

By Jim Sherman

Pity the poor soul who believes some of the tire commercials on television. In some cases, if the guy believed strong enough, he doesn't need pity. He needs mourning.

Take for instance the one that starts with the announcer's saying, "State Police can't endorse products, but..." Then comes the story of how he was chasing some desperado.

"I observed the subject as he left the city limits and began pursuing the vehicle. We were going 100 miles per hour when we came to dead man's curve.

"I didn't need to worry, though. My car was equipped with Fast Blow tires." Then the announcer comes back and tells you to buy these treads, hinting that you can go 100 mph around your our dead man's curve.

I suggest if you try it you may get your last 2 rides on these super ovals... your car and the ambulance.

Then there is the cartoon tire commercial showing Deluxe Supers clinging to a wet road surface as the centrifugal forces carry the body of the car out over a cliff.

And, the various studded, cross the V treaded tires that get you over ice and through drifts and snow of all kinds.

I pause and wonder why we need wreckers. Practically every tire on every car is advertised to last 70,000 miles, travel high speeds, stop on a dime on wet pavement and gnaw their way through 10 ft. drifts.

I imagine there have been improvements in tires through the years. The steel belt has replaced the nylon that replaced rayon that replaced the tube.

I don't know what I have on my car but at 25,000 miles I have the second set nearly bare on the front. The backs have been saved by snow tire relief.

I have an idea Nader will come along and tell the world the steel ovals are rusting.

Then when manufacturers are forced to go back to nylon they'll find that material in short supply because so much more is needed in the panty hose market.

Rayon is too dangerous to revive, so by 1975 we'll be back to tires and tubes. Please forget you read it here first.

Always keep your words soft and sweet - just in case you have to eat them.

Fire hazzard removed

Confiscate fireworks

Two half ton trucks of fireworks were confiscated from a second floor apartment in Clarkston by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies on July 19.

An anonymous tip that a large amount of fireworks were being kept in an upstairs apartment at 57 S. Main brought sheriff's deputies to investigate.

When Mrs. Mike Fair, who lives at that address, allowed the deputies in the house they discovered the enormous cache.

According to Deputy D. H. Castora, the fireworks were in a room that had an open padlock on the door. They were removed from the frame apartment building, which is owned by Savoie, as a safety precaution.

The cache consisted of a wide range of fireworks. There were smoke golf balls, bottle rockets, sky rockets, M-80's, penny firecrackers and many others. One crate bore the label, Mike Fair Fireworks Company, Clarkston, Michigan. Most bore labels, made in Singapore, Taiwan, and England.

"Possession of fireworks without a special permit for professional handling is illegal in Michigan," said Detective Charles Whitlock of the Sheriff's staff. "We checked with Howard Altman, Township Clerk, through whose office the permit would normally be issued. He knew of no such issuance."

Sheriff Irons and Undersheriff Hazen pointed out that the possession of fireworks is a misdemeanor, but that the collection posed a serious fire hazard for the inhabitants of the building and adjoining properties.

Fair, 36, is a salesman and lives in the second floor apartment with his wife, 20, and 2 children.

He appeared at the Sheriff's office voluntarily the following morning and gave written consent for the disposal of the fireworks.

The fireworks, which were valued at approximately $2,000, were then soaked in water to eliminate their effectiveness and buried at the direction of the Pontiac Fire Department.

Under Sheriff, Leo Hazen inspects inflammable cargo.

The over-flow is loaded in the sheriff's patrol car.

Carol Arend was asked to join the staff to be available for small group or individual counseling of the teachers participating in the conference.

"I couldn't be more pleased with their (Bob and Carol's) contribution to this extremely successful conference. I will never again conduct a workshop without the counseling aspect these two have added," said Bill Martin, Jr., author and coordinator of the conference.

"Playing Russian roulette walking around my home"

"What can I do to keep bullets from coming into my home?"

That was the question put to the Independence Board Tuesday night by Vermont Hoskins, 4852 Sashabaw.

He said, "I'm directly down range from the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club's big bore range" . . . then he told of a bullet entering his house July 10.

Hoskins said a 30 cal. bullet went through 3 windows of his house and 2 doors, missing his wife's head by 18 inches. It left a hole the size of a small fist in one door. The Hoskins house is about a half mile from the range.

He told of another case 8 to 10 years ago when a similar thing happened to another family.

Hoskins said all law enforcement agencies were notified and the bullet found. He agreed that the Club had been cooperative even to the point of offering to pay for the damage.

Frank Lawrence, president of the Club, said they were having a complete investigation. They found that 2 men were shooting on the range that day. One man's rifle was checked and found not to have fired the bullet.

The other man is vacationing. His gun will be checked Lawrence said.

He told the Board he wouldn't deny that the bullet came from the range, but wanted to complete the investigation. The range, he said, is considered to have higher than necessary safety standards.

Contacted in Lansing, a representative of the DNR suggested the township, Club and National Rifle Association get together and discuss further safety possibilities.

In the mean time the range remains closed. And, one club member said it would remain closed until it was safe. Trustee Tom Bullen suggested the range be 100 percent safe before it be reopened.

Hoskins said, "It's like playing Russian roulette walking around our house and my wife's a nervous wreck. I'd like to know how long it will be closed. It was closed 2 years last time, then opened again."

He was told he would be notified of any action taken.

Cyclist injured

A Clarkston motorcyclist was injured when he ran off the road to avoid being hit by a car, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Department records.

Donald Gene Murphy, 39, 8707 Onandaga, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Pontiac as a result of the accident that occurred on July 17.

N. C. Cowart, 47, of Pontiac told sheriff's deputies that he had pulled his car off Clarkston Road about half a mile west of Baldwin to make a turn. He stated that he started to cross to the south side of the road to pull into a driveway and turn around and did not see Murphy until it was too late.

Murphy explained that he directed his vehicle to the ditch to avoid the collision and rolled the cycle.

Appeals Board gives permit

The Clarkson Board of Appeals has granted a building permit for a new home on lot 17 in the village. This lot is between the antique shop and the creek north of the traffic light.

At the same meeting the Board warned the Council about enforcing zoning, building and offstreet parking ordinances. They said everybody should be treated equally.

The Board further pointed out that Haupt Pontiac was in violation of the ordinance in parking cars in the village limits on their lot on north Main.

IT WAS A HOT SUMMER DAY. Heather Brooks and her mother, Mrs. Ivan Brooks, took time to return books to the library.

Some residents oppose dredging Mill Pond

About 10 village residents from the lower Mill Pond opposed dredging of the Pond at the last Council meeting.

This possibility had been raised earlier this month when residents of the upper Mill Pond asked the township board for help in clearing that body of water.

They suggested that the lower Pond might need cleaning, also. Silt and pollutants have clogged the upper Pond and are seeping into the lower Pond.

At the Village meeting residents said they don't want dredging because it might break the seal again and let water into their basements and affect the wells.

Nasty, brutish and short

The inconsistency of those who think the solution to today's problems lies in withdrawing into a sort of social and intellectual vacuum — or into an imaginary yesterday — has been well described by Mr. Marshall S. Armstrong, president of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He speaks specifically of the young dropouts who live in hundreds of so-called communes or collectives and sustain themselves by doing odd jobs, raising food and making handicraft articles.

He questions neither their sincerity nor their desire to simplify their lives. But, he asks, "... whether they ... are not deluding themselves ... living in small, separate groups, with a minimum of organization, means a return to hand-made tools, to a food supply rarely above the subsistence level ... it would also mean an end to books, most musical instruments, recorded music, photography, modern medicine and surgery." It would mean "that for the great majority of individuals in such a society, life would be, in the words of Thomas Hobbes, 'solitary, poor, nasty, brutish and short.'"

Letters to the editor

Ordinance discriminates

Dear Editor:

The "Disorderly Persons" ordinance recently passed by the Clarkston Village Council is a gross and terrifying example of small-town America fascism.

The unlimited interpretation which this ordinance allows the law enforcement officials of the village of Clarkston is unreal, unbelievable and, more than likely, unconstitutional.

But not only is this ordinance a hideous attempt to deprive citizens of their basic civil rights but it discriminates through its language and intent, against young people.

Loudly and clearly Ordinance No. 64 says, "Young people not wanted or welcome in the town of Clarkston!"

The "Disorderly Persons" ordinance makes a mockery of justice and civil law and should not be allowed to stand.

If, however, this ordinance remains I do hope that all people will be scrutinized by its harsh standards and not just the youth.

Sincerely,
Mark-Denis Hood

'LOOKS LIKE WE'VE RUN OUT OF PEP'

Let's welcome young voters

More than 11 million young people between the ages of 18 and 21 are now eligible to vote for the President for the first time. All they have to do is to register. When national election time rolls around in 1972, 25 million young people under the age of 25 will be eligible to cast their first vote for the President of their choice.

Rarely in the history of this nation have potential first-time voters made up so large a share of the total voting age population — nearly 1 in 5.

Hopefully, this will result in a major rejuvenation of the major parties with the injection of young and energetic workers.

It is up to our present political leadership to welcome and encourage these young Americans. They should listen and incorporate their worthwhile ideas, utilize their manpower, and encourage their dedication and participation toward a better tomorrow.

We have opened "The System" to them. Now we must demonstrate that they can work effectively within it.

"If It Fitz ..."

Let's have some quiet, please

By Jim Fitzgerald

And then I wrote ...

The mail brought a question from a woman who'd seen me at a church supper. She wondered if I knew that I always have a "shy look" on my face.

The fact is, I am not so much shy as I am defensive. I use sort of a glazed, flinchy look to defend myself against an attack of small talk.

I am lousy at talking about nothing. I first realized this when I was a small boy, getting my hair cut. The barber was continually asking me what I learned in school that day. There is a bright question. I couldn't think of an intelligent answer and besides, I couldn't believe the barber really cared a darn about my schooling. So I limited my answers to one syllable, mumbled. Or sometimes I pretended I didn't hear him.

My dad went to the same barber. One day they talked about me and Dad came home to say, "The barber says you are a remarkable boy. He says he cut your hair 3 times before he realized you were deaf and dumb."

Today I use magazines to defend myself against barbers. But I can't live with my nose in a book ("But he sure tries," yaps my wife) and thus I've taken on protective coloring which might easily be mistaken for shyness, rudeness, or even snobbishness. The idea is to discourage anyone from asking me how I like the weather.

Some people, mostly women, are expert at small talk. My wife is the champion of the world. There are people in this world who don't know my name, but they know I don't wear pajamas because they bumped into my wife in a doctor's waiting room.

They end up discussing such earth-shaking subjects as muddy little boys, rice instead of potatoes, cats, college girls, and the health of Pat's cousin's brother-in-law's goldfish.

There is no such thing as two or more women, even total strangers, sitting silently in the same room. They'll talk if they have to discuss the cracks in the ceiling. On the other hand, I stood in line for 3 years in the army and never talked to the guy in front of me. I don't know if there was a guy behind me because I never turned around. I was afraid it might be a barber.

I think a man with nothing to say, shouldn't say it. I think silence is golden (you may quote that, if you wish). I think I am doing a guy a favor if I don't ask him if he's had enough rain. I think it is friendly not to disturb a man who is obviously thinking about a big fish he almost caught. The man alone at the end of the bar is not necessarily a lonely soul who would love to hear why the Tigers blew the pennant. He may be seeing splendid reflections of his childhood in his beer.

My wife says I am "just not friendly." Measured by the most popular yardstick, I guess I'm not. But there should be another measuring stick for us quiet types. After all, I'm willing to share great gobs of my silence with perfect strangers, free. Any stranger who says that isn't friendly, he's not perfect.

I do not tell the garrulous man to shut up. He should not tell me to speak up. That's simple courtesy, isn't it? Nowhere is it written on a stone tablet that it is a sin to enjoy silence. No law says a nightdream is more important to the soul than a daydream. A man should be awakened from neither except for good reason.

Hotels supply "Do No Disturb" signs to hang on doorknobs. Until I hang such a sign around my neck, I must depend upon my "shy look" to ward off inane conversation. This look says plainly I will faint dead if anyone asks if it is cold enough for me.

But if it is anything important, just knock on my nose.

Byers entertain Swedish scout

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Byers, 6051 Middle Lake Rd., will be the host family for Charlotte Jonsson, 18, of Sweden, one of 12 Swedish participants in an international co-ed Eco-Action project. The project has been arranged with Sweden through Youth for Understanding, and partially financed by the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund of the World Association of Girl Scouts and Guides.

The Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council was chosen to entertain 2 students because of its ecological activities.

Goren Adelskold, 16, will be a guest in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Hart of Rochester. Charlotte and Goren arrived in this area on July 21.

Charlotte has one sister and speaks English and German in addition to her native tongue. Her father is a forester in Sweden.

Mr. and Mrs. Byers and Mr. and Mrs. Hart, with Senior Girl Scouts from Camp Sherwood entertained Charlotte and Goren at the Byers' home on their arrival day, July 21, with a typical American picnic lunch. Prior to their arrival, 3 days were spent in Washington.

The Byers have five daughters and one son.

They will join a pool party in the visitors' honor given by Northern Oakland County Girl Scout President Mr. Shirrell Richey and Mrs. Richey on July 24. A visit to the Meadow Brook Festival is also planned.

Tours will be made to various college campuses, Detroit (Detroit Air Pollution Control) and Ann Arbor (ENACT group) so that the guests will become familiar with the progress in the field of Ecology in this area of the state. A plane trip will be made over polluted areas.

The main focus of the four-week visit in this area will be two weeks at the Girl Scout Camp Sherwood in Lapeer, from August 1 through August 13, with the Eco-Action Task Force, a co-ed project whose purpose is to study and make analyses of soil and water, and to identify birds, animals, trees, plants and insects.

The task force, in addition to Goren and Charlotte, is composed of a selected group of Senior Girl Scouts from Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council that includes Becky Byers, & Jan Easton. The group will be given training in the projects to be accomplished, make practical application of knowledge gained, and finally work on a service project to leave at Sherwood.

At the end of the camp period, the entire group will go to Gaines, Mich. to work on a clean-up project on the Shiawassee River near Flint.

Spiritual Message

SMALL POTATOES
Clancy J. Thompson, Pastor

Life's law of investment and return may be applied not only in the area of finance, but also in our personal living. Jesus put it this way: "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." Another time He said,

"For whosoever shall save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it."

From the Stewardship Education department of the Augustana Lutheran Church we encounter the story of the Small Potatoes:

"Many years ago the Chinese farmers went on the theory that they could eat all their big potatoes and keep the small potatoes for seed. They did this for some time. They ate the big potatoes; they planted the small potatoes. A new understanding of the laws of life came to them when, through the years during which they kept up the practice, nature reduced all their potatoes to the size of marbles."

These farmers learned through bitter experience that they could not keep the best things of life for themselves and use the leftovers for seed. The law of life decreed that the harvest would reflect the planting.

Planting small potatoes is still a common practice. We still take the big things of life for ourselves and plant the leftovers. We expect that by some crazy twist of the laws of nature our selfishness will reward us with unselfishness. We cannot eat the big potatoes and still keep having them through the years.

Planting small potatoes simply means that this is what we're aiming for. What size potatoes have you been planting? The Word says: "Do not be deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man sows, that will he also reap."

Freshmen visit Western Mich. U.

Michelle Humphrey and William Conrad attended freshman orientation at Western Michigan University.

About half of the freshman students enrolled at Western for the fall semester have now completed their summer orientation program.

In ten groups of approximately 140 each, the new students spent 3 days meeting with counselors, registering for courses and learning their way around the WMU campus. They will return on the weekend of Aug. 28 before the start of classes at 8 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 30.

Given in marriage by her brother, Douglas, Lori Ann Fortin became the bride of Virgil Clifford Martin at St. Anne's Catholic Church in Ortonville.

For her July 9 wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of white organza. It featured a train, long puffed sleeves and white lace daisy trim. Her bouffant fingertip veil was of silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and red sweetheart roses.

The groom's sister, Mrs. John Black, was the matron of honor and the bride's cousins, Miss Karen Haines of Lake Orion and Miss Alaina Bailey of Clarkston were the bridesmaids.

All were identically gowned in red-on-white dotted swiss with red bow headpieces which were made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Roger Fortin. They carried red carnation nosegays.

Alan Knake was the best man and Dan Bias and Gary Urban seated the guests.

A reception was held, following the ceremony, at Waterford Oaks Activity Center after which the bridal couple left on a Great Lakes tour.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gerald L. Fortin of Sashabaw Rd. and the late Mr. Fortin. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Martin of Clarridge are the parents of the groom.

The couple, who are both graduates of Clarkston High School, will make their home in Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Trarop, Sr. of Pine Knob Rd., Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janene Marie, to David J. Erdly. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Erdly of Flint. Miss Trarop is a 1971 graduate of Clarkston High School. Mr. Erdly is a 1971 graduate of Flint Southwestern High School. September 3 has been chosen as the wedding date with the ceremony to be held in the Cantonville Church of the Holy Trinity in Pontiac.

Space and Medicine

As Americans look forward to landing a man on the moon, it is still argued that the money should be spent on fighting the illnesses that are still all too common on earth. According to Apollo's space scientists, it's possible for us to do both—explore the moon and improve medical science at the same time.

And they can point to examples of how this has already been done. For example:

- The basic space helmet concept was used to design a hood worn by patients in a children's clinic, so that their consumption of oxygen can be measured while they exercise.

- Electronic sensors used to keep tab on the astronauts' physical condition have been adapted to continuously monitor the pulse, respiration, blood pressure and temperature of heart patients and others.

- A technique used to clarify photos of the moon by putting TV signals through a computer, is now being used to clarify X-rays.

- A device designed to count meteorite hits on a spacecraft is the basis of a new instrument that measures muscle tremors, helping doctors in the early detection of nerve ailments such as Parkinson's disease.

- A meter used to measure the elasticity of bones of men living in space for weeks at a time is used to study the problem of brittleness in aging bones.

In all, 2,750 technical innovations have been passed over to U.S. industry and science by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. These could be as valuable as the moon landing itself.

The George McClure family of Warbler traveled to Georgia recently. Troy Stone, son of the Herb Stones of Kingfisher accompanied them.

On the way they visited the Great Smoky Mts. and the boys and George did some fishing. Coming back with them was George's mother, Mrs. Sue McClure. Arriving home they found they had become a new aunt and uncle. Kirk William Scott is the new son of the Robert Scotts of Waterford.

Dr. James O'Neil and son, Mike of Holcomb Rd. were on hand for the 1971 All Star Game at Tiger Stadium. Mike asked his father if the hitters ever hit the light bulbs in the transformers. "No," said Dad. A few minutes later, Reggie Jackson hit a home run right into the transformer. Better luck next time, Dr. O'Neil.

Visiting the Lowell Grimshaws of Frankwell Drive are the William Kestersons of California, Lowell's mother and stepfather. It was their first visit to see their new grandson, Christopher.

All Shelley Connors can talk about these days is horses. She just returned from a week at Cottonwood Camp at Dexter, Mich. The daughter of the Barton Connors of Warbler spent last week learning Western pleasure riding. Shelley was assigned a horse on her arrival, which she fed and groomed each day besides cleaning her tack. Cottonwood is a working farm, which teaches both English and Western riding. Near the end of the week, the girls separated into drill teams and originated their own drill routines. Besides riding every day, Shelley enjoyed swimming and canoeing.

Arriving for a visit at the George Phillips of Snow Apple Dr. were the John Laws of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Law is George's sister. It was the first time either family had seen the other's children. Two-month-old baby Evan was the scene stealer. This must be the month for family reunions.

The John Lundquists of Holcomb St. just returned from a trip through Western United States. They toured with Ann's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt of Newberry. Highlight of the 7,000 mile camping trip was a visit to Yellowstone National Park.

Jan Schultz of Wompole Dr. is visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Brock (nee Joette Schultz) of Wurzburg, Germany. Her mother reports that Jan absolutely loves the European food. So far they have visited the Rhine River country and Austria. In 1969 Jan sent a Christmas wish to CKLW stating she wished her sister, Joette, could join her husband in Germany. Her wish came true with CKLW's help. Turnabout is fair play!

I'd like to introduce you to new residents of Clarkston, the Andrew Seeds of Snow Apple Dr. Andy and Margaret have two children, Andy, 2 years old and Amy, five. Andy works at Connecticut General Group Insurance. They are originally from the Birmingham and Bloomfield areas. Let's welcome them to the community.

The Stan Darlings of Cramlate Drive celebrated Julie's 9th birthday with a visit with their former neighbors, the Edgar Swifts of Kalamazoo. A family gathering was later held at Farrell's. Completing the busy schedule, Stan's family held a family reunion in Walled Lake Sunday with 60 members present including Mrs. Edith Spencer, his aunt from South Main St.

Birthday greetings are in store for Dr. Harold Raynor of South Main on his 80th birthday. Many happy returns.

6 area housewives have found a new relaxation in the form of a yoga class held at the home of the John Joslins of Snow Apple Drive. Yoga helps body firming and teaches the art of relaxing. These girls are doing something with their summer instead of procrastinating like I do. If you would like to join them, contact Gwen Phillips of Snow Apple Drive. Good luck on your lotus positions, girls.

We'd all like to know how your summer hours are filled. Births, family reunions, visiting company, christenings, adoptions, showers, vacations and unusual happenings around your house make for a happy community column. Call us at 625-5030.

Celebration honors

"gravel capital"

Oxford, Michigan has been called the Gravel Capital of the World. Next week the residents are going to celebrate the designation. Under the sponsorship of the Oxford Jaycees a weekend of festivities is being planned to honor the gravel industry.

According to Rip VanMeter, publicity chairman, a carnival and display area will be open to the public for the entire weekend.

A pancake breakfast will get Saturday's activities going. A special feature of the parade that will follow is Oopsy the Clown.

"We have scheduled a state horse pulling contest, sidewalk sales, donkey baseball with the Jaycees and Fire Department competing, and a dance on Saturday evening.

"On Sunday Bozo the Clown will make an appearance, there will be children's games and glider acrobatics," said VanMeter.

"Gravel pit tours, pony and helicopter rides will also be available to make it an exciting weekend. We hope everyone in the area will help us celebrate this first annual event."

Dr. Donald McGregor

On July 26, Clarkston Rotary Club will welcome the governor of this Rotary district, Dr. Donald McGregor of Brighton.

Dr. McGregor will address the Clarkston Rotary Club, one of 51 in his district, and will confer with Dr. A. S. Hamilton, President, and other club officials concerning the group's plans for service activities and offer suggestions on administration matters.

Dr. McGregor is one of 321 Rotary Governors throughout the world who are serving as representatives of Rotary International in districts composed of member clubs. Each district Governor is responsible for supervising the clubs in his area.

Rotary, an international men's service organization, has more than 701,000 members in some 14,771 clubs in 149 countries.

A member and past president of the Rotary Club of Brighton, Dr. McGregor is a Public Health Dentist. He was elected to office at the Rotary convention in Sydney, N.S.W., Australia in May, 1971 and will serve until June 30, 1972.

Playground news

"Curly" of the Three Stooges received the honor of being the model for Clarkston Elementary's papier mache pinata. While a few children were making the pinata, the other children held obstacle races, relays and girls' softball practice.

Several high school students supervise the 209 children who have been attending the playground: In high school, Debbie Wyckoff and Jama Grammer have been cheerleaders; Rich Dancey has been active in track and cross country; Kay Speace has prepared for college and Sue Schmude has competed on the ski team. Val LePere took off for a vacation in Europe the past three weeks, and will attend Grand Valley College in the fall.

Last Thursday's rainy day revealed the guitar playing talents of Sue and Debbie, who entertained those children not involved in the All-School four-square tournament held that day. In the tournament, Sashabaw retained her title as champion, Clarkston captured the runner-up spot, followed by Woodhull Lake, Bailey Lake and Andersonville.

Youth fitness contests, volleyball games, basket weaving and cheerleading fundamentals await the playground children next week. New participants are welcomed any time in the program, which continues until August 13.

The obstruction in this drain tile of the Clarkston Elementary Playground can hardly be considered a form of pollution. It is just a bunch of enthusiastic participants in the summer program provided by the Independence Township Recreation Department.

First aid for flowers

Following are some tips on first aid for cut flowers.

To revive cut flowers that begin to wilt prematurely, make a slanting cut an inch or so from the base of the stem and then place the stem in very hot water for a few minutes (boiling water removed from the stove for several minutes is ideal).

After the hot water treatment, quickly plunge the stems into cold water. The hot water drives out any air bubbles that have formed in the stem and allows the cold water to rise and revive the flower.

This treatment can extend the life of many cut flowers by several days, but it won't save old flowers or flowers that have wilted for several hours.

Letters from Marquerite

by Marquerite Slater

Dear Jeannie,

I had to cut my letter short last week to keep an appointment with my dentist. Fortunately, it was "No cavities, Ma," so I'll continue the story about my light-fingered friend, Lauren.

You remember, when I left off she had been seen going through her friends' purses while attending a luncheon.

To resume: Weeks later, I recalled that Lauren had sneezing spells and excused herself from the luncheon table and again during bridge. Those were the short trips for stealing her friends' money.

Ethel, who had given the luncheon had a confession from her husband, Jim, after the episode. When they had moved to their new home he was delighted that Ethel had renewed her friendship with an acquaintance she remembered from college - Lauren.

When he met Lauren and her husband he was dumbfounded to discover that she was none other than the beauty who had caused so much embarrassment at a club in his hometown. Her escort had been told never again to bring "that" girl into the club as she was a kleptomaniac.

When Jim saw this paragon of virtue, wife of a famous man, leader in faculty society, etc., he decided not to tell Ethel. Pretty wonderful guy! After all, it might have been a mistake.

Two days after Ethel phoned me, Jim and Ethel and two of the witnesses to the theft went to Lauren's house and confronted her with their knowledge of her theft of $180. Of course, she put on a terrific act and finally said "Rather than have my husband ever discover that I have such scheming, blackmailing friends as you, I'll gladly make the pay-off but I never want to hear of or see you again."

She always seemed to land on her feet.

The ridiculous thing I have to admit is this: All through the years she summered with us, many things became lost. My father gave me a watch for my birthday, but I had it only a week when I couldn't find it.

I made everyone crazy with my bawling and spent hours each day going over all the places it might be. My father said that if I didn't find it in 2 weeks, he'd replace it, but "for godsakes, quit bawling." About 2 days later, there was my watch on my dresser behind a little picture frame. That dresser had been dusted at least twice a week ever since I'd started looking. But dumb family - no one ever suspected.

***

My blood runs cold when I think of our fabulous days of shopping. They must have been her days of stealing. I could have been picked up, too, had she been arrested. One day she handed me a string of pearls, saying, "Here are some beads I bought for you while you were in the women's lounge."

I can't help but believe that all the birthday and Christmas gifts she ever sent me were no doubt "hot."

Several years ago I heard that Lauren's husband had died. No mention was made of Lauren.

I knew all of her friends and they were all more than comfortable financially. One of her pets was a lovely, old, terribly rich gal whom she had to "look in on" once a week. That, I'll bet was the gravy train! I can only hope that Lauren died before her husband and that he never discovered the truth.

I almost wish that I'd never started telling this story. It rakes the whole thing out of the ashes of the past and hurts.

So long and keep your fingers out of the till.

Your old friend,
Marquerite

Village Council, Village of Clarkston

July 13, 1971

Meeting called to order by President Cooper.

Roll: Present - Basinger, Irwin, Tower, Jones, Johnston. Absent - Hagen.

Minutes of the last regular meeting and two special meetings were read and approved.

In cold blood

by Jean Sura

I reached the ripe old age of maturity when I stopped arguing the fact that it was a man's world! That was so long ago I can't remember the arguments I offered.

Today I not only concede that it is a man's world but I add that in addition, "All men are not created equal — or women, either — not even in opportunity, to say nothing about temperament or temperature."

"Are you ready to go?" asked my husband the other day.

"Just about," I answered as I picked up a few items to carry to the car.

"For crying out loud, what are you taking along? We're only going to be gone for a few hours!"

"Well, I know this Michigan weather and I have to be prepared for the change."

"Come on now — it's 90 degrees in the shade. If it dropped twenty-five degrees it wouldn't make any difference. You are the only female, or human being, for that matter, that I know that has to lug long johns for an afternoon drive in July."

"As a matter of fact, how do you stand the cold weather when you go skiing?"

"I dress for the weather," I retorted.

And I do. I wear turtle necked shirts under sleeveless dinner dresses. I like long, woolen robes for cool mornings, even in summer. I hate air conditioning.

Friends make fun of me. They give me long line thermal panties for jokes. I wear them. I love to swim — in heated water. I don't like lolling around in the bath tub. The water gets too cold. I don't finish my shower with an icy blast. I like long flannel pajamas. Baby doll "jammies" are wasted on me. I'm the only female in history who actually enjoyed "change of life." I only resented the fact that I couldn't regulate the flashes to my convenience. I like to be warm and I figured out a long time ago that it takes more clothing for me than it does for the rest of the world. So what?

"Everybody asks me if you are sick when you pull your sweater on while we are all melting from the heat," said Gene.

"Can I help it if my thermostats are messed up? You regulate your comfort level and leave mine to me."

Now I have gotten tired of making explanations. I've gotten furtive and defensive about the whole thing. Last night, when the temperature dropped, I sneaked a pair of golf sox to bed.

"What are you doing now?" Gene said, turning on the light.

"I'm putting on sox! My feet are cold and if you say one more thing I may take my little socked foot and do you in—in cold blood."
