Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

I've had a lot of luck with dogs. All bad. We did have one mongrel fairly well trained in St. Johns, but apartment dwelling in Oxford forced us to part with him.

After we moved into our house, I waited until Hazel went out of town and took the kids out to look at a litter of beagles. We returned with one, which was the purpose of the visit in the first place.

I always liked beagles. They're gentle and can even accompany me on hunting trips, I reasoned. After a couple of years our beagle bit someone.

I also had an Irish Setter. A real beauty with spirit untamed. He learned to snatch purses from high school girls and I learned to get along without him.

Then I picked a Brittany, also noted for its gentleness. It bit a neighbor boy and cost my insurance company $500. Goodbye, Brittany!

I reasoned that all these dogs' faults were because they were kept tied. I used this approach plus the old standby of "kids shouldn't grow up without a dog" to talk Hazel into a black Labrador.

Because I'm not as smart as a dog, I didn't want a puppy to train. I was successful in getting a reject from the Leader Dog for the Blind School in Rochester. It was rejected because it was so affectionate. Mr. Pockington told me.

Indeed it is affectionate. We now have nine more affectionate dogs. Julie actually had 11, but two met an early death.

But such a delight. Even Hazel is convinced kids shouldn't grow up without a dog now. Luan, 13, just squealed with excitement when she called to tell us of the births. She discovered the litter when there were only seven.

Susan, 8, keeps checking to see that the pups, they're all solid black, are lined up to the spigots. And, if she gets no further in math, at least she can count to 9 ... several times a day.

Jim, 16, too is in frequent contact with the "family." He's always been the roughhouse one with Julie, but he's sure gentle now.

Being a lover of dogs from way back on the farm days, the pups are a source of real joy to me. You've all loved a puppy, haven't you? First you have his filled belly in the Early vote asked on rezonings

With the deadline passed for getting propositions on the November 3 ballot, the earliest date Independence voters can expect to see an election on rezonings is in January.

The law requires 30 days for registration and 30 days' notice for an election. Thus 60 days is a minimum. A February voting date might be more realistic.

Three petitions are now before township clerk Howard Altman. The first calls for a vote to overturn a township board rezoning decision involving a 17 acre parcel on Waldon opposite Almond Lane.

The second petition concerns the rezoning of Waterford Hill Golf Course for a shopping center and multiple dwellings. The third asks for a vote on a trailer park rezoning on Clintonville road.

Last Tuesday night William Gershenson, through his attorney Jerome Hirsh, offered to waive objection to any names on the petition involving the golf course property if it would allow putting the matter on the November 3 ballot.

Attorneys representing Waterford Hill home owners, Richard Campbell and Robert Carr, said this wasn't possible under present law ... that everyone in the township would have to waive objection. Township attorney Paul Mandel had told supervisor Duane Hursfall the same thing earlier in the day.

Then Hirsh asked the township board to put the question before the people as soon as possible. February was mentioned.

palm of your hand, next you put his soft, furry head on your cheek.

You smell the distinctive puppy breath, they all smell the same, and its tongue comes out to lick your nose. Such affection and warmth.

Goodness, gracious. I forgot my age for a minute. I wish it had been longer.

During the discussion of this subject, Gerald Anderson, who had originally asked for the rezoning of the Waldon Road property, said he would withdraw the law suit that is stopping verification of petitions by the township clerk, if this vote could come at the same time as the Gershenson vote.

He did not repeat the offer later and has not withdrawn the suit. His comments at the meeting were not made as part of the meeting.

The Township Board assured people involved in the petitions that they would call an election as soon as they felt it was legally possible.

Howard Altman, Independence Township Clerk, accepts 149 petitions bearing 2,372 signatures from Mrs. Marie Brendle and Gary Stonerock. The petitions request a referendum on the proposed Kaplan-Singer Mobile Home Park, Case No. 129, located on Clintonville Road. The property abuts I-75 on the south. These petitions are the 3rd set to be submitted in the past 6 months.

Local soldier killed in Vietnam

H. Lee MacDonald, Specialist 4 with the United States Army, died on September 15 at Camp Zama, Japan. MacDonald died of shrapnel and gunshot wounds received in Vietnam when the helicopter carrying his platoon to an area of heavy enemy activity was hit by ground fire two weeks ago.

The 20-year-old soldier had returned at his request on June 21 to Vietnam after a month's furlough.

MacDonald graduated from Clarkston High School with the class of 1968.

Surviving are his parents, Mrs. Martha E. MacDonald of Church Street and Robert H. MacDonald of Royal Oak; his grandmothers, Mrs. Margaret Slocum of Santa Monica, California and Mrs. Ida P. MacDonald of Royal Oak; his sister, Mrs. George Ledegar of Bay Shore, New York and his brother, Richard D. MacDonald of Fort Worth, Texas.

Funeral services were conducted from the Sharpe-Goyette Funeral Home on September 15 by Captain Richard C. Johnson. Burial with full military honors was in Lakeview Cemetery.

Hold pep rally

A football pep rally will be held at the football field at Clarkston High School on Thursday night at 8:30.

"Come out and meet the team," said coach Rakow. "The cheerleaders will be there and we are hoping that the school band will be able to make an appearance."

The rally will be open to everyone. It is hoped that the encouragement of the fans will set the team up for their league opener with Bloomfield Andover on Friday night.

The Wolves won their first game against Oxford by a score of 27 to 20.

Twp. backs addiction center

By Jim Sherman

There are only the extremes of probation and jail for drug addicts who are apprehended and taken to court.

This was the statement of District Court Judge Kenneth Hempstead as he appeared before the Independence Township Board Tuesday night. He was supporting a request from RAP for Independence involvement in a Halfway house.

RAP stands for Residents' Awareness Program, Inc.

A Halfway house, which in this case will be called an Awareness House, is a place where addicts can receive help. It also serves in other areas such as providing programs for dispensing addict information and working with families of drug dependent persons, but would be primarily an out-patient center.

Tom Raguso, president of RAP, asked the Independence Board for a resolution saying they favored such a rehabilitation program. The Board did this; however, Raguso was not in a position, he said, to ask specific financial support. He said his committee was currently preparing figures and would be back within a week.

He said the RAP plan was to buy a building in Waterford, the Webster School on Pontiac Lake Road for $20,000, and spread their operational fund needs among 4 neighboring townships: Waterford, Independence, Springfield and White Lake.

There is already an agreement on the school price. This would be the Awareness House. Operating monies are estimated to be $35,000 to $40,000 a year after the first year, when they guess $55,000 will be needed, excluding the school costs.

Raguso said Oakland County had promised financial assistance once the 4 townships agreed to participate. Their grant would be about 30 percent.

The Awareness house would be operated by former addicts. It would be copied after Phoenix House in New York and 2 from its staff would come to Oakland to set up the program.

"The thought is," Raguso said, "that ex-addicts can best deal with the problems of addiction and drug abuse if Judge Hempstead's support of the RAP program was almost an appeal. He cited cases of addiction that have been in his court and told of his almost-every-night work on promoting the Awareness House program.

Besides gaining financial support through the county and townships, the latter on a per capita basis, the RAP Committee expects to launch a mailing campaign soliciting gifts and approaching clubs and businesses for donations.

Limit crowds to 2,000 in Independence

A rather extensive ordinance covering outdoor gatherings in Independence will go into effect 30 days after this date. It was passed by the Township Board at their last meeting and is printed in this issue of the News.

The law, modeled after one proposed by Governor William Milliken, is designed to license, regulate and control the assembling of more than 2,000 people.

Among the various areas covered by the ordinance are security facilities, disposal systems, medical, food, and lighting arrangements, noise, insurance and swimming.

The new law includes, but is not limited to, the licensing and control of assemblages in the interest of public health, safety and welfare of township citizens. Assemblages mentioned are musical, rock and peace festivals.

Penalties are provided for violators of this ordinance.

Your coho and chinook fishermen will be off to the lakes soon if they haven't gone already. Michigan State University sent me some tips on getting the salmon from the lake to plate so you can get the most enjoyment out of the catch.

1. Clean salmon thoroughly as quickly after catching as possible.
2. Protect them from strong odors, such as motor fuel.
3. Place the salmon in ice or in a cooler but not in standing water.
4. Shield them from air and direct sunlight and refrigerate as soon as possible.
5. Don't manhandle the fish. Salmon are among the soft-fleshed fishes and can be badly bruised in handling.
6. For eating, if you have a choice, select the younger fish. The outside scale color of the fish is bright silver in the quality fish. Dark tan or brown coloring indicates poorer flesh quality.
7. Superior quality fish are generally caught in spring and early summer. Younger fish contain lower levels of pesticide residues.
8. The salmon family store up fat in certain parts of the body. These fats contain off-flavors and pesticide residues so they should be carefully removed. The 3 major fat areas are the belly-flap, the back-fat strip and the thin layer just under the body skin.
9. Only the highest quality fish should be frozen. Old and fatty fish will deteriorate more rapidly than young, early-season and well-cleaned fish. All air should be removed from the package before freezing.

Now that you have the fish all ready to be cooked why not send us your favorite method of cooking them. We would like to pass it on to other readers.

I'm really not a fussy eater but fish is not my favorite; so while you are dreaming of a gorgeous salmon steak or dish I will whip up a Sukiyaki (a Japanese dish) that would be more to my fancy.

SUKIYAKI

- 1 pound round steak
- ¼ cup oil
- 1 cup green pepper strips
- 1 cup diagonally sliced celery
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms (or canned caps)
- ½ cup coarsely chopped onion
- 1 (1-pound) can bean sprouts, drained
- 1 (5-ounce) can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ginger (optional)
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1½ tablespoons corn starch
- 1 cup bouillon (beef)
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce

Cut steak diagonally across the grain into thin slices, then cut into strips 2 inches long. Heat oil in skillet over medium heat. Add meat; brown on all sides. Stir in green pepper, celery, mushrooms, onion, bean sprouts, water chestnuts, salt, ginger, and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly about 3 minutes or just until tender. Mix together corn starch, bouillon and soy sauce; stir into skillet mixture. Bring to boil. Makes 6 servings.

The Japanese (and I had better add the Dutch people of Indonesia) who originated this concoction usually cook it right at the table. So don't get carried away and cook it so long that it loses its fresh, crisp appeal.

This recipe was contributed by Rieko Tsukahara, an exchange student at CHS from the Youth for Understanding Program. Her home is in Tokyo, Japan. This is the way she likes to prepare Sukiyaki.

Sukiyaki

- Few small pieces beef suet
- 1 pound beef tenderloin, sliced paper thin

- (across the grain)
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- ½ cup soy sauce
- ½ cup beef stock or canned condensed beef broth
- 2 cups 2-inch lengths bias-cut green onions
- 1 cup 2-inch bias-cut celery slices
- ½ cup thinly sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1 5-ounce can (2/3 cup) water
- 1 5-ounce can (2/3 cup) slivered or diced bamboo shoots, drained
- 5 cups small spinach leaves
- 1 1-pound can bean sprouts, drained

Just before cooking time, arrange meat and vegetables attractively on large platter or tray. Have small container of sugar, monosodium glutamate, soy sauce and beef stock handy. Use chopsticks or big spoon and fork.

Preheat large (12-inch) skillet or oriental saucepan; add suet and rub over bottom and sides to grease. When you have about 2 tablespoons melted fat, remove suet. Add beef and cook briskly, turning it over and over, 1 or 2 minutes or just 'til browned.

Now sprinkle meat with sugar and monosodium glutamate; pour soy sauce and beef stock over. Push meat to one side. Let soy sauce bubble. Keeping in separate groups, add onions, celery and mushrooms. Continue cooking and toss - stirring each group over high heat about 1 minute; push to one side. Keeping in separate groups, add remaining vegetables in order given. Cook and toss - stir each food just until heated through.

Let guests help themselves to some of everything, including sauce. Serve with rice.

Note: for more batches, leave remaining sauce in pan and add soy sauce, beef stock and seasoning by guess.

Incumbents earn return

By Jim Sherman

Seldom will this newspaper support or urge non-support of candidates for local office, village, township, schools. For the most part candidates submit their names and wait for the popularity contest to be over. At times voters have only one choice for office, thus a newspaper's urging is for naught.

However, this season there is a stirring for removal of elected township officials. It's a good year for it. Four of the 5 are up for re-election.

To give those of opposite views opportunity to use this paper's letters to the editor column for rebuttal, we are submitting our preferences for these offices early.

We favor returning the incumbents.

Three zoning votes by the Board in the past few months have apparently sparked a move to turn out men who have suddenly become rascals after a dozen years of service or more. We heard almost no talk of dissent until this year.

The vast majority of people crowding board meetings recently has been on the minority side of the 3 to 2 votes favoring rezoning of the 3 parcels that have prompted petitions.

They probably feel that the majority of the township feels as they do. That's what makes for election bets. That's what makes happy winners and unhappy losers.

But those voting in the majority know they have more support than shows up at meetings and those voting in the minority know they have more opposition than is in attendance.

In our observations of over 4 years we'd say Independence Township is a smooth running branch of government. These men in charge know their jobs well and see that their duties of office are carried out.

There are the usual calls out of "It's time for a change." The only time to make a change is when a change is needed. We see no need to change supervisors. If he were not a strong man he would have let the zoning decisions lie on the table instead of pushing board action. When asked why he did it Duane said, "I'm not made that way. It was right that we voted on these matters. Both sides deserved an answer. If it's a bad move, politically, so be it."

Duane Hursfall has done many, many outstanding things for the people of Independence Township. He should be supported.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Pardon my interdiction

By Jim Fitzgerald

There wouldn't be so much campus unrest if there were more interdiction at the generation gap.

You maybe don't understand that sentence. But I like to keep this column typically topical. Everybody talks about campus unrest here, interdiction there, and the generation gap everywhere. What am I supposed to write about, the League of Nations and Knute Rockne?

When I lived on a campus there was always a bunch of guys getting drunk and putting No Parking signs in the shower. Or they hollered around the girls' dormitory, asking for silk panties when they really wanted something else. Or they snake-danced through town, blocking traffic and bugging merchants.

Mostly, I used to flop in bed and listen to all that noise outside. Or I would retreat to a lovely tavern that sold 10 cent beer. It was frequented by war-weary veterans who had no energy for yanking up parking signs. We often discussed the young nuts who were throwing rolls of toilet paper at each other so as to help Michigan State beat Notre Dame at football the next morning.

But I can't remember anyone saying: "My, there is a lot of unrest on the campus tonight."

These were the recuperation years following World War 2 but already there was trouble starting in Korea. Another thing I never heard said in that lovely tavern was: "Boy, somebody better interdict those Koreans or the first thing you know, somebody is going to interdict us."

Another thing often discussed over that cheap beer was how come our fathers didn't send us knowledgable or conscientious Township Clerk in Michigan. Surely, he stands extremely high in conducting affairs of his office. His is the most responsible job, legally, in the township and he responds as perfectly as possible.

Harold Bauer is an outstanding township trustee, of whom township residents can be glad they had his service.

Ken Johnson, though a relatively silent man on the Township Board, gets his job of treasurer done better than most. He, too, has many years of service to the township.

The month of October will be filled with charges, counter-charges, plain hog wash, and political wrangling. Mostly, we will see these carryings on at the state and national level, but rumors have started about township candidates.

We ask that residents listen well, remember good and vote wise.

A birthday luncheon was held in honor of Kathy Taylor at her home last Saturday. Those attending were Sandy Podger, Paula Parker, Barb Bullard, Janet Spangler, Sharon Gotschall, Judy Sourby, Sally Morgan, Shirley Bauer, Sue Jackson, Sheryl Miller, Barb Buzzell and Ann Wignall. The girls had a good time eating and talking.

Things are a lot uglier today, but the words are prettier. You don't kill the enemy; you interdict him. There's not a bunch of violent jerks destroying and disrupting on the campus. That's just unrest. And that's not bitter hate and disrespect between long-haired, turned-on Junior and his racist, Wasp father. It's only a gap.

Years ago I had a boss who, my first day at work, said an uncommonly wise thing. "Let's always have plain talk between us," he said.

Or how come our fathers couldn't understand why we were studying to become writers and bullfighters, like Ernest Hemingway, rather than merchants and carpet salesmen, like our fathers.

But I can't remember even 1 guy saying, "The trouble is that we have a generation gap."

I think it is ironic that, in 1947, we never said any of these words that everyone is saying now.

Panty raids and snake dances were pretty harmless things, especially when you look at today's Kent State and bombed libraries. The "police action" in Korea was a family brawl

Twp. asks police millage

One mill for 10 years for police service. In short form, that's what eligible voters in Independence Township will find on their November 3 ballot.

To be eligible to vote on this proposition or in this General Election, you must be registered to vote by October 2. This last day the clerk will take registrations to 8 p.m. An ad in this issue tells other special registration hours.

Should the millage increase pass in Independence, the Board could establish a police department and/or provide police protection service through contract.

One mill would raise about $58,000, according to clerk Howard Altman. One mill is $1.00 per $1,000 assessed valuation and applies to both real and personal property.

Only voters in the unincorporated (not Clarkston residents) portion of the Township are eligible to cast ballots. The Village has a police department and has not asked for a millage vote to establish one. Since the Village hasn't reached its millage limitation, a vote would not be required should the Council wish to be included with a Township police service.

Independence voters turned down a police establishing proposition Sept. 18, 1967, 349 to 212. 561, 11 percent, voted.

Quick Twp. Board Notes

A traffic and water complaint has been brought to the Township Board's attention by residents of Green Acres. The problem, they said, has been created by the grading in the Deerfield Farms Subdivision.

The Board approved a tri-part agreement on construction of lateral sewers. The Township, County and County DPW signed the contract which will cover laying of lines for collecting sewerage within Independence.

There will be a public hearing on putting lights the length of Peach Street in the Clarkston Gardens subdivision October 20 at the regular meeting of the Board.

People who own small acreage in Section 6, who did not object, had their land rezoned to Suburban Farms from Agriculture Tuesday night. It was done through Board vote following recommendation of the Planning Commission.

The Planning Commission was asked to study and make recommendations on an ordinance to cover shopping centers in whatever way possible. Some residents referred to what they called "unsightly" appearance of the center at M-15 and Dixie in making their request to the Board for a new ordinance.

About 5 "hazardous" buildings in the Township have been ordered demolished by the Township. Costs are to be assessed against the property. The Township gained the power to remove hazardous buildings through an ordinance passed earlier this year.

Assumptions

Shel George

It doesn't pay to second guess or jump to conclusions. Too often you don't have a happy landing. I overheard the following conversation recently in a neighborhood ice cream store.

One of the waitresses came in carrying a paper bag in her hand. She spotted a male friend sitting at a table enjoying a soda.

"Hi Dave."

"Hi Karen."

"Wanna see the new dress I just bought?" and she proceeded to open the bag.

"No."

I haven't seen such a surprised facial expression since Grandma sat on her false teeth and bit herself. The poor girl stood there for a few moments rather dumbfounded. Her friend continued to eat his treat, so she turned, closed the bag up and disappeared into the back.

My kids are learning not to assume too much. At least they had a chance to learn last week. Whether or not they took advantage of it remains to be seen.

We took an excursion to Cedarland. That's a poor man's compromise between Disneyland and Cedar Point. The end result is similar (good clean entertainment and you're broke when you leave) but it isn't so far away.

It all started out with a beautiful sunny day. This of course makes you more excited and full of anticipation about all the "fun and rides" you can have.

Believe me, we rode all we had time for and some more than once. First off we took the "wetting down" on the Old Mill Log ride. Then came the Pirates Cave and the Sky Ride. We used to call the latter the roller coaster. You should have seen how brave the adults were in front of the kids. It's a great feeling to reach out and grab your stomach on that first drop.

The Sky Lift to Frontier Land was my favorite. Once you were up, the quietness and breeze were both welcomed. It made me want to take up gliding. It must be a strange but exhilarating experience to soar high above everything without the aid of engines or noise.

We polished off the day by eating lots of "junk" and squeezing in as many more rides and trips through the Fun House as possible.

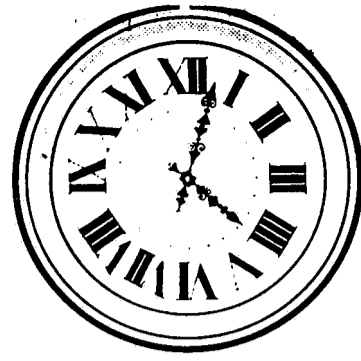

Finally when the whole anatomy was aching for rest, and the billfold could be squeezed no more, we called it a day.

One of the kids said, "Daddy, WHEN we come back, I want to ride such and such again."

Here's where they should have learned not to assume too much. I patted the empty billfold, stretched my aching body and replied, "What do you mean 'WHEN,' it's 'IF.'"

Starting about mid-August every year, old Eff starts to moan about how it won't be long before I'll be glued to the "BOOB TUBE" watching football games.

Long as we've been married, I maybe once or twice grumbled a little about her hen parties when all the biddies from miles around gather at our house to play pinochle.

At least they claim that's why the clan gathers, but sure is funny to sit out in the kitchen and listen to 20 or so of 'em cackling all at the same time. Don't know how they ever get around to cards at all, and fact is, when I pass through the room and see every female at a table talking simultaneously, I don't know what good it does to even hand out juicy gossip if nobody listens.

Fact is, I figure it don't do 'em much harm and long as the "did you hear" yak-yak don't get too mean, it's maybe no worse than men at penny-ante poker.

So I figure Eff gets her kicks from the

"If you got to watch those poor boys try to maim each other," old Eff tells me, "please turn down the noise to about the volume of a police siren at five feet."

Fact is I already got her turned down so I can bare hear it, but I'll go through the motions of going over to the set and first turning it up just a mite and then turning it back down to where she was.

"Better?" I ask her and likely as not, at that minute somebody breaks away for a fifty-yard run with the announcer fair screaming, "Look at him go!"

"Guess you must have just a taste for blood," Eff snorts. "Admit you just sit there waiting for some poor boy to get knocked out cold."

Almost tempts me to watch grand opera just to get Effie's goat, but somebody tole me the opera season is about the same time as football.

The Board of Independence Township finds and declares that the interests of the public health, safety and welfare of the citizens of Independence Township require the regulation, licensing and control of assemblages of large numbers of people in excess of those normally drawing upon the health, sanitation, fire, police, transportation, utility and other public services regularly provided in this Township.

Section 2. Definitions.

a. "Outdoor Assembly," hereinafter referred to as "assembly" means any event, attended by more than 2,000 attendants, all or any part of which includes a theatrical exhibition, public show, display, entertainment, amusement or other exhibition, including, but not limited to musical festivals, rock festivals, peace festivals or similar gatherings, but does not mean:

Summer highlights

By Polly Hanson

The summer is over, but the memories won't cease for eleven students from Clarkston High School. Along with our sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGrath, we traveled through six European countries: the Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, France and Belgium. Those twenty-three days will surely be remembered for as long as we live.

On July 14, everyone assembled at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport. Mr. and Mrs. McGrath began to breathe easier when they saw that everyone was there: Kyle Anderson, Carla Dutcher, Ron Gilbert, Christie Harrison, Sherry Hinton, Carol Humbert, Brianne Jenks, David LePere, Tim Preseau, Rodell Sage and myself.

We were all very eager to board our plane, but we were disappointed by an hour's delay in our flight schedule. Finally, we got started, and were soon on our way to New York City and Kennedy International Airport.

All too soon we were landing and approaching the American Airlines terminal. Once inside, we anxiously waited to claim our baggage. Finally, we were told that our bags were being loaded on our KLM flight to Amsterdam.

If only we had been able to claim our luggage before it was loaded! Then we would have realized that we didn't have the same number of bags that we started out with.

After a short transfer ride, we were in the KLM (Royal Dutch Airlines) terminal.

In a short time it was announced that we could board our plane, and eagerly we did so.

For some strange reason the Dutch people are compelled to start feeding you the minute that you walk on the plane.

If you are inclined to being airsick, you can imagine how much this helps. You begin searching for the little paper bags before the plane has ever left the ground.

The lights of New York City were soon left behind us as we began our long flight across the Atlantic Ocean. Somehow we just couldn't imagine that when we stepped off the plane we would be in Europe.

After an eventful night of sleeplessness, the "fasten seat belt" lights went on and the red-tile roofs of Amsterdam came into view.

Since we had to be in Cologne, Germany by evening, it was imperative that we get our luggage and board our bus as soon as possible.

Porters hurriedly piled suitcases onto hand carts, so we had to guess if they were our bags or not.

Sherry Hinton and David LePere didn't see their bags among those on the carts.

Our guide reassured them that the bags would be found and they would surely receive them within 2 or 3 days at the most.

(Note: to make a long story short, Sherry did not receive her suitcase until July 27, and at this writing, David has not yet received his tote-bag.)

I been sick

by Jean Sura

Summer is officially over. I have a cold. Nobody would believe me yesterday when I said that I didn't feel well.

"Just ornery!" That's what they said.

I will have to admit that I couldn't pin the symptoms down at the time.

First of all, I was hungry and nothing tasted good. It was over ninety degrees and I was comfortable in a long sleeved dress.

"I really think that I'm coming down with something," I persisted. "I just had a pain in my chest. Maybe it's the old heart."

"You can't abuse yourself like you do on weekends and not feel bad on Monday," said one unsympathetic soul.

The rest ignored me completely.

Despite the kindness of my cohorts and companions, I made it through the day. When I got home I made myself some milk toast. (That's a real sign that I'm sick. When I was a kid we always got milk-toast if we were ailing.)

My husband showed a modicum of sympathy by settling for a tomato and lettuce sandwich for dinner. Of course, he wasn't hungry, but I appreciated his gesture even if he sighed a lot while he was eating.

Along about this time, I sneezed. Not a serious sneeze, just one of those polleny kind. That did it. My eyes started to water. My nose ran and I got a tickle in my throat.

"Oh, no you don't," I wailed. You can't get a cold on Monday, not in September. I'll get right after this bug."

So the purge began.

First of all, the mental attitude had to be set. "I don't have time for a cold!" I thought. "I don't have a cold," I repeated under my breath. There was no improvement.

"I don't have a cold," I said in my most determined fashion. There was still no improvement. "I DON'T HAVE A COLD," I yelled. Just then I sneezed three more times. The power of positive thinking had failed. I would have to try another approach.

I took a handful of vitamin tablets, both A and D. I ate some fresh fruit, drank quantities of water, orange and tomato juice and jumped in bed for some "bed rest." I would cure this thing nature's way.

By two o'clock in the morning, I was wandering around the house in a delirium. By three I had taken aspirin, I had sprayed my nose, I had greased my chest with some evil smelling stuff, I had taken lozenges, histamines and anti-histamines. I wore an ice pack on my neck.

The only thing that saved me from a raw potato poultice or a mustard plaster was that I couldn't find the ingredients in my weakened condition.

I got back in bed. "Bed rest," every doctor will tell you. "is the answer."

If I lay on my back, my throat hurt and I had to cough. If I lay on my stomach my nose ran. In desperation I propped myself up on the couch.

Months went by.

"Good morning, dear," cheeruped old you-know-who coming down, all dressed for work, slick and shiny from his shower. "I see you are up and off to an early start. Feeling better, huh? That's good. Have a good day."

Now tell me. If you were on the jury, would you consider this a case of justifiable homicide?

"Aaaaaa-choo. Excuse me. I have to get a fresh handkerchief. No, not for my nose. It's to dry my tears of self pity."

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

The Board of Education
 Clarkston Community Schools
 Clarkston, Michigan

We have examined the balance sheets of the General Fund, Debt Retirement Fund, and the Building and Site Fund of CLARKSTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS and the Northwest Oakland County Vocational Center, as of June 30, 1970, and the related statements of revenues and expenditures for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The statements have been prepared, as in prior years, on the "modified accrual basis of accounting". Under this method, generally, revenues are recognized at the time they become receivable and expenditures are recognized when incurred. An exception to this rule is the purchase of transportation equipment, the cost of which is not recognized as an expenditure until payment is made; when transportation equipment is acquired on contract, only the current payments are recognized as expenditures during the year. Also, on the modified accrual basis, inventories on hand at June 30, and the related accounts payable for supplies applicable to the following year are not reflected in the balance sheet.

Our examination did not extend to the child accounting records of the school system. However, State school aid payments which are based on such records were confirmed by us directly with the State authorities. We also inspected a letter from the County superintendent of schools which stated that the child accounting records had been audited during the period and found to be correct and to comply with the laws of the State of Michigan.

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheets and statements of revenues and expenditures present fairly the financial position of Clarkston Community Schools at June 30, 1970 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting practices generally followed by Michigan school districts as set forth in Bulletin 1022 issued by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Armchair travels

By Pat Beach

We, (Elizabeth Ronk, Fran Stewart and Pat Beach) traveled in deluxe armchair style in our drawing room aboard the Canadian Pacific Railroad as we headed for Western Canada and the Canadian Rockies. The food and service aboard the train was excellent and the scenery along the way was particularly awesome when observed from the domed car.

Our rooms at the famous Banff Springs Hotel overlooked the Bow River Valley and the surrounding panorama of mountains. The town was an ideal place for shopping, so we took care of that responsibility and got our souvenirs early.

The walk to town was just one mile and we encountered a different mountain vista at every turn.

Fran was the only one who braved a Gondola lift ride to the top of Mt. Norquay. Elizabeth and Pat stayed below and entertained the "Parky" squirrels.

Johnson Canyon impressed us with its green color. More plant life grows on the side of the canyon than most of the bare rocky canyons we had found in the area. We took a leisurely stroll along the canyon before tea at the teahouse.

After four days in Banff we proceeded to Lake Louise. At the Chateau we found the same courtesy and good food that we enjoyed from the start of our trip. College students, hired by the railroad for the summer season, gave the place an atmosphere of health and happiness.

Victoria Glacier at Lake Louise was breathtaking at any time of day. It is probably one of the most photographed spots on the North American Continent and the color and beauty of the glacier, reflected in the turquoise colored water, cannot be overstated.

We got up at sunrise to see the glacier pink in the early morning rays. Though the glacier seemed very close, we discovered that the distance was deceiving when we walked along the lake path.

On the trip from Lake Louise to Jasper

Park Lodge we got very brave and even worked up the courage to look out of the bus window, straight down into the deep gorges.

The trip took 8 hours traveling up mountains and down into the valleys. Lunch was served at the Ice Fields of the Athabasca Glacier. We rode the snowmobile out onto the glacier and found it to be, (as Elizabeth said), "Unbelievable."

We enjoyed the sightseeing and boat trip to Maligne Canyon, Whistlers' Mountain and Maligne Lake.

The weather during our two week stay was warm and sunny, ideal for our purpose and comfort. We particularly enjoyed the profusion of flowers that formed masses of color to add to the beauty and a contrast to the snowy mountain tops.

Relaxing in the armchair comfort of our train we returned to Toronto and then home - with pleasant memories.

Junior golfers end season

The Junior Golf League at the Waterford Hill Golf Course completed a successful season last week when they held their fun day and banquet and presented the annual awards.

The officers in the 8 to 15-year-old Par 3 League were president, Tim Thomson and secretary, Stephanie Altman.

The Teen Golf League which played the regulation 9 holes ranged from 13 to 15 years old. Their officers were: president, Chipper Buehrig and secretary, Ken Johnson.

Both leagues golfed for 10 weeks.

Bill Berkhof, retired superintendent of schools from Mt. Clemens, was the guest speaker at the Clarkston Rotary on the 14th of September. The local club members enjoyed his message from Rotary International.

Wins golf trophy

While attending the recent convention of the Michigan Retail Hardware Association at Boyne Mountain Lodge, Boyne Falls, Evan (Jake) Leonard of Clarkston was presented a trophy for having had the longest drive on the 7,144 yard Boyne Alpine Championship Golf course — during a tournament held by the convention.

Mr. Leonard's measured drive was 299 yards on the well trapped, difficult 16th - 426 yard - par 4 hole.

Jake was asked in an interview if he were considering going on tour next year. Jake replied that he would stick with his local weekend type golfing friends in Clarkston.

Spiritual Message

FROM

Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe

CALVARY LUTHERAN CHURCH

For Jesus said: "Beware of practicing your piety before men in order to be seen by them; . . . pray to your Father who is in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you."

St. Matthew 6:1,6

School is like life. You're in it whether you like it or not. You have to work hard to achieve. There are books to furnish information, and people to guide you. There are grades, or plateaus, to be reached. And now and then there are awards, if we persevere.

But there are differences too. In life there are no report cards. There is no way to flunk out. There is no graduation ceremony, at least not during life, as we know it.

So, in life each of us is on his own, so to speak. We can get help if we ask for it. We can share some experiences with others. But the real gut issues that face us, we face pretty much alone.

What we feel deep down inside is our secret. What we do for other men is no business but ours. The few who parade their good works in order to gain glory from men are soon found out for the hypocrites they are.

But the real saintly people are those who learn well from life, and who go about, doing their own work to the best of their ability. They are not worried about being tops in their class. They aren't bothered by the fact that other people are the cut-ups who get all the attention.

They are content to live as God directs them, serving those they can, and praying for those they cannot. And in the end their "homework" pays off.

Cross country team tames Orion Dragon

By Craig Moore

Lake Orion's cross country team was defeated by the Clarkston squad 15-47 on September 15 as the Clarkston runners took the first five places.

Fred Seyler with a 13:24 time was first. Running second was Gerry Baker, clocked at 13:25. Third was Dan Dankert, running 13:34. Kurt Karlson, clocked at 13:45, was fourth and Blair Warren, placing fifth, ran the distance in 14:35.

Other competing Clarkston runners were Pat Haumphreys, seventh, time 14:48 and Brian Bissell, clocked at 15:31, ran ninth.

Fourteen competing runners ran a two and a half mile course.

The Clarkston cross country team is looking forward to a winning season, according to coach Conrad Bruce.

Clarkston High School's cross country team added a second place feather in its bonnet on September 19 when they outran 13 Class A schools in the Holly Invitational.

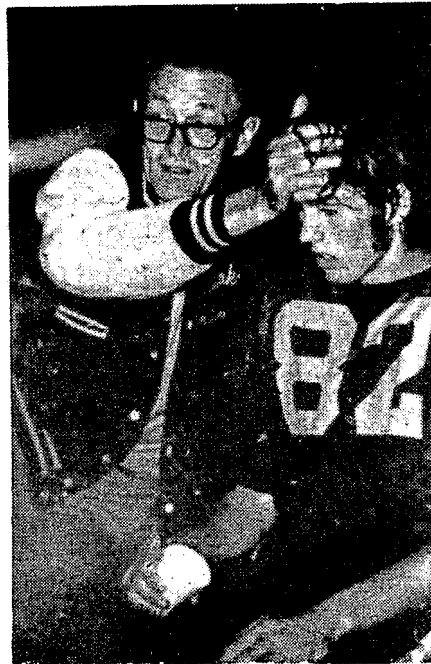

They finished behind Flint Kearsley. Trailing them was Howell.

Three Clarkston runners placed in the top 15 and were presented with trophies.

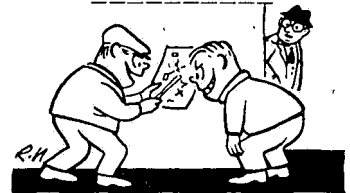

Fred Seyler placed 6th with a time of 13:09. Rick Svetkoff was 9th at 13:12 and Gerald Baker placed 15th with a time of 13:20.

"The boys are getting stronger with every meet," said Conrad Bruce, coach. "I'm convinced that they have tremendous potential."

The next big meet will be the Oakland University Invitational on September 29.

FLU — In the first half of the Clarkston vs. Oxford game Friday night, Kurt Richardson, No. 82, ran for 2 touchdowns of 70 yards each. He didn't get to play the second half. During halftime Kurt became violently sick. Dr. Robert Buehrig, above with Kurt, said it was the flu.

"Few children are guilty of thoughtless mischief; they plan it."

CRUNCH — Oxford quarterback Bill Biebuyck feels some of the defensive strength of the Wolves.

Wolves take opener

By Craig Moore

Look out for the Clarkston Wolves! Friday, September 18, they displayed their talents in a 27-20 win over Oxford.

The game got off to a slow start in the first quarter, but turned out to be a fierce battle for victory as the game progressed.

The Wolves' first score came when quarterback John Hux threw to Kurt Richardson. This run-pass play covered 70 yards and was the first of two Clarkston touchdowns in the second quarter. The extra point attempt failed.

Richardson's great interception of an Oxford pass and 74 yard run added another score for Clarkston. Rick Prasil ran for the two extra points, making the score at halftime, 14-0.

Oxford struck back in the third quarter when Rick Remstad ran 4 yards for the first Wildcat touchdown. Clarkston managed to stop the attempted run for extra points.

The Wolves then widened their lead to 15 points as Rick Prasil ran 30 yards from scrimmage to score and Tom Burton kicked for the extra point.

Oxford scored twice while Clarkston scored once in the last period.

Vern Neeson of Oxford ran 2 yards to score the first of the two. Oxford failed in an attempted extra point pass.

Prasil decided it was the Wolves' turn to score when he ran 55 yards for a TD. The extra point kick was no good.

Bill Biebuyck, the Oxford quarterback, passed to Dan Ludwig for a score. They teamed again for the extra point.

Although the Wildcats had the statistical advantage, Clarkston rose victorious. The Wolves had only 2 first downs, 1 rushing and 1 on penalty. Clarkston gained 121 yards rushing and 70 yards passing, intercepted 1 pass and punted 4 times with a 22.5 punting average. Clarkston was penalized 7 times, resulting in the loss of 70 yards.

Coach Paul Rakow exclaimed, "It was a real exciting game. We made a few mental mistakes, but we won the game and that's what counts! We hope this is just a start."

This Friday at 8 p.m. the Wolves go to Bloomfield Andover for their league opener.

Area teacher adopts Greek family

Thanks to a fine young heifer, a lot of hard work, and the hand of friendship, a struggling Greek family is looking forward to a brighter future.

The family is that of Nicholas Anastopoulos, who is sponsored by Miss Judith A. Ungvary, Clarkston, a Pontiac teacher. Miss Ungvary helps by contributing financially to the self-help program of Save the Children Federation (SCF), international child welfare organization with headquarters in Norwalk, Connecticut.

The heifer is the purchase the Anastopouloses made with their first year's sponsorship benefits. It has now become a full grown cow and will soon have a calf. They expect to sell the calf and a good quantity of milk for more than $150, a substantial amount in comparison with their total annual income.

In addition, encouraged by the sponsorship, the family worked harder than ever on their little acreage and with their livestock and managed to increase their flock of sheep to bring in added revenues.

At the same time that she is aiding the Anastopoulos family, Miss Ungvary is also helping the entire village of Prinos with a community development self-help project designed to help raise the standard of living of all the villagers. A portion of the sponsorship money goes into this aid.

The Anastopouloses are small farmers and sheepbreeders who live in the same little village of their birth. They have had a struggle to make ends meet over the years, and finally asked SCF for help so that they could educate their five children properly and see them into a productive adulthood.

They live in a primitive and decrepit old house which was severely damaged by earthquakes in 1954. It has only the barest minimum of furniture and there is no electricity and only primitive sanitary facilities.

They have 7½ acres of land which they cultivate in wheat, the staple item of their diet. Their animals are of inferior breed, but they work hard to care for them.

It is the aim of SCF sponsorships to help the recipients help themselves. They are never designed as "handouts" or charity, but rather as spurs to productive achievement.

For more than two decades SCF has assisted needy Greek children, their families and their communities, through the sponsorships and other self-help programs.

Founded in 1932, Save the Children Federation also aids children, their families, and communities in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, on the American Indian reservations, and in many countries abroad, through the self-help, child, family, community sponsorship program.

An individual, school or group interested in sponsoring a child should contact Save the Children Federation, Post Road, Norwalk, Connecticut 06852.

Miss Ungvary, who teaches biology and English at Pontiac Central High School, is a graduate of Ohio University. She was raised in Cleveland and makes her home in Clarkston.

Harvest moon shines on

Fall and spring for that matter - begin on Sept. 23 this year. It all depends on how, and where, you look at it, says University of Michigan astronomer Hazel Losh.

She notes that the sun will cross the equator on its way south at 5:59 a.m. on the 23rd. This event is called the autumnal equinox.

But while the crossing marks the beginning of fall for us, it also begins the first day of spring for those living south of the equator.

On that day, Prof. Losh observes, the sun will be above and below the horizon for the same amount of time. Yet, because of the bending effect of the atmosphere on sunlight, the sun can be seen a few minutes before it actually rises and a few minutes after it actually sets.

This optical effect will be balanced by the ever-shortening days on Sept. 26, when both day and night will seem of equal length.

Prof. Losh also notes that the annual Harvest Moon - the full moon occurring closest to the autumnal equinox - will first appear on Sept. 15.

Unlike full moons at other times of the year, Prof. Losh says the Harvest Moon rises at about the same time for several successive nights. This and the moon's unusually bright light make it a traditional aid to harvesters, she explains.

Building report

According to the report of the Independence Township Building Department, the value of building in the township during the month of August was $535,173.

This was an increase over July's $379,670 and last August's $447,737.

Forty permits were issued this year, the same number as were issued in August of '69.

The major factor that caused the increase was the beginning of construction on the $67,000 fire station.

The permits were issued as follows:

Needs sleep

Sept. 21, 1970

Dear Editor,

Because of the many dogs roaming the neighborhood in packs and raising cane (and sleepers) all night with their constant barking, I have decided to make an appeal. Would you please print the following in this week's News:

A little message to all irresponsible pet owners: DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR DOG IS?

Thank you.

GAME TRIP - Each time a Haupt Pontiac baseball team wins their league title they are treated to a Tiger game. Saturday they went again. That's their coach, Frank Wilson, on the right.
