committee that a terrible plague would result from the sale of milk in quart containers.

Vern Lyons of Cadillac Market, a supermarket in Oxford, told me this week they sell almost twice as much milk in gallon containers than in others.

Milk sales in quarts is nil today. I'm happy to be among those that survived the plague. Aren't you?

Here's another story about testimony. Richard Milliman publisher of the Livingston County Press (along with 8 others) informed people about a cold remedy in his "Almanack" column recently.

Nyquil, the highly advertised night-time cold remedy, was his topic.

He said, "According to testimony before a Senate sub-committee exploring the non-prescription drug market, Nyquil 'contains everything under the sun' including 25 percent alcohol.

"No wonder a nip or two at bedtime causes the user to doze right off.

"Testifying before the committee headed by Sen. Gaylor Nelson of Wisc. was Dr. Donald C. LaBrecque, who used to be a research director for the company which makes Nyquil, but who resigned. Under what conditions he resigned were not clear in the story I saw about his testimony.

"LaBrecque said cold sufferers could get just about the same kind of relief they get from Nyquil by drinking a glass of sherry.

"Spokesmen for the Nyquil firm called the testimony 'substantially incorrect.' Whether it's accurate, we have no way of knowing; but it's interesting."

The people who set up codes of ethics for television stations have decided to not allow testimonials for non-prescription drugs in ads on the tube. This is to take effect next Sept.

Question: If it's bad for us to see these commercials in Sept., why isn't it bad now?

Leon Storm, famous Lake Orion builder, (famous because he built our plant and I mentioned it here) wonders at the money returned to communities from big brother in Washington.

It's Leon's opinion that when villages, townships and cities get these monies they have to look for a place to spend it. And, frequently this means starting a new project.

Then, of course, the new project costs more than the revenue shared by the federal government, so the taxpayers are in debt for something they were getting along without in the first place.

Leon figures that maybe our taxes, reduced considerably by being routed through Washington, pay a small portion of the cost of the final completed project.

It sure sounds good, though, when a politician suggests sending some of our money "back home."

Developer agrees to build sewer north of I-75

Independence Township Board will consider an offer from developer John Helveston to bear full expense of additional sewer construction at its March 6 meeting. The extension will permit him to offer sewer service for 550 homes he says he would like to build north of Cranberry Lake.

Helveston appeared before the board Friday night in its continuance of the regular Tuesday night session to tell the board that, if allowed to proceed, he would pay the total cost of the extension besides paying up to $1,000 each to any of 15 to 17 homeowners along Perry Lake Road who would be forced to connect to the extension.

State law says that when a sewer passes within 200 feet of a home, the homeowner has one year in which to connect.

Helveston said his subdivision of $50,000 to $100,000 homes would be the "finest residential subdivision in the township."

Supervisor Robert Vandermark agreed that the single family development of 1.35 residences per acre would be "ultimately good for the township."

A possible shortage of sewer taps could complicate the agreement, residents in Cranberry Lake Subdivision present for the meeting, pointed out.

They were assured that Helveston, even though paying for construction of the sewer extension, would have to be allotted tap-ins on a first come, first serve basis like everyone else.

Helveston has 174 acres, now zoned agriculture, which he has applied to be rezoned to Residential 1-A. Another 300 acres are already zoned R-1-A in the irregular piece that stretches east of M-15 from Cranberry Lake Road all the way to county-owned property around Crooked Lake. A public hearing on the rezoning has been scheduled for March 22.

Helveston said he'd like to start by building 118 homes in the first stage with another 352 lots remaining. He said there was a possibility that another 60 additional acres might be obtained.

He talked about 550 tap-ins; Vandermark about 469. There are 5200 tap-ins which officials figure would use up the flow capacity which the township has purchased in the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor. Vandermark said rezonings already accomplished, were the buildings to be constructed, would use more than 8,000.

He reaffirmed any sewage service to new construction would have to be allotted on a first come, first serve basis.

In other business the board set $13,000 to $15,000 as the salary range for a new assessor which it intends to hire.

Members voted not to pay $831 to join the newly organized Clinton River Watershed Council, the supervisor noting that since Independence is at the headwaters of the Clinton, the money might be better spent by keeping the source clean.

Florence Flinka and Paul Wilmot were reappointed to the Independence Township Board of Review and Joseph Rhoades was named for a new two-year appointment.

Maybe-Dixie intersection to be improved

The Highway Commission Wednesday was to approve and order improvements for the high accident corner of Maybee Road and the Dixie Highway.

State Rep. Loren Anderson said he had been assured that a traffic light would be first on the agenda, with widening to five lanes from just south of Maybee to just north of M-15 along the Dixie due for this summer.

The extra lane would provide for left turns in either direction, Anderson said.

The improvements are based on a safety survey which Anderson said he asked the State Highway Department for last year. The survey, he said, showed the Maybee-Dixie corner "out of line injury-wise in comparison to other intersections of the same type."

Andersonville said he is also trying to find out what has happened to the new cover strip on the northwest corner of the Dixie and M-15. "It is starting to break up already, and it shouldn't," he said.

Vet, senior exemptions deadline Mar. 31

Senior citizens and veterans have until March 31 to file for property tax exemptions. Those who fail to apply by the deadline cannot be considered, said Supervisor Robert Vandermark.

Senior citizens who make less than $6,000 total a year are eligible for consideration, as are veterans whose property can't be assessed at more than $10,000, Vandermark said.

Developer asks approval for 43 acres of multiples

Hubert Garner of Farmington, who proposes development of Deer Lake Woods on 372 acres at the north end of Deer Lake, is expected to seek approval from Independence Township Planning Commission for 43 acres of multiple living units on land within the area now zoned for that purpose.

The planning commission meets at 7:30 p.m. March 9 in the township hall, two days after Independence Township Board is expected to consider zoning the land in question back to single family residential.

E. D. Farrell, president of Clarkston Deer Lake Property Owners Association suggests that the multiple zoning, accomplished in 1967, "was ill conceived" with no study as to its impact on ecology, pollution, usage and possible over-crowding of the lake.

He has appealed to the township board to have the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Health make a study of the zoning effects.

"If their recommendations do show an adverse effect on the lake, we would like the planning commission and the township board to change the zoning to R-1A, Single Family Residential," he said.

Garner has run into adverse reaction for his proposal before. In two previous public presentations, plans were detailed for development of the entire 372 acres. Some 1,500 living units—multiple and single family—as well as a commercial area off the Dixie Highway near I-75, were proposed.

Rezoning would be required for much of the land, however the 43 acres which Garner now contemplates for early development is already zoned the way he wants it.

Several people have signed petitions protesting the development and about 75 turned out, most of them expressing concern, at a recent planning commission airing of the proposal.

The weather was still cooperating this week.

Hot line for pot holes

A hot line for pot holes, 338-4571, has been established by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Proposed by Commissioner Fred Harris, the new service includes a toll free direct line for county residents who don't live in the Pontiac telephone exchange area.

All calls, whatever the complaint, will be checked on an individual basis, Harris promises.

Harris anticipates that most of the complaint calls will concern subdivision streets. "We provide maintenance on these streets at the same level we receive state returned gas and weight tax monies for local roads," Harris said.

"There is never enough money to do the necessary improvements and the road commission is limited by law as to what we can spend on local roads," he added.

In another story in this week's issue of The Clarkston News State Rep. Loren Anderson tells about the bill he has introduced to give local roads a greater share of the funding pie.)

In Lansing

Four letter word

by Cathy Lessard

For the first time in the history of our budget process, Governor Milliken has undertaken an ambitious new program to evaluate the results of state spending. The new system is known as "PBES," the letters of which stand for Program Budget Evaluation System, and is designed to provide the means by which we can indicate to the citizens of this state what they are, or are not, receiving for the money spent by state government.

PBES is intended to enhance both effectiveness and efficiency by three major methods:

1. Identifying and outlining the major program goals of the state;
2. Translating these goals into specific objectives identified as measurable impacts upon individuals and the environment;
3. Grouping all related programs under one major goal so that more effective combinations can be selected and duplication eliminated.

The system makes much better sense when you can see the layout which has been developed. In essence it is a re-structuring of government and in fact most of the Governor's reorganization plan which you have heard about is to make government better organized to work under PBES.

For example, the first step is to outline the major program goals of the state. These goals total eight and are: Protection of Persons and Property; Health — Physical and Mental Well-Being; Intellectual Development and Education; Social Development; Economic Development and Income Maintenance; Transportation and Communications; Recreation and Cultural Enrichment; and Direction and Support Services. These are the major goals or program areas under which each and every program presently operating and those to be created in the future must fall.

To further illustrate how this works we'll discuss those programs which fall under Protection of Persons and Property. There are four sub-goals which come under this major goal: Protection from Crime; Consumer Protection; Personal Safety Protection; Civil and Constitutional Rights Protection.

Under the first sub-goal are grouped those programs which directly relate to protecting citizens from crime such as the Department of State Police, and our crime laboratory system. By grouping related functions the legislature, Governor and citizenry should be better able to ascertain how effective each individual program is toward furthering the major goal and/or providing a solution to a given problem.

The major problem in the past has been that each year the legislature is called upon to appropriate funds for current programs without any indication of whether a given program is working effectively or if it should be scrapped.

PBES may not be the complete and final answer to this problem but it certainly is a start and should provide a basis from which we can develop even better methods of evaluation and therefore more efficient and effective allocation of a scarce resource—the taxpayer's dollar.

As individual budget bills are introduced and considered further along in the session I will attempt to include discussions of them in future newsletters and how Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston will be affected by them. Certainly the Governor's proposals will not be adopted without some changes, but it will be interesting to see if the legislature will go along with the Governor in trying to come up with a responsible budget or if certain members will feel compelled to spend "everything we've got."

Anyone can play

by Marilyn Lawrence

Want to make a few enemies? Want your wife to come after you with the bread knife? Want your husband to sleep in the garage tonight? Want your neighbors to hiss and boo as you walk down the street? Here's a sure-fire fun game to play with your loved ones, one that will guarantee animosity at just about any level. I'm not speaking to my husband anyway, so why shouldn't everyone stir up a little healthy hatred now and then . . .

Now, number your paper from 1 to 10, ask your vict . . . er, your subject to relax, close his eyes, and ask the following . . .

You are out for a nice walk, and you come to a 1. WOODS. Describe what kind of a day it is. What are the woods like? Do you want to walk through the woods? How big is your woods? As you enter your woods, you see several 2. PATHS before you. Do you want to take any of them? Do you want to meander through on your own? As you continue your walk, you look down and discover a 3. KEY lying at your feet. Describe it. How big is it? What is it made of? What will you do with it? Will you keep it, or throw it away? A little farther on, you will find a 4. CUP. Describe it. What is it made of? Is there anything in it? What will you do with it? Continue your walk. Soon you come upon a 5. PITCHER. Not a picture, mind you, but a pitcher. Describe it. What is it made of? How big is it? Is there anything in it? What will you do with it? (Get as complete a description of the key, cup, and pitcher as you can.)

As you continue your walk in the woods, you come upon a 6. STRUCTURE. Now, it can be any kind of structure you want (after all, honey, it's your woods, your walk, and your structure). Describe it. Is there anyone there? Do you want to look inside? Do you want to go inside?

What is it like inside? Describe it as thoroughly as you can, inside and out. Now, we leave the structure behind, and continue our walk. Suddenly, you see coming toward you a 7. BEAR. Describe it. What will you do? He is obviously a fierce bear. What will you do about him? You can relax now — he's gone, so you can continue on your walk. The next thing you come to is 8. WATER. Tell me all about the water. Is it a big body of water, or small? Shallow or deep? Is the water moving or still? Do you want to take a drink, or a swim? Do you want to walk around it, or maybe swim across? Will you wash your face? Tell me all about it, and describe it as best you can. Now, we leave the water and continue through the woods until you come to a 9. wall. It is in your way. Describe it. What is it made of? How high is it? How are you going to get by it? Can you walk around it? Climb over it? How do you feel about that wall of yours? All right now, we've gotten by that wall whichever way you chose. Tell me what you find on the 10. OTHER SIDE of that wall. What is the weather like? What do you see? Is anyone there? Describe the scene completely. You have finished your walk. Now, that wasn't so bad, was it?

It just wouldn't be fair to give you the answers until next week, so you can play the game with lots of people! In the meantime, no nasty phone calls or rocks through my windows, please. The neighbors are already first in line, and I can smell the tar and feathers from here . . .

Who said February has to be dull?

Song fest at Calvary

Residents of the community have been invited to a Song Fest, featuring composer and arranger Jerry Kirk, soloist Bonnie Hartzman and the Calvary Lutheran Church choir at 7 p.m. Sunday, March 4, at the church.

Kirk will direct his own composition, "Ye Shall be Witnesses" during the program which will wind up with a community hymn sing.

Sometimes you have to sit down to talk about what you stand for.

HERE ARE THE THINGS WE STAND FOR:

- 1. Personal Touch — You won't be involved in any "Big City Maze" or caught in the crowd. To us you are not just another nameless face. You're an individual . . . a neighbor. In a sense, our reputation in the community rides on every deal. When you buy from us, we know it. If you have a problem we can fix, we know it. If you are happy or unhappy, pleased or displeased, we want to know it.
- 2. Straight Talk — we will not double-talk you, con you, or make promises of deals we have no intension of keeping. We are honest businessmen who talk straight. This assures you of one of the most important elements in any deal — confidence.

- 3. Fine Cars, Fairly Priced — if you can get a better deal — either from one of us or any other dealer — on similar type cars, we'll tell you to take it. We may have to swallow a lump in our throat, and we'll probably advise you to look at all angles of the deal, but we'll have to admit the fairness of your viewpoint. But we're confident enough in our individual pricing policies to feel that deal for deal we will match or better any other dealers — particularly Detroit dealers.

- 4. Good Service — we are fully aware that service is one of the most irritating aspects of car ownership. People are only human, mistakes are made and customers get impatient. We are determined, individually — and we have each talked to our people — that we will do our human best to give you prompt, courteous and efficient service — priced as low as our costs permit.
- 5. Used Cars — We serve many customers by running good used car departments. We will continue to do so. We will give as much care and consideration to a used car customer as to new. All customers are citizens of the North Oakland Community.

We Four Chevrolet Dealers have joined together to serve our customers better. We intend to raise our standards of operation to new heights of excellence. We intend to get more involved in what we consider the North Oakland "community." Quite naturally we hope to benefit. More importantly, we want you to benefit by finding it more reasonable, convenient, and profitable to buy from one of us here — in your own community.

Parking vital to town

There probably isn't a Clarkston merchant who doesn't feel business would be better if there were more parking spaces along Main Street for customers.

The practice of some who work downtown to use the few available spots for all day parking makes a poor situation even worse.

There has been mention of creating a second village parking lot for south end traffic on village property along Depot Road. Perhaps it's time to do some serious investigation, and be ready to roll once the sewer work is completed this summer.

Only so long as village merchants can compete with newly developing business areas in the township will the present identity of Clarkston be maintained.

We think it's a goal worth fighting for.

It was really something!

By Jean Saile

Dick Saunders was there Sunday. He wouldn't have missed it for the world.

If you closed your eyes and gave yourself over to the hot, sweet sound of the jazz, you could see him. Embracing that golden tuba — the new one of which he was so proud — his old straw skimmer riding low over his eyes — a long arm snaking out now and then for libation or the ever present pipe.

Oompah — pah-du-dah — pah-dah. Dick awash in music, a smoke-filled room, people.

More than a thousand of Saunders' people — musicians, news people, teachers, politicians, bus drivers from the Huron Valley School District who used to take over the Peanut Cellar when Dick's group played there, blacks, the stylish and the slob — gave themselves and their $3 for the Michigan Heart Association Sunday for a late, great tribute.

It was really something. Alvaro's restaurant in Royal Oak had standing room only. Little old ladies stood on chairs for a better view of musicians who came from as far as Chicago to play the Dixieland that was so much a part of Dick's life.

Toes tapped, heads bobbed. There was laughter and a few tears. Tom Saunders, Dick's brother, and his Surfside Six played "When the Saints go Marching In." Young Tommy, Dick's son, picked up his dad's tuba and sat in. Ann, his wife, said, "It had to be."

Dick was associate editor of The Oakland Press when he died January 29 at the age of 39. He took unpopular causes and wrote them as only he could. He was attuned to the people — all kinds of people.

He may have had a fancy title, but he didn't believe it. I once saw him crawl under his desk when approached in high rage by a female reporter. She laughed, and they worked it out later.

He was responsible for bringing the New Orleans Preservation Hall Jazz Band to Meadowbrook.

Dick was the kind of guy who I once asked for a piano player for a party we were giving. He turned up with a six-piece band.

We did him proud Sunday.

The wild blue yonder

I am fascinated by the TV commercial that urges me to Fly United and get a free golf lesson from Arnold Palmer in the airplane cocktail bar.

Come to think, I am fascinated simply by the idea of bars in airplanes. Some of these airborne taverns even contain pianos and tenors singing Melancholy Baby. The world has truly come a long and marvelous way since Tailspin Tommy and Scorchy Smith (Hello there, nostalgia lovers. Whatever happened to Jimmy Allen?).

Up until now, my idea of how to get to heaven was by railroad, in a club car. There was a khaki period in my life when I often used this mode of transportation to get from here to there — and when I got there I would simply board another club car and go back to here. Getting there was half the fun and getting here was the other half.

Club car travel enabled me to do simultaneously 2 of the things I like most:

1) Stand at a bar with 1 foot up on a rail, leaning on 1 elbow. Some people gain a feeling of security by curling up in bed. But this is my fetal position and it has nothing to do with booze. I also like to lean on soda fountains and front desks in hotels, just so long as they have a rail for my foot. I don't know why. I can't know everything.

2) Watch the world go by outside my window. Ahh. I'm a peeking Tom in reverse. I like to peek out of windows, to see what the guy next door is doing. I always stand back from the

by Jean Saile

Snow was falling thick and fast last Wednesday, and I had a dental appointment.

Since the driveway looked nigh impassable and since the dentist's office was less than a mile down the road, I decided to walk.

You'd have thought I was about to be marooned in a Saskatchewan blizzard. My mother suggested I cancel the appointment. My 88-year-old father said if I was going to go, he was walking with me.

This from two people who relate the story about how my father had to walk 12 miles — sometimes through a blizzard to get the mail during his pioneering days in the West.

I beat them both off.

The fluttering blur I moved out into was warm, and I strode along in good time, arriving early enough in front of the dentist's office that I decided I also had time to go to the bank further down the street.

Several people offered rides, but until I was on my way back from the dentist — my face frozen due to his ministrations rather than from the weather — I turned them down.

I finally accepted a ride from a friend who had been going the other way on the road and had turned around when he recognized me. He was shocked I should be walking on such a day, and with my face frozen as it was, there was little I could say — convincingly — that he was wrong.

I arrived home in a healthy glow, feeling really good from the unexpected exercise, and then started to think about the various reactions to my walk.

Walking is something one doesn't do any more. One walks only when one can't get transportation, and that's the shame of it.

Had the man who soon came to clear the driveway been there earlier, I would have missed an invigorating experience.

It had been years since I'd made my way through any kind of a storm on foot, and yet it wasn't that long ago that I, too, used to walk or ride horseback back and forth to school.

I had a rule of thumb back then. If it was zero or below, it was too cold to get the horse out and steamed up, so I set out on foot for the mile trek. If it was below 20 below, both the horse and I stayed home.

It wasn't nearly that cold Wednesday.

Naturally, I realize TV commercials are made in fantasy land. I can hardly expect to find Palmer in every airplane bar. I'll settle for a pool table and a used car salesman to pluck. Or, as long as my fetal position is possible, I'll be content to time my chug-a-lugs against the passing clouds.

But if Palmer ever does saunter in, smiling his Fly United smile, I have got a real problem for him. He can improve my golf game 100% if he can show me how to drive the ball with 1 foot propped up on the tee marker. Upward and Upward.

I never liked airplane travel. Eating off those trays makes me feel like a kid in a highchair and twice as sloppy. Letters to the Editor

Let them all play

To whom it may concern:

I have noticed that all year the Sashabaw Junior High has a mighty fine and worn out 11-man basketball team. It would seem in the coaches' viewpoints that the other six players they have aren't very good.

In the one game that the bench warmers did play, it seemed the coaches should have taken notice of the great fourth quarter they played. But in their viewpoint the 28 points they scored didn't please them.

But from where I sat in the stands, they sure were laughing and joking about it with their mighty seven.

It would have seemed in the recent loss to West Bloomfield and as large a gym like they had, they could have given the bench warmers a chance to play instead of wearing out the five players that played.

The only subs that played were in the second overtime after a couple of players fouled out. In all the other games I see that the coaches let other players play, so I see there is still some sportsmanship left and not put winning ahead of everything.

People should have noticed in Sashabaw's warm up drills that when all the players shoot lefthanded when they are coming from the left side that the coaches let one player shoot righthanded.

Discipline is for all players on the squad, not the 12 other players. But when the coaches think more highly of him than they do the rest of the team, I guess that is the way it has to be. Or is it because he may live by one of the coaches?

A winner takes team play and the Sashabaw Junior High basketball team is 13 players and two coaches.

Questions and answers

By George F. Montgomery
Associate Professor, Political Science
Oakland Community College

Those of us who are fortunate enough to be included among the great mass of Postal Patrons in this area received an important inquiry from or Potomac Pen-Pal last week. I refer, of course, to our Congressman's latest "Hot Line Poll."

The twelve questions upon which he seeks the opinions of his constituents represent, I suppose, his perception of the most important and vital issues likely to confront the Congress in 1973.

"Busing" again heads his list. If our Congressman doesn't have a good grasp of public sentiment on this issue — yet — he must be terribly insensitive. There's scarcely a scarecrow or road apple in Oakland County that's unaware of the widespread public opposition to forced busing!

The other eleven questions deal with: Taxes and Federal Spending; Reassertion of Congressional War Powers; Rebuilding of Indochina; Amnesty for Draft Evaders; Control of Cheap Hand-Guns (labeled "Crime"); Troop Reductions in Europe; Federal Aid for Water Pollution Control Projects; Oil Import Quotas (labeled "Energy Crisis"); Desecration of the Flag; and Mandatory Retirement of all Federal Judges and members of Congress at age 65 (mis-labeled "Seniority").

Naturally, we Postal Patrons are all good citizens and we are quite willing to give our Representative in Congress the guidance he has requested on these (and other) issues. But, as he has admitted in his accompanying message, "many of these questions are difficult to answer with a simple 'YES' or 'NO' — even though he has thoughtfully worded the questions so as to suggest the "correct" answers.

Nevertheless, none of us would want to "flunk" our annual citizenship quiz, nor be guilty of mis-advicing our Congressman. His job is hard enough without the added burden of "bad" advice from constituents.

Moreover, as I pondered his questionnaire, numerous additional questions came to mind:

1) Why must we pay postage to return the poll? If the outgoing questionnaire qualifies as "official business" thus warranting the use of the "franking" privilege, (whereby taxpayers pay the postage), why are constituent responses to the Hot Line Poll any less "official?" Couldn't our congressman have printed his "frank" on the return portion of the questionnaire — in place of the box labeled "Place Stamp Here?"

2) Why does he ask us to segregate the "HIS" and "HERS" responses? Will the "HIS" responses count more than the "HERS"? What difference does the sex of a respondent make?

3) Why must the third, fourth, and possibly fifth or sixth, voters of a household be put to the bother of requesting additional questionnaires in order to participate in the Hot Line Poll? Wouldn't it be more appropriate to indicate the total number of respondents from each household on a single survey card, and place numbers in the four boxes preceding each question indicating the number of respondents within the household who are "in favor," "opposed," "undecided," or have "no opinion" at present?

4) If the name and address of respondents is "not required," why is space allocated on the already cluttered survey card for this non-essential information? Wouldn't some space for remarks or comments have been more useful?

5) Although our Congressman states that our views are "very important" to him in determining the positions he will take on these issues, how important are they really? If a clear majority of respondents indicate support or opposition on one of these twelve important issues, will that majority control his vote? How large must the majority be before he will consider it a mandate — 55%, 60%, 67%, 75%, 80%???

6) If a showing of a clear majority for or against one of these twelve proposals will not necessarily influence our Congressman's vote on that issue, what good does it do any of us to respond to his Hot Line Poll?

7) What is the real purpose of this poll? Is our Congressman seeking information and guidance from his constituents, or is he attempting to influence the formation of public opinion within his district?

In spite of these nagging doubts, my wife and I will respond to the Hot Line Poll. If you have a 6c stamp handy, I'd suggest that you do the same. If you have more than two voters in your household, you may find it useful to alter the questionnaire as suggested in item #3 (above), and use the "name-address" space for comments as suggested in item #4 (above). At least, you can save some postage that way.

Next week, I will fearlessly predict the results of our Congressman's Hot Line Poll — and discuss some questions he failed to ask. If you'd care to match wits, you can keep a list of your responses to the Hot Line questions, and record your own predictions of public opinion within the 19th Congressional District on these issues.

8) You are trying to reach some goal in life.

9) You are constantly widening your interests.

10. You keep yourself physically fit. Dr. Marks questions your adjustment if:

1. Worry interferes with everything you do.

2. You run away from things that are hard for you.

3. You are always making excuses for yourself.

4. You think that you are always right and cannot see the other person's point of view.

5. You lack faith in yourself.

6. You have fits of temper, or go around with a chip on your shoulder.

7. You avoid people, in other words, you live too much within yourself.

8. You have no aim in life.

9. You lack outside interests.

10. You neglect your physical health.

These characteristics are not useful if just one is used to reach a conclusion. However, if you find a general pattern developing, then it is more likely that your assessment is realistic. If you like the results of your assessment — great! Emphasize your good points and practice minimizing your weak points.

If you are unhappy with or unsure of your assessment, maybe you could plan how to change some of your characteristics. Or maybe you could discuss it with your closest personal friend — one who keeps things confidential, cares about you as a person. Or you may want to talk to a therapist either privately or through an agency. Any effort on your part to make a positive change will be real progress.

Have you ever wondered if you were "maladjusted" or "emotionally stable?" Your assessment will very likely be dependent on the image you have developed of yourself and the type of experiences that occur in your life. I find that many people are fearful of self-assessment although they do it constantly without realizing it. They seem to fear finding some great fault that will tell the world that they have problems. It is my belief that everyone has problems or conflicts of some type and that the mere presence of problems does not make a person unstable.

What seems to be most important is for people to learn to resolve problems or move past them and not allow life to be one continuous problem.

But how do you fairly assess your personal adjustment? It isn't really fair to judge yourself by others although our medical definition of mental instability is based on characteristics of the general population. I like the set of criteria that Dr. Ben Marks has developed for helping a person assess his own emotional adjustment to life. He suggests that your adjustment is good if:

1. You tackle your responsibilities and do the best you can.

2. Your worries are passing.

3. You can admit your own mistakes and laugh at yourself.

4. You are tolerant of other people.

5. You have confidence in yourself and what you are doing.

6. You have control of your emotions.

7. You can form real friendships with people.

8. You are trying to reach some goal in life.

Readers know by now that I have decided, against filing suit in federal court against the Michigan House of Representatives. It was a difficult decision from every aspect. If I felt cheated, or knew of evidence of fraud, I would be relentless in pursuing the matter.

In the final analysis it boiled down to the question of public confidence in the voting process.

Since I found nothing to substantiate deliberate fraud, or intent to steal the election, I felt the public interest is to be served best by correcting inadequacies in the election law.

I have asked State Representative James Defebaugh (R-65) to introduce legislation to eliminate the "Catch 22" in the law which allows the original vote canvas to stand, even in the face of ballot tampering. He has agreed to do so.

I ask that you write your state officials to support passage of election law reform.

In addition I believe that the Director of Elections, (presently Bernard Apol), should have the authority to call a special election when warranted. It is, and will remain, suspect to leave that authority in the hands of the legislature, which also seats its own members.

I have made my decision. Now you must make yours. If you have doubt ... if you think that your vote doesn't count ... or is miscounted, here is your chance to do something about it. You can be part of a class action suit to call for a special election, and/or striking down the election laws.

Such action, if successful, would boost the willingness of those reluctant to co-sponsor Representative Defebaugh's proposed legislation.

The fact that I am removed from initiating suit means that the motives are not suspect. (It's not sour grapes, and it's not personal ambition.) If the case does have merit, on its own, it should be pursued.

I believe that the attention focused on the problems and questions raised from the situation discovered here, has served a lofty objective. The newspapers are to be commended for their responsible reporting and editorializing.

People responsible for elections are in the spotlight. As a result there can be no excuse for errors — deliberate or otherwise — in future elections. Likewise there is no legitimate excuse for you not to participate more fully in the democratic process.

Next time get involved on election day.

"Insect Comedy" offered at OU

The Studio Company of Oakland University's Academy of Dramatic Art offers a frighteningly real look at life in the classic fantasy, "The Insect Comedy" by Josef and Karel Capek opening March 9 in the Studio Theatre, Varner Hall.

The play, also known as "The World We Live In," will run from March 9-12, March 15-18 and March 22-25.

Directing this tragic-comic human drama is Academy chairman Paul Lee. Lee describes "The Insect Comedy" as a stylized concept of the problems of man against the world as mirrored in the lives of insects. The butterflies flutter and make violent love. The beetles hoard their money and life selfishly. The parasites devour greedily, and the black ants and the yellow ants wage ruthless war for the right to travel between two blades of grass.

Tickets for the play may be obtained by writing to the Studio Theatre box office, 127 Varner Hall, Oakland University, Rochester, Michigan 48063 or by calling 377-3015. General admission is $2, students $1.

Theatre parties for community or school groups can be arranged by calling the box office. With every 25 students, a chaperone is admitted free. Or, groups may sponsor matinee performances in the Studio Theatre by buying out the house for a moderate fee any day from March 14 to March 26.

Matinee requests should be directed to Terry Puertas, box office assistant.

Stan Roosa, assistant scout master of Boy Scout Troop 49, was present to accept David Bell into Boy Scouts.

Fathers and sons planned a hike and cook-out Sunday, with the next parent committee meeting set for 7:30 p.m. March 12 at the home of Archie Bell. Howard Weaver is committee chairman.

Wolves 1-point losers

by Craig Moore

Clarkston's Varsity Wolves lost by 1 point to the second place Milford Redskins, Friday, February 23. The game was the last league game for the Wolves, and Clarkston finished third in Wayne-Oakland League standings with a 5-5 record.

Milford pulled into a quick 10-0 lead in the first quarter and ended the period with a 14-11 advantage over the Wolves.

The Redskins gained a more sizeable lead in the third quarter closing the half ahead 32-25.

Milford had as much as a 16 point lead in the third quarter and things looked dim for the Wolves at the buzzer of the 49-35 period.

Clarkston employed a full court press in the final quarter and zipped the Redskins with one basket after another. Although the Wolves outscored the Redskins 23-6 in one part of the quarter, their strong comeback was all in vain. With about 40 seconds left, Milford led by a slim 57-56 margin.

Fifteen seconds remained when junior Tom Anderson sank a 10 foot jumper, putting Clarkston ahead, 58-57.

Milford found that just enough time to score in and Redskin Mike Ball gave his team the 59-58 win with a bucket with 2 seconds remaining. The Wolves were without a remaining timeout.

The loss evens the Wolves season record at 9-9.

Dave Partlo led scoring with 14 points. Gary Mason and Tom Anderson added 12 points apiece to the losing effort.

Partlo, Mason, and Larry Miracle grabbed 7 rebounds apiece, while the team totaled only 28 rebounds in the game.

Clarkston hit 27 of 60 shots for 46% from the floor and 4 of 9 from the foul line for 44%.

Friday, March 2, Clarkston travels to Lake Orion for the final game of the season. JV game starts at 6:30 p.m. and the Varsity game follows at 8:15 p.m.

Eighth grade basketball players from Clarkston and Sashabaw, including Duane Davidson, Mark Czinder, and Rick Jones saw some action Saturday night. Clarkston won the All Star game 43 to 35.

Baseballers planning summer

Nineteen Junior baseball managers met last Wednesday with league commissioner, Bob Davidson and Recreation Director, Tim Doyle, to begin planning for this summer's baseball program.

Several Recreation Department changes for '73 were announced and met with approval, although no discussions were voted upon by the group. Davidson said formal proposals for changes will be written when the managers complete a survey of twelve or more questions and return them to the department.

General approval was registered for an umpires' clinic to be run the week before Easter vacation (April 16-19) for all teenage boys interested in officiating for the Recreation Department.

The department will offer "T-Ball" for all 7 and 8-year-olds, if enough interest is shown by boys and managers. A league for 16-17 year old boys will also be added, if enough interest is present. Discussions for forming a class

D league with Waterford have taken place. Hopefully each community could draw three teams for a six team league.

Men's and woman's slow-pitch softball are scheduled in department plans if people are interested in playing.

A tentative schedule for the summer leagues was presented. It calls for seven weeks of scheduled games, followed by a week of playoffs. The season would open on June 12 and run through July 19th with playoffs beginning July 23 and running through August 2. Championship games would be completed by August 4.

In addition, a players clinic and "Spring season" was discussed. It would take place from 9-12 o'clock, beginning the first Saturday in May and run through June 9. Included in these Saturday morning sessions would be fundamentals and practice games, plus a father-son-team work day to improve the playing fields and a free trip to Tiger Stadium for a ballgame.

Davidson stressed that the Saturday morning program would be manned by umpires and high school boys and adult managers who could participate. "In no way would working managers be expected to give up six Saturdays of work to attend these sessions. We simply would like to have the fields open for teams to practice on and have some baseball fundamentals taught before the season starts" stated Davidson.

"We want to live up to our promise that every boy who wants to play baseball will be able to" said Davidson. "This clinic will insure that boys will not get overlooked or left out." The team draft and player selection will take place on Wednesday, April 25 at 7:30 in the Township Office.

The next planning session is scheduled for Wednesday, March 7 at 7:30 at the Township Hall. New or interested adults are encouraged to attend.

Sashabaw takes Clarkston in overtime

The Cougars final game of the regular season saw them as the guests of the Clarkston Junior High Wolverines at the High School. It was a close game with the lead changing hands several times. At the end of the game the score was 38-38 which forced a 3-minute overtime.

The Wolverines scrapped together 2 points for a total of 40 points but the Cougars got 6 in the overtime period to gain them a win with a total of 44 points. The final score of 44-40 gave them their 12th win of the season. High point men for the Cougars were Tom Ross with 16 and Doug Manigold with 10 points. Dave Brown with 12 and Tim Westover with 10 led the Wolverine scoring.

The Cougars traveled to Milford last Wednesday and beat the Redskins by a score of 39-29. This gave the Cougars their eleventh win of the season but only one Cougar was able to score in double figures—Jeff Ferguson with 11 points.

Scott Searight, 34, and Kevin Ridley vie for the ball during Saturday night's game which saw Sashabaw for the second time beat Clarkston Junior High.

Ken, who was wrestling at 126, won his second match on a referee's decision. Rick, at 132, won his match in the second round with a regular decision of 5-1.

The Clarkston Steelers, coached by Dave Whitehead, upset the Andersonville Hawks (coached by Matt Moore), 20-15. Outdoors in Independence

By Peggy Simmons

Snowmobilers are again urged to call ahead to the State Park or Recreation Area in which they want to use their snowmobiles. Unless there is four inches of snow, snowmobiles are not permitted in State Parks or Recreation Areas; and these areas will be closed to snowmobiling.

Park Rangers have been apprehending operators and issuing citations to those who go upon State recreational lands when snow requirements do not meet the 4-inch minimum depth.

Some operators and owners of snowmobiles are under the impression that their machines do not have to be registered when operating on State lands. This is not the case. These machines have to be registered through the Secretary of States office to operate anywhere on State owned lands.

FISHING:

Fishing and ice conditions on the lakes are improving. Fishing activity has been very slow during the week. There seems to be more activity on the weekends.

Pike success on tip ups is light on Cass, Duck, Holdredge, Pontiac, and White lakes. Pike fishing has been real good on Lake Orion.

Some good catches of panfish are reported being taken on Kent Lake. Only fair success on panfish on the smaller lakes around Holly. Panfishing is real slow on Lake Orion.

Flyers headed for division first

The Clarkston Flyers continued their drive toward first place in the Southeast Michigan Hockey Association Juvenile "B" division with a pair of big wins over the weekend.

On Saturday night the Flyers defeated the Detroit Javelins 2-1 on two goals by Jack Hagen. John Schmidt assisted on Hagen's first goal, while goaltender Chuck Schueneman turned in a strong performance in the Flyer nets.

On Sunday night the Flyers posted their biggest win of the season by defeating league leading Southfield 3-0 in front of the home crowd at Lakeland Arena. Flyer goals were scored by John Dickie, Tom Shingler, and Jack Hagen, while Mark Johnson picked up two assists, and Kirk Hart and Ron Livingston picked up one assist each.

Flyer goaltender Chuck Schueneman was again spectacular in the nets as he posted his third shutout of the season.

The loss for Southfield was their first this year, thus ending their hopes of an undefeated season. The two Flyer victories move them to within 4 points of first place Southfield. Next action for the Flyers will be Sunday, March 4 at Lakeland Arena against the Mount Clemens Lancers. Game time is 1 p.m.

Pushbutton banking arrives in area

A Pontiac State Bank customer can now deposit his paycheck, transfer part of it to his savings account, make a car payment, pay his telephone bill and get some ready cash by pressing the proper buttons on a 24 hour bank vending machine.

Pontiac State Bank is the first bank in southeastern Michigan to make completely automated teller service available to its customers on a widespread basis. According to E. E. Barker, Jr., president, the bank has four electronic teller machines in operation which is more than any other bank in the state at this time. The four machines, which are called BANK NOW machines, are located at the same four branches that pioneered the Golden Teller Cash Dispensing machines in January 1971 - Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Square, West Huron and Drayton Plains. BANK NOW service, however, goes far beyond dispensing cash. With BANK NOW equipment a customer can handle up to 80% of his normal banking transactions on the machine, outside the bank 24 hours a day, any day of the year including weekends and holidays.

There are eleven different banking transactions available. It is possible to withdraw, deposit, transfer funds automatically from one account to another and make payments on loans and utility bills normally payable at Pontiac State Bank.

The BANK NOW machine is easy to operate. All you need is a special magnetic striped BANK NOW card and a six digit personal security number which you are assigned by the bank.

Now, suppose it is pay day and you can't get to the bank before closing time. No problem. You can go to a BANK NOW machine any time of the day or night. Insert your card and punch in your personal security code number. First you want to deposit your check. Push the button marked Deposit To Checking Account, enter the exact amount of the check, put your check in the special envelope provided and the depository drawer automatically opens to receive your deposit. The machine now prints and gives you a dated receipt for the exact amount of your deposit. Now, with money in your checking account you can transfer some of it to your savings account simply by inserting your card and code number again pushing the button marked Transfer Checking To Savings and entering the amount. The money is transferred automatically. Pay your car loan by pushing the payment button marked Deduct From Checking. Pay the gas and electric bill the same way. Now withdraw $100 cash from your checking account - by pushing the button marked Withdraw From Checking and the cash drawer will open with packets of money inside - and you're on your way.

In addition to this you can also withdraw money from your savings account or make a cash advance against your BankAmericard account. You can deposit money to your savings account, transfer funds from your savings account to checking account or from BankAmericard to checking account. You can also make payments out of your savings account or make out-of-pocket payments.

Each completed transaction takes about one minute.

To guard against theft or vandalism attempts, the BANK NOW units are linked to the bank's burglar alarm system and an alarm is tripped the moment any tampering occurs. Customers are rarely inconvenienced because, if the machine becomes inoperable for any reason, it automatically informs the service center that it is not operating and steps are immediately taken to put it back into working order.

As a protective feature for the customer, the BANK NOW machine can be programmed to "eat" the card the first time anyone tries to use it.

Hubert McCauley, right, vice president and manager of Pontiac State Bank's Drayton Plains office demonstrates how to use BANK NOW for Donald Cummins, manager of W. T. Grants in Drayton Plains.

Association for retarded seeks members

The Oakland County Association for Retarded Children (OCARC) has announced the beginning of its 1973 Membership Drive to run through March. Mrs. Anna Scott of Birmingham has been named this year's Drive Chairman.

The Association has a goal of doubling their membership this year, according to Mrs. Scott. "Many people feel that membership in our organization is limited to parents of retarded children. This, of course, is not true. We welcome any and all interested citizens and professionals, as well as parents, into our organization as members and active volunteers for the cause of mental retardation.

The accomplishments of this organization over the past few years have been many. If it were not for parent organizations we would be without the quantity and quality of Special Education Programs in Public Schools,

Day Training facilities for the severely retarded and major research breakthroughs at the National level.

The OCARC annually sponsors Special Olympics of Oakland County. This track, field, swimming and bowling competition is open to all retarded in our county over the age of eight. The Oakland Association was the first in the nation to sponsor a state-wide talent competition for the mentally handicapped, and this past year has initiated Oakland County's first "Citizen Advocacy" Program for the retarded. Advocacy refers to the development of one-to-one relationships between community volunteers and our retarded citizenry.

Comprised of 19 local units within the county, the OCARC has been instrumental in the passage of Mandatory Special Education Legislation, the development of the Macomb-Oakland Retardation Center, Community Education Programs and the development of Group Home Living situations for retarded adults.

The Oakland County Association's office is located in Pontiac at 254 S. Telegraph Road. It's from here that services to the retarded and their families throughout the county are extended under the direction of the Association Executive Director, Brent C. Glazier.

Those interested in more information on the organization or in acquiring membership may phone the office at 681-0933 or write for information on your local community unit. Membership in the county association includes local unit affiliation membership as well as membership in the State and National Associations.

Independence Township has dismissed the littering complaint against Paul Frechette, owner of Clarkston Golf Club. Suit was brought against Frechette last year, and irregularities in the case had kept it before the courts for almost a year. Frechette's attorney has reportedly agreed to the dropping of the suit.

Jack Belby, secretary of the Independence Township Planning Commission, said he is being transferred about May 1 to a new job in Pennsylvania. The move will leave a vacancy on the planning commission, and in the Clarkston Women's Club. Jack's wife, Pat, is president of the latter group.

Fred Korte, Clarkston News advertising manager, thinks it may be another long, cold weekend before he'll have his grandchildren over again. First of all a ski was broken from the front of Fred's snowmobile an after he fixed that he ran into a protruding sewer pipe, knocking the end off, and flooding the yard. Even Lysol couldn't help that, and Fred is still embarrassed.

Dick Morgan of Morgan's Service Station returned home from South Carolina just in time for Sunday's big snow storm. It was spring there, said Dick, who'd been helping a daughter house hunt. The house she found, Dick said, is right across the street from a hospital run by a member of Lincoln's family during the Civil War. "History really lives there," Dick said.

Clarkston Jaycees were second to Holly in their District Basketball Tournament last weekend at Sashabaw Junior High School. Six teams competed, and the local boys did well, but not quite well enough.

We are at $3.67 on the pennies for a new flagpole at independence center. One of our informants says a 20-foot pole would cost about $30. Anybody else got any better or cheaper ideas?

Bob Kent of Wealthy ordered 500 worms for ice fishing this winter, meaning to split them with four others at work. The company made a mistake and Bob got 5,000, which he also proceeded to sell at work, and then he turned around and ordered another 1,000, which he also sold.

The worms filled three 3-pound coffee cans which Mrs. Kent had to keep in the refrigerator. She threatened to make stew of them, before he got them all sold. There's no figure available on the number of fish he caught.

Malnutrition

Severe malnutrition of either the mother or her baby (or both) is widely suspected as a cause of mental retardation. There are several animal and human studies to support the idea that poor nutrition can actually slow the division of cells in the growing brain.

The National Society for Medical Research reports on animal experiments that showed the brain-cell deficit can be as high as 15% if the animal is malnourished before birth. If this is combined with post-natal under-feeding, there may be as high as a 60% reduction in the number of brain cells.

A study in Chile indicated the same thing happens in humans. The brains of children who died in infancy were found to be much smaller than normal, if the child was malnourished. Those who survived showed retardation of their nervous system and intellect.

On the other hand, there are also signs that the overly fat baby will become an unhealthy obese adult, not only because feeding patterns are established early but because the fat cells are stored, and reproduce in the adult years.

It is obvious that an adequate diet is of utmost importance for both the mother and child. But the key word is "adequate," — nutritious and balanced — and not just "abundant."

Hardship cases may get relief

People considering themselves hardship cases have the right to petition the Independence Township Board of Review for a partial or total exemption on property taxes.

Supervisor Robert Vandermark said the law states hardship exemptions may be granted to those people who for reasons of poverty in the opinion of the supervisor and the Township Board of Review are unable to pay taxes.

He said a number of such pleas are heard annually from people who are hard pressed financially, and that a number are granted relief.

Vandermark said the board tries to be as fair and equitable as possible in granting the relief.

He asked those who are having financial difficulties and those who know of others who are to make an appointment for Board of Review consideration.

He said a standard application, containing such information as income and amount of property owned, must be completed by the applicant, but he said the information is kept confidential.

The Board of Review will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 6, 7 and 12 and from 3 to 9 p.m. March 13 to hear cases from those property owners who believe their assessments to be unfair.

Appointments must be made in advance, Vandermark said.

Funding increase sought for local roads

Hiking the share of state gas and weight tax which finance repair and maintenance of local roads is the goal of State Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford.

Anderson has requested legislation which would change local road fund percentage from 25 to 40.

"The law stipulates that 75 percent of road monies be used for primary roads and 25 percent for local roads," Anderson said in explaining his bill. "My contention is that this formula is out of balance when one considers the number of miles of primary roads as compared to the number of miles of local roads."

He cited 1800 miles of local roads in Oakland County as compared to 700-plus miles of county primary roads. "This would indicate to me that the formula as currently established is clearly out of line," Anderson said.

He continued, "The time is long past when we can attempt to fix local roads on local taxes. I am not naive enough, nor is the public naive enough, to believe that the only people who use local roads are those people who live on them."

"I think we should immediately give some attention to the local roads and the people who use them through increased dollars being available for local road repair," Anderson said.

Telephone service to cost more

Michigan Bell has applied for a $29.7 million rate increase which would hike local monthly residence charges in Clarkston for a one-party flat rate service from the present $5.60 to $6.40.

Local monthly rates for one-party business service would increase from $12.55 to $13.25 plus instrument charges.

Bell also proposes a charge of 10 cents each to information customers using the service more than five times a month.

The Michigan Public Service Com-

Fruit stand okayed

John Helvey, 6205 Sashabaw Road, has won an appeal from the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals to build a new fruit stand serving the orchard in existence since 1960.

Helvey's orchard is on residentially zoned land. He needed a variance to erect a commercial structure on the property, and had been turned down by township officials several times previously.

mission has authorized Michigan Bell to earn at the rate of 7.96 percent on its intrastate net plant investment, as compared to 7.43 percent last year.

"Our purpose in filing is to attempt to reach the earnings level authorized by the Commission," said Lloyd J. Haynes, Michigan Bell vice president.

Haynes said Bell's planned 1973 construction outlays will reach a record $350 million, up $45 million from last year, while the company also faces an $18 million annual increase in wages already bargained for.

Haynes said the proposal to charge for information calls is in keeping with the company's objective to have rates reflect the amount of usage customers make of telephone service — in short, to have those who use more pay more.

He said studies show that 80 percent of telephone customers call information no more than five times a month. They would not be affected by the proposal.

He stressed there would be no charge for information calls from handicapped people unable to use the directory, for calls from coin telephones or for information calls to other area codes.

Haynes said the company was proposing only one increase in present service connection charges. "The cost of providing service to a new home or business where service has never been provided is clearly higher," he said, "and we are recommending an additional $15 for this service."

For long distance calls within the state, the company asked for an increase of one cent per minute for operator-handled calls beyond 25 miles and a lesser amount for dialed calls.

A new Budget Toll Dialing Service would cost $3 a month, plus a $10 initial service charge. Nickel-a-Minute service would be discontinued, the present users who switch to budget toll not being charged the $10 fee.

Home in "wide, open spaces"

By Betty Hecker

"I love to come over Waterford Hill — it seems like it's wide open space from there on out," said Pat Jennings answering my questions about what country living means to her.

The Jennings enjoy country living in their large and gracious quad-level home in the Clarkston area.

They are Aurellia (better known as Pat), James (whom the family calls Chet), and their children Jim, Rocky, Karen and grandson Dale. Pat and Chet also have a married daughter, Beverly, and three other grandchildren.

Every spring, a neighbor with a tractor plows the garden area, and then Chet is on his own. "We were both raised on a farm, and it's never left him," Pat told me, proud of her husband's ability to grow an abundance of vegetables every summer. "He just has a hoe and a hand plow, but he sure can grow things, that is if the Lord provides the right weather. He always has an abundance." Chet works at Fisher Body and gardening is his hobby and "the way he relaxes."

Pat takes pride, too, in her large, fully stocked canning pantry, "putting up" many of the vegetables that Chet grows in the garden. She sews, and works at having a beautiful home.

In the entrance foyer, eucalyptus leaves are artistically arranged in a vase sitting on a small cabinet. On the wall behind the cabinet hangs a large mirror, a plaster mold and pattern of young Dale's profile, and a pair of pictures — one of Chet at about age five, dressed in a red velvet knicker suit. The second picture is of Dale, dressed in the same red suit his grandfather had worn years before.

In a corner of the foyer are blue free standing shelves, each holding predominantly red knick-knacks, from the red flowering geranium on the top shelf to red flocked artificial fruit, red candles, and red dressed ceramic angels.

"Several years before we moved here, I bought this big lazy-susan table for the kitchen. I said then that we would build a new kitchen around my table, a big country kitchen, and that's what we did," said Pat. The kitchen is big, with many cupboards and lots of storage room, and an efficient and attractive desk area.

The elegant living room is furnished with traditional furniture, with burnished gold velvet and brocade chairs. The turquoise sofa picks up the gold color in its print. Many of the room's accessories, wall plaques, and glass pieces Pat bought at Boothby's, where she works part-time.

The twin china cabinets and buffet, table and four chairs in the dining room were refinished in Victorian white and antiqued over with gold. Pat said she worked on those eight pieces for almost six months.

Chet and Pat's room has an open wrought iron headboard with a scroll and flower bouquet design atop the king size bed. The spread is a flower garden in bright pinks, rose color, red and green. On the wall behind the bed are family pictures, taken in years past when the family lived in Missouri.

Over Karen's bed is the hammered bronze disk of Dale's profile. Jim made it in an art class when he was in college.

Dale's room is a typical little boy's room, complete with a Popeye punching bag in one corner, cars, and clowns. Although Dale is a typical little boy, he is also a model. Last summer he was in a commercial for Cadillac Corporation. Later, he did a commercial for a lint remover, and has contributed to an art book that will be used by teachers in art classes.

The comfortable family room is done in warm colors — golds, burnt orange, and olive green. The Early American furniture is arranged for the best advantage for watching the fire in the fireplace, or for enjoying the view out of the large doorwall window.

Keep your house in tiptop condition by putting it on a time schedule. Every four years, the experts tell us, interior walls should be painted, the outside painted, and lawns improved or replanted. Every five years some attention should be given to hot water heater, lawns, and plantings, plumbing, roof and drains. Every six years attention should be given to the heating unit. But even with all this work, the joys of owning one's own home make it all worthwhile. There is no better privacy or security anywhere!

Let the experienced staff at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 help you find the home you have in mind. And we urge you to call us first with your listing. Weather warning: Snow, ice, slippery conditions, temperatures 10 degrees above zero. Such a notice strikes fear into the hearts of most motorists, but to the racing drivers who love the challenge of competing on ice, it's exciting news. Contrary to popular belief, ice racing is perhaps the safest form of racing. The method is to take an ice and snow covered lake or river and plow out a twisting course from half a mile to three miles. Snow is piled up on the banks of the course, and this is the saving grace. Ice racing is fully organized just like motor racing. There are definite rules and regulations. Watching this sort of event is cool but rewarding for those craving action.

Calvary adds modulars

Now in use is a new classroom-building for Calvary Lutheran Church. Two modular units have been purchased and divided for use as eight Sunday church school classrooms and meeting rooms. The units are heated and air conditioned electrically and carpeted throughout. Men of the congregation built the movable dividers. The work is complete except for staining and the construction of sidewalks.

World Day of Prayer planned

Mrs. Barbara Fry of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Hardy Hess of Church of the Resurrection and Mrs. Eusebia Meng of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church gather at Clarkston United Methodist Church to make plans for a World Day of Prayer service there at 1 p.m. Friday, March 2. Sister Marcella Hess, head of the personnel and counseling office at Immaculate Conception Provincial House, Detroit, will discuss "Alert in our Time." A nursery will be provided and a coffee hour will follow the service. Other churches participating include Drayton Heights Free Methodist, St. Daniel's Catholic, Calvary Lutheran and the Salvation Army.

O'Neill to address co-op parents

Pediatrician Dr. James O'Neill will address the Clarkston Co-op Nursery at 8 p.m. March 6 at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

The group recently hosted a father's day in the nursery, giving the dads an idea of what the co-op nursery is like in action. They performed the role generally taken by the mothers who give time during the week to nursery sessions.

St. Daniel's plans salad luncheon party

St. Daniel Women's Guild will meet for a salad luncheon and party at 11 a.m. March 12 at the church. Tickets will be sold at the door. Nancy Harding, 625-2965, has further information.

Recently the group visited the Charles R. Haskins home where they were able to see baby lambs, chicks, kittens and geese. All of the classes have visited the Drayton Nature Center, and some plan to return in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seaman of Clarkston were recently aboard the Greek Line's luxury liner T.S.S. Olympia sailing out of New York on a holiday cruise to the Caribbean.

Backwards, yet!

Springing up
by Betty Hecker

Last Wednesday evening, our family saw "Snowball Express" at the Clarkston Cinema. In one episode of the film, the hero skied backward, all the way down the mountain. Okay—Sunday, the Heckers went skiing at Mt. Holly. Our youngest son, Tom, not to be outdone by trick photography, a professional skier, or special skis, tried it! He did it, too, at least, he skied backward about half way down the slope.

The beautiful part, though, is his eyes, as he tells about his adventure.

The first week of February, the Tarps moved into their new home on Andersonville Road. Last Saturday afternoon, Freida and Audley Arpoika had a welcome to the neighborhood party for them.

The Tarps are Larry, JoAn, and their three sons, Rory, 13, Randy 11, and Terry 9.

Welcome to Springfield.

About fifteen boys and their dads from Cub Scout Pack 133 went to Big Lake on Sunday for an ice fishing contest.

After several dozen donuts and 2 1/2 gallons of hot chocolate, the boys who caught the fish were Aaron Strine, with 11, and Mark Sommers with 1.

Members of the Women's Club of Clarkston took their husbands on a sleigh ride last Saturday evening, at Hayride Lodge in Washington, Mich. The ride was complete with runners on the wagons, and bells on the horses.

After the ride, the lodge served a spaghetti dinner, followed by a dance. Sally Lamm said that she and Tom had a very enjoyable evening.

Last Wednesday, Father Brockman died. Harry Brockman, born September 30, 1881, was a Jesuit Priest and teacher for 70 years. He had lived in Springfield Township for the last two years at the Colombiere College.

The funeral was at St. Patrick's Church in Cleveland, Ohio, on Monday. His quick smile and his quick wit will be missed by all his Springfield friends.

Clarkston Jaycee President John Sackrider is home from the hospital and progressing well, according to his wife, June. June says he sends his thanks to the many friends who've expressed their concern since he was involved in the bad traffic accident two weeks ago on 1-75.

The Davisburg Joggers Senior Citizens will meet Saturday, March 3, in the Springfield Township Hall at Noon for a potluck dinner. Business meeting and program will follow. All senior citizens are welcome.

Bob Waters, who retired this week after 31 years at General Motors Truck and Coach, was feted by 140 friends Friday night, including his nephew from Grand Blanc and brother from Lewiston. The party was at the American Legion Home in Auburn Heights.

Molly Whitmer, mistress of ceremonies, oversaw the presentation of a rubber tree, marking Bob's work in rubber and plastics. The tree contains all the products he had worked with over the years and stands about five feet high.

He was even feted over WPON with the Rubber Tree Man song.

Jeffrey Hawke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle G. Hawke of 5646-Hummingbird, has been named to the Dean's List at Kalamazoo College for the fall quarter. Jeff's grade point average fell between 3.75 and 4.0. He is a freshman.

Pamela Jane Gillis of 8254 Perry Lake Road and Mary A. Hennig of 8180 Allen Road, seniors at Central Michigan University, obtained straight "A's" during the winter semester, the college reports.

Those with a "B" average or better included Clarkstonites, Claudi R. Christie of 6725 Laurelton, a freshman; David E. Erickson, 6140 South Main, a sophomore; Katharyn J. Fletcher, 6498 Phelan Drive, a freshman; John Daniel Hux, 6907 Snowapple, a sophomore; Douglas W. Kath, 5860 Hummingbird, a freshman; James T. Klark, 6191 Sunnysdale, a freshman; James R. Loba, 6062 Middle Lake, a freshman; and Baron C. Munchausen, 8790 Ortonville, a freshman.

The Blue and Gold Banquet for Pack 134 Cub Scouts was Saturday at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

Women of Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294 will serve another Swiss steak dinner from noon to 3 p.m. March 4 at Clarkston Masonic Temple. They're looking forward to a crowd like the one last month when some folks had to be turned away. Tickets are available at the door.

SERVICE WITH LOVE—How many hours or days would you, or a friend, lie in the house with a broken leg, unable to reach a phone, before someone found out? Independence center has joined forces with Pontiac General Hospital's "Service with Love" to help prevent this situation.

The program provides a daily call to shut-ins or senior citizens. The hospital screens applicants, and collects background information, such as who to contact if the person does not answer the phone.

The volunteers at independence center then receive the name and phone number of the person and place the daily calls. At present the center contacts 19 senior citizens each day.

If there is anyone in the Independence, Brandon, or Springfield area who would benefit from this service please call the center and give them their name.

FOOD CO-OP—There will be a Food Co-op General Membership meeting at independence center Tuesday, March 6 at 7 p.m.

The co-op will be changing to Fridays starting Friday, March 9. At this time all operations now on Thursday will move to Friday.

Marge Batchelder, chairman, has called the membership meeting to "clear up some problems that have arisen" and to discuss raising the price from $3.00 to $3.25 to cover the cost of a weekly truck rental. She would like to stress that the co-op works because all labor is voluntary, and therefore the savings can be passed on to members.

There will be a one hour rap session following the agenda when members may offer suggestions and air complaints.

CENTER NEEDS—independence center is presently operating its office with a 1932 typewriter. Any help to improve this situation would be appreciated.

The Food and Clothes Closets at the center are in constant need of replacements for articles taken out by needy families. Non-perishable food products are needed for the Food Closet. Also, anyone starting spring closet cleaning at home, please send all clean clothes in good repair, especially children's clothes, to the center.

New church proposed

Rev. Kenneth Hauser

A new $80,000 church to house the 80 members who attend services now in the basement of Rev. Kenneth Hauser at 6024 Pine Knob Road is planned by Pine Knob Community Church.

Hauser says the intent, providing rezoning can be obtained, is to build the church next door to his home at 6028 Pine Knob Road. He expects much of the costs and labor to be donated by his congregation and contractors.

Hauser started the church last August, having served seven years previously as pastor of Clintonville Nazarene Church.

Services are at 10 and 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sundays.

He and his brother, Tom, also conduct services on Sundays at Camp Oakland in Oxford.

"For dust you are and to dust you shall return." (Genesis 3:19)

Ash Wednesday

Next Wednesday is Ash Wednesday. In the ceremony of the placing of ashes on your foreheads, the Church gets us to face the reality of death: "Remember, man, you will return to dust." The thing about death is that it is both certain and uncertain.

We know that we will die because our grandparents and in many cases our parents are dead. There were people who read this column last year who are not here today. They are dead. This death which is so certain to happen is very uncertain as to just when and where it will happen. But the most important question is whether or not we will be prepared for death when it does come. And that is what Lent is all about. Lent is a time to see how we stand before God.

It is a time of reassessing our attitudes and our conduct towards those around us. It is a time to renew our faith and commitment to Jesus. We strive to do this by more intense prayer and penance. During Lent we hear the words of Jesus: "Turn away from sin and believe the gospel." (Mark 1:15)

Clarkston High School report
by Leslie Little and Robbin Wagner

Student barometer

1. What age do you feel society accepts as a reasonable age for marriage?

- 20—D. R.
- 20—D. W.
- 22—M.L.P.
- 23—B. W.
- 22—K. S.
- 18—M. F.
- 25—D. S.
- 29—D. L. P.
- 23—Cathy Wagner
- 21—E. F.

2. Teenage marriage seems to be more common today than in the past, what do you feel is causing this?

Pregnancy, no doubt.—D. R.
Getting away from your parents and all the hassle you get from them.—D. W.

Getting pregnant, and being unhappy at home.—B. W.

Kids trying to get back at their parents and maybe hurting them, and by getting pregnant.—K. S.

I believe teenage marriage is not more common today because of abilities for the females to go to New York, etc. for abortions.—M. F.

The change in the attitudes of today's teenagers.—D. S.

Pregnancy, of course.—Cathy Wagner.

3. What do you feel is the most important in a marriage, age or maturity?

Maturity, because if you are 15 and get married and mature enough to take on the responsibility, then more power to you; I myself don't think you are ready at that age.—B. W.

Maturity, because if a person is mature it doesn't matter how old he is, but I think at that young of an age you're only hurting yourself.—K. S.

Maturity, being mature means you should be able to understand your marriage partner and you are able to cope with marriage problems. That is what causes a marriage to work, that's why it's most important.—M. F.

Maturity, because you have to be able to cope with today's problems.—D. S.

Maturity, you could be 90 years old and still not be mentally ready for marriage.—Cathy Wagner

4. What advantages, if any do you feel a marriage of people in their 20's have over a teenage marriage?

Maturity, being able to understand things better.—D. W.

Being more capable because they know what they want and will try harder.—M. L. P.

They are more mature, have some start of an income.—B. W.

At 20 you have lived longer and you know what to expect from life and they are more qualified for supporting a family.—K. S.

They have a better outlook on life, and I think understanding of today's world more.—D. S.

Maturity, of course, and age also.—Cathy Wagner

5. What percent of teenage marriages do you feel last?

Really not any, they might but wouldn't be happy.—Cathy Wagner

The ones that try to understand each other and try to act mature.—D. W.

Maybe about 20% of them.—M. L. P.

Not very many, I think they eventually will go on the rocks.—B. W.

Hardly any, the only problem is being an adult at 16.—K. S.

Not too many really, because they still want to go their own way, don't want to be tied down.

6. What are your feelings about teenage marriages?

I think it stinks— whoever gets married that young is off their rocker.—Cathy Wagner

Anyone who gets married before three years out of high school at least will eventually regret it.—C. W.

I think if you are old enough and able to cope with it and try to understand your problems then I think it is all right.—D. W.

I don't think it is a very good idea.—M. L. P.

I think it's pretty dumb and immature.—B. W.

I think that if a person does want to get married that young he has to think about it for a very long time. But I think he or she should be out of high school, he should if he wants to support a family.—K. S.

They can if they want but it is a proven fact that most marriages at an early age end in divorce or annulment.—M. F.

I don't think it is right, they're just not old enough to cope with today's world.—D. S.

Shouldn't the classes in school be opened on an equal basis to the students in the school?

Like the girls trying to get into the Industrial Arts program, the boys trying to get into the Home Economics field are also having a problem. The classes are opened to boys after all girls have been scheduled. Because of this system of scheduling, there are no boys in the sewing or cooking classes. It hardly seems fair that a girl can take two Home Economics classes when a boy can't take any.

Many of the girls in Home Economics classes take the class to fill up their schedule, or because it is a fun class, or because it is a class they know that they can do good in. Are these reasons better than those of the guys who want in the class? Some of the boys' reasons are because they will soon be leaving home and they need to learn how to cook, sew and mend. Many are very interested in cooking and want to learn more about how to be a good cook.

People are always putting students down for their unconcern. Well the students of CHS are concerned. We want all students to have an equal chance in life, and to help get this many students are signing petitions that request that: The Industrial Arts, Mechanics and Home Economics programs will be opened to all students, regardless of sex on a first come first served basis of scheduling. Students feel that this is a fair way of scheduling.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

The class of 1974 is glad to inform the people that their senior trip will be Nassau. Out of 187 trip entries that were returned all but 50 of them were for Nassau. The Junior Class plans to have a meeting for class members and their parents in March. During this meeting slides from the senior class trip of 1972 to Nassau will be shown.

BAND

The West Bloomfield and Clarkston bands gave a fine performance on Thursday, February 22. Both bands were able to show the public what kind of music is to be expected of them at contest.

Pam Mihalcheon, model and sports star

Pam Mihalcheon, an 18-year-old senior at Clarkston High School is a member of the girls' varsity basketball team. She has played on the team for three years, one year on JV and twice on varsity. Pam plays center, high and low post.

Pam is high point and high rebounder for the team. She gives the credit for both of these to the team, saying without their help she would never have done it.

Pam's other activities include girls' volleyball, pep club, JAA, horseback riding, swimming, bowling, sewing, and winter and water skiing.

Pam also was involved in Junior Miss, where she was first runner up. Her talent performance was "Hey, Big Spender," and like Pam said, "my talent isn't all in basketball."

With the scholarship she won in Junior Miss, Pam would like to attend college. She plans on playing basketball while studying to become a teacher—in the field of either Home Economics or sociology.

If she does not attend college Pam would like to further her career in modeling, which she does in the summer.

WHEN A WAR IS OVER

When a war is over,
And all is said and done,
It's rather hard to say
Who had lost or won.

The vanquished have gained nothing,
The victors even less.
And what of those who died?
Where is their redress?

Think of individuals,
Not of politics.
The remnants of a war —
The poor, the weak, the sick.

A culture lost, a race destroyed,
Such is the price of war.
Yet man repeats the same mistakes,
And still comes back for more.

War must end, peace must reign,
If we are to survive.
With the weapons man now has,
It's amazing we're alive.

War is mad and senseless,
As is killing man.
The reason that I say this,
I will state again.

When a war is over,
And all is said and done,
It's rather hard to say
Who has lost or won.
