

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

The state has decided assessors of property in Michigan should have training to varying degrees, depending on population of the area they are charged with.

Then they must take a test. It is my suggestion that all be called back and given further training. This time in sociology.

Up to now whenever an assessor saw a piece of property that was well kept he boosted the valuation. Were he trained properly he would have a feeling for esthetic values.

Then the assessor might better weigh the values of the effect well groomed properties have on his constituents.

Surely groomed lawns, well shaped shrubs, blended fencing and the proper use of stone and paint have more meaning to a community than whatever monetary increase a less aware assessor might write into the rolls.

(That paragraph deserves an Oscar.)

Nothing is more relaxful, restful and refreshing than to look over a well-kept neighborhood. Even to view a single, manicured yard sometimes causes one to direct someone's attention in that direction.

"Oh, look at that!" you say. Then quickly the thought comes, "I suppose that darn assessor will sock it to these people just because they have the ambition and desire to keep their place up."

Yes! As a matter of fact I have been spending a little time on my yard lately. How did you guess?

One thing newspaper publishers (and several other people) can be assured of is . . . after they are gone no one can say anything worse about them than they did when they were alive.

That thought came to me the other day when a couple friends began saying nice things about someone who had died. So often the comments are critical. "The old devil always drank too much and was never any good," is often the conversation.

When much younger, I was in a hospital ward with 18 guys for some months. One day a much disliked patient was discharged. Being rather close quarters we didn't have much opportunity to cut him to ribbons behind his back.

So as soon as the door closed behind him the caustic comments began. Shortly, we heard one of the black men in the ward softly singing, "Please don't talk about me when I'm gone," and all went silent.

None of us regretted the interruption.

Thieves steal Jaycee TV

When Ray Welch drove to the Village at 7:30 a.m. on Sunday morning, his thoughts were on the baseball game that he and his fellow Jaycees would be playing in a short time.

As he drove into the Village Parking Lot he glanced across Main Street to the window of the corner building, where the club had placed the expensive color television set that was to be given to the lucky ticket holder during the Labor Day celebration.

"My television set, my television set, it's gone!" shouted the vice president of external affairs and spark plug for the local Jaycees' fund raising activities.

President Dave Nadolsky was roused from sleep and a cruising Oakland County Sheriff's deputy was hailed.

Sometime during the night thieves had broken a lock from the back door of the building that houses the Hursfall Realty Company. They then proceeded to break a window and jimmy three additional locks to gain entry to the building.

The Jaycee prize television set had been taken from the front window and hauled away. A desk drawer was found open but close inspection revealed that nothing else was missing.

"We Jaycees are very lucky in one respect," said Dave Nadolsky, Jaycee president. "Through Ray's foresight, the television set was insured. Consequently, ticket holders don't have to worry that there will be any delay in finding the winner. We have already ordered another set and plan to have it on hand to deliver to the winner over the weekend. We will continue to sell tickets."

The theft came as a culmination of a week of incidents. The burglar alarm at Hallman's Apothecary, which is next door to the building entered, had been triggered 3 times in a 4-day period.

The first alarm sounded on Friday night around 10 p.m. Saturday, at 9:30 p.m. it rang again and once more at 12:45 a.m. on Monday. No evidence was found upon police and sheriff's investigation.

"I feel, said owner Keith Hallman, "that the first 2 alarms may have been an attempt to see if our alarm system was effective."

Robert Emiry, manager of Richardson's Dairy Bar, which is the next store in line, reported that someone had tried to force the lock on the back door of his business on Thursday night. They had been unsuccessful in their attempt to gain entry.

Dog days are every day!

"I'm telling you, Boy, things are bound to get better," says Girl. The basset hounds belong to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lequier of Bird Road.

Ask north entrance

When Independence Oaks opens, it would please the Township Board if visitors would travel M-15 to Oak Hill then turn south on Perry Lake Road to the Park.

The Board indicated this in a resolution to the County Parks and Recreation Committee last week.

The request favors use of M-15 over Sashabaw because the state road is more suited for traffic than the county road.

The Board further asked that Hoyt road be closed off Sashabaw by Whipple Lake to put the traffic on hard surfaced roads.

The Board asked the county agencies involved to plan one entrance to the county park . . . that being on the north.

Powells squeezed by State law

Powell Disposal, a local garbage and trash collection company, has been cited for failing to comply with state regulations governing landfills as written in Act 87.

Mrs. Ben M. Powell, who operates the company with her son, and has been in the business for the past 30 years, contends that she has attempted to comply.

"Contrary to reports, our operation is covered at the end of each day," said Mrs. Powell. "We welcome anyone to inspect the area. It is checked regularly by our employees and we have no indication that our cover has not been adequate to prevent the invasion of rodents."

Duane Hursfall, member of the County Board of Health, agreed that the Powells are attempting to comply with state standards.

"In a recent inspection tour of a number of landfills by members of the County Board of Health," said Hursfall, "I felt that the Powell operation was doing the best job they could, considering their size.

"The state ruling forces a hardship on small companies and has made no provisions for alternatives.

"I know of few complaints against the Powells in the past 5 years and thought they were doing a pretty fair job. To my knowledge, the debris is well contained within their complex."

Health Department Sanitarian, Robert Coleman, whose office cited the company for non-compliance after a recent inspection, said that it is the responsibility of his department to enforce the state law.

"We have been patient and helpful, but the Powells have not complied with the requirements that the State has outlined. If the size of the operation is not sufficiently profitable to maintain a proper operation, other arrangements must be made."

Coleman indicated that it would be the responsibility of units of government, Village, Township or County, to provide adequate facilities if private ones failed to do so.

Trail ride set by Dixie Saddle

The Dixie Saddle Club of Clarkston is holding its Second Annual Competitive Trail Ride on September 26. Over 100 horses are expected to compete in the 30 mile event.

The ride will be held in the Ortonville area and trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the winners.

Judging will be done on the basis of general physical appearance of the horses and measures of temperature, pulse, and respiration which will be taken both before and after the ride.

Entries in the junior class must be 12 to 15 years old and senior riders must be 16 years old and over.

The entries will be limited and must reach the secretary before September 10. An award dinner is included in the entry fee of $16 for seniors and $12 for juniors.

The event will not be canceled by inclement weather and no horses or ponies under 4 years old will be permitted to enter.

3 issues snag talks

Negotiations between the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) and the Board of Education were recessed after a meeting on August 24. They are scheduled to resume on August 25.

Failure to reach agreement centered on 3 major points, according to spokesmen for both teams. 1. Reduction of personnel 2. Teacher aids and 3. Agency shop.

Here is the way the sides lined up.

1. Reduction in personnel

CEA: We believe that necessary reduction should be based on seniority. Our decision is based on the feeling that it is the most frequently used method. It is not subjective and would eliminate personal discrimination. Further, we feel that the necessity for employee reductions should not be used as a method of dismissing poor teachers.

Bd. of Ed.: We believe that if a reduction of staff is necessary it should be based on ability, interest, certification, experience, past performance, attendance, capabilities and seniority.

2. Teacher aides

CEA: We believe the loss of teacher aides as provided in last year's contract, a regression. The members question if relief of aides, except at the lunch hour, will affect the library program. We feel that if the intent is to economize, the results of playground relief only would be negligible.

Bd. of Ed.: The State of Michigan requires specific hours of school instruction. Teacher supervised activities on the playground could be counted toward this time. Lay supervision would not count.

3. Agency shop

CEA: We would require that non-members pay a fee of $127 as a representation benefit fee.

Bd. of Ed.: We contend that a non-member should pay a fee of $30 for negotiating responsibility. We contend that payment of $127 would constitute full membership in the MEA, NEA, and CEA, and lack of payment could be reason for dismissal.

Further discussion centered around the fact that the Board of Education asked that a percentage be paid by the CEA to cover payroll deductions. The CEA countered that their credit union had done the work on these deductions in the past and no additional work would be required.

The board took the position that all teachers are not members of the credit union. In their mind this action could force faculty members to join the organization to entitle them to the services.

Chief negotiators for the CEA are: Ron Jacobson, Mort Kinser, Larry Rosso and Tim Kaul. George White, president of the CEA is on the back-up team.

George Barrie is chief negotiator for the Board of Education and he is assisted by Milford Mason, Ruth Purslow and John Reave.

In the meantime, plans for school opening progress. Teachers will report on September 2 for Orientation and on the 3rd for pre-school workshop. Children in the district will report for a full day on September 7.

Buses will make the same scheduled runs as were made last year. Minor adjustments may be made at a later date. The lunch program will begin also on the same day.

Hours for the elementary students are from 9:15 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. and high school hours are from 8 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.

Labor Day 1971

We are about to observe another three-day weekend. On the last one, Independence Day, 636 persons were killed on the highways. By comparison, during the same week, 29 U.S. soldiers were killed in battle in Vietnam.

The war is coming to an end, but there seems to be no end in sight for senseless highway slaughter.

Many lives could be saved if motorists took the simple precaution of being certain their automobiles were functioning properly before leaving home. Others could be saved by using the safety belts provided by all manufacturers. And still more could be saved if that "one for the road" were made from a recipe of three parts of caution mixed with one part of common sense.

If you are driving over the Labor Day weekend, we want you to have a pleasant holiday and to see you and your family back home safely. Drive defensively and, if in doubt about safety, don't drive.

Your responsibility

Labor Day, the summer season's last important holiday, is almost here. As with all three-day holidays, one primary consideration will be sheer survival in the press of traffic and other hazards of congestion.

There is another consideration too of which we should be acutely conscious. As individuals, we can each contribute mightily to pollution control during a period when lakes, forests, streams and parks are swamped with visitors. A leaflet, issued by Enterprise Publications of Chicago, offers the following questionnaire for those who are sincerely concerned about pollution. It asks, among other things: When did I last throw an empty can, bottle, cigarette butt, or paper wrapper out of the car window? When did I last throw a cigarette pack, gum or candy wrapper on the street or the floor of a public building? When did I last leave a picnic table without cleaning up? When did I last leave a camp site without picking up all the refuse? When did I last leave a public or private beach without picking up paper, glass, or other sharp objects? When did I last — when no one was looking — drop off garbage or junk by the side of the road — hoping I wouldn't get caught?

How these questions can be answered by those returning from the long Labor Day weekend will be a pretty accurate gauge of public interest in pollution control.

Crop 'harvested' with guns

By Jim Fitzgerald

"They are warm-hearted, generous men who do not want to see lady deer and baby deer killed. And they are willing to put their money where their hearts are," said Frack.

He was talking about the commissioners of my favorite county. They had just given $400 to the local deer hunters association. The money will buy "No Doe Hunting" signs which will be distributed free to landowners who agree that women and children should be last when they are deer.

Frack is full of deer droppings. That $400 was tax money — my money. And the commissioners were not acting out of sympathy for poor Mama Deer and the kids. They were acting under pressure from a bunch of sports who are angry because they've had to drive home from too many deer camps without bleeding trophies strapped to their fenders.

The Great White Hunter's theory is that there aren't enough bucks for him to kill because the dumb state lets hunters kill does. If all the does are killed, who is going to mother the bucks? Not the game warden, by damn.

But the state says there are too many deer and "the crop must be harvested" before it starves to death, or dents fenders, or eats some farmer's corn (After the St. Valentine's Day Massacre, Al Capone explained that the victims had to be harvested before they fell dead of malnutrition, possibly in traffic, or started swiping the cops' apples off fruitstands).

A pox on both the he-man sports and the "harvesting" state. I don't begrudge the $400. In fact, I'd rather see 'em spend $800 and forbid all killing of deer, male, female or convertible.

To each his own sport. And I can see where shooting a gun is a sport. But why not shoot skeet or empty bottles on top of a fence? In my most liberal moments, I cannot understand the person who looks through the sight of a high-powered rifle, sees the soft eyes of an innocent deer, and pulls the stupid trigger. Look Ma, no head! Whoopee.

Would you believe golf is no fun unless you can hit a cow in the head with the ball?

And please, Mr. Hunter, don't ask me if I eat hamburger and prime rib. I can understand a slaughterhouse and it won't bug me until the butchering is featured on TV's American Sportsman with Rock Hudson knocking the steer's brains out with a golden hammer.

There's gotta be a difference between killing for pleasure, glorying in the bloodshed and killing for food because there's no other way.

Some of my best friends go hunting but most of them insist they head north for the fresh air, fellowship and picturesque taverns. They wouldn't shoot a deer unless it attacked their waitress. God bless them, one and all. Waitresses should be preserved, even if not tipped.

But the animals should also be preserved. They should be killed only in self defense. (You can quote me at the next meeting of your neighborhood deer hunters association. But remember, there is no open season on newspaper columnists. We are at the top of the endangered species list.)

Maybe the state is right. Maybe an unharvested crop of deer will some day gallop down the freeway and eat all our food. I would only ask that you don't shoot until you see the whites of their tails in front of you in the A&P checkout line.

PART 3

NURSE SHORTAGE

Faced with a serious shortage of nurses that will probably get worse, hospitals are beginning to pay attention to two long-standing complaints: low salaries and poor working conditions.

Wages have recently been increased in a few parts of the nation, but the Health Insurance Institute reports the average is still only a bit above $5,000 a year. It's often much lower.

The shortage of hospital workers has also made the job more difficult. When a hospital is understaffed, a nurse must often do work that doesn't have much to do with her specialized training.

For example, she may be preparing medications that a pharmacist should be handling, or cleaning equipment, running errands, filing medical records and so on.

When all these unprofessional chores are finished, nurses may have time left to use only about 25% of their professional skills in the day-to-day bedside care of patients. Fortunately, administrators recognize the problem and promise to change it.

The picture would be even worse if it weren't for the women in the community who volunteer their services in U.S. hospitals, helping out at the reception desks and libraries and anywhere they are needed. They may work only a few months, so they often bring a fresh and cheerful outlook into the hospital wards they serve so generously.

Five types of suspensions were outlined. (1) Suspension from class - review by the principal or his assistant in consultation with teacher. (2) Suspension from building for remainder of school day. (3) Suspension from building pending parent conference. Not to exceed 10 days. (4) Suspension for an extended period of time. (more than 10 and not to exceed 30 days). (5) Suspension from attendance at or participating in school district sponsored activities.

In suspension procedures it was outlined that a pupil shall be informed of the charges which are the basis for disciplinary action. He will have the right to present to the administrator information that will support his defense.

If the pupil is suspended by the administrator, the administrator will notify the parents as soon as possible and explain how the pupil can be reinstated. Then he will meet with the parents to plan the satisfactory return to school.

Dissatisfaction with administrative action entitles a parent to appeal to the superintendent for review by the Disciplinary Committee. (3 administrators appointed by the superintendent. No administrators from the school in question to be appointed.) This committee will report their findings in writing to the superintendent, the pupil or his parents and to the building principal.

If a suspension period is of more than 10 days, and after the 3 steps have been taken, and the suspended pupil's parents are dissatisfied they may request a review of the action by the superintendent or his designate and they may be advised by a person of their choosing.

In the case of expulsion, the following 11 procedures will be followed:

(1) Written charges against the pupil and the time and place of the Board hearing will be supplied to the pupil and his parents or guardian. (2) The parents may be present at the hearing and (3) may be represented by legal counsel. (4) The pupil shall be allowed to give his version of the facts and offer other testimony and evidence. (5) The pupil may see and hear all evidence offered against him. He may question any witness. (6) The hearing, conducted by the Board, will determine the case of evidence presented at the hearing, and (7) a record shall be kept of the hearing.

(8) The Board shall state within a reasonable time whether the pupil is guilty as charged and its decision as to expulsion. (9) The findings shall be written and sent to the pupil and his parents or guardian. (10) The pupil, parent or guardian shall be made aware of their right to appeal the decision to proper appellate authority.

(11) Action to expel can only be taken by the Board of Education. Prior to action by the Board the recommendation for expulsion shall be reviewed by the Disciplinary Committee. This committee will review all pertinent data and may call the pupil and other witnesses to determine the validity of the charges. The committee shall present written statement of findings with the building principal's recommendation before the Board of Education at the time of the formal hearing.

Junk ordinance, junk

Dear Editor,

Regarding the so called Junk Yard ordinance limiting 1 unlicensed car for 90 days: How silly can an attorney or Board get. I've perused several dictionaries and encyclopedias and not one of them mentions unlicensed cars as constituting a junk yard.

All state that "JUNK" is discarded material, paper, glass, etc. Maybe the law books define it differently.

In my travels around Wayne and Oakland County I've seen many junk yards and homes that looked like junk yards that did not contain any cars, conversely, I've seen homes with licensed cars that looked like junk yards. So how can you define an unlicensed car on a property by stating it's a junk yard.

Maybe our taxes should be based on a junk yard premise rather than a homestead.

I bought, built and pay taxes on property which I hope gives me some rights in return for the exhorbitant taxes. No, I don't mean the right to maintain a junk yard, but one unlicensed car does not a junk yard make!

If this ordinance is allowed to pass, I'd recommend that all those who have an unlicensed car they wish to keep, spend $50 (license plate and uninsured motorist fee) and park said car on the front lawn so all the board can see.

Too many of our RIGHTS are gradually being taken away by self styled, overpaid politicians and legal advisors.

Incidentally, we elected a Township Supervisor and from what I hear and read I wonder if our Township Clerk hasn't appointed himself supervisor. Let the Township Attorney straighten this mess out instead of trying to take another RIGHT away from the overtaxed, harrassed, taxpayer.

If the township attorney can make opinions on junk cars why doesn't he straighten out this kind of a situation?

Qualify for Hale Open

Jake Leonard and Big "T" Thomas qualified for the Hale Open Tournament for the 8th straight year. This is the first year that anyone has qualified for this prestige tournament 8 years in a row.

Bowing to the wishes of the State Police and the Governor, the site for this year's tournament is being kept secret, due to the traffic problems that were created during the Baltimore Colts and the Detroit Lions football game.

Big "T" and Jake are the favorites in this year's tournament, due to their outstanding performance at Augusta earlier this year. As old Arnie and Jack say, "The smart money is on Big "T" and Jake."

Tickets for this year's Hale Open are priced at $25 per couple. They may be purchased from any of the qualifiers or from one of the alternates, who are Al Hamilton, Jerry Anderson and Hal Ford.

Tournament Director, Norma Ford, is expecting a gallery of 1,000,000 people or less.

Hallman's Apothecary and Ronk's Barbershop are petitioning the State Legislature to force the NBC Sports Network to televise this golfing spectacular. They believe it's about time the viewing public be afforded the opportunity to see this outstanding classic.

The annual pre-tournament qualifying reception will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Ford on Sept. 3rd at 8:00 p.m. All holders of the $25 tickets are welcome. Come and meet Jake, Big "T" and the alternates.

Controversy continues

Hawk takes steps to go out of business

The 8-month-long strike at the Hawk Tool and Engineering Company continues.

Allen W. Hawke, a spokesman for the firm, reported that the company attorney has been instructed to draw up a tentative settlement agreement to prepare the way for the company to go out of business.

"There is no other direction we can go," said Hawke. "The compromise that the union asks us to agree to would make it impossible for us to make a profit.

There is no sense in staying in business under these circumstances."

Workers, who have maintained a picket vigil in a trailer parked next door to the plant, were absent on Monday when the trailer was moved to make room for the Labor Day celebration.

Robert Taylor, President of United Auto Workers (UAW) Local 540, who represents the workers, was unavailable for comment, as he has continued to be since the early days of the strike.

Spiritual Message

Father Francis A. Weingartz

"Is this not the carpenter, son of Mary?" (Mark 6:3)

This week-end's celebration of Labor Day gives us an opportunity to examine our thinking about work. Every person born into this world has to work. For we read in the first book of the Bible: "By the sweat of your face you get bread to eat." (Genesis 3:19)

But even though work is a must in our lives, it should also be a joy. It should be a joy because when we work we resemble not only Jesus who worked in the carpenter shop, but also God the Father, the Creator who made all things. In fact when we work, we co-operate with God in continuing creation. Rather than think of creation as something over and done with, we should think of it as a process that is continually developing. It is something like a magnificent painting that is gradually taking form and will be complete only at the end of time. God's plan for us is that we be co-creators with him. We are to develop our world in partnership with God. That is why God said to men: "Be fertile and multiply; fill the earth and subdue it. Have dominion over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, and all living things that move on the earth." (Genesis 1:28)

There are many kinds of work. The carpenter, the factory worker, the secretary, the teacher, the doctor, the housewife, the nurse and the many others. Some work at times can be a burden, but all work has dignity. It has dignity because it helps to develop us as human beings, it helps to continue creation and redemption, it is a means of serving our fellow men and of expressing our love for them.

Vatican Council II says: "By his labor a man ordinarily supports himself and his family, is joined to his fellow men and serves them, can with his own hands." (The Church exercise genuine charity, and be a partner in the work of bringing and 37) divine creation to perfection.

Indeed, we hold that through labor offered to God, many are associated with the redemptive work of Jesus Christ, who conferred and eminent dignity on labor when at Nazareth he worked

And so keeping this in mind, do your work each day to the best of your ability and with all your heart. Follow St. Paul's advice: "Whatever you do, work at it with your whole being." (Colossians 13:23)

IC Clowns and firemen to wage water battle

This year, as last year, the Jaycee Clowns will be in the Labor Day Parade, passing out candy to the youngsters and hopefully, get a few smiles from the older watchers. Many of the clowns will be at the Jaycee carnival right after the parade to shake hands with any of the children who want to see a clown in real live color.

The Independence Township Fire Department will be having water battles with other organizations and will fight the Jaycee Clowns as soon after the parade as possible, according to Jaycee External V.P. Bill Halsey. He promises that the battle between the clowns and fire department will be like none you have ever seen.

Jaycee Clowns are members of the Clarkston Area Jaycees. They will try to give the small kids at the parade something to make it a more entertaining event.

Halsey asks anyone who has any equipment or props that could be used by the clowns, to contact him at 625-4057.

Wolves raring to go

By Craig Moore

Paul Rakow, in his third year coaching the Clarkston Varsity Wolves, has every reason to believe his team will be a winning one this season.

After completion of the Wolves' second annual football camp, he is convinced that his team has the skill and determination to succeed.

"The football camp this year was a great success," said the coach. "I believe the young men on the team are in better shape physically and mentally than they have ever been. They understand each other and work together easily, work together because they have lived with each other for a week."

The Wolves should be a great threat this season with their passing attack. With capable wide receivers, an excellent pro set halfback, several fine tight ends, and skillful half and fullbacks, Clarkston will be a threat in any game.

Coach Rakow said, "At this point, our passing game is stronger than our running game."

Twenty lettermen are returning to the Clarkston gridiron this season. Returning quarterback senior, Mark Warren is supported by seniors Rod Latimer, Al Watson and Lyle Johnson in the halfback positions and Dave Cinader and Dan Thomas, fullbacks.

Returning centers are seniors Rick Butler and Kim Wilson. Brian Leak, Brad Funk, Tim Vanaman, Al Ratliff and Mel Johnson hold positions at guard. Returning tackles include Mark Poole, Chuck Chamarro, and Bob Munchausen, and ends are Dave Simco, Howard Bliss, Bill Svetkoff and Mark Stapleton.

Coach Rakow commented, "We have a fine group of young men and we are looking forward to a fine season."

"THINK YOUNG"

Win, place or show

by Jean Sura

I've put in a large supply of tissue. There is going to be a lot of wailing and gnashing of teeth at the Sura compound tonight. There is going to be a lot of hysterical joy, too. No matter how you look at it we're going to need a lot of tissue to mop up the tears of joy and sorrow.

Old Dad and his buddy are going to play their annual golf match against our sons. This tournament has been going on for about 15 years. It dates back to when the boys were young kids.

It all started out as one of those "family that plays together" things, right after my lousy game had booted me out of the family foursome.

Dad recruited Big Friend to round out a friendly match.

For many years the kids thought they were pretty good and talked about it a lot, but Old Dad and Big Friend proved their superiority. Then the tide began to change. The kids started to produce. They almost won it one year.

Believing that a win is a win, by fair means or foul, Dad and Friend started worrying and resorted to some sinister psychology the following year.

"Who were you talking to on the phone at this early hour?" I asked one of the boys one morning as he staggered back to bed.

"That was Big Friend," he answered sleepily. "He wanted to know why I wasn't out hitting golf balls so I would be ready for our match next week."

"Hey," said Old Dad one day as he watched one of the kids swinging a club, "what has happened to your swing? You're coming back sort of funny. Are you gripping the club correctly? Maybe you should check your stance."

They ragged, worried and talked them out of winning.

This kind of monkey shines worked for a couple of years. The kids were so "up tight" they couldn't hit a ball for sour apples.

Then doomsville hit the ranch. The grins that split those kids' heads after their first win would have put a jack-o-lantern to shame.

"We did it! We did it! We won. They can't talk us out of it anymore."

"Don't worry, Dad, we'll give you strokes next year.

"Me — strokes — from you? Never in this world," said Old Dad.

"Amen," said Big Friend. "Strokes — from children — never!"

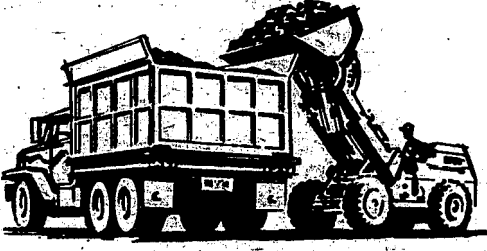

So the years roll around and everytime the two oldsters feel up to taking a beating they pick up the gauntlet.

Last year they tried their latest trick. They arrived on the tee dressed like the Bobbsey Twins. That didn't work either. They tried playing the 19th hole first. They forgot that college broadens a young man's horizon. No luck!

I haven't heard what maneuver they have ready for this year but I'll bet it won't work.

The exhausted roosters are gluttons for punishment. They may not win or place, but I know for sure that they will show.
