

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Besides having the black cloud of bad luck hovering over me on fishing trips, I had further indications of what was to come when we picked up our Quebec fishing licenses last week.

The scene on the cover is of men having a shore lunch of fried fish. Half of the wording above the picture is in French. I later figured this to read "Yankee, the fish are ours. Go home."

Too, we were going to be staying on a bass lake. While we were getting our licenses one of the men in our group started reading the rules. "Bass fishing opens in Quebec June 18," he read. The date was June 3.

This left us fishing for speckled trout, a fish not known for suicidal tendencies. I figured the 5 of us spent 68 hours fishing in our 2 1/2 days near Sheenboro, Quebec and we caught 3, 14-inch specks.

Back in the office Monday morning, ready to forget fishing, I walked Carl Buechler who had just returned from Nipigon. He had 3 or 4 lovely specks weighing 4 pounds each.

A half hour later Mrs. Jim Clarkson entered with her picture and story of catching a 15-pound Northern near a town we passed through on the Ottawa River.

No sooner had she left and I walked Dave Porter who caught a 5-pound bass in Whipple Lake.

Golf, anyone?

Holly, Oxford, Clarkston, Lake Orion and Brandon school districts serve the huge majority of students in the top two tiers of townships in Oakland county.

Holly, Oxford, Clarkston and Lake Orion rate 1, 2, 3, 5 for having the lowest school tax rates in the county based on 1970 state equalized valuations.

Brandon is 10th out of 28 districts. (Pontiac is 4th.)

The liberals will cry that we people in the sticks aren't willing to pay the price to supply materials and personnel to do an adequate job of educating.

The conservatives will point out that we are able to produce students as capable of facing the world and its problems as Lamphere (which has the highest tax rate in the county).

Whatever, educating our children will cost more, though we may not have the property tax rates to base our budgets on. On the other hand, maybe we always will. The legislature isn't exactly proceeding post haste with any other school support measure.

It seems like only a moment between the time you try to get the baby to talk and the teenager to listen.

Bicycle-car crash injures boy 7

A 7-year-old boy was injured when he lost control of his bicycle and crashed into the side of a moving vehicle.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's record Scott G. Bell, 7, of 16 Clarkston-Orion Road was coming down the grade of his driveway on his bicycle at 7:45 p.m. on June 10. The boy seemed unable to use the hand brake and crashed into a car driven by Ronald R. Draper, 30, of 100 Clarkston-Orion Rd.

An inoperable turn signal may have been the cause of an accident at 9:40 a.m. on June 13 according to Oakland County Sheriff's Department records.

Jean P. Gourand, 32 of Drayton Plains stated that he was attempting to make a left turn from northbound Sashabaw at Pelton when a car driven by Robert G. Hawley, 22, of Pontiac tried to pass, hitting him on the left side.

Hawley stated to sheriff's deputies that Gourand's car started to turn right then came left as he was passing. Gourand was treated by a doctor and released.

A car caromed off a tree when the driver lost control on a curve, according to Oakland County records, and landed on its top. The accident occurred at 10:55 p.m. on June 13 near the Sashabaw and Hoyt intersection. Patrick A. Krasinski, 29, of Waterford was injured. He had a passenger with him at the time of the accident.

"Jobs for Teens" gets under way

The Clarkston Jaycette's "Jobs for Teens" program is now under way according to reports of the committee. Girls in their teens have been registered and will be available for odd jobs throughout the summer months.

A spokesman for the Jaycettes urges that residents take advantage of the program. Babysitters, mother's helpers, maids, car washers, and other jobs can be filled by calling members of the Jaycette group who will screen the applicants and fill the position with a qualified girl.

The committee members to call for the weeks from June 14 to June 28 are: Marilyn Smith, 625-4865; Linda Elkins, 674-2007; Lana Appleton, 363-1792; Carol Cronin, 363-1792; and Judy Marsh, 673-7408.

289. Following the 2 were: Louise Cohen, 232; William Rausch, 210; Charles Smalley, 127, and Charles Weichel, 104. There were 4 write-in votes cast for Ingrid Smith.

The results were announced at the regular meeting of the School Board.

Oakland County Public Works Department received the approval of their request for easements for sewer lines at the Sashabaw Elementary and Clarkston Junior High Schools.

An industrial arts teacher was named Assistant Principal at the High School to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Ralph Kenyon.

Conrad Bruce, 31, has taught Industrial Arts at Clarkston High School for the past 7 years. He has coached the cross country and track team for 3 years.

Previous to his employment in Clarkston he spent 2 years teaching industrial arts and coaching track and basketball in Caseville.

Bruce was born and raised in Arnold, Michigan, near Escanaba.

College years were spent at Northern Michigan where he received a BS Degree. He subsequently received an MA from Michigan State University.

Hilda Bruce, his wife, is a graduate of Hillsdale College. They live with their children, Amy, 6, Christopher, 5 and Jennifer, 2, on Guyette Street in Clarkston.

In further action the Board approved the borrowing of $191,600 from the Pontiac State Bank to enable the school district to cover their payrolls and closing expense for the school year.

This move was necessitated by the delinquency of State Aid payments.

Dr. L. F. Greene, Superintendent of Schools explained that the tax levy for next year will total 28.21 mills. This is a decrease from the 28.31 mills that were levied for the 1970-71 school year.

"However," said Dr. Greene, "taxpayers will not feel the reduction because the .10 mill will be collected and given to the county."

A letter from the Bureau of School Services voiced their approval of the operation of the Clarkston High School. In his letter, George E. Mills wrote, "I have much to commend and little to condemn."

"Where did the hook go?" Jimmy Porter, 4, asks his big brother David, 12. David caught the 5 pound 21 inch large mouth bass in Whipple Lake on June 6. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Porter of 9507 Whipple Shore Drive. David has entered his catch in a fishing contest sponsored by the Oxford Leader.

Included in this year's program are weekly arts and crafts, softball, kickball, track, four-square, volleyball, relays, bicycle rodeo and watermelon eating contests.

The playgrounds will be open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon, starting on Monday, June 21 and ending on Friday, August 13.

A weekly schedule of upcoming activities will be posted at each playground.

"We would like to invite your children, ages 5-12 to come and participate," said

Mark Cowen, Playground Director.

Activities scheduled for the week June 21 to 25 will cover general organization and aluminum pictures will be made in arts and crafts.

Still talking sewer routes

Routing of sewers in the village continues under discussion between the county DPW and Kieft Engineering, representing Clarkston.

Howard Kieft told the council this week that all changes would be analyzed as to cost and use. "We will agree to the DPW's recommendations when they are in the best interest of the village," Kieft said, "and fight when they are not."

Fire budget approved

By Jim Sherman

The 1971-72 budget of the Independence Township Volunteer Fire Dept. was approved Tuesday night by the Township Board.

This event usually goes unreported as does approval of other department budgets in the township. They have been routine.

With 3 new members on the board, after many years of the same 5, budgets are being questioned. Some of this is to acquaint members with costs and procedures, some are probably constructive in purpose, and likely some questions are critical in purpose.

The Board started reviewing the firemen's budget in secret session last week. Fifteen of the 26 budget items were discussed, according to trustee Tom Bullen. He explained the session at the open meeting this week.

Bullen, standing before a flip chart he had prepared to review the budget for the audience, said, "I seem to be the arch nit-picker." (He had been accused of nit-picking by firemen.)

He said he had "absolutely no personal vendetta to any individual fireman or the department. My concern is for stability in itself."

Last week's meeting broke up over salary discussion. Chief Don Beach, upset with Bullen's questioning on pay to firemen, resigned as chief and left the meeting. Since the meeting was not official, and since assistant chief and Tink Ronk retrieved the resignation from the table, Beach's effort could not be officially recognized.

And, he remains as chief. During the week he said he would continue if the budget was approved.

This year's budget calls for expenditure of $85,000. Last year actual expenditures were $78,000. The dept. is supported by one voted mill.

Chief Beach, who has headed the 36-man department since 1941, received a $25 raise to $250. The assistant chief and all officers also received $25 monthly increases.

The firemen will now receive $4 an hour for the first hour of work and $3 for each additional hour. This is a $1 increase in each category.

The total salary budget is up $2,100 over last year.

Also in the budget is $15,000 to be put aside for a new truck. A new truck costs about $40,000.

Bullen concluded by saying the discussion went far "beyond any exercise I wanted it to. We have an excellent department, and we're proud of it."

The Board has agreed not to issue any more building permits in Woodhull Lake subdivision for 90 days and to withdraw those presently active. This is pending application for urban renewal for the area.

Use supply-demand, not 20-hour week

Has massive unemployment become a way of life in the United States? Have our technical advances with automated equipment raced hopelessly ahead of increased consumer demand?

Are foreign goods underpricing our domestic and foreign production to a point of our no longer having any chance of being competitive?

Is all this primarily the fault of powerful and greedy labor unions plus overgenerous governmental agencies that make it more profitable to receive unemployment than to work at the "lesser jobs"?

Finally, how much more will our economic dilemma be complicated if our ponderous military machine actually is "wound down" and another half million veterans are added to our available work force?

Our own understanding of the laws of supply and demand is rather basic. We believe that if enough people want and can afford a product or service, there will be purchases to the extent of public "need" and ability to buy.

If too much is made available, demand might be accelerated briefly by price reduction, but, even at a bargain, buyers will generally be reluctant to purchase more than 2 homes or more than a couple of cars per driver in the family.

One solution suggested has been that of instituting the 30 hour week. To do so, nationally, would presumably provide jobs for one third more people. Very neat and tidy - an economist's dream come true.

There's just one little tiny fly in that ointment, however. Workers going on 30 hours would demand that they be paid the same money that they were previously paid for 40 hours.

Product and service prices would skyrocket again and (since individual incomes would theoretically not rise) the buyers' ability to purchase would drop and congress might have to give serious consideration to repealing the law of supply and demand. Don't put it past them to attempt to legislate such basic economic "laws" or even to try to reverse the law of gravity.

After such brilliant legislation we could then go to a 20 hour week and import labor even to produce more of the products nobody could then afford.

"If It Fitz . . ."

My wife left me

By Jim Fitzgerald

At this writing, my wife has left me and I am a bachelor father, just like on TV. I am sitting here in my Brut cologne, waiting for the pretty broads to start climbing through the windows.

"You'd better miss me for more reasons than my cooking," my wife said as she headed over the hill to granddaughter's house to say itchy-gitchy-goo.

"I don't expect to miss your cooking at all," I answered. "I watch TV. I know what happens to fathers who must raise their children alone. A blonde model, 40-28-30, knocks at the back door and asks if she can borrow a cup of my libido. When she notices that my 2 kids have their heads stuck in the same peanut butter jar, she insists that I hire her as a cook.

"The kids will urge me to marry this doll, of course. Motherless children always want their fathers to marry pretty girls. But I will refuse. I will explain to the kids that you will probably return some day after your granddaughter grows up. I will not speak ill of you, no matter how bitter I feel inside. I will tell them to not believe what the neighbors say about you. I will urge those little half-orphans to keep a light in their hearts for your return. I will tell them they should stop crying, even if Daddy can't," I said.

"I will be gone 2 1/2 days," my wife said.

"I won't take your portrait off the dehumidifier. The children will recognize you when you return. I promise I won't let them forget you," I promised.

"Good lord," she said. "Goodbye."

She has been gone almost 2 days now. Neither of the kids has noticed the difference. They figure she's over at neighbor Shirley Moore's again, discussing the dresses they wore to the senior prom 25 years ago. The kids just keep eating the same old frozen pizza, and I am living on apples.

That sexy cook hasn't come knocking yet but I really don't care. Last night, in my lonely bed, I found a note under the pillow. It said: "I love you."

It really isn't so bad being married to a grandmother. If she'd only hurry home.

Township Supervisor, Gary Stonerock, left, and Henry Brendle of 8809 Lakeview, in the Woodhull Lake Subdivision assist in cleaning the area that is exploring the possibilities of obtaining urban renewal funds for redevelopment. According to Stonerock, officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) have toured the subdivision and agree it meet the department's criteria for assistance.

Glass collection set for June 19

This Saturday marks the 6th "Bottles for Building" glass collection in Independence Township. To date, 121 tons have been sent to the Owens Illinois Glass Co.'s Charlotte plant for recycling and $1600 has been deposited into the treasury for recreational improvement in the area.

The Clarkston Masonic Lodge and the DeMolay Cedar chapter will head the glass collection beginning at 9 a.m.

Representatives of the local "Bottles for Building" committee have been meeting with similar groups in North Oakland county and county officials in hopes of establishing a glass recycling center nearby.

"To obtain such a center," said Mrs. William Kuse, publicity chairman, "a great willingness of the populus to save and recycle glass must be exhibited."

"Summer means more bottles and jars are discarded, so the committee hopes for a large tonnage in June, July and August," she concluded.

Conscientious citizens are asked to have their trash glass, graded for color and rinsed of residue, at their curb or at drop-off points to assist the workers.

Four area students graduate from OU

Memorial garden honors local youth

This sundial stands as a memorial to Michael O'Roark at the Independence Township Library.

A garden was planted at the Independence Township Library, by members of the Jaycees and Clarkston Garden Club, last week as a living memorial to Todd Michael O'Roark who died accidentally on September 23, 1969.

To honor the 13 year old youth who was an outstanding science student, the sundial and shrubbery that surround it were donated by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. O'Roark, grandmothers, Helen O'Roark and Maude Davison; aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davison and Mr. and Mrs. John Sapsford.

At the time of Michael's death a science memorial fund was created. It buys science books for the library and schools.

The beautification of the grounds around the library have progressed with the installation of the memorial garden. In addition, contributions of $200 from the Clarkston Garden Club, $50 from the Clarkston Jayettes and various memorial contributions plus the diligent work of members of the Jaycees have readied the grounds for seeding.

"Our work isn't complete," said a spokesman for the Garden Club, "but we have made a healthy start."

Contributions can still be made to further the project.

Rick Hullenlocker, left and Jim Hitchcock provide the brawn to assist in the beautification of the Independence Township library.

GOD'S REWARD TO FATHERS

The king will say to those on his right: 'Come. You have my Father's blessing! Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the creation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink. I was a stranger and you welcomed me, naked and you clothed me. I was ill and you comforted me. Then the just will ask him: 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you or see you thirsty and give you drink? When did we welcome you away from home or clothe you in your nakedness? When did we visit you when you were ill?' The king will answer them: 'I assure you, as often as you did it for one of my least brothers, you did it for me.'

Matthew 25: 34-40

We've all heard this gospel before but on Father's Day let us consider it in a new light. Let us consider it as a special tribute to all Fathers on this their special day. Really, Fathers, you have been doing all these things Jesus speaks of in this gospel. You have been feeding the hungry, your children. You have been clothing your wife and your little ones. You have been sheltering your family. You have been taking care of the sick ones in your family, paying the hospital hearing those wonderful words of the gospel. 'You Christ in the gospel. You have been doing this for many, have my Father's blessing! Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from prayer of all of us on this Father's the creation of the world.'

Mrs. Robert J. Heath

Glavach-Heath exchange vows

Given in marriage by her father, Cynthia Marie Glavach became the bride of Robert Jeffrey Heath at St. John's Episcopal Church in Holly on June 12.

The evening ceremony was performed by the Rev. William C. Hamm.

The bridal couple are both graduates of Clarkston High School and the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Glavach of Waldon Road and Mrs. Robert E. Heath of 6654 Pear Street.

The bride's gown was fashioned of floor length satin peau de soie. It had a matching train and was trimmed in old lace. Her Juliet cap secured a mantilla of old lace. She carried white rosebuds and carnations.

Sara Louise Majeske of Ann Arbor was the maid-of-honor and was gowned in a long gown of apricot chiffon. Like the bride's gown, it was trimmed in old lace. She wore a Camelot cap and veil.

Bridesmaids and sisters of both the bride and groom, Linda Theresa Glavach and Linda Kay Heath, both of Clarkston, wore gowns identical to that of the honor maid.

G. Theodore Cowdrey performed the best man's duties and John Winters, Birch Run, and Frederick Hubbard of Clarkston seated the guests.

The couple were congratulated at a reception at Waterford-Oaks after which they left for a wedding trip to Nassau.

They will make their home in Pontiac upon their return.

Mrs. Daniel B. Williams

Bible students wed

Two students at the Detroit Bible College were united in matrimony on June 12. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Billy Walker at the Adrian College Chapel in Adrian.

Ilah Borton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Borton of Hudson became the bride of Daniel B. Williams who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron B. Copeman of 9288 Sashabaw Road.

A floor-length gown of imported organza and Venice lace was the bride's choice for the double-ring ceremony. She wore a long Juliet veil with matching train.

The bridal attendants wore gowns fashioned of tulle and light blue. They were: honor-maid, Connie Lehmann, Royal Oak; bridesmaids, Linda Hart, cousin of the bride, of Hudson; Nancy Lehmann, Royal Oak; Vonda Holtowski, Monroe; Peggy Hardy, Royal Oak; and Julie Copeman, sister of the groom, Clarkston.

Linda Ash, a niece of the groom, Clarkston was the flower girl and the bride's brother, Tony Borton of Hudson, carried the rings.

Rodney Kline, Birmingham, was best man. The bride's brother, Randy Borton, Hudson, Eric Haven, Traverse City, John Degrille, Livonia, Robert Carpenter, Port Huron and the bride's cousin, Richard Beagle, Hudson were the groomsmen.

A reception was held at Adrian College's Ritchie Hall.

After a wedding trip in the East the couple will make their home in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. King

Newlyweds honeymoon in Florida

Before the candle-lit altar of the United Presbyterian Church in Auburn Heights, the Rev. William Palmer united Debra I. Vasko and Jerry L. King in matrimony on June 4.

The bride chose a Cathedral length gown of nylon organza trimmed in chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins. A crown of matching lace and seed pearl petals held her bouffant fingertip veil. She wore a diamond sweetheart pendant, a gift from the groom.

The bride's sister, Shirley Vasko was the maid-of-honor and Bonnie Cleffmas and Cathy King, a sister of the groom, were the bridesmaids.

The bridal attendants were identically gowned in floor length lavender chiffon with purple velvet accents. They carried lavender carnations.

Cousins of the groom, Paula and Lorn Lamberson, were the flower girl and ring bearer.

Rodney Galbraith of Pontiac stood as best man. Ushers were Douglas Vasko and Keith King, brothers of the bridal couple.

A special attraction at the reception, which was held at the American Legion Hall in Auburn Heights, was the wedding cake which was made by the groom's mother and his aunt, Mrs. Richard Dixon.

Grandparents of the couple who were present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Walled Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vasko Mr. and Mrs. Edward Winter of Auburn Heights and Mr. Alfred King of Clarkston.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Vasko and Mr. and Mrs. Melville F. King of Clarkston.

Retires

Personnel retiring from Wayne State University in Detroit were honored at the annual University Reception on June 13.

Samuel P. Pollock of 4754 Mohawk Blvd. who worked for building services for 23 years was among those honored.

Court asked to decide golf course zoning

The township board will have the right to appeal the zoning of the 110-acre golf course, said James E. Hord, in a suit filed in Circuit Court Tuesday. Hord, in his suit, is asking for a zoning change from Residential to Commercial for the 110-acre golf course developed by William Gershenson of Clarkston and the owners of the golf course. The suit was filed June 10. They are asking the court to reverse the vote of May 11 that disallowed the zoning change from Residential to Commercial. Last July the township board voted to disallow this rezoning. Neighbors to the property petitioned for a referendum. Last month voters reversed the decision by about 470 votes. The owners of the golf course properties asked the court to reverse the decision and have the zoning of the golf course changed to commercial. Hord said the rezoning is needed to allow the golf course to be used for other purposes, such as a public health, safety or welfare.

Gershenson told the News Tuesday that he joined in the suit on advice of his attorney, James G. Hartick of Birmingham. He also stated, "I honestly feel what we are doing is in the best interest of the community."

He said he thought being on the same ballot with two other zoning issues (mobile court and multiple dwelling) adversely affected the vote on his proposition.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 189, sponsored by Calvary Lutheran Church, drove to Clinton Valley Council's Lost Lake Camp near Clare for the camp dedication Saturday, May 15.

Nineteen boy scouts, and some of their families arrived early Friday evening to set up camp. Because of the winds and dryness of the grounds, the scouts were allowed only to build charcoal fires as a safety precaution. Firewatch at every campsite was part of the safety measure taken against grass fires.

A mock campfire including skits and songs and the Order of the Arrow tapout ceremony highlighted Saturday evening. The campfire was composed of lanterns placed in the center of the participating troops.

New candidates of the Order of the Arrow from Troop 189 are committeeman James Zelenak, and scouts

John Fry, Leif Gruenberg, Franz Tresenreiter and Tom Waterbury.

The principal speaker at the dedication ceremony was Michigan Secretary of State Richard H. Austin. He commended the boy scout movement for their involvement in the fight against pollution.

Cowboy Carter performed sensational stunt flying demonstrations to entertain the scouts.

Sunday morning, Catholic and Protestant services were held for the boys.

Leadership for this weekend campout was provided by Scoutmaster William Purves and committeemen Herschel Fry, Richard Hammerstein, and John Mayo.

Families attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hecker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Runkle, Mr. and Mrs. James Zelenak and Mrs. Richard Smith.

SPECIAL TOWNSHIP BOARD MEETING June 8, 1971

SYNOPSIS

At a special meeting held Tuesday evening the Township Board listened to Mr. Sherwood Vermillya, President of the United Appraisal Company, an Ohio firm, explain his company's policies and methods in conducting an equalization and reappraisal of the township if given a contract to do so.

The cost of the product for about 8,400 parcels would be $69,800 or $8.31 per parcel and completed by December 1, 1972. This would include 244 agricultural, 387 commercial, 108 utility and industrial and 7,651 residential parcels.

The Assessor and the Company would hold informal public reviews prior to the formal Board of Review hearings at which time all questions would be answered and all unsatisfied taxpayer's property would be reinspected. Those still not satisfied could make the usual formal Board of Review appeal.

No immediate decision was entertained by the Board.

Respectfully,
Howard Altman
Independence Township Clerk

Kutting Korners

I try not to advertise any special products in the Korner but I can't resist telling you about the new cooking bags. I think they are great.
Made of nylon, they will stand temperatures of 350 degrees. Here is the recipe that I tried — in the bag.

COQ AU VIN

1 (3-lb.) broiler-fryer chicken, quartered
Flour
12 small white onions, peeled
6 slices bacon, diced
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon dried parsley flakes
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 bay leaf
½ lb. small whole mushrooms
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 cup dry red wine
¼ cup brandy

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Dredge chicken pieces with flour. Place chicken in a 12 x 18" Cooking Magic Bag. Place bag in a large baking pan. Add remaining ingredients. Secure end of bag with twister tie; puncture three small holes in top of bag. Bake in a moderate (350 degree F.) oven for 1½ hours. 4 servings.

I think that next time I am entertaining a crowd I will buy the little sized bag, put a quarter of a chicken, onions, a potato and some carrots in each bag along with the mushrooms. Then I plan to mix the wine, brandy and spices, divide them in equal parts and put a part in each small bag. Then when they are finished cooking everybody will get his own special serving.

It should be good, even when served on a paper plate.

I'll bet that you all figured that I would be putting the recipe for the pound cake used at the Nixon wedding. I'll fool you and give you this recipe for Ozark Pudding instead.

The reason I picked Ozark Pudding is because it has a tendency to fall. But do not be dismayed; this is SUPPOSED to fall.

OZARK PUDDING

1 egg
¾ cups sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder dash salt
½ cup chopped apples
½ cup chopped pecans
2 tablespoons dark rum

Around the town Grandparents arrive

by Donna Fahrner

The Jack Frost home on Cramlane has been a very busy place for the last week and this is only the beginning! Mr. and Mrs. Frost, son Gary and grandmother, Mrs. C. B. Gallas, spent the week at Annapolis for son Jack's June 9th graduation from the Naval Academy. They returned home just in time to get ready for an open house on June 13 to honor Gary's graduation from Clarkston High School.

With Jack's military wedding planned for Saturday, June 19, and company starting to arrive things are pretty rough, but should get back to normal by the end of the month. Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Frost of Niagara Falls, spent the week at Annapolis and arrived in Clarkston on Saturday for the rest of the celebrations.

At the same time, next door, at the B.J. Hanson's, home of the bride-to-be, Jan Hanson, friends and relatives were entertained on Sunday at an open house to honor daughter Beverly's graduation from Clarkston High School. Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dietzel of Arizona and Mrs. Lona Hanson of Pennsylvania are spending the week to be on hand for the graduation and wedding. The Hanson home has been just about as wild as the Frost's. The Hansons spent the week in Annapolis too, and arrived home just in time for their busy week.

David Thomas was guest of honor at an open house on Sunday, June 13. He will graduate from Clarkston High School. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Thomas of Pear Street.

The Jackson Byers home on Middle Lake was the scene of another open house. This one was for daughter Rebecca's graduation. Grandmother Mrs. Charles Byers arrived from Indiana. Uncle, Elmer Yoder of Indiana and grandmother, Mrs. P.H. Berriman of Ortonville were on hand to congratulate Becky.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Curd of Hollywood, Florida are spending three weeks in Clarkston with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Keller of Snow Apple. Grandson Robert's graduation will be the highlight of their visit. The family is very happy that grandmother and grandfather could be in town to celebrate their 49th wedding anniversary on June 13.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Birkelo, former residents of Clarkston, who have moved to Butte, Montana arrived in Clarkston for their son Bob's graduation from Clarkston High School. Bob has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Jake Leonard of Waldon Road. The Birkelo trip was delayed when son Tom had an emergency appendectomy on the day of their departure. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Leonard entertained friends at a cocktail party in honor of the Birkelo's return to Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gillis (Carol Walter) of East Washington Street are receiving congratulations on the birth of Adrienne Sarah who weighed 7 lbs. 13½ ozs. She was welcomed home by brother Christian 2½ and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gillis of Perry Lake Road and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Walter of West Washington.

Mr. Jack Wood, public information director of The Michigan Chapter Arthritis Foundation will be the speaker at the Pioneers Club on Thursday, June 24th at the Community Center. A film and discussion will follow a potluck lunch.

"Cedar Point or Bust" was the theme of the 27 Jr. High M.Y.F. members and three exchange students from Brazil on Saturday morning, June 6th. The O'Neil bus and Mr. McCall's station wagon rolled out of the Methodist Church parking lot at 5:45 a.m. It was almost a bust at Rockwood, Michigan, but after a few prayers and a fine bus mechanic they were on their way again and arrived at Cedar Point at 11 a.m.

The weather was perfect and everyone had a great day. Lightning, rain and high winds slowed the return trip but couldn't dampen the spirits of the singing, happy kids. The caravan arrived back at the church at 12:45 a.m. where they were greeted by many sleepy parents. At last reports the adults who went on the trip are expected to recover.

School is out and every mother in town is busy keeping the children occupied. It will take about a week until they fall into a routine and forget the question, "what can I do?" The recreation program will get under way next week for the younger ones and I am sure everyone has grass to cut and some windows to be washed. That should help to keep the older ones busy or out of sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moore (Mary Hinkley) are the proud parents of a baby girl born June 4th and weighing 7 lbs. 15 ozs. She will be welcomed home by Kristen Moore, age 16 months and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hinkley of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore of Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Baynes attended the World War I state convention at the Soo last week. They managed to do a little fishing and bring home some white fish. What time is the fish fry?

More patrol

Citizen complaints on noise and parking in the village have prompted the Council to ask for more police patrol.

The Clarkston police will now be patrolling 7 nights a week. Previously the police were on duty weekends only.

Youth held on destruction charge

A 17 year old Pontiac youth was arraigned before Judge Gerald McNally of 52nd District Court on June 8 on a count of malicious destruction of property which occurred on June 4.

Fred Kwek, 17, of 517 W. Pike, Pontiac was booked at the County Jail when he failed to meet the $750 bond that was set. Preliminary examination was set for June 17.

Kwek's arrest came about as a result of Oakland County Sheriff's deputies investigation of a second complaint that 2 youths had allegedly thrown what appeared to be a fire bomb at the home of Emmett Berendt at 4564 Lakeview in the Woodhull Lake Subdivision.

Berendt wounded the 2 with a shotgun blast as they allegedly ran away.

On June 4 Berendt's camper-truck was the target of a concrete throwing attack which did about $400 in damage according to the owner.

Kwek, along with Dennis Powell of Drayton Plains and William Standisford of Pontiac were charged with malicious destruction of property at the time.

Examination on the second charge has been set for July 16.

The awards were earned by 3 years of work and study.

Three other students from the Clarkston area who were honored for academic achievement were Harold P. Ballough of 9857 Norman Road, David A. Butler, 101 N. Holcomb and Vickie J. Swartz of 6953 Tappan Court.

Wee most beautiful

Kathy Salenski

A 9-year-old Clarkston girl is the Regional Wee Most Beautiful Majorette.

Kathy Salenski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Salenski, 5303 Winell, was so named last Saturday. The contest was in St. Clair Shores and sponsored by the Drum Majorettes of America.

Kathy captured the title for her age division, 8-10, and is entitled to go to North Carolina in August to compete for National honors. Her parents are planning the trip.

Besides the grand title, Kathy also won first place in twirling, first place in military strutting and first place in best appearance-fancy.

She has been twirling baton for about a year and has already won 39 awards.

Kathy is in the third grade at Pine Knob Elementary School.

Her wardrobe was furnished by the Little Treasure Shop in Independence Village. Her teacher is Suelynn Robinson, of Waterford, who was the 1967 National champion.

SURGERY

Surgeons have recently found that the idea of prolonged bed rest after an operation isn't always a good idea. They are sometimes sending patients home before the get-well cards arrive at the hospital.

This means the patient is up and around sooner, with less time away from home and work.

For example, your surgeon may decide to send you home the day after you've had your appendix out—or maybe even the same day. Later in the week, you'll go back to his office to have the stitches removed.

Five years ago (and in some parts of the country today) it wasn't unusual to stay in the hospital a week or so. Now many surgeons claim faster recovery results from the patient getting up and about sooner.

"We now know that one reason patients took so long to get on their feet was because they'd been in bed too long," said Dr. Paul Lahti, of Royal Oak, Mich. Also, the patient can recuperate in a familiar environment, with less exposure to patients with contagious disease.

And, of course, with hospital costs mounting steadily, the expense of an operation is reduced if you go home right away.

Not every surgeon agrees with this principle, and some objections are also expressed by patients. They like being the center of attention in the hospital, and are a bit annoyed when moved out earlier than they had expected.

Traveling baseball team splits openers

The Clarkston Traveling Baseball Team opened their season on a sour note on June 7 when they lost to Oxford 2-1. Kirk Comstock pitched a 2 hitter but got just 3 hits in support for his effort.

The game with Ortonville just 2 days later looked brighter as they came up with a 5-4 win. Greg Fogg pitched a hitless 1st inning and Mike Coulter finished the last 6 without giving up a hit.

A timely triple by Ken Foster knocked in the first run in the first and Greg Fogg brought in the other 2 in the 7th.

The games are played at 6 p.m. at the High School diamond. During the first half of the season home games will be played on Monday and during the last half they will be at home on Wednesday.

State says Deerfield erosion under control, watching it

Representatives of the Water Resources commission have checked Deerfield Subdivision for run-off into the Mill Pond. They found it under control, but want to be kept aware.

The subdivision, on the northwest corner of Clarkston, has been an item at the village council table for some time. As the hill was scraped preparatory to making roads, rains washed the sand and clay across Holcomb street.

The sub developer, M.A. Benson complied with the council demands to dig a retaining area to halt the flow last fall.

Last week the Council heard from the Bureau of Water Management, which is part of the Department of Natural Resources.

Their letter said: . . . management made inspection of Deerfield Subdivision May 19, 1971, where serious erosion has taken place in the past. Temporary protective measures appear to have the problem under control, but the structures will, however, require constant maintenance until subdivision lots and roads are stabilized in accordance with standard engineering practices.

If damages to the recourse reoccur we will appreciate being advised at once.

The letter was signed by Dale W. Granger, chief of the Hydrological Survey Div.

Players hold workshop

This summer the Clarkston Village Players will supervise a summer workshop for high school students. The workshop will be held at the Depot Theater on White Lake Rd.

"All interested students are invited to attend the first meeting at the Depot on June 25 at 1 p.m.," said Julie Wilford a member of the Players group.

Discussion at the first meeting will cover the necessary work involved in staging a play for children. The group attending will handle the acting, directing, set building and publicity with adult instruction.

"We have set a tentative production date for the first week in August," said Miss Wilford. "We hope that interest will be high and that we will have enthusiastic participation."

Wolverines split

By Mike Jewell

Tuesday, May 25, was a proud night for the Clarkston Jr. High baseball team as the Wolverines defeated their arch rivals, the Sashabaw Jr. High Cougars, 7-2.

After Sashabaw got 2 runs in the first inning they were stopped cold by the great pitching of Daryl Brittain. Clarkston hitters then rocked the Sashabaw pitcher for a total of 8 hits as they got 7 runs in the fourth, fifth, sixth innings.

Leading the Wolverine assault was Russ Reekwald with 3 hits for 3 times at bat. Chuck Jorgensen, Chuck Olsen, Tim Thompson, Jeff Jones, and Daryl Brittain supplied additional hits.

Daryl Brittain pitched in relief. He faced 29 batters, giving up 2 hits, 1 walk, and got 13 strikeouts. Brittain was credited with the win.

In reverse, Thursday, May 27, was a frustrating night for the Wolverines as they lost their 7th game of the year to West Hills Jr. High. West Hills scored 3 runs in the second and third innings. Their big blast came in the 6th as they scored 11 runs.

Clarkston rallied with 3 runs in the later innings.

What's new

by Jean Sura

So - what's new!

There is always a trouble maker around that takes his pencil in hand, licks the tip and then gets a lot of people confused.

Take Mrs. John Dodd, she's the lady who started messing my life up way back in 1910. From what I can gather by reading, she was the grandstanding gal who came up with the bright idea of "giving her father a day." She called it Father's Day.

Our kids tried that one year when their funds were defunct but it didn't work too well.

"Hey, Dad," they said, "we're going to give you a day."

"What's that?" said Gene, spilling his golf clubs all over the yard.

"Well, you get a day all your own."

"Fine," said the Sura family's answer to Arnold Palmer. "I'll just take that day and play golf."

By the looks on their faces he could tell that this wasn't what they had in mind.

"Okay, what DID you have in mind?" he asked.

"I had in mind that you might get a big kick out of unplugging that clogged drain or put a couple of washers in these leaky faucets," I said helpfully. "You might even clean the garage or get started painting the house. Better yet, why not take that silly chain saw that you just HAD to have and cut down some of those dead trees."

I could tell by the look on his face that this wasn't what HE had in mind.

"I can see," said one of the boys, "that you don't like the idea of having your own day."

"I read," said the other, "that in the African Dinka tribe that boys give their dads the skin of the first lion that they kill. Maybe we could kill a frog or a muskrat for you."

"Now hear this," roared old Dad. "I'm outlawing Father's Day in this family."

"I have used handmade, clay ashtrays when I didn't smoke. I have a collection of painted rock paperweights cluttering my desk and I have even used Evening in Paris cologne for after shave lotion in my day."

"But dear," I interrupted, "the boys thought it was for men because it came in blue bottles."

"Never mind," he continued. "For all these years I have taken these Father's Day gifts and used them with a smile. Remember the paint brush and the can of house paint? Remember the bucket and sponge so I could wash my own car?"

"Yes, but when the boys got older they gave you all those nice tools."

"Sure they gave me tools then borrowed them right back. Every time I wanted to use one I had to get in the car and retrieve it.

"Let me tell you one thing, I read too. I read that in South Sea island tribes the Dad lives in one hamlet and the Mamma and kids live in another. That might not be too bad.

"In African tribes they are afraid that the father might contaminate the new offspring by engaging in hunting and fishing, so after the baby is born the mother gets back to work and the father goes to bed for days or weeks.

"I'll tell you what I'll do. You guys offered me a day. I'll take it. I'll take it and go play golf and I thank you very much."

"That's fine Dad. That's just what we had in mind. We'll play with you."

"Now you're talking sense," said Gene with a grin. "Let's go."

So what's new?
