Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Writers are having a field day with snowmobiles. Are they a menace? Are they a boon to the tourist industry? Should they be controlled?

Befitting a writer who is unable to answer any of these questions, I have observed during their rise in popularity that the owners appeared to have great joy and the non-owners loud complaints.

This year we are in the first group . . . it is just plain fun. I spent five hours Sunday going over hill and dale, pulling young 'uns around on their saucers, etc., and putting one of five snowmobiles through its paces.

And, the best part is that today I'm not even sore. What else can anyone my age do outdoors for five hours and not be sore? Even ice fishing gets to my joints and temper.

Why are chains on trailers generally crossed?

It's never too late for a compliment. Tom Rademacher, Clarkston's pusher of Chevies and Olds, called recently to tell of his New Year's resolution. It was to say something nice to people when he felt it deserving.

Hopefully, he's sticking to his resolve, but even if he's not, I got in on an early thought. He called specifically to tell me how he enjoyed, and could sometimes relate to this column. His comments toward the Clarkston News were also much appreciated.

Wouldn't it be great if we could all stay in the frame of mind that would make us aware of others to the extent we would compliment people whenever the situation called for it.

Instead, we too often fall into the grouch and grumble category, with the resultant depression of mind and body. The effect touches us both personally and nationally. "If we act enthusiastic, we'd be enthusiastic," Dale Carnegie once said.

Judd Arnett, Free Press columnist, goes even deeper: "The recession has been built, rather, by lack of self-confidence among millions of Americans. They have been upset by demonstrations, riots, dissent, the generation gap - the general debilitations of social unrest."

Self-confidence is a state of

Blizzard smacks area

Blizzard-like conditions and near zero visibility hit the Independence Township area at about 8:30 a.m. on January 26. Slippery road conditions and drifted, swirling snow accompanied by heavy wind gusts caused hazardous driving conditions.

According to Corporal Dorr Wiltse of the Michigan State Police, approximately 500 accidents were reported in the County between the hours of 8 a.m. and noon. All roads leading in and out of the Independence Township were reported to be dangerous.

An accident occurred on Dixie Highway and Davisburg Road that allegedly involved 17 automobiles. No details were available.

Buses from the Clarkston Schools made their regular runs in the early hours before the full impact of the storm was felt. "When the storm continued, increasing in intensity," said Milford Mason, Assistant Superintendent, "we took immediate steps to return the children safely to their homes."

"At a request of the Oakland County Sheriff's office we delayed the move until the winds abated, about noon. The lunch program was speeded up and by 12:30 all Junior and Senior High students were headed for home. We then proceeded to transport the elementary students to their homes.

"We encountered some of our most difficult problems at the Bailey Lake School. Pine Knob Road was clogged at both ends by heavy drifts, mired and stalled automobiles."

By 3:30 p.m. spokesmen for the administration reported that 99 percent of the students had been returned to their homes without incident. Six buses were on the final phases of their runs and were in radio contact with the school.

Robert Brumback

Social worker wins D.S.A.

Robert Brumback, social worker in the Clarkston Schools, was honored on the same occasion as he was presented with the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award.

This award is given to the man between 21 and 36 who most honorably distinguishes himself by outstanding service and devotion to family, job and community.

Brumback holds a bachelor's degree in Police Administration and an M.A. in mind. If we'd act like we feel, which is generally pretty good, you'll have to admit we'd have more confidence and all would be rosy forever after.

So, smile and pass the money.

social work from Michigan State University. He is a past member of Jaycee and instigated the Jaycee Swim Program in this area. The Clarkston Youth Assistance Program and the Independence Township Recreation Board have both benefited from his service.

Brumback is vice president of the Michigan School Social Workers' Association for Region E and a member of the National School Social Workers' Association.

A member of Calvary Lutheran Church, he and his wife, Judy; Scott, 9; Kelley, 8 and Rodney, 5, live on Church street.

Jaycee President Jerry Powell presented the award.

Hawk moves to close plant

Allan Hawke, vice president and treasurer of the struck Hawk Tool and Engineering Co., 20 W. Washington in Clarkston, reported that the company has sent a telegram to UAW Local 540 advising them of the company's desire to meet and discuss the discontinuance of business.

According to Hawke, Richard Wonnacott of the Federal Mediation Service has scheduled a meeting on February 1 in Detroit.

"After the episodes last week when windows were smashed at one of the plants allied with our firm and a truck windshield was broken at the home of a purchasing agent we decided that it just wasn't worth it. We'd rather not be responsible for what might happen next. We'd rather just close up."

The firm which came to Clarkston 10 years ago employs about 50 persons, 35 of them unionized under Local 540 of the UAW. They produce ordnance items for the federal government.

The workers went on strike officially on Jan. 7 after a disagreement that arose over working between the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The last union contract expired on September 1.

Michigan winter sports centers boast more than 600 slopes and runs and more than 400 lifts and tows, including 68 double, triple and four-place chair lifts, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Professional planners resign

Randall L. Carpenter

Randall L. Carpenter, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Carpenter of Pine Knob Road is among 31 outstanding Michigan boys who were awarded the Chick Evans college scholarship by the Golf Association of Michigan. Fourteen of the boys will attend the University of Michigan and 17 will enter Michigan State University.

Randy has qualified for the scholarship by caddying for the past 4 years at Orchard Lake Country Club. He will attend the U. of M. where he plans to study mechanical engineering.

Caddying afforded the Clarkston High School senior an opportunity to learn to play golf. He shoots in the 80's and was the 1969 winner of the Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament.

Last fall he won his varsity letter as an end on the football team.

Over 550 scholarships have been given by the Association since it affiliated in 1948 with the Evans Scholars Foundation administered by the Western Golf Association.

There will be 230 grants made on a national basis which will be divided among the 12 major universities where the Foundation owns Chapter Houses. Each scholarship is valued at approximately $3,500, and support comes from 82,000 golfers who contribute annually.

The scholarship is awarded on a competitive basis. A boy must caddy for at least 2 years, participate in school activities and be in the top 25 per cent of his class academically.

C.A.P. screen local cadets

Kevin Campbell, William Hagen, Robert Klann, Beverly Moore, Mark Peters, Michael Saile and David Topolinski of Clarkston represented local CAP squadrons when 72 cadets from Michigan units reported to Selfridge Air Force Base for screening on Jan. 16.

The day-long competition to represent Michigan Wing at an activity included a written examination that tested each cadet's knowledge of CAP history, military customs and current events.

Personal appearance was evaluated during a special inspection. Table manners and meal-time conversation were judged during a luncheon at the Selfridge Officers' Club.

The Service Center ballroom became an indoor parade ground as each cadet demonstrated his knowledge of drill command and execution for evaluation.

Col. Charles Klann CAP, Commander of Michigan Wing CAP, was on a screening board that interviewed each cadet.

Independence Township lost the services of professional planners, Vilican-Leman and Associates, Tuesday night. Their letter of resignation was read at the regular meeting of the township board.

The firm was hired on a retainer basis in May, 1970 after the township's planner of several years, Robert Dieball resigned.

George Vilican said in his letter, in part, "We take this action in as much as we have discerned concern on the part of your township supervisor and his apparent interest in another firm."

After hearing the letter, supervisor Gary Stonerock said the planner resignation may have come through a misunderstanding of something he said a few days after taking office last Nov. 20.

He said with so many new members on the Planning Commission they might want to interview 2 or 3 consultant firms and make a recommendation to the board on one. Five of the 9-member board are new appointments of the supervisor.

Stonerock said he would have no objection if one of those interviewed were Vilican-Leman.

Jim Galbraith, who has represented Vilican-Leman in Independence, told the News that if contacted they would meet with the planners for an interview.

Vollbach named "Boss of Year"

James Vollbach

Jim Vollbach, Manager, Estimator and Salesman at Savoie Home Maintenance Center in Clarkston, was named "Boss of the Year" by the Clarkston Jaycees at their annual banquet on January 21.

Vollbach was nominated for the award by Jerry Hennig, an employee of Savoie's. He is an active member of the Clarkston Rotary and a past member of Delta Sigma Pi.

The father of 5 children, Vollbach and his wife, Margaret make their home on Simler Drive.

Hennig, local Jaycee vice president, made the surprise award before 100 in attendance at the Old Mill.

The award is presented each year to the employer who best supports the aims of his Jaycee employee.

C.H.S. Report . . . Trooper to be here for questions

By Beverley Morse

Last Saturday Jane Weaver was stopped by the cops. Or did she stop them? Actually, Jane and a group of G.A.A. members were on their way to their monthly swim at Oakland University. The problem was, they couldn't find the pool! But the police directed them, and they finally made it.

The swimming was really nice, and since they were the only group there, the lifeguard played CKLW over the P.A. system and turned off the lights, except the ones in the pool.

The F.T.A. was supposed to have a bake sale last Monday. But like any Monday, everyone forgot their baked goods, except two girls. So the forgetful future teachers had a nice after-school snack, thanks to Jan Schultz and Kim Mayo. Another bake sale was scheduled for later on.

***

Last Friday night the Juniors got in free to the dance after the game. This was because they had won a March of Dimes contest between the classes. The Junior class collected the most money. The group playing was the "White Trash." Student Council sponsored the dance.

The yearbook sales ended Jan. 21. The cost was $6.00 for a yearbook to be received in May, with a summer supplement in August. The Senior class voted on paying $3.00 of the cost of every senior's yearbook. Seniors can also have their names imprinted on the front of their yearbooks in gold for 50 cents.

Next Friday, Jan. 29, there will be no school. It is the end of the semester and Teachers' Record day.

The Clarkston wrestlers and basketball team defeated Kettering last week. Kettering is Clarkston's oldest rival.

The wrestlers would like more school support. The meets don't cost anything and are really quite exciting.

Investigating murder-suicide

Robert W. Smith, 42, and his wife, Doris Ann Smith, 40, of 6319 Eastlawn, were found dead at their home at 3:02 Tuesday afternoon. Undersheriff Leo Hazen said it appeared to be a case of murder-suicide.

A neighbor, James Tallman, 6400 Eastlawn, made the report to the sheriff. Tallman found the bodies after being called by the Smiths' son, David, 17, and a friend.

David and his companion noticed blood around the garage as they came from school. They apparently didn't investigate inside the home, but asked Tallman for help.

Boy Scouts 60 years old

Every year the nation observes Boy Scout Week in observance of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America 60 years ago. This year, 4.5 million Boy Scouts and their 1.5 million adult leaders will observe the birthday of Scouting under a new banner. Instead of Boy Scout Week, there is now to be a Boy Scouts of America Anniversary Celebration during the entire month of February.

Presently, one out of four boys of Scout age is a member of the Boy Scouts of America, and through a new long-range development plan, called BOYPOWER '76, the Boy Scouts plan to involve a representative one third of all boys in the Scouting program. Parents are missing a bet when they overlook the good works of the Scouts. The age of Scouting begins at eight years and extends through 17. The eight-year-olds can enroll in the Cub Scouts. When a youngster reaches 11 years of age, he can become a full-fledged Boy Scout and participate in vigorous outdoor programs to teach boys concepts of honor; duty to God and country; service to others; and self-respect.

The Boy Scout organization had its inception on July 29, 1907, when a small group of boys and two men set up a camp in a sheltered bay on an island off England's southern coast. The group was led by Lord Baden-Powell, a British hero of the Boer War, and the boys were from the streets of England's cities — and from the most exclusive schools. Two years later, Boy Scouting came to the United States when Mr. William D. Boyce, a Chicago newspaper and magazine publisher, inspired by his acquaintanceship with Scouting in England, incorporated on February 8, 1910, the Boy Scouts of America in Washington, D.C. A Federal Charter from Congress was granted on June 15, 1916. Today we owe a debt of gratitude to the vision of Lord Baden-Powell and Mr. William D. Boyce. There is no better way of expressing that gratitude than by furthering the cause of the Scouts at every opportunity during the month of February.

C.E.A. Report

by Rosetta LaMagna

Observers may note that individuals can be seen entering the schools of the Clarkston School District on special days of the week. The hours may differ from the rest of the professional staff, but these individuals are a regular part of this group and have a specific function in the schools.

Additional study of this individual may indicate that he is spending time in conference with some of the teachers. Often he may be observed walking down the hall with a student. Frequently he is seen meeting with the school principal.

This individual is one of the school social workers.

A student may be brought to the attention of the school social worker because he is unable to achieve well in school despite his apparent ability to do so. He may not be attending school regularly or he may be showing a lack of interest in school. Other students may be having problems at home which are reflected in their behavior in school.

Some appear to be unable to make friends or respond to others in a socially acceptable way. A student may be extremely aggressive or unusually shy. He may be subjected to ridicule or rejection by other students.

These reasons, as well as any other social and/or emotional adjustment difficulties, may bring a student into contact with the school social work service.

The school social work program is one of the pupil-personnel services established by the school district in cooperation with the State Department of Education. It is developed to provide a professional staff to work with students, teachers, parents and the community in a mental health program in the schools.

Robert Brumback, Kathleen MacKay and Rosetta LaMagna are the school social workers in Clarkston. These workers are assigned to buildings in the district at the beginning of the school year. The programs in each building differ to fit the needs of the students, families and teachers.

The school social worker may work extensively with an individual child or with some students in small groups.

They are always in communication with other members of the professional staff in the school who are involved with the student. Frequent contacts are also made with the parents of the student.

Additional functions of the school social worker include liaison work with other mental health facilities and community agencies both public and private. Cooperative efforts which are effectively put to use help our students receive the best diagnosis and treatment plans available.

Some very visible changes are often apparent. In one instance, a ten-year-old girl had such feelings of anxiety about school that she was frequently ill without any apparent physical basis. She, her parents, her doctor and a teacher worked with a school social worker for over a year.

At the end of that time the girl was able to function very well in school. Her grades had improved, she had more friends, school became a pleasant place to be, and she no longer suffered through the painful illness.

Progress is much slower in other cases, and improvement not quite as dramatic. There are times when there are unfortunate limitations to changes that can be accomplished.

Gratification for each school social worker comes from being able to help a student resolve a problem effectively. School social work is a challenging and stimulating profession.

"What did you do with the $100 we lent you last year?"

"If It Fitz . . ."

Is he the father?

By Jim Fitzgerald

I'd forgotten the pure pleasure of watching a nude girl take a bath.

(I haven't forgotten how to make you read beyond the first paragraph though, have I?)

Anyway, the girl is 17 months old. Her name is Michele and she is my granddaughter. She is also my wife's granddaughter but only when she cries or needs changing. Michele is spending a week with us while her young mother tends at the bedside of her husband who busted his knee playing college football (I always warned her that young marriages are risky but there you are).

It's been 9 years or so, depending on your criteria, since a baby lived at our house. It's hard to say exactly when our youngest child ceased to be a baby but I remember getting suspicious when he began changing his own diapers and heating his own bottle.

Michele's visit has reminded me of all those things I'd forgotten . . .

I'd forgotten how it feels to hear a baby cry at 3 a.m. It took me a few seconds to remember what to do. What you do is push your foot softly to the south. If this doesn't work, you kick more firmly. Finally, your wife wakes up. You then tell her the baby is crying.

I'd forgotten about that spot on a baby's neck, up under the chin, not far from the ear. That's where you nuzzle a baby. It feels just great.

I'd forgotten the crunchy sound of cookie crumbs underfoot.

I'd forgotten how your heart stops, and then pounds in instant panic, when you hear a baby scream and the sound of a small body going bump, bump, bump. "My God, she's fallen down the basement stairs!" (She fell only 2 steps; her doll went the rest of the way. Whew!)

I'd forgotten to look before I sit. Have you ever sat on an abandoned popsicle?

I'd forgotten a grown man can somehow enjoy eating his dinner while watching a kid with a runny nose stick her face in a bowl of chocolate pudding.

I'd forgotten that the most beautiful babies have fat stomachs and no behinds and, once they get walking fast, it is a fact of gravity that they are going to fall down, bam. I'd forgotten that adults are supposed to look the other way when these falls occur. This somehow is supposed to make the baby think she is not hurt. I keep forgetting and picking the kid up and kissing her sore spot and mouthing silly "there-there-there-baby" words that I'd hate to have overheard in the Alibi Bar.

I'd forgotten how grand it feels to return home from work and be greeted by a little kid who wants to climb up your legs and stick her fingers in your nose. I'd forgotten that babies don't watch TV and you don't have to knock on their heads before you say hello.

I'd forgotten the goofy pride of taking a baby into a restaurant and having strangers look at her and smile. I react modestly to such attention, bowing from the waist only after repeated applause. Inside my fat head I am hoping everyone will think I am the father, not the grandfather, for gosh sakes.

And I'd forgotten the marvelous innocence of a small baby; the trust and the dependence and the eagerness to love and be loved. I'd forgotten that some smart adult like me must teach babies how to hate and who to hate. I hope everyone else forgets, too.

Having a grandchild is Onward and Upward.

Board rejects appointment

By Jim Sherman

It appears that the ninth member of the Independence Township Planning Commission will be a Clarkston village resident.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock appointed Jim Smith of Allen Road to the vacancy at Tuesday's board meeting and it was rejected by 3 of the 5-man board.

By law, Planning Commission members are to be appointed by the supervisor with the approval of the township board.

Stonerock said, in making the appointment, he was choosing a man of financial background, Smith has a business in Royal Oak, who can represent a geographic area of the township not presently represented... the northwest quadrant.

Objection to the appointment came from the board's newest member, Tom Bullen. The board had interviewed Planning Commission candidates between the last 2 meetings.

Bullen started by saying he had nothing against Smith, it was just that he felt an "important segment" of the township was being overlooked. He was referring to Clarkston Village. Stonerock had intimated a village resident might be selected for the vacancy at the January 5 board meeting.

Bullen said, "The village to a large degree is the heart of the township. It is where we have our offices, center of commerce, it is historically the center of the township and a good percent of our residents live in the village."

About 1,000 of the 17,000 in the township live in Clarkston Village.

Stonerock said that 2 members of the township board live in the village: these are Howard Altman, clerk and Ken Johnson, treasurer. The supervisor added, "And a third member, Tom, grew up in the village, so I think we have adequate village representation."

Stonerock went on to say how the township was experiencing growth problems that weren't familiar to the village and added, "In the 30 years the village has not done anything except lay blacktop down where buildings have burned down. The village will always be represented."

"It is more important that we have good planning. Mel Vaara (Stonerock appointed him to the Commission Jan. 5) lives within 100 feet of the village."

"It is my job to appoint the Planning Commission and you can accept or reject them."

Altman and Johnson joined Bullen in voting against the appointment.

Following the vote, Stonerock asked, looking at Bullen, "Am I correct in assuming I have to appoint someone from the village?"

Bullen answered, "I would interpret it that way."

No further appointments were suggested.

Bill and Vera Debnik of Amy Drive spent a typical anniversary for parents on January 20. Son Kurt fell off a slide and broke his arm. After a trip to the hospital to have it set, the anniversary was kinda' forgotten. Vera has been very busy since July when she started her own cosmetic business. Last week she was in Cleveland for a meeting. "It is a completely new life after years of nursing," said Vera.

Rod Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Swanson of Snowapple, celebrated his 2nd birthday on January 24. Kara Joslin and Bobby Morse joined in the fun. January is a busy birthday time at the Swanson house as father will celebrate his on January 30.

Matthew Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harrison of Hummingbird had two parties in honor of his 2nd birthday which fell on January 24. He enjoyed family dinners on both Saturday and Sunday. It gave him lots of practice in "blowing out the candles."

***

Girl Scout Troop 210 joined the other troops in the Clarkston Neighborhood on January 21 for a roller skating party at the University Skating Center in Pontiac. Sore muscles and bruises were in style on Friday. The girls made "Bottles for Building" posters at their regular meeting and put them on display in local stores.

January 24 was a triple celebration at the Paul Hinkley house on Langle. Mr. Hinkley celebrated his birthday and was joined by granddaughter, Kristin, who celebrated her 1st. It was an early celebration for Kristin whose birthday is February 3. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moore of Kalamazoo. The Hinkleys' son, Paul II, was home from Kalamazoo to help his dad celebrate. January 25 is the 27th anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Hinkley's wedding, so mother was an honored guest too.

Kathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muscat of Robertson Ct., chose spaghetti for dinner on her 6th birthday, January 26. Coming to help celebrate were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muscat of Walled Lake and Mrs. Frank Zwicker of Clarkston. They ate birthday cake at home and then took a trip to Farrell's in Pontiac for their well known birthday treat. All this should be topped off with a stomach ache! Good luck.

When asked what he would like to do on his birthday, our son Mike was not content with spaghetti or Farrell's. His choice was lobster tails at the Old Mill and lemon meringue pie. I guess by the age of 14 your tastes change. As of this writing, I'm not sure about the lobster tails, but I can guarantee the pie.

The first month of the new year and another month of winter is about over and no one is happier about it than I. I do wish our many friends in Florida, Arizona and all those parts of the country where the sun is shining would drop us a line and let us know what they are doing.

Kutting Korners

Austria is a beautiful country, filled with mountains, picturesque chalets and, at this time of the year, many skiing tourists.

The Austrians specialize in pastries and rich desserts that they serve with coffee at the close of the day's activities.

So when the last skier has come down from the mountain, you will frequently find them in the pastry shops in the little villages enjoying a slice of melt-in-your-mouth cake or torte.

Try this one if you really want a sample.

INNSBRUCK TORTE

1 1/4 cups unsifted all purpose flour
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 1/4 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon double acting baking powder
2/3 cup soft type margarine
4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
1 1/4 cups water
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs

2 packages (4 oz. each) sweet cooking chocolate
3/4 cup soft type margarine
1/2 cup chopped toasted almonds

2 cups (1 pt.) heavy cream
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine flour, 1 1/4 cups of sugar, the soda, salt, baking powder, 2/3 cup margarine, the melted unsweetened chocolate, water and 1 teaspoon vanilla, in a large mixer bowl. Beat at low speed to blend; then beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping sides and bottom of bowl frequently. Add eggs; beat 2 minutes longer. Pour batter into four 9-inch layer pans which have been lined with wax paper. Layers will be thin. Bake at 350 degrees for 17 to 20 minutes, or until cake tester inserted into center comes out clean. Cool slightly in pans; then remove from pans and finish cooling on racks.

Melt 1 1/2 packages of the sweet cooking chocolate over hot water. Cool. Blend in 1/4 cup margarine and the almonds.

Whip the cream with 1 tablespoon sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Do not overbeat.

Place 1 layer of cake on serving plate; spread with half the chocolate frosting mixture; top with next layer and spread with half of the whipped cream. Repeat layers, spreading whipped cream on top. Do not frost sides. Using a vegetable peeler, make chocolate curls from remaining half package of sweet cooking chocolate; use to decorate top completely. Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Sue Baber called to ask if I could direct her to the place to buy Ro tel, the chili and tomato concoction I put in a dip that appeared several weeks ago.

Sue has lived in Texas and was familiar with the dip. Said that it made her mouth water just thinking about it.

Cheer up, the address is on the way. Sorry to say though, you have to send all the way to Texas to get the Ro tel.

Sings at benefit

Debbie Groves of Cherrywood Street will appear in a country music benefit show to be held in the Clarkston High School auditorium on January 31.

The show will benefit the Erol Hill family, whose 19-year-old son, Kenny, died on January 17 after a costly illness.

Debbie sings and Erol Hill picks steel for the Princetons.

In September Debbie was awarded Honorable Mention in Kountry Karavan's 4th annual Country Western Midwest Convention competition at Jackson, Michigan.

Other country music entertainers will be on hand to entertain from 2 to 9 p.m.

A $1.50 donation will be asked for adults and 50 cents for children over 5. Ticket holders may leave and return at will.

Glass collection nets 16 1/4 ton

Sixteen and a quarter tons of trash glass were amassed in Independence Township's first "Bottles for Building" collection on January 16 and 17.

The report of the actual weight came from officials of the Grand Trunk Railroad.

The trash glass will net the committee and the township $325.

From local reaction and with the benefit of past experience, the committee feels that the February collection should net at least 70 tons.

More resident participation will be the objective of the committee's work during the next few weeks.

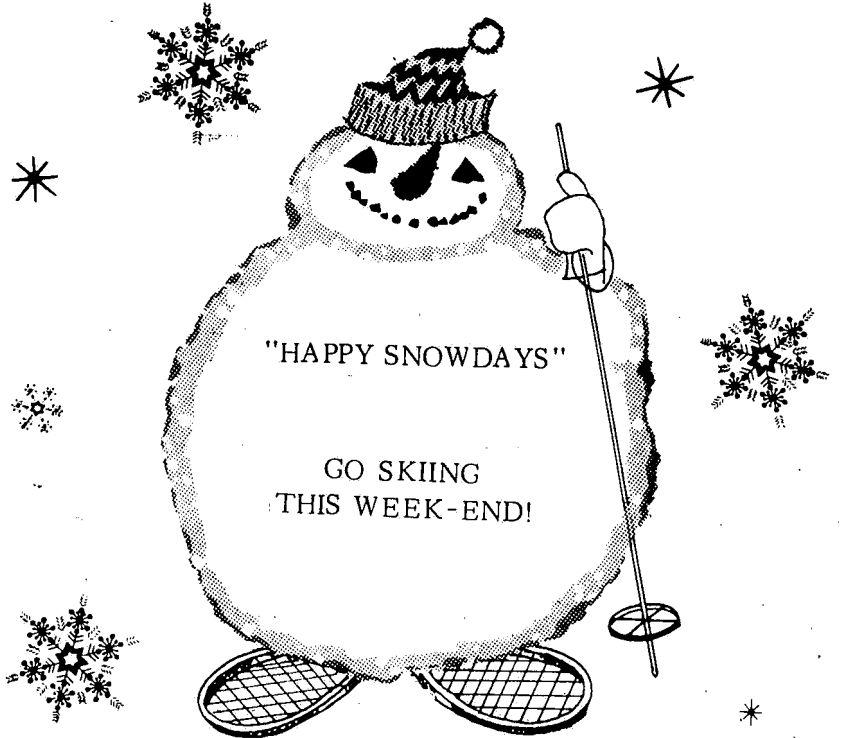

February 20 and every 3rd Saturday of subsequent months will be designated as collection days.

Glass should be placed in containers at the curb near your home by 9 a.m. Collection will be made in 27 major subdivisions. Drop off centers will be open longer (from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.) during the next drive.

Committee chairmen for the February drive were appointed. They include: Keith Humbert, construction; Ken Barks, transportation; Mrs. Laura Weld, woman power; Mike Gorrie, man power; Roger Fry, boy power; Penee Easton, girl power and Mrs. William Kunse, publicity.

Rebecca Kottmann, 1122 N. Cass Lake Rd. and a student at Mott-Waterford, was selected as the winner of the Miss Junior Achievement Contest for the Clarkston Junior Achievement Business Center. She was chosen by a panel of judges and will represent the Business Center throughout the year.

Spiritual Message

The Rev. Alexander T. Stewart

"If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?" Psalm 11:3

This question, posed by the Psalmist over 2500 years ago, is one that comes to mind increasingly as we recognize the assaults being made on the foundations of our society by many divergent forces: and note the not inconsiderable damage they are accomplishing. We see the law trodden underfoot and crime increasing, the health of the nation imperiled by drugs, our natural resources and environment being polluted and wasted, public and private morals on the decline, and much else that we have considered good in life being attacked and eroded.

We, naturally, have taken for granted that the good life requires a favorable situation and good means for living it. Our modern sociology rests upon this assumption. What is the sense, we say, in expecting a child to grow up to be a good citizen in an evil environment, so we do all we can to provide him with the necessary props to a good environment: a good education, safe streets, good food, clean air and so on. As a principle of social planning this is the only one with any merit. And it is quite possible for people to lead a good life when the circumstances favor it.

But the test of a people - or a person - comes when the props are knocked out from under them or are wobbly, when the foundations are shaken or destroyed. If we are good people as long as the circumstances are on our side, what will happen to our goodness, and to us, if the circumstances change? This question is not answered easily. It evolves around another question, "In whom do we put our trust?" If the answer is, "In ourselves," with our props destroyed how will we stand? But, if we have placed our faith, trust and hope in God, He will sustain us, even though the "Foundations be destroyed." This is the only answer to the Psalmist's question. It has brought mankind through all manner of evil, and it can again. "If the foundations be destroyed, what will the righteous do?"

Touring the new training

Herb Olson, principal of the Northwest Oakland Area Vocational Education Center, is an important cog in the machinery which has developed the Center. For the past 2 years he has guided and coordinated the planning and building of the school that will open on February 15.

Steven Himburg, a graduate of Michigan State University, will head the Distributive Education Department at the new Vocational School. Distributive Education will cover the complete field of marketing. Himburg, who has taught in Fraser, Michigan as well as Lyon, France unpacks the mannequins that will be used to teach the art of display.

Team teaching will be featured in the Total Office Occupations Department at NOAVEC. The program, as its title indicates, will cover the entire field of business practices. It will be equipped with up-to-date machinery and current techniques will be taught by Mrs. Louise Dube and Artemus Pappas. Mrs. Dube has experience both as a legal and executive secretary. She is a graduate of Wayne State University and lives in Warren. Artemus Pappas, Clarkston Village Clerk, formerly taught school and has considerable private industry experience.

Miss Bonnie Kremer, a certified Dental Office Assistant, heads the department of Dental Office Assisting. Miss Kremer, who is from Elsie, Michigan got her training at Ferris State and University of Michigan.

ew vocational g center

By Jean Sura.

Approximately 325 students from 7 northwest Oakland County high schools will board school buses on February 15th and travel to the Northwest Oakland Area Vocational Education Center located at 8211 Big Lake Road, just outside of Clarkston.

They will begin classes in an educational venture which is new to this region.

The new school, which is near the intersection of I-75 and Dixie Highway, has been over 2 years in the planning and building. It is the smallest of 4 such centers either built or under construction in Oakland County:

Students from high schools in Clarkston, Holly, Ortonville and Waterford will attend the center for half of the school day and spend the other half in attendance at their home school.

Selections will be made, usually from the Junior classes, and will be determined by the student's aptitude, interest and performance in the vocational area of his choice.

Nine programs will be offered at the Clarkston Center with 1 more, Machine Tool, to be added next fall.

The 9 programs and their instructors are:

Automotive Body Repair, Ellis Allen; Radio, Television Service, Edwin Boadway; Total Office Occupations, Mrs. Louise Dube and Artemus Pappas; Distributive Education, Steven Himburg; Medical Office Assisting, Mrs. Julia Johnson; Commerical Art, Lawrence Keech; Dental Office Assisting, Miss Bonnie Kremer; Modern Printing and Photography, Dale Lage; Major Appliance Service, Therman Nichols.

The school will be operated by the Clarkston School District.

The architecture was done by Richard Prince and Associates on the $1,200,000 building. A Federal subsidy of $466,130 was granted.

The building's potential capacity is 490 students, divided into 1/2 day sessions.

Herbert Olson, who has been named principal of the Northwest Area Center, was formerly vocational director for the Royal Oak Schools. In his 4 years there, he developed a small scaled area vocational program.

His previous experience was in Traverse City where he began as a classroom teacher and co-op coordinator and became, during a 19 year period, the vocational director.

Olson is a graduate of Michigan State University and has an M.A. degree in vocational education from the U. of M.

For the past 2 1/2 years he has worked in Clarkston as the planning director.

"The Vocational Education Centers have 3 major purposes or goals for the educational preparation of today's high school student," said Olson.

"First, we aim to provide high school graduates with at least one saleable skill in order that they may be able to find a job if they wish to enter directly into the work force."

"We also hope to give students who are inclined toward further training in technical or business occupations a ground work for the schools which require 2 or 3 years of further education beyond high school."

"Finally, we will work to give students who would like to enter the apprenticeship trades an opportunity to get a more favorable base for apprenticeship consideration."

The Boy Scouts of Troop 105, sponsored by Chief Pontiac Post 377 present an American flag to Herb Olson, Principal of the Northwest Oakland Area Vocational Education Center. Troop members, Gerry Walker, Robert Graham, Kevin Ridley, Allen Klein, Jerry Walker and Mike Robertson, along with Scoutmaster, Howard Bliss are on hand for the presentation.

Putting things in order in the Medical Office Assisting Department at the new Northwest Oakland Area Vocational Education Center is Mrs. Julia Johnson. Mrs. Johnson, who will head this department, is a resident of Clarkston and received her R.N. degree from Henry Ford Hospital. Clarkston residents who have had occasion to visit the offices of Dr. James O'Neil may remember Mrs. Johnson, who was employed as office nurse.

Edna Mac Donald

Edna B. MacDonald of 6795 Lingor Drive died after a lengthy illness on January 18. She was 84. Her husband preceded her in death.

She was a member of First Church of Christ Scientist in Pontiac.

Mrs. Joan Phillips of Clarkston, her daughter, survives. Also surviving is one grandson.

Funeral services were conducted from the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home on January 21. Burial was in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Attorney approves referendum counting method

The legality of allowing more than one referendum at one election was cleared up Tuesday night by the township's attorney, Richard Campbell.

He said there was precedent in the state on issues such as number of similar ballots at an election, and Campbell encouraged the board to have multiple votes on a single day.

In particular, Campbell and the board are concerned with voting dates for zoning referendums. Three are pending. Two of these are apparently ready for voting when the board sets an election date.

In the same letter to the Board, read at the regular meeting, Campbell said there was no set way to decide a measure for establishing 15 percent of residents living in and owning property in the township.

The 61st Annual Meeting of the North Oakland Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Elks' Temple, February 17, with dinner at 7:00 o'clock. Guest speaker for the meeting will be C. Merle Crawford, Ph.D., Professor of Marketing, Graduate School of Business Administration, University of Michigan. Tickets are available through Mr. Warren Newton, ticket chairman, First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland. They are $8.00.

This is the wording in the law concerning referendums. Valid signatures of this percent are required to force the referendum.

Campbell reasoned that since the law wasn't specific, the township would have to decide its own measure for establishing the 15 percent. He said Clerk Howard Altman's method was satisfactory.

Altman is using 1970 census figures, eliminating residents under age from figures from the schools, eliminating apartment dwellers by using owner figures of occupancy and adding or eliminating from other sources.

The attorney further stated Altman should have a surplus of valid signatures above the 1358 he set as the required number.

In the two petitions where counting is complete, the mobile home park on Clintonville and shopping center at Waterford Hill, 1400 signatures have been validated.

The third petition is for multiples on Walton. A court restraining order is stopping the clerk from continuing his count of valid signatures. This suit was started by Gerald Anderson of Clarkston.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock said Tuesday night that Campbell was planning to meet with Anderson and his attorney to discuss their willingness to drop the suit and allow all three referendums on one election date.

CLARKSTON vs ROCHESTER ADAMS

The wrestling team dropped a close non-league meet to Rochester-Adams on Tues., Jan. 19 in their home gym.

The "horses" came through with individual wins, but the extra point falls just wouldn't come. The defeat was determined in the final match.

Mike Packer decisioned handily at 100 pounds, as did Rick Detkowski at 114 and Kirk Dougherty at 121.

With the exception of 140 pounder Brian Knake's decision and brother Allen Knake's pin at 169, plus Mark Willis at 187 wrestling to a draw, the mid and upper weights were disappointing.

Final score: Rochester Adams 28 - Clarkston 19.

Wolverines roll on

By Lynn Surre

The Clarkston Wolverines traveled to Milford Highland and beat the home team by a score of 41-19.

Using coach McDonald's platoon system, the Wolverines jumped out to an early lead and went off the court at halftime with a big lead. The Wolverines then coasted to the win.

The Wolverines are still undefeated. Their record is 8 wins and 0 losses.

Gary Mason (13) hesitates in mid-air before shooting over Milford Highland's defense. The Clarkston 9th grade team went on to win the game by a score of 41-19.

CLARKSTON VS. WATERFORD KETTERING

The frustrating loss to Rochester Adams on Tuesday night was pushed aside by victory on Thursday, Jan. 21, on the big blue home mat. In an important conference dual meet, the Clarkston matmen ripped Kettering 26 to 19.

Again the falls seemed hard to score. Finally they came and slowly the point accumulation of 3 decisions, 3 pins and 1 draw added up to a happy coach and team.

At 100 pounds, Mike Packer decisioned (12-3) to bring his personal record to 25 - 1. Rick Detkowski at 114 decisioned (8-0) to advance his won-lost to 20-4. Brian Gerber came on tough to pin at 128.

Brian Knake decisioned sharply at 147, (7-0), and Dan Lucas picked up a hard earned draw at 157. Allen Knake, now 18-3 in the season, scored a clean fast fall at 167 and Mark Willis pinned neatly at 187.

Across the board, it was a good united effort.

Coach Moscovic's varsity is now 3-2 in the league, with two dual meets still on the sheet, both conference clashes. The wrestling team is beginning to balance and should come on strong in Bloomfield Andover's gym on Thursday, Jan. 28.

Cookie time

Over 10,000 Girl Scouts in Northern Oakland County are sharpening pencils and checking last year's lists in preparation for taking cookie orders, January 22 through 31. Customers ordering at this time will receive cookies during the period March 5 through 21.

An annual fund raising event, Girl Scout cookie sales help finance services and activities for over 10,000 Girl Scouts. Cookie sale funds pay for development and maintenance of Camp Sherwood for year around use. They finance summer outdoor activities and furnish supplies to train leaders.

Responsible for Girl Scout cookie sales in the Independence Township area is Mrs. Earla Lasswell, who reports that 5 kinds of cookies will again be on sale.

Over 320,000 boxes of cookies were sold in 1970.

Quick board notes

Tuesday, January 19, 1971

The present mobile home park ordinance has been reviewed. Supervisor Gary Stonerock said several areas need to be more specific, but there was no use adding more amendments at this time. A new ordinance was needed.

The township attorneys are studying a snowmobile ordinance.

A resolution passed last October was reinstated by the board. It calls for removal of 2 buildings on lots 13 and 29 in Woodhull Lake Sub. The owner said he has improved one house and would complete it if the township would issue the permits.

The owner's recourse now is to appeal through the courts.

The lot split fee, which was lowered last year from $25 to $5, was raised to $25. Four lot splits were on the agenda Tuesday night, 3 were approved.

A request for rezoning 8.5 acres adjacent to Clarkston Village (west of Clarkston Lumber) to multiple dwellings was returned to the Planning Commission. Previously recommended for approval by the Commission, the planners recently issued a new report of objections to the zoning. The rezoning is also opposed by the village, according to the report.

The attorneys' retainer fee was set at $250 a month, the same as with the previous counsel.

A new building inspector was named by Stonerock. William Kern, former assistant to inspector Bill Cobb, will move into the $9500 a year post.

"You may not remember but I was on a biology field trip with you.
 "Can I get you another root beer?"
 "We have something in common. We both went to Rah Rah Tech."
 "Does that old cigar smoke bother you? Here, I'll open the door."
 "Does that draft bother you? I'll close the door."
 "What is your concept of negative parental development?"
 The poor girl hiccupped and some egg head type said, "Why my dear, that is brilliant. I think I'll recommend you for the president's confidential committee working to eliminate scrolls and curliques from the teaching of penmanship to left handed minority groups."
 "Have you made any lateral motion in the field of 'self contained' students?"

chimed in another old gray head.
 "How would it be if I just take your reservation and check to make sure that you have a seat at dinner. Maybe if you're sitting near me we can share a cab to make sure that you won't be uncomfortable with all these men around you."

 If I thought that I could get a fraction of the attention that was lavished on that gal, I'd travel by kiddie car and row boat to Nome, Alaska to attend the convention of the pure-blooded Hop-en-sack Indians.

For a while I mused on things that might happen at my first Press Convention. I would be wined, dined and catered to. My opinions and ideas would be spread across the state in awe. I would be the darling of the press room gang.

 That's when I woke up.
 I think that I'm coming down with a rare, incurable disease, too.
 Thank you, sirs, I don't care to dance. Please don't coax me.
 Have you ever heard of a seventeen-year-old boy asking his nine-year-old brother to go along on a heavy date?
 "Aaaaah, Jean," stammered my publisher. "Did you really want to go to the Press Convention? If you want to go, I guess that we should, aaaaaah, make your reservations."
 Now I know that he and his wife look forward to this affair all year long. Unless I could talk my husband into going or could find another lady editor, I'd be a fifth wheel.
 "Press convention, huh?" said Gene that night when he saw me looking over the agenda.

 "Would you like to go with me?"
 "Me, a lady-editor's-husband, at a press convention? You must be kidding. What would I do while you were off discussing off-set and old flat beds?"
 "Well, how many principals' conventions have I gone to with you?" I countered.
 "Tell me, do they have style shows and teas for lady editors' husbands? Have they arranged a little tour of the press room so I will be more understanding of your problems?"
 "Of course," he sneered, "I suppose I could always shop."
 "I think I'm a good sport but I think I'm coming down with a rare, incurable disease that day. You're a big girl. Why don't you go by yourself? There was a lady high school principal that used to go to our conventions. She was the belle of the ball."

I remember that dame. I have to admit that she was a pretty classy looking gal, but the way those old coots fawned over her made me sick.

"Can I get you a chair?"
 "Here now, we need a little ice in that old drinkie."

Board told of SEMCOG

The Independence Board and over 50 residents got a first hand report on SEMCOG at Tuesday night's regular Board meeting. SEMCOG is Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. Simply put, they are regional planners.

Paul Reid, director of the planning division of the Council, and Don Ivy, of the public relations department, told of the background and function of the organization. They were invited to the meeting by supervisor Gary Stonerock, who has shown an interest in having the township join the voluntary group.

SEMCOG is an outgrowth of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission which came from an inter-county council, started in about 1952.

SEMCOG serves as an intermediary between local governments and federal authorities in expenditures of federal funds for local developments. Their jurisdiction is all or parts of 7 counties in southeast Michigan.

During the question and answer session, several residents asked questions that seemed to indicate opposition to joining the organization. After the meeting a handbill was passed out (outside the meeting room) that called SEMCOG an unnecessary expense.

Trustee Tom Bullen voiced the opinion that the $400 dues per year might be a small expenditure for the amount of information SEMCOG could provide if asked. Ivy said one of the functions of his group was an information collection and distribution center. They are also the official distributors of census information.

The 1971 goal for SEMCOG is: 1. Finish the TALUS report, 2. Study solid waste disposal, 3. Start a regional airport study, 4. Finish water-sewer plan, 5. Start study on storm drain.

Language

by Shel George

English was not my favorite subject in school. In fact, outside of recess and lunch hour, I don't recall any favorite. I have some old report cards to prove it.

The study of any language is tough. The thing that threw me was the "exception to the rule."

Remember this popular little ditty used as a learning "crutch?" "I before E except after C."

I memorized that one just in time to misspell the word science on a spelling test.

Speaking of language inconsistencies, the proper method of making words plural still forces me to the dictionary.

I read of an ingenious method one man used to solve this problem.

This fellow spent a lot of time searching for a profitable hobby.

Finally he decided to become involved in raising animals. This had appeal because he liked working with "live" things.

He read outdoor magazines for information on animal raising. He read about birds, hunting dogs, fox, chinchillas, rabbits and every other animal you can think of.

He finally read about a man who had a mongoose farm. This intrigued him. According to the article, very few people knew anything about the animal, let alone had any experience raising them.

He sat down to write the man a letter. He decided he might as well order a mated pair and get started on his hobby.

The letter went well until he tried to determine what the plural of mongoose was. Should he say two "mongooses" or was it proper to say two "mongeese." Neither sounded right. He worked it out this way.

Dear Sir:
 Please send me a male mongoose. And while you're at it, please send me a female one also.

Learning correct language is as hazardous as lying to your wife.

TB
 At first glance, the idea of any relationship between tuberculosis and arthritis seems about as unlikely as ice cream on spaghetti. Yet there is an important link in the method of treatment.

Steroid drugs are commonly used for arthritis patients, and these can reactivate tuberculosis in a former patient. These drugs can also cause a breakdown into active TB on the part of a person who is infected with the tuberculosis germ but who hasn't actually been ill, so far.

The activation of TB by steroid drugs can be particularly unfortunate in one who lives or works closely with many people -- a school teacher or institutional worker, for instance. Local epidemics of TB have been traced to school employees under treatment for arthritis who have a past half-forgotten history of tuberculosis.

This has led the American Thoracic Society (medical section of the National TB and Respiratory Disease Association) to recommend that nobody be given steroids without checking to see if he has a history of the disease or is currently infected.

This can be gained through a simple tuberculin test or a chest X-ray; the ATS recommends both, in such cases. It also urges that anyone receiving steroids and who has a positive reaction to either test, be given the highly effective anti-TB drug isoniazid while steroid treatment is in progress and for six weeks thereafter.

And if you've ever had TB and no suffer from arthritis, tell your doctor

Wolves tumble to Brighton

By Craig Moore

The Clarkston Wolves fell victims to their own mistakes last Friday, committing 25 turnovers as the Brighton Bulldogs upset the Wolves, 74-63.

Brighton took an early lead and never found trouble in the game. The first quarter ended 18-12. By the close of the first half, Brighton had increased their lead to 10 points.

Brighton continued to build on their advantage with as much as a 16 point margin in the second half.

Clarkston trailed by 13 at the outset of the third quarter and the Bulldogs finished the game, 74-63.

The Wolves had the game's high scorer in Don Brown who pumped in 26 points. Gary White followed with 15.

Brown and White combined for 19 rebounds.

Clarkston shot 37% from the floor and 15 of 25 at the foul line for 60%.

The Wolves have a 4-5 season record and are 3-4 in Wayne-Oakland play.

Coach Hanson commented, "We tried to rush too much and as a result committed turnovers. I think the thing that hurt us more than the turnovers was our inability to cash in on easy baskets we had opportunities to make."

***

The JV Wolves were nipped in a close game by the JV Bulldogs, 53-49.

Brighton took a 14-8 first quarter lead, but the stubborn Wolves didn't give them an easy game.

The Wolves forged ahead, then lost their lead in the second quarter which ended 25-24 for Brighton.

Throughout the second half, the scores remained close and the third quarter ended with the Wolves 1 point lacking again, 37-36.

The game was in reach but the Wolves couldn't pull it out of the fire. The JV Bulldogs took it 53-49.

Leading scorers were Larry Miracle, 17 points and Bill Hamilton with 11.

Larry Miracle and Dave Partlo both pulled in 9 rebounds.

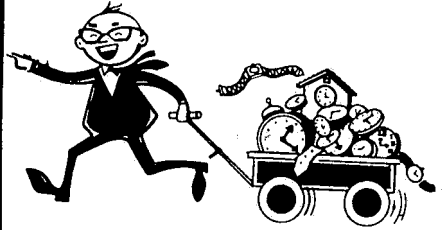

The Wolves shot 35% from the field and 59% from the foul line.

Clarkston JV has a 6-3 season record.

Coach Pierson commented, "Our press wasn't working because we had been scouted in 2 previous games. In addition, our offense wasn't clicking. When you haven't been beaten in the league all the schools are out to get your hide. Brighton was out to win."

Friday, Jan. 29, the Clarkston Wolves will host the West Bloomfield Lakers. JV starts at 6:30 and the Varsity game follows.
