Pure joy

Clarkston's joy in the win over Clarenceville February 18 which established the Wolves as Wayne-Oakland League champs was due for a replay Wednesday as they entered their first regional tournament. Fans swept onto the Clarkston High School gym floor and tore the baskets down following the victory over Clarenceville.

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

How do you like being exposed to the current propaganda campaign designed to make you like and accept... welcome even... red China?

This will not be an attempt to influence, but while China is "in" (assuming it still is when President Nixon returns), I'd like to tell you a 19-year-old's impression of one of their cities.

That's how old I was when the good ship AKA 86, our cargo carrier, went through the mine-infested Yellow Sea to Taku at the mouth of the Hai-Ho river. The muddy Hai-Ho.

We had to anchor a couple of miles from shore because the Gulf of Pohai was so shallow.

We carried a group of the 32nd C.B.'s and their equipment from the Philippines. Their destination was Tienstin, a couple hours up the river on a LCT (Landing Craft Tank). The date was Nov. 4-17, 1945.

Tienstin is one of the "international" cities of the world, inhabited to some extent by people deported from their own country or by those who have rejected their country.

Nine countries owned tracts of land in Tientsin at that time. They have since given the land back to China. The city of nearly 3 million is 85 miles southeast of Peking, a city of 7 million where the Reds have their headquarters... where Mr. Nixon landed.

Tientsin became a center of trade when the emperors refused to allow foreign businessmen to live in Peking. They settled in Tientsin, helped it grow into an important center of foreign trade, and did business with Peking.

I recall Tienstin's having good streets and modern facilities, at least in the hotel where we stayed while there on an overnight pass.

We raced rickshaws, tipped too much, drank Russian brandy, and bartered for cameras. The war was over and we were finally allowed to take pictures. We also shopped for bright satin robes with large dragons spitting flames. There were a great many people who spoke American. Getting directions was easy.

And, I remember it to be a friendly place. Particularly, people spoke to us on the streets, waved and nodded as we sailors "did" the town.

But, what I remember most about China is the poor. There were numerous boats on the river in which people lived. We'd take a bite of an apple and throw it in the muddy river just to watch a Chinaman reach out with a long pole with a net on the end to retrieve the core.

A man stood on the edge of a garbage scow and sorted through garbage as it was dumped down a shoot from a truck.

And, as we pulled out, a boat pulled along side. A woman held up her child and said, "Two dolla, peeze!"

Mill pond unsafe

By Jean Saile

There'll be no swimming in Clarkston's Mill Pond this summer.

A County Health Department official says the area will be posted to warn of pollution found in a testing program there last summer.

A large part of the blame is being laid on some dirty birds — the ducks who inhabit the Upper Mill Pond in anticipation of feedings made by residents there.

Melvin Goldman, Oakland County Health department sanitation supervisor, said bacterial readings taken from the portion of the Mill Pond north of Miller, showed significantly higher pollution than did the two samplings taken from the lower portion.

He pointed out however that pollution at the dam on Washington Street where children swim in the summer exceeds state standards for safe bacterial levels.

A substantial amount of the bacteria is traceable to the human body, Goldman said, a situation indicating that septic systems as well as the ducks are fouling the water.

Short of posting the pond and waiting for the village sewer system to be completed — in about two years — there is little other to be done other than discouraging people from feeding the ducks, Goldman indicated.

He said, however, that a survey of existing water bodies in the village undertaken by village employes and a more detailed water testing system, also to be handled locally in cooperation with the health department, might help clear up septic problems.

Cooperation was promised by Village President Richard Johnston.

Goldman and Jim Webster, a sanitarian assigned to the area, said the worst pollution so far located is where the Upper Mill Pond enters the Lower Mill Pond at Miller Street.

The sanitarians pointed out that pollution has also been found where the Mill Pond enters Parke Lake, but to a considerably less degree than it has been counted on Washington.

Both men also pointed out that while samplings were not taken on Middle Lake or Dollar Lake, that the village septic system discharges raw sewage into the Clinton River as it approaches Middle Lake.

Dollar Lake was also said to have problems. It was pointed out that all the lakes are connected.

The results of tests on Deer Lake found that body of water in excellent condition, Goldman said.

"Let's hope it stays that way," he added.

Condemnation on sewers set March 28

Property owners whose land will be affected by the construction of the Clarkston-Independence extension of the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor have been notified that condemnation hearings for easements will be heard at 9 a.m. March 28 before Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin.

The notices were sent to all property owners in Jack's Green Lake Park Subdivision, Clarkston Estates No. 1 and 2, Clarkston Park Subdivision, Lake Oakland Hills Subdivision, and Woodhull Lake Subdivisions 1 and 2.

The letter accompanying the notification, signed by R. J. Alexander, Oakland County Department of Public Works director, said, "Condemning the road rights-of-way does not mean that the property owner loses any of his property rights. You will still retain all rights to property and roads, however, it will give us the right to construct sanitary sewer facility."

Alexander said the condemnation procedure is being followed because of the number of lots and absentee lot owners, mortgage holders, land contract purchasers, etc.

Glennie-Garner run-off slated

The special clerk's election March 20 will feature a run-off vote between Republican Edwin Glennie and Democrat Robert Garner.

Glennie captured 755 of a total of 1,522 votes cast in Monday's primary to walk away with the GOP nomination. Garner, 18-year-old college student, took 259 votes to beat his nearest Democratic contender, Paul Derryberry, by 46 votes.

Glennie, 29, a real estate salesman of 6900 W. Church, received the most votes of the six contenders in all areas but Precinct 2, representing the southeastern portion of the township.

Dems elect Frank Crowley

Independence Township Democratic Club elected Frank Crowley, 7341 Deer Lake Road, chairman to succeed Ronald Herron when it met February 23 at the township hall.

Floyd Tower is vice chairman; Karen Herron, secretary; and Ronald Herron, treasurer. Robert Garner is trustee.

Five members named at large to serve on the executive board are Keith Humbert, Donna Buhl, James Humphrey, Stan Eaton and Guy Derryberry.

GOP to hear Cathy Lessard

Cathy Lessard, assistant press secretary for the Michigan House Republicans, will address the Independence Township Republican Club at 8 p.m. March 13 at the township hall.

It was here that Garner and Derryberry made their strongest showing in their own home precinct. Derryberry outpolled Garner in this area by 71 to 50 votes.

Democrats carried precincts 2 and 6 in total numbers of votes cast.

Of the 1,522 votes cast, 984 were Republican and 538 were Democrat. Glennie received 755 votes; Garner, 259; Derryberry, 213; Smith, 153; Yoh, 76; and Gavar, 66.

The totals included 49 absentee ballots of which 38 were cast for Republicans; Glennie taking 31 of them.

Voter participation was poor, only 21.5 percent of the registered voters turning out. Some blamed Monday morning's snowstorm for a lack of enthusiasm.

By precinct, including the general area and polling place, the vote was as follows:

Garner, successful Democratic nominee, attended that school as a student not too many years ago. He will face Edwin Glennie, Republican contender, in the March 20 clerk's election.

Village "hot bed" for drug traffic

By Jean Saile

Out of 338 arrests made in 1971 for narcotics violations by the Oakland County Narcotics Enforcement Team, 12 of them were in Clarkston.

The village placed seventh on a list of 35 policing units covered by the team. The list included Detroit, Dearborn Heights, Inkster, Flint, Roseville and Ann Arbor, as well as Oakland County communities.

"A total picture of narcotics arrests made by the State Police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the Clarkston Village police would show the number to be significantly higher than that handled by NET alone," Police Sgt. Jack McCall told the village council last week.

He indicated many of the arrests were in the village parking lot last summer.

Village President Richard Johnston commented, "It would appear Clarkston is a hotbed for congregations involved in narcotics use and sale. There must be continued support for NET and the local policing agencies."

Johnston indicated the village may be asked to support the work of NET, a team of officers from various departments who operate in disguise to infiltrate the narcotics traffic. The salaries of the men involved are paid by their home department, McCall said, however extra expenses are solicited from communities served.

The types of complaints on which the arrests were based involved everything from sale to possession and involved all types of narcotics, the NET report showed.

In line with the drug report, Johnston said a five point program to improve local policing operations, including the addition of more trained auxiliaries for use this summer when the drug traffic is expected to increase, is currently underway.

Besides the acquisition of additional men, augmenting the 12 who now serve the village, training is being promoted for all, adequate insurance to cover the men is being sought, and attempts are being made to improve community relations and communications within the department and between the department and council, he revealed.

An indication that changes may be made in the alignment of police responsibilities should the program fail was given by Village Trustee Bob Jones. Said he, "There are indications of problems, and if they aren't resolved, the council may have to step in to realign the department—starting at the top and right on through."

Bigger board good idea In Lansing

There's been some talk of letting voters decide in an upcoming election whether the present five-man township board should be increased to seven men.

It seems like a good idea to us. For one thing it's easier to avoid the complete polarization which has afflicted the present board when more opinions are represented.

For another, greater representation would be beneficial to the people of the township who also have varying viewpoints and varying problems.

The cost for two additional trustees, $1,400 per year is what Tom Bullen and Keith Humbert each receive, would be minimal compared to the benefits which might be derived.

Independence Township has now reached that stage of growth where the choice is ours. It seems it would be well worth our consideration.

Is and ought

by Jim Briney

It has been some 40 years since Michigan voters have been able to express directly their feelings in regard to preference of presidential contenders.

Because of action taken by the State Legislature and the Governor, all registered voters will again have an opportunity to indicate who they think is best suited to serve as President of the United States from 1973-1977.

After much debate, mostly over the cost of such an election, both chambers of the legislature agreed that it would be worthwhile to let the voting public exercise this democratic privilege.

The issue other than cost that drew a great deal of debate was whether precinct delegates should also come up for election at the time of the presidential preference primary election. They are going to.

The controversy over precinct delegate elections at this time arose over a ruling by the Democratic Party which stated that delegates to their national convention, slated for July 10 in Miami Beach, must be chosen in the same year as the party's nominee, whom they will be instrumental in selecting.

The Republican national nominating convention will take place in San Diego on August 21.

The primary bill establishes that the election is to be held on the third Tuesday in May of a presidential year. That date for this year is May 16.

So, if you are interested in running for president of the United States (or for precinct delegate), you should begin by circulating your nominating petition which is available through your local clerk's office.

The May 16 election will be the first opportunity that an estimated 600,000 young people, enfranchised when the voting age was lowered to 18 years, will have to participate in a statewide Michigan election.

It also presents the very significant opportunity for them to be on that May 16 ballot as candidates for precinct delegates. Winning that election will give some young persons in our county an excellent chance of being selected to serve as delegate to the state and national convention of the party they affiliate with.

State Representative Jim Brown, R-Okemos, tried to pass an amendment to the primary legislation that would have given the voter the privilege, also, of designating who he wanted to serve as vice-president.

While his arguments were sound and reasonable, he did not get very far with this "revolutionary" idea. Even THE STATE NEWS (The student newspaper of Michigan State University) blasted Brown on this concept.

If I have the chance to voice my opinion on the subject of the vice-presidency this year, and an opening appears, it will be in favor of Richard G. Lugar, mayor of Indianapolis, our nation's tenth largest city.

Lugar, is the first Republican mayor of that city in over 40 years, and has just completed a term as president of the National League of Cities.

He has been called the president's favorite mayor, and with good reason. Lugar, a Rhodes scholar, has accomplished the improbable for his city. During his time in office, tax rates have decreased while services have increased.

Time to plan summer

The summer recreation program in Independence Township until the present time has concerned itself mainly with the youth of the area through Little League Baseball, an attempt at girls' baseball, and the school playground program.

There are those within the community who feel the horizons should be broadened, and they are probably right.

There are probably any number of men who would enjoy organized "blooper ball" for instance, girls — who if the word went out in time — would enjoy organized baseball, and of course there's always the possibility of swim programs.

Those who speak in favor of a broadened program are looking at the families who inhabit the area, and attempting to provide recreation for all age groups.

It's a good idea and the thought of recreation programs involving the whole family is ideal.

It seems with proper coordination between the township and the school district on help and facilities, such a goal should be possible.

Township split in 3

Deliberations of the county reapportionment committee has resulted in a three-way split of Independence Township for the purpose of electing county commissioners.

One section will be tied in with Groveland, Brandon and Oxford townships, another with Orion Township, and another with Springfield and Rose townships.

There will be 31 county districts under the plan as proposed and adopted by the Republican dominated committee. Each district will contain a population of about 29,229, according to County Treasurer C. Hugh Dohany.

Sex behind the bar

By Jim Fitzgerald

More and more bars are installing electronic bartenders programmed to mix 36 basic drinks at the push of a button.

"Try asking it who won the 1927 World Series," growled John Marra, the disgruntled president of the Detroit bartenders union.

It is to laugh. Where has Marra been? He should stop in an old fashioned, non-electronic bar and ask the bartender who hit the crucial home run when the Tigers won the pennant on the last day of the 1945 season.

The bartender would smile at Marra, protrude her cleavage, wiggle her mini, and say, "Gee, I don't know. I wasn't born until 1951. Was it Gordie Howe?"

Whenever you see a male bartender today you know he is the owner and the regular bartender has run off with the driver of the Miller's High Life truck.

Long gone is the day of the wise old bartender who had lived it all and was fully qualified to advise a husband who hasn't been home in 3 weeks because his tie is caught in the bowling machine.

Joe Bartender in white shirt and bow tie has been replaced by Susie Sex in high heels and low neckline. It is nice that President Marra is concerned about his union members being replaced by push buttons. But where was his concern when it was decided that Susie's shape could sell more booze than Joe's philosophy?

This will probably get me in trouble with Women's Lib. But let's face it, Susie isn't behind the bar because she makes a great martini. She's there to be ogled by men who will buy extra drinks to prolong the pleasure of watching her reach into the cooler.

Susie doesn't wear hip huggers or minis because they're more comfortable. She wears them because they're good business. It's the corner tavern's condensed version of Hugh Hefner's bunny clubs. Anytime you see an ugly barmaid in a smock, she's the owner's wife.

Please don't think I'm knocking it. I enjoy the scenery just as much as the next lecher. But I cannot stifle my compassion for all the old Joe Bartenders who have been replaced by young dolls who use their physical charms to push Pabst. It doesn't seem fair. Some of my fondest memories are of wise old bartenders who knew when to throw me out and when to let me sleep in the back booth. There was even one who used to drive me home and create a disturbance in the front yard to distract my parents while I sneaked in the back door.

It pains me to see such fine men put out of work by Susie Sex who might excite me temporarily but would probably call the cops if I got stuck in her bowling machine.

So President Marra doesn't get much of my sympathy as he wonders how to collect union dues from an electronic bartender. Better he should worry about more important things, such as how to program a push-button bartender to answer the phone and tell my wife I just left.

Letters

Clouding the issue

Dear Editor,

It strikes me as being rather strange that some of those politicians who just a short time ago were for forced busing are now proposing anti-busing legislation. These politicians know that sooner or later that if they can't somehow cloud the issue, the people will pass an amendment to the United States Constitution that will prohibit forced busing.

If you believe what the polls show, about 80% of the people in this country want neighborhood schools without forced busing. This, then is why they did cloud the scene by introducing legislation that could be called unconstitutional by some federal judge.

I urge each and everyone of you who read this to pass the word; the only way we can be assured for having our rights not overturned, is to support the United States Constitution Amendment. (This no judge can overturn.)

It is true that legislation could be faster; but any legislation can be ruled unconstitutional. If what you want is an end to forced busing and safeguarding your right to have neighborhood schools, write the President and also your representatives in Washington or send them a telegram.

Sincerely,
Ed Manley

Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals voted 2-1 Monday to permit construction of a Marathon gas station at the southeast corner of Sashabaw and Waldon roads. Member Tom Bullen was opposed.

Independence Township Planning Commission Chairman Mel Vaara has confirmed he has been notified by Township Supervisor Gary Stonerock that Mrs. Jean Bray will not be reappointed to the commission and that her presence on the board would jeopardize any action taken by it. Stonerock further said she should not receive pay nor her name be called on the roll.

He said he based his decision on an opinion from the Michigan Township Association legal firm of Bauckham, Reed and Lang.

Some 22 cadets of Clarkston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, participated in a search Monday for a light plane down near Saginaw. The boys and their officers operated out of Bishop Airport. Hunt until the craft was spotted by two snowmobilers near Saginaw.

Out of the storefronts into the universities

by Carl W. O'Brien

Every once in a while I am accosted by some deeply concerned person who holds to the proposition that the world is in imminent danger of coming to an abrupt bad end.

When such a prophet appears it is my custom to abandon my chores clear my desk, and fall to an examination of his evidence. I have enjoyed myself immensely over the years listening to these glum but insistent prophets of catastrophe.

Of late, though, these gloomy harbingers of universal disaster seem to me to be making a good deal more sense than they used to, and frankly it is beginning to give me the creeps.

I first heard that the world was doomed to be cooked to a cinder in the summer of 1935. I received the grisly message from a hayseed evangelist in a rented storefront church. He gave mankind only until October of that dark depression year.

The reverend brother, sweating it out in blue serge suit and a starched white shirt, allowed as how we should all go back south to our native hills, hide ourselves in deep caves like tribes of antique Britons, and await the Great Disaster.

Immediately after delivering this news he passed the tamborine and bade us pause just long enough to drop a few coins in the offering to see him through until autumn and Armageddon.

Of course no one believed him but the goats. But a sizeable number of the congregation donated to the tamborine out of appreciation for a good show and an evening's entertainment.

I recall that my folks and their immediate friends were not among those taken in by the good brother's gloomy prognostications, but the widow who lived across the street from us began frantically to lay in canned goods in attic and cellar.

Later, a favorite uncle, speaking only half jokingly, told me that 1935 was such a bad year that he was afraid the world would NOT come to a fiery conclusion in October, because, frankly, there seemed to be no way out of everyone's financial difficulties; indeed, times were so tough that even bankers and retired school

Water safety

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department Marine Water Safety Division pleasure boating course will be offered from 7 to 9:30 p.m. March 6 and 8 at Sashabaw Junior High School.

teachers had turned to voting the Democratic ticket and other such desperate measures.

Since that initial experience in my early youth, I have heard variations on the evangelist's theme with surprising regularity. But lately the proofs have become less esoteric and more palpable, and the alarms are being sounded nowadays by persons of sounder learning, and whose information derives neither from inspired revelation nor from communication with the spooks of the spirit world, but from scientific investigation.

Persons of my sensible generation, who were brought up to believe in the immutable laws of physics, find these material proofs a trifle scary.

I know that in my case the skeptical smile I had worn since the prophecies of 1935 proved phony was promptly erased when man first exploded an atomic bomb in New Mexico; and the ghastly spectacle of Hiroshima has had me laughing out of the wrong side of my mouth ever since.

Now, with predictions of impending doom, come the high-domed agronomists, ecologists and the Zero Population Movement mechanics, to warn of the reverse dangers of over-population. They go so far as to present mathematical evidence showing that the once revered institution of motherhood and the children which are its fruit are not the great benefit we once deemed them, but are in fact becoming a curse.

My mind is not ready to accept this argument, regardless of the scientific approaches involved in its construction. I get a sneaking feeling that the alarmists have simply moved out of the storefront churches into the universities and donned new frocks.

I am not convinced that we will breed so furiously that we will soon be standing cheek to cheek for lack of room to sit down. My deep concern is still that suddenly, in an insane flash of atomic war, all human kind will perish, and the rats and the weevils will inherit the earth.

Drug usage individual decision

By Jean Sale

School officials in Clarkston are taking the position that students who have self-respect and are reasonably happy with themselves are not apt to get involved with drugs.

A curriculum program put in use this year, after a year's study by teachers headed by a committee composed of Mary Robbins, Bernard Wright, William Potvin and Jan Gabier, puts more emphasis on helping students to attain those goals than it does in any specialized drug program.

Much effort is being put in solving the needs of those five to 15 percent of elementary students whose needs might classify them as potential future drug abusers. In junior high the emphasis is on decision making, and the role counselors can perform in helping with problems.

In senior high school, the counseling program is emphasized; however, most educators believe that by that stage, a student has already made up his mind regarding drug usage.

The curriculum recommendations point out that it is impossible to eliminate or to legislate all possible substances of abuse.

"The individual must decide for himself whether to use or not use drugs. To be effective, prevention ultimately must be based on each student's decision not to use drugs because they are incompatible with his personal goals," the report states.

"Emphasizing that no authority, whether school official or police officer, can make that ultimate decision for him, may help the youngster clarify his personal responsibility. It may also help to reduce the adolescent tendency to view drug abuse as an act of rebellion," it continues.

The committee has determined that drug education should be viewed as a major part of a health education curriculum.

It notes, "Traditional methods of deterrence, moral persuasion or scare techniques have not proven effective. Scare techniques are not only ineffectual, but also they are detrimental to conveying needed information about the hazards of drug use."

The curriculum bases its force on a drawing together of students, staff and community. It stresses that those developing school policies must be fully informed regarding the nature of drugs, psychosocial motivations, and legal considerations.

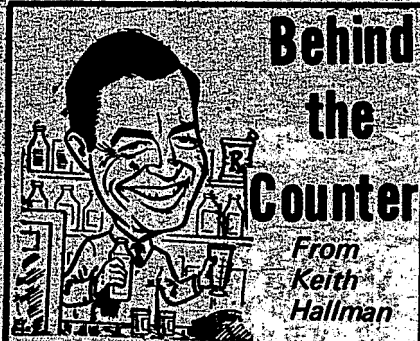

Potvin points out that help to users is an essential part of the overall program. He said most student usage involves marijuana; however, there is some hard drug traffic.

Behind the Counter

From Keith Hallman

A Midwest surgeon insists there is now no reason for a child born with a cleft palate or cleft lip to grow into adulthood with any sign of the defect. He says surgical techniques are now so varied and useful that, with perseverance, any type of this difficulty can be overcome.

If he's right, it's good news for the 6,000 American babies who will be born this year with a cleft. This is one of the most common of birth defects, and may result in difficulties with chewing, swallowing, speaking and hearing.

Early in the development of the unborn child, the parts of the head which form the roof of the mouth meet and grow together. When these fail to unite, the child is born with an opening that may affect all or part of the palate. The lip can be involved along with the roof, or by itself.

Dental problems often arise because the teeth are twisted or in a poor position, and the passageway from the nose to the ear is vulnerable to infection. Also, of course, there can be severe effects on the child's emotional state, but studies show he can ultimately adjust if his parents' attitude is positive.

Above all, they should not feel guilt or resentment; the cleft lip and palate now appear to be true accidents in most cases, for which no cause can be established and for which no prevention could have been provided.

A free booklet on this problem may be obtained from the Public Health Service, 330 Independence Ave., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201. Ask for Publication 1487 in the Health Information Series No. 135.

Suit postponed

The hearing on the suit against Supervisor Gary Stonerock and the Independence Township Board has been postponed to March 30, according to Circuit Court officials.

It was originally scheduled for February 23. Three citizens contend in the suit that Stonerock is receiving a technically illegal raise in salary awarded him at the township's last annual meeting.

Spiritual Message

HALFWAY

Within a week the season of Lent will be half gone. I wonder if that means any of us are halfway toward some Lenten goal? Instead of some arbitrary self-denial of a pleasure which will be resumed after Easter, isn't there some practice or way of life which we might improve permanently?

Nicodemus was a man of mature years who matured in indelibly marked ways during a first Lent which he was not aware of passing through until it was past. Under cover of darkness he had checked out the teachings of the young rabbi and was amazed at a new teaching of rebirth. But at the beginning of his Lent he was too reticent to go into the sunlight for

Mark H. Caldwell

"Nicodemus, who had first gone to see Jesus at night, went with Joseph... The two men took Jesus' body and wrapped it in linen cloths with the spices."

the cause. Halfway through his Lent he was still uncommitted. But his conscience and heart were being sensitized. Therefore when his own peers in the Sanhedrin plotted to arrest the new teacher, he cried out against unjust and illegal tactics, but to no avail. Except for a surprise resurrection at the end of that dark weekend, Nicodemus would have matured too late. But he finally came out in the open as a follower of his hero, when the hero hung dead on a Roman stake, by claiming his body for honorable burial in his wealthy friend's mausoleum.

Is there a commitment to some good you have been intending to make? There is truly more urgency to Lent than waiting out a sentence of restricted pleasures. It could be an impulse for mature life!

County counsel modifies opinion

County Civil Counsel Robert Allen has modified a February 9 opinion to agree that voter registrations accepted by Township Acting Clerk Robert Vandermark since December 7 are valid.

Allen, in an opinion to County Clerk Lynn Allen, would make no further opinion about the validity of registrations accepted by other township employees since the resignation of former clerk, Howard Altman.

He said he based the modification on additional facts as to what transpired at the Dec. 7 township meeting.

His February 9 opinion held that all registrations accepted in the township after Altman resigned were illegal until the township board on January 27 moved to reaffirm the employees' status as legally qualified to accept registrations.

Stanley Kurzman of the township law firm of Campbell, Lee, Kurzman and Leitman stressed again to The Clarkston News, "We are 1000 percent convinced there is no problem with any registrations."

He reaffirmed, "The girls who accept the registrations do not come under that statute which affected the deputy named by Altman. All registrations are valid."

Deputy John Shiff, named by Altman prior to his resignation, was informed his job no longer existed once Altman resigned. It was at that time that the board named Robert Vandermark acting clerk.

Jaycettes plan fashion show

Plans for a benefit fashion show March 27 at the Clarkston High School Little Theater were made by Clarkston Area Jaycettes when they met February 23 at the Episcopal Church.

The show will feature clothing from Judy's and the Town Shop. Proceeds will help purchase Deer Lake beach equipment.

The group also finalized plans for its girls' recreation swim program this month at Oakland University, and discussed preparation of slides to show the effects of accidental poisoning. The slides would be made available to the community.

A puppet show March 25 and a geranium sale this spring were planned. Also under consideration is a Men's Night bowling party at which Jaycettes will honor their husbands.

The group installed Mrs. Randy Heltman as a new member.

Girl Scouts told to collect tax

Northern Oakland County Girl Scouts which include Clarkston will be asking for 4c sales tax for each box of cookies they deliver to their customers this week.

According to Margaret Greaves, NOLGSC Cookie Chairman, the State of Michigan has required the Council to pay a 4% use tax on the wholesale cost of cookies for some time. Under a new ruling, however, sales tax must be paid on the full sale price of $1.00.

Mrs. Greaves stated, "that the difference amounts to over $5,000 and if we absorb that cost it will mean that girls will be denied Scouting opportunities."

"This announcement could not come at a more difficult time," Mrs. Greaves agreed, "but we did not receive word from the State until late January. By that time the girls were completing their original order taking."

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale provides: workshops, courses for troop leaders, troop camping equipment, library and resource centers, and maintenance of the year-around Camp Sherwood.

Business women meet

Waterford Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will meet March 8 at the Pontiac Country Club for cocktails at 6 p.m. and a program at 7 p.m.

Dr. Hima Geno knows your problem

Dr. Hima Geno, D.E. (Doctor of Everything) has graciously consented to offer his advice to troubled readers. Feel free to tell him anything. Nothing disturbs him any more than he already is.

Dear Sweet,

While there seems little danger of curdling, still I would be willing to conduct special tests on your individual chemistry. Your place or mine?

Dr. Hima Geno D.E.

Dear doctor,

My friends keep leaving bottles of mouthwash sitting around in places where I might find it. I don't know whether to drink it, gargle with it or wash in it. I can't get close enough to them to ask. What should I do?

Uncertain

Dear Uncertain,

You may prefer to gargle with it; however, I find drinking it — providing the alcoholic content is sufficient to combat infection — works best for me. After a few swallows, who cares what your friends think?

Dr. Hima Geno D.E.

Dear Doctor,

Do you think it's all right to drink milk and eat lemon pie at the same time? I'm afraid of curdling.

Cougars win Brighton tournament

A broken leg failed to stop Jill Breckenridge from cheerleading during a recent Clarkston-Sashabaw encounter. She, Barb Neff and Marcia Johnson went into pyramid formation just like they had six good legs.

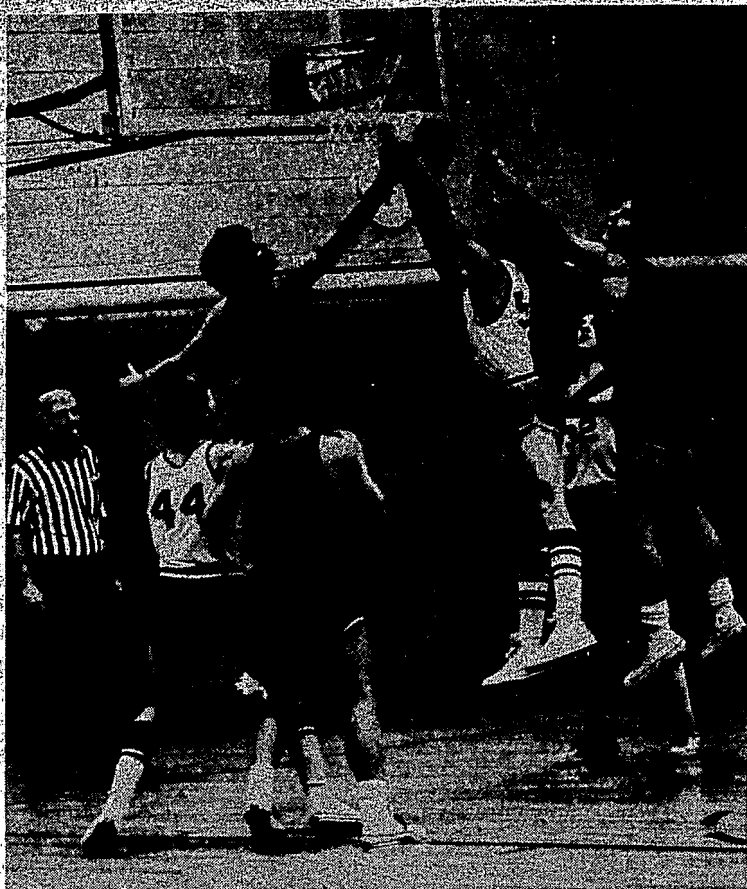

The Sashabaw Cougar ninth grade basketball team rolled to their 4th straight win and the Brighton Tournament Championship last Thursday night, by defeating Milford 58-56.

Coach Duane Lewis' Cougars trailed at the end of the first period 12-10. In the second period the Cougars' pressing defense and Jeff Casper's 20 points pushed them into a 35-24 halftime lead. At the end of three quarters Sashabaw led 48-35. In the final period Bob Phillips fouled out and Milford began to control the rebounds. Milford then rallied to tie the score at 56-56 with 50 seconds in the game. Paul Breiningner then dropped in two crucial free throws and Sashabaw's defense held for the win.

Jeff Casper captured the game scoring honors with 32 points. This breaks the previous individual scoring record of 28 points set earlier this season by Jerry Whitehead. Jerry Whitehead was also in the double figures with 12 points.

Sashabaw out-rebounded Milford 37-34. Cecil Jones was the leading rebounder with nine.

To win the Brighton Tournament, Sashabaw defeated Willow Run in the first game 60-47. In the semifinals, Sashabaw defeated Clarkston Junior High School in a very exciting game 60-53.

Sashabaw took Clarkston in this encounter during the Brighton Tournament. Players in the white shirts are Clarkston Junior High teammates Randy Limbaugh, 44; Mike Coulter, 54; and Randy Miller, 32. The dark clads are Dave Heffernan, 41; Jerry Whitehead, 33; and Bob Phillips, 55, of Sashabaw.

Clarkston-Sashabaw encounter Friday

Clarkston Junior High will be host to Sashabaw Junior High Friday at the high school gym. The game will close the 1971-72 basketball season for both schools.

Originally scheduled for Saturday, March 4, the game was advanced a day because of the position of Clarkston's Varsity in the district tournament and the possible conflict that might result.

The Wolverines have won 9 out of their last 11 games and the Cougars from Sashabaw are fresh from winning the Brighton Tournament.

Clarkston won the first encounter between the schools and Sashabaw won the second, by knocking Clarkston out of the Brighton Tournament.

A preliminary game between 8th grade boys from the intramural squads of the two schools will begin at 6:30 p.m. The 9th grade game will follow after the introduction of players' parents and the cheerleaders.

In recent past action the Wolverines had their easiest victory of the year when they defeated Cranbrook 58 to 40.

Clarkston jumped to an 8 to 0 lead, 19 to 4 in the first quarter and 39 to 9 at halftime.

All of the regulars were out midway in the first quarter and the reserves finished the game. Fourteen of the Wolverines scored with Mike Coulter the only player to reach double figures with 10 points.

Clarkston Junior High lost its second tournament game 60 to 53 to Sashabaw Junior High. The Wolverines who lost five players with fouls led most of the game with 13 to 9 in the first quarter, 23 to 21 at the half and 46 to 39 at the end of the third quarter. Leading the Wolverine scoring were George Porritt with 14 points, Randy Miller with 13 points and Mike Coulter and Randy Limbaugh with eight points each.

The Wolverines picked up their ninth win of the season by defeating the tournament hosts, Brighton, 59 to 37. The Wolverines were led by Randy Miller with 16 points, Randy Limbaugh with 14 points and Mike Coulter with 13 points.

Wolves end season with loss

By Craig Moore

"We stunk!" commented Coach Dave McDonald after last place Milford Redskins beat his league champion team, 76-72 in a single overtime on Friday, February 25.

McDonald chose not to start his big men and Milford ran the Wolves the whole opening quarter to gain a 21-11 lead. By the end of the period, however, McDonald put in his regular starters who came out of the second quarter in a 32-all tie with the Redskins.

The second quarter was called and the game somewhat delayed as one of the game referees twisted his ankle badly with 0:32 remaining in the first half and had to be replaced.

The 32 seconds was run with the third quarter.

The Wolves took the lead in the third period but never had a large enough lead to feel comfortable about. The quarter ended with Clarkston ahead, 53-51.

Clarkston held a shaky lead most of the final period and with 0:13 left in regulation play, Redskin John Glaza hit on a pair of free throws to tie the game 70-70 and put it into overtime.

The contest was momentarily interrupted again in the fourth quarter when a fight broke out in the Milford stands and the two minutes left in play was the resumed.

Milford scored a quick basket and 2 free throws in the overtime and Clarkston's Bill Craig sunk a basket to put the Wolves within 2 points, 74-72.

Bill Bildstein missed the 2 free throws which would have tied the game later in the overtime but Milford packed things away with a pair of free throws with 0:16 remaining to defeat Clarkston 76-72.

Gary White topped Clarkston in scoring and rebounding with 19 points and 10 rebounds. Bill Craig added 16 points and 6 rebounds.

Coach McDonald said, "Things got back to the early season 'game doesn't mean anything' attitude and it was our goal and championship, so the team had no reason to play basketball."

Clarkston finished their season as Wayne-Oakland League champs with an 8-2 league record and an 11-5 overall season record.

The Wolves go into the District Tournament this week. All games are played at Waterford Mott High School.

Clarkston drew a bye and as a result will play the victor of a game between Waterford Township and Pontiac Northern on Monday, February 28. The Clarkston game is Wednesday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m.

3 students in accident

Three Clarkston High School students were involved in a minor injury action Friday night as they traveled to the Clarkston basketball game in Milford.

Waterford Township police said David Thomas, 18, 6601 Pear, driver of the Clarkston car, and his passengers, Charles Camarro, 18, of 5441 Oakpark, and Bryan Gerber, 17, of 5915 Maybee, sought private treatment for minor injuries sustained when their car was hit head-on by one driven by Richard Cook of Pontiac.

The accident occurred at 7:15 p.m. at Williams Lake and Hatchery Road. Waterford police said Cook was ticketed when his car was reported as crossing the center line in front of Thomas.

Reading class has program for parents

There will be a meeting for parents with children in Clarkston, Elementary School's remedial reading classes at 10 a.m. Tuesday, March 7 in the Special Services Building, at the end of the high school parking lot off Waldon Road.

The meeting is open to all parents, especially those in the remedial reading program. The main speaker will be from the Oakland County Health Department.

That extra arm belongs to an opponent as Rod Latimer, Clarkston High School senior in his first year of wrestling, accomplishes another victory. Latimer has compiled a record of 28-8 and took both the Fenton and Clarkston Invationals. He was also Wayne-Oakland Conference champ at 145 pounds, and will take part in the state wrestling finals. Coach Richard Moscovic feels Latimer's success is due primarily to his attitude and willingness to perform.

Trooper Vern Erickson has been a part time faculty member in the Clarkston system for about a year, and has become a valuable resource person to many teachers. He willingly cooperates with staff members or students who request his services, and welcomes the opportunity to meet young people in a friendly, information-sharing way—rather than in the disciplinary capacity in which they might expect to find him.

Students encouraged in legislative process

By Robin Ridley

State Rep. Michael Dively, R-Traverse City, sponsor and primary author of the Age of Majority legislation which took effect January 1 making 18-year-olds legal adults, encouraged newly franchised voters to take part in the elective process when he spoke Tuesday to Clarkston Senior High School students.

"The deadline for filing for precinct delegate is March 24. If you do petition, your name will be on the ballot. It would be sort of fun to see your name on the ballot and some of your friends might vote for you," Dively said.

"Who knows? You might win," he told the students.

The representative reported that about half the delegate positions in Michigan are vacant each year.

Speaking about the age of majority, Dively told the students of the different rights new adults have — "such as being able to make out wills, sign contracts — you can even commit yourself to mental institutions, although I don't know whether you really appreciate this," he said.

"Many 18-year-olds I have talked to recently said that they find adulthood a two-edged sword — the upper edge the rights and privileges and the lower, the new responsibilities that go with them."

Erickson thinks of his job as being preventive, rather than corrective. He enjoys responding to invitations to various classrooms at all grade levels. In the elementary schools, he often talks with the children regarding safety. In the junior or senior high school, he is more likely to be involved in discussion of the laws themselves, and procedures of enforcement—or the responsibilities of citizenship.

He says that knowing more about what the laws ARE prevents what might be violations through ignorance of the law's existence. As an example, he discussed laws that relate to a teenager's and parents' legal responsibility in case a young person should decide to run away from home.

Laws relating to drug involvement are currently of great concern to students and staff, and Trooper Erickson gives information on this subject as requested. He is happy also to counsel students who are thinking of police work as a career.

Trooper Erickson's experience in the Michigan State Police goes back seven years, nearly five of which have been with the Pontiac Post. His office space is at Sashabaw Junior High, but he is available to all Clarkston schools. The balance of his time is used in visiting one hundred and twenty elementary schools in Oakland County, where he works particularly on safety programs.

Discuss drugs

District Judge Kenneth Hempstead of Waterford described his visits to large cities in the United States, Canada and England in an effort to learn what is being done to rehabilitate drug addicts when he spoke Thursday before the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Judge Hempstead also discussed the work of the Residents' Awareness Program (RAP) which involves Waterford, White Lake, Springfield and Independence Townships. He said the Webster School in White Lake Township has been purchased and is currently being readied for a May opening.

Women of the club were served dinner by Troop 116 of the Girl Scouts preceding the talk.

with the notation, "Wish I was here."

It's February "funks" time, and while we've lived past the most unglorious month of the year, it's still too long 'til spring.

Television has palled. Books are giving me eye strain. The snow isn't pretty. The kids are underfoot. Even a roaring fire in the fireplace has lost its esthetic value.

And meantime those picture-pretty postcards keep coming in.

Bah!

Still, postcards can be fun. A man we know keeps getting postcards from all over the world, signed by an unknown "Claude."

"This is the motel I was telling you about," says one.

"This is the bridge I was telling you about," says another.

"This is the Eiffel Tower I was telling you about," reports another.

They come from all over the world, and it was a great mystery until our friend discovered one of his friends had everyone he knew drop the "Claude" cards in the mail from wherever they might be.

Now that's the kind of event February needs... a mystery... a defiance of reality... suspense... something a person can mull for hours at a time... something besides snow again, or income tax time coming up, or watching the gas meter whirl—the occupations normally inherent to this time of year.

It's kind of like the Christmas cards everybody received signed "Frank and Jenny" and you have no idea who Frank and Jenny are or ever were in your life.

Even in the rush of Christmas, that's always worth some thought. Think how much more exciting it would be if it happened in the doldrums of February.
