Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

This week I'm going to open and close what I call the de-stereotyping department. Through the years, various working groups have gained reputations different from each other. Somber ministers, sympathetic undertakers, etc.

I like to see people in work categories going against the reputation continued by others in their chosen field.

The reputation of drinking probably follows more trades than any other. And, it's good at times to see sober, teetotaling printers, butchers, tool and die men and editors.

On occasion it's nice to see a CPA appear in a colored shirt and broad stripes, a smiling banker, used car salesmen who always tell it like it is, and politicians with a reputation of truth and honesty.

You get the de-stereotyping idea. Fill in some for yourself.

You're getting old when you remember mother turning over the collar of your shirt when it wore through and sewing it back on. I'm getting old.

One night last week I tightened the last nut on an engine overhaul of my wife's Model A. I was rejoicing that I had completed several hours of auto repair work in recent weeks without scrubbing the skin off a knuckle.

Then I discovered one last loose nut around the timing device. You guessed it! First finger, left hand.

Incidentally, the A didn't start. I didn't expect it to, only hoped. My auto mechanical ability is limited to asking a mechanic to check out something that sounds like so and so. I'm great at naming "sounds-like" noises.

I tackled the A only because I've heard for years how you can fix them with a hairpin or baling wire.

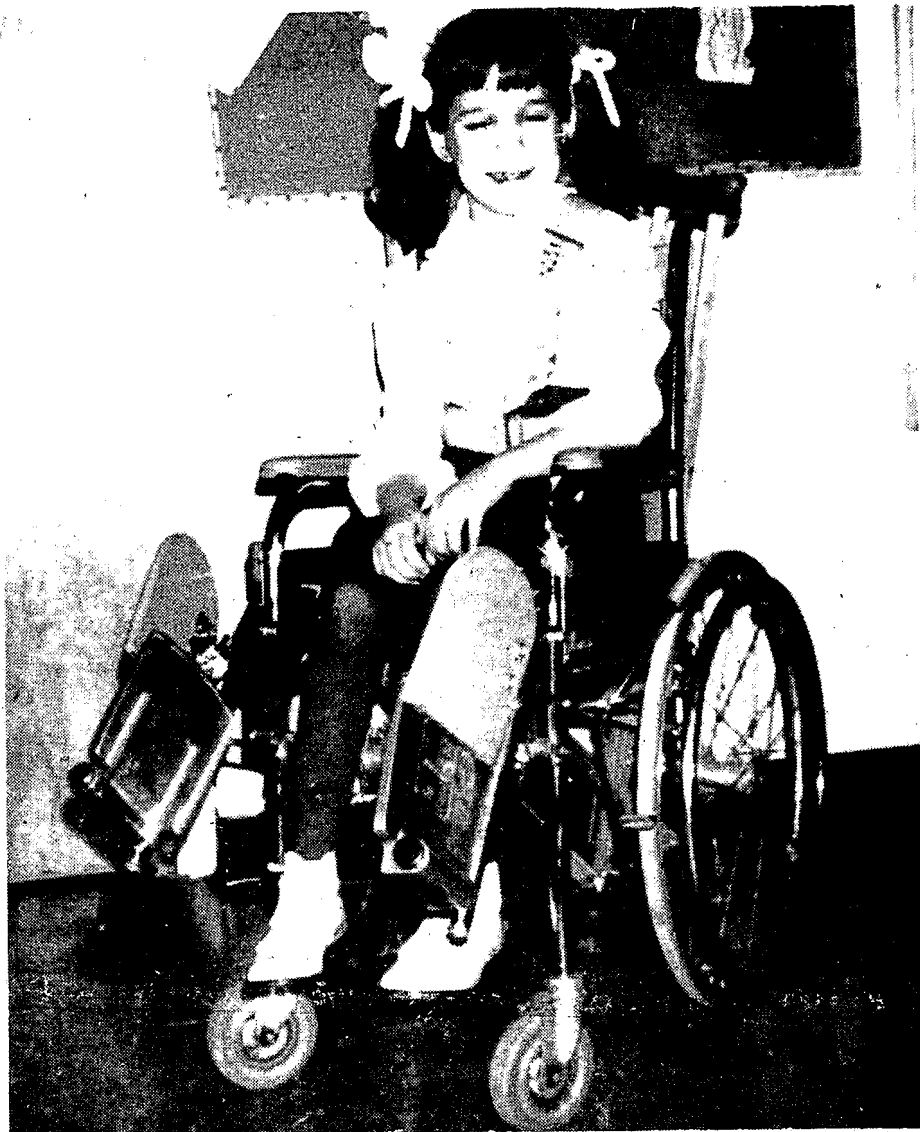

That's a bunch of malarky. The list of people I called for help and tools goes on forever, including Ross Tope, Gail Shafer and Kelley Stewart of Oxford, Bill Rausch of Clarkston and men in Davison, Port Huron and Chicago.

I consulted the "Model A Service Manual and Owners' Handbook of Repair and Maintenance," parts catalogues and talked to anyone I thought old enough to have driven Barbie Kevern, who was the Clarkston News' Easter girl 2 years ago, has graduated from the Crippled Children's Society facilities and is now attending County Special Education classes in Pontiac. Being the safety patrol and directing the wheel-chair traffic is an important job, one that Barbie enjoys.

Building report

Building in Independence Township in March of 1971 increased by over $177,000 compared to that of March, 1970, according to the figures released by the Building Department.

During March of 1971 34 permits were issued for a combined value of $433,400. In the same period of time in March 1970, 24 permits were issued and building was valued at $256,189.

The permits issued were as follows:

13 houses	$374,950
8 add. and remodeling	16,100
5 garages	11,150
1 commercial	12,000
2 demolitions	500
4 swimming pools	17,000
1 barn	1,700

a Model A.

I learned one thing early. You need tools to repair an A. Spring lifters, piston ring clamps, valve grinders and compound, and assorted hand tools that were always on the other side of the car.

I broke a bolt off the oil pan and one off a cover on the manifold side. It was then after 11 p.m. The threads of the bolt are still in the engine block, but it doesn't leak. Of course, as I said, it isn't running yet either.

I did pick up a lot of auto mechanic language. Most of it is very much like a printer's language when things aren't going well.

Barbie takes a breather from her lessons.

Now is the time to order your Flowering Crab Tree for Arbor Day planting. The sale is sponsored by the Union Lake Business & Professional Women of Union Lake. Trees should be ordered before April 25. They are $5.00 each and the colors are red, pink and white. To place your order, call either EM 3-3668, EM 3-0760 or, send your check and order to Mrs. Audrey J. Steinhoff, Chairman, Union Lake BPW Club, Inc., 3545 Union Lake Rd., Union Lake, Michigan 48085.

"Circle the date, Sunday, April 25, on your calendar," said committee members. "That is the day for St. Daniel's annual spring card party."

The party will be held at 2 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall at 5660 Maybee Rd. (near Sashabaw).

The committee has announced that there will be door prizes as well as table prizes. Members of the Women's Guild are all contributing to the success of the party by donating their favorite desserts for the "Dessert Smorgasbord."

Tickets, at $1.25, will be sold at the door or are available from Guild members.

"We know that it will be fun for both ladies and gentlemen," said Mrs. Delores Smart, committee chairman.

Judge Clark Adams of the Circuit Court was surprised last week when he was presented with a 90-cup percolator. The coffeemaker was a gift from the Metropolitan Club, Spirit 6, of Pontiac.

Guido Rizzuto of Heath, who is financial secretary of the organization, made the presentation.

The coffee pot is to be used in the Jury Assembly room at the court.

Papers wanted

Dear Editor:

Instead of the people of Clarkston throwing their papers in the trash or burning them, I wish they would call me at 625-1734. I'll pick them up and use the money I receive from the sale in doing God's work, like buying Bibles.

If it is more convenient, they can bring them to my house at 9208 Dixie Highway.

Thank you,
Charlie Weaver

Annual meeting on May 11 ballot, hear snowmobilers

Independence voters will have another chance to vote on whether to continue the Annual Meeting. The Board voted Tuesday night to put the question on the ballot.

This is the fifth proposition approved for the May 11 vote. Three others are on re-zoning matters and the fourth on establishing a Parks and Recreation Commission.

At least once before township residents voted to continue the Annual Meeting. The law provides that townships that reach 5,000 population can abolish this meeting that is held the first Saturday in April.

A public hearing on a proposed snowmobile ordinance preceded the regular meeting. This ordinance parallels the state law in some areas, but adds restrictions to hours of operation and age of drivers.

Noise, particularly at night, prompted the ordinance, board members said.

Opposition to the ordinance brought out that it was written for the few obstructors, and that noise curtailment restrictions were more necessary than anything that could be passed as to limiting hours.

The board took the comments under advisement and will consider them at a later date.

Ken Winship, 6887 Snow Apple, was named head electrical inspector provided he is found qualified by the township electrical board. He was formerly an electrician at GMTC.

The Board is aiming for a June or July public hearing on establishing more no hunting areas. Consideration will be given to closing all areas south of I-75.

Five road racing dates were approved for Oakland County Sportsmen's Club. They will be May 29-30, June 26-27, July 17-18, August 21-22, and Sept. 25-26.

Stonerock interview

Four questions on 'ethics' answered

By Jim Sherman

A letter to the editor in this paper a couple weeks ago, headlined "Ponder ethics," left four questions dangling. Aimed at supervisor Gary Stonerock, the letter prompted like questions at the last township board meeting.

During this session Stonerock said, "If Mr. Sherman would like a press conference (concerning the questions) I'd be happy to meet with him."

Friday we met in his office.

The specific questions concerned the supervisor's not getting a building permit, doing business from his home, hiring relatives (nepotism), and the code of ethics passed by the board.

Stonerock's first comment was that the writer of the unsigned letter didn't want an answer in the first place, or he would have signed his letter, which would permit the supervisor to call him. It was his opinion that the writer likely knew the answers to the questions, but wanted to leave the public with a doubt.

To the question of a building permit: Stonerock told me how his son and some neighbor children were playing cops and robbers in his house and as three of them were backed up by the bad guy, they tripped over the ridge around the shower and fell through the wall.

Water getting behind tile had weakened the plaster board. The remodeling consisted of tearing down the rest of the wall and replacing it. The building code calls for a permit when the structure is changed. If a wall were moved, a permit would be necessary. Stonerock said he has now taken out a building permit, though he feels it is not necessary, and he has told the building inspector to go to his house after the wall is restored and reappraise it.

Doing business from his house: The supervisor is a registered surveyor. He says zoning permits him to run his surveying company from his residence at Walters Lake. He has been doing it for years with no complaints from any neighbors, he told me. And, he said, none of his crew ever worked in his house.

Hiring relatives: In particular, the reference here is to asking Lloyd Betts to bid on a construction job near Paramus, then voting yes to Betts' low bid. Betts is not a blood relation of Gary Stonerock. The relationship is by marriage.

Mrs. Gary (Onalee) Morgan Stonerock comes from a large family. Betts is an uncle. Bill Wilson, head of the DPW in the township, and fire chief Don Beach are both first cousins.

Stonerock said he doesn't figure them as relatives in that they are not a close-knit family. He admits he did think of the "hiring" relatives angle, but did ask clerk Howard Altman for a recommendation on a bidder, and sought another bid through the building inspector.

Further, he asked township engineers Johnson and Anderson to estimate the construction costs. Sealed bids were opened at the public meeting and Betts was low by about $3,000 and very close to the engineers' estimate. "I voted to accept the low bid, not a particular person," Stonerock said.

He also mentioned that the fire department headed by Don Beach buys practically all their equipment from his son, Jack Beach, who is in the fire fighting equipment supply business, and that former building inspector Bill Cobb is a brother-in-law of treasurer Ken Johnson.

The code of ethics: The supervisor said he will be the first to sign it. He hasn't, he said, because there has been some disagreement on the board as to who should file the codes when they are turned in . . . the clerk or supervisor.

Stonerock has now prepared a letter to go with the code. He did this, he said, so there would be no misinterpreting what he said. Originally, he was to call the employees together and explain it to them.

In part, this is what the letter states: "The policy set forth thereunder has been formulated principally as a guide and a reminder. The township has confidence in the integrity of its people; otherwise, we would not be employing them. This being so, it is clear that no employee should assume that the issuance of this policy is any reflection on his or her honesty or good judgment.

"Such policies and procedures are now accepted as good business practice by the majority of large, well-managed companies, whose customers and stockholders have the right to expect. The people of the township have the same right to be assured that their hard earned tax monies are being properly spent and used.

"After reading the 'Code of Ethics' you may either sign or not, as you wish. This paper should be returned to me as soon as your decision is made; whereupon it will be filed with the Clerk, but will not be made public record."

Periodontal

When youngsters lose their teeth, it is usually because of neglect and decay. However, for adults the major cause of tooth loss is a disorder of the gum tissue and of the bones underlying and supporting the teeth. The more common of these are gingivitis (inflammation of the gum) and pyorrhea (or periodontal disease).

If your gums are red, tender, swollen and apt to bleed easily, you may have gingivitis. It's believed to begin when tartar and food particles accumulate on the surface of the teeth, to the point where they irritate the soft tissues of the nearby gum. It can usually be cured (and prevented) by removing the layers of tartar, and then keeping the teeth clean with regular brushing.

If it isn't taken care of, the gum tissues may draw away from the neck of the tooth, creating pockets. This is called periodontitis. The pockets become inflamed, and the exposed bone at the base of the teeth is eroded away. In time, the teeth become loose and drop out, or must be removed.

Periodontal disease may also develop, even if you keep your teeth saber clean. Poor diet, viruses and other causes have been suggested for this disorder, which also attacks the bone that supports the teeth, but with little effect on the gum. This is called periodontosis, and demands immediate dental care.

Remember the basic rules: avoid sweets, brush your teeth regularly, and see your dentist often.

Easter Sunday

Easter is almost upon us again. The date is April 11. In the Christian world, Easter Sunday commemorates the Resurrection of Christ. Easter customs, as we practice them in the U.S. today, are a singular tribute to the spirit of Easter and to the quiet freshness of a spring morning when one can almost feel, for a few hours, the pervading sense of tranquility and consideration of our fellowman that 2,000 years ago released humanity from the bondage of sheer barbarism.

Many capture the spirit of Easter by going to Church. The simple Easter egg hunt and the tradition of the Easter bonnet lend joy and color to the occasion. All of the ways in which Easter is observed hold a certain humility — as they should. Easter is a day of civilizing influence. It is merely one day out of 365, but it is a day that expresses the way we should live throughout the year — in humble respect for the unseen power that guides our lives.

Thin ice is dangerous now

Spring is fast approaching and also the danger of severe accidents due to thin ice on lakes, ponds and rivers.

Children are the chief offenders when it comes to walking on ice that has become weak with the daily thawing of spring sunshine. The second worst offenders are the snowmobilers who use the lake for snowmobiling. Listed are several ideas to check ice safeness and what to do in case you spot a person who is in trouble on ice.

— Never walk on ice that is less than 2 inches thick or take a snowmobile on ice less than 8 inches thick.

— Stay away from outlets and inlets where the water is continuously flowing.

— Never take a heavy object or machine on the ice with you. The vibrations of the machine will cause the ice to crack sooner.

— If you must venture out on the ice, be sure that you use a life line and find something, such as a ladder or boards, to spread the weight of your body over a wide area. If possible, have someone tend the life line, otherwise anchor it to a fixed object on the shore.

— Remember that you do have a life preserver in the trunk of your car. Your spare tire will provide adequate buoyant support for up to three adults.

"If It Fitz . . ."

It was an airplane

By Jim Fitzgerald

Michael Heizer reminds me that about 35 years ago I built the most beautiful airplane in the world simply by digging a hole.

If you have any culture, you know who Heizer is. He's the artist who recently created an earth sculpture on the lawn of the Detroit Institute of Arts. He did it by directing traffic for 2 giant bulldozers as they dragged a 35-ton block of granite through the grass and dirt.

Heizer ended up with a magnificent pile of earth covering half the blue-gray granite. In front, where the stone was dragged, there is a beautiful sea of mud.

A lot of unsophisticated slob can't see the beauty in Heizer's pile of dirt. They think it looks like a gas pipe exploded under a sidewalk. They say Heizer is some kind of a nut who is insulting their intelligence.

I had the same sort of trouble with my airplane.

This was in the days of the open cockpit when the pilot's head stuck out of the plane. He was a glamorous figure. He wore goggles and a leather helmet that buttoned under his chin. Also a white scarf that blew behind him like a kite tail. Remember Jimmie Allen on the radio for Hi-Speed gasoline? Or remember Jimmy Cagney in such movies as Ceiling Zero? Cagney would always knock out Spencer Tracy and stuff him in a locker and then take Tracy's place in the cockpit and fly the mail through the worst blizzard in the history of the world. But Cagney wouldn't quite make it because Tracy was incapacitated and unable to stick his chewing gum on the plane's wing for good luck.

You get the picture. Any 9-year-old kid would want to be a pilot. So I used to put on my goggles and scarf and squat in a neck-high hole in the backyard.

That was my cockpit. A couple of boards on either side were the wings. A stick in the ground was the propeller, spinning so fast you actually couldn't see it move. Another stick, this one stuck in the cockpit floor, gave me control of this magnificent machine.

I would stick a huge wad of chewing gum on a wing, not too near an ant hill because I planned to return to chew it again. I'd climb aboard, holler CONTACT, and then take off in a great roar which I produced by closing my mouth as tight as possible and then trying to blow it open.

Well, there were a lot of unsophisticated slob in my neighborhood, mostly my big sister and her stupid friends. They laughed and hollered at the dumb little kid in goggles, peeking out of the hole and making strange noises.

That's the same sort of rude treatment artist Heizer is receiving today. And he is handling it with class. He refuses to explain his pile. He says it must speak for itself. That's it; don't bug him. In fact, he flew off to New York as soon as his pile was done.

Boy, I wish I'd had that kind of class 35 years ago.

I told my sister and her stupid friends the truth — that my hole was an airplane and I was flying a rare serum from Port Huron to Smiths Creek to save an infant's life. Which made them laugh all the harder.

They couldn't see the airplane at all. They didn't care if that baby died.

So I got mad and there was the usual fight with the usual result — I lost.

I should have reacted like Heizer. I should have coolly ignored my critics and simply flown off into the sunset.

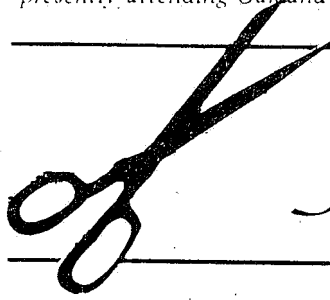

I could always have landed on the lawn of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Mrs. Dorothy Sanson of 6461 Paramus, Clarkston, announces the engagement of her daughter, Jill Rene to Brian Allen Agar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Agar of 5175 Maybee, Clarkston. Miss Sanson is also the daughter of Mr. H. J. Sansom of 158 Russell, Pontiac. The couple are graduates of Clarkston High School and are presently attending Oakland University. The wedding will take place on August 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen G. Wice of Maybee road announce the engagement of their daughter, Priscilla, to Sergeant Ricky D. Schau of Kalamazoo. Miss Wice, a 1967 graduate of Clarkston High School, will graduate from Western Michigan University in August. Sergeant Schau attended Kalamazoo Valley Community College before entering the service. He is currently stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia. An August wedding is being planned.

Kutting Korners

Easter time dictates that we serve ham. There is only one trouble. Ham gets tiresome served the same old ways. Here is a novel way to use leftovers.

HAM 'N' CHEESE SURPRISES

- 1 can (8 oz.) refrigerated quick crescent dinner rolls
- 4 thin slices (4 by 7 inches) or 8 thin slices (3 3/4 by 3 3/4) boiled or baked ham.
- 4 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar or American cheese
- Sesame seed

Separate crescent dough into four rectangles. Firmly press perforations to seal (this prevents separation during baking). Place ham slices on rectangles. Spread ham slices with mustard; sprinkle with cheese. Starting at shorter side, tightly roll up each rectangle, pressing edges to seal.

Coat rolls with sesame seed.

Cut each roll into 5 slices forming 20 slices. Place, cut side down, on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown. Immediately remove from cookie sheet. Serve warm. Makes 20 snacks.

Thin slices of salami or bologna may be used instead of ham. Reheat, loosely wrapped in foil at 375 degrees for 5 to 10 minutes until warm.

To make ahead of time, prepare, cover and refrigerate not more than 2 hours before baking. Bake as directed.

I suppose that it is too late to head you off from buying candy for those Easter baskets. But what is wrong with making a few candies. They can be wrapped in clear plastic wrappings before dropping in the basket.

The adults in the family may be tempted to do a little nest robbing.

PEANUT BUTTER FRUIT SQUARES

- 1 cup pitted dried dates
- 1/2 cup seedless raisins
- 1/2 cup currants
- 1/4 cup sweetened condensed milk
- 1 cup peanut butter
- confectioners' sugar

Put fruits through food chopper; place in medium size bowl. Add sweetened condensed milk and peanut butter; stir until blended. Sprinkle bottom of 8-inch square pan with sugar. Turn mixture into pan; press evenly onto bottom. Sprinkle top with sugar.

Refrigerate until firm. Cut into 1-inch squares with sharp knife.

Makes 1 1/2 pounds.

Principal's views

Understanding H.S. curriculum

By William Dennis

Several years ago the curriculum at Clarkston High School consisted of the basic high school courses. For instance, the math curriculum started with algebra in the ninth grade and progressed to advanced algebra and possibly trigonometry. The science department offered biology, chemistry and physics, while the English department offered year-long courses, and so on to complete the traditional course offerings.

Some schools, usually larger ones, would have some specialized offerings such as a course in mechanical drawing, woodworking, perhaps an art course and some standard business courses such as typing, shorthand and accounting.

All of these courses were a full year in length. This meant a student started the school year with 5 or 6 courses and continued through these courses with the same instructors.

The first step in attempting a new approach to education was to create semester courses. This gave many students the opportunity, during the year, to involve some changes of instructors and rooms.

As was indicated last week, Clarkston High School's curriculum offers many unique features. One of these is the offering of ¼ credit classes, or what is termed the 9 week course. For the most part, all departments at the high school are involved to some extent with 9 week or semester courses. Because of this different approach, each of the 11 departments will be examined as to the offering and flexibility.

The English department, in the past, offered English 10, 11 and speech. Now the offering includes novel I, drama, short story, world literature, writing I, non-fiction, modern age and folklore in the 10th grade; Early American literature, modern age II, modern American literature, modern American plays, novel II, writing II, the Bible as literature, and mythology in the 11th grade; 12th grade offers English literature I, English literature II, writing II, world literature II, modern age II, Shakespeare, modern poetry, modern novels and individual study. In addition to these classes are speech I and II, dramatics and play production.

Graduation requirements call for a minimum of 2 credits of English which may include ½ credit of speech. Therefore, a sophomore will be expected to select 4 of the 8 courses offered. Likewise in the junior year, and specialization in specific interest areas would come in the senior year.

As indicated in the list of courses, there is a category called independent study. This allows a senior the opportunity to submit to the department chairman and/or supervising teacher, the criteria for advanced study in a subject not formally covered by the present curriculum.

The counselor plays a big part in the selection of the required courses, because of the requirements of various colleges and universities. The student whose intentions are for additional formal education is guided into courses which will best prepare him for his needs. Inasmuch as the student is rescheduled each 9 weeks, the counselor comes in contact with nearly all students quite frequently.

Next week's article will deal with the math and social studies departments. Please feel free to call the high school for any clarification or additional information.

AN EASTER Message

Frank A. Cozadd

"And the Life Everlasting"

All too often we concern ourselves with the subject of life eternal only in crises, and perhaps at Easter. But, in a very real sense it is the mortar that binds the whole house of faith together. The Christian understanding of life eternal is not a pious preoccupation with another world, with pie in the sky when you die. It is the heart and core of God's answer to the human predicament.

Life is always a question mark. We assume that it will go on - but how long? And to what end? We are trapped on every side by two facts: sin and death. And there is no exit from our human predicament of frustration and defeat, of sin and death - unless another opens the way.

And into this situation came Jesus Christ to open the way. He came to do for us what we could not do. Christ came into our midst, showing forth God as he is: a loving Father. To live with this realization is to experience a new kind of life.

And this is the heart of the meaning of eternal life for us: not that there is something good ahead, but that a new quality of life is available for us - now. We are no longer trapped in a helpless situation. We are free to move in the power and grace of God toward the fulfillment of life. Eternal life is the life of God experienced in the life of men. And that life is ours, bringing its new quality into the here and now.

Eternal life is not a reward for well-doing. It is the life of God infusing our life now to transform every part of it: our personal lives, our society, our industry, our educational institutions, our economy, our politics - everything! But we must add that this is only the beginning. This is but the foretaste of what shall be.

Annual meeting

Salaries stumbling block to new budget

By Jim Sherman

There are three major decisions to be made at the annual meeting of a township... setting date and time of meetings, naming depositories, and approving the budget. None came easy in Independence Saturday afternoon.

219 chairs were set up in the hall and nearly all of them were occupied. The annual meeting is the public's meeting and all were given considerable opportunity to be heard.

A total of nine votes were taken before the budget was approved... five of them were secret paper ballots. The last vote came with township attorney Richard Campbell presiding. Moderator-supervisor Gary Stonerock asked Campbell to take over after 2 votes on setting his salary failed to pass.

In the end, the supervisor's salary was raised from $14,500 to $16,000, the clerk was given a $1500 raise to $14,000 and the treasurer's increase was from $11,000 to $13,000.

Trustees' salaries remain the same, $1400 each.

In recent years, the budget has been approved by voice votes with the salaries included therein. The paper vote to proceed the same way this year failed. The next move was to approve salaries of the three top officers and it failed. Then a voice vote approved the budget without salaries.

After the first vote turning down $15,500 for the supervisor, Stonerock told the crowd that he felt, after 2 hours of discussion, personalities were being brought into the vote, and he stepped aside in favor of the attorney.

The paper vote that followed was for $16,000 for the supervisor post, then Campbell asked for more discussion before the next motion. The final vote was by show of hands.

The regular meeting time and dates were continued from previous years, 7:30, first and third Tuesdays.

The audience seemed concerned over placement of funds over $20,000. Recent experiences of bank closings were recalled. One man said during the discussion of which banks to choose, "If we diversify enough, we are bound to pick a loser."

The Community National Bank and Pontiac State Bank were renamed as depositories of township monies.

All budgets now seem to set records and this one is no exception. Last year the figure was $308,835,000. This year it's $413,984,12.

$80,000 of the increase is the amount voted for police protection last November.

The other major increase is for planning. Last year just under $7,000 was spent. In this budget, $30,500 is set for the same department. $15,000 of this is for a fulltime planner. $8,000 is for legal fees.

Stonerock said the planner was needed, he felt, because more long-range planning was needed here: Trustee Tom Bull-n pointed out that attorney fees are now about $1,000 a month and it was realistic to reflect it in the budget.

An increase in wages for other township employees is also in the 1971-72 budget, which now awaits county allocation board figures before being finalized at a public hearing.

Seek funds for RAP House

Letters will be mailed to 44,000 households in Independence, Springfield, Waterford and White Lake Townships this week. It will be the first step in a fund-raising campaign sponsored by the Residents Awareness Program, Inc. (RAP).

The letter will enclose a brochure which explains RAP's origin — a group of concerned citizens organized by District Judge Kenneth H. Hempstead last summer to combat drug use in the area. RAP's goals are to provide a facility within the next few months where those dependent on drugs, whether psychologically or physiologically, can be treated through a self-help problem-awareness program.

RAP House, which will be patterned after the Phoenix House in New York City, will service residents of all the 4 townships.

The old Webster School at 8100 Pontiac Lake has been purchased from the Waterford School Board, with the intent of making it the center of the drug education and treatment program. White Lake Township has changed an ordinance to accommodate its expected use. Rezoning will be sought within 2 months. The building must be renovated to accommodate in-patients and out-patients, a RAP spokesman said.

Other RAP functions will include instructions for families of drug abusers on how to understand and deal with the basic behavior disorders drugs can cause and a "hot line" for people who need immediate help or counseling.

RAP seeks to raise $20,000 in the campaign to pay Waterford School District for the Webster School building. They propose to use $15,000 for renovating and furnishing the building and $40,000 for 1 year's operating expenses — salaries, utilities and maintenance.

Mrs. Michael Salzano of Reese Road has been named to solicit assistance from local businesses and professional people.

The next meeting of the RAP organization will be held at 8 p.m. on April 14. The meeting place is the Adams school at 3810 Clintonville Rd.

"We urge all residents to come and learn more about RAP," said RAP President, Thomas Raguso.

Fine Arts Sculpture Center

Sculpture Classes will start Thursday, April 15, for eight weeks, 9:30 AM until 12:30 PM.

Small classes will be featured, with individual attention for beginners or advanced students.

Wrestler qualifies for world try-out

Rick Detkowski

A bright spot in next year's wrestling line-up will be the performance of Rick Detkowski. Competing for the first year at the varsity level, Rick compiled a 30-7 won-lost record.

Rick is the only sophomore in the school's history to complete the dual match season undefeated. His 7 losses came about through the invitationals and tournaments the squad participated in during the season.

Rick has continued to wrestle off-season by entering AAU tournaments throughout the Eastern part of the nation. On March 28 at Norwalk, Ohio Rick qualified for the Junior-World tryouts in Bakersfield, California.

All participants who place either 1st or 2nd at Bakersfield will then go to Japan around mid-summer to compete for the United States Junior World Greco-Roman wrestling team. It is quite an accomplishment to even qualify for these tryouts, since boys ages 15-18 from all over the Midwest competed at Norwalk.

"When Rick leaves for California," said varsity wrestling coach Dick Moscovic, "all Clarkston's best wishes for his success will go with him."

Granger stars for O.C.C.

Former Clarkston High School standout, Chuck Granger ranked among the leaders in several categories this past season as a member of the Oakland-Highland Lakes campus basketball squad.

The 6-4 Granger emerged with the top assist mark on the team with 81.

Along with collecting 81 for the season, Granger and guard Barry Burch shared honors for the most in one game - 9.

Chuck ranked third on the team in scoring with an 11.2 average and 3rd in rebounding with 146.

Another Clarkston player figures to make his presence known on the varsity squad next year.

Dave Kelley, a 1969 graduate of CHS, was one of the standouts on the college's first freshman team.

Kelley was a co-captain with Pat McColgan, a graduate of Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes.

Both Kelley and McColgan averaged more than 15 points a game for the season. The team closed with a 4-8 record.

Little League managers meet

The organizational meeting for Independence Township Recreation Little League Baseball will be held at 7 p.m. on April 12.

All managers or adults who wish to assist in the program are asked to attend the meeting at the Township Hall.

Each year the organization has grown larger, according to a spokesman for the Recreation Department, but getting adult assistance to run it gets harder.

"We are hoping that there will be a large turnout so that boys will not have to be turned away from the program," said one spokesman.

Registrations are being turned in at this time. The age of boys participating has been increased to include 16-year-olds this year.

Trotters more popular than ever as Hazel Park opens

They're off and trotting to another great season at the Hazel Park Harness Raceway.

The 76-night meeting, which will continue through June 23, promises to reach new summits of popularity for harness racing. The start of the season last weekend was auspicious: a crowd of 10,095 turned out to welcome the trotters back on Friday night, betting $652,741. This was a new high for mutuel handle for a March opening.

On Saturday, the attendance was 9,507 and the mutuel handle was $633,538. The weekend totals of 19,602 in attendance and $1,286,279 in mutuel handle showed that the harness fans' zest for their favorite sport is as lively as ever.

The aficionados liked what they found at the track on the opening weekend: despite the snow and ice and thaws of earlier in the week, the racing surface was in good condition. And patrons found the enclosed, heated lower grandstand a comfortable refuge against the evening chill.

"This is great," a fan observed. "No matter what the weather is like outside, it is sure comfortable in here."

The big stables and the big drivers were on hand for the opening weekend, ready to go. Among those who went to the post were such prime favorites as Greg Wright, Doug Ackerman, Wally McIlmurray, Tom Merriman, Jim Merriman, Jr., Gerry Bookmyer, Don Hall, Howard Niles, Shelly Goudreau, Frank O'Mara, Morris MacDonald and Pat Crowe.

Other strong stables are expected in soon. Hazel Park this year is offering a minimum purse of $1,500, the highest minimum in the history of the sport here. The present meeting is expected to produce the richest purse distribution in Michigan harness racing. That is why so many outstanding drivers and stables will be in action at Hazel Park: the best stables go where the money is.

Telephone book being readied

The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club met on April 5 at the home of Mrs. Henry Woolfenden. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Edward Thomson and Mrs. Charles Robertson. An informative program on "Living with Antiques" was presented by Daisy Dowling.

The main portion of the meeting was a discussion of plans and a report of progress already made toward the preparation of the Independence Township Area Phone Book which the club, in cooperation with the Clarkston Jaycees, is getting ready for printing.

It was reported that the book should be available at retail outlets around May 1.

CHS News . . . Happy vacation

By Beverley Morse

Last Thursday morning 7 members of the Future Teachers Club and their sponsor, Miss Paradiso left the high school at 7 a.m. to attend an exchange day with the club at Lake Orion High School.

Upon arrival, each girl was allowed to choose a member of the Lake Orion Club with whom to spend the visitation.

A special 2-hour talent show had been planned in our honor. After the program the girls either ate or went to class.

Classes at Lake Orion High School are all 55 minutes in length with a 10-minute homeroom period in the morning.

The girls thought that it was very kind of the school principal to pry one of our cars out of the mud while we were enjoying ourselves. The group was back at CHS by 2:30 and all agreed that it had been an interesting experience.

New procedures have been started regarding the National Honor Society. This year the parents of the inductees have been notified of their son's or daughter's selection by mail.

Instead of the usual all-school assembly, the initiation will be held in a private ceremony to which the parents have been invited. This year it will be held at 1 p.m. on April 7 in the high school auditorium.

A junior must have a 3.5 grade average or better and be recommended by a teacher to qualify as a candidate for the National Honor Society. A senior must be recommended by a teacher and have maintained a 3.0 grade average.

Congratulations to those honored. They are eligible to wear the gold cord on their gowns at graduation.

A power blackout gave the Vocational School students a short break on Thursday. Their free afternoon came in handy to study for their final exams.

Report cards came out again this week. This means that we are on the road down the last 9 weeks of the school year.

Easter vacation starts this week. You had better store up those leisurely days, because it will be a long haul until Memorial Day. Maybe it would be wise to look on a broader horizon and start planning your summer vacation!

Happy Easter to all you students — even those of you that are going to Florida.

5 Easter services slated at Calvary

Five opportunities for worship are being presented to members of Calvary Lutheran Church during the Holy Week period this year. On April 8, Thursday, a Communion service will be held at the church, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The senior choir will sing, and the sermon theme will be "A Meal for Many."

On Good Friday, the pastor and members of Calvary will join in the community service at Sashabaw Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road. A combined choir will present portions of the Passion of St. Matthew, and Chapters 26 and 27 of St. Matthew will be read dramatically. In addition, 2 hours of worship will center on the themes of "Sin - Guilt - Repentance - Acceptance."

Easter Sunday Calvary Lutheran will hold 3 worship services. At 6:30 a.m., weather permitting, a Sunrise Service will be held outside on the front lawn of the church. The senior choir will sing "In Joseph's Lovely Garden," "We Will Carole Joyfully," and "The Lord's Prayer," plus a special Easter Benediction. The topic of the sermon will be "Looking Foolish in Christ!"

A family brunch at 7:30 a.m. will be followed by the Easter worship hour at 8:30 a.m. The junior choir will sing at that time, and the sermon will be "An Inheritance of Hope!"

At 10:00 a.m. the 8:30 service will be repeated, with the senior choir singing "The Hallelujah Chorus." The newly-formed intermediate choir will sing the chorus "He Lives!"

Harry Hoffman will be featured on trumpet at the 7:30 and 10:00 a.m. worship hours. The senior choir director and organist is Larry Kasat, who also directs the intermediate choir. The junior choir director is Mrs. Mel Vaara. The pastor is the Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe.

All persons in the Clarkston area are invited to join in the worship at Calvary this Easter, and always.

Band members rate superior

The Clarkston High School Band returned successfully from the State Solo and Ensemble Festival which was held at Flint Northwestern High School on March 27.

Local band members entered 5 events, and received superior ratings, the highest rating possible, in each contest.

Becky Smith, Lee Campbell and Becky Byers entered a proficiency examination on an individual basis. It included musical scales, sight reading and a prepared solo.

A quartet composed of Rhonda Fay, Paul Campbell, Tim Hinkley and Doug Beadle presented a brass quartet by Gabrieli.

Chris Harrison, Becky Byers and Becky Smith entered a woodwind trio which offered a display of musical artistry in tone and musical phrasing.

These students became eligible to compete in this festival by receiving first division ratings at the district festival, which was held in Oxford earlier.

Section VI:
Before the Village Council shall approve the partition of any property as herein provided, it shall determine that such partition will (a) not adversely affect the public interest; and (b) generally be compatible with adjacent properties and other property in the vicinity of the partitioned property.

Neighborhood hostesses needed

Ecolo-klatch is the newest word to be added to the local environmental vocabulary, according to involved citizens. They define it as a coffee hour during which time neighbors and friends gather and discuss methods of personally becoming involved with improving their surroundings over a cup of tea or coffee.

The small group meetings are being sponsored by the "Bottles for Building" committee. They are planned to take place during Earth Week which is from April 17 to 24. "Pollution in the home and what we can do to combat it" will be the topic of the discussions.

"Our next step," said Mrs. William Kunse, Publicity Chairman, "is to get women volunteers to act as hostesses at our neighborhood get-togethers. We have asked Mr. Edmund Tucker, Department of Natural Resources Specialist from Lansing to address the group at 8 p.m. on Thursday, April 15 at the Clarkston Senior High School. His topic will be "Women's Importance in Environmental Action."

"All interested women are invited to attend."

A reception will follow Mr. Tucker's talk and will allow time for a question and answer period. The present "Bottles for Building" program will be reviewed with a slide presentation.

A packet of hand-out materials for Ecolo-klatches will be provided for hostesses at this time.

"Please plan to attend if you are willing to give an Ecolo-klatch in your neighborhood or to learn more about giving one," concluded Mrs. Kunse. "If you are in doubt, call 394-9842 or 625-3506 for more information."

Wins poster contest

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department Safety Division sponsored a water safety poster contest recently. Shelley Connors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bart Connors of Warbler Drive was the winner of the 3rd place prize, a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

Shelley is a 7th grade student at Clarkston Junior High School and runner-up to the winner of the recent school spelling bee. Her poster has been sent to Lansing where it will be judged in the state competition.

Husbands sure can be unreasonable! But sweet!

"Listen to this," I said the other evening. "The Director of Internal Revenue says here in this article that many taxpayers may be overpaying their income tax simply because they are not following instructions in preparing their returns. 'I sure hope that you are being careful.'"

That's when he got unreasonable.

"Be careful?" he shrieked. (When a grown man shrieks it is almost as bad as watching one cry. I figured that he was really upset.)

"Just listen to this, Blossom Head, and you'll know what I'm up against," he yelled.

He picked up the income tax form (B-29 or 10-4 or some crazy number) and started to read.

"Part VII. This is the part that deals with the sale or exchange of property used in trade or business and involuntary conversions."

He looked at me and then continued. "Under line 48 they have obligingly added a note to clarify any misunderstandings that you might have which deal with this particular Part VII. This is what it says: 'Go to line 49 if there is a net loss on line 48; otherwise, (1) if the amount on line 47 is other than a gain, omit lines 49, 50 and 51(a), and enter such amount on line 51(b) (i).'

"Stop being funny and making that stuff up," I said. "Be serious and listen to what I was reading to you."

"The Director of Internal Revenue continues here by saying that a survey of returns filed last week disclosed that many of those entitled to credit for excess Social Security tax withheld did not receive the credit because of a mistake in preparing their Form 1040."

If I hadn't been so engrossed I would have seen the look on old lovable's face and stopped right there. Unfortunately, I didn't.

"That does it." He slammed the papers on the table. "I'm calling my friend, Bill. He can do this job for me."

"You're going to pay him money just to do that?" I asked. "Just because he's a CPA can't make him that much smarter than we are. I have a better idea.

"Why not just write a check for what you think you owe. Then if the government doesn't think that is enough, you can send them a little more later."

"Look, my darling, I know you're not just a pretty face," he snarled between his teeth, "but be a good girl and get me Bill's telephone number before I belt you one, and after you get me his number go get a lot of black crepe paper so we can drape the house when he gives me the bad news."

"Better yet - go buy an Easter bonnet. He'll probably save us enough money that we can afford it."

That's when he got sweet!

Reviewers ask reassessing

Reassessing of Independence Township, all or a major portion, is the recommendation of the Board of Review.

A letter of their recommendations was read at the annual meeting Saturday. It stated that during their 7 meetings several cases of un-uniform assessing were found.

Many subdivisions, the entire village of Clarkston, and commercial zoning along Dixie Highway were named as needing re-assessing along with personal property.

Specifically, the Board recommended the hiring of one or more assistants for assessor Bob Vandermark, or the hiring of an outside firm to completely re-canvass the township.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock said money was in the new budget for assessing.
