In tribute to those dead

Lakeview Cemetery - history on a hillside.

Obelisks, slabs, ornate scrolls, small markers - the textbooks on Independence Township's past.

Richard Shayler. Died October 2, 1876. 68 years, 11 months, 23 days. The inscription - perhaps a key to who he was and what he believed in - faded and illegible.

A pervading quiet - a mist of silence muting even the passing cars. A bird's shrill trill - the wind's sigh - unrealized dreams - fulfillment of death.

Across Cemetery Lake life goes on, but here lies W. H. King of the 5th Michigan Infantry who died at Camp Michigan March 4, 1862. Age 23 years.

Here, too, is Milleta J. Broomfield who died in 1874 at the age of 16.

"O come away and let her sleep
For she so longed to rest
And now I cannot help but weep,
Although God knoweth best."

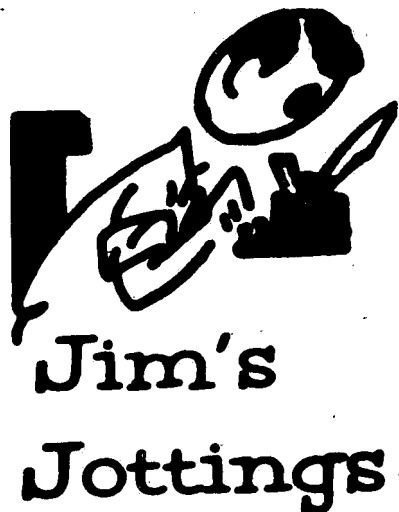

The Clarks, too, are here - those intrepid pioneers for whom the town was named. So is a nameless someone else - the top of the slab broken and gone, and only the inscription November 3, 1867, age 38 years, and the epitaph, "Gone but not forgotten."

Who was she, or he?

White tulips at the grave of Cecil R. Lambert, dead half a century. Baby hyacinths blooming for old gardeners and infants like Mary, who died October, 1842, at the age of 2 years, 4 months or Hamilton, her brother whom she never knew. Dead in January, 1849, aged 1 year, four months.

An old tree stump, standing sentinel, has seen it all before.

Things are always worse, or better, by comparison. Take snow, for instance.

Keweenaw County had lots of it last winter. A record even. Nearly 25 feet of snow fell. 25 feet is higher than most 2-story houses.

That's 2½ times further than something you wouldn't touch with a 10-ft. pole.

They had 297.8 inches. Must be the natives found a third thing to do in winter... count snow. Neighboring Houghten had a record snowfall, too. Their snow counters came up with 287.9 inches.

In the meantime, back on the Oakland ranch... we had just 24.6 inches of snowfall.

If your agency is contemplating a merger, we strongly recommend that before you proceed with it, you contemplate this item from Robert Metz's financial column, "The Market Place," in the New York Times.

He quotes an executive whose company was taken over by a much larger one as saying the following:

"I don't know about the others, but we got the mushroom treatment.

"Right after the acquisition, we were kept in the dark. Then they covered us with manure. Then they cultivated us. After that, they let us stew for a while. And, finally, they canned us."

-----o-----
Water, water, everywhere
and not a drop to drink;
But deep enough the hazard was for my golf ball to sink.
-----o-----

Russ Metz, the Owingsville, Ky. philosopher and a colleague of ours in this hectic business, regularly wows his after-dinner audiences with this anecdote:

"Some years ago, a friend of mine was stripped to the waist out mowing his lawn when a patrol car drove up and stopped. This was a well-to-do stuffy, neighborhood where a bare chest seemed like a strip tease performed at a church social.

"Don't you know you are breaking the law?" the cop growled at my buddy. "We don't allow no indecent exposure in this town you know."

"My friend just shrugged - he didn't seem to consider himself indecently exposed. The cop continued, 'Why, what would people say if your wife dressed like that?'"

"My friend thought this over for a moment and then said to the policeman:

"They'd say I'd married her for her money."

McDonald moves to stay in district

Jack McDonald, 19th District Congressman, has moved into Waterford Township in order to stay within his congressional district lines — redrawn by federal court decision.

In so doing, he's bought himself some stiff competition since Congressman William Broomfield, current 18th District representative, will also seek nomination from this district.

The revised district retains about three-fourths of McDonald's old district, he says, and is probably more strongly Republican under the new alignment than previously.

It has dropped portions of Wayne County and picked up Birmingham and Bloomfield, he noted, as well as a part of Livingston County.

Meet the candidate

Clarkston School District residents will have the opportunity to meet the dozen candidates seeking election to the School Board June 12.

A public forum has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 25, at Clarkston High School. Clarkston Education Association will sponsor the program.

McDonald, who said he has purchased a condominium at 1866 Colonial Village Way off Hatchery Road, also plans to move his Farmington office to Sylvan Center in West Bloomfield Township, he reported. He had previously lived in Farmington.

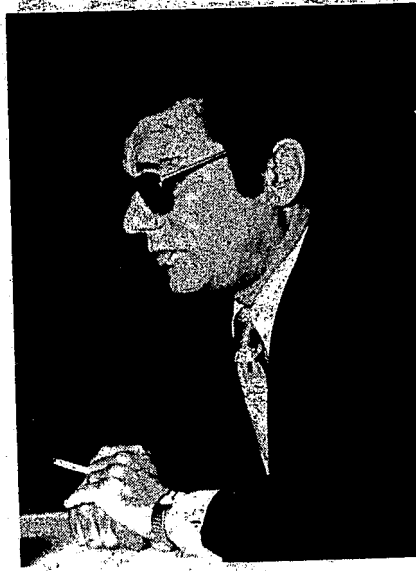

Appearing in a press conference Friday at the Oakland County Courthouse, McDonald said he doubted that George C. Wallace, who won heavily in Michigan's presidential primary vote, would receive the endorsement of the Democratic national convention as either a presidential or vice presidential candidate. While noting McGovern's increasing influence, the congressman said he still thought Hubert Humphrey would carry the Democratic banner in the November elections.

And as for President Nixon, he expects either Spiro Agnew or John Connally, former secretary of the treasury and a Democrat, to be his running mate.

The Republican Congressman figures he may pick up some Democratic votes this fall from disenchanted Wallace supporters.

"If Wallace supporters are given a voice at the convention and a share in writing the platform, not too many will be turned off by the Democratic party. But if Wallace supporters are shut out, there are likely to be a good many Democrats voting in the Republican column," he said.

Basing his candidacy on a platform consisting primarily of three issues — the economy, the war, and forced busing of school children — McDonald blamed government "big spenders" for having "picked the pockets of the American taxpayer for hundreds of wasteful, inefficient and unproductive programs." He repeated his stand against the presence of non-authorized aliens in this country, contending some two million work here illegally.

His stand on the war agrees with that taken by the President.

McDonald told reporters he supports President Nixon's blockade of North Vietnam's ports, despite resolutions he's introduced and voted for to end the war. "We should either win or get out," he said. "The harbors should have been mined prior to 1964."

As for busing, he stated, "Congress cannot allow local autonomy to be eroded through a misinterpretation of the Constitution. I shall continue my fight in behalf of the children of the 19th District and America."

He said he is still solidly behind a constitutional amendment to prohibit busing.

Legion observances honor area dead

The dead of Independence Township and Clarkston will be honored Monday in Memorial Day ceremonies under the auspices of Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63.

A parade at 10 am. will culminate with a special tribute to veterans at Lakeview Cemetery.

The parade, to start at the Salvation Army Church, Buffalo and Church, will include such groups as the Legion post and auxiliary, World War I veterans, Civil Air Patrol, Clarkston Senior High and both junior high school bands.

They will be joined by Sea Scouts, Explorers, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Campfire Girls, Boy's Brigade, Pioneer Girls, DeMolay and Job's Daughters.

Participating groups are asked to form the line of march at 9:30 am. All veterans in the community have been invited to join in.

Commander Ernest Head of the Legion requested no horses, no antique or decorated cars, bikes, pets or floats enter the parade because of its patriotic and sacred nature.

At the cemetery Rev. Philip Somers Sr. will deliver the memorial address and Commander Head with Township Supervisor Gary Stonerock will present the memorial wreath. Everett Butters, who has delivered the Lincoln Gettysburg Address for the past 29 years, will do so again this year.

Special music will be provided by a vocal group from Clarkston and Clarkston High School Band.

Spokesmen for the Legion asked that special respect be shown the flag as it passes in parade and that children on bicycles not ride through the marching ranks.

The program at the cemetery is as follows:

In the swim

Air out your swim suits! Get out your paddle boards!

Deer Lake Beach is to be open officially May 27 to residents of Independence Township.

The gates will be open to all until keys sold by the township for admittance to the beach are received at the township offices, according to Clerk J. Edwin Glennie.

The keys will sell for $6 this year, a dollar more than last year.

Non-involvement meant death

A 16-year-old Detroit boy need not have died Saturday in Lake Orion had two people in a canoe decided to become "involved," according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Marine Water Safety Division.

The youth, Joseph Mansfield of Detroit, was reportedly swimming with a friend, Mike Gellner, also of Detroit, from a dock behind Shorewood Drive to a marsh island about 150 feet out in the lake.

The Gellner boy arrived at the island to find his friend lagging about 40 feet behind. He returned to help, but was nearly pulled under by the desperate swimmer.

Returning to shore to get assistance, he was abetted by two people on shore who shouted to occupants of a nearby canoe that their help was needed.

Lt. Donald Kratt said the canoeists ignored pleas for help, and sat there as one of those on shore dove in and swam to where he was able to pull Mansfield up from the bottom. A resuscitator failed to revive Mansfield, and at that point the canoeists turned away and drifted on, Kratt said.

Four drownings were reported in the county over the weekend, bringing to seven the total number of drowning victims this year in Oakland County. The oldest victim has been 21 years, Kratt reported.

Closed Monday

The Clarkston News office will be closed Memorial Day, Monday, May 29. All material for next week's edition must be in the office by 5 p.m. Friday, May 26.

Have a happy weekend

Regatta Monday

Deer Lake Property Owners' Association will sponsor three sailboat races this year — the first to be Memorial Day following ceremonies at the Lakeview Cemetery May 28.

The second race will be July 4 following the downtown parade and the third will be the big sixth annual Labor Day Regatta at about noon.

All races will start in front of MacDougall's home on the east central bank of Deer Lake.

Prizes and trophies will be awarded to the winners.

All boats are welcome to enter. Each boat must have a captain and a mate. Both men and women are invited to compete. The course will be the same as last year.

Ed Farrel and Bob White will judge the winners.

Cemetery service Village seeks planning at Andersonville

Andersonville Cemetery Association will observe Memorial Day at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 28, in the cemetery. Pastor Richard Hazen of First Baptist Church of Davisburg will speak.

Special music will be offered, and American Legion Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63 of Clarkston will provide a 21-gun salute and a bugler to play "Taps."

Geraniums and American flags will be placed on the graves of all veterans.

Village council members are interviewing planners currently with an eye to employing help to rewrite the village zoning ordinance and to review rezoning requests that come before the council.

A second candidate was interviewed last week, but no decision has yet been made.

In a meeting May 16, called when a quorum failed to show up for the regular meeting May 9, the council submitted to the zoning board of appeals Forrest Milzow's request to rezone the Sage property behind Holcomb for multiples.

Future Marchers

Clarkston Junior High School cadet band practices its march steps in anticipation that some members will be called to substitute in the regular band during the Memorial Day parade.

CBD a good idea

Supervisor Gary Stonerock has proposed creation of a central business district for Independence Township.

The area he's pinpointed is that part of the Dixie Highway between Maybee and White Lake roads.

We think it's a sound idea, both for zoning and for living convenience.

Number 1—if the township does indeed grow to accommodate the 90,000 people forecast for the future, the village as presently constituted cannot hope to house the commercial facilities necessary to service them.

The location proposed by Stonerock would lend itself well to a continuation of the existing village services, so that the township would continue to have a central focal point.

Number 2—Only by containing - legally - the commercial development anticipated can the township avoid the faceless identity of a Waterford or Troy.

Number 3—The proposed location is already heavy with commercial development and growth would benefit those already established businesses, as well as contemplated new ones.

No simple answers

Last week's presidential primary vote was more than a selection of candidates.

It was an expression by the people of disenchantment with government and its effect on the lives we lead.

A considerable sympathy vote for the wounded George C. Wallace only augmented the already expected 40 percent of the returns he would get.

Wallace says what the people want to hear. He speaks for the guy caught in the wage-tax-price squeeze, the man whose house has been robbed, the fellow who can't find a job, and he probably also picked up (though he didn't campaign for it) votes from people sick of an everlasting war.

Voters, in Independence Township like those across the state, turned down Proposal B which would have enabled legislators to resign to take other office. Since they are the only elected officials in the state who cannot already do so, the "no" vote had to be an expression of distrust.

Locally, our voters turned down an increased township board. Despite toe-to-toe and eyeball-to-eyeball confrontations which have stymied board action in the past—part of it probably attributable to solidified personality differences on the part of members of a small board—voters turned down additional trustees which could have dissipated some of the belligerence.

Instead we voted overwhelmingly in favor of authorizing a state lottery—a seemingly simple solution to financial problems.

Unfortunately the solutions for all our problems have no simple answers.

Capitol notes

by Cathy Lessard

As individuals we often go through periods of depression when we feel we aren't doing our best, or perhaps aren't capable of doing better.

As a nation, I believe we also experience this "depression of spirit," especially during times of national tragedy.

Events in recent weeks, the shooting of Governor Wallace, renewed demonstrations and protests against our Vietnam involvement are the kind of occurrences which often lead us to sit back and say, "What is this country coming to? or "Is there any hope?"

It is during these times that I think we need to remind ourselves, that although many things seem to be wrong, there is much right with this country, and if we are to solve our problems at all, we must put them in perspective.

The following is excerpted from an editorial from the San Francisco Examiner, reprinted November 6, 1971, in the Owosso Argus-Press. I think it makes an important point.

"I have no apologies to make for my country or my generation.

"Never before in history or in any other land has a people accomplished so much, given so much and asked so little.

"Four times in one lifetime we have involved ourselves in foreign wars. We have poured the flower of our manhood and the fortunes of our citizens into these battles against aggression, injustice and tyranny.

"In these endeavors, we have never coveted a single acre of land nor sought to add a dollar to our national wealth.

"Quite the contrary. We have used our material strength and financial fortunes to bind the wounds of the vanquished and we have given aid and sustenance to the impoverished in a hundred nations around the globe. Friend and foe alike.

"We have battled, too, for progress and betterment on the home front.

"In one generation we have conquered or controlled diphtheria, smallpox, typhoid, polio, measles, tuberculosis and pneumonia. No longer do these ancient scourges sweep across our land leaving death and tortured limbs and minds and hearts in their wake.

"We have built more schools and colleges and hospitals and libraries than all other generations since the beginning of time.

"We have trained and graduated more scientists, doctors, surgeons, dentists, lawyers, teachers, engineers and physicists than did our forbears for a thousand years before.

"We have raised our standards of living and lowered our hours of work. Luxuries that were beyond the dreams of princes and potentates a generation ago are now available to all our people.

"The automobile, the radio, the telephone, the airplane, the computer, television, antibiotics, and a hundred other miracles have come to full flower in one generation.

"Each year our personal gifts to private charities exceed 14 billion dollars... more than fifteen times the cost of running the entire Federal Government the year I was born.

"We have done more to bring dignity and quality and opportunity to all minority groups than any other generation has ever done in any nation since the dawn of history."

A commencement address

By Jim Fitzgerald

I wonder what I would have said? Probably something deeply profound, such as: "Continue your education. It is better to matriculate in Ann Arbor than interdict in Haiphong harbor."

Marlette High School seniors invited me to give their commencement address this June. With my usual graciousness, I said no thanks. I gave the usual explanation: I won't listen to speeches so I don't have the gall to give them. And besides, talking in front of more than 5 people makes my stomach hurt. I keep thinking of the many readers who tell me they use this column for training their puppies. Who knows how many women at commencement exercises might have puppies in their purses?

(It probably should be noted here that someone out there doesn't buy my no-speech alibi. The last time I used it, I received an unsigned note saying: "Who are you trying to kid? You don't give speeches because you don't know how. I know because I was in your speech class in college." Geez. If there's anything I hate, it's old schoolmates with good memories. The next thing you know I'll probably be arrested for that rubber galosh I stole from Dick Devereaux in the 4th grade. I used it for shoplifting goldfish from the dime store.)

I never heard a commencement speech that lit any fires. But this can probably be blamed on the occasion as much as the speakers. These kids are itching to celebrate their emancipation from homework and quizzes. They don't want to hear a dumb speech. They know there's a tough world waiting out there. But they'd just as soon wait and conquer it tomorrow. Tonight there are all sorts of good things they are itching to do some of them legal and none of them requiring a diploma.

So I would make my speech shorter than my introduction.

I'd tell them to shun violence but to protest, protest, protest. A lot of things need changing badly. Carry a sign but never hit anyone with it. Ignore the stuffed shirts who tell you to go home and scrub a floor. They are the bigshots who think the way to attain peace is to negotiate in Paris for 10 years while the little guys bleed in Vietnam.

I'd tell them to work hard at becoming color blind. At first, it takes a conscious effort. After a while, it comes naturally. It is more than wrong to judge the worth of a man by the color of his skin, the length of his hair, the place of his worship or the cut of his clothes. It is also stupid and wasteful and cruel.

I'd tell them to beware of "leaders" who always say what everyone wants to hear. One example: It is sometimes easier to jump off a bus than it is to stay aboard and steer a sane route making sure ALL passengers get off at a decent stop.

I'd tell them a college education is right for some, wrong for others. I never met a plumber on welfare.

I'd tell them to be nice; be polite; be fair. Take a look through the other guy's eyes. The Golden Rule is still the best rule to live by.

I'd tell them to walk happy and to take their happiness into dark corners — visit the old and sick. Spread a little joy . . .

Finally, I'd give those squirming graduates a brief critique of nearby nightspots, including prices and hours.

I'd tell them a great place to watch the sunrise.

That's what I would have said in Marlette. It would have taken about 5 minutes. And my goodbye would have been:

Have a good time. Onward and Upward.

Letters to the Editor

Millage renewal needed

Dear Editor,

The voters of the Clarkston School District on June 12th are going to be asked to renew a millage for the operation of the schools.

The board of the Clarkston National Action Group urges support for this renewed millage for these reasons:

1. This money goes for the education of our children, it is not intended to bus our children out of the Clarkston School District.
2. Because this amount of money is now needed in our neighborhood schools.
3. This amount of money on the whole has been spent wisely.

4. Because we are not at this time under a Federal Court Order to send our children somewhere else to school.

5. And because we are for better education for all children — under the neighborhood school concept.

Many times we have been termed anti-everything, this is just not true. We want better education for our children and we want our children in our neighborhood schools (that we have paid and are paying for).

Please vote June 12th in favor of the school millage.

Edwin L. Manley, Chairman
Clarkston NAG

It's a dictatorship

Dear Editor,

We certainly appreciate your editorial of 5/1, re "partisan politics," but you are far too kind to the guilty parties.

We don't have "partisan politics" in Independence. We have a dictatorship, pure and simple. Stonerock, with the aid of his legal beaver, Campbell, running interference for him, has us under complete censorship.

In his short tenure of office, he has ignored or silenced (with his gavel) any and all protests or complaints, which he is not in favor of that are properly presented to him by the citizens of Independence.

He can persecute (not prosecute) Frechette at a cost of hundreds of dollars in legal fees to Campbell, but he can violate township ordinances will. He has driven out able public servants — Little, Altman, Beach, Bray, Parker and now Bullen.

His prosecutor, Campbell, has been "sitting on" bona fide complaints, namely one from 1/5/72 and one from 3/3/72. He was aware Stonerock was violating the zoning ordinance, but there was no action.

I understand Stonerock has bought property on M-15, and he has also vacated the space he rented at Blass residence at 4780 Mohawk.

This indicates to me that Stonerock has knowingly violated the zoning ordinance for over a year, and Campbell has knowingly violated Section 11 of the ordinance (by not immediately enforcing it) since the complaint was filed.

I hope Humbert "got the message" from the voters on 5/16 that they wanted no part of him. He tried to ride Wallace's coattail as a precinct delegate, but an uncommitted candidate defeated him handily. Seeing he still has over 30 months in office, I feel the greatest service he could do for the township would be to resign.

I must compliment the board in rejecting Stonerock's $33.70 expense item. I hope they continue to scrutinize his actions so that the interests of the people will be served and not Stonerock's.

Out of the kitchen

Or paid at last

by Audrey Toutant

I think it was the ironing that got me — that day four years ago when paychecks first entered my life.

After 14 years of an "at home" existence and loving almost every minute of it — all but the ironing — I turned in my resignation.

The ironing is still there in the two baskets, just as it was when I left. Some of the old wrinkled things have been replaced with new wrinkled things as the kids have grown taller, but that's all.

My husband still tells me how his mother always had the ironing caught up, and in answer I occasionally swat the cat off the ironing board and give him his weekly handkerchief.

Being a working wife and mother requires an alert mind.

If she is clever, a woman can learn to protect herself in tight spots with mothers (in-law), the lady next door, and husbands, even.

Well-tested stock answers are necessary.

To my mother: "I haven't washed the windows yet this spring because we're planning new ones. There's been so much rain and they'd just get dirty again."

To my dearest friend and her husband: "I would love to have you and your family over for a cookout, but I think we are going to move."

To my mother-in-law: "I know my shag carpeting is a little matted, but it has been so humid."

A neighbor with eight kids and a big chip on her shoulder occasionally catches me off guard at the mailbox.

"You know since you've been working I never have a chance to talk to you anymore." (I'm crushed)

"You working women go off to your jobs everyday, send your kids off to school and expect the rest of us to do your share for the PTA, the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, etc., etc." (I have two, and ho hum!)

"What are you doing for your community affairs? (Staying off the streets.)"

"Just what are you doing for your children?"

At this I give my favorite stock answer, "Spending every evening with them whether they like it or not!"

Payday is the only excuse a working wife and mother needs.

Maybe I haven't collected for a worthy cause lately, and maybe I don't always get to all the meetings I should.

Sometimes, even, I just scan the headlines in the newspapers at night.

Last year, however, I contributed (a pure intention) about a thousand dollars towards the care and feeding of this lovely country of ours.

On astonishing friends

by Carl W. O'Brien

Mark Twain, known to his friends as Sam Clemens, has long been one of my favorites. His autobiography, written in part on his final bed of illness, is as delightfully funny and sarcastic as anything in the storehouse of Anglo-American literature.

It is said that Twain never learned the subtle nuances of our language. For instance, he seldom seemed sure whether to use who or whom so he employed them as the mood struck — interchangeably, as it were — according to how priggish he wanted to sound.

In later years he told an associate that he never heard anyone say whom until he was 31 years old, and then he simply suspected that the fellow was either from Harvard or had a speech impediment.

He was an hilarious gent both in person and on paper, if we can believe his contemporaries as to his oratorical style. "If you pick up a starving dog," he said, "and make him prosperous, he will not bite you. That is the principal difference between a dog and a man."

Pertaining to the generation gap, Mark said, "When I was a boy of 14, my father was so ignorant I could hardly stand to have the old man around. But when I got to be 21, I was astonished at how much the old man had learned in seven years."

As a prospector and mining town editor, he'd got to know some very cruel people on intimate terms: "mostly while observing them over my shoulder," and he passed along a piece of good advice for the ladies who had commerce with them; to wit, "When a man's dog turns against him it is time for a wife to pack her trunk and go home to momma."

On politics he wrote, "I am known as a spinner of tall tales, and yet, amazingly, I have not been drafted into congress"

And in resigned commentary on his neighbors, he remarked, "When I am in despair over some awful human failing I reflect that God made man at the end of the week's work when He was tired"

Having served both as a reporter and an editor, he felt free to give this advice to newspaper folks: "You get your facts first, and then you can distort 'em as you please." Which makes me wonder what caustic comments he'd have for the publishing world nowadays if he were still around!

He was a disbeliever but he was very cautious about making religious statements while his family and friends were still alive. As a result much of his writings were published posthumously.

"I don't like to commit myself about heaven and hell," he wrote warily. "You see, I have friends in both places"

And finally, one precept of Mark Twain's I have always been at pains to follow meticulously myself:

"Always do right; this will gratify some people and astonish the rest."

Isn't anyone listening?

To the editor,

How far out do you have to go to be suburban?

This was the rallying cry in November of 1970 and the referendum held last summer. Yet the present board has rezoned 316.69 acres to multiple since that time, not counting the Spring Lake parcel on Maybee Road

We now have 635.74 acres, a square mile of multiples in the 36 square miles we have in Independence Township.

"The same old rezoning done by a new set of faces," I have been told.

If they were all to be built upon, we will have exceeded our sewer capacity, cutting off building of homes.

Isn't anyone listening? Are we all so wrapped up in controversy that we can't plan for the good of the community?

The following parcels were rezoned since November, 1970:

1- 20 acres on Clintonville Road. No advantage to the township that I could see. I did not vote for it.

2. 37.88 acres on the north slope of Waterford Hill. I voted yes as there was no objection to the plan as submitted by the neighbors. The steep slope would have made roads difficult. Also, the developer who also developed Waterford Hill as it is now promised to put the dwellings on the bare patches and leave the trees. Some saving grace.

3 5447 acres between White Lake Road, the Dixie and Greens Lake. We got a 22-acre shopping center that was desired by the populace, and an 11-acre parcel of open space deeded to the township. Give a little, take a little. I believe this rezoning was a good deal for the township as a whole.

4. 200.02 acres, Pine Knob. A 25 percent increase in density that the developer claims because of the high cost of the units will actually result in a decrease in people. We will see. I voted no because I believed a decrease in density was desirable and some screening by means of a green belt should have been done to protect the neighbors. A beautiful development that should be a credit to the township — I hope

5. 69 acres on Maybee Road west of Spring Lake. No saving grace, just more people. An increase in multiples of 200 units. The owners of Spring Lake Golf Course have already asked for a road to their golf course through this parcel as they could put up some multiples. Away we go again!

I fought to have the owners of Spring Lake Golf Course, the developers of this parcel recently up for rezoning and the owners of land zoned multiple to the east of the golf course (behind Food Town) to join forces. They all have common boundaries. A planned unit development would result with the multiples mixed along the fairways like Pine Knob has done. This is a beautiful concept that works for the good of all.

I'm unhappy. Am I standing alone? Have all you good people out there decided to accept whatever is thrust upon you? Has the township board let you down so badly you feel it is useless to fight? I would appreciate your comments personally, to the papers, and to the township board.

Dear Editor,

On June 3 I will be attending the 19th District Democratic Convention representing the people of the 4th precinct of Independence Township. If anyone in the 4th Precinct wishes to express a point of view on any issues pertaining to the convention, I would appreciate your calling me.

This will enable me to better represent you. I might also express my gratitude to all who voted for me as Precinct Delegate.

Cassidy to open Pine Knob season

The Pine Knob Music Theatre, one of the largest facilities of its kind in the U.S., will mark its premiere season with a summer line-up of appearances by today's top names in the music business.

Located adjacent to the Pine Knob ski resort (I-75 and Sashabaw Road), the theatre is offering two complete series of shows - Pop and Pop-Pop, each to run five days, Tuesday through Saturday, beginning June 25. In addition to the series, for which season tickets may be purchased, other top attractions have been booked for one-night and two-night appearances.

Camping areas expected to fill early

Area families planning on camping in nearby parks throughout the Memorial Day weekend are advised to have their tents or trailers on-site before Thursday evening.

Al Masini, district parks executive for the Southeast Michigan Department of Natural Resources, says he expects the 175 camp spots in the Holly Recreation Area near the recently opened Heron Lake State Park will be jammed by Thursday night.

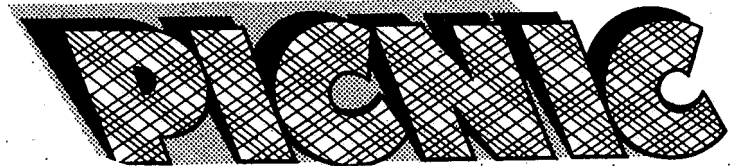

County parks and recreation officials say the 500 camp sites at Groveland-Oaks Park will probably be filled by Friday night.

There may be a chance to get later camping accommodations at Bald Mountain State Park, off Greenshield Road in Orion Township, Masini said, and the county's 150 primitive camp sites at Addison-Oaks Park in Addison Township may be able to take on a few late campers.

Fishing at Heron Lake, off McGinnis Road in Groveland Township, is excellent, Masini said. Walleye, bass and bluegills are in abundance, he reported.

Pontiac Lake State Park, while expected to fill quickly, can still offer good fishing for pan and bluegill fish, he reported.

HOW MUCH DO YOU WANT TO EARN ON YOUR SAVINGS

PICK A NUMBER

There's a lot of confusion about interest rates . . . and there doesn't have to be. You decide how much you earn. Based on three factors. One, the size of your deposit. Two, the length of time you can leave it undisturbed. Three, whether you take, or accumulate your interest.

Every family saves differently. Some deposit small amounts regularly, and never touch the principal or earnings. Some deposit a large lump sum, and use the earnings as income. Some take advantage of the higher earnings available through time deposits. Some, . . . well, you get the picture.

Community National Bank has a variety of savings programs for individual families. Because, no one program or service could ever be best for everyone. Savers select their own rates here. They pick plans with supplementary services appropriate to their needs. Like free checking, personal check guarantee identification and automatic lines of credit.

UPDATE

Friday, May 19th

Four local youths were taken into custody in reference to the state narcotic laws. Youth officer Reetz and Patrolman Schwarze checking a vehicle in the Village parking lot, confiscated several items classified as drug paraphernalia. The youths were released to their parents.

Saturday, May 20th

The law defines loitering as a word for hanging around. Officers Jack Harken and Fred Strehle found cooperation with a sense of humor thrown in while dealing with several youths gathered in the Village parking lot.

The officers checking a group of young people under a tree noted a rope swinging over a limb and a western type hangman's knot on the end of the rope. When the officers approached the group, a youth was noted with his chin resting on the bottom of the hangman's knot, as if to appear to be executed. The officers questioned the youth about what he was doing and he stated: "Oh, just hanging around."

The youths talking with the officers later advised that they had gone to great pains to set up the small skit. The group then removed themselves from the village area.

Discussion: "Renewal School Millage"

County says Hel-Win zoning should be denied

Oakland County Board of Commissioners Planning and Building Committee, meeting May 15 as the county coordinating committee on zoning, has recommended denial of zoning to allow construction of condominiums as proposed by Hel-Win Development on Maybee Road adjacent to Spring Lake Golf Club.

The county group acted after the township board had already approved the zoning by a vote of 3-0, citing two basic reasons for its denial.

Road patterns and road standards were questioned, as was the R-1-A (single family residential) zoning surrounding the condominium blocks within the 69 acres. Some 400 condominium units are planned, and they were placed on small strips of multiple zoning, surrounded by land zoned for single family homes.

The committee questioned what might prohibit future development of single family homes on that portion.

Paul Long, county planner, also pointed out that the "Planned Unit Development" under which the property falls is included in the township ordinance as calling for "primarily large multiple development" which might allow "incidental office and/or local business."

The zoning request by Hel-Win was originally for multiple rezoning and was changed to the PUD concept on township advice, its owners said at the time rezoning was granted locally.

May is the best time to fertilize roses, remind horticulturists at Michigan State University. One heaping tablespoon of a complete garden fertilizer — one with equal or nearly equal parts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium — will do the job for each plant.

Clarkston Chairman Nancy Gruenberg meets with 8-year-old Darryl Ayers, this year's Poster Child for the June 6 Muscular Dystrophy Drive, and Greg Landry, campaign chairman. Mrs. Gruenberg needs volunteer door-to-door solicitors for the local drive, proceeds of which will support medical research and patient services for victims of muscular dystrophy.

Rhoades seeks trustee spot

J. Joseph Rhoades, 61, of 8954 Woodlawn, a member of the Independence Township Planning Commission the past 18 years, is currently circulating nominating petitions for the position of township trustee.

Rhoades, owner of Rhoades Machine Works Inc. of Berkley, will vie for the Republican nomination in the August primary with Jerry Powell and Charles McBride, the only others announced.

One vacancy will exist in the November election, Trustee Tom Bullen having announced he will not seek reelection and voters having turned down two extra trustees for the township board in the May 16 election.

Christ Lutheran Church in Hadley was the scene of the exchange of marriage vows May 20 by Ruth Marie Upward and Lyle Jon Toretta.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Upward, 10205 Ortonville Road, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Lee Pike. Lawrence Torretta attended his brother as best man. Both are the sons of Mrs. Lowell Poling of Auburn Heights and the late Paul Toretta.

Following a reception at Bella Vista Mall Community Room in Grand Blanc, the couple left for a honeymoon in Nassau.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Horn of Pittsford, N.Y., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Claudia Rae, to James G. Jackson of Birmingham, a former area resident.

Miss Horn was a member of Alpha Phi Sorority at Michigan State University. She graduated in 1971 and is teaching speech therapy at Hudsonville, Mich.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Jackson, former Independence Township residents. He is a 1965 graduate of Clarkston High School and a 1969 graduate of Michigan State University, where he was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

He is now employed at Manufacturers Bank of Detroit. The wedding will be July 28 at Addison-Oaks.

Antique show shapes up

Clarkston United Methodist Church will sponsor its annual antique show from 1 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9.

Over 25 outstanding dealers will offer antiques and collector items. Lunch will be served in the church dining room.

Tickets are $1 when purchased early; $1.25 at the door. They're available from church circle members or from Joan Carr, 623-32.

Clarkston Area Jaycettes, currently engaged in putting together a slide program to warn parents of the dangers of accidental poisoning, have done some research on lead poisoning.

They found one of the most serious health hazards for children under four is the need to chew on items, some of which may be painted with a lead paint; and also the tendency to pick off and chew paint flakes.

The best way to prevent lead paint poisoning is to see that children don't eat paint, the Jaycettes say.

Signs of lead poisoning are:

1. Nibbling at window sills or eating foreign material such as plaster.
2. Stomach or abdominal pains.
3. Nausea and vomiting.
4. Frequent headaches.
5. Convulsions.

If a child shows any of the above signs, Jaycettes say he should be taken to a doctor immediately.

Youngsters camping out

625-2837

By Shanna Nadolsky

Many local boys participated in the annual Clinton Valley Councils Show-a-ree last weekend at Pontiac Lake Road across from the Farmers Market.

Twenty-four Scouts from Norm Miller's Troop 126 attended. The Indian Patrol, who have done authentic Indian dancing for other scout and civic groups, put on a show every hour all day long Saturday. Another patrol baked some delicious pies in reflector ovens over charcoal.

Stan Rossa's Troop 49 had 22 boys attending who demonstrated cooking and baking skills. Soup, muffins, and cookies were just as good as mother's done in the kitchen oven. Troop 341 led by Seth Cummings had 21 scouts attending. They made a very impressive Monkey Bridge — ask any Scout about it!

Lew and Diane Wint, Joy and Bill, and Lew's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barrett of Holly, were all dinner guests of Diane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Euler last Thursday. The occasion celebrated the Wints' wedding anniversary.

Over the weekend, Lew was one of thirty officers and directors of the Northern Oakland County Chamber of Commerce who attended the annual summer retreat at Tippy Dam near Manistee.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Parker, 6636 Almond Lane, have returned from a three-week visit to Germany where they got acquainted with a new grand daughter, Heather Lynn Curran, born April 1.

The Parkers visited their son-in-law and daughter, Sgt. and Mrs. Jack (Linda Mae) Curran, stationed for nearly two years at Aschaffenburg, near Frankfurt, and with another 17 months of service remaining there.

Pat Freitag took her Girl Scout Troop 210 camping at Colomiere College over the weekend, along with her able Camp Mother helper, Donna Fahrner. Fifteen girls, four of which are Cadets, enjoyed living outdoors — and did a lot of work on their camper and cooking badges. I understand the Teepee fire built Friday night would put any others to shame, a real blazer. Just for variation, they made a huge box fire Saturday night.

It sounds like all the girls had a great time and learned a great deal at that.

The Civil Air Patrol has done it again — Tom and Ginny Hagen of Cranberry Lake threw a birthday party for their son, Bill, which turned out to be a houseful. All the cadets were invited by the senior officers who dropped in to say hello.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Kratt Sr., former area residents, were entertained at a party in honor of their 45th wedding anniversary Sunday at the home of their son, Jack Kratt, 6001 Princess, Clarkston. The senior Kratts were married May 4, 1927, in Hancock. Some 45 guests were entertained at the party, co-hosted by their other children, William Kratt Jr. of Lakeview, Donald Kratt of Davisburg and Mrs. David (Carol) Skillman of Waterford Township.

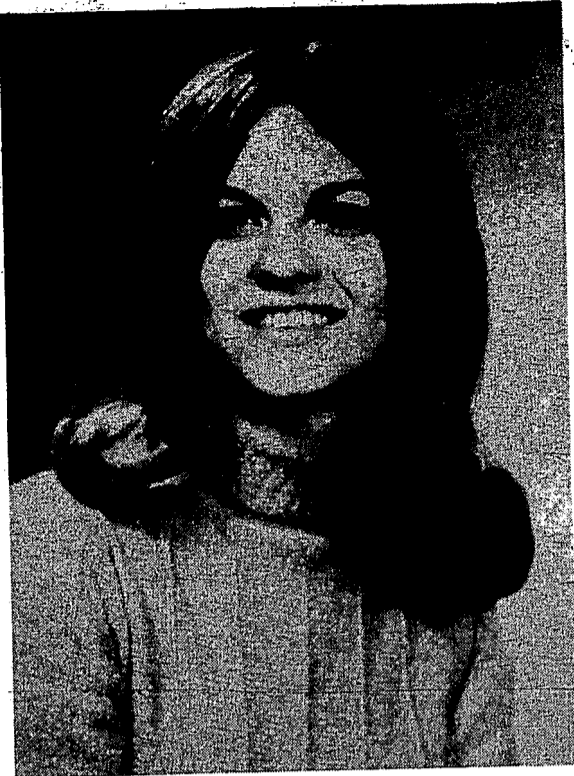

Graduate

Mr and Mrs Richard Weiss of 42 Main Street have announced the graduation of their daughter, Nancy Weiss Haven, from Grace Hospital School of Nursing. She is a 1968 graduate of Clarkston High School.

Nancy was named salutatorian of the class at ceremonies Monday night.

A lump of sugar added to a pint of olive oil will keep it from turning rancid.

Engaged

Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Steen of Rogers City have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ann Christine, to John Craven, son of Mr and Mrs John R. Craven of Independence Township. Both are seniors at Central Michigan University, where Ann is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority and John a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity. A December wedding is planned.

Beth Stephens could scare people. A participant in the Pine Knob Elementary School fluoride program, she'd just had her teeth decay-proofed by Marcia Surace, hygenist.

Spiritual Message

"At this point in history it seems clear to us that whatever good we hope to achieve through continued involvement in this war is now outweighed by the destruction of human life and of moral values which it inflicts. It is our firm conviction, therefore, that the speedy ending of this war is a moral imperative of the highest priority. Hence we feel a moral obligation to appeal urgently to our nation's leaders and indeed to the leaders of all the nations involved in this tragic conflict to bring the war to an end with no further delay."

(Statement from the American Catholic bishops, November 1971.)

We'll never know how much suffering and anguish our young people are going through today because of a cruel and unjust war; a war that has never been declared; a war we can never win; a war that is costing the nation over 27 billion dollars a year and taking thousands of the lives of our men. No wonder there is such opposition to it on the part of the young. They cannot understand this latest example of "man's inhumanity to man." So be very slow to criticize some of their actions. The adult world is a little phony to them at times. I've met hundreds of great young people who put us to shame with their generosity and enthusiasm for the cause of peace and brotherhood. Jesus says, "Blessed are the peacemakers: they shall be called sons of God." (Matthew 5:9)

ST. DANIEL'S CHURCH

Father Francis A. Weingartz

GOP rallies for candidates

Buzz McClean and Kathy Reekwald, reportedly the two youngest members of the Republican Party in Independence Township, served as ticket takers for Friday night's GOP fund raiser. Republicans drew about 80 people, ready to ante up cash for the forthcoming elections.

Mrs. Millie Hursfall (left) confers with Tink Ronk as Sally and Harry Horsch and Duane Hursfall kibitz during Friday night's GOP get-together at Clarkston Golf Club. Talk of politics was thick as the party moved into high gear in anticipation of the August primary.

John Lynch, announced Republican candidate for township supervisor, greeted State Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford, at the door.

Stoppert completes course

Paul R. Stoppert, 44, feels it is never too late to learn. Mr. Stoppert is a senior partner in Stoppert's Real Estate Appraisal Service and North Pointe Realty Co., located at 5904 South Main.

He is a member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers of the National Association of Real Estate Boards with the designation of M.A.I.

The American Society of Appraisers has also awarded Mr. Stoppert the Senior Membership designation of A.S.A.

From January 31 to February 4, 1972, Paul Stoppert, John W. Stoppert, and Lloyd G. Kirby, also local realtors, successfully completed the Commercial - Investment Division Course II, offered by the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers in Chicago.

Litter case appealed

Cameron Buchanan, a Detroit attorney representing Paul Frechette, owner of Clarkston Golf Course, reports he has appealed the findings of Rochester Judge Robert Shipper's District Court on a litter case against Frechette to Oakland County Circuit Court.

The papers were filed May 16, Buchanan said; on the basis that what Shipper classified as junk was in fact valuable material — much of it necessary to the operation of Frechette's golf course.

Buchanan contends the property was not littered, that the material was not junk, and that the only item which might be so classified was a manure spreader Frechette had given to one of the complainants five years ago for use as a flower planter.

She agreed yet to accept the planter, Buchanan noted.

Frechette had been put on 90 days probation and fine and sentence were suspended.

Weekend travel could be bad trip

If you plan to take an automobile trip over the Memorial Day weekend, your car will be one of more than three million vehicles expected to log approximately 760 million miles during the 78-hour holiday.

This represents a 5% increase in travel over the 1972 Memorial Day weekend, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Since the upcoming holiday traditionally is the kickoff for summer activity in the state, the period from 6 p.m. Friday (May 26) to midnight Monday (May 29) will be one of the heaviest traveled periods of the year," states Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph L. Ratke.

Ratke estimates that about six of every 10 motorists who travel during the Memorial Day holiday will experience delays due to the heavy volume of traffic. "To avoid unnecessary delays, travelers should plan their trips to avoid peak traffic periods," reminds Ratke. "This is why it is so important to begin trips either before or after the rush periods."

Men In Service

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Randall A. Carter, son of Mr and Mrs Harmon C. Carter of 6220 Snow Apple Drive, has returned to homeport at San Diego aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ticonderoga, primary recovery ship for the Apollo 16 lunar mission.

He and his shipmates steamed 10,000 miles during the recovery mission, and after off-loading the spaceship in Hawaii, sailed home to celebrate the carrier's 28th birthday.

Munchausen to graduate

Baron C. Munchausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Munchausen, Clarkston, will get his diploma during Culver Military Academy's traditional Iron Gate Ceremony June 5.

Munchausen, a member of Culver's infantry battalion, is one of 172 seniors from 39 states and 18 foreign countries who will graduate following colorful June Week exercises.

A member of the Hockey Club, Munchausen was co-captain of his company's intramural football and basketball teams and participated on his company's volleyball and regimental championship track team. He plans to attend Central Michigan University in the fall.

Auto Club states travel will peak between these times:

*Friday, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

*Saturday, 9 a.m. to p.m. and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

*Monday, 2 p.m. to 10 p.m.

"Monday will be the biggest problem as travelers return home," Ratke points out. "This will be especially true if the day is sunny and warm since most Michiganians will extend their stays to take advantage of the weather and then all crowd the highways at once."

At least one out of every three vehicles on the road at peak travel periods will be some type of recreational vehicle, predicts Auto Club, which suggests campers have alternate sites picked out since many state and private parks will fill over the holiday.

Ratke says that most weekend travelers will confine trips to a 250-mile radius of home. However, several hundred thousand motorists will travel the maximum safe distance of 1,500 miles over the 3 1/2 days.

Approximately 300,000 cars will enter Michigan from other border cities and Canada.

Biggest jams of the holiday will occur at peak travel times on I-75 between Bay City and Flint, and along I-94 at the Michigan-Indiana line as the famous "cornfield carbloc" slows cars.

What's Happening?

Save your papers. Boy Scout Troop 26 will be at Clarkston United Methodist Church parking lot with a trailer all day Saturday, June 3, to accept old newspapers and magazines. Pickup service will also be available by calling John Priebe, 625-4270.

A halt to all construction and maintenance work on state highways over the Memorial Day weekend has been authorized by State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth, which means that the only roadblock you should run into will be other drivers.

Lawrence R. Pernick, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners will be honored at a testimonial cocktail reception from 6 to 9 p.m. Thursday, June 1, at Southfield's Raleigh House.

Honorary co-chairmen for the event include U.S. Senator Philip Hart, Secretary of State Richard Austin, Attorney General Frank Kelley, State Representatives Joseph Forbes, Philip Mastin, Arthur Law and Bill Huffman, State Senator Daniel Cooper, and Sander Levin. In addition, a county-wide committee of public officials and private citizens are planning the event.

Reservations of $25 per person may be made by calling 334-0971 or 356-5145.

Grand Blanc 4-H Curry Comb Club will sponsor an EMHA approved horse show beginning at 8 a.m. Sunday, May 28, at 5470 South Irish Road, Grand Blanc. Children under 12 are admitted free.

Oakland County Republicans plan a massive door-to-door drive to collect petition signatures for the renomination of U.S. Senator Bob Griffin and to raise funds for the Oakland GOP, according to Oakland Republican Chairman Sheldon B. Smith.

Smith said that a People Power Blitz would be held on Monday night, June 5 and would involve some 400 GOP volunteers going door-to-door in 100 selected precincts.

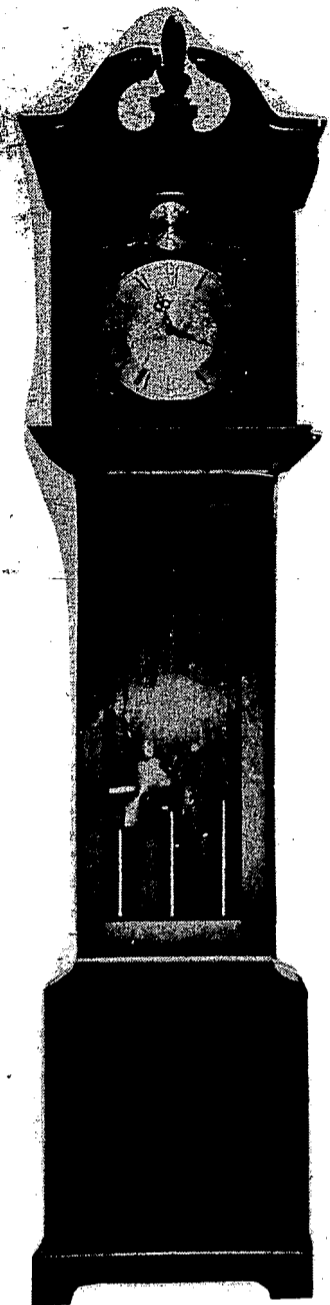

Trading stamps are needed to help finance the free summer camp for the blind children of Michigan sponsored by the National Camps for Blind Children, a spokesman said Thursday.

Mrs Edna House of Detroit, district representative for the Christian Record Braille Foundation, said the stamps will be redeemed to pay expenses for blind children who will attend a camp July 23, 1972 at Spencer, Ind.

Stamps and the names and addresses of blind children who may wish to attend the camp should be sent to: National Camps for Blind Children, P. O. Box 6097, Lincoln, Neb. 68506.

Ticket sales for the Chesaning Showboat July 10-15 go on sale June 1. Prices for the colorful river show range from $2.50 to $4. Tickets may be ordered by mail from the Showboat Ticket Office, Chesaning.

Applications for the Booster Club scholarship were taken last week. The scholarship is sponsored by the Clarkston Athletic Booster Club. The recipient will be announced at Commencement on June 3.

Contrary to what I reported in last week's column, the senior edition of the "Good Times" is not going to be printed by the Vocational School. The staff of the school newspaper was informed last Tuesday that the Vocational School doesn't have enough time to print the paper by June 2, the date of the senior assembly. So, instead, the paper will be printed by the Clarkston News.

In order to meet the extra cost of printing through the Clarkston News, (the Vocational School had agreed to print the paper free), Desiree Simkins, the editor of the paper, plans to petition Student Council for the money. If this fails, the newspaper staff will hold a car wash in the parking lot on Memorial Day, following the parade.

The yearbook staff of the Hilltopper is now completing the layouts for the spring supplement which will arrive next fall.

"The yearbooks should get here by June 1," stated Jim Chamberlain, advisor.

Any student who wishes to run for an office in Student Council should pick up the petitions in the main office. The petitions state the qualifications necessary for each post.

Some students got out of school a few minutes early last Tuesday. Another fire alarm was pulled within the last few minutes of the day, and some used the opportunity to leave early.

The Speech Awards night is scheduled to be Wednesday, May 31. Sponsored by H. A. Bartlett, the debate and forensics coach, the ceremony will see pins and awards presented to the members of the debate and forensics teams.

The debate team is in the final stages of planning its trip to the annual debate tournament June 3-4 on Mackinac Island. The debaters will be staying at the Grand Hotel there.

Rev. Fr. Frederick J. Delaney has announced he has withdrawn his request for retirement.

Pastor of Our Lady of Lakes Church, Waterford, the parish priest has come under criticism by the Detroit Archdiocese. His attorney, Paul Valentino, has announced he will not retire under fire.

Rev. Fr. Delaney celebrated his 40th year in the priesthood last Sunday.

The "three lame dames" have on hand the grand sum of $523.60, collected for their 16-mile "Walk for Mankind." Larry Rosso, Jaycee walk chairman, reports all receipts have been coming in well, and that Independence House should receive a healthy 40 percent of the proceeds, with another 10 percent going to the student councils at the three high schools.

The remainder of the money will benefit Project Concern, a non-profit worldwide medical service.

Ingrid Smith of Eastlawn got her comeuppance for being a nosey mother last week. A package arrived in the mail marked, "Collywolly Doodles - live and lively" addressed in care of a son.

Ingrid had visions of worms, pollywogs - any exotic form of small animal life, and she peeked. The contents were T-shirts, and Ingrid is still relieved.

Fire report

Independence Township Fire Department has answered 17 calls so far this month, two of them involving houses and one a garage.

There were four car fires reported; eight grass, rubbish or trash fires; one resuscitator run; and one court assistance call.

The department assisted Brandon Township in a fire May 14 at the home of Homer Adams on Weidman Drive.

On May 20, the department doused a blaze at the home of Bill Daniel, 4725 Oakvista. No one was home when fire apparently broke out in the living room; the department reported. Smoke damaged the interior of the house; and a couch in the living room and the wall behind it were burned.

The fire was reported by Fred Evans of 3862 Dill Road, Waterford Township, who saw it as he drove past.

Fire damaged a garage May 21 at a home belonging to Paul Wilmont, 6231 Orion Road. The wall, door and ceiling were reported damaged. Firemen said the only item stored in the area in which the fire started was a box containing record albums.

The circus is coming to town

The Miller-Johnson Circus, sponsored by The North Oakland County Law Enforcement Association, will be the first paid event to be held at the Youth Activities Center, Springfield - Oaks Park, May 30, 31 and June 1.

The Miller-Johnson Circus, headquartered in San Francisco, is rated as one of the five largest in the United States. An afternoon and an evening performance will be held each day.

Regionalism explored

Southeast Michigan regionalism will be examined in the second of a series of regional governance seminars on Wednesday, (May 31) at 8 p.m. in Oakland University's Meadow Brook Theatre.

The public seminar, focused on a paper about "Southeast Michigan Regionalism," is one of a series of twelve in the year long process of studying the regional governance alternatives available to Southeast Michigan residents. The series is presented by Metropolitan Fund, Inc., a regional research agency in Southeast Michigan.

Stanley J. Winkelman, President of Winkelman Stores, Inc., and a Metropolitan Fund Trustee, will chair the seminar, with a panel of area citizens reacting to the paper.

Citizens Research Council of Michigan has delved into the history of regionalism in Southeast Michigan; up to and including the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, in writing the report. Based on that research, the paper covers regional organizational and programmatic developments in Southeast Michigan over the past two decades.

A summary of the "Southeast Michigan Regionalism" paper will be available at the public seminar. Upon completion of the twelve monthly papers, the entire series of papers and discussions will be published as "The Regionalist Papers" by Metropolitan Fund.

Co-sponsored by Metropolitan Fund and the Oakland University Political Science Department, the seminar is open, without charge, to the public.

A driving thing

by Jean Saile

Every kid should learn to drive on a tractor.

A tractor is big enough to overcome most obstacles, including barbed wire fences and garage doors, without seriously endangering the driver.

Barring a tractor, I suppose an old truck on a back road is second.

This business of teaching kids to drive in a school parking lot and then turning them loose on the freeway frightens not only me, but them, I'm sure.

I can remember when I still thought 40 miles per hour was a rakish speed to travel.

Learning to drive is something that should be savored like a long series of slow moving steps.

I can remember sitting in a 1938 Plymouth shifting gears and watching an imaginary road unroll before me for hours on end.

From that point, I was promoted to the farm tractor, a beast so big I had to jump on the brake with both feet to get it to stop. I remember misjudging a garage door once. After that it was some time before adults would let me anywhere near the buildings.

A friend of mine blithely drove a tractor down the field row, wheeled through the barbed wire fence at the end, shouted "I'll be back," and managed a neat U-turn winding up directionally sound for the next furrow.

No damage, except for the fence.

From the tractor, I was graduated into truck driving. Pressed into is more like it. The big 1½ ton Ford truck used to cart the wheat from the field to the granary was as unmanagable as a bulldozer.

It was not only unwieldy, but it had two ignition switches, and remembering both of them sometimes became a problem. It also had an excess number of forward gears, some of which I bypassed out of boredom, and a very peculiar reverse gear.

You'd be all set and sure you were backing up when the thing would leap ahead in a great galumph.

One time that old truck had a set of faulty brakes (which I didn't know about), and I can remember hitting every buffalo hollow on a long hillside as I hurtled down to the harvest rig below.

A canteen on the seat beside me hit the ceiling so many times it disintegrated. My brother, waiting with the rig, suffered mild apoplexy. I just sat there and shook.

From that point, cars were a cinch. Even with a broken right leg. My husband decided he'd better road test me before letting me out on the streets alone in my partially immobilized condition, and a driverless Volkswagen chose that particular moment to hurtle down the hill towards us.

I think the hip high cast bent, but we missed the car.

Ronk named full time chief

full time fire chief.

Independence Township has a new full time fire chief, beginning June 1. Frank Ronk, present deputy chief and fire marshal, was appointed to replace retiring Chief Don Beach by a 3-1-1 vote of the township board Tuesday night.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock abstained and Trustee Keith Humbert voted no.

The request to appoint Ronk to the full time position was made in a letter presented by some 25 firemen who showed up at Tuesday night's meeting in white firemen's coveralls.

The letter, read by Clerk J. Edwin Glennie, asked that the chief's appointment take precedence over other expenditures already budgeted for the department, including the items for purchase of a new "squirt" fire truck and two new stations.

Firemen also agreed to take a cut in pay in order to acquire the full time man. As Dispatcher Harold Goyette pointed out, "We are paid at the rate of $4 for the first hour, and that doesn't always cover the costs of car usage and gas as well as clothes damage when we are called to the scene."

It has already been determined that a request for a second mill for fire department operation will be put on the November ballot.

Details of what Ronk will be paid were to be worked out in executive session Wednesday night by the board. Glennie pointed out that neighboring full time chiefs are paid at rates varying from $11,500 to $16,100.

It was noted the township presently budgets $9,000 for all fire salaries, including the chief, assistant chiefs, captains and station masters.

Stonerock attempted to have action on the chief deferred until a seven-man citizens' committee—to include two firemen—could be appointed to look into the matter. He said he was in agreement with the firemen's choice of a leader, and asked if Ronk couldn't succeed Beach on the current part time basis.

Trustee Tom Bullen said he believed no thorough investigation was necessary—that those who had the greatest stake in the matter were the ones making the request. He added that a full time chief could enforce fire codes.

Stonerock reminded the board the position of public safety director had already been approved by the board some months ago. He said a working chief would be needed under such a public safety officer. Bullen reminded him that Ronk had been proposed for that position in the past and there had been no action.

Ronk affirmed to the board he would accept the fire post. A member of the department for 25 years, he said, "There isn't a man on the department that I don't get along with right now."

He also pointed out that one assistant chief had resigned recently and that a captain is in the process of moving. He said the 40-man, 3-station department would be operating under the direction of just three officers, without new officers being named.

When the vote was taken Humbert voted no saying he felt the board should have had an executive meeting first. Stonerock abstained citing his preference for a full time public safety officer.

Meeting highlights

Independence Township Board Tuesday night:

Accepted an approved master road right-of-way plan from Oakland County Road Commission Chairman Paul McGovern.

Accepted the resignation of George Woody, former vice chairman of the Independence Township Planning Commission recently stricken by a heart attack.

Agreed to try a sewer maintenance "cost plus" contract with the county DPW, rather than to start its own maintenance program at the present time.

Voted to advertise the services of Ron Burtch, who described his business in which he identifies items of value by engraving social security or drivers' license numbers on them. In so doing it did not preclude others who might offer the same services, but determined at the present time calls to the township hall for such service will be referred to Burtch. The program is said to be an effective deterrent against break-ins and thefts. A similar program is offered through the Clarkston Village Police Department.

Approved revised sign and snowmobile ordinances.

Instructed Attorney Richard Campbell to proceed with drafting a local ordinance similar to one in Hazel Park which requires that all homes offered for sale in the township be brought up to code first.

Voted down 2-2 (Johnson absent) a 90-day moratorium on rezonings in the area east of Sashabaw and north of Maybee until a redistricting study can be completed.

Hiked building fees "by a substantial amount"—details to be available later—and prepared to hike water rates and cemetery rates within the next 60 days.

Received word that the two township cleanup days had been "super successes"—Jerry Powell reporting that 62 cars, 255 pickup trucks and 17 dump trucks had used the landfill at township expense on the second Saturday in addition to the large number patronizing it the first Saturday.

Approved a $4,180 low bid from Walker and Chaffee Cement Contractors for repair of water system pump houses

Approved a $1,000 landscape plan for the township grounds, which will include erection of a flag pole and benches at the rear of the township offices.

Heard that the OCCEO Neighborhood Youth Corps help program is not working out. Said Clerk Edwin Glennie, "We employed three young men. One didn't show up after the first day and the other two have been sporadic about showing up."

Was notified that demolition of two condemned homes in the Woodhull area is currently underway.

Tempers flare

Supervisor Gary Stonerock failed in a bid Tuesday night to have the township board rescind planned unit development zoning for Hel-Win property off Maybee Road near Spring Lake Country Club.

Entering a statement into the minutes, he charged that the approval vote had violated parliamentary procedure; and he asked that residents of the township be allowed to vote on whether the rezoning should be permitted at the November election.

He contended that two of those three township officers voting approval on the rezoning issue were not seeking reelection, and that Clerk J. Edwin Glennie had deceived the people per his campaign promises against further multiples.

Stonerock charged political preference in the vote, obtained two weeks ago while he was absent. A recessed meeting May 10, chaired by Trustee Keith Humbert, featured a filibuster as Humbert attempted to block the vote.

A motion Tuesday night to rescind the vote failed 3-2, Trustee Tom Bullen pointing out that the allowed zoning in fact reduced multiple area from 17 to 13 acres on the 69 acre parcel.

He denied the political aspects of the decision and later entered a statement into the minutes in which he charged Stonerock with "gross impropriety" for insulting statements made to the clerk and others at the meeting.

Last night's meeting was marked by several heated exchanges, one occurring as members discussed Bullen's motion to give "Bottles for Building" 60 days to clean up their storage area at the township hall parking lot or vacate.

Wolves in state tourney

By Craig Moore

Clarkston's Varsity Wolves beat the Waterford Kettering Captains 5-1 in the State pre-district tournament. The win sends the Wolves into the next round of play for a game Saturday, May 27, with Walled Lake Central.

Although the Wolves had only 5 hits, the Clarkston squad brought every runner in to score, while Kettering had hits with only 1 scoring.

In the first inning, Kevin McMillan, who took first base on a single, was sacrificed in by Dave Partlo for the first Clarkston run.

Waterford Kettering scored their only run in the second inning.

Clarkston's John Walts broke the 1-1 tie in the second inning by sacrificing in Don Powell, who got on base with a double.

The Wolves scored their run in the third inning. Mark Warren's double knocked in Greg Swanson, who reached first base on errors.

The Wolves scored 2 insurance runs in the seventh inning. John Walts opened this frame with a walk and came home to score on a triple by Kevin McMillan. Greg Swanson sacrificed in McMillan for the fifth Clarkston run.

The Wolves ended their play in the Pontiac Tournament by losing 4-0 to Southfield last Saturday, May 20. Three of the Southfield runs came in in the fourth inning with the fourth run being added in the sixth inning.

Prior to the loss, the Wolves had won 9 of their last 12 games.

Clarkston remains in the pre-district State Tournament. The Clarkston-Walled Lake Central game will be played Saturday, May 27. Game time is 1 p.m.

Little League needs volunteers

Independence Township Little League baseball promoters are yelling "Help!"

In order for as many boys between the ages of eight and 15 to play as have signed up, 12 more managers will have to be acquired. One is needed in the eight and nine year old Pee Wee division; six in the 10 and 11 year old Widget division; four in the 12 and 13 year old Midget division; and one for 14 and 15 year old Pony League members.

There's also a shortage of sponsors, say Little League officials. A sponsor can out fit a team for less than $100 with lettered shirt, hats, and bats.

A coach is needed for the Pony team. Robert Brumback, who is temporarily heading the recreation program, notes that it's not necessary to have experience to be a coach.

An interest in young boys learning good sportsmanship and the fundamentals of ball along with the opportunity to have fun with one's peers in recreation is all that is necessary, he said.

The new recreation director, Timothy Doyle, due here next week, will be available to advise all beginning coaches, Brumback said. He encouraged women to volunteer for the position.

They can do so, he said, by calling 625-3580.

Little League has presently fielded 15 Pee Wee teams, 13 Widget teams, 10 Midget teams and four Pony teams.

White to attend OU

Clarkston's Gary White will attend Oakland University this fall.

Averaging 24 points per game with a record-breaking 55 percent field goal average in his senior year, the 17-year-old, 6-foot, 6-inch, 90 pound high-scoring center has been admitted to Oakland University for Fall 1972.

"We are happy to have Gary bring his academic and athletic skills to OU," said OU Head Coach Eugene Boldon, when he heard of Gary's enrollment. Coach Boldon, very optimistic about Gary's future at OU noted that, "Gary seemed to have a very good temperament for the game and a fine personality."

Gary will be graduating from Clarkston High School this June. "The team will miss 'Big G,'" Clarkston Basketball Coach Dave McDonald noted. "I think he will be a great asset to OU. He's the one who held our team together," he said.

While playing for Clarkston, Gary had a 24PPG, a school record for the 1971-72 season of 55 percent FGP, an average of 15 rebounds per game and sunk 65 free throws. He was a two-time all-Wayne-Oakland League choice.

The Clarkston Wolves were Wayne-Oakland League champions, All League-Detroit News and came in as the second team for All-County along with receiving honorable mention in All-Suburban and State.

JV loses to Andover

By Mike Jewell

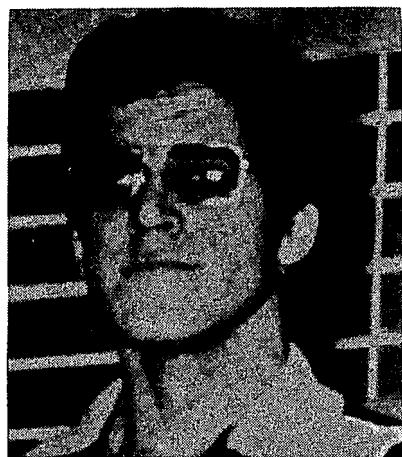

Last Thursday Clarkston's JV baseball team lost to Andover 7-2. It chopped their league record to 3-4 while making their overall record 7-5.

Kirk Comstock was the starting and losing pitcher as he gave up all 7 runs and struck out 6. Denny Johnson relieved Comstock in the 6th inning and struck out 4 batters.

Clarkston could muster only 4 hits, 2 of them earned by Comstock. Reggie Alexander, who was 1 for 3 at the plate, knocked in one RBI while Johnson picked up the other RBI.

Rod Rumsey picked up 2 stolen bases as Terry Green and Alexander also obtained one each.

Leading hitter on the team is still Kirt Johnson who is still batting .344

Trackmen finish second

By Mike Jewell

The Clarkston Varsity track team had to settle for a second place in the W-O League as they lost last Tuesday 82-41 against Milford.

Milford finished the season undefeated as Clarkston clinched second place with a 4-1 record, their overall record being 4-2.

Bill Svetkoff led the team in points with a total of 7, as he finished second in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 180-yard low hurdles, and took a third in the long jump.

It was a bad night for Clarkston as the team clinched only 3 first places.

Dan Thomas got a first in the pole vault, getting up in the air 12 feet to clear the bar.

Mike Crosby got a first in the 2-mile run in 10:32.2 and the mile relay team of Dancey, Kath, M. Humphreys and Carlson sprinted to a first place with a time of 3:35.8.

Too much fruit can mean poor results, say horticulturists at Michigan State University. Fruits such as apple or peach should be thinned so that the remaining ones are separated by about eight inches.

Two qualify for tournament

By Tim Hewelt

Clarkston added two wrestlers to the five that already qualified for the National Tournament by placing in the Intermediate Division (13 and 14 year old) in the State AAU Championships last Saturday in Anchor Bay.

Pat Lane of Clarkston Junior High became the state champion at 85 lbs. when he pinned Tim Callis of Hazel Park in the final match.

Tony Detkowski of Clarkston Junior High placed third in the state at 126 lbs.

The National Championships will be held June 16 and 17 at Oakland University.

The Old Timer

By Art Coffee

Spring on the farm became a place of colts, calves, piglets, lambs, newly hatched chicks and ducklings without end. What memories are brought back to old timers who had the good fortune to be born on the farm of old.

There are probably no adults over sixty who did not have from one to several pets

Consumer fraud program launched

Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas G. Plunkett today revealed plans for the establishment of a County-wide Consumer Fraud and Protection Team, which is expected to begin operations by September.

The Consumer Fraud Unit, to be coordinated and implemented by Plunkett's staff, will be responsible for the investigation and prosecution of consumer fraud schemes within the county. In addition, the team will undertake an educational program to alert county residents to business schemes which annually bilk the public out of millions of dollars.

Plunkett said establishment of the unit has received the necessary approval of the Oakland County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, a group of county judges, chiefs-of-police and community representatives, which unanimously backed the project at its last meeting on May.

Funding for the new crime unit is expected to come from federal sources, with approximately $35,000 to be used for its operation during the first year.

"Like citizens throughout the country, Oakland County residents are bilked out of thousands of dollars each year by dishonest individuals promoting and selling fraudulent schemes," Plunkett said.

"Because of a lack of funds and staff until now, the county and its police departments have been able to undertake only limited and stopgap investigations and prosecutions in this area. I am certain that this new crime-fighting tool will be of great significance in serving county residents in the future."

Plunkett indicated that the unit will initially consist of two full-time investigators who will work exclusively on the investigation and prosecution of consumer frauds. Clerical assistance, extra personnel, office space and furnishings are expected to be provided with the cooperation of the North Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

Where necessary, other personnel and resources of the prosecutor's office will be made available to the consumer fraud team, Plunkett indicated.

"We expect this program to complement the work of the Consumer Fraud Division of the State Attorney General's office," Plunkett said. "The Attorney General's staff has been of great assistance to us in getting this project off the ground."

Cougars score mixed bag

Bloomfield Hills junior high schools handed Sashabaw Cougars baseball team a win and a loss last week.

East Hills Junior High took the local boys 18-2 a week ago Tuesday. It was a close game until the fifth inning when East Hills scored 9 unearned runs. Jerry Whitehead was the losing pitcher.

The Cougars got 5 hits with Paul Breininger racking up a triple and a home run.

Bloomfield Hills Junior High was not so fortunate on Thursday. The Cougars scored in every inning but the first and third. The final score was Sashabaw 13 - Bloomfield 6.

Cougars recorded 17 hits, four of them belonging to Jerry Whitehead who also had 4 RBIs credited to his account. Marty Abbott got 2 hits.

Breininger pitched the best game of the season allowing 5 hits and striking out 6 batters. He allowed no unearned runs.

The Cougars were to play host to Walled Lake Western this Tuesday and then visit Clarkston Junior High Thursday. The final game June 1 will see the Cougars pitched against Waterford Pierce on whom he bestowed his love and affection.

Flies usually won

The children were the ones who took personal care of those young animals who were motherless for one reason or another. They learned how to milk-feed them at meal time and care for them until they were big enough to fend for themselves.

Probably the hardest job was weaning a calf from its mother. They were so insistent on drinking from a higher source that the problem was to get his head down into a pail to drink without spilling the milk all over the floor.

Of course, all was not happiness and light in the spring. This was a time when the curse God promised Adam came back to life, such as insects and weeds.

Most modern homes today have very few if any flies. Most families fought them vigorously, but it was a losing battle for the most part.

Few studies had been made of the life history of the fly, so none understood why there were so many. I have spoken of the horse manure we piled up around the house in the fall to fight the cold. It was hauled away in the spring, but not very carefully. Some barns were built too close to the house and of course the barnyard was a natural incubator for flies.

Most farmers had a swill barrel at their back door, full of souring and thickening skim milk and table scraps, etc., that hogs ate with such relish.

When we had a few spare coins left over, we used to buy yards of black mosquito netting and tack it onto the outside of the windows, and hopefully the farm we rented had screen doors.

The trouble always seemed to be that the dogs and kids had punched holes through the lower sections. If it were not too big, Mother would try to sew back and forth on it, something like darning a sock, until the hole was filled in.

The back door and porch was always full of flies waiting and anxious to get in, and with five children they had plenty of opportunities, and took advantage of very one. We had fly paper, poison and swatters, but there were always flies in the house in spite of our efforts.

I do not know if the idea was original with Dad or not, but he would take old paper flour sacks and cut them up in strips to about two inches from the end, something like a hula skirt. He tacked the uncut end to a short rod or stick.

Each one of us took two of them, formed a line on one side of the room, then we would advance slowly, swishing and swooshing the strips ahead of us, gradually driving the flies toward the outside door now held open. Four or five of these drives and we had good success in driving out swarms of flies.

We had a neighbor who had exactly the opposite idea. He never used netting nor screens because he said it kept the flies from getting out! His method of overcoming the flies was to get some kindling wood in a bucket, bring it into the house, set fire to it, drop on some green grass and smoke them out.

He was quite successful in it, I think; of course, it drove everyone else out too, and the house always smelled like the smoke house where he cured his hams. I don't know which was worse; the odor or the flies.

You can buy my book, "Grandpa Tells It Like It Was" at this office, or write Art Coffee, Goodrich, Mich. 48438, enclosing $3.95 plus 25c for mailing and handling.

In his first 12 years of life, young Leonard Evans has done more for medical science than most people can do in a lifetime. The Cincinnati boy's personal "public service program" began when he was only a year old.

His contribution is an annual donation of his extremely rare blood to the University of Cincinnati's laboratories. Plasma from that blood is then used by physicians around the world to diagnose the unusual condition in other persons.

When Leonard was born, doctors found his blood lacks an important clotting factor called "convertin." Only 25 or 30 other persons in the world are known to have been born with this defect, but many persons acquire it—particularly those with liver disease. It is most difficult to diagnose.

If a doctor suspects the patient lacks convertin, he requests a small vial of Leonard's plasma. If the patient's blood doesn't clot when mixed with the plasma, then the patient does indeed suffer from this rare condition, and must be watched.

Leonard has never had a bleeding problem, requires no treatment, and is a healthy youngster. So his parents agreed to annual donations of his blood, from which the red cells are removed to leave the valuable plasma.

The tiny vials (200 from each annual donation) may travel only a block to Cincinnati Children's Hospital or may be packed in dry ice for a fast flight to Australia.

The next time you donate blood, remember Leonard Evans and his contribution to science and humanity—and remember all blood donations are vitally necessary to somebody, somewhere.

Career pitfall - - divorce

Take heed, men: the ladder of success may be only as stable as your marriage.

Divorce could splinter a few crucial rungs of that ladder, advises John E. Tropman, professor of social work at The University of Michigan.

He measured the mobility of advancement of 6,000 American males, aged 45 to 54, ranking their first job, last job and current marital status.

The men who had progressed the furthest were those who had remained married to their first wives, followed closely by those who had remarried. Far behind were the men who had been divorced, separated or widowers.

"Our findings reverse the assumption that mobility causes family instability," Prof. Tropman commented. "The stereotype of the hard-driving, ambitious breadwinner who works long hours and accepts new responsibilities at the expense of his duties to wife and children may not be wholly accurate.

"It may not be the career which jeopardizes the marriage, but the marital status, if disrupted by divorce, separation or death, which hampers the career."

Tropman cautioned that an interpretation of his findings must be somewhat simplistic since the data was limited to occupation and marital status. Many intervening factors such as a person's race and religion, his age when married, service in the armed forces and the opportunities within his field of work would account for wide individual differences.

"But it challenges two myths: that mobility endangers family stability, and that hard work is always rewarded by occupational advancement," Trop said.

"Correctly or not, employers seem to regard a stable marriage as an asset when considering a man for promotion or hire.

"Mobility may influence a marriage in a more subtle, opposite way," Tropman added. "If a man senses that he is not advancing as fast as his peers, he may become unconfident and resentful. The expression of this inner conflict may further inhibit his progress and create friction between him and his family."

The presumption that mobility disrupts marriage, said the U-M professor, stems from the belief that mobility causes stress, that it is a somehow "abnormal" phenomenon which society has neither planned for nor accepted. This may have been warranted in a sedentary peasant culture, Tropman added, but in today's society, mobility is becoming the norm, not the exception.

"Today we can accept the fact that mobility is experienced by almost all families; indeed the man with the most stable family relationship is the most likely candidate.

"This situation challenges social workers and social planners to develop programs which facilitate mobility, such as career consultation services and retraining projects for those who have reached a stalemate in their career," Tropman said.

"Such programs should particularly be directed at minority groups who, through lack of opportunities and racial prejudice have been systematically denied social and job mobility in the past."

New York reviews

by Robert Chisholm

Lincoln Center, that fantastic edifice to the arts, money and ego (not necessarily in that order) is the home of two great opera companies: the much heralded Metropolitan and the little known (west of the Hudson) New York City Opera Company.

In the last few years, the fortunes and fame at the N.Y.C. Opera have soared because of its quality, programs and Beverly Sills.

In Handel's "Giulio Cesare," Miss Sills sings the role of Cleopatra. Without offering a pretext of voice expert the casual opera goer can't help but marvel at the color, range and sheer beauty that but hints at a description of the "Sills Sound."

Robert Hale as Cesare and Edward

Pierson as Tolomeo were well suited to the roles. Julius Rudel conducted.

Across the plaza at the Met, with its magnificent chandeliers, Verdi's "Falstaff" is being offered. In the title role is one of my adolescent idols, the great Italian baritone Tito Gobbi.

Gallery gossip had it rumored that Gobbi was fading. Pure rumor! Gobbi's singing and acting were superb. Unfortunately, the cast which included such notables as Renata Tebaldi (Mrs. Ford) and Roberta Peters (Nannetta) offered only satisfactory support.

Christoph Von Dahnanyi, the grandson of the noted composer Ernest Von Dohnanyi was on the podium and received a mixed reception apparently for both political and artistic reasons.

NOTICE PUBLIC HEARING

The Planning Commission of the TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE, Oakland County, Michigan will hold a Public Hearing at the Township Hall, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan at 7:30 p.m., June 15, 1972 to consider the following amendments to the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance No. 51: AMENDMENT TO ORDINANCE NO. 51, Section 13.1(b) -

13.1 (b) The Board of Appeals shall fix a reasonable time for a hearing, not to exceed thirty (30) days from the filing of the notice of appeal. Public notice shall be given of said hearing. Said notice shall be in conformance with Section 14 of Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943, as amended (M.S.A. 5.2963 (14), Compiled Laws 1948, 125.284) except that publication shall not be necessary and if notice is by mail, an affidavit of mailing shall be filed with the Board of Appeals rather than with the Zoning Board. At the hearing, any party may appear in person or by agent or attorney.

Section 13.1 (b) of Ordinance 51 as it existed prior to this amendment is repealed in its entirety.

AMENDMENT TO SECTION 4.2 OF ORDINANCE NO. 51 -

2. Non-Conforming Lots of Record. This sub-section applies to single family dwelling districts only and is intended to provide relief for the owners of non-conforming lots of record where said lot or lots in combination do not meet the minimum standards of this ordinance. It is not intended that this sub-section be used to permit construction of a dwelling on all non-conforming lots of record; it is recognized that some such lots are simply too small to permit the construction of an adequate dwelling, the storage of family automobiles, (in recognition of the fact that on street parking is not desirable) the maintenance of sufficient open space to permit fire protection, reasonable light and air, as well as room and view to permit and encourage property maintenance.

(a) No permit shall issue hereunder except as provided in sub-paragraph (c) below, except with approval of the Board of Appeals after public hearing in accordance with Section 13.1 (b) of this ordinance. The application to the Board of Appeals shall simply state, "Non-Conforming Lot of Record," and the Board of Appeals may grant such variances as are necessary to permit construction on such lot, subject to the following standards: 1. Permits shall not issue hereunder unless the construction that will result from the issuance of said permits will be in keeping with the general character of the neighborhood in which the construction will take place. 2. The Board of Appeals shall at all times consider and reconcile the interests of adjoining and nearby property owners. 3. Subject to the above, where the owner of a non-conforming lot of record cannot reasonably acquire sufficient land to enable him to conform to the requirements of this Ordinance relating to lot area, lot width, or both, such lot of record may be used by such owner as a building site, provided that, as required by the Board of Appeals, the other requirements of this Chapter are met, which requirements for the purpose of this section, shall be deemed to include reasonable provisions for automobile parking.

(b) For the purpose of maintaining building sites in compliance or near compliance with this Ordinance in those instances where the same owner has adjoining non-conforming lots of record, the following regulations shall apply:

1. Where two (2) abutting lots of record are held under one (1) ownership, and where one or both of these lots are non-conforming, they shall each be considered as a single lot of record and are subject to the provisions of Section 4.2 (c) of this Chapter, and no portion of said parcel shall be used or sold in a manner which diminishes compliance with lot width and area requirements established by this ordinance. 2. Where three (3) or more abutting lots of record are held under one (1) ownership, and where one or more of these lots are non-conforming, the lots shall be held and maintained in such a manner as to comply with the area and width provisions of this ordinance, and the provisions of this Chapter relating to lot area and lot width shall not be avoided by the sale or conveyance of any of or any portion of such lots of record.

(c) Notwithstanding the above provisions, the Building Department may issue a building permit in those instances where a non-conforming lot or combination of lots of record meets 80% of the minimum frontage, setback, or area requirements of this ordinance upon a determination that said 80% is in conformance with the general standard of the neighborhood.

(d) In no event shall the side yards be less than five (5) feet to permit fire equipment reasonable access and further to prevent the spreading of fire; the Board of Appeals shall not have the right to vary this provision.

Section 4.2 of Ordinance 51 as it existed prior to this amendment is repealed in its entirety.

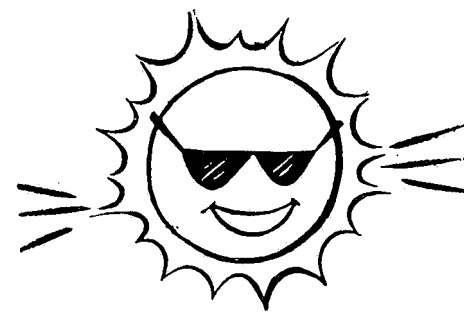

Mel Vaara, Chairman
INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP
PLANNING COMMISSION

Promised - - a beach by Friday

Volunteers filled in the Jaycee ranks as a lot of sand shifted location over the weekend.

Clarkston Area Jaycees say their $6,000 renovation of Deer Lake Beach will be ready for use Friday. The men have spent weekends during April and May shoring up the canal to Cemetery Lake and spreading dozens of tons of beach sand. A sodding operation, tot lot construction, and the building of a bridge over the canal is yet to come.

It takes a lot of manpower to handplace a big pole such as this which will separate sod and sand.

Ron Rule and Dave Nadolsky start work on the west end of the beach where erosion is still visible.

Mrs. William Halsey rakes while her children play in the new sand beach to the south.
