Township recap

Is Independence Township's proposed lot split ordinance going to do any good? No, says Supervisor Gary Stonerock. Yes, says Trustee Tom Bullen

Meanwhile there's no action being taken, because by law the matter must go before the county coordination planning and zoning committee before it is considered by the township board.

Bullen contends the amendment would give the township the right to require that two small adjoining vacant pieces of property be combined in one lot, regardless of current ownership.

Stonerock, citing Township Attorney Richard Campbell, says laws on non-conforming lots are at best chaotic. He said Campbell's study of 17 different cases brought him to 17 different conclusions.

"The problems will still be there," he said. "It's up to the Zoning Board of Appeals to decide whether to grant variances."

Township administrators planned to take to engineers and the county Department of Public Works a request from Kieft engineering that a new subdivision north of Cranberry Lake Road receive sewer service via a forced main under I-75.

A letter from DPW Director R. J. Alexander pointed out allowing such a service could open "a whole new can of worms."

Developers outside the area to be serviced by the sewer would want similar installations, he said.

It was pointed out that forced main construction is much cheaper than gravity flow, and that people thus serviced would still have to join the regular system once it was available.

The new subdivision under contemplation is north of Cranberry Lake Road.

What to do about pollution in that portion of the Mill Pond lying in Independence Township is going to be a decision of residents, the township board has decided.

It would be possible, members agreed, for residents to petition the village to have the water level lowered in an effort to determine where pollutants enter the pond. It was also suggested that the area north of Miller Road could be included in the second sewer construction phase.

Plans for the first plat in Independence Township - and perhaps the county - worked out under new road standards were approved last week by the township board.

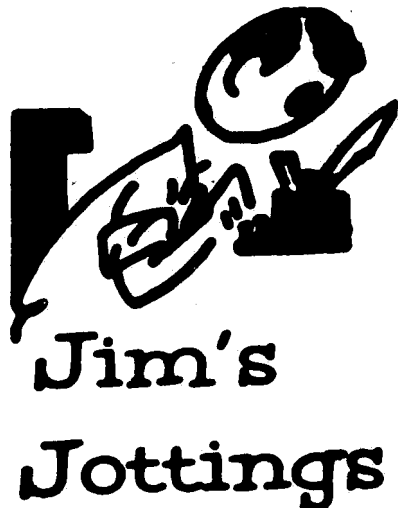

To be known at Bessie Foremen Estates, the plat involves 12 lots on 40 acres at Ratalee Lake and Allen roads. Bernie Feldhauser is the developer.

Any improvements to Independence Township Hall are going to be minimal, at least until October.

At work on the beach

Life guards Sue Schmude and Charlie Horsch with Recreation Director Tim Doyle gather a group of beginning swimmers for some verbal instruction near the bridge at Deer Lake Beach. Besides the groups receiving instruction at the beach, there are classes offered at Dr. Al Hamilton's pool for beginning and intermediate swimmers and at Del Lohff's pool for junior and senior lifesaving swimmers. A second session of classes is due to begin later in July. People may enroll by calling the township hall.

By Jim Sherman

Once upon a time there was a sparrow that delayed too long in deciding to fly south.

A freezing rain storm finally persuaded him that he'd better get going. Four hours later, nearly frozen, heavily coated with ice and totally exhausted, he plummeted to earth.

A passing horse almost stepped on him, then paused and buried him in a pile of steaming fertilizer.

This was, the rigid little bird thought, the final blow. This was the ultimate ignominy - to be so buried during his final moments of life.

As the minutes passed, however, the sparrow began to feel the warmth. First his wings and then his feet thawed out. He voiced a happy chirp.

Hearing the chirp, a cat dashed over to the pile, quickly dug out the sparrow and ate him.

The moral of this story is obvious. Those who cover you with manure are not necessarily your enemies and those who dig you out are not always your friends.

SWITCH

Now that long hair, beards and drooping mustaches are IN, it's the oddballs that sport crew-cuts, white shirts and station wagons.

It hits us middle-aged fuddy duddies pretty hard. When the big, classy station wagons were modish, I couldn't afford one. When crew-cuts were fashionable I was just starting in business and wanted to look older.

Even if I wanted to increase my debts by buying a zippy little sports car, it would take a good crew with big shoehorns to squeeze me in. It's not my mood that's expansive - it's my middle.

Just seems to me that all my life I've gone through cycles of laughing at the outlandish and finally getting around to accepting the new things after they are already outdated.

Not that I give a hoot about stupid things like clothing styles but it sure gives me a chuckle to see some of the old goats strutting around in wild colored flair pants.

Of course, in two, three years I'll maybe be so used to them that I'll buy a couple pair myself, just after peg bottoms come back. The whole thing is absolutely silly, stupid, stupid, stupid.

Lisa, 7, Cindy, 9, and Kevin Bishop, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bishop of 5229 Marconi help their kitten, Tigger, devour a bottle of milk. The kids found Tigger when he was about two weeks old. The kitten was first fed with an eyedropper, and has now graduated to a doll bottle filled with milk and Pablum. Tigger is quite capable of holding it for himself. Tigger thinks he's people, the Bishop kids agree.

What to do - apartment rezonings

There'll be no moratorium for a while on further Independence Township rezonings to permit construction of apartments, but there might be a slowdown ahead.

That seemed to be the consensus of opinion at last week's township board meeting as Trustee Keith Humbert attempted to have the board adopt a resolution which would limit further rezonings.

He asked that the township board direct the planning commission to deny all future multiple rezonings until at least 75 percent of the 600 vacant acres currently zoned multiple is built upon and at least 75 percent of those built are occupied.

A 2-2 tie vote resulted, Treasurer Kenneth Johnson being absent.

While Clerk J. Edwin Glennie called such a proclamation "illegal and non-enforceable", he did say he was in favor of holding back on multiples. A moratorium, he believed, could only be accomplished through updating the township general development plan.

Humbert pointed out that rezonings now exceed the present general development plan. Glennie said it was his understanding that such a plan should be brought up to date every five years or so in order to be enforceable.

The clerk added that such a step would permit the township to get tough on rezonings without the need for bluff.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock quoted the township attorney in his support for Humbert's plan. "By the time anyone gets through testing the validity of the moratorium, we'll have our study done."

Trustee Tom Bullen called several of Humbert's arguments for the moratorium "unsubstantiated by fact." He also said condominiums serve a needed purpose and that he'd rather see condominiums than trailer parks.

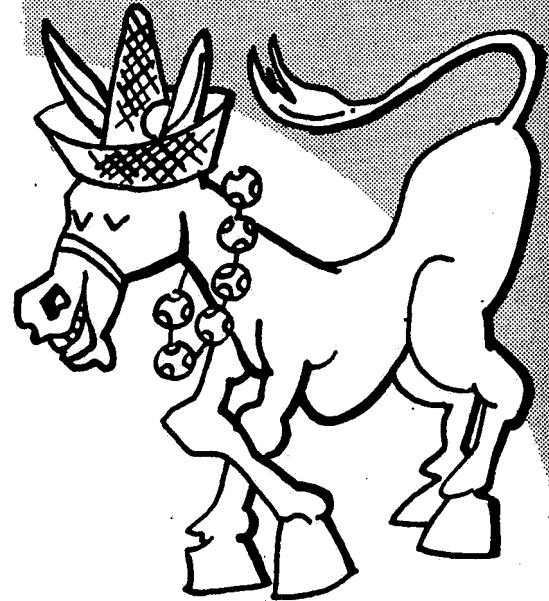

The supervisor proposed that rezonings be granted only at the time a building permit is applied for. He said such a practice is now being tried in other municipalities and it insures action.

Glennie agreed that property often changes hands because of rezonings. He said he'd be glad to look into the building permit limit seriously, and the board is expected to discuss the matter further at its July 18 meeting.

We got problems

Pine Knob traffic "horrendous"

What has been described as a "horrendous traffic jam" Monday night as thousands of people made their way to Pine Knob to hear "The James Gang" has given impetus to some traffic flow improvements.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock said cars were lined up on I-75 back to Baldwin from the Sashabaw exit. Sheriff's department officials said 500 had been abandoned as occupants made their way on foot to the outdoor concert. Accidents littered the roads; an ambulance got into the area to treat a drug overdose case but couldn't get out again.

Such mob scenes were the subject of a meeting last week between township officials, developers, the County Road Commission and the State Highway Department. Another meeting was due Tuesday.

Stonerock said several relief factors are under consideration, including a widening of the Sashabaw exit ramp north. He said it had been determined that signs would be erected to direct overflow crowds leaving the theater north along Pine Knob Road to Clarkston-Orion Road, into the village of Clarkston and north again to the M-15 access to I-75.

A light is also under consideration for the Sashabaw-Walton intersection, he said, and the widening of Sashabaw and Pine Knob roads is under investigation. No parking signs are being erected along the roads near the theater, where cars parked on residents' lawns. Chloriding of heavily used dirt roads has been asked of Pine Knob owners.

Stonerock said developers had agreed to hold courses for parking attendants at the theater so that some of the end-of-show confusion might be alleviated. He said he suggested an after-show movie which could slow down departures.

The supervisor said developers had been warned that the road problem would be a major factor in approval of site plans for the condominium units planned for the Pine Knob area.

Traffic was not the only problem Monday night. Several arrests for drug use were made — about a dozen according to Capt. William Mauer of the Sheriff's Department. The overdose case was treated on the scene when the ambulance found it impossible to return to a hospital.

Stonerock, who spent three hours Monday night traversing the scene said the outdoor show was as good as the James Gang. He described a bikini clad girl walking down Sashabaw Road oblivious to the crowds. Mauer told of one arrest made when a youth — believed high on drugs — started on tip-toe down the centerline of I-75.

Mauer said abandoned cars were still being removed from I-75 as late as 5 a.m. the next morning.

It's up, up and away for "swingers" participating in the Andersonville playground program.

County park gets license approval

by Gloria Bellairs

The county's Springfield-Oaks Golf Course Clubhouse is virtually assured of receiving a Class C Liquor license.

The Springfield Township Board voted last week to recommend approval of the license, and was assured the new clubhouse would be in operation on Andersonville Road sometime in August.

Eric Reickel, Oakland parks director, and Gerald Lacey, park manager, said drinking would be confined to the clubhouse, and would not be allowed on the golf course.

Parks officials agreed to a 10 p.m. closing time on the license.

Reickel told the board the license should make the everyday operation of the course self-sustaining.

In other action the board turned down a request for a Class C liquor license from Robert Rothermel and his wife. The Rothermels plan a restaurant in the old David Wright mansion at Holly Road and the Dixie Highway.

New electrical and plumbing inspectors will be working under the direction of Building Inspector Lewis Benfield. The board was informed Ronald Vore had been hired to do the electrical work and Gary Lessell to do the plumbing inspection. Both are licensed in their trades.

Dr. Herbert Swanson was reappointed for another three-year term on the township planning commission. Roger Horton was reappointed for one year as the township board representative on the commission.

It was reported the population of Springfield Township is now 4,488.

The Mill Pond in Davisburg has a water safety instructor seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., it was reported. Mike Tubbs has been doing a fine job, said Supervisor Claude Trim. He is paid a salary of $175 per week, the cost split 50-50 by the county parks and recreation department and the township.

Reelected as officers of the Clarkston Board of Education Monday were Richard L. Funk, treasurer; R. A. Weber, chairman; and W. J. Cattin, secretary. Weber began his seventh year as chairman; his 23rd as a member of the board.

Board of Ed reorganizes

R. A. Weber has begun his 23rd year as a member of the Clarkston Board of Education and his 7th year as its chairman.

Weber was reelected to head the board Monday night. Also reelected were W. J. Cattin, secretary, and Richard L. Funk, treasurer.

Meetings will be continued the second Monday of each month at the Board of Education offices. Michigan National Bank of Flint and Pontiac State Bank of Clarkston were continued as depositors for school board funds.

A new treasurer's bond in the amount of $40,000 was continued with Huttenlochers Kerns Norvell Inc.

The board voted to keep its old salary of $150 per member per year.

In other reorganizational matters, David Leak was reappointed to the countywide Task Force 28, a committee of school board representatives, and Richard L. Funk was renamed the delegate to the county board of education.

Only one newly elected member was present for Monday's meeting. Albert Foster took his place on the board, but Charles Smalley wrote he had a prior commitment to attend the National Letter Carriers Association meeting and would be present next month.

Construction staying high

Permits for building construction continued to show an upward trend over those issued a year ago in Independence Township. A total of $843,625 were issued in June, as compared to $750,435 worth a year ago.

The sum included $689,700 for new houses, $54,533 in additions, $60,000 in commercial and $11,020 in swimming pools.

Three signs worth $19,350 were also approved.

She's really a lifeguard

A 20-year-old lifeguard at Deer Lake Beach was credited with saving the life of an unidentified 3-year-old toddler Saturday, July 1.

Jane Richard said she saw the 3-year-old follow two older sisters into the water as she sat atop the lifeguard station. When the youngster was no longer able to touch bottom and fell forward, she appeared for a moment to swim, it was reported.

At any rate, Jane, who had been keeping an eye on things saw the child was in trouble and moved as fast as she's ever been able to snatch the child from the water and to begin mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the spot.

The parents of the child had apparently been caught off-guard for the few minutes that the accident took to happen.

Jane says she's glad she was there. It really wasn't her night to work, and she was substituting for another lifeguard.

Jane Richard

Jane, a junior at Central Michigan University, plans to be a health education teacher. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richard of Cramlane.

A housing vacuum EDITORIAL

Independence Township residents have expressed themselves largely in opposition to apartment construction. They've also said they don't like mobile homes.

So single family home construction emerges as the most favored alternative for housing additional residents, and yet it's not that simple.

Our board attempts to keep lot sizes as big as possible. There are members who look with disfavor on most lot splits, and granted — big lots in any area are a plus factor.

Yet those big lots brings up the price of housing to the point where a goodly segment of the population cannot easily afford single family homes.

Our young married, whom we'd do well to keep within the township, are among that class of people who find available housing outside their income. Where are we going to house them?

As a builder told the board last week, sometimes it seems we talk out both sides of our mouth. We're against multiples and trailers, and yet we're also against small single family dwellings.

"If It Fitz . . ."

'Well, look who's dead today'

By Jim Fitzgerald

And then I wrote . . .

The toughest part of being a nutty columnist is keeping ahead of the nuts.

It's like this: Reaching for chuckles, I sometimes exaggerate. I say my wife is so emotional she cries when the flag goes up at railroad crossings. She doesn't really. But the other night I caught her crying at a TV commercial. She was worried about a girl who couldn't get married because her father had dandruff. I explained to her that it wasn't that big a deal, all brides are not pregnant, and she said she had not even thought about that. So she thought about it and cried harder.

See what I mean? Those kind of nuts don't need more salt. It is difficult to write facetiously about a world which continually produces and accepts the incredible. I thought I was kidding a few years ago when I suggested tweater funerals. But now I'm not so sure.

At the time, I was bugged by

2 things: 1) Undertakers were getting too much of the blame for the extravagance and general foolishness of many funerals and 2) goofy couples, in search of private passion in public, were wearing tweaters. A tweater is just like an ordinary sweater except 2 people get into it and it isn't so much fun if your name is Ralph and your partner's name is Gordon.

My point was that some people spend more than they can afford on funerals just to impress the neighbors. These phonies will give dead Uncle Harry a send-off worthy of a king. When he was alive, they wouldn't wave goodbye to him. But if that is what the nuts want to buy, why blame the undertaker for selling it? He's in business, the same as the guy who sells you a color TV when what you really need is a hernia operation.

I concluded, tongue in cheek, by suggesting some day the couple that dies together will be buried together in a tweater. Now Hirschel Thornton has knocked the bulge from my cheek and left my tongue hanging out, aghast. He probably used tweater shrouds 20 years ago.

Thornton is the Georgia undertaker with the drive-in windows. At his place, you can pay your last respects without leaving your car, the same as buying a root beer at the A & W.

Thornton has 5 windows facing a busy street. The coffins are tilted and lighted so you hardly have to slow down to see who's dead today. Instead of telling the survivors you are sorry, you just honk sympathetically.

Or a motorized mourner could stick his head out and holler: "He looks so natural." And maybe Thornton would holler back: "He should, he's my window washer."

Thornton says the main advantages of drive-in condolences are 1) You save time; 2) You don't have to dress up and 3) You can come after midnight. In other words, you can grieve on your way home from bowling, with a buzz on your brain and Jake's Bar and Grill" on your shirt.

But Thornton didn't answer the most important question: unless the survivors are sitting on the curb, how do they know you were there? You always sign the register when you visit a funeral parlor. You want to be certain the relatives know you cared about poor Uncle Harry. Besides you wear the same size shoes he did.

But how can a drive-in mourner be sure of getting credit for the visit? The widow isn't going to say "Look, John Dimmit was here, I recognize his tire tracks."

It is a problem, to be sure. I could suggest some solutions nutty enough to fit the situation — such as a little boy in the window to jot down license plate numbers. But I am not going to do it. No matter how ridiculous and impossible my idea is, someone like Thornton will top it. And do it.

I can't keep ahead of the nuts. That's what you call Onward and Upward.

A bouquet of onions

To the editor,

I read the article featured last week on your front page and feel it didn't merit printing, much less the front page.

His generalizations of all political candidates was not original or humorous and had nothing constructive to offer. It's easy to complain about the caliber of office seekers, some justified, but when it comes time to file for these positions, critics like Mr. McGlashen are not among the candidates.

There are many who run for offices on both party tickets who do not fit his cliché remarks and he does them a disservice. In this day when disrespect for everybody and everything is common, articles like this add to it.

My suggestion to Mr. McGlashen is please run for some political office soon and offer your knowledge of all that is wrong and correct it. Then I'll look down my nose and see what a big joke he is!

Mrs. Evelyn Seeterlin

Candidate speaks

To the editor,

My name is Ed Manley, I'm running for township trustee as a Republican in the August 8 primary. I have no ax to grind, nor do I seek special privileges.

Here are some things about me you may want to know. I'm 35 years old, married, and have four children. I've lived in Independence Township for ten years. I was elected chairman of the Clarkston Chapter of the National Action Group last fall, and would continue to work towards saving our neighborhood schools.

I represented the Pontiac Fire Fighters as an officer of their association for nine years. I've taken extension courses at the University of Michigan in Supervisory Methods in Municipal Government and Public Speaking.

I've got a stake in our township. This is where I chose to build a home and raise my children.

I am presently serving on the Panning Commission and would hope to continue to do so. Some of the things I believe in are a follows:

I'm for elected officials who represent the people who elect them. Too many forget those who elected them once they are in office. I'm for local control of our township. We don't need large bureaucracies in the county, state, or Washington telling us what is best for Independence Township. I'm for supplying the people with the most service at the least cost. When any elected official is making a decision on money to be spent, the one overriding question ought to be, how much service will the taxpayer really receive, and is it worth that amount of money.

I'm for working with other elected officials in the township. The people of our township deserve their five elected officials working together for the good of the township, and the people who elect them.

I'm for more programs that will keep our children active and out of trouble. I believe if we are going to have less problems from our youth, we must have things for them to do, and guidance while they're doing them.

I'm for neighborhood schools, controlled by our local board, where taxpayers and parents' voices can be heard and where their voices mean something.

I'm for active support of our newly formed Independence Township Land Conservancy (Land Trust). Open spaces must be preserved, because once they are used up, there are no more.

I'm for a crackdown on the drug pushers who are operating in our township and a meaningful program to catch and rehabilitate the people who are hooked on drugs and are breaking into our homes.

I'm very much opposed to more multiples being built in our township.

I'm for America, and the rights of our citizens to shape their own destiny. We do not need Federal Judges to tell us what we must do and how much it will cost us.

If you believe as I do on some of these issues, please don't stay home August 8. Get out and vote. I need and want your support. If elected, I would serve as your representative on the township board.

Thank you,
Ed Manley

Letters to the Editor

Into the campaign

Dear Editor,

It appears that in the heat of competition as the political year in Independence Township gets wound up, some people will do most anything to discredit their opponents rather than run on their own merits.

Just to reassure those residents of our community who are being accosted by such individuals, I would appreciate very much your publishing the attached letter.

Sincerely,
J. Edwin Glennie

Beach activities in the swim

By Gloria Bellairs

A combined effort of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission and Springfield Township is the beach on Davisburg Road at the Mill Pond. The beach is open 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and is already proving to be one of the most popular spots in the area.

Mike Tubbs of Holly has been employed as full time swimming instructor and life guard.

Mike worked at the Holly beach for five summers, and is qualified to teach swimming, life saving techniques, and he is also an experienced scuba diver.

Following this summer's stint as lifeguard, he will return to Ferris State College to complete his studies in chemistry and biology.

Meanwhile you can find him on the cool days raking up glass, spreading sand, putting in posts and stringing lines and setting buoys to mark the swimming area.

Mike would like to teach an organized swim class if enough people over the age of 7 were to sign up. Registrations are now being accepted, and classes are due to start July 17.

He is accepting registrations for beginners, advanced beginners, intermediate and advanced swimmers each day at the beach.

He notes a new raft has lately been added to beach equipment by the Davisburg Jaycees. Picnic tables are to be furnished by the Oakland County Road Commission, and next year there are plans to use the old Oakland County Road Commission building on the property for beach activities.

Davisburg Rotarians turned out in force Wednesday, July 5, to lay sod, shovel, build steps, rake, hose and plan future development at the Davisburg Mill Pond beach.

Founder and Past President Charles Going stated it was about five years ago when it was decided that the village of Davisburg needed a Rotary Club. The first meetings were in his home. Now the membership has grown to 32 men from Springfield and Rose Townships.

Present President Clarence Gordon, 1608 Davisburg Road, Holly, said the Mill Pond project is a two-year project and a combined financial effort of Rotary, Springfield Township, Springfield Park Commission and Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission.

The park is located on the south side of Davisburg Road near the village. Water flowing from the Mill Pond makes the spillway, waterwheel and bridge a spot of beauty.

Future plans call for the construction of a parking lot, picnic tables, terracing by volunteer Rotarians.

Funds being used by the club include that from the annual fall auction which takes place across the road from the beach in the former Oakland County Road Commission building.

Brumback to preach

Robert Brumback, a member of Calvary Lutheran Church in Clarkston, will preach at the 9:30 a.m. service Sunday, July 16, in the absence of vacationing Pastor Robert Walters.

Based on the lesson for the day from Romans 6:19-23, Mr. Brumback will share his experience about the slavery of youth and adults to various kinds of drugs. He is director of special services for the Clarkston Board of Education and has worked with the youth of the high school and junior high schools.

Vicki Johnson, a recent CHS graduate, will be the lector.

Springfield helps

by Gloria Bellairs

Springfield township board voted last week to make a $1,500 contribution to Residents Awareness Program (RAP) for the four township drug treatments programs being set up in the old Webster School in White Lake Township.

The center will provide live-in facilities for treatment and cure of heroin addiction. It will house about 28 addicts in approximate four month treatment periods.

Judge Kenneth Hempstead said 460 addicts are already registered for treatment at the facility. The center is designed to serve Waterford, White Lake, Independence and Springfield townships.

He reported at the Drop-in Center at 2955 Watkins Lake Road hosts an open house every Tuesday evening and the public is invited to attend.

The judge said that 96 percent of the breaking and entering charges he hears in his court are drug related.

He said that what may have been a $2 a day habit picked up by soldiers in Vietnam turns into a $75 to $100 per day habit here. The judge, long a leader in the fight against drug abuse, stated because heroin is not only physically but psychologically addicting, the user must come for help by his own free will. Only in that manner, he said, can the reason for drug usage as well as the addiction be treated.

The judge said that homes, schools and churches must not only teach values, but how to attain them.

Schools say can't help finance roads

The school board, on the advice of its bonding attorneys, does not like the idea in sharing in paving costs of Pine Knob Road north off Clarkston-Orion Road to Bailey Lake School.

It had been requested to contribute some $13,000 to the project by the township board.

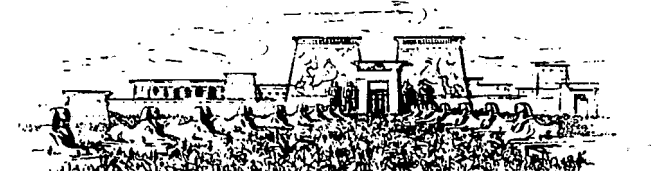

Dr. Leslie F. Greene, superintendent, reported that bonding attorneys felt the board could enter into such an agreement only when the project was made a special assessment. A special assessment district would in turn make the board responsible for road improvements only on that piece of road which abuts school property.

Dr. Greene pointed out that as far as the school system is concerned, it would put a higher priority on the paving of Middle Lake Road from Clarkston Senior High School to Main Street or on that portion of Pine Knob road which runs adjacent to the Sashabaw schools.

R. A. Weber, chairman of the board, said he would be against using school funds for roads in any event. "There are things we'd like to do in the educational area—bands, for instance—and we haven't found funds for these," he said.

Planner considered New book store opens

The township board was to meet Wednesday night to consider two applications for full time planner. The position was approved by the voters at the annual meeting.

Under consideration is current planning consultant Larry Burkhard and Frank Reynolds, a former member of the township planning commission.

Two late applicants will also be interviewed this week. They are John E. Ambrose of West Bloomfield Township, an employe of the Vilican-Leman Planning firm of Southfield, and Theofilo Tacderas of Manilla, a Philippine planner now living in Pontiac.

The board may also consider putting insurance coverage out for bids. A hassle over whether $4,648 in insurance should be paid developed as the board considered the monthly bills last week.

Supervisor Gary Stonerock spoke in favor of a bid system.

Chuck and Janice Ferrero of Rochester are the owners of a new shop, "Prologue - the Store of New and Old Books" which opened recently at 6½ Church Street in the Duane Hursfall Real Estate office.

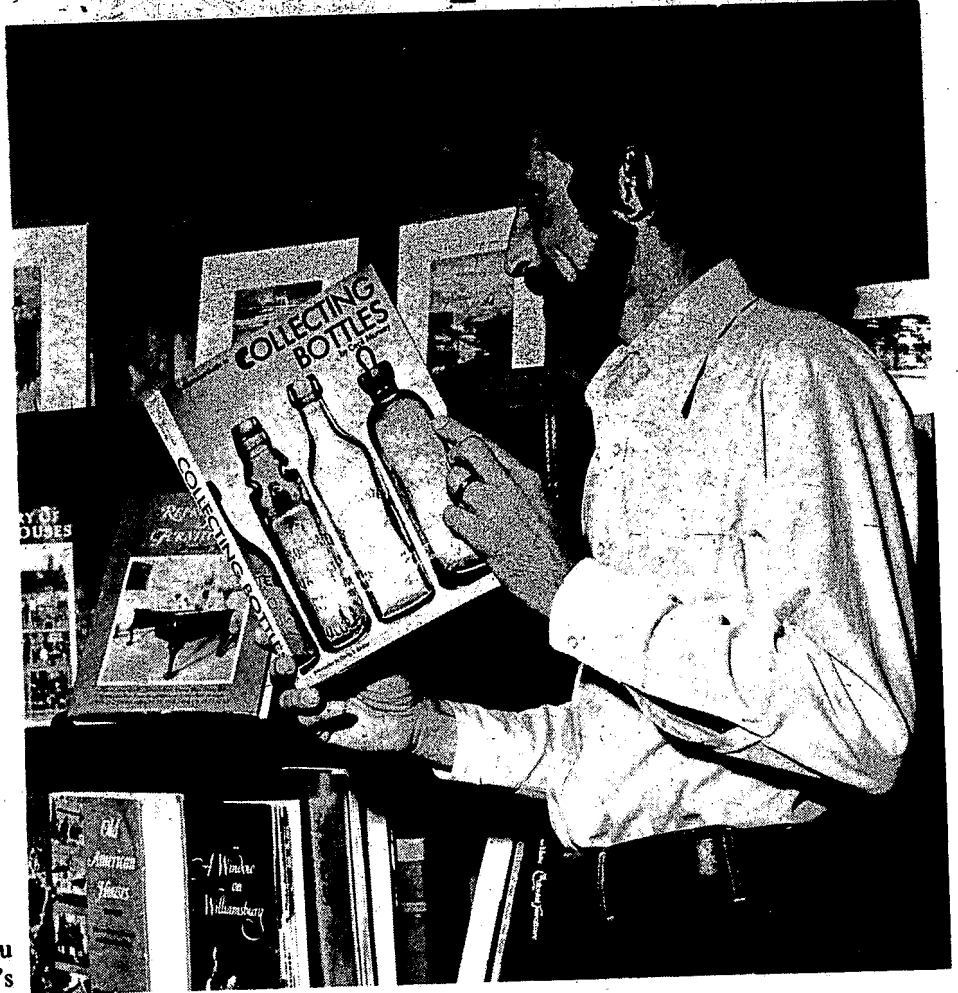

The store, modeled after Helen Williams' well-known "Book Nook" in Rochester, offers a library of collector's items, hardbacks and a children's section.

Chuck says plans are to enlarge the collector's and children's sections, and to maintain popular books and paperbacks as the demand signifies.

In connection with the children's section, there are plans for Janice to start a reading or crafts hour later this summer, Chuck said.

Chuck, a recent graduate of Oakland University with a major in English, has written for various magazines.

He says the people of Clarkston seem quite receptive to the bookstore and he has hopes the Ferrero's will be around for a long time.

"There are only two ways to be quite unprejudiced and impartial. One is to be completely ignorant; the other is to be completely indifferent."

Fresh spring water offered

Fresh spring water, bottled while you wait, is the commodity in Clarkston's newest business, Edgell Spring Water, 296 White Lake Road.

The business has been started by Mrs. Eloise Beach, a resident of the area for 40 years, on her Edgell Estates on Deer Lake. In partnership with her is Mary Ellen Johns.

Mrs. Beach asks that customers - preferring spring water over well water or city water - bring their own jugs which will be filled while they wait.

The spring is located on a knoll, and has been flowing for more than 30 years, Mrs. Beach said.

The water is state tested and approved, she added.

Mrs. Beach has sold real estate in the area, and is a former school bus driver.

Suit in progress

The Waterford Hill zoning case is proceeding in Judge James Thorburn's Circuit Court this week. Testimony is being accepted from witnesses, but no decision was expected this week.

The case involves the suit brought by developers against the township for refusing to rezone Waterford Hill Country Club to permit construction of a K-Mart.

Did you know that the number of older couples is increasing steadily year by year? And more and more often, these couples find a large house more than they are interested in caring for. What scarcely seemed adequate for a large family now seems monstrous and is completely unnecessary. More couples these days are selling large homes. Seven out of ten of these couples, according to a leading authority, are buying smaller dwellings. Are you among these?

No matter what size dwelling you are looking for, BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 will give you the same personal service and attention, and we will guide you in avoiding the many costly mistakes inherent in home buying. We also provide complete assistance in obtaining a mortgage. And be sure to call us first with your listings; we have 24 hour answering service. Open: 9-8, Mon-Thur; 9-6, Fri., Sat.; 12-5, Sun.

Mrs. Jim D. Hulsey

Wed Saturday

Gail Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gailen Miller of 21 East Church, Clarkston, and Jim D. Hulsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hulsey of Pontiac, exchanged vows Saturday in Clarkston United Methodist Church. Rev. Jon Clapp officiated.

The bride, attired in an openwork lace floor length gown she'd made herself, was attended by Jolene Alumbaugh of Goodrich who wore a green flocked gown.

Ronnie Vandewater of Pontiac attended the groom.

Following a reception in the church, the couple left for a trip through Shenandoah National Park in Virginia. They will live in Norfolk, Virginia, where is stationed with the Navy.

Both Jim and Gail are Clarkston High School graduates.

Wedding plans

Elaine Hall, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hall of Proctorville, Ohio, will wed John White, son of the Stanley Whites of Clarkston next August. Both are employed by the C&O Railroad. John is a 1966 graduate of Clarkston High School and since graduated from Michigan State University.

Vets picnic

World War I Vets and Auxiliary moved its picnic from the home of Phoebe Riley to Davisburg Town Hall last Saturday when Mrs. Riley became ill. Twenty-one members and guests attended.

The auxiliary took the opportunity to elect Lucille Gries and Eva Boice delegates to the national convention. Iva Landon and Alice Rioux were named alternates.

Independence Township residents had an opportunity to meet local, county and state Republican candidates at an afternoon coffee Sunday at the home of Vern and Irma Sturdy, 5745 Warbler.

The afternoon sunshine turned out more than 50 area residents for an afternoon of meeting the candidates for everything from township supervisor to Congressman.

One of the first to arrive was Congressman William S. Broomfield, who is opposing Congressman Jack H. McDonald for the Republican nomination for the 19th Congressional District. Broomfield spent nearly an hour and a half in conversation at the party.

The Republican candidate for County Prosecutor and former NAG attorney, Brooks Patterson, was also present. Taking some time away from water safety programs to attend was Lt. Don Kratt, candidate for Oakland County Sheriff.

Also on hand were both Republican candidates for Independence Township supervisor, John Lynch and Robert Vandermark. Township Clerk Edwin Glennie and Betty Hallman, candidate for township treasurer, both unopposed in the primary, were also present.

John O'Brien, candidate for Circuit Judge, represented the judiciary.

Kathryn D. Stone

Kathryn D. Stone (Mrs. James M.), office manager of T and C Federal Credit Union, has been named Community Division Chairman of the 1972 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign. The announcement was made by James Clarkson, 1972 Campaign General Chairman.

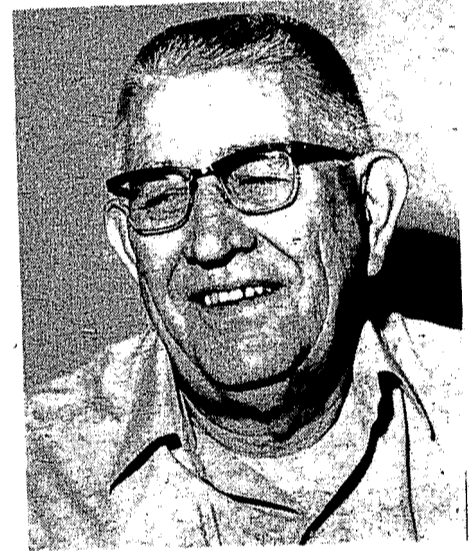

Mrs. Stone, of 3125 Rosanne Lane, Drayton Plains, will oversee small business and selected residential solicitations in Waterford, Oxford, Orion, Independence and Pontiac township and selected residential calls in the city of Pontiac.

Postal employes retire

Marion Lawson

Clarkston Post Office has lost a couple of familiar faces. Ray Jarvis, a rural mail carrier and for the last year assistant postmaster, and Marion Lawson, a clerk, retired July 1.

Ray Jarvis

They were treated to a farewell dinner at Walli's Supper Club in Flint that night. Ray had worked for the postoffice for 24 years and Marion was there for 20 years.

Around the township

A happy ending

By Shanna Nadolsky

625-2837

Everybody likes stories with happy endings. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kruger of Celina, Ohio, stopped in at the Clarkston News office Monday to see if they could get help in their search for his father's cousin, Carl, a Clarkston area blacksmith. Carl was recently featured in a story by United Press International as a blacksmith of the old school.

The Ohio Krugers read the story in their hometown newspaper and, since they were planning to visit this area anyway, decided to look up the long lost relative. It just so happens that the author of the UPI story, Jean Bray, lives on Pine Knob Road and knows Carl. We put the Ohio relatives in touch with Jean who was preparing to take them to see Carl.

Robert Kruger said he'd never seen his uncle, and the last time his dad had seen Carl was probably in the 1920's.

Bob and Nancy Tilley of 6705 Transparent report the birth of their eighth child and fifth boy Friday, July 7. The youngster weighed in at 9 pounds, 2 1/2 ounces. Both Nancy and the baby are fine and so is Bob.

Joseph Madison, 6637 Roselawn, is reported as the first local winner in Standard Oil's contest to give away 1,000 free gallons of gasoline. Dick Roy, manager of Roy's Standard Station at Sashabaw and Walton where Madison entered the contest, estimates he'll get a year's free driving out of the prize.

Carita Lassfolk the Finnish exchange student who lived with the Sam Vascassenno family at 6235 Middle Lake Road five years ago, is back for a visit. Carita completed her senior year of high school at Clarkston and she's looking forward to seeing some of her former classmates, according to Mrs. Vascassenno.

The original exchange has so far resulted in two overseas visits, Mrs. Vascassenno said. The Vascassenno's daughter Susan, was a guest of Carita's family two years ago.

Carita is a student at college in Helsinki where she's studying languages with an eye to service in the diplomatic branch of government. She'll be in Clarkston for two months.

Lee M. Clark of 2507 Auburn Road, Pontiac, a lifelong resident of Clarkston now residing with his daughter, Mrs. Virginia Owen, will celebrate his 91st birthday July 17. Mrs. Owen says he is enjoying good health, but he missed his friends and activities in Clarkston.

The Art Ripley family of Amy Drive enjoyed spending the holiday weekend with Pat's folks in Onaway. A few relaxing hours were spent picking beautiful, red strawberries - 48 quarts of them! The family returned home long enough to unpack and pack up again for a few days at Cedar Point.

And, how we spent our summer vacation. It all began with a rainy 1st day ending at Corbin, Kentucky. From there, the skies kept clearing for a beautiful tour of the Smokies and an overnight stay at Gatlinburg. Then on the the United States Jaycee 52 Annual Convention in Atlanta, Georgia, June 19-23. Also representing Clarkston in Atlanta were the Jerry Bradley's of Snowapple, the Jerry Powell's of Sunnydale and the Donald Hamaker's of Kingfisher. There is no question as to Atlanta's ability to entertain tourists, conventioners, and residents. There are ample facilities and attractions for everyone to enjoy. The City showed thousands of Jaycees a marvelous and memorable week.

After the Convention came to a close, we traveled to Winter Garden, Florida where my grandparents, the George Marshalls are located. We enjoyed several side trips from this location and Disney World was certainly most notable. The gardens, buildings, rides, shows, and exhibits are a real challenge to amateur and professional photographers. After several days mid-state, we headed home via Florida's Atlantic coast line. Daytona Beach, Marineland, and St. Augustine were all interesting stops along the way.

Our children, David 7, Erik 5, and Elizabeth 2 seemed to most enjoy Disney World and the ocean. They traveled South with my parents, the David Stewart's, in their trailer to Winter Garden where David and I joined them following the Convention.

Jaycettes selling POW bracelets

Clarkston Jaycettes are into a busy month. They'll be helping the Jaycees during the Bottles for Building drive Saturday. The gals will serve the luncheon.

The group has recently started two programs, one devoted to spreading information about the sudden infant death syndrome and the other the sale of POW bracelets.

Those interested in ordering a bracelet from the Jaycettes may request the name of a prisoner they know. The bracelets, designed to keep the plight of prisoners of war in the public eye, are $2.50 for nickel and $3 for copper.

The group has also made initial plans for a car wash in July.

Pay hike

Election workers in the August primary have received a hike in pay from the township board. Because of the long list of candidates and the 18-hour working day anticipated, the board voted to pay precinct chairmen $45 instead of the current $35 per day and to adjust other rates upward accordingly. Other workers would be paid at the rate of $40, $25 and $20 a day.

Shanna needs help

Shanna Nadolsky, the better half of the David-Shanna team connected with Clarkston Area Jaycees, has a problem.

Shanna, 30, has been attempting in a community-minded sort of way to keep the people of Clarkston informed about their neighbors through the Clarkston News' "Around the Township" column.

She enjoys talking to people, she doesn't mind it when the phone rings, and she particularly likes it when the phone rings and someone on the other end has news for the column.

Unfortunately that's a rare occurrence, according to the Shanna.

While she and the paper constantly get favorable comments about the column, very few people take the trouble to pick up the phone, call her, and tell her what they've been doing.

Three little Nadolskys, 7, 5, and 2 keep Shanna close to home and the telephone. And while she doesn't mind making the occasional phone call to ferret out the news, a constant string of answers amounting to "nothing", "I don't know" or "call me next week" doesn't lend to a productive feeling.

It also lends to frustration, which Shanna works off by riding her bike around town.

If you see her pedaling furiously, give her time to get home, get on the phone and tell her some news. She likes to hear about what the neighbors are doing, and she thinks it would be a cold kind of newspaper that carried no good tidings.

Spiritual Message

"WITH OUR EYES OPEN"

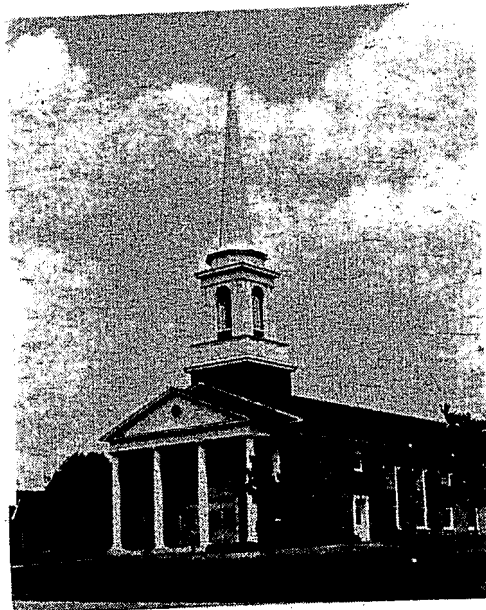

To pray with our eyes open is to see God in the faces of other persons. It is to see Christ in a restaurant, on a beach, on the street, in a jail, a schoolroom, across the breakfast table, in all events and relationships of life.

To pray with our eyes wide open is to "pray without ceasing". We may call this a prayer which participated in the healing, reconciling, and justice-making work of God in our world.

To pray with our eyes open means to be open and vulnerable to the pain and joy of other people. Our deepest, most authentic prayers are those wordless sighs and groans too deep for articulation which arise because of what we see.

To pray with our eyes open allows spontaneity, reality, and creativity that seems remote when we are in the "closet" with our eyes closed. The place for prayer is everywhere and the time for prayer is anytime and it is meant to be as natural as breathing.

The test of authentic prayer is not the movement of our lips, but the movement of our lives.

CLARKSTON UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Frank A. Cozadd

So, I have been liberated from the feeling that I ought to pray a certain amount of time every morning and night, to the freedom of praying all day long. This does not mean I always do it, but I am free to do it.

A mother's revenge

by Jean Saile

I have discovered that the only person who uses a telephone more than a teenager is a candidate for public office.

In the Saile household, mother — hard after the County Clerk's job — has had her revenge. The kids are carping because the line is always busy.

For a woman who used to get maybe five phone calls a week at home, that's not bad. Used to be that would-be callers were turned off by the busy signal, a deterrent to friendly communication in any family with one teenager, let alone four.

I know what I talk about on the telephone, but I never really figured out what the kids talked about.

I've seen our youngsters and a date sit side by side on a davenport watching a television show and never exchange more than three words.

He leaves. The phone rings, and they're tied up for as long as we as parents will allow.

Must be something about technology making it easier to speak. Could be when they were in the living room there were a lot of other ears there as well as the automatic one.

I have heard records played over the phone by kids whose idea of stereophonics is needle sharp and hard to satisfy. I have heard interminable conversations amounting to, "Yeah, I guess so. Uh uh. Maybe," interspersed by giggling sessions.

I have decided the telephone automatically makes one a wit. The conversation certainly didn't sound that funny on my end.

The telephone is also an instrument of popularity. With a job hanging over his head, I have heard a son call a friend and ask that friend to have his mother call me to invite him to spend the night.

The idea is, I think, to impress us that socializing is sometimes more important than working. Which also makes the telephone a good alibi machine.

As a working mother I have had the phone ring and been expected to settle a dispute by long distance. It is being used as referee; only at about that point, I jump up from my office chair and head for the car and home to do some on-the-spot settling.

And now when the bell tolls at home, it tolls oftenest for me. Ah, sweet delight, to see four to five kids jump up and race for the phone — the winner to grimace and say, "Ah, it's for you."

And what do I say on the phone? Things like schedules, and supporters, and who I should contact next, and really important stuff like that.

The kids say it makes no sense to them.

Teri Morrow (from left), Michele Richmond and Holly Hawke check the map for the route of their two-week Girl Scout tour, "Walking in the Footsteps of our Ancestors." They are among 21 girls from North Oakland County who will be accompanied by Mrs. Flora Bills and Mrs. Nancy Beauchamp on tour including the U.S. Embassy in Ottawa, Harvard, West Point, Camp Edith Macy, Girl Scout National Headquarters, Gettysburg and Niagara Falls. The tour will travel by bus.

The independent view

by Jean Saile

The life guards down at Deer Lake Beach are justly proud of Jane Richard who saved a three-year-old from drowning recently. What they particularly want to point out, however, is the need for ever alert attention on the part of parents who take their toddlers to the beach. The toddlers' legs just don't always reach to the firm ground below the water, and they must be confined to the immediate shore area unless they are accompanied by someone who is taking care of them. The near drowning was a harrowing experience — one the lifeguards wouldn't like to see repeated this year.

We've been chewed out and justly so. Unfortunately the pictures we were able to get of the Fourth of July parade didn't do justice to the many man, woman and child hours that were spent producing the floats. There are a couple of reasons why it happened, neither of which cut much ice when a reader expects to see his float in the paper. What we'll do, and gladly, is reproduce some good float pictures that you readers were fortunate enough to be able to take. Bring 'em down to the office, or call us — 625-3370.

Hope to have a picture next week of the beach rejuvenation project taken on by the citizens of Woodhull. We hear it's looking so very good that any day now there may be a yacht basin installed off-shore. That's the kind of news it's fun to print about Woodhull.

Leigh Bonner's method for teaching his history students the names of American presidents made The Free Press last week. Leigh uses the system, so it's reported, of recalling hard-to-remember names through the use of the phrase, "Tyler Polk(ed) Taylor and that Fillmore Pierce(d) Buchanan(s) Lincoln!"

The Garden Club is selling the last of its Clarkston phone books for the bargain price of $1 each. There are some available at The Clarkston News.

Marion Weeks calls to tell me that the Mission Procurator, Rev. John Briefies, Box 46, West Point, Va., 23181, collects both old trading stamps and old postage stamps. He trades them, she says. Anybody, like me, who has a lot of old stamps can get rid of them that way and do some good, she says.

Independence Township Firemen have asked, through this column, to express their thanks to the people of the community who participated in and donated to the recent Fourth of July parade. It was kind of nice seeing us all written up by the big city papers, as well.

It's nice to live in a nationally recognized forward-looking country. The National Association of Counties has recently cited Oakland for its Partners in Planning Program carried out by the Oakland County Planning Department, and for its TOPIC Program and Study Report developed by the Oakland County Road Commission to improve major intersection traffic flow.

3 teams unbeaten

With the junior league baseball program at the mid-point of the season, four teams remain unbeaten in the six leagues.

37 set sail in regatta

Terry Karnes in Challenger 15 outsailed a fleet of 37 boats July 4 to win the Deer Lake Regatta. Light winds and chilly weather didn't dampen the spirits of the sailors whatsoever.

A new handicap system made possible a "win" by any sailor regardless of the size or class of his boat. Tuesday was a day when the "big guys" took a back seat.

Coming in second was Gale Wigner and in order of finish were Dale Fitch in a Sidewinder, Ron Chambers in a Sunfish, Jim Hitchcock in a Sunfish, Brooke Bennett in a Shark, Kent Rathburn in a Paceship, Jim Tarlsin in a Wayfarer, Gary Stonerock in a Windflight, and John Matz in a Sunfish.

The excitement started in the beach area with Bruce Mac Arthur's gun crew setting off the cannon to announce the beginning of the race. Bev Hanson and John Witherup served as timers, Bob and Marvel White manned the committee "yacht", and the buoys were set by Jerry and Lois Namowitz.

Prizes were donated by Deer Lake Property Owners through "Mac" MacDougal. The Deer Lake Sail Club also awarded trophies for first, second and third place winners. Ron Chambers won the Gold Cup, a traveling trophy for Deer Lake Sail Club members.

The cup, to be inscribed with Chambers name, will be up for grabs in competition August 6 when the Deer Lake Invitational Regatta is planned.

All sailors are welcome at that race and at regular weekly races starting next Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

More ski runs?

A public hearing to determine if 37 acres east of the existing Pine Knob ski slopes should be rezoned from agriculture to commercial recreation will be held July 20 by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

The land has recently been acquired by Indusco Corp., owner of Pine Knob, and is contemplated for use as more ski runs, it was reported at the township meeting last week.

O'Neil Realty, with two impressive victories last week have a spotless 6-0 record in the PeeWee National Division.

A and A Trenching with a 5-0 record is the leader in the American division of the PeeWee League.

Armstrong leads the Midget League with five victories and one tie followed by Howe's Lanes and Higginbotham Roofing in second with 5-1 records.

First place in the Widget American Division is being hotly contested by Haupt Pontiac and Shell Floor Covering who are 4-2 overall. Chrysler Hahn is undefeated, 5-0, in the National Division of the Widget League.

A close race is developing in the Pony League between three teams. Morrow Dairy Queen is in the first with a 4-2 record followed by Post 63, American Legion at 3-2 and Shell Floor Covering at 3-3.

Saturday, July 22, Clarkston will have its first baseball carnival and fun day. Starting at 1:30 p.m., all 49 teams will play games until dark on the eight fields at the high school.

Special races and events will highlight the day of fun. Tickets are being sold by the managers and a large turnout is hoped for to raise funds for field improvements.

Fishing report

Some nice catches of bass are being taken from Pontiac Lake and the Impoundment at Seven Lakes Recreation Area. Limited catches of rainbow are being taken on Proud Lake.

Have you children around or near home? Then you must know what it is to have to change a window glass. Don't make the mistake of thinking, however, that putty alone will hold a new glass in place. You will need to put glazier's points around the glass at intervals, pounding these into the frame, in order to hold the glass securely. Then add putty to make the window water and airtight.

Get your supplies for this and other household tasks at BOB'S HARDWARE, 60 S. Main St. 625-5020. Or bring in that broken storm window and we'll replace the glass. In addition to our complete selection of paints, and stains, we have a wide selection of wallpaper, many with matching fabrics, and we will be happy to help with your decorating problems. And of course, we have the paste, brushes and equipment you'll need. Open: Mon.-Sat., 8-6.

HELPFUL HINT:

Keep putty in a plastic bag between usings to keep it soft and pliable.

Thanks!

I would like to thank members of the Fire Department and members of the community for their show of appreciation.

Diabetics

Insulin is a wonderful drug for diabetics, enabling their bodies to make proper use of carbohydrates and fat. But it can occasionally result in an "insulin reaction," caused by a rapid decrease in the blood-sugar level.

It can occur from too little food, too much exercise, or too much insulin. Sometimes it happens without warning, so the diabetic can't take any precautions.

It is seen as fatigue, weakness, trembling, slurred speech, double vision, sweating and extreme hunger. These symptoms are often confused with drunkenness.

Unless the diabetic immediately swallows something sweet (sugar cube, candy, fruit juice, soft drink), the condition becomes worse. Confusion, incoordination and emotional disturbances may develop, and the person can lose consciousness.

If you encounter somebody with such a problem, look for a necklace or bracelet saying "I am a diabetic." Then there is probably information in the wallet or purse, telling you what to do and who to call.

If you're in doubt, give the person sugar in some form. If there is no prompt recovery, get medical help.

CAP rocketing to knowledge

Crooked Lake might have been under attack on a recent Saturday morning.

Rocket trails laced the sky — the boom of blast-offs and the whirr of engines filled the air.

The exercise was just another project of Clarkston Composite Squadron Civil Air Patrol; some 22 members completing their work in another aero-space study course with which the program abounds.

Cadet Lt. Col. Gary Klann has been teaching a course in rocketry to the members of the squadron for the last seven weeks. Members, including four girls, built their own rockets from kits, launched them, passed an oral test on rocketry, and did calculations resulting from the tests.

They also learned a good deal about rocketry safety.

The rockets varied in size and speed, some of the smaller models traveling 60 miles per hour to a height of 380 feet, others traveling 60 miles per hour to a height of 380 feet, others traveling 100 miles per hour to a height of 1,000 feet, Klann said.

The launch was the first one for the squadron in six years. It provided members the opportunity to see performance under varying conditions, to calculate distance and speed, and to have a sigh of relief at a successful launch and watch in happiness as their models parachuted, streamed, and tumbled earthward again.

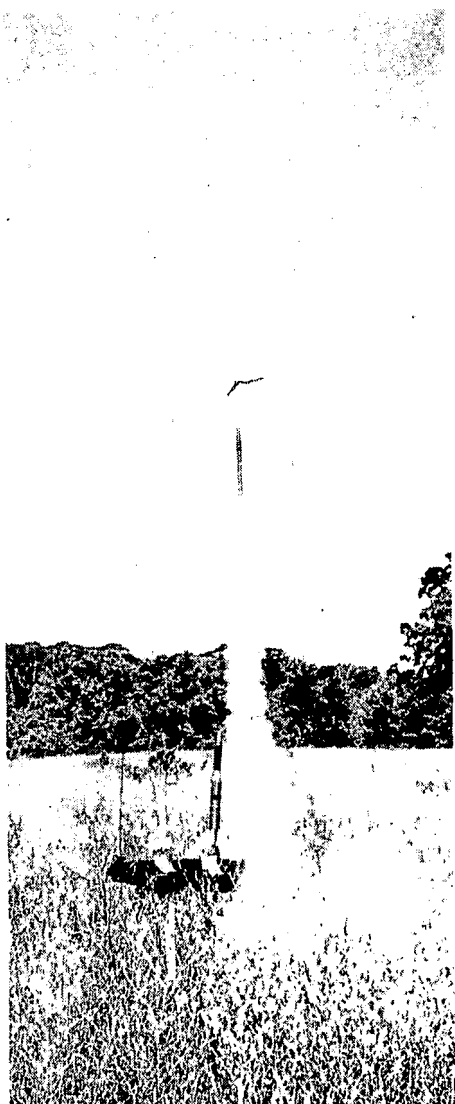

Jeff Lawrence checks the control panel.

Cadet Lt. Col. Gary Klann and Mike Brinkmann supervised the launching.

Up she goes!

Cadets do some calculations following the launch.
