Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

You who read the "Morning Friendly Free Press" ... ever notice how it influences or dictates your mood as you start the day?

Screaming, disturbing headlines and stories make for a grim beginning for me.

Of late I've been able to leave the house with absolutely no concern for world, national or state affairs. Apparently, everything is hunky-dory.

When the lead story is the memoirs of Lyndon Baines Johnson, former President of the United States, I relax. I know that there has been no exposure of a mass spy ring, the Mafia hasn't been caught influencing officials, and the Lions are still a shoo-in for the Super Bowl, as proclaimed by writers since July.

Imagine ... what LBJ's thoughts were many years ago are front page news. Great!

News like that even gives me an earlier start on the day. I don't have to read what would ordinarily have been in that space.

I have the same break in my newspaper reading schedule when I see the auto companies being taken to task for not being truthful in their advertising. For Heaven's sake, did anyone really believe each and every claim?

I didn't read any of the government's complaints against the car mongers, but I hope the report informed us that the pretty girls seen in the ads didn't go with each model sold.

Now we take you to Persepolis, Iran and a 4-day bash to end all bashes. Costing $100 million.

I was happy to see our Vice President Spiro Agnew was able to meet with King Constantine of Greece and Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, otherwise he might not have been able to write off the trip.

I just hope Henry Ford II sold a Mustang or 2 so he and his Mrs. can justify their expenses to the internal revenue folks.

How many times has the passing of time made us break a vow? Never, but never, would I wear a pair of those cowboy boots; those above the ankle, buckle or zip jobs.

Fashion made me do it. I have a pair, and they don't feel too bad.

Some wise guy wanted me to write about one of his personal accomplishments last week, and I suggested that I'd be happy to write that and also his obituary.

Within earshot was his wife, who offered "Go ahead, but get his widow's name right and list her telephone number."

WORD PLAY - In Mrs. Lucy Lisabeth's 4th grade room at Andersonville Elementary the "witch" is for a happy Halloween. Mark Fowler leans on the big pumpkin while Lisa Vincent points out the intentional misspelling.

Oppose forced busing

Boycott, physical and paper, hit schools

Monday's school boycotts, both physical and ballot, in the Clarkston district would appear to support those opposed to forced busing of students.

The boycott here was intended to be by ballot only until Sunday. "We had to change our plans at the last minute," Mrs. Taylor Phillips, president of the Clarkston chapter of the National Action Group said.

There was a rally in Pontiac Sunday, headed by Mrs. Irene McCabe, president of NAG. Mrs. Phillips said a list of school incidents was read and Mrs. McCabe announced that there was a warrant out for her arrest.

With that, the move to drop the paper ballot boycott and go to a physical boycott apparently snowballed. "We couldn't do anything else but go along," Mrs. Phillips said. However, she said she was "opposed to physical boycott."

There was a telephone "fanout" to parents asking them to withhold their children from schools here, personal contacts and cars with posters sent through subdivisions pleading for absenteeism.

Their efforts brought school enrollment down considerably. Administrative assistant Milford Mason said there were "34% absent above normal. Normal is 8%. we had a low of 18% in Clarkston Elementary and a high of 50% in three schools, North Sashabaw, South Sashabaw and Sashabaw Junior High."

There were 45 more students absent during the October 1 boycott called by NAG than on Monday.

Superintendent L. F. Greene said, "This could possibly cost the district $30,000 by not meeting our quota." The state requires 70 percent attendance for 170 days of school. There are 179 possible in the scheduled school year.

The paper ballots went out last week to Clarkston students. Mrs. Phillips said she was quite disappointed in the manner they were distributed and with some teacher reaction.

She said, "The principals weren't informed (on handling the ballots) until our ladies got there." The ballots were placed on tables for students to pick up.

Ballots were made for each of the more than 6,000 students. 2,779 were returned to the schools. Several were not taken home.

26 of the 2,779 voted in favor of busing. 49 had other responses. The balance opposed forced busing.

Mrs. Phillips said the local NAG chapter is calling for members to attend the next Board of Education meeting to get answers to further questions.

(The News' last story said NAG sweat shirts were 50c. Actually, the profit is 50c. The shirts cost $2.50 and $3.)

Mail boxes are for mail- Postmaster

Clarkston Postmaster Ray Klein is insisting that U.S. mail boxes in this area be left for use of mail only.

He said the recent rash of material being put in or on mail boxes on Clarkston routes is against postal regulation.

"Nothing can be put in or on," the boxes, Klein said, "except through the service of their system."

The penalty is to charge at first class rates, 8 cents each, or second class, whatever rate applies. "If we can't collect it, we'll proceed to higher authorities," the postmaster said.

Mailmen are bringing the literature back to the office when they find it on boxes illegally.

Public hears both sides on protection

About 75 Independence residents turned out for the public information meeting on police protection or public safety.

They heard a SEMCOG official outline ways of obtaining public safety needs, a county official "offer" police protection to the township, and a former public safety director tell the advantages of a consolidated police-fire department.

Glen Leonard was the Southeast Michigan Council of Government official. His specialty is public safety. He said this approach is costly. "If you pay an officer $10,000 a year it will cost $50,000 a year to put one officer on the street 24 hours a day without a car or radio," he said.

He listed the same police protection possibilities as were in the township Police Study Committee's report... contract with county, form an Authority (which he recommended against), starting separate dept., and setting up an inter-government dept.

He also listed the functions of a police dept. He said they patrol, investigate, have a crime lab, have a communications system, and keep records, among other things.

Dan Murphy, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors, represented the county. Undersheriff Leo Hazen was also on the panel, representing the sheriff's dept.

Murphy opened with, "We are not asking" that you contract with the county for police service, "We are offering" police protection to the township.

He said it was precedent that the county provide protection to unincorporated areas, but that lack of money prohibits further protection without financial assistance from these areas.

The cost of one deputy is now $16,000 a year, including fringe benefits, he said.

Later supervisor Gary Stonerock pointed out that 4 county officers would cost the township just over the amount of money one mill will generate.

Murphy said the county would contract with townships at the $16,000 per man basis and for that the townships would be getting all other county services. These include investigators, cars, equipment, insurance and incidentals.

Comments by Stonerock on the public safety approach to protection will be published in next week's Clarkston News. His comments were given to the Independence Volunteer Firemen Sunday, Oct. 17.

William Weiss, former public safety director in Fraser, now a private businessman, spoke in favor of this approach to police-fire protection.

He said a fireman spends 1 percent of his time fighting fires. Paper work, equipment preparation, personal needs take the balance of his time.

A policeman is on duty 40 hours, he said, and it is to the advantage of the community to have him fire-trained, and ready for an emergency.

Weiss said, "He would know the basics of fire fighting, and be trained to follow advice from fire dept. officials."

"Separation of the departments in a community such as Independence is not in the best interest of the people, but if you hire a policeman you should train him as a fireman," Weiss commented.

During the question and answer period it was pointed out that a public safety dept. would not affect the present volunteer fire dept. "Iota." Except that the budget would be prepared by a public service director. Stonerock said, "We are getting a real good deal and service for our money right now."

Leonard said there was no plan for a regional police dept.

Richard Campbell, township attorney, also at the head table, said he felt the millage vote for police protection was a mandate from the people to establish a dept. "as soon as possible."

Stonerock pointed out that with the voted police-fire millages $129,467.00 would be available for a public safety dept., and that with the EEA grant providing 3 men the combined budget for the dept. would be $166,967.00 the next 2 years.

Sports vs books

By Jim Fitzgerald

After exhaustive study, 2 psychologists have reported that sports do not build character. Being a football star does not make Johnny a better person.

20,000 high school coaches just slit their jockstraps.

But I am laughing. I am remembering a basketball coach who was also a history teacher. He couldn't understand how I could be 6 foot tall and not want to play basketball. Every time he graded my history assignment, he subtracted 10% because I was a sissy and 15% because St Stephen High was in last place in the St Clair County League and it was all my fault.

He was 1 of those coaches who insisted Lincoln would never have been elected president if he hadn't been a little leaguer. World War 2 would be won on the West Point football field, he said, and France fell to Germany because French kids never learned how to play soccer.

If that coach is still alive today, he probably thinks the world's greatest sissies are Dr. Bruce Ogilvie and Dr. Thomas Tutko, psychology professors at San Jose State College in California. For 8 years they tested 15,000 athletes, worked with 27 professional teams and hundreds of high school and college teams. And they concluded there is nothing to support the traditional idea that sports build character.

"Indeed," they said, "there is evidence that athletic competition limits growth in some areas. Athletic competition has no more beneficial effects than intense endeavor in any other field."

So there, Coach. 30 years later, my judgement is vindicated by experts. I never could understand how running around in public in my underwear would make me editor of the New York Times.

It's not that I don't like sports. As a boy, I went to all the games and crawled around under the bleachers, looking for dropped money. That's how I became a fan. I still attend more games today than most normal men. I take my son along to pick up the money although I get half if I see it first.

The other day my mother came visiting and got her first look at the recreation room recently installed in my basement. Dear Old Mom remembers my hyper-relaxed boyhood better than anyone. She remembers when I delivered newspapers on foot and my dad looked out the window and swore he had to line me up with some trees to see whether I was moving.

"You have finally achieved your boyhood ambition," Mother said. "You have your own pool table and your own bar with running water and cold beer. I am so proud of you."

explained to me that it was shucks, really nothing. And I asked her if she had been worried, those many years ago, about a son who never went out for school sports.

"You were always sitting around the house reading," she remembered, "while the other boys were out playing ball. I asked you once if you thought you'd grow up to be a great man and you said you'd rather grow up to be a great reader."

Hmmm. I wonder if books build character? I don't remember any teacher ever saying so. I never won a letter for my sweater for reading. There were never any pretty cheerleaders chanting: "Go man, read that sentence, understand that paragraph. Rah rah."

"I'll bet you're glad I built my character with books instead of sports," I told Mother.

"You bet," she said. "All you ever read were comic books."

Wants to dump our failures on children

Busing is an extremely touchy issue. Few people can look at the problem logically. Most have highly emotional attitudes based on total alignment with either N-double-A-CP or N-single-A-G.

True, some blacks oppose wide-scale busing and some whites support it. That doesn't change the fact that people are lining up and yelling out for one side or the other. Taking a middle ground position only makes certain that you'll get caught in the cross fire.

School consolidations during the past twenty years have resulted in extensive busing. One by one the little neighborhood schools have been abandoned in favor of "modern facilities."

There was little opposition to this — just some occasional complaining about a share of the kids having to leave in the morning at seven and not being dropped off until six at night. But the opposition wasn't organized and it certainly wasn't violent.

Now there is discussion about inter-district and even inter-county busing. Waters are muddied even more by the unresolved question of whether or not real estate taxes will continue as one of the primary sources of revenue for public education.

Property owners ask why they should be burdened with oppressive local school taxes to support distant schools and expensive busing. Some educators are outspoken in protesting that long bus rides are not a "learning situation."

Many contend that busing to achieve racial balance will instead create conflicts which could not otherwise have arisen. We repeatedly hear the phrases "I have no personal prejudices, but —" and "when I was a kid one of my best friends was a colored boy."

No matter how it's sliced, some still believe that the primary issue is racial and there's no way to disguise it by pretending that concern is ONLY for the educational welfare of the youngsters.

We do doubt that true and lasting integration can be achieved by busing. We suspect that the violent attitudes of parents on both sides of the question will be reflected by violence in the schools.

But most of all, we believe it is deplorable to dump all of our failures in housing and other integration-oriented programs on the backs of school children, black or white.

Kutting Korners

Sauces and dressings can make or break many concoctions that we prepare.

Here are some recipes that may add something special to your file.

VERSATILE SALAD DRESSING

¼ cup milk
1 egg
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1½ tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon butter

Combine the milk, egg, vinegar, salt, sugar, flour and mustard in a small saucepan. Mix thoroughly. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 'til mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add butter, blending thoroughly. Refrigerate until ready to use. Makes about 1 cup.

For versatility, add chili sauce and chopped green pepper and it becomes a tasty thousand island dressing. Add sherry and you have an elegant Newburg sauce.

How about trying your own, homemade mayonnaise?

MAYONNAISE

2 uncooked egg yolks
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1/8 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
2 cups olive oil

Be sure that the proportion of oil used does not exceed one cup to 1 egg yolk, and that the oil be at a minimum (room) temperature of 70 degrees. If necessary warm the oil slightly.

Put egg yolks in mixing bowl and add dry seasonings. Beat well at medium speed. Add vinegar or lemon juice and beat for about 30 seconds. Without stopping beaters, begin to add the oil, drop by drop at first, and increasing to a thin steady stream, until the mixture is thickened and smoothly creamy. At this stage add 2 teaspoons boiling water, beating until well blended into the mayonnaise, to prevent separating during storage.

For a TARTARE sauce add 2 tablespoons chopped capers and 2 tablespoons chopped pickle to 1 cup of mayonnaise. Blend. Sliced stuffed olives may be added.

A sharp REMOULADE sauce can be made by adding 1 teaspoon hot mustard, 1 teaspoon anchovy paste and 1 teaspoon each (to taste) of cucumber relish, chopped capers and herbs.

For other variations, try making your own specialty. Try a little, taste a little but most of all use your imagination.

KUTTING KORNER KLUE:

When making egg custard pies, heat the milk to the boiling point before mixing it with the eggs. This will insure a crisp undercrust.

Demonstrating Macrame

The art of macrame will be demonstrated at the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, 47 Williams Street from 1 until 4 p.m. on Tuesday, October 26, by Mrs. James F. Nye.

Until recently macrame was almost a lost art. It goes back originally to 13th century Arabia and the word "macrame" comes from the Arabian "migramah," which means Oriental fringe and braid.

Spaniards learned the art from the Moors and spread it to Europe, possibly by the 14th century. Seamen used knotted arts for barter in the 15th century in India and China.

FAIRY GODMOTHERS — That's what these three gals will be in the high school's production Nov. 5 and 6. And the play has the likely title of "Three Fairy God-Mothers." The Godmothers try to make a mean princess sweet. Left is Julie Wilford who plays Hephsebah, seated is Nancy Hyde (Hortense) and Jan Lundy is Hoplandria. Shows are at 10:30 and 2 p.m. and tickets are 50c and 75c.

Take a girl who is an A student, active in her school, church and community and you almost certainly have a "teen of the week."

Katie King, 14, of 5651 Chickadee, does all the things mentioned and is the Teen of the Week, as named by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee.

Katie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert King, has an A average in Clarkston Junior High. She is also in the concert and pep bands. Besides that, she will be working on the school's year book.

Outside school she is in Today's Girl 4-H group, whose recent project was making and sending baby clothes to Korea.

The church she serves is the United Presbyterian in Drayton Plains. Katie also sews and takes piano lessons.

With her at home besides her parents are a brother, Gary and sister, Lisa.

'Never too late' in rehearsal by Players

The Clarkston Village Players are involved in rehearsals of "Never Too Late," the opening production of their eleventh season.

This comedy by Arthur Sumner Long deals with an unexpected visit from the stork to a staid, older couple who have a grown married daughter. The new arrival brings about many changes in the Lambert household and affects friends, neighbors and even the mayor.

"Never Too Late," under the direction of Mrs. Marie Luzi, is scheduled for November 5 and 6, and again the following weekend, November 12 and 13. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. at the Depot Theatre on White Lake Road in Clarkston.

"Never Too Late" will feature a newcomer portraying the bewildered mother-to-be. Mrs. Jean Hendricks comes to the Depot Theatre stage from two eastern little theatre groups, the Bergin County Players, Oradell, New Jersey and the North Country Players, Stamford, Connecticut.

Mrs. Hendrick has appeared in "Night Must Fall," "Rebecca," and she also has directed "Man in the Dog Suit." Cast opposite Mrs. Hendricks is veteran, John Witherup. Mr. Witherup will be remembered by former audiences for his fine direction of "The Late Christopher Bean."

Another new member of the cast is Mrs. Doris Libstaff portraying the constantly tearful daughter. Other cast members include Homer Biondi, Betty Richard, Pete Rose, Mike Crowley, Hugh Rose, and Ernest "Doc" Denne.

Tickets are available at the door or may be purchased at Dr. Ernest Denne's office. For Theatre party information, call 625-2140.

CEA News Award scholarship

By Ruth Montney

Linda Donker, daughter of William and Grace Dennis of 6985 Hubbard Rd., was the recipient of this year's CEA Scholarship. She is a freshman at Oakland University, planning to major in Spanish and to become a secondary teacher.

Scholarships may mean many things to many people: perhaps it's a large amount of money to pay for an entire college education - but more often it is a token amount that will help a family manage the expense.

In the case of the scholarship offered by the Clarkston Education Association, it is a check for $200.00 (or possibly two checks for $100.00 to two separate people) to be presented to an outstanding student who plans to prepare for the teaching profession.

Economic need may be a part of consideration - but when so small an amount is being considered, perhaps it is more important to think of the scholarship as the extra bit of encouragement to a student at times when the going may get a little rough.

Over the long haul of four years of study, there may be times when it becomes terribly important to remember that, somewhere, some special group believes in her, and in her ability to follow through to a finish that which she thought important to begin.

Linda graduated fifth in her Clarkston High School class this past June, with a grade point average of 3.81. She had been inducted into the National Honor Society as a junior. In the twelfth grade she worked as teacher's aide in the math department, and acted as a tutor.

This past summer she worked in the drug department of Federal's Department Store in Drayton Plains.

Linda is living at home with her parents and two older brothers. A third brother, in the service, is based in Virginia. She commutes to the campus for classes.

Roosters awarded

The "Exhausted Roosters" were given the Jaycee of the Month award this week by the Jaycees of Clarkston.

The "Roosters" are a group of former Jaycees who are over the age limit (35) for regular membership.

It was only the second time in the 10-year history of the group that anyone other than an individual has received the award.

The "Roosters" activities were reviewed, including the recent chicken barbecue where they helped cook 1,000 chickens.

Dinner at this monthly meeting, an Italian buffet supper, was served by the Jaycettes.

This group of women surprised the Jaycees with a gift marking their 10th anniversary. The Jaycees will officially celebrate this birthday in January.

The gift was a mimeograph machine.

Letters to the Editor

You, Mr. Sherman are wrong

Dear Editor:

In answer to Emergency Employment Act of 1971 you wrote from the Township Meeting of Oct. 19, in the Clarkston News on Oct. 21, that the deadline supposedly for filing for these EEA funds was Oct. 1, at 4 p.m. per supervisor Stonerock.

Then you go on and state the supervisor called and was told by Mr. Murphy that they (the county) had not received an application from the township and also that it was lost.

As per your quote, "This all took place before Oct. 12. At the Clarkston Council meeting Oct. 12 village president Richard Johnston said the county had called, urging them to get an application in for an EEA grant."

"The project was thoroughly discussed by the Council. In the end it was decided to fill out the application and ask for 2 men."

"The Village could apply 2 weeks after the deadline. The township's application was lost 2 weeks before that."

Now I would like to quote from the Clarkston News, Oct. 14, 1971, on page 19, heading, "Jobs offered by village." The Village of Clarkston announces that funds in the amount of $20,355 have been received under the EEA of 1971, and will be apportioned as follows:

Sub agent: Village of Clarkston to serve the area of the Village of Clarkston providing 2 jobs, $20,355. Richard C.

Johnson, Village President, Sept. 3, 1971. Job applications available, etc. beginning Oct. 16, 1971 for 2 street and general maintenance workers, pay range, $3.50 to $4.50 per hour.

Your dates don't jive:

Oct. 12 - Mr. Johnston received urgent call and at meeting that night council members decided to apply. Oct. 13 - The earliest that it could be typed and mailed. Oct. 14 - EEA monies received that Mr. Johnston applied for Sept. 3, 1971, in Clarkston News, not Oct. 12. Oct. 16 - Application being taken.

As per your quotes, Mr. Stonerock is right and you, Mr. Sherman are wrong. EEA fund was $76,280 to the township.

As for your so-called secret meeting that is being held Monday by the board, you should have went further and informed the public who called for it.

It wasn't Mr. Stonerock.

For the public interest they call these meetings "Executive board session."

If you people have any questions why don't you call your supervisor and ask him? Facts speak for themselves.

Sincerely,
Henry J. Brendle

P.S. We save our papers so we can always refer back.

Editor's note: The township grant came under a different Federal program than the village's, according to Mr. Murphy. J.A.S.

If you love God and hate brother, you lie

Dear Editor,

Any attempt to broaden the perspective of someone with "tunnel vision" is bound to fail. Yet there are times when it is inhuman not to try.

The October 14 letter from Orville Proctor, of Brown City, has done us all a distinct service in exposing once again the level of thought prevalent in pseudo-Christian circles such as the KKK.

That writer would have us believe that those who favor any contact between the race are the racists; that the factory assembly line is the proper place for immoral ideas; that the Roman Catholic Church is a far more violent and dangerous force for repression than the KKK; and that words like "dirty whites, fools, black buck," and "white punk" come from the pen of one who hates no man.

Really, Mr. Proctor. You should know better. In your voluminous reading of the Bible during those thirty diligent years, surely you must have come across Genesis 4:8-11 which describes for us the inevitable outcome of those who boldly declare they are not their brother's keeper.

Can it be you overlooked Galatians 6:2, which commands us to "bear one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ?"

Could I John 4:20 be missing from your authoritative version of scripture, where the apostle of love writes, "If any one says, 'I love God' and hates his brother, he is a liar, for he who does not love his brother whom he has seen cannot love God whom he has not seen."

The one measure of comfort I gained from Mr. Proctor's letter is that he obviously believes in a literal Hell and the possibility of eternal and individual damnation.

That being so, I welcome the coming of such a Day of Judgment, when each of us—including Mr. Proctor and his ilk—will each receive our just desserts in the great tradition of Matthew 25.

People of Clarkston: I suggest that you follow the words and lives of more faithful spokesmen for Jesus Christ, who appear in your own community, such as the writer of the meditation in that same October 14 issue of the Clarkston News... rather than self-proclaimed prophets who cry, "Wolf!" while in sheep's clothing.

My personal greetings and prayers to all of you.

A former Clarkstonite,
Arlon K. Stubbe, Pastor
Saron Lutheran Church
St. Joseph, Michigan 49085

P.S. If we're upset, imagine how Jesus must feel—who was neither a "black buck" nor a "white punk," but an olive-skinned Semite. From the sin of superior separatism, Good Lord, deliver us!

Busing not the issue, racism is-Ingrid

Dear Editor,

NAG members used our public schools to distribute their own survey on busing. This permission was obtained as a concession so they would not call a boycott.

The same group of neo-Nazis had our gutless, spineless elected officials all over the state pass resolutions against something yet to be decided by the courts.

Busing here is not the issue. Racism is. Our own state representative publicly advocated civil disobedience in promotion of today's boycott.

NAG supporters warn that we may lose our freedom! They are so engulfed by their racist fears they don't even know what freedom means.

The papers were distributed by the "nags," a practice both unethical and questionable in its legality. And, the promise of "no boycott" was broken just the same.

Let the George Wallaces, the Brooks Pattersons get their political publicity elsewhere, not at the expense of our children, nor by exploiting the emotions of mothers.

Every day the children have less than 70 percent attendance we must make up an extra school day or lose state money. Children must be carefully taught to hate. Prejudice doesn't come naturally.

On Veterans' Day let us remember the vast rows of white crosses stretching across European soil. These are the memorials to Americans who gave their all to fight a racist nation, and to do away with Nazism.

Black and white sons of this land today, right now, and my own son included, are fighting to uphold, supposedly, ideals of the American way of life in Vietnam. If they would die, could you NAGs justify it?

Years ago my father gave his life to fight racism and all evil systems elsewhere. I promise my children to do the same here if the need should arise.

Wake up apathetic, silent mass before a Wallace makes good on his prediction to ride to the White House on a yellow school bus issue.

I am writing to verify the truth

Dear Editor,

From experience, we should know truth is often hard to believe. This past week I have found skeptical those who should recognize true facts. I am writing to verify the truth, in our regard, of information written by L. C. Fletcher, as published in this column last week.

When a person leaves a job without official "lay-off" there is no compensation. The seasonal no work months in my husband's trade are close at hand. Would your family living proceed as usual with earnings of three or possibly four months' wages for a year?

Those who doubt various true statements put before them have only to check the proof when it is so readily offered. Be informed, not mis-informed.

I highly recommend attending the Township meetings (the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of the month). Township meetings tell!

To know what he's doing, call him

Dear Editor,

I read with interest your October 21 editorial about me and the other County Commissioners.

The headline "Pay Attention! County wants more" was very confusing. What or whom do you mean by "County?"

True, the appointed County Board of Auditors recommended that a levy of .08 mill for county drains at large be spread in addition to the 5.26 mills already allocated to the county by the Allocation Board.

These drains at large are drains that have county roads within the drainage district. The road right of way is assessed a portion of the expense of the drain the same as other property within the drainage district.

By law the county can assess millage, over and above what they get from the Allocation Board, to cover this expense.

I do not know where you got your information that the County Board of Commissioners was going to approve this. I talked with most of them and they were all upset because the Board of Auditors made this recommendation.

On October 18 the Finance Committee of the Board of Commissioners voted unanimously to not levy the .08 mills.

On October 21 the full Board of Commissioners voted unanimously to not levy the .08 mills.

This brings me to your other points, Mr. Editor. "Who is your commissioner? How does he vote? When did you see him last? When was the last time you heard from him or saw his name in print?"

What is the job of the newspaper, Mr. Editor? Mr. Webster says that a newspaper is a paper printed and distributed to convey news, advocate opinions, etc. He also says that a reporter is one who gathers news.

Mr. Editor, the county commission meetings and their committee meetings are open to the public. Also the minutes of those meetings are available for the asking.

Also, Mr. Editor, individual commissioners are available to answer questions or make explanations.

My business phone, Mr. Editor is 627-2820, my home phone is 627-2539.

I would have been happy to predict for you what was going to happen to the .08 mill.

I will meet with you or anyone else to discuss Oakland County, just give me a call.

Richard R. Wilcox
Oakland County Commissioner
District 23

similar remarks about the qualifications of the members of the village police department. At this time all of the members have attended a 10-week police academy with the exception of one officer who is now attending Oakland Community College.

Two of the supervisors on the village department are full time police officers in other communities. Each officer in the department attends various training programs offered throughout the county and within the department during the year.

The village police department is composed of men who care about the community they live in. These men are human and do make mistakes, as each one of us does.

There are 2 sides to each story and the village police department is trying hard to provide good public service to the community.

Your paper has made a lot of progress in year

Dear Editor:

I am glad to note that June Elert, a notorious Press reporter, reads your paper. My, my, how times have changed. Last year nobody read your "rag." Now seems that the reporter for the Press reads about it in your paper and then writes about it in her paper. Mr. Sherman, you and your paper have made a lot of progress in one year.

Recently, when she wrote about me, the Sheriff's Department and the prosecutor's office, her editor printed a retraction, and that took care of her three lies. In this news item of Oct. 25, she only told a lie and a half, so she is making progress.

She states, I came into politics two months ago, while trying to defeat HUD. (This makes a total of 2 1/2 lies).

The way June found me was brilliant.

She put blank papers in an envelope, tip-toed to the Post Office and mailed the letter certified. Such hanky-panky you never saw.

My pre-school grandchildren do things like this, but then, everyone regardless of age should be allowed to do their thing. Now, the return address that was used is as follows: 6290 S. Main, Clarkston. Now, I don't know whether the S before Main means Saile or South.

Now, if June don't like this letter, why don't she get the attorney that Stonerock used to get his raise? After the people had turned it down nearly half a dozen times.

Sincerely,
The old man that

Village police respond to recent charges

Dear Editor,

A former councilman felt that his son had been harassed this summer in connection with the new Ordinance 64. The former councilman also felt that his older son had been mistreated in years past.

The two sons have a total of 8 reported police contacts since 3-19-71. Out of the 8, 6 could have been arrest contacts, one was a traffic violation and the last was a suspicious circumstance situation. There is a difference between being in violation of the law and being harassed.

The new ordinance deals with loitering and loitering does and can occur at all hours of the day or night. The ordinance is basically the same as other communities' and in the village case it has been effective in slowing the use and sale of narcotics in the village area.

It has also cut down on the outsiders who have been coming to the community for illegal purposes. The ordinance has assisted the merchants of the village by cutting down on the one-time constant loitering in and about their business places.

The ordinance has had a definite effect on the nightly free-for-alls that took place in the Village Parking Lot.

It is not the intention of the village police to "run all the kids off the street."

It is not the intention of the village police to arrest or write a violation on every police contact. It is the intention of the village police to do the following:

1. Operate under the law using common sense and good judgment.
2. Protect the citizens of the community.
3. Continue to work with the youth groups of the community.
4. Issue violations and make arrests on those individuals who after being duly warned and advised cannot comply with the law.

Mud bath

Lakers swamp Wolves, 22-0

By Craig Moore
The Clarkson Wolves seem to attract the rain, or is it the rain seems to attract the Wolves? No matter which, the Wolves have been plagued by rain the most important two games in the season. The rains fell in the first half of the Clarkson-Kettering game, and the drizzle came back to haunt the Wolves in their 22-0 loss to West Bloomfield's Lakers last Friday.

By the first quarter's end, the playing field transformed to a mud puddle and West Bloomfield had an 8-0 advantage.

An early break came for the Wolves when a Clarkson punt was fumbled by Laker Lee McLeod. Clarkson's Tim Hinkley pounced on the fumble on the West Bloomfield 22 yard line. But in three plays, the Wolves had moved the ball only 2 yards. On fourth down, Bruce Soulbly made a field goal bid which was far from the goal posts.

West Bloomfield quickly took command. On the second play, Tom Keckenon went right up the middle for an 80-yard run to a Laker score. The extra point run was good and the Lakers led 8-0.

West Bloomfield scored again in the second half. McLeod pulled in a 32-yard touchdown pass from West Bloomfield quarterback Bob Kovalic. At the half the Lakers were ahead 14-0.

Clarkson quarterback Mark Warren did a fine job passing the muddy, wet ball, completing 9 of 21 passes for 100 yards, but Clarkson's second half goal line drives were all foiled by an interception or a penalty.

Rain fell the entire game but that didn't seem to bother West Bloomfield, who again scored in the fourth quarter, this time on a 21 yard pass from Kovalic to Carey. The extra point run was good and so the West Bloomfield Lakers swamped the Clarkson Wolves, 22-0.

This loss gives Clarkson a 2-2 league record and 2-4 on the season tally.

West Bloomfield totaled 224 yards on the muddy ground and the Wolves only 50.

Coach Rakow stated, "We just weren't ready to play."

Friday, October 29 is Dad's Night and the Clarkson Wolves will host the Milford Redskins.

Coach Rakow said, "Let's hope we have a dry night."

The opening kick-off is at 8:00 p.m.

Medicine chest

Any first-aid instructions for poisoning should start with "keep calm" and "act promptly." Call your doctor at once, tell him what happened, and the name of the product involved. Or take the poisoned person to the nearest doctor's office or hospital emergency room. Take along the container involved.

If you can't get instructions from a doctor, make the patient vomit. Keep his mouth open with a spoon handle; place him face down, with his head lower than his hips; and tickle the back of his throat with your finger. If he doesn't vomit, have him drink two glasses of water, or give 1/3 ounce of syrup of ipecac.

Don't force vomiting if the patient is unconscious, in a coma, or is having convulsions. Nor if he has swallowed a substance that burns the mouth or throat, such as lye or bleach. Nor if he has swallowed a kerosene product, like lighter fluid or paint thinner.

Of course, prevention is better yet. Keep all drugs and household chemicals out of the children's reach. Store medicines separately from food items. Store non-edible (or dangerous) products on high shelves.

Keep all products in their original containers; never re-use containers of chemical substances. Read labels before using any chemical product.

Always turn on the light when giving or taking medicine. Don't leave discarded medicines where children or pets can get at them. Clean out your medicine cabinet every once in a while, flushing old medicines down the drain, rinsing out the container and then discarding it. Don't pretend that medicine is candy.

Wolves take own Invitational, end 13th in State

Through the chill and mist Clarkston High's golfers played to a 13th place finish in the Class A state finals in Midland Saturday.

The team that won the regional play at Atlas Valley the week before with a 329, shot 339 Sat.

Lee Booker, the sophomore who had a hole in one last week, tied for low on the team with Bil Bildstein with 81. Tony Sanchez had an 88 and Kirk Hart an 89.

West Bloomfield won the meet. It was the first time for Clarkston to qualify a team for this meet.

In the Clarkston High invitational at Waterford Hill golf course Friday Clarkston came in first among the 16 teams. The meet was played under rain conditions.

The Invitational team was Lee Booker who shot a 73, Sanchez with a 78, Don Short with 83 and Ken Johnson, who finished with 80.

Benefit drives

Young people from Independence Township churches will be asking for money Sunday afternoon for UNICEF. This is a United Nations agency serving the world's children.

Children from cooperating churches will start from the United Methodist Church at 2 p.m.

The same day Clarkston Jaycees will be canvassing the township for various wrappers and labels. Manufacturers of some products have offered to give money to UNICEF for returned wrappers.

If this picture could have been printed in color the poster area in the background would have a lot of autumn and pumpkin orange. It's a display in Miss Sally Lindeman's 5th grade room at Andersonville School.

Touch down twins

In a light but steady rain last Thursday, Clarkston Junior High's 9th grade football team defeated West Hills Junior High, 18 to 8, to pick up their 3rd victory of the year.

The rain bothered both teams with fumbles and numerous dropped passes. However, the Wolverines did gain 267 yards on the ground.

They were led by identical twins Gary and Jerry Molina. Gary picked up 73 yards and one touchdown, and brother Jerry carried the ball 2 times for 83 yards and 2 touchdowns.

The Wolverines had another shutout in the making, having stopped West Hills twice from scoring inside the 10 yard line, until the final 4 minutes of the game when West Hills scored their only touchdown.

Wolverines' remaining Schedule:
Wed., Oct. 26 - Home - 7 p.m.
Wed., Nov. 3 - Home - 7 p.m.
Wed., Nov. 10 - Home, 7 p.m.

In compliance with Section 616 of Act No. 269 of Public Acts of 1955, as added, and Section 14 of Act 287 of Public Acts of 1964 as added and amended together as mandated by the State Board of Education, the Clarkston School Board reports as follows:

The School District of Clarkston Community Schools owns four hundred and fourteen acres located in the District as follows:

On these sites are located one High School, two Junior High Schools and six Elementary Schools containing 277 classrooms together with special rooms and auxiliary facilities.

In the school year of 1970-71, 6630 students attended these schools and the District employed 514 persons on full or part-time basis, 288 of these employees were classroom teachers who received $3,271,336 for their teaching services.

In addition to the instructional buildings, there is an administration building, a student service center, vehicle service garage, a grounds maintenance building and two small warehouses.

The Northwest Vocational Center which services the four school areas of Holly, Brandon, Waterford and Clarkston is located in the Clarkston District and operated by the Clarkston Schools.

The following is a comparative report of the operating revenues and expenditures for the years 1969-70 and 1970-71.

The original 1970-71 budget was approved in the amount of $5,201,647.00. Following the tax allocation board decision, the original budget was reduced to $4,972,349.00. The State of Michigan, subsequently, reduced its guaranteed State Aid allowance, as a result of Michigan's general fund cash shortage. The State Supreme Court also ruled that school supplies, formerly purchased by students, now had to be provided by the school district without charge.

These events caused the school district to once again reduce its budget to $4,817,375.00 which necessitated a reduction in planned services in excess of $384,000.00 from its original program.

Some of the curtailments resulted in increased pupil/teacher ratios, reducing instrumental music from fifth and sixth grades in Elementary to sixth grade only, and making High School band extra curricular in classification. No permanent substitute teachers were employed, field trips were eliminated, custodial, secretarial, administrative staffs were reduced, and expenditures for supplies were reduced in lieu of being increased as enrollments warranted.

The two year enrollment comparison is as follows:

	1969-70	1970-71
Elementary	3780	3731
Secondary	2705	2899
Total	6485	6630

The total 1970-71 staff of employees was distributed as follows:

Principals & Assistants	14

Teachers	288
Custodians & Supervisor	40

Adult Education	7
Garage Mechanics	4

Bus Fleet & other Vehicles	300,000
Land (414,288 acres)	828,576
Total	18,855,481

Although professional and nonprofessional contracts for the year 1971-72 have not, as yet, been completed, it is believed that the Clarkston School District can carry out the program for the 1971-72 year in the black and without further reduction in program or personnel.

CLARKSTON JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Many visible and major improvements were made this summer. New ceilings and corridor lighting were installed in Clarkston Junior High School in compliance with Underwriters and Fire Marshal's request. In addition, new lighting fixtures were installed in the gymnasium and the building was painted throughout. The adjacent parking lot and driveways were black topped and the tennis courts were resurfaced and the cafeteria was refurbished.

SASHABAW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Sashabaw Junior High received four new multiple color tennis courts that were located south of the building in order that they might be more accessible to the elementary schools and to the public.

CLARKSTON SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The High School tennis courts were resurfaced, the track relined and the driveway repaired.

BAILEY LAKE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Bailey Lake School driveways were redone and playground equipment reset. At Clarkston Elementary, Andersonville Elementary, and Pine Knob Elementary Schools exit lights were installed and auxiliary emergency lighting will be installed in both Junior High Schools and the High School to comply with demands of Insurance Underwriters.

Some of the not so visible improvements are the changing of the high school schedule from a dual program of 8 45-minute periods in some areas and 6 60-minute periods in others to a single program schedule of 7 50-minute periods. The introduction of an updated Social Studies series in all elementary grades and a variation in the reporting student progress to parents. This year in grade three, a written report will be sent home four times a year with a copy being placed in the student's CA-60. No letter grades will be given. Before the first report is sent home a conference will be scheduled with each parent. The teacher will go over the goals and subject matter to be covered for the year with the parents at this conference. Parents will also be notified, by letter, whenever their child is doing unsatisfactory work with the teacher giving suggestions as to what could be done to help the child and making themselves available for a conference if the parent desires.

Littered lot may be Township responsibility

In a letter to the editor in this paper last week, the writer asked people to visit Woodhull Lake area and view property that "is the responsibility of George Woody, 4753 Circle Lane," at Woodhull.

Woody is president of the Woodhull Lake Property Owners' Association. The property in question belongs to the association, Woody said.

The writer said the area was littered. Woody acknowledged that the lot wasn't clean and said, "I assume my responsibility. However, I also feel it is part of the responsibility of all the people in Woodhull, and that all the people in the township have some responsibility to see that anti-littering laws are enforced."

He said he was one of 14 members in the Association.

Woody also pointed out that this particular property was taken over by the township during the "waterless" days last year, and that the township had agreed to clean up the lot.

This is born out in a letter from the township clerk to this newspaper. It reads:

"In response to your question regarding the use of a 'park lot' extending from Lakeview south to Woodhull Lake and situated between lot 21 and 22 of Woodhull Lake Sub., please be advised as follows:

"At the time the Township installed an emergency water supply line to homes of that area who were temporarily out of water, the line, installed by the Township ended at this 'park lot' and water flushed from this supply line ran over this 'park lot' to the lake.

"There was an effort after the line was removed to fill and grade the lot through the generosity of Mr. Al Valentine who dumped many yards of fill at another site within the Sub. The 'park lot' was never completely filled or graded as the initial efforts apparently broke down.

"My personal opinion is that the Township remains somewhat responsible for the correction or upgrading of this 'park lot.'

Howard Altman"

Stretch and sew for Woman's Club

A Stretch and Sew Fashion Show is the program to be presented at the Clarkston Community Women's Club October meeting. Club members will act as models following a demonstration from the Stretch and Sew Store on Opydyke Rd.

The Women's Club will be meeting in the home economics area of Sashabaw Junior High. The club welcomes all area women to view the demonstration and enjoy an evening getting to know club members.

PIES FOR BOOKS — It is hoped this unlikely combination will turn into help for Indian children in Baraga Township Schools. The Clarkston Jaycees are staging the home made pie sale on the lawn of the State Bank at 4 p.m. Friday. Proceeds go for postage on sending the books north. The books were collected last year by Mrs. Terry Thomas' 5th graders at Clarkston Elementary. In the picture are Sean Robinson and Ann Glover.

On dress parade

By Haslett Hemmor

Don't remember that I ever talked to any man who enjoyed "helping" his wife shop for clothes.

Wouldn't ever tell her so but my ever-loving is an exceptional wife in many ways. Effie is pretty darned efficient about most things like housekeeping and all.

Comes to shopping for clothes, though, she's a dawdler. Can't come out of a dress shop without touching everything in the place at least once.

Like when she decided she needed a new bathrobe. There's no question in her mind about exactly what she's going to buy. Knows the size, of course, and it must be terry cloth, lime colored, machine washable and no buttons. If the shop doesn't have that, precisely, she'll go someplace else — AFTER she has checked out the place item by item from top to bottom.

While I fuss and stew and suggest that as long as the shop doesn't have what she wants we might as well go some place else — she just "humphs" at me and goes on eyeballing the merchandise, piece by piece.

Like she'll go up and down a dress rack and pull out a flowered purple dress.

"Terrible color," she'll say, shaking her head, "wouldn't be caught dead in a dress like that."

"Heavens no," she'll snort, still pulling out this one and that, "certainly wouldn't buy one of these rags if I did need a dress. The prices they get for absolute trash. The prices they get."

"So why bother to check 'em?" I ask her. "Why waste the time looking 'em all over like you were taking a complete inventory?"

"Isn't this one a darb? Tag says it's a size 16 but there's enough of this shoddy material in it for a circus tent."

"Let's get going, Eff. They told you when you came in that they didn't carry robes. They suggested you try the Virginia Shop. Let's go there."

"Maude might like this one, she has such atrocious taste. Twenty-two ninety-five. Can you imagine."

"Eff, every time that dum dressing room door opens, some dame glares at me like I've been peeking. Want I should wait in the car?"

"So don't look that way. Look up toward the front of the store."

"Then I couldn't see what wonderful treasures you're finding to grouse about. Why don't we just go, Eff, the two salesladies been hearing how you run down their goodies. You're about as popular as I am, here."

"If they don't want customers they should lock up the door. Ought to close up anyway if this is all they have to display."

"We've been here over an hour and you're only half way through the store. Want to take a few pot-shots at the winter coats, Eff?"

"Just be patient, dear," she purrs at me, "We'll get to the winter coats. Aren't they awful?"

"How should I know? All I'm sure of is that you won't walk out of here until you've touched everything but the light fixtures and file cabinets."

"Might just have a good look at them, too. Wonder who ever thought that painting those file cabinets pink would be attractive."

That's the way it always goes when Eff gets inside a dress shop. Thing is, though, she tells her women friends how terrible I am about shopping and they all agree that men are not only impatient but not very bright. Never will understand the female of the species.

Spiritual Message

The Rev. Alexander T. Stewart

"... to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints..."
I Corinthians 1:7

Have you ever heard or used the expression, "This is a red letter day in my life?" Perhaps you have wondered exactly what it meant.

On the calendar of the Christian year, the Church always used red to call attention to the days commemorating great personages in its history, particularly the Apostles who had been martyred for the Faith and the red alluded to their blood which had been shed in the cause of Christ and His Church. We are reminded that the blood of the martyrs has been the seed of the Church.

Today is such a red letter day on the Church calendar, commemorating the Apostles St. Simon and St. Jude. While it might seem just so much past history and unimportant as far as most people are concerned, nevertheless, the courage and devotion of these men should not easily be cast aside for we could learn much from their examples.

In a day when "How to..." books enjoy such wide spread popularity, we would do well to learn how to be a saint, also. Not one of the plaster variety but like those of red blood who weren't afraid to stand up for what they believed.

It is interesting to note that the word "saint" has come to be reserved for a few persons who were outstanding examples of Christian living and courage, but in the early Church, as evidenced by the above text, it was a common term, applied to all believers in Christ.

We are all "called to be saints." While we may never be remembered with a "red letter" day on the calendar, we still have a duty and call to allegiance to God in Christ, no less than those who have thus been commemorated.
