

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

A woman came in the other day to pay for an ad she ran to sell some pigs. She remarked that she got rid of all 10 of them. However, she said she only sold 8.

It seems the other 2 were stolen. She suspects it was a phone caller who asked if she was going to be home all afternoon. She told him she would be gone about an hour between 2 and 3.

Between 2 and 3 two pigs were taken.

Oxford's having a Gravel Festival the last weekend in July. A parade will be one of the features in the salute. Searching for an idea for a float, someone suggested we gather some stone-pocked windshields and display them in the shape of a clenched fist.

The furor over broken windshields continues, but it has certainly subsided since M-24 was divided.

At least one major insurance company is no longer underwriting school insurance. A local agent gave me a copy of the letter this company sent him. It says in part:

"Social changes and the liberal attitude of parents towards children's responsibilities appears to have reflexed in poor experience not only in the metropolitan areas but also in many of the rural areas."

I've been bothered with hiccoughs for years. I think 3 days was the longest stretch. But 3 hours is about the shortest.

I got them while playing the second hole in the Thursday Golf League this week. Try putting with hiccoughs. It's bad enough holding the club head still on a calm, warm day.

The worst part of this disease is the next morning. Like Friday. Not quite fully awake, I hicked again. The area each side of my neck, phrenic nerve area, felt like so many needles sticking me.

Whenever I start hicking I think of that 3-day ordeal. I had just come out of surgery . . . getting one phrenic nerve crushed.

While lying there, hiccoughing with extreme regularity, I read in the daily paper about this person in England who had my malady for 3 years. They cured it by crushing his phrenic nerves.

They crushed his to stop the hic, and crushed mine to start the hic.

There are times when I think my entire life is going exactly the same way . . . in reverse to the world.

Jaycees sponsor

Village "Clean up" June 6

The Clarkston Area Jaycees will sponsor a Village Clean-Up Day on Sunday, June 6. Work will start at 7:00 a.m. in the Village Parking Lot, according to the committee in charge. The Mill Pond Stream between Main Street and Park Lake will be cleaned of dead wood and debris.

Donald Cooper, Village President, has proclaimed June 6 as Village Clean-up Day. Cooper stated, "All residents and members of the Clarkston Community are invited to participate in assisting with the clean-up and in keeping your village clean."

The Clarkston Jaycees have assigned William Halsey, External Vice-President, and Ronald Rule, Project Chairman, to supervise the clean-up work. William Latoza, a Clarkston High School student, will act as student chairman for the Clarkston Schools.

Volunteers are needed to assist in the work according to Halsey.

He suggests that volunteer workers wear heavy boots, work gloves, and old clothes that do not expose their legs. He also stated that clean-up equipment is in short supply, so workers should bring their own shovels, axes, and brooms.

Coffee and donuts will be served to all workers.

Court stops appointments

The Circuit Court has stopped Independence Township from appointing members to the newly authorized Parks and Recreation Commission.

The temporary injunction was issued last week by Judge William Beasley. He was acting on a suit by township residents, John Shiff and Gerald Anderson.

Before the recent election Shiff and Anderson attempted to have the question on parks and recreation removed from the ballot. The judge allowed the question and said he would review it later.

Shiff and Anderson based their suit on the Attorney General's opinion that the question could not be allowed at this particular election and their own interpretation of the same law.

Traffic heavy injuries light

Roads in Oakland County were heavily traveled over the holiday weekend. According to Oakland County Sheriff's office and the Michigan State Police, peak hours were reached on Friday and Monday nights. In spite of the heavy flow of traffic there were no fatal or bad injury accidents reported in Oakland County.

The village need for a clean-up is assessed by Jaycee, Ron Rule, left, Bill Latoza, high school recruiter and village president, Dan Cooper.

Kim Strom wades in the stream connecting the Mill Pond to Parke Lake to remove debris.

Three indicted for narcotics sale

Three persons from Clarkston were among those recently indicted for the sale of narcotics, according to Oakland County prosecutor Thomas Plunkett.

George Putensky, 19, of 6785 Clintonville and Ruth Bradley of 4690 Hillcrest will stand trial in July for the sale of marijuana.

Joe Newbigging, 28, of 5360

Frankhill, was indicted for sale of heroin or cocaine. His trial is also set for July.

The three were among seventeen people indicted by a citizens grand jury following a lengthy investigation by the Oakland County narcotics enforcement team, composed of Michigan State Police and local law enforcement agencies.

Supporting RAP

Independence reaffirmed its decision to give financial support to RAP to the tune of $6500.

The previous Board (pre-Nov.) had approved such an expenditure but was stopped from contributing until a state law was passed to allow township governments to give money for this type of service.

Board members elected in Nov. had not heard the RAP (Resident Awareness Program) presentation, and it was re-explained Tuesday night by Tom Raguso of Drayton.

RAP is promoting a drug treatment program designed after Harmony House in New York. It's a self-help treatment. There will be some in-patient space, when quarters are found, but it will be mostly an out-patient center.

RAP is designed to serve Waterford, Springfield, White Lake and Independence townships.

Buckeye Pipeline Co., which has an oil-gasoline line running through the township, has told the Board it is doing everything it can to clear up the oil caused by a leak in the line.

They said the break came in 1967 and was corrected in 1968. However, they say before the hole was closed oil escaped and has reached a gravel strata. The oil is following this vein to a pit dug by the oil company.

From this pit the oil is pumped out or burned. It's all they can do, they said, but they dug the holding pond deeper and put a fence around it.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock has asked the chairman of the Planning Commission, Joe Rhoades, to resign. Rhoades asked the planners for a vote of confidence and received it. He then refused to resign.

The Planning Commission minutes, read Tuesday night, quote Stonerock as saying he would pursue the matter to Lansing and start a civil suit if necessary to remove Rhoades.

The supervisor, in a letter to all planners and the township Board, said the Commission was not moving fast enough on various items and accused Rhoades of "Procrastination."

Bottles for Building has paid the $100 deductible on the insurance covering the township truck rolled over by trustee Keith Humbert in a "bottle" drive last month.

The B and B chairman, Mrs. Place, in giving the money spoke of the trustee's hours of service to the drives.

The truck is being put back in tip-top shape with the $100 plus the $850 insurance money and about $70 from the general fund.

Forensic students to receive awards

The annual Speech Awards Night will be held at Clarkston High School on Thursday, June 3.

According to Speech Coach, H. Allen Bartlett, the team has been good this year and it will be an exciting finale to the season.

William Dennis, High School Principal will receive the team trophies for the school. The awards include: Tri-County League 2nd place, Oakland Debate Association 2nd place, State District plaque and the plaque for winning 75 percent of the team debates in the Oakland Debate Association.

Mike Pryomski will receive a 2nd place speaker trophy from the Oakland Debate Association. Wayne-Oakland debate trophies will also be presented to Mike Saile, Dawn Wilson and Vicki Johnson.

Graduating seniors will receive individual speakers awards as well.

Students who competed in the District in forensics will be introduced and special recognition will be given Barry Stamper, Doug Dennis and Lynn Orlick for qualifying for the State regionals. Refreshments will be served after the program and the public is invited to attend.

Behind the Counter

From Keith Hallman

Now arthritis has been described as a personality problem. At least, some arthritis has been linked to emotional disorders.

One such case was described by Dr. George F. Solomon, a Stanford University psychiatrist. He drew up the following "negative personality profile":

"A woman who feels life is nothing but a series of quarrels with her husband, problems with the children, and frustrations with bills, meals and household chores. She feels she has given unselfishly of herself from the first day of married life, but she isn't appreciated. Her husband is hypercritical, thoughtless and inconsiderate.

"In public, she's nervous, never sure if she's saying the right thing or if her clothes are suitable. She thinks of herself as a social flop, and life doesn't make much sense to her. When disagreements occur, she doesn't argue, but will brood for days over her bottled-up feelings."

Dr. Solomon believes that certain emotional patterns may affect the body's hormonal balance, and when this is upset it will trigger the onset of arthritis. Also, he cites research that links the presence of "rheumatoid factor" (a substance found in the blood of some arthritics) with poor emotional health.

Also, the inability to adapt successfully to various situations may affect the progressive crippling of arthritis in persons who are nervous, tense, worried, moody, depressed and inhibited in the expression of any emotion. Possibly psychotherapy might help such patients more than some standard forms of arthritis therapy.

Illegal, immoral or fattening

Many of our modern comedians have used the line, "Everything I like is either illegal, immoral or fattening."

To most people, there is a definite distinction between legality and morality. Few regarded prohibition as a moral issue, and even fewer think it's now morally wrong to drive just a little over the speed limit.

For most of us, morals involve a blend of personal ethical code and the behavior standards approved by our own social group.

Communal "family" living is now regarded as honorable and virtuous by a large segment of the youngsters. Those who prefer just one "companion" may be regarded as a bit stuffy.

Like it or not, the morals of one generation can't be imposed on another. Behavior can be dictated, but like any other legalistic action, parental edicts are likely to be disregarded as completely as the parents and grandparents disdained prohibition.

Morality is a very personal thing. If the individual is not ashamed of his own behavior, it is, to him personally, moral. If his peer group approves, his department is also socially moral.

Just as one generation cannot effectively insist that its standards be accepted by another so, too, one social cluster or geographical segment can shout its morals with force and furor but without effect.

Is stealing wrong? Has it always been wrong? Is the commandment proof positive? Has thievery forever been a moral transgression?

Consider the nomadic desert tribes who existed for centuries from their sole occupation, the plundering of caravans. It was social custom and the only way to prevent their families from starving. Morally wrong?

How honest are you? What did you do the last time a pay phone spit out an extra dime? Would you have mailed it in if the faulty refund had been a dollar? Perhaps you're a high-priced moralist and can rationalize anything up to a couple-dollar windfall.

Some people even have the happy faculty of being able to separate virtue from morality. That could be pretty handy. Then there's another escape available to those who profess that the degree of corruption depends entirely upon whether or not others are seriously injured. This philosophy lends itself to all kinds of neat rationalizations and totally flexible interpretations to fit the occasion at hand.

And if there is sin, the complete cure is simply to be sorry. Confession, some believe, cleans the slate. Judges look more favorably on the contrite and penitent. A good hot bath in self-reproach is next to godliness.

If your social group scowls on your personal ethical standards, the easiest out is to find a more agreeable group, one that doesn't concern itself too much about the illegal or immoral. It's a little more difficult, however, to find a congenial bunch of people who also don't give a hoot about things being fattening.

Letters to the Editor

Students prom behavior praised

Dear Mr. White:

Would you please relay, for the Oakland County Parks Commission and the members of our staff, a warm and sincere commendation to all the students who were present at Addison-Oaks for the Junior-Senior prom on May 22, 1971.

Their action and behavior at this festive occasion was beyond reproach, and recognition of ladies and gentlemen will always be acknowledged. At a time when youth seems to be constantly criticized it is refreshing to be involved in an activity such as your Junior-Senior prom and to have the personal privilege of seeing refinement and dignity exercised.

The students, staff, school and entire community have every right to be extremely proud, for these are the kind of young Americans who can and will guide our future.

We wish each and every one of them a happy future filled with personal success.

Sincerely,
Kenneth L. Van Natta
Director Oakland County
Parks and Recreation Committee

Service commended

May 26, 1971

Dear Editor:

Before moving to our new community, both my wife, Jill and I want to express our appreciation for the excellent service we have received from your staff during our residence in Clarkston.

Our business and personal relations have been nothing but satisfactory. I have enjoyed writing a share of the "Spiritual Meditations" column for the past 3 years. Our family has enjoyed receiving and reading the News ever since the week we moved in, way back in 1966.

Enclosed is a check to guarantee delivery of the News to our new home for years to come. Best wishes for a continuing written witness to the Clarkston community and friends in the professional style which you have given the paper in years past.

Another dream shattered

By Jim Fitzgerald

I never would have believed it. I should be laughing but here I am crying.

All my life I have had only one modest ambition. I wanted to own my own private poolroom and bar.

Other men want to be president, or to fondle the town doll, or to own exclusive rights to sell GM records to GM. Some men yearn most to break 90 at golf, or shoot their way to safety through a herd of rampaging deer.

To each his own. I always wanted my own bar and poolroom.

When I was about 15, some of my relatives began insisting I was a poolroom bum. But a couple of years later, some other relatives disagreed, claiming I was a barroom bum. I used to be confused myself about which I wanted most to be. But then all the bars began installing pool tables and I realized happily that it was possible to be both.

Unfortunately, it was at about this same time that I got married and both noble activities, bar and pool, were severely curtailed. It is difficult to be either type of bum when you are married to a woman who won't let you empty the garbage after sundown for fear you might escape in the dark.

The only answer was to install my own bar and poolroom in our basement. It took me 16 years to save enough money. I did it by depositing $1 in an old shoe every time my wife caught me running toward the bright lights with the garbage.

So now the bar is built, a splendid thing where I can prop one foot higher and the top fits perfectly under my elbow. On the other side of the room the space is cleared and the lights are waiting. A magnificent pool table is ordered and will arrive any day.

So why am I crying when I should be laughing? I guess it's the principle of the thing . . .

Behind the bar my wife has added a few things I hadn't planned on. Such as a range and oven and refrigerator and sink.

They're nice, of course, and I really didn't mind much until yesterday when she said:

"How do you like the blue Formica I ordered for the counter tops in the kitchen?"

KITCHEN! She is calling my bar a kitchen. I am sick.

And I am sicker when I look at my poolroom area and see a piano. I can hear her now: "Jim is down in the music room playing 8-ball."

She has probably hired a little old lady in an embroidered apron to tend bar and rack balls. And if I hang around too much, she'll probably tell everyone I'm a kitchen bum.

Spiritual Message

The Rev. Alexander T. Stewart

"And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance. And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven. Now when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language."

Acts 2:4-6

Last Sunday the Church celebrated the Pentecost, sometimes referred to as the "birthday of the Church, the event when God acted, through the Holy Spirit, to unite men - devout men "out of every nation under heaven." Each of them could understand the Apostles as they proclaimed the wonderful works of God in Christ. In receiving the Spirit of God they received the astounding power to be understood by everybody. The Pentecost story shows us, what happens when people receive the Spirit of Christ; out of many they are made one; the barriers between them fall; they are united in Him.

Pentecost wasn't an unique event. It is what happens when people open their hearts to God and allow Him to enter their lives. They even become the kind of people God can trust and use; and they begin to speak that new language which every human heart instantly understands and receives with joy - the language of God's love.

The Holy Spirit is God's love at work. And it is only by the Spirit working in us, by the love of God in us, that the barriers between people are broken down; when all men know they are one in Christ.

Study tax reform

The Oakland County Citizens Committee for Property Tax Reform have been holding hearings throughout Oakland County providing an opportunity for the average citizen to testify before a board of commissioners. A spokesman for the committee stated that the purpose of the meetings is to act, not just talk about the need for property tax reform.

Taxpayers are invited to come forth and testify to the inadequacies that exist, or simply take an active part by attending these hearings to study the tax situation more closely.

"If we are not completely satisfied with the Governor's proposal, let's not let that be our only alternative," he continued.

The last hearing will be held on Monday, June 7th, in the Oakland County Court House Auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

Exchange students from Brazil, Paulo Ursolino and Roseane Desenso, from the left, attend the open house and pre-prom party that was given by Beth Cowan. With Beth is her escort, Bill Hausefield. The festively garbed students went on to the Junior-Senior Prom which was held at Addison Oakes.

Rochester Town Hall announces program

Rochester Town Hall marks its Fifth Anniversary with the opening of the 1971-72 season. To celebrate this event they will offer five lectures instead of the four offered in previous years.

Starting off the season on October 6th will be Vance Packard, author of "The Hidden Persuaders," "The Status Seekers," "The Waste Makers" and "The Sexual Wilderness."

On November 10 Peg Bracken, the delightfully witty author of "The I Hate to Cook Book," will be the speaker. Her latest book, "I Didn't Come Here to Argue," has an unofficial subtitle of "Answers to Questions I Never Got Asked."

On February 2 the lecturer will be Nancy Gould, a top-flight fashion model since her teens and author of books like "How to Gorge George without Fattening Fanny". Her lecture is entitled "The Slim Solution to Fat Pollution."

March 15 brings television host Lou Gordon to Rochester.

To conclude the series on April 12 will be Rochester's own Story Lady and authority on children's literature Helen Williams.

All lecturers will be held at the Hills Theatre at 11:00 a.m. Although the group will offer five lectures this year the price will remain the same, $10.00. Tickets may be obtained by writing Rochester Town Hall, Box 304, Rochester, Mich. 48063 Celebrity luncheons will follow each lecture and be held at the Rochester Elks Club.

Rochester Town Hall is sponsored by the Crittenton Hospital Auxiliary—Rochester Unit and all proceeds go to the Rochester Crittenton Hospital.

Around the town Wee arrivals

by Donna Fahrner

The new king at the Fred Vess home on King Road is Scott Frederick who was born on April 28th and began his reign with them on May 27th. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Vess of Clarridge and Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Chamberlain of Andersonville Road. Proud papa reported that their lack of sleep on young Scott's first night at home was not because of the baby but because Mother and Dad were sure he would wake up and they might miss something.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hansen of Perry Lake Road are receiving congratulations on the arrival of their new daughter Christine Elizabeth, born March 28th. She arrived at the Hansens on May 19.

***

Mrs. Mildred Butters is out of the hospital now and staying at 81 Dwinell, West Roxbury, Mass. 02132. We hope to see her back in Clarkston soon.

***

The Jr. MYF will go to Cedar Point on Saturday, June 5th. It will be a busy day and if the weather man cooperates I am sure they will return not only tired but sun burned.

***

Debbie Goyette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goyette of North Main Street was the guest of honor at a bridal shower on Wednesday, May 26 at the home of Janet Martin of Oak Vista. Eighteen family members attended. Debbie will become the bride of Michael David Wice on August 14th.

***

On Saturday, June 5th the Springfield Township Senior Citizens, Joggers will meet at noon in the Township Hall, Davisburg. A cooperative dinner and meeting are planned.

The annual piano-organ recital for the students of Mrs. John M. Cook of Seymour Lake Road will be held Saturday, June 5th at 1:30 p.m. at the Seymour Lake United Methodist Church. Fifty-five pupils will participate from Clarkston, Ortonville, Oxford, Drayton Plains and Pontiac. The public is invited.

***

The plans are completed for the Methodist Women's Antique Show on June 3 and 4 from 11 to 9. Luncheon will be available from 11 to 2 and coffee and dessert after 2 p.m. We are very sorry we embarrassed Mrs. Gary Duncan by naming her chairman in last week's paper. Mrs. Russell Simonson is the chairman and has done an outstanding job. The ladies have been very busy this week decorating the windows of the business places in town. I happened to think that if you recognize some of the articles you may be dating yourself.

***

If the weatherman will go along with the spirit of the Memorial weekend the beaches should be full and all those folks who have pools will be busy getting the water warm enough for swimming. Of course the kids will go in no matter how cold it is just so they can say "I went swimming on Memorial Day."

Graduates

Mark Richard graduated from Central Michigan University with a B.S. degree in Business Administration on May 15.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Richard of 6197 Cramlane Dr., and a 1967 graduate of Clarkston High School.

BRIEFLY TOLD—

Catherine M. Esser of Clarkston was elected at-large representative to the Grand Valley State College Community Council at their recent election. The council is a policy recommending body.

Send the Clarkston News to a service man.

Class reunion scheduled

"The Roarin' Twentieth" is the theme to be used by the 1951 graduating class of Waterford Township High School for their 20 year reunion. The evening is scheduled for June 26 at the V.F.W. Hall on Airport Road.

The 1951 class has the distinction of being the first class to graduate from Waterford Township High School having completed most of their education in the building which now houses the material center. Fond memories of the class production of "Showboat," the senior trip to Portage Pointe and numerous school activities will highlight the evening for most of the 108 graduates.

Arrangements for the dinner-dance have been made by members of the Zeta Zeta Omega Sorority, a group formed so classmates could keep in touch after graduation. They have met once a month for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Harold Nicholson (Beverly Bugg) is general chairman for the event.

Kutting Korners

Looking ahead to summer? A cool salad that isn't fragile is always welcome. Mrs. D. A. Young of Ortonville suggests that you try this favorite of hers.

GELATIN-CABBAGE SALAD

8 cups cabbage, chopped (3 lbs.)
2 cups carrots, grated (¾ lb.)
1 green pepper, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
¼ cup water
Sprinkle water over ingredients. Put in refrigerator to crisp (4 to 6 hours).

DRESSING

1 package plain gelatin softened in ½ cup water
2/3 cup vinegar
2/3 cup sugar
2 teaspoons celery seed
1½ teaspoons salt and pepper to taste
Bring to a boil and add gelatin. Cool to the consistency of egg white. Beat well with egg beater. Add 2/3 cup salad oil. Pour over the drained vegetables and return to refrigerator. This will keep for several days.

Here is a sandwich to serve the whole family on a warm spring evening. I found the recipe in the cookbook that was published by the Drayton Plains Nature Center. It was contributed by Mrs. Richard Womack. Incidentally the Nature Center will be having their tasters' luncheon again this year and I hope, as a result, a new issue. I have suggested several variations that I tried.

SUPER SANDWICH

1 long loaf French bread, sliced lengthwise in half
Romaine or tender lettuce
French or salad dressing
Sliced chicken or turkey
Sliced ham
Swiss or cheddar cheese
Tomato slices
Salt and pepper

Line bottom of half of bread with lettuce and drizzle with French dressing. Pile on slices of chicken or turkey, dash with salt and pepper. Add ham and cheese slices. Cover with more lettuce and the tomato slices. Season with salt and pepper again and drizzle more French dressing. Add top half of bread and anchor with fancy toothpicks. Just slice it off as needed.

To keep fresh, wrap in waxed paper, then in damp cloth and place in refrigerator.

C.E.A. Report

By Michael Donovan

Electricity has been the science topic studied this spring in Mr. Michael Donovan's 5th grade class. To demonstrate an understanding of the benefits and uses of electricity as well as its hazards have been the goals of the unit. Static and current electricity, the ampere, voltage, kilowatt hour, magnetic fields were words which might have been overheard by a visitor during science period.

The Detroit Edison Company provided many materials which started the children reading about the lives and accomplishments of such men as Thomas Edison, Alexander Bell, Michael Faraday and Samuel Morse.

Many of the men's inventions were "re-invented" by the children and displayed at the May 3rd P.T.A. meeting. Telegraph sets, buzzers, telephones, generators and un-named contrivances were shown, all homemade and mostly working.

The collection of Radio and TV parts with the other mentioned items made one visitor to the P.T.A. meeting ask if the Whoopee-Bowl had been moved to Pine Knob. The custodian refused to enter the room until he was sure everything was safely unplugged.

It was a disappointment that present funding does not allow field trips. It would have been an appropriate ending to the study to see Edison's laboratory, old telephones, telegraphs, lamps and fine assortment of electrical equipment Greenfield Village has ready to show school children.

Busy schedule at Pine Knob

Spring is undoubtedly the busiest time of year at Pine Knob Elementary School and in addition to such interesting units as Michigan and electricity the children are looking forward to many extra-curricular activities, according to the reports of the faculty.

A great deal of excitement is stirring in the sixth grades since softball season is now under way. This year the girls will be coached by Miss Metzler and the boys by Mr. Alterman. Hopefully, interschool competition will be possible as in previous years.

The annual Book Fair, presented by the Ludington News Co. and the school PTA will be held on May 20, 21 and 24. Children will be able to visit and purchase books at the fair on each of these days.

A highlight of the year for all children in the school is the annual field day which is under the direction of the principal, Mr. David Westlund. On this day the children compete against others of the same age in events such as foot races, batting and throwing softballs, broad jump and chinning. At the day's end ribbons are awarded children who place first, second and third in each grade level event.

If we could just wrap it all up.

Litter is a complex problem. And solving it calls for understanding and united action.

1. Litter isn't caused by bottles or cans or convenience packaging. Litter is caused by the thoughtless man. The thinking man can stop it.
2. The natural first step is individual action. Let's all be a little more thoughtful. Let's make sure that we, ourselves, are not adding to the litter problem.
3. The thinking man takes active steps to keep his community clean. The tools are at hand.
4. The United States Brewers Association is ready to help you. We're working at the local and national levels to create greater public awareness. To attack apathy. To help Keep America Beautiful.
5. If we tackle this problem together we can soon have it all wrapped up. Write us today and we'll help your community develop a campaign against litter.

Spain

By Jean Sura

Six of us left the ski area and drove our rented Dodge down the mountain to Granada so we could see the world famous Alhambra.

The Alhambra is the former palace of the Moorish kings of Granada and is situated high on a hill above the city. It commands a wide view of the city on one side and the heights of the Sierra Nevada on the other.

Constructed mainly between 1248 and 1354, it occupies a terraced summit about 2500 ft. in length and 675 ft. in width and covers an area of 35 acres.

The citadel is surrounded by a wall with a circumference of more than a mile and surmounted by 13 square towers.

The wall and towers are built of sun-dried red brick. The exterior of the palace that stands inside the citadel is plain and somber, but the interior is beautiful. Painted tiles panel many of the walls. Fretted ceilings and filigree work in stucco give it an air of lightness and grace framed in marble columns.

Spanish troops captured the Alhambra from the Moors in 1491. A part of the palace was destroyed by the Spanish king (Ferdinand) and Holy Roman emperor Charles V.

The part of the original palace that remains, containing the Court of the Lions (recognized by the fountain located in the center) the Hall of Two Sisters and other smaller apartments has made the Alhambra world famous as an example of Moorish Art.

One of the most outstanding outlying buildings of the Alhambra is the Palacio Generalife.

We didn't have time in our brief visit to see the villa but walked through gardens of clipped hedges, grottoes, fountains and cypress avenues. The gardens are said to retain their original Moorish character.

Our visit to Generalife and the Alhambra was cut short by the fact that we had to meet the bus that would take us back to Malaga and Tormalinos on the Costa del Sol for the last part of our snow and sun vacation.

Olive groves, fields of sugar cane, and cork trees provided most of the scenery of the winding trip down.

Frequently, as the bus would make a turn on the winding road, we could look back and see the snowy peaks where we had skied.

Cactus and palm trees appeared as we traveled south to the El Andalus Hotel and our rooms that looked out over the Mediterranean.

Next week: We spend a day in Tangiers, Africa.

Footballers raise funds

The C.H.S. Football team will hold a fun raising roller skating party at the Rolladium at 4475 Highland Road from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.00 and skate rental is 50 cents.

Two tickets to the Detroit Lions vs. Cincinnati August 14th football game will be given to the winner of a drawing to be held on July 4.

The donation is 50 cents and tickets can be obtained from all football candidates.

NOTICE

The Clarkston Varsity Baseball Team won its second game in the State Tournament. The win came Saturday, May 29, over West Bloomfield, by a score of 1-0. Saturday, June 5, the Wolves will play Waterford Township in the qualifying round of the Tourney. Game time is 1 p.m.

Plywood buying hint

Don't use plywood labeled "interior with exterior glue" in farm buildings, says James Boyd, MSU engineer.

"It will come apart with successive cycles of wet and dry conditions," says Boyd. "It is made for subfloors; particularly those that might get rained on a couple of times before the roof is built.

"Some lumber yards sell it several cents cheaper than regular exterior plywood. But don't use it as exterior plywood."

Promotions announced at CAP open house

Over 100 guests attended the Open House held by Clarkston Composite Squadron Civil Air Patrol on May 19th. Pictorial displays, a slide presentation, a shelter built from a parachute and survival equipment were set up in the Clarkston Junior High School cafeteria for the evening.

1/Lt. Gerald A. Lawrence CAP, Squadron Commander, welcomed the guests and gave them a summary of the purpose of CAP and CAP's 1970 statistics of lives saved, communications and air searches conducted. Captain Marilyn Moore, Oakland County Group Headquarters, outlined the CAP Cadet Program and introduced the Clarkston cadets who will represent Michigan at this Year's Cadet Special Activities.

Lt. Lawrence announced promotions and awarded insignia to Cadets Robert Klann who was promoted to Cadet/Lt. Colonel; Kevin Campbell to Cadet/Major and to Mike Saile, Cadet/Warrant Officer. Members of the Senior Staff receiving promotions were Paul Blevins - 2nd Lt., Robert Turner - 1/Lt. Karwyn Blevins - CWO, James Brissette and Timothy Kerton to S/SGT.

Mike Saile received the first Commander's Award - an engraved plaque for outstanding service to the Squadron.

Dan Fife named senior athlete

Clarkston's pride and joy Dan Fife, added another leaf to his crown of laurel as he was named University of Michigan senior athlete of the year on May 25.

Fife, 21, was singled out for the honor by the Ann Arbor Quarterback Club. Don Moorehead of South Haven, who played quarterback on the football team and Rick McCurdy, a gymnast, finished in the runner-up spots.

The captain of the U of M basketball team and (2-1) starting pitcher said, "The direction that I take in the future will be determined next week when the baseball draft is completed on June 8 and 9.

"I am partial toward playing professional baseball because I feel that I have more future there."

In the meantime, 2 pro basketball offers are waiting Dan's decision - one from the Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association and the other from the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association.

“Laugh clowns”

by Jean Sura

Some wise soul once said that all humor stemmed from tragedy. If there is any truth to that I must have had a humorous Memorial Day.

To begin the whole story, I ate too much dinner the previous night. This brought on an attack of insomnia so I wasn't even rested when all the trouble began.

Aside from the fact that my system was rebelling against my overindulgence and the lack of sleep, I staggered down to the kitchen to brew up a concoction for dinner. One of the first things that I did was to slash my finger with a knife while quartering some chickens.

The chickens, in their naked, unembalmed state were all that my queasy stomach needed. The sight of blood both mine and theirs, made me sick.

“You look terrible,” said my husband, with a large healthy yawn. “How come you are up so early and what are you doing with those chickens at this time of day?”

“Have you forgotten we're having company. I can't play golf all day and have dinner ready when we finish by stay in bed.”

“What are we having for dinner?” he asked.

“Well, it's a fancy French recipe that I read about in a magazine.”

“Don't tell me that you are going to experiment on company again,” he said.

“This is not an experiment. Anybody who can read should be able to fix it.”

Just then there was a tapping on the door. Our good cousins had arrived, just an hour ahead of schedule.

“Sorry to be so early. These new expressways cut our travel time in half.”

I hardly heard the rest of their greetings. I was flapping toward the upstairs and some respectable apparel.

Things didn't get much better.

Knowing that trying to play golf on a holiday without a starting time is like speeding over the Zilwaukee Bridge on I-75, I had made a starting time. Not realizing that I was going to be sick I hadn't reserved any golf carts. So we had to walk. And walk and walk. My chills and fever didn't help my game.

“How can you stand wearing that jacket over your sweater?” said cousin. “Don't you feel well?”

That was the understatement of the day! I did make it home. I did get the dinner in the oven. The smell of it cooking must have been delicious, they remarked about it frequently. It only made me sicker.

I finally threw in the towel. Thank heaven for good relatives. They served their own dinner while I huddled under a blanket.

Their remarks were anything but kind.

They sure had a lot of fun at my expense.

“Laugh clowns. I was really sick!”

Kim Hamaker, 13, and Cheryl Phelps, 13, are ready to be assigned to summer jobs as mother's helpers. Whether you need windows or cars washed, baby tended or somebody to serve at your next dinner party the Jaycettes "Jobs for Teens" has somebody ready and willing to help you out. If you need a reference, Kory Hamaker, 8 months old will be glad to oblige, but not in writing.

"Jobs for Teens" starts 3rd year

The Clarkston Jaycettes are ready to get their "Jobs for Teens" project into operation. To date, lists of available Junior and Senior High School girls who desire work have been compiled and screened.

This is the third year the club has sponsored this community service project. Though response last year was commendable the sponsors are hoping for a greater demand for the services of these young people.

As in the past the names and phone numbers of several Jaycettes will be listed for employers to call when they need help. The members will then fit the job to the teen.

"Each year," said a member of the committee, "the response gets better. We hope that the community is fully aware and will take advantage of this service.

"The employers and employees both benefit but so does the community. The project serves to give young girls worthwhile things to do with their leisure time."

Heading the program this year is Mrs. Gigi Colton, and Mrs. Barb Hamaker is in charge of publicity.

Winners in the finals of the Michigan State Industrial Education competition proudly show their awards and prize winning projects. In the back row, from left to right, are Mike McClean and Greg Priebe. Standing in front are Tim Humphrey and Allen Crosby. Kneeling are Steve Palace and Mike Klann. Sitting are Howard Phelps, Eric Gruenberg and Mark Bennett.

Clarkston students earn more industrial honors

Students from the Clarkston Junior High School competed recently in the Michigan Industrial Education Competition.

Eighteen students won awards at the regional contest. Of these boys, nine placed first or second and were qualified to continue on to the State Contest in Lansing on May 13, 14, and 15.

State winners were: 1st place, Greg Priebe and Mark Bennett, 8th grade, drafting; 2nd, Eric Gruenberg, 7th grade drafting; Allen Crosby, 8th grade electricity; 3rd, Mike Klann, 8th grade drafting, Steve Place, 8th grade electricity and Howard Phelps, 9th grade drafting. Honor awards went to Tim Humphrey, 7th grade drafting and Mike McClean, 8th grade woodworking.

Additional regional winners were Dan Priebe, Mathew Cardona, Neal Farner, Mike McClean, Neal Hoxie, Richard Sigler, Kevin Hawkins, Mike Hooper and Chris Kuechle.

The purpose of this program is to encourage and recognize fine craftsmanship in the field of Industrial Education in the State of Michigan. The awards program is aimed at stimulating the interest and progress of Junior and Senior High School students by inviting them to enter their projects in these fairs.

The contest is sponsored by the Michigan Industrial Education Society and the Detroit News.
