Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Did I tell you about the trouble I had getting my flagpole painted?

It stands about 50 feet high and, although it can be lowered, it's steel and very unwieldy.

How do you find a flagpole painter? I called the 'grounds' man at school. He gave me two names the first time. One in Pontiac, the other, Rochester.

Both were friendly and willing to do the job. The Rochester man even came out. The two prices were about the same, around $45.

I told the Rochester man to start painting. He was going to be out in 2 days, then a week, then another week. I cancelled.

The Pontiac man gave me the same run around. I called him several times over 4 months. Finally he said his flagpole painter had gone to Georgia or some such place.

Back to the drawing boards and 5 more names from the school man. All were from Flint and he had none of their phone numbers. It turned out that all had phones, but none of them were listed.

I still can't get over that. Businessmen with unlisted telephones.

Eventually word got around that I wanted my pole painted and some guys stopped in.

I understand why the $45 painters didn't show. The men who did the job got $75. By the time they got to our house I was so willing to get the pole painted I'd have probably paid more.

Through all this time, something like 12 months, we didn't have the foresight to buy a flag. The only one we have has 48 stars. But it is flying most of the time.

King football is upon us. We lovers of the high school version have 9 Fridays to look forward to.

This Friday we play the part of a Michigan governor during the Michigan vs. Mich. State game at halftime. I'll be changing sides with camera in hand.

The traditional opener pits Oxford against Clarkston and this one, in Oxford, should be one of the best. Both teams are excellently coached and the players' desire to win is especially high on each side this season.

It should be a great game for the fans that like hard hitting.

An argument while driving resulted in the driver's losing control of his vehicle on U.S. 10 at M-15, according to records of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The car crossed the highway and landed in a pond.

Local man charged in bus bombing

A Springfield Township man was arrested, along with 5 others, on September 9 by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) on charges of plotting the destruction of 10 Pontiac School District buses on August 30. They were arraigned in U.S. District Court on September 10.

Arrested were: Alexander John Distel, Jr., 28, 9501 Rattalee Lake Road, a water conditioning employee; Wallace (Woody) Fruit, 29, an exalted cyclops or leader of Pontiac's Klan Chapter, an auto worker from 6114 Adamson in Waterford Township; Dennis C. Ramsey, 24, an auto worker from 5500 Sunwood, Waterford Township; Raymond Quick, Jr., 24, Lake Orion, a cemetery worker; Edmund Reimer, unemployed, Howell; and Robert E. Miles, 46, who stepped down last spring as grand dragon of the United Klans of America Michigan Realm, of Howell.

Miles and Distel were reported to have been present in Pontiac, among crowds of angry whites who were protesting the court-ordered integration by busing.

The bombing occurred in the fenced school bus yard at Montcalm and Saginaw. Damages were estimated at $100,000 when the 10 buses went up in flame.

All 6 of the men arrested were reported to be associated with the Ku Klux Klan.

Loses control

were both taken to Pontiac General Hospital on September 12 as a result of the accident which occurred at 2 a.m.

The passenger was thrown from the car, according to the report, and found floating in a fishing pond owned by R. W. McAllister.

Smale was treated for head injuries and released.

Assistant to the Superintendent, announced that preliminary enrollment in the Clarkston Schools was 6870. This figure will be firmly established on October 1, when an official state count will be taken. Last year's count of students was 6,629.

A group of parents attended the meeting to question the status of the 5th grade band. The 5th grade band program was jettisoned last year as an economic measure resulting from the Supreme Court ruling which required school districts to furnish books and materials for instruction.

Superintendent Leslie Greene explained that the decision to continue the restriction was necessary because the financial aid from the State was still unknown and that it had been the decision of the Board to continue on last year's program until these factors were known.

"We will reinstate the program if our funds warrant it," said Dr. Greene.

Mrs. Barbara Steele, a spokesman for the parent group, asked if the program could be continued if there was no additional expense to the district.

Milford Mason pointed out that this might be done at 1 or 2 of the elementary schools, but that the district felt obligated to offer equal opportunity to students of all schools.

The summer band program, which was self-sustaining, was discussed and the Board was questioned on the feasibility of continuing the band program after school hours.

The parents were concerned with students who had participated in the summer band at their parents' request and were now set adrift.

School administrators pointed out that the summer program was initiated for students who had completed the 5th grade and would be eligible for 6th grade band this year. They were unaware that children who had completed the 4th grade were allowed to participate.

When asked if he would inform elementary principals that 5th graders were to be permitted to attend band sessions during their lunch hours, George Barrie stated that he would be glad to do so when he was so instructed by the Board.

In further action the Board of Education directed insurance agent Richard Huttenlocher to update insurance coverage.

A request by the DeMolay for use of the school gym was denied regrettably because of the heavy use entailed by school sports and night school.

Stephen Thatcher

Army Private Stephen L. Thatcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn L. Thatcher, 5698 Everest Drive, Clarkston, recently completed 8 weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky.

His wife, Karen, lives at 1330 Noble St., Toledo, Ohio.

William Williams

Army Private William R. Williams, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Williams, 5249 Marconi, Clarkston, recently completed 8 weeks basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid and army history and traditions.

Central Michigan University's outstanding junior distance runner Jon Costello left Sunday for Seattle, Wash., and the United States Olympic Development School's 3,000-meter steeplechase training program.

Coach Ken Shannon of the University of Washington, the site of the three-week course, extended an invitation to the 20-year-old Pontiac resident.

Costello flew from Detroit's Metropolitan Airport and joined seven other of the country's best steeplechase prospects for the course which began Aug. 16 and lasted through Sept. 7.

All expenses were paid by the U.S. Committee who established the development program in order to improve the U.S. chances for gold medal performances in track and field at the 1972 XX Summer Olympic Games Aug. 26 - Sept. 10 at Munich, Germany.

The 5-foot-11, 150-pound former Pontiac Central High School track standout jumped into prominence as a steeplechase runner this past spring as soon as he was introduced to the event.

Running it for only the sixth time in his life, Costello placed second in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's college division championships in early June.

Shortly after that CMU Coach Don Sazima submitted his prized pupil's name to the U.S. Olympic committee as a nominee for the development program.

An English major on campus, Costello has been running in the mornings around Pontiac this summer; but an evening job with a construction firm has prevented his entering more than just one 10-mile run last month.

Hampered by the lack of a steeplechase course either on campus or in his hometown, the training program provided him with some valuable experience in steeplechase running, and also gave him a better idea of the competition he can expect next year at the U.S. Olympic Trials. Costello lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Costello, at 12 LeGrande St., in Pontiac.

Jon is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Chipman of Clarkston.

Midget gridgers plan sale

Over one thousand midget gridgers and 250 cheerleaders in six suburban communities of Lakeland, Troy, Clawson, Walled Lake, Madison Heights and Independence Township, are planning to kick off the fall season with a massive door-to-door candy sale.

Purpose of the giant sale is to raise funds to purchase equipment and pay costs of the Suburban Midget Football Conference. Boys' nine through twelve participate in this program, a football equivalent to baseball's little league.

Arrangements have been made with the Heath Candy Company of Robinson, Illinois, to sell 98,000 one-dollar boxes of English toffee candy in a five-week campaign beginning September 15th.

A successful campaign will assure participation of every boy in all the units of the Suburban Midget Football Conference. There are three teams of 40 boys each to a unit.

Comprehensive health care planning to assure adequate hospital facilities where needed and at the same time avoid the rising costs which can result from over-building has long been a major goal of medical planning agencies in Michigan.

This cooperative effort, however, is in serious danger of being undermined by a bill now before the Legislature (House Bill 4030). The bill has passed both houses with amendments and is now in conference committee.

The key part of this bill would require Blue Cross to extend full participating rights (coverage) to all hospitals licensed by the Michigan Department of Public Health. At present Blue Cross operates the only major control over indiscriminate hospital construction and expansion through its Hospital Qualifications Program.

This program outlines criteria which hospitals must satisfy to qualify for full Blue Cross coverage. Included is a provision that any expansion or new construction must meet a clearly evident need in accord with area-wide health planning authorities.

Through this program Blue Cross for a number of years has helped to head off unnecessary expansions of medical care facilities by indirectly controlling the flow of construction money.

The bill now before the conference committee would remove that control. And while this might help some licensed hospitals not now under full Blue Cross accreditation, it would also open the door to all kinds of new hospital construction and expansion in areas where the need has not been proven or, worse, been shown to be necessary.

Elaborate studies by experts in many parts of the country show that overbuilding of hospital facilities drives up the cost of hospital operations and ultimately the costs to patients. It is estimated, for Bomb those buses!

By Jim Fitzgerald

Please pass the dynamite. Our daughter is bused to school but not to the school closest to our home.

Our son doesn't attend the school nearest home either. But he walks to school. I don't mind blowing up a bus but it doesn't seem fair to break the kid's leg just to bug the school board. Come to think, he does ride his bike sometimes. I could let the air out of his tires.

Our school district is about the largest, geographically, in Michigan. Some students attend school 20 miles from where they live. Every day they are bused past dozens of schools closer to their homes.

Obviously, this is a terrible thing. Our district should be ripe for revolt. Bombs should be sold at roadside stands. But there's no excitement at all. No protests. Just peace. I've had to drink all my Molotov cocktails. Some days even the most active activist can't find any action. But how come . . .

The TV news showed the dynamited buses burning in Pontiac, just a few miles down the highway. A middle-aged woman looked fiercely into the camera and said the destroyed buses were "the most beautiful sight I have ever seen."

Now there is an activist to be admired. She obviously has political ambitions. She will end up in the state capitol, sharing an office with Pontiac's Rep Arthur Law, another beautiful person. The day before the buses were bombed, Law urged his constituents to ignore the stupid law and keep their kids off the buses. (I wish Rep Law would change his name to Humperdink. It is difficult to type a lower case "l" while writing about him and a stupid law in the same paragraph.)

So how come they get all the fun and violence in Pontiac, and in a lot of other towns, but none example, that the cost of maintaining an empty hospital bed is 75 per cent of what it costs if the bed is occupied.

There is another solution. It is in the form of a second legislative bill (House Bill 4949) which would make the State Department of Public Health responsible for not just licensing hospitals but also determining where hospitals should be built or expanded. The bill is now in the House Appropriations Committee.

To eliminate the Blue Cross qualifications program without providing any safeguards on hospital expansion would create the increased danger of more and more hospitals expanding and competing for patients, thus setting off an inflationary spiral in medical care costs which no one wants or can justify.

in my school district? Why doesn't our bus system make parents angry enough to fight?

I'm certainly glad you asked. Our district has a skin problem. Too much white and not enough black.

You see, parents everywhere used to be the same. They didn't care when 1-room schools were consolidated into 1,573-room educational complexes. They didn't care that this meant Junior had to be bused to high school 30 miles away, even though there was an elementary school building around the corner from home, and a junior high building just up the block, and 8 abandoned Little Red Schoolhouses within walking distance. The bus trip was necessary because it meant a better education for Junior.

But lately, the federal government and the courts have been looking at school systems in such towns as Pontiac. They discovered some school boards were "discriminating to perpetuate segregation." This means the black Juniors were separated from the white Juniors. As always, the black kids got the short end of the stick and kids of both colors lost the chance to learn to know and maybe even love each other. Most parents like this segregation because it makes it easier to raise the kids to be good little bigots like Ma and Pa.

The courts ordered these schools to start achieving "racial balance" even if they had to use buses to do it. And that's what put the lighted fuse in all those buses.

Busing is fine for Junior if it means he'll learn more. But if the dumb bus is going to deposit Junior next to a Negro, that's not a better education. That's a kid of another color. Dynamite the damn buses.

And don't you dare call the bombers racists, for goodness sakes.

They're busists.

Church lays cornerstone

An open-air worship was followed by cornerstone laying ceremonies at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Sept. 12. Services were held in the new building under construction.

The congregation assembled in the worship area of the multi-purpose room on folding chairs.

Bringing greetings from the Presbytery of Detroit was the Rev. Robert L. Moreland, Presbytery official. Mr. Gordon R. Merritt of Merritt, Cole and McCallum, Farmington, was present as the architect who prepared the drawings for the new building.

Sid Kreger and Don Pitzen from Kerner Construction Company of Utica laid the cornerstone, sealing in behind it the metal box of historic and contemporary documents of Sashabaw church life. The box was prepared by Ronald C. Barry, a deacon of the church.

The new building is scheduled for completion in February at a cost of $127,000. It will have a large multi-purpose room for worship, study, dining and other activities, several permanent classrooms, a kitchen and offices.

Schools offer aid on school lunches

School officials in the Clarkston Area Schools announced a free and reduced price lunch policy for children in the area who are unable to pay the full price.

Funds for the assistance will be supplied by the Federal Government.

Family size and income scale will be the determining factor for eligibility. The scale is as follows:

Total family size (TFS) 1, Income Scale (IS) $2220; TFS 2, IS $2900; TFS 3, IS $3595; TFS 4, IS $4280; TFS 5, IS $4920; TFS 6, IS $5550; TFS 7, IS $6125; TFS 8, IS $6700; TFS 9, IS $7225; TFS 10, IS $7740; TFS 11, IS $8260; TFS 12, IS $8780; and each additional family member $520.

The school will take into account unusual circumstances such as illness or death in the family, temporary disability, seasonal unemployment, etc., in determining eligibility.

Families who qualify for the assistance are required to complete applications and return them to their building principal.

"The information provided on the application will be kept confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility," said Milford Mason, Administrative Assistant to the Superintendent.

"The policy provides that Mrs. Eleanor Sommers, Food Service Supervisor will review the applications and determine eligibility within 2 school days. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling handed down by Mrs. Sommers he may request, either orally or in writing, for a hearing to appeal the decision to Mr. George Barrie or myself at our administrative offices at 6389 Clarkston Road."

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of or discrimination against any student who is unable to pay the full cost of a lunch.

"A copy of our policy is on file at each school and at the administrative offices where it may be reviewed by any interested patron," said Mason.

Mrs. Sommers urged that parents have all children participate in the school lunch program whether they qualify for the assistance or not, to insure that they receive a well-balanced lunch each day.

Spiritual Message

Rev. Frank Z. Cozadd
"FEAR OF ACTION"

Action is a favorite American word. "No more talk - we want action." "Get where the action is." But what exactly does action mean?

Action is carried out by the words or deeds of men among men. It is the activity not of man but of men. It requires other people.

The chief characteristic of action is that it is the beginning of something new, the starting of a process or a chain of events. Birth is human action in a most fundamental sense - it is the beginning of something new.

Action is exposing yourself, showing your hand. It means leaving the privacy of your solitary labors, moving beyond those expected work relationships and saying or doing something about human affairs - the public realm - of that organization or community of which we are a part. It is "rocking the boat" of human relationships for good or ill. There is risk, uncertainty, and a note of pathos in action and this is the reason we "don't want to get involved."

This uncertainty is seen in two further characteristics of action: unpredictability and irreversibility. We don't know ultimately what the results of our words and deeds will be and we can't take them back once spoken or done. How often we say, "I wish I hadn't done..." or "I wish I hadn't said..."

It is no wonder we fear action, that cynicism and despair so easily make inroads in our minds and we flee to hobbies to bury ourselves in the routine necessities of existence. We have the freedom and the capacity for action, but we don't know what will result from our public words and deeds and we can't stop them once they're out.

Is the final meaning of action then uncertainty? Perhaps even futility? The remedy to futility and uncertainty is in action itself. Any chain of actions can be broken or altered by new action.

The miracle that saves the world from ruin is the birth of new men and the new beginning. Only the full experience of this capacity can bestow upon human affairs any faith and hope. It is this faith in and hope for the world that found perhaps its most glorious and most succinct expression in the few words with which the Gospels announced their "glad tidings": "A Child has been born unto us."

Everybody's gone back to school — and most of them are bicycle riders. After hours and weekends bike riding is so popular that it's almost replaced baseball as our national pastime!

Bike riding is fun, healthy and a vote for the ecology. When it's combined with the beautiful autumn season and picnics, it's even more appealing.

A picnic basket holds everything — either sandwich fillings and breads for a make-your-own sandwich kit or already-made sandwiches. French bread, scooped out and replaced with a luscious filling, can be cut into sandwich-size portions. Stored in covered, airtight containers, the portions stay fresh.

Stuffed Sandwiches

1 loaf French or rye bread, about 20 inches long, 3 inches in diameter
1 can (12 ounces) corned beef, chopped
1 cup finely shredded Swiss cheese
¾ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup drained sweet pickle relish
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons horseradish

Cut loaf of bread in-half lengthwise. Remove soft bread down the center to within 3/8 or ½ inch from crust. Tear bread removed into small crumbs; save 1 cup crumbs for filling. Combine corned beef, cheese, salad dressing, celery, pickle relish, mustard, horseradish and the 1 cup of reserved bread crumbs; mix well.

Fill bottom shell with corned beef mixture, rounding it up in center so it will fill well in top crust. Press top crust in place over filling. Wrap tightly in waxed paper or foil; chill 2 hours or overnight before serving. Cut into ¾ to 1 inch slices.

Pack 2 or 3 slices along with a package of relishes (radishes, pickles, olives or celery sticks). Makes 20 to 24 slices, about 6 servings.

Here's something else for a harvest meal.

Corned Beef Stuffed Potatoes

4 medium Russet potatoes
¼ cup butter
1 egg, beaten
1/3 cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
3 tablespoons finely chopped celery
1 cup diced, cooked corned beef

Wash potatoes and bake at 400 degrees 55 to 60 minutes, or until tender. Remove a lengthwise slice from each potato. Scoop out pulp and mash. Add remaining ingredients. Spoon mixture into potato shells. Return to oven for 10 minutes, or until piping hot. Serve with horseradish cream, made by combining ½ cup dairy sour cream and 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish. Makes 4 servings.

Cathy D. Joseph has become engaged to Terry G. Strong, according to an announcement made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Joseph of Cranberry Lake Road. The wedding date has been set for March 4, 1972. Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of Fair Haven, Michigan.

Cryosurgery

A knifeless and bloodless method of removing tonsils has been developed by California cryosurgeons, who use extremely low, controlled temperatures.

The procedure enables the patient to eat within a few hours, and to return to work on the third or fourth day after the tonsils have been removed. This is particularly helpful for singers and busy executives.

Cryosurgery is also being used for the removal of adenoids and allergic nose polyps (tiny growths), reports Dr. Hans von Leden of the University of Southern California School of Medicine.

He uses a "cryoprobe," a flexible metal tube attached to a supply of liquid nitrogen, that cools the tip to -180°C. This is applied directly to each tonsil in two places, with a total exposure of at least six minutes.

Patients experience little discomfort, Dr. von Leden said, and have stated that the sensation is like having an ice cube applied to the skin. However, some anesthesia is generally used.

There is a moderate swelling, which disappears within a couple of days, along with the greyish color that follows the freezing of tonsil tissue. These cells gradually slough off or are slowly absorbed, leaving healthy underlying tissue.

Draw to an inside straight

By Haslett Hemmor

Probable thing is I'm not what you'd call deep enough to appreciate modern art.

Only person I ever know that was what you'd call a modern artist was Sossman Drumard Thurmax. Sossman's real name was Luke Stubbs but when he started doing his paintings he signed 'em Sossman Drumard Thurmax. On what he called his miniatures — maybe 3 inches by 4 — there wasn't room for much else but that scrawling signature that Luke, now Sossman, was so all-fired proud of.

Now, even before he started his daubing in oils, old Luke was an out and out slob. When he decided that he should share his great natural artistic talent with the world, he just natural got more slobby! Guess maybe he figured it gave him more character to have smears of paint over his dirty shirt and pants.

Sort of big, particularly around the middle, so the bulge that flopped over his belt caught more than its share of the paint drippings.

Right from the start of launching his great artistic career, old Luke claimed that people came from near and far to buy his canvases.

Left for a week one time and when he came back he said he had just had a "highly successful one-man show in Chicago." Unfortunate for Luke, his older sister, Big Bess, let it slip that Luke had been over at Hillvale helping his cousin put up new fencing around his hog farm.

Slick Morton threw that up to Luke. Tells him in front of three of us that Big Bess let the cat out of the bag.

"Your baby sister tells me you been up to your Unk's slopping the hogs," Slick drawls and then turns to us with that sly wink of his.

For a minute Luke acts pretty flustered then barks out "Stopped by there to get a little local atmosphere for this here masterpiece," pointing to a mish-mash of purple and bilious green. "I call it 'Swirling Swine'."

"That supposed to look like a pig?" Slick asked him.

"Not like A pig. It's all pigs. Their dreams and hopes."

"Looks more like where pigs been than like pigs," Slick remarked to us, kind of giggling. "Don't think this here boy could draw water if he was dying of thirst. Reckon he's like the little five-year-old kid that sticks his fingers in messy water colors and slaps the paper wet to hear it squish. Somebody asks the kid what it is and one time he'll tell you 'fire-truck' and next time it's a 'turkey.' Me? I think these so-called modern artists like Luke here — pardon me, — like Sossman Drumard Thurmax here — paint goofy just 'cause they can't paint so anything looks like anything."

For a fact, I feel pretty sorry for Luke. Acts like he just got caught in the strawberry jam. Then he kind of brightens up, "Want to see my secret portrait of you, Slick?"

"Gosh" says Slick like he's awestruck, "You mean you immortalized me? Don't tell me. Let me guess. I'm a pink cloud with green chickenpox."

"Damn near," agrees Luke as he goes off to a side room to get the painting. "That's a pretty good analysis of yourself, Slick."

Comes back holding the face of the canvas to him and sets down his hog picture so's he can put this one up on the easel for us to see.

It's Slick all right. Weasel faced Slick with his sly grin and gold front tooth. Ears are bigger, maybe and eyes are even more squinty, but it's Slick, sure enough.

Old Slick gulps and near chokes. "Who's that supposed to be? Sure don't look nothin' like anyone I know."

"Really isn't supposed to be anyone," Luke says, low and kind of casual, "I call it 'Evil Fox'."

Meet oxford in opener

The Clarkston Wolves will kick off into the 1971-72 season in their game against the Oxford Wildcats on Friday, September 17.

Coach Paul Rakow announced his starting line-up for the game.

Rick Butler will start at center. Other linemen will be: guards, Brad Funk and Mel Johnson; tackles, David Foster and Bob Trim; Mike Pryomski and Bill Svetkoff will start at ends.

Mark Warren has been named starting quarterback with Bill Hamilton at fullback and Rod Latimer and Lyle Johnson at halfback.

"Our boys are big and well conditioned," said Rakow. "What we lack in experience will have to be overcome with team spirit."

"The non-league opener against Oxford will match us up against a big team. They have 5 players who tip the scale at over 200 pounds and one 6-foot, 5-inch player at 270 pounds.

"We start league play against Andover. Though they were champions last year, they lost a lot of starters at graduation and are playing under a new coach.

"In my opinion we will probably run into our toughest competition from strong teams like Waterford Kettering and Milford."

Game time Friday night is at 8 p.m. at Oxford.

Sec. 2.17. "Township" means Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan.

Sec. 2.18. "Zoning Ordinance" means the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance, being Ordinance No. 51.

ARTICLE 3: Prohibitions

Sec. 3.1. No person shall sell or offer for sale any parcel of land in the Township when said parcel does not meet all the requirements necessary for a buildable site.

Sec. 3.2. No person shall divide any parcel of land in the Township when as a result of said division any part thereof is not a buildable site.

Sec. 3.3. No person shall convey any parcel of land in the Township when said conveyance creates a parcel or part of land which is not a buildable site.

Sec. 3.4. No Township officer or employee shall accept any change in the tax rolls or other Township records of any nature which change results in the creation of a parcel of land which is not a buildable site.

Sec. 3.5. No Township officer or employee shall issue any building permits on parcels which are not buildable sites.

Sec. 3.6. No person shall execute as seller, agent or attorney for seller, real estate broker or real estate salesman, any document which conveys or offers to convey any parcel of land which is not a buildable site.

ARTICLE 4: Exceptions

Sec. 4.1. A listing agreement shall not be considered a violation hereof, whether or not said agreement contains a provision that said parcel is not a buildable site.

Sec. 4.2. A purchase agreement or offer to sell which contains the language, "this parcel is not a buildable site and the sale hereof is subject to approval by the Township Board of Appeals" shall not be considered a violation hereof.

Sec. 4.3. The Board of Appeals may upon proper application as provided for in the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance grant exceptions hereto, but said exceptions shall be subject to the following:

(a) Upon compliance with sub-paragraph (b) below, the sale of a non-buildable site or sites shall be permitted. Contemporaneous with the sale, a division of the land into non-buildable sites shall be permitted. However, no exception shall be considered which involves a division into parts more than two of which are parts which are not buildable sites.

(b) The parties seeking the exception under (a) above, shall provide the Board of Appeals with a deed or other conveyance to the Township which conveyance shall be in recordable form and shall be for the parts which are not buildable sites. Upon the granting of the exception the parties seeking the exception shall pay fees equal to the costs of recording said conveyance. Said deed or other conveyance shall contain the restriction:

"The parties hereto mutually agree that because of the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance the described parcel of land is not a buildable site, and that no structure may be built thereon except ancillary permitted structures, and further the parties agree to the placement of a restriction on the described property limiting construction on said property to those structures permitted by the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance. Said restriction shall be governed by the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance at the time of application for permit for construction and is thereby subject to any changes or amendments in said ordinance. The right to enforce this restriction is vested solely in Independence Township, and no other."

Upon the proper compliance with this Paragraph 4.3. (b) and Paragraph 4.3. (a), above, the parties seeking same shall be entitled to said exceptions as a matter of right.

(c) In those cases where the ownership of any parcel which is not a buildable site arose prior to the enactment of this ordinance, and where the owner of said parcel or his predecessor does not and did not at the time of enactment of this ordinance own any other parcel contiguous to said non-buildable site which would have made said site buildable, the Board of Appeals may, in its sole discretion, instruct the Township to issue a building permit for such non-buildable site, subject to such requirements and recommendations as the Board of Appeals may make, and the Board of Appeals may in addition and contemporaneous with the order issuing the building permit allow the sale of the non-buildable site. In those exceptions granted under this Paragraph 4.3. (c) the conveyance under 4.3. (b) need not be made, in the discretion of the Board of Appeals. Any building permit issued hereunder shall comply with all zoning requirements other than lot size or dimension.

(d) No exceptions shall be granted except in accordance with (a), (b) and (c) above.

ARTICLE 5: Brokers, Real Estate Salesmen, Presumptions

Sec. 5.1. Any real estate broker or real estate salesman who signs any purchase agreement or in any manner negotiates, for the sale of, sells or participates in the sale of any parcel without complying with the terms hereof, or otherwise participates in any violation hereof, shall be presumed to be personally liable hereunder, and the fact of a corporate employer shall be no defense, and each such broker or salesman shall be separately liable as a separate offender hereunder.

Sec. 5.2. Any presumption created by this ordinance shall be rebuttable by competent evidence.

ARTICLE 6: Severability

Sec. 6.1. Each section and each provision or requirement of any section of this ordinance shall be considered separable, and the invalidity of any portion of any ordinance shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other portion.

ARTICLE 7: Enforcement, Penalties, Separate Offenses

Sec. 7.1. The Township may enforce this ordinance by seeking restraint of violations hereof, both temporary and/or permanent, as well as seeking any other remedy in law or equity.

Sec. 7.2. Violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $500.00 and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment in the County Jail for a period not to exceed ninety (90) days or by both such fine, costs and imprisonment as may be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Sec. 7.3. A separate offense shall be deemed committed on each day during or on which a violation of this ordinance occurs or continues.

ARTICLE 8: Effective Date and Declaration

Sec. 8.1. This ordinance is hereby declared to have been adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Independence, Oakland County, Michigan, at a meeting thereof duly called and held on the 7th day of Sept., 1971, in order to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Win big

Mrs. Charles Bildstein of Wealthy Avenue, along with her husband, center, accepts the grand prize of the Labor Day Weekend, a color television set, from David Nadolsky, Jaycee President.

Rawley Hallman, right, and his wife accept the AM/FM radio that was their 2nd place prize at the Labor Day festivities in Clarkston. Terry Lopucki, raffle chairman, makes the presentation.

Mrs. F. Jones of N. Holcomb happily inspects her new Polaroid camera, third place prize at the local Labor Day celebration.

The Key to the Future is youth and the Women's Club combined the two and won first place among float entries. Third place was won by the Independence Township Athletic Boosters.

Confusing isn't it? The Ferris wheel background to the rocket framing of the Campfire Girls float only looked confusing on camera. The judges picked the float for second place in the Labor Day Parade.

A young Clarkstonite bravely meets the Cookie Monster at the Labor Day Carnival. The Monster is better known to his fellow Jaycees as Larry Appleton.

Everybody loves a parade

A musical interlude is provided by the Waterford Jaycees' band in the Labor Day parade.

Clarkston's Rotary Club added the "moon buggy."

The E. Nelson Kimballs' granddaughter, Maggie Morse, had a high parade post.

"My dog's bigger than your dog," said Chris Anthony of Buffalo Street after winning a "bigger than life" sized Snoopy from one of the concessions at the Labor Day Carnival.

The Brandon Historical Society drew attention to their efforts with this float.

Kelly Ford, 3, a mini-watcher along the parade route.

A heck of a parade, no dogs!

The "Fly me to the moon" theme was carried out on many floats, including this one carrying a clown.

Daughters see brothers

The Jobs Daughters of Clarkston Bethel 25 went to see the Osmond Brothers at Cobo Arena in Detroit on August 13.

Seven daughters left the Masonic Temple on Main Street at 6:00 p.m., even though the concert didn't start until 8:00. Associate Bethel Guardian, Russell Arnold and Director of Jr. Activities, Lonnie Moore, acted as chaperones.

The girls reported being delighted to be a part of the crowd there to see the Osmonds. "The boys were good, but you couldn't hear them for all that screaming," said Moore, of Clarkston. The girls reported enjoying the concert and hope to see the Osmonds again soon.

Milliken urges observance

The Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) announced that Governor William G. Milliken has issued a declaration of observance directing that all citizens of Michigan observe the 194th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The Declaration was signed on September 17, 1787.

Michigan citizens are urged to rededicate themselves to and reacquire themselves with the basic and fundamental tenets guaranteed by the Constitution.

Governor Milliken said, "I urge all citizens to observe this week with appropriate ceremonies in churches, schools and other suitable places in order that we all might become better aware of the rights and responsibilities of citizenship outlined in the United States Constitution."

Hey, look us over

by Jean Sura

"What in tarnation are you up to now?" my husband asked me last week. "I'm drilling a hole, can't you see?" I answered pertly.

"You're drilling a hole in that antique butter churn? I thought it was something priceless that you just couldn't do without. Are you going to put a spigot in or something?"

"Don't be smart," I answered. "I'm making some new lamps."

"New lamps?" he shook his head slowly. "What is wrong with the old ones? You just bought new shades for them."

"Those shades are for the new lamps. I just put them there temporarily because the old ones were so bad.

"Now I can't get this darn drill to work and we have company coming for the weekend."

"Glory be," said Gene (or something like that) "all these years we have been married and I thought you were more than just a pretty face and a sex symbol. You sound like your brain is scrambled."

"What have the lamps got to do with old friends coming for the weekend?"

So, carefully, I explained that Betz and Ken had never even seen our house before.

"The lamps look terrible," I explained. "By the way," I asked, "don't you think that these curtains look simply rotten?"

And what about that old chair? It died about five years ago.

"And just look at these sheets. How can I ask anyone to sleep on them? They were shower gifts when we were married and are all tattered and mended."

"I think I'll go and hit a few golf balls," he answered.

"I've always said," he yelled as he went out the door, "that we should entertain more often. I wouldn't mind if you got my Sox out of the dryer and put my shorts in the drawer in your wild scramble to look so darn tidy and respectable, but I veto setting up housekeeping all over again."

I got the last word by ignoring him.

"I may not be home when you get
