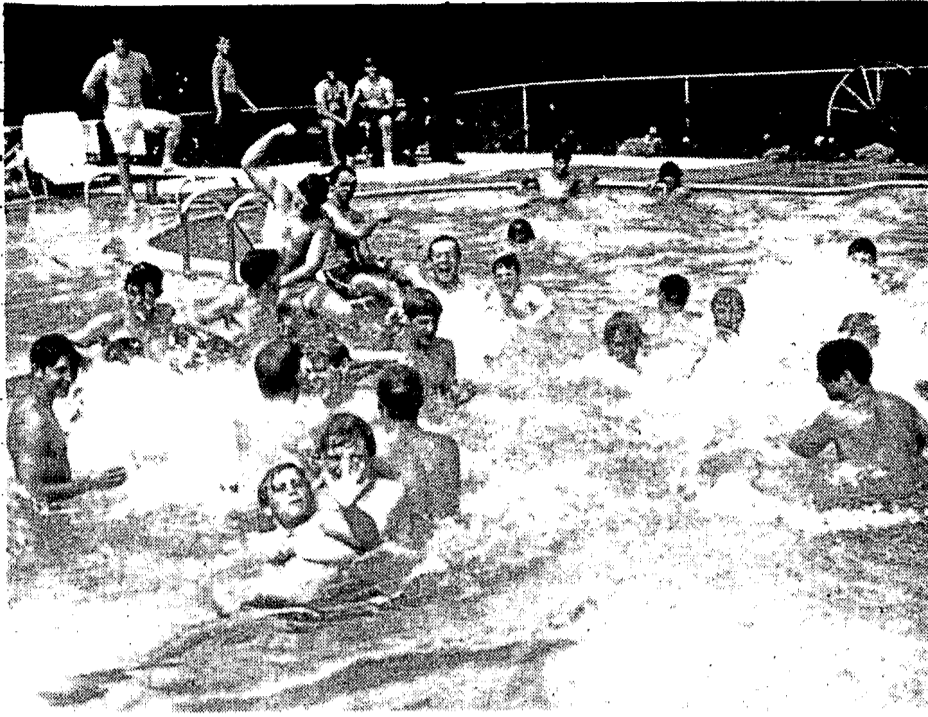

Rope drills add to the Wolves' agility.

Wind sprints are made more difficult when mixed with running on all fours.

Four returning lettermen hit the buckboard during a morning workout.

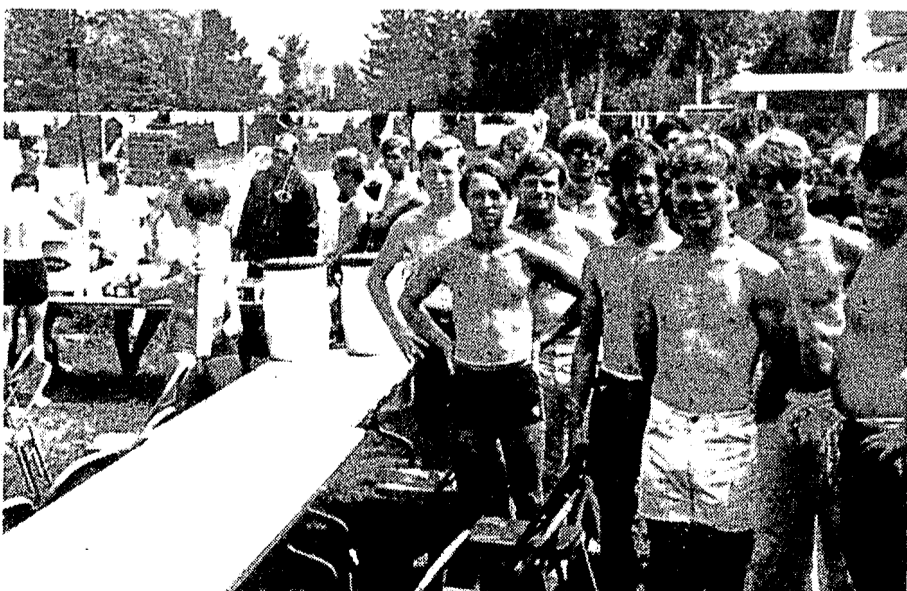

Everybody gets in the swim in Dr. James McNeill's pool.

Coach Rakow assists the chow line. Rudy's food disappears almost as quickly as it appears.

Hearty appetites result from a morning of strenuous conditioning followed by a swim. The food line forms without any coaxing.

Too pooped to participate. Howard Bliss "takes five" during the noon break at the Wolves' conditioning camp.

"Two bits"

By Haslett Hemmor

Can't remember back when we called old Chet Halick anything but "Two-Bit Halick." It's always been "Two-Bit" direct in front of him or otherwise.

A stranger wouldn't likely spot him for a small time moocher. Two-bit Halick dresses like he had a million and always speaks soft and polite. Got what you'd likely call a very nice way about him.

Guess maybe he got that "Two-Bit" nickname in High School. Never worked at odd jobs like the rest of us. Maybe afraid he'd dirty up those sharp clothes of his. Always asking somebody for the loan of a quarter. Never paid it back, either.

Sure is a snappy dresser, though, and nobody can figure out how he can afford it because he just don't usual hold a job for more than a couple months.

Fussy, too, he is about the kind of work he takes. Clerked a while at Burrwood's Men's Store and that seemed to suit him best. Guess they fired him there because he likely made the customers feel shabby by comparison. Don't really know that was the reason for sure, but sounds reasonable. Worked there for over five months and that's the tops for long, far as anyone can recall. Owed everybody in the store three - four bucks, a quarter at a time.

Doesn't drink and never did get tied down to any female by marriage or otherwise. Could be none of them was neat and tidy enough for Two-Bit Halick.

Charlie Riper went up to Two-Bit's room once to borrow a book and said he didn't even dare smoke for fear he'd drop ashes someplace. Neat, he sure is, and real dapper.

Last Fall old Two-Bit dates the new High School French teacher, Miss Walters, mutual friend and all.

Unlike a lot of the new teachers fresh out of college, Miss Walters was what you'd call a real dedicated teacher. Got her regular degree from State College and then got her a Masters degree in Paris, France. Lived there a year and guess she got so she could talk like a regular native Frenchy. Looked French, too, Miss Walters did - real cute and small and dark with short curly black hair. Always laughing and moved quick like a perky little bird.

Now Two-Bit was considerable older than Marie Walters, but she first met him at a friend's house and remarked to someone that she liked older men and that this Mr. Halick was the first suave and polished gent she'd met in out quaint little village.

Guess she had to learn the hard way. Accepted his invitation to a date. Later, she told the girls' counselor, Miss Van Els, that old Two-Bit comes to her place and says his car's being repaired. Never did own a car, but told her that his Mercedes was a bit out of time and these American mechanics just seem to have trouble with a fine import.

Seems like they drove her bus to this here nightclub place. Two-Bit sudden goes through his pockets and says wasn't that stupid, he's left his wallet in one of his other suits. She loans him twenty and then later another ten on his promise that he'll get it back to her at the High School next day. Natural thing, he never did.

"He's a fraud," Marie Walters tells her friend, Miss Van Els. "He's a big talker and a big moocher. The things people say about him are true. He's a no good chiseling bum and must have heard about the big inheritance I got from Uncle Charlie."

Didn't go, personal, but they say Miss Walters and Two-Bit had the most elaborate wedding ever in this neck of the woods.

Work force

Shel George

I took a week off from work, (the paying variety of work), to spend a week at work (the non-paying variety). I'll never do that again. That is, if I can get away with it. I'll have to admit that procrastination made me do it. He's a real task-master. The pay is lousy, the food only fair and the working conditions are only good for liniment sales.

The back forty (that's farm talk, and in my case refers to the backyard, forty feet by forty feet), needed to get acquainted with some grass. After all, the front forty had been sodded for over a year. How unfair can one home owner be?

I guess I looked at it in the same way I do when I get my shoes shined. All of the polish and effort is spent on the toes. Nobody looks at the heels. But the weeds had grown so high the squirrels were complaining about not being able to get to the trees. It isn't that I lacked for help. How can you go wrong with 8 or 10 kids pitching in. You know, pitching in with the wrong tool at the wrong time. Then there was the wrong seed in the wrong bag and the wrong rock in the wrong pile. And speaking of rocks, if I could glue them all together, Gibraltar would look like pea gravel.

By the time the tractor rides were over, two days had already slipped by. That's how procrastination makes you do it. Then it was hustle-bustle to get the ground prepared for the seed. With the type of help I had, by the time I was ready to spread it, the seed was in a state of shock.

As with all things, I learned something from this ordeal.

First of all, the guy who said you're only as old as you think, never put in his own lawn. I quit trying to retain or recapture my youth after the second sizeable rock. (Sizeable is anything over 3 pounds.)

Secondly, when you're not used to physical labor, it will leave you "neak in the wees and beak in the wack." That's where the liniment comes in.

Third, you get all kinds of free and unsolicited advice from your friends. Maybe I like to work in the rain.

Last, you'll finally get the job done if you follow this formula: Keep your eye on the ball, your nose to the grindstone, your shoulder to the wheel and your feet on the ground.

Did you ever try to work in that position?

IS GOD HIDDEN? Psalm 10

"Why dost thou stand afar off, O Lord?
Why dost thou hide thyself . . . ?"

The idea that God hides crops up regularly, some people are grief-stricken at the thought; others seem to count on it.

That God is away from the scene seems to be easily documented both by the Psalm writer and in today's newspapers. The ancient writer complains that the wicked in their lust for possessions have cast off restraints of religion, blaspheming God, denying his existence as a deterrent, taking by violence, robbery or murder what they can't finagle by crafty speech. The daily headlines in our day testify to a father who beats a five-year-old son so severely as to require brain surgery, a playboy-philosopher who in the name of sexual freedom entices men from 17 to 70 to look on women as toys, labor leaders and industry executives who each in their own way exploit the consumer and the country's resources, governments who ban people without hearing or trial, adored entertainers who ride roughshod over their own fans as special persons of privilege beyond the law.

Does God condone or is he away or doesn't he care? A French peasant woman said in the midst of war which was tearing her country apart, "Le bon Dieu! le bon Dieu! Ah! le bon Dieu est en permission!" God is on vacation!

The Psalm writer suggests a direct and blunt action to start with. Go to the source with complaints. God is a spirit and therefore unseen, but if you think he is hiding, go in the way he has provided and keep talking to him about it.

Admit also that there are still a few mysteries in this universe which God has not yet chosen to let us in on. Some of his ways are "past finding out." If he says now and then, "So far, but no farther!" then that is his right.

Even in times when God seems hidden he does not leave us alone. We are placed in families for mutual support. We can be aware of God's presence in the most solitary situation. Admiral Byrd at the South Pole after a lonely monoxide scare wrote, "The universe is not dead. Therefore there is an intelligence there, and it is all-pervading. Though I am cut off from human beings I am not alone."

For Christian descendants of the ancient Psalmist there is another discloser of God, one who is called "God with Us" or Immanuel. When we wonder where God is or if he is, this Immanuel says, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father also."

Mrs. Elizabeth Neeb, a resident of Clarkston, departed San Francisco recently for an Orient and South Pacific Mission Tour. The tour group visited Christian missions and saw missionaries at work in Japan, Hong Kong, Taiwan, The Philippines, Australia and the Fiji Islands. The highlight of the tour was a special trip into the heart of New Guinea.

Know Your Points!

BEBA Bill says:

A conviction for improper turning places 2 points on your driving record. For a correct right turn, the driver should position his car in the lane nearest the right-hand curb or road edge. To turn left, the driver should position his car in the lane nearest the right-hand side of the center line. Conviction for failure to give proper signals also is a 2-point offense. Signals are required when moving into traffic lane from a parked position, turning, starting or stopping.
