It may not be a very popular view, out here in the far reaches of suburbia, but I think we should share the cost of mass transit systems in Michigan's metropolitan areas.

This is not going to be a column devoted to unpopular opinions, however one other is being offered. Rep. Mel Larson told me he's collecting data in consideration of introducing legislation requiring gravel trucks to be covered.

He isn't committed to such action, but is giving it thought. I don't think it's necessary to have aggregate covered. Sand maybe or material that blows in the wind, but stones seldom come off loads.

Yes, my windshield has been pecked by bouncing stones. Yes, I've seen stones fall from top edges of dump boxes.

However, most stones that break windshields are thrown from tire treads, off the road surface. We don't tell our insurance agent that, though, because windshields aren't covered when damaged by road hazards.

I really had my spirits lifted the other day. I saw a carpenter with a black and blue thumb nail.

When there is any chili or baked beans left in the pan after a meal is over it should be left on the stove, with a spoon handy.

A taste now and then is one of the small awards man earns.

Think and reflect on this: "Half the people of the world are unhappy because they don't have the things that make the other half of the people of the world unhappy."

Wes Parker, Los Angeles Dodger baseball player, was called in to do some emergency babysitting for a neighbor's six-month-old child when a familiar crisis arose.

Wes frantically called a friend and asked, "How do I change a diaper?" "Place the diaper on a table like it was a baseball diamond with you at bat," his friend said. "Fold second base over home plate. Place the baby on the pitcher's mound.

"Then pin first and third to home plate." Wes understood perfectly.

I-75 to be widened from Flint to Bay City

Nearly all of I-75 Freeway between Flint and Bay City will be widened to six lanes this year, the State Highway Commission announced today.

The 46-mile section of four-lane freeway, inadequate for present traffic volumes of up to 51,000 vehicles a day, is one of the most serious bottlenecks on the state freeway system.

State Highway Director John P. Woodford said an additional lane in each direction will be constructed on existing right-of-way.

Bids on four separate projects totaling $12 million were taken last month for widening 21.4 miles of I-75 between US-23 south of Flint and Birch Run in southern Saginaw County. Work will begin next week.

Office open for tax payments

The Independence Township Treasurer's Office will be open from 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays, February 3 and 10 to accept December tax bill payments.

Treasurer Betty Hallman said February 14 is the deadline to pay without penalties.

Bids on 21.6 miles between Birch Run and Midland Road north of the US-10 interchange west of Bay City will be taken later this year.

Excluded from the widening project is the three-mile section of I-75 between the I-675 Freeway interchanges east and north of Saginaw. This portion, including construction of a new high-level Zilwaukee Bridge, will be reconstructed and widened at a later date.

Financing of the extended widening project all the way to Bay City was assured by recent passage of Gov. William G. Milliken's Transportation Package by the Legislature. It provides additional financing for state highways, county roads, municipal streets and public transportation.

Although the widening work will require closure of one freeway lane in each direction, Woodford said that every effort will be made to minimize interference with traffic.

These include:

- Suspension of work between 2 p.m. and 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, when all freeway lanes will be opened to traffic.

- Suspension of work between Friday noon and Monday morning, permitting full use of existing lanes by heavier weekend traffic.

- Accelerated night work schedules, including two work shifts, to reduce total time required for completion of the project.

While no detour will be necessary, motorists regularly using I-75 are urged to seek alternate routes around the construction area, if possible.

Widening of I-75 between US-23 and Birch Run is expected to be completed this fall. Widening of the remaining 21.6 miles north to Bay City will continue into 1974.

Snowmobile safety course offered again

A second snowmobile safety class will be offered by Oakland County Sheriff's Department under the auspices of the Independence Township Recreation Department beginning February 6 at Clarkston Senior High School cafeteria. Succeeding classes will be 7 to 9 p.m. February 8, 13 and 15.

Registrations will be accepted by phone at the recreation department, phone 625-8223.

Pine Knob helps Nature Center

By Gene Warman and David Williams
Room 2 from Pine Knob School is happy to announce that it helped the Drayton Plains Nature Center.

In December Room 2 sent in $10 for a membership card. Since then we have collected $8 at our last PTA meeting and Steve Wesol and Tracy Gougeon collected $9 this week. We presented $8 to Mike Van Gordon, a naturalist from the Nature Center, January 23.

Mr. Van Gordon and Steve Vandenberg were here to give a lecture and slide presentation for two classes (our sixth grade class and Mr. Donovan's fifth grade class.) They told us about the Nature Center and they brought along two raccoons.

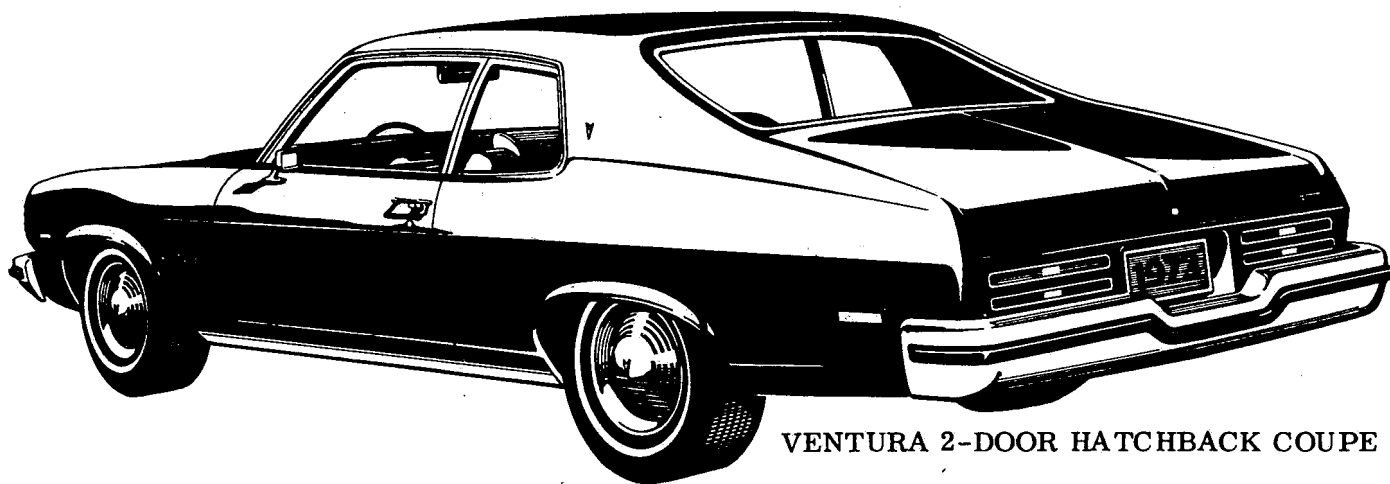

We plan to do more to help the Nature Center. Also we plan to build bird feeders and work on our nature area at school.

Spending control is big item in township

It sounds like budgeting may be the big news for Independence Township during the coming year.

The new board, settled into office since its election last November, has put a priority on smart financial handling and has even hired a new auditing firm to do the overseeing.

Supervisor Robert Vandermark said, "The township should have a closer control of its own spending and financial planning. We're budgeting closer. Each department head, with the approval of the township board, has been asked for budgetary figures which, when finalized, they must live within."

He said even legal expenses, one of the highest service items in the budget, will be controlled under the new budget which goes into effect April 1.

"It should put the responsibility for spending priorities and budget control in the hands of the township board rather than having it done on a week-by-week basis," Vandermark said.

"Reports will be available to board members that will show them how we're doing overall and in each individual area. It will be possible to modify the budget through the year, but changes will have to be done by the township board within the framework of the budget as a whole."

Vandermark has three pet priorities in addition to tighter budget control for the coming years. He wants an improved method of handling plat and site plan approvals to avoid situations such as the drainage problem which occurred recently at Allen and Rattalee Lake roads.

He also wants a signal light at Maybee Road and the Dixie Highway, and even though it is a state responsibility, he says he's going to exert what pressure he can from the township level.

He also wants serious consideration about providing a landfill for Independence Township residents to which they can take junk which now litters roadsides in much of the township.

Vandermark knows that one of the largest single concerns of the people who live here is the condition of their roads.

"Most of that responsibility rests with the Oakland County Road Commission; however, most of the citizens look to the township for help," he noted.

Vandermark explained, "The county will match dollar for dollar everything the township or citizens pay on major roads. Some recent state legislation makes it possible for citizens on private roads to get improvement if they're willing to participate in the cost."

"With the failure of the one mill tax for roads last November, it would be very difficult for the township to raise any significant money for matching road programs except through citizen participation."

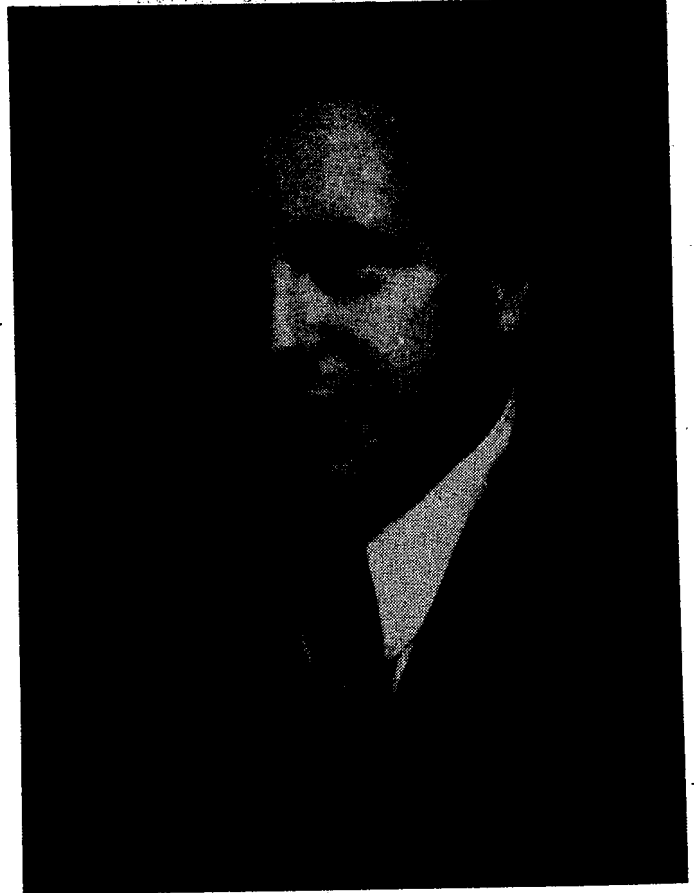

"One source," he said, "could be special assessments for roads in those areas where the citizens petition for improvements."

The new supervisor also notes that some progress is being made in the planning area. An updating of the master plan is underway, and Vandermark feels the planning commission should be studying actual rezonings in conformance with the master plan later this summer.

"Citizens wanting to make any contributions should contact the planner or appear at the planning commission meetings to state their views," he said.

In the planning area, Vandermark said he hoped to see considerable progress towards acquisition of a park site for Independence. A total of $129,210 has been requested from state and federal governments for the purchase.

The supervisor looks ahead to the coming year with some pleasure. "I'm very pleased with the township board as a whole. All the members are doing a conscientious job," he said.

Hearing set for Springfield park

A public hearing to air residents' feelings about the proposed metro park on 2,000 acres in Springfield and White Lake Township has been set for 8 p.m. February 14 at the Courthouse Board of Commissioners Auditorium.

The park, a project of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, is viewed as a fine idea by County Planning Director George Skrubbs.

Skrubbs called the site, which encompasses the former Huron Marsh, "unique in the county." He pointed out it is the headwaters for the Huron River and is in close proximity to the headwaters for the four other major rivers in the county.

"The area has been described as a large sponge, retaining water and letting it out in an even flow into the rivers," Skrubbs said.

He also said the section houses wildlife which typified Oakland County a century ago.

Rather than see the land chewed up in gravel mining operations, as has been proposed, Skrubbs feels it much to the advantage of area residents to preserve the natural quality of the land.

The criteria used in selecting the park site, Skrubbs said, was that it include good public access, water for boating, swimming or scenic value, good topography with rolling land, nature areas for interpretation, and hills for winter sports.

This park is within one hour's driving time to 3.7 million people, Skrubbs said. Just 250 acres of the proposed site lie in White Lake Township, the remainder in Springfield.

Officials of the HCMA told the County Planning Commission recently that only about a dozen families now live on the land. They said the authority's usual procedure is to take care of the "anxious" seller first. Two appraisals are obtained with a third company reviewing them.

This takes from five to six months, the commission was told, and gives the people a chance to get used to the idea.

Those people wishing to sell right away are taken care of first, it was noted. Lease back arrangements are made with those people unable to move right away, it was reported.

Flu kept them home at Jaycee Bosses' Night

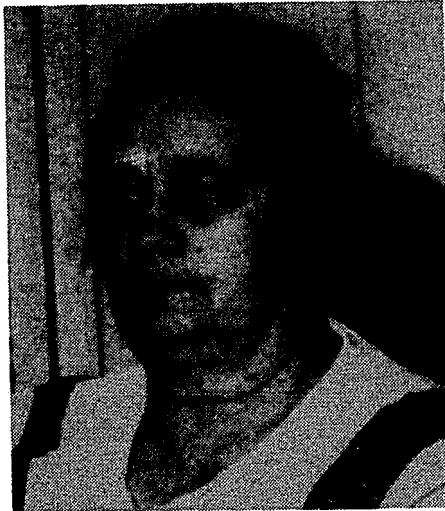

George White

The flu virtually wiped out the principals at Clarkston Area Jaycee Bosses Night Thursday at Pine Knob, but awards were made anyway with stand-ins accepting the tributes.

The group honored Mrs. Mary Powell, owner of Ben Powell Disposal Service, as Boss of the Year. Her award was accepted by her son, Jerry Powell.

Mrs. Powell recalls her late husband was the first to start a disposal route in Independence Township 35 years ago. She has continued with the business since his death 11 years ago.

George White, president of Clarkston Youth Assistance and past president of the Clarkston Education Association, was home in bed when Larry Rosso accepted his Distinguished Service Award.

Rudy Schwarze, owner of Rudy's Market, was given a special award for his "outstanding contributions to the Clarkston Area Jaycees."

Presentations of the awards were accomplished by Jim Brueck, internal vice chairman of the chapter; Ron Rule, external vice chairman; and Dave Nadolsky, past president. Harold Dallou was chairman for the dinner which feted 60 guests.

Even the main speaker of the evening, Michigan Jaycee President Don Waddell, was ill and his place was taken by Bob Padgett, a past president of the state organizations.

Operation Waterproof swims again

It's almost time to dig out the swimsuits for the Clarkston Area Jaycee sponsored Operation Waterproof.

Youngsters 4 feet 6 inches and taller can get in the swim at Oakland University via bus from Clarkston for eight Saturday

Registration, according to Bruce Rogers who heads the program, will be 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. February 5 and 6 at Clarkston Junior High School. Cost for the whole program is $6 plus some parent time.

Chaperones will be needed for the buses, Rogers added.

Swimming is scheduled every Saturday in March, excepting March 17, and every Saturday in April, excepting April 7. The last session is May 5, Rogers reported.

Dog licenses

Dog licenses are available until March 1 at the Independence Township Treasurer's Office. The licenses this year cost $3 each, regardless of the dog's sex.

Applicants must furnish a vaccination certificate, according to Treasurer Betty Hallman.

Following March 1 the licenses will be available at the County Courthouse but will cost $6 each, Mrs. Hallman said.

We can't stop it, but . . .

It has become evident that it doesn't do taxpayers a lot of good to protest contemplated development in the area, but it does do some good.

Three such items went to a referendum vote here two years ago. The K-Mart shopping center proposed for Waterford Hill is still under some court scrutiny, but the last official word was that the township couldn't stop developer William Gershenson from proceeding with construction of the shopping center.

A trailer park on Clintonville Road, protested by the people, has been changed to a multiple development, and the multiple development protested on Waldon Road has been cut to half the density originally proposed.

And the township has gained a two-year delay in construction of all three.

Whether it was worth it has to be considered in the light of other proposals now filtering into the township — the foremost of which is a gigantic undertaking for the north end of Deer Lake.

While it is impossible to preserve the character of the land as it was when each of us chose to move here, it is possible to make the changes easier to live with.

That may be the compromise for which we have to strive.

Don't feed the wildfowl

By Joseph Rhoades

"Don't bite the hand that feeds you." This is an old saying, but ever true. It is hard to say, "don't feed the mouth that is hungry," or at least appears hungry. I am speaking of the wild ducks and geese that find their habitat in our area.

Don't feed them is what I say, and I will be backed by every thinking conservationist you may put this question to and here are my reasons:

These birds have the natural food necessary for their livelihood in our lake bottoms as well as the forage they make on our wild areas as well as our farmers' fields. In feeding these wild fowl you make them dependent upon you, and if fed beyond the natural migration period they will miss their flight south and when the pond or lake in front of your home becomes frozen, these birds have no alternative but to seek out small open waters most always away from people who might feed them during the winter months. The ducks and geese you fed last summer are now starving.

In these close quarters of secluded open waters, or those that are not so secluded, where hundreds of wild fowl must seek refuge, they are living in a virtual cesspool of their own waste, thus causing disease among themselves.

You probably did not give the foregoing much, if any thought, when you were giving this wild fowl a free hand out, and I am positive it was done with the best of intentions, and this writing is done not to make you feel bad, but to bring the matter to everyone's attention.

If you really want to help the wildfowl there are ways of doing this, among some of the many I could point out are:

You could join "Ducks Unlimited" whose national address is: P. O. Box 1972, Clifton, New Jersey 07015, or you could plant wild rice in the lake or pond of your favorite duck and geese feeding grounds, or you might take the feed you had left at freeze up time and drop it off at the Oakland County Sportsman's Club on Waterford Road, Waterford, Michigan, for distribution to the starving wildfowl. Cash donations will also be accepted. There are thousands of these birds to be fed now.

Who's sane, anyhow?

by Jean Saile

Now they've done it.

Eight members of an investigative group headed by a Stanford University psychologist have proven that mental hospitals can't tell the difference between the sane and the insane.

The eight arranged to get themselves admitted to various mental hospitals around the country, and once in, they found it more than difficult to get out.

They were finally released as "schizophrenics in remission." They were not declared sane.

All of which may help to prove a point I've been making over the years. There are few psychiatrists or psychologists whom I've met who I haven't thought needed help worse than I did.

Anybody who spends that much time thinking about motives has to be a little mixed up. My theory is "do and enjoy." None of this "Why, oh why, did I ever leave Wyoming?" business for me.

The fact that the group was composed of a pediatrician, a painter and a housewife as well as psychologists puts the onus on the mental hospitals, as far as I'm concerned.

Everybody knows housewives tend to get a little flaky in the normal course of events. Wouldn't you, if the high point of your day (some days) was finding a lost sock?

And painters. They're supposed to be thinking and seeing "way out there."

Pediatricians, however, have to be the most down-to-earth people there are. Beset constantly by frantic mothers, and some with very good reason, they've got to be able to cut through to "what is" rather than "what might be" faster than most of us.

They, in fact, are probably what keeps a goodly portion of the "housewife" category sane.

I wonder what would have happened if they'd included an editor in their group — a grizzled, old, hard bitten, thundering "do it now" type, totally committed against nonsense and against getting yourself committed to a mental hospital.

He'd probably still be in a strait jacket, after he told the staffs what he thought of their diagnostic ability.

Anyway the moral of the story as far as I'm concerned, is stay away from head shrinkers unless you've gotten to the point where you make yourself and everybody else absolutely miserable all of the time.

A little misery is normal, and probably good for the soul.

Abridged snakes

My wife was sitting there, flinching as she pasted tape over the pictures of snakes in our American Heritage dictionary.

"Wouldn't it be easier just to avoid the "S" section?" I asked.

"Life is never that easy," she answered. "There are pictures of snakes scattered all through this darn book. I don't dare open a page."

"If you cannot stand to look at pictures of snakes, how can you look at those long enough to tell whether they should be taped over?" I asked.

"It isn't easy," she shuddered, holding the dictionary behind her back while she pasted over half a "R" page to wipe out a little rattler. "But I figure a few minutes of torture now are worth the future freedom of knowing I can thumb through the dictionary without being shocked to death."

"Readers often accuse me of exaggerating when I write about you," I said. "When I tell the world that you paste tape over pictures of snakes in the dictionary, no one is going to believe me. They are going to say 'Ha, there he goes fibbing about his poor wife again.'"

"Everyone has their little idiosyncrasies," she said. "But only I have a husband who blabs family secrets in a newspaper column."

"The only way I can establish my credibility, is to invite readers over to look up snakes in our dictionary," I said. "For the next few days you'd better keep the dirty sox and dust balls off the bookcase."

(It probably should be noted here that I really don't mind Pat marring the pages of our expensive dictionary. The taped pictures could be a life saver. Whenever she turns a page and unexpectedly sees a snake, she screams and throws whatever she is reading. It is one thing to be hit with a flying newspaper. It is another thing to be conked in the head by a 5-pound American Heritage dictionary. Although it probably would make an impressive epitaph for a journalist, chiseled in granite: "Crusading Editor — Never Ducked — Killed by Words.")

Anyway, back to the domestic dialog . . .

By Jim Fitzgerald

"It has just occurred to me that I am also entitled to a little idiosyncrasy," I said. "Have we got any of that thick, black tape; I think it's called electrician's tape? When I was a kid we used it to restore old baseballs."

"Why?" she asked.

"To prevent myself from suffering future shock, I am going to tape 2 cats to a tree," I said.

"You're not a bit funny," she said.

"The tape won't hold them forever, I know. But as the cats work loose, I'll be able to test another legend," I said. "I'll see if there really is more than one way to skin a cat."

"You're a snake," she said, taping my elbow to my nose. Onward and Upward. †

Players chosen unfairly

To whom it may concern:

It's about time something is being done about the Clarkston School System. I have always thought Sashabaw Junior High School was part of the Clarkston Schools.

Any boy leaving Sashabaw and attending Clarkston High School doesn't stand a chance in sports on Junior Varsity. All boys picked to play the game are from Clarkston Junior High School. Take notice at the next game!

Sashabaw has had some top scoring players only to sit the bench when going to Clarkston High School. This is not fair to the boys. I know Sashabaw has good players because I have seen them.

Ninth grade boys from Sashabaw if you want to play Junior Varsity next year, try and get into the Clarkston Junior High School now and I will guarantee you will be picked for the team and play every game and all the game. Not a bench warmer.

Senate-press feud

By Cathy Lessard

"Senate Puts Leash on Dog Racing Bill," "The Senate's Glass Cage," "Fun," Sun "Brigade" Rides High," "A New Low in Lansing, It's a Pension Grab!," "Legislators Criticized for High-living Vacations," "Image of Legislators is Hurting After Public Outcry."

These are just a few of the headlines which have appeared in Michigan newspapers in recent weeks. The last one is to me the most critical and regrettable for, because of the actions of a few, public officials in general are criticized and held in low esteem.

How much of the criticism is deserved? How much of it is brought about because of sensationalism by the press? Even working within the Capitol walls those questions are sometimes difficult to answer, but before we're ready to "tar and feather the scoundrels" it seems that we should ask a few questions.

A disagreement, like anything else, always has two sides and the Senate "press cage" imbroglio for example, was no exception. There was more than sufficient press coverage of the building of the "press cages" last month as well as the Florida trip which occurred during the same time period. Was it coincidental that for the first time in the many such trips which legislators have made that correspondents from state newspapers actually made the trip themselves to cover the trip? Or did the fact that the disliked "cages" were being built in the Senate in Lansing have anything to do with it?

From here, it appears that the events which led up to the final battle between the State Senators and the Capitol Press Corps had been building up for quite some time and that there was misunderstanding and some stubbornness on both sides.

On the Senators' side, the leadership maintained that there was a need for new rules in the Senate to curtail the activities of the press corps and maintain decorum in the chamber during session. They accused newsmen of using the chamber as a throughway during session; objected to certain newsmen using the windowsills as lounging spots during session, and said that they objected to them conversing with the Senate members while business was being carried on.

Newsmen say that in actuality there was very little activity which they felt could in any way be construed as disrupting the Senate decorum during session.

Apparently, there were two or three correspondents who had a habit of sitting on the windowsills and lunging around the back of the chamber during session.

while the majority of the news people behaved in a dignified manner proper to the State Senate. News people tell me that for years they had urged the Senate leadership to use the authority they already had to keep the few news people who did violate the rules in order, but that no one ever did so.

News people also say that in their opinion there was some jealousy by certain members of the press over coverage other members were receiving. News people were not allowed to wander up and down the interior aisles but did walk up and down the outside aisles while the Senate was in session. Frequently, they would stop and talk to Senate leaders who sat on these outside aisles, resulting in more press for these people, and causing some resentment on the parts of other members.

Whatever the cause, the whole situation was handled badly on both sides. Senators decided to construct the "cages" in closed caucuses and not to discuss their plans with the press corps. Apparently it was the best kept secret ever in Lansing. Newsmen didn't learn of the plans until the materials started arriving outside the Senate doors. Upon leaving of what all that lumber was really for, many of them "hit the roof."

The result was that the Senators backed off. Discussions were held between the leadership and the press, but the press people were not very impressed with the explanations. The fact was that when it got right down to it, many Senators could not really remember what it was that made them agree to glass in the press in the first place.

As it stands now, the platforms have been built but not glassed in and in reality they provide both a better view and better hearing for the press corps.

It has been over a month since the culmination of the argument and unfortunately it seems that the animosity still exists, and probably will, to some degree, for quite some time. Most press people I have talked to admit that the coverage of the Florida trip was probably more intensive than it would have been without the "cages."

Not that it wasn't deserved, because in some cases it was. The sad part is that many of the people who went down there had legitimate reasons for going, attended the conference meetings and actually worked, and yet from the press articles which I have seen covering the event that point is not ever made clear.

Hopefully the next time, there won't be any "cages" and the reporting will be more objective. A widening of the credibility gap is not at all what is needed now.

NIXON'S PEACE

The Nixon characteristics of determination and perseverance have brought a "peace with honor" home to the American people from Viet Nam.

Dr. Henry Kissinger, who, undoubtedly spent countless hours in anguish since his "peace is at hand" statement last October, has cautioned that hatred still exists as a result of the twenty-five year war; the last ten years of which the United States has played a prominent role.

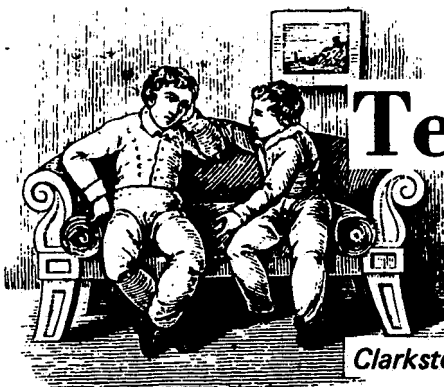

Nonetheless, the Nixon-Kissinger team has achieved a major goal. I am impressed genuinely by Kissinger who related with great understanding that the peace was delayed so the agreement could be written in precise terms. He recognized that for us, 12,000 miles removed, a misunderstanding could prove painful, but for the Vietnamese it could prove fatal.

The President beamed as he spoke of settling the war according to his terms. Obviously he is delighted to end a war that his predecessors and other world leaders failed to end.

As Kissinger explained America's role in the negotiations he used the terms "major effort" and "achievement" several times. The energy and will of the President now can be focused on domestic issues and the preservation of a lasting peace. To achieve such lofty goals additional major efforts shall be required. There is little question that the President and his super competent advisor will strive to achieve them.

My respect for those reaching a settlement is equalled only by a feeling of relief that the war is at an end.

Tell it to Bob

by Bob Brumback

Clarkston schools special service director.

I was visited at home recently by a young man I worked with during his high school years. I had known him as a very independent, rebellious young man whose dark skin and personal standards had raised my eyebrows in this rather conservative community. He wore his hair on his shoulder when that was considered by some to be a communist act.

This young man's hair represented to him a personal identity that was a battleground for determining if he had any value as a human being. To succumb to pressure and have even a little cut off would upset him for days. He generally just let it get longer.

During his recent visit this young man had his hair just covering his ears and it was well cared for. Most importantly — he was not just conforming without understanding.

He related to me that his hair is rather unimportant now because he has found far more important issues in his life. He has noticed the drastic change in the acceptance of others toward him. Adults are far more friendly now and the police do not pay quite so much attention to him. Hair has been a source of conflict between youth and adults for centuries. The conflict becomes minimal during those periods when adults start wearing their hair like the young people but grow again as new styles emerge.

For me the hair issue is one that has to be viewed in an appropriate perspective. It seems that the way a young person handles situations involving the length of his hair relates back to the development of his family.

Each family must have its own set of standards and rules that its members learn to live by. When children are small they learn to live by the rules if Mom and Dad are consistent and fair in applying the rules. If the children notice that Mom and Dad enforce one set of rules and live by another set, they often learn to look forward to living by the parents' set of rules.

As the children grow older they must be given increasing voice in the rules and standards so that when they finally go on their own they are not overwhelmed by their new freedom. Adjustment problems can develop if too much responsibility is given too early or if appropriate responsibility is delayed for too long a time.

Hair has been developed into a battleground by both adults and young people. Adults often view long hair as defiance. Students view long hair as being in style and a way to feel more accepted by their peers. There are always those whose hair does represent defiance or those adults who dislike anyone who doesn't have a brush cut.

I don't believe that hair is important enough to allow it to become a battleground. I refuse to be trapped into judging a person by any one measure. If long hair is accompanied by a defiant attitude and other poor personal habits, I will respond to that individual as a whole person.

If long hair is accompanied by a pleasant personality, acceptance of responsibility, or other pleasing characteristics — great! I guess it isn't much different than a young person tuning out an adult because they look like they are over thirty. In either case, the individual should be judged as a human being first.

I really believe that if you look beyond a person's physical appearance you will find their pleasing human qualities that are really important.

The Internal Revenue service today reminded Pontiac area taxpayers that they can obtain assistance with their 1972 Federal income tax returns at the IRS office here Monday through Friday of each week.

Internal Revenue Service personnel will be available to provide assistance from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The IRS office is located at Federal building, Huron and Perry Streets, telephone 338-7101.

Gene Warman, Steve Wesol and David Williams admire their handiwork in a display case at Pine Knob Elementary School. The case features various feeders and shelters for animals and incidentally reminds students of the need to support the Drayton Plains Nature Center.

Think of us as part of the family.

Family. Community. Whatever you'd like to call it. We're part of it up here in Northern Oakland County.

You see, a family is something people count on. Like us.

We've got a family way of doing business. Our prices and our deals always have you in mind. We slick up our new cars and trucks (and our used cars, too) like we were delivering them to a favorite aunt.

We handle our service the same way. Because we've been around long enough to know that's where the family squabble can start.

So here we are. A big happy family ourselves. Just down the street — instead of 20 or 30 traffic-jammed miles away. Right where you need us — with as fine a selection of Chevrolet cars, trucks and recreational vehicles you'll find anywhere. All at prices that'll beat anything your brother-in-law says he can fix you up with.

Schools search out handicapped

Handicapped young people, from birth through age 25 who are not now in public school programs, are the objects of a massive search in Oakland County from January 29 to February 5.

Parents, neighbors and acquaintances of such children are asked to call the directors of special education in their local school district, report the name, age, and address of handicapped young person not now in public schools.

The Mandatory Special Education Act of 1972 requires that school programs for handicapped persons under the age of 25 be in operation next September. Home visit programs are now being planned for infants and preschool children. Training programs, now enrolling the moderately retarded and multiply handicapped will be adapted to fit the needs of more severely handicapped young people.

"It is urgent," said Dr. Paul F. Thams, director of special education of Oakland Schools, "that we find all young people eligible for the programs as soon as possible. The more we know about them, the better their programs will be in September."

Young people who should be reported include:

- 1) Preschoolers with birth defects, serious emotional problems, or who are slow to develop.
- 2) Children of school age who are not enrolled in public school because of handicaps. These children may be at home, in public or private residential institutions, or in private schools or day care programs.
- 3) Persons between the ages of 16 and 25 whose handicaps prevent them from working and/or living independently.

Gallantry exists!

Springing up
by Betty Hecker

Last week's warm weather and thaw played havoc with some of our roads. I hit a chuckhole on Big Lake Road by the Vocational School, and since "Freak Accidents" have been happening to me for over a week, anyway, the impact dented the rim of the wheel, breaking the seal and letting the air escape — consequently, you guessed it!

I'm not much of a women's libber, never vied with a man when it came to making cars go—but I did know that there was a jack in the trunk, and the only men around were two 8-year-old boys, my son, Tom and his friend, Martin.

Now comes the good part! Just as I got the jack out, a green car stopped and a gentleman came to my rescue, changing that tire in just a matter of minutes.

Thank you, Cy Tillson!

Linda ran out of gas. Linda Jewell and her son, Steven, were on their way to the grocery store last week, when Linda told Steve that they would have to stop for gas soon. The words must have been magic, for the red Mach IV sputtered to a stop. Linda and Steven started to walk down Dixie Highway, glad that the weather was nice, when almost immediately, one of the Oakland County Sheriff's Patrol plainclothesmen was there, offering to help and driving them to a service station.

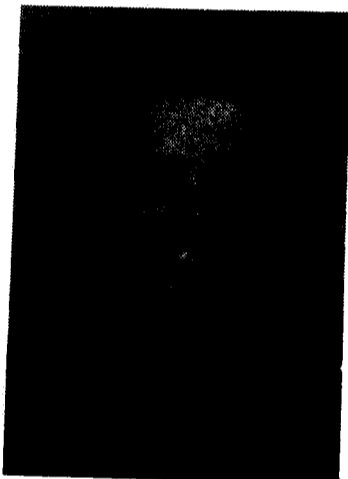

Linda didn't ask his name, but she wants to say "Thank you to the policeman whose children go to Andersonville School."

Jan and Charlie Weber of Lakeview Drive hosted a midnight buffet dinner for nine couples Saturday evening.

As president of the Clarkston Nursery Inc., Charlie and Jan entertained the other members of the present board and members of last year's board, with whom Jan served.

Jan said, "It was a very enjoyable evening. There was good conversation, the men played pool, and we played some of the games the children received for Christmas."

When asked how this year as president has been, Charlie solemnly replied, "This four-year term hasn't been bad at all."

R.J. McCormick

Young R. J. McCormick has won another coloring contest. Last fall he entered the Borden Frosted Freeze Stakes, coloring a picture of one of their new products. Last week R. J. received a congratulatory letter from Borden Foods and his prize, a Hohner Medolicas (an instrument similar to a flute with piano keys).

This is the third win for him since he started school. When in kindergarten, he won a Major Matt Mason Space Outfit from a Pillsbury coloring contest.

In second grade, the prize from the Child Life coloring contest was an RCA transistor radio.

"Every second year seems to be lucky for him," said his mother, Mrs. Tom McCormick of Deer Lake Estates.

Myrtle Toulton of Clarkston was admitted to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital for a check-up on January 20, her 82nd birthday. She is reported to be in good health and was released on Sunday, January 28.

"She is so glad to be home," said Gail Hess, Myrtle's grandsons' wife. "While in the hospital, grandma kept saying, 'I thought they weren't going to keep me here very long.'"

Everyone is proud of Sharry Lynn Bronson, born January 17; to Beverly and Dennis Bronson.

Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kendrick of Mt. Clemens are proud — and Mrs. Alvin Bronson of Troy is proud —

And her big brother, Dougie, who will be three years old in April is proud —

Beverly is the former home ec teacher at Clarkston Sr. High School. Dennis is a math teacher at Clarkston Jr. High School.

Congratulations, everyone.

Cub Scouts from Pack 133 at Andersonville School have been on the go again.

Last Friday, Den 5 (mine) and Den 6 (Isabel Zelenak's) went on a tour of the facilities and saw some of the operations of the Michigan State Police Post on Telegraph Road in Pontiac.

Our guide was Officer Hodges, and all the boys want to say, "Thank you, sir, we enjoyed seeing where you work."

The monthly meeting of the Davisburg Joggers Senior Citizens Group will be Saturday, February 3, at noon at the Springfield Township Hall.

Last Friday evening the Davisburg Joggers' All American Kazoo Band held a rehearsal for the Valentine Day performance to be held at the Masonic Temple in Ortonville.

Art Klemm brought a large cake that he had baked for his and Herman Jaenichen's birthday, since they both share the same birthday, January 18. Another band member, Hilda Hansard, announced that her birthday held some importance this year, the day that the peace treaty was signed in Paris.

Lorraine Sczerenet of Springfield Township has a problem. Her husband is a Pontiac fireman, but they live about 2 miles outside the allowed radius.

They love their house. "I'm completely happy here. We built this house and it's exactly what we want," Lorraine told me in a phone conversation Monday morning.

But, they have until March 1 to move. They need to find a place to rent, preferably a two bedroom house in the Clarkston School District. Their son is a senior at Clarkston Sr. High.

Can you help?

"A bunch of us went snowmobiling last weekend at Hale, Michigan," reported Shirley Pursley. "More people were supposed to go, but since there was so much mud here, they canceled out and told us we were crazy. Well, they were wrong." There was snow especially in the woods, and Saturday night over 2 inches of fresh snow fell.

Those that went and "had a ball" were Bud and Audrey Keyser, Roberta and Bill Allen, Ron and Shirley Pursley, all of Clarkston, and Mary and Lyle Wiechert and Bill Land of Davisburg.

Donna Fahrner was a busy hostess and co-hostess last weekend.

On Saturday she and her husband, Harry, picked up friends Jack and Char Frost at 6:30 to take them out — but where?

Donna said, "We drove around in circles for awhile before going to Vicki and Al Hamilton's."

Donna and Vicki had planned a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party for the Frosts and invited friends Diane and Lou Wint, Bill and Mary Ellen Hanson, and Jack and Gail Hess.

The honored couple was presented with a money tree — with 25 silver dollars growing on it.

Sunday was a family party to celebrate Michael Fahrner's 16th birthday. Michael was given a white sweater (for his football letter) and the weight table he has been wanting.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lambert of Main Street has been in Pontiac General Hospital the last two weeks with a pinched nerve in the neck, according to Janet Lambert Lookadoo. "She wants to come home, of course, but we don't know when she'll be able to be released," Mrs. Lookadoo said. She's still not able to have visitors because of the hospital's quarantine regarding the London flu. Mrs. Lookadoo adds that Mrs. Lambert doesn't want any flowers either, but she's in room 421 and cards would be welcome.

Eileen and Alan Howe of Waterford and Mrs. Lyle See of Drayton Plains have arrived home from a month's vacation in Pompano Beach, Fla.

Swiss steak dinner

Cooks at the Masonic Temple are preparing another Swiss steak dinner to be served from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday, February 4.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for youngsters 5 to 12, and free for those under 5, available at the door.

Methodist women elect officers

Clarkston United Methodist Women officers elected for 1973 are: Joy McKibben, president; Pat Leslie, vice president; Mary Vandermark, secretary; Jeanette Morse, treasurer; Pat Beach, Christian social concerns; Mildred Walter, local church activities; Marianna Vascassenno, membership; Joan Carr, missionary education; Maude Riley, spiritual growth; and Ruth Mast and Barbara Pike, nominating committee.

Mrs. Beamer elected

Mrs. Charles Beamer, owner of Golden Bo Tree Imports of Pontiac, was elected chairman of the Waterford Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association last month.

Brock-Jones rites

Sharon Marie Jones became the bride of Robert Brock in a ceremony Saturday evening at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Rev. Frank Cozadd performed the candlelight rites in a setting of pink roses, white carnations and gladioli before 200 guests.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones, 5559 Warbler, chose a long satin with lace overlay gown trimmed in embroidery and sequins featuring a long full train and shoulder length veil. She carried a cascade of pink baby roses and white carnations.

Mauréen Mullane of Clarkston was maid of honor in a long ruby velvet skirt with beige lace bodice. Dana Fitzthomas, Mrs. Kyle Vargo and Sandra Jones, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaids with Julie Newlin of Fenton, the bride's niece, as junior bridesmaid.

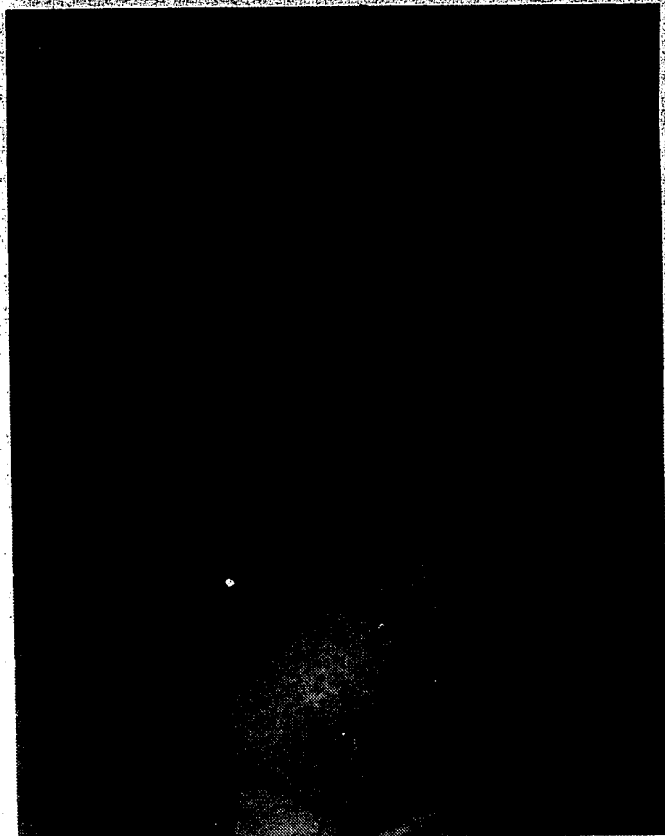

All attendants carried candleholders with pink candles and cascading flowers. Mrs. William Mercer of Waterford was soloist.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brock of 8550 Ortonville Road, was attended by Marshall Motsinger of Clarkston. Randy Erb, Keith Scott, Kenneth Brock and Tom Jones served as attendants while Frank Jones and Dennis Brock seated guests.

A reception at Spring Lake Country

Club entertained 175 guests. The newlyweds will live in Pontiac.

Spiritual Message

"Why Worship?"

The assumption of the Christian should be celebrated and reflected Church is that the important upon within the "assembling "happenings" in a person's life together" of Christians. These events - birth, death, marriage, confirmation - are made vivid and written on the hearts of all participants by ceremonial rites which dramatize the meaning of these events for Christians. These ceremonial rites undergird the commitments made to one another and to God. We have created these ceremonies in order to remind ourselves, our children, and those about us of what we consider important.

As we worship each week we discover a three-fold action taking place. We bring to worship the irritations, the fears, the suffocating patterns and the "breakthroughs" we experience in our day by day life. Another action is our recalling of the past both imaginatively and "in fact." The third action which takes place in worship is the feeling tone aroused by the experiences being shared by the congregation.

So, the church gathers together to look at its life in terms of the Christian faith and to remember their mission and to renew themselves for witness in the world as they leave one another to go to their homes, their work, and their play.

Martin Buber has said, "All real living is meeting." Certainly this means meeting God and meeting one another as children of God.

Fish plantings revive sport

Oakland County fishermen should have some good times ahead if the 533,786 various fish planted in area streams and lakes by the Department of Natural Resources catch hold.

Planted were brown trout, rainbow trout, steelhead, splake, lake trout, largemouth bass, northern pike, tiger muskellunge, purebred muskellunge, walleye, redear and green sunfish hybrid.

Deer Lake received a quota of splake and Huron Lake received the purebred muskellunge in this area.

obituaries

Frank Saiz Jr.

Frank Saiz Jr., 64, father of Springfield Township Supervisor Claude Trim, died January 24 after a short illness. He lived at 5960 Ware Road.

Born in Germany, he was married December 11, 1937, to Bessie Sparling in Bowling Green, Ohio. She survives. A retired welder for GMC Truck and Coach Division, he was a member of Andersonville Community Church.

Also surviving are a son, Larry Saiz of Coloma; two daughters, Mrs. Roy Thomas of Clarkston and Mrs. William Cox of Davisburg; 16 grandchildren; a brother, Anthony Saiz of Pontiac; and three sisters, Agnes Saiz, Jennie Cramer and Mary Keller, all of Illinois.

Funeral services were January 27 at Sharpe-Goyette Funeral Home with burial in Andersonville Cemetery. Rev. Wallace Duncan of Andersonville Community Church officiated.

REQUIEM

Julie Trim, 8th grader at Clarkston Jr. High wrote this poem as a tribute to her grandfather and presented it to her grandmother, Mrs. Frank (Bessie) Saiz on his death.

If we didn't go to sleep at night we'd never awaken to see the light.

And the joy of watching a new day break or meeting the dawn by a quiet lake

Would never be ours unless we slept.
While God and all His angels kept

A vigil through a "little death" that's over with the morning's breath.

And death too, is a time of sleeping for those who die are in God's keeping.

And there is a "sunrise" for each soul
For life, not death is God's promised goal

So trust God's promise and doubt Him never
For only through death can man live forever.

Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village and has not recorded such removal with the local Clerk shall execute a transfer of registration request, listing the new residence address thereon over his signature, with the election board in the precinct in which he is registered at the next ensuing primary or election. The inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and, if the signatures correspond, then the inspector shall certify such fact by affixing his initials upon said request. The applicant for transfer, after having signed an application to vote as provided in Section 523 of this act, shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that primary or election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

Orgies just ain't what they used to be

by Marilyn Lawrence

The kids are back in school; I've swept up the big chunks of the Christmas clutter; picked the Barbie fashion boots out of the couch; and now it's time for the orgy.

I've got an armful of Gothic novels stashed for just such a murky day, a hidden cache of chocolate chip cookies, and an old torn-but-comfortable bathrobe. The fire is blazing, the phone is tucked away in a drawer. I curl up and begin...

Our heroine, Millicent Mostworthy, daughter of an obscure but high-minded country parson is left alone in the world, with nothing between herself and the Poor Farm but her Mother's locket, a lock of Daddy's hair, and her few, shabby linsey-woolsey frocks. She could take to the streets of London, but she is a virtuous lass, and all our heroines have to be governesses anyway. (Hey, the other path might be more interesting, for a change, Luv.)

Dressed in her neatly mended best, clutching her worn valise, she heads for the forbidding manor house, Cliffs-on-the-Moors. (I don't think you can have cliffs AND moors, but you gotta have something shadowy and sinister crop up about now.)

She is met at the train by the wizened old family coachman, who cheers her along with veiled hints about the mysterious goings-on, and the tragic past of The Master, who hasn't left the manor since the strange disappearance of his golden, laughing young bride ten years ago. (The drawer is ringing. It's the school. Stacy has taken a header off the monkey-bars, and is up to her eyeballs in mud. Yes, she needs a complete change of cloths. No, they can't just dry her and brush her off. O.K., I'm coming.)

The foggy mists surround the manor house, and you can hear the sea pounding hell out of the cliffs. Now Millicent meets Sir Geoffrey Blakehurst in his study, and Lo! He is Paul Newman, rich, handsome, and virile, but his sexy blue eyes show that he is Tortured.

Her duties, he tells her, are to care for his elfin daughter, born only a few weeks before Golden Girl disappeared. He dismisses her abruptly, and the black-garbed, tight-lipped and forbidding Housekeeper, Mrs. Grim, takes her to her room, hisses, and leaves. (The water in the pan boils away, and the hard boiled eggs for lunch explode, filling the house with sulphurous smoke, but back to Cliffs-on-the-Moors...)

Alone, Our Girl surveys her luxurious but spooky room, Gazing into the mirror with pounding heart, she uncoils her hair from the prim governess snood, and Behold! Masses of gleaming auburn tresses fall to her waist. The kid is suddenly Miss America, 28, 24, 36. Wouldn't you just KNOW it? (A neighbor dashes in and tells me to tear out three pages of this week's TIME MAGAZINE, quick, before the kids get home. Marlon Brando doing WHAT? Come on, not in TIME... Ohmigod! I tear out the pages, throw them in the trash, and get back to Millie...)

Her heart is beating wildly in that gorgeous bosom, she is flushed, and her strange green-flecked eyes are a-sparkle. The kid is either in love or coming down with something.

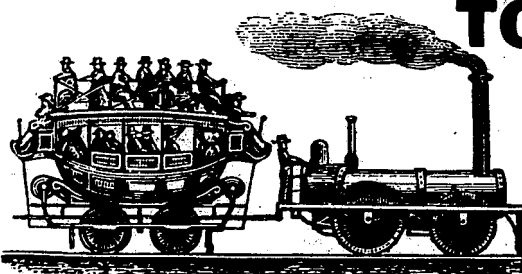

Now, you and I both know that Mrs. Grim isn't gonna like this. Sooner or later she's going to try to smother, poison, or drown Our Girl. She's already in the kitchen mixing up a batch of foxglove tea, or something. (Jeff has forgotten his lunch, as usual. He opens the refrigerator, grabs his lunchbag, some cold spaghetti, the egg that didn't blow up, three apples and a quart of milk, and settles down with the TIME pages he found in the garbage. So much for censorship.)

Enter Elfin Daughter, a winsome, curly haired moppet who, as anyone can see, is desperately in need of a new Mamma. (Right on, Millie!) But first she must solve the mystery that surrounds this house, avoid the treacherous cliffs and/or moors, expose Old Grim, and get the Master to thaw. She's in for a rough few days, if you ask me. (Gerry calls, and blows the whole program I have to call the man about the furniture, wash my hair, iron his uniform, spit-shine his shoes, give the kids a quick dinner, and be ready to leave for a meeting in Flint at six.)

Hang in there, Millie - I'll get back to you yet!

Rochester Adams wins CHS tourney

By Roger Zander

Once again it was the veterans showing the rookies how to wrestle. Ken Johnson and Rick Detkowski, a couple of the "veteran" members of the CHS wrestling team, went all the way to the finals at the Clarkston Invitational Tourney. Both men won gold medals at their weights, Ken pinned his opponent and Rick beat his man 10-1.

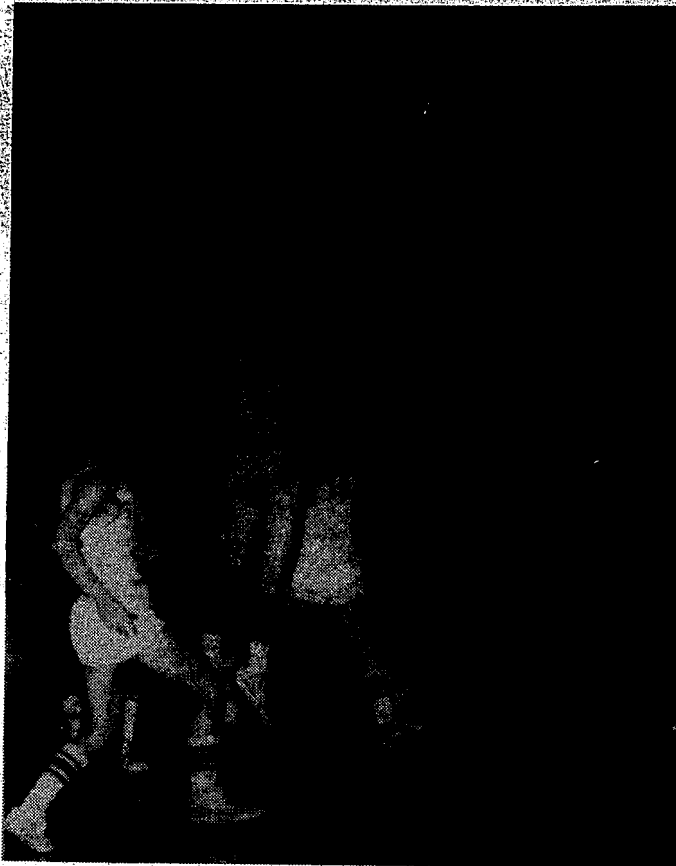

Clarkston had three contestants in the battle for third place and a bronze medal but, Randy Lane was the only victor. Greg Johnson and Dave Vanaman were the other two Clarkston competitors.

Rochester Adams, on the other hand, had five men in the finals and two more in the consolation finals. All seven of the Adams wrestlers won and helped boost their team to a first place finish. Adams received the winners' trophy and Davison was awarded the runner-up trophy. The Wolves placed fifth out of the eight teams.

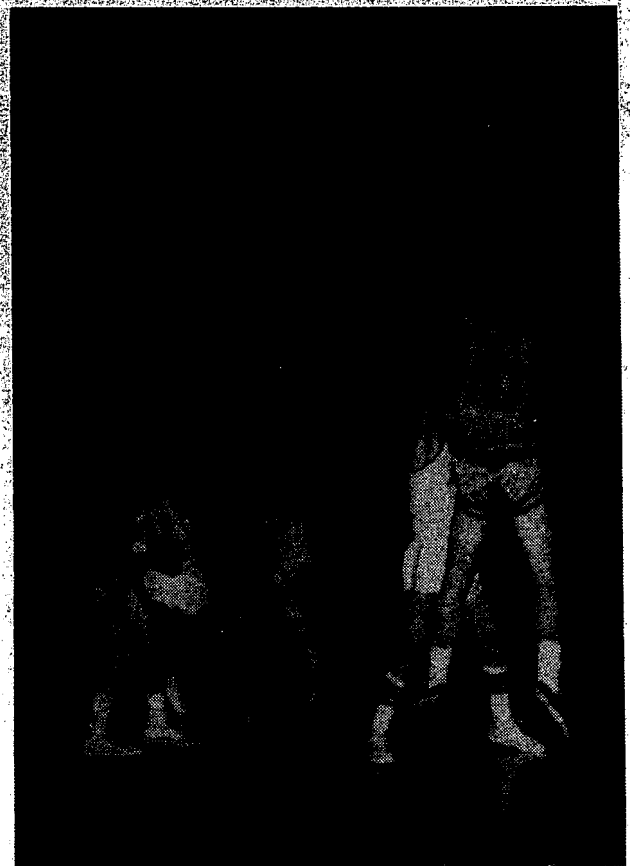

On Thursday, Clarkston won its second dual meet of the season. Wrestling at Clarenceville, the Wolves scored a 32-25 victory. Lane, Johnson and Detkowski pinned their Trojan opponents. Craig Warren, Steve Sanchez and Mike Dennis won on points. The Wolves' next dual meet is on Feb. 1 at Milford.

Wolves whip Lake Orion

By Craig Moore

Clarkston's Varsity Wolves handed the Lake Orion Dragons their tenth consecutive loss against no wins on Tuesday, January 23. The 65-45 victory over the Dragons brings the Wolves' season record up to 4-7.

The JV team lost its match the same night by a score of 59-51.

Clarkston was down 10-8 at the end of the first quarter as coach McDonald started his second stringers against the winless Dragons.

Things changed in the second quarter. McDonald pulled a few of his second string players and replaced them with the usual starters. Clarkston moved ahead 31-20 at the end of the half with a 23 point second quarter.

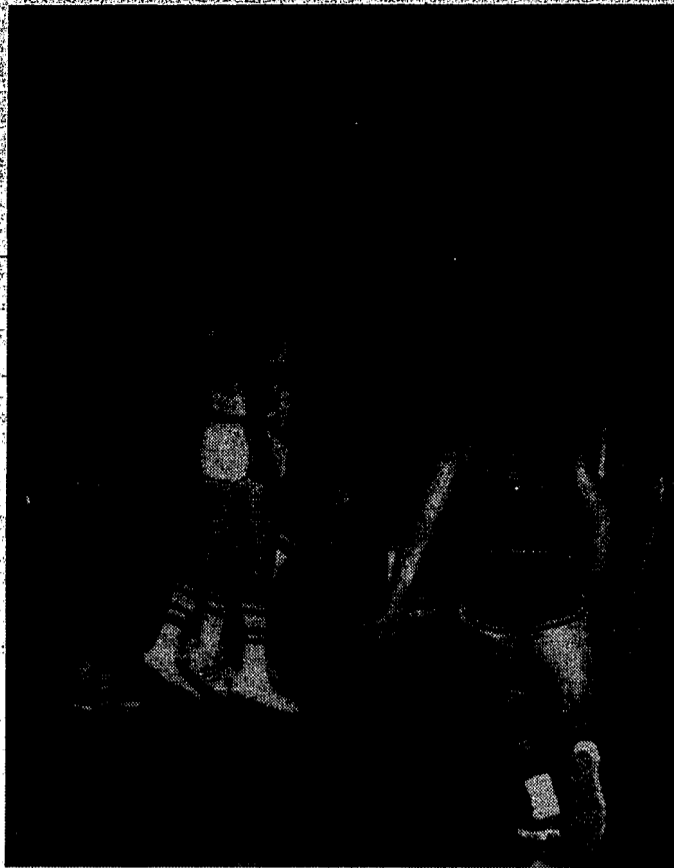

The Wolves moved into a 15 point, 46-29 lead by the third quarter's end. By the close of the final period, Clarkston had taken hold of a 20 point advantage for the 65-45 win.

Clarkston scoring was led by Dave Partlo with 16 points. Partlo also pulled in 13 rebounds in the game.

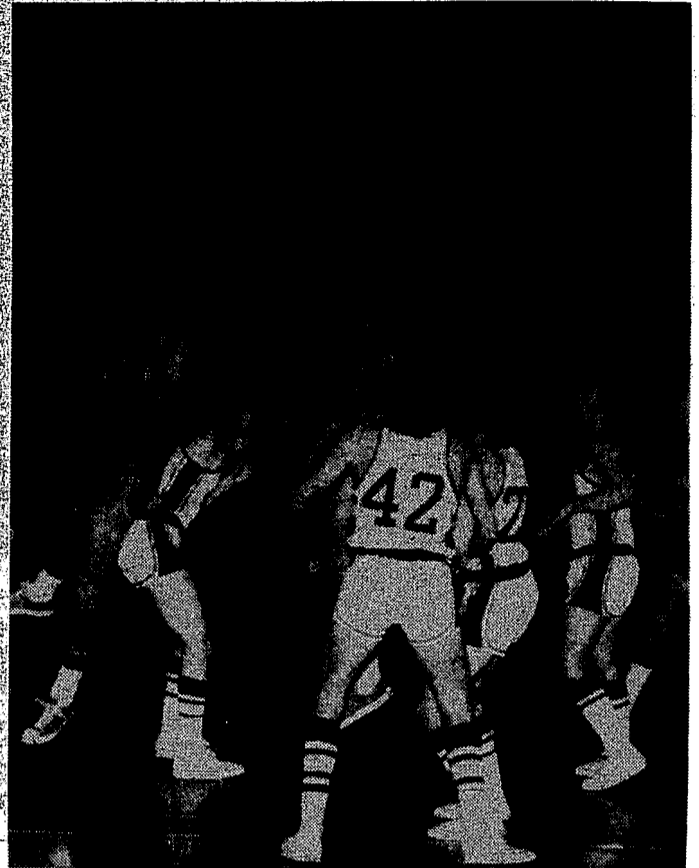

Larry Miracle played an exceptional game. He led in rebounding with 19, 13 of which he grabbed in the first half. Miracle scored 14 points and was credited with 3 steals.

The Wolves hit 24 of 67 from the floor for 35% and 18 of 34 free throws made their mark for 53%.

Tuesday, January 30, the Wolves host Rochester Adams. The following Friday, Clarkston hosts the Waterford Kettering Captains. JV game starts at 6:30 p.m. and the Varsity game follows at 8:15 p.m.

Dirk Feneley, 45, takes to the air under the watchful eyes of Dave Partlo, 15, and Larry Miracle, 55. The Clarkston victory was a healthy one — a 20-point margin.

The independent view

by Jean Saile

The war is over, thank God, and the pennies continue to arrive. We've bought one POW bracelet and hopefully all the prisoners are soon going to be home, so we won't have to buy another.

What to do with this continuing flow of largesse? We called Holly Stephens, publicity chairman at independence center, and asked if the center has a flag. It doesn't, and so any and all contributions mailed here will be put toward the purchase of a 50-star American flag for independence center.

We had about 50 cents from our penny giver — the anonymous contributor who mails Publisher Jim Sherman and me each two cents a day — and then started putting the bite on others who wandered unsuspectingly into the office.

A total of $1.31 was donated Monday by flag lover Lucky Fletcher.

Anybody know what a good flag costs? How about the flagpole?

1967 will be the nation's bicentennial and the newly organized Independence Community Historical Society is planning to play a major role in the local celebration. Old pictures, history, private recollections are all important. Mrs. Ruth Basinger is chairman of the society.

What's this about chest protectors Kathy DeArmond is promoting for her girls' basketball team? We hear Kathy has the team in a sweat over some old stove grates she's redesigned. When we start reporting high school basketball "clashes", we'll really mean what we say.

We hear Jennie Hagen and Mrs. William Heatley, two local amateur historians, are ready to challenge Orchard Lake over the site of Chief Pontiac's resting place. The local women say the chief hailed from the Sashabaw Plains area and that he is recorded as having been buried on a hill overlooking a lake. They think Greenacres to the west of Clarkston is probably the most logical location, and not Apple Island as the Orchard Lakes believe.

Want to sing?

Independence Singers, now 15 voices strong, meets Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Clarkston Senior High School chorus room. Grayce Warren, chorus instructor at the high school, conducts.

The group still seeks new voices and Miss Warren reports that no previous singing experience is necessary to join.

Fred Ritter of the Town Shop was driving his old car down Main Street the other day and the gas tank fell off. Made a tremendous clatter, Fred said.

Leo Halpenny who has had charge of Oakland County's budget for many of his 39 years of his government service was to be feted at a retirement party this Wednesday in the Oakland County Courthouse. Leo and his wife, Phyllis, live in Waterford Township and attend Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

It's official now. Word has come from Campbell, Lee, Kurzman and Leitman law firm that former Oakland County Prosecutor Tom Plunkett has become a counsel to the firm. Campbell, Lee, Kurzman and Leitman through Dick Campbell serve as Independence Township attorneys.

The Michigan Press Association convention is over for another year. Besides affording all of us an opportunity to catch up with the news of former co-workers, it served to admirably kick the diet I've been working on so diligently. The All Michigan dinner Saturday was something, each guest receiving a most generous gift bag of Michigan products, courtesy of Michigan growers and packers. Speakers were not too long winded and were quite interesting. It was a good convention.

County Drain Commissioner George W. Kuhn has announced that Emerson Bunn of Clawson will be chief deputy drain commissioner. Bunn has been staff program coordinator at Ford's Product Development office and teaches a night school course in industrial management at Oakland University.

Finds during the past month at the Drayton Plains Nature Center: a Shortbilled Marsh Wren in the swamp along Denby, an Eastern Belted Kingfisher landing in the tree behind the center, squirrel, pheasant, raccoon, opossum and fox tracks, lots of mallards, flocks of migrating Canada geese, a horned grebe on the Clinton River, and even deer tracks in the backyard of a nearby neighbor.

It was a red letter week last week for Mrs. Mary Powell of Powell Disposal Service. Named "Boss of the Year" by Clarkston Area Jaycees, she was also a lucky winner in the State Lottery. Mrs. Powell bought her ticket from Food Town.

Charlie Robinson at King's Insurance doesn't think Clarkston homeowners much care whether their TV sets and appliances are ripped off or not.

Charlie has used the King advertisement to tout the merits of the Clarkston Police Department sponsored Operation Identification program.

He's even got the etching tool at his office which homeowners can borrow free of charge to inscribe their driver's license number of social security number on merchandise.

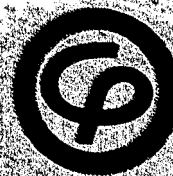

Charlie and the Police would like to see more people etch their goods, but the response to now has been less than overwhelming.

Notice of Hearing Affecting Residential Gas Rates

Consumers Power Company has filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission for authority to incorporate a fuel and purchased gas cost adjustment clause in its Residential Service (Open Order Rate "A") MPSC No. 6 — Gas. Consumers Power Company's presently effective gas rates for commercial and industrial customers now contain adjustment clauses which permit adjustments in those rates to reflect changes in the cost of gas. The requested authority to incorporate a fuel and purchased gas cost adjustment clause in the residential rate results from recent amendments to the laws relating to public utilities.

The incorporation of the proposed fuel and purchased gas cost adjustment clause in the gas residential rate schedule will cause the residential rate to increase or decrease as the cost of gas increases or decreases.

A public hearing will be held on Consumers Power Company's application at 9:30 a.m. on February 12, 1973, in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, for the purpose of determining whether the authority sought should be granted. Any interested parties may attend the hearing and participate, subject to the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. Copies of the official notice of this hearing and the application of Consumers Power Company are available for inspection at the office of the Secretary of the Commission, 5th Floor, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, and at the office of the Secretary of Consumers Power Company, 212 West Michigan Avenue, Jackson, Michigan.

Home has individual touch

COUNTRY LIVING
COUNTRY LIVING
COUNTRY LIVING
COUNTRY LIVING

by Betty Hecker

A home with a personal touch was created by Top and Sandy Cornell in Independence Township.

In 1968, this Bloomfield couple felt a need for space for their three horses, a couple Hereford cattle, but more especially they wanted their three children to be able to feel the freedom that only country living can give.

After finding just the right house, the whole family participated in adding their ideas, and using their imagination to make the house truly theirs.

They expanded the 4 foot deck across the back of the house, making it 12 feet wide by 35 feet long. Sandy said, "Our son, Jay, who is 10, nailed every board in place as he and his dad worked together. Now we have patio furniture out there, and there's nothing nicer than having a cup of coffee outside on a summer morning."

Top added a window in the dining room wall and built a complete stereo unit with speakers in enclosed cupboards under the window, and shelves over the rest of the wall.

Meanwhile, Sandy was busy building the double arch cornice board around the living room doorway, covering it with the same fabric she had used to re-upholster the twin couches.

Two antique chests in the living room were "junk purchases" according to Sandy, but she attacked them with an artist's eye, and a cabinet maker's zest, stripping off the old finish, sanding, staining, refinishing until two beautiful pieces of furniture were produced. "It takes a lot more looking now than it used to, to find old furniture at junk prices," Sandy advised.

Top is a salesman for the Warren Fastener Company that produces plastic parts for the automobile industry. Sandy told me that "Every once in a while, Top gets a little discouraged with all the work there is to do here, with 10 acres, the barns and the animals, and redoing the house, too. But the next day he'll go out and start building a new building or barn."

In redoing the house, they decided to enlarge the family room, so they took out a wall — using the garage area. They watched the want ads in the newspaper, looking for someone to advertise an old barn. It happened, and Sandy said, "We bought the barn wood from a farmer near Ortonville. We walked away satisfied with the wonderful price we'd gotten the wood for — the farmer probably walked away laughing at what he'd sold those "fool city folks."

Living-dining area of the Cornell home features upholstered cornices in the same material as the davenports. More pictures of the Cornell home are continued on succeeding pages.

Corn crib slats are nailed vertically on the stairway wall, while the wide barn boards are nailed horizontally on the family room walls. Sandy and Top did all the work except for building the reclaimed brick fireplace, about which Sandy said, "We wanted to be sure it would draft, so we hired a mason to build the fireplace."

Sandy designed and built beautiful rustic hanging chandeliers for the family room, using pieces of barn wood, copper hinges and chain from the hardware store, and new electrical wiring. She "antiqued" candle cylinders to look old, assembled everything and — behold, completely personal and unique lamps.

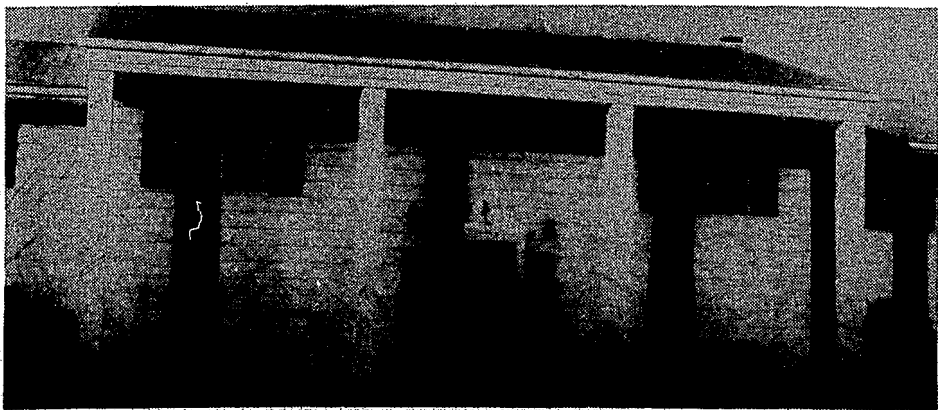

Sandy is an artist. A dozen or so of her oil paintings hang in the entrance foyer and the living room.

When I asked Sandy what they liked most about country living, she replied, "I think the thing that struck me most was the people, a whole different breed of neighbor, friendly and helpful."

A common cause for dirty hot water is overheating. The higher temperature to which water is heated, the more likely it is to be dirty because of the precipitate that forms. Water at a temperature of 130 degrees is sufficient for most household purposes. When buying a dishwasher, your best buy may be one with a booster heater for sterilizing purposes. This is the best way to avoid the formation of a precipitate along the piping of your water system.

And the best way to keep up with your home repair jobs is to buy your tools and supplies from BOB'S HARDWARE, 60 S. Main St., 625-5020. We carry Sentry power tools and Stanley hand tools; wood and aluminum stepladders; and a very wide selection of name-brand wallpapers. Come to us with your decorating problems, and we'll help you select the proper colors and texture paint and wallpaper. Hours: 8-6, Mon.-Sat.

SPORTS
Go-Round
by Jerry Savoie

Often called the "Manly art of self defense," boxing is one of the most ancient of all the sports. Boxing, in fact, was once a favorite amongst the Greeks and Romans, who used a novel device called a caestus for a boxing glove. The caestus was made of leather thongs weighted with iron or studs of other metal. We have come a long way from those days, as we have from the days of the open rings and bare fists. Today boxing is a much more civilized sport with padded gloves used according to regulations.

Michigan menus

Simple family fare can become a glamorous company meal when it's made with Michigan's top-quality agricultural products. Such was the case with ragout of beef, the entree for the All-Michigan Dinner January 27, a highlight of the 105th annual convention of the Michigan Press Association.

Beef is an important agricultural commodity, worth some $125 million to Michigan producers who raise over one-half million head each year. Michigan wine, which nicely complements the beef, comes from eight wineries located in Southwestern Michigan. Michigan ranks third in the production of still and sparkling wines.

RAGOUT OF BEEF (6 servings)

- 1½ lbs. cubed beef sirloin tips
- 4 carrots cut in chunks
- 6 small whole onions
- ½ cup diced celery

- 6 medium potatoes quartered
- 8 oz. sliced mushrooms
- ½ cup dry burgundy wine

Brown meat in small amount of oil. Add wine and enough water to cover. Cover pan and simmer until tender. Add vegetables during last ½ hour of cooking. Add more water if necessary to cover ingredients. Season with salt and pepper. Gradually add 2 tbsp. flour previously blended with ¼ cup cold water. Stir until thickened. If you wish, omit the potatoes and serve them as a side dish.

MICHIGAN WALDORF SALAD (6 servings)

- 2 cups diced apples
 - 1 cup pitted dark sweet cherries
 - 1/3 cup diced celery
 - ¼ cup black walnut meats (optional)
 - 1 cup heavy cream whipped
- Combine ingredients and fold in cream. Garnish with maraschino cherries.

Boy Scouts attack drug problems

New and positive approaches to drug abuse prevention will be offered to the youth of this area by the Boy Scouts of America with the launching of Operation Reach.

The project was developed nationally to supplement the traditional physical and mental fitness program to the national youth organization and will involve locally the 7,000 Scouts and explorers of the Clinton Valley Council. Dr. John Williams, Chief of Staff at Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac, and a member of the Clinton Valley Council Executive Board has been named to head the program in the North Oakland and Macomb County area.

"The project this year is a continuation of the successful Operation Reach plan carried out in the council in 1972," said Williams, and meetings and projects will be developed by young men for their own Scout troops and Explorer posts. Meetings will be attended by unit members, parents, and leaders.

"The most important fact to recognize about drug abuse is that it is a symptom of other underlying problems," Williams explained. "The BSA efforts to prevent drug abuse aim at the conditions that cause it.

"We accept the fact that it is unrealistic to assume that unit leaders can become experts on drug abuse. It is realistic, however, to assume that they can enlarge their understanding of the drug problem and have reliable information about drugs that they can communicate to others. Unit a key role because they are dedicated to help youths attain their full potential as young citizens in keeping with the ongoing purpose of the BSA."

"Another important factor is that, although our unit leaders will present the material to the young men who are leaders in their troop or post, any special unit programs will come about because it is the young people's program.

Williams pointed out that the national youth organization does not expect to solve the drug abuse problem, but it can apply the resources of its many members to make a real contribution toward the ultimate solution.

The council's young men and adults who are conducting training meetings for unit leaders are using material prepared from a three year pilot project in several Scout Councils across the country. The unit leaders will then use these materials and techniques to conduct the Operation Reach program in their own units during February and March.

Senator Charles H. Percy, Illinois Republican, will be the featured speaker at Oakland County's 84th annual Lincoln Day Banquet February 19 at the Raleigh House in Southfield. Percy has been mentioned by the national news media as one of the prime contenders for the 1976 Republican nomination for president. Tickets may be obtained at Republican Headquarters, 245 S. Woodward, Birmingham.

Carbohydrates

Fish isn't brain food. Sugar is.

Carbohydrates (sugar, and starches that the body converts into, sugar) are the only source of fuel for brain and nerve cells. Our other body tissues can burn fats and proteins as well, but not the central nervous system.

There seems to be a mechanism by which the body "demands" enough carbohydrate to feed our nervous system. The trouble is, when we provide more than is needed, we are contributing to hardening of the arteries, or atherosclerosis.

Many people believe this hardening—actually, an accumulation of fat in the arteries—is caused by fat in the diet. And it's true that too much animal fat leads to cholesterol production.

However, less than half of atherosclerosis is caused by cholesterol. Also implicated are triglycerides, another type of fat that builds up in the blood stream, and that is produced when we eat more carbohydrates than the tissues can burn.

This may explain why people with diabetes ultimately develop atherosclerosis and other disorders of the circulation. It may be that the metabolic disorder supplies more sugar than tissues can burn, and the result is an elevated level of triglycerides. If this is the case, there is hope for prevention of long-term diabetic complications.

"People helping people help themselves"

By Holly Stephens

Immunization Clinic — The Oakland County Health Department will offer an immunization clinic at independence center Thursday, February 1 from 1 to 4 p.m. The shots are given to infants, preschoolers, and school age children. There is no charge for this service.

Extension Service Meal Planning — Nutritional low-cost meals will be the subject of a series of Monday afternoon talks given by Jane Newman, nutritionist. The series will start February 5 at 1 p.m. The discussions will include daily menu planning and the serving of well balanced nutritious meals for all family members from hungry teens to dieting mothers. Stretching food dollars, label reading and demonstrations of food preparation will also be topics. Recipes will be exchanged at each meeting.

Mrs. Newman is a nutritional aid sent out by the County Co-op Extension Service, a federally funded agency which also sponsors 4-H and study groups. She would like to share homemaking information and experience, and tips she has learned from other such groups around Oakland County, with those who wish to attend.

Volunteer Training — Nine new volunteers have completed their training at independence center. They are now ready to work at the center "helping people to help themselves." The new group includes Annette Adams, Betty Bond, Bobbie Brown, Mary Hennig, Terry Klark, Marion Richley, Pauline Speace, Francis Wampfler, and Pat Beach. They have been instructed by Dr. A. Crawford of North Oakland Community Mental Health Center. The volunteers have had 30 hours training in sensitivity sessions, practicing emergency phone calls, and group discussions on problems they may encounter.

There will be a third training session in the spring. Anyone interested in attending may call and leave their name at the center.

Peer Counseling — Fifty junior high school students will complete their "Peer Counseling" sessions at independence center February 7. These young teens have been trained by Peggy Hlavac and Dr. Crawford of North Oakland Community Mental Health Center, to counsel others their own age. They are now ready to help their peers work out solutions to problems. They may also aid school counselors, who have large numbers of students, deal with minor problems which often become major when postponed.

Center Needs — There is a current need at the center for volunteer drivers. The center needs a list of people to call on when requests come in for transportation to doctors, hospitals, dentists, etc. This would not mean a permanent commitment to a specific time, only a willingness to help out occasionally when called.

There is also a need for baby furniture, a dinette set for a large family, children's clothing and helpers to sort clothes by size.

For further information on any of the above please call independence center, 673-2244.

Village of Clarkston Minutes of Regular Meeting January 23, 1973

Meeting called to order by President Johnston.
Neil Granlund, new Village Trustee, was sworn into office by the Clerk.
Roll: Present: Auten, Basinger, Granlund, Weiss, Wilford, Absent: Tower.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.
Independence Township Building Superintendent Ken Delbridge and Mrs. Carolyn Place were present to discuss with the Council the proposed location of a storage building for bottles at the rear of the Independence Township Hall. An alternate site for this building on Village property behind the Town Shop was also discussed. Mr. Delbridge and Mrs. Place stated that an appeal should be made to the Village Zoning Board of Appeals for the Township Hall location, since the new building would be a non-conforming use of the present zoning of that parcel. They would like this to be done as soon as possible so that construction of the new building could get underway. Trustee Wilford said that the Planning Committee should study the proposed alternate site and could report on that later. President Johnston asked the Bottles for Building representatives to write to the Zoning Board of Appeals and they would consider the Appeal for the Township Hall site.

The Village has received a letter from the Michigan Dept. of Labor, stating that Michigan now has a Construction Code, effective Jan. 1, 1973, dealing with statewide minimum construction codes. This law is known as Act 230 of the Public Acts of 1972.

Trustee Weiss reported that the Planning Committee had discussed the zoning of the Hawk Tool property and the proposed development of the area by Holcomb and Miller Roads at their meeting on the previous evening.

Moved by Wilford to recognize Jan. 21-27, 1973 as Junior Achievement Week in Southwestern Michigan and to adopt their proclamation stating this. (A Copy of this Proclamation is attached to the Minutes). Seconded by Basinger. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Auten to grant permission to the American Cancer Society to conduct an educational and fund-raising campaign in the Village of Clarkston on April 1 thru 8, 1973. Seconded by Basinger. Motion carried unanimously.

A discussion was held on the possibility of purchasing a new copy machine for the Village. The Clerk will check on some different prices for this.

A letter of resignation from John Walts as Village Police Chief was read to the Council. Trustee Auten recommended that Sgt. Jack McCall be appointed as the new Police Chief.

Moved by Auten to accept the resignation of John Walts as the Village Police Chief. Seconded by Basinger. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Basinger that the Council concur with Trustee Auten's recommendations and appoint Sgt. Jack McCall as the new Police Chief. Seconded by Weiss. Motion carried unanimously.

The Village has received a letter from the Michigan American Revolution Bi-Centennial Commission relating to the anniversary of America's independence in 1976. It was referred to the Planning Committee.

Meeting called adjourned by President Johnston.

Miss Universe contestants brighten Pine Knob

Pine Knob was prettier than ever Sunday as four contestants for the Miss Michigan Universe pageant April 15 at the St. Regis Hotel in Detroit turned out for some publicity.

Present were Karen Martin of Livonia, Brenda Mitchum of Ferndale, Marlene Damitz (Pine Knob's own entry in the pageant) of Royal Oak and Sandra Wilson of West Dearborn as well as any number of avid press photographers.

Any young women from this area interested in entering are invited to call 368-0570 or write Walter Korbut at 447 West Robinwood, Detroit 48203.

Detroit media and sports personalities will judge the pageant in three divisions: sportswear, swimsuits and evening gowns. The winning contestant will fly to Puerto Rico and compete in the Miss USA Pageant.
