"Walk for mankind"

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Someone wrote—
"I had the meanest mother in the world. While other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to have cereal, eggs and toast. When others had cokes and candy for lunch I had to eat a sandwich. As you can guess, my supper was different than the other kids' also.

"But at least I was not alone in my suffering. My sisters and two brothers had the same mean mother I did.

"My mother insisted upon knowing where we were at all times. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted, if we said we'd be gone an hour, that we be gone an hour or less, not one hour and one minute.

"I am almost ashamed to admit it, but she actually struck us. Not once, but each time we did as we pleased. Can you imagine someone actually hitting a child just because he disobeyed? Now you can begin to see how mean she really was.

"The worst is yet to come. We had to be in bed by nine each night and up early the next morning. We could not sleep until noon like our friends. So while they slept, my mother actually had the nerve to break the child labor law.

"She made us work. We had to wash dishes, make the beds, learn to cook and all sorts of cruel things. I believe she laid awake at night thinking up mean things to do to us.

"She always insisted upon our telling the whole truth and nothing but the truth, even if it killed us—and it nearly did.

"By the time we were teenagers, she was much worse and wiser and our life became even more unbearable. None of this tooting the horn of a car for us to come running. She embarrassed us to no end by making our dates and friends come to the door and get us.

"I forgot to mention, while my friends were dating at the mature age of 12 or 13, my old fashioned mother refused to let me date until the age of 15 and 16. Fifteen, that is, if you dated only to go to a school function, and that was maybe twice a year.

"My mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested or beaten his mate. Each of my brothers served his time in the service of this country.

"And whom do we have to blame for the terrible way we turned out? You are right, our mean mother.

"Look at all the things we missed. We never got to march in a protest parade, nor to take part in a riot, burn draft cards and a million and one things that our friends did. She forced us to grow up into God-fearing, educated, honest adults.

"Using this as a background, I am trying to raise my three children. I stand a little taller and I am filled with pride when my children call me mean.

"Because you see, I thank God He gave me the meanest mother in the world."

Scene of fires

Woods behind Walters Lake were the scene of 17 minor grass fires a week ago Friday, according to Independence Township Fire Marshal Tink Ronk. Most of the blazes did little damage, Ronk said, because the department was on hand to take immediate action. He said the fires were set in an area ranging from Thendara to Eston to Whipple Lake Road. The woods are also the scene of such householder dumping as this, at the end of Thendara Road. The spot is used considerably by motorcyclists, trails lacing the area.

Village scene

by Jack McCall

With the growth of our community, so grows the volume of transportation. The use of motorcycles is growing in Clarkston with each passing year. These machines have become so sophisticated and some of them so powerful, it is important that persons driving them be completely qualified and able to handle their cycles in a safe way.

Several motorbikes have been noted on the roadway and around the Village area without license plates and the proper equipment. In checking these 2-wheel vehicles the drivers are found to be without an operator's license, and thus without the needed training.

All drivers who either renew their Michigan operator or chauffeur license, or who receive such a license for the first time after June 1, 1970, must qualify for a special endorsement on that license if they wish to operate a motorcycle on the public streets and highways.

The younger set, who cannot qualify for a license but have a mini-bike or motorbike, often ask: "Where can I ride my mini-bike?" The only option is private property, your own or having permission from the land owner where you ride.

With a little effort from each one of us, Clarkston, "our community," can be a safe and beautiful place to live.

Village road funds down

The village of Clarkston is due to receive $4,371 in Motor Vehicle Highway Funds for the first quarter of 1972.

While the statewide collection is up 5.8 percent, Clarkston's portion has been reduced from $4,847 received for the same period last year.

The money goes into the village's street fund.

Fire Chief resigns following hassle with supervisor

By Jean Saile

Independence Township Fire Chief Don Beach has announced he will resign June 1.

In an open letter to the residents of Independence Township, Beach outlined the growth of the department since 1942 when he became chief and then criticized Supervisor Gary Stonerock for positions he has taken in regard to the department.

Beach's letter followed an incident Friday night when firemen were called to property recently purchased by Stonerock at 7990 M-15 and which resulted in Beach's filing an assault complaint against Stonerock with the State Police.

The fire call which triggered the incident was received at 8:49 p.m. Friday from Holly Fire Department which had been alerted by one of its members who spotted what he thought was a grass fire while traveling I-75, according to Harold Goyette, dispatcher.

It was the second time in the last two weeks that the department has been summoned to the property, according to Fire Marshal Tink Ronk. Neighbors had called previously, he said, when brush and trash was found aflame at the rear of the property.

Beach reported Firemen Terry Kelly and Bob Jones were the first on the scene in their own car and they ran into trouble with Stonerock. The two were quickly followed by the department truck, and Beach said it was at that time he was summoned.

In Beach's complaint to the State Police, he charged that Stonerock was burning without a permit and that he further grabbed a rake crosswise in his hands and threatened members of the department and said he'd damage the fire truck if it proceeded to the fire.

Kelly, following Beach's order, proceeded to douse the fire of trash and scrap lumber.

Stonerock, contacted by The Clarkston News, refused to make any comment except, "It would have been easier if I'd been a real estate salesman in rezoning property to multiples than to burn the wood on my property."

Lt. Ray Hoopingarner of the Pontiac State Police Post said no warrant had been issued. He said burning without a permit is a violation of a township ordinance and there had been no violation of state law.

He said the assault factor would not be pursued unless a complaint was signed locally.

Kelly, in a statement to The News, said, "The barbarous mannerisms displayed by Gary Stonerock as he marauded my performance of duty with a garden rake certainly should be abated.

"I am clearly aware of the legal avenues that are open to me. I have not decided whether or not I will ask the Prosecutor's office for issuance of a warrant, but I'll assure you I do have sufficient grounds to seek this issuance. A meeting with my fellow firemen will influence my decision."

Beach in his letter stated, "In 1942 when I took the Fire Chief's job, we had one truck and a one-stall firehall; now we have three firehalls, ten fire trucks and the equipment needed to maintain and operate a department which has a reputation and record which we are proud of.

"This situation is due about 99 percent to a group of men who are dedicated, hard working and proud of their equipment and show it. I will take about 1 percent of the credit — a little push or coaxing and many pats on the back for a job well done.

"Now along comes a Mr. Stonerock and his ideas of how everything should be done. We have had several postponements on a meeting since the first of the year — a meeting to get a program started to update our equipment.

"We now have, and many more planned, two-three and more story apartments. We do not have the proper equipment for fire fighting or rescue work on this type of building. It will take about a year to procure and put in service this equipment.

"In spite of all the talk out of both sides of his mouth — 'I will not be pressured nor will I cater to a group, it will be for the benefit of the entire township' — he has placed a firehall site for his Walters Lake friends and neighbors ahead of all the people who do or will live in two-story or higher apartments. For the first three months of this year we have had one run out of 48 in the Walters Lake area.

"We have been looking for two sites but we figured we could save quite a bit of taxpayers' money by waiting until Stonerock was out of office due to the fact that his Union Awards and other antics — throwing gavel, etc. — have won him so many friends.

"After 30 years of seeing the department move ahead ever so slowly, I do not intend to see these firemen take a slap in the face like this. Therefore, it is with regret that I submit my resignation effective June 1, 1972.."

Pine Knob amphitheater, to be leased by the Nederlander family, takes shape under the ski hills at the Independence Township resort. Headliner attractions are to include David Cassidy and the Fifth Dimension, beginning next month. The amphitheater is part of a $60 million development proposed for the Pine Knob area.

Springfield residents don't like gravel

Springfield Township residents at a planning commission hearing Monday expressed themselves 139 opposed to 34 in favor of rezoning which would permit a gravel operation on nearly a section of land on Ormond Road. It will be 90 days before the planning commission takes action, according to chairman Herb Swanson.

The land is owned by former township clerk Dave Field, his father-in-law, Earl Voorhees, and Emmett Leib, an adjoining property owner. The operation would not start until M-275 is opened, probably in two years, owners said.

Pamphlets opposing the change distributed previously throughout the community brought out about 250 people — so many the meeting had to be moved from the township hall to the school.

The pamphlets, prepared by Birmingham Attorney William F. Nern, contended the rezoning would cause severe problems in planning the future growth and development of both Springfield and Rose Townships.

The flyer also pointed out traffic problems to be caused by gravel trucks; spokesmen for two gravel operations said the trucks would be using Ormond Road as opposed to Davisburg Road — the area cited in the pamphlets.

Many of those present, residents of the Ormond Road area, found no solace in that statement.

The land involved is presently zoned agriculture. If the township board were to approve the open pit mining operation, the effect of that action would last for 50 years, it was stated during the hearing.

The possibility of a referendum vote, involving also the people of White Lake and Rose Townships upon which the property borders was mentioned.

Mrs. Nern, a real estate appraiser, said there was $190 million worth of homes now in the area that would be downgraded to half value if the pit were allowed to operate.

Nathan Millstein, an attorney representing the Springfield Township Association, quoted the U.S. Department of Interior as to strip mining's effect on the ecology. He agreed with Mrs. Nern regarding the operation's effect on property values within a half mile of the mine.

Other complaints included lack of police and fire protection, presence of air pollution, water table deterioration, and danger to children traversing Ormond Road.

Fields and his associates attempted to refute the claims and stated that the land would have to be reclaimed once the operation was complete.

Fields also stated that if the mining operation were not permitted, the land could easily be rezoned for multiple development or it could accommodate up to 500 single family homes. The resulting stress on the school system should be considered, he added.

A letter from Superintendent Russell D. Haddon of the Holly School District, read to the group, pointed out the pressure on the schools created by new development.

12 petitions circulating for B of E posts

Twelve nominating petitions for two vacancies occurring in June on the Clarkston Board of Education are in circulation, but one of the candidates says he will not seek reelection.

Arthur Rose says he's served 12 years on the board and will not run again. A nominating petition for him and another for T. O. Doremus, also an incumbent, are in circulation along with ten others.

Two 18-year-olds are among those interested in the board posts. They are Robert Garner, 4930 Cecelia Ann, unsuccessful candidate for township clerk, and Bill Latoza, 5920 Warbler.

Others whose nominating petitions are in circulation are George Phillips, 6413 Snowapple; Marvin Barnhart, 6950 Rattalee Lake Road; Clary V. Luzi, 7960 Dixie; Mrs. Evelyn Millward, 6715 Amy; Gerald A. Lawrence, 6651 Wealthy; Edwin Manley, 6570 Greenhaven; David Bickerstaff, 6640 Langle; and Dr. Fred Roeser, 6380 Waldon.

Jim Peters, 3723 Maiden, Waterford Township, has indicated he will also circulate nominating petitions.

The filing deadline for the petitions is May 15.

New land use plan in the mill for Springfield

By Gloria Bellairs

Springfield Township Board has given its planner, Tod Kilroy of the Royal Oak firm of Nowak and Frows, the go-ahead to prepare a new land use plan, including area development and subdivision platting. Cost for the first draft is $500.

It was directed that enforcement of ordinances regarding private roads in areas being platted would be the planner's responsibility.

A letter from Russell Haddon, superintendent of Holly Schools, was read in which he expressed a concern for the overcrowding of present school facilities. "Already," he said, "twelve new rooms will be needed for next fall."

Voters will be asked in the August primary to approve a mill for support of the township Fire Department. It was noted that operation of the department had cost the township $11,000 last year. Fire officials also asked the township to levy fines for careless burning, in that most offenders are the same people year after year.

In other business Robert Rothermel again asked the board for a Class C liquor license and dance permit. He said he wished to restore and use the old David Wright mansion at the corner of Dixie Highway and Holly Road as a family style restaurant.

Rothermel said he had been encouraged in his plans by the Michigan Historical Society. The board tabled his request for further study until the June meeting.

The issue of township police protection for both the county-owned Springfield-Oaks Park and the 4-H Youth Activities Center was removed from the agenda, as was the park's request for a Class C liquor license.

Spring cleanup for the township was set for the week of May 15-31. It was announced that Rotary Club and the Jaycees would furnish plastic trash bags.

Township boundary signs have been replaced, it was announced, the old signs having been subjected to ridicule because of their condition.

Youth okay after swim

Kevin Hansen, 11, of 5505 Edgar was treated and released at Rochester Crittenton Hospital Saturday morning after he swallowed more water than he should have while participating in the Jaycees Waterproofing program at Oakland University.

Hansen was reportedly playing with a surfboard in the pool when it got away from him and floated to the deep end. He went after it and when he found he was in deep water, he panicked.

Lifeguards who immediately jumped in after him applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and he was taken to Crittenton for a check.

Jaycee officials said the lifeguard action had been prompt and that the care extended to the youth was most satisfactory.

"It was one of those things that just happen. You couldn't plan for it," said one.

School rental fees may rise

It's probably going to cost more to rent Clarkston School District facilities.

A motion to upgrade charges has been tabled by the Clarkston Board of Education for study for a month.

Suggested Junior High School rates, presently $25 for the first three hours and $15 for each additional hour, might rent for $75 and $15.

The high school gymnasium would be increased from $100 for the first three hours and $10 each additional hour to $150 and $30.

Cafeteria prices would also increase — to $75 in the senior high and $50 in the junior highs. Auditorium charges would go from $35 to $50 and classroom charges to $10 for the first hour and $5 each additional hour. If the room had to be rearranged the price would be more.

In other business the board Monday heard a request from Mrs. Gloria Pourcho to include training facilities for perceptually handicapped children.

She was told that the district once had such a classroom, but that when teachers became hard to find it lost its entitlement. There is a possibility that state funds and county funds — if they can be pried loose — would pay up to 85 percent of the cost of such a facility, said school officials.

The perceptually handicapped child has minimal brain damage, a handicap which does not necessarily affect his intelligence, said Mrs. Pourcho, but affects the methods in which he learns.

Changed attendance lines designed to reduce class loads in all elementary schools to 30 or less students per teacher were quizzed by some Andersonville parents.

Dr. Leslie F. Greene, superintendent, sated the changing school system which may or may not retain local autonomy is one reason for not building more schools at the present time.

One mother, from the area of Bridge Lake Road, said her daughter, who is now in the third grade, had attended three different schools as the district adjusted to accommodate its students.

Greene pointed out the district is one of the lowest financed ones in the county, and one way that it can be operated efficiently, he said, is to keep schools filled to 85 percent of capacity.

He agreed that the Springfield area is one of rapid growth and that if new building is undertaken, it should be undertaken there.

He said the present boundary lines are designed to house all kindergartners through grade six in their home schools with the exception of Clarkston Elementary and Sashabaw Elementary which will send a couple of classrooms of grade six students to the nearby junior high schools.

He also pointed out that it has long been district policy to let children attend the school of their choice within the district, providing parents furnished transportation.

Greene told the parents that a week's orientation program proposed for the end of this school year has been postponed a year.

HOW MUCH DO YOU WANT TO EARN ON YOUR SAVINGS

PICK A NUMBER

There's a lot of confusion about interest rates . . . and there doesn't have to be. You decide how much you earn. Based on three factors. One, the size of your deposit. Two, the length of time you can leave it undisturbed. Three, whether you take, or accumulate your interest.

Every family saves differently. Some deposit small amounts regularly, and never touch the principal or earnings. Some deposit a large lump sum, and use the earnings as income. Some take advantage of the higher earnings available through time deposits. Some, . . . well, you get the picture.

Community National Bank has a variety of savings programs for individual families. Because, no one program or service could ever be best for everyone. Savers select their own rates here. A tribute

(The following Mother's Day tribute has special significance for Mrs. Clarence Ingersoll of Snowapple Drive. It was written in 1941 by her late grandfather, I. H. Jackson of Crystal Falls, for his wife, Mary Jackson, who died last year in Pontiac.)

"Mothers of the world, to you, who with shining faces and undivided courage gladly entered in to the dim valley of death that we might have life, we dedicate Mother's Day. It is a happy privilege to shower you with honor and to lavish our gifts and flowers upon you. But this is not enough... we owe you more... so much more. We owe to you the knowledge that the children of men must live at peace... one with another.

"The knowledge that the precious bundles of warm, vibrant flesh you so tenderly nurtured shall not be called upon to tear each other in the years to come with bayonet and shrapnel. To you who have given us so greatly of love, we owe the assurance that the objects of your love shall not go hungry... shall not know the shame of poverty... particularly in the declining years of life.

"And so, Mothers of the world, we men of all creeds and races, who learned something of the beauty of Heaven from the light in your eyes... now pledge our hearts and souls to the task of building a way of life here in America that shall be worthy of you and of the spirit of which you have made us heir."

Pointy-head intellectuals

GUEST EDITORIAL

Pointy-headed intellectuals! Who needs them? This was a good country once until those pointy heads' thinking began to influence this country.

Their crazy ideas just about ruined the United States. Look what the pointy heads have done!

They formed the wage earners into unions for a fair share of wages and brought better wages to all workers in a competition for manpower.

They dreamed up social security, Blue Cross, Medicare, no-fault insurance. A retired, hard working man and wife no longer have to go to the poor farm or live off their kids who are struggling to make ends meet.

They got a man to the moon who brought back moon dust - and just in time! Another pointy head experimented, and found earth plants grow rich in it.

They encouraged government to create areas for all to enjoy outdoor life. They thought up the short work week to spread earnings around during the depression and they insisted on keeping it for men's health and recreation.

They wrote the Declaration of Independence - they started the movement to end human enslavement on this continent. They thought to reward Revolutionary War vets with land and thus opened up the Northwest Territory. They were still thinking when they got the GI and VA bills to furnish training, education and loans to purchase homes for World War II vets.

They got the government to build roads, prevent floods, irrigate dry land. They talked the rich into giving money to foundations for research to cure and prevent disease; started colleges to get better yields from crops; programs for eye, ear examinations and vaccinations for school kids; night school for immigrants; voting rights for women; public libraries, museums, zoos.

All such weird, socialistic ideas!

More pointy heads were and are covered with hard hats and housewives' hair curlers than were covered with college professor's cap and tassel. Yep! POINTY HEADED INTELLECTUALS with their nutty ideas! This country would be a lot better off without them! SURE it would!

"If It Fitz . . ."

He wants to see Nixon

By Jim Fitzgerald

This father was serious. He has 2 sons fighting in Vietnam and he wants to talk personally to President Nixon about getting them out alive. He thought maybe I could pull the strings to get him inside Nixon's office.

It is to laugh. I explained to the father that he was vastly over-rating the influence of a country editor-columnist. If he didn't mind standing in line, I told him, I might be able to get him into the mayor's office in the back of the hardware store. That is the extent of my clout.

The father shrugged and left. And now I'm feeling lousy for having laughed in his face. Sure, he should realize the President talks only to Kissinger and the TV cameras. But that father is afraid he'll never see his sons alive again. He wants to talk to the man who is making their lives. Is that really so irrational?

I remember when I had a solution for ending the U.S. involvement in Vietnam (I love that word "involvement." When you say it real quick, you don't get a bit of blood on your teeth). My suggestion was a constitutional amendment requiring the President to attend the funeral of every U.S. citizen killed in Vietnam. I figured he'd prefer bringing the boys home to sitting down with their parents and explaining how Junior died for the Bay of Tonkin.

I expounded that brilliant idea many years ago. Egad, I should be a Democratic candidate for President. I've been a dove longer than Senator McGovern. I was against this stupid war way back when the French thought it was a good idea. But, of course, I cheat. I'm even against fist-fights.

Lyndon Johnson was chief honcho when my funeral column somehow leaked into the White House. The general in charge of screwball newspapermen immediately wrote me a stuffy letter explaining that the President didn't have time to attend all those funerals (the fatality count was about 30,000 then, with thousands more accurately penciled in by Pentagon prognosticators). But, the general assured me, the President was certainly concerned with the suffering of survivors. To prove it, he sends them all medals.

I then wrote another column suggesting what the general might do with his medals. And I haven't heard from the White House since.

Some people will tell you things are better today. Nixon is "bringing the boys home" (in time to vote for him) and the U.S. casualty rate is so low, the President could almost find time for the funeral.

The justices would be elected in a manner similar to the way Appeals Court judges are now chosen, and yet it's kind of a radical change, especially when done so close to the heat of the campaign year.

I think there is some merit to the idea, but I'm not sure whether they'll be able to round up the necessary votes in the final analysis or not. It will be interesting to see what happens to this one.

CONGRESSIONAL RE-DISTRICTING

Well, I was really surprised on this one. Not only did the House manage to pass one plan (last Wednesday), on Thursday they turned around and passed another one!

The first one passed was a version of Senate Bill 1081, originally passed by the Senate. It was amended, however, to give a Democratic State Senator a shot at Democratic Congressman Nedzi's Wayne County seat, to get enough Democratic votes to what is considered an otherwise Republican plan because it favors keeping the present 12-7, Republican-Democratic ratio of Michigan congressmen.

Democratic House leaders were upset with this plan, however, and on Thursday the House passed H.B. 5403, their own version of an "incumbents" plan. They gave this one "immediate effect," which they did not do to 1081, and sent them both over to the Senate for consideration this week.

Meanwhile, attorneys for the Democratic and Republican congressmen were in Judge Keith's office asking him to refrain from issuing a decision until the Senate has a look at these plans.

The matter will most likely be settled by the time you read this, but it looks like H.B. 5403 will be the chosen one. Independence Township will remain in the 19th Congressional District, represented by Congressman Jack McDonald, under either plan.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

The constitutional amendments being proposed are again: Proposal A, to allow the establishment of a state lottery; Proposal B, to allow members of the State House and Senate to run for or be appointed to another position if they resign from their House or Senate seat first.

For the United States, the war has become an impersonal, automated event. We fly out and drop tons of bombs and return home in time for a hot dinner. Of course, we kill thousands of people, including women and children, but they're just "gooks."

But those slant-eyed people bleed as they die, the same as Johnny. Their families cry. And a child with no parents is an orphan, in Thanh Hoa the same as in Toledo.

So I would expand my constitutional amendment to include funerals of the enemy. The President, through an interpreter, could explain to a mother that he killed her son in Cambodia to keep the Communists out of New Jersey.

That'll be the day. That'll be the same day I get that father in to see Nixon.

Letters to the Editor

Irene is right

by Carl W. O'Brien

Why Bullen won't run

Dear Editor,

On May 16 the voters will have the opportunity to decide whether four, instead of two part time trustees would benefit our Township. As a trustee and member of the present five man Board (there are also three administrative officials who are elected to serve full time - supervisor, clerk and treasurer), I favor this change for the following reasons:

(1) A Township Board of seven achieves a broader representation for our ever increasing population. Tough and complex issues will continue to confront the township, and all interests should have a voice.

(2) A wider scope of viewpoint and attitude toward the issues would help prevent the sometimes rigid and predictable positions a board of fewer members is inclined to take.

(3) At $1,400 per year, a Trustee is a modest investment in a fellow citizen, to whom is charged the responsibility of maintaining surveillance over the expenditure of your considerable tax dollars. The township budget now exceeds 1/2 million dollars and unless restrained, it could easily increase beyond existing revenues.

(4) Four trustees, serving part time, more closely approximate a city form of government, where councilmen set policy and hired professional managers administrate. We must move in this direction. Our urban problems, police and fire protection, sewer and water systems, road improvements, etc., are fast outpacing the rural structure of Township government.

Having been appointed to fill the unexpired 2 years of a four-year term, my tenure as trustee will end in November. I earnestly hope my contribution has brought moderation to a period of rather turbulent change.

It now appears an equilibrium can be achieved, and for this and other personal reasons, I will not be running for trustee or any other public office in the August primary. Instead, and providing the 2 additional positions are approved, there will be several qualified candidates ready to offer and dedicate themselves to serve our grand township and its people.

Thomas K. Bullen

The busing of school children to achieve racial integration should be halted.

Busing is an exercise in futility; furthermore, it has caused drastic reversal in the gains the blacks have made in civil rights over the last twenty years.

If school busing could possibly integrate our society then the plan would enjoy some merit. But in actuality this curious experiment has pushed the people of both races further apart than ever and integration has been contravened.

As for the Negroes, busing may be the cruelest hoax ever played on them. If the architect of this policy were a virtual lingo, bent on making as much mischief as possible, he could not have devised a more malicious scheme.

The black people yearn for integration and full citizenship, for opportunity for their offspring, for recognition by the white community of their human and spiritual needs; and for respect.

Is there a soul who breathes who can honestly point out an instance where busing has accomplished any one of these things? The answer is evident to everyone except to certain understandably desperate blacks, blinded by the false hope busing holds out to them; and of course to that clutch of well-meaning blockheads of the white race who march in any parade which promises to execute a column left at the next corner of history.

I hold that the blacks are blameless in their present delusion. They are simply grabbing at straws in yet another attempt by that harried race to stay afloat in the swirling waters of American life, what with its treacherous undertow.

No more exquisite torture can be contrived than to promise a person that which cannot be delivered. Which is precisely what busing does.

An effective integration is not possible by use of this flimsy tool. It is as deceptive as a sleight-of-hand trick of the magician, as empty as the image created by the mirrors of the illusionist.

The only real accomplishment of the program so far has been to revive all the animosities the country has suffered since slave days.

Meanwhile, the white fellow who has seen his children unwillingly transported, or who is threatened by that unhappy prospect, is seething with a burgeoning anger. It is understandable that he has turned his feeling of outrage against the black man; but it is a shame too, because he has made the wrong fellow the villain.

Both races have been cheated and duped, to the advantage of neither.

So, Irene McCabe is correct when she asks that the busing be ended.

In this integration attempt, the government has grabbed the stick at the wrong end, and most people, sympathetic to blacks or not, know it.

This program can never be fruitful. Unless, of course, the fruit we wish to harvest is malice, race hatred, and undying enmity.

On-again, off-again

To the Editor:

There has been much confusion and discussion in Independence Township with regard to us building a house on two non-conforming lots. We did want an explanation, but we don't need one now for we have just finished reading an article in the May 4 issue of the Clarkston News. It described our problem with the exception of a few important details.

While waiting our turn on the agenda until 2 a.m. in the so-called democratic process of the township meeting on April 3, 1972, our petition was called and approved. Two days later we received word the approval was illegal and the township attorney had to be consulted. That took two more weeks.

This is an example of the on-again, off-again decisions that have been plaguing this situation.

We have been to the Board of Appeals and they were advised by the township attorney, Richard Campbell, that they would have jurisdiction in our case. He also cited cases similar to ours that had been in court and the result was a victory for the people. Mr. Stonerock, why do you keep emphasizing that we can take you to court? Why waste the taxpayers' money?

Some of the signers of the petition that was circulated against us were misinformed or ignorant of the facts of our case and have been very sympathetic with us. They, and we agree, it is Independence Township that has made us a "hardship case" deserving a variance.

We have listened to the opinion of MOST of the members of the Township Board, the Township Attorney, realtors, our builder, and some lifetime members of this township and read articles written about us in the Clarkston News and The Voice of the People.

Through all this we have remained quiet, but for some reason we are being made the scapegoat for all the property in the Walters Lake area. Ours is an individual case and should be considered as such.

Our thanks go to Ken Johnson and Ed Glennie and especially to Tom Bullen and Herb Stone for all the time they have spent with us and to Richard Campbell for all the research he has done.

Let us all hope that the next Supervisor will be a man like one of these who is willing to work with the people and not against them.

Enjoyed it

Dear Mr. Fitzgerald,

I truly enjoy your column in the Clarkston News. I was deeply and personally touched by your recent article entitled, "I have a dream, but..."

If you find yourself stranded in front of our house, stop in for a cup of coffee. You will see your article taped on the living room wall.

The hill billy's back

Dear Editor,

Now that I am back in the township and up and around, it seems I have missed a lot. It seems many people in the township are extreme or excessive in their judgment.

Now there is a female on Eston Road who has been... I Frechette's garbage cans so many times in the last few months; she is now smelling and sounding like garbage.

I can remember one day last summer when this female threw an A&P grocery bag full of cans and garbage out on the east side of Eston Road just in front of the golf course parking lot. I think that I still have the photograph of her throwing the bag on the side of the road.

Now, there is this matter of people calling Stonerock, Lowe and Blass habitual criminals, just because they violated the zoning laws of the township day after day, month after month.

I suppose, if you violate the law it is a crime and if you keep it up day after day, it is habit forming.

Their careers are not hearsay for I and others have photographed and witnessed their many violations of the law. Stonerock has indicated to many people that he does not have to answer to the law, he is, the law. Stonerock has convinced many people in this township he is first, Humbert follows, and God is next if Campbell don't crowd him out.

I have seen this Campbell lately with the added growth concealing his face. If I had reaped the harvest that he has taken from the township I would want to hide, too.

This past weekend Stonerock and Lowe moved their drafting tables and surveying junk out of Karl Blass' basement on Mohawk.

When Stonerock moved out of Mohawk, we all thought this is the end of Stonerock's continual violation of the law. You guessed it, he had not got things stored in the new place, a property that appears to be worth about $150,000, when he started again.

What this time? Another violation of an ordinance plus assault upon a township employe. I was told it took two men to disarm Stonerock and take the weapon from him.

This isn't the first time that he has abused or threatened township employes.

Sincerely,
Lucky O. Fletcher
Deputy Hill Billy

"For the people"

To the Editor:

I have just gone over a flyer put out by Stonerock in 1970 when he was seeking election as township supervisor.

I quote, "I have stepped up to offer new leadership as a citizen who is concerned enough to step aside from a professional business" and also, "For a government for the people."

The first quote sounds as though he was giving up his business, doesn't it? To the contrary, it is thriving. Why not, since every developer who wants to open up shop in Independence Township has to get by Stonerock?

As far as "government for the people" is concerned, I can thank Stonerock for the following:

1. Bringing in assessors from Cleveland at a cost of $61,000, when we already have an able assessor to do the job.
2. Spending $20,000 for a planning consultant.
3. Increasing the 1972 budget over the 1971 budget by 34% of $140,000.
4. Committing $25,000 to acquisition of a 40-acre park so all the riff-raff from 50 miles around can take it over.

5. $51,000 for 3 policemen.
6. Adding a bookkeeper at $9,000, a chief building inspector at $13,500 (wasn't this the job Stonerock claimed he would get done for $2,700 when he fired the former inspector?), a recreation director at $10,000 and an assessment clerk at $6,000.
7. Passing a snowmobile ordinance. (I'd like to see the legal fees for that one.) Ignoring a taxpayer's suggestion that the township wait as the state was in the process of drafting one (which the state did).

I shudder to think what would happen to our tax bills if the present trustees of the township are increased to four and we get two more spendthrifts.

I, therefore, strongly urge the voters of Independence Township to vote no against this proposal. You are paying the bill, and the only way you can stop it is by removing the cause.

New system tried at Post Office

The Clarkston Post Office will become part of area mail processing, one of the newest innovations of the U.S. Postal Service on May 15, it was announced by Postmaster Ray Klein.

"The program is intended to speed the ultimate delivery of mail and to gain maximum efficiency through full utilization of central mail processing centers," Klein said.

All mail deposited in a receptacle in the Clarkston Post Office which is designated for the deposit of mail for LOCAL DELIVERY only will be postmarked with the postmark of the local post office. The mail for local delivery will be processed here. The outgoing mail with local postmark will be dispatched to the area mail processing center in Royal Oak for distribution.

Twp. cleanup a success

More than 190 pickup truck loads of junk were disposed of during township cleanup day last Saturday, about quadruple the original estimate, according to Supervisor Gary Stonerock.

There were also free passes issued at the Powell Disposal Service to cars and dump trucks. Citizens who proved their residency within the township were accorded free dumping privileges at the landfill last Saturday and will be permitted to do so again this Saturday.

Stonerock said costs of the cleanup operation were running higher than anticipated, but that a lot of large trash items were being disposed of which garbage services do not ordinarily accept on route pickup.

The operation is to be repeated this Saturday. While larger items are to be

Classroom Window

By Suvonne Hogan

The Clarkston Junior High School library has been what is considered a traditional library. That is, a place which houses organized printed matter which students and teachers use for study and recreational reading. The young adults living in the 70's with television, movies, cassette and tape recorders, as well as other audio and visual media, are requiring a new method in education. Teachers are now introducing audio-visual concepts into their classrooms.

In order to keep pace with the new trends in education the traditional library must become a media center. This is to say, a learning center with necessary printed matter, audio-visual media, and equipment for students and teachers to utilize in producing a fuller educational program.

The federally funded Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, or Title II, has been the major instrument in formulating Clarkston Junior High's change from a library to a media center.

Due to our limited facilities we will not be able to meet our desired potential; however, we will be establishing a foundation on which to build.

Our media center next year will consist of single concept film loops, cassettes, kits containing filmstrips and records as well as single records and filmstrips.

A film loop is a cartridge containing approximately three minutes of silent film in a continuous loop which the student slips in and out of the machine.

Our teachers have selected the Mike Whorf cassettes which are reproductions of his WJR educational program.

The filmstrip kits are produced by National Geographic and Encyclopedia Britannica.

In order to accommodate the media, we will be purchasing new equipment. We expect to have the equipment set up on a table containing a jack box. This will enable four students with the aid of headphones to listen to one cassette at the same time.

The teachers will be using our media center to reinforce classroom teaching, for example, they will be able to record lectures, guest speakers and class review.

Students who wish to review or the absent student can do so on their free time. Individual study may be achieved by both the advanced as well as the slow learner. We would also expect the students to use our media center for pleasure and relaxation.

The community is welcome to visit our media center next fall when we become fully established.

County studies solid waste

Lawrence R. Pernick, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, has asked the Public Works Committee of the board to select a county department to develop a Solid Waste Disposal Plan for Oakland County.

"The problem of Solid Waste Disposal can no longer be simply talked about, we must take immediate, direct action to implement a solution in a deliberate and planned manner," said Pernick.

"A recently revised State Law requires the adoption of such a plan by July 1, 1973, and we will meet this deadline," said Pernick.

Pernick suggested that rather than create a new county department, the job should be assigned either to the County Road Commission, Drain Commission, or Public Works Department; and he requested the Public Works Committee to make their recommendation to the full Board by June 1.

Bullen says he won't run

Township trustee Tom Bullen, appointed to a vacancy on the Independence Township Board in December, 1970, has announced he will not seek reelection in the August primary.

Bullen, whose course as a public official has been a stormy one, says he plans to attend law school and will enter Wayne State University's evening program this fall.

Employed for the last 15 years as a certified public accountant and business consultant, Bullen works for the Birmingham firm of Arthur Young & Co. He will continue in their employ while he returns to school.

Bullen and his wife, Sally, live at 5935 Kingfisher. They have five children.

Motherhood - a career in coping

A busy Betty Galligan faces Mother's Day this year.

At 49, the mother of six has had to learn to cope without the presence of her husband of 30 years.

He died a year ago last March. Healthy always, she recalls, there was only a three-day warning that something was seriously wrong.

That's why she's busy, says Betty. "I've had to stop looking back. I've had to find out who I really am. It's difficult when you've been Mrs. Roger Galligan for so long, and then he's not there.

"Even going to the grocery store becomes an ordeal. For so long you've cooked with him in mind, you forget what you really like and really want."

Sprightly, diminutive, Mrs. Galligan has coped. The mother of five sons and a daughter, she feels self pity wouldn't do justice to the fine marriage she shared.

Active in church work, she's a circle chairman and chairman for missions, and serves on the administrative board and the board of ministries at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

She's also taken up oil painting and every Friday morning she hikes off to Milford for another lesson. "There's nothing that interferes with that time. That's my time," she emphasizes brightly.

Three of the children are now married with children of their own. David, 30, works at Pontiac Motors and lives in Pontiac. Dennis, 28, owns a restaurant in Florida and Beverly is now Mrs. Robert Sherman, wife of one of Ortonville's funeral directors.

Roger Frank, 23, is employed at Clarkston Appliance. James Patrick, 21, who was badly injured in an accident three years ago and who is still undergoing plastic surgery, is unemployed, and Norman Paul, 16, is a sophomore at Clarkston High School.

The three single children and Betty inhabit the two-story white house on Cherrylawn behind the Junior High School where the family has lived for 22 years.

"It's a community affair when you raise a family," she mused. "Everybody in town watched the kids grow up. It was a happy thing," recalls this mom who credits the influence of teachers and ministers with much of the kids' upbringing.

A self-admitted disciplinarian, Betty is realistic enough to admit the kids weren't raised without problems.

"There was one boy - we had to give his privileges back to him so we could take them away again. He's a good father now. He believes in discipline, too," she laughs.

Her face softens, as she recalls the kids as babies. That was her favorite time, she remembers.

"You'd hold this dear, angelic baby. The first one - I was sure he was going to be a minister. But somewhere along the line you find out they're not as bright as you thought they were going to be, and you begin to realize they're good, normal average citizens and you respect them for what they are."

Betty says that of the six, there are no two alike. Despite the preponderance of boys she's not a devoted sports fan.

"Two of the boys were interested in sports, and that was fine. Three of them could have cared less, and that was fine, too. The youngest one is quite interested in music," she reports.

The basic upbringing accorded by her late husband - "he was the one who gave direction to the marriage" - has made an adjustment to widowhood easier to bear, she says.

"They're all good kids at heart," says Betty, now grandmother to eight. "We taught them to stand on their own two feet."

"Now, I've had to decide whether I wanted to lean on them or to become independent," she reflects.

Trained once as a Bishop sewing teacher, she never worked because her husband's erratic hours might place him home while she was gone. She liked those hours - him gone never more than overnight - the six to eight weeks they shared in the summer when work was down.

Now she's getting interested in selling real estate and is seriously considering taking a course to that end. Married at 18, she's never worked.

It's going to be a whole new life for Betty Galligan, and it appears she's ready to face it.

THEATRE REVIEW

Shaw's "Misalliance" benevolently bullying

By Robert Chisholm

The Hilberry Repertory Company at Wayne State is currently featuring a successful revival of George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance."

"Misalliance" was written by Shaw in 1910; after he had penned such masterpieces as "Arms and the Man," "Candida," "Man and Superman," and "Major Barbara."

Despite the fact that Shaw provides the backbone for the repertoire of many regional and local theater companies, "Misalliance" has received relatively little attention. The reason being, I suspect, that this play, which deals primarily with the theme of parent-children relations, suffers from Shavian wandering and treatment of an almost endless lamination of subjects.

In the span of little over two hours Shaw skips, picks and probes his way through such topics as the institutions of marriage, religion and education; with problems of English class structure, socialism and women's rights thrown in for good measure.

Such a melange poses considerable problems. Fortunately, under Richard Spear's direction the production is a fast-paced comedy with a blending of farce. If Shaw's rambling represents a liability, his language, poetry, and wit constitute an asset of the highest magnitude which is fully exploited.

The setting is the summer home of the underwear tycoon John Tarleton, in the year 1909. Tarleton's strong-willed but frustrated daughter, Hypatia, is engaged to Bentley Summerhays, a sniveling, overgrown brat, born of nobility, who provokes the ire of all - an obvious misalliance!

This tranquility, smugness and stuffiness is shattered when a plane crashes into the house and deposits Joey, an old friend of Bentley's, and Lina, a Polish circus performer and champion of women's lib.

The ensuing encounters and by-play proceed at a lively pace.

The cast is uniformly sound and well suited to the task. John Sterlg Arnold gives a commendable portrayal of the stuffy pedant Tarleton, who is a walking bibliography - constantly referring people to "read Darwin," "read Shelley," "read Kipling."

Diane Hill's Hypatia was satisfactory. James Ryan as the spoiled, tantrum-throwing Bentley was effective.

Although Mary Benson struggled with the accent her Lina Szczepanowska was delightful.

Russell Smith's attempt at Art Nouveau scenery was more suggestive than factual, yet light and well suited.

Shaw once said that he was engaged in a persistent struggle to force the public to reconsider its morals. To achieve this he often engaged in what G. K. Chesterton called "benevolent bullying" - "a habit of knocking men down for their own good."

"Misalliance" is benevolent bullying and a welcomed revival.

Clifford Odets' "The Country Girl" (Billy Rose Theatre) represents another outstanding revival.

Jason Robards is great as the insecure, alcoholic, aging actor who is prodded and forced into a comeback by George Grizzard, the ambitious, driving director. As the wife and woman in the middle in this emotional tug-a-war, Maureen Stapleton gives a believable if not always sympathetic portrayal.

"Country Girl" is directed by another "star," John Houseman. Echoing the New York critics, all I can say is Bravo! Robards, Stapleton, Grizzard, Houseman and Odets.

Bailey Lake PTA will install new officers at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 11, at the school. Fifth graders will present a vocal music program.

The independent view

By Jean Saile

I was feeling so proud that I'd been able to walk 16 miles Saturday in the "Walk for Mankind" and then I heard two reports which left me wondering.

Jean Bray of Pine Knob Road captained a two-pickup-truck-crew of young people who spent the day gathering roadside litter and disposing of it.

There was enough around, any walker can attest, and unfortunately it was added to by some walkers.

The second story left me feeling older than ever. Pam Stalker of Sashabaw Junior High School, and Cindy Pidd of Clarkston Junior High School walked the 16 miles with us Saturday and turned around and walked 20 miles for the March of Dimes on Sunday.

Pam made $49.40 for both causes and Cindy made $12.55. They're both ninth graders.

When Dave Nadolsky asked us three "lame dames" if we'd like to walk with the Jaycees who were leaving at an early 7 a.m., I informed him that even my blood didn't know in which direction to travel at that hour of the morning.

Once we'd decided we'd get going, Nadolsky's response was, "Great, no use shooting the whole day" and my feeble reply to that became, "Heck, no, we've got to get back in time to take part in the bicycle races."

Well, we limped in, and we're glad we did and by next week there should be a full accounting of funds earned.

Tom Ritter of Ritter's Farm Market, 6684 Dixie Highway, has been elected Michigan Jaycee state vice president. Ritter is outgoing president of the Waterford Jaycee chapter.

During the year 1971 the Oakland County Department of Social Services expended more than $57 million for the care and maintenance of indigent persons in Oakland County, according to a year end report released by the department. Aid to Dependent Children accounted for $20 million with another $18 million for medical assistance. Some $7 million was expended in the food stamp program.

The Pontiac Press having changed its name to The Oakland Press, there is some wag going around town suggesting that Pontiac Motors is now about to update by becoming Oakland Motors. That's no update, that's a recall.

Buzz me, it's spring

By Rose C. Baird

Like humans, bees are anxious for springtime. Let the sun shine and let the temperature rise to 57 degrees, according to an old time farmer, and 60 degrees, according to the Department of Agriculture, and the bees are buzzing about.

A couple of warm days they hovered quite noticeably around workmen wearing blue and blue-green jackets. We called Ella Jaenichen out on the Dixie for she, out gardening, had remarked about bees buzzing near her, and her dress had been blue-green too.

Karl von Frick, who has written much about bees, claims that bees are attracted to the following colors: yellow, blue, blue-green and ultra-violet. He adds that most flowers appearing white to humans might be blue-green to the bees.

Bees find "sap spots" or nectar guides by color; for example, a blue forget-me-not has a yellow ring around the entrance to nectar, and the white flower of the narcissus has a yellow "sap spot."

When the yellow dandelions appear, the bees become lively. Dandelions persist only for the month of June. They belong to the composite family along with mums and daisies, and it might be worthwhile to leave some for the bees. It is reliably reported that one orchardist actually cut the dandelions under his trees so that the bees would take to the apple blossoms.

One local farmer discouraged with a field of mostly purple star thistles wondered what could be done with the weed. After he had tasted some delectable star thistle honey, he changed his mind about the undesirable weed.

Another purplish "weed," the purple loosestrife, which grows profusely in the Deer Lake area makes excellent honey. Maybe the bees like it as well as the humans who drive good distances to see these acres of beauty, somewhat reduced by beach development.

Bees have a language "dance" for reporting sources of food. A round dance means much food is within 10 meters. A wagging dance indicates food is far away; the number of turns tells the distance. The direction of the food source is related in some way to the "straight part" of the wagging dance.

Bees have a good memory for time and place. If they feed at a certain spot, they visit it at the identical time for the next several days — even if the food is gone. They are prone to return to the same food source.

One experimenter marked all bees on a 3-foot by 16-foot area of buckwheat and found the same bees there the next day. Another found bees returned to an area of only two square yards. When we mow away, or otherwise destroy the dandelions in a given area we might easily disturb the bee colony depending on it.

Bees don't take to triangles and squares; the eye of the bee sees broken patterns, such as the petal-like pattern of a flower. A bee's sense of smell is well developed. What is odorless to humans is odorless to a bee. Bees are more sensitive to salt and sour than humans; however they are less sensitive to a bitter taste.

Dick West, UPI reporter, said at "earth day" time in 1970:

"Our technology has advanced to the point where we can do almost anything, up to including flights to the moon and shelf-sharpening eye-brow pencils. But beneath this highly developed electronic and mechanized civilization, the only thing standing between us and starvation is a flying insect.

"Take away the honeybee, which is responsible for the procreation of at least 50 cultivated plants in this country, and you likely would bring about the decline and fall of the Western world, plus parts of the Malay Peninsula."

William Potvin (center) accepts a $500 check from Clarkston Area Jaycees Dave Nadolsky (left) and Rone Rule for the Clarkston Community School's drug abuse committee. The money was earned through the 1971 Walk for Mankind, and will be used to establish a drug education scholarship program for teachers. Potvin, chairman of the committee, said the scholarship recipients will be chosen upon the basis of their involvement with students and willingness to give a little extra time to help a student with problems to help himself.

Nia Kraud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kraud of North Holcomb, is one of 15 finalists in the 1972 Miss Michigan Teenager pageant. Held in the Hilton, the two-day event hosted over 140 girls between the ages of 13 and 17 representing cities throughout the entire state. The winner was Doris Jones of Roseville.

The early bird

By Robin Ridley

Should girls be allowed to compete in varsity sports with boys if they qualify? I ran around the school asking this question, following a legislative decision which permits girls to participate if they qualify. I got a variety of different responses:

Jan Modesitt, coach of the girls' varsity basketball team: In non-contact sports, fine. But in such things like softball, football, or basketball, then I feel that girls should have their own teams.

Rick Plummer, senior: I don't think any girl would qualify for the varsity team.

Deb-Marsae, junior: I don't care about it at all.

James Chamberlain: In non-contact sports I think it's great. I think that the only ones who would really be against it would be boys who got beat out of a position by a girl.

Randy Gelow, junior: I don't care, because I don't care about anything.

Pat Dean, sophomore: If a girl is better than a boy, then why not?

Art Williams, senior: I don't think that any girl would be good enough. I can just see some girl trying to play football. She'd be murdered.

Kim Mayo, senior: Personally, I wouldn't want to try out for it. But there are some girls who would love to be competing with boys, and if they make the team, I don't see anything wrong with it.

Desiree Simpkins, junior: If a girl can make it, then she should be allowed to compete with boys.

Kirk Peters: Well, no. I just don't think that it's right. Besides, girls couldn't hack it.

Nia Kraud, senior: I don't think it should be allowed. Boys and girls compete enough in everyday situations.

David Topolinski, senior: Well, if a girl wants to, and she qualifies, then I guess it's all right.

The ten members of the Honor Guard were chosen last week. They are: Vickie Cheek, Jan Lundy, Darla Hoopengartner, Desiree Simpkins, Claudia Allen, Mark Hallman, Don Foote, Dave Partlo, Cliff Harris and Steve Philpott. They were picked according to their interest and participation in class activities, such as: working on the concession stand during the basketball season, the class float for Homecoming, and so on.

If you have at least a "B" average in your senior classes, then you may get excused from the senior exams by your teacher. Exams will be on May 30 and 31. Following the exams pictures for the graduation certificates will be taken in the library, at the cost of 50c. Anyone who misses getting their pictures taken then, can have the picture taken following the graduation rehearsal on June 1.

Eight girls received the word last week that they had made the varsity cheerleading squad. They are: Debbie Gibbs, Kim Hamilton, Alice Marshall, Mickie Regineck, Diane Rizzuto, Debbie Wilitts, Deb Sartell, and Meg Williams.

Appeals board answers Stonerock

The township zoning board of appeals, in answer to Supervisor Gary Stonerock's order not to issue building permits on any residential lots requiring variances, has said it will continue to process appeals now under consideration plus meet any emergency that arises.

The message was contained in a letter to the supervisor signed by Herb Stone, chairman of the appeals board, following Stonerock's appearance Thursday night at an appeals board special meeting.

At that time Stonerock told the board to issue no more such variances.

At conference

Duane West of Evan's Trailer Sales recently attended a tri-state conference on snowmobiling at Grand Rapids. The conference emphasized the role of the dealer in continuing the development of snowmobiling as the major winter recreational industry in snow belt areas.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shope of Fourth Street, Drayton Plains, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Louise, to Calvin Richard Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Day of Hogback Lake Road, Davisburg. A June 10 wedding is planned by the Clarkston High School graduates.

Judy Swanson (from left), Roxanne Head, Janie Leichtnam and Meg Williams (seated) got together recently to make plans for their stay in June at Girls State. The quartet will go to Olivet College for seven days under the sponsorship of Campbell Richmond Unit No. 63 American Legion Post and Auxiliary. The girls were chosen on the basis of school and community service.

Poppy Days approaching

American Legion Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63 and Auxiliary will be selling poppies May 18-20 in honor of more than half a million Americans who died and the nearly one million wounded during World Wars I and II, the Korean War and the current Vietnam conflict.

Contributions made by the public on the annual Poppy Day sales have aided as many as 12,000 disabled war veterans who were able to augment their incomes by producing the small red blossoms.

Disabled veterans are compensated for their work by the American Legion and Auxiliary which sponsors the sale, but all other work in connection with the observance is done by volunteers.

In the local poppy poster contest Shannon Lynch won a first place in the third class division and Kelley Ann Lynch won a third place in the first class division. Kelley went on to win a third place in the 18th district.

Mrs. Ernest Denne (from left), Mrs. Milford Mason and Mrs. Earl Terry line up some of the antiques, novelties and furniture they'll be selling Friday and Saturday at Independence Township Community Center. The women are members of Rotary Anns, and their annual rummage sale to raise funds for the Oakland County Crippled Children's Society will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. May 12 and from 9 a.m. to noon May 13.

Lana Appleton is Jaycette president

Lana Appleton succeeds Adele Powell as president of the Clarkston Jaycettes. She was elected April 26 at the Church of the Resurrection. David Chesney from the Michigan Kidney Foundation addressed the group.

Named vice president was Jan Lopucki with Gigi Colton as recording secretary and Pat Martin as corresponding secretary. Linda Elkins became treasurer and Sandy Freel, Sue Rule, Carol Lindsey, Nancy Ward and Barb Hamaker were named directors.

The group, which assisted Clarkston Area Jaycees with the "Walk for Mankind" Saturday, is now making plans to organize a program about accidental poisoning. Slides will eventually be made available to the community.

Jaycettes also aided Clarkston Youth Assistance with its dinner Monday and have taken charge of the luncheon and program for senior citizens in May.

The group donated $100 to the Jaycees' Deer Lake improvement program. The funds are earmarked for playground equipment. Proceeds from the fashion show were incorporated in the donation.

Help needed for retarded

People interested in helping the retarded of Oakland County may find a place in the new Citizen Advocacy program begun by the Oakland County Association for Retarded Children.

The association is hunting for non-professionals who will spend time on a regular basis with a retarded person. Professionals such as attorneys, physicians, dentists, teachers and statesmen are needed to help individuals who are retarded, the association points out.

Service Club interest is also sought, both for members' time and money, and others interested in teaching religion to the retarded are also needed, the association said.

Further information is available at 254 South Teltgraph, phone 681-0933.

50 years of marriage

625-2837

By Shanna Nadolsky

Roscoe and Urity Helsel of Whipple Lake Road celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary with their eight children, twenty-six grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren. Many other friends and neighbors joined the family in making the day most enjoyable and memorable for the Helsels.

Nichole Lynette is the beautiful new addition to the Tim Thompson household on Avalon. Nichole arrived April 29 and weighed seven pounds, thirteen ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wyss spent the weekend with their daughter and son-in-law, Rick and Mary Beth Huttenlocher of Parke Lake Drive. The Howard Huttenlochers and the Jim Huttenlochers arrived to help Beth celebrate her third birthday May 5. She was especially delighted with the rosebud cake mom made for her.

Girl Scout Troops 152 and 285 led by Part Serda and Marge Kerr, respectively, and Brownie Troop 339 led by Jacky Larkin and Holly Stevens and Troop 639 led by Mary Lou Milner and Bea Hefner spent Saturday, April 29, bicycling eight miles around Stoney Creek Park.

The weather was excellent for cycling and for the picnic lunches packed by the girls. I understand much of the success of this day can be attributed to many moms and dads who spent the morning and afternoon transporting fifty bicycles and girls in cars and trucks to and from the park.

Mothers who also went on the bike ride were Joan Pender, Hilda Bruce, Carole Tezak and Barb Hoeksema. Congratulations are in order for all of you.

The Golden Garter Restaurant in Pontiac was the place; the occasion was a surprise 80th birthday party for Mrs. Minnie Anthony of Drayton Plains. Several good friends were present to enjoy good food and a good visit. The surprise arrangements were made by her daughter, Mrs. Jim Frady. Mrs. Anthony is a former Clarkston resident.

Bill and Joette Kunse are the proud parents of a new baby daughter, Pamela Kathleen, born April 25. Pamela weighed nine pounds, three ounces, which sounds like she may be able to hold her own with her older sister, Suzanna, 20 months old. Grandparents are Mrs. Harry Kunse of Waterford and Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt of California.

The Russell Coltons of West Church Street have returned from a month's visit with Mr. Colton's brother and sister-in-law in Pinellas Park, Florida. While in Florida, they had lunch with Chuck and Judy Hancock of Bradenton (former Clarkston residents) and visited vacationing Ada Scraze at Clear Water Beach. They also saw Mrs. Ruth Smith Beattie who recently had cataract surgery and is now doing very well. Mrs. Colton says the eighty degree weather was wonderful — and quite a contrast to the rain we're having here now.

Diana G. Lundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lundy of 5095 Pine Knob Road, is a candidate for a bachelor's degree in speech this month from the University of Michigan.

Ann E. Latoza, a psychology senior at Michigan State University, has attained a 4.0 or straight A average during the winter term, the college announced. She lives at 5920 Warbler, and is a graduate of Clarkston High School.

What's happening?

Local parents interested in forming a chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities will meet Wednesday, May 17. Those interested are asked to call Vivian Smith at 625-3243.

Michigan truck drivers will be able to compete in a "rodeo" from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Friday, May 12, in the parking lot at the Raleigh House in Southfield. The event marks Truck Transport Day.

Mother-Daughter dinner at Calvary

Men of Calvary Lutheran Church will serve a mother and daughter dinner for women and girls of the parish at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 18, in the Fellowship Hall. Mary Lou Sanderson will play the piano and homemade creations will be featured in a fashion show.

The banquet committee is composed of Phyllis Meredith, Dana Kent, Betty Thomas, Nancy Postal, Judy Brumback, Betty Kratt and Bev Walters.

Tickets are $1.50 for adults and children over 12, $1 for children aged 4 to 11.

Rembrandt's "Officer with Plumed Hat" — sometimes called "The Warrior" — is on display at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The painting, a $500,000 gift from the Matilda R. Wilson Fund, has been newly-cleaned and restored to the rich and warm tones of the artist's brush when he modeled the dramatic figure about 1634.

"Keep America Singing—Harmonize the World" is the program at 8 p.m., May 13, which will benefit Oakland County Hospital patients.

To feature several barbershop quartets as well as the Davisburg All American Kazoo Band, the program will take place at Pontiac Central High School.

Tickets are available at Oakland County Hospital, Osmun's Town and Country Men's Wear, Grinnell Brothers, Hudsons, and Going Enterprises in Davisburg.

MJF dinner

The Senior Hi Methodist Youth Fellowship will serve a family dinner from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Thursday, May 11, at Clarkston Methodist Church. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

RAP party to benefit centers

Independence Township residents are invited to attend a Millionaire's Party at 8:30 p.m. May 19 at the Waterford CAI Building on Williams Lake Road.

Proceeds from the $5 ticket sales will benefit Residents Awareness Program (RAP), helping to finance programs at the Watkins Lake Road drop-in center and to refurbish the former Webster School on Pontiac Lake Road in White Lake Township as a live-in facility.

RAP is a drug treatment program, partially financed by Independence Township.

Teacher hearing

Clarkston Board of Education will meet in special session at 8 p.m. Monday, May 15, to conduct a public hearing on the suspension of Elaine Mihelic, a teacher at Pine Knob School.

The board earlier this year suspended her for insubordination.

Training session

A rabbit and poultry training session and show for all 4-Hers will be 10 a.m. Saturday, May 13, at the Youth Activity Center, 12451 Andersonville Road, Davisburg.

Rev. Orestes R. Tessaro

Rev. Orestes R. Tessaro, evangelist, will appear in services the week of May 14 to 21 at Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church, Maybee and Winell.

Services Sunday will be at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and on weekdays at 7:30 p.m.

The church choir, led by Bob Murphy, will be singing at each service. Other special music will be presented during the week by the Light and Life Trio and the Gospel Sounds Quartet.

Rev. Clancy J. Thompson, pastor, reports Rev. Tessaro has crusaded in Argentina, Brazil and Spain.

Spiritual Message

TALKING WITH GOD

Clancy J. Thompson, Pastor

Prayer is conversation with God. Rosalind Rinker says, "Prayer is a dialogue between two persons who love each other." This fact implies that conversing with God is a two way communication, not just man to God, but also God speaking with man. This is exciting, for it means that prayer is more than a ritual, or a boring necessary habit promoted by the church.

Unfortunately, prayer has been used as a good luck thing or a fetish. An individual may "pray" (as contrasted to dialogue) when confronted by a crisis, or danger, or a long trip, mentally thinking that this bit of verbiage may bring him safety and luck. As such, it becomes meaningless.

Prayer can be a delightful experience. Of necessity, one must recognize that God is present at that moment: He is with us through His Holy Spirit. We must also be aware of the fact that He loves us and is interested in every bit of our lives. Given ample opportunity, God will communicate with us.

Rosalind Rinker gives us several practical pointers with respect to the practice of talking with God alone. She states: "Have a definite place to pray alone. Anticipate meeting One who loves you" in a personal, intimate way. Let your prayers be semi-audible. You are speaking to a Person —. Use a daily devotional book, and use some kind of study book to give you needed direction in your daily Bible reading."

Prayer is a release. There is real therapeutic value in talking out a problem with God. The pouring out of our soul the tension and heaviness, enables God to pour in His presence, His love, a balm which restores and energizes. As we recognize the fact that God is talking with us, we begin to sense that we are becoming possessed with a confidence that only God can give man.

Talking with God, yes — it can be exciting. Try it!

Wrong (wronged?) again

by Jean Saile

We've got to dig in our heels. Quit letting our kids push us around. Quit "running scared."

Today's psychologists are just as sure we parents have ruined a whole generation of kids by permissiveness as they were sure prior to that we had ruined a whole generation by being martinets.

I'm really glad to get this latest bit of news.

I thought it was just old age that was wearing me down, and now I find I've been running scared all these years, and it's no wonder I'm tired.

Ah, yes, the permissive era is over, kiddies. Little tykes who had their every wish granted are now about to launch a disciplined generation.

From now on parents will be listened to — if the kids can find them.

Having lived through the Dr. Spock generation — the do your own thing age — and the anti-establishment craze — and survived — I am now willing to let readers in on a secret.

What you've got to do is burn all the books on the "how to's", the "why not's" and the "don't ever's", and operate on the basis of "what's good for the family, is good for all of us."

Besides having so far been effective, the method has been comfortable.

It's nice to sometimes crawl back under the covers in the morning, telling yourself that a wide awake, alert mother is better for homecoming school children than a drowsy, grumpy one.

It's also nice to tell yourself that kids made to clean up after themselves are learning valuable lessons for future survival.

It's even cricket, under those rules, to teach your kids to cook at a very early age, to be responsible for their own homework; their own equipment, and their own pets.

There are rebellions — actually a continuing one — but as long as parents are bigger and can yell louder and can meet the bills to keep the roof intact and food on the table, it's no big thing.

It's true that once in a while the kids may even win. Just enough to keep the battle interesting.

And as for the psychologists — let them go out and raise their own families — engineer, their own battles — and forget how to write.

Parent - child communication

Tom Jones, child psychologist at Fairlawn, Pontiac State Hospital, will talk about improving communication and resolving conflicts between parent and child at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 11, at Clarkston Senior High School.

This is the last of a series of four programs sponsored by Clarkston Youth Assistance and the Special Services Division of the Clarkston Schools.

A charge of 50 cents will cover the cost of coffee. The program is open to all interested men and women of the area.

2 will run

Only two of Independence Township board incumbents will seek reelection in August. Supervisor Gary Stonerock and Clerk J. Edwin Glennie say they will both seek reelection.

Treasurer Kenneth Johnson has announced he will not run again, nor will Trustee Thomas Bullen. Trustee Keith Humbert's term has another two years to run.

New recreation director hired

Timothy Doyle, parks and recreation director in Redding, Conn., will assume direction of Independence Township recreation program Monday, May 15.

Doyle's employment and that of two other new township employees was approved Tuesday night by the township board in the first installment of a two-part meeting this week. The board was to meet again Wednesday.

Doyle, who has been selected by a committee composed of Robert Brumback, director of Clarkston Schools special services, David Nadolsky, chairman of a recreation group of the Community Resources Committee, and Ralph Richards, a resident of Independence through director of Waterford Township's recreation program, will be paid $10,000 a year.

He will also get $200 to help him with moving costs from Connecticut to Michigan.

Brumback explained Doyle had experience with parks management, beach maintenance, Little League programs and playground direction. He said he has developed self-sustaining programs for youth, adults and senior citizens.

The vote for his employment was 4-1, Trustee Tom Bullen stating he had no doubt Doyle is highly qualified for the job, but, he said, "I firmly believe we cannot afford it (the recreation position.)"

Kenneth Delbridge, former West Bloomfield Township building inspector, was hired at a cost of $13,500 a year as building department superintendent. He is a journeyman electrician.

Mrs. Jacqueline Anderson was hired as bookkeeper at a cost of $8,500 a year.

Both received unanimous votes from the township board with the stipulation that their wages would not be subject to union negotiation for at least a year.

Building authority named

Seven Independence Township residents now serve on the township's newly created building authority — their first order of duty being acquisition of a 40-acre park site as approved by the township board.

Named to six-year posts on the authority were Robert Carr, attorney, 6505 Waterford Hill Terrace; Charles Robinson of King Insurance, 4898 Hummingbird; and Paul Wilmot, a real estate broker residing on Clarkston-Orion Road.

To serve four-year terms are Robert Kraud, an investment broker, of 7840 N. Holcomb; and Jean Benzing, a landscape architect, 5429 Williamson. Serving two-year terms are George White, chairman of the Clarkston Education Association and Clarkston Youth Assistance, 8050 Pine Knob Road; and Bruce Rogers, teacher at Clarkston Elementary School, of East Washington.

Whether the group will eventually be empowered to purchase land outside the village for construction of new township facilities will be a matter the voters decide. It was ordered Tuesday night that such a question be put on the November ballot.

Comparing notes about America versus India are Samir Mittra (standing left), an electrical engineer and computer representative of Bombay, India, and Howard Kieft of Kieft Engineering. Seated left to right are Mr. and Mrs. Chhabilbhai Dwarkadas Thakkor, who run a light industrial construction business there, and Hashang Nariman Khumbatta, a structural engineer, also of Bombay. Guests of Clarkston Rotary Club, the Indian representatives are in the United States participating in Rotary Foundation's groups study exchange program. The visitors were weekend guests of the Kiefts and of Dr. and Mrs. Al Hamilton. Another contingent spent the weekend in Oxford.

Odds and ends

Tuesday night's township board meeting, serialized this week with another instalment due Wednesday, saw members okay an additional $400 a month to retain Planning Consultant Larry Burkhart's services for two days a week as opposed to the present one.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock said he had two applicants for a full time planner, a position recently approved by the board.

A repair job in the amount of $4679 was approved for the Clarkston Gardens well.

Two lot splits were approved on Westview off Pine Knob Road. They were found to meet all specifications of the zoning and lot splitting ordinances. A third decision was postponed for study, and another was not considered.

Wedding invitations and accessories quickly, precisely printed at the Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston. 625-3370.

Supervisor blocks multiple zoning

Supervisor Gary Stonerock has refused to consider zoning action for Hal-Win Development Co. which proposes 400 multiple units on 69.9 acres off Maybee Road near Spring Lake Country Club.

Stonerock told the board last night, following his failure to recognize a motion to take up the case, that action should be delayed until a county study on multiples is complete.

Frank Windham, one of the partners in the venture, told Stonerock he would sue if the matter were not considered; because while there has been no recommendation from the Oakland County Planning Commission in regard to the zoning, the 30-day time limit for such a report has elapsed.

Approval for the rezoning cleared the township planning commission on a 3-2 vote.

Hal Reekwald, another partner, said last week he had been refused copies of planning consultant action in regard to multiples elsewhere in the township. He said he was refused by Stonerock despite his possession of an attorney's opinion in which Richard Campbell said such documents were open record and that he saw "no harm" in furnishing copies.

Reekwald said he sought information about Fairwood, which the planning commission has okayed as suitable for 190 units on 19 acres; Jaber which will house 324 condominium units and a shopping center on 77 acres; and Lieb on Waterford Hill.

Beach resigns

The township board lost an employe Tuesday night as the resignation of Fire Chief Don Beach was accepted effective June 1.

Trustee Tom Bullen moved the resignation be accepted with regret in view of his long, faithful and diligent service to the township.

Treasurer Kenneth Johnson noted Independence is losing a "vital key" with Beach's resignation.

Lynch seeks supervisor election

John Lynch

John Lynch, 45, 6260 Eastlawn, has announced he will file nominating petitions for the post of township supervisor in the August primary.

Lynch who is chairman of the Independence Township Republican Club is an employe of Kieft Engineering Co. He is married and has five children.

Voting decisions ahead

Voters of Independence Township are going to be asked to decide three issues at the November election:

1.) Whether an additional 1 mill should be levied for Fire Department operation. (There is currently a 1 mill levy.)

2.) Whether an additional 1 mill should be levied for roads, enabling the township to take advantage of a matching fund program handled by the county.

3.) Whether land outside the village should be acquired for eventual location of new township offices.

While the November vote was under consideration by the township board Tuesday night, Supervisor Gary Stonerock announced that an attorney-general's opinion holds that any election to increase township trustees from two to four at the May 16 primary is illegal.

A primary is reportedly not a "regular election", but Stonerock pointed out that unless the vote is challenged it will hold.

The board will consider whether abolition of the annual meeting should be placed on the November ballot.

CBD for township?

Investigation of zoning for a central business district in the township in the area of Maybee, White Lake and Dixie Highway is in progress, according to Supervisor Gary Stonerock.

He said the new triangle created by the extension of Maybee to White Lake Road south and west of the Dixie is the area proposed.

"It would be fronted on two sides by proposed 204-foot right-of-way roads and on the third by the Dixie which is a 150-foot right-of-way," he noted.

He said advice is currently being sought from the Oakland County Planning Commission, the township planner and the road commission in regard to "the new business heart and very good marketing location."

Jazz returning to Meadow Brook

A roster of ten of the world's great jazz and blues artists will appear at the Meadow Brook Music Festival in the Friday night Jazz-Popular series, Sandor Kallai, Festival Manager, has announced.

Eight of the artists are new to the Meadow Brook stage, while two, Ella Fitzgerald and Pete Fountain, return following triumphant sellout engagements last year. Each of the stars will appear for one night only.

Appearing on the nine-week series of the Music Festival for the first time will be Ray Charles, Peter Nero, Count Basie, and "Doc" Severinsen and his Now Generation Brass, among others.

The Jazz-Popular series, now in its third year, has brought the largest audiences of all to Meadow Brook, including several sold-out houses last year when even lawn space was not available, according to Kallai. "There is an unprecedented revival of enthusiasm for jazz right now," he said, "and we expect the coming season to be our most successful."

"Doc" Severinsen and his Now Generation Brass are scheduled to lead off the series on June 30. The colorful musical director of Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show" and his trumpet will headline a show that features Today's Children, his young swinging and dancing ensemble.

An exciting double attraction has been planned for July 7. Multi-talented Mel Torme will share the Meadow Brook stage with Woody Herman and the Young Thundering Herd.

Singer and pianist Ray Charles will be the guest artist on July 14. The famous raspy Charles voice, at once melancholy and earthy, will sing his own inimitable style that is rooted in the tradition of blues, spiritual, and gospel melody.

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band with Billie and De De Pierce will bring original New Orleans jazz to Meadow Brook's Baldwin Pavilion on July 21. Billie, a protege of the legendary Bessie Smith, is considered one of the world's greatest blues singers; and her husband, De De, who is Cajun by descent, answers on his wailing cornet. Together with drummer "Cie" Frazier, clarinetist Willie Humphrey, trombonist Jim Robinsin, and Allan Jaffe, tuba, a group of musicians who are mostly in their 60's and 70's, they create the authentic sweet and melodic Bourbon Street jazz.

Peter Nero, whose sensitive arrangement of the theme from "The Summer of '42" ran high on the charts in recent months; will take the stage on July 28.

Ferrante and Teicher will headline the August 4 concert. A duo-piano team whose recording successes include the theme from "The Apartment," "A Man and A Woman," and "Midnight Cowboy" as well as their famous rendition of "Exodus," will perform.

Frankenmuth's annual Bavarian Festival will be June 11 to 17 this year.

UF appeals to "corporate heart"

Sometime between now and June 9, the United Foundation must raise $21.4 million. And nobody will ring your doorbell or even talk to you at the shop or office about it unless you happen to be a top executive of one of our larger firms.

It's a Capital Fund Campaign the United Foundation is putting on currently and contributions will be solicited only from 1,400 businesses and foundations in the Metropolitan Detroit area.

The money the volunteers hope to gather is expected to generate $173 million in new facilities for the sick, the elderly and the very young in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

Although it's a United Foundation Campaign, it is entirely separate from the annual Torch Drive which raises funds for operating budgets of 164 agencies.

These Capital Funds Campaigns occur only once every five years and a considerable amount of the money raised in 1972 will go into new hospitals and new buildings for social and health agencies. However, much of it will also be used to expand existing facilities and to provide needed equipment.

In this campaign, under the leadership of Lee A. Iacocca, Ford Motor Company President, the United Foundation will prove again that there is a "corporate heart." Because there is, the 56 projects in the current campaign will be better able to serve all the people in our community.

Count Basie, who has established himself as a music immortal in the 25 years he has been a bandleader, will play Meadow Brook Music Festival on August 11, along with his entire orchestra.

Pete Fountain, who with his gifted clarinet was a sellout at Meadow Brook last year, returns again this year on August 18. Born and bred in the birthplace of jazz, Pete Fountain calls his music "New Orleans jazz," performing the same style that characterizes his appearances in his own Bourbon Street cabaret, the French Quarter Inn.

The Jazz-Popular series will conclude on August 25 with the highlighted appearance of the peerless Ella Fitzgerald. Whether it's jazz or pop music, Ella reigns as one of the great vocalists in this country.

New drinking driver program

An extensive new program designed to help solve the Michigan drinking driver problem has been launched in eight counties, including Oakland, by the Michigan Department of State.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin said the program "marks the nation's first concerted effort by a motor vehicle department to identify and refer for treatment drivers whose abuse of alcohol has resulted in irresponsible driving behavior."

The project was funded initially by matching funds from state and federal governments. The federal grant is through the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning.

"When a driver repeatedly behaves irresponsibly on the road, he is called in for re-exam," Austin explained. "At this point, a variety of actions may be taken to help him ranging from a discussion with the driver analyst to revocation of his driving privilege in extreme cases."

"In dealing with the problem drinking driver," Austin said, "these actions seem to have little or no effect. They do not go to the root of the drinking problem which contributes to erratic behavior behind the wheel of a car."

"Because of the staggering contribution... most studies place the percentage at 50 percent or higher... made by problem drinkers to our yearly fatality and accident tolls and the ineffectiveness of our efforts so far to reduce this carnage, we are compelled to explore new approaches to help solve the problem."

Austin said that 10 field analysts have undergone intensive field training and have been selected to work in Wayne, Oakland, Muskegon, Genesee, Ingham, Kalamazoo and Kent Counties. Three analysts have been assigned to Wayne County.

Initially, drivers in the eight counties who have two or more alcohol-related traffic convictions... driving under the influence of liquor or driving while impaired... or who have 12 or more points and at least one alcohol-related conviction go through an intensive interview with a specially trained driver analyst.

"If the analyst feels the driver has an alcohol problem affecting his driving, he will be referred to local alcohol education-treatment programs federally-funded through the Michigan Department of Public Health or to other agencies offering similar services."

"The Department of State will not abandon these drivers when they are sent to these alcohol centers. We will follow their progress. Additional action will be taken against their driving privilege if necessary for their rehabilitation or ensuring their safety and the others using the highways."

Austin said he hoped that factors other than "driving under the influence of liquor" or "driving while impaired" convictions will assist eventually in identifying problem drinking drivers. These could include other moving traffic convictions and non-driving related data from police, court and medical records.

"If there is information indicating an individual's involvement with alcohol, he could be called in for re-examination and referral to an educational or treatment facility at the first indication of irresponsible behavior on the road. In this manner, we might not have to wait until a driver reaches 12 points and is convicted of one or more drunk driving offenses before realizing he may have a drinking problem and needs help."

Austin said that perhaps the most important element to the success of the program are the trained driver analysts.

Before holding their first interview, they were exposed to an intensive one-week training course conducted by William Keaton, director of Insight, Inc., and chief alcoholism therapist at Hurley Hospital in Flint. Additionally, the analysts are in a three-day a month alcoholism training course at the Salvation Army's Harbor Light Center in Detroit. This course lasts for 10 months.

R. Eric Reickel, Executive Director of Parks and Recreation for Bucks County, Pennsylvania, has become the Director of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission

Reickel, formerly Director of Parks and Recreation for Trenton, Michigan, 1964 to 1969, was President of the Michigan Recreation and Park Association when that organization led this state's campaign for the successful passage of the $100 million Recreation Bond. He left Michigan to become recreation director for Bucks County, just north of Philadelphia, in January, 1970.

Reickel is married, with three children and is a 1958 graduate of Michigan State University.

Cystic

The quality of medical care for victims of cystic fibrosis is improving rapidly, and the outlook for such patients is becoming increasingly favorable. This is the message of a new leaflet published by the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases.

Although the death rate from this serious childhood disorder is still very high, up to 20% of afflicted youngsters now survive to adolescence or young adulthood, due to newer treatments and earlier recognition of the disease.

It is an inherited disorder of the mucus and sweat glands. The one secretes an abnormally thick, gluey mucus (which causes the main complications) and the other produces an unusually salty sweat.

The sticky mucus clogs the small bronchial tubes in the lungs and makes it hard for the child to breathe. Air gets trapped in some of these tubes, and parts of the lung may be blocked off. Then bacteria collect in the clogged bronchial tubes, where they multiply and create infection.

Cystic fibrosis is mainly characterized by malnutrition, chronic lung disease and failure to grow and develop normally. It is not too common—about one birth in 2,000—but it is a serious disorder you should be aware of.

You can get a copy of the "Cystic Fibrosis" leaflet by asking the Public Health Service, Washington, D. C. 20201, for its Publication No. 1077. There is no charge for a single copy.

Common Cause seeks war's end

Strong bi-partisan support could end the Vietnam War now, believe local members of Common Cause. Organized as a citizen's lobby, Common Cause with over 300 members in the 19th Congressional District is concentrating its effort to end the war by supporting legislative action.

Mrs. John Rennels of Farmington, coordinator of the 19th District states, "The House Foreign Affairs Committee must develop antiwar legislation before May 20, 1972."

To be meaningful, Common Cause members feel these essential points

- should be included:
1. Speedy withdrawal of all U.S. Forces, air, naval and ground, from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.
 2. A specific date, December, 1972, on which all funds will be cut off for further combat activities by U.S. forces in Indochina.
 3. No conditions on total withdrawal except release of the Americans held in prison and all available information on Americans missing in action.
- Michigan members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee are William S. Broomfield and Guy Vander Jagt, Republicans, and Charles C. Diggs, Democrat. Residents are urged to contact the Congressman for the 19th District, Jack McDonald, and also the Michigan members of the House Committee. Clarkston gains 2 All-Americans

By Mike Jewell

For the first time in CHS wrestling history, two Clarkston wrestlers gained All-American fame.

Rick Detkowski and Rod Latimer are the two fine athletes, finishing 2nd and 3rd respectively in the country.

Detkowski used freestyle wrestling to finish 2nd in the 132-pound class.

Detkowski pinned 5 wrestlers on his way to 2nd place including Bill Burger of Flint Bentley, the Detroit News all-state selection. Detkowski finally lost 6-1 to Paul Ross of California.

Latimer, who wrestled in the 154 pound division, finished 3rd as he finally lost to Jim Harn from the University of Auburn who was the All Southeast Conference champion and NCAA Collegiate Champion.

Latimer pinned a total of 4 wrestlers, one of them being Jim Osgood who had been undefeated with a record of 52-0 and was the Ohio Class AAA State Champion.

Latimer wrestled in a Greco-Roman style which requires only the use of the upper body. Use of the legs is prohibited.

Both Latimer and Detkowski qualified for the National Junior World Wrestling Championships in Italy, but only Detkowski went as Latimer had financial trouble and couldn't make it. Detkowski is now in Rome representing the United States.

CJH tracksters win

Clarkston Junior High's track team has posted a 4-0 record in dual meets and placed 2nd in a triangular meet.

The Wolverines started off with a thrilling 66-57 win over West Bloomfield. The Wolverines took 9 first places but the meet hung on the last event. Clarkston not only won the event but set a new school record in doing so.

Clarkston then defeated Walled Lake Central 90-33, taking 11 first places out of 14 events. In their third meet Clarkston defeated Bloomfield Hills 66-57 taking 8 first places. Again the meet came down to the last event.

In a triangular meet with Sashabaw Junior High and Bloomfield Hills, the Wolverines took second place with 58 points to 65 for Bloomfield Hills and 33 for Sashabaw.

Clarkston then made it 4-0 for dual meets by defeating Mason Junior High 68½-54½. The 440-yard relay team set a new school record.

The 7th, 8th and 9th grade teams traveled to the Milford Relays competing against 11 other junior highs in Oakland County. The 7th and 8th grade teams picked up 5 ribbons and the 9th grade grabbed 4.

CJH baseball team 4-1

Clarkston Junior High's 9th grade baseball team under coach Rob White has compiled a 4-1 record. In their first game of the year they defeated their inter-system rivals, Sashabaw, by the score of 6-4. The winning pitcher was Mike Coulter.

The Wolverines defeated Avondale 14-2 with Coulter picking up his second victory. The Wolverines' 12 runs in the 4th inning was led off by Mike Hooper's grand slam home run. He also scored four runs himself.

CJH made it 3 in a row with a 2-1 victory over West Bloomfield. Randy Limbaugh was the winning pitcher with a 3 hitter.

Clarkston suffered its first loss to Walled Lake 4-2. Limbaugh was the losing pitcher. The Wolverines managed only 3

2 wins, 1 loss for Wolves

Clarkston Wolves baseball team, a threat in the Wayne-Oakland league.

By Craig Moore

The Clarkston Varsity baseball team won two games and endured one loss in last week's play.

The first win was a 3-1 victory over the Lake Orion Dragons. Lake Orion scored one run in the first inning and led 1-0 until the sixth inning.

Al Hux started a 3-run inning for Clarkston with a single in the sixth. Mark Warren followed with another single. Greg Swanson hooped it to first base on a fielder's choice to throw out Hux at home plate.

Dave Partlo knocked Warren in on a fielder's choice and tied the score 1-1. Don Powell picked up two RBI's with a single that sent Swanson and Partlo home.

Pitcher Dave Partlo chalked up his first win against no losses.

JV winning

By Mike Jewell

Clarkston's JV baseball team won 3 games in a row last week to give them a 5-3 record; 2-2 in the Wayne-Oakland League.

Tuesday they beat Clarenceville 2-1 behind the brilliant pitching of starter and winning pitcher Kirk Comstock, and Terry Green who was credited with a save.

The main man in the game was Chuck Olsen as he got the RBI of the game on a double going 1-2 at the plate. Olsen also was great on defense, making two great catches in right field and ended the game by throwing to the plate to get out what would have been the tying run.

On Wednesday it took the team 8 innings to best Lake Orion 6-5 as Reggie Alexander, who pitched, won his first game of the year.

Alexander also went 2-2 at the plate and knocked in 2 RBFS.

Then, on Thursday, the team smared Pontiac Catholic 13-1 as Comstock pitched another excellent game to move his record to 3-1.

Everything from Tom Anderson's first hit and RBI of the season to Craig Walters' solo homerun over the left field fence took place in that game.

Chuck Jorgenson also put in a good effort as he picked up 2 RBFS on a double and was 1-2 at the plate. Jorgenson was also sharp on defense at first base.

hits and were down 4-0 until the 5th inning when they scored 2 runs and left the tying runs on base.

In their 5th game, Coulter kept his winning streak going by defeating Cray Junior High 4-3. The Wolverines staged their biggest and weirdest comeback of the year by scoring 3 runs in the last half of the 7th inning with 5 outs. Twice the Cray catcher dropped the 3rd strike on the Wolverines.

The Wolves kept Lake Orion from scoring in the seventh inning and took the 3-1 non-league win.

The Clarenceville game scheduled for Monday, May 1st was rained out but played the following day.

Mark Warren pitched a 4-hitter for his second victory to 1 loss, striking out seven batters in the 6-0 Clarkston shut-out.

The Wolves scored 1 run in the first inning and another two in the 5th inning for a 3-0 lead.

In the seventh inning three runs were scored on two singles, one double and a walk.

The six game runs were scored on ten team hits.

Thursday, May 4, Clarkston lost 7-6 to the Waterford Kettering Captains in a very close game.

Kettering scored a run in the second inning but the Wolves came with four runs in the third.

The Captains answered with two runs in the fourth inning and followed with another three in the sixth to take a 6-4 lead.

Clarkston came up with two runs to tie the game 6-6 in the top of the seventh and Kettering took the game with a run in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Larry Miracle pitched his fifth loss in five games.

Thursday, May 11, the Wolves participate in their second game in the league tournament.

Saturday, May 13, Clarkston will host another tourney game.

Trackteam wins big

By Mike Jewell

Last Tuesday Clarkston's track team breezed through its 3rd straight performance as the local thinclads ran over Andover 99-24.

It was the 3rd Wayne-Oakland League win in as many league games; the team's overall record being 3-1.

Clarkston took every first place of the 15 events except for the 120-yard high and 180-yard low hurdles.

Bill Svetkoff, even though he took only one first place, still gained 13½ points to lead the team. Svetkoff's first place was a 19' 6½" long jump.

Brad Funk of Clarkston took his first 1st place finish of the season as he shot putted 41' 6¾".

Clarkston's Gary White took a first in the high jump as he equaled his best effort so far this year with a leap of 6'.

Dave Whitehead also got his first 1st place finish in the 220-yard dash with a time of 24.4 and Rick Dancy took his third 1st place finish in the 440-yard dash in 54.2.

Mark Harris and Kirk Hart got their first 1st place finishes as Harris ran the 880-yard run in 2:09.6, and Hart was clocked at 10:53.8 in the 2-mile run.

Both Gerry Adams and Doug Kath had excellent times in first place efforts as Adams ran the mile in 4:51.1 and Kath sprinted the 100-yard dash in 10.4.

Also clinching a first for Clarkston was Dan Thomas who polevaulted 12'.

All three of Clarkston's relay teams finished first with the 880-yard relay team of Whitehead, M. Humphreys, Dancy and Kath streaking to a time of 1:34.9, and the mile relay was run in 3:42.3 by the same team with the exception of Carlson in Whitehead's place.

The 440-yard relay team of Newman, Whitehead, Hallman and Svetkoff sprinted that event with a 47.2 time.

Cougars on a losing streak

Sashabaw Junior High freshman baseball team played two games on their home field during the past week and came up on the losing side both times.

Last Tuesday the Cougars played host to the freshman team from West Bloomfield. A big 4-run fifth inning by the Lakers led to a 7-3 defeat for the Cougars. Losing pitcher was Dan Heffernan.

Hitting star for the Cougars was Dan Blower who collected 2 of the 4 Cougar hits. Paul Breininger did an excellent relief job.

On Thursday Waterford Mason defeated the Cougars 13-8. Down by 9 runs, the Cougars began cutting away at the lead but the rush was too late. Breininger and Blower hit back-to-back home runs for the Cougars. Blower and Heffernan each collected 2 hits. Breininger was the losing pitcher, Marty Abbott doing the relief job.

Cougars have 1 win and 4 losses for the season. Heffernan is holding a .428 average and Blower a .411 average.

Cougars were to play host to Lake Orion Monday and to West Hills of Bloomfield Hills on Thursday.

Walk . . . walk . . . Walk . . .

Dave Nadolsky, John Sackrider and Jan Gabier — a strategy session.

By Jean Saile

There are 220 people in Clarkston with sore feet and legs this week. They're the hikers who took part in Saturday's "Walk for Mankind."

Without shoe changes, snacks and refreshments such as those provided by Bruce Rogers, the Jack Belbys and Barb Steele, the three "dames" never would have made it.

But the bruised muscles helped raise $4,500, 40 percent of which is slated to go to Independence House, 10 percent for the student councils at the high school and both junior high schools, and 50 percent for Project Concern, a worldwide non-profit medical service.

Sixteen miles is a long way to go, and the pledges committed are due May 22.

It was a rainy 7 a.m. when Jan Gabier, assistant principal at the high school, Carolyn Place, Bottles for Building director, and Jean Saile, editor of The Clarkston News, struck out with Dave Nadolsky and John Sackrider of the Jaycees, plus Carolyn's daughter, Elizabeth, and her friend, Brenda Kline.

Jan and the two Jaycees, being much more of an athletic nature, soon left the rest of us behind as we limped our way out Waldon, around Walters Lake and back home again. They were so speedy they checked in at 12:25. We came along about a half hour later, but only after we'd already been passed by such speed demons as Jerry Baker and Jerry Adams who hadn't started the run until after 9 a.m. Baker was the first in at 11:34 a.m., according to records.

Don Place was thirsty

Jack Belby hosted the most popular stand along the route. The lemonade and iced tea were free.

The roadside was inviting to these tired hikers.

Before the hike at registration time in the high school there were no sore feet.

Carolyn Place and Jean Saile paused somewhere way out there.
