By Jim Sherman

NOTICE: I know you believe you understand what you think I said, but I am not sure you realize that what you heard is not what I meant.

That statement fits in the case of a couple instances we've been involved in of late. The times, places and people were different, but their organizations and remarks were the same.

Our reporter was told, "I hope you took down what I said, exactly as I said it." This reporter showed the speaker the notes she had taken.

Then came the statement... "You know, that's what I said but it doesn't look like what I meant it to say."

And when we printed it we were criticized for not writing what they meant to say, though they admitted the facts were right.

The amount of land taken up by expanding highways came vividly to mind this week with the announcement of an interchange in Novi and Farmington areas.

This one interchange will take 633 acres. Needless to say, it will be the largest in the state. It will link I-96, I-696, M-102 (which isn't there yet), and M-275, which isn't there yet, either.

Readers should ignore classified ads which promise about making money at home, even if they appear in this paper. We screen most of them, even those who pay in advance.

There is no way that readers can make baby booties or anything else and make money of any amount, quickly, at home. The booties are "never up to our standards" or something, and the sucker has paid $5 for the bootie-making manual.

It's a buyer-beware world regardless of rules and regulations. People who respond to training-school ads very often are cruelly deceived. They think they are going to get this "big job," but find after they have completed a mimeographed correspondence course that there is no job at all.

We spent a weekend in Quebec recently, of which you will hear much more later if you wish, and had a few splendid meals.

However, the greatest service and meal came on the way home. We stayed overnight at a Four Season motel in Belleville, Ontario. That's a town of about 30,000 a hundred miles east of Toronto.

The place is built on the edge of a landfill and bay, but who cares after dark. The dining room was

NAG questions Board policy

Approximately 60 people, parent members of the National Action Group (NAG), parents, teachers, school administrators and students attended the November 8 meeting of the Clarkston Board of Education.

Spokesman for the NAG, Mrs. Joan Phillips, expressed displeasure over the lack of cooperation by some teachers and principals in the recent distribution of questionnaires concerning school busing.

The members of NAG also questioned the decision of the Board in refusing to permit their group to use school buildings for meetings.

Dr. L. F. Greene, Superintendent, pointed out that the Board had established the policy, requiring large groups to provide liability insurance, to protect the people and the district against damaging and costly law suits.

The problem arose recently when NAG was unable to obtain necessary insurance coverage for their proposed meeting.

Mrs. Phillips reported that one insurance agent had explained the reasons for not being able to underwrite the group was that their meetings would bring out large crowds. He said that while the company wasn't worried about the behavior of the NAG group they did feel concern about the actions of outside influences.

David Leak, Board Member, responded to the charge that other schools in the area provided insurance coverage.

"We already carry $5 million dollars liability insurance. More insurance would cost more, take school monies that are scarce. I don't think this is an immediate, tangible fight," he said. "Our Board and the County Association of School Boards is keeping in close contact with the busing situation. We have firms of attorneys counseling us."

Mrs. Phillips asked the Board if they would make a resolution, taking a stand on the busing situation.

Acting as spokesman, Dr. Greene said, "The Board of Education has taken the position that they are a corporate body, carrying out the laws as they presently exist." He continued, "The Board must follow state mandates. To take a position on future events would not be a service to the community."

When asked if they would express their personal opinions on the matter, Greene recommended that board members do so after the meeting was adjourned so the personal opinions would not be interpreted as those of the entire group.

Mike Daniels, a member of the High School Student Government, presented a request asking the Board to accept 4 elected student advisors to sit with the Board, and hold the right of an ex-officio vote.

The suggestion will be reviewed and Board President Weber promised an early answer.

High School Principal William Dennis, Junior High Principal Mel Vaara and Assistant Junior High Principal Gus Birtsas presented the results of studies made in the secondary buildings concerning educational goals and needs.

Their findings underlined the specific need for remedial reading programs, curriculum coordinators and counselors. Mr. Dennis pointed out that the high school would probably surpass its projected student capacity next year. Physical shortcomings due to the age of the building were indicated, primarily at the Clarkston Junior High, and the study showed the need for incorporating new electives into the curriculum.

Coach Paul Rakow's letter of resignation as varsity football coach was read. With comments from the Board and Dr. Greene about how hard Rakow had worked to achieve his goals, the resignation was accepted.

Rakow stated that problems developing during this season and his lack of success during the past 3 years motivated his actions.

He stated that he would like to retain his teaching status.

My wife found the onion soup had a touch too much cheese, but there were no complaints on anything else. I recommend it very highly. It's undoubtedly the best dinner and service I've ever had.

I can hear you critics now: "What can you expect from a guy who is used to eating at Burger King?"

Lewis E. Wint, left, 5929 S. Main, and Raymond J. Koskela, 6013 Princess, received the 32nd Degree in Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Nov. 6 at the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Receive high Masonic degree

Lewis E. Wint and Raymond J. Koskela were among a class of 325 Masons living in the 11 counties of Southeastern Michigan, who received the 32nd Degree Scottish Rite of Free Masonry. Detroit has a membership of nearly 20,000.

The principal benevolence of Scottish Rite is its research program into the cause and cure of schizophrenia, a form of mental illness.

Speaker on the final day of the four-day reunion, Nov. 6, was the Illustrious Donald L. Witter, 33rd Degree, of Montreal, Sovereign Grand Commander, Scottish Rite, for the Dominion of Canada.

Youth group survey area need

The Clarkston Youth Assistance Committee sent 24 children from the Clarkston Schools to camp during the past summer. The children, who were selected from names submitted by school teachers, principals and counselors, were from financially deprived families or needed and could benefit from social experience.

"The Youth Assistance Committee works on a year 'round basis to raise funds to underwrite the expense of assisting area youths," said Mrs. Doris Pidd. "During the past year we have held a rummage sale (Treasures and Trash), and a candy bar school dance. We have also received donations from PTAs, clubs and other community organizations to assist us in our efforts."

County roads to get $7.4 million in aid

Michigan's 83 counties will get $7,450,378 in federal aid in fiscal 1972-73 for work on county roads, the State Highway Commission reports. Oakland County's share is $363,388.

The sum is the counties' 66 percent share of $11,288,452 allocated to Michigan for improvements to secondary roads. The Commission will spend 1 1/2 percent of the remaining $3,838,074 on planning and research and the rest on the state highways not on the Interstate freeway or primary system.

Division of the money among the counties is based on a formula that gives equal weight to each county's population, land area and county road mileage.

Presently, the group is making a community survey which will provide guidelines for future activities. The survey would determine what recreational and school facilities are presently available and point out areas where help or assistance might be needed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ritter are the new young proprietors of the Town Shop on Clarkston's Main Street. The shop was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams who have owned and operated it for the past 17 years. Mr. Ritter was formerly employed by Hughes, Hatcher and Suffrin. Future plans at the Town Shop include remodeling the building which will be underway soon, and the incorporation of many new lines of merchandise. The couple and their 2 children live on the Dixie Highway.

With a big bang

Start new business

Intrigue, confusion, panic and excitement greeted Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ritter in their first weekend as proprietors of the Town Shop, a clothing store on Clarkston's Main Street.

A young man ran into Ronk's Barber Shop around noon on Saturday yelling, "There is a hold-up going on down in the Town Shop. I heard a man say, 'Put your hands up.'"

Ronk got the Oakland County Sheriff on the line. They took the report and told him to hold on.

Just then another man walked in the shop. "I'm with the Michigan State Police. We have just arrested a man for allegedly selling stolen merchandise." He flashed his credentials.

Further investigation revealed that a man, representing himself as a salesman, had offered to sell Ritter some imported gloves at a low price on Friday.

Ritter said, "I wasn't in the store at the time but talked to him on the phone. I even asked him if they were hot."

"It was a coincidence that I remembered when I worked for a clothing store in Detroit, one of my fellow workers had mentioned to me that 750 pairs of gloves had been stolen from the dock. They were expensive gloves."

"I agreed over the phone to take 500 pair. The salesman said he couldn't wait for me but he would come back in the morning.

Ritter said that he was sure the man would never show up, but just in case, had called his former employer, David Lavine. Lavine, he reported, notified the Michigan State Police.

As a result, a stake-out was organized and the officers waited all Saturday morning.

"We had just about given up," said Ritter, "when the phone rang. It was the same fellow. He apologized that he had overslept but would be in shortly."

"We all had lunch and then got back to watch. When he arrived we were ready and waiting. With the assistance of Dick Levine from the prosecutor's office, I agreed to buy all the gloves he had."

"When he brought the merchandise into the store the officers made the arrest. Unfortunately, my brother didn't know what was going on but heard the officer tell the salesman to put his hands up. That's when he went for help."

Herman Kline, 42, of Ecorse was arrested on the charges of possession of stolen property. He was arraigned before Judge Gerald McNally and $1,000 bond was set.

It was an exciting way to start a new business venture. Ritter, who lives with his wife and 2 children on Dixie Highway just purchased the Town Shop from Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams. The Williams have run the business for the past 17 years.

Letters to the Editor

Police may be a guys best friend

Dear Editor,

I have just read the letter from the dear, sensitive person who calls himself Al. I am writing this letter because I am eighteen and want to let the people know we're not all like him. His opinion of Jack McCall stinks. But his opinion of anybody in a blue suit would be the same.

Al, I have to agree with you, this is a filthy world. We have bad air and water. We're running out of room. People are trying to make room by building apartments, trailer parks, etc. A lot of people don't care what happens, but there are many more that do. The government tries, but they can't do the jobs themselves. They need people like you to help them.

My luck is with me, mainly because I have never met you. In my mind I picture you as a long-haired type - totally against the establishment.

It is really too bad you can't find a job. The man you go to see is most likely old fashioned to your ways. So face it, get a hair cut, some clean clothes and you might get a job.

As for these fat old toads not worrying about 'Nam - talk to them, see how many fought in World War II and Korea. A lot of them fought and died for people like you.

So you worry about going to Vietnam to murder innocent people. South Vietnam is a friend and communist powers are trying to take over their system of democratic government. If someone tried to kill your friend, would you turn your back or run to Officer McCall for help? My brother fought in Vietnam for 3 years and he has seen plenty of people get killed and he was proud to help that country. In the process, he left part of his right hand over there. If he could go back he would.

I am very glad 18-year-olds have the right to vote. But I wonder what would happen if you and your friends take over this town, all of you flying higher than kites. Your type of people are incapable of taking over or controlling anything.

So you're young, sensitive and you despise the rich old toads. Well, stupid, some rich old toads are getting rich off guys like you who are buying the pills and joints that you smoke.

These old toads had problems when they were our age, but they didn't try to create their own world by using drugs. They used hands, brains and a lot of guts.

One of these days, Al, you will be lying in the street half dead from an overdose of drugs and then, buddy, let's see who tries to save your life. It might be good old Jack McCall, the watch.

Love,

E-I Hosler, USAF

P.S. If you need a job, try the Army or the Marines. If you're lucky you might get sent to Vietnam. I wish you the best of luck!

Admires courage of dissenter

Dear Editor,

Recent letters printed in the Clarkston News concerning the busing issue have, unfortunately, been rife with emotion, fear-mongering, childish and illogical rebuttal and, I sense, a racial hatred of a subtle but lingering and destructive nature. It is my hope this letter will contribute reason and calmness in helping to defuse the dangerous innuendoes which are now flying in the wind because of the busing controversy.

It can be immediately said that all those opposed to busing to achieve racial balance are nearly 17½ years late with their movement. On May 17, 1954, the United States Supreme Court declared as law of the land in Brown Vs. Board of Education that "segregation of children in public schools solely on the basis of race, even though the physical facilities and other 'tangible' factors may be equal, deprives the children of the minority group of equal educational opportunities."

Did those who are now opposed to busing think this decision would only apply to the South? Did they not think the ultimate product of this decision would involve children and school buses?

If Mrs. McCabe and the National Action Group are actually concerned about their freedoms and rights, why then have they waited 17 years to act? Perhaps a more important question is, "If all men are created equal, and are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, among these life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, then how can the National Action Group be not racist and still be against all busing?" Are not all children, black and white, entitled to good schools, good teachers, good neighborhoods, etc.?

I write this letter not to defend Mrs. Smith but rather to the fact that no one in this town, but her, has had the courage to stand up for what they believe contrary to the goals and beliefs of those opposed to busing. It has been quite easy for a mob such as NAG to gang up on a lone dissenter such as Mrs. Smith and attempt to verbally berate and ostracize her in the press.

Furthermore, were it not for her, the blatant one-sidedness of this issue would make a mockery of democracy and the intimidation of this one-sidedness would smell of racism.

I say to the National Action Group and all others, if men, both black and white, are dying in Vietnam to preserve our freedom here, not just freedom for the majority but for the minority, too, then let's work for true brotherhood and not racial alienation.

Sincerely,
Mark Denis Hood

Warns to walk carefully

Dear Editor:

The United States is a REPUBLIC - a representative check and balance government. America was set up to save her people from intemperate mob rule. Men like Peps, Law and Anderson are using you, if you don't know it for political security only. If they don't appear to be on your side, a strong third party would wipe them out in 1972.

Let us hope that 33 other states will hesitate to pass similar resolutions, which would call for a constitutional convention and could change our whole form of government. This frightening possibility is overlooked by many over the animosity created by some.

At the present time many individuals waste their time peddling petitions against Sen. Hart, when in fact, according to our constitution and tradition, only members of the U.S. Senate can impeach one of its members.

Keep cool and our great constitution and tradition will stand up against the extremists of either left or right. America is now and always can be a land of hope for a better tomorrow for all of her people.

Love, honor and grease

By Jim Fitzgerald

The boys at the car wash are making out with my sex symbol. But I don't care. Just so long as they don't sue me for any social diseases they might catch.

A Delaware professor, Dr George Basalla, gained national publicity recently when he declared that fast cars are replacing women as sex symbols.

Dr Basalla, who has done extensive research with plenty of pit stops, says men generate "a highly emotional and erotic relationship" with their cars. The doctor reads sexual connotations into such terms as "hot rod, Body by Fisher and bosoms of the bumper."

The Sunday ritual of washing and waxing the car also has sexual significance, he says, representing "the male caressing his mechanical mistress with balm and oils." (That sounds so sexy, maybe the boys at the car wash should pay me.)

I've never cared much for cars. In 21 years of driving, I've owned only five. As long as the car I now own gets me where I'm going in reasonable comfort, I see no reason to trade for a new one. Some of my fondest enemies are car salesmen. They have long regarded me as un-American, even subversive. Now, thanks to Dr Basalla, they probably think I'm queer, too.

How come I'm not having a hot affair with my Oldsmobile? I never pet it or even fondle the bosom of the bumper. The awful truth is, I don't have any more affection for my car than I do for my lawn mower.

If I were looking for a mechanical mistress, I'd probably start making suggestive moves toward the refrigerator. But really, anything with moving parts turns me off. If I ever go steady with an appliance, it will probably be a can opener.

I have never understood why men fall in love with cars. I used to think the Indianapolis 500 race, 'round and 'round they go, was the all-time dumbest sports event. But then someone invented drag racing. Grown men spend all day Sunday roaring down a short stretch of blacktop, competing to see who can make the most noise and waste the most rubber. Incredible.

I know a man who was so romantically attached to his car, he could not bear to part with it, even when it began falling apart. Instead of selling the parts for junk, he sent for a priest and buried the car in his backyard.

Bucket seats and stick shifts prove Dr Basalla is right. Healthy young Joe Crankshaft will insist on buckets so he can sit zoomy, like Mario Andretti. And Joe wants that stick hard beside him, so he can grab the power and thrust it forward, wham, the second the light turns green. Which means Joe's girl can't cuddle up to him unless she straddles metal and risks embarrassing involvement if not serious injury.

Now I ask you: When a young man prefers hard steel to soft flesh, this country can stop worrying about the population explosion. But there are greater worries. To each his own, but I am not raising my son to marry a Chevrolet. Not even if he can get Ralph Nader to give the bride away.

Don't tell my wife I said so, but there is still something about a girl, even when the warranty runs out.

Tamara Trese, a senior at Brandon High School was crowned Junior Miss by the Ortonville Jaycees. With her in her moment of triumph are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Trese. The family lives on Oakhill Road in Clarkston.

Letters to the editor

Please write

Dear Editor,

I sent a letter to my congressman in Washington. I did so to protect a freedom of choice as to what public school, elementary or secondary, I can send my children.

Amendment 620, now in the House of Representatives, will put busing on a more voluntary basis, but the committee chairman, Congressman Emanuel Cellars, age 82, from New York's 10th district, Brooklyn, has buried amendment 620.

In order to overpower the chairman and get the amendment on the floor for a vote, it is necessary to have 219 congressmen sign a petition requesting it; therefore, a flood of mail to your congressman is necessary to let your views be known.

If citizens agree that we should maintain this freedom and are willing to work just a little to protect it, they should help to get this amendment passed. All that is necessary is to write a letter to each of their congressmen requesting their support, then they should write to as many people as possible, in or out of state, asking their support.

Forced busing leaves us with one less freedom and weakens our Democratic foundation which is our children.

PLEASE WRITE!

Very truly yours,
Clarkston Chapter of NAG

P.S. The heart of the amendment reads

Church changes pace

Beginning this Sunday, Nov. 14, the members at Calvary Lutheran Church in Clarkston will begin several new worship experiences, according to Ed Bey, the congregation's vice president.

At 8 a.m. each week, an informal spoken Communion service will be shared with no music, but with a dialogue sermon. Also, as at regular Communion worship on the first Sunday of each month, children will accompany their parents to the altar for a Baptismal blessing.

Harvey Schroeder, Christian Education

chairman, announced that Sunday Church School will begin at 9:15 a.m. instead of 9:30 to avoid the traffic congestion that has developed.

At the 10:30 a.m. service, Pastor Robert Walters will have a special "sermon," really an informal conversation with all the younger members of the congregation, beginning with a series on the Lutheran worship service. "I'm not sure what it means, but many adults say they get more out of these sermons than the regular ones!" commented Pastor Walters.

Sashabaw Jr-Hi News

By Ron Fraley

The Sashabaw Cougars' football record fell to 1 win and 6 losses on Nov. 4 when they lost to Milford by a score of 26-0. Even in losing, the team displayed an improved defense against the Milford team that had scored 50 points in the previous week.

The team and the whole student body are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the re-match against arch rival Clarkston Junior High on Nov. 10.

A bonfire will be held on the evening preceding the game to raise the spirit of the team and hopefully, to inspire them for a big win. Music and skits will be part of the activities.

The Halloween dance, which was sponsored by the student government, was considered a success. The wide acceptance and good behavior has encouraged the group to plan more dances throughout the school year.

NO SNOWMOBILING signs available at the Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St.

A car wash is scheduled for Nov. 13. Funds raised will be used to help pay for the camera that is being used by the music department.

Bowlers! The bowling league needs subs. See Mr. Saggo.

Kutting Korners

CASSEROLES

Casseroles, which represent economical fare, often are time-consuming to prepare. But most casseroles can be prepared when time is not elemental and frozen for later serving.

With the busy holiday weeks upcoming, it is a good idea to bake casseroles now for holiday entertaining.

There are a few tips that are helpful when freezing casseroles. First, choose a shallow casserole dish. Frozen food takes longer to thaw and reheat when it is thick.

Line the dish with heavy-duty foil before filling with food. If it is baked, cool it, then cover with foil and place in the freezer. When firm, lift out the foil-wrapped block of food, make sure it is tightly sealed and labeled, then return to the freezer.

This way the casserole dish is free for another use. To serve the food, fit it back into the original dish for reheating.

Frozen casseroles have best flavor if used within two months.

When possible, make two casseroles at one time. Use one immediately and freeze the other.

OLIVE HAMBURGER PIE

1 pound ground beef chuck, ½ cup chopped onion, 3 tbsps. flour, 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 3 tbsps. catsup, ½ cup sliced pimento-stuffed olives, 9-inch unbaked pastry shell, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, 1 cup creamed cottage cheese, Paprika (optional), Sliced pimento-stuffed olives.

In skillet brown beef and onion; drain off any excess fat. Stir in flour, salt, pepper, catsup and ½ cup olives. Spoon into pastry shell.

Mix together eggs and cottage cheese; pour over meat mixture. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until top is lightly browned and set. Garnish with sliced olives. (Makes 9-inch pie - 4 to 6 servings.)

CHICKEN AND MUSHROOM CASSEROLE

3 broiler-fryer chickens cut in serving pieces, 3 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 10 tbsps. butter or margarine, 12 small white onions, peeled, 1 pound mushrooms, sliced, ¾ cup flour, 1 quart chicken broth (canned), 1 pint half-and-half cream, ¾ tsp. dried tarragon, 1 can (4 oz.) pimento, drained and diced.

Remove fat from chicken, rinse and pat dry with paper towels. Sprinkle pieces with salt and pepper. Heat ½ cup butter in large skillet. Add chicken, about a quart at a time and brown lightly on both sides. Remove as browned and divide between two 3-quart casseroles lined with heavy-duty aluminum foil. Add onions to skillet and cook, stirring occasionally until browned. Remove and place in casseroles. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons butter in skillet. Add mushrooms and brown lightly, about 5 minutes. Divide between casseroles. Blend flour into drippings in skillet. Stir in chicken broth and half-and-half. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in tarragon and pimento. Pour over mixture in casseroles.

Cover casseroles loosely with aluminum foil and bake in 325-degree oven 1 hour until chicken is tender. Serve one, cool and freeze the second. To serve the second return foil-wrapped food to original casserole, reheat in 325-degree oven 1 hour or until chicken can be pierced with a fork. Remove foil cover during last 15 minutes. (2 casseroles, 6 servings each.)

If you are a when you get up in the morning bather, try scrubbing your feet before you climb into bed at night. Scrubbing feet with a brush and hot soapsuds stirs up circulation in the whole body. This will make you feel better all over and you will sleep better, too. Try it tonight!

Met' announces

1972 program

The Metropolitan Opera will present seven operas at the Masonic Temple Auditorium in Detroit, from May 29 to June 3, 1972, as follows: Verdi's "Otello," Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro," ("The Marriage of Figaro"), Gounod's "Faust," Beethoven's "Fidelio," Verdi's "La Traviata," Puccini's "La Boheme," and Donizetti's "La Fille du Regiment" ("The Daughter of the Regiment").

As in past seasons, the opening night will be a benefit performance, from which the beneficiaries, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Inc., and the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts, will receive the excess above established prices for approximately two-thirds of the main-floor seats. The donation portion of opening night ticket prices is deductible for Federal Income Tax purposes.

Chiefs first year is successful

By Ken Wolven
Under the lights last Saturday night, the Independence Township Chiefs concluded a highly successful initial season as a member of the Suburban Midget Football Conference.

The Walled Lake Eagles played host to the Chiefs at the Walled Lake Central High School football field.

With near-freezing temperatures and the scent of snow in the air, the 3-unit Chiefs did not allow the Eagles to score a single point in winning 2 games while tying the third.

In the freshman game, the offensive and defensive units of the Chiefs proved to be equally great in a 19-0 victory.

In a great defensive standoff, the junior varsity squads battled to a 0-0 tie.

In the finale for the evening, the varsity won by the score of 12-0.

At their first annual banquet, the Independence Township Athletic Association will honor the members of the 3-unit team of the Chiefs, the cheerleaders, and the parents of both groups. The banquet will take place Thursday (today), Nov. 11, at Mason Junior High.

Joan and Bob Pearson are co-chairmen for this event. Paul Rakow, Clarkston varsity football coach, and Jim Larkin, Waterford Kettering varsity football coach, will be the speakers for the evening.

County commissioners consider recycling.

At the recent Public Works Committee meeting, Oakland County Commissioners decided to seek support from local heads of government for a county operated recycling center to handle trash glass. The proposed glass receiving and transfer center would be located at the former Public Works office at 550 S. Telegraph. The center would accept glass from ecology groups such as Independence Township's Bottles for Building or governmental bodies.

A preliminary feasibility study conducted by the county calculated that the center must receive between 65 and 100 tons of trash glass per week to be self supporting. The glass would be sent to the Owens Illinois Glass Co. in Charlotte, Michigan for recycling. The glass company would pay the county $20 a ton. Some money would be returned to the ecology groups or local government.

The county has been working on the center since the proposal was presented by Mrs. Carolyn Place and various glass recycling groups on Aug. 12, 1971.

On Nov. 16, the Commissioners are calling a meeting of all local heads of government in the 60 municipalities and townships within Oakland County to seek their support. The Public Works committee chairman, Bernard Lennon seemed enthusiastic about the prospects of a cooperative study venture with local ecology groups.

Flyers shot down by Warren team

The Clarkston Flyer Hockey team lost their opener of the season to a flashy Warren team by a score of 3 to 1.

The Flyers are entered in the Juvenile B Division of the Southeast Michigan Hockey Association.

Kirk Hart scored the only goal for the Flyers and the assist was credited to Mike Tossey. Mike Jewell showed good potential as goalie under the pressure of the Warren team's attack.

The Clarkston Flyers will serve a benefit spaghetti dinner from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Independence Township Hall on November 12. Donations of $1.75 for adults and $1 for children will be asked.

X-rays

You may have been reading alarming reports about the "hazards of x-ray," and wondering just how dangerous it will be for you to follow your doctor's or dentist's advice when he asks you to have an x-ray taken.

"There is no conclusive proof that radiation exposures at low levels have caused injury to humans," reports the American College of Radiology. Like aspirin or sunshine, x-rays can be beneficial in controlled and limited amounts—and harmful if used to excess.

Fortunately, the radiologist who is called on to take a "picture of your bones," is a well-educated specialist who has completed medical school before studying x-ray techniques. They expose their patients to as little radiation as possible, using modern equipment designed to reduce exposure.

As in many fields of medicine, you have to weigh the benefits against the possible danger. Million of lives have been saved through the use of x-ray to make a diagnosis, and most doctors agree it is one of the most effective tools in medicine and dentistry.

Part of the recent clamor over x-rays has resulted from doctors reminding one another to observe precautions that have been observed for decades. Those warnings have been picked up and magnified to the point where we actually have people with "x-ray phobia." Which is not what the doctor ordered.

Tests also will be offered between 7 and 9 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday that week.

Persons who take the test are urged to eat starchy foods two hours before coming to the hospital, then not eat, drink or smoke during that two hours. Bread, donuts, potatoes and candy are among the recommended foods to eat.

Hospital laboratory personnel will draw blood samples and run the tests. Red Cross volunteers will assist in filling out necessary identification and registration forms.

Youth groups join forces

Two of the area's active youth groups participated in social events recently. On Oct. 30 the DeMolays from Cedar Chapter and the Jobs Daughters of Bethel No. 25 of Clarkston attended a Halloween party held at the Masonic Temple and on Nov. 5 the two groups went on a hayride at Upland Hills Farm.

Before leaving for the party the DeMolays held a "new prospect" party at the Temple. They showed a movie on DeMolay for young men and then had a discussion to acquaint prospective members of DeMolay with the functions and activities of the Order. Several new young men indicated their intention of joining DeMolay as a result of the meeting.

On November 7, the two groups attended church together. They were represented by about 25 people and the visitation was to observe the memory and pay tribute to Frank S. Land, the founder of the Order of DeMolay.

On Saturday, Nov. 6, Tudor ApMadoc was installed as Marshal at the State Priory Conclave held at Lansing.

The next DeMolay meeting is scheduled for Nov. 17 and the next Job's meeting will be Nov. 22, both at 7 p.m. at the Clarkston Masonic Temple.

THE RENEWED MIND

Victor Ernest says, "The mind is the command post of action." He goes on to suggest that the mind is the headquarters that is surrounded by the enemy. This is backed up by Paul's affirmation that "the weapons of our warfare (Christian) are not those made by man; they are God's mighty weapons to break down the devil's strongholds; casting down imaginations, and every wall that can be built to keep men from finding Him, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ."

Ernest continues to say that "a person's thoughts are like people who populate a community: friendly, contentious, kind, malicious, virtuous, evil, virile, cowardly, optimistic, cynical. We prosper in a pure mental neighborhood and wither in a foul one. And we can choose our mental neighborhood! God through Paul said, "Fix your thoughts on what is true and good and right. Think about things that are pure and lovely, and dwell on the fine, good things in others. Think about all you can praise God for, and be glad about it."

Our minds can be renewed: "Be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, -" by knowing Christ, by depending on Him as the one who renews your minds and thoughts.

Weary bodies and tired minds are signals to be careful. Christ's man cannot function at peak performance when overtired. Our weariness generally comes from our involvement in the every day concerns of, and overattention to the world or materialistic emphases. Paul said to Timothy, "no man entangleth himself with the affairs of this life, -" as Christ's true soldier, or as Jesus said, "Man shall not live by bread alone."

Strengthen yourself by reading God's Word, inspirational books, and spend time relaxing with good music, sharing in wholesome fellowship with friends, relaxing in recreational activities and discovering a hobby. But don't forget! Thank God for His goodness - and for renewing your mind with His thoughts.

Letters to the Editor

Coach's resignation not the answer

Dear Editor,

This letter is written in regard to the resignation of head coach Rakow.

This resignation will undoubtedly make some of the so-called "backers" of Clarkston athletics quite happy. But these people are in for a great disappointment if they expect the Wolves to turn into instant winners now that Rakow has resigned.

Vince Lombardi could have been head coach at Clarkston for the last few years, with no better results.

I hope eventually people realize that it's not the coaching staff that is a bunch of losers, but the players themselves.

I wish these people knew how much coach Rakow has tried to mold a winner at Clarkston.

He has tried everything possible to motivate Clarkston athletes into a winning attitude. But this is almost an impossible task. The majority of Clarkston athletes just aren't winners mentally. They haven't been for the last few years and without the mental winning spirit, physical attributes are useless.

If the athletes at Clarkston this year and of the past were half as devoted as Rakow, championships at Clarkston might not be so hard to come by.

I think it should be the athletes who resign and not Rakow.

A two year member of the Wolves,
Kurt Richardson

Thinks Al's confused

Dear Editor:

I have just read Al Ventimiglia's letter and I think he's confused about a few things.

1. No society can survive without rules and regulations, not for the law abiders, but for the lawless.

2. You may have your drugs, but it makes it easier to handle and control you. You self-righteous punks nauseate law abiding people.

3. Your vote threat has made no big inroads anywhere. And, I relish the thought of you spineless punks pushing the "old toads" and "puppet pigs" until the time they will make you pay your dues.

You always talk about me and my group. Have any of you tried to do anything as individuals? "No way." You have never learned to stand up and be counted, but your time is approaching too.

Vandalism in groups at night is the work of sick, immature adolescents, not of intelligent 18-year-old voters who must chart the course of a great country.

"Love,"
Thomas Miller

Needs help

Dear Editor,

I am a Sgt. in the U.S. Army, stationed in Korea. My unit supports the BOLAME ORPHANAGE which consists of 100 kids, aged birth to 14. These kids are in dire need of clothing, used or new, and could also use small toys, new or used.

We would like to help these kids have an enjoyable Christmas, so we are extending a plea for a little help for these children. If anyone is interested in donating they could send a package addressed: BOLAME ORPHANAGE, care of Sgt. James L. June 366-42-9089; 1st Military Mail Term; A.P.O. San Francisco, California 96571.

We sure would appreciate any help we can get. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Sgt. James L. June
U.S. Army

P.S. For any further information you could contact my sister, Sally Halsey, 6074 S. Main, Clarkston. 625-4057.

Suspects governor's tactics

Dear Editor,

In regard to Governor William G. Milliken's speech, I'm glad to hear that he is opposed to busing, but I detest a political overtone to it and wonder how sincere he is.

He also mentioned school tax and wants to flip us a two-headed coin with him calling heads. We all know that school tax on our property is unjust, which is a strong point in his favor. With this he will try to deceive us into voting away our last tax right. He wants to remove the school tax from our property in the disguise of an unjust and unequal taxation, and he is right in stating so. After removing the school tax, the property tax will go down and be less of a burden. But, it will have to be made up in some other way, such as a bigger state income or other such tax. We can also vote millage for additional expenses.

But here is what he is not telling you. When you turn it over to the state you will have to dance to their tune to pay the high tax, even if you feel that you cannot afford it. As it stands now, you can vote down millage. Remember the state income tax and what you were paying in the beginning and what you are now paying? They didn't ask your opinion when they raised it. They want you to trust your politicians and let them decide what is good for you. Remember the recreational bond issue, when Governor Milliken pulled a double-cross on the 70-30 percent deal?

What Governor Milliken wants is for you to give up your last freedom to vote on a tax (school millage) and when the state gets hold and raises the tax it will be so high that you couldn't, or wouldn't dare vote a millage that he offers for additional expenses.

He knows that he will get what he wants, if the people don't vote right, he will push his and Attorney General Kelly's suit stating that the school property tax is unconstitutional. You know how the courts will decide!

Now you know why the tax is a two headed coin in Governor Milliken's favor. As for me, if it comes on the ballot, I will vote against it because I won't give the politician a shield to hide behind and say that the people of Michigan voted for it. Let them take it away in the courts and let the truth be seen.

Sincerely,
Henry S. Watson

Dear Editor,

In Thursday's paper Jim's Jottings made me think of all the mistakes I make each day in raising the big 4; Al V's letter made me sick; "If it Fitz" made me weep. Then I turned the pages to find you were home from your trip.

I am delighted.

M. A.

Letters from Marquerite

by Marquerite Slater

Dear Jeanie,

Here I am basking in the professional love of the Mayo Clinic while you and Gene are flitting all over Europe. Every second person I know is either going to Europe or the hospital this year, yet I'm betting we all made the right choice for our summer's adventure.

I always figured a pit stop at the Indianapolis 500 was the ultimate in expert replacement of parts; well, let me tell you, this place has all that beat 40 ways from Sunday.

You know if that little hangnail is still bothering you, use it as an excuse to get up here and really enjoy the comfort of the care by these experts.

Hotel living is a part of one's trip to this medical center both before and after one's hospital stay. Such consideration by the hotel staff and friendliness of other guests is really worth experiencing.

I thought if Gene doesn't like being dragged all over Europe and decides to divorce you, I'll try to bring you back at least a Maharajah or a footloose movie star to ease your heartbreak. They seem to all pass through here sooner or later. Today while waiting for an appointment, I was very close to two East Indian couples. One of the husbands was Doctor Somebody and he was the sick one but seemed to be doing all right as his wife and the other gal were simply gorgeous. Their saris were elegant. Except for one leather thong their feet were bare and showed at least two toe rings on each foot. But the fascinating thing to me was the fair sized diamond set in the flesh of the left nostril. Later I was told that upon reaching the age when ears must be pierced, a girl is also adorned with a gem set in her face. I enjoyed them so much my appointment came along all too soon.

One evening after dinner, my brother and I decided to sit in the hotel lobby a few minutes and eavesdrop on an apparent hot argument between two old dowagers. One was saying, "Well, my dear, Tampa is most certainly on the West coast. My husband and I go there every winter." The other old girl practically shouted, "You are too confused for me to argue with, but let me ask you if you ever heard of a Tampa, California?" At that, another old girl came to their rescue with, "Mrs. Joslyn means Tampa is on the West coast of Florida — not the West coast of the United States." After some mumbling to each other, four of them decided to take a short walk before "going up."

I heard Danny Kaye is here now for his checkup but I haven't seen him. I've been hoping Johnny Carson would return for something, but no such luck. All old ladies, they say, are in love with Johnny.

Send the Clarkston News to a service man.

but I'm only in love with the wonderful guy who so successfully gave me a new "total hip." No more pain, Jeanie and so I'm now a strong believer in miracles.

When we both get home from our adventures, come over and tell me all about the castles and the wonderful wines and I'll tell you about the Bird Bath Daiquiris these healthy convalescents enjoy here.

HIP! HIP! HURRY!

Your old friend,
Marguerite

Jean's Jettings

by Jean Sura

It took three months of argument and pleading, and two buckets of tears to make my husband keep his promise and take me to Europe. And that's not mentioning the bandaids to patch up my slashed wrists.

The clincher was a canceled check for several hundred dollars, the deposit I had mailed to the travel agent.

"Don't worry," I said, "there is a money-back guarantee if we can't make it."

"Sure there is a money back guarantee," he snarled. "A full refund will be paid in the event that the nation is ravished by an epidemic of the bubonic plague, your maternal grandmother was a siamese twin, connected at the brain, or you deliver septuplets less than seven minutes before take-off time."

"Don't you ever read the fine print?"

"Sure do," I smirked.

So we were off.

"That's a pretty busy looking itinerary," said Gene, drowning an olive and shrugging out of his seat belt. "Which part of it does our trip cover?"

"Oh, we see it all," I grinned, "nine countries and twenty-eight cities in twenty-two days."

He groaned.

In just exactly the time it takes a 747 plane to cross the Atlantic Ocean we were in England.

"Cheerio, old Bean," I said.

"What's the name of this place?"

"It's the Salisbury Hotel," I answered brightly. "We're in London."

"Looks more like the Hamburger Hilton to me," said Gene, ducking to avoid hitting his head on the sloping ceiling.

"Just look at all the chimney pots," I enthused. "I feel like Mary Poppins."

"Well, don't get too close to the window, Mary. I may be tempted," he said, "and you forgot your umbrella. By the way - where is the plumbing?"

"Down the hall," I started to say.

I was spared his explosion by a loud knock on the door.

An irate Irishman named Murphy steamed into the room trailing his docile wife in his wake.

"That woman," he stuttered, "that woman, honey-talked me into this." He was waving his arms wildly. "Our room is in a cellar, the plumbing is in the hall; there's no ice, no room service and the bar doesn't open until four o'clock.

"Know what she just had the nerve to tell me? She said that all you need," his voice went falsetto, "all you need is a sense of humor. - A sense of humor!"

He slapped his hand to his head and collapsed on the bed.

As the three of us stood and watched him, horrified as the leg of the bed folded under his weight and the mattress settled the floor.

Murphy looked like a captain going down on his floundering ship.

For a moment it was quiet, then suddenly we all started to laugh. Thank heaven, those two men found their sense of humor.

"Let's head for Picadilly Circus. There should be some action there. Anyway, we didn't come to Europe to sit in a hotel room. Let's see the sights."

We were off on our first adventure. While our meeting didn't come about just exactly like that - we did meet the Murphys, fun companions for the next twenty-one days.

Fenton zips Wolves

By Craig Moore

Clarkston's Wolves, in a non-league game, last Friday, Nov. 5 were dazzled by the Fenton Tigers, 25-0.

Although Clarkston had two excellent opportunities to score, Fenton held both times. In the first quarter, the Wolves drove 44 yards to the Fenton 4 yard line, but failed to send a man across the goal line in two plays. Clarkston had the ball on the Fenton 15 as a result of a short Fenton punt, but the Tigers again prevented a score.

Fenton made its move in the second quarter, when Tiger Bill Wilson kicked a 22-yard field goal, aided by the strong winds at his back. Two minutes later, Fenton's Mike Legualt ran across from 4 yards out.

With only 9 seconds remaining in the half, Legualt scored again on a 25-yard pass from quarterback Bob Wentz. At the half, Fenton led, 17-0.

Clarkston netted 153 yards total in offense to Fenton's 268.

In the third quarter, Fenton scored again, climaxing a 45 yard drive, on a 7 yard run by Scott Hofstetter. The extra point pass was good and Fenton came out victorious, 25-0.

The Wolves came, saw and went, upset by Fenton.

Commenting on the loss, Coach Rakow said, "When we failed to score early in the game, we let Fenton get the upper hand, and we just didn't get it back."

The Wolves are now 3-5 on the season and 3-2 in Wayne-Oakland League play.

Friday, Nov. 12, the Wolves will play their season finale at Avondale with the Avondale Yellow Jackets. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Coach Rakow commented, "We expect a similar type of game. We're going to have to go out and get them right away and keep the upper hand or the same thing will happen again."

Snow slows Wolverines

Clarkston Junior High Wolverines' record dipped below the .500 mark with a 12 to 0 loss to Waterford Pierce last Wednesday in the first "snow storm" of the year.

Pierce scored early in the first quarter to take a 6-0 lead. The heavy snow continued throughout the first half, making ball handling extremely difficult. The Wolverines missed 4 scoring opportunities by giving up the ball inside the 20-yard line with 3 intercepted passes and a fumble.

The score remained 6-0 until the final few minutes when the Wolverines gambled and missed on 4th down on their 18-yard line. Pierce scored their second TD for a 12-0 lead.

The loss was the Wolverines' 4th against 3 victories and marked the first time the Wolverines have been shut out in 2 years.

The Wolverines will close their season on Wednesday, Nov. 10 against inter-system rival Sashabaw Junior High.

Guess what? Guess who? It is just a civic minded citizen . . . carefully removing the metal ring from the neck of an empty bottle. He's getting it ready for the next collection of the "Bottles for Building" which will be held on November 18.

PAUF extends collection period

Independence Township stands sixth in the percentage of goal raised in the Pontiac Area United Fund's Community Division drive, it was learned Thursday, Nov. 4, at PAUF's fourth report meeting.

At the meeting, the Independence section reported it had raised $2,614.05 or 66.7% of its $3,916 goal.

Other sections reporting included Orion with 103.6 percent of its goal collected, Lake Angelus at 100.0% of goal, Oxford with 96.4% in, Pontiac with 96.1% and Waterford at 75.6% of goal.

The Community division covers selected homes and small businesses in Waterford, Independence, Oxford and Orion Townships and selected homes in Pontiac Township and Lake Angelus.

F. James McDonald, 1971 Pontiac Area United Fund General Chairman, announced extension of the overall PAUF campaign until Nov. 18 in order to complete solicitations.

McDonald said, "Response to the campaign has been good, but delays in employee solicitations in some schools, governmental agencies and companies have made extension of the drive necessary."

The overall campaign, which was to end Nov. 5, has raised $1,227,467.90 or 88.6% of its goal so far.

Detroit Edison is asking for a rate increase. We want you to know why.

William G. Meese
President and Chief Executive Officer
The Detroit Edison Company

We at Detroit Edison must provide Southeastern Michigan with an adequate supply of reliable electric power. We feel this obligation strongly and our record for reliable service is better than the national average.

We will make every effort to continue this dependable service. But the demand for electric power is at record levels—and climbing. For example, we now have 250,000 more customers than we had in 1960 and the average family uses 90 percent more electricity than it did at that time.

To meet this growing demand, we are going ahead with a massive construction program—one of the largest in the country. Construction expenditures are at the rate of almost $2 million for each working day. This will add up to $2.5 billion over five years and will include tens of millions of dollars for electrostatic precipitators, cooling towers, and other equipment that will improve the quality of our air and water. Detroit Edison has been, and will continue to be, dedicated to improving the environment.

Our problem is: How do we pay for this new construction?

Inflation has made this problem worse. Fuel, wages, equipment, taxes, construction, and investment capital costs have all gone up to record levels.

That's why we've asked the Michigan Public Service Commission for an urgently needed increase in rates for electric service. We have supported the request with complete and accurate data. Without the increase we cannot complete our indispensable construction program.

Nor can we guarantee much longer our ability to meet the area's increasing energy requirements—essential to economic growth and employment opportunity in the area—and continued protection from brownouts and blackouts. Nor can we continue our efforts to clean up the environment.

Over the years we have reduced rates whenever possible. In the long period of inflation since World War II, we have fought rising costs by every possible internal economy and efficient engineering design. Between 1950 and today, as all other consumer prices rose higher and higher, our residential electric charges for the same power use did not increase at all. Can you name any other product or service of which this is true? In the same 20-year period, clothing went up 47 percent, food 54 percent, housing 63 percent, transportation 65 percent, and medical care 125 percent.

Specifically, here's why we need the average of 12 percent increase in rates:

- The cost of fuel for our power plants increased at a rate of 28 percent in 1970.

- To maintain a thoroughly capable work force, we must meet area wage levels, which have risen steadily. Our wage contracts with their cost of living provisions went up over 11 percent in 1970.

- Equipment costs have risen steadily. This applies to turbine generators, transformers, cable, and all the items that we, as a large electric service company, must purchase.

- Environmental control of air and water quality is the order of the day, demanded by citizens and being written into increasingly stringent laws. Through 1970 Detroit Edison invested $78 million in environmental control equipment and will spend some $65 million during 1971-1973. These costs will continue after that.

- Our construction program during 1971 alone will cost about $427 million. Our commitments and requirements for 1972 will total about $450 million. In 1973 we expect to invest about $495 million in construction projects. About 80 percent of these large sums must be obtained from individuals and institutions willing to invest in Detroit Edison.

- We have to compete for investment capital with every large company in the United States and many investment opportunities abroad. At one time we could sell bonds with a 3 percent interest rate. Now we must pay much more. Last year the interest on our bonds rose $10 million, or 33 percent. That's just for 1970.

- Local taxes supporting community services have been increasing, too. During 1970 they rose $2.7 million, or 6 percent.

- Meanwhile, however, earnings fell from $2.15 per share of common stock in 1966 to $1.88 in 1970. For the 12 month period ending September 30, 1971, earnings declined to $1.80 per share. Over this period dividends remained at $1.40, but were reduced in value by the effects of inflation. But to finance growth to serve you, we must continue to compete for new investment dollars through the sale of stocks and bonds at prices attractive to the investing public.

In sum, Edison is faced with four pressures:

1. Growing demand for power.
2. Need to finance plant expansion.
3. Rising costs.
4. Need to add environmental controls.

All of us struggle with inflation. Some have the option of cutting corners or doing without. In that area, we have gone as far as possible without threatening the quality of service. But we cannot cut the cost of the new generators that are needed, or further reduce our dedicated manpower, or stop building for the future.

If we did, Southeastern Michigan would not enjoy the dependable, plentiful electric power it needs and has received from us since we began operations.

This is why Detroit Edison needs a rate increase.

Twenty-five cents is all it costs to take a chance on winning one of the two huge, stuffed animals displayed in the showcase of the commons area. These animals will be raffled off at the third annual Carnival Dance sponsored by the class of '72. The dance will be held Friday night, Nov. 19.

Twenty-two CHS senior girls will be "Bridging the Gap" at the tenth annual Junior Miss pageant sponsored by the Clarkston Area Jaycees. Selection of the Junior Miss will be primarily based on five different factors. Scholastic Achievement such as grades, personal curriculum and individual results of standardized tests will be taken into consideration (15%).

The morning of the pageant each girl will be individually interviewed by the judges on her personal appearance, awareness of current events, personality, mental alertness, sense of values and human relations. This will be the most important consideration-accounting for 35%.

The first competition of the evening will be that of physical fitness, where the girls will be judged mainly on their appearance in sportswear (15%).

The next phase of competition will be talent in creative and performing arts. This year's talent will range everywhere from singing, dancing, various routines, musical instruments, to skits and readings (20%).

The final and most elegant feature of the evening will be poise and appearance in an evening gown (15%). The judges will make their final decision at this point. The winner will receive the honor of reigning as the 1971-72 Junior Miss and will receive a scholarship to the college of her choice.

Tuesday, Nov. 16, Mr. Kauciowski, a representative from Mercy College will be at CHS and Wednesday, Nov. 17, Ruth Evans, a representative from Carnegie Institute of Detroit will be at CHS at 10:00. They will be at CHS to answer the questions of any seniors who are interested in knowing about these colleges.
