

Tis the season -

to clean out, sell off, and stock up

Springfield Township annual clean-up

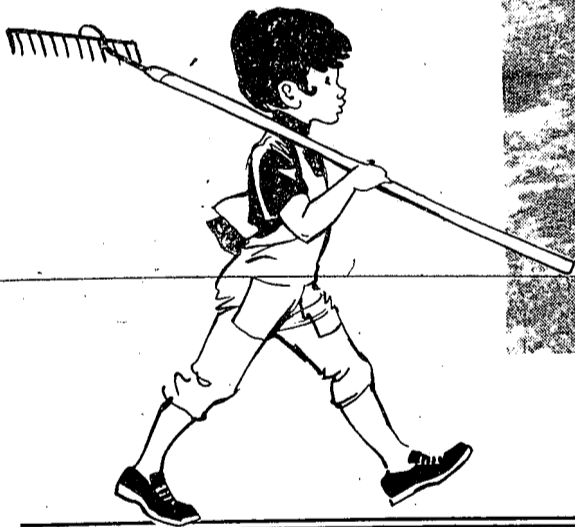

WHEN — April 30 through May 5 has been designated as Spring Clean Up Week. During April 30 through May 5 all large items may be left behind the Township Hall.

MAY 5 — will be a concentrated effort to clean up the local area. Plastic bags will be supplied at the Township Hall.

JUNK CARS — If you have or know of junk cars and wish to have them removed call Don Rogers, 625-1664.

FOOD — Lunch will be served to all workers.

BIG ITEMS — If you have tires, washers, dryers or other big items and cannot transport them to the Township Hall, notify Don Rogers for pick-up.

It might have been warmer, but Clarkston Area Jaycees still made $150 for community projects from their flea market last Saturday in downtown Clarkston.

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Ingham County News editor Dick Brown gives us this about logic.

One of the copouts in the rearing of children has traditionally been the "if... then" technique of simple logic.

Every mother used it many times and for different reasons but it was over-simplification. Some of Mother's "if... then" uses went like this:

"If you can play all afternoon, then you can find strength enough to take the trash out tonight."

"If you can find time to read that comic book, then you can find time to do your homework."

"If you can eat 3 candy bars in the afternoon, then you can certainly clean up that spinach on your place now."

And so it went in the if-then world of the child.

But then came the realization finally that the if-then technique wasn't so much logic as it was a subterfuge for getting a child to do something desired by Mother.

Unfortunately this over-simplified logic still exists. How many times have you heard these statements?

"If we can put a man on the moon, then (choose from any number of the following) a. wipe out poverty, b. wipe out war, c. wipe out smog, d. wipe out Democrats, e. do away with all road accidents."

Or there is the atom bomb if-then. If we can build an atom bomb then we can wipe out cancer. If we can build a hydrogen bomb then we can wipe out urban blight.

These are ridiculous conclusions. The if part of the statement hasn't got a blasted thing to do with the then part of the phrase.

Much of today's radio, TV and magazine advertising is based on the same erroneous logic.

If some Cro Magnon throwback who has made it big in crunching quarterbacks or ping pong balls for pay steps in front of the camera or microphone then he is an authority on what kind of tooth paste we should use or what kind of car we should drive, or what kind and where we should apply deodorant.

We are going these days with another if-then combination. If an ex-astronaut says that railroads are doing a great job or the El Burup gasoline is the best buy, then it follows that he knows everything there is to know about railroads and gasoline.

There is a big demand for if-then logic when it comes to fund raising. If you can buy a pack of cigarettes, then you can give to the consolidated gyp fund. If you can afford a bottle of Heartburn beer then you can give to the fund to buy your pastor an erector set.

Frankly, such logic is full of prunes. In fact the if-then theory is what some logicians call an invalid conditional syllogism.

If you understand that the last sentence THEN you you have got a lot more smarts than I have.

Contractors' list for sewer hook-up to be available

Sewers which may become available within a month along the southern border of the township are going to need connecting to the homes they're designed to serve.

Independence Township ordinances provide that the job may be done either by a contractor or the homeowner, but if it's a contractor he's got to be one approved by the Oakland County Department of Public Works and he must have posted a surety bond.

A one-year time limit for homes within 200 feet to connect to the completed sewer has been established.

Lynn Thorpe, newly appointed Independence Township DPW director, said lists of approved contractors or plumbers will be available at the township hall.

Building permits will be required for the connection and the anticipated fee of $35 is expected to cover all inspections.

Thorpe said construction costs for laying the line from the property line to the home will vary depending on the type of soil and the location. The variety of contractors licensed to do the job will give the homeowners the opportunity of seeking estimates, he said.

Property owners have the option, Thorpe said, of connecting to the sewer at 6 or 10 feet below grade. Tap-ins are being installed at those levels and the house lead will have to meet them on a slope of one percent or one foot per hundred feet.

Thorpe said it is possible that homes with basements will not require basement sewer service and they can therefore be connected at the shallower level.

Fire Department figures explained

Independence Township Board members want to clear up a misunderstanding at last week's board meeting. The $95,600 figure quoted as income for the Fire Department is for the coming year and was not on hand last year.

Last year the fire department budget was $65,000 of which every cent was used, according to Fire Chief Frank Ronk.

If Mrs. Ronald Olliffe, 6748 Snow Apple, will call at The Clarkston News, she will receive a free pass to the Clarkston Cinema showing of "Lady Sings the Blues."

Soph parents invited to school

Parents of junior high students about to enter Clarkston Senior High School as sophomores have been invited to two get-acquainted sessions May 8 and 10 at the high school.

Parents of Clarkston Junior High freshmen will be invited for 7:30 p.m. May 8 and parents of Sashabaw Junior High freshmen at 7:30 p.m. May 10.

Administrators and counselors at the high school will discuss programs and procedures detailed in a curriculum guide-booklet.

Tax bills -- they just keep going up

By Jean Saile

Taxes going up you think?

Check four pieces of property pulled at random from the Independence Township assessing files.

- A 20-acre parcel in the northern tier of the township assessed at $16,000 in 1968; $19,520 in 1970; and $19,500 in 1973.

- A lake front residential lot with home on Deer Lake, assessed at $21,400 in 1968; $27,800 in 1970; and $33,400 in 1973.

- A 50-foot lot in Woodhull Subdivision, assessed at $5,488 in 1969; $6,400 in 1970; and $5,000 in 1973.

- A Main Street home and lot in the village, assessed at $9,400 in 1968; $11,468 in 1970; and $14,700 in 1973.

Independence Township residents living within the Clarkston School District pay $40.20 in property taxes for every $1,000 of state equalized valuation. Since Independence Township this year has a factor of 1, the assessment figures as written apply.

The rate is near the bottom of the scale in Oakland County. Bloomfield Hills, for example, pays $67.29 per $1,000; Springfield residents in the Clarkston School District pay $38.88; Orion Township residents in the Orion School District pay $45.39; Oxford residents in the Oxford School District pay $37; Waterford residents in the Waterford School District pay $51.70; and Brandon residents in the Brandon School District pay $42.42.

The township and the rest of the county narrowly missed a factor of 1.1 this year, brought about when the State Tax Commission decided Oakland County as a whole was underassessed.

Local officials with Herman Stephens, director of county equalization (who is responsible for seeing that municipal units pay in ratio to other municipal units of the county and who has the ability to impose factors of his own), fought the directive successfully, but the word is the county had better be up 7 percent by next year.

It's on such a point that Rick Huffman, new Independence Township assessor, feels that governmental units doing their best to keep up with rising market prices are penalized.

Independence Township was reappraised last year on the basis of construction costs and sale costs for the three years of 1969, 1970 and 1971. As the figures above show not all property was increased, but the trend was certainly in that direction.

"The reassessing was to make sure that everyone was assessed equally," Huffman said. "It's true that some property was found to be assessed higher than the 50 percent of market value required by state law."

He adds that not all municipal units have had a reassessment and he feels that the Independence area is more in line with state requirements than are other areas of the county.

Yet, had the state factor been imposed, it would have been imposed equally over Independence and the other units of government in Oakland County.

Knowledge that the taxes are used to support various units of government leads many people to suggest that the various local units of government take less in the hopes that the tax bills will decrease.

Independence Township gets 1.32 mills of a non-voted 15 mills split by county government, the Oakland County Intermediate School District and the local schools.

In areas where townships use only a mill, the schools are then awarded the balance left after the county units have shared. The total does not decrease.

The allocated millage is primarily responsible for supporting townships; however, voters may, as they have in Independence Township, approve extra millage. Currently one mill is levied for Fire Department operation and another mill for police services in addition to the 1.32 mills allocated by the county.

Schools, also, operate on allocated millage — 8.21 mills in Independence Township within the Clarkston School District — and voted increases. Residents here have approved 13 additional mills for operating expenses and 7 more mills for building and site expenses for the schools.

While increased assessments tend to bring more money in for schools, the district as a whole does not benefit much. School officials recently explained that a cutback in state aid accompanies an increase in locally raised funds.

And to add further woe to the taxpayer, there's been an Attorney General's opinion issued that funds to pay off bonded indebtedness can be levied without a vote of the people outside the 15-mill limit.

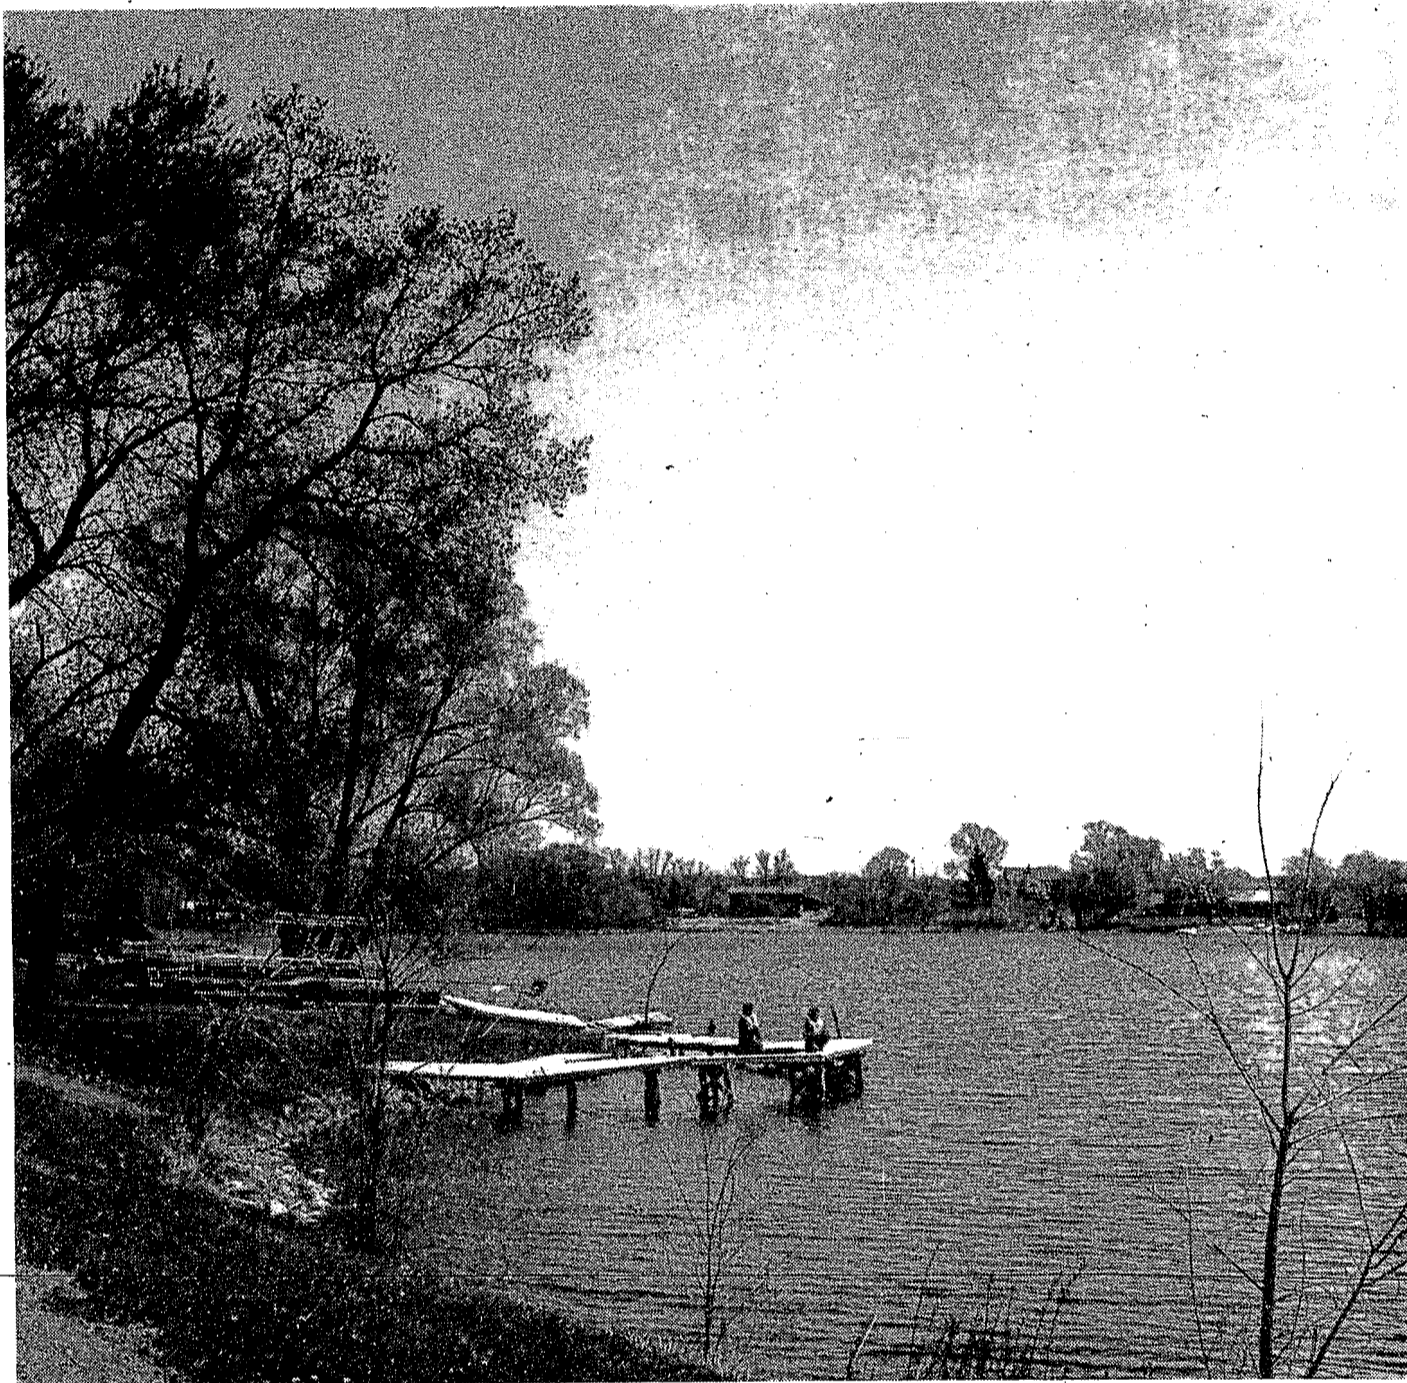

This is the situation now affecting Detroit schools, and it is also a tool the county uses in paying drain bonds and county building authority bonds.

About the only tax limitation prevalent, which still seems to have effect, is the ruling that any municipal unit cannot go into debt more than 10 percent of its equalized valuation.

Officials, who also pay taxes, call the taxing system a "round robin." It has been designed so that cutbacks in one area will only fuel another area and the total tax bill tends to keep going up and up.

About the only place the people have a say is in voted additional millage. Recent school millage defeats in widespread areas have been attributed to this belief.

Just fishin'; a couple of boys know how to spend a warm spring day during Easter vacation as they fish off the dock on Parke Lake.

Fuel shortage hits school buses

The fuel shortage which has Detroit scrounging for gasoline suppliers has also had an effect in Clarkston.

Assistant schools superintendent Milford Mason reports he has been able to contract for enough gas to insure operation of school buses only through December this year.

The old supply bid at a rate of 12.1 cents per gallon terminated February 28 and the schools asked for bids. Only one local supplier responded at an increase and was later informed that the district supplier would not be able to meet the needs.

Mason said he then got on the telephone and contacted every major gasoline supplier in the Detroit area winding up with an agreement from Boron that it will provide 50,000 gallons of gas at the rate of 23.4 cents per gallon, almost double that of last year. The school district uses about 100,000 gallons a year, Mason said, and is able to store in its own facilities up to 12,000 gallons at a time.

"I suppose we could buy from the pumps, but besides costing more, it would probably short local suppliers," Mason said.

Gravel decision due Wednesday

Springfield Township was to vote Wednesday night, May 2, whether or not to rezone 500 acres off Ormond Road to permit sand and gravel mining.

An environmental impact study of the area has been requested and was recently funded by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

Owners of the property have, however, complained that their request has been dragged out for more than a year and Emmett Lieb last month requested an immediate decision without waiting for the study.

It's not easy watching anyone bare his soul, particularly in public, and the ramifications are awesome when that person happens to be the President of the United States.

That is what Richard Nixon did Monday night as he addressed the nation — and the world — on what has become known as "Watergate."

Roger Mudd, Eric Severied, and other commentators were quick to point out that the President accepted the responsibility, but not the blame, for the bugging incident.

Nixon walked that fine line — excusing himself from the blame — by admitting he had delegated the responsibility for his third presidential candidacy to subordinates, who in turn exceeded their authority because of their zeal.

I think we have seen something significant growing out of Watergate that hasn't been emphasized or speculated upon.

We are witnessing the surfacing humanity of Richard Nixon.

He certainly didn't do anything to improve his characteristically cold image Monday night. His sense of determination, held intact, kept him from falling into pathos.

Harsh criticism will remain because he did not "reveal all" that his personal investigations have uncovered. But, I submit, there are two fundamentally significant reasons for this, that will allow him to get by with the approach he has chosen.

Firstly, his long personal associations with some of the key people involved. Even Nixon, who has maintained the integrity of the process which is bringing those people to justice, is not willing or capable of striking the death blow to his friends.

I do not think less of him for that.

Secondly, and of a magnitude that transcends any personal reason for restraint in pointing a presidential finger of guilt, is the separation of powers principle.

The President is saying the Judiciary will have the final say on Watergate. Not he himself. And let the chips fall where they may.

Richard Nixon as much as said he would do anything to preserve the integrity of the office he holds. His detractors are saying, "Yes, even lie."

But the appearance of our President this week, what he said, and what he did not say, have convinced me that the presidency is in good shape ... and in good hands.

One of the things, perhaps above all else, that has disturbed and annoyed even his supporters is the fact that Richard Nixon has not shared his burdens with us in a manner which reveals his humanity.

He did that this week; when he spoke about his great goals, the Watergate incident itself, and not in the least his difficulty regarding Vietnam.

He spoke from the heart. Spilled his guts before us ... without breaking.

I think we will see in the final 1,358 days of his presidency more of what we have witnessed in his latest address. Not on Watergate again. But in terms of policy.

Particularly domestic policy. With Ehrlichman gone, and the President turning his attention to our needs, he may yet earn distinction — by reputation — as a man of the people.

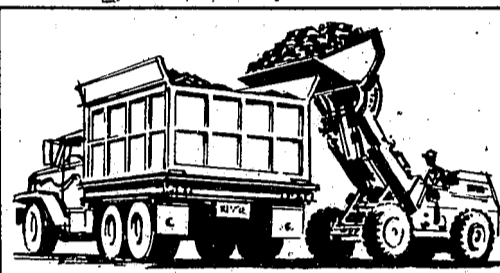

I hope so. It would be good for the country, and Nixon.

It is essential to the preservation of Democracy.

Time to get rid of it

Now, if ever, is the time to clear the attic, the garage and the basement of "unusables."

Independence Township, repeating the success of last year, has made available the facilities of the Ben Powell landfill on Clarkston-Orion Road to receive unwanted articles the Saturdays of May 12 and 19.

Truck and carloads dumped now while the dumping is free may prevent later accumulation of litter along the roadways.

Powells will accept junk cars and everything smaller during this once a year offer.

Clean up the township. Get rid of YOUR junk.

School traffic

Whoever planned the traffic system at Clarkston High School never anticipated the number of cars which would be driven to the facility each day.

The Middle Lake Road entrance, as one of our letter writers states, is atrocious—and dangerous. The traffic jams occurring on Waldon Road between the senior high service drive and the junior high school at about 7:45 each morning are something else.

The service drive is laid out so buses must wait for oncoming traffic to clear before they can negotiate some of the sharp turns in the drive. The backup creates a long line of impatient drivers willing to take chances to save time to enter Waldon.

There have been accidents in the school's area, even a fatality within the recent past. We are probably most fortunate there have not been more tragic mishaps.

We don't know the answer, but it appears that any method whereby bus traffic would be separated from car traffic would be a solid beginning. Perhaps another exit on Waldon in the Eastlawn area would tend to relieve the congestion.

It appears to be worth some study with action in mind.

Adventure's there

by Jean Saile

I'm sure it was the spring weather that did it—starting the juices to flow again—and launching the two youngest Sailes and I on a discovery trip last week.

It turned out to be quite a day. Reaching all the way from rescuing what the kids described as "a hippy couple" whose car had failed them in the Bald Mountain State Recreation Area to lunching atop the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. building in Detroit.

And it included visits to the Detroit Institute of Art and the Detroit Historical Museum, a tour through the Windsor tunnel, back along Windsor's waterfront drive and home again via the Ambassador Bridge with an unexpected stop at dad's office—all capped by a visit to the Dairy Queen.

Except for the lunch it was a relatively inexpensive day, and it proves the point that entertainment is there if you're willing to look for it.

I don't know why we turned off M-24 into the recreation area, but we hadn't gone far until we were flagged down by a young man who wanted to borrow our jumper cables.

Whether it was deficiency in the cables or his car, the remedy didn't take and we wound up carting them off to a gas station prior to resuming our trek to Detroit.

The tone for the unexpected was set, and we viewed the upcoming day in a 'who knows what might happen' anticipation.

The shining armor of the knights of old, the Egyptian mummy cases and the extremely large canvases at the art institute almost compensated for the aching feet we were all beginning to feel, but Pete wanted to add the historical museum to the tour before lunch, even though it was now well past noon.

He's a map reader and each room visited is duly checked off on the tour guides. A unmarked room is not to be tolerated in his view.

And so to lunch—with a marvelous view of freighters plying the Detroit River, even an unanticipated train ferry plying its course, and a bird's eye view across the river of Windsor.

We couldn't resist. Nor could we resist driving past Tiger Stadium on the way home even though the Tigers weren't in town that day.

The kids have already started mapping out other adventure days ahead. They want to revisit the Detroit Zoo, see Eastern Market, Greenfield Village again, tour the State Capitol, and ride the Bob-Lo boat.

They even want to return to Bald Mountain, to fish.

Remember: Independence clean-up days

"If It Fitz . . ."

Why not 'husband swapping'?

By Jim Fitzgerald

The year's biggest baseball story prompts me to wonder why Women's Lib has never complained about the unfair news stories which always result when married couples switch partners.

The transaction is invariably called "wife swapping." I have never heard it called "husband swapping."

This implies, of course, that the husbands are always the proprietors and the wives are always the merchandise.

Which simply isn't true. Wives are as capable as husbands of initiating action which could result in a swap of spouses. I know . . .

There was that morning in New Orleans when my wife and I got hosed. When that experience ended, Pat went out into the streets and propositioned women she'd never seen before. She'd never seen their husbands before, either.

She simply wanted to deal me away and she didn't much care what she got in return, just so long as the replacement knew how to hang a sign on a doorknob.

We were staying in a quaint motel in the French Quarter. Our 2nd floor unit had a private porch that looked out over a court. Lovely. We got in late the first night and Pat reminded me to hang out the "Do Not Disturb" sign so we could sleep in. Which I did.

Came the morning. Slosh, sprinkle and drip. Not outside. In the room. Honest.

"Wake up," my wife screamed, "someone is spraying water at us through the door."

"You must be having a nightmare," I said, getting a mouthful of water and adding: "Blub."

It was true. Outside there was a motel employee, happily hosing down our front porch. This was not a new motel and plenty of air showed between the door and the jamb. Also, the transom was partly open. Our bed was getting soggy.

"I have heard of wild animals, locked together in passion, who had to be separated with fire hoses," I said, "but I really don't think it's necessary in this case."

"Stop making dumb jokes and tell that fool to stop," my wife answered passionately.

I hollered but the guy outside couldn't hear me. The water was making too much noise as it slammed against the door. I would have opened the door and told the hoser off, except I might have been washed away.

Pat had left her best dress draped over a chair by the door. The dress was dripping and she was steaming.

"He must be a new . . . plug . . . employee," I said.

"I think they are supposed to close those quaint storm doors before hosing."

"But what about our Do-Not-Disturb sign?" Pat screamed.

When the water man finally moved on, she quickly found out about the sign. I had hung it wrong side out, thus announcing that no one was home, so the maid could come cleaning . . . or hosing.

It was then that I went on the trading block. No deal has been closed yet but I've noticed several strange women coming in the office and giving me the eye. I keep expecting them to kick my tires and slam my doors.

When the transaction is finally completed, the newspapers are hereby warned to describe it as a husband swapping. I don't want any responsibility for a deal which will probably mate me to something with a running board.

Onward and Upward.

Letters to the Editor

Wants drive closed

Dear Mrs. Saile,
My concern is Middle Lake Road between M-15 and the high school. Anyone who has traveled this section of road knows that its condition is despicable, to say the least.

The condition of the road is due to the heavy traffic at high rates of speed. Only a small portion of the traffic adheres to the 25 mile per hour speed limit which applies in subdivisions.

Elementary school children use the road enroute to Clarkston Elementary. It amazes me that there has not been a child killed on this road, although there have been three car accidents on our corner in the four years we've lived here.

It isn't just the high school students that race on this road. Many prominent adults travel at excessive speeds also. During the summer it's Little League traffic as well. Believe it or not, there is drag racing on this road.

If your high school son or daughter drives to school, I'd like to invite you to sit on my steps any school day between 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. This apparently is their short lunch hour in which they rush to McDonald's or the Dairy Queen.

At 11:45 there are eight children that walk home from kindergarten coming the same route as the high school students. We have a son in that group and his safety is my utmost concern.

We have had hubcaps fly at great rates of speed into our yard. One narrowly missed my son. Our children are not allowed to play in their own front yard from 2:45 until after 3.

Apparently the student drivers, whom I assume have had driver training, don't realize the tremendous danger involved at this fast speed on a gravel road.

The county states they spend 10 cents a foot on Middle Lake Road, sometimes I doubt that much. The school states it doesn't use this road, although as I've been writing this three school buses have gone by.

Since the school continually states it doesn't use this road, then no one should mind it being closed off. It appears this is the only recourse we have.

I have petitions requesting that Middle Lake Road be closed where the blacktop at the school drive begins. This may be inconvenient for some people, but a child's life has more importance to me.

Very sincerely,
Jan Weber

Bikers should adhere to safety rules

Bicycling—an increasingly popular sport—provides much enjoyment for youngsters AND adults.

"But bicycling brings safety problems!" says the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Insurance Companies.

Approximately 900 persons are likely to be killed this year in bicycle-automobile accidents, according to the National Safety Council. Such fatalities have risen steadily in recent years, from 490 in 1961 to 850 in 1971.

The Institute estimates that more than one million bicycle-related injuries will occur this year.

More than 75 million people ride bicycles now, compared with 55 million in the late 1960s.

The Institute urges adherence to these common sense safety precautions to help reduce bicycle accidents.

*Learn to ride well—practice in a safe area away from traffic.

*Choose the correct bicycle size.

*Bicycles are intended for use on lightly-traveled roads.

*Bicycles are prohibited on many highways and expressways.

*Obey all traffic rules and regulations: at lights, stop signs, intersections, and one-way streets.

*Bicycles must ride single file on roadways.

*Only one person on a bicycle (except tandems)—no riders.

*Bicyclists must not "hook" rides on other moving vehicles.

*Every bicycle must have a bell or horn and a brake or brakes in good condition.

*For after dark use, bicycles must have a reflector or red tail light that is visible from 500 feet.

*Always hand signal before turning.

*Ride as closely to the right hand edge of the road as possible and always ride with the flow of traffic.

*Don't carry anything that would prevent at least one hand from being on the handlebars at all times.

*Leave stunt riding and racing for open areas free of traffic.

*In most communities, bicycles must be registered and display license plates. Keep a copy of the bicycle serial number at home.

Rec program has openings

Openings are still available in several Independence Township recreation programs due to start next week, according to Tim Doyle, director.

They include: Art Start for 4-8 year olds beginning Saturday, May 5; golf lessons for beginners and advanced beginners beginning Tuesday, May 8; folk guitar beginning Wednesday, May 9; karate beginning Saturday, May 19; modern dance beginning Saturday, May 12; and the president's physical fitness program for grades 5-12 for which no date has yet been set.

Fluoride point

Dear editor:

More information: The town of Neeham, Mass., has had to order 2,000 new water meters — they have 9,300 in all — and they have had two years of fluoridation. One resident had repeatedly warned the city that sodium fluoride was not kind to water meters and "other fittings."

GOP slates reform meeting

By now the garden stores should have asparagus crowns available and it is a good time to plant them. The crowns should be planted about 6-8 inches deep because deep planting will assure a long bed life, which incidentally should be 15-20 years, if properly cultured.

Remember, too, that despite its perennial nature, asparagus requires plant food for good production. The most commonly available asparagus variety is Mary Washington and it is an excellent established variety. Recently a newer variety has come into use — UC 711. UC 711 has larger spear diameter than Mary Washington, and is more productive.

It should now be safe to plant cabbage. You may either set out transplants or direct seed this almost universally accepted vegetable. Cabbage offers a wide range of head types and ranges of maturity. There are early, midseason and late varieties that are round, pointed and flat headed; and savoy cabbage has crinkled leaves. Savoy cabbage is better for cooking than for slaw. Red cabbage slaws well and acts as an added color interest in either slaw or tossed salad.

Newer, safer pesticides are available now at most garden stores to control the worst cabbage pests — cabbage loopers and cabbage worms. One of the better pesticides for cabbage is a strain of bacteria that is very safe for humans, but is a parasite to loopers and worms.

Another major cabbage pest is root maggots. Your favorite garden store or the local extension county agent will also recommend a safe, short-lived pesticide for maggot control, also after your cabbage plants have recovered from transplant shock or have reached their fourth or fifth true leaf state try this. Mix about 1/2 cup each of 20 Mule Team Borax and Epsom Salts in a couple gallons of water and apply as a foliar feeding. Soils in most of Michigan are low in Boron and Magnesium and cabbage and its relatives require these minor elements. Lack of boron causes hollow hearts or cores, and magnesium will help head solidity and interior color.

Commonly available cabbage varieties are: Early — Copenhagen Market, Golden Acre and Early Jersey Wakefield. The first two varieties are round headed and the latter has a pointed head. One of the best midseason varieties is Marion Market, and Bonanza is a good midseason variety because it is short cored and holds indefinitely without cracking or splitting of the heads. The late varieties are Danish or Penn State Ball Head and Late Flat Dutch.

Hybrid cabbage is now available and has many good characteristics. But most of the varieties are designed to produce heads, 90% of which are ready for use at one time. This is good if you plan to put up sauerkraut and want many good solid heads ready at once. Such varieties are: King Cole (early), Roundup (midseason) and Rioverde (late). Small headed hybrids are Market Prize and Market Topper.

Personally, I direct seed my cabbage. I plant the seed (shallowly) and sow the seed 3-5 inches apart and when the plants are about 4-5 inches high, I thin out the plants to about 18-20 inches in row spacing. You'll be surprised how closely direct seeded cabbage will mature to transplants.

Too, it's safe to plant onion seed, Evergreen Bunching for green onions, Yellow Globe Danvers for storage, White or Yellow Sweet Spanish for sweet. As with cabbage, Southport Red Globe (a good keeper) will offer color contrasts in salads.

Most of Michigan's first plantings of head lettuce are in the ground, and while it is a challenge for amateur gardeners, it may be done successfully. Because it resists cold the best of head lettuce varieties is Great Lakes #659 recommended if you rise to the challenge and you should seed soon, or buy the plants. Lettuce is difficult to sow thinly, so, if you seed head lettuce, sow it shallowly and thinly and thin in row spacing to about 12-14 inches between plants or transplants at the same row spacings. For later plantings of head lettuce use Fulton.

Leaf lettuce may now be sown and I urge you to make short rows and repeated plantings, so it may be used quickly, prior to its bolting and setting seed. Black Seeded Simpson, Grand Rapids, Salad Bowl, Oakleaf, Prize-head (not a headed variety but it has a rusty leaf edge color) and Ruby (a red leaved variety) do very well in this area. Butter headed or Bibb types should be cultured as headed varieties are; and these include Bibb, Buttercrunch, Dark Green Boston, and for summer plantings, Green Mignonette.

Rule of Thumb Number One. Planting depth of seed should never exceed four times the diameter of the seed.

Rule of Thumb Number Two. Factors to insure rapid germination and emergence of seed are: Moisture, proper soil temperature and darkness for the seed.

And don't forget about the easiest to grow garden vegetable — radish. Pick your own favorite of size, color, length and shape. As with leaf lettuce, don't overplant. Plant in row segments that may be used and replanted. The same root maggot control, as suggested for cabbage should be applied at time of planting radishes.

If Grayce B. Warren, 5615 Parview, will call at The Clarkston News, she will receive a free pass to the Clarkston Cinema showing of "Lady Sings the Blues."

Basic reforms in Republican Party structure and organization aimed at opening up opportunities for full citizen participation in GOP affairs will be the subject of a special public hearing of the Michigan Republican Revision and Development Committee to be held on Tuesday, May 8th at 7:30 p.m. at the Birmingham Community House, 380 S. Bates in downtown Birmingham.

The GOP Revision and Development Committee is a group of seventeen Republican leaders from throughout Michigan appointed by Governor Milliken and charged with the responsibility of reviewing all areas of party activity with a view toward modernization and securing broadened support. State Representative Michael Dively of Traverse City is the Chairman. Oakland County Treasurer C. Hugh Dohany is a member of the Committee.

Great idea the township board had last week — a celebration to mark the opening of the first sewers in Independence Township, hopefully some time next month.

Perhaps everybody could flush at once, on signal from the fire department.

I think election of a sewer queen would be a great idea. I just don't know what the qualifications should be is all.

Perhaps the most pennies contributed to the "penny tree" in the name of any given candidate would suffice.

Then again, there are those who suggest it is no contest. The editor ought to have it by acclamation. I don't think I feel flattered.

June Topolinski is not visiting son, David, at MSU these days. David's adopted a boa constrictor which he keeps in a 10-gallon fish tank, and somehow it's just more than his mother wants to face.

The constrictor eats once a week, according to his dad. A live mouse.

Must be something about MSU and agriculture. Pat Saile has adopted a young Pekin duck she calls Donald. Wonder what Donald's going to taste like come Thanksgiving?

Don Place, the independence center man, sends along $1.01 in pennies with the note — "A few pennies to help with your next project! Our thanks for your support in securing our flag and pole."

Nominating petitions for the two expiring four-year terms on the Clarkston Board of Education were picked up this week by Mrs. Iva Sommers Caverly at board offices.

Other petitions are being circulated for Rev. Robert Walters and by the incumbents, W. J. Cattin and Richard Funk. Election is June 11.

Randy Hentley, a Jaycee whose bowling average is 132, rolled a 721 game with handicap in the Jaycee State Bowling Tournament recently in Bridgeport. He was one of the eight of 20 Clarkston Area Jaycees who placed in the top 20 during the tournament. Jerry Powell's team won first place, but no one is saying what Jerry bowled.

Clarkston Community Historical Society members are breathing a sigh of relief. They've been informed by Jack E. Morgan of the Michigan State Highway Department that the department has no plans for widening M-15 through town.

Morgan wrote, "If any project is proposed, which requires right-of-way or would have an adverse impact, we would prepare an environmental statement and hold a public hearing."

Congratulations to Tom Ritter of Ritter's Farm Market. Tom was elected national director for the Jaycees' Region 8 Monday night.

If you're a woman and not in favor of the draft, not in favor of competing with men in physical education classes in high school and college, not in favor of a continuance of laws against statutory rape or forced prostitution, and not in favor of father child support for children, she thinks you ought to go.

Had a column submitted entitled, "Township Crumbs by Townmouse" this week but it was not signed, so even I do not know who the author is. It is well written and could probably be used, but for reasons of liability and good things like that, I've got to know who the writer is. Want to 'fess up?

The Pacific yellowtail is found in Pacific waters from Monterey, California south. It is plentiful off the coast of San Diego. The color is light blue or greenish on the back and upper sides and the lower parts are silvery. A yellow band runs from the back of the eye to the tail. It weighs on the average of twenty pounds. The amerjack, as it is also called, is a most exciting fish to catch and may grow as large as eighty pounds—another large fish for all you trophy hunters!

Women's golf underway at Spring Lake

The Women's Silver Lake Golf League, playing again this year at Spring Lake Golf Club on Maybee Road, began Tuesday with four flights of 12 members each, ranging all the way from experts who shoot in the 40's to duffers who average 90-100.

At present the quota is filled, but women wishing to put their names on a waiting list may do so by calling Carol Ackerman at 673-6078.

Officers of the league this year include Iola Dalton, president; Barbara Kennedy, vice president; Carol Ackerman, secretary; Mary Wright, treasurer; Naomi Johnson, sergeant-at-arms; and Bea Mobey, past president.

Committee chairmen consist of Fran Tait, weekly prizes; Dorothy Killen, rules; Donna Richardson, constitution; Jo Willhite, tournament; Madeline Castleberry, starter; Myrtle Carlisle, flowers; Margaret deBeaubien, handicapper; Dee Eggert and Louise Wright, trophies; Ruth Boss, Wanda Ziem, Pat Coughlin, Lyle Bailey, social; Lillian Weber, golden rule; Pat Valentine, publicity, and Gloria Hoyt, hospitality.

One of the changes approved by the membership at the get-acquainted meeting, April 24, was the elimination of prize money at the end of the year in favor of three after-golf luncheons the last week of June, July and August. The luncheons will be held at the homes of Pat Coughlin, Carol Ackerman, and Myrtle Carlisle. Mrs. William Ryan of Waterford will be the caterer.

Cougars fall

The Sashabaw Cougars fell to East Hills April 19 in a track meet.

Sashabaw took six firsts, two seconds and four thirds which led to a total of 42 points for the Cougars. The final score was 73-42 with Sashabaw suffering a defeat to East Hills.

First places were: 880 yard relay, Vadna Sevler, Pam Bowman, Rex Egres, John Hawley; high hurdles, Brian Thompson; low hurdles, Brian Thompson; mile run, John Atkinson; 440 yard run, Brian DeQuis; 880 yard run, Brian DeQuis with record-breaking time of 2:20.4.

Second places were: shot put, Bill Kinney; high jump, Brian DeQuis.

Third places were: Shot put, John Hawley; 100 yard dash, Steve Smith; low hurdles, Steve Smith; 440 yard run, Charles Kirk.

Cougars beat Mason 6-3

By Ron Fraley

The Sashabaw Cougars freshman baseball team upped their record to 2-0 with a 6-3 victory over Mason on Thursday, April 19.

The Cougar win was mainly due to the great performance of left-handed pitcher Bill Matthews who went all the way giving up one earned run, walking one and striking out 14.

The Cougars tied the game in the 3rd one-to-one when Rod Hool singled and moved to second on Todd Himes' single. Hool then scored on Doug Manigold's hit.

The Cougars and Mason both waited until the 6th to score again. The Cougars got three in their half of the inning while the Mariners got only two. After Jim Dyke got on on a fielder's choice and Hool walked, Jeff Ferguson singled, scoring Dyke and moving Hool to 3rd. With Himes then at the plate, Ferguson stole second and both Hool and Ferguson rode home on Himes' single.

Mason came back to make the score 4-3 after 6 innings but the Cougars wrapped it up in the 7th when Steve Howe and Bill Matthews scored on Rod Hool's triple, ending the scoring.

The Cougars' next home game is Tuesday, May 8 at Sashabaw home field against Milford.

Clarkston stands 6-1

By Roger Zander

Clarkston High School baseball team has won 6 games and lost one since the start of the season.

Milford went down to the Wolves 3-2 due to the pitching of Dave Partlo who struck out 10. Greg Swanson hit a home run in the sixth and Tim Hinkley homered in the seventh to win the game.

The score in the team's first game against Pontiac Catholic was 4-2, with Mike Coulter the winning pitcher. Dan Blower and Al Hux each had three hits and Greg Swanson drove in two runs with a single in the third.

Later the Wolves took the Pontiac team 6-4, Ken Foster the winning pitcher and Tim Hinkley chalking up three hits and two runs batted in.

The Wolves met Royal Oak Dondero twice, winning the first 8-5 and losing the second 10-12. Dave Partlo won his third game of the season the first time around; and he, Swanson and Terry Green each got three hits. Swanson and Partlo both hit home runs.

Errors cost Clarkston the second game, the end coming with the bases loaded and a pop-up which stopped a two-run Clarkston rally. Dan Blower, Al Hux and Greg Swanson each had two hits for Clarkston.

The team faced Andover Monday.

Sign up now for leagues

Advance response is needed to insure the following Independence Township Recreation Leagues will get into action this spring, according to Tim Doyle, director.

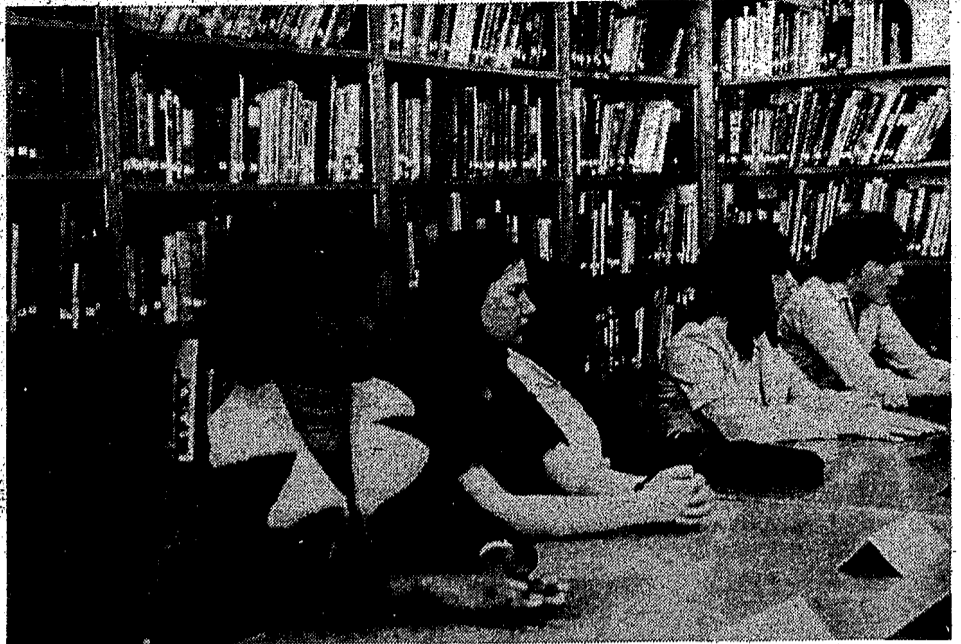

Eight slots are open in the men's golf league which begins Monday, May 21 at Holly Greens.

Other leagues forming include women's softball starting Monday, May 21. Teams must call the department before May 14 to sign up, Doyle said.

Two men's softball leagues are due to start May 22 and 27. Registration must be complete by May 12.

Softball leagues for boys and girls are due to start May 12 and softball for girls 10-13 will be organized providing enough girls sign up at the recreation office, Doyle added.

If Jim Frady, 8118 Center Circle, will call at The Clarkston News, he will receive a free pass to the Clarkston Cinema showing of "Lady Sings the Blues."

Clarkston Junior High School students and guests from Kennedy Junior High got together recently at the school to discuss busing.

Regatta run May 13

All local sailboat owners, skippers and crews are invited to join the members of the Deer Lake Sail Club Sunday, May 13, for a Deer Lake Regatta.

Boats may be launched at the public launching area off White Lake Road. A skippers' meeting is scheduled before the races at 10 a.m. sharp with the first race scheduled to start at 10:30 a.m.

Trophies will be awarded.

Non-members wishing to race are asked to contact Commodore Bill Pfahlert, Vice Commodore Brooke Bennett, Rear Commodore Jim Falardeau or Race Captain Vince Luzi for information.

Carlos Toro named "World Trader"

Carlos E. Toros

A Clarkston, Michigan resident will receive the "World Trader of the Year" award on Thursday evening, May 17, from the World Trade Club of Detroit in after-dinner ceremonies at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Recipient of the award is Carlos E. Toro, assistant vice president and manager of world trade development in the international department at Detroit Bank & Trust.

This year, presenting the Club's traditional award — a large globe of the world with accompanying stand — is a previous "World Trader of the Year" award winner, George F. Pierrot, host of the well-known syndicated television show, World Adventure Series.

In announcing its selection, James S.

Mackintosh, president of the World Trade Club of Detroit and import manager at J. L. Hudson's, cited Toro for his "personal integrity, conscientious pursuit of the promotion of international trade and loyal support of the Club." Toro is the 19th recipient of the award.

Toro has been continually associated with the bank's international department since joining it in 1964 to launch a new world trade development service which continues under his direction.

In this capacity, Toro is responsible for handling the numerous inquiries from foreign banks representing customers interested in developing new international business activities that require U.S. contacts and capitalization.

Before joining the bank, he was manager of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce World Trade department for more than eight years.

Prior to that, he was associated with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce for five years. Toro also spent several years on a U.S. Senator's staff and his subcommittee working primarily on legislation pertaining to trade policy and international affairs.

He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1947 with a B.A. degree and did graduate work at the School of Advanced International Studies at Johns Hopkins.

Dessert program

St. Daniel's Women's Guild will serve dessert and provide entertainment in a program at 7:30 p.m. May 9 at the K of C Hall. Both men and women are invited to attend. Admission may be paid at the door.

Mother-daughter fete

Calvary Lutheran Mother-Daughter Banquet is 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 18 at the church. Entertainment will feature Bonnie Hartzman and the Highlights singing group.

St. Trinity rummage sale

The Ladies' Guild of St. Trinity Lutheran Church will conduct its annual spring rummage sale May 3 and 4 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The church is located on Andersonville Road one block west of the Dixie Highway in Waterford Village.

Township budget hiked $21,000

Independence Township's annual budget has been hiked $21,000 to $831,216 to accommodate an additional $11,640 received from federal revenue sharing and another $9,300 which has been removed from the improvement revolving fund and added to the general fund.

The additional revenue sharing money will be used as follows: $2,500 for a maintenance contract with United Appraisal Co. which conducted the township reassessment for computerization of new construction and updating in the assessor's department; $2,000 for an environmental impact study on Deer Lake; $4,812 for additional equipment including a jeep for snow removal on township property; and an additional $2,000 assigned to the future land needs budget bringing the total to $16,513.

The revolving fund money is needed mainly, board members said, to fund the recreation department's $8,800 to pay salaries for temporary help needed to run programs.

The item had been left out of the previous budget because most of the recreation department programs are "100 percent self-supporting", according to Supervisor Robert Vandermark. However, he added, the budget presented at the annual meeting had included income from the programs, but had failed to take account of expenses.

E. D. Farrell, a member of the audience, took note of the record budget which includes a total of $139,305 in federal revenue sharing and asked why needed fire equipment could not be purchased with those funds.

He objected to the Fire Department's request for an additional mill which it proposes to take to the voters June 11.

The board, which said it would levy only that portion of the additional mill needed, voted the people should decide and created a six-year term for the millage so that it would expire at the same time in 1978 as the present fire department mill.

Members said Chief Frank Ronk had asked for a budget of $144,000 which included $40,600 in new equipment, but that he had been held to $95,600 this year, a figure which the present one mill should raise.

Questions regarding a light turnout traditional for school board elections and its effect on the millage request were discussed. An estimated 1,500 voters, of which 10 percent or less would be Fire Department connected, was forecast.

Kevin Sutherland [from left], Lew Sanborne and Paul Glowzinski are members of Boy Scout Troop 126 hoping Clarkston area residents remember to save their old newspaper for the drive May 5 at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

School traffic a problem

A study of Middle Lake Road traffic problems between Clarkston High School and M-15 was promised Tuesday night by Independence Township Board following presentation of a petition bearing 112 names.

The petition, signed by residents of Clarkston Estates No. 2, asked for the closing of Middle Lake Road at the spot where the pavement ends as it emerges from the school parking lot.

The deplorable condition of the road, the volume of traffic and the high speeds used were cited as dangers to pedestrians and particularly to kindergarten children who traverse the road during the high school lunch hour when traffic is high.

Concern was also expressed by Cliff Irwin and Barb Humphries, residents on Laurelton, who feared that if Middle Lake Road were closed that traffic forced to emerge on Waldon would cut back to M-15 on their unpaved street.

The possibility of paving Middle Lake—a project which Jan Weber who headed the petition drive said would cost abutting property owners $1,200 each—was discussed as was the opening of the school parking lot into Birdland Subdivision. The latter access is now blocked.

A through street between Waldon and Maybee Road now on the township road master plan as a route for study was also proposed as a possibility.

Helveston rezoning recommended

Independence Township Planning Commission has recommended approval of rezoning for 174 acres north of Cranberry Lake to allow construction of single family homes on formerly agriculturally zoned land.

John Helveston, developer, already has the necessary zoning on the remainder of the 350 acres to construct approximately 450 homes.

Commission members discussed the effect on two property owners who own 30 acres within the contemplated development and also the traffic problems connected with two accesses to M-15 north of Cranberry Lake Road and north of Hubbard Road.

Helveston was asked to reconsider the ingress points because of visibility problems in the area.

The commission also approved site plans for a new branch of Pontiac State Bank north of Pine Knob Plaza on Sashabaw Road.

A spokesman for the builder said the bank would be willing to hook up to the sewers if they were brought 200 feet across a vacant property to the bank property line, otherwise septic tanks would be used, according to Chairman Mel Vaara.

Compliance with storm drainage plans which include a retention basin were also specified.

The site plan approval for 31 acres of condominiums was accorded Jaber Development Co. which intends construction in the White Lake-Dixie area. Concern was expressed over the lack of a Department of Natural Resources study of the development's effect on Greens Lake.

A revised list of goals and policies for the township was approved during the public hearing attended by about 15 residents.

This marks the first step in preparation for a new township master plan. The next step, according to Planner Larry Burkhart, is a study of existing land use and population.

Board briefs

The Independence Township Board has approved three of five members of a new Building Board of Appeals to hear variations in the building code.

Authorized under state law, the board will provide recourse to builders denied a building permit "when the building codes are unreasonable or where they are physically impossible to conform to."

Named to the board were Jim Arnold, an electrician; Ken Delbridge, building inspector; and Lon Harmon, architect.

Supervisor Robert Vandermark said two other members would be appointed shortly.

Drafting of a resolution to form a Lake Board permitting residents along the north end of the Mill Pond to spread special assessments to clean up the pond was approved.

Rec programs

delayed a week

There's time still to enroll in a number of Independence Township Recreation Department spring programs which have been postponed a week.

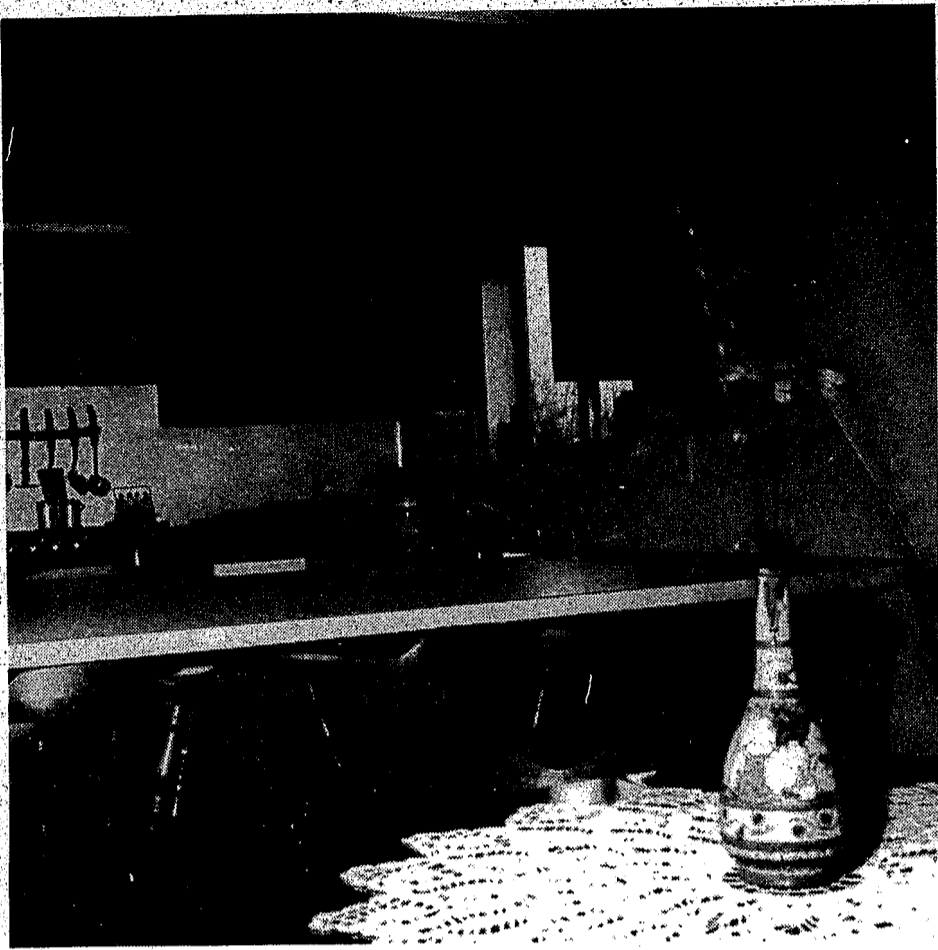

Tim Doyle, director, announces crochet will begin Tuesday, May 8; home swimming pool procedures and lakefront safety on Monday, May 7; macrame, Tuesday, May 8; Vue D'Optiques (three-dimensional art work) Tuesday and Thursday, May 8 and 10; yoga, Wednesday evening, May 9 and Friday morning, May 11; and tennis for the advanced beginner and beginner at Clarkston Senior High School Saturday, May 12.

Tennis classes will be conducted as previously scheduled at Sashabaw Junior High School, he said.

Holly Stephens, publicity chairman for independence center, applies the foot powder for Alma Harthun, the center's secretary, in anticipation of the 15-mile hike for independence center May 5. Walkers are soliciting sponsors to raise money for the center, a voluntary self help agency.

Home is sparkling new

Open plan works, even to the kitchen.

By Betty Hecker

Tom and Mary Miller and their two daughters, Lauri and "Dede" have just moved into their new home in the Clarkston area.

Everything is new and fresh and sparkling!

Mary said, "There's a place for everything in this house, and if we always put things where they belong, it's an easy house to keep clean and neat."

The U-shaped, pecan wood counter arrangement provides lots of cupboard space, and the white slate formica countertop and back board add an ease-of-cleaning feature.

With two teenage girls in the house, Mary admits that "Tom is the best cook." The girls said, "Dad's specialty is lasagne," and Mary added, "he doesn't cook all the time, but when he does, he cooks the best meals."

The dining area has an oval pecan wood table, white walls and a studio ceiling, dark wood beams, and a double yoke and white glass globes chandelier.

An open view of the family room on the level below shows a brown tone brick wall behind a freestanding fireplace. I told Mary that I had never seen that color brick before. She said, "You've probably seen it, but we used a dark brown mortar and it looks different!" A special brick base was built for the yellow hooded fireplace, and is filled with white crushed stones.

The family room has a built-in stereo system, with speaker controls all through the house. A game table was all set for a chess match. Another corner was complete with a small sink, waiting for a bar to be built around it.

The furniture is Early American in both the living room and the family room.

The girls' bedrooms are thoroughly modern — bright and bold.

Lauri's room has hot pink shag carpeting, a white shaggy fur bedspread, a green beanbag chair, and one wall covered with pink, rose and apple green flowers. Her favorite thing is a pair of papier tole plaques, a gift from her best friend.

Dede's room is yellow! and orange! and lime green! Her wicker frog sits on the bright orange carpeting, waiting for a Charlie Brown character on the desk above to fall into its open mouth.

Youth group

raises funds for camping

COUNTRY LIVING

Clarkston Youth Assistance Program will have its annual garage sale Saturday, May 5, to raise funds for the group's summer camping project.

Deserving boys and girls from Clarkston and Independence Township are recommended for the camping program by local schools and their principals.

This year, the goal of the camping committee is to raise enough money to send 40 boys and girls to Michigan summer camps.

Chairman for this year's camp committee is Evelyn Millworth, assisted by Dick Mullane.

This year's garage sale will be held at 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. on Saturday, May 5, at 6715 Amy Drive. Household items, clothing and furniture will be sold at the sale.

The buildings of ancient cities were usually one story, one family houses. These usually contained the family workshop as well as the family residence. Surprisingly enough, even in places as ancient as Mesopotamia, cities were carefully laid out with well planned streets and provisions for sewage disposal and piping water supplies. Today, cities are ever changing; and yet the basic needs of the people still serve as the best pattern for city development.

Do you know how to protect gutters and leaders? The best way is with wire caging or screening. Leaders are usually protected from clogging and leaking by a wire cage at the intake. For gutters hanging below the edge of the roof, a better protection is given with strips of wire netting. Run the upper edge to the outer rim by spots of solder and make the slope sufficient so that leaves will slide off. A leak in a gutter of wood or metal can be stopped up with a piece of roofing felt.

And do you know that BOB'S HARDWARE, 60 S. Main St., 625-5020 has a full inventory of materials, tools, and supplies for all your home improvement tasks? Every so often a psychologist or sociologist will predict the death of families and attempt to correlate this with society's ills. I heard it again this week and found myself reacting with a quick "no way."

Is the family really dying out as a significant institution in our society? The fervor with which individual rights are sought would indicate less attention to group rights. There seems to be little doubt about the declining influence of the extended family — those relatives outside the immediate parent/child relationship. What is the next step in the development of the family?

In my practice of family therapy, I have found much evidence that the family is not dying. I find that the character of the family is changing and that the current emphasis on people as individuals is serving to build stronger families. The family seems to be in a state of transition that will eventually end in a more stable, meaningful family unit that achieves the maximum potential of its individual members.

My view of the American family influences my concept of the development of families. I have seen the American family as a male-dominated group that conditions family members to fit their lives around the father. The fact that much of his time was spent away from home placed the major responsibility for the home and the children on the wife — without a proper recognition of the importance of her role.

Women's role was an "expected" role and was often given second class status — with the children. There was far more acceptance of Dad's rules without questioning him. The schools and the community were operated like an extension of the home and children felt much intimidation to conform. Economics greatly influenced how the family operated and education was a far more definite tool for economic success.

How is the character of the family changing? First of all, we are moving toward an open acceptance of equality in parental roles. The two people forming a marriage are more likely to determine how they will share responsibility rather than falling into the stereotype roles. Men are accepting more responsibility for home chores and child management and women are more likely to develop their potential outside of the home.

Those who choose full time homemaking are doing so more out of choice rather than "expectation" and without being superior to women who make other choices. When children come and in what numbers is falling more under control of the parents and they are taking more responsibility in knowing how to deal with their children. More parents are accepting that child rearing is a subject to be studied and is not just a natural ability.

The family is becoming more tuned in to future plans for all its members. Mothers are becoming involved outside the home without guilt and girls are encouraged to participate in what they are interested in — even if the boys object. Boys are encouraged to follow their own interests more than dad's footsteps.

Parents are increasingly expected to know what they are talking about because their children are exposed to more information at earlier ages. Parents are able to see the results of their behavior clearer because society (and their children) point them out. I think this is leading to more consistency and appropriate behavior by parents. It is also leading to more family activities because the influence on future behavior is more clearly seen.

What I really like is the trend toward more honesty in families and the planning that is going into the development of families. I think this is leading to more humaneness in family members and a greater likelihood that the individual family will be a source of strength for individuals.

by Barb Gibson

Two plays opened last week in the area, "Count Dracula" at Meadow Brook Theatre and "Last of the Red-Hot Lovers" at the Clarkston Depot Theatre.

"Count Dracula" directed by David Kanter, proved to be an entertaining evening from the open coffin in the lobby to flying bats and secret passages where the vampire, Count Dracula, looks for a young bride.

Eric Travaris as Count Dracula is outstanding. From his first entrance in his long flowing black velvet cape he proved himself to be a fine actor with an excellent sense of showmanship. His vanishing act left the audience gasping and wondering if he did indeed vanish.

Elisabeth Orion's portrayal of Sybil Seward as the flighty aunt deserves notice. Her characterization was sustaining and brought many laughs from the audience. The part of Renfield, the mad inmate, was well played by Fred Thompson. His ravings gave life to the play. The two servants were played by Philip Mallet and Mark Bennett. Their characterizations were acceptable, but lacked imagination.

The role of Mina was cleverly played by Lynn Ann Leveridge. Her split personality from a demure young lady to an evil cat-like creature was excellent. Mention should be made of William Le Massena's fine portrayal of Heinrich Van Helsing, the doctor who saves Mina from Count Dracula. Anthony McKay as Johnathan was poor. His actions were stereotyped and slow. James D. O'Reilly as Dr. Seward fell in this same category.

The setting set the mood for the evening — windows and curtains opening and closing by themselves. Praise must go to Richard Davis for his fine set, to Dan T. Willoughby for the lighting, Mary Schabel for the attractive costumes, and Jerome Rosenberger, the technical director.

All in all it is a fun evening's entertainment and runs through May 20.

Friday was the opening night for the Clarkston Players' presentation of Neil Simon's hilarious adult comedy, "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," which is the story of a middle-aged man who decides to join the sexual revolution before it is too late.

John Witherup deserves congratulations for his convincing portrayal of Barney Cushman the middle-aged frustrated lover. His ad-libbing with pantomime was especially clever, when inadvertently the 10 o'clock train roared through, drowning out the script lines. His facial expressions and gestures were appropriate and kept the audience in stitches.

In the three supporting roles were Joyce Little, Tammy Hughson, and Doris Libstaff. Joyce did very well with the role of Elaine Navazio, the sex pot who liked everything from booze to someone else's husband. A newcomer to the Players, playing the part of Bobbie Michele, a kookie actress turned nut, was Tammy Hughson. She showed outstanding stage presence and should be commended for her characterization. Also outstanding was Doris Libstaff's portrayal of Jeanette Fisher, the despondent friend of Barney's wife. She cried her way through the entire third act much to the delight of the audience.

Doing commendable jobs on the production were the director, John Hendericks, and the producer, Ray Welch.

For an evening filled with laughs galore go to the Depot Theatre on White Lake Road on May 4, 5, 11 or 12. "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" is a must.

A woman's place is in the parts department at Rademacher Chevrolet

Sheila McCoy and her boss, Cliff Thompson, check out some parts at Rademacher Chevrolet. Sheila's the first woman so employed at the dealership.

Men in the Rademacher Chevrolet parts department are watching their language these days. The real McCoy works there now.

Sheila McCoy, that is. She's the first woman ever employed in the back shop at the dealership, and her boss, Cliff Thompson, says she's "panning out."

Married and the mother of four children, aged 1 to 7, Sheila picked up her love for cars in the family garage where she, her husband, Mack, and assorted friends baby a drag racer.

Last winter they rebuilt the turbo and "put some new stuff under the front end," Sheila says. She adds she never knew a thing about cars except how to drive them prior to her marriage.

While she's worked as a cashier and as a school bus driver for the Waterford Schools, this is the first job she's taken in what has been primarily a man's world.

It's a new situation for the fellows she works with, she realizes, and she's taken some teasing.

Insisting she's not a woman's libber — she thinks women should be treated as women — she admits she detests housework.

Cooking is all right, though, and her husband, she says, has a special fondness for her apple pies.

Betsy Grattan, will be singing "In Your Easter Bonnet" at Clarkston United Methodist Church's annual dinner concert at 6:30 p.m. May 10 in the church.

Easter trips

Springing up
by Betty Hecker

Mrs. Wiechert and her four daughters, Roberta Allen, Audrey Keyser, Shirley Pursley, and Phyllis Fancher are home after spending eight days in Florida. On April 13, they flew to Tampa. From there they visited Disney World, Cypress Gardens, and Fort Myers.

In Fort Myers, they saw friends and former residents of Clarkston, Leo and Bernice DeClercq.

Mrs. Wiechert said, "We had a good time and a beautiful week. And of course, we all went shopping, but since we were flying, we had to remember a weight limit so that kept our buying down."

On Saturday, May 5, the Clarkston United Methodist Church Junior High Methodist Youth Fellowship is holding an old fashioned "Ice Cream Social." The social will be at the church from noon until 3 p.m. The MYF will be serving ice cream cones, sundaes, shakes and cake and pie.

The public is invited.

The Clarkston United Methodist Church Senior High MYF is also busy Saturday, May 5. They are planning a car wash in the parking lot in downtown Clarkston.

Their charge for a car wash is $1.

Tom and Sally Lamm were one of many couples in the Clarkston area and the Clarkston Schools who went to Spain during the Easter vacation.

Sally said, "We leased a little yellow car with the O'Briens and traveled around the countryside, up into the mountains and into the little towns. It's amazing how well we could communicate, us not speaking any Spanish and the people in the little villages not speaking any English. Of course, the people in the hotel, the waiters, and all, spoke beautiful English. And the service was wonderful."

After touring a furniture factory, Sally reported, "There wasn't a machine in the whole building. The workers were craftsmen, working with hand tools and just carving away."

Tom and Sally also took a trip to Africa; a ferry boat ride from Spain to Tangier, Morocco. They shopped and had dinner in the Casbah section of that city.

About dinner — Sally said they eat very late in Spain. Dinner is served in the hotels between 9 and 11 p.m. "but it was always about 10:30 before we had dinner."

Thelma and Elwood Johnson are grandparents for the first time. Their daughter, Cindy and her husband, Addison Hubbard, presented the Johnsons with their first grandson, Brian David, born April 27 and weighing a hefty 8 pounds and 9½ ounces. Brian's other grandparent is Oliver Hubbard.

Thelma said, "He's a nice baby, but of course, I'd think so!"

The "All American Ka-Zoo Band" of the Davisburg Juggers senior citizen group has a very full calendar.

On May 1 they played at the Seymour Lake Methodist Church and on May 3 they will participate in and entertain at the testimonial dinner for Department Commander Poppy, Barracks 49, Clinton Valley.

On May 11, the band will play in Grand Blanc at the Masonic Temple, and on May 17, they are going to the Presbyterian Church of Birmingham. On May 23, they will entertain the residents of the Clara Barton Nursing Home in Flint.

Sue Adams reports that the annual May project for the Sigma Beta Sorority Inc. will be a "garage-yard-rummage sale" to be held at 696 Sunnybeach in the Twin Lake Subdivision off M-59.

The proceeds of this sale will go to three charities: the National Kidney Foundation, Cystic Fibrosis and to Indian Education.

Sue is a member of the PSI Chapter of Sigma Beta.

Arnelia and Doug Birkett and their two daughters, Mary and Susan are home from their spring vacation. "We traveled over quite a bit of territory, over 4,000 miles," said Arny. They visited Doug's parents in New Port Richey, Florida, for 10 days and went to Disney World ("where we all got sunburned"). Doug's parents are Arthur and Hilda Birkett.

In northern Florida, the Suwanee River was level with the road. They crossed the Mississippi River at Memphis at night, and saw a lot of water there, too. Coming home, they crossed the Mississippi in Caro, Illinois. The under rafters of the bridge were under water there. Arny said, "I have been traveling back and forth from Michigan to Arkansas for 20 years and I've never seen so much water. All I could think about when we saw all the ditches full of water was, if we go off the road, we'll drown."

In Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, they stayed with Arny's father, Fred Ezell. While they were in Nashville, they went to the Grand Ole Opry. And they took the girls to Mammoth Cave.

If you plan to go south, don't be surprised when you see boats in parking lots at shopping centers. They're just waiting for the creek to rise again, then they will be the only transportation.

Katie Hoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoff, has been cast in Northern Michigan University's drama production of "Mountain Medley." Her parts are the following: Rett in "Git Up and Bar the Door," Phoebe Ward in "When Witches Ride," and Ma in "The Farmer's Curst Wife."

Mrs. Rosalind Ferguson of Big Lake Road, Davisburg, retired from the Pontiac Social Security Office in March.

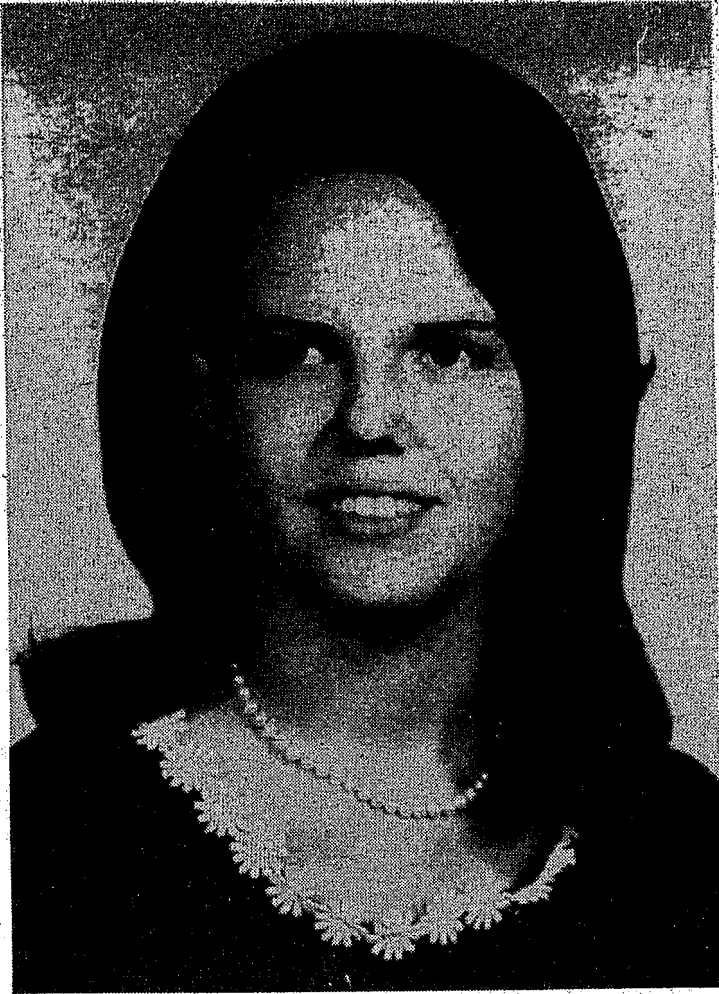

She was a Service Representative in the office in Pontiac for four years and with the Internal Revenue Service in Detroit prior to her service with the Social Security Administration.

She will be missed by her co-workers and also by the many in this area whom she helped.

People may look askance at Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Church, 5291 Westview and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mason, 6380 Harriet, when they say they've just returned from a Boa Ski snowmobile convention in the Bahamas.

The four of Clarkston Power Center even managed to win a three-wheel all terrain vehicle while they were there.

Snowmobiles, they report, were oddities in the Bahamas and people tried to race them up and down the sidewalks and on the beach. They note they worked quite well in the latter spot.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwin B. Browning of Madison Heights have announced the engagement of their daughter, Diana Joyce, to Douglas James Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wilbanks of Clarkston and the late Cecil J. Sherwood. A May 5 wedding is planned.

"People helping people help themselves"

By Holly Stephens

Helping — The volunteers have just finished a real job of helping someone to help themselves. A lady from our area, who was receiving government assistance, felt she could start helping herself if she had a basic education. The Oakland County schools recommended a special program in reading and math available only at a school 30 miles from here. Volunteer drivers from the center transported this lady once a week for eight weeks. She could not read well enough to obtain a driver's license. Her teachers feel she has made "fantastic" progress.

center. We will accept all offers from 1c to $100 per mile.

Thanks — the members of independence center would like to thank all those who made contributions of food and clothing to the Easter baskets. They made many families' Easter Sundays a lot happier.

Nursery open house

Clarkston Co-op Nursery will host an open house at the United Methodist Church from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, May 9 for parents interested in enrolling their children in the nursery.

Mothers and fathers are asked to attend with the child they propose for enrollment next fall. Teachers and board members will be present to answer questions.

Further information is available from Mrs. Stephen (Toni) Stamas at 625-3835.

The center is pleased it could be a part of this self-help effort.

Walk for Independence — Independence center would like to ask for the township's support in the 15 mile walk for independence. Several of the center's members have their Dr. Scholl's foot powder and orthopedic shoes ready to go. Anyone wishing to finance a walker may contact the

Spiritual Message

"The Church in Your House"

In the Epistle to the Colossians, St. Paul says "Give my greetings . . . to Nympha and the Church in her house." This takes us back to the time before there were church buildings and Christians gathered to worship in a variety of places. That phrase, "the Church in her house," stimulates our thinking about the religious life in our homes.

Our Christian religion organizes itself around different centers. There is our personal religion which we carry around inside us. There is our institutionalized expression of our religion known as the Church with its traditions, rituals and organizations. And there is family religion which is the way we express our faith in the basic social unit of our life as human beings here on earth. So, in reality, for the Christian there is a very real church in his house.

It is obvious that the real preparation for moral life in our society begins in the home. Religion is something that is more "caught" than it is "taught." It is a fire that is passed from one generation to another, not primarily by indoctrination, but by kindling it. We are teaching religion of some sort in our homes, whether we want to or not. What kind of church is it that you have in your house?

In Christian bonds,
Frank A. Cozadd

Cinderella goes to the ball

by Marilyn Lawrence

The year before last, one of the kids was sick, and last year we weren't speaking, but this year we went to the Civil Air Patrol Military Ball.

Auntie Barb didn't want to go because everyone had seen her long green skirt at least three times. I had a top but no skirt, Gerry said he'd go if they let him wear his flight suit, and Chuck Gorecki, the Squadron Commander, said he'd die first.

Then the cadets in the Squadron began their campaign. Cathy Connelly and Bev Moore were running for Miss Michigan CAP. Bev only did it to surprise her boyfriend from the Lansing Squadron, but Cathy was really running, and was a total basket case. The planning of her gown, hair and flowers took up the better half of two weeks around here.

Once the final decision was made, her poor Mother got a permanent crick in the neck from bending over a sewing machine. The cadets took to casually wandering in and putting on the hard sell, until Gerry and I said we'd go. Mike Saile said he'd have to rent a tux, because his uniform had a hole in the sleeve. Auntie Barb and Chuck held out until three days before the Ball, when we found out that Cathy was one of the runners-up, and really put the screws to them.

It turned out that Sneaky Charlie had been the first person in the Squadron to buy a ticket all along, but threatened to horsewhip the first person who told. After that, poor Auntie Barb didn't have a chance.

I borrowed a skirt from my Mother, wrap-around, and found stashed away in a closet a pair of dancing shoes that matched perfectly. The dress, not the feet. They seemed a mite tight, but looked dyed to match, and Gerry hates to dance anyway. I was all set. Mike lent Jeff a bow tie, but Gerry liked Mike's better, so he gave Jeff his. I helped Jeff order Cathy's flowers, and resurrected the shirt he wore to the last Ball. Charlie bought a flared bow tie that made him look like a rakish Soupy Sales. Even Gerry, in the spirit of the moment, threatened to dance with me six times, and I had witnesses to prove it. For once in my life, everything was organized ahead of time.

At six a.m. the day of the Ball, Gerry took off for Traverse City to pick up two planes, promising to be back by noon.

At four, Cathy came to have her makeup put on. (Her Mother still couldn't straighten her neck). At four-thirty I sent Jeff to get McDonalds for the girls, who were too young to go to the Ball. The girls then decided to run over and watch Cathy get dressed.

We were taking the CAP Color Guard and all the flags in our car. They began arriving at 4:45, with DATES! I had forgotten about dates. There wasn't enough room in the car for the kids, flags and us! I called Charlie to come for the overflow. Auntie Barb came in, wearing her beautiful red dress coat over her green skirt, muttering something about "looking like a traffic light." My hair was still up in rollers, the McDonalds were getting cold, and Gerry still wasn't home.

Mike came to pick up Jeff, looking like a Mississippi Riverboat Gambler in a chocolate brown tux with an apricot ruffled shirt that just matched his freckles. He was gorgeous, but had spent all his money on the tux and couldn't afford to take a date. He planned to dance with every girl in the place.

If Donald W. Rogers, 9254 Semindale, will call at The Clarkston News, he will receive a free pass to the Clarkston Cinema showing of "Lady Sings the Blues."

Jeff's only white shirt was choking him to death, but it was too late now. They left to pick up Cathy, but had to come back for her flowers and Jeff's hat.

Gerry raced in at five and threatened to go in his flight suit. The Color Guard took over and locked him in the bathroom while I ran to dress.

Then came the clincher. The wrap-around didn't. Maybe it wrapped around my Mother, but it sure as hell didn't make it around me. Everything was fine until I sat down, then it opened up, leaving me in my slip. I couldn't sew it shut, so I had to HOLD it shut all evening. I slipped into the dancing slippers and knew I was going to die, or at best leave a trail of blood on the dance floor. If at any time I took them off, the feet would swell and I'd never get them back on. There I'd be, a Barefoot Contessa, in half a skirt!

The girls looked beautiful, the cadets handsome, the dinner was forgettable, and I danced twice with my husband before I broke down and confessed about the shoes. I even danced with my son, who left me a total cripple. When the Wing Commander said he'd be back to claim a dance, I wanted to hide in the Ladies' Room and weep. For years I'd waited for someone to ask me to dance, and now I could barely walk! Cathy was on Cloud Nine. She was announced Runner-Up for Miss CAP, and with her nosegay and the armful of red roses she received, could have opened up her own funeral parlor. SHE danced with the Wing Commander and all the Colonels, while I held her flowers and sipped a large glass of local anesthetic. At three a.m. I hobbled in, pried off the wretched shoes and threw them in the garbage.

Cinderella is dead. Long live the chaperone!

Fireworks

Although their sale is banned in 26 of the United States, fireworks still resulted in injury to about 2,000 persons last year (1970). Over half of the injuries (and 80% of the deaths) were caused by "illegal" fireworks, such as cherry bombs or M-80s.

That means half were caused by small firecrackers, fountains, roman candles and small rockets. Even sparklers, judged so harmless as to be allowed in 34 states, were responsible for one injury in 14.

Damage to the eyes was the most common injury, including 20 persons who suffered complete loss of vision in one or both eyes. The law stipulates that small fireworks be "adequately labeled to protect purchasers and users."

However, one-third of the victims were 10 years old, or younger, according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. It seems unlikely that children of this age can understand the directions, or realize the serious consequence of their mis-use.

In some cases, those hurt were "innocent bystanders," injured by concussion or flying bits of debris. There were also burns and mutilated eyelids, when the victim was standing too close to the firecracker, or actually holding it.

Most eye experts have pleaded for years that fireworks be completely prohibited, or strictly confined to public displays arranged by trained persons. That would minimize the hazard while providing plenty of excitement on holiday evenings.

EFFECTIVE: June 2, 1973

PREAMBLE:

An ordinance to provide for a Police Department and the regulations thereof and for the direction thereof; to provide for auxiliary police forces when deemed necessary in accordance with the terms hereof, and the direction thereof.

In accordance with the authority granted to the Township Boards of the townships of the State of Michigan by Act 181 of the Public Acts of 1951 (M.S.A. 5.2640 (31) — 5.2640 (36)) as amended, and by Act 300 of the Public Acts of 1968 (M.S.A. 5.45 (1)) as amended, the Township of Independence ordains:

ARTICLE 1. Short Title

Sec. 1.1. This ordinance shall be known and may be cited and referred to as the "Independence Township Police Protection Ordinance" and hereinafter shall be referred to as "this Ordinance."

ARTICLE 2. Definitions

Sec. 2.1. "Applicant" shall mean an applicant for the position of police officer.

Sec. 2.2. "Auxiliary applicant" shall mean an applicant for the position of auxiliary police officer.

Sec. 2.3. "Auxiliary Police Officer" shall mean a police officer appointed for auxiliary purposes and regularly serving as an auxiliary police officer for the Township of Independence.

Sec. 2.4. "Clerk" shall mean the Clerk of the Township of Independence.

Sec. 2.5. "Police Department" shall mean the Police Department of the Township of Independence.

Sec. 2.6. "Police Officers" shall mean a Police Officer duly appointed and serving in said capacity on the Police Department for the Township of Independence.

Sec. 2.7. "Supervisor" shall mean the Supervisor of the Township of Independence.

Sec. 2.8. "Township" shall mean the Township of Independence.

Sec. 2.9. "Township Board" shall mean the Township Board of the Township of Independence.

ARTICLE 3. Creation of Department

Sec. 3.1. There shall be created and established in and for the Township of Independence a Police Department which shall be responsible for maintaining the public peace and order and enforcing all ordinances of the Township of Independence, all laws of the State of Michigan, and all rules and regulations of the Independence Township Board of Health, and such other Township rules and regulations, as the Township Supervisor may deem necessary.

Sec. 3.2. The Police Department shall consist of such officers and such ranks, both in number and in name, as the Township Board may determine from time to time by resolution.

Sec. 3.3. Said Police Department, in carrying out its duties, may arrest and prosecute offenders in the several district and circuit courts in and throughout Oakland County, both through the office of the Township Attorney and through the office of the County Prosecuting Attorney. For this purpose, and for all purposes, members of the Police Department shall be construed to be peace officers with all the powers of a deputy sheriff within the Township of Independence.

Sec. 3.4. The direction of the Police Department shall be under the control of an officer designated by the Township Board, whose title shall be as determined by the Township Board, and who shall serve as said director at the pleasure of the Township Board.

Sec. 3.5. The designated head of the Police Department shall be responsible to the Supervisor for the efficient operation of the Police Department in accordance with the rules and regulations as promulgated hereunder.

ARTICLE 4. Supervision

Sec. 4.1. The Supervisor shall exercise general supervision and control over the Police Department in accordance with the following powers and responsibilities:

A. He shall assume and exercise the general supervision over the Police Department and make all proper rules and regulations for the government and discipline of said department, subject to the approval of all such rules and regulations by the Township Board.

B. He shall have custody and control of all property, books and records of any equipment belonging to or pertaining to the operation of the Police Department.

C. He shall have general control over all law enforcement and shall exercise this control through the person designated by the Township Board to be the director of the Police Department, with title designation to be determined by the Board, or such other designee as the Board may direct.

D. Subject to the approval of the Township Board he may change titles and/or create such offices and positions within the Police Department as the needs of said Department shall require, but this authority shall not extend to the director or officer designated to be in charge of the Department, whatever his title.

E. He shall provide, subject to Board approval, for the purchase of all materials and supplies, tools, implements, and apparatus which are necessary for the proper function of the Police Department. However, no such Township Board approval shall be necessary for the provision of supplies and/or materials with a value less than $100.00.

F. He shall discipline or discharge Police Officers or Auxiliary Police Officers for any misfeasance, malfeasance or nonfeasance.

G. He shall have such other powers and authority as are reasonably necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of Supervisor, and as are reasonably necessary for the exercise of the authority created by this Ordinance.

Sec. 4.2. The Supervisor shall, at such times as the Township Board may require, and at least annually, render to the Board a complete report of the operations of the Police Department. Such report shall include the number of arrests made, numbers and types of complaints and similar data which will enable the Township Board to judge the level of performance of the police operations performed by the Police Department.

Sec. 4.3. The Supervisor shall, in March of each year, present to the Township Board his estimate of the funds necessary for the proper operation of the Police Department for the coming fiscal year.

ARTICLE 5. Employment qualifications

Sec. 5.1. All persons employed as a Police Officer by the Township of Independence shall meet the following criteria:

A. Be a citizen of the United States.

B. Have a minimum age of eighteen (18) years.

C. Be a high school graduate or its equivalent, with equivalency defined as having attained a passing score on the General Education Development Test.

D. Be free of the conviction of any felony offense, as determined by a fingerprinting examination and search of local, state and national fingerprint files.

E. Be in acceptable physical, emotional and mental condition and fitness as determined by an examination by a licensed physician.

Sec. 5.2. All applicants seeking positions on the Police Department shall be interviewed by the Supervisor, the Township Board at the discretion of the Supervisor, and such other persons as the Supervisor or the Township Board may direct.

Sec. 5.3. All such applicants shall provide the Supervisor with such resume information, background information, and other information, as the Supervisor may reasonably require.

ARTICLE 6. Vacancies and Promotions

Sec. 6.1. The Supervisor shall fill all vacant positions in the Police Department, subject to the approval of the Township Board.

Sec. 6.2. Promotions within the Police Department shall be made by the Supervisor on the basis of merit, subject to approval by the Township Board.

ARTICLE 7. Police Appeal Board

Sec. 7.1. There shall be a Police Appeal Board established to consist of three (3) members of the Township Board not including the Supervisor, said members to be appointed by the Township Board. The Appeal Board shall hear all proper appeals by a member of the Police Department from action of the Supervisor or Chief of Police, including any disciplinary action. The time and manner in taking such appeals shall be determined by the Appeal Board.

Sec. 7.2. No member of the Police Department shall be removed except upon written charges preferred against him and after opportunity to be heard in his own defense. The Supervisor may suspend a member of the Police Department against whom charges have been made, said suspension to pend a hearing before the Appeal Board. The Appeal Board may take such disciplinary action as it deems necessary, including removal or dismissal of the Police Officer.

ARTICLE 8. Swearing in

Sec. 8.1. The Supervisor shall require each member of the Police Department to take a constitutional oath of office before the Township Clerk and shall provide for the registry of a certificate thereof in a book to be kept for that purpose.

Sec. 8.2. Each Police Officer so sworn in shall be provided with an identification card and badge, both of which shall indicate his name, rank and status.

ARTICLE 9. Auxiliary policeman

Sec. 9.1. The Supervisor may appoint special policemen to be known as auxiliary policemen in such numbers as he may deem necessary to perform such regular police duties and extraordinary police services as provided for by the Supervisor, with all of said appointments to be subject to approval by the Township Board.

Sec. 9.2. Auxiliary policemen shall be sworn in as in the case of regular policemen and shall wear such badges, uniform and insignia as the Supervisor may direct and shall be equipped in the manner he deems necessary for the proper discharge of their duties, all subject to approval by the Township Board.

Sec. 9.3. The Supervisor may at any time suspend or remove any auxiliary police officer forthwith, with said suspension to be subject to review and approval by the Township Board.

Sec. 9.4. Said auxiliary policemen may act as safety patrol officers on the grounds of the various schools in the Township, and may perform such other duties as the Township Supervisor may direct.

Sec. 9.5. Such auxiliary policemen shall be equipped by or at the direction of the Supervisor, with such equipment to be approved by the Township Board, except that no auxiliary policeman shall be armed at any time.

Sec. 9.6. No auxiliary policemen shall be compensated for their services except on authorization of the Township Board.

Sec. 9.7. It shall be unlawful for any auxiliary police officer to exercise his authority or to wear his uniform or insignia or display his badge in an attempt to exercise his authority except during the performance of actual authorized police duty or extraordinary police services as directed by the Supervisor or during authorized drill and training sessions.

Sec. 9.8. It shall be unlawful for any auxiliary police officer to knowingly and willfully and without proper excuse neglect and refuse to respond to assignment or duty when called by the Supervisor or by the head of the Police Department.

Sec. 9.9. Auxiliary police officers shall be used for the enforcement of Township Ordinances only, and shall not be used for enforcement of State Law unless said officers have been trained in accordance with the minimum standards set forth in Act No. 17 of the Public Acts of 1969.

Sec. 9.10. While on actual police duty all auxiliary policemen shall be considered to be employees of the Township and shall be entitled to the same rights and immunities as regular members of the Police Department, including rights to benefits under the Michigan Workmen's Compensation laws.

ARTICLE 10. Weapons

Sec. 10.1. All police officers shall either be armed or not armed at the direction of the Township Board. As aforesaid, no auxiliary police officer shall be armed or permitted to bear arms by virtue of his appointment hereunder.

ARTICLE 11. Effective date

Sec. 11.1. This ordinance shall become effective 30 days after the first publication of said ordinance.

Sec. 11.2. This ordinance is hereby declared to have been adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Independence, Oakland County, Michigan, at a meeting thereof duly called and held on the 24th day of April, 1973.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING

April 24, 1973

Meeting called to order by Trustee Wilford.

Roll: Present — Basinger, Granlund, Schultz, Weiss, Wilford. Absent — Thayer.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Farnum was present to discuss the two proposed Sewer Ordinance with the Council. These are the Sewer Operating Ordinance and the Mandatory Hook-Up Ordinance. The latter would provide that hook-ups would have to take place within six months after completion dates, determined by Oakland County. Independence Township will do all the inspections involved in hooking up to the lateral lines.

Moved by Wilford to appoint Edward Sosnick as the new Village Attorney, effective immediately. Seconded by Weiss. Motion carried unanimously.

The clerk was instructed to write Mr. Sosnick and have him draft a Parking Ordinance for the Village, as was discussed at the last meeting.

Moved by Weiss to change the Village Council Meetings to the second and fourth Mondays of each month, effective May 14. Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Wilford to publish the Village meeting nights in the Women's Club Calendar for the next year at the rate of $3.50 a year. Seconded by Weiss. Roll: Ayes — Basinger, Granlund, Schultz, Weiss, Wilford. Nays — none. Motion carried.

The proposed 1973-1974 Village Budget was discussed. Some areas of possible cutbacks were mentioned. The Council decided to have President Johnston look at it before adopting it. The final budget should be ready by the next meeting on May 14.

Moved by Weiss to give permission to the Greater Detroit Muscular Dystrophy Association to solicit funds on June 5, 1973 from 5 to 9 p.m. as per their request. Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously.

Further business was tabled until the next meeting.

Meeting called adjourned by President Pro-Tem Basinger.

Bruce Rogers, Village Clerk

Walk back to nature

Michigan Nature Association's trail through Timberland Swamp starts off Ware Road in Springfield Township. The swamp features a magnificent spring wildflower display, virgin hardwood trees, rare flowering plants and shrubs, a rich bird population and tranquil vistas. It is presently being considered for purchase by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority.

This old canal once watered a potato farmer's fields in the heart of the swamp. Spongy ground is the setting for the headwaters of both the Huron and Shiawassee Rivers.

Spring beauties carpet the ground.

There's a thousand acres, ringed by a thousand more in Springfield Township now being considered for preservation by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority.

Home of the Michigan Nature Association's Timberland Swamp Nature Sanctuary, it's located off Ware Road and marked sufficiently to prevent hikers from being lost.

Outstanding features of the area include a magnificent spring wildflower display, virgin hardwood trees, rare flowering plants and shrubs, a rich summer resident bird population with 90 to 100 varieties accounted for, and cathedral-like forest groves filled with peace and tranquility.

It's a great place for a hike on a sunny spring morning in May and better if there's a naturalist along to identify the various plant growths and bird calls.

You start out in a cleared spot about nine acres in area where Ferris King once tried to make a potato farm. The potatoes grew well, but getting equipment in and out of the swampy, spongy soil proved too much.

The trail leads along an irrigation ditch which once watered those potatoes — the water in it still ample because this is where the Huron and the Shiawassee Rivers rise. Water feeding the Shiawassee flows northwest underground. Surface water flowing south feeds the Huron.

The ground cover is varied and interesting, moving from dry land immediately into swampy areas with appropriate plant changes.

Some of the things one can see:

Fiddle heads or bishops' crossers, a fern that in leafing out resembles its namesakes.

Many varieties of trees which you are told grow a half an inch a year in the upland areas, one inch a year in the swamp.

Rust blackbirds, nuthatches and a colony of the beautiful blue heron.

Trillium, yellow and blue, jack-in-the-pulpit, skunk cabbage and a delicate flower called Spring Beauties which carpet the woods.

May apples or Mandrake root, the root resembling a man and the legend surrounding it that if you pull the root it will scream.

Bedstraw, a dense small leaf ground cover, once used for stuffing mattresses.

Rattle snake fern, and some of the real thing as well.

Virgin timber, there from time begun.

Uprooted trees, home of the water thrush.

Muscle trees, in reality blue beech, named because of the appearance of the trunk.

It's an exploratory voyage, far removed from the hustle and bustle of the day, in one of the largest best preserved areas of natural growth still existent in this part of Michigan.

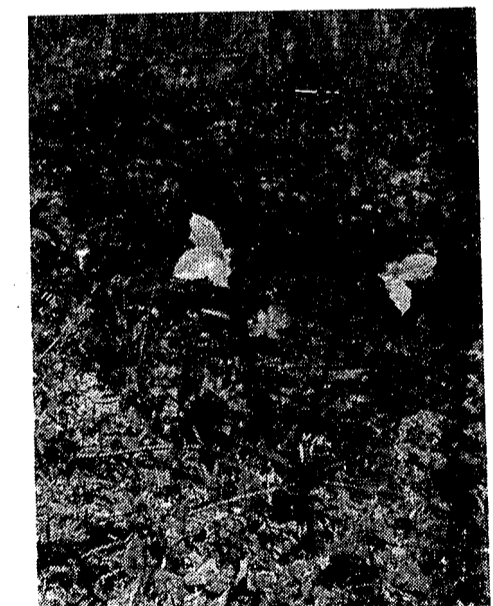

Crawfish hole

A majestic tamarack.

An old elm, dead now.

Trilliums announce the spring.

Fungus grows on a tree.

An uprooted denizen of the forest.
