Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Speaking of dead subjects . . .

Probably 90% of all the dead in U.S. cemeteries are now buried in east and west graves. But why? Some people say that burials should be made with the feet pointing east because that's the direction from which Jesus Christ will return on his Second Coming. Others say that the Pearly Gates open toward the west. There's another theory that the rising sun is symbolic of hope and therefore a corpse should be placed to face the rising sun.

So far nothing has been found in the Bible or in the literature of various creeds to back up the custom of east and west burial. Protestants and Roman Catholics searched their books in vain to find something about latitude and longitude and the relative positions of the dead. Father Paul DeRose consulted a diocesan authority before reporting that neither the Bible nor canon law touches the subject of direction. He did say that the judgment is expected to come from the direction of Jerusalem, which to western Christianity means east. In this latitude, though, it would be southeast.

Under English law everyone in England has a right to be buried in the burial ground of the parish where he dies, with the exception of executed felons, but nothing is said about east and west or north and south.

It is still not uncommon among civilized persons in the Orient to expose dead human bodies to birds and animals. Egyptians, of course, had a special method of embalming that preserved remains for thousands of years. Some people put weapons or food into graves with the dead. In Greenland a dog is buried with the man. In the Congo the dead man's favorite wives and some of his servants accompany him into the grave.

Romans put a cake of flour and honey into a hand of the departed as a bribe for Cerberus. They also included a fee for Charon. Greeks and Romans buried their dead with the head toward the west, and maybe that's where our custom started.

Moslems bury their dead facing toward Mecca, which here in Oxford would mean the direction would be southeast. Moslems bury their dead quick and without mourning. They are schooled to accept death as the will of God. The speed comes from the admonition: "Make haste to bury the dead, that, if he have done well, he may forthwith go into blessedness; if evil, into hell-fire."

Another word for cemetery is necropolis, from the Greek,

Teacher salaries frozen, too

School talks continue

Members of the Clarkston School Board and the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) are scheduled to resume negotiations on Tuesday night, August 17 after a summer adjournment.

It was reported that many issues had been resolved and were ready for contractual language. The issues of salary, hours and other things related to finances were to be thrashed out and there were hopes that tax reform action from the State Legislature would enable them to reach agreement by the opening of school.

The impact of the announcement by President Richard Nixon on August 15, that all salaries would be frozen at their present rate brought rise to several questions from both teachers and administrators.

One spokesman wondered if the pronouncement would mean that the annual increment, which is an automatic escalation of salary given to teachers after each year of teaching experience in the system, would be affected.

"It is my understanding," said George Barrie, Assistant Superintendent of Schools and chief negotiator, "that we can pay nothing over last year's contract. We will seek a clarification on this but as it has been explained to me, we cannot elevate past salaries during the next 90

Dr. William J. Emerson, Superintendent of Oakland County Schools, reported that he had referred the matter to the legal department for a precise interpretation.

According to Dr. Emerson, 4 school districts in Oakland County are in the second year of a 2 year contract. They are Southfield, West Bloomfield, Rochester and Oak Park. There have been no settlements between teacher bargaining groups and school boards in the other 24 districts.

Clarkston schools are scheduled to open in the week following Labor Day.

County asked for glass center

Mrs. Donald (Caroline) Place of Chickadee, originator and chairman of the Independence Township "Bottles for Building" committee, asks the Oakland County Board of Commissioner's Department of Public Works to open a receiving center to assist groups in nine Oakland County townships who are collecting trash glass.

Oakland County Board of Commissioners, Dept. of Public Works Committee heard a presentation by chairmen of Bottles for Building groups now collecting glass throughout 9 townships in Oakland County.

Mrs. Donald Place, Chairman of Independence Township, presented a proposal that Oakland County offer support to their efforts by opening a receiving center on Oakland County Service Center property. This center would receive and ship by rail the glass collected and brought to it by individuals, groups and municipalities. Monetary incentives would be offered for such efforts to assure a continued volume of glass being brought to the center.

"Owens-Illinois Glass Co. at Charlotte, pays $20 per ton and would continue to do so, thus Oakland County as receiver and shipper and those in the business of collecting the glass would make money on material that is presently costing taxpayers throughout the county $10 per ton to dispose of," said Mrs. Place.

Other groups collecting glass in communities south of Pontiac were present and led credence to the appeal for such a center.

Mrs. Place showed graphically how the concept of Bottles for Building has expanded to other areas. The townships include 140,000 of Oakland County's population of about 900,000.

Conservative estimates place about 20% of those people saving glass or approximately 28,000 people who have saved and collected over 400 tons or about 2,000,000 bottles and jars that would otherwise be now buried in our landfills.

The county commissioners expressed enthusiasm toward the proposal and ordered their board of auditors to be ready at their next meeting on August 26 with a more detailed feasibility study of the proposed receiving and transfer center.

nekros—a dead body, and polis meaning city; therefore necropolis means a city of the dead.

That's the story about burials and if you don't want to have the rays of the morning sun awaken you, there's no law that says you can't face another direction.

Walk for Mankind raises $1673.86

The funds collected from the 1971 Clarkston Area Walk for Mankind have been distributed. Project Concern, Jayshop, The Clarkston Drug Program, and the participating Student Councils, all shared in the $1673.86 collected through the efforts of students of the Clarkston Schools.

"This will be the Clarkston Jaycee's 10th annual carnival," said Ray Welch, vice president.

"This year we will combine some of the favorite activities from other years and incorporate several new ones to add to the fun and festivities of the occasion."

Included among the new things will be the appearance of the "Cookie Monster" who will take part in a pie eating contest on Sunday, September 5. A candy grab

The Carnival will be held on September 3, 4, 5, and 6.

"We hope that everybody is saving his pennies to come to town and have fun," said Welch. "Even without money there will be fun and plenty to see."

Trash-glass people deserve assistance

We strongly encourage county support for the plea of the "Bottles for Building" Committee that the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, Department of Public Works assist them in providing facilities for a receiving center for trash glass. We hope that red tape and long study won't stagnate the enthusiasm and zest of these groups.

In a day and age when various and sundry organizations, all seriously intent on their own projects, make requests and demands of our public officials we are tempted to feel sorry for the governing agencies who must determine the source from where the money will come.

For once, a group demonstrated that they can carry their own weight financially and make strides to cope with the problems of our environmental ecology as well.

Monumental as the task may appear, these committees have proven that many citizens are willing to help and that the job can be done.

All people are not innovators or leaders but many are willing and anxious to do their part.

If the program can become completely self-supporting with just 20 percent participation it is a long, constructive step in conserving our environment.

Future steps to enlarge and expand this and other programs should spring from this strong foundation.

It doesn't seem like they are asking too much!

Put the heat where it belongs

The timing of governmental edicts has struck another low blow to the educational facilities of the State of Michigan.

Last year, just as school was about to go into session, the State Supreme Court handed down a ruling that schools were responsible for furnishing books, pencils, paper and other paraphernalia requisite for school attendance.

This additional burden on an already overtaxed budget placed hardships on school districts.

State legislators, who have been dragging their feet on an equitable school tax reform, also found it necessary to default on payments of State funds to the districts forcing them to borrow money to fulfill their financial commitments. No provision was made to reimburse them for the cost of interest on borrowing.

Now, just weeks before the resumption of the school year, while the teachers and boards of education again stall around, waiting to hear from their state legislators what financial support will be available, another blow was dealt. President Nixon announced the freezing of wages.

If credence can be placed on first-hand interpretations, the salary aspect of the negotiations will be settled by presidential edict. Districts who were depending on school elections for budgetary reinforcement must seek other answers to their dilemma.

It will be easy to understand the resentment felt by teachers whose contracts ended last June. Without the three month dalliance in Lansing, many contracts could have been settled by this time. Had they not, the blame would have rested on other shoulders.

One of the most serious results is that the situation will feed the mistrust that is building between the teachers, administrators and school boards.

The students, of course, are the real goats. These circumstances are hardly conducive to an orderly return to the classroom.

We don't take issue with the need to curb inflation but results of the timing will just add fuel to an already overheated situation.

It's too bad some of that heat can't be put under the seats in Lansing.

"If It Fitz . . ."

On TV, the news is funny

By Jim Fitzgerald

When I take my kids into strange and wondrous towns, full of beautiful scenery and historic monuments, the first thing they do is run into the motel room and make sure the TV works.

Which, whether I like it or not, broadens my education. On our last trip, through 6 states, I learned that local TV newscasters are the same everywhere. At 6 and 11 o'clock every night they sit around a table and titter, guffaw and giggle at each other. The sportscaster was drunk last night and the anchor man's assistant always laughs so hard at the boss's jokes he has trouble telling you that 10 children were burned to death that afternoon.

Those fellows sure have fun while they work. It's never that many laughs working on a newspaper. Oh, we chuckle once in awhile. Like when a Scout troop tours the plant and one of the kids falls into a printing press and the other kids fight about who gets to read him first.

But mostly, it's pretty sober back here behind the typewriter keys where the day to day record of life is reported, interpreted, explained and frozen to pages so that future historians may study them and know the who, what, when, why and where of long-ago 1971. (If you wrote crap like that, could you laugh?)

I've been wondering how things might be made more jolly around the newspaper I edit. I called my staff together and told them what I had in mind: "I don't expect you to write funny news. Anyone can do that simply by reporting on the everyday activities of our state legislature. What I want is a crew that can say funny things to each other while writing sad news. I want a reporter who can giggle when he hands the copy boy a list of the 153 people killed in this week's air crash. I want you to be like those newscasters on TV."

"You got drunk last night," my assistant said to the sports editor who happens also to be me. Mine is a small newspaper and I am editor of everything including the restroom walls.

"That's because this is a small newspaper and I man has to do the drinking for a dozen editors," I said. "It's a wonder I get time to work at all."

"Hey, that's pretty funny," my assistant admitted.

"Thanks," I said. "Now you say something funny. I can't do all the work around here."

"Well," he said, "according to this U.S. weather report there is going to be a tornado, a tidal wave and an earthquake in the tiny seaport town of North Ring-a-Ding which means those people will finally have something to do Saturday night except go to town and watch haircuts."

"Now you're getting the idea," I praised him. "Keep slipping in those zingers. But remember to save your greatest knee-slapper till the end of the day, just before we go home. I've noticed that those TV newscasters always leave 'em laughing. The anchor man always delivers the topper and, as the program fades out, everyone is rolling on the floor, laughing fit to cry and yelling at each other about what a great card the anchor man is."

"On a newspaper," my assistant said, "I suppose the editor is the anchor man. Lord knows our editor has enough lead in his butt to anchor the Queen Mary."

"Very funny," I told him with a chuckle. "You're fired."

Student code adopted

Recently, according to a mandate from the State of Michigan, the Clarkston School Board adopted a code for student conduct. The code is an attempt to spell out the confines in which the School Board will provide an educational environment which is conducive to learning and to safeguard that each student will have the opportunity for its use and shall be deprived of the opportunity for just case but with the protection of due process.

Criminal Acts are defined in the code and under the laws of the State as: arson; assault; burglary; illegal use or possession of explosives or firearms; extortion, blackmail or coercion; larceny; malicious mischief; robbery; sale, use or possession of alcoholic beverages or illegal drugs; trespassing or unlawful interference with school authorities by intimidation with threat, force or violence.

The rule governing dress and appearance was defined, "that it must not present health or safety problems or

Students are required by State law to attend school and the code requires that attendance be regular unless officially excused. They will conduct themselves in a manner which will not interfere with the educational process and must obey lawful instructions of school district personnel.

The code specifies that all persons, must, upon request, identify themselves to proper school authorities in the building, on the school grounds or at school-sponsored functions.

Students will be expected to conduct themselves according to school district rules at off campus events. Failure to do so would result in loss of eligibility to attend off campus school-sponsored events.

Freedom of speech and assembly is defined as an avenue to express personal opinions as long as they do not interfere with the freedom of others and the code states that obscenities or personal attacks will be prohibited.

Demonstrations which interfere with the operation of the school or classroom will be prohibited but students will have the freedom to assemble peacefully at appropriate times for the expression of opinions and beliefs.

INSECT BITES

To take the sting out of insect bites this summer, first remove any stinger, if present. Next apply a cold ice compress to relieve the pain. For ant and mosquito bites and bee stings apply a paste of baking soda or calamine lotion. For wasp bites, apply vinegar. Avoid rubbing or scratching the bite. Consult your physician promptly if there is any reaction, such as hives, generalized rash, paleness, weakness, nausea, vomiting, "tightness" in the cheek, nose or throat.

Jr. Miss receives scholarship

Clarkston reigning Jr. Miss, Debby Hoopengartner, received her scholarship check for $700 from the Jaycees this week. Debby has been accepted in the Liberal Arts School of Oakland University where she will major in music. The scholarship, which will be applied to her tuition, was generated by the Jaycees in the form of sponsorships from local businesses.

Debby was selected in Jaycee Junior Miss Pageant held annually in November. During her reign she has assisted the Jaycees in many of their community activities for young people. Debby has also been very active in extracurricular school activities, the most recent of which was the lead role in Gypsy.

According to President David Nadolsky, the entire Jaycee organization is very proud of Debby, and applauds her concern for her community. "We thank her for the contribution she has made to it," he said. The Jr. Miss Pageant looks for the ideal young girl, and in our opinion, Debby is that girl."

Debby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoopengartner of 6365 Clarkston Rd.

Behind the Counter

From Keith Hallman

Clothing fires(2)

If someone's clothing should catch on fire, force him to drop or to lie down wherever he is. The natural tendency is to run, but this only makes the fire burn faster and increases the danger of flames and smoke sweeping up toward the face.

If a rug, coat or wool blanket is available, roll the person into it, to smother the fire. If no such heavy article is handy, roll him over and over until the flames are put out—making sure you don't set your own clothes ablaze.

The National Safety Council urges the ounce of prevention that will prevent such situations. As mentioned last week, the flammability of clothes should be considered when buying baby a new blanket, or grandma a new housecoat.

You should also learn some first aid that will help you in dealing with extensive heat burns. For example, the American Medical Association suggests that you:

- Place the cleanest available cloth material over all burned areas to exclude air.
- Keep the victim lying down.
- Call your doctor.
- Place the victim's head and chest a little lower than the rest of the body.
- If he is conscious and can swallow, give him plenty of non-alcoholic liquids to drink.

It's important that you become aware of the fire hazards in your home, and that you teach your family about them — now, before it's too late.

Letters to the Editor

Asks support

Dear Editor:

We need your help in encouraging the assistance of the people of Independence Township in our next Bottles for Building collection which is scheduled for August 21.

For many months we have been completing a mammoth job, that of a township-wide collection of trash glass. We have been fortunate to have the support of many service groups providing manpower, transportation, food and the cooperation of hundreds of glass grabbers, (mostly women) who have washed and saved their bottles and jars.

Because of this community wide effort we have helped rid our land of over 175 tons of glass and saved over $1800 to be used in some manner to benefit all in our township.

This month we do not have a sponsoring service group to provide our transportation and manpower so we are making a plea to every man, woman and child, living and enjoying the beauty of our area to join other concerned and dedicated people this Saturday at the Township parking lot.

We urge that they come alone or as a family, armed with sturdy shoes, gloves and a tool to remove metal rings from bottles. We think they will find the hours volunteered to be well worth the effort.

Volunteer glass sorters or helpers at drop-off centers should call Mrs. James Easton, 625-3390. If they can help pick up glass in their own subdivision they should call Art Ripley, 625-2215.

The women from Calvary Lutheran Church have already volunteered to provide our lunch but could use some help, too. Call 625-2434 for Betty Cratt. Too often we feel our individual effort is not significant. This is an opportunity to discover how really vital one person's contribution can be.

Please tell them to come out and drive their truck, sort some glass, man a drop-off center or load the rail car.

And - remind them not to forget to set their glass out first on the 21st.

Hope to meet some more great citizens of Independence Township on Saturday. Mrs. Donald Place

Wash out

Dear Editor:

Just thought I'd tell you that the Scout Jamboree here in Japan was great although 3 days of it were spent in a typhoon and then 3 more days of rain.

See you when I get back.

DeMolay start Village clean-up

Cedar Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will be out Saturday morning, August 21 to do their "thing." Their "thing" is to clean up the village parking lot and adjoining grounds in preparation for the Labor Day weekend.

The boys will be equipped with brooms, mowers, rakes and other necessary implements.

Cedar Chapter is an active group and recently rounded up 16 of their members and 4 advisors and visited the Center Line Chapter. As a reward for their efforts, Cedar boys brought home the "galloping gavel" award.

The gavel is given to chapters who make a visitation to another chapter within the district. The visiting chapter must have at least 12 members to earn the gavel.

On Thursday, Aug. 26, 19 boys and 3 advisors will be heading for the annual State Conclave in Big Rapids. This event will last 4 days. During the conclave, Michigan State Sweetheart, Joy Zerbe, past Cedar Sweetheart, will relinquish her State crown to a new State Sweetheart.

Send them to school in sparkling clean clothes!

Just a joke

It would be fitting and proper to tag Si Schuberton as a giant gent with a very short fuse. Blows up real fast and real complete when he thinks somebody has crossed him up or maybe insulted him or his.

Now, normal thing is that old Si is pretty jovial and mostly has a big smile for everyone. That's what fools some folks. You'd expect a grumpy guy to blow his stack but a Mr. Jolly John kind of takes a stranger off-guard when he reacts violently and suddenly.

Si's like that. Got that nice smile and goes out of his way to do for you. But give him cause for anger and by comparison a charging bull is a butterfly.

Works at the L and W Welding Shop, Si does. No one there can come close to him on heavy arc welding. Farmers from 20 miles bring their stuff to Si. Know if he does the job the weld will outlast the tractor or equipment that's being patched.

Les, he's the "L" in the L and W Welding Shop, decided that the place wasn't so hard boiled but what it could knock off an extra half hour at lunch and spring a surprise birthday party for big Si Schuberton. Particular since this just happened to hit near exact on his tenth year with the shop.

Now old Si's got kind of a scraggy face. Took the tail end of a blast of shrapnel during the war and it pocked up his puss pretty good. So when he stands in a doorway and near fills it up with his shoulders, it's like he was glowering down at you. No fat on Si but he sure is a big one and even when he smiles he doesn't exactly look like a happy-go-lucky baby doll type guy.

So comes the noon birthday party and Les sets it up like a "This Is Your Life" program. Si's wife, Maggie, has loaned Les an old picture album that Si's mother turned over to Maggie when they were married.

Old Les has had the pages copied on a 35mm strip of film and after he announces "this is your life, Si Schuberton," the lights go off and he projects the first page of that old album up on a big screen.

There's a fuzzy shot of baby Si in a hospital crib, a picture of little Si in mamma's arms and a portrait of Doc Breem examining the naked little fellow on his table.

Under the blank spot, written neatly in white ink, is the caption "Little Si and his bid daddy."

Some wise guy in the gang (actual fact it was Bill Tubber) yells out, "What's wrong there? Picture's gone. Your mother's husband object to showing who your real father is?"

Old Si jumps up and in the dark he yells, "Who's the dumb idiot that said that? Lemme at him." Four people get knocked sprawling on the floor before they can get the lights on.

Takes Les maybe 15 minutes to quiet big Si down. The show is over. Les keeps telling Si it doesn't matter who the wise guy was. It's just a gag so forget it.

Finally Si still muttering, goes back to work. Meanwhile, Les wanders over to where Bill Tubber is working. Bill's real jumpy when Les taps him on the shoulder.

"That's a good fellow," Les tells him, real low. "Work extra hard and keep out of trouble. I might not even mention it was you that popped off. That's a good boy. Work, work, work."

THANK GOD FOR PRAYERS

"I thank my God for you all . . ."

Philippians 1:3

Do you ever feel alone in doing what you believe is good and right? Many people do. But if you look around you, often there are partners in any good effort which can help make life tolerable and useful.

A nurse had a man as one of her patients who was a dull, disgruntled, dispirited creature. But he did want to pray and did not know how. So the nurse used the fingers of her hand in an elementary exercise in prayer.

She told him that the thumb being the nearest digit, reminded her to pray for people nearest and dearest to her, and do this first. The index finger was next and was used often for pointing. In her hospital work it stood for teaching, and in teaching, specifically, to point to those who wished to ask a question. So she pointed it to the man who was the patient when he wanted to know how to pray.

The third finger, said the nurse, being the tallest one, stood for the V.I.P.'s, the people who lead us in government, in industry, in the social sphere. If her patient prayed for these V.I.P.'s they would have backing to go ahead with many of the things which would benefit the pray-ers.

The fourth finger is the weakest according to pianists. So to the nurse it stood for those who were weak and in trouble and in pain. Pray for them, be concerned about them, help them as you can. The little finger is the smallest. The nurse told her patient she tried to consider herself as least important, as smallest, but therefore to be prayed for all the more.

St. Paul is considered rather high in stature and rather capable in doing things, and it was he who wrote to his fellow workers, "I thank my God for you all every time I think of you!"

John Witherup of Chickadee Lane tells us it's 325 miles to Mackinaw City. John made the trip last week by bicycle. It was a sentimental journey retracing steps he had made 30 years ago. When asked what hardships he encountered, he replied, "Just staying alive." Along with his friend, Jerry Lacy, Asst. Director of Parks and Rec. for Oakland Co., it took a week to make the trip. They traveled the back roads as bicycles are not allowed on I-75.

One day they made 80 miles, another day they made 43 miles before breakfast. The two men camped along the way. They found many other people cycling around the country. They encountered a couple who had been on the road 8½ months traveling across the United States and back again. Thinking they were bridging the generation gap, they found they were not the oldests on the road. Still cycling was a 77 year old gentleman from the western part of the state. After arriving in Mackinaw City, the guys spent Sunday bicycling around Mackinac Island.

Mindy Marion, daughter of the Larry Marions of Warbler Lane, celebrated her 2nd birthday July 30. Her grandparents were on hand to help her celebrate with a family barbecue. Fascinated by all the commotion, she didn't even bother to taste her birthday cake.

You might remember that was the game that started at 10:30 p.m. after being delayed by rain. The Tigers won over the Los Angeles Angels and a good time was had by all. This was the first major league game for Cora Lynn MacLarty of Florida who is visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bray of Tappan Dr.

Christopher Rathfoot, son of the Harold Rathfoots of Rockcrock celebrated his 5th birthday August 3. Robbie Hall, Dave Lektzian, David and Danny Linseman, Joey Dubre and David Green helped Chris celebrate with a visit to the putt-putt golf course and a birthday lunch.

VILLAGE COUNCIL VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON

Regular Meeting August 10, 1971

Meeting called to order by President Johnston.

Roll: Present-Basinger, Irwin, Jones, Tower, Weiss.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Also present was Village Attorney Jack Banycky.

Moved by Trustee Jones, "That the following bills be paid:

Police	$384.85
The Clarkston News	$339.10
Ben M. Powell Co.	$60.00
Municipal Services	$221.25
Legal Fees	$790.00

Seconded by Irwin. Roll: Jones, yea; Basinger, yea; Tower, yea; Weiss, yea; Irwin, yea. Yeas 5, Nays 0. Motion carried.

Over 25 persons were present with regards to the vacating of Buffalo Street. President Johnston reviewed the history and background of the correspondence received from the Attorney General's office with regards to a hearing-scheduled for August 18 on the vacating of that portion of Buffalo Street from Parke Lake to East Washington St.

The Village Attorney commented on the various legal implications and pointed out that it was his opinion that, if vacated, this property would be divided between the two properties abutting on the east and west boundaries of the subject portion of Buffalo St. Attorney Banycky stated that this property could not be sold by the Village and a judicial review could overrule the 1968 Council resolution vacating this street.

In summary, the main arguments by the Council and Village residents for and against vacating this portion of Buffalo Street follow:

FOR VACATING:

- (a) Parke Lake cannot support more boating activity
- (b) There is a possibility of control problems if area were to be used extensively
- (c) Safety problems with regards to swimmers and power boats would increase

AGAINST VACATING:

- (a) Gain to individual(s) as opposed to many residents
- (b) Water supply for fire equipment (this was disputed as it was reported that modern equipment would not be able to use this access to water)
- (c) Storm drains located on this property
- (d) Possibility of right-of-way on this property required for sanitary sewer lines.
- (e) Public property should not be given away.
- (f) Public street for all to use-some were not aware that this was public property
- (g) Green area should not be made available for possible building site
- (h) Control problems are not present, thus no requirement for closing street
- (i) Fishing to area residents would be made available
- (j) If control problems arise, try to solve problems but not close street

Moved by Trustee Basinger, "That the Council rescind the resolution passed on September 9, 1968, to vacate a portion of Buffalo Street because this street has been traditionally used as access by which the people who live close to Parke Lake enjoy all pleasure of this gift of nature with their riparian neighbors." Seconded by Trustee Tower. Roll: Yeas - Basinger, Tower, Irwin. Nays - Weiss, Jones Motion carried.

The Village Attorney was asked to attend the August 18 hearing on subject street vacating and voice the Council's objection to this action. The Clerk was instructed to respond to the Attorney General's letter with the above motion cited.

Moved by Trustee Jones, "That Mr. Collick's request to change the river bed located on his property be tabled until written opinion is received by the Village Engineer." Seconded by Trustee Irwin. Motion carried.

Mr. Edward Thomson was present to petition the Council to take action on the use of residential property belonging to Mr. Harold Goyette on Main Street as a parking area for non-conforming business use. Attorney Banycky stated that no violation of the Village ordinances had been made until the subject property is actually used as parking for business use. The Village Attorney was requested to review the law suit to determine if it is in violation of the Village ordinances. A Special Meeting will be called on this matter when the Village Attorney submits his letter of opinion with regards to this matter.

The Excavation Ordinance draft was tabled.

Trustee Irwin was given the July 29 letter from the County D.P.W. regarding the Sanitary Sewer grant for study and investigation.

Moved by Trustee Tower, "That the portion of West Washington St. as required by the Clarkston Area Jaycees be closed to traffic during the Labor Day weekend." Seconded by Trustee Jones. Motion carried.

Mr. Roy Fry and Mr. Jules Ruerat were present to make a presentation regarding the Mill Pond Improvement Association. Descriptions of the North Mill Pond and how silt has been washed in from the I-75 excavations and other areas were discussed. It was suggested that the main Mill Pond be lowered by approximately four feet for proper dredging of the upper Mill Pond. The purpose of this presentation was to make the Council aware of what action is being taken with regards to the problem and the Mill Pond Improvement Association. It was reported that the Oakland County Health Department is making a complete analysis of this situation. The Mill Pond Improvement Association is in the process of formalizing their establishment and in approximately 3 weeks information will be published for distribution to the property owners on the Mill Ponds, both upper and lower areas.

Moved by Trustee Tower, "That Trustee Irwin be appointed the Village representative for the Mill Pond Improvement Association." Seconded by Trustee Weiss. Motion carried.

Trustee Tower was requested to obtain copies of the Township building codes. The subject of the existing vacancy on the Council was tabled.

Meeting call adjourned by President Johnston.

Button up your overcoat

by Jean Sura

We just got back from spending a few days at a lovely cottage up north and then I read today that they had named some man out in Pardeeville, Wisconsin the watermelon seed spitting champ of the world. The article said that he bested his own record with a shattering effort of 33 feet 3 1/2 inches.

"You're talking to yourself again," said my husband.

"Oh, I was just thinking out loud. You know - the world is sure changing," I answered.

"Okay, I'm a glutton for punishment, how is the world changing, dear?"

"Well, take that cottage - indoor Johns, hot and cold running water, solid mattresses and automatic heat - I don't call that roughing it," I sighed. "I get nostalgic about the good old days."

"You sure didn't show it when you glommed onto the shower every morning. In the old days you would have jumped in the lake for a refreshing dip. And you will admit when you hit the sack at night the bed was so comfortable you blacked out like a power failure."

"I didn't say I didn't like it, but remember my Uncle Augie's cottage? That was my idea of heaven."

"Your Uncle Augie's cottage was an unfinished, frame building with a hand pump, kerosene stove, lumpy mattresses and an outhouse. The furnishings proved the fact that they hadn't invented garage sales yet and everybody just dumped all their old junk out there," said Gene.

"You snap up every mechanical appliance you can get your hands on. How can you say it was heavenly?"

"I always liked to sleep on that old leather couch on the porch," I sighed. "It had a big hump on one end for a pillow, but you could hear the waves slapping on the breakwater. Of course my older, boy cousins usually grabbed that."

"You're so cold blooded I should think you would have been miserable. The only heat in the place was from a little wood burner. It must have gotten mighty nippy."

"Yes, but there were holes in the ceiling to let the heat upstairs. We kids used to listen through the vents to hear what the grown-ups were talking and laughing about. That was pretty daring!"

"The thing I remember best about that place was the food," groaned Gene. "Your aunt and mom sure worked wonders on that kerosene burner. But outside plumbing, you can have."

"You know what? The only time in my life I enjoyed doing dishes was at that cottage," I changed the subject. "That was considered kid's work. We would line up to dry the dishes and then sail them across the room to the guy at the cupboard. A few extra chips didn't matter. He was supposed to catch them and put them away. Usually he did."

"No wonder you're such a whiz at frisbee. You had experience," snorted Gene.

"Modern things are nice," I mused, "but times have sure changed. Take this watermelon seed spitting champion. He concentrates on distance. Uncle Augie shot seeds with his fingers. I'll bet he was more accurate. Did you know he could hit a fly on the wall from across the room?"

"Your uncle was accurate all right," laughed Gene, "but that's proof that times haven't changed as much as you think - not where men are concerned anyway."

"As I recall, your mom and the other ladies would have been wise to wear turtle neck sweaters when he was shooting. But you're right, his aim was deadly."

"Gene Sura," I stomped, "are you inferring he aimed at the ladies' chests? You're being nasty. My Uncle Augie was a nice guy."

"Sure he was," laughed Gene, "but remember the night you were listening at the ventilator and your mom giggled and said to your aunt, 'We're having watermelon for dessert. Better button up your overcoat!'"
