Cast performance

Cast members of Clarkston High School's production of "Once Upon a Mattress" give ear to Minstrel Zac Bell. Seated clockwise behind him are Teresa Rademacher as Winnifred, Russ Crowe as Prince Dauntless and Alan Rose as King Sextimus. Craig Moore, the wizard, hovers in the background. The play will be presented at 8 p.m. April 28 and 29 and May 4, 5 and 6 at the school. Tickets are $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for students.

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Not long ago Bob Talbert, the Free Press's inside-the-back-page, front section, columnist stimulated his readers with things he'd "had it with."

There are a few things I've had it with, too. And, our "Letters" columns are open to those who want to join me, or oppose me.

I've had it with gravel roads in affluent Oakland County, sewer construction, and pock marked, holey cement roads.

I've had it with teachers who don't vote when a school millage comes up.

I've had it with golf courses built for fish and cactus.

I've had it with the generation that claims they invented ecology and distribute Boone's Farm wine bottles over the country side.

I've had it with grass that will grow in gravel roads and cracks in concrete but not in my lawn.

I've had it with people who claim alcoholism is a disease but never mention any research connected with isolating the virus that causes it.

I've had it with anyone who claims there are legal size fish in any lake.

And, I've had it with public officials who claim the public "demands" police protection when it's voted down or barely passes... "demands" restrictive ordinances when there is no method of enforcement... "demand" urban renewal, welfare pay, county children's villages, court houses, public accesses to small lakes, garbage removal, safer cars and pounds, ounces, etc., spelled out on every label of every product... when in truth attendance at the polls and public meetings indicate the only "demand" is to be left alone.

I've had it with local assessors saying county equalization boards require increased assessments and county boards blaming the various state agencies and these people saying the legislature needs the increases because people are "demanding" more services. Is there anyone siding with the over-taxed payer?

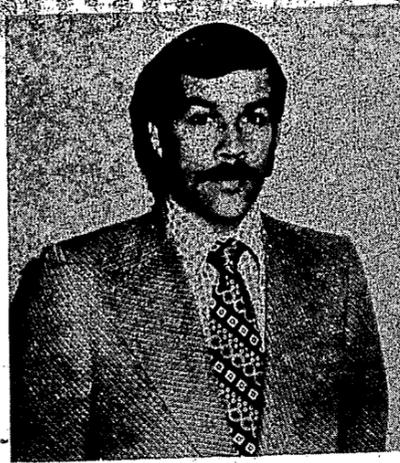

I've had it with unkempt longhairs, bare navels, and the agin'ers who sooner or later discourage even those of the strongest will.

Sackrider named Jaycee president

Hike to hike community funds

Forty percent of the funds raised through Clarkston Area Jaycees' "Walk for Mankind" May 6 will benefit the fledgling Independence House. A volunteer house, designed to help people in trouble and to refer them to the appropriate agencies where possible, the new facility is to open soon in the old Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church. Another 10 percent of the hike funds will benefit the student councils of Clarkston Senior High, Clarkston Junior High and Sashabaw Junior High Schools.

John Sackrider, new Jaycee president

Jim Lindsey, Jim McVeigh and Bob Garner. Sackrider is married and has three children. He's been active in Little League baseball, and likes sports, camping and agriculture projects. He joined the Jaycees in 1970 and has served as treasurer, internal vice president and chairman of both its 1971 Labor Day Festival and the 1971 swim program.

Negotiations start at township

Preliminary negotiations have begun between township officials and AFL-CIO Metropolitan Council 23 representing township employees. Officers of the local union are Dick Curn, president; Jack Parker, vice president; and Marion Lessard, secretary.

The balance will go to Project Concern, composed of 147 doctors under the direction of Dr. Jim Turpin who bring medical help to areas of the world not adequately serviced. The local hike, chaired by Robert Garner and Larry Rosso, will begin between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. Saturday, May 6, at the high school. The route will follow Waldon, Clintonville, Eston, Indianwood, Dartmouth, Whipple Lake Road, Pine Knob Road, Clarkston-Orion Road, Almond Lane, Waldon and back to the high school.

John Sackrider, 184 N. Holcomb, will head Clarkston Area Jaycees for the coming year. He was elected president April 19 at Clarkston Golf Club to replace retiring Dave Nadolsky who became chairman of the board. Assisting Sackrider, 35, a buyer with GMT&C, is Jim Brueck, internal vice president; Ron Rule, external vice president; Chuck McBride, ways and means vice president; George White, recording secretary; Rick Fournier, corresponding secretary; and Bob Vandermark, treasurer. Serving as directors are Larry Appleton, Herb Hipsher, Lou Jaenichen,

"Adrift on Life's Sea"

Clarkston Village Players will turn melodramatic for "A Fate Worse Than Death or Adrift on Life's Sea" to be presented May 12, 13, 19 and 20 at the Depot Theater. Complete with beautiful heroine, brave hero and roguish villain, the cast stars Doris Libstaff, Jim Klark and Pete Rose. Others taking roles are Robert and Carol Arend, Elizabeth Gregory, Michaelle Bailey, Carol O'Connor, Alan and Ann Rose and Nancy Frady. The play is being directed by Marlene Sewick with Jim Libstaff as producer. Debbie Hoopengartner is music director. Tickets are available from Dr. Ernest Denne at 22 South Main.

Time to register students

The Clarkston Community Schools will register kindergarten children for the 1972-73 school term on May 2, 3 and 4, according to George Barrie, assistant superintendent. Registration will be conducted in each elementary building's business office between the hours of 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., he said.

State law requires that children be five years of age on or before December 1, 1972, to be eligible for enrollment for the coming school term.

A birth certificate or other proof of age will be required before a child may be enrolled in school, the official reported. If a birth certificate is not available, parents are asked to contact building principals for advice.

State law also requires kindergarten children to have protective shots and a doctor's statement attesting to the physical condition of the child. However, should this requirement conflict with religious beliefs or there are other objections, the parent or guardian may be released from these requirements by filing a statement of objections with the principal at the time of registration, Barrie added.

Physical examination forms will be available at all elementary buildings at the time of registration, he reported.

Ticket issued

The first ticket for violation of the township's new sign ordinance was issued last week, according to Trustee Keith Humbert. He said workmen erecting a Bloch Bros. real estate sign along I-75 were cited by Oakland County Sheriff's Department in that no permit had been obtained to erect the sign.

County facilities on Springfield agenda

Springfield Township Board will consider provision of police protection for the County 4-H Activities Center, Hall and Andersonville Roads, and the county-owned Springfield-Oaks Park across Andersonville Road when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 3 at the township hall.

Gerald Lacey of Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department has indicated he will ask the board to approve a Class C liquor (liquor on the premises) license for the park clubhouse.

Independence House will organize May 3

By Don Place

Independence House interim chairman Preliminary plans for the development of Independence House are to be presented at a special organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 3, at the former Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road.

It is anticipated that a Board of Directors will be selected, officers elected and committee assignments made at the meeting to which all sponsoring members and participating members are invited.

Sponsoring members are the two representatives selected by organizations, groups, clubs or churches contributing $100 or more to Independence House.

Participating members are individuals contributing a lesser amount of money or materials and who are sincerely interested in supporting the work of Independence House.

To date, several Clarkston area organizations and churches have pledged sponsoring memberships to Independence House including the United Sashabaw Presbyterian Church which has offered the use of their former sanctuary as the headquarters for the Crisis Center.

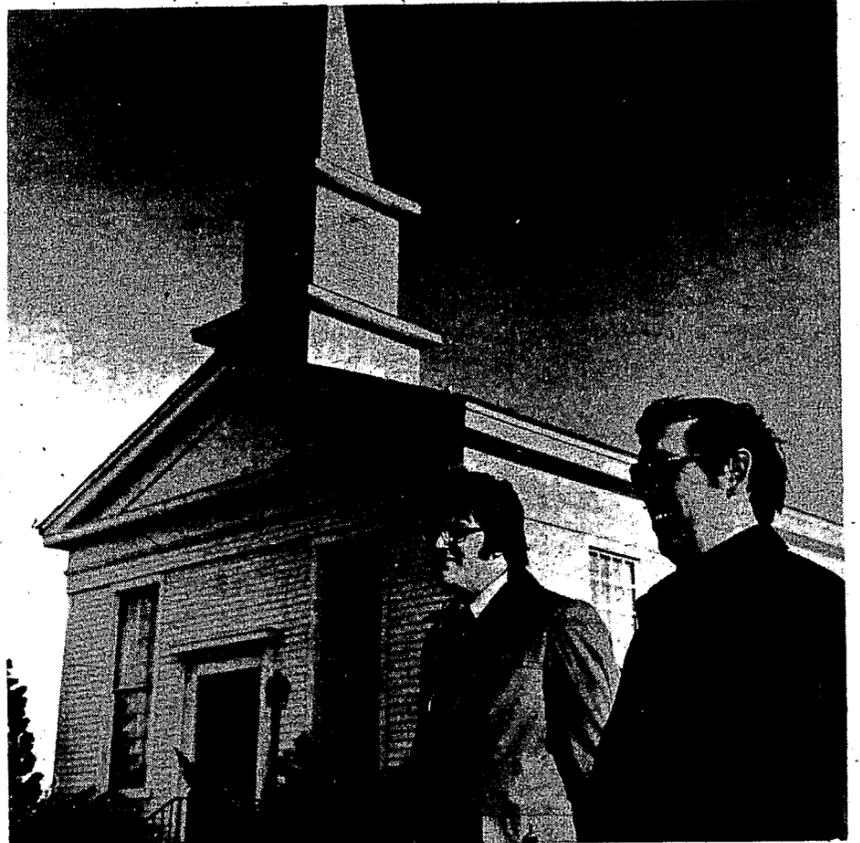

After the organizational meeting on May 3, which is open to interested and prospective supporters of Independence House, the operational procedures will be developed and the recruiting of a volunteer staff can begin.

While some renovating of the church building will be necessary, it is anticipated that Independence House will be ready to open its doors early in the fall.

What will Independence House offer the citizens of the area and what must the people contribute to make Independence House a successful venture?

People helping people help themselves, is the philosophy behind the Independence House Venture and if the preliminary support offered by individuals and organizations from the Clarkston area is an indication, Independence House should be an outstanding success.

As a Crisis Center, it is planned that people of all ages with problems of all kinds will be able to call and receive help on a 24 hour basis. It is also expected that a staff coordinator will be available during regular business hours as well as a representative from local and county Social Service agencies. Tentative commitments from nearly 15 agencies have already been received by members of the Independence House Planning Committee.

John Greenhill of Clarkston Youth Assistance and Don Place, interim president of Independence House, make plans for an Independence House organizational meeting at 8 p.m. May 3 at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

Emergency transportation, food, clothing or shelter, counseling and guidance concerning marital problems, drugs, alcohol, aged parents or troubled teens and other similar help will be offered by Independence House and its related agencies.

In order to accomplish its goals, however, volunteer workers as well as financial support must come from the greater Clarkston area citizens.

Interested individuals who would like to contribute time, talent or financial support to Independence House should contact members of the steering committee by calling Donald Place, Chairman, at 625-2390 (home) or 338-1011 (office) or by writing to Independence House, Box 274, Clarkston, Michigan.

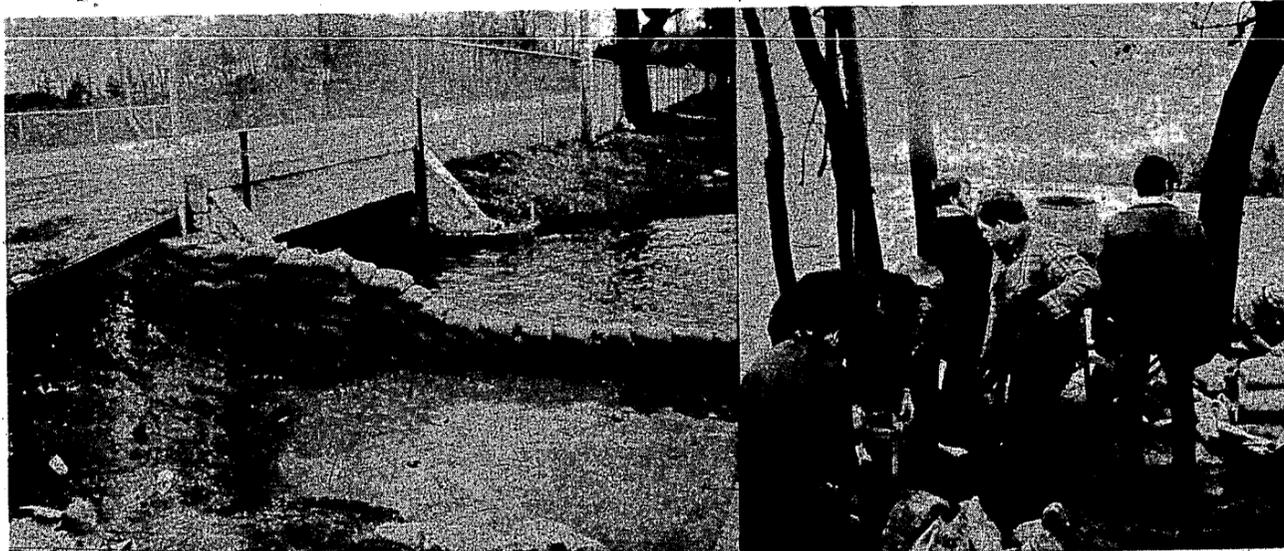

Theater to open May 17

Ted Damerow says plans are to begin showing movies May 17 in the new Clarkston Cinema on the Dixie Highway north of the A&P Store.

A grand opening is scheduled for June 9, Damerow of United General Theaters reported. At that time, stars will be imported to give the 266-seat facility a royal sendoff, he said.

Plans are to show nothing but G and GP rated films in the new facility, Damerow said.

Work starts

Clarkston Area Jaycees sandbagged a lot over the weekend as the Deer Lake Beach reclamation project got under full swing. Members filled sandbags which shored up the original canal boundaries where Deer Lake empties into Cemetery Lake. They've started a $6,000 project which when complete will feature a sandy beach, tree conservation, a footbridge over the canal, and construction of a tot lot. All manpower is volunteer, and more is needed, according to William Halsey, project chairman.

Put a thief out of business

Clarkston Village Police are asking residents to help them in a campaign to "Put a Thief out of Business."

The department, through its Operation Identification program, is making available electric pencils with which homeowners can stencil their driver's license number on household appliances and other robbery-prone items.

Once the articles have been protected, the department further offers a window sticker showing that all items of value on the premises have been marked for ready identification by law enforcement agencies.

To obtain the loan of the pencil, interested citizens are asked to call 625-5921. An officer from the village will be glad to assist.

Bigger board an asset

May 16 is the presidential primary election in Michigan, but for residents of Independence Township it's also going to pose the question of whether our township board should be expanded from five to seven members.

The expansion would mean the addition of two township trustees, currently paid at the rate of $1,400 each a year. The Clarkston News believes the price to be a bargain.

The township board has gone on record as favoring the increased size. They know the amount of work a trustee is expected to do, and they know splitting the work load might mean better service.

Over and above that factor, however, is the need in a growing township for representative views from as many different kinds of people as possible. Deadlocks such as the board has experienced in recent times would be far less likely with a wider range of viewpoint on the board.

Most of the county's townships, as they've grown and picked up population, move to the larger board. The move is provided for under state law and has been available to the township for the last decade.

We believe it's time we used it.

Orc! ids for the board

Two Independence Township Board meetings last week have revealed that our board can indeed work together with a minimum of friction.

Unanimous votes on such items as the controversial road right-of-way plan, park purchase (which included one abstention), the police contract with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, initiation of amendments to the zoning ordinance regarding lot splits, building condemnations, planning consultant decisions (again four yes and one abstention), Jaber park acceptance, printing of agendas, township hiring policies, Board of Appeals selection, and the need for rezoning the east side of Sashabaw between Maybee and I-75 have proven that the board is willing to work together, making compromise where necessary, in order to keep abreast of township business.

If the members' attitudes hold, it would behoove some of the residents to give up their divisive ways in the interests of better township government.

Nobody wants a rubber stamp board, but the bitterness that has been at the base of much disagreement seems to be under control.

We're for honest airing of problems, but we're also for compromise, a tool often necessary if government is not to stop functioning completely.

Capitol notes

by Cathy Lessard

For the first time in the history of the State, Michigan voters will go to the polls on May 16 to express their preference of a presidential candidate for their party. They will also elect precinct delegates to their party's district conventions, most of whom will have a presidential candidate's name written next to theirs so you will know who they will be pledged to support at the district, state and national conventions.

The choice of a presidential candidate and precinct delegate will, however, be only two of the decisions that voters will have to make. Also on the ballot will be two proposed constitutional amendments, which will have significance to the state.

Proposal "A" on your ballot will ask you if the constitution should be amended to allow the Legislature to authorize lotteries and to permit the sale of lottery tickets. It would not establish any kind of lottery in Michigan but would simply permit the Legislature to pass laws establishing some form of lottery.

Arguments against this proposal primarily center around moralistic reasons; certain religious denominations being the most vocal opponents.

Proponents say that it would provide needed revenues to the State and would serve as a sort of painless method of taxation. They also contend that it would reduce the amount of illegal gambling, although most New Jersey officials, where a lottery has been in operation for some time now, dispute this, saying it hasn't done much in that area.

Finally, for your consideration, will be Proposal "B," a proposed constitutional amendment to permit members of the Legislature to resign and accept another office to which they have been elected or appointed. Before accepting another office, they would be required to resign from their legislative office.

The same question was placed before the voters in 1968 and was rejected, partially, I believe, because voters didn't really understand the ramifications of this proposal. This change would not allow legislators to do anything that any other public official in the State of Michigan is not already permitted.

Members of the Michigan House of Representatives and Senate are the only public officials in Michigan that cannot resign during their term of office to be appointed to or elected to another position. For example, a County Commissioner or a Councilman may run for the office of State Representative during his term, or a judge may seek election to a higher court during his term.

When this provision of the State Constitution was drafted, it was to prevent any member of the Legislature from receiving any civil appointment within the state from the Governor or from any other state authority during the term for which he had been elected. The trouble arises from a subsequent Attorney General's formal opinion that the word "appointment" includes an election.

On this basis it has been held that, for instance, a member of the State House of Representatives would not be eligible, even if he resigned from his House seat, to become a candidate to fill a vacancy in the State Senate or in fact for any other elective position during his term of office in the House.

Personally, I feel this is a rather unfair discrimination against House and Senate members; one that does not extend to any other public official in the state. I do not think that our Legislators would be anymore prone to abusing this privilege than any other public official would, nor do I think that they would have opportunities to abuse it with the resignation requirement in the proposal. I think it deserves voter support.

Read snake's back first

By Jim Fitzgerald

Dear Ann Landers:

Last night, when I complained to my wife about a gap in my reading, she said it is a rule in our house to read what's on the back of snakes first. If I forget, that's my tough luck.

What I want to know is, how come I can't have rules about cats?

What I mean is, my wife has this incredible fear of snakes. Before she'll read the daily paper, the kids must check it. Any pictures of snakes must be immediately torn out and burned, and the ashes must be buried 2 miles outside of town.

This is the law, even if the snake is on the back of your column, Ann. Because of a 20 foot python, I still don't know what you advised that wife who complained that her sex life was only lukewarm because her husband insisted upon sleeping with his head in the oven and his feet in the refrigerator.

So OK, Ann. I know what you're going to say. I should appreciate the good things about my wife (she doesn't crack her knuckles at the movies) and I should accept the fact she will always be a screwball about snakes. I agree. I am willing to be understanding. But how come she can't be understanding about me and cats?

Honest-to-Dorothy Dix, you're not going to believe the current cat situation in our home, Ann. I hate cats. But we have owned 2 cats for years. One is the size of a St Bernard and it is a real experience when it jumps onto your lap. You can't get up but it doesn't matter because you couldn't walk anyway. Your thighs are broken. The other cat is smaller and more subtle. It jumps into your ear and licks your brain.

These cats are sisters but you'll notice I refer to them as "it." They were neutered long ago. But the town tomcats don't care. They line up outside our door and fight to get inside. I put a big sign on the porch: "Our Cats Are Fixed." But the tomcats keep coming. One of them wrote on the bottom of the sign: "Sex isn't everything."

Well Ann, last week 1 of the Toms got inside. It is easy to understand how. Our 13-year-old son was home alone and he hasn't learned how to shut doors yet. He is still working on how to turn out lights and how to pick up anything, anything at all.

Tom crawled into a crawl space off our laundry room. Why do builders leave crawl spaces where only animals can crawl, Ann? It's so they'll have a place to hide, and to die, isn't it? Something like the elephants' burial grounds. ("Do you smell what I smell?")

Tom leaves the crawl space regularly and roams the house. We know because he leaves toppled lamps behind him. Several times the kids have chased him but Tom always escapes back to his burial ground.

It is a complicated problem, Ann. We can't lock Tom in the laundry room because this would deny the other 2 cats access to the litter box. We can't leave an outside door open, hoping Tom will leave, because 56 more cats would come in.

I hate cats, Ann, but I am now feeding 3 of them. When I gripe, my wife says cats are cute and I am unreasonable. When I take a kick at a passing cat, she calls the humane society.

I'm "unreasonable" but she threatened divorce when I subscribed to Life magazine because Life "always has pictures of snakes."

Don't tell me to see my minister, Ann. My wife has sung in his choir for 30 years and I drop in every Easter. He isn't going to listen to me.

If you can't rush some decent advice by return mail, please send 3 snakes.

Letters to the Editor

"Just like Pontiac"

Letter to the Editor:

Well, the Real Estate interests have again taken over Independence Township! The first vote Mr. Glennie made on rezoning a lot he violated the zoning ordinance, a brazen illegal act that supervisor Stonerock had to stop with legal action. Glennie knew it was illegal at the time. He was told so, but a Republican villager thinks he is above the law.

People spoke out against the small lot size, but who are the people when money is to be made? With all the vacant land available his former company even put two houses ten feet apart, a definite fire hazard. But so what, make a buck and get out - let the taxpayer take it in the neck.

The funny part is that even Tom Bullen who used to be in favor of large lots is now voting with Glennie to protect his stooge.

I'm burned up. The people are not represented by those two. Watch your paper for how these two vote for splitting up this township until it is just like PONTIAC.

Marty Hobson
8095 Hilldale

(Ed. Note: The allowed split has since been rescinded by board action.)

The approved master road right-of-way plan plus location of the 40-acre park which the township board has agreed to purchase are depicted in the above map. The heavy chain link markings denote 204-foot rights-of-way, the broken line 150-foot rights-of-way, and the ladder markings, routes under study.

Special interest groups

Dear Editor,

"The people of Independence Township are being victimized by a small band who are catering to special interests with no regards of the people." So states Mrs. Buhl in her letter appearing in The Clarkston News 4/20/72.

She does not identify the "band," so I do not know who she is referring to, but I do know of two "special interest" groups that I can identify and who have far greater influence on Stonerock than 200 people at the annual meeting did.

They are namely (1) a group known as the Independence Township Association, formed shortly after Stonerock's election, and (2) Mrs. Buhl's own "Committee of Six."

It is interesting to note that in both groups, James J. Lowe's name appears as an officer. I would like to point out that Lowe is a business associate of Stonerock (in Air Land Surveys) and even has Stonerock's home address on his business card. Also the name Brendle appears in both groups.

Mr. Stonerock is quick to accept any suggestion of the ITA under the guise that they are a group that represents the residents of Independence Township. How can a group, with admittedly only 23 dues paying members, represent 6,700 people?

I have seen a lot more people at township meetings who have been gavelled down by Stonerock for no reason at all. Are you not just "fronts" for Mr. Stonerock?

Speaking about what "happens in the middle of the night," isn't it a fact that it was you who kept the township meeting going until 1:50 a.m. in the morning?

Weren't you allowed to take up a great deal of the trustees' meeting with your unfounded charges against Frechette?

Do you think Stonerock would stay up that late to discuss whether or not he was violating the township zoning ordinance? Why doesn't he put that on the agenda for the next meeting and publicly answer the complaint that has been pigeon holed by Campbell since 3/3?

I wholeheartedly support that the truth be brought to the public "so we know what's going on in the back room."

D. H. Burgess

Planner hiring, old idea

To the editor:

Who is this Edris Hoffman who wrote last week questioning the planner for the township? Why, none other than Mrs. Bray's mother! It is alright for a mother to protect her child, but she should get her facts straight.

When Mrs. Bray was a zoning board member back in 1970, meetings were held with the zoning board and the township board about hiring a full time planner. Supervisor Stonerock tried to hire a full time man then, but was blocked by (Mr. Kingfish) Bullen. (Look up his address in the phone book.)

Why hire a planner back then? Wasn't 3 petition drives and almost a fourth enough reason? The old board, attorney and planner all went. Let's get the facts straight and refresh memories. If Mrs. Bray wasn't any more honest or had a better memory than her mother, I'm glad Supervisor didn't reappoint her.

Bronzinos travel to Hawaii

OCC students wed

Vases of white gladioli and carnations with candelabra decorated Clarkston United Methodist Church for the wedding April 22 of Oakland Community College students, Diana Mae Langdon and Paul Edward Sauerwald.

Rev. Frank Cozadd officiated before 200 guests.

Diana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Langdon of Whipple Shore Drive, wore a floor length white chiffon over taffeta gown styled with Chantilly lace panels and a detachable chapel train.

Her waist-length bouffant veil was held by a headpiece of chiffon bows, satin petals and pearl droplets. She carried a semi-cascading bouquet of white carnations, pink rosebuds and baby's breath.

Peggy Carpenter of Mount Clemens, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She and the bridesmaids, Denise Langdon of Clarkston, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Scott Ernst of Oxford, wore empire floor-length pink and green floral chiffon over taffeta. They carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

April and Arlene Edwards of Clarkston, as flower girls, wore floor length gowns of pink crepe and carried baskets of pink carnations. Scott Hall of Waterford, a nephew of the bridegroom, carried the rings on a heart-shaped, white satin pillow.

Ron Hall of Waterford was best man and Phil Sauerwald of Waterford and Douglas Langdon of Clarkston seated the guests.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sauerwald of Hatchery Road, Drayton Plains.

Mrs. Langdon wore a street length lavender crepe and lace gown for her daughter's wedding while Mrs. Sauerwald chose a street length peach crepe and lace gown. Both had corsages of white carnations and roses.

Following a reception in the Church Fellowship Hall, the young couple left for a honeymoon in Florida. They will reside in Waterford Township.

Suzen Jane Hampshire and Barry Louis Bronzino will live in Williamsville, N. Y., following a trip to the Hawaiian Islands and San Francisco. The two were wed Saturday, April 15, at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

White mums and candelabra decorated the church for the ceremony performed by Rev. Frank Cozadd before 200 guests.

Suzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hampshire of 6415 Sunnydale, is a 1965 graduate of Clarkston High School and a 1969 graduate of Western Michigan University. She is employed by American Airlines as a stewardess.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Madelaine Oberkirker of Grand Island, N. Y., and John Bronzino of Williamsville, N. Y., is a graduate of Gannon College, Erie, Penn. He is employed as a sales representative by Proctor and Gamble.

Lavender flowers of Venis lace tinted the organza skirt and bodice of the bride's gown. Styled with bishop sleeves and a satin ribbon at the waist, it featured a full length train. A princess cap held the floor length veil. A crescent cascade of white roses and fuji mums centered with an orchid completed the costume.

Carol Rose of Cheektowaga, N. Y., maid of honor, and Kathleen Sheridan of Boston, Mass., Mrs. David Coulter of Fort Wayne, Ind., Debbie Bronzino of Grand Island, N. Y., sister of the groom, Mrs. Thomas Pluff of Bath, Miss., Mrs. Roger Zeh of Lansing, Karen Heatley of Pontiac and Cynthia Humphrey of Oxford, bridesmaids, wore purple and pink floral print voile dresses featuring a purple ribbon empire waist. The dresses were made with long sleeves with ruffled cuffs and featured ruffled necklines. They were topped with white picture hats fitted with floral print bands.

Billee Beth Hampshire, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She and the bridesmaids carried baskets of pink and lavender tinted daisy mums and baby's breath.

Mrs. Richard Kadlec of Cicero, Ill., attended the bride's book.

Jack Silverstein of Buffalo, N. Y. was best man and guests were seated by Vincent Ingrando, Bruce Boss, James Redding, Anthony Leoné, John Souzzi, Dominic Bronzino and Charles Paladino.

A reception at Addison-Oaks following the ceremony entertained 200 guests.

Florida reunion

625-2837

By Shanna Nadolsky

King and Jan Robinson and daughter, Heather, and Graham and Georgia (Robinson) Woolston and family met on Siesta Kay near Sarasota, Florida, recently for a week's vacation together. Weather was obliging for King and Graham to get in a lot of golfing and for the girls to get in some shopping and sunning. Plans are already in the making for another rendezvous again next year. The Woolstons are former Clarkston residents now living in Ohio.

The Eastern Star served the luncheon for the Masons who headed the recent glass collection for Bottles for Building. I'm told the women, headed by Mrs. Catherine Arnold, put on a unique meal featuring homemade salads and cookies to complement the main course. I'm sure the Masons and other workers appreciated the extra effort.

Mrs. Howard Sage of North Holcomb has returned from a month's visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Jack and Maxine Dickerson in Raleigh, North Carolina. Naturally, the three grandchildren were a highlight of the visit, but a weekend trip to the mountains was most memorable. She reports weather was good most of the month, but they did have some snow and temperatures to stunt the azaleas.

The newest rave addition to the Terry Lopucki family of Peach Drive is seven pound, seven ounce Jody Lynn born April 20. Big sister Jill, 4 years old, is anxiously awaiting her new playmate's arrival home. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Stan Lopucki of Royal Oak and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keegan.

A birthday party for three-year-old Amy Travis was planned by her grandparents, the Edwin Olsons of Rochester last week. Mrs. Gary Durst, Amy's godmother, arrived from Chicago to help her celebrate. Amy is the daughter of the Dan Traveses of Holcomb.

Five days at West Point was a fascinating place for Ken and Gail Winship and children, Kevin, 7 and Kim, 5. They were guests of Ken's cousin, Major Little and family, who reside on base, which enabled them to really acquaint themselves with the Academy. A visit to Fort Putnam was interesting and informative. The entire week was spent absorbing and enjoying history. The most intriguing sights for the children were the various cannons used during the early wars and great chain which once spanned the Hudson River as a defense weapon.

Ken and Gail were able to go into New York City and see a Broadway play and do some "people watching" which was an experience, according to Gail. The monument of Brigadier General Thaddeus Kosciusko turned out to be a great conversation piece for Gail (Lopucki) Winship. He was a Polish patriot who won fame for his services during the Revolutionary War. He was not a West Point graduate, as so many other heroes, but the erection of this monument recognizes him and identifies with so many more.

The moral of this bit of history might be only to prove that all Polocks do not need to be told to lay sod green side up...

Jodi Irwin celebrated her fifth birthday Saturday with several nursery school and neighborhood friends. Lunch, ice cream and cake was the fare amid Mickey Mouse decorations. Betsy Weld, who was unable to attend the party because of a recent tonsillectomy, got a special surprise when Jodi carefully packed the birthday trimmings and delivered them to Betsy's bedside that evening. Jodi is the daughter of Cliff and Linda Irwin on Laurelton.

Mrs. James Lafnear, 6434 Simler Drive, is registered for a Norwegian camp this summer in the Concordia Language Village Program. The program, sponsored by Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., acquaints students with the language and culture of a foreign land in the context of a summer camping experience in Minnesota and Montana.

Cub Scout Pack 341 turned Sashabaw Junior High School into "the big top" for a circus recently. Members saw Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Bohm receive a special award for Recognition of Instructions at the University of Scouting. A roller skating party is planned May 8.

The annual Girl Scout Mother-Daughter Banquet was held on Tuesday, April 11 at Sashabaw Junior High School. Mrs. James Frietag was the chairman again this year. Five year membership pins were given to four leaders and plaques were given to both junior high schools and the Clarkston Rotary Club in appreciation for all their help. The graduating seniors were honored by their leader, Mrs. James Boston. The Waterford Jaycee Washboard Band was very popular again this year.

Search for Fair's fairest

This year's Miss Oakland County, to be selected June 25 during the Oakland County Fair, will win a $500 Savings Bond and become eligible to enter the Miss Michigan Pageant to take place later in Muskegon.

Mrs. Pam Haab, executive director of the local pageant, said pageant entry applications can be obtained now by calling her at 377-2020 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays and at 673-2017 evenings and weekends.

To qualify, an entrant must be a resident of Oakland County for the past six months, be single, and between the ages of 18 and 20. Girls will be judged on poise, charm and talent, she said.

Church women meet

Central Christian Church, 3246 Lapeer Road, will start women's meetings at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 1, at the church. Slides of the Ladoza Children's Home will be shown.

Rummage sale

Austin Chapter No. 396 Order of the Eastern Star of Davisburg will have a rummage and bake sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29, at the Masonic Temple in Davisburg.

This year's Oakland County Fair will open June 21 at the CAI grounds on Williams Lake Road, Waterford Township.

Griffin to sing with Chorale

Bob Griffin of 9230 Dixie Highway, a vocalist with the Jackson Chorale, will be appearing with that group in concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 30, at West Bloomfield High School, 4925 Orchard Lake Road. The chorale is composed of non-professional vocalists — some housewives, businessmen, teachers and others under the direction of Gilbert O. Jackson, a teacher at Pontiac Central High School. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Club to hear Clarkston man

Waterford Gem and Mineral Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 27, to see slides taken by Don Rosenfield of Clarkston. Rosenfield drove a land rover from Sao Palo, Brazil, to Michigan.

Apple Brown Betty

1 c. soft bread crumbs or ready to eat cereal
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. grated orange or lemon peel
½ c. sugar or other sweetening
1 tsp. cinnamon
4 medium-sized apples, sliced
¼ c. fruit juice (approx.)

Set oven for moderate 375 degrees. Mix bread crumbs or cereal, butter, peel, sugar and cinnamon. Place half the sliced apples in buttered baking dish. Cover with half the breaded mixture. Add remaining apple slices and cover with remaining crumb mixture. Sprinkle with fruit juice. Bake about 45 minutes. Serve hot or cold with milk, cream, custard sauce or other dessert sauce. Makes 6 servings.

If freshly opened canned vegetables are allowed to stand for 15 min. before heating, they will regain oxygen lost in canning and have more flavor.

Before cutting meringue pie, dip knife in water. This prevents meringue from sticking to knife.

It is speculated that part of the psychology of the bitterly pushy five o'clock rush traffic is the fact that many in that rush are very tired from working all day. So anything or anyone who stands in their path to rest and dinner is going to get shoved out of the way. If it is true that people when they are sick are different personalities, than when they are well, perhaps some of that applies also to them when they are bone weary.

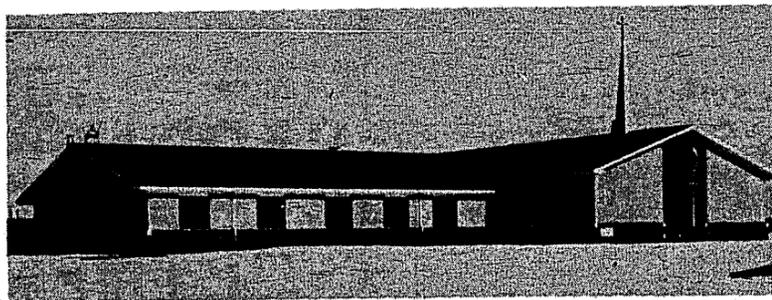

In the light of this grumpiness and downright meanness which comes out of us in this situation, it is refreshing to have a Hero who could still be kind when he was tired. The Master and his followers had evidently walked all morning. It was high noon and a hot road when they came to the well on the edge of the town. First on the men's list was food so they trooped into town to find something to eat while the Master just dropped

Spiritual Message

BONE WEARY

John 4:6 "Jacob's well was there, and so Jesus, wearied as he was with his journey, sat down beside the well. It was about noon."

SASHABAW UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

beside the well curb wishing for a drink but not having a bucket to draw water.

When the ADC-type woman just fitting the image we like to think of for all people beneath us came sneaking out in the heat of the day to get water when she wouldn't have to face the embarrassing chiding of conventional women, the Master's first words simply reflected his tiredness and thirst, not prying into her problems. But when she showed by her argumentative tack that she needed far more than water, he was not too tired to speak gently but firmly about her relation to God as well as to the men in her tortured life.

Tiredness is a good thing if it comes from honest toil. It shouldn't have to make us either into unmoving clods or fearsome grouches. We should know that it too can pass and we will survive even if someone rushes ahead of us.

Fire report

Independence Township firemen last week extinguished three home blazes, bringing to six the total number of building fires so far during April.

No loss estimate was made on damage at the Willis Merriman home, 5987 Cummings, where a faulty fireplace is blamed for starting a blaze April 18 in a nearby wall.

Damage was put at $1,000 in a fire April 20 at the Frank Reynolds home, 5441 Burgundy. A cigarette lighter in the hands of a child is believed responsible for the blaze which damaged a couch and wall and caused smoke damage to the rest of the interior.

Mrs. Reynolds told firemen she was asleep in her room when her child woke her to tell her the couch was on fire.

Fire of undetermined origin gutted a one-story older frame home at 4551 Center in Woodhull Lake late Saturday. Fire Marshal Tink Ronk said the occupants of the home, the Richard Swayne family, were not home at the time of the fire. No loss estimate is available, he said.

So far this month, the department has also extinguished 15 grass fires, made two resuscitation runs and been called out on two smoke investigations. There was one chimney fire.

The independent view

By Jean Saile.

Clarkston Area Jaycees may call their 16-mile hike May 6 a "Walk for Mankind," but Carolyn Place and I are trying to con Jan Gabier into going along with the project on the slogan, "Support a Lame Dame."

Whether this is going to be a walk for womankind or whether it's going to cripple us far short of the 16-mile goal is an event yet to be determined.

At any rate Carolyn, the Bottles for Building and township planning commission gal, Jan, assistant principal at Clarkston Senior High School, and I are just about ready to stride out.

We think we'll last for the whole route, but then Irene McCabe never had nightmares about swollen ankles either before she undertook her trek to Washington.

Jim Sherman, owner of The Clarkston News, Dave Nadolsky of Hallman's Apothecary, Paul Frechette of the Clarkston Golf Club, Fred Ritter of the Town Shop, Hal Reekwald of Hal Reekwald, Realtor, Dr. Leslie F. Greene, superintendent of schools, Doc Richardson of Richardson's Farm Dairy, are a few of the people who think the idea is simply hilarious. So hilarious, in fact, they're willing to sponsor us individually and by group for up to $1.50 a mile.

Rotary Club has announced it will pay us $150 flat — and we may be.

Carolyn will be joining her husband, Don, who is interim chairman for Independence House, the volunteer help facility due to get 40 percent of the money raised. Another 10 percent will go to the student councils at the senior high school and both junior highs, and the remainder is earmarked for the world-wide medical service known as Project Concern.

Anybody else who wants to put their money on a trio of sore-footed dames is invited to call The Clarkston News. And if anyone wants to join us in the hike, we know misery loves company and we'd be delighted to have you.

It cost Drs. Al Hamilton and Ron LePere $1 each to have their pictures in this week's paper. The two are Rotarians, and Rotarians have a tradition of charging members whenever their names or pictures get in the paper. The two doctors are pictured with one of the Clarkston High School co-op students, Lezlie Leopold, and Lezlie is pretty enough, it should have made the doctors' donation a privilege.

Those big bits used by sewer contractors to dig wells really are meant for business. They bring up a bite of earth about three feet in diameter, dump it and plunge back for more. The well is being dug out Maybee Road to lower the water table so sewer installation won't be such a wet job.

The Good News Paper in Fair Oaks (Ca.), a Sacramento suburb, issued some bad news Monday: it is closing its doors after 26 months of fighting "doom and gloom." Publisher Bill Bailey said, "We have simply run out of time and money." Mr. Bailey said the weekly produced 1,600 pages of good news and "proved that good news is needed." He founded the newspaper in 1970 to show that there are many positive things occurring which are either ignored or overlooked by other media. This demonstrates that what people want is THE NEWS, all the important news.

Clarkston's municipal garage, located under village offices at 25 South Main, is probably the only such facility with carpeted doors. Sample patches donated by Auten Furniture have been tacked up in an effort to keep the chill blasts of a winter wind from blowing through. The effect is surrealistic.

Why is it that the recently appearing bumper sticker, "Things go better with Christ," startles me? Is it the implication that we're giving a Madison Avenue finish to God? And is it really necessary?

Killed in crash

Clarkston residents have received word of the death of Mike Seymour, 22, son of former Clarkston residents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seymour, in a small plane crash April 18 in-Naperville, Ill.

Mike crashed in a test ride on a plane which he had just completed building, the former neighbors were informed.

Some Clarkston people, who shall be nameless, got more than their money's worth at the Tiger opener on a recent Saturday. The party of four got splashed by the pesky pigeons which are apparently dominating the stadium. Maybe that's a slogan Pontiac could use in selling its stadium idea. "Avoid pigeons — come to Pontiac."

PSB pays cash dividend

The Board of Directors of the Pontiac State Bank declared a semi-annual cash dividend of 4 1/2 cents per share on the bank's 327,148 shares which will be outstanding after a one for four stock dividend payment April 28, 1972. The cash dividend will be paid June 1, 1972, to shareholders of record on May 1, 1972.

Milo J. Cross, chairman, and Edward E. Barker Jr., president, said this cash dividend at the annual rate of 83 cents per share represented an increase of approximately four percent over the previous annual rate adjusted for the stock dividend.

This increase is the maximum permissible under the present guidelines established by the Committee on Interest and Dividends under "Phase II." They also said that the indicated new annual dividend of $271,533 was less than fourteen percent of the bank's 1971 net income.

HOW MUCH DO YOU WANT TO EARN ON YOUR SAVINGS

PICK A NUMBER

There's a lot of confusion about interest rates . . . and there doesn't have to be. You decide how much you earn. Based on three factors. One, the size of your deposit. Two, the length of time you can leave it undisturbed. Three, whether you take, or accumulate your interest.

Every family saves differently. Some deposit small amounts regularly, and never touch the principal or earnings. Some deposit a large lump sum, and use the earnings as income. Some take advantage of the higher earnings available through time deposits. Some, . . . well, you get the picture.

Community National Bank has a variety of savings programs for individual families. Because, no one program or service could ever be best for everyone. Savers select their own rates here. They pick plans with supplementary services appropriate to their needs. Like free checking, personal check guarantee identification and automatic lines of credit.

Call or visit us. Describe your plans and requirements. Let us help you to pick the number that best meets all your savings objectives.

County bottle center

Oakland County will open a glass receiving and transfer center at 550 S. Telegraph, Pontiac, beginning in June. Authorization for the center, the first of its kind in Michigan, cleared the Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

Mrs. Carolyn Place, director of Independence Township's Bottles for Building campaign and one of the prime movers for a county center, said the local drive would continue as usual the third Saturday of each month.

Earache

Probably every child has an earache at some time or another, but some have three or four every winter and spring. It usually means there is an infection in the middle ear, where tiny bones conduct sound-waves to the eardrum.

These infections are almost always the result of an acute illness, ranging from the common cold to mumps, or the infection of the nose, throat or tubes between the ear and the back of the throat.

The severe pain is often caused by an inflammation of the eardrum, and by pressure against it from a discharge in the middle ear. If the child hears a liquid sound, it may be caused by fluid within blisters that have formed on the eardrum.

Fever sometimes accompanies the earache, particularly in babies, whose temperature may go up to quite high levels. If there is no fever, the infection may be in the outer ear, and the pain is then most severe when the ear is pressed or handled.

Earaches should not be ignored, because frequent ear infections can cause permanent hearing loss. If an abscess forms, for instance, it can break the eardrum. Fortunately, most of these problems can be treated with antibiotics and other drugs.

Surgery is seldom needed nowadays, but in severe cases the doctor may lance the eardrum or operate on the mastoid.

If drugs are prescribed, make sure they're taken even when the fever and pain disappear. Your doctor may insist on this for a week after the symptoms end, to make certain the hidden infection is really cleared up.

Police contract approved

Three full time Sheriff's deputies should be policing Independence Township within short order.

The township board last Wednesday approved unanimously a contract calling for the expenditure of $51,000 to provide a year's policing service from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The funds will come from the extra mill tax approved by voters a year ago.

Men should be on duty about May 1, township officials said.

The Wednesday meeting, recessed from Tuesday, also saw the appointment of Edwin Manley as the ninth member of the Township Planning Commission.

He replaces Jean Bray who was not reappointed when her three-year term expired December 31. The vote was 4-1, Trustee Tom Bullen opposed because, he said, Manley would not be able to represent the suburban farm interests north of I-75 as Mrs. Bray did.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock replied that the township board is the final arbiter in all zoning cases and that "nobody has protected the rural areas of the township more than the board itself."

Efforts to obtain a new kind of commercial zoning in the township which would permit such diverse usages as an apple orchard sales, a trailer servicing facility and perhaps car dealerships or businesses not generally located within commercial districts were initiated by the board.

The new classification, which the planning commission will explore, might solve the zoning predicament of James Helvey, an orchard grower, and Merritt Butler, who wishes to start a trailer service on Sashabaw Road.

Butler and Helvey long ago asked for commercial zoning as opposed to present residential zoning for their land located south of Waldon Road on the west side of Sashabaw. Both the planning commission and the county coordinating committee had recommended denial and the matter had been tabled for a year.

While the board did not deny such zoning, it did vote against approving the commercial zoning last week.

Rezoning to end a hodgepodge of classifications is also contemplated on the east side of Sashabaw. The board ordered the planning commission to investigate.

Appointment of members to a Township Building Authority will be an agenda item at the May 9 meeting. The board changed its regular meeting dates next month to May 9 and 23, because of the pending presidential primary election and also due to the absence of a board member.

Stonerock announced township sewer bonds had been sold at a 5.8 percent interest rate last Tuesday. The rate is considered reasonable, he said.

Agreement was reached that township employees, excepting department heads, be hired by a committee composed of the three full time township officers. The full board will decide on department heads.

Considered is temporary cemetery help plus a new full time custodian.

Interviews are also underway to hire a building department head.

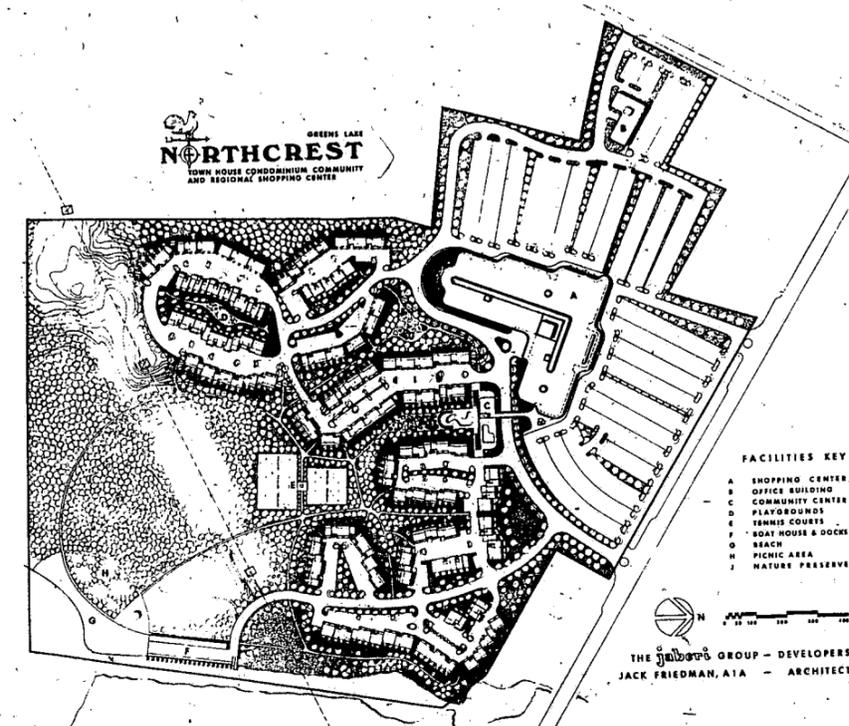

Appointment of experts to the Township Board of Appeals which reviews requested variances from building codes was unanimously agreed upon by the board.

Bullen, as a member of the appeals board, spoke of the dilemma in which members find themselves by taking outside advice. To be a five-man board, the members representing construction, plumbing, and electrical industries and to include the building inspector, it will be appointed by the township board.

People will be able to decide whether to attend township meetings on the basis of printed agendas to be placed in all three papers of general circulation within the township; the board agreed.

An attorney's opinion will be sought in connection with the lot split requested by James Lorenz, 5255 Whipple Lake Road.

A request for a liquor license from Paul and Chris Nicholas for the old Tally-Ho Bar, 6720 Dixie Highway, was tabled until information could be gathered on existing licenses and license applications.

Construction is expected to start by June 1 on 324 condominium units planned by Jaberi Developers on 77 acres at the corner of White Lake Road and the Dixie Highway. An enclosed shopping mall is to come later. Developers last week deeded an 11-acre park in the area to the township. Condominiums and the overall site plan are depicted above. Company spokesmen said recreation will be provided for residents in numerous foot and bike paths, tot play lots, a sauna equipped community club, shoreline facilities and game courts.

Dealership, site plans get planning approval

Two major development site plans were approved with reservations by the Independence Township Planning Commission when it met Thursday night.

A new, $380,000, 29,000-30,000 square foot Rademacher Chevrolet dealership and service facility will take shape across M-15 from Roy Brothers Standard Station on the Dixie Highway.

The commission voted 4-3 to give tentative approval until a new site plan showing a 50-foot setback from the Dixie is received at the township hall.

Efforts to require a different facade on a 100-foot painted cinderblock service wall failed by a vote of 4-3; however, Tom Rademacher, owner of the facility, was asked to have architects consider changes to enhance the long exterior. The dealership portion of the facility will be constructed of brick and wood, Rademacher said.

The commission also approved 7-0 a site plan for 190 condominiums on 19.2 acres north of Maybee Road east of Sashabaw. The initial development in a planned 200-acre residential, commercial and office research area, it is being undertaken by Fairwood Corp. of Oak Park.

The commission stipulated, however, that no building permits be issued until a site plan for a recreation center including a community building and swimming pool be approved and that utility plans be approved by township engineers.

The condominiums are expected to sell for $25,000 to $30,000 each, according to Leo Sklar, a partner in the company.

In other business the commission approved a site plan for a new cement manufacturing facility on White Lake Road adjacent to the railroad tracks. Precision Pipe and Tool Co. is the owner.

Following a public hearing in regard to 10 acres at 9820 Sashabaw Road, the commission approved a change in zoning from agriculture to residential for owner, Godfrey Janis. It was recommended that swamp land lying at the rear of the property be deeded to the township for permanent open space, and Janis made no objection.

The commission also approved hiring a clerk to take minutes of the meetings, thereby freeing Secretary Jack Belby for greater participation in discussion.

It's started. Men and equipment from T. A. Forsberg Co. of Okemos were in Independence Township Friday beginning construction on the township sewer system. The site is Maybee Road near Clintonville.

Wolves drop 2 in W-0 league

By Craig Moore

Clarkston's Varsity Wolves dropped 2 games this week and now hold an 0-3 season record.

The Wolves posted their first Wayne-Oakland League loss on Monday, April 17 to the Milford Redskins by a score of 10-5.

Dave Partlo knocked a home run in the first inning with one man on base and the Wolves added 2 more runs in the second inning. Milford, however, could not be so easily taken and came back with a 6-run third inning to take the Wayne-Oakland opener.

Clarkston then fell victim to Milford's fine defense and could not come up with the needed runs.

Later in the week, Thursday, April 20, the Wolves gave up their second league loss to the Clarenceville Trojans, 6-5.

Clarenceville led 1-0 and added two more runs to their score in the third inning.

Greg Swanson, wielding a big stick, came up to the plate and smacked a 2-run single in the Wolves' 5-run third inning.

Clarkston led 5-3 but Clarenceville followed with 3 runs in the fourth inning to take the 6-5 win.

The doubleheader scheduled for Saturday, April 22 with West Bloomfield was canceled due to rain.

Monday, April 24, the Wolves will play their third league game with Waterford Kettering at home. Clarkston's Wolves will travel to Milford on Thursday, April 27 for a 4 p.m. confrontation on the diamond.

Clarkston will host Bloomfield Hills Andover for a double-header on Saturday, April 29. The first game begins at 1 p.m.

The Wolves have an 0-2 league record.

Trackmen victorious

By Mike Jewell

Clarkston Varsity track team ran over Clarenceville 98-75 last Tuesday. It was the team's first victory this year, giving them a record of 1-1; 1-0 in the Wayne-Oakland League.

Bill Svetkoff came through again for Clarkston with a total of 13 points. He took a first in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 16.0 time and first in the 180-yard low hurdles in 20.8 seconds. Svetkoff was second in the long jump as he was shaded out by Bill Rondo of Clarkston who jumped 19'5".

The 880-yard relay team of Whitehead, Humphreys, Hallman and Kath for Clarkston took first place with a time of 1:37.2.

The mile relay team for Clarkston — Foster, Dancey, Olafsson and Becker — totaled for a 3:51 time to take another first place.

Other first place finishes for Clarkston were earned by Seaman who shotputted 45'8", White who ran the 880-yard in 2:11, Olafsson who did the mile in 4:55, Dancey who did the 440-yard dash in 54.8, and Adams who did the 2-mile run in 11:01.0.

The arrangement

by Jean Saile

It was a big waste putting closets in the boys' bedrooms.

What we should have done was build drawers and hang hooks in the stairway going upstairs.

It would have at least unloaded the obstacle course faced by anyone headed up or down.

Actually I try not to as much as possible. Head up, that is.

The three boys and I have an arrangement about how their rooms up there get cleaned.

On Saturday morning I yell at them, and then later in the week I go clean their rooms.

Whenever I do chance to head upstairs, there's not a boy in the house. They sense the trip coming, and disappear.

They are therefore not on hand for my fine dramatic performance in which I ring my hands and beat my head against the wall. Sometimes I cry.

I comfort myself that if they ever get drafted, they'll learn to make beds.

Room number one, belonging to our Civil Air Patrol cadet, is Clarkston's version of Wright-Patterson Air Base. I think they're neater at Wright-Patterson, though.

Axe, hunting knife, canteen, emergency food rations and sleeping roll are right there (on the floor). If the president ever needs him, he's ready. I'd like to sent his fleet of the 100 model airplanes, the dusty ones, with him.

Next door is bedlam. Here's where the mother cat keeps her two kittens, and where son number two takes up the rest of the space with leather working tools (including lovely dyes), half finished articles, electrical equipment (it's headquarters for the household PA system) and junk and catalogs from which to purchase more junk.

The lad takes after his father. Just beyond is sports headquarters. Pennants from baseball teams no longer in existence hide the walls. Balls, mitts, rackets, comic books and a set of drums fill the rest of it.

These are the essential ingredients. When they're sprinkled with potato chips, peanut shells, cat food, dirty milk shake glasses and stiff socks, it has all the makings of tantrum time.

The boys would just as soon I never did go upstairs, but I keep thinking that if a doctor or fireman were needed in emergency, I'd never be able to face the town again.

Could I tell them, I wonder, that I never saw those kids before in my life?

SOMETHING NEW

Robert Chisholm, who is an administrative aide in the auditor's office at Oakland County Courthouse when he is not following his first love—the theater — has just returned from New York City, satiated by viewing as many various productions as it was possible to cram into the time available.

Chisholm has a discerning eye, and his reports on the current offerings follow.

Members of Cedar Chapter, Order of DeMolay, show their super salesmanship prior to heading out last Saturday to raise funds for club projects by selling subscriptions to The Clarkston News. The gang will be out in various areas of the township for some Saturdays to come.

Fun City Potpourri

By Robert Chisholm

Having missed the Detroit offering of "Jesus Christ Superstar," I decided to catch this much acclaimed spectacle at the Mark Hellinger Theater.

Spectacle is a carefully selected description. The cast is fine with Jeff Fenholt as Jesus of Nazareth and Ben Vereen as Judas Iscariot and Yvonne Elliman as Mary Magdelene.

But somehow, with a truncated story line, musical offerings that range from memorable to extraneous, it is the director, Tom O'Horgan, who emerges as the dominant force of the show. Unfortunately, the gifted O'Horgan's hand is too obvious and heavy. In general, his creativity for staging seemed to have been exhausted early in the performance.

The results are several James Bond-like gimmicky effects; particularly the hanging of Judas where he is hauled upwards into the stage loft and the final crucifixion scene where the stylized cross and Jesus are moved to front-center stage with an accompanying grunting, whining and screeching of off-stage mechanical equipment.

In sum, only a fair evening although in all honesty the audience seemed to enjoy the efforts of the cast.

"Night Watch" (Morosco Theatre), billed as the best suspense drama since "Sleuth," was written by Lucille Fletcher. Miss Fletcher began her career writing original radio plays for the CBS Suspense series including "Sorry, Wrong Number." She has since written extensively for both screen and TV.

The play stars Joan Hackett as the emotionally distraught wife who has seen a dead man "sitting in a chair" in a vacant building behind her lower Manhattan apartment — or has she?

Despite a fine performance by Miss Hackett and Keene Curtis as the probing, apparently knowing neighbor, I find myself in general agreement with the critics who were split on their reviews.

The fault with "Night Watch" must be laid at Miss Fletcher's feet: there are simply too many false leads and loose ends to satisfy a true mystery buff.

On understanding husbands and others

by Marilyn Lawrence

TRANSLATIONS FROM THE HUSBAND:

"You know, the kids have never had a chance to see much of this great country of ours — we should broaden their horizons . . ."

TRANSLATION: He just happens to have here in his pocket the brochure for the new Apache Camper, and he lusts after one.

"Have some more wine. Have you looked at the model with the Porta-Pottie yet?"

TRANSLATION: This is going to be tougher than he thought.

"We'll get new furniture as soon as you teach YOUR children to keep their big feet on the floor."

TRANSLATION: His bonus check won't cover both the furniture and a camper.

"This house has such a warm, welcoming, lived-in look . . ."

TRANSLATION: The dirty bunting sticking out of the couch and chairs is hardly noticeable. I obviously have a furniture fetish.

"Pat and Jim are getting a divorce. He told me at lunch today they just grew apart."

TRANSLATION: That marriage could have been saved. Six people in a camper makes for a lot of togetherness.

"Looks like I'm going to get in a lot of golf this summer."

TRANSLATION: If he can't have the camper, he's gonna run away from home.

"How would you like to come along on this Montreal trip? Just you and me, away from everything for five days . . ."

TRANSLATION: Now he's going to play dirty. They gave him a two week delivery date.

TRANSLATIONS FROM THE SON:

"Your oil is dirty, and you have a sticky solenoid."

TRANSLATION: Take better care of the car, he hopes to inherit it in seven months, eleven days and four hours.

"There's never anything to eat around here."

TRANSLATION: He's gone through the apples, bananas, cookies, potato chips and Kool Aid I bought yesterday.

"I can't find any of my clothes — didn't you wash this week?"

TRANSLATION: There are six pair of jeans, a mildewed sweatshirt, six shirts, a Playboy centerfold, assorted underwear, a compass, half a peanut butter sandwich, and eleven unmatched socks jammed like gum wadding under his bed.

"I'm substituting on Greg's paper route to help him out today."

TRANSLATION: He's four weeks overdrawn on his allowance and invited a girl to go roller skating Sunday. He needs the bread.

"Really have to crack the books tonight, but I feel so tired lately — do you think I might have mononucleosis?"

TRANSLATION: He got his report card today, and we'll get the bad news after dinner. You can't beat a child when he's sick.

"People place too much value on achievement these days."

TRANSLATION: The report card is worse than we thought.

"How can anyone so beautiful be such a good cook too?"

TRANSLATION: His C.A.P. flight meeting is here, at eight o'clock, and he needs a double batch of chocolate chip cookies — pronto.

"Mom, you look tired — what you need is a rest, with no work to do. We ought to get away more."

TRANSLATION: His father talked to him about the camper.

TRANSLATIONS FROM

THE DAUGHTER:

"I just love this dress. You have the best taste, Mom."

TRANSLATION: It sat in her closet for a year, until it got short enough to suit her. She may be arrested.

"I am never going to eat again. Don't even set a place for me at the table."

TRANSLATION: A boy on the playground called her "Chubs" today.

"I think half-Siamese kittens are just beautiful, don't you?"

TRANSLATION: She let the cat out by mistake while we were gone.

"Schools today want to program children like robots. Creativity is lost in education!"

TRANSLATION: She bombed out in the Spelling Bee.

"Don't you think that a girl with a straight A average is more emotionally mature than other girls her age?"

TRANSLATION: A boy asked her to go roller skating and she doesn't want to tell him she can't date until she's fifteen.

"Americans should get back to a simpler, more basic life-style. We never take the time to smell the flowers . . ."

TRANSLATION: Her father talked to her about the camper.

Once a puppy

By Debbie Durso
 Grade 7, Clarkston Jr. High

There once was a puppy all alone,
 All he had with him was his little bone.

There once was a puppy who roamed
 round and round,
 Until he got dizzy and then he fell down.

There once was a puppy I found lying in the street.
 He looked so tired and he looked so beat.

There once was a puppy,
 And now he is mine.
 He's getting fat, but he looks just fine.

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Did you ever stop to think that many of the old children's stories should be re-written in the light of today's mixed-up social and political concepts?

Take Little Red Riding Hood for instance. This is the way the old favorite your mother read to you before the days of television would sound in light of today's enlightened thinking.

Once upon a time, in a far away country, there lived a little girl called Red Riding Hood. One day her mother asked her to take a basket of food to her grandmother, who had been sick and lived alone in a cottage in the woods awaiting the chance to get medicare.

It was a beautiful day and Red Riding Hood stopped to pick some wildflowers as she went on her way. This gave a nasty wolf a little time so he rushed to the house of the grandmother, devoured her, put on her nightgown and jumped into bed to wait for the little girl.

When she arrived, he made several obscene suggestions and then tried to grab her. But by this time the child was very frightened and ran screaming from the cottage.

It happened that a woodcutter heard her cries and rushed to her rescue. He killed the wolf with his axe, thereby saving Red Riding Hood's life. All the townspeople hurried to the scene and proclaimed the woodcutter the recipient of the Citizen-of-the Day award.

But at the inquest several facts emerged. First of all, the woodcutter had not advised the wolf of his rights. Second, the woodcutter had swung at the wolf with an unlicensed axe.

The Civil Liberties Union stressed the point that although the act of eating grandmother may have been in bad taste, the wolf was only "doing his thing" and did not deserve the death penalty but should have been hospitalized and treated for his aggressive behavior which was actually the fault of a society which had oppressed wolves for the last century.

The SDS claimed the wolf was only within his rights in eating grandmother because he was acting in self defense because she was over 30 thus making her a member of the hated establishment. Besides, Grandma didn't understand that the wolf was only making love, not war.

It was decided, then, that there was actually no basis for the charges against the wolf. The woodcutter, however, was indicted for assault with a deadly and unlicensed weapon.

Several nights later, the woodcutter's cottage was burned to the ground. Within a week, woodcutters' cottages throughout the country were burned to the ground as a protest against violence.

Then one morning the woodcutter's body was found torn to shreds. At first it was thought that he had been attacked by a pack of avenging wolves. But the investigating committee appointed by congress decided that he had been overcome by massive guilt feelings and had hacked himself to death. The fact that no one was found led to the theory that there had been an accomplice. This was never proven, even though Red Riding Hood crossed the border, went into exile in Canada and spent her days making candles, awaiting amnesty.

3 Eagle Scouts honored

Ripley Crandell II

Three members of Boy Scout Troop 126, Clarkston United Methodist Church, received their Eagle awards during a Court of Honor Tuesday at the church. Glenn Simpson is their Scoutmaster.

Ripley Crandell II, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ripley Crandell of 6266 Snowapple, is an eighth grade honor student at Clarkston Junior High.

He started scouting as a Cub in 1966 and has received the God and Country award along with 23 merit badges. He is presently serving as patrol leader for his for three years and a Cub three years prior to that, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Jones, 79 Robertson Court. He is in the eighth grade at Clarkston Junior High.

Tim has earned 25 merit badges, has served as den chief for Cub Scout Pack 126 for two years and received two Wilderness Trail awards.

His service project was helping to cut trees and clear land for a village park. He is also active in Calvary Lutheran Church Youth Group.

Peggy Dougherty, 14, of 6562 Pear is a B student and has been on the honor roll all this year at Clarkston Junior High School.

A ninth grader, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dougherty, she is Clarkston Youth Assistance Teen of the Week.

Peggy has been active in intramural girls' athletics, the Jaycees' girls' recreation program, is a student gym assistant and a member of Clarkston Methodist Church.

Youth featured in melodrama

Betty Hallman

Betty Hallman named deputy clerk

Mrs. Keith (Betty) Hallman, for eight years a clerk in the Independence Township treasurer's department, has been named deputy township clerk. Her appointment was announced by J. Edwin Glennie, Clerk.

Mrs. Hallman, who has five children, lives at 6024 Overlook. She will continue with her duties in the treasurer's department, she said.

Trash pickup

Trash that the disposal services generally do not accept can be disposed of Saturdays, May 6 and 13 in Independence Township.

The township board has agreed to underwrite the bill for the disposal of junk items which householders take between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. on those days to Powell's Sanitary Landfill at 6440 Orion Road or four specified pickup areas.

While it is asked that large items be taken directly to the landfill, other smaller items may be taken to sites at the northeast corner of Clarkston-Orion and North Eston roads, the southwest corner of Maybee and Clintonville, the Legion Hall on M-15 north of I-75, and the corner of Center and Hillcrest in Woodhull Lake Subdivision.

It's a youthful cast involved in Clarkston Village Players' upcoming melodrama, "A Fate Worse Than Death or Adrift on Life's Sea."

The play, to be presented May 12, 13, 19 and 20 at the Depot Theater, will feature Michelle Bailey, 20; Alan Rose, 17; Jim Klark, 18, and Carol O'Connor, 20, in various roles.

Jim Klark as Burgess Lendahand is the hero — "simple minded but he loves horses," according to his co-players.

Michelle, who hopes to be employed beginning this weekend at Rocco's new facility on the Dixie Highway, plays Dorothea, "a stuck-up rich kid," she says.

Alan, a senior at Clarkston High School now appearing as the kid in "Once Upon a Mattress" plays the part of Slick Carter, "an egotistical, loud, pushy, accusing, wrong guy," he says.

Carol O'Connor seems to be the French maid, Marie, but her co-players assure us she is really Memphis Maisy with a criminal record.

Jim was in "Plaza Suite," the February offering of Players and he has appeared in eight high school performances. He's working now at Oakland County Courthouse and plans to attend Central Michigan University in the fall.

Michelle has been in two previous Players' performances, "once as the little girl with the lollipop and once in Allison. I was pure as the driven snow," she recalls.

Michelle, whose father is Homer Biondi, president of Players, remembers being "kind of curdled" the first time she appeared on stage but the idea now of assuming another character — "if you do it right" — leads her to state, "I love it."

Alan has been in a number of high school productions including "South Pacific," "Charlie's Aunt" and he was the dragon in "The Dragon That Giggled," a children's production.

About the upcoming play, which features two murders and the misplacing of $100,000 and jewelry, Michelle says she dreads the line she has to say, "Hst, I hear footsteps approaching on horseback."

Alan's nemesis is the line, "Where were you on the night of January 21st?" and the explanation, "Search me, but we always begin our investigations by asking that question."

Michelle Bailey and Alan Rose rehearse

The Mariettas have problems

David Marietta, who has purchased two lots from his father-in-law, William Powell, at Clearview and Sylvanview in Sunnybeach Subdivision No. 2, is caught in the middle of a township dispute.

For the second time in eight months, he last week received permission from the Township Zoning Board of Appeals to build on the property; however, on Friday orders were issued making it impossible for him to obtain a building permit from the township building department.

The Zoning Board of Appeals last Thursday night acted favorably on Marietta's second request to build on two 40-foot lots on the basis of an opinion from Township Attorney Richard Campbell.

Campbell's opinion took note of the fact that since Marietta had sold his home and stored his furniture after first obtaining a Zoning Board of Appeals variance September 8, 1971, in regard to both lots and an additional 10 feet of another lot, he should now be granted a hardship variance.

Marietta has since dropped the request for the additional 10 feet.

Though the zoning board of appeals had moved in his favor last fall, the township board three weeks ago voted not to allow the lot split. Trustee Tom Bullen, who disagreed with the vote, asked at that time for Campbell's opinion. Bullen is also a member of the appeals board.

While Marietta cleared one hurdle, he ran head-on Friday morning into orders issued by Supervisor Gary Stonerock that no building permits should be granted where lots do not meet specifications of the zoning ordinance and the plat act.

He ordered the building department to refuse permits on lots having less than 75 foot frontage and 11,250 square feet in non-conforming lots such as the Mariettas'. He further said no permits would be issued on lots with less than 65 foot frontage and less than 12,000 square feet without water and sewer; and on lots of less than 100 feet frontage and 15,000 square feet in residentially zoned areas.

He instructed the department that any subdivision lot split would have to be taken to Circuit Court. He said the orders would hold until sewer and water is available or until the ordinance is revised to deal more effectively with non-conforming lots of record.

Clothing collection for Appalachia

Students at Clarkston Junior High School are appealing to area residents to support Save the Children Federation's 26th Annual Bundle Days Drive through May 5.

Under sponsorship of the student council, students are now collecting wearable used clothing and shoes to be distributed by the federation to needy children in the Southern Appalachian Mountains. Adult apparel is also being accepted.

The drive is aimed at cutting down the drop-out rate of Appalachian children who cannot attend school because they do not have clothes to wear. The solicitation is aimed at shoes, coats, dresses, suits and underwear.

Save the Children Federation, international child welfare organization, with headquarters in Norwalk, Conn., was founded in 1932. The federation aids children, their families and communities in the Appalachian region, in Indian reservations and in many countries

Youth honored

Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee will recognize and honor youth of the Clarkston area at its annual Youth Recognition banquet at 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 8, at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, according to Mrs. James Pidd, secretary of the Youth Recognition Committee.

Independence Township Clerk

As the excitement for our first Michigan Presidential Primary mounts, I would like to take just a few moments to talk about a couple of less exciting but equally important subjects.

Of course, the "main event" at the May 16 primary will be for each of you to indicate to the Republican and Democratic national machinery who you would prefer them to run as their party's candidate this fall.

I'm not saying that isn't important, but that certainly isn't all there is going on at this election.

You will also be determining who your local township "precinct delegates" are going to be. These people will be elected by you for your local representation at the county level. Please give a lot of thought to your voting for "precinct delegates." This is not an advisory vote.

Another thing to be determined is whether your township board will remain as it is with five members or if it is to be increased to seven by adding two more trustees. There are pros and cons for both the five and the seven-man board.

Again, this is very important to you as it affects you locally. I will not belabor this article with my viewpoints, but I do ask each and every one of you to give a great deal of thought to these issues.

Also on the ballot May 16 will be two state proposals. One deals with the approval or denial of lotteries within our state and the other deals with whether or not an elected official can run for another public office without first resigning from his current office.

These are all very important to us all.

Just remember this — when voting on May 16, you cannot split your ticket, so before pulling the lever, give some thought to each of the individuals for whom you are voting.

See you at the polls.

Keep it in the car

With the return of green grass has come the exposure of litter discarded over the winter. We're not talking about piles of scrap dumped off in the woods or along a country road somewhere. That's worth an editorial in itself.

What we find in strolls around town are the thoughtless disposal of milk shake cartons, beer cans, pop bottles, paper bags, hamburger wrappings, etc., that manage to turn the roadsides into something other than uncluttered grass would offer.

Believing it to be mostly a matter of thoughtlessness with little regard to what an accumulation of easy disposal can produce, we appeal to adults, high school students and youngsters to keep that trash inside the car until a legitimate disposal site presents itself.

For homeowners who really like to keep the roadways in front of their houses looking nice, the continuously accumulating trash is a frustration.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Say it ain't so, Ed

By Jim Fitzgerald

My thinking is warped by TV. I think it's fine for priests to get married but I'm not so sure Ed McMahon should be allowed to leave his wife.

Which has got to be peculiar.

I attended a Catholic school for 12 years, majoring in Catechism and daily Mass. If I'd ever stood up in Religion class and suggested that Father McCormick should propose matrimony to Sister Clementine, a lightning bolt would have struck me swiftly through the ground and into hell.

But somehow I have grown into an adult who thinks it is ridiculous for the Catholic Church to force its priests to live lonely, without anyone to tell them to bring home a loaf of bread. How can a priest give good advice to a troubled couple when he has never emptied 15 drawers searching for the other sock?

Man does not live by prayer alone. There should be more zing to a priest's life than an occasional sneak of wine. There is nothing zingier than raising kids with a fine woman. The pleasure should not be denied any man who wants it, no matter how round his collar.

I don't know how an ex-altar boy can harbor such obtuse notions, let alone flaunt them in public. I guess, as Mother will agree, those 12 years at St. Stephen's just didn't take. But how, then, do we explain my reaction to the news of Ed McMahon's domestic difficulties? All you night people know McMahon is the longtime No. 2 man on Johnny Carson's TV show. No further description should be needed (I don't think day people read this nonsense anyway).

McMahon is a Catholic. In fact, I've always regarded him as Pope of Channel 4. Whenever a Catholic university or the K of C needed a celebrity to pass the hat, McMahon was their boy. Some of his best friends are bishops.

But the newspapers report McMahon has left his wife of 27 years and their 4 children. He is seeking a legal separation. He was quoted as saying he was "trapped by success" and was never at home anyway.

Mrs McMahon was described as "devastated." So were a lot of TV viewers. The Catholic Church frowns mightily on "legal separations" and allows divorce only under rare circumstances. So how could Holy Ed do it?

I should quickly point out

Pontiac divided in two. Waterford Township is divided in two, half of it attached to the southern half of the city of Pontiac, the other half in the district now represented by State Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford.

This is the plan that separates State Rep. Richard Allen's (R-Ithaca) home from his mailbox across the street.

I object to this type of political maneuvering because it is obviously just that; it places an unfair burden on the citizen who has to know not only what House district he lives in, but which Senate district, which Congressional district, which county commissioner district, etc.

Furthermore, it completely ignores the constitutional requirement that districts be drawn "as nearly square as possible."

There are means of appeal provided. It may be appealed to the Federal Supreme Court, and it's entirely possible that someone may do that.

Appeals take time, however, and there is no assurance that the court will even consent to hear it. The elections could come and go before the appeal was even completed.

that I regard the Catholic attitude on divorce to be as silly as celibacy. To each his own, but a marriage kept intact by law alone, religious or civil, is no marriage at all. I would never presume to condemn McMahon, or to judge him at all. It's really none of my business.

But I must confess surprise. McMahon's TV image hadn't prepared his audience for domestic troubles. Johnny Carson can get divorced every week and joke about it. But not McMahon, the jolly mick who sold beer and always talked proudly of his wife and kids. Say it ain't so, Ed.

All of which proves I watch too much TV. And there should be a TV series about a married priest.

Letters to the editor

"Some clarification"

To the Editor,

A recent letter to the editor about hiring a full time planner needs some clarification. Gary Stonerock and I initiated a change in planning firms right after we were elected because of the turmoil that existed in the township prior to the election.

The unpopular zoning done by the previous board was in part due to the planner. There was also an item of conflict of interest; the planner represented the township as well as developers here.

We tried to hire a full time planner, as evidenced by the Planning Commission minutes of Feb. 11, 1971; February 18, 1971; and March 16, 1971. There was enough opposition to a full time planner at that time to force us into our present condition.

Those who didn't want a full time planner then see the need and are asking for one now. He could have written zoning ordinance changes, helped with the litter ordinances, the building department, etc. At present we have several projects going that will take the present planning firm about six months to complete.

This work in process makes it difficult to make the change at this time. It would have been easy back in March, 1971.

Planning for the 90,000 people due to make Independence Township their home in the not too distant future is the single most important job of this government. We must learn from the mistakes of those to the south of us.

The person who wrote the letter had only to ask her daughter, a former planning commission member, and these facts would have been revealed—rather than having to be corrected in a letter to the township.

I am always available a half hour before each board meeting and at any time you phone 625-3908. Please avail yourself of this service if there is a question.

Keith A. Humbert, trustee

Lack of enforcement

To the editor:

Stonerock lives in a subdivision zoned R1A-Single family residential district. According to the ordinance the "only permitted principal uses" is limited to single family dwellings.

Air Land Survey (registered by Stonerock and James J. Lowe) rents the lower level of a house located at 4760 Mohawk and owned by Karl Blass.

We therefore charge Karl Blass, Gary Stonerock and James J. Lowe with violating the ordinance at 4760 Mohawk per section 19. We also charge Stonerock and Lowe with violating the ordinance at 4780 Mohawk per section 22. (Lowe's business card lists his address at 4780 Mohawk and his telephone 394-0177, which is a business phone for Air Land Surveys at 4780 Mohawk.)

Mr. Richard Campbell has failed to act on a complaint filed 3/3/72 by Luther Fletcher. He therefore is derelict, possibly even to the extent of misfeasance, in the enforcement of Section 19 & 22 as noted above. He can pursue every complaint, real or imaginable of Stonerock's, but completely ignores Section 11 of this ordinance. Why? Does Mr. Campbell feel that he is a servant of the taxpayers of Independence Township or their master? I believe we are entitled to a detailed report from him re this alleged violation and complaint.

More on the lot split

Dear editor,

How can the "real estate interests" take over Independence when the surveying business has it locked up?

Mrs. Hobson, just because your bearded candidate lost the election is no reason for you to spit your venom at Mr. Glennie.

There are five people on the board and three voted for the lot split. It wasn't until Stonerock's legal beaver showed up at the next meeting and expressed his opinion that the split was illegal, that it was rescinded.

Here again the pressure group took over. You can bet me Mrs. Brendle got out her prod and hit Gary with it a couple of times to let him know she still runs her domain.

Mr. Garner accepted his defeat graciously. It is too bad you can't.

Eating political crow

By Carl O'Brien

Couple weeks ago I journeyed to Detroit to observe the Democrats in assembly at the Jefferson-Jackson day dinner. This modest get-together is an annual event hosted by the Michigan Democratic Party Chairman in hopes of raising some substantial dollars for the erstwhile party of the poor man.

The rules being that any poor man can attend the Jeff-Jack Dinner who can and will shell out fifty bucks.

The current chairman of the Democratic Party is James McNeeley, from Bloomfield, and previous to that, Milford. McNeeley is a former teacher of retarded folks and other slow learners; this experience appears to stand him in good stead in his dealings with the numbskulls who help him mismanage the party.

While the other party leaders bungle the simplest tasks and stumble about in confusion (muttering about candidates being "viable" or not being "relevant") McNeeley remains to all outward appearances unflappable.

The man stands smiling unflinchingly as he watches the disintegration of a once monolithic party.

He reminded me of a ham actor playing bravely to a rapidly emptying house. His courage is commendable, if not his art.

So, as a few hundred Democrats who like to flatter themselves that they are the regular Democratic Party ate creamed peas and cold crow downtown, George Wallace broke political cornbread with 10,000 hungry followers at the Fairgrounds the same night. And the contrast between the two events was, to say the least, marked.

For instance, the only labor people present at the Jeff-Jack Dinner were those longtime union pork-choppers who used to have some political clout. These bigwigs of the labor movement were easy to spot; for as usual they all sat together in one group.

Perhaps they were made especially nervous by the unhappy knowledge that so many thousands of their dues-paying members were whooping it up and wallowing about in ecstasy out at the Fairgrounds with Governor Wallace. You may believe me when I report that there was not a single smile on a labor leader's face throughout the evening.

Meanwhile, the irrepressible McNeeley is courageously trying to smile enough for everyone in the party these days.

Like the good trouper, McNeeley knows that even a show without a star attraction must go on until the final closing of the curtain.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Starner of Cadillac have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joan, to Edward Kelley. He is the son of Arthur A. Kelley of 6445 Waldon Road. Both Joan and Edward attend Ferris State College where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Mu Fraternity. A September wedding is planned.

Vows exchanged

Sarah Rosellen Anspaugh became Mrs. James Robert Blumerich in a ceremony April 21 at Dixie Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. M. Janett Deverix and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blumerich, both of Clarkston.

A reception at the Davisburg Town Hall followed the evening ceremony performed by Rev. Paul Vanaman.

Episcopal women plan card party

Episcopal church women of the Church of the Resurrection will hold their annual spring card party at 1 and 7:30 p.m. May 10 at 6490 Clarkston Road. A donation of $1.25 covers a dessert buffet and door and table prizes, according to Mrs. Marianne Howenstine, secretary.

To produce delicious baked potatoes, coat the skin of the potato with oil or bacon grease before putting in oven.

Plans for the restoration of "Pine Grove's" summer kitchen are examined by Harry Denyes, (from left) architect, Gretchen Adler and Stu Stewart, restoration committee, and Betty Adams, president of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society. The kitchen is located on the grounds of the Wisner Home at 405 Oakland, Pontiac. Local contributions of $4,000 are needed to match federal funds available for the project, Mrs. Adams said.

Dr. O. J. Fusilier (right) of Clarkston accepts a special award from the Michigan Dental Association's president, Dr. Richard S. Youngs of Adrian. Dr. Fusilier was honored with a resolution of tribute in recognition of "the many contributions he had made to the dental profession, and the inspiration and encouragement he has provided to many young dentists throughout his career."

Around the township

A bus mystery

625-2837

By Shanna Nadolsky

If anyone happened to see a large bus traveling around and through town Saturday night, it wasn't lost. The mission was to collect 25 couples at their doorsteps and to then proceed on a Mystery Trip. After all the guests were aboard, the bus headed for Charlie Brown's.

At Charlie's, stacked ham on twisted buns, dill pickles and pitchers of beer were served to spur on the sing-along mood. At 11 p.m. sharp, all guests were asked to board the bus again for the next stop — the Strohs' Ice Cream Shop — where the travelers met with some very fancy and tasty desserts.

It sounds like a great evening. The hosts for the entire evening's events were the Charles Robinsons and the Richard Bullens.

New residents on Northview from Pontiac are David and Vondah Hockey and sons, Randy, 7, and Stephen, 2. Mr. Hockey is a service repairman for R & D Service in Highland.

Donald Lee, a freshman at Central Michigan University, has been named a representative to that school's program board. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover L. Lee, 7953 Eston Road.

Relatives from Flint arrived to celebrate Kim Hamaker's 14th birthday Saturday. A special treat for Kim was going horseback riding, one of her favorite hobbies. Kim is the daughter of the Don Hamakers of Kingfisher.

New residents of Clarkston are Mr. and Mrs. John Vanderhuerk and their 11-year-old son, Jim. They have come to Clarkston from St. Clair Shores and moved into their home on Kingfisher just two weeks ago.

Mr. Vanderhuerk is employed by G.M. Parts in Detroit and Mrs. Vanderhuerk is a seamstress employed in Troy. Son, Jim, attends the Clarkston Elementary School. The Vanderhuerks have two grown children, a son who is in the U.S. Army, and a daughter who is a teacher in Arizona. The whole family is very enthused about their new community and are anxious to meet its residents.

Everyone will be glad to hear Rev. Alex Stewart is back home and doing very well following open heart surgery two weeks ago in Cleveland Clinic. Both the Reverend and Mrs. Stewart were very impressed with the clinic and its facilities, but are very glad to be home.

The Reverend's roommate who had had similar heart surgery was from Farmington, so both being Michiganders, they started what has turned out to be a new friendship. The foursome has plans for getting together again sometime soon.

Mrs. Stewart told me of one nurse, a graduate of Mercy Hospital, who was especially helpful in explaining the technical lingo of the whole procedure. It seems Cleveland Clinic is A-1 in the Reverend and Mrs. Stewart's book.

Ken and Pat Emerson have recently joined our community from Rhode Island and are now two week residents of Plum Street. Their sons, Richard, 10, and David, 12, are pleased with their new friends in the neighborhood and are attending the Clarkston Elementary School. Ken is a sales engineer for Cleveland Twist Drill. Welcome to Clarkston.

Lisa and Lori Irwin had two little friends over Saturday for cookies and ice cream and on Sunday, grandpa and grandma, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irwin, treated the whole family to the delights at Farrell's Ice Cream Shop. Lisa and Lori were two-years-old, the 30th and are the daughters of Cliff and Linda Irwin on Laurelton.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Lawrence of 6210 Waldon Road have a new son, Jerry Dane, born April 15 weighing 7 pounds, 5 ounces. He joins Jeffrey, 6; Julie, 3, and Jodi, 1, at home. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Barrie of Maybee Road and Mrs. Tom Lawrence of Pontiac. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gray of Livonia.

Clarkston area residents are asked to begin saving paper now for the Boy Scout Troop 126 paper drive June 3. A truck will be stationed at Clarkston Methodist Church, and the scouts hope to fill it with seven tons of waste material, according to Norman Miller, chairman. Further information about pickup and delivery is available by calling 625-3555.

Salvation Army Sixty Plus Club will meet for a potluck luncheon at noon May 11 at the Salvation Army. Roast beef is being furnished by Clarkston Area Jaycettes, according to Brigadier Mary Aspden. She said all seniors of the area are invited and asked to bring a guest.

Charles E. Brown

Charles E. Brown, 5854 Dvorak, received the 32nd degree in Scottish Rite Freemasonry April 29 at the Masonic Temple in Detroit. He was part of a class of nearly 400 Masons from 11 counties of southeastern Michigan.

Bailey Lake fair

Bailey Lake PTA will sponsor a school fair from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday, May 6, at the school on Pine Knob Road. Attractions will include a doll walk, a spook room, a cake walk, white elephant sale, snack room and balloon sale.

Speech learning outlined

Jan Kirchgessner, Clarkston Schools speech therapist, will discuss the sequence in the development of sounds and language for the young child at 7:30 p.m. May 4 at Clarkston Senior High School. Her talk is the third in a series of four lectures on the early years of child's growth and development sponsored by Clarkston Youth Assistance and the Special Services Division of the Clarkston Schools.

A charge of 50 cents per session covers the cost of coffee. Programs are open to all interested men and women of the area.

Swiss steak dinner

Order of Eastern Star will cook and serve a Swiss steak dinner from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday at the Clarkston Masonic Temple.

Russell Arnold, Worthy Patron, will sell tickets at the door - $2 for adults, $1.25 for youngsters from 5-12, and free for those under five.

All you can eat of Swiss steak, mashed potatoes, vegetable, salad, rolls and butter, dessert and beverage is available.

Pilgrim statue at Lakes church

Members of area churches have been invited to participate in services Thursday, May 4, honoring the Pilgrim Statue of Our Lady of Fatima at Our Lady of the Lakes Church, Waterford.

Beginning with a 9 a.m. Mass, the special program will include devotions through the day and a 7:30 p.m. Holy Hour including a procession and May crowning.

Ecology movie PTA subject

Tom Smith, conservation officer from Stoney Creek Metropolitan Park, will show a movie about ecology for Sashabaw School PTA at 7:30 p.m. May 8 at the school.

All interested adults and children are invited to attend. Free babysitting service will be available and refreshments will be served.

Bottles speaker

Jerry Hodak, Channel 2 weatherman, will present youth awards at the Bottles for Building banquet at 6 p.m. Monday, May 15, at Pine Knob.

Hodak, a native Detroit, has been with WJBK-TV since 1965.

Morris to address CUF

The Greater Detroit Chapter of Catholics United for the Faith will sponsor famed Catholic lecturer and writer, Frank Morris, in a program at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 7, at the Detroit Veterans Memorial. His topic is "Will the Real Catholics Please Stand Up?"

Spiritual Message

Rev. Frank Cozadd

"The Dimension of Depth"

In the popular play by Thornton Wilder called "Our Town," Wilder describes how the trivial, everyday events in life contain depth of meaning. He tells of a letter received by a little Jane Crofut from her minister when she was sick. The letter was addressed to Jane Crofut at her farm in New Hampshire and included town, county, state, continent, hemisphere, planet and ended with "the mind of God."

It is as if the playwright were saying that whatever goes on in your life and mine, even in the ordinary activities of life, is not unrelated to God. Howard Thurman says it this way: "Man comes into the presence of God with the smell of life upon him." When we are talking about a meaningful faith, we are not talking about a dimension of life that is special and different and set apart from ordinary life. It is what happens in your life at home, at work, and at the store, as well as at a church building. We find our way into a meaningful faith not in some special adventure but in adding the dimension of depth to our understanding of the ordinary, everyday events of life.

Our faith makes its contribution to us by pulling us out of ourselves and relating us to something bigger than we are. Or better, it helps us sense that the ordinary routine events of life are related to something that is much bigger.

This life of depth is lived with a fundamental optimism. It is an optimism based on the conviction that this is God's world. This optimism is expressed vividly in an inscription in a little chapel in England. The words were written at the time of the Cromwell Rebellion when the future of the country seemed very uncertain. No one knew quite what to expect. But one man at least dared to affirm his faith:

"In the year 1653 when all things sacred were throughout ye nation either demolished or profaned, Sir Robert Shirley Barronet, founded this church; whose single praise it is to have done the best things in the worst times and hoped them in the most calamitous."

To do the best things in the worst times and to hope even in the midst of calamity is characteristic of the person who lives according to the depth dimension of religious faith.

The early bird

Graduation ceremonies will be at 11 a.m. June 3 on the football field.

However, if the weather is bad, commencement will be in the gym. Since graduation is going to be outside, an unlimited number of guests will be allowed, but in case it does have to be inside, four tickets will be allowed per senior.

The annual Senior Assembly, at which the senior awards and achievements are announced, will be at 9 a.m. June 2, in the gym in front of the other classes. A rehearsal for graduation is going to be on June 1 at nine in the morning, since seniors get out on the last day of May.

Nia Kraud, a senior, swept the photography category in the Creative and Industrial Arts Fair. She won all the prizes in Snapshot (black and white, and color) and Slides. Photography wasn't the only area in which she won awards: Nia got a third place in Short Story, and came in first in both Essay and Knitting and Crocheting.

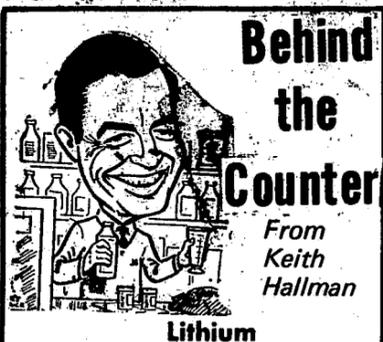

This isn't meant to give you the idea that Nia was the only one to win any prizes. Many other students competed in events in these fields: Homemaking, Art, English, Industrial Arts, and Photography. The fair took place last Tuesday and the projects were on display for the Parents' Night which was on Tuesday night.

Lists of the winners are now being compiled by Crinker Kojima, who as a member of Student Council, was one of the chairmen in charge of the fair.

At the last minute, the flight to the Bahamas for the senior trip was delayed for two hours, which relieved all those seniors who dreaded having to be at the school at 5:30 in the morning. But otherwise the trip went off as planned.

Soon 16 juniors will find out whether they made the Honor Guard. The Honor Guard is present at the senior assembly and commencement. The applications are being considered by the junior class sponsors, Mrs. Barbara Gibson and Ed Johnson.

"A Time For Us" is the theme that has been chosen for this year's Junior-Senior Prom. "The Warning Rule" is the band chosen for the event, which is to be at Oakland University.

Lithium

You'll probably be hearing more and more, in the near future, about treating mental illnesses with a drug that is as easy to produce as table salt and costs no more than an aspirin. Its name is "lithium carbonate."

This is no cure-all, but lithium has already proven useful in treating the manic-depressive, the mental patient whose moods swing from dangerously low to frantically high states. In many cases, it has reduced the "crisis period" to a day or less.

It has also shown promise in the treatment of epilepsy, schizophrenia, premenstrual tension and other disorders associated with states of excitement.

Lithium, which looks and tastes like baking soda, has been around a long time. Doctors were afraid to use it for many years, because improper doses were fatal to some patients. It can still have serious side-effects (such as the development of goiter) so every dose must be carefully monitored.

It still is not on the market as an "approved drug," but some manufacturers have filed lithium research plans with the federal government. For example, they want to study ways of preventing the drug's side-effects.

Drug therapy has already helped reduce the population in America's mental hospitals. When those figures are drawn on a graph, even an uninformed person can guess at the point where tranquilizers were first introduced, because of the sudden, sharp drop. That was a beginning; lithium may be yet another step.

"The Price" is right

By Robert Chisholm

Arthur Miller wrote "The Price" in 1968. Since then it has enjoyed a successful Broadway run; been featured as a TV special, and has become a major offering in the repertoire of many local and regional theatre groups.

Although the Meadowbrook cast does not match the individual performances that I witnessed a few years ago in New York, under the direction of John Ulmer the results are a sound ensemble effort and a substantial success.

Like his earlier masterpiece — "The Death of a Salesman" — Miller has fashioned in "The Price" a weaving of human situations, tensions, and suspense which probe some basics of motivational psychology, decision-making and for want of a better term — the human condition.

The setting is the attic of a Manhattan brownstone, the former home of the Franz family, which is shortly to be demolished. Richard Davis' scenery provides the appropriate backdrop of massive tables, chairs, headboards, desks and trunks interlocked and piled to the ceiling like so many broken dreams and shattered hopes and illusions.

Although the time is the present, the setting bespeaks of an earlier time — a time of order and stability — and a way of life that was shattered by the crash of 1929 and the Depression.

Victor Franz (played by Macon McCaLman), a 50-year-old New York City police officer, enters the attic and slowly and skillfully conducts a silent tour of old memories. An old gramophone with Gallagher and Shean and laughing records of the 1029's offer a clever theatrical device as well as dramatic symbols in this graveyard of dreams.

Victor is joined by his wife, Esther (Elisabeth Orion) whose agitated state reveals her frustration. Frustration that stems largely from Victor's inability to provide direction, if not purpose, for their marriage and lives. "Why can't you make a move?" she exhorts. "We are always just about to be," adding that, "I'm stuck but at least I admit it."

In the brief program notes Ulmer states that "one must choose the ways to live one's life, and in choosing one way the others are forever lost. Everyone pays this price of choosing, and its amount is in relationship to his desire and his potential for living."

Victor's decision was to forego a college education and a career in science in order to take care of his aging, broken father whose fortunes and way of life were wiped out with the crash. Victor's brother, Walter (Laurence Hugo), chose to pursue his education which has led to a successful medical practice, but not without exacting a price.

It has been sixteen years since the brothers have met and nearly thirty years since each made his fateful decision — the reunion provides emotional fireworks which illustrates Miller's genius for providing substance and meaning to what would otherwise be a bare-boned story line.

As both a compliment and foil for this tension Miller has fashioned perhaps his most delightful character — Gregory Solomon — a ninety-year-old used furniture dealer, lover and sage.

Albert Ottenheimer's shuffling, wheezing and quipping Solomon is a studied and convincing portrayal. Both Mr. McCaLman and Miss Orion were well suited to their roles but each seemed to suffer lapses of overplay, which substituted effect for substance. Mr. Hugo's performance tended to be over-mannered at the outset but settled down to a satisfactory effort.

4 named to Girls State

Campbell Richmond Unit No. 63 American Legion Auxiliary has selected Jane Leichtnam, Margaret Williams and Roxanne Head to attend the American Legion Auxiliary Girls' State on the campus of Olivet College, Olivet, June 11-18.

Judy Swanson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Swanson, has been selected and will be sponsored by the Past Presidents of Campbell Richmond Unit No. 63 to attend Girls State.

For seven days the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leichtnam, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Head, will be attending American Legion Auxiliary Girls State and will play the role of junior politicians in building a unit of government.

They will elect, from their own representatives, city, county and state officials for a model state. Under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary the girls will be assigned to cities, petition for offices, form platforms and caucus their way into a whirlwind week of self-government.

At the close of the session, two girls will be selected to represent Michigan at Girls Nation held at the American University in Washington, D.C.

Debbie Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Gibbs, was selected as alternate.

Clarkston candidates for Girls State this year heard Kathy Ronk, Lynn Tower and Sue Surre describe experiences of last year when they met with Campbell Unit No. 63 of the American Legion Auxiliary. Shannon Lynch, who also attended the statewide honorary function, was unable to attend.

Juniors who sought appointment this year were Vicki Hart, Debbie Gibbs, Debbie Marsac, Judy Swanson, Jane Leichtnam, Linda Howe, Margaret Williams, Roxanne Head and Cindy Wagner. They were invited to participate on the basis of school and community service.

BENEFIT SALE

A benefit sale and auction of antiques, decorator items, furs, china, silver, crystal, paintings, jewelry, boutique items—even live, pedigreed dogs and cats—will be Saturday, May 6, at Birmingham Masonic Temple on Woodward Avenue just north of Quarton Road in Bloomfield Hills. The event is to benefit New Horizons of Oakland County, a non-profit habilitation service for mentally and physically handicapped

OU minister talks to young people

"Young people I meet today are searching for meaning to life," the Rev. William Brewster Jr., campus minister at Oakland University for the past five years, stated in a recent interview with the Birmingham Eccentric.

"They are really interested in what the religions have taught, but their interest is individually centered, not church centered," he said.

Rev. Mr. Brewster will meet with Clarkston young people at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 14 and again May 21 at Episcopal Church of the Resurrection on Clarkston-Orion Road.

All those interested in relevant dialog on the problems confronting people today are invited to attend, according to the church's men's club which is sponsoring his appearance.

Rev. Mr. Brewster has said he finds an "almost resentment" of church background among young people, especially the Protestant students.

"They feel they are short changed, forced to learn a lot that didn't mean much to them. The reason so many young people have not grown up with a religious background is that their families had weak ties with the church," he said.

"Families abdicated their responsibilities in religious education and shunted it off to the churches," he believes. "The young people knew they were being told to do something their parents didn't really believe in.

"I see a real lack of education in the religious traditions which students say they belong to," he continued.

"Young people today cannot follow the Biblical admonition to love thy neighbor until they can first learn to love themselves," said the man who has been a Navy Communications and Information Officer, youth camp counselor, social group worker in Chicago, chaplain to American students overseas, summer director of Bishop's Ranch (Conference Center) in California, and youth director of St. Margaret's Church in Chicago before taking his Oakland University position.

The Men's Club members are hopeful the discussions will generate enough interest to be continued as a regular Sunday evening event.

The series are inter- or non-denominational and all who would like to attend are invited.

Pest control

Drayton Plains Nature Center, 2125 Denby, is now selling Praying Mantises, Lacewing, Trichogramma Wasps and Ladybugs for insecticide-free garden pest control.

The center says that mantises feed on some 125 different species of insect; the wasps lay their eggs in the eggs of insect pests - some 200 species and that as the young hatch they feed on the immature pest hosts; while the Lacewings are the natural enemies of aphids, mites, whiteflies, mealybugs, leaf-hoppers, thrips, and all sorts of moth and butterfly eggs and caterpillars.

New Horizons, a young combo composed of Clarkston High School sophomores, will be appearing at 4 p.m. Monday, May 8, at the Pontiac Mall. The group features (from left) Gene Salk on drums, Julia Poole, vocalist, Gene Schmidgall at the organ, and Brent Agar and Bob McArthur on guitars. The combo recently won a fourth place in a tri-county talent show in Madison Heights. Their music is "easy listening" and they're available, say managers, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Agar.

Bank organizes in Keatington

The Michigan Financial Institutions Bureau and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation have given approval to organize a new state bank in Keatington.

The bank will organize as "Keatington State Bank" and will be headquartered in a new building to be constructed at the southeast corners of Baldwin Road and Waldon Road in Orion Township.

It is proposed that the Bank will be capitalized with $600,000, most of which will come from area businessmen and residents through the purchase of common stock in the bank.

Plans call for operations to commence about September 1, 1972, pending the sale of stock and completion of the facility. A temporary organizational office has been established in the Keatington "Antique Village"

The independent view

By Jean Saile

This "Support a Lame Dame" thing is growing into big business. There'll be close to $350 riding on a trio composed of Carolyn Place, Bottles for Building chairman; Jan Gabier, assistant principal at Clarkston High School, and me when we strike out the morning of May 6 to take part in the 16-mile "Walk for Mankind."

The cause is worthy - 40 percent of the funds going to Independence House, 10 percent to the student councils at the junior high and high schools, and 50 percent to Project Concern, a worldwide non-profit medical service.

Irene McCabe, the Washington NAG marcher, has sent back word via Clarkston NAG members, that participants in Saturday's 16-mile "Walk for Mankind" should wear heavy boots and two pairs of socks, "and if you have any sense, you won't go," she of the sore feet and ankles added.

Others who've agreed to put money on us - besides those mentioned last week - are the Rotary Anns, builder Forrest Milzow, Carol Rademacher, Village President Richard Johnston, and Gary Stonerock

Clarkston Women's Club will give us $50 for the whole route or $3 a mile for as far as we can travel.

Two other women - probably also a bit balmy - have agreed to go part of the way with us. Barb Steele of Kingfisher and Mary Ann Pappas of W. Washington say they'll join for a while.

Tom Boothby of Boothby's Gift Shop at 7081 Dixie Highway points out that the Jaber Development featuring condominiums and a shopping center is not technically at the corner of Dixie Highway and White Lake Road. The Jaber property surrounds Boothby's with entrances both off White Lake Road and the Dixie Highway.

There's something right about the students Clarkston is turning out of its schools. Clarkston Junior High art class copped six of twelve scholarships offered by Pontiac Creative Arts Center, high school business students got more than their share of prize winners in a contest sponsored by Pontiac Business Institute, and jobs are opening up in spectacular quantities for participants in Clarkston's cooperative training program in which students split time between school and work. It's nice to know the kids are getting recognition outside our own boundaries.

It's not as bad as it sounded. There are 204-foot right-of-ways included in the township's master road right-of-way plan, and there are 86-foot right-of-ways (not the 150-foot right-of-ways which following the wrong scorecard caused us to state last week.)

Colombiere workshop

For the third year in a row, Colombiere College will sponsor two summer journalism workshops under the direction of Frank Vell, former professor of journalism at the University of Detroit.

The workshops are designed to teach students the skills needed to write for high school newspapers or yearbooks or the skills needed to be a photographer.

The five-day workshops will be held the last two weeks of June at the 440-acre campus of Colombiere College, 9075 Big Lake, Springfield Township.

There are facilities for boarding students as well as commuters. Workshop I will be held June 18-23 and Workshop II from June 25-30.

Cost of the workshop for a resident journalism or yearbook student is $50. Photographers will pay $60. This covers the cost of all instructional materials, feature lectures and group sessions. Board and room charges for the five days are $45.

The commuter fee is $55 for the journalism or yearbook session.

Village scene

By Jack McCall

With the warm weather season on its way, outdoor activities increase and so do the number of police complaints. Most area departments find this trend, and the Village of Clarkston is no exception.

Let's take a look at what's happening in our own community. The majority of the spring season citizen complaints fall into four groups:

1. Speeding vehicles
2. Loitering in and about public and private places.
3. Malicious mischief and property damage.
4. Drugs.

Speeding Vehicles

It's hard for a four-year-old boy to understand why his pet was struck and killed by a speeding vehicle. (If it has to be, better the pet than he!) Researchers agree that attitudes of drivers are reflected by the weather conditions. All of us seem to drive a little faster this time of year.

Loitering

A major problem last year, which leveled off. This was only possible because of good cooperation from the majority of the students in the area. Merchants, area citizens, and the Village Police Officers again ask for your cooperation.

Malicious Mischief and Property Damage
Many citizens are working on their yards this time of year, and a set of vehicle tracks are not in the planning. (Jungle patching, driving over lawns).

Drugs

"Who's to say, What to say?"

There are many good things to do in our community, with the complaints being just a small percentage of our daily activities. With a little effort from each one of us, Clarkston, "our community," can be a safe and beautiful place to live.

Jerry Adams, Clarkston High School "Walk for Mankind" chairman, assists Jan Gabier, assistant principal, on with a pair of boots she'll be wearing for the 16-mile hike. Jan, Carolyn Place of Bottles for Building, and Jean Saile, editor of The Clarkston News, have about $350 pledged if they complete the hike. They're soliciting donations on the slogan, "Support a Lame Dame."

Walk fervor grows

Enthusiasm and excitement continues to mount for the "Walk for Mankind" Saturday, May 6, according to Clarkston Area Jaycee project chairmen, Larry Rosso and Bob Garner.

Rosso said, "This is a great opportunity for young people, merchants and others to do their 'thing' for mankind."

Sponsor sheets, informational materials including maps and instructional sheets are available at Clarkston High School, Clarkston Junior High and Sashabaw Junior High as well as from area merchants.

A new walk route will be forged this year, Rosso said, one that goes from Clarkston High School up around Walters Lake and back again. The distance is approximately 16 miles.

Participants are expected to solicit sponsors who will pay them so much a mile for distance covered.

Village denies lot split

Clarkston Village Council has denied a request to split Lot 7 on North Holcomb Street, on the basis of an opinion from Attorney Jack Banycky.

Hal Reekwald had requested the split; however, Banycky said the split as proposed did not leave enough room to meet side yard requirements for the existing house. The fact that it is located in a residential district but used for apartments was also cited.

Several neighbors turned out last week to express disapproval of any lot split plans, and letters of objection from Carl Hanson and James and Ethel Sinclair were read.

Reekwald, informed of the decision, asked if rules would prohibit him from building a four-car garage adjacent to the house. He was told the matter hadn't been investigated.

Village President Richard Johnston noted that each lot split would have to be dealt with on its own merits. He said a priority consideration of the village at this time is to rewrite its zoning ordinance.

The same people who objected to the proposed Reekwald lot split expressed disapproval when Forrest Milzow and Mrs. Howard Sage appeared to ask about procedures for getting about two acres owned by Mrs. Sage next to Milzow's Surrey Lane development off Holcomb rezoned for further apartments. Milzow was instructed how to start the rezoning process.

He also submitted a second plan for an office building to be erected on Main Street next to the Town Shop. Some council members had expressed disapproval of the modernistic plan first submitted, and Milzow then changed to an English Tudor type plan, to which there were also some objections.

He was nevertheless given approval to start construction, the details of the facade to be worked out later.

In approving its $28,568 general fund budget for the coming year, the council made provision to give $500 for tree planting and landscaping at Deer Lake Beach. Out of the general fund comes a $12,000 police budget, and another $12,000 for municipal services as received through gas-weight-taxes from the state.

The council also voted to give a letter of support to Independence Township in its stand against permitting construction of a gas station at M-15 and Bluegrass. The township is currently being sued for its denial.

Board recommends license transfer

In a special Independence Township Board meeting last Thursday, members recommended approval of a transfer of a liquor license from Pine Cone Inc. to Pine KNob at 7777 Pine KNob Road.

The board also voted to transfer $20,000 from a reserve fund to the general fund.

Mining operation gets ok

There's going to be a mining operation gain on Stickney Road.

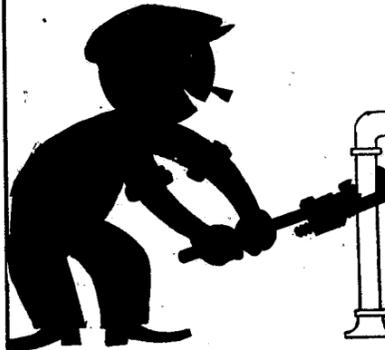

The township zoning board of appeals on April 24 granted permission to Steve Stolaruk and Donald Davely to operate two months a year for three years to remove 600,000 yards of sand and gravel from 15 acres of a 23-acre parcel formerly used for that purpose.

The permission hinges, however, on presentation by the owners of a contour model and written plan of operations for site development.

It was stipulated that the land should be restored at the time mining is complete and that a subdivision would be developed on the site.

Work is to start this month. Two months of 10-hour workdays will be permitted and then all processing equipment is to be removed from the site

Wolves win 2, lose 2

By Craig Moore

Clarkston's Varsity baseball team won 2 and lost 2 games last week in league play. Monday, April 24, the first loss came 2-1, in an extra inning of play, to Waterford Kettering.

The Wolves scored a run in the third inning and led 1-0 until the sixth inning when Kettering brought the game into a 1-1 tie. Kettering took the win by scoring a run in the eighth inning.

On Thursday, April 27, the Wolves won their first game of the season, a fine 5-3 win over Milford's Redskins.

Milford scored 3 runs in the first and it wasn't until the third inning that Clarkston scored; even so, Milford still led, 3-2. Clarkston tied it up, 3-3 in the fifth inning. The score remained the same and the game was forced into two extra innings. Finally, in the ninth inning the game was decided when Clarkston scored 2 runs for a 5-3 victory.

The doubleheader with Bloomfield Hills Andover on Saturday, April 29, was characterized by some big scoring innings which led to the defeat of the Wolves in the first game, but a boon to the Clarkston players in the second game.

The Wolves had a comfortable 5-1 lead early in the game, scoring 1 run in both the first and second innings and 3 runs in the third. Andover's lone run of the first inning, however, was soon to be built on as the Barons scored 2 more runs in the third and 1 more in the fifth inning. Andover had closed the gap to 5-4.

The seventh inning was Andover's big inning as the Barons gained a big 9-4 lead with a big 5 runs. Clarkston, however, could only score 1 run and Andover took a 9-6 win.

The second game remained scoreless until the third inning when the Wolves scored 6 runs for a big 6-0 lead.

Tim Hinkley, Greg Fogg, and Kevin McMillan loaded the bases with singles to lead off the inning. Dave Partlo followed with a double which knocked in 2 runs. The next batter, Greg Swanson, got a double on errors and sent 2 men safely across home plate. Al Hux was tagged out at second.

Bill Bildstein bunted and Swanson slid home. Bildstein stole second and third bases and was hit in by Don Powell's single.

Clarkston now led 6-0 and the bases were loaded again but a double play ended the Wolves' scoring spree.

The Wolves got another run and posted a 7-0 lead in the fourth inning.

Andover scored a run and threatened in the fifth but the Clarkston defense put down the would-be rally.

Clarkston had another big inning in the sixth, scoring 3 runs for the 10-1 victory.

Greg Fogg and Art Williams singled to start off the inning. Dave Partlo's single brought Fogg striding across the plate. Greg Swanson followed with a single that brought Williams in. Bill Bildstein doubled to bring Swanson in for the tenth run and the win.

Greg Fogg struck out 7 batters and pitched the entire game.

Coach Paul Tungate commented on the doubleheader, "The first game was definitely too sloppy but the second game, we showed how we can play and we're going to keep at it."

Thursday, May 4, the Wolves travel to Waterford Kettering for a 4 p.m. league game.

Monday, May 8, the Clarkston Wolves will play in the Wayne-Oakland League Tournament.

Still time

Prospective Little League ballplayers can still sign up this week by sending a postcard to P.O. Box 359, Clarkston, Mich. 48016, according to recreation officials.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON
Minutes of Regular Meeting
April 25, 1972

Meeting called to order by President Johnston.

Roll: Present - Basinger, Tower, Jones, Weiss, Auten. Absent - Wilford.

The matter of a lot split for Lot 7, Supervisor's Replat of Northwestern Addition, on Holcomb Street was discussed. Letters from the Village Attorney, and Village Engineer, were read in which the Council was advised that this lot split did not conform with existing ordinances. Also read were letters from residents in the adjacent areas, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sinclair, Jr., and Mr. Carlos Hansen, in which disapproval of this lot split was expressed. Verbal protest to the lot split request were also rendered by Mr. Charles Toir, Mr. David Nadolsky and Mr. Marce Schoff. Trustee Tower quoted Ordinance 62, Section 4, with regards to minimum lot size, and a general discussion followed.

Moved by Tower, that the request for a lot split for Lot 7, Supervisor's Replat of Northwestern Addition as presented by Mr. Hal Reekwald be denied as recommended by the Village Attorney. Seconded by Jones. Motion carried.

Mr. Forest Milzow and Mrs. Howard Sage were present to request the Council's advice on the rezoning of Lot 1, Supervisor's Replat of Northwestern Addition. Mr. Milzow was advised to have this request submitted formally.

Mr. Milzow presented site and building plans for property at Lot 72, Assessor's Plat of Clarkston, for the Council's approval of a building permit.

Moved by Jones, that a building permit be issued for Mr. Milzow for Lot 72, Assessor's Plat of Clarkston. Seconded by Basinger. Motion carried.

Although there is no legal jurisdiction on the style of building to be erected, Mr. Milzow agreed to obtain suggestions from the Planning Committee with respect to final outside design on the above building permit.

The Sewer committee discussed the recent meeting with contractors at Oakland County D.P.W. Trustees Tower and Weiss were instructed to contact Mr. Billie Farum and the Village Attorney for the purpose of initiating action on a Sewer ordinance as required. The Village Clerk was instructed to request a copy of the Township Sewer Ordinance for study by the Sewer Committee.

Mr. Bill Halsey of the Clarkston Area Jaycees was present to inform the Council of the Jaycees' Deer Lake Project and its present status. It was requested that the Village, if possible, consider the expenditure of $500 for trees at the beach site.

The matter of a contract/agreement with the Oakland County Treasurer's office for computer time and tax rolls was tabled pending the Village Attorney's study of the contract.

Moved by Auten that the 1972-1973 budget be approved as presented. Seconded by Tower. Roll: Basinger, yea; Tower, yea; Auten, yea; Weiss, yea. Yeas 4, Nays 0. Motion carried. (Copy of budget attached to minutes).

A letter from the Muscular Dystrophy Association was tabled until the next regular meeting.

A letter from Independence Township was read regarding a gas station construction request to Independence Township. The Clerk was instructed to send a letter to Independence Township with appropriate citations of recent Zoning Board of Appeals decisions on this subject.

The Clerk was instructed to request that the County Road Commission Planning Section send a representative to the next regular meeting with regards to the Master Right of Way Agreement as proposed.

Meeting called adjourned by President Johnston.

Cougars take opener, and then lose 2

Sashabaw Junior High freshman baseball team beat Rochester Adams 7-3 in the season opener last week.

Dave Heffernan, with relief help from Jerry Whitehead, was the winning pitcher. Both Dee Ruelle and Dan Blower had 2 hits and each drove in 2 runs.

A big 5-run sixth inning aided the Cougars to victory.

On Thursday the Cougars traveled to Walled Lake to play Walled Lake Central freshmen. Aided by 7 fielding errors, Central scored 7 runs in each of the first two innings.

Paul Reininger had 3 hits for the Cougars, but the final score was 14-4 in favor of Walled Lake Central.

Last Saturday the Cougars met their crosstown rivals, Clarkston Junior High Wolverines, on their home field. Again fielding errors led to the Cougars' defeat, 6-4.

Jerry Whitehead, Cougars' pitcher, struck out 11 batters and walked only 4 batters. Mike Coulter, Wolverine pitcher,

JV's win 1; lose 2

By Mike Jewell

After losing a tough 2-1 game with Milford, Clarkston's JV baseball team went on to beat Waterford Kettering 5-4 last Wednesday.

Clarkston, losing 4-2 in the fifth inning, finally put it all together in the sixth inning with a 3-run rally to win.

In the sixth, after Chuck Jorgenson and Tim Thompson singled, bench power Brian Powell singled them in to tie the game.

Then Kurt Johnson, who had doubled earlier and was 2-4 for the day, singled in Powell to gain the winning RBI.

Clarkston's other two runs were credited to Daryl Brittain and Reggie Alexander, who doubled in Clarkston's first run.

Kirk Comstock was starting pitcher for Clarkston but was finally relieved in the third by Jerry Greeff who then pitched brilliantly for the rest of the game, getting 5 strikeouts and giving up 2 more runs for the first victory of the season.

The team had a total of 9 hits for the day and 2 errors.

Saturday, the team lost to Andover 12-2, making their record so far 2-2; 1-2 in the Wayne-Oakland League.

allowed only 3 hits while striking out 9 batters and walking 5 Cougars.

The Cougars play 2 home games this week - Tuesday against West Bloomfield and Thursday against Milford.

Thinclads winning

By Mike Jewell

Waterford Kettering was the victim this time as Clarkston's track team outscored them 67½ to 50½.

The main man for Clarkston was again Bill Svetkoff as he took 3 first places for a total of 15 points.

Svetkoff long jumped 20'1", his best so far this year, did the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.2, and ran the 180-yard low hurdles in 21.4.

Doug Kath also gave a fine performance for Clarkston as he nailed down 2 first places, a 10:4 time in the 100-yard dash, and a 24.0 time in the 220-yard dash, and helped the 880-yard relay team of Whitehead, M. Humphreys, and Dancey notch a first place time of 1:35.3.

Also gaining first places for Clarkston were Gary Seaman who shotputted 48'7" (which is the third time in as many meets that he has finished first, and it is also his best throw of the year so far), Rick Dancey who sprinted the 440-yard dash in 53.9, and Dick Feneley who high jumped 5'6".

Retired? Want to work?

Security Services, Inc., a Farmington-based metro area firm with offices throughout Michigan, is in the process of recruiting senior citizens to participate in its marketing efforts.

"There is a wealth of knowledge going untapped in our senior citizens due to early retirements," said Allen Silvarman, executive vice president of the firm. "We at Security Services would like to make our effort as a member of the community in giving productive employment to our retired senior citizens."

Homemade ice cream

by Jean Saile

Nothing like a sweet ice cream cone to lick on a day when the sun feels warm and the sky is blue.

And while the kind that comes dairy bar stacked is delicious, I'm still able to drool over the ones we used to build from homemade ice cream back when.

That was in the days when the cows supplied the sweet cream from which the glorious concoction was made. There was no middle man.

You went out and milked the cow, put the milk through the separator (an ingenious gadget that swirled the cream off the top) and there you were with the prime makings.

It was long before ice milk had been invented and even some time before all the flavor variations came into their own.

There was just one kind - vanilla. The vanilla came from the Watkins man on his periodic sales trip through the farm country, and it was the real stuff, too, not artificial.

Mom beat up the eggs, the cream, the sugar, vanilla, etc., and called dad who had the salted ice waiting. The mixture was put into a tank, an elaborate paddle inserted, topped, and the whole thing put in the iced wooden pail, and then dad got on the crank.

He turned and turned, and the more he turned, the more we drooled. The height of rapture was being allowed to lick the paddle once the ice cream was "set".

And then came eating time. It was another era when we used to sit around the back stoop on a Sunday afternoon eating homemade ice cream with the neighbors.

It was also pre-television time, and the conversation flowed as the men discussed the weather and the crops and good hunting dogs and good shooting, while the women exchanged recipes and neighborhood gossip.

It was a good time. I can still remember sitting there spooning out the last of the bowl and keeping an ear turned so I wouldn't miss anything.

Rome bound

Rick Detkowski, a junior at Clarkston Senior High School, has qualified as a member of the United States Junior World Olympic Wrestling Team.

Rick competed at Oakland College, Ohio, April 28 and 29, in which he won 7 out of 8 bouts that earned him a spot in the Junior World Team. As a member he will travel to Rome, Italy next week.

Presently captain of Clarkston Senior High wrestling team, he completed a 30-4 win record this past season which included championships in five wrestling invitational.

Rick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Detkowski of Clarridge Drive, Clarkston.

In the junior highs

Students of Tom O'Brien's shop class at Sashabaw Junior High School work on benches they're building for the school's common room. When complete, they'll be vinyl upholstered.

Firsts for Clarkston

by Connie Lektzian

The first house was built in the village in 1830 - by Linus Jaycox. Not very palatial even by pioneer standards, it was allowed to stand for a number of years after it was built. Families coming into Independence without a place to stay were wont to make do with this cedar pole shanty until something more substantial was ready for them to move into.

The first road - one that could be used handily by such commercial vehicles as the stagecoach or mail wagon, wasn't built until 1841 or -2. This is a gap of about twelve years from the first shelter in the village to the first solid route in and out. The village was swamp locked in most directions, and unless the trails were dry enough or frozen, the safest way to travel was by foot or horseback. Saginaw Turnpike skirted the village but didn't come into it.

A strip of land was designated as the roadway and what happened next was no miracle of modern road building. Any time men could spare time from their own labors, they cut brush and heaped it on the roadway. Sucked into the swamp mud, it formed a shaky base to lay logs. Eventually, a stagecoach, a commercial vehicle engaged in carrying passengers and mail, swirled into the village to the cheers of the inhabitants who had gathered to watch. The loudest voices were the merchants, millers and the tavern keeper who had worked the hardest urging the road into being.

The first sawmill was built in 1832 in the village. Butler Holcomb built a small dam across the Clinton River and it was here that logs were brought to be turned into lumber. Used for furniture, wagons - and coffins - it was eight years later before anyone put up a frame house. That was John Hertwig, the village tailor, followed closely by Nelson Clark. Since logs could be had for the cost of a man's labor, and lumber took his money, most people continued to live in log houses for many years.

It was the era of the horse, and Albert Birdsell found business pleasantly busy when he opened the first blacksmith shop in 1838. Could it be that the habit a car buyer has of kicking all four tires comes down from the days when a transportation seeker circled around a horse and examined all four feet?

Two years went by between the opening of that first smithy and the establishment of the first wagoner. Wagon makers were craftsmen and weren't apt to settle in a spot that didn't offer good business opportunities. In 1840, Nelson Rundell found the farmers and merchants in need of his services.

The first public school - public in terms of being tax supported - opened its door in 1837. Tax help waxed and waned over the years, and more often than not, the rate bill system was in effect. This meant parents scraped up the money - ten or twenty-five cents per child - to send their sons and daughters to school.

The first railroad came through the township in 1851. It stirred up a little flair of controversy about resettling the village nearer the depot. Water power and its consequent thriving mills won out and the village kept its original site.

The timetable of this train and the ride it offered were equally shaky. Rails that were nothing more than strap iron nailed to two by fours had a way of coming apart. The metal would snap up through the car floors and unnerve the passengers.

It was so slow that the energetic local lads would jump off the first car, pick a handful of blueberries from the nearby swamps and hop back on the last car as it passed by. It offered, however uncertain it may have been, a new and profitable outlet for the farmers and merchants.

In time, it replaced the oxcart and wagon for the people who for many more years, continued to migrate to this area.

Linda Smith (from left) looks on as Beth Cook cuts out a skirt and Cindy Stanton watches in Mrs. Ruth Montney's eighth grade sewing class. Linda and Cindy will enter a blouse and skirt costume and a hot pants outfit they've sewn in the upcoming school fair.
