Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

There's a blizzard going on right now like these eyes haven't seen in many a moon. Stories are going on about multiple car pile ups, stranded school buses loaded with youngsters, and how lousy it all is for business.

As my mind wanders back, trying to recall previous storms, other instances and things of little note come to mind. None will bring any tears, solve any problems or cause confusion of mind.

For some reason, the thought of me in new bib overalls is flashing. Where is that picture of me at age 4 with my new bib overalls "just like my railroading dad's," red hen under one arm and collie dog by my side. Bare foot, too.

We had a great variety of well pumps as we moved from one farm to another as a boy. The best one was green and had a sheetmetal housing. Water came up in cups when the crank was turned.

What I remember most about this pump was the day I decided to take a lick of snow off the top and the tip of my tongue stuck to the metal. The tip stayed there, too. I can still remember the sting.

On the same farm we had a windmill about 50 yards from the house. It was my job to fill the reservoir in the wood range from that pump. The wind power filled the buckets, so pumping didn't tire me, but carrying those buckets did.

Of course, to cut down on trips I'd fill the buckets to within an inch of the top. And, being a skinny 8-year-old the water would spill over the top and fill my shoes.

Once you start recalling childhood days, one thing leads to another. How I loved to get up on a chair and help mother make doughnuts. She'd drop them in the hot grease and I'd turn them over. Wow, were those doughnuts good!

Another thing I liked to do as a boy was get my dad's World War I leggings he wore with his uniform and wrap my legs. I didn't even know what it meant, but I went "over the top" and captured bunkers and won war after war.

Moths finally got the leggings.

Another thing the moths must have gotten was my dad's grey flannel knickers. He used to wear them when he played golf in the early 20's in Kalamazoo. I got an urge last year to find those knickers so I could look like a "swell" on

It was pretty cool waiting for the school bus during the weeks sub-zero weather. These kids on Sashabaw near Fleming Road must have dressed according to the weatherman's instructions.

JC'S schedule 'Winter Carnival'

The Clarkston Area Jaycees will present their first annual winter carnival on Sunday, February 21.

The carnival will be held at the Village Parking Lot and on the Mill Pond from 1 to 5 p.m.

Among the events listed by the committee, which is headed by Roland Elkins, are skating races for students from the 5th through 12th grades and an ice or snow sculpturing contest for students in the 9th to 12th grades.

A traveling trophy will be presented to the winning class in the sculpturing contest. Individual prizes will go to the winners of the skating races.

Plans are being completed to present an exhibition of dog sledding and Boy Scouts will demonstrate their sled techniques.

Arrangements are also being made to provide facilities for spectators.

"We hope that the community will support the carnival with enthusiasm," said Elkins. "Further details will be released in the immediate future."

the links, but they're gone.

Bermuda shorts will never look as good as grey flannel knickers on a golf course.

Twp. residents organize

Approximately 50 people attended an organizational meeting of the Independence Township Association on February 1.

Officers of the fledgling organization are Mark Harris, Allen road, president; Lloyd Hanson, Cranberry Lake, vice president; Julie Smith, Woodhull Lake, secretary and Pat Johns, Allen Road, treasurer.

Tom Hunter has been directed to draft papers of incorporation for the organization. The structure will be patterned after the Oakland Township Association, which has been lending assistance.

The composition of various committees was discussed, but assignments were delayed until after questionnaires are circulated in the area.

The questionnaires will ask residents' opinions on what areas the organization should concentrate.

The next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on February 15. They will meet at the Independence Township Hall.

UAW-Hawk stalemate

No progress was reported at the Feb. 1 meeting of negotiators for Hawk Tool and UAW Local 540.

Allen Hawke, a spokesman for the company, reported that the union had remained adamant in their demands.

Winter band concert set

The instrumental music department at Clarkston High School has slated its winter band concert for Thursday, February 11 at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Lee Campbell, a high school junior, will be student soloist on the program and will perform the second movement from the "E-Flat Concerto for Alto Saxophone" by Ronald Binge.

The concert will open with the march, "Trumpets of Splendor," by John Cacavas which features the trumpet section. This will be followed by an original suite written in 1911 by Gustav Holst.

Holst wrote two suites which are considered classics in the band repertoire. The Clarkston band will perform the "Second Suite in F" based on old English country tunes.

The first half of the concert will end with the "American Civil War Fantasy" by Jerry Bilik, a musical panorama of Civil War tunes that were played and sung during Civil War times.

Music featured during the second half will be the rousing, contemporary, "Overture in B-Flat" written in 1966 by Caesar Giovannini.

The band will also perform Irish folk music by Percy Grainger and the program will conclude with "Theme and Rock-Out" by John Cacavas featuring senior Dick Newlin on the drums.

This is the first formal concert for the band under director Keith Sipos. Sipos is a graduate of Wayne State University and has taught in Hillsdale and Fowlerville before coming to Clarkston.

Tickets may be purchased from band students or at the door on the night of the concert.

Avondale takes Clarkston tourney

Despite stormy weather and drifted roads, the second annual Clarkston Invitational wrestling tournament got under way at 11 a.m. on January 30.

Avondale was judged the winner when the scores were totaled at 9 p.m. A narrow margin separated the next-3 teams with Clarkston, the host team, finishing 4th.

Three Clarkston wrestlers went into the finals with Mike Packer at 100 pounds, emerging the only champion.

Packer blasted his way through the preliminaries with a pair of falls and came on strong in the finals to decision. He is now 29-1 in the season with 6 out of 7 tournament championships. A runner-up spot accounts for the single loss.

Mike Seaton at 107 pounds, wrestled his way to the finals and finished with the silver 2nd place medal. He roared from behind twice to score pins and show his future potential, according to spectators.

Heavyweight Mark Hoxsie decisively beat both opponents in the preliminary bouts, but walked off the final mat with a second place silver medal.

The Wolves piled up 3 third places in the consolation finals. Rick Detkowski, at 114, scored a 1st match fall, lost a close 2nd match and snapped back to pin his 3rd man and decided for the bronze.

Kirk Dougherty, 119, shook off his 2nd match loss to first seed Avondale, and took his next 2 matches for the second bronze medal.

Al Knake, 169, defeated his 1st opponent, lost the 2nd bout and snapped back through his 3rd and 4th matches to capture Clarkston's 3rd bronze medal.

Visiting coaches and contestants commented on the good organization and handling of the tournament by coach Dick Moscovic, Bill Mackson and Jim Chamberlain.

The Wolves will face Milford at home on February 4 at 6:30 p.m. and close the season with the Wayne-Oakland meet, which will be held at 11 a.m. at the Clarkston gym on February 13.

District matches will begin at Rochester Adams on February 20.

Democrats meet

The Independence Township Democrats will meet and elect officers on Thursday, February 4.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at 5314 Pine Knob Road.

All interested citizens are invited to attend.

"If It Fitz . . ."

No more confessions?

By Jim Fitzgerald

Pope Paul has asked the world's 3,199 Catholic bishops to study a Vatican recommendation to eliminate obligatory, head-to-head confession. Instead, congregations would confess sins jointly and not specifically, in a prayer of general confession. In return, the priest would give them joint absolution, urging them to go and sin no more — but to hurry back if they do.

If the bishops approve, private confessions could be eliminated within a year, according to Vatican sources. I'll leave it to the theologians to decide if this would be good or bad. My concern is more commercial:

What would be done with all those emptied confessionals?

To me, confessionals have always been marvelously spooky yet functional contraptions.

don't think they've changed much since my childhood when I went to confession every Saturday even if I had to lie about how many lies I'd told so the priest wouldn't think I was wasting his time.

In those days, and probably today, most confessionals had 3 separate compartments, each about the size of a phone booth, and each shrouded in pious darkness. The priest sat in the middle, preferably on a swivel stool. Small screened windows with sliding doors allowed him to talk to the sinners, one at a time, in the other 2 compartments. The sinner in 1 compartment was not supposed to try to hear what the sinner in the other compartment was confessing to the priest. But what could you do if the other sinner was a noisy whisperer, or the priest was hard of hearing? The nuns used to tell us to plug our ears but that was asking an awful lot of a little kid who knew his rotten sister was in the other compartment.

If these confessionals are abandoned, there will probably be many suggestions for what to do with them. A confessional planter would certainly make a great conversation piece in the recreation room. A non-plumber might find triple use for one 50 yards behind his cabin in the north woods. A New York landlord might rent one as a 3-room apartment to a family of 12 Puerto Ricans.

How about mini-offices on wheels for psychiatrists who want to go where the neuroses are? They could park them in front of Catholic churches where old-fashioned parishioners might be wandering around looking for someone to talk to.

A used confessional might be useful to the genius who will inevitably create the TV show, "Son of Dating Game." Graduates of the parent show could be called back to confess what they did on their dates. The contestant would sit in the middle. You take it from there.

Obviously, the possibilities are unlimited. Probably the best idea for the individual churches would be a public auction of confessionals. The bidding could get fierce between users who have become addicted and don't want to quit cold turkey. These auctions could be the greatest fund-raisers since bingo.

Players present "Dirty Works"

The Clarkston Village Players are preparing their 10th anniversary performance. They have chosen the play "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" for the occasion. The family type show is a melodrama.

It was first presented by the group to Clarkston audiences in 1964 and was the first performance to be given in the Depot Theater.

The play will run for 2 weekends, February 19, 20 and 21 and February 26, 27 and 28.

Many of the original cast will recreate their roles.

Tickets will be available on a first-come basis. They will be sold by members of the Players or at the door of the Depot

Theater on White Lake Road.

A theater afterglow will follow the opening night performance.

Honors

Catherine Chad of 6116 Snow Apple, a senior, was among 4,107 students who were listed on the Michigan State University honors list for fall term.

To be eligible for the honors list, a student must achieve at least a 3.5 (B plus) grade point average for the term.

Of the total, 608 students received at least a 4.0 grade point average.

Approximately 75 percent of the honor students were from Michigan.

Johnny Orr, head basketball coach at the University of Michigan, will be the principal speaker at the 2nd annual Rotary Father and Son Banquet on February 8. Dan Fife, senior and captain of Orr's 1971 team and an ex-Clarkston prep star will be the honored guest. The banquet will be held at Howe's Lanes.

Lincoln's birthday will be rolling around soon. What is more fitting than a dinner featuring wild meat? It is probably time that you with venison in your freezers start thinking about using it up, too.

When thinking about wild meat, nothing seemed more natural than to refer to the recipe book that has been assembled by the Drayton Plains Nature Center. The book is fun and informative to have. I understand that they still have a few available for $3.50.

In the meantime, here is Venison Pot Roast.

VENISON POT ROAST

2 or 3 lb. roast
dry red wine
flour
¼ cup fat
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Potatoes, turnips, carrots, onions, other vegetables as desired.

Marinate roast overnight in the wine. Drain and pat with paper towel. Coat with flour and brown in hot fat (use Dutch oven or electric frying pan). Add salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly for 2 hours, adding water to prevent burning. Add vegetables desired and cook another ½ hour. Add enough water to make 2 cups broth. Thicken for gravy.

Or maybe you would like to try their Venison Soup.

VENISON SOUP

2½ pound venison (shank, flank, neck or breast meat)
2 quarts cold water
1 cup diced carrots
1½ cups diced potatoes
¼ cup diced celery
½ cup finely cut onions
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
3 cups tomato juice
2 tablespoons salt
½ teaspoon savory
1 tablespoon sugar

Simmer meat in salted water for 2 to 2½ hours, skimming occasionally. Let broth stand overnight or until fat has congealed. Remove congealed fat and add vegetables, juice and the seasonings. Simmer slowly for about 2 hours.

Both of the above recipes come with the courtesy of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Now here is a "loggy" recipe to start off your Lincoln Day dinner.

ZIPPY CHEESE LOG
2 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese (at room temperature)
1 cup (8 ounces) creamed cottage cheese
1 envelope Parmesan salad dressing mix
¼ cup chopped parsley
½ cup chopped cooked ham
½ cup chopped nuts

Thoroughly blend cheeses with salad dressing mix; pat into a ½ inch thick rectangle, about 12x9 inches, on a wax paper lined baking sheet or jelly roll pan. Chill about 30 minutes in freezer or 1 hour in refrigerator, or until firm. Spread half of the chopped parsley on about 1 inch of the longer edge of rectangle, then sprinkle ham over the remainder. Roll up tightly like a jelly roll, beginning with the long edge covered with parsley and using a spatula to loosen the cheese from the wax paper while rolling. Combine nuts and remaining parsley. Sprinkle over roll to cover. Wrap in wax paper and chill overnight to allow flavors to mellow. Serve as a cheese spread with crisp crackers for an hors d'oeuvre.

Makes about 2 cups cheese mixture or 1 cheese log.

Mr. and Mrs. Odis L. Matlock of Crestview announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Elaine, to Thomas Andrew Stapleton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stapleton of Port Hope. Miss Matlock will graduate from Central Michigan University in May. Her fiance attends Oakland Community College. An August wedding is being planned.

Pioneers to open drop in-center

The Clarkston Pioneer Club met at the Community House on January 28 with 43 members present.

Mrs. Florence Hubbard, the new president, presided with Mrs. Thelma Milward and Mrs. Helene Mehlberg assisting with the musical part of the program.

James Mahar of Miller Road presented and narrated a film he had made on Oakland County.

A Sunshine Committee was appointed with members representing all parts of the community.

The members demonstrated enthusiasm for a drop-in center which is in the planning stages. The center will be in the old library, near the Community House.

Mrs. Hubbard extended an invitation to all retirees living in the area to attend the group's next meeting on February 28. The meeting will have an anniversary theme and dinner will be served.

More information can be obtained by calling MA 5-4868.

Mrs. Pat Valentine was the guest speaker at the Clarkston Community Women's Club on January 28. Mrs. Valentine, a strong force in the development of the new library, reviewed 2 books that are available.

Robert Oja celebrated his 4th birthday on January 29. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Oja of Sagamore. A family dinner followed by cake and ice cream marked the occasion.

A birthday and an anniversary were celebrated at the Robert Tilley home on Transparent this week. Mr. and Mrs. Tilley celebrated their 15th anniversary on Friday, Jan. 29, with dinner at the Clarkston Cafe. They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bradley. It was to have been a birthday dinner for Ken Winship, too, but he failed to inform his wife, so that she had dinner ready at home. The couples went back to Winships' after dinner for the evening.

Matthew Tilley planned to spend the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fraser in Flushing, for his 10th birthday, but the Friday blizzard made the trip impossible. He enjoyed a family dinner on Sunday and will make the trip next weekend if the weather man cooperates.

The Clarkston Jaycees had a family skating party at Little Walters Lake on Sunday, January 31. It was 5 below zero so a spot near the bonfire was the most popular place to be. A very few of the 95 people skated and only one brave couple traveled from Snow Apple Drive by snowmobile. The fire really felt good to them. Right, Morgans?

Members of the Jaycee basketball team thawed out just in time to play Rochester in the round robin tournament finals. They lost in an overtime period when Rochester dropped in a basket from the free throw line.

Mrs. Nora Hamilton is a patient at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and looks forward to mail call. Let's keep her busy with cards.

Amanda Hertler was joined by Rose Mary Becker, Kathy O'Dea and Karon Muto for dinner and the movie "The Aristocats" on Thursday, Jan. 28. It was Amanda's 10th birthday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hertler of N. Holcomb.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mandilk of Church Street have returned from a week's stay in Las Croabas, Puerto Rico where they attended the Michigan Road Builders' Convention. These lucky people missed all the below zero weather we had last week. While we were suffering, they were enjoying 90 degree temperature and, to make matters worse, they added, "the golfing was out of this world."

They did have one disappointment. One of their bags, the one with all the souvenirs, was lost on their return trip.

Last call for Betty Crocker coupons. The Jaycettes have to have them counted and turned in by the 19th of February. The canisters in town will be out until the 11th of February or they can be turned in at the Clarkston News office until that date.

Randy and Danny Fancher celebrated joint birthdays on Jan. 24. They took little brother Mark to the auto show at Cobo Hall. Randy was 18 on the 25th and Danny 15 on Jan. 29. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Fancher of Dixie Highway.

A family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rose in honor of Althea Rose's birthday on January 30. Those who helped Althea celebrate were Janet and Arthur (Pete) Rose, their son, Steve and Mrs. Rose's father, Mr. Fisher. Many happy returns.

Just a wallflower

By Jean Sura

Last week's wind blew so hard when we assembled the Clarkston News that the column "Just a Wallflower" by Jean Sura might better have been called "Gone with the Wind."

Here it is in the correct order.

Have you ever heard of a seventeen-year-old boy asking his nine-year-old brother to go along on a heavy date?

"Aaaaah, Jean," stammered my publisher. "Did you really want to go to the Press Convention? If you want to go, I guess that we should, aaaaaah, make your reservations."

Now I know that he and his wife look forward to this affair all year long. Unless I could talk my husband into going or could find another lady editor, I'd be a fifth wheel.

"Press convention, huh?" said Gene that night when he saw me looking over the agenda.

"Would you like to go with me?"

"Me, a lady-editor's-husband, at a press convention? You must be kidding. What would I do while you were off discussing off-set and old flat beds?"

"Well, how many principals' conventions have I gone to with you?" I countered.

"Tell me, do they have style shows and teas for lady editors' husbands? Have they arranged a little tour of the press room so I will be more understanding of your problems?"

"Of course," he sneered, "I suppose I could always shop."

"I think I'm a good sport but I think I'm coming down with a rare, incurable disease that day. You're a big girl. Why don't you go by yourself? There was a lady high school principal that used to go to our conventions. She was the belle of the ball."

I remember that dame. I have to admit that she was a pretty classy looking gal, but the way those old coots fawned over her made me sick.

"Can I get you a chair?"

"Here now, we need a little ice in that old drinkie."

"You may not remember but I was on a biology field trip with you."

"Can I get you another root beer?"

"We have something in common. We both went to Rah Rah Tech."

"Does that old cigar smoke bother you? Here, I'll open the door."

"Does that draft bother you? I'll close the door."

"What is your concept of negative parental development?"

The poor girl hiccupped and some egg head type said, "Why my dear, that is brilliant. I think I'll recommend you for the president's confidential committee working to eliminate scrolls and curliques from the teaching of penmanship to left handed minority groups."

"Have you made any lateral motion in the field of 'self contained' students?" chimed in another old gray head.

"How would it be if I just take your reservation and check to make sure that you have a seat at dinner. Maybe if you're sitting near me we can share a cab to make sure that you won't be uncomfortable with all these men around you."

If I thought that I could get a fraction of the attention that was lavished on that gal, I'd travel by kiddie car and row boat to Nome, Alaska to attend the convention of the pure-blooded Hop-en-sack Indians.

For a while I mused on things that might happen at my first Press Convention. I would be wine, dined and catered to. My opinions and ideas would be spread across the state in awe. I would be the darling of the press room gang.

That's when I woke up.

I think that I'm coming down with a rare, incurable disease, too.

Thank you, sirs, I don't care to dance. Please don't coax me.

Jaycettes meet elect officers

The Clarkston Area Jaycettes elected 2 new officers to fill vacancies at their January meeting.

Mrs. Adele Powell was named vice president and Mrs. Pat Martin became a director.

A full report covering the annual Christmas shopping tour of girls from Camp Oakland was made.

Mrs. Carl Gussie, project chairman, reported that 5 girls were given $20 each to spend as they wished and members of the committee accompanied them on a shopping trip.

Funds to finance the project were raised by the Jaycettes at their Christmas auction.

Jaycette members volunteered their services in various capacities at the snowmobile races held on January 23 and 30.

The annual puppet show is well along in the planning stages, as are the plans for the annual card party.

Eye Safety

Housecleaning and gardening can sometimes become such involving activities, we forget or ignore safety precautions. This is the warning of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, which reminds us that more than 40% of the accidents causing vision impairment in the U.S. occur in the home.

"We must remember that aerosol cleaners and paints, garden chemicals, solvents and tools are often fascinating objects to young children," said Dr. John W. Ferree, executive director of the society.

"They want to get into the act, and our accident files tell us with tragic repetitiveness the results in serious eye injury and blindness." He suggests giving a child his own chores, replacing potentially hazardous substances with harmless ones.

The society recommends you wear all-purpose safety goggles when cutting lawns with power mowers, burning trash, pruning bushes, spraying with insecticides, or using chemical fertilizers.

Trash fires were high on last year's list of accident causes leading to eye injury. Glass bottles and empty spray cans may explode when tossed into a rubbish fire, showering fragments of glass and metal that can blind those standing nearby. The danger is multiplied if the container still holds some combustible powder or liquid.

According to the latest data from the National Health Surveys, eye injuries are the leading cause of vision impairment in persons under 65.

State Representative Loren D. Anderson (R-Waterford) has been reappointed to the House Committees on Insurance, Marine Affairs and Public Safety. Anderson, who recently began his third term in the House, will serve as the Republican Vice Chairman on the Marine Affairs Committee.

"My committee appointments are in areas in which I have already gained a good deal of experience. Because of this factor and because they are relevant to the interests of the people of the 61st District, I am happy that I will continue to work mainly in these areas. The experience I have gained on these committees will give me a more effective voice on legislation for my constituents," Anderson said.

Wolves upset league leaders

By Craig Moore

A brilliant Clarkston Wolves' defense upset the Wayne-Oakland League leading West Bloomfield Lakers 58-55 on January 29.

First half scores were very close. The first quarter's end found Clarkston holding a slim 15-14 margin. The half closed with a 27-all tie.

The red-hot Clarkston defense burnt West Bloomfield in the second half as the Wolves' offense opened an 11 point lead.

The Wolves' press in the 3rd quarter held the Lakers to only 6 points, while Clarkston moved to a sweet 9 point advantage, 42-33.

West Bloomfield rallied with 22 points to the Wolves' 16 in the final quarter, but the victory was still out of reach.

West Bloomfield came close in the fourth quarter, but their efforts would be useless because they had committed a foul or were forced into a turnover.

Statistics prove that it was clearly a Clarkston victory at the foul line. They made 20 of 29 free throws and 19 field goals. West Bloomfield scored 17 of 26 free throws and 19 field goals. Both teams shot 40% from the field.

Seven of the 19 Clarkston baskets were tossed in by top scorer, Don Brown who was 10 for 10 at the free throw line for a total of 24 points. Bill Craig and Gary White each scored an additional 12 points.

This upset gives the Clarkston Wolves a 4-4 league record and 5-5 for the season. Coach Hanson explained the winning defense, "By carrying out our defensive plan, we figured a chance for the victory. We kept 2 smaller men chasing the ball and alternated them so they wouldn't tire. That way we could really move with the ball!"

The Wolves' Junior Varsity defeated West Bloomfield's JV in a neck-and-neck contest.

West Bloomfield held a small lead throughout most of the first 3 quarters and it wasn't until the final quarter that the Wolves forged ahead for the victory.

The first half closed 31-29 for the Lakers. The tense fourth quarter ended 72-71 for Clarkston.

Scoring was topped by Dave Partlo who put in 16 points. Larry Miracle and Terry Green totaled 12 each.

Partlo and Miracle combined for 13 rebounds.

The current JV record is 7-3.

When asked if he was satisfied with the game, Coach Pierson replied, "I'm always happy with a victory, the boys played good ball. We missed Bill Hamilton who was out with flu. We were lazy on the boards in the first half, grabbing only 3 offensive rebounds. When the team realized they had to work to win in the second half, they netted 15 offensive rebounds."

Tuesday, Feb. 2, the Wolves travel to Bloomfield Hills to battle the Andover Barons. Clarkston hosts Clarenceville on Friday, Feb. 5. JV starts at 6:30 and is followed by the Varsity game.

Damages set at $30,000

The Independence Township Fire Department was called to 2 fires during the past week.

A fire at 5211 Indianwood Rd. on January 28 destroyed the summer home of the S. Rapaski family who lives at 2655 Holmes in Hamtramck.

Firemen reported that the fire, which originated from unknown sources in the bedroom, caused damages estimated at $10,000 on the building and $4,500 on the contents.

The exact cause of the fire is under investigation.

An attempt to thaw frozen pipes in the garage of the George Willits home at 7230 Clement Rd. resulted in a fire that caused $15,000 damage to building and contents, according to Fire Department records.

The blaze occurred around 10:30 a.m. on February 1.

Midget wrestling program a success

The Clarkston midget wrestling program is off to a successful beginning. An enthusiastic group of 50 boys between the ages of 7 and 12 have been turning up at the Clarkston High School gym each Saturday morning to learn and participate in a program of wrestling.

The program has been organized by Varsity coach, Dick Moscovic. He is assisted by former Wolf wrestler, Virgil Martin and Tim Hewitt, a former member of the Hazel Park varsity.

The program is designed to introduce the boys and their parents to the sport. Proper procedures are taught and matches are arranged to pit boys of identical physical size and strength against each other.

The program will continue through February. Boys who are interested are welcome. Requirements, beyond the age limitations, are a pair of gym shoes and a towel.

Wrestling coach Dick Moscovic demonstrates a "pinning combination" for participants in the weekly midget wrestling program.

The Independence Township Fire Department is made up of volunteers.

Tell history of Fire Department

Editor's note: the following history of the Independence Township Fire Department was taken from old ledgers and records that were found by Fire Chief Don Beach.

The earliest record of any effort made to fight fires in the Clarkston area was on May 7, 1901 when the Village President John Smith and Clerk J. A. Beardsley directed the clerk to get prices on 4 good ladders and 100 buckets.
In July of that same year $10 was paid for 5 dozen pails and $11.69 for 4 ladders. The ladders were a 36 foot and a 24 foot extension ladders and a 12 foot and 18 foot common type. The ladders and pails were kept in the store owned by Mrs. N. B. Smith.

In April of 1902 James O'Roark was appointed marshal over fire and police protection.

G. Walter moved that a committee be appointed to look after the fire equipment, ladders, pails, etc. Fred Holcomb seconded the motion. The following month petitions were circulated recommending the purchase of a chemical fire engine.
By 1911 it was necessary to limit burning of any material within 320 feet of any business place in the village and speed limits on village streets were raised to 10 mph. Violators were fined $100. During that same winter, a 10 cent charge was made for having snow removed from sidewalks.

In 1914 John Morley was appointed to examine the Village fire extinguisher; Fifty dollars was also appropriated for 10 Saturday night band concerts.
Street lights came to Clarkston Village in 1915, and in 1916 William Gulick, J. Morley, M. Clark and S. Fleming consented to the purchase by the village of 3 fire axes of the pick head type. The axes, at $3.25, were similar to those used today.

The first fire committee was appointed in April of 1918. Thomas Parker, Frank Leonard, George King, A. B. Wompole and A. B. Smith were members.
A fire engine was purchased from the Lake Orion Fire Department in 1920. It cost $600. The money was borrowed from Mrs. Florence Reid.

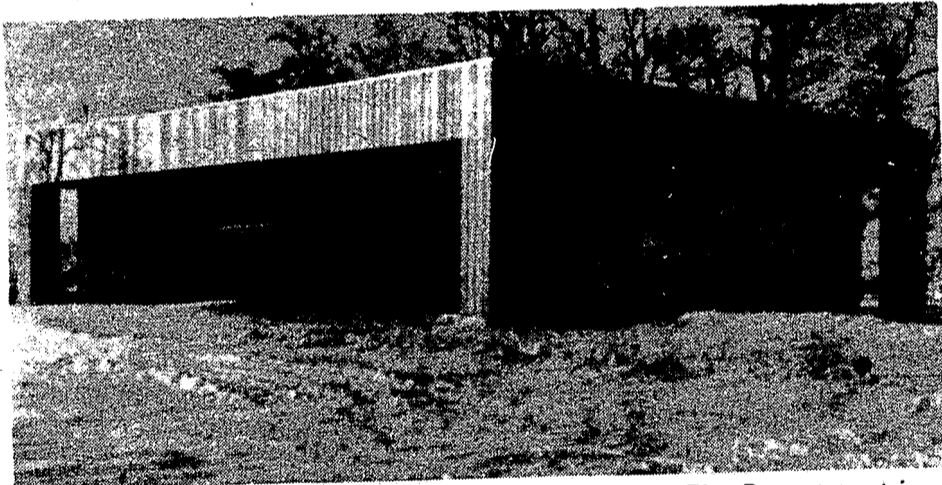

Three fire teams were appointed in 1921. On the Engine Corps were: Ward Robbins, Harry Edgar, Casper Warden, Joe Seeterlin and Ed Seeterlin.
The Hose Carts were manned by: Roy Gundry, George Elliot, W. J. Barry and J. A. Skarrit and sons.
The chemical engine was manned by: Ben Miller, Frank Leonard, Lou Terry and Floyd Andrews.

A siren was purchased in 1922, and then in 1925 $8,000 was appropriated to buy both a new fire truck and property to house it. A Ford triple was purchased for $3,300.

The D. E. Davis property was purchased for $800. Existing buildings were removed and $1500 was allocated for the new structure.
In 1927 the fire truck was exchanged for a larger model.

The Village installed a telephone in Ted O'Roark's house for fire and other emergencies in March of 1930.

By 1936, the records show that the Village and Township were sharing some of the costs of fire protection.
The Village fathers agreed, in 1940, to house the fire truck owned by the Township in exchange for the use of the equipment.
Jeff Hubble was named Fire Chief in 1941 and his assistant was Don Beach. They ran the department under a 50-50 agreement between the Village and Township.
By 1944 more familiar names appear on the fire roster. Names like Bud Yoh, F. Ronk, J. Ronk, F. Hemingway and R. Morgan.
In January of 1942 Hubble resigned as Fire Chief and his assistant, Don Beach took over the reins.

The latest addition to the Independence Township Fire Department is the new Number 3 Fire Hall. It is located on Maybee near Pine Knob Road.

New fire station ready for use

The Independence Township Fire Department's new fire station is completed and ready to be put to service.
The new station, No. 3, is located on Maybee near Pine Knob Road. Jack Beach has been named Assistant Chief. A captain will be named at a later date.
The volunteer fire squad is directed by Fire Chief Don Beach and his Deputy Chief, Frank Ronk. They are assisted by Assistant Chief Bill Wilson and Captain George Keyser at Station No. 1 on Clarkston's Main Street and Assistant Chief Ed Bailey and Captain Dale Bailey at Station No. 2, at Clarkston and Sashabaw Roads.
The department is comprised of 40 volunteer firemen. These men serve as apprentices for a 6 month trial and training period. During this time they do not receive any pay. After this time is completed they receive $3 for each run that they make.

The department has 2 pumper-tankers 1 tanker, 2 grass fire trucks, 3 pumpers and 1 rescue truck at their disposal. A reciprocal agreement between neighboring departments gives them auxiliary assistance when necessary.
Five telephones are manned on an around the clock basis for reporting fires.
Last year the department responded to approximately 200 calls, almost half (90) were grass fires.
"Most fires are the result of carelessness," said Chief Beach. "Lint in automatic clothes dryers is a common cause. Delayed alarms frequently make it difficult to prevent costly damage."
When asked what citizens can do to assist the firemen, Beach said, "Every adult should have a pre-planned escape route in the event of fire. This route should be thoroughly taught to children."

They shoot old horses

By Haslett Hemmor

Ever think about how much better off old folks is in small towns than in big cities?

Ponder on this a bit and you'll sure enough see what I mean. Live in the past, they do, when they get 80 or so and usual thing, they can remember clear as a bell what happened at the four-corners 65 years back, but they sure don't have no idea where they just laid their glasses.

Most of us got a certain amount of pride on our little old village. Like to hear about how Zeke's store used to be a big livery stable with hitching posts for 22 horses out front. Even the kids get a kick listening on the way the wood ceiling in the Masonic Temple used to billow like waves when they had a good crowd for the weekly square dance upstairs. Building inspector sure wouldn't allow it now, but that floor took 50 years of jumping Saturday night crowds without a creak or whimper.

Now with city-raised oldsters stuck off now in some grubby apartment, nobody could care less how folks had a battle on their hands getting Main Street paved 50 years ago. City folks — some calls 'em cliff dwellers — got no warm spot in their hearts for taking the time to listen to the gray-beards muse about the clang of trolley cars or how great it was to have chicken near every Sunday. Everybody's too busy earning a buck.

Must of been some city-bred dum-dum that thought up that Senior Citizens name a few years back. Maybe figured it was some kind of kindness to sort of dignify 'em as a useless part of our society.

Well, like Granny Palmer says, she didn't get no less humped over or puckered up when she heard she was one of them there Senior Citizens. "Matter of fact," she tells me, "don't recall no one saluting me or even making me an honorary member of the Over the River Ye Shall Rise Society. Didn't even get no marriage propositions," she chuckles, "So I'd a heap rather people called me a cranky old goat, long as they smile a mite when they say it. Got an honest ring."

Good old soul, Granny is, even the kids like her. Leastwise they do before they get growed up enough to start copying their parents. She spots a twelve-year-old girl with her first lipstick and like as not she'll say, "You look like a tramp. Or are you playing that you're a painted clown?"

Young boy starts puffing away on a cigarette and Granny will screech at him from her front porch. "Stunt your growth," she'll warn him, "can't do your mind no harm, howsomever, it's obvious you ain't got one."

Still, they take it from Granny and don't sass her because she's part of the town they've learned deep down to respect.

Sure, they call it a one-horse town and brag on how they'll sure be happy when they can leave for a place that don't roll up the streets at 9 p.m., but that's just kid talk.

Most of them will leave to take jobs where there's jobs to support their new families, but they'll never stop yacking about how great things was in the old home town. They'll maybe even tell their new friends about old Granny Palmer and how she must of been 110, but sharp as a tack and wish there was a grand old soul like Granny around here to set our kids in the right track.

Probable thing, there's Grannies in apartment buildings all around them — but who's got time for Grannies in a busy city?

Spiritual Message

"Simeon took the child in his arms, and gave thanks to God: 'Now, Lord, you have kept your promise, And you may let your servant go in peace. For with my own eyes I have seen your salvation,'... The child's father and mother were amazed at the things Simeon said about him."

St. Luke 2:29, 30, 33

The Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe

Usually parents are excessively proud of their offspring. They display their children for all to see... company and strangers alike. And seldom do the youngsters measure up to the standards chosen for them by their mothers and fathers.

In this week which celebrates Jesus' being presented to the Temple priest in dedication to God, we see just the opposite, however! Simeon, the elderly cleric in charge of the Temple ritual that week, raves about this young child of one month — calling him the salvation of God... and Joseph and Mary are amazed!

Perhaps it would be better if more parents were a little more realistic about their children's importance, and let others do more of the praising. But another lesson emerges from this passage too.

We are all the children of God. He is our parent-image, and we would expect him to rave about our good qualities (while ignoring the bad).

But God knows us as we actually are, with our good and bad qualities. He is too honest to praise us unduly... and too loving to let us grow up with inflated impressions of ourselves.

He would like us to behave as we are, and do our best to increase in wisdom and goodness, as He guides us, remembering that we are part of the peoples of the world whom Jesus came to save. If we follow that kind of guideline, praise will come from those who appreciate our true worth.

CHS News . . . by Polly Hanson

After a rather hectic last week, school is back to normal again with the beginning of the second semester. New classes began on February 1, and schedules will remain basically the same until this nine-week marking period ends on April 2. Believe it or not, the school year is half over.

Never let it be said that the junior class believes in waiting until the last minute to get things done. Once again, they have begun making payments toward their senior trip. Twice each month, those students who are planning on going on the senior trip next year will make $10.00 payments. Further information regarding the trip payments can be obtained by contacting the junior class sponsors, Mr. George White and Mrs. Linda Dennis.

On Saturday, February 13, 1971, the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given at CHS. All juniors who are planning on going to college and would like to compete for scholarships are urged to participate. Registration materials may be obtained by contacting counselors Mr. McGrath or Mrs. Hanson. The cost of the test to the student is $1.25.

The following students have been chosen for induction into the Clarkston chapter of the International Thespians Society: Rebecca Byers, James Gordon, Polly Hanson, Deborah Hoopengartner, Carolyn Jorgensen, Debbie Merkel, Dan Race, Isabel Robinson, Alan Rose, Kirt Stalker, Toni Westover, and Julie Wilford. These students have shown proficiency in the field of dramatic arts and will be formally inducted on March 11.
