An article in the Morning Friendly March 26 about "Maverick and Comet Going Glamorous" set me to wondering about steel belted tires.

Spring garden

Easter bonnets sprouted like flower gardens at the Salvation Army's senior citizen gathering Thursday. Top prize winners were Hilda Hansard of Holly, Rettia Meretsky of Ortonville and Mary McNeil of Union Lake. The bonnet parade followed a noon potluck luncheon.

The story was on Ford's making luxury compacts of these 2 cars. One of the luxuries they talked about was an option package that included the steel belted radial tires.

Free Press automotive writer Tom Kleene quoted Ford's product planning manager, James A. Capolongo, saying, "A big part of this (luxury package) is the steel-belted radial tires, which require design modifications in the car that normally do not figure in merchandising package offers."

The part that set me to wondering was the "require design modifications." Is this something that is required on all cars, like my Pontiac wagon? If so, do the tire salesmen tell you this when they sell you the tires?

I had visions of sharpies selling me a set of tires and having them put stress and strain on my car that would make it wear out even faster than it is now.

The thought persisted and I went to a tire dealer. He assured me the steel belted radial tires are just "super" tires that work great on all standard cars. They would no way affect the wear and tear on the car.

Reassured, I asked the cost. Roughly they cost $90... each.

The tire dealer was right... they will no way affect the wear and tear on my car.

Did you hear about the fellow who had a blind date?

When his "buddy" pointed her out he could see she easily topped the scales at 350 pounds and he said, "I can't believe I date the whoooooole thing."

The good book for coming up with conversational gems comes from a tome by Leo Guild, What Are the Odds. Here are a few bon mots which will prove how brilliant the speaker is:

"The odds are 900 to 1 that you will stay on one job for more than 10 years and the odds are 1,500 to one against your ever becoming the boss.

"The odds against ever becoming a millionaire are 20,000 to 1.

"Choose any winter day and the odds are only 7 to 1 that you won't have a cold.

"If you are sitting reading this with your clothes on, that's the way it should be because the odds against your being a nudist are 8,000 to 1.

"For those girls seeking mates the odds are 2 to 1 in favor of males in Montana. Canada is no place for the girls to try. Girls outnumber boys 24-18.

"Children conceived in the first half of the year are more likely to be geniuses or insane criminals.

"The odds are 1 to 35 that a United States citizen will write a letter to a columnist for the Lovelorn this year."

Insurance figures show that last year 75,000 people died by gas. Thirty-five percent inhaled it, 17 percent were burned by it and 48 percent stepped on it.

Road plan, park purchase approved

Two of the knottiest and most controversial problems facing the Township Board this year were solved last night in an amicable manner.

Clerk J. Edwin Glennie and Trustee Tom Bullen voted along with Supervisor Gary Stonerock and Trustee Keith Humbert to use a $38,000 state grant for the purchase of a 40 acre park at Sashabaw and Maybee Roads. Treasurer Ken Johnson abstained.

Bullen, who has previously favored neighborhood parks as opposed to a central park, stipulated that Federal Open Space funds also be applied for. It was noted the two grants could furnish 80% of the cost and that the presently approved state grant would be lost were the Township to change its goals.

In return Stonerock and Humbert voted for a "flexible" master road right of way plan which would eventually put a 204 foot divided road down Maybee as opposed to the Detroit Edison border which the two had previously favored.

The Board also approved final rezoning for Jaber Corp. Development which will feature 325 condominium units and a major shopping complex on 77 acres at White Lake Road and Dixie Highway.

The Township was presented a deed to an 11 acre parcel for use as a park by residents of the condominium. Work on the condominium is to start within six weeks, said Jack Friedman, owner. The mall, to be developed later, will be a two story enclosed facility, he added.

The meeting which was recessed until Wednesday night, April 19 also introduced an amendment which would provide greater lot split control in the zoning ordinance. At the same time, based on an opinion from attorney Richard Campbell, the board rescinded approval granted two weeks ago for a Sunny Beach Subdivision split.

Board of appeals procedures were also amended to provide notification of neighbors in case of pending lot splits.

The Board condemned two homes in Woodhull Lake Subdivision at 4687 Lakeview and 4736 Hillcrest. The first had been damaged by fire and the second beset with sewage and other problems. Both homes are vacant. A Woodhull clean up the first Saturday in May, was announced.

Bids totaling $6,295 were accepted for purchase of a new Fire Department pickup truck and grass fire fighting unit.

A decision to expand planning consultant Larry Burkhardt's time with the Township from one to two days a week while the process is implemented to locate a full time planner was approved by the Board after it heard from Planning Commission members.

A permit was issued to allow a 16 mile "walk for mankind" May 6. Robert Garner said 50% of the proceeds from the sponsored hike would go to Project Concern and 50% would be returned to the Township for probable use in Independence House, a volunteer referral and help center just getting started.

The Board took under consideration a $1,000 request by Clarkston area Jaycees to purchase playground equipment for Deer Lake Beach, now under renovation by the club.

Program brings college to high school

NYC jobs available

Jan Gabier, Clarkston High School assistant principal, enrolls Mike Redwood and Kevin Kartje, seniors, in beginning daytime college courses offered at the school by Oakland Community College. The boys, who have some free time in the afternoon, believe they'll get a head start on college next year by taking the courses.

Oakland Community College will offer selected college credit daytime courses to Clarkston Senior High School students and interested adults, beginning May 1 through June 19.

Special arrangements have been made with the college to teach English I, Introduction to Psychology and Sociology, school officials said. Each class, worth three college credits transferable to most college programs, will meet two days a week from noon to 2:45 p.m.

English I and Introduction to Psychology will meet Monday and Wednesday and Sociology will meet Tuesday and Thursday.

Adults as well as those seniors now free from high school afternoon classes must register and pay tuition and admission fees at the high school. The cost is $10 per credit hour plus $1 per hour activity fee.

The program is being tried on a pilot basis, according to Jan Gabier, assistant Clarkston High School principal. If successful, the courses will continue through the summer, she said.

"The courses will enable many students to complete the first semester of college prior to entry in the fall," Miss Gabier stated.

DeMolay salemen on the way

Members of the Clarkston Cedar Chapter of DeMolay will start a club project to raise funds next week by selling subscriptions to The Clarkston News.

They'll be knocking on doors, selling the subscriptions to interested homeowners, and earning money for such endeavors as their recent purchase of an organ for the Clarkston Masonic Temple.

Teenagers between 14 and 18, meeting the requirements of a family income scale, are eligible to apply for summer jobs through the federally funded Neighborhood Youth Corps program.

Applications for employment are available from Tom Collins, Clarkston Office of Economic Opportunity representative, whose offices are in the old library adjacent to the township hall.

Youngsters meeting the income requirements, based on family size and unusual medical expenses, can apply for jobs typing, filing, as switchboard operators, receptionists, teacher aides, tutorial aides, food lab assistants, library assistants, bookstore assistants, counselor aides, locker room aides, and in equipment care, shop maintenance, building maintenance, grounds maintenance and recreational, Collins said.

Jobs will be available starting Monday, April 24, and will continue through the summer. Working time when school is in session will average about 10 hours a week and after school is closed about 27 hours a week, Collins said. Employees will be paid $1.60 per hour.

Collins said the program will be able to hire virtually as many eligible young people as can be identified. Further information is available at 625-2900.

MLCC fines Pine Cone

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has fined Pine Cone Inc. $100 and ordered it to submit a corrected transfer within 90 days or have its license suspended until such transfer is consummated.

Pine Cone Inc., 7777 Pine Knob Road, was charged with sale or transfer of a Class B-hotel liquor license without Michigan Liquor Control Commission consent.

Jaycees start beach renewal

Dead trees, stumps and litter were removed from the Deer Lake Beach last weekend as a Clarkston Area Jaycees work crew fought the rainy weather.

A $6,000 improvement program for the beach was nevertheless launched with preparations being made for the advent of a bulldozer this weekend.

Beach fill, preservation of trees, conservation work on the canal that connects with Cemetery Lake, construction of a footbridge over it, and the fencing off and furnishing of a tot lot are proposed in the plans.

Jaycees have committed $4,700 of treasury funds toward the project, as well as a lot of man hours between now and next June when the project is to be completed.

Area residents who would like to help, but who are not members of the Jaycees, are invited to call Jaycee president, David Nadolsky at 625-2837 or William Halsey, project chairman, at 625-4057 to learn about work schedules.

The Jaycees have been loaned technical assistance and advice from Al Valentine, who has also arranged for the purchase of needed fill dirt and sand at reduced cost.

The donation of steel I-beams for bridge construction plus the loan of equipment has been made by Paul Frechette.

FISH needs space

Space is what Clarkston's branch of FISH, the county-wide volunteer help organization, most needs.

A clothes closet at Central Methodist Church is filled to overflowing with garments donated by area residents to help those in need.

What Mrs. James Benson of 6092 Middle Lake Road and Mrs. Robert Key of 6460 Snowapple visualize with most fondness is a bigger spot to accommodate the closet and where they could set up a "Thrift Shop," allowing people to purchase good clothes at prices they can afford.

The two are active members of a small band of area FISH, dedicated to the service of helping those in need. "We don't deal in money. We refer those kinds of calls to churches or other agencies in the position to help," said Mrs. Benson.

Since the group got organized here last spring, FISH has assisted with food, clothing, transportation and fuel oil for about 15 families in the area. It also assists with calls arising in other parts of the county.

One of the first calls received in the Clarkston area was from an elderly man, already getting some public assistance, who had run out of fuel oil in the night. In meeting that need, FISH learned he was not getting all the benefits he was entitled to, saw the proper people, and improved his lot considerably.

Food calls come mostly from people on some form of assistance whose grocery budget has been depleted by emergency costs, Mrs. Benson said.

A young Walled Lake man who was paralyzed was brought along by professionals to the point where he was able to be mostly self-sufficient, even to the point of driving a car.

When he lapsed into lying on his front porch watching television most of his days, FISH entered the scene and put him in touch with Clarkston's Jerry Dark who as a paraplegic has managed to live an almost normal life. Now the young Walled Lake man's chances are brightening, says Mrs. Benson.

A FISH worker such as Mrs. Benson finds herself on the telephone a great deal. "That's what bothers my husband most — when I spend the whole evening on the telephone," she admitted. She's committed to work one day a week as a "back-up FISH."

Mrs. Key has charge of the clothes closet, and there are other FISH who answer telephone calls and who are on the front line in the effort to bring services to people who really need them.

Still mainly a project of Clarkston Methodist Church, Clarkston FISH, however, received benefits from the Thanksgiving community church service, and that money has been put aside to meet local needs.

Mrs. Benson has visions that in the Thrift Shop, all the area's church organizations would work side by side. She'd like to get a project like that going by fall.

Mrs. James Benson and Mrs. Robert Key examine an "almost new" coat donated to their overcrowded FISH clothes closet at Clarkston Methodist Church. The women are active in a volunteer help organization tied in with units in Pontiac, Lake Orion and Ortonville.

Dinner honors students

The 62 Clarkston High School students and the 60 area merchants who employ them on a cooperative work program with the schools will be feted at the second annual Co-op Banquet at 7 p.m., Wednesday, April 26, at Howe's Lanes.

About 127, including the State Department of Vocational Education Advisory board which sponsors the program, are expected to be present.

Serving on the local board are Mrs. William Mansfield, office advisor; Keith Hallman, retail advisor; Tom Rademacher, trade and industrial advisor; and Judge Gerald McNally, member at large.

Students will be awarded certificates of program completion and their employers will be given certificates of appreciation for their participation in the program.

The personal touch

It's encouraging to see personal effort invested in community problems — over and above the sometimes easier route of signing a check.

FISH is an organization which exemplifies such effort. In existence a year, it's meeting the needs of people on a personal basis.

In addition to FISH, there's the idea of Independence House — another example of people giving of themselves.

The Jaycees have planned to spend plenty of hard labor as well as money in their project of fixing up Deer Lake Beach.

Churches — Saint Daniel's for one — have moved into the area of service for people in need.

It's nice to know in a community such as ours that people care. Fire victims, families where illness has struck, and poverty cases can all attest to that caring.

Last Sunday the Methodist Sunday School recognized the birthdays of Donna Jean Harris, 4, and Diane Hursfall, 5.

"If It Fitz . . ."

I have a dream, but . . .

I know this man who has a terrible problem.

John, a charming middle-aged fellow, was bragging mildly to his friends at the golf club. He'd found a perfect winter home in the southwest. "I like it for 3 reasons," he explained, "there are no Negroes, no Jews and no old people."

Further conversation revealed that the last 2 reasons could almost be rolled into one. He had been bugged by all the elderly folks "bent over and shuffling" along Collins Ave. in Miami. "And they're all Jews," he added.

The age bit must bug John the most. He knows there is no way he is going to turn black or Jewish. But the only alternative to growing old is rather unpleasant. The day may come when he will not want to live next door to himself.

I've never heard anyone accuse John of being a bigot. No one has ever pointed a finger at him and said: "White racists like you, through the years, have created the race problem that is tearing America apart today. Maybe the worst thing you have created is black racists."

In the country club set, no one questions John's right to be "choosy." After all, he worked hard to get where he is. If he can afford a lily white tower, why shouldn't he live in it? What do you want him to do — stroll through Harlem at midnight to prove he loved the fellow man?

John and his friends can make a convincing case. They never bought any slaves. They never gassed any Jews. They are not responsible for what some fanatics did 50 or 100 years ago. They always joke with the lockerroom attendant, they think Ella Fitzgerald is the greatest singer in the world, and they do business every day with minority races. ("some of them are the nicest people you could ever hope to meet.")

But John doesn't want to live near them. He doesn't want them belonging to his club ("One or two is OK, but you let one in and the next thing you know they've taken over"). And he gets positively ill at the suggestion that some day a black

The onus is on the House of Representatives because the Senate has already passed a redistricting plan, known around here as the "incumbents' plan" because it keeps the Congressional district boundaries pretty much the way they are now, making changes only for population adjustments.

This means that the 12 Republican and seven Democratic incumbent congressmen would most likely be re-elected. The Democratic leadership doesn't like this plan, because they want to redraw the districts so more Democrats will be elected.

This incumbent plan, along with all the other plans that have been introduced, was in the House Judiciary Committee. Republicans joined by some Democratic members wanted to discharge the committee from further consideration of this plan and bring it to the House floor for a vote, and thereby live up to their responsibility.

They had planned to move to do this last Thursday, but before they could make the motion, the Democratic floor leader moved to adjourn. Members protested and demanded that a record roll call vote be held. The leadership permitted the vote and the motion to adjourn was defeated 56-46. At this point, the Dem floor leader made another motion to adjourn and the speaker simply banged the gavel adjourning the house and preventing any more business.

Needless to say, Republicans and many Democrats were incensed at this total disregard for the rules for such obvious partisan reasons.

Friday morning a meeting was held between the Democratic and Republican leaders at which Republican leader Clifford Smart, Walled Lake, warned them that Republicans would not stand for this type of action any longer, and another meeting was scheduled for Monday afternoon, April 17.

Meanwhile in session Friday, the Dems finally allowed the members to vote on discharging the bill. The motion passed, and the bill was made a special order for third reading on Tuesday, April 18.

Frankly, I'm appalled by the tactics I've seen the Dems use on occasion during this session. I'm told by Capitol observers who have been around for quite some time that last Thursday's action is unparalleled.

man might climb into bed with his daughter ("But man, that Lena Horne is some dish!").

It's a free country, isn't it? Are you trying to tell John he can't live where he wants to, and choose his own friends, and belong to Rotary instead of the NAACP?

Not me.

I know John is wrong. I cringe when he unknowingly advertises his stupid prejudice. I feel sick and lose hope when I see him teach his children the same brand of polite hate. I ache to holler out and tell John that I have a dream.

But I don't.

I know this man who has a terrible problem. It's not John. It's me.

Letters to the Editor

Johnson defended

Dear Editor,

In answer to Gregory S. Smith's letter, published 4/13 re his attack on Ken Johnson, I feel this resident has a lot to learn about the character and qualifications of the various members of the Independence Township Board.

He questions the wisdom of Mr. Johnson because he voted against the township going begging to the state for $38,376 to purchase a 40-acre park.

He also confuses the term "democratic process" with a man being a Democrat. He also questions the integrity of Mr. Johnson by his snide remarks.

All you have to do, Mr. Smith, is refer to Johnson's retirement announcement, published 12/30/71 in the Clarkston News to realize how ignorant you are. (Please refer to Webster's dictionary which says, "ignorance is a lack of knowledge.")

Johnson has been a servant to Independence Township since 1959, and to quote him, "I've always tried to consider what the people rather than the party wants." Also, "It is important that we, as public officials, attempt to determine now what kind of image we want the township to have in the future. We have to decide what to accept and what to refuse." Herein lies the reason why he voted against the park.

"Democratic process" is the way our government is carried on and not limited to Independence Township. A Democrat is a member of a political party and the two are a world apart.

I, and every other resident of Independence Township, have to admire Ken for the great job he has done for us over the years in protecting us against the Don Quixotes who have penetrated our township government.

Mr. Smith, the only thing that makes you mad is that Johnson, like a parade of elephants, will not take his tusk and grab Mr. Stonerock's tail in front of him. He is not a follower, yes man or spendthrift.

When you pair him up with Hart, this is a gross insult. Which of the two takes the position that "Taxes can eat up a person"? And which of the two has the philosophy of tax and tax and spend and spend? When you figure this out, you will have your final answer.

D. H. Burgess

P.S. I am an independent.

A taxing matter

Dear Editor,

The people of Independence Township on the whole are hard-working law-abiding citizens who desire only to live in peace and have a little left after they pay their bills to put back for a rainy day. Taxes and the cost of living have spiraled, schools costs have gone up in every community — thank goodness not as much in Clarkston as in other areas; but it all adds up to having the taxpayer in the position of having reached the limit of what he can endure.

The courts are now deciding whether or not property taxes are constitutional. If Michigan follows other states that have ruled property taxes unconstitutional to finance schools, then some other form of tax will have to be sought (probably the income tax).

The problem as I see it, is that judges who the people do not vote into office, and who they cannot remove from office, will, through their rulings, be able to raise (for almost any cause) the taxes paid by the taxpayer. In recapping this, the taxpayer will have no check on his taxes, because a judge (not voted in by the people) will tell the state what it must pay. The state will control the money for education. This same judge may rule where schools will be built and of what type.

The taxpayer will have no say on how much taxes he will pay and what they will be used for. The taxpayer who has children will have no say where his children go to school or for that matter what the state decides should be taught.

I love this country very much and have never been one who saw a communist behind every bush, but the way this is going — the government control of taxes and schools, what else is it?

The people paying the bills and with no say as to how much they will pay, or how money will be used, is not the United States our forefathers fought so hard for. We have the obligation and the duty to keep America free for all without governmental control of our lives.

My hope is that taxpayers, parents, all our citizens will rise up and let everyone know they want our United States free of government control of schools and financing. I hope we can get this country back to representing the people... not being a dictator to them. Please let your legislators hear from you and demand that they give representation to the parents and taxpayers of our country.

Thank you,
Edwin L. Manley

"Victimized by a small band"

To the Editor,

The people of Independence Township are being victimized by a small band who are catering to special interests with no regard to the needs of the people. Their voices are loud and powerful and because they have the advantage of being able to reach a majority of the people via the newspapers, they would make you believe your opinion is in the minority.

A lot of pressure is being brought on the township board and some are yielding to that pressure. Those that stand firm, refusing to sell the people they are representing down the river, are deliberately being put in a very bad light.

I realize it is inconvenient to go to the meetings personally and you can't get the whole picture by attending one meeting. Keep in mind how easy it is to take a report and turn it into something that only vaguely resembles the original by taking one sentence out of context or by printing one inane remark without the answer or by injecting your personal opinion in it. Check the voting record if you can't be there in person.

Don't be misled by the reports you are reading, when people have to go to the meetings en masse to protect their interests, such as when Bullen, Glenne and Johnson pushed through a 9,000 square foot lot split in the middle of the night, it is an indication that the people are not being served.

This situation is not unique to this area but is being repeated in all areas of our government where powerful lobbyists are persuading our officials to spend our tax dollars for their own special interests. If we are going to have good government we must support the men who have the courage to represent our interests in spite of the fact they are being subjected to various harassments by special interest groups, such as Stonerock and Humbert are suffering.

Democracy didn't come easy for us and we will have to fight to keep it. Never be too embarrassed to defend our American way of life by bringing the truth to the public.

Donna M. Buhl

For living and let live

Dear Editor,

During the past several years since the arrival of Mr. Stonerock on the scene, our quiet, serene community of Clarkston has turned into one of unrest, turmoil and childish bickering.

The latest outburst against the Clarkston Golf Club is a bit too much for even me since I, and many others from this area, get many pleasant hours of relaxation at this site.

During the past six years and at various hours — from dawn to dusk — I have yet to see any garbage being burned or extensive litter. True, there are some old engines on Mr. Frechette's property, but if they are any eyesore to anyone but him, since they are right next to his house, those they are bothering must be trespassers.

If Mr. Stonerock wants to start an anti-litter campaign, I would suggest he start with the property that joins his immediate backyard. This is an area of new homes, and unlike a few engines that sit 300 or 400 yards off the nearest road with only Mr. Frechette's home next to them.

My last point is this — if people spent their time working and taking care of their own, perhaps they wouldn't have enough time to make things unpleasant for others who believe in living and let live!

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Sommers of Clark Road, Springfield Township, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Glenda Dee, to Charles E. Baker, III. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Baker Jr. of Whipple Shore Drive, Independence Township. Both Glenda and Charles are graduates of Clarkston High School. She is employed as a clerk for Holly Schools and he is an apprentice millwright at Pontiac Motor Division and attends Oakland Community College. No date has been set for the wedding.

Child study visits Pontiac center

Clarkston Child Study Club members visited the Human Resources Center in Pontiac last week and heard its director, Dr. Thor Petersen, explain the function and purpose of the school.

Members returned for a business meeting and dessert at the home of Mrs. James Ladd on Kingfisher. Mrs. Robert Beattie was cohostess. Guests included Beverly Sherman, Virginia Schons, Pam Lay, Sue Cattin, Ruth Mullan, Helen Kushman, Laura Weld and Barbara Pietrzak.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe and sons, Rob and Tod, of Delhi Street have returned from a week's vacation with the Charles Hancock family of Bradenton, Florida. Chuck and Judy are former Clarkstonites. It seems the Lowe family indeed enjoy Florida as Mrs. William Lowe of Overlook has also returned from Tampa where she visited the Ted Dougherty family, also former Clarkston residents.

Julie Schroeder celebrated her 9th birthday with a picnic dinner party at her home on Parke Lake. Special guest was Michele Davidson of Robertson Court. Julie continued celebrating by spending the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koffer in Lovells, Michigan.

Weekend guests of Bob and Manetta Jones on Robertson Court were Don and Sharon Cooper and daughter, Susan, of Greenville. The Jones hosted a "drop-in" Friday evening for friends of the Coopers, who are former Clarkston residents, and Saturday evening the foursome joined 33 other couples for the Jaycee annual Ladies Night, this year at the DRC.

Grandparents arrived from Madison Heights and Royal Oak to help Sally Vandermark celebrate her 6th birthday.

Sally is the daughter of the Robert Vandermarks of Snowapple.

Bob and Judy Brumback and family (Scott, Kelly and Rodney) of Church Street have returned from a week and a half in Florida where they visited Judy's mother, Mrs. Martin Dean, and two sisters who reside in St. Petersburg. During their travels to Newport-Richey and Fort Myers, they ran into the vacationing Bob and Noreen Skerratt.

Everyone will be glad to hear Robert Jones is home from his vacation in the hospital. Some people will go to any length to get their name in the paper! He is feeling good, but doctors are insisting on four to six weeks R&R... so keep those cards and letters coming in. He is enjoying nap time. It seems Mrs. Jones had a surprise awaiting his arrival home from the hospital. A king-size bed — at last his piggies don't hang over the bed's end. Welcome home, Bob.

The Richard Bullens, the Charles Robinsons, the C. R. Andersons, and the William Parkers have returned from a week's visit to Torremolinos, Spain. They took many side trips to some very interesting places: Almeria, Granada and an overnight trip to Tangier, Africa.

Ferris State College has honored three Clarkston area students for scholastic excellence during the winter quarter by naming them to the Academic Honors List, the college announced. Named were Raymond L. Chendweth, 9531 Whipple Shore Drive, a student in technical and applied arts; Gary E. Stelmach, 6305 Waldon, education; and Nancy A. Vollbach, 6371 Simler Drive, health sciences and arts.

The Clarkston Jaycees entertained their wives Saturday night with a smorgasbord dinner and an evening of waging at the DRC. The thirty-five couples all enjoyed some ups and downs, but the big winners were the Robert Wards of Cramlane. Whether luck or good management, Bob placed the right bet in the final Tri-fecta and really cleaned up.

Two Clarkston area students at Western Michigan University are completing their teaching assignments under skilled supervisors in various schools. Judith Marie Ryden of 9950 Trotter Lane is winding up a stint at the A. J. Kellogg School in Battle Creek and John Chauncey Diestro of 6279 Snowapple is finishing an assignment at Waterford Kettering.

The Everett Pikes of 6410 Paramus and the Arthur Upwards of 10205 M-15 are announcing the birth of a new granddaughter April 10. Paula June Pike has joined four-year-old Jay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Pike in Lansing.

Jody Hawke, a sophomore, has been elected to the Student Senate at Albion College. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle G. Hawke of 5646 Hummingbird Lane.

Billy Basinger celebrated his seventh birthday with several friends at his home last Friday. The guests enjoying ice cream, cake, goodies and prizes were awarded to Stormy McCall, Corey Parker, David and Erik Nadolsky. Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Basinger of Washington.

Rev. Alex Stewart of Episcopal Church of the Resurrection who underwent open heart surgery Tuesday can be reached at Cleveland Clinic, 9500 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Some cards and thoughts would probably make the ordeal easier to bear.

Spiritual Message

"The Jews started grumbling about Jesus because he said, 'I am the bread that came down from heaven.' So they said: 'This man is Jesus the son of Joseph, isn't he? We know his father and mother. How, then, does he now say he came down from heaven?' Jesus answered: 'Stop grumbling among yourselves. No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draws him to me; and I will raise him to life on the last day.'" John 6:41-44

Mark H. Caldwell, Pastor

In Minnesota there is a small lake called Itasca. A visitor to this lake noticed a small overflow at one end and said to a fisherman, "Look, the lake is leaking!" The fisherman replied: "Mister, that ain't no leak. That's the Mississippi River!"

Bishop Gerald Kennedy of the Los Angeles area of the Methodist Church once received a book by a French experimentalist in the novel. The title was "Composition No. 1." The book was not bound and came in an envelope with the pages unnumbered. The reader shuffled the pages like a deck of cards and according to chance arrangement, the story would take place. The Bishop felt that this book was a reflection of our time in that we assume that life has no real meaning because the parts of life are confused or so common that we overlook its meaning.

Scientists, as often as novelists, are accused of contributing the attitude that life has no meaning. There was one naturalist, however, Loren Eiseley, in his "The Immense Journey" who gave to life great meaning. He visualizes how life developed in the miracle of man and gives four seemingly impossible conditions which would have to be met before this miracle could happen: First, the creature's brain had to treble in size from that of early forms. Second, this trebling had to happen, not in the womb, but very rapidly after birth! Third, childhood had to be lengthened to allow this brain, stripped of most precise instinctive responses, to receive, store, and learn to use what it received from others. Finally, the family bonds would have to survive seasonal mating and become permanent in order to prepare this odd new creature for an adult role!

Yet people in the earthly days of Jesus of Nazareth made the same quick, but false, judgment about him that contemporary man does. They thought, since he was a local boy and they knew his parents and his trade, that they knew all about him. Because they knew his poor family and background they denied he could be God's messenger.

Wolves picked No. 1 in league

By Craig Moore

The Clarkston Varsity baseball team has been picked by a consensus of Wayne-Oakland League coaches as the number one contender for the W-O championship.

Waterford Kettering was placed as second contender and is expected to furnish stiff competition. Milford is expected to finish third with Andover, West Bloomfield and Clarenceville filling the fourth, fifth and sixth spots, respectively.

Hitting and defense are spotlighted by Clarkston Coach Paul Tungate. Young is the look for the Wolves' pitching staff, but the youth is not to be underestimated.

Among the returnees are solid hitting third baseman Al Hux who sported a .400 batting average last season, first baseman Greg Swanson and shortstop Dave Partlo.

Bill Bildstein will return to his position as catcher, as will Mark Warren to his pitching and outfielding spots.

Tungate will also rely on pitcher Larry Miracle and first baseman John Walts, newcomers to the Varsity team.

Clarkston dropped its first non-league game to Waterford Township, who won 5-4 in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Waterford's winning pitcher, Pete Sparling, knocked the single that brought in the winning run to climax his day at the plate.

The Wolves scored their first run in the second inning, Township tying it up in the third inning with a run.

Clarkston broke the tie with one run in the third and another 2 in the sixth inning, but Waterford struck back with 3 runs in the bottom of the sixth.

The next two innings went scoreless but in the bottom of the ninth, Waterford came across with the winning run.

Losing pitcher was Larry Miracle. The doubleheader with Lake Orion scheduled for Saturday, April 15, at Clarkston was canceled.

Thursday, April 20, the Wolves host Clarenceville. The game starts at 3:30 p.m.

JV wins season opener

By Mike Jewell

Clarkston JV baseball team started off the season with a bang as they walloped Waterford Township 9-2 last Wednesday.

The team was shaky in the early innings as a total of four errors helped Waterford gain early 1-0 and 2-1 leads.

Chuck Jorgenson then got things started for Clarkston as he tripled in the 3rd inning knocking in a run. Jorgenson, who was 2 for 3 at the plate, then scored on Ken Foster's squeeze bunt single.

From then on Clarkston scored 7 more runs on a total of 7 hits as Kurt Comstock pitched a solid 7 innings striking out 15 batters and walking 5 for his first win of the season.

The double-header scheduled for last Saturday was canceled because of rain.

The boys that placed for the Kids are: 1st, Tim Detkowski, 78 lbs.; Tim Marshall, 90 lbs.; Paul Williams, 93 lbs.; Mike Jameson, 120 lbs.; Rich Smith, Unl. 2nd, Jeff Kellogg, 60 lbs.; John Hecker, 100 lbs.; Bob Hickey, 105 lbs.; Chris Howe, 26 lbs.

4th, Warren Gritzinger, 72 lbs.; Jeff Williams, 100 lbs.; Bob Hecker, 125 lbs.

The Kids are going to a two-day tournament this weekend where teams from all over the country will be competing. The meets following this Hazel Park tournament will be the State AAU Championships.

Behind the Counter

From Keith Hallman

Texas researchers are just about ready to clinically test a new kind of pressure that is designed to help heart attack victims in emergency situations. It worked just fine when tested on baboons, last year.

The "emergency suit" completely covers the patient, applying external pressure to the body. This pulses in and out, to match the heart's normal rhythm. It decreases the load on the heart, and increases pressure in the central aorta to help fill the coronary arteries.

While the heart is relaxing and refilling, the cuffs around the patients' wrists and ankles are rapidly inflated and deflated in sequence. This is activated and timed by the patients own pulse rate.

This "milking action" reduces blood pressure in the aorta and since the heart is then pumping against a lower pressure, its workload is reduced. Put another way, it works more efficiently without making any more effort.

In animal tests, the heart output increased between 10 and 30% when the suit was fitted.

The suit was developed by Hamilton Standard Division of the United Aircraft Corp., which has worked on American space suit projects for seven years. In many ways, the "emergency suit" resembles the clothing worn by our men on the moon.

It should be most helpful in overcoming cardiac shock, an extremely dangerous complication of acute heart attacks. It would also be useful in ambulances, since rescue squads could easily fit the suit to persons stricken with heart attacks.

The other day, my 8-year-old daughter came into the house, absolutely beside herself with excitement.

"Look, mom, I've learned to play my nose," she said. And with that she launched into "Battle Hymn of the Republic" with the judicious use of nasal blockage.

Since last week's issue of the paper, I've thought about taking it up.

If anyone asks me how come the Board of Education tax vote story got garbled like it did, or how come we had two misspelled headlines, I

As the second lowest financed school district in the county, we could ill afford that kind of cutback.

Church school to open in fall

New school takes shape

By Gloria Bellairs

Modular classrooms placed adjacent to Dixie Baptist Church on the Dixie just north of I-75 are the results of an 18-year dream of the congregation and Pastor Paul Vanaman.

To be known as Clarkston Christian Academy, the school will open this fall with grades kindergarten to three, and possibly through sixth grade, the pastor said.

Rev. Vanaman said the school will not be a denominational facility, but will be open to the public.

Requirements for entry will include an achievement test to be administered early this June, and a personal interview with the student and parents or guardian.

Rev. Vanaman said nearly 200 applications are indicated in a recent survey.

The curriculum, he said, will include all the requirements of the public schools plus a sound Bible based Christian philosophy. "The children will have a good academic, moral, patriotic, Bible-based education," the pastor emphasized.

Teachers will be state certified and Christians, he added.

A tuition charge of approximately $45 per month will be charged. Each student will be required to provide for his or her own transportation and no hot lunch will be served, Rev. Vanaman explained.

The three modular units now located on the church site will house the first students this year, and as the enrollment increases, the pastor said it is hoped to erect permanent buildings.

The present units cost $23,700 and were paid for through the Easter donation by the congregation.

Rev. Vanaman said he anticipates adding a grade level a year as population increases until a full kindergarten through 12th grade curriculum is developed.

Sore feet

There are going to be some sore feet in the Clarkston area come May 8. Two 20-mile hikes are scheduled to raise funds for charitable purposes on May 6 and 7.

The Clarkston Jaycees will be sponsoring the hike May 6 which begins and ends at Clarkston High School, to raise money for Project Concern; while March of Dimes will sponsor a similar hike beginning and ending at the Oakland County Courthouse on May 7.

The Project Concern hike will pay for medical services offered in various parts of the world by a non-profit corporation, while the March of Dimes money will be used in a fight against birth defects.

Participants in the Clarkston hike may sign up with Jaycees or at the high school, while those interested in the county hike are asked to phone 394-0311 for applications.

Hikers are expected to get sponsors paying them so much a mile for distance covered.

Last year about 100 young people participated in the local Project Concern Walk for March of Dimes. The March of Dimes hike this year is a first-time effort in Oakland County.

New Eagle

Eric Gruenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frob Gruenberg of Deer Lake Road, was honored recently at an Eagle Court of Honor at Calvary Lutheran Church. William Purves, scoutmaster, presented the Eagle award to Eric.

Senior patrol leader of his troop and a member of the Order of the Arrow, Eric at 13 is an eighth grade honor student at Clarkston Junior High School.

He enjoys sports, particularly hockey, is a guitarist and teaches guitar. He has worked on "Bottles for Building."

Eric chose a rather unusual service project for Eagle rank. He distributed 100 Goodwill Industry discard bags and three months later was successful in having 75 percent of them returned filled.

Teen of the week

Pat Marsh was voted outstanding band student in the 8th grade and now she's been named Clarkston's Teen of the Week.

At 15, Pat is a Sashabaw Junior High School ninth grader who's placed on the Honor Roll every marking period but one since the seventh grade.

She is a student secretary in the office, a member of the Honors Band and Honors Chorus and is active in intramural sports.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Marsh, 6095 Sashabaw.

Clarkston Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association has a problem. Every year members plant flowers in the planter on the Village Parking Lot, and every year the flowers get torn up. Mrs. Marcus Freud, president of the club, notes that someone has suggested planting cactus there. It would at least keep the planter from being sat on.

Club members, Mrs. Freud and Mrs. Harriet Barrett will be hosting at the association's 12th annual flower show the morning of April 27 at Wright-Kay and Co., 150 S. Woodward, Birmingham. More than 100 exhibits will be on display, and all women interested in flower gardening, arranging and display are invited to attend.

We understand some of the junior high school students have a new pin-up. Fred Ritter, The Clarkston News man, is adorning bulletin boards in some of the young ladies' rooms. Way to go, Fred.

If your grass isn't turning green as quickly as you think it should, there's a possibility the grubs finished what last summer's drought left. Chlordane is the recommended treatment to get the little varmints out.

If I have to watch that kid who wants a Clark bar one more time on television, I'm going to barf.

Alan Crosby, a ninth grader at Clarkston Junior High School, is a lad of talent. He's built a complete stereo set including cabinet which will be displayed at the school fair May 19 and 20. When you see what someone that young is capable of achieving, you begin to feel awfully old.

Dr. Jim O'Neill of Deer Hills Farm landed a winner during a recent vacation in Florida. A press release from the 37th annual Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament says the good doctor caught a nine pound bonefish in the spin casting division while fishing out of Islamorada with Capt. F. A. Ruoff as guide. He will receive a citation for his catch.

Things we'd never thought about before department: On our visit to Hilde's Taxidermy shop to get the bearskin for the Clarkston News Man picture, we discovered there's a whole business in making false teeth for bears. Those ferocious looking teeth that adorn the heads of bears on a conventional bearskin rug are manufactured even as grandpa's choppers.

It's going to be circus time at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 20, when the cubs of Pack 134 meet at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church to put on a sideshow, games and grand parade. Each den will be featured in either a skit, peep show or puppet show, for which members have made all the props.

Clarkston High School students are apparently better behaved than their counterparts at Birmingham Groves. There, school authorities have had to close a recently opened smoking lounge because of serious vandalism. "The situation is working very well here," said Clarkston High School Principal William Dennis. "We're getting extreme cooperation from the kids." Smoking is allowed in two lavatories at the high school.

Mrs. J. P. Hubbard of North Holcomb didn't win any prizes in the Salvation Army senior citizen bonnet parade last week but her black lace hat was the oldest one there. She said it was more than 100 years old.

It was a hat that belonged to her grandmother who came from New York State in a covered wagon before she was a year old. The grandmother lived to be 102 and she'd be 138 if she were alive today, Mrs. Hubbard said. Old age runs in Mrs. Hubbard's family. Her mother, Mrs. Nettie Williamson, who lives in Winter Park, Fla., is 104.

Acapulco or Rome? These are the final choices for next year's senior trip, made by the junior class at an assembly last Wednesday. Meanwhile, seniors were going over the final details for their trip to the Bahamas April 28. The trip will take four days. The 28th will be an official "skip day" for those seniors not going on the trip, and May 1 will be free only for those seniors whose parents call in and give permission for their absence.

Clarkston took a first, second and third place in district forensic competition at Clarkston High School Saturday.

Mike Pryomski took a third place in radio news, which involves taking news copy, and editing and delivering it like a radio broadcast.

Clarkston swept the Extemporaneous Speaking field, with Gary Stelmach winning first place and Mike Walters placing second. Extemporaneous Speaking requires the contestant to prepare a speech in a half hour on a current news event.

Clarkston was host to seven other schools: Brandon, Brighton, Howell, Richmond, Walled Lake Central, Walled Lake Western and Yale.

Stelmach, Walters and Pryomski will be competing in the regional tournament at Warren High School May 6.

Tickets will go on sale soon for the Junior-Senior Prom next month. The Prom will be at Oakland University on May 27. Tickets are $20 per couple.

The lists of the girls who made this year's softball team were posted by Cathy DeArmond, the coach of the team. The girls are: Carol Beeman, Cathy Bunton, Billie Carroll, Jane Church, Tracy Cowling, Hazel Geoit, Kathy Gusie, Pat Harrison, Jan Johnson, Debbie McDermott, Karen Molter, Yvonne Navarre, Sheryl Stickley, and Toni Waterbury.

An Open House will be April 25 for all parents. Parents will be invited at that time to attend a preview of the play, "Once Upon a Mattress", being presented April 28 and 29 by the drama and music departments. They can also look at the projects that are entered in the Creative and Industrial Arts Fair.

The Fair, which is sponsored by Student Council, begins on the 25th, and projects will be accepted up to and including that date. The Fair, to be held in the gym, offers a wide range of categories spanning needlework to wood and metal crafts. Prizes will also be awarded for literary works.
