Learners, helpers benefit from program

First grade mathematics is among the subjects illuminated by cross-age helpers at Clarkston Elementary School. Here, Nanette Tessier (left) counts crayons with the help of Tricia Robertson while Dan Maas uses gourds to illustrate a subtraction problem for Amy Stark. Tricia and Dan are among 18 ninth graders from Clarkston Junior High School who are participating in the four-year-old program, designed to provide more individualized attention for the younger children and at the same time develop self-esteem in the older pupils as they learn to help others.

Mothers who have deer hunting husbands must find a similarity in attitudes and actions between their children and the fathers two seasons a year.

Just before Christmas for the kids and just before deer hunting for the husbands there is a uniform "Yes, mother" and "Yes, deer." (Husbands may say 'dear' but they mean 'deer').

Of course, deer hunting sort of begins winter, so some winterizing is necessary about the household. However, if I weren't going north for a few days I'm sure the chores would be put off beyond the weekend before leaving.

Like furinstance shaping up a terracing job I started last May. No husband would pick a misty, cold day to finish the drain, move rocks into place and hoe out the confounded weeds that grew through the months of neglect.

But the week before going deer hunting I did.

That outdoor furniture could have endured several more days of rain . . . even freezing. It wouldn't have hurt it too much to have spent the winter outdoors. If I weren't going away stag I might have argued that outdoor furniture should stay outdoors.

It is now safely stored away from the wet and weary.

There's a piece of furniture in our house that has had a weak leg for weeks. Recently, I went so far as to put a few pieces of 2x4 under the corner. It wasn't exactly even, but the company could be directed to more steady chairs.

That weak leg got fixed the weekend before the trek north.

Every deer-hunting husband made sure the storm windows were in place the weekend before.

"Jim, check and see if there is salt in the softener," . . . came the call downstairs. Silently I answered, "You bet. If there isn't I will fill it, if there isn't any salt I'll buy some before I leave town. Anything for you, my deer."

Hazel commented that the leaves were floating into the lagoon a little heavier than usual, didn't I think it might be a good idea to rake them out this fall instead of next spring.

I told her I was just thinking about doing that.

Her car got greased and oiled, her windows got washed, her child was driven to acrobatics, and her favorite roast was cooked to her liking by hubby.

I've even been reasonably kind to the kids the last couple weeks.

I've made enough Brownie points to get me through a golfing weekend in April. My halo fairly glints from the many frequent polishings.

Clarkston to get first hand coverage of moon shot

There she goes!

When the Apollo 17 Moon rocket lifts off Pad A at Cape Kennedy's Launch Complex 39, a representative from Clarkston will be on hand.

Bob Hemming has been assigned to cover the event for the Clarkston News and will be among the several thousand newspaper, radio and television reporters at the press-site at the Cape when the last scheduled Moon flight in the Apollo series takes off. Current plans call for lift-off at 9:53 p.m., Dec. 6.

Hemming, who covered the Apollo 16 shot in April, expects this blast-off to be the most spectacular in the series.

"FOR THE FIRST TIME in the Players cast

"Forty Carats"

Clarkston Village Players will cast for "Forty Carats," an adult situation comedy, at 8 p.m. Monday at the Depot Theater on White Lake Road. Pat Thomas, director, can be reached at 625-1539 for further information. The play will be produced by Lee Brown.

program a night lift-off has been scheduled," Hemming stated. "The sight of the five first stage engines spewing out a mile-long flame on each side of the rocket should be awesome."

Hemming will cover the pre-launch activities, the movement of the three astronauts from the crew's quarters to the launch pad, as well as the actual launch.

"This is the final planned Moon visit in the current program and it deserves special coverage," Hemming noted. "Trips to the Lunar surface have become almost common-place in the three years since the first manned landing in 1969. I hope to bring some of the color and excitement of the last shot to the people of the Clarkston area on a more personal, and hopefully, a more local basis than is received in the national press and television."

HE POINTED TO THE many interesting details about a Moon launch not covered in press stories about the program.

"Many people do not realize the tremendous size of the Saturn rocket which carries the space craft into orbit," he said. "The Rocket, sitting on the pad stands just 57 feet shorter than the top of the Fisher Building tower in Detroit."

Bob Hemming

Hemming said he hopes to give local readers a feeling of actually being present at the launch.

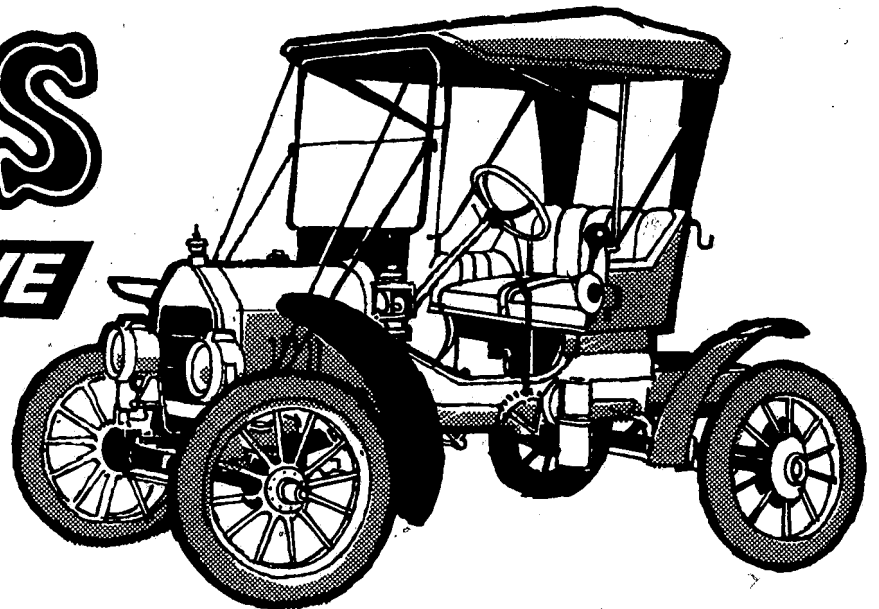

"I will attempt to cover the event as someone from Clarkston would see it if they made the trip to the Cape for the first time, and bring away the same impressions they would have," he said.

All photographs used to illustrate the launch, such as those appearing here, will be taken by Hemming.

Ideal sign idea sought by sheriff

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department is looking for decal ideas.

"We're open to suggestions," said Capt. Harry Maur of the Sheriff's Department, which is being pressed by the Independence Township Board to put identifying decals on the patrol cars servicing the township.

"What we need is a sign that can be changed easily and not stolen," said Maur. "We've tried three or four ideas, and we're still checking."

The township board voted last month to withhold payment of more than $12,000 for three months' police protection until the board is better satisfied with the service the township gets from the department.

Cause of concern to the board were the absence of Independence Township decals on the sheriff's department cars patrolling the township and the apparent disappearance of a decibel meter which the township had purchased for use here.

The $375 decibel meter was purchased and turned over to the sheriff's department for enforcement of the township's noise ordinance.

It reportedly was not available when a resident complained about the level of sound emanating from the Pine Knob Music Theater Oct. 1.

"The decibel meter has been returned to us," said Township Supervisor Gary Stonerock this week. "I guess when the concerts start again next spring we'll have to handle it ourselves."

"I'm convinced we'll get no ordinance or code enforcement from them. They're just interested in road patrol."

The decals are another matter, still unresolved.

Permanent decals would be useless, Maur noted, because the patrol cars are serviced every three or four days and the same car is not used exclusively in one area.

On the other hand, detachable signs are detached by unauthorized persons — presumably youthful pranksters, according to Maur.

Now being used on the patrol cars in various townships are magnetic signs.

"We lost five in four days in Highland Township," Maur said.

But he pledged that the department will keep trying.

Don Vachon of Richardson's Farm Dairy picks up the State Lottery tickets he's selling this week from Florence Janks at Pontiac State Bank. Vachon as agent gets two and a half cents for each ticket sold and the bank picks up one cent on each dollar's worth sold. The rest goes to the state. Tickets are 50 cents each.

11 girls vie for Junior Miss

Eleven talented girls will compete for the title of Clarkston Junior Miss in a pageant at 8 p.m. November 18 at Clarkston Senior High School.

Vying for honors and a $1,000 plus scholarship fund are Alice Carroll, Linda DeArmond, Melissa Dell, Darla Hoopengartner, Janie Leichnetnam, Jan Lundy, Alice Marshall, Debbie Mansfield, Pam Mihalcheon, Sandy Rumsey and Meg Williams.

All proceeds from tickets, available for $2.50 at the door at 7 p.m. preceding the pageant, are earmarked for the scholarship fund. Show chairman William Halsey said the possibility exists that three scholarships will be awarded and prizes will be given for the best talent and to a girl to be selected as Miss Congeniality. He commended local merchants for their contributions toward the fund.

Kim Blasey, 1972 Junior Miss, will crown this year's winner. The intermission show will feature the Madrigals of Clarkston High School and Debbie Hoopengartner who was the 1971 Junior Miss.

A special preview of the pageant is slated for 7:30 p.m. Friday, November 17, preceding the judging. Tickets for the preview are $1, available only at the doors from 6:30 p.m. on.

All contestants will appear and go through their routines but no awards will be made, Halsey said.

Springfield population up a third

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments says Clarkston and Independence Township have grown in population by 5.4% and 8.4% respectively since the census was taken in 1970.

Springfield Township has reportedly grown by 33.3 percent for the second highest percentage increase in Oakland County.

Recent figures show Clarkston's population now at 1,090 in 370 dwelling units; Independence population at 17,700 in 4,580 dwelling units, and Springfield population at 5,850 in 1,680 dwelling units.

New construction figures reveal 22 new dwelling units in Clarkston since 1970; 368 in Independence Township; and 484 in Springfield Township.

Total population of Oakland County is now said to be 974,600.

Schools buy Holcomb property

Clarkston Board of Education has completed purchase of 18.9 acres on Holcomb Road at the cost of $2,000 an acre. The land is planned as a future school site, assistant superintendent George Barrie reported to the board Monday night.

Announcement of administrative salary increases approved in special meeting October 16 was announced. Salaries were hiked 4.7 and 5.5 percent to a range of $16,537 to $35,000 for principals and central administration officials.

Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara reported 19 outside speakers were engaged for the In Service program Friday at Clarkston High School and that reviews of the program by Clarkston teachers had been favorable.

The board is investigating purchase of alarm equipment for school buildings not now under surveillance. Administrators were requested to get firm bids on the project.

Authorization for the purchase of a new food service vehicle, to replace the 1964 model now used to carry hot lunches between Clarkston Junior High School and Clarkston Elementary School was given. The old bus, to be reconditioned by students, will be used by construction classes in getting back and forth to work on storage sheds being built at Pine Knob Elementary School and the Vocational Education Center.

The board was also apprised of partial destruction of a natural barrier between Birdland and the high school property with the construction of sewers which caused tree removal in the area. A new barricade, allowing only pedestrian traffic, is being considered.

Lottery tickets available now

A fifty cent spin on the wheel of fortune is being offered Independence Township residents by eight area businesses.

The businesses have been granted ticket sales licenses by the Michigan Lottery Commission, and the first lottery is due later this month.

The 50 cent tickets will be available at Wonder Drugs, M-15 and Dixie; Roy Dick's Brothers Standard Service, 6480 Sashabaw; A & P, M-15 and Dixie; Howe's Lanes, 6697 Dixie; Food Town at Pine Knob Plaza; Hal & Son Sunoco Service, Maybee and Sashabaw; Richardson Farm Dairy, 5838 Ortonville; Hallman's Apothecary, 4 South Main; and the Pop Man, 7650 Ortonville.

Republicans swept the ballot and the three local proposals were defeated. In other races of interest, the local voting pattern gave unopposed District Judge Gerald McNally 3,007 votes. For Circuit Judge Richard Kuhn polled 2,740 votes and John O'Brien 2,271 votes as opposed to Alice Gilbert's 2,086 votes and Julian Cook's 1,026 votes. Probate Judge Adams swept the area 3,320 to Barry Grant's 905. Senator

Robert Griffin outpolled Attorney General Kelley by 4,327 to 2,376; Congressman William Broomfield outdistancing George Montgomery by 4,688 to 1,809, and State Representative Loren Anderson ahead of challenger Ronald Farnum 4,496 to 1,905. Daylight savings time passed 3,993 to 2,663; abortion failed 3,002 to 3,601 while carrying precincts 1 and 8; elimination of the property tax for school operation went down 4,315 to 2,216; a graduated income tax failed 5,076 to 1,395; and the veterans' pension was voted down 3,876 to 2,541.

Hard sell season

It's hard sell season on the tube. We barely got the election material off in time to concentrate on the really important stuff — pushing Christmas hardware to tykes.

The blatant commercialism of the TV kid shows at this time of year is enough to make a parent wish all children entered life at the age of 21.

In our family we've attempted to make a joke of as many of the commercial as we can, but laughter can get strained at this time of year.

If it doesn't run on batteries, stand on its head, hurtle towards utter destruction or commit mayhem in one form or another, it's not really a toy, the commercials seem to say.

Whatever happened to good old fashioned imagination? In fact, whatever happened to Thanksgiving?

The game I love

by Joan Sails

The day following the election, a florist's truck appeared in our dooryard and a bouquet bearing the message, "Welcome back to the newspaper game," was brought to the door.

It was a nice thought from some of my former co-workers at the old Pontiac Press.

My first venture into politics was not what might be proclaimed a success, and yet those 126,000 people who did cast their votes for me made the effort well worthwhile.

But like the message said, it's back to the newspaper game and one I love well.

Newspapering has taken me, a farm kid from Saskatchewan, into the recent County Clerk's election for one of the biggest counties in the nation.

And it's made the route interesting.

There were times during the campaign when I was tempted to get on my soapbox and tell the folks just what newspapering is all about.

Recent criticism of the media was not entirely without merit and there are individuals who under the guise of writers carry forth their own projects rather than the people's, but without 'em we could have a far different kind of country.

Even the sorriest excuse for a reporter, present at a governmental meeting, carries weight. He does represent the people, and actions that might not be beneficial to the people have put aside and later cancelled because one reporter was in attendance.

A good reporter is a watchdog — not only in the critical sense but also leading the way pointing out needs and the concerns of people lost in the backwaters of bureaucracy.

A good newspaper is fearless — taking sometimes unpopular stands, sometimes offending advertisers, sometimes cutting off its own news sources in the persual of "truth."

But newspapering is also entertainment, and people have the right to laugh, the right to feel pride in small heroics, the right to see themselves in print.

It's all those things that have intrigued me from the age of 15 when I first began writing a neighborhood column for a weekly in Saginaw.

People are important, and newspapers take recognition of that fact. I'm glad I'm still part of the "newspaper game."

Letters to the Editor

Thanks for good job

Dear Editor,

I would like to publicly thank the Girl Scout Troop 986, who babysat for free at Precinct 2 on election night.

It was a welcome service for parents who absolutely had to take their children to the polls.

Thank you, Troop 986, for being there and for offering your services to me and my child for the two hours it took me. She enjoyed every minute of it — and so did I!

Sincerely,
E. L. Weaver

Make results emphatic

Dear Editor:

The results of the Township election, rejecting Stonerock as supervisor, was certainly emphatic.

We, the voters have done our job of not only electing a new Supervisor but also defeating Stonerock's entire slate.

It is now the duty of the new Board to remove all vestiges of Stonerock's regime. Namely, the Township Attorney, Campbell, has to go. We need the legal advance and guidance of an Attorney who will represent all of us, not just the supervisor. We certainly don't need the services of five attorneys to run our Township affairs. The Board should also take a hard look at all the appointees and new hires by Stonerock. There are people in responsible positions, in planning and ordinance enforcement, who answered only to Stonerock. We don't need them.

We should also follow the example of Macomb County and get out of SEMCOG.

To the new Board, I can only say "We have given you the football, let's see how well you can carry it."

Very truly yours,
D. H. Burgess

"If It Fitz . . ."

Pass the mustard

By Jim Fitzgerald

It's not what you eat, it's what you know that gives you indigestion. Ye Olde Philosopher has spoken.

What I mean is, my son Eddie hit me in the head with an olive (you might want to quit reading now, because this could get confusing).

This kid is always shooting baskets, see? He is also always eating. One of his favorite snacks is olive juice. Just the juice; not the olives. He pours the juice into a tablespoon and slurps it up, quiet as a busted vacuum cleaner.

Eddie is no Abdul Kareem Jabbar when it comes to making baskets. So naturally, he tilts the odds in his favor. So what could be more natural than popping tiny olives into huge wastebaskets, especially when he's usually got a jar of olives in his pocket anyway? And he doesn't eat the olives, just the juice?

(If you don't believe any of this, it's simply because you never had a 14-year-old-son. Every word is true.)

Anyway, despite the odds, Eddie missed the basket this time and hit me in the head. I'll admit he was throwing all the way from the kitchen, through an alcove, and aiming at a basket half hidden by my chair. But it was still a lousy shot.

But I made the best of it. I picked the olive out of my lap and ate it.

Immediately there was a gasp from the kitchen and my daughter, who is 2 years nuttier than my son, said:

"Was that the olive the cat licked?"

Auughh!

The next sound was me choking up 2 points into Abdul's basket. Followed by the sound of 2 bodies falling down laughing in the kitchen.

All of which serves as an involved introduction to the Michigan hot dog controversy (I warned you this wasn't going to be easy).

Michigan's meat standards are higher than federal standards. Some of the big meat packers — such as Hormel and Armour — have asked the courts to allow them to sell the same hot dogs in Michigan that they sell in other states. Michigan's meat packers are fighting back — "defending the integrity of the Michigan hot dog." The argument probably won't be settled until 1988 when, for the first time in history, a wienie roast will be held in the chambers of the U.S. Supreme Court. (If Justice Frankfurter had only lived to bring the mustard!)

I've eaten hot dogs in several states, including Michigan, and they all tasted the same to me. What's inferior about non-Michigan hot dogs? I had to ask. And some smart nutritionist told me: "Federal standards permit hot dogs to contain ingredients processed from animal ears, eyes, tongues, lips, snouts, udders, bladders, intestines, hearts and stomachs." Auughh!

It's not what you eat, it's what you know.

An estimated $4,000 damage to walls and flooring of a gas station at Andersonville and White Lake Road owned by Willis and Lou Gelow was caused Friday morning. Independence Township Firemen who answered the alarm said a possible gas leak caused by a plugged vent pipe from an underground storage tank is being investigated as the cause. A similar fire occurred in the station 17 days prior to Friday.

Historical society invites guests

The Clarkston Community Historical Society will be holding its first membership recruiting meeting this Wednesday, November 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall.

All interested residents are encouraged to attend and meet guest speaker, Mr. James Bryant, an historic preservation expert from Lansing.

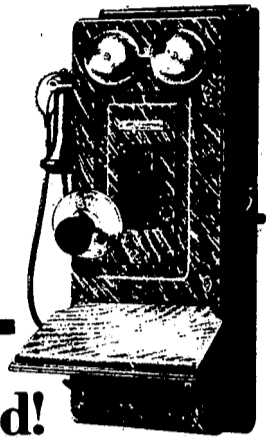

Warm days and freezing nights of late winter and early spring make for high maple syrup production. Michigan is one of the nation's largest producers.

Ortonville boy is FB finalist

Tom Middleton, 641 Hurd Road, Ortonville, is one of 14 young farmers chosen in local competition to compete in the Michigan Farm Bureau Discussion Meet semi-finals Thursday, November 9, at the bureau's annual meeting in Grand Rapids.

He will discuss agriculture's role in improving environmental quality, how farmers in the 70's can adjust to changing farm labor situations, how they can create additional markets for their products, and the impact of vertical integration on agriculture.

Scouts to collect clothing

More than 1,000 Boy Scouts and Leaders from the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, are combining their efforts in a huge "Good Turn" clothing drive for Goodwill Industries. The Scouts and their leaders will distribute nearly 100,000 Goodwill clothing bags to homes throughout the council area on Saturday, November 11. The boys will return one week later, November 18, to collect bags filled with clothing, shoes, and other small articles to help provide materials that mean full time employment to hundreds of handicapped workers at the Goodwill Industries division of League For The Handicapped - Goodwill Industries.

Participating troops are located in Pontiac, Farmington, South Lyon, Novi, Milford, Waterford, Drayton Plains, Clarkston, Oxford, Lake Orion, Troy and Rochester in Oakland County.

According to Russell G. Albrecht, Executive Director of League - Goodwill, the drive serves a double purpose... a community service project for the Scouts... and a quantity of material which will provide ample work opportunities for handicapped men and women.

League for the Handicapped - Goodwill Industries is the world's largest voluntary vocational rehabilitation agency. Each year job training, evaluation, or employment is provided to some 5,000 physically, mentally, emotionally, or socially handicapped persons.

Several districts of the Clinton Valley Council have engaged in clothing drives for Goodwill Industries in the past, but this is the first Council-wide drive of this type. The Scout Coordinator for the Council is Willard (Bill) Wells, Program Director.

Both Albrecht and Wells urge householders of the area to accept one of the clothing bags when delivered by a Scout and have it filled and on the front porch by 10 a.m. on Saturday, November 18.

The campaign trail and election day has come and gone — and so has the exciting saga of Mrs. Barry Bronzino (Sue Hampshire) who traveled with Vice President Agnew through the campaign.

Back in September we received word that Sue had been selected to be one of four stewardesses to work aboard the Vice President's plane throughout his campaign. She kept us posted from time to time and did not forget us in the finale. Sue and Barry were right where the action was Tuesday night — the Victory Party in Washington.

Then, to climax Sue's last couple months of whirl-wind life, she and Barry were invited to attend the Vice President's birthday party celebration Thursday night also in Washington. Monday morning, last, the Bronzinos were back in their home in Williamsville, New York and back to work as usual.

Sue's parents, the William Hampshires on Sunnydale, are anxiously awaiting their arrival here for Thanksgiving. It will be a talkative holiday to be sure. Thank you again, Mrs. Hampshire, for sharing Sue's adventure with us.

The Charles Robertsons on Hummingbird hosted an Election Night open house for friends and neighbors. Red, white and blue decorations and a lovely buffet set the mood for a gala celebration — to say nothing of the election results!

The Donald Coopers from Greenville were able to be in town for the big night and enjoyed seeing many old friends. The Coopers are former Clarkston residents and still have a very active interest in goings on here.

The Jerry Powell home on Sunnydale was what you might call a Tabulation Control Center Tuesday evening. Many campaign workers stayed with it to bring results from each precinct together for the final tally.

These workers or challengers, both Republican and Democrat, remain at each precinct until voting is completed and tallied, then rush these figures to one center where they are all combined to hopefully gain time in obtaining local results.

After much scurrying around and many phone calls later, the results were known and the celebrating began. Congratulations to all!

Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi International Sorority, recently bestowed pledge rituals into the Chapter upon Mrs. Donald E. Shippey on Osseo Street in Clarkston, Mrs. Wallace Liley of Oxford, and Mrs. Stuart Cappel of Rochester in the homes of Mrs. Victor Quigley on Oneida, and Mrs. Donald Shippey.

This sorority is a cultural, charitable and social organization open to all young women in this area. Their next meeting is Monday, November 20. If you might be interested in going to this meeting — or if you would like further information, you may contact Mrs. Donald (Joyce) Shippey at 394-0078.

The Ernest Dennes on Ellis Road have returned from ten days in the West Indies — The Cayman Islands — located between Cuba and Jamaica in the Caribbean Sea. Doc reports catching a barracuda, drinking rain water, swimming in the ocean, and staying in a fourteen room hotel with only cold running water all made the trip nothing short of great. And the twenty-six passenger DC 3 plane taking them over the ocean must have been a real thrill — more so than being skyjacked, I dare say.

And to all you card and letter writers — I have received word that Dave Westlund on North Holcomb has taken up temporary residency at the Cleveland Clinic, 9500 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio 44106, Room 3E11. He will undergo open heart surgery tentatively set for next week. Again — mail is so much appreciated, just ask Bob Jones. You will be seeing him roaming our streets once again as his R&R program is going into Phase II, visitors and out-of-doors airings! The power of the mail . . . now it's time to sock it to Dave. Dave's duties at Pine Knob are being handled by Assistant Superintendents

George Barrie and Mel Vaara.

The Robert Vandersmarks on Snowapple Drive had a house full of family and friends Tuesday night — I can't imagine why! It was a busy evening for our Supervisor elect with his home brimming with excitement, as well as people beckoning him to the many victory celebration parties throughout the Township. Congratulations, Mr. Vandermark.

Friends and neighbors will be happy to hear Mrs. Frank Muscat on Robertson Court is now recuperating at home following recent back surgery. It will be a while before she turns any cartwheels, but she is glad to be home.

Veterans Day, November 11, had special meaning for Clinton Valley Barracks No. 2803 and Auxiliary which met that day at Davisburg Town Hall for a Thanksgiving cooperative dinner and program. A reading by Lucile Gries highlighted the observance.

Auxiliary members were informed that Mrs. Phoebe Riley, 634-9043, is accepting donations for furniture for the Coleman family whose Holly home burned. Louise Forbes, president of the Legion Auxiliary in Holly, was present.

The group hopes to see other World War I vets and their wives December 9 when it meets for its annual Christmas party.

A snow job

Gary Skibowski went to Colorado deer hunting. He and his party got only one deer and they cut their trip short to return home because it started to snow — and snow it did — eleven inches one night and the next day it snowed another thirteen inches. Gary and his family live at 12901 Shaffer Road, Springfield Township.

Hey, it's a girl! Patrick and Nancy Driscoll are happy to announce "It's a girl." Michele Rene was born November 2 and last week she came home to meet the rest of her family, brothers Edward, 5, and Brian, 3. The Driscolls live at 7744 La-Von, Springfield Township.

Mike Jewell, 14, is having a party. Mike, an eighth grade student at Clarkston Junior High invited 20 friends to a party because as his mother said, "It's his last chance to have a party in this house." The Jewells of 7758 La-Von are moving to Allen Road in Independence Township. The guests will be entertained with live music, performed by local musicians Eric and Leif Gruenberg, Brad Roland and Scott Housefield.

Den 5 from Cub Scout Pack 133 went on a tour of the assembly plant of Pontiac Motors last Friday afternoon. The tour guide told us that another Clarkston area Cub Scout Pack had toured the plant Friday morning. One of our bright-eyed young men found a Cub Scout hat with the name Steve Wyckoff in it. (Mrs. Wyckoff, call me, I have it. 625-5726). The boys from Pack 133 that went on the tour are Martin Arpoika, John Cox, Robert Emory, Tom Hecker, Pat Noonan, Mark Sommers and Aaron Strine.

It's a busy time at the Anderson household at 10200 Andersonville Road. They are sewing, planning and preparing for an upcoming wedding. Judi will become Mrs. Frank Whitlock, Saturday, November 25 at 5 p.m. in the Andersonville Community Church.

Andrew and Virginia Brinkman of Pinehurst were recently aboard the luxury steamship "Ariadne" on a cruise to Nassau from Port Everglades, Ft. Lauderdale.

Spiritual Message

CALVARY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Pastor Robert Walters

I feel that a great deal of fear and anxiety were expressed in the recent election, as citizens all over the country voted AGAINST nearly everything, and for very little. It is said that we Americans are drawing inward.

Retreat is essential for renewal — when it comes out of confidence and hope. It is a sign of self-centeredness and weakness when it stems only from fear and uncertainty.

At times like these, the words of a modern-day disciple of Jesus, Dag Hammarskjold, are very helpful to me, and I'd like to share some of them with you from his personal journal, published in English as "Markings." (The first is a new year's day entry.)

" — Night is drawing nigh —"

For all that has been — Thanks!
To all that shall be Yes!

Goodness is something so simple: always to live for others, never to seek one's own advantage.

In the last analysis, what does the word "sacrifice" mean?

Or even the word "gift?" He who has nothing can give nothing.

The gift is God's — to God.

He who has surrendered himself to it knows that the Way ends on the Cross — even when it is leading him through the jubilation of Gennesaret or the triumphal entry into Jerusalem.

To be free, to be able to stand up and leave everything behind — without looking back. To say Yes —

To say Yes to life is at one and the same time to say Yes to oneself.

Yes — even to that element in one which is most unwilling to let itself be transformed from a temptation into a strength.

Maturity: among other things, the unclouded happiness of the child at play, who takes it for granted that he is at one with his playmates.

North Oakland Civitan seeks members

One of the newest men's service clubs in the area is looking for additional members.

North Oakland Civitan was chartered in April 1971 as the Clarkston-Waterford Chapter of Civitan International.

Civitan International is a 50-year-old service organization with more than 50,000 members in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Sweden, Denmark and Germany.

Civitan are "buildings of good citizenship" and in that respect the North-Oakland Club has worked with the handicapped and promoted such projects as Waterford's "Walk for Mankind" and the Clarkston area emergency help facility known as independence center.

"TO describe the work we are doing and to give area men a chance to meet our members we are inviting those interested to attend a free spaghetti dinner at the C.A.I. Building on Monday night, November 20 at 6:30 p.m.," according to President Bob McClendon.

At the special meeting which will feature a film on fishing for coho salmon, door prizes and other awards, the club will have as its special guest Bert C. VanKoughnett who is the governor-elect for the Michigan District of Civitan. VanKoughnett is also a member of the Pontiac Civitan Club and an administrator with the Pontiac Schools.

Those area men who may wish to attend the special dinner program meeting on November 20 may receive Motorcycle racing is popular in many countries especially the United States and England. Modern races are usually held on special tracks analgous to the raceways used for automobile racing. Motorcycles have been known to reach some very high speeds - the fastest can go well over one hundred miles per hour. Time trials speeds, of course, register well over that, some recorded at 150 miles per hour and over!

HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

Both husband and wife should always sign the contract when selling their house; otherwise the contract may not prove legal. If you are selling a house, insist on this precaution. In most states a contract is invalid unless both have signed. If you are buying from a corporation, make sure the contract bears an authorized signature. It is better to make the sale slowly and completely than to have to return to it later to correct some mistake - or worse to lose because of some mistake you've made!

When you buy or sell through BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821, you know these details will be handled correctly. We urge you to call us first with your listing; we have a large backlog of qualified buyers desiring to move into this area, and we will take a personal interest in selling your home promptly for you. Open: 9-8, Mon.-Thur.; 9-6, Fri., Sat.; 12-5, Sun.

HELPFUL HINT:

A serious drawback to house-hunting on your own is that it is very time-consuming. Unless you know what you're doing, it's better if you have some experienced help.

Sweden's loss is our gain at CHS. Anna Cederlof is our Swedish exchange student living with the Donald Johnson family of Hogback Lake Road.

Anna is 17. She attends the Gymnasium in Sweden. A senior school, it contains the 10th, 11th and 12th grades. Instead of our 1-12 grade system, they count grades 1-9 and the 10th, 11th and 12th grades are 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades.

Anna attends twelfth grade classes here, while in Sweden she is in the second grade.

In Sweden they are required to take English from third to seventh grade and Anna has studied English for 8 years.

Her school is run quite differently than ours. Instead of picking classes by the marking period, semester, or year, they choose a course of study when they reach the ninth grade. They follow this throughout their high school years. There is a general course that a large percentage of the students follow, she says.

Classes are run different also, she notes. Each class has the same 30 students. "You go from class to class with the same people," she reports.

Their student council is run similar to ours, she recalls. Two students are chosen from each "homeroom" to participate in monthly meetings.

Student Council sponsors the annual St. Lucia Dance when each grade does its own traditional dance. All participants dress in traditional clothes and the dance lasts all night. The next morning the students take coffee to the teacher of their choice in honor of St. Lucia Day.

Anna played powderpuff this year with the seniors. She is also a member of the volley ball team.

In this respect CHS is very different from Anna's Gymnasium. Her school doesn't sponsor any sports activities. Students do play hockey and soccer but it is extracurricular, she says.

When asked what she thought about our presidential elections, she said that they were similar to theirs. The difference is that the people vote for a party instead of an individual in Sweden.

Bank construction started in Orion

Groundbreaking ceremonies were last week for the main office of the new Keatington State Bank, the first bank to be headquartered in Orion Township and the newest bank in Michigan.

The Bank received approval to organize from the Michigan Financial Institutions Bureau and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation earlier this year and has recently completed the sale of $600,000.00 in capital stock.

The 3000 square foot building will be located near the intersection of Baldwin and Waldon Roads, adjacent to the newly developing community of Keatington.

The building contains a banking lobby with five teller stations and a loan counter. Immediately adjacent to the lobby will be the main vault with safe deposit boxes, coupon booth, reception and office areas. Behind the teller stations provisions have been made for accounting rooms and employee facilities.

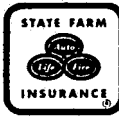

The exterior and interior of the building has been designed in early American decor with an all brick exterior and carpeting throughout.

Ample parking for bank customers has been provided along with a full service drive-in teller window at the rear of the building. The bank is being designed and built by Danash Associates Inc. of Clarkston, Michigan.

The Bank is scheduled to open for business in early 1973 pending completion of the main office facility.

Greek family adds to Andersonville UN flavor

By Betty Hecker

Newest arrivals on the international scene at Andersonville School are the three children of the Gus Pappas family.

Arriving from Athens, Greece, last September 11, they have joined classmates who include Spanish Americans, a little girl from India, black Americans, an Oriental student and several children with at least one German parent.

The Pappas family was enrolled with the help of Mrs. George Anganis. They needed help because none of them could speak English. Things are changing as Anthanasios has become a member of Mrs. Lisabeth's fourth grade class, his sister, Sevasti, has become a part of Miss Schmidt's third grade class, and their little brother, Demitrios, is in Mrs. Landon's first grade class.

Anthanasios, whose English name is Tom, spoke no English when he first came into his fourth grade classroom, but he blended in fine with all the other children.

The students discovered they could communicate fine on the playground and that Tom understood and knows baseball and was a really good soccer player.

As Tom is learning to read, write, and speak English, the other children are learning from him, and he is popular and well liked.

Mrs. Lisabeth reports that our hot lunch foods are unfamiliar to Tom and that he doesn't like milk.

She said, "I love having Tom in class, it's a real challenge to me, and he is very bright. He can do anything in math. Tom understands much more than he is able to speak, even though he has learned an English vocabulary of about 100 words."

Eight-year-old Sevasti also now has an American name. Her classmates in Miss Schmidt's third grade call her Eve, and she communicated with the children from the very first day.

She helped everyone in class write their names in Greek during the first week she was in school.

Seeing her smell her food the first day she had hot lunch, the class enjoyed helping her, showing her what to do with the mustard and catsup on her hotdog.

She finally tried milk with the children's encouragement, but it is apparently something new, and Eve doesn't like it.

Eve is quiet and sensitive, well mannered and polite. Miss Schmidt told me of the day that Eve was a lunch helper. She was passing out the dessert, going up and down the rows putting the cake on each desk. There was one piece of cake left, the teacher's, and the tray tipped. The plate of cake fell to the floor.

Eve immediately picked it up, and without hesitation or question, walked to her own desk, picked up her cake and gave it to Miss Schmidt.

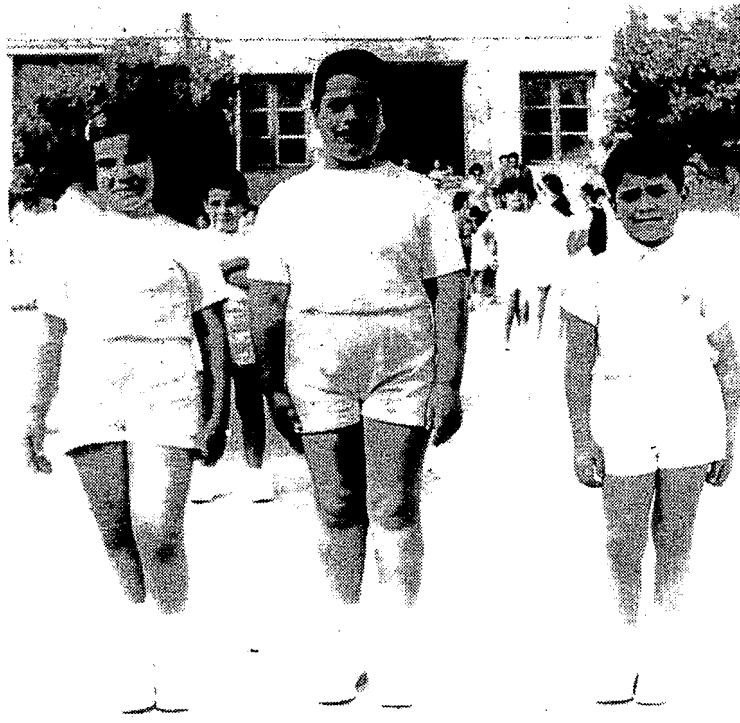

Miss Schmidt said, "Eve is learning very quickly and will soon be able to work independently."

Demitrios, at Andersonville he is Jim, and Mrs. Landon said that he and his friends are becoming very adept at sign language. Jim can understand but isn't able to reply yet. First graders sit two at a table, and Jim is paired up with a fast learner so they can help each other.

All first graders are learning to read, and Mrs. Landon said of Jim, "I hope he understands, he prints well, he makes his numbers well, he can read, the only thing is, he can't talk to me. I think he does very well, he has ability, and he is a great mimic." Jim sees the other children in his row hang up their coats, he hangs up his. They get a drink, he gets a drink of water.

The three teachers were given the available Greek-English dictionaries but they need some English-Greek dictionaries.

But as Andersonville people know, communication is also understanding and concern. There's plenty of that in the school's mini U. N. atmosphere.

Students handle Bottles drive Saturday

Clarkston High School student council will organize the November 18 Bottles for Building collection. Collection goal is 25 tons.

Bottles for Building began in January, 1971, the goal being to collect all household glass trash for recycling at Owens-Illinois Glass Plant in Charlotte, Mich.

For its pioneer effort in glass recycling the Independence Township Bottles for Building drive has won a special merit award from the Keep Michigan Beautiful Organization. Mrs. Carolyn Place, chairman, went to Grand Rapids last week to accept the award.

On November 16 she will travel to New York City to accept an award for the drive from the Keep America Beautiful Organization. Independence Township was selected for the award from 2,000 entries.

The total community has sponsored the project here. Hundreds of families save their glass and hundreds of citizens have helped in the collection process.

More than 22 community groups have cooperated in collecting, sorting and transporting the glass.

Returns from the glass collection sales have amounted to more than $5,000 which is earmarked for purchase of a Community Activities Building.

Collection depots are at Foodtown, First Federal - A&P Shopping Center, the Clarkston-Sashabaw Fire Hall, and the Township Hall. Workers are needed to help sort the glass at these sites from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and then to transport the material to the Oakland County Recycling Center, 550 South Telegraph.

Zoning ordinance under study

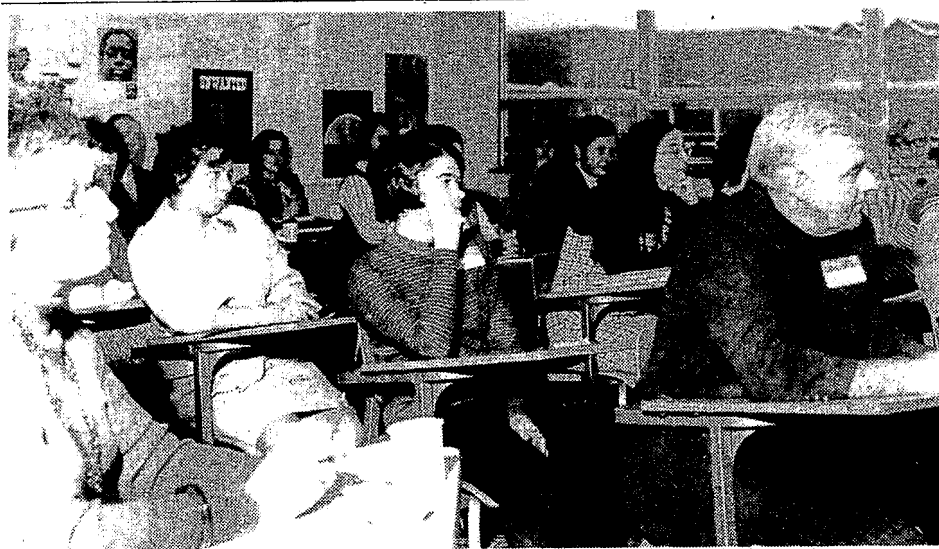

Zoning ordinance changes including a reduction in the number of multiple units per acre and a minor reduction in minimum house size are under consideration by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

The commission proposes slicing in half the currently allowable 11 units per acre, based on a formula taking into account the number of bedrooms in each unit.

Credit for attached garages, an effort to encourage the construction of same, would be allowed in a proposed change of minimum floor sizes.

Also being discussed is an increase in fees from $100 to $500 for violation of any zoning ordinance statutes. The change would give judges greater flexibility in determining sentence, said Planner Larry Burkhart.

The commission has also approved a meeting between principals to work out fire apparatus accessibility to the 896 multiple units proposed by Fairwood Corp. on 87.2 acres at the northeast corner of Maybee and Sashabaw Roads.

It was the teachers who took their place in class last Friday as students were given a free day. The in service day with its series of workshops was well attended.

Ed Hintz, superintendent of Flint Kearsley School District and a former Clarkston teacher, football coach and athletic director, addressed school administrators.

Basket service offered by IC

Independence center, 5331 Maybee Road, has offered its services as a central clearing house this year for Christmas and Thanksgiving baskets.

The service is being offered to prevent duplication of efforts for some families and nothing for others.

Organizations preparing baskets for the holidays this year may bring them to independence center for distribution or take them directly to families, providing the center is notified of which families have been served.

Holly E. Stephens, secretary, said she hoped that by this effort all families would have a truly happy holiday season.

Season ends with big win

By Craig Moore

Clarkston's Varsity Wolves closed their 1972 season with a fine 22-0 victory over the Avondale Yellow Jackets. The Wolves enter a 4-5 season tally into the record books.

Avondale had gone without a victory all season and had been scoreless since October 6. Clarkston intended to keep it that way and showed it.

Senior Dave Partlo scored early in the first quarter on a dive from 5 yards out. Partlo had a busy night, carrying the ball 16 times and totaling 103 yards. The kick failed and the Wolves led 6-0.

The Wolves were in scoring position on the Avondale 2 yard line when the clock ran out in the first period. Quarterback Greg Swanson kept the ball and scored on a 2 yard push to open the second quarter. Mark Blumeneau's conversion run gave the Wolves a 14-0 advantage.

Avondale showed some power and moved to the Clarkston 5 yard line with time running out in the second half. Avondale scored but the touchdown was declared null because of an offensive penalty. The half ended with the Wolves ahead 14-0.

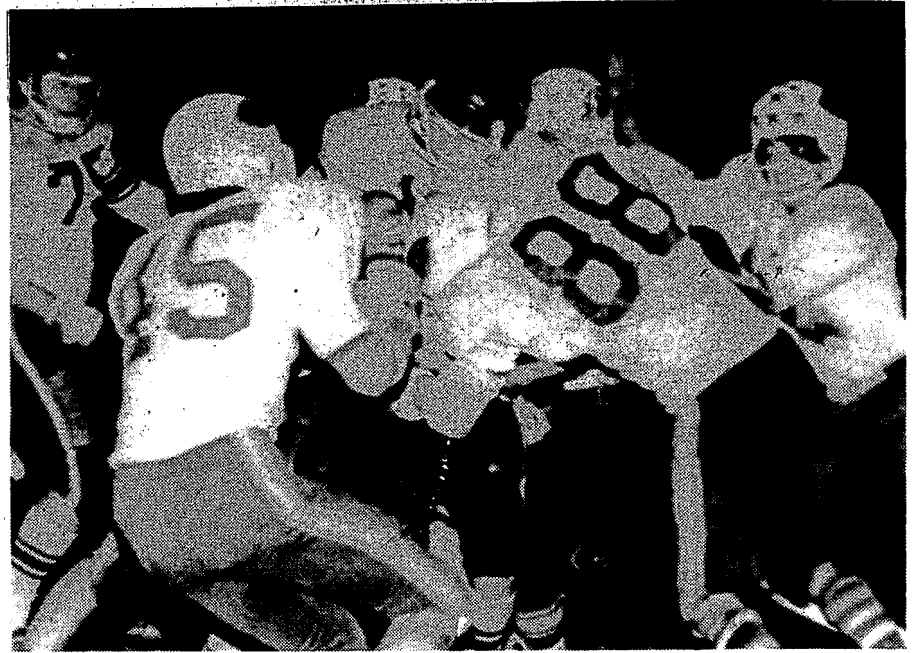

Late in the third quarter, the Yellow

Jackets started to get their second wind, enough to move the ball from the Avondale 20 to the Clarkston 40 yard line. Avondale's Scott Darling pulled away from the pack on the next play and looked like he was gone when Dave Partlo caught up with him, got the ball and returned it to the 40 yard line.

The clock ran out, but 4 plays into the final period, Clarkston's Bill Hamilton carried the ball 50 yards for the Wolves' third touchdown and a 20-0 lead over Avondale.

The situation looked hopeless for Avondale. It seemed as though the Yellow Jackets had given up and dismissed all thoughts of scoring when later in the final quarter, Avondale's punter downed the ball in the end zone for a safety.

The safety gave Clarkston 2 points and the 22-0 victory.

A Wolf encounters some serious problems during Friday night's game with Avondale.

County parks assistant named

The Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission has approved the appointment of Jon J. Kipke, director of Parks and Recreation for Ferndale, to the position of Deputy Director. The appointment ends a three month search to fill the deputy director's position left vacant when Gerard Lacey was assigned to manage Springfield-Oaks Park and the new Youth and Activities Center near Davisburg.

Kipke, 31 years old, a graduate of Central Michigan University with a master degree in Recreation Administration, brings to the County an extensive background in the field of parks and recreation. He has six years' full time experience in the field, as well as two years' as a first lieutenant in the Army.

Kipke's duties will consist of the development, promotion and implementation of balanced programs and special activities schedules designed to meet the recreational needs of County residents, and maintain optimum use of each park facility within the park system.

Behind the Counter

From Keith Hallman

Drugs May Conflict

The remarkable interaction of drugs, when taken together, is one of the most important things a pharmacist is taught.

One drug may increase or "potentiate" the effect of another. This may make it possible, for instance, to take a small amount of a high-risk drug and enhance it with another safe potentiating agent.

Two drugs which may be harmless, alone, can trigger some serious problems when used at the same time. Your doctor may tell you to avoid one while taking the other.

One problem is that most people don't think of alcohol as a drug. It is, of course, and it can affect the action of many prescription drugs and "over-the-counter" remedies, including tranquilizers, amphetamines, barbiturates, insulin and cough medicine.

For example, alcohol increases the effect of tranquilizers. Instead of calming you down, the drug can "knock you out" when combined with alcohol. The opposite happens with amphetamines: there is too much stimulus of the heart and nervous system.

Barbiturates are another problem. When accompanied by booze, these drugs can endanger your life. Instead of helping you sleep, for instance, they'll slow body functions down to a crisis point. Many famous people have been found dead of an "overdose" of barbiturates — actually a normal dose, potentiated by alcohol.

Severe and irreversible damage to the nervous system (and possibly death) can result from combining alcohol and insulin. Together, they reduce the body's blood sugar to a dangerous degree.

Do you know that you can re-use nails? This, of course, is only possible if you can get them out of whatever they're holding together at present in good condition. To pull a nail out without bending it is an art: you must know exactly what to do. Use a claw hammer. Place the hammer head on a piece of wood or block laid against the surface of work. Then pull slowly and carefully. This also will prevent marring your work with the hammer head.

Make BOB'S HARDWARE, 60 S. Main St., 625-5020 your headquarters for all the materials and supplies for your homeowner tasks. We invite you to bring us your decorating problems. Steven Klein (35) becomes a target for the whole Rochester Adams army during the JV game. A touchdown by Klein helped the JV achieve its 28-6 victory.

7-1 season for JV

By Roger Zander

The Clarkston JV Wolves ran away with their seventh victory last Thursday to top off one of their finest seasons. In the gridiron finale, played at home against the Rochester Adams Highlanders, George Porritt scored two of the Wolves' four touchdowns and led the team to a 28 to 6 triumph.

Clarkston's first score came on Porritt's run from the three yard line in the first quarter. The Wolves' excellent punt coverage in the second quarter resulted in the Highlanders having first down inside their own one yard line. Rochester was unable to make the first down and had to punt, Clarkston returned the ball to the Highlanders' 6 yard line. Seconds later, Steve Klein dove 2 yards for the touchdown and Porritt ran the conversion to make the score 14 to 0. With 1:26 left in the first half, Jerry Whitehead intercepted a Highlander pass and the Wolves had a first down on the Rochester 31 yard line. The Wolves' scoring threat was stopped, however, when Mark Wagnon fumbled on the 22 yard line with 36 seconds remaining in the half.

Early in the third quarter, Mike Fogg set up Clarkston's third touchdown when he got away on a 62 yard dash and was finally pulled down on the Adams' two yard line. On the next play, George Porritt went over on a quarterback sneak and Steve Klein made the conversion.

With 8:07 left in the game, the Wolves had a fourth and seven situation on their own 36 and were forced to punt. Paul Bredinger, who attempted the punt, was thrown for a loss back to the five yard line. The Highlanders took advantage of this, their best field position of the night, and two plays later scored their only touchdown. The JV's final points of the season came on Mike Fogg's 45 yard touchdown pass from Paul Bredinger.

Wolverines rip Sashabaw

Last Wednesday night Clarkston Junior High defeated cross-district rival, Sashabaw, 34-6.

Capitalizing on numerous Sashabaw mistakes, the Wolverines scored quickly and frequently to completely dominate the game. Sashabaw's lone score came on a break-away run after an interception late in the game.

Offensively, the Wolverines ground out 319 yards rushing and 9 yards in the air for a total of 328 yards. Mike Fahrner led the attack with 126 yards in 14 carries and a total of 14 points. Brent Barnard came off the bench in the third period to score a Wolverine touchdown and finished with 52 yards for the night. Clarkston's other two touchdowns were made by Eric Young and Tim Partlo, who picked up 45 and 14 yards respectively.

Other offensive players gaining sizeable yardage were Larry Bennett with 38 yards, Larry Tatu with 22 yards and Wayne Thompson with 12 yards.

Bob Fuller, Sashabaw fullback, intercepted a CJH pass on his own 20-yard line and had an 80-yard run for Sashabaw's only score.

Clarkston ends their 1972 season with a record of 4 wins and 4 losses. The annual Clarkston Junior High football banquet is scheduled for Wednesday, November 29 at 7 p.m. At that time special recognition will be given to cheerleaders, intramural football players, and members of the ninth grade football team.

Long lines and only two voting machines were blamed for the two hour wait by voters who cast their ballots at the firehall on Sashabaw and Clarkston-Orion roads. County commission districts which split other precincts and caused the need for an additional voting machine were blamed by Clerk J. Edwin Glennie for the delay. Workers at the polls said there were never less than 45 people in line all day, and sometimes the figure grew as high as 70.

Probable split of voting precincts within the near future is being considered by Clerk J. Edwin Glennie. The township could go from its present 8 to a high of 12 precincts, he said. There are currently more than 9,500 registered voters in the township.

Telephone calls made to the township water and sewer department, recreation department and building department can get faster response if you call their new numbers: 625-8222 for water and sewer; 625-8223 for recreation; and 625-8111 for the building department.

The changes underway in the Village Parking Lot are all for beautification. Parking area is being changed to accommodate the planting of trees which should enhance the looks of the village.

The wheels are in motion again for our children's Christmas issue. If you'll recall last year, we had students from the elementary school and high school submit creative writing pieces for the issue. This year, we're entreating the elementary schools and the junior high schools. We kind of like that issue. The things young people write are probably the best window we have as to how they view the world.

Betty Hecker, our livewire reporter from Springfield Township, took all those good Halloween pictures which we featured on last week's front page and then forgot to print the credit line on.

Newly elected Republican Prosecuting Attorney Brooks Patterson has reportedly offered the job of chief trial lawyer at the county to John Grubba, who has been Democratic Drain Commissioner William Richards' chief deputy since his appointment a year ago. Somebody say, "politics make strange bedfellows?"

Jim Sherman and I now have 40 cents worth of pennies, still arriving at the rate of two a day for each of us, and we're well on our way to those POW/MIA bracelets. We still don't know who's sending them, though, and even the workers at the Post Office are being caught up in curiosity.

Gracious living from the past

The old Greenacres Inn in its heyday.

Slip and Jean McGee and her mother, Mrs. Lida Weighell

Another era — a time of gracious living when working husbands sent their families to "the lake" during the hot, summer months — is reflected in these pictures of the old Greenacres Inn which once graced the Deer Lake area.

The pictures are the property of Patricia Childs of Cincinnati, Ohio, niece of Mrs. Lia Weighell who owned and operated the property.

The Inn, torn down in 1956, overlooked both Deer and Middle Lakes from its position off Church Street.

Families came out from Detroit via the train and were transported to the inn by carriage and auto. When the Inn became too full, villagers rented rooms in their homes to vacationers who then ate at the Inn.

It was one of several which made Clarkston a resort spot in the early part of the century. Other inns, whose names remain familiar, were the Deer Lake Inn off Deer Lake Road, the Thendara Inn overlooking Walters Lake and the old Caribou Inn in the village.

The dining room, laid with linen and silver.

An ample lounge provided plenty of room for amiable conversation.
