MO FOR A B&E

When a pretty thorough job is done it can be assumed the participants are experienced and/or organized. And, the organizer likely has a van without windows, like an Econovan or Chevy-van.

A phone call is made to the house to make sure no one is there. Before that the owners have been checked as to their absence... if both work, if they are both always away from the house one or more of the same days each week.

This determined, the thieves get into the house. Locked doors or windows are not deterrents.

More than one person usually enters the house. Drawers are dumped, closets scattered, unopened doors opened. Occasionally, the intruders vandalize, but it is not the rule.

Guns are wrapped in blankets and laid outside, or just inside a door designated by the organizer-van driver. Easily fenced (sold) items are also put by this door. The invaders leave.

On signal, or at a time, the driver pulls up to the door. He may even knock. Regardless, he takes the loot. All along he can declare his innocence if questioned. Only after he has the items in his car and is driving away can he not say, "I must have the wrong house."

Tough to stop? You bet. But occasionally an intruder is shot. More will be if the victims are anything like the guy who gave me the run down on how his place was robbed.

For the past 4 years the Census people have this paper in a category with manufacturers and have sent forms to fill out that I can't believe. The last 3 years there was 1 form, this year there were 4. All big. All with time limits.

Among the things they want to know is the number of cubic feet of natural gas we use a year. Then, the amount spent per MCF. I don't know what MCF stands for, and I didn't write for instructions.

Where would you go to find the cubic feet of gas you use? To Consumers Power Co., right? Wrong!

Not if you're in a hurry.

Asked for the information, the gal said, "Give me your name. We'll do it when we have time, and we'll mail it to you." From the tone, I thought I was getting the "Don't call me, I'll call you" routine.

"We have 12 ledgers to look through," she said. I said, "I have to have the information in 20 days." "I said give me your name and we'll do it when we have time."

And on our monthly bill it says, "Rate information available at all Consumer offices." They should add, "Leave your name and we'll do it when we have time."

Irene calls convention

A national convention in Pontiac February 26 and 27 for people opposed to the busing of school children for racial reasons was announced Monday night to some 250 Clarkston area people by Irene McCabe, leader of the Pontiac-based National Action Group.

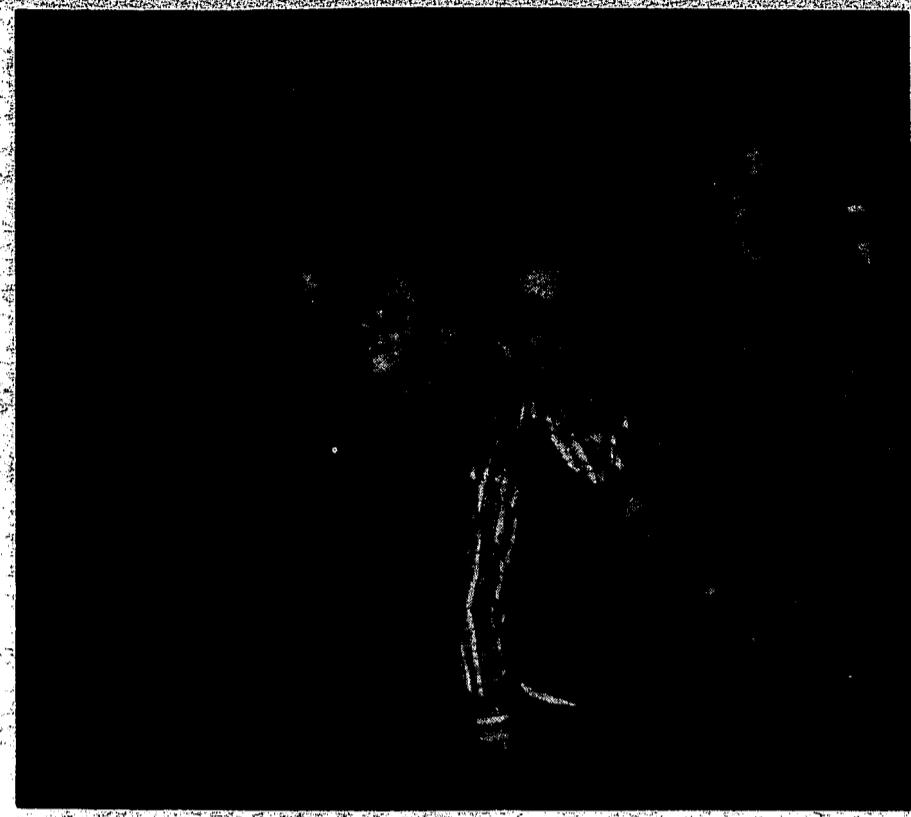

Mrs. McCabe appeared with Lawrence Beamer, principal of Pontiac's Crofoot School, in a NAG Program at the K of C Hall on Maybee Road. It was her contention that busing is doing nothing to improve education.

Mrs. McCabe said congressional leaders opposed to busing, along with opponents from various parts of the area including Richmond, Va., would be in Pontiac for the convention.

The convention will precede her walk to Washington, D.C., set to start March 15. Mrs. McCabe is attempting to get enough signatures on a discharge petition to get a constitutional amendment to prohibit busing out of committee. She said she believes the hike will take her about 45 days.

Beamer who reportedly said some children are benefiting educationally from school integration noted that the biggest area of help is socially.

Edward Manley, Clarkston NAG leader, said Beamer was also basically opposed to busing.

Stonerock's salary a court question

By Jean Saille

A taxpayer suit against Independence Township officials, charging illegal payment of a raise accorded Supervisor Gary Stonerock during last year's annual meeting, was filed Tuesday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

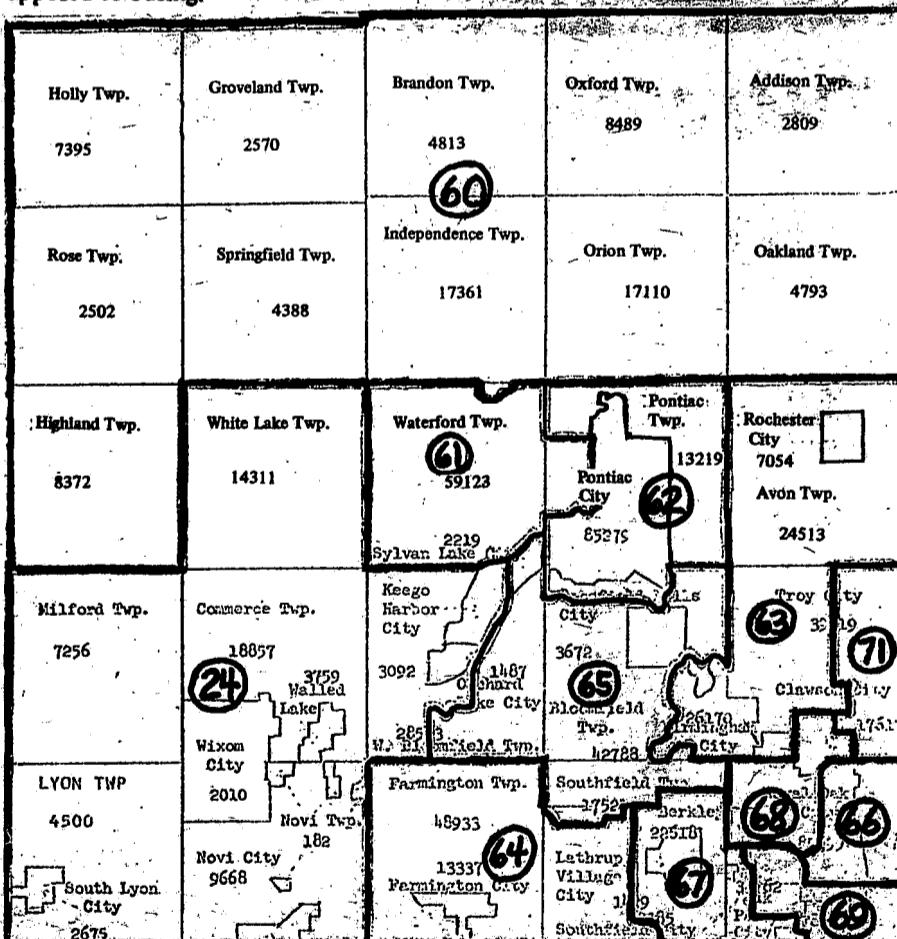

Brought by Mary M. Burgess, Luther Fletcher and Donald DeWald on behalf of all taxpayers, electors and residents of the township, the suit contends that Stonerock's salary increase from $14,500 to $16,000 a year was granted while Attorney Richard Campbell improperly chaired the meeting.

The suit quotes Michigan Compiled Laws 1948 which are reported as reading: "In the transaction of any business in any township meeting, the supervisor, if present, shall be the moderator of the meetings; and if he shall not be present, the meeting, under the direction of the township clerk, shall elect viva voce, a moderator of the meeting; provided that the township clerk shall have the same powers and duties as the moderator until a moderator is chosen."

Mrs. Burgess, Fletcher and DeWald charge that Campbell filled the moderator's spot after Stonerock threw the gavel on the floor and Campbell picked it up. It was while Campbell was presiding that a pay increase was approved. Previous motions for salary increases attempted while Stonerock was moderator had failed to pass, the suit says.

The suit asks that all overpayments—the differences between a $14,500 and $16,000 yearly salary and be collected by other township board members along with interest owing and returned to the township accounts.

Asking a mandatory injunction against further payment to Stonerock at the $16,000 year rate, the plaintiffs have requested a show cause hearing February 23 why it should not be granted.

Little agreement at township

Independence Township Board failed to agree on a new clerk Tuesday night and headed the Township towards a special election to fill the spot.

It is anticipated that Gov. William Milliken will set dates for special elections, including a primary if necessary, to fill the vacancy until November. The elections are expected to cost $1,700 each unless they can be combined with other local elections this spring.

While the Governor has intervened in such matters in the past—assisting local units in coming to agreement over a candidate to fill a vacancy, as of Monday his legal advisor told the Clarkston News there is no plan to do so in Independence.

The Board also failed to appoint a public safety director, putting that duty off until after an executive meeting, and it will likely be considered two weeks hence. At that time they will also vote on a $68,000 a year contract with the sheriff department for police protection here.

The safety director would provide board liaison with both the Township fire department and the sheriff department. Fire marshal Tink Ronk is the only man publicly proposed for the spot.

The Township also lost a member of its sewer committee, John Lynch resigning after he had been called a liar by Trustee Keith Humbert in regard to Lynch's application for the clerk's post. Humbert did not explain.

An attempt by Humbert to halt the sewer program failed to find support. He said there were too many unanswered questions about the $9.1 million program for the Township.

Sewers, while still expected to cost more in the neighborhood of $2,400, were set at $3,190 per residence in the sewer ordinance adopted Tuesday. Trustees said the $3,000 figure would serve as a maximum.

Loss of three quarters of a million dollars in state grants because of lower contract bids on sewers than anticipated was reported.

The Township is also going to lose its acting Township Clerk. Robert Vandermark has reportedly told Supervisor Gary Stonerock that he can no longer fulfill the duties of both assessor and clerk because of the approaching Board of Review session in March.

And, the Township might lose its planning commission. Stonerock said a replacement for Mrs. Jean Bray, recently reelected secretary of the group, will be considered at the next board meeting. He said he had two candidates in mind.

Her reappointment was asked by the planning commission last week when it voted 7-1 asking Stonerock to reconsider her removal from the commission.

It is also possible that Floyd Tower will not accept reappointment to the commission. His appointment and that of Norman Sholler were approved by the board Tuesday night. Tower raised the point in a letter of serving as a part time electrical inspector as well as being on its planning commission. A legal opinion is awaited.

The meeting was marked by several conflicts, aired in 2-2 votes as various Board members attempted to seat Lynch, Edward Glennie, Paul Derryberry, Robert Garner and Ingrid Smith as clerk.

Democrats Ron Herron and Derryberry both denied that Derryberry's appointment would have anything to do with "repayment of a political debt to the Derryberry faction of the Democratic party" as trustee Tom Bullen charged last week.

Stonerock publicly criticized the Clarkston News for "using my quotes against me" in regard to release of the names of the final three candidates for the clerk's position.

He later admitted he had confirmed the names of the candidates as presented to him by the paper, but he said he was not the one who made it public.

School priority list considered

While Clarkston School District has made available many new programs and services to its elementary students, a recent report to the Board of Education recommends that at least eight others be considered.

Now under study by school trustees are recommendations to:

1. Reinstate testing programs at all

K-Mart case due for trial

The lawsuit which has become known as the K-Mart case will be tried Thursday, January 27, before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn.

Brought by Detroit developers A. H. & W. Gershenson against the township, the suit seeks to overturn results of a zoning referendum which canceled approval given by the former township board for rezoning of Waterford Hill Golf Course.

Gershenson had intended a commercial shopping center and condominium complex built around a K-Mart store there. A double theater has also been included in the plan.

James Hartwick, attorney for Gershenson, said the suit contends the zoning is unreasonable as applies to the property and involves the rights of ownership in getting the best use from property.

Defense attorney Richard Campbell whose law firm of Campbell, Lee, Kurzman and Leitman previously cited Judge Thorburn for bias in dealings with the firm says that a settlement has been reached.

Members of the firm had asked that Thorburn disqualify himself from hearing any of their cases, but township officials say the past misunderstanding should have no bearing on the K-Mart case.

grade levels.

2. Purchase additional supplementary and individualized materials.
3. Hire trained librarians at the elementary schools.
4. Provide classrooms for individualized instruction on both the early and later elementary level.
5. Provide additional remedial reading instructors.
6. Reinstate field trips.
7. Reinstate instrumental music at grade five.
8. Incorporate physical education in the curriculum.

The report, prepared by elementary principals, recognizes school financing problems.

"We realize the availability of finances becomes a major factor when examining these curriculum improvements. However, we feel justified in requesting these recommendations be granted serious consideration as they will allow a more efficient and meaningful implementation of the total curriculum," the report states.

Credit is given for already improved libraries, remedial reading programs, special education, speech therapy, diagnostic and psychiatric evaluation, the employment of a school social worker and educational consultants, vision and audio screenings and fluoride treatments.

Evaluation and achievement tests are the ones requested by the principals.

"Standardized testing data will usually give us less information than is needed to properly assess educational effectiveness; however, it does tell us more than would be known if no tests were given or no other measurements were taken," say the administrators.

They note, "At the present time, our school district seems to be getting back into spontaneous testing or non-testing determined by factors other than educational need."

Colette Roy smiles pretty for the school photographer at Clarkston Elementary School as her fellow second graders from Madeline Schorsch's class await their turns.

Get probation

John and Pamela Ronk, both 19, of 59 S. Main were sentenced last week to two years' probation on a disorderly person charge by District Judge Gerald McNally. They will be required to pay court costs of $144 as well.

The two were arrested October 18 along with three others in a Michigan State Police raid on their apartment. Originally charged with possession of narcotics, they pleaded guilty to the reduced charge of disorderly person.

Others arrested in the same raid which netted about $30 worth of marijuana pleaded guilty to the disorderly charge earlier and paid fines of $30.

People didn't show

There aren't very many people in North Oakland County interested in a rapid transit system between Detroit and Pontiac. Only 27 of them showed up at a meeting last Thursday at Clarkston High School to hear Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authorities explain their plan for a steel-on-steel system estimated to cost nearly $600 million.

For those that bad weather and lack of interest didn't keep away, the word was that the federal government is prepared to fund two-thirds of the cost, the remainder to be raised locally by increases in the gas and weight and real estate transfer taxes.

Business-oriented teens in Jr. Achievement

It's Junior Achievement Week in Clarkston and two active groups at the Senior High School are in production — building and selling merchandise. They've financed the undertaking through the sale of stocks to the community, and have learned a fair amount about business.

Three of their members — Fay Justice, Dianne Conibear and Jane Kabana — describe the undertaking.

"On Monday nights a group of young people meet in the Clarkston High School for Junior Achievement.

"There are two companies — one under the sponsorship of Fisher Body, the other under Consumers Power Co.

"The JA company, Earsplitenlaudenboomer under Consumers Power Co. of which Jane Kabana is president, has produced two products, building blocks and cloth belts.

"The Achievers of the Future company, presided over by Dan Millward under the sponsorship of Fisher Body, has produced scented candles and is working on a new project.

"Shares sold in the companies have produced more than 200 stockholders. Return on the $1 investment has averaged about 10 cents in the past, but this year's returns will depend on sales volumes.

"Potential customers may contact JA members. The building blocks sell for $2.50 a set, the belts for $2.75 and the candles from $1 to $6.

"We in Junior Achievement have been learning how to operate a business and make it profitable at the same time.

"New members are always welcome. We meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays."

Voluntary service to your community is the prime concern of the 6,400 Jaycee chapters across the United States in this, their 52nd year of service.

Expensive proposition

Unless Independence Township trustees were to come to agreement this week, and unless they are able to tie a special clerk's election in with another scheduled election, their "political integrity" may cost you, the taxpayer, $4,000.

Failure to agree on any one of 10 candidates who sought the job — failure of even three of the board members to agree on one candidate — could make the clerk's position an expensive one.

At least two of the candidates reportedly qualified, have told this paper they are non-partisan. Edwin Glennie and Bob Garner said they chose Republican and Democrat labels, respectively, only when informed of the need should they seek reelection in November.

If special elections are conducted, the pro-rated costs of the elections plus the regular clerk's salary could make that position worth roughly $1,700 a month until the regular election next November.

That's a high cost for a 16,000-population area.

Letters to the Editor

Safety director job funding quizzed

Dear Editor,

I read with a great deal of interest that Mr. Ronk is being considered for a job funded by E.E.A. (Emergency Employment Act).

To quote the wording of the act "The purpose of the E.E.A. is to provide unemployed and underemployed persons with transitional employment in jobs providing needed public services during times of high unemployment, and whenever feasible, related training and manpower services to enable such persons to move into employment or training not supported under this act."

There are several eligibility criteria which provide that participants will be selected from the ranks of the unemployed and underemployed. I doubt that Mr. Ronk meets this criteria.

The E.E.A. also sets definitions which

Mr. Ronk may not meet in the selection of eligible participants.

I am sure that we have many Vietnam era veterans, in the village and township, whose qualifications more than meet the standards set forth by the village.

E.E.A. also has made a list of ten (10) standards which must be followed. One says that "Job openings will be made available to public or private organizations or agencies including veterans' organizations for making them known to Special Veterans." Was this done, and when?

The spirit of the E.E.A. was to provide jobs for veterans and unemployed people as a whole, not favorites in particular.

Don't touch that phone

For the first time since World War 2, the U.S. Government needs me. It needs me to deal with Ma Bell who has now been officially declared too big for anyone's britches.

By a 4-2 vote, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has dropped its investigation of the gigantic Bell system's investment and operating expenses.

The commission said the cop-out was necessary "because of insufficient resources to permit adequate preparation for, and staffing of, the proceeding."

Translated from bureaucratese, this means Ma Bell is too heavy for Uncle Sam to handle. American Telephone & Telegraph is spending more money than the U.S. Government can afford to count.

Ma Bell has requested the usual rate increase. It's up to the FCC to decide whether Ma really needs more of your money each month. But how can the FCC set a fair profit if it can't first determine Ma's expenses?

There's no way. Two members of the FCC deplored the decision to drop the investigation as "bordering on the irresponsible." Said Commissioner Rex Lee: "Are the expenses reasonable and fair? The FCC doesn't know. And . . . it has no intention of finding out."

The most powerful country in the world is humbled by a Princess phone. Oh, the shame of it all. How long before the stars and stripes are replaced by that circle with the bell inside? My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of A.T.&T.

Is there any answer? Yes. Don't answer.

That's my solution. If the U.S. can't be as big as Ma Bell, then Ma Bell must be shrunk down to a size where she'll at least flinch if the operators'

Is and ought

By James W. Briney, Jr.

The finger is being pointed at Republicans as the bad guys in terms of youth participation in our society. While I do not always agree with "Republicanism," and am hardly an apologist for Republicans, or for government in general, I find the facts — in terms of Republican accomplishments towards opening our society — impossible to deny.

Michigan's progressive age of majority legislation which grants, for the first time, legal adult status to include those 18 to 20, largely was a Republican effort. The Age of Majority Commission appointed by Governor Milliken, (a Republican: seems some of us forget this on occasion), made the recommendations which led to the actual bill, sponsored in the House of Representatives by Michael Dively, a Republican. The primary sponsor in the Michigan Senate was none other than our own Senior Senator L. Harvey Lodge, again, a Republican.

Not content to rest on their laurels, the Milliken-Dively team, so successful last year, already has proposed and put together a plan that will open even further the door to participation in the political process. The presidential preferential primary they back will be especially significant to young people who take the trouble to exercise participatory democracy in this manner.

Not to be counted out is Lieutenant Governor James Brickley. Brickley, though a partisan neophyte, is a dedicated and sincere individual who takes the time to speak with young people and to consider their views. He and I discussed the concept of an early primary and other possibilities for the new voter for half an hour in his office prior to his meeting with the Governor — out of which came the decision to support the new primary concept. I think we will see the Lieutenant Governor taking more opportunities to champion the effort to involve young people in the decision-making process. In my view he is a welcome advocate.

The Governor's Age of Majority Commission and his staff are richer for the inclusion of Bill Rustom. Rustom, a recent Michigan State University graduate, has a wealth of experience in heads-up, no-nonsense politics. Thanks to Governor Milliken, a guy like Bill Rustom has a chance to prove himself in this administration. Rustom serves also on the Youth Advisory Council, the brain child of Bill McLaughlin, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. McLaughlin has led the charge in terms of youth involvement in this respect.

I do not have blind esteem for any of these people, but they certainly must be commended for their honest achievements. In the area of full youth participation in the Republican Party and Society, these Republicans are deserving of our praise.

Service appreciated

Clean sidewalks is a new service being offered on Clarkston village streets this winter and we think it's a good one.

Gar Wilson of the village's municipal services department says he can get the job done in four hours once he's got the streets cleared of snow for auto traffic.

Pedestrians are appreciating those four hours of extra work, Gar, and we thank you and the village council for the service.

lounge is invaded by the 101st Airborne.

The way to accomplish this is for every true adult American to refuse to answer his phone.

I feel qualified to lead this ringing crusade because my wife swears I am the only man on earth who can sit and listen to a phone ring and not answer it.

It's really easy. Long ago I discovered that of 346 phone calls coming into our house every day, only .00045% were for me. And that was always some guy who had chopped up his wife and wanted me to keep his name out of the paper because the news would make his mother sick if she read it.

So I began letting it ring. At first, my family couldn't believe it. They screamed something awful when they learned they had lost their secretary. Either they reached the phone before it quit ringing, or no communication. They became wild and raving, running around the house asking each other: "Who do you think that was on the phone?"

It's even worse when I am left alone at home. The kids will return and ask if there were any phone calls. I'll say yes, there were 23. They'll ask who they were for and I'll say I don't know. I didn't answer them. Wow. That really gets 'em.

At first, my resolution was that I wouldn't answer the phone if I were doing anything else, such as reading, watching TV or thinking about Ann-Margret. I have since refined this down to 1 simple golden rule: I will answer the phone if it is in my hand when it rings. Otherwise, phooey.

I strongly suggest that all parents treat Ma Bell in similar fashion. In 3 weeks she will be small enough to be investigated by an off-duty patrolman making some extra money on weekends.

Church school reorganized

Clarkston Methodist Church School has recently been reorganized with seventh, eighth and ninth graders meeting at 10 a.m. each Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vastine, the teachers, are presenting a series of audio-visuals on the religions of America to prepare the group for field trips.

Church school under study

The possibility of starting a kindergarten through sixth-grade school is being investigated by Dixie Baptist Church, 8585 Dixie Highway.

While there are definite plans to start such a school next fall, Sunday School Superintendent Don Tarvestad says parents are now being quizzed in regard to interest and support should one be started immediately.

Tarvestad said the school would emphasize scholarship, discipline and character building and would be a church-related facility similar to the old Emanuel Baptist School in Pontiac.

"Er-welcome home, moonlings?"

by Jean Saife

Wernher von Braun, eminent space scientist, says there will be colonies on the moon and a baby born there by 2001.

Can't you imagine the family reunions that will occasionally take place between earthbound grandparents and the new breed of moon settlers?

The frequency of their visits will probably not be as often as we'd like, but then again — they might be often enough. Consider:

Sardo (what a funny name for a boy), our oldest grandson, finds it unbelievable that we earthlings breathe unpurified air. Having been raised in a hothouse — a pressurized, temperature-controlled enclosed city — he finds our smog triggers his asthma attacks.

When he visits, he brings his oxygenizer — a gas mask.

Have you tried to spoon cereal underneath a gas mask? Have you tried to kiss one goodnight?

We've been told Sardo looks like his grandfather. We don't know and we probably won't find out for sure unless we visit the moon, where we're assured he does not need the mask.

The telephoto relays we get periodically of the family cannot do him justice. His grandfather's ears were never pointy like that.

At our age — we're past 70 now, you know — we hesitate to take the long trip to the moon. I know it can be accomplished in a matter of hours, but Social Security doesn't provide for those kinds of excursions.

It's probably just as well. A mother-in-law shouldn't say this, but that woman our son married just doesn't know the first thing about housekeeping.

Living in the dust-free atmosphere of the enclosed city, she hasn't had to learn much, I admit. Still, you'd think she'd get the hang of handling a broom one of these years.

She's not much of a cook either. She opens a can of something or adds water to dehydrated foods quite well, and since they've learned to grow vegetables on the moon she may improve.

Up until now about all she's had to deal with have been the nutrient packages air freighted up there. We occasionally try to send lettuce or oranges, but I believe the children haven't learned to like them.

They certainly don't seem to like our food when they visit here.

And the clothes they wear. You'd think coming for Christmas they'd know enough to bring warm clothing. The first visit home, there they were all shivering at the airport in shorts and high boots.

What with her working in the laboratory with our son all the time and Sardo having to come home from telemetry classes to a neighborhood cooperative, we wonder how he's going to turn out.

Grandparents nearby could do that boy a lot of good.

Spiritual Message

Rev. Frank A. Cozadd

"Doing Odd Jobs for the Damned"

The story comes out of Belgium many years ago about an old church building with beautiful paintings on the walls and ceiling. The congregation decided to brighten up and repair the paintings so they hired an artist. When the job was done, the artist submitted a bill for $67.30. They questioned the amount and asked to have the bill itemized. Some of the items the artist included are as follows: For correcting the Ten Commandments, $5.12; For renewing heaven and world is odd jobs for the damned, $5.12; For adjusting the stars, $7.14; For touching up purgatory and restoring lost souls, $3.06; For brightening up the flames of Hell and doing odd jobs for the damned, $7.17.

There are several interesting responses this evokes in us. Our understanding of the Ten Commandments needs correcting periodically. We all need our vision of heaven renewed from time to time. We should adjust our vision to the stars every once in a while. We would all like to have purgatory touched up... just in case. We are all for anyone who has anything to do with restoring lost souls — especially when we feel lost, or someone we love loses their way. Some of us might even want to brighten up the flames of hell in preparation for our enemies. And so very often we are tempted to feel that all we are doing in our world is odd jobs for the damned. We see the damned on every hand. Those damned by alcoholism, pollution, poverty, racism, tyranny and war. Is there no hope? Two voices are raised to answer in the affirmative. One is the humanist who says we can work these problems out in time. I am afraid that time is the one thing we don't have enough of in the light of the acceleration of these problems in our day. The second voice is the Christian who affirms the final triumph of righteousness over evil. For as St. Paul said, "We know that in everything God works for good with those who love Him... in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us. For I am sure that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord."

And so, are we just doing odd jobs for the damned, or are we gratefully serving Christ who makes us more than conquerors over evil?

Some of the 80 percent of area high school students who never complete a university education are being prepared for careers in the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center on Big Lake Road.

The school which opened last February is now educating some 400 students from Clarkston, Brandon, Holly and Waterford areas for occupations which include appliance repair, auto body repair, commercial arts, dental office assisting, distributive education, machine shop, medical office assisting, modern printing, radio-television repair and total office procedure.

Students who attend are away from their respective high schools three hours a day for the specialized instruction.

About 200 are enrolled in morning classes at the center, attending regular high school classes in the afternoon and the same in the afternoon.

Besides supplementing regular instructional courses, the school has been opened this year to a limited number of students who have previously had educational problems. Special teacher aides have been hired to lend assistance in the six-week to full semester courses designed to fit drop-outs or would-be drop-outs with career skills.

Information about the program is available from local school guidance counselors.

Dyspepsia

You may know dyspepsia (literally "bad digestion") by a variety of nicknames: acid stomach, acute indigestion, heart burn or gastritis. By any name, it's not to be taken lightly.

The occasional incident — once every few months or so — may just be something you ate disagreeing with your stomach. But when it occurs often, you should seek medical advice.

First of all, there may be an infection or inflammation of the stomach wall. Ulcers and diseases of the gall bladder may create over-acidity in the stomach, which no amount of alkali will cure. An inflamed appendix may cause pain in the stomach, as can disorders of the liver, pancreas and upper intestine.

Emotional storms are often "translated" into stomach aches, and taking a pill or fizz may eliminate the symptom without getting to the basic nature of the problem.

"Another kind of stomach problem is due to a special form of anemia in which the stomach produces too little of the right kind of acid," an American Medical Association publication notes. "Food ferments, and the wrong kind of acid develops."

So if you have repeated, short-term episodes of upset stomach, don't fool around with it; see your doctor, and follow his advice. Postponing proper treatment can be more expensive than a trip to the physician's office and, in the long run, self-medication with an endless stream of pills can cost more than the prescription drug that really solves the problem.

Tuesday, January 11, the Wolves smashed West Bloomfield's Lakers, 83-63.

The Wolves scored only 8 points in the opening quarter while West Bloomfield put in 18. Gary White scored 6 of the 8 Clarkston points.

The Wolves got a second quarter momentum going and after being held down by 11, tied West Bloomfield, 46-36 at the half.

In the third quarter, the Clarkston 5 built up a 9 point lead which they increased to 20 in the final quarter for the 83-63 win.

Gary White led Clarkston in scoring, but was not the only outstanding player in the game. White sunk 15 buckets and 3 of 7 free throws for 33 points. Bill Craig followed with 12. Dave Partlo did a fine job, coming off the bench while still recovering from a thigh injury sustained in the Warren Woods game on January 4, to score 11 points.

White had a little help in the scoring department. Bill Craig and Bill Bildstein supplied him with the ball and were credited with 6 and 5 assists, respectively.

Hustle was the key word for the Wolves — and hustle they did! Clarkston put in 47 points in the second half to Bloomfield's 27.

Foul trouble and a lack of hustle can be blamed for the Wolves' 88-78 loss to Clarenceville's Trojans on Friday, January 14.

Clarenceville took the lead right away and didn't let go for a moment. By the first quarter's end, the Trojans had a 27-13 advantage.

Clarenceville kept up their swift pace in the second quarter and the half closed with the Wolves down 14 points, 48-34. The Trojans outran the Wolves again in the third period and Clarkston found itself lagging 16 points, 70-54.

The Wolves were pressed for time and fouls committed early in the game came back to haunt the Wolves in the fourth quarter. At a time when needed most, 5 of Clarkston's big men fouled out.

White, Craig, Partlo, Miracle and Warren left the game on account of fouls and the substitutes took over.

Although the Trojans' lead had been reduced to 6 and the Wolves came menacingly close to the lead, a foul or a turnover stopped the drive and the Clarenceville lead stood.

The Trojans staged a little sideshow during the last few minutes of the game, much to the crowd's delight, at least the Clarenceville crowd. One team member mounted a ladder and climbed to the board on which the league standings were displayed, and took Clarkston out of the "Number One" spot and filled the vacancy with Clarenceville. Meanwhile, the Trojans cinched the game, 88-78.

Gary White led in scoring with 33 points and Mark Warren added 12.

The Wolves presently sport a 6-3 season record and a 3-1 league tally.

Friday, January 21, Clarkston hosts the Milford Redskins for a league battle. JV game starts at 6:30 p.m. and the Varsity game follows at 8:15 p.m.

Cougars split with Bloomfields

The Sashabaw Cougars basketball team is 1-1 against Bloomfield teams. The Cougars won at home against Bloomfield Hills 64-59, led by Jeff Casper and Cecil Jones.

Casper had 16 for the Cougars while Jones had 15. That left the Cougars' record 2-3 for the season. Then the Cougars traveled to West Bloomfield and were defeated 60-39 by the Lakers. Jeff Casper and Jerry Whitehead, the two big scorers, both fouled out.

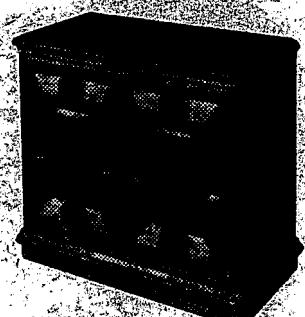

The Cougars scored well the first quarter and stayed close, but in the second half, West Bloomfield put the game away with the help of too many Sashabaw turnovers.

The Sashabaw Cougars wrestling team won a 61-18 meet over Milford. Keeping their winning streak going were Tuffy Reynolds, who pinned his opponent and Dan Blower, who also pinned his opponent. The Cougars' wrestling record is 3-1 for the season.

Fifth graders at Bailey Lake School meet for a team teaching class in mathematics.

By Ruth Montney

A group approach to mathematics is being undertaken at Bailey Lake Elementary School.

Fifth grade teachers Dennis Wagester, Duane Proctor, William Rathburg and Mrs. Ferol Acton believe they've developed a team teaching program to meet the needs of individual students.

Extensive testing procedures were used to determine the specific needs of the students. The results of these tests were used to help establish the content of the materials presented in the small group and large group instruction sections. The students were then placed in the section which met their particular need.

The sections concentrated on basic skills, computations, word-thought programs, and set theory.

SCHOOL MENU

January 24-28

MONDAY — Barbecue on bun, hot vegetable, pickle slices, pie and milk.

TUESDAY — Spaghetti & meat sauce, tossed salad, French bread & butter, fruit jello and milk.

WEDNESDAY — Hot dog in bun, hash brown potatoes, pepper slaw, peach cobbler and milk.

THURSDAY — Chicken, mashed potatoes & gravy, green beans, roll & butter, peanut butter candy & milk.

FRIDAY — Tomato soup & crackers, assorted sandwiches, hot vegetable, fruit upside down cake and milk.

The teachers work together in planning objectives and evaluating progress. Students move from one section to another upon mastery of the skills and concepts presented. Modern Math concepts are combined with traditional methods in this program.

Large group instruction is used to present a particular skill and then the students are divided into small groups for individual attention according to their particular need.

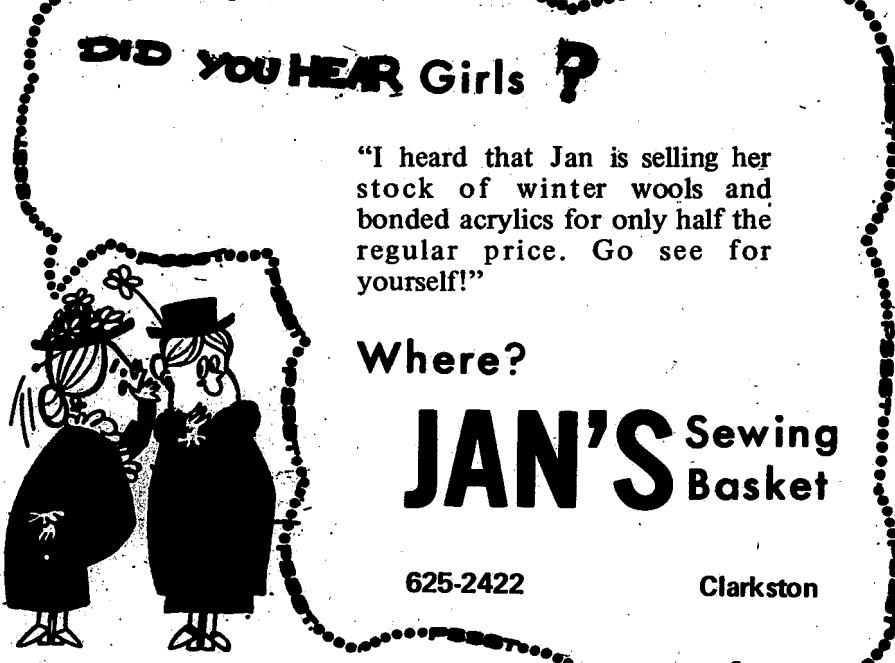

The teachers involved are very enthusiastic about the added interest shown by the students toward mathematics while working in the new atmosphere of small and large groups. Accompanying the increased student motivation has been a corresponding indication of increased mastery of mathematical concepts by the individual student.

The chorale, directed by William Dehning, is a select chamber choir of 18 singers.

Dedicated to the premise that "good music can sell," the chorale draws its repertoire from the vast wealth of choral chamber music which covers a period of 600 years from the time of the Renaissance to the present day avant garde.

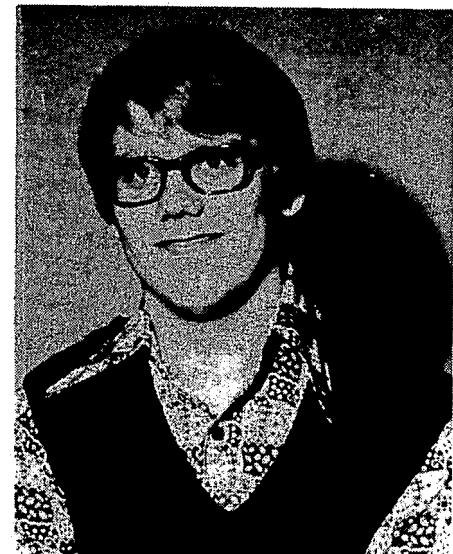

The group is presently touring community colleges in Lower Michigan under the sponsorship of the Cultural Affairs Department of Michigan State University's Continuing Education Service.

Luck changes for cagers

Clarkston Junior High picked up its first basketball victory of the season by defeating Milford by the score of 67-53. The win was the first for the Green and White in six games.

The Wolverines and coach Bud McGrath have been a real "hard luck" team with two of their losses coming in overtime and another by just two points. Witness some recap.

Bloomfield Hills: Clarkston had a 4 point lead with three minutes left in the game when a press broke open the game and gave Bloomfield the victory. The Wolverines had a balanced scoring attack with Barry and Randy Miller, George Porritt and Mike Coulter all getting double figures. Final score, 71-63.

East Hills: This was the Wolverines' first overtime loss. The Wolverines were outscored 7 to 4 in the overtime period for the 72-69 loss. George Porritt led all scorers with 30 points with Mike Coulter hitting 21.

Crary: Another close game saw the Wolverines lose their third game 68-66. The game was a seesaw battle right up until the final whistle. Jeff Shell led with 22 points and George Porritt hit 16 points.

Mason: The Wolverines suffered their fourth defeat at the hands of the undefeated Mason Junior High by the score of 75-65. The game was a thriller with the lead changing hands numerous times. Mason had only a 3 point lead with 30 seconds left when they hit 5 free throws and a bucket for the 10 point victory.

Rochester Adams: Another overtime game cost the Green and White their fifth loss by the score of 78-75. Mike Coulter led all scorers with 25 points. Three other players hit double victories.

Milford: The Wolverines earned their first victory of the year with an easy 67-53 win over Milford. The score was tied at halftime but the second half was all Green with Clarkston leading by as much as 20 points. George Porritt had 24 points with Mike Coulter hitting 15 points.

The team averages thus far are:
 George Porritt 20 points
 Mike Coulter 15 points
 Randy Miller 10 points
 Barry Miller 9 points
 Jeff Shell 7 points
 Randy Limbaugh 5 points

Village of Clarkston

Village Council

Regular Meeting

January 11, 1972

Meeting called to order by President Johnston.

Roll: Present — Basinger, Jones, Weiss, Wilford. Absent — Tower, Auten.

A general discussion was held regarding the parking situation on East Washington.

The presentation by the County Planning Commission on "Partners in Planning" was rescheduled for the January 25 meeting. The regular meeting will begin at 7:00 p.m. with the presentation scheduled for approximately 8:15 p.m.

Gar Wilson reported as follows: (a) the street crew would remove the tree on Church Street that required cutting down; (b) the Village Plumbing Inspector had resigned effective January 1; however, the inspections of the Surrey Lane development would be completed by Mr. Heineman; (c) the Council should review the vacancy in order that an appointment may be made as soon as possible; (d) rental rates required for proposed parking lot border. This item was tabled pending final plans; (e) the village septic tank is scheduled for pumping four times a year; (f) two buildings in the Surrey Lane complex have been certified for occupancy.

The matter of a building permit application for repair of fire damage to Mr. Race's building at the corner of M-15 and Church Street was discussed. The Council requested that a letter be sent to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a hearing on this item; however, the Clerk was instructed to request a legal opinion from the Village Attorney with respect to jurisdiction in this matter. A special meeting is to be held upon receipt of this opinion.

Mr. Forest Milzow was present to request direction on the fencing of his property on Surrey Lane. After discussion, Gar Wilson was instructed to contact the Village Engineer and along with Mr. Milzow, determine the property line on the south side of this property. A wood fence would be considered by Mr. Milzow; however, he would prefer plantings adjacent to chain link fencing. Upon determination of questions brought out, a letter of agreement from the Council will be sent to Mr. Milzow with regards to fencing of his property per Ordinance No. 50. Mr. Milzow also informed the council that the swale area would be cleaned.

Mr. Al Kujala, Oakland County Treasurer's Office, was present to discuss the overpayment to the Village in the amount of $5,795.63 in monies distributed by the County for the State of Michigan. Preliminary census figures used and the fact that the County continued to use the 1962 annexation percentage in addition to the new census both contributed to the overpayments.

Moved by Wilford, that the County be reimbursed in the amount of $5,795.63 representing overpayments to the Village for the seven quarters beginning January 1, 1970 as outlined in the County Treasurer's statement of December 28, 1971. Seconded by Weiss. Roll: Jones, yea; Basinger, yea; Weiss, yea; Wilford, yea. Yeas 4, Nays 0. Motion carried.

All other bills were tabled until the next regular meeting.

Correspondence from the Village Attorney covering several areas was read to the Council.

The Clerk was instructed to request from the Village Attorney a draft of an ordinance to prohibit parking on Village streets between the hours of 2:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m.

The Clerk was instructed to inform the Village Attorney that his suggestions regarding easements to the County with respect to Sanitary Sewers were accepted and that contact with the proper office should be made by Mr. Banyky in order to amend present proposed easements.

The Clerk was instructed to inform Mr. Charles J. Porter, with respects to the changes in the service station at M-15 and Clarkston Road, that the Council requests a schedule of proposed alterations.

The Clerk was instructed to inform Mr. Florio of the Public Employment Program that only one employee would be hired by the Village of Clarkston under this funding.

Moved by Jones, that the Clerk be instructed to submit the requested affidavit to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission with respect to full-time police enforcement of provisions of the liquor control act. Seconded by Weiss. Motion carried.

The Clerk was instructed to inform the American Cancer Society that the Council approved its request for the Annual Cancer Society Crusade.

The following proclamation was offered by Jones, seconded by Weiss and passed by the Council:

Grand jury summation

A report on the activities and accomplishments of the Oakland County Citizens Grand Jury was made today to the Circuit Judges of the County by Prosecuting Attorney Thomas G. Plunkett. The report summarized the activities and costs of the Grand Jury for its term of existence, limited by law to one year. That year ended on January 11, 1972.

The report indicates that the Grand Jury heard 269 witnesses, and issued 73 indictments against 158 persons. The total cost of the Grand Jury including items such as salaries, stenographer fees, and witness fees has not yet been calculated; however, the prosecutor's office does have the figures through November 30, 1971 and that total is $41,461.15.

"The people of Oakland County owe the 17 members of the Grand Jury a great debt of gratitude for their year of service. The success of the Grand Jury in its first year of operation under the new law is clear from the statistics in the report," said the Prosecuting Attorney. "But the Grand Jury's effectiveness can be even better measured by the enthusiastic support and cooperation given to it by the state police, and the many local police agencies of the County whose officers brought difficult and previously perhaps insolvable criminal matters to the jury and received effective assistance."

"The community is likewise indebted to the Circuit Judges of this County for granting our petition to convene a grand jury one year ago. A similar petition has been filed. We have every hope that the Circuit Bench will keep Oakland County law enforcement officials in a position of strength through the ordering of a new grand jury," Plunkett added.

The Oakland County Citizens Grand Jury began operations on January 12, 1971 under sweeping new powers given to grand juries in a bill signed by Governor Milliken in March of 1970. The powers which a grand jury has and which are not otherwise available to law enforcement are that of subpoena, immunity, contempt, and secrecy. All major populous states and the Federal court system have regularly used a citizens grand jury, but until the amendment of 1970, the Citizens Grand Jury law in Michigan was a rather ineffectual device. It had a severely limited life span, contempt and immunity powers.

During the first year of its existence, the Oakland County Citizens Grand Jury investigated and indicted for a wide range of criminal activity from organized crime activities in the form of extortion, loan sharking, major book-making operations, and major car theft rings, to public corruption in the Drain Commissioner's Office; from the sale of narcotics in the County to the murders of a Pontiac newsboy and of a Detroit band member on the streets of Royal Oak.

Judge's fete January 26

Circuit Court Judges William Beasley, Phillip Hampton, Farrell Roberts and Robert L. Templin will be honored at a $12 per ticket cocktail party from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. January 26 at the Raleigh House, Southfield. The four judges are up for reelection this fall.

The affair billed "strictly as a tribute and not a rally" is being chaired by G. Doyle Dodge of Birmingham and George Googasian of Pontiac plus a committee of politicians from both parties and civic leaders in the county.

The event is open to the public.

The headquarter of the United States Jaycees is in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

It's a lot of trash

How much trash do the 4.7 million people in Southeast Michigan produce in a day?

What happens to it?

How much will trash production increase in the next decade, and how should it be handled?

Answers to these and other questions concerning the solid waste disposal problem in Southeast Michigan are being sought by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

In concert with business firms, the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce and chambers in communities throughout the region, and with local, county, state and federal agencies, SEMCOG has started a $234,000 two-year solid waste management planning program.

Early estimates are that at least 12,000 tons of solid waste are produced daily by the 1.4 million households in the region, E. Robert Turner, SEMCOG executive director said.

In addition, another 10,000 to 20,000 tons emanate daily from businesses and industries, he said.

"The beginning point in the project is getting an accurate measure of solid waste disposal needs right now," Turner said.

"First, we must inventory what municipal and other governmental agencies are collecting daily. And there are more than 100 cities and villages and another 100 townships in the seven counties in Southeast Michigan.

"Secondly, there are hundreds of business firms and plants which dispose of their solid waste either with their own operations or through private contractors.

"We must obtain accurate information at the beginning through the cooperation of all concerned or our estimates and schedules for future needs for facilities will be inadequate."

Look before

you leap

Don't let your vacation homesite become a legal battleground. Check with local authorities before investing in northern Michigan dreamland, advises Willard Bosselman, county extension director for Roscommon and Crawford counties.

"Most developers are honest and above board," he states, "but even the most honest individuals sometimes forget to tell prospective buyers about potential problems."

Bosselman says that some people have purchased options to buy land and were given quitclaim deeds. Later they found, to their dismay, that they did not own the property.

"Similarly, some persons have built $30,000 homes on property which they later found out was not theirs," he notes.

"Demand an abstract and have it checked by your attorney. This is the only way you can be sure of a clear title to the property you paid for."

The privacy promised by a private road entices some prospective property owners, but a private road is not maintained by the County Road Commission, points out the extension director. In a subdivision, it is up to the owner to contract for snow removal and to keep the private roads passable. Find out if the roads in "your" development are public or private.

Zoning is new to many northern Michigan areas. Several townships and counties are only now beginning the process of passing zoning ordinances. Bosselman advises prospective buyers to check with local authorities about zoning and building codes.

"Some individuals have purchased a lot with the idea of locating their mobile home on it, and later were confronted by a zoning official who told them they could not do so," Bosselman points out.

"Over-zealous salesmen may promise lake or river access which turns out to be a state park already over-crowded. Or, the sales person may mean a road end access, which is a dubious means of satisfying the gleam in the purchaser's eye."

"Check with the local health department about locating a well and septic tank. They must be 50 feet apart. On some lots, it is almost impossible to obtain the necessary distance between the two."

Bosselman recommends a Cooperative Extension bulletin, number E-676, "Vacation Homesites." This publication can be obtained from the local Cooperative Extension Service office or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Michigan State University, P.O. Box 231, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

Food stamps add $4-million to economy

Around $4,559,000 worth of additional retail food business flowed into the Oakland County economy during the past 12 months as a result of the Federal Food Stamp Program, according to David J. O'Neal, Officer-in-Charge of the local U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

During this period 7,480 households composed of 28,794 persons in Oakland County spent approximately $4,278,000 of their own cash for food coupons worth more than $8,837,000. The difference of around $4,559,000 in bonus coupons from USDA (an average each month of $13.20 per participant) represents the increase in food sales that directly benefited County food merchants.

David J. O'Neal, Officer-in-Charge pointed out that currently around 327 retailers in the county are authorized by FNS to accept the coupons.

Under the Food Stamp Program, families in need of food assistance are certified at local welfare offices. Families purchase food coupons in amounts that reflect their normal level of food expenditures based on family size and income. They receive coupons of greater monetary value from USDA to improve the level of their diets. All coupons are spent like cash at local retail food stores.

David J. O'Neal, Officer-in-Charge urged all families in need of food assistance to visit the local food stamp certification office at 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac, Michigan.

Vets offered training

A Veterans Administration drive to develop new job-training positions for veterans with business firms produced 7,300 new job "slots" in November.

A total of 26,500 have been developed since the agency launched an expanded national on-the-job training "outreach" effort in mid July.

Under the intensified "outreach" program, specialists from VA regional offices visit local firms to encourage them to establish programs for veterans, and assist in setting them up.

VA officials noted that while taking training a veteran with no dependents receives a starting stipend of $108 monthly from the agency and at least one-half the salary (from employer) of the job for which he is training.

They pointed out that finding jobs for veterans is not a primary responsibility of VA (Dept. of Labor has that), however, VA is a leading employer of veterans and sponsors or promotes various job-finding activities such as job fairs, job banks and job counseling.

Veterans interested in training opportunities were urged to contact VA regional offices in their area, any VA office, or representatives of veterans service organizations, or writing VA, P.O. Box 100022, to the State Office in your state.

County accidents increase

Oakland County ended 1971 with a 9.3 percent increase in traffic fatalities while the State of Michigan showed a decrease of 4 percent, according to the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County (TIA).

Provisional year-end reports show 189 traffic deaths in Oakland County for the year as compared with 173 for 1970.

Michigan's traffic death toll for 1971 stands at 2,445 - thirty-two persons less than the 2,477 recorded in 1970.

In commenting on last year's increase, TIA managing director Bruce B. Madsen said that, "Last year's fatal accident experience should consider the fact that Oakland County had a 17 percent decrease in 1970 and that vehicle travel in Oakland County has increased by an estimated 12 to 15 percent in the past two years."

Fifteen traffic deaths were reported in Oakland County for December, 1971 compared to 14 for December, 1970.

The direct costs of traffic accidents in Oakland County, according to a formula provided by the National Safety Council, approaches $47 million. TIA maintains that this is an extremely conservative estimate which could be doubled and still be less than the actual costs.

Although some 1970 accident reports are still being received for processing by TIA's Traffic Data Center, a projection of trends suggests that persons injured in traffic last year will reach nearly 19,000.

Seal sale nets $56,000

Funds are also used for medical research at Michigan's leading universities and continuing education seminars for physicians, nurses and other paramedical personnel.

Residents who have not yet answered their Christmas Seal appeal are still urged to do so.

Unemployment on rise

The number of jobless individuals in Michigan increased by 14,000 from November to December to a total of 272,000 or 7.5 percent of the labor force, according to MESC Director S. Martin Taylor.

This compares with November's

Belaney new State Bank VP

William Belaney, former assistant manager of the North Oakland Chamber of Commerce and sales manager for radio station WPON, has been elected a vice president of the Pontiac State Bank.

He will have charge of the bank's advertising and public relations activities in addition to other senior officer responsibilities.

Belaney's election was announced by Milo J. Cross, chairman of the bank's board of directors, and by Edward E. Barker Jr., its president.

unemployment level of 258,000 or 7.1 percent of the labor force.

Despite the increase, the current December figures are below those registered in December, 1970 when unemployment amounted to 280,000 or 7.7 percent.

The rise in unemployment was due to season cutbacks in the construction industry and the inability of many temporary holiday job seekers to find work.

These factors exerted less impact in the Detroit area. Detroit tri-county unemployment, at 127,000 or 7.2 percent, is 2,000 above November's total of 125,000 or 7.1 percent. In December of 1970 the unemployment amounted to 125,000 or 7.1 percent of the labor force.

Michigan's labor force expanded by over 20,000 in the past month.

Jaycees now more than 300,000 strong work for community betterment in 6,400 communities in the nation.

Want to be creative?

A new five week series of workshops called "Using the Creative Process" will explore what creativity means and how it can be utilized more effectively in day-to-day living.

The weekly workshops, beginning Wednesday, February 2, 9:30-12:30, will be coordinated by Barbara Hoffmann of the Continuum Center staff at Oakland University and will be held at the Meadow Brook Clubhouse.

Enrollees will learn the elements of the creative problem solving process and how to generate more and better ideas for solutions through "thinking and doing" exercises.

Three methods of self-expression will demonstrate the importance of awareness, fantasy, and "playing with ideas" in stretching the imagination. Mrs. Dennis McAvoy, Rochester Adult Education art teacher, will discuss creativity in childhood - how to help, not hinder its development.

Participants will also experiment with art media to produce objects. Mr. Ralph Lambert of Rochester, a drama workshop instructor, will use creative exercises and spontaneous role playing to show the part that fantasy plays in our perception of ourselves and others.

Mrs. Mordecai Halpern, Temple dancer of Royal Oak, will demonstrate how body movement and physical tension and relaxation affects our thinking processes.

Sensory dullness and other blocks to creativity will also be examined. To enroll, call the Continuum Center, 377-3033.

Results of state civil service examinations and rankings on resulting employment lists will be public information effective January 17, State Personnel Director Sidney Singer announced.

All civil service examination announcements published January 17, 1972, or thereafter will contain a notice: "Employment lists resulting from this competition will be a matter of public record."
