

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Our need for more space to produce printing has been evident for some time, however, priorities have been placed elsewhere until now.

Increasing circulations of the Oxford Leader, Clarkston News and the Ad-vertiser plus the rise in commercial printing have combined to prompt the purchase of property to build anew.

The land I've purchased is south of Oxford village on the northwest corner of Oakdell and M-24. It seems to be a fine, accessible location for a newspaper and printing plant.

The thought has occurred to me recently that it is a wonder more small businesses don't have extreme financial losses as the management tries to work planning in with his daily routine and troubles.

Perhaps the reason such losses aren't incurred, if they aren't, is because it is exciting to make plans. Right now we are in the layout stage... trying to locate people and machines in the best position for an orderly flow from the front door to the back.

The size has been determined. It will be a 6,000 sq. ft. building, 100 x 60. We presently have a 2,000 sq. ft. plant.

The exterior will be left in the hands of my wife, Hazel, and the designer. Early American will be the basic theme, undoubtedly.

Inside, the hope is for space. I understand from others who have gone through building pains, that you never have enough room, but we should have... until I get hungry for more machines.

Machines have been my weakness since going into this business in 1955. I've changed newspaper presses three times and added to the present one once. I expect to add more to it, too.

We have Justwriters, IBM selectric composer system and Linotype for setting type like you're reading, two Headliners for setting larger type, five job printing presses, four addressing machines, cutters, a bundle tyer and more that aren't used regularly.

Of this list, and there is much more printing furniture in the joint, only the Linotype and one printing press have remained since I started.

I just like machines. Of course, the love affair between me and "Bottles for Building" collection this week

Bottles for Building Committee has finalized the plans for the first monthly glass collection. Trucks driven by interested citizens and manned by Boy Scouts will canvass the subdivisions on January 16, from 9 a.m. 'til 5 p.m. Twenty-seven areas will be covered: Birdland, Clarkston Gardens, Village, Green Acres, Eastlawn (both sides), Waterford Terrace, Ascension, Round Lake, Woodhull Lake, Clinton Villa Trailer Park, Pelton Road East, Cranberry Lake Estates, Cranberry Lake Road and Perry Lake Road, Clarkston Meadows, Northview, Deer Lake Road, Townsend Lake, Guyette and Spring Lake Subdivisions, Meyers Road area, Oak Park area, Dvorak area, Whipple Shores and Whipple Lake, Marconi and Dubeque area, Green Lakes Subdivision and Middle Lake Road area.

For residents living outside these areas, there will be drop off barrels on Saturday, January 16, from 9:00 'til 2 p.m. at Foodtown, A&P, the Firehall at Sashabaw and Orion Rds., Township Hall parking lot and Independence Commons shopping center. They will also be at the homes of Vic Kubani, 9619 Allen Rd.; John Belby, 4791 Mohawk; Gordon Bray, 9375 Pine Knob Rd. and Merle Plaggee, 9855 Rattalee Lake Rd.

Glass may also be taken to the loading site at Lakeland Builders' Supply on Dixie Hwy. just south of Hatchery Rd.

Bumper stickers reading "BOTTLES FOR BUILDING" in Independence Township may be obtained from committee members for 25c. The charge pays for the cost without profit.

In the event of hazardous driving conditions on January 16, all pickups and drop off spots will be open Saturday, January 23.

"Check the Clarkston News office window for bottles from famous Glass Grabbers," say committee members.

"It's not too early to start saving for next month's 'Bottles for Building' February drive," they add.

Deputy cleared in shooting

Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas G. Plunkett ruled that no criminal action will be filed against Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy, William Elliott, 36.

The announcement was made after an investigation of the January 2 shooting that occurred in front of the victim's, Roger Southerland's, home at 7058 Felix in Independence Township.

Southerland, 25, was struck in the head by a bullet fired from Elliott's service revolver after the deputy had responded to a call to investigate a fight.

When Elliott arrived, Southerland was standing with a shotgun near 2 men. He reportedly had tried to stop a fight between the two.

Captain Harry Maur of the Oakland

County Sheriff's Department, said that Elliott told Southerland to drop the weapon. When he refused, a struggle ensued. Southerland is in the intensive care unit at Pontiac General Hospital, where he is listed in serious condition.

them is greater when they are running. Over the same period the number of employees has increased from 3½ (including me) to 13 with two more part-time. Three of these are in the Clarkston office.

We did double the floor space in Oxford about 10 years ago, but there are few spaces left to squeeze into to allow a fellow worker to pass. All will be remedied with spacious new quarters, when they come, and we'll have room for dancing, merriment and work, I hope.

Board says "No 5th grade band"

The 5th grade band program will not be resumed in the Clarkston Schools this year.

This decision was reached by the Board of Education at its regular meeting on January 12.

Other possible avenues of providing instrumental music to children of this grade level will be studied for the future program.

Approval was granted by the Board for the purchase of a weight machine to augment the physical fitness programs in the high school. The Athletic Boosters' Club has volunteered to contribute $1,000 toward the $2,500 purchase price.

The Board also approved the expenditure of $40,764 for 3 new GMC bus chassis with Carpenter bodies. This would enable the district to maintain the school fleet at the necessary strength, to meet next year's requirements.

In a financial progress report, Dr. L. F.

Greene, Superintendent of Schools, reported that, to date, the school system has spent $150,000 less than the projected budget allotment.

Greene also reported that school administrators were investigating the acquisition of automatic emergency flood lights which were recommended by insurance companies.

He also informed the Board that repairs were presently being made on steam pipes that had become perforated after 40 years' service at the Clarkston Junior High School.

A resolution was passed by the Board to enter a contract with the Federal government for the loan of equipment for the new Vocational High School.

A letter from Mark A. Roy, protesting the amount of materials provided by the school district under the Michigan State Supreme Court ruling, was read to the Board.

Dr. Greene itemized what materials had been supplied and forwarded both letters to the State Board of Education.

In further action, tenure was granted to elementary teachers Sharon Bernle, Donna Dick and Diane Richards.

Recommendation was made by their principals, David Westlund and Lynn Jervis.

Parks and recreation offer adult activities

Adult recreation activities will be offered beginning January 18 by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission. Well-trained instructors will be assigned to all phases of the program.

These sessions will be held at the Waterford-Oaks Activities Center, 2800 Watkins Lake Rd. (between Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake Rds. in Waterford Township; immediately north of the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center).

Courses included in the program are: women's and men's physical fitness and exercise, ballroom and square dancing, dog obedience and golf.

Call 338-6196 for further information. Classes begin next week.

"Jaycee Week" will get underway locally on Bosses' Night, Thursday, January 21.

The annual celebration is a time set aside in the Jaycee calendar to familiarize the community with the various projects and activities that the organization sponsors throughout the year.

Two awards are made on Bosses' Night. The organization recognizes the boss who best supports the aims of his Jaycee employee, and the Distinguished Service Award will be presented to the young man of this area between the age of 21 and 35 who has contributed the most to the community during the past year.

Featured speaker at the Bosses' Night banquet will be the popular disc jockey, Dick Purtan, from radio station WXYZ.

Married and the father of 4 daughters, Purtan has fulfilled his childhood ambition to become a radio personality. His early morning show doesn't exclude anyone from the sting of his put-on satire.

His followers consider him an institution in Detroit and environs. They say his day-today, tongue-in-cheek irreverence for personalities and institutions, his off-beat sports reports, his "Secretary of the Day," and his wild wake-up calls to anyone, anywhere have made him a popular listening post for morning travelers and a conversation piece at the breakfast table.

All area men are invited to the stag event, which will be held at the Old Mill Tavern. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will follow at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets, at $5, are available at Ronk's Barber Shop, Gordie's Barber Shop and at the Clarkston Sporting Goods store.

Community no garbage can

"It is incredible to think we can continue to be a 'use it, throw it away and forget it' society. Our natural resource base cannot withstand continued exploitation and we can no longer look upon our air, water and land resources as a bottomless garbage can."

These words were spoken by Henry L. Diamond, environmental conservation director for the Office of Recovery, Recycling and Reuse in New York State. The agency is attempting to promote, encourage and develop plans for the recycling of products from industrial, domestic and municipal wastes.

This week many citizens in Independence Township will have the opportunity to get on the bandwagon to "do something personally about our environment." They will have the opportunity to contribute both time and glass to the local "Bottles for Building" Committee's first collection.

Too frequently we take the stand, "What will that little bit do?"

Let's not minimize the importance of starting a small phase of the clean-up right here on our own doorstep.

Diamond says, "Today we have the technology and knowledge to permit us to recover and reuse resources we have so extravagantly discarded into our land and into our air and water. The so-called 'waste materials' represent important, sometimes strategic metals, fibers and chemicals as well as mined, cut over forests, human labor, intelligence

Give that man a medal

2 dogs were recently awarded Bronze Star medals "for meritorious service" against hostile forces in Vietnam. Arf, arf, said Sandy.

The magnificent hoax was pulled off by some soldiers to demonstrate that the wholesale awarding of medals has cheapened their value to the point where a true hero is reluctant to accept one. Military brass hats exchange medals like peanuts, competing to see which can wear the most ribbons on his manly chest. The generals also like to see their rugged faces reflected in the medals hanging on their troops. Everyone knows the dumb enlisted man couldn't earn an award without the inspiring leadership of General Chicken who phones brave orders to the front from his penthouse foxhole.

I remember how it was in 1945 . . .

After over 2 years in the army, I ended up at Camp Polk, La., still a buck private. I was made an assistant to a colonel who was also a chaplain, in that order. My main job was to drive him once a week to the other side of camp where he gave patriotic-Christian sermons to the Negro soldiers who were not allowed in the camp's main church unless they were carrying brooms.

"I can't have any buck private working for me," the colonel said. Overnight I became a corporal. 3 months later I was a sergeant.

One day it was announced there would soon be a big parade and ceremony at which a visiting general would pin medals on deserving enlisted men.

"Write yourself up for a Legion of Merit," the colonel ordered.

That was the highest award given for outstanding service performed under non-combat conditions.

"Can I get that for changing my typewriter ribbon faithfully every week whether it needs it or not?" I asked him.

"You can think of something better than that," the colonel grumped. "I've never had an assistant who didn't win a medal and I don't want to start now."

Right here, because there are still people around who remember, I'd better admit I was a lousy chaplain's assistant. The awful truth is that my nickname and various skills."

Let's get with it.

Let's take pride in our surroundings. Let's take pride in our neighbors who have worked diligently organizing the framework that will make the idea work.

Let's get those bottles together and get them to a pick-up point this weekend, January 16 and 17. But don't stop there. Call a member of the committee and volunteer your services as well.

PEEKIN' into the PAST

25 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS
JANUARY 11, 1946

The Victory Loan workers in this district have just reported that Clarkston and Independence Township went well over their quota. Now the work of the Women's Volunteer Corps is ended. The people of the district are very proud of the group who gave their time so generously.

Mrs. Richard Bullen and son, Tommy, have gone to Boynton, Florida to visit for a short time with her mother, Mrs. George D. King.

From the Want Ads - Someone to quilt.

10 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS
JANUARY 12, 1961

The former residence of Dr. Don Stackable burned during the early morning hours of Thursday. Twenty-three of the Township's fire department volunteers fought valiantly for seven hours to keep the blaze under control. The house at 14 N. Main St., had been standing empty since the Stackables moved to their new home on Parke Lake.

Craig Hutchins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Hutchins broke his elbow last week. It has been set with a pin and he will return to school next week.

Ruth Ann Carmean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Frankenfield, was honored at a pre-nuptial shower on Jan. 7 at the home of Mrs. John Curry, with Mrs. William Porritt as co-hostess. Ruth Ann will become the bride of Robert Porritt on Jan. 28.

By Jim Fitzgerald

around camp was The Drunken Padre. When the chaplain thought I was out posting church notices, I was actually drinking beer in the sergeant's club or shooting pool in the day room. My being assistant to a chaplain was generally regarded as similar to Al Capone being secretary of the treasury.

I really didn't care much about getting a medal. All I wanted was a discharge which was due in a few months. So I put pickled tongue in cheek and wrote how I had most distinguished myself at Camp Polk, thus earning the Legion of Merit.

That winter it had been ordered that every jeep in camp switch to winter tires. They meant switch tires, not wheels. You had to get a crowbar, or whatever, and pry 4 tires off the rims, then pry 4 others on. That was work to which I was unaccustomed.

There were something like 1,500 jeeps in camp. By Christmas, 1,499 had switched tires. My jeep was the lone exception. The chaplain never noticed because he always looked up, straining to see how many officers in heaven out-ranked him.

This shikking was not accomplished easily. I had to drive the other way whenever an MP vehicle came into sight. I had to park behind trees. Most of all, I had to procrastinate skillfully whenever the motor pool captain wanted to know when I was going to change those %$&*% tires. I usually told him I'd do it tomorrow but today I had to drive the chaplain to chapel.

"I'd change them now but I don't want to interfere with every soldier's right to worship as he sees fit," I would explain. Captains never argued with generals or God. The tires were never switched.

Unfortunately, the colonel didn't agree that this devotion to dereliction was worth the Legion of Merit. He dropped my write-up into his sinner file and never mentioned the subject again.

And I hadn't thought about the colonel for 25 years, until I read about those 2 dogs getting Bronze Star medals. If they had been his dogs, it wouldn't have been a hoax.

Onward and Upward.

Both sides rigid

Strike at Hawk Tool deadlocked

"Based on our experience and after reading the positions of both sides," said Richard Wonnacott of the Federal Mediation Service, "we suspect that the present situation will remain for a while."

Wonnacott expressed little hope for the possibility of an early settlement of the strike of Local 540 UAW at the Hawk Tool and Engineering Company, 20 W. Washington.

The company, which has been Clarkston based for 20 years, manufactures ordinance parts and assemblies.

"We attended the meeting called by the mediators last week," said Allen Hawke, spokesman for the firm, "but before we were able to present what we thought was a fair contract, the union made additional requests."

Mediators Wonnacott and Harry Reinfelder of the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, adjourned last week's meeting and announced that further meetings would be subject to the call of the mediators.

"We cannot find sufficient concurrence on either side to warrant meeting immediately," they told the News.

Bundled in warm clothing, the members of Local 540 UAW continued to picket the plant. Their signs indicated their belief that Hawke was unwilling to carry out the terms of the old contract or negotiate a new one.

Hawke says the company has been operating at a loss for the past 2 years, caused primarily by a slow-down in the plant.

"A job that used to take 2 hours to accomplish takes 4 hours today. We have been paying late penalties for delinquent orders for 6 months," he said.

The strike affects approximately 50 employees.

A fire in an oil drum and heavy clothing help Local 540 UAW members ward off the cold of the low temperatures that greet the picketers at the Hawk Tool and Engineering Co.

A mobilized picket joins the ranks.

Shaking for oil

Anyone traveling Baldwin road, or maybe Hadley, Rochester or Pine Knob roads, last week must have wondered at the trucks parked along the shoulder and wire strewn up and down the ditches.

What's going on is...the Ray Geophysical division of Houston, Texas, is conducting vibrosis tests for oil.

It has been explained that holes are drilled in the ground and explosives set off. The vibrations give readings that eliminate a lot of guess work in oil explorations.

Permits have been taken out from the county for the company to test on Pine Knob road from Granger to Clarkston road, on Baldwin from Davison Lake to I-75 and on Hadley road from Rattlelake to Sawmill.

In Addison Township the testing will be from Lakeville to Leonard.

March of Dimes needs volunteers

January is March of Dimes month. The goal of the "March" is to prevent birth defects which now affect a quarter of a million infants annually.

Building report

December building in Independence Township slumped in December, according to the report of the Building Department. However, it was almost double the amount that was recorded in December of 1969.

Seventeen permits were issued during the past month with value totaling $279,898. Twenty-eight permits were issued in November, totaling $649,575 and 12 with a total value of $143,125 were recorded for December of 1969.

Permits for December, 1970, were issued as follows:

10 new houses	$256,498
2 remodeling and add.	8,100
2 barns	10,900
1 underground storage tank	800
1 fire repair	2,300
1 lead free gas pipes	1,300
17 permits	$279,898

Jan Danielson, Chairman for Independence Township, says, "We need more men, women and children to help to make this year's campaign a success. Help is needed in door-to-door solicitation, preparing kits and telephoning volunteers."

"We welcome mothers, fathers or teens who have a little time to spare," she added.

The local campaign was officially gotten under way at a luncheon at the Hawaiian Gardens last week. The actual march will be held during the week of January 21 to 28.

Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Danielson at 625-3060.

Clarkston pioneer dies in Florida

By Jean Sura

Tessie Newlands died on January 7. She was 93 though she would probably disapprove of your knowing it.

Her death flooded my desk with a wave of stories about one of Clarkston's most colorful natives.

Eva Esther (nee Walter) Newlands was born November 17, 1877 on a homestead farm just one half mile north of the Village of Clarkston. She was the daughter of Harrison and Matilda Edmondson Walter.

Tessie, as she was fondly nicknamed, married Major David L. Newlands, who died in 1938.

Tessie had a zest for life and filled her 93 years with excitement, dedication and friends.

During World War II she volunteered over 1000 hours of assistance to the USO in Delray Beach, Florida where she made her winter home. Her kindness to servicemen was legend and many of them and their parents returned after the war's end to visit her.

She prized a distinguished service award from the Red Cross. It was signed by President Harry Truman. She was a constant knitter and her family believes that this recognition came to her as a result of her contribution of both time and garments.

Many adults who grew up in the Clarkston area will recall that they learned to swim in sixty feet of water at the end of a rope from Mrs. Newlands' dock on Parke Lake. Others will tell you of the gourmet meals, delicious jams and baked goods that came from her kitchen. Still others may recall that she taught them to do the Hula on her return from Hawaii when she was in her 80's.

Among her other accomplishments was riding in one of the first bi-planes, traveling around the world by herself when she was almost 90 years old, exploring the ocean bottom scuba diving within the last 10 years, swimming daily until a few weeks before her death, and traveling all over the world with her unlimited number of nieces, nephews, great-nieces and great-nephews.

The mail bag of condolences will be heavy when the news of her death reaches out to her friends all over the world.

Mrs. Newlands died after a short illness at her winter home in Delray Beach. She is survived by her niece, Agnes Walter McDaniels of Charlotte, North Carolina and 3 nephews, Harrison L. Goodspeed, Walter S. Goodspeed, both of Grand Rapids and Harrison Walter of Willits, California. Also surviving are many great-nieces and great-nephews.

Her cremation was followed by memorial services conducted on January 12 by the Rev. Alex Stewart at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection in Clarkston, of which she was a charter member. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery.

Memorial services will be held for her friends in Florida at the home of Walter Goodspeed in Delray Beach.

Funeral arrangements were handled by the Sharpe-Goyette Funeral Home.

Kutting Korners

The city of San Francisco is famous for its Sourdough Bread. The original bread recipes date back to the days of the Gold Strike. I have chosen 2 starter doughs, both authentic and originating in San Francisco. Take your choice.

NO. 1 STARTER

Peel and boil about 4 potatoes in just enough water to cover. You can eat the potatoes but save the water, at least 2 cups of it to blend with a mixture of 2 cups of flour, 1 tablespoon of sugar and 1 teaspoon of salt.

Put this mixture in a crock and cover loosely. Let it stand in a warm spot for 3 or 4 days until sour (it will have a peculiar but delightful sour smell.)

"This can be speeded up by adding a cake of yeast, but," the recipe reads, "it's better if you don't."

NO. 2 STARTER

¼ cup milk
½ cup water
2 teaspoons vegetable oil
1 pkg. active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water (not hot)
2 teaspoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
2-1/3 cups flour

Combine milk, water and oil; bring to boil. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in water. Add with sugar and salt to cooled milk mixture. Stir liquid into flour, just enough to blend thoroughly. Cover and let stand in warm place for 12 to 18 hours to sour. This is starter for about 12 loaves.

Remaining starter can be stored tightly covered in refrigerator for several days. Measure amount needed and bring to room temperature before using.

SOURDOUGH FRENCHBREAD (San Francisco Style)

1½ cups warm water
1 package active dry yeast
1 cup SOURDOUGH STARTER
4 cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon soda
About 2 cups unsifted flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water in large mixing bowl. Mix with Starter. Add 4 cups flour, sugar and salt. Stir vigorously 3 or 4 minutes. Cover with a towel and let mixture raise in a warm place until double in bulk (1½-2 hours). Mix soda with 1 cup of remaining flour and stir in. The dough should be stiff. Turn dough out onto a floured board and begin kneading; add the remaining 1 cup of flour or more if needed to control the stickiness. Knead until satiny - between 5 and 10 minutes.

Shape into oblong loaves or one large round loaf. Place on lightly greased cookie sheet, cover and place in a warm place. Let raise to nearly double in size - time will depend on warmth of the spot - 1½ to 2 hours in most-kitchens. Before baking, brush outside with water, make diagonal slashes across the top with a sharp single-edge razor blade. Put a shallow pan of hot water in the bottom of the oven. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) until the crust is a medium dark brown (about 45 minutes for oblong loaves, 55 minutes for the large round loaf).

Name poster contest winners

Last week the "Bottles for Building" committee sponsored a poster contest in Clarkston area schools. Two winners were chosen from each elementary and junior high school. The winners will receive a trip to the Bozo the Clown show as a prize. The show will be taped Wednesday and shown at a later date.

Judges for the contest were: Mrs. Preston Rose, Mrs. Michael Donovan, Mrs. John Joslin, Mrs. Barton Connors, Mrs. Matthew Siciński and Mrs. John Belby.

The judges announced 16 winners: Rick Krause, 6th grade and Mark Shall, 6th grade at Sashabaw Jr. High School;

Clarkston Jr. High School winners were Jim Hinkley, 7th grade and Kim O'Dell, 6th grade;

Rosann Morrow, 3rd grade and Barbara Holder, 3rd grade of Clarkston Elementary School; Janet Lee and Rae Ann Beck of Pine Knob School; Cathy Miller and Mark Wilcox of the 4th grade at Andersonville School;

Deanna Robenault and Cheryl Barger of the 6th grade at North Sashabaw School; Keith Jidas of the second grade and Michael Hamett of the 1st grade at Sashabaw Elementary south, and Kari Peterson and Penny Kane of the 3rd grade at Bailey Lake Elementary.

Mrs. Nora Hamilton of Madison Ct. was joined by her family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hendricks, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Hamilton and daughters, Kim and Linda at the Old Mill on Sunday to celebrate her January 9th birthday. Many happy returns.

Dinner at the Great Dane followed by a show on Saturday, January 9, was the choice of Mr. and Mrs. William Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. David Couture. It was the Dennis' 18th anniversary and Dave's Jack Benny birthday.

14 friends helped Susie Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards of Peach Drive celebrate her 10th birthday on January 9. Games, prizes and ice cream and cake were on the agenda.

Happy birthday to Jim Birkelo, son of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Birkelo, former residents of Clarkston who have moved to Butte, Montana.

Mrs. Walter (Rusty) Leaf celebrated a quiet birthday on Sunday, January 10.

The children baked a cake for mother and topped it with gobs of gooey frosting and ever-burn candles.

A lousy "poof" blew the frosting right off the cake but didn't phase the "ever-burn" candles.

OES 294 will be serving lunch at the Masonic Temple on Friday, January 15, from 11:30 to 1. All you spaghetti lovers had better put that date on your calendar and give yourselves a treat.

The Jack Roy home on Dale was a busy place on Sunday, January 3rd. The occasion was three birthdays on January 5th. Mother baked the cake for herself and children, Janet, 10 and Eddie, 13. The three layer cake was decorated by the children. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Roy were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Jo Tersigni and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Meyers for dinner at the Old Mill. Mrs. Tersigni was celebrating her birthday, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pritchard of 8531 Holcomb Rd. were surprised on their 40th wedding anniversary with a party given by son, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bernard, of Richmond. They were assisted by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Bunce (Barbara) of Serverna Park, Maryland; Mr. and Mrs. Erick Strutz (Terri) of Howell, and Billy and Jim at home.

A lovely buffet supper was served to 40 guests. Mrs. Pritchard's mother, Mrs. Mable French of Evart, and Mr.

Pritchard's father, Eugene Pritchard, of Evart were among the guests. We send our best wishes for happy years to you both.

Kristen Lehto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lehto of Hubbard Road, celebrated her 12th birthday a day early on December 31. Surprise guests, Janice Kline and Debbie Mechigian, came for lunch. Neighbor Billy Williams kept brother, Eric, entertained so the girls could enjoy games and lunch topped with cake and ice cream. Little brothers can be a problem, can't they, Kristen?

Alan Caverly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Caverly of Waldon Road, is recuperating at home after surgery at Detroit Memorial Hospital. Alan is a senior at Clarkston High School. Mrs. Norman Caverly, Alan's grandmother, is a patient at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital in room 303-3. I know they would enjoy hearing from their friends.

Don't push me

by Jean Sura

"Just look at this," I enthused the other night. "They need lady guides at the United Nations in New York. There is no height or weight requirement and they don't care if you are a wife or a mother. "I think I'll apply."

"Easy, old girl," a voice intoned from the fifty-yard line at the television set. "I think the article mentioned something about being between 20 and 30 years old."

"Okay, spoilsport," I countered. "It says you could wear false eyelashes. I don't wear them, they mess up my glasses. Maybe they'll swap requirements."

"That would be about as foolish a request to make as to ask Gore Vidal to write a definition of obscene literature."

"Well, anyway, I fit the 'no elaborate hairstyle' requirement," I said, "and I don't wear long, dangly earrings."

"I suppose I have put on a few pounds recently." Looking in the mirror, I added, "And my permanent is half out and my dye job is half in."

Taking another look, I noticed a puffiness around my eyes and that my crowsfeet had sprouted like interstate highways.

I was spared more thorough investigation by the phone ringing.

"Hello," I said, trying to force my voice to sound young and perky.

"Mrs. Sura," said a doleful voice. "I am Mr. O'Dell. I represent the Quiet Haven Resting Place. I wonder if I may show you and Mr. Sura some of our comfy, cozy little plots.

"While we are out at Quiet Haven, you may even be interested in visiting our Quiet Village Retirement Home. Living here in one's later years makes the last trip from Retirement Home to Resting Place short and convenient."

"Aw, come on," I stammered, "it's not that bad."

The whole deal reminded me of the little boy whose dad had threatened to punish him if he were late for school just one more time.

On this day, the little kid had dawdled along, and then, realizing that he was in trouble, started to run. As he ran, he prayed.

"Dear God, please. Don't let me be late."

Just about that time he tripped in a hole in the sidewalk and sprawled on the ground.

"Well, God," he said as he brushed himself off, "I don't want to be late, but you didn't have to push me."

Spiritual Message

Frank A. Cozadd

CLARKSTON UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

"CREATION AND DESTRUCTION"

In the beginning God created Man, which according to all the latest population projections was a big mistake.

And God said, "Let there be light..." and there was light, and Man called this light "fire," and at first it was used to warm him and cook his food. But Man discovered that fire could burn-down a forest or a house or a witch at the stake or tobacco and this made Man start to cough and his eyes to run and his sinuses to hurt. And Man said, "God, why did you create fire in the first place?"

And God created the streams, and rivers, and lakes, and oceans. And Man dumped all kinds of refuse into the waters and it killed the fish and the plants, and the waters turned brown and smelled, and no one could drink them or bathe in them. And Man shook his fist at God and said, "Stop creating water and all these things which are causing us problems."

So, Man creates the wheel and he no longer had to walk through the woods and up and down the mountains. And then Man created the engine to turn the wheels so he could go faster, and faster, and faster. And Man cut down the trees and flowers to make wide paths for their engines on wheels. But sometimes the paths got so crowded he couldn't move as fast as he was able to walk and the air turned brown and murky. And Man said, "It's all a Communist conspiracy to destroy us!"

And Man created the plastic bag and the aluminum can and the disposable bottle and this was good because now Man could eat and drink anywhere and at anytime. Pretty soon the earth was covered with litter and there was nowhere left to sit down or walk. And Man said, "God, this is awful!"

By this time God had had it and He sent down word to His loyal servant Noah: "Noah, I want you to build an ark..."

Tex

(Part One)

By Haslett Hemmor

Tex Bachman sure doesn't seem to fit his nickname. You always think of a guy named Tex being a kind of raw-boned rugged long drink of water — easy going but strong as a bull, physical, and set in his opinions.

Old Tex gets pretty set in opinion but he's medium short, small framed and near pinch faced. Blinks a lot, Tex does, and that kind of makes him look like he's always going to ask a question instead of holding strong personal opinions. Sort of grins just one side, too, and that maybe makes him look like more of a kid than the 40 year old he really is.

Folks that should know tell me his drawl is more Arkansas than Texas but far's I'm concerned, he says he's from Dallas that's good enough for me.

Tex hired on as a mechanic in our garage five, six years back. Near everybody liked old Tex but they sure ribbed him on the funny way he talked.

"Move her up just a tad," he'd tell a kid driving a car up on a hoist, "Jest a tad more." Knew what he meant, you did, but it sure come out funny when he said it.

"Wouldn't that chap you?" he'd remark peeved like when I didn't have a part in our stock bins. "What kind of clod-kickin feeder lot they run here — no how?"

Funny looking and funny talking or not, we sure all wised up fast that old Tex was a super-doooper mechanic. Like old man Wilkinson said, Tex could pick up a big old scrap bolt — saw her off — grind her down to size and reverse rethread her in the time it took most to figure out the proper part number.

"That boy," Wilkinson once remarked to me, "does more things right by accident than all your factory trained experts do on purpose. Wouldn't know how to use a torsion wrench if he was promised a hundred buck bonus but check him out after he's tightened down a head and you'll find he's done it exact right to the split foot pound of pull."

Me? I just nod that I agree and even though old Wilk does own the joint I maybe know as much mechanical as he does and that's not much. Tex is a hot shot OK but the other guys don't resent him none because he practical blushes when someone praises him and just says something like "ain't a wrench monkey in the joint what couldn't of done it better and faster. Shucks, that's what I git paid for."

Now probable thing is that Tex don't even read pretty good. He'll pick up an installation sheet, sure, but you just know he don't really study it like he pretends. Kind of reminds me of the way big old Maude Turpin used to study out of recipe books whether they was upside down or not. Best cook in these parts, though, whether she could read or not and big enough with a hot temper so nobody mouthed off to upset her none.

But that's another story except it's a good compare. Tex is what you'd call a natural mechanic just like big old Maude is a cook's cook and no fooling.

Mostly we service passenger cars. Dealership could git trucks to sell, I guess, but Wilkinson's got no stomach for bidding competitive so he just wheels and deals with new and used cars.

(Concluded next week)

For the next 45 days, our car deals will give you more than a car.

These days, every car dealer is offering you a deal. Including us.

The difference is, our deal includes more than a car.

On cars delivered now through February 28, during our "What-Would-You-Do" Special, American Motors will give you a General Electric 12-Inch Portable TV with any new car you buy from us.

But that doesn't mean we won't give you a good deal, too.

Because we've got the best cars we ever had this year, and we're going all-out to give you a better deal than you can get anywhere else.

Plus the tv set.

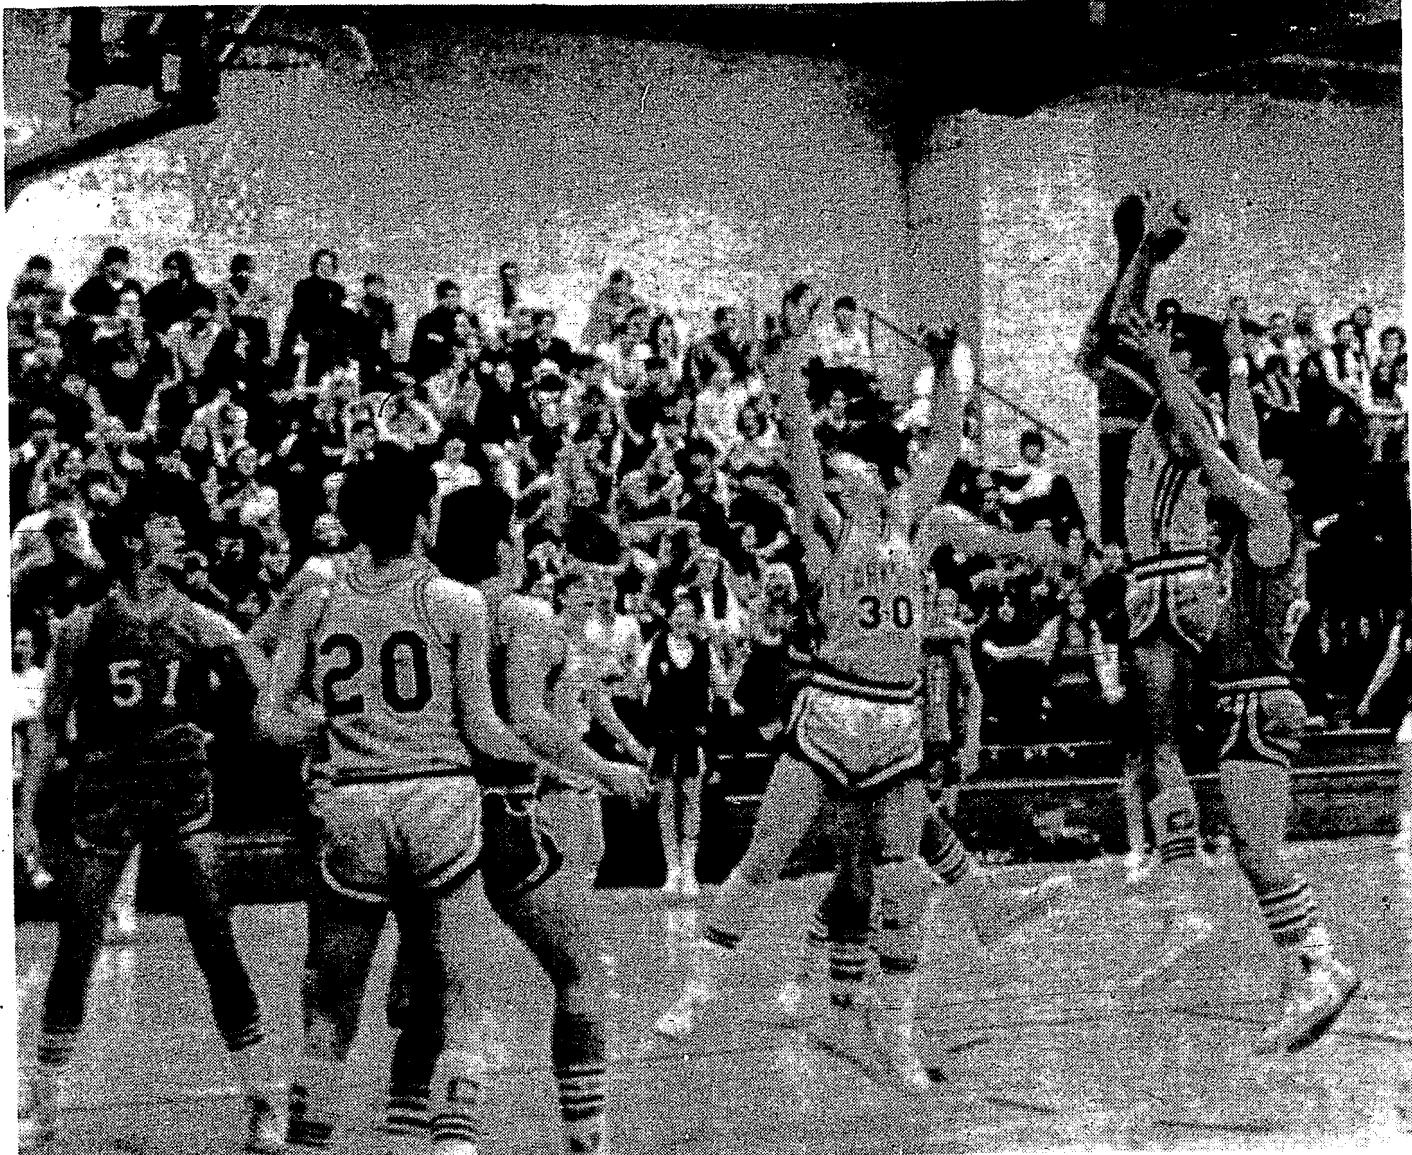

Maybe you don't expect this much from a car dealer, but, if you had to compete with GM, Ford and Chrysler dealers, what would you do?

If you had to compete with GM, Ford and Chrysler dealers, what would you do?

Wolves roll to victory

By Craig Moore

The Clarkston Wolves picked up their third season win last Friday in a 50-42 come-from-behind victory over the Northville Mustangs.

The Wolves were forced to play a catch-up kind of game for the first 3 quarters, but rolled to their win in the fourth quarter when they gained a 10-point lead.

Scattered scoring in the first quarter sent Northville ahead 11-7. Both teams pumped in 14 points to close the half, 25-21.

Clarkston took full advantage of Northville's cold shooting from the field in the second half.

In the third quarter the team gathered confidence in itself and started to make the shots, pull in the rebounds, and play a good defense.

The third quarter ended 34-32 for Northville.

Clarkston pulled ahead in the early fourth quarter despite Northville's strong defense and totaled 18 points to the Mustangs' 8 to make it a 50-42 victory.

Don Brown tossed in 9 buckets and hit 8 of 11 from the free throw line to top all scorers in the game with 26 points.

Brown also led in rebounds with 17.

Coach Hanson commented, "In the first half things were pretty shaky and the team was unsure of itself, but the defense clicked and everybody relaxed and went to work in the second half."

The Wolves are now balancing a 3-3 season record.

The JV Wolves took their lead in the first quarter and found little trouble during the rest of the game.

The Wolves closed the first half with a 29-19 advantage over their opponents and increased to their 68-43 tilt with a 27-point final quarter.

Larry Miracle led the scoring attack with 20 points and swept 17 from the boards.

"Northville is a home-court team and so it wasn't easy playing for them," said coach Pierson. "We shot well, played good defense and had control of both backboards."

The Junior Varsity expects a rough battle from Kettering's JV next Tuesday as they are a top team.

The JV, like the varsity, hold a 3-3 season record.

The Wolves will travel to Waterford Kettering on January 12 and will host Milford on January 15. JV starts at 6:30 and the Varsity game follows.

Matman struggle for win

DUAL MEET

On Thursday, Jan. 7, the Clarkston High School wrestling team traveled to West Bloomfield for their first dual meet of 1971.

Sporting beautiful new uniforms and warm-ups, the new year debut was clouded with a disappointing final score - West Bloomfield 35, Clarkston 18.

Coach Moscovic, troubled with injuries and post-holiday weight problems, was forced to move the 3 lower weights up a notch and wrestle Tim Lekander at 100 pounds. Lekander promptly posted a win; Mike Packer decisioned his man at 107 pounds and Rick Detkowski promptly pinned Bloomfield's 121 pounder. After that, problems again set in, except for Mark Witherup's draw at 147 and Mark Hoxsie pinning his opponent at heavyweight.

This puts the team league record at 1-2. The conference championship is still within reach with the league tournament the final goal.

HOWELL INVITATIONAL

Clarkston matmen finished at the Number 6 spot in the annual Howell Invitational with 4th, 5th and 6th places separated by only 4 points.

The final results were a disappointment, with no Clarkston individual champions. They won 3 second place medals, 1 third place and 2 fourths.

Mike Packer at 100 pounds, stepped on the mat for the final round undefeated (19-0) for the season: in a hard fought match he was decisioned by a Flint entering this tourney with a 13-2 record, lost a close second round, but snapped back to win a bronze third place medal by defeating a Grand Blanc boy in the consolation matches.

Mike Seaton at 107 pounds and Brian Knake at 140 pounds, finished fourth, winning 2 matches, and losing 2 during the day's competition.

Saturday, Jan. 16, the team will compete in the 8 school Fenton Invitational. There will be some five wrestlers there with tough competition. Elimination will begin at 11:00 a.m.

Cold Sores

Cold sores . . . fever blisters . . . canker sores—all of these mouth problems arise from unknown causes, and there's no effective way to prevent them. Science is now paying some attention to these common sores, and doctors have come up with some new information.

For example, it now appears that cankers may run in families. They are small, ulcer-like sores that appear on the lining of your cheek, the edge of your tongue, the floor of your mouth or the inner surface of your lip. They have a gray saucer-like center, with a red outer ring.

Cankers don't appear to be infectious, but they may flare up when you're emotionally upset. They can often be controlled with cortisones, iodides, gentian violet, vitamin C and mouthwash.

The cold sore or fever blister more often appears on the lips outside the mouth, or on the skin between the nose and lip. They appear when your resistance is low (which gave rise to the name, fever blister) and may follow exposure to too much wind and sun.

However, these have been linked to the common "herpes virus," and can often be treated with antibiotics, especially if they become so numerous and painful that they interfere with eating and drinking. Care must be taken not to handle them needlessly; the infection can spread from the mouth to the eyes, where the virus can create major problems.

Board holds off petition approval

By Jim Sherman

Counting has apparently been completed on 2 petitions for referendums on zoning by Independence Clerk Howard Altman, although actual validation has not been made.

Altman told the Board Tuesday night it was his judgment that 1358 valid signatures would be required to approve a petition. This is a few hundred higher than he estimated previously. He said the new census altered his figuring.

He has validated 1322 names on the petition asking for a vote on allowing a shopping center on Waterford Hill Golf Course, along with multiple dwellings.

Altman has validated 1334 names on the mobile home district zoning petition. This district was to be established on Clintonville road.

In both cases, Altman said, he thought the Council could proceed with setting an election date because he had about 300 petitions yet to go through which he felt sure would give sufficient numbers.

Trustee Tom Bullen suggested the township attorneys give an opinion as to whether any of the 300 names might be counted should any of the others be found invalid. Further action was stalled pending counsel.

In the discussion on calling an election, supervisor Gary Stonerock said he would call Jerry Anderson to see if he would approve an election on his parcel at the same time.

Anderson's property, 17 acres on Waldon, was rezoned for condominiums early last year and this board decision prompted the first petition drive for a referendum. A court restraining order has halted the clerk's efforts to validate the signatures. Altman said he had gotten to about 800 at the time.

Bob White, Clarkston real estate agent involved in the shopping center zoning, told the board his client, the Gershenson brothers of Detroit, desired to have an election for each petition since that was the way the petitioning was done.

Letters bring response, new coming ordinances

A copy of a letter the Oakland County Road Commission sent to state Senator L. Harvey Lodge drew comment from supervisor Gary Stonerock Tuesday night.

The commission letter was in answer to a note from Lodge who complained of the Road Commission refusing snow removal service to Deerfield Knoll.

The Commission stated that this area east of Deer Lake was not a platted subdivision, that all are separate lots and the roads not the responsibility of the road dept. The letter stated the streets were steeper than county specifications and probably wouldn't be accepted by the county as county roads for maintenance if the property owners so desired.

The supervisor said the matter of people living in an unplatted subdivision was a long standing problem in Independence. He hinted that state legislation might be needed to the plat act enacted a couple years ago.

Another letter, this one from Marie Brendle of Walters Lake, asked if there had been a public financial report made at the time the new officers took over. Stonerock said both he and new trustee Tom Bullen had asked for a financial statement. The public statement will be available at the January 19 meeting that will include December accounting.

Julie Smith of Woodhull Lake area asked Stonerock what progress was being made on removing condemned houses in her area. It was about a year ago when the township adopted legislation giving them removal authority.

Stonerock said he wanted to make the owners aware once more of the township adopted legislation giving them removal authority.

Stonerock said he wanted to make the owners aware once more of the township intention and assured Mrs. Smith "it will be taken care of as soon as possible."

A request for a lot split in Morgan Lake Estates was denied. This was the second time this split has been discussed by the board. It was complicated partly because both Orion and Independence Townships are involved.

Roberts Rules of Order for parliamentary procedure was adopted as a guide for township meetings.

The transfer of an SDM license for the Trading Post, 10081 Ortonville road, was approved.

A model gravel ordinance has been distributed to the board members by Stonerock. The attorneys have been asked to review it and make recommendations. It is the first of several ordinances suggested by Stonerock for review and consideration, including one on signs, another on burning, and littering.

Difference

by Shel George

Now that 1970 is over, many newspapers, magazines and commentators have given us the pros and cons of what that decade was like.

Many of the comments I read referred to the words "involvement" and/or "commitment." I think most of us would agree. Hardly a day went by that the news didn't carry a story about someone somewhere involved in something. Burning buildings was a popular involvement. Right up there in popularity with building burning was rock throwing and rock festivals.

Often it appeared that the majority were committed to non-involvement. "I don't want to get involved" was the most used quote of 1970.

Perhaps our being "totally committed and involved" would seem easier if we knew what these terms meant. The following "tail" from the animal world is the best explanation I have heard.

There was much conversation among the barnyard animals about the world situation. All agreed that change was needed. The problem was determining what kind, how much and how to bring it about.

Ideas were tossed around incorporating "total commitment and involvement." Some advocated violence. Others favored a more passive action. The chickens got excited, the cows thought placidly and the pigs just sort of didn't give an "oink."

One morning, after several days of discussion, one of the chickens was perched on the barnyard fence near the road. A pig was wallowing in a mudhole nearby.

The chicken noticed a group of people marching down the road. They stopped at the farm house and asked for some water. Several were carrying signs indicating that the group was marching to Washington, D.C. to emphasize the plight of the nation's poor people.

A thought struck the chicken. After all the recent talk among the animals, maybe here was a chance to put some "done" to the "said."

"Hey, pig," clucked the hen, "what say we get involved and do something for these people?"

The pig grunted, shifted a little in the mudhole and asked, "I don't know. What do you have in mind?"

"Let's give them ham and eggs for breakfast," replied the chicken.

After a thoughtful pause, the pig spoke. "I think you should come up with some other idea. For you that may be involvement, but for me it's total commitment."

There is a difference.

Females flex muscles

by Polly Hanson

By Polly Hanson

Contrary to popular opinion, it's not only the boys at CHS who are athletically inclined. The two organizations working to disprove the aforementioned belief are G.A.A. (Girl's Athletic Association) and the J.V. and Varsity Girls' basketball teams.

The Junior Varsity basketball squad is coached by Miss Kathy DeArmond of the English Department. After many weeks of rigorous practice, the team met its first opponents, Waterford Township, on January 12, in the CHS gym.

The Junior "Wolvettes" are: Sharon Beeman, Cindy Booker, Jeanne Dome, Peggy Fox, Darla Hoopengartner, Jan Johnson, Cathy Martin, Pam Mihalcheon, Desiree Simkins and Judy Swanson. Mary Ann Northcote is the manager for the J.V. team.

Coached by Miss Jan Modesitt, who teaches math (in her spare time), the Varsity squad is striving for an undefeated season. Ten games will be played (league and non-league) and there may possibly be some extra scrimmages.

The Varsity Wolvettes are bound to have a good season with 9 of its 10 team members returning from last year's teams.

Opening the season on January 12 against Waterford Township were: Suzie Auten, Anyce Birchett, Beth Cowen, Marti Hutchins, Shannon Lynch, Debbie Molter, Sue Payne, Kathy Smith, Lynn Tower and Jane Weaver. Sue Carlson is the manager of the Varsity team with Jan Schultz as timer and Pat Saile as scorekeeper for both teams.

Each Friday after school the G.A.A. girls invade the gym. Sponsored by Miss Kathy DeArmond and Miss Jane Wixson, they meet each week, not only to provide fun and recreation, but to plan for the many activities that the club sponsors.

The officers of the club are: Sue Carlson and Beth Cowen, co-presidents; Jane Weaver, secretary and Jan Easton, intramural manager.

So far this year, the G.A.A. activities have included swimming at Oakland University, trick-or-treating for the children at Children's Village, and sponsoring the extramural girls' volleyball team.

Activities planned for second semester include: bowling, roller skating, class competition in basketball and their annual camping or canoe trip in the spring.

Unanimous Approval of appointments

Appointments to the Board of Appeals and Planning Commission along with naming new counsel for the township were, perhaps, the main items of business at Tuesday's regular board meeting.

All were made by supervisor Gary Stonerock with unanimous approval of the other board members.

The Board of Appeals is made up of a township board member, the chairman of the planning commission and a resident at large. Appointed this week from the township board was Thomas Bullen. At the present time there is no chairman of the planning commission and the third member has yet to be named.

Approval was given for hiring the law firm of Campbell, Lee, Kurzman and Leitman of Birmingham and Pontiac to represent Independence. Richard Campbell is a resident of the township, living on Waterford Hill on Wesley Terrace.

Stonerock had wanted to hire this firm when he first took office. At that time Paul Mandel was the township attorney. Stonerock asked for his resignation and it was submitted in December, effective Jan. 5, 1971.

Campbell was active in the petition drive to prevent a shopping center on Waterford Hill Golf Course, and there has been some wondering if there might be conflict of interest should his law firm be appointed here.

Parvin Lee, who with Campbell started the law firm in 1966, told the News they had asked opinions of other attorneys and judges on the subject of conflict of interest and in each inquiry were assured it was not.

One of those rendering an opinion was Louis Fairbrother, president of the Oakland Bar Association. The opinion came from Fairbrother, not the association, which does not give opinions on ethics, according to Lee.

Lee said the firm stated their position to the township and that the matter of the petitions opposing the shopping center was between the law firm and the developers.

Appointed to the Independence Planning Commission were George

Woody, Keith Humbert, Jack Belby and Mel Vaara. Frank Reynolds was re-appointed. Not re-appointed was Donald Cooper and Del Lohff.

Until Tuesday night there were 6 vacancies on the Commission. The vacancy might be filled by a village council representative, Stonerock intimated, or from within the village.

The 3 remaining on the board are Jean Bray, 9375 Pine Knob Road, 8954 Woodlawn, and Glen Brokenshaw, 5592 Pine Knob. Reynolds lives at 6455 Waterford Hill Terrace.

In making the appointments Stonerock said he chose individuals with various backgrounds and by geographic areas to give better representation on the commission. The appointment of Vaara was to give the school administration representation. Vaara is principal of Sashabaw Junior High and lives at 6932 W. Church.

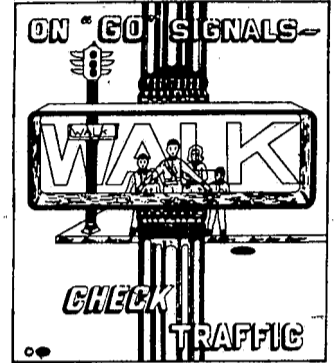

Woody lives at Woodhull Lake, 4735 Circle Lane, Humbert, 6440 Snowapple, and Belby resides at 47910 Mohawk.

Three positions on the Commission were vacant when Stonerock took office

Nov. 20. Floyd Vincent was one of the planners. He died. Bill Parker was another. He resigned. Harold Bauer was the third and he was defeated in his run for reelection as trustee by Humbert.

Following Board approval Stonerock told the 30 or so in attendance there was much to do to "retain the beauties and amenities" of the township, and because someone was not appointed does not mean there is no way to serve.

He said 200 people had called him to offer to help. He listed neighborhood associations and taxpayer associations as 2 ways to help the community.
