Ah, to get away from it all. To find a place apart from the world of commerce, the hustle and bustle of the city, the cries and complaints. . . a place to relax and enjoy.

With that opening you probably think I'm about to take a vacation. Wrong?

I'm about to tell you how we are building a little home away from home. . . a little retreat in the north.

It's near Engadine, a town both made famous by Sonny Eliot of WWJ-TV weather and a town that has lost its proper pronunciation because of Sonny Eliot.

By rearranging our priorities we have been able to spend more weekends north than we ever felt possible, or indeed, even wanted to in the past.

Before the bug bit there was office work, yard work and a little golf for Saturday and Sunday. This year there has been Friday evening driving, Saturday shoveling sand and stapling insulation, Sundays cleaning up, shoveling, and running errands for guys who know what they are doing, then driving home.

Much of the work has been contracted, of course. In this respect we can dispute those who say contractors in the UP live from paycheck to paycheck, spending weekends and evenings in taverns or fishing. Or those who insist these people have no responsibility or consideration for we flatlanders.

The contractors we've had are diligent, hardworking, accomodating people. The earthmovers, the block layers, the man who put in the foundation, and others gave us more than our money's worth.

Our retreat is on the shores of Lake Millecoquins. The golf course is 5 miles away, Lake Michigan 6. Tennis courts are a half mile away for those interested in the current fad.

Deer are across the road, wild turkeys have been released nearby and are frequently seen. We found sharp-tailed grouse plentiful last year and there are 3 lakes and a couple trout streams to fish on nearby Hiawatha Club, to which we also belong.

There are snowmobile trails to Newberry 20 miles away, a pretty good beach out in front, and we have sun decks front and back to help us enjoy coffee in the morning and beer in the evening.

This may all sound very rich to some readers, but split 3 ways it isn't bad. That's the way we're doing it. Three families are building this cottage. Each has its own living unit, and all share the full basement-family room and storage area.

The set up has made it affordable.

Now if the Standard Oil people will see to it that their stations are full of regular gas at Gaylord, St. Ignace, Naubeny and Flint and keep honoring our credit card we'll be all set for good times galore.

New restaurant to open

Joseph Gulash and Gene Hargraves are aiming to fill a need in downtown Clarkston with their Ole Village Inn Coffee House, which they hope to open Monday.

The need they see is a restaurant that serves breakfasts and sandwiches.

Their new enterprise will be located at 10 S. Main, formerly a Richardson's Farm Dairy branch. They've been doing some remodeling since leasing the premises from Keith Hallman, working toward their planned July 23 opening.

Gulash, a salesman, is owner of the establishment. With 14 years of professional cooking experience, Hargraves will be manager of the coffee house. Both men live in Davison.

The restaurant, with counter and table service, will be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m., Hargraves said.

He has some definite ideas about how he'd like to expand the sandwich portion of the coffee house's luncheon menu, which also will include salads and soups.

"It will depend on the demand," he said. "We don't want people to be bashful about what they want. We're open for suggestions."

So Gulash and Hargraves will remain flexible as they begin their new venture—"a place where people can come in and get good food relatively fast."

Hearing postponed

Further formal meetings about union representation of faculty members at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center have been scheduled for Aug. 9 and 10.

Representatives of the Clarkston School District, Oakland County Intermediate District and the Clarkston Education Association failed to reach an agreement last week in their hearing before the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

After a day of consideration, the CEA turned down Clarkston Schools' offer to bargain with representatives of the 11 teachers and one counselor at the center if they are considered as a unit separate from the rest of the CEA.

The CEA has been seeking an accretion election to represent the vocational center faculty since March. The school district maintains it is not the sole employer of that staff, because direction in terms of both money and curriculum comes from the county.

Dreams are parade theme

The Clarkston Rotary Club is inviting local organizations to share their dreams with the community in the annual Labor Day parade.

"Shaping Up Our Dreams" is the theme of the parade, in which groups now are being encouraged to enter floats.

Other participants in the Sept. 3 parade are expected to include Miss Oakland County, Clarkston's Junior Miss, a bagpipe band from Canada, a drum and bugle corps and a unicycle club.

The route for the parade has been reversed from previous years to allow better control of detoured traffic. Entrants will begin gathering at Clarkston Junior High School at 9 a.m. An hour later, they will proceed west on Church Street and north on Main Street to Northview.

A judge's box will be set up at the corner of Washington and Main Streets. First, second and third prize trophies will be awarded for costumes and floats.

Those interested in entering the parade can contact chairman Dick Logan, 625-2250; Stan Darling, 625-2578; or Harold Goyette, 625-2483.

Pine Knob noise conflict goes to circuit court

Independence Township has gone into Oakland County Circuit Court to get Pine Knob Music Theatre to either shut up or shut down.

A hearing was scheduled for Wednesday before Circuit Judge Richard D. Kuhn on a petition for an injunction against the music theater.

The township has asked for a restraining order against the owners of the theater to "cease and desist all operations" until their enterprise no longer constitutes "a public nuisance."

"Our intention is not to close Pine Knob," said Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark. "We just want a concrete proposal from someone at Pine Knob to control the noise. If we can't get it, then we will try to close Pine Knob."

The township's petition, filed Friday, asked that Kuhn take jurisdiction over the matter until the noise control problem is solved.

"We're asking the judge to call the shots in this case, to be a mediator," Vandermark said. "We want a resolution to the problem and some way to enforce it."

Vandermark commented that violation of the township's noise control ordinance is punishable by fines up to $500.

"With an audience of 10,000, that's only a half-cent a head," he said.

Vandermark said he and other township officials are tired of monitoring Pine Knob concerts after receiving complaints from neighboring residents.

The ordinance calls for the sound from the amphitheater not to exceed 55 decibels (the level of a normal conversation) at Pine Knob's property line.

Residents have complained about the noise, traffic and road dust since the theater opened in 1972.

Several meetings have been held between township officials and operators of the theater.

Theater manager Wayne Nederlander said he had no comment on the case.

About 80 percent of the complaints about noise at Pine Knob are registered when performers bring in their own sound systems, according to Vandermark.

"They (Pine Knob) should either take it out of the performers' hands or redesign their acoustical system," he said. "They need an acoustic expert. We want a solution and we think they should pay for it." Ordered to show cause why an injunction should not be granted were Pine Knob Resort Inc., Nederlander Theatres, Indusco Corp. and "all others having any interest in the Pine Knob Music Theatre, including any and all performers therein."

Bus driver dismissal upheld

Photos by Bruce Rogers

Assistant Clarkston Schools Supt. Milford Mason [left] and Board of Education President David K. Leak were among the school board members and administrators who inspected the site of the May 16 school bus accident which triggered the dismissal of driver Mary Sweat. After the tour July 12, the board voted 6-1 to uphold the dismissal, with trustee Charles Smalley dissenting.

Bus drivers gathered to support Mary Sweat at the hearing on her dismissal before the Clarkston Board of Education.

Planning commission continues study of Dixie strip

The Independence Township Planning Commission has put off for now a broad recommendation calling for the rezoning of vacant commercial property along the Dixie Highway.

However, commissioners last week indicated their determination to devise some means of controlling future development on the strip.

More than 40 property owners attended the Thursday night hearing at which the commission considered a proposal to recommend rezoning of some 18 parcels, most of them north of the M-15 intersection.

While supporting planned development along the thoroughfare, many objected to the prospect of altered classifications for their particular parcels.

At the direction of the commission, Township Planning Director Larry Burkhart had devised a plan for the rezoning of "all vacant commercial land along the Dixie Highway to a use other than commercial."

Burkhart's plan calls for all of it to be changed to an office classification, with three exceptions.

He recommended that the property in front of the Independence Square apartment complex be changed to multiple residential, noting that "this could have been an oversight at the time of zoning for the apartments."

The other two exceptions were to change to residential classification lots adjacent to existing residential development, Deer Lake Estates and unplatted property on the south side of Dixie west of White Lake Road.

Most of the remaining vacant land is northwest of M-15, the only involved parcels southeast of the intersection being on either side of the Ottawa Park Cemetery entrance.

Planning commissioners decided to table consideration of the proposal until they have an opportunity to examine the individual parcels involved. A tour of the strip by the commission is scheduled for 6 p.m. July 26.

Meanwhile, commissioners can scrutinize Burkhart's report, including the recommendations which are "premised on the belief that the existing strip commercial areas can be upgraded consistent with community goals, and that some strip development is needed for certain business activities."

He commented that the Independence Township general development plan discusses strip commercial development as a means of using land already platted to front on thoroughfares that is unsuitable for residential dwellings and as providing locations for entrepreneurs who cannot afford or quality for a lease in a shopping center.

"While strip commercial has a role to play, there is a hazard that it becomes an unrestricted, catch-all commercial district," Burkhart said.

"This hazard should be minimized by zoning district regulations specifically tailored to the strip commercial district needs and excluding uses which better function in shopping centers."

The audience at the hearing gave enthusiastic response to one of its members who commented that "that much office space on the Dixie couldn't be filled in 50 years."

However, the proposed change in classification also is seen as a means of controlling future business development, which could be dependent on rezoning back to commercial.

Burkhart said he has received several calls from potential office tenants who are concerned about restrictions on neighboring property.

He also indicated potential investors are reluctant to enter an area that could become "marginal" in terms of aesthetics, traffic hazards and functionality.

"They want guarantees," he said. "The township can guarantee, through zoning, that any new use will have a thorough review under the ordinances of the township, be it site plan review for a permitted use, or a rezoning request," he said.

Street project down the drain

A project to create a special assessment district for the improvement of private streets in Thendara Park Subdivision near Walters Lake has been dropped.

R. L. Eckert and P. W. Planck, who headed the petition drive to obtain signatures to create the district, said last week, "Due to a lack of popular support, our efforts to set up a special assessment district to maintain our roads have ceased."

"Our findings and paperwork will be turned over to the Homeowners' Association to do with as they see fit."

The petition drive which began in early June ran into trouble as a result of flyers circulated in the area and throughout the township. The flyers charged special interest in the selection of a priority list of streets to be repaired, and some residents of the area said privately that threatened court suits should the project be carried through, had dimmed other support.

Opposition to the project had been expressed at public meeting by Paul Frechette, owner of Clarkston Golf Course, whose land borders a considerable distance on Algonquin, one of the streets chosen for improvement. Subdivision developer Jack Raisin, who was reported as being liable for up to 40 percent of the costs, had, however, supported the effort.

In the nearby Sunnybeach Subdivisions, a similar road improvement effort through different legal means, is being attempted; however, the project is currently in limbo awaiting a state hearing next spring, according to Floyd Dobson, a member of the Sunnybeach Country Club Property Owners Association.

The area around Walters Lake, one of the fastest growing residential areas in the township, relies on private streets for access to most of the homes. Narrow trails, subject to spring washouts and winter snow, have been unacceptable by county standards. Oakland County Sheriff's Department, which is under contract to police Independence Township, does not patrol private streets.

Thendara homeowners had proposed a five-year assessment raising some $14,000 a year in an effort to improve the area.

Entering televisionland

Patches
by Pat Braunagel

It was on a hot July night in 1948 that my father took it upon himself to change our lives and thrust us headlong into the television era.

In the flush of a new job, Dad bought a television set, as a surprise for Mom and me. He carried it into the house with a great amount of pride and care, attempting not to harm this delicate new possession nor reveal to my mother the time-payment contract bulging his suit coat pocket.

It was a Muntz, he explained, and the name suddenly became important to me.

We hastened to rearrange the living room furniture so that all seats would face the screen. Thus began the change.

No longer would my hour before bedtime be spent with coloring books or paper dolls in front of the radio. My evenings would not be spent in solitude. For ours was the first television set in the neighborhood.

Prior to that, the favorite indoor gathering spot had been the Smith's living room, where Mr. Smith would set a cake of ice in a dishpan before a large fan.

That luxury paled, and we were willing to tolerate the heat to witness the action on the 18-inch screen.

We didn't get much exercise that summer. As soon as dinner was over, my pals—many of them newly acquired—would begin sticking their noses against the screen door and peering into the semi-darkness of our living room. (We drew the drapes and kept the lights off so no reflection would mar the electronic image.)

After the children left, a group of their parents always remained. ("You take the kids home tonight, Elma. It's my turn to see the wrestling matches.")

I was usually hustled off to bed earlier than I thought necessary. But on rare occasions my parents tentatively allowed me to stay up and watch the major attraction—"Broadway Open House."

There was Dagmar, of course, whose physical and mental dimensions were just unreal, representing as they did opposite extremes. Much of what M.C. Jerry Lester said I simply did not understand, although I knew it was funny.

I had to carefully control my laughter, though, for if my parents caught me snickering in the wrong place I would be whisked off to bed.

By the end of the summer, the transition to television was complete. No longer were we forced, or allowed, to use our imaginations to flesh out the characters who entertained us in our living room. We had come to believe that seeing them made them more real.

It's funny—my memories of early TV programs are even fuzzier than the reception on that first home screen.

I can, however, recall entire plots of many "Green Hornet" and "Sergeant Preston" episodes. Muntz can't take that away from me.

Shot down by mistrust

Citizen self-help attempts to improve Thendara Park Subdivision's private streets has been shot down, at least for the time being.

While close to 90 percent of the people who live in the area had signed petitions for the creation of a special assessment district, non-resident landowners had not all been contacted.

What makes the failure sad is that a property owner in the area resorted to scurrilous flyer material and veiled threats in order to frighten other homeowners who have had enough of spring washouts and snow-clogged winter driving.

Instead of an attempt to reach reasonable settlement, the air became charged with accusations, and the doubts spread from neighbor to neighbor.

We agree rarely do such projects, particularly when they cost money, find 100 percent support in a community, and that many of the non-supporters often have very valid reasons for their stand. What we don't like is the atmosphere of mistrust that has arisen.

Probably if there's a lesson to be learned from the whole mish-mash, it is that the township should never again allow creation of private streets.

handled these departments, a couple others and some other duties as well. What is the present clerk doing these days?

The board will cry, "Sewer System!" The former board had the good sense to contract with the county for maintenance so to avoid the empire building that the present board seems so willing to start. We don't need a graduate engineer to answer complaints and then refer them to the county for disposition.

If our engineering consultants recommend we employ an engineer, I would be skeptical. Whether intentional or not, their thinking would probably be inclined toward future engineering projects. They would envision a resident engineer as a catalyst to accelerate such plans.

Just as the hiring of an engineer would be premature, so would the inauguration of costly projects. Did you notice that it wasn't long after we had a full time fire chief that we also had another mill for the fire department? And it probably won't be long before he'll be seeking other full time employees.

It is a relief to see that the board has made no move to replace the recently departed township engineer. Hopefully, his short-lived tenure taught a lesson. Before any new position is filled there should be an honest appraisal of whether there is 40 hours of work per week to be done.

And is there a pressing need, RIGHT NOW, for such work? It never ceases to amaze me how government officials can dream up frivolous jobs if the money is available.

A graduate engineer to administer the Cemetery and Water Department is gilding the lily. The former clerk

Packing off Pete

by Jean Saule

I think I'm in love with Air Canada.

They've taken Pete away for the summer, and they really didn't have to.

Pete is our 12-year-old son, who is now spending the summer haying and harvesting on a Western Canadian ranch instead of thinking up novel excuses for getting out of cutting the grass at home.

Grandma and Grandpa were due to leave for their old homestead in Saskatchewan last Wednesday at 2:25 p.m. At 8 a.m. that day, Pete stood beside my bed indicating he'd finally made up his mind he'd like to go with them.

Nothing could have moved me faster. First there was a frantic search for his birth certificate. I know it's there somewhere, but there wasn't time to turn the house upside down.

Pete needed some extra jeans from Pontiac, anyway, and I called Dick Elliot at the Courthouse and asked if he could have a birth certificate copy ready which I would pick up in an hour. He did.

We stopped at the bank where Pete pried loose the careful savings of the last year, and we were off to Windsor. Pete's money stretched only as far as a student stand-by ticket. We would not know until five minutes before departure whether he'd be going or not.

We waited. Pete tapped his foot a lot and squirmed. I chanced to look at the Toronto Globe's horoscope column and under Aries, which Pete is, it read, "May take extended trip today." I showed it to him and he smiled.

Meantime Air Canada paged Grandma and Grandpa for early boarding, a courtesy which they extend to seniors and to families traveling together.

Pete took up his post before the Air Canada desk, his expression that of a hungry Basset hound. He didn't talk. He just stood there and bled from the eyeballs.

Take-off time came and five heads bent together over the reservations telecommunicator. There would be room from Winnipeg to Regina, despite the Windsor-Winnipeg leg having been oversold.

"We'll board him," said the airport manager, "put him right behind the pilot."

Pete started jumping security barriers in a mad dash for the plane, was called back, subjected to the metal detector equipment, and jumped barriers again.

He scurried aboard just as they drew up the steps, and his suitcase was hand carried to the luggage compartment.

For all I knew, Grandma and Grandpa didn't even know he'd been permitted aboard. I telephoned the next night. Pete had been haying all day, he'd seen a herd of 24 antelope running with the cattle, discovered a Hungarian partridge's nest, and startled a jack rabbit.

"Tell Liz to cut the grass," he said.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Get thee behind me

By Jim Fitzgerald

It was somewhat ironic. Because of a crime, I had to quit watching the TV Watergate hearings long enough to go to the court house. I had to pay a speeding ticket.

"You must come with me," I told my wife. "You have to sit behind me while I testify."

"You must be kidding," she said.

"Not a bit. You've seen John Dean and Jeb Magruder and the others on TV. Their wives always sit right behind them. Wear something sexy but dignified. Maybe a bare midriff but fold your arms in front of the bare. Nothing flashy. We don't want to appear ostentatious."

"That's funny. Everyone knows why I'm the first to volunteer to work at the rummage sale at the different churches. It's so I can get first pick. Besides, those wives are behind their husbands because the TV cameras are there. I really don't think NBC will be in Magistrate Ruth Knack's court today."

"That's not the point. The point is that behind every decent man there is a loving, faithful wife who smiles quietly at his quips and frowns politely when someone calls him a liar. And she always sits with her knees pressed tightly together. It is called the Dr Joyce Brothers sit."

"I don't think either of us have to worry about sitting in magistrate's court. There is only 1 chair and Ruth Knack is in it."

"I don't think you are taking this matter seriously enough," I said, getting slightly perturbed.

"A wife is an important part of politicians send Christmas cards with photos of their families posed in the Nativity scene. The voters are suspicious of bachelors. They like a man who is happily married to a solid woman with a dog in a cloth coat. And when that man goes to court, his wife must go with him. Otherwise, people will think she doesn't love him because he is a liar."

"I could bring the cats to court," she said. "I could dress them as the 3 Wise Men. I could borrow our granddaughter to play the part of the holy infant. We can tell the magistrate there was no room in the Holiday Inn. And you could be the jackass whose breath keeps the baby warm."

"Listen, I'm serious about this. John Dean admitted he temporarily swiped $4,000 to finance his honeymoon. But who could blame him after seeing that blond dish sitting behind him? Any American boy from Harvard would have done the same thing. I need the same kind of backing. I am going to tell the magistrate I was speeding because you were deathly sick and I had to get to the Blue Cross office quickly to pay overdue premiums. I need you there to nod your head and caress the back of my neck when the going gets tough."

"I'm sorry," she said, "but I cannot live a lie. If that is the type of wife you want, you'd better get a new one."

"At this point in time," I said, "I think I will go up to Camp David to prepare a report on my reaction to your tempting suggestion."

Letters to the Editor

Working on Woodhull

To the editor:

The residents of Woodhull Lake Subdivision were disturbed by the articles in the last two issues of the Clarkston News concerning the recreation department's plans to clean up the Woodhull Lake Park.

They gave the impression that the park area in Woodhull was a glass-littered disaster area.

If one examines the facts, I believe some credit should be given where it's due. The members of the Woodhull Lake Property Owners Association Inc. last year established their priorities—beach first, park second.

With beach redevelopment completed—a new fence, fill dirt, landscaping, raft, etc.—we were about to start work on the park area. The sewer company to which the park was leased for a year left last week. They fulfilled their agreement to grade and remove old foundations. The association in the meantime had maintained the non-leased property by mowing the grass and picking up 99 percent of the glass.

Over the summer, our plans were to install a swing set and restore the tennis court area, but the recreation department suddenly wants to take over our PRIVATE park and the credit for its redevelopment.

We greatly appreciate the efforts of the recreation department to bring some organized play to our area, but we are proud of our area, the local citizens who have contributed a lot of time and effort to its redevelopment and the township government for its ordinance enforcement. We want to keep our park!

Drivers disgruntled

People of Clarkston:

The bus drivers went before the school board at a special meeting Thursday, July 12 for their decision on the dismissal of Mary Sweat.

The board denied the drivers permission to speak on Mary's behalf. Mary alone was allowed to talk.

We still thought they would be fair until Dr. Greene and Mr. Mason took the board members into a private meeting to help them reach their decision.

Dr. Greene apparently was afraid they might turn the decision in our favor or he would have let them make their decision without his pep talk. Dr. Greene stated at the regular meeting on Monday, July 9 that if the board went against the administration he would not be responsible for any problems in the future.

Although Dr. Greene had stated long before this meeting that the decision of the board would be in favor of the administration, the drivers thought maybe the board would stand up to Dr. Greene and make a decision of their own.

Only one man stood firm against the administrators. We wish to thank this man for being a man.

Apparently in the school system the drivers will need help fighting Dr. Greene in the future, as there is no doubt now who makes decisions in this school district.

Springfield survey

Dear Editor,

Everybody in Davisburg is not a member of the Procrastinators Club of America, as the "Oakland Press" article of June 4, 1973 seemed to indicate. I would venture to say that most people had never heard of that club before that article was published. But, there is a club in Davisburg that most of the people in the area of Springfield Township have heard of; the Davisburg Area Jaycees.

We are a community service club and in order to supply needed and useful service, we are conducting a Community Survey. We will be conducting community leaders, local officials, and taking questionnaires door-to-door.

We will be asking about problems and solutions in the area of health and safety, law enforcement, youth, and human relations. The survey's purpose will be explained to the residents contacted, then left with them to be filled out and picked up within the hour. The survey will be conducted between July 19 and 26.

The results of the survey will be used to help plan our projects for the coming year. We hope you will find this community survey project of sufficient interest and informational value to include it in your paper.

Daughter says thanks

Gentlemen,

We would like again to express our appreciation for a fine paper. It is such a blessing to Dad, who will be 92 next Tuesday, July 17.

The excellent historical articles and pictures are especially enjoyed. Dad was a life-long resident of Clarkston until the past few years when he has lived with us. He is in fine health and sends greetings to his friends in Clarkston.

Sincerely,
Virginia Owen

I've been interested in reading about Richard Burton in the paper. He's going to have another film that will be a failure, a flop. He'll be very discouraged.

After that, he will accept a script from an old friend (a young man) and tell him he'll do it without reading the part. It will be one of the best performances he's ever given, and he probably will receive an Oscar.

He and Liz will get back together and remain lovers.

I see acupuncture as a positive thing but not a cure-all. I think the Chinese will share it with us and that it will be accepted in this country because of popular demand.

by Barb Gibson

Last week when Rod, McKuen appeared at Pine Knob, the audience was treated to a somewhat different type of performer.

Here was a poet and songwriter showing his feelings on one particular subject: love. He appeared to try to show his commonness by his casual dress and manner. The first half of his concert offered great variety and he mixed songs with poems.

Some of the outstanding numbers were "Some of Us Are Children After All" and of course his trademark song of "Jean, Jean." Assisting him were excellent musicians. His piano-conductor was outstanding, and the orchestrations proved to help McKuen as he sang his many songs.

Even though his voice does not make him a concert singer, it is pleasing enough, and the poems he has set to music are easily understood. In the beginning he seemed to be quite nervous, but as the evening wore on he gained in confidence, and he related to the audience much easier.

He should have quit while he was ahead.

After the intermission he came back to the stage and started singing one

So will psychic healers. People will admit they've been going to them for years. They won't talk about it now because of the fear of being ridiculed.

If all the healers and physicians worked together to put the body and mind in balance and concentrated on channeling the mind productively, there would be no more illness. But you can't do one without the other.

A good majority of diseases have to do with being out of focus, spiritually and mentally. If you think bad thoughts, your body will reap the results.

I think there's a purpose to everything in life. Everything we do has an effect on someone—maybe not on us, but on someone. Maybe not immediately, but sometime.

It is not just what we think that is affecting our body. It's what other people think. If a person is sending negative thoughts toward someone, the receiver can pick them up—can easily have a headache or become nervous or his health can be affected in other ways. Your mind is a tremendous energy force. It can be used for good or bad.

In the near future, there will be more relatives murdering relatives and saying that others have done it. This will happen in Pontiac and Waterford. Toward the end of July, there's going to be a grisly murder in the Waterford area. When it comes right down to it, a young member of the family will have done it.

In answer to the question that's bothering some local people, the large tree in front of their house is not diseased and need not be cut down. Just one branch should be cut off.

song after another. The variety was gone and other than different words, each song sounded just like the last.

On and on he went until he built up what seemed to be a grand finale (gestures, climaxes, etc.) The audience felt this and when the number was completed, away he went on another song. This is poor planning on his part and the nostalgia of the evening was lost.

McKuen is noted for his very fine poetry, and I for one would have liked to hear more of it, perhaps with a musical background. He simply does not have the performing ability to carry a three-hour performance.

As I was listening I couldn't help thinking how enjoyable it would be to sit on the top of a windblown hill and listen to him read his poems. This certainly would be the atmosphere that would show Rod McKuen off in his finest light.

Later in the week, Pine Knob was treated to a very fine musical group called the Temptations. The Grammy award for the best performance was certainly well deserved by this group as illustrated Friday night. The show never ceased from the moment they made their dynamic appearance as precision, confidence and vigor captured the audience.

Setting the stage for these fine, talented and congenial gentlemen was Earth, Wind and Fire, hailing from Detroit to knock the audience with soulful rhythm. Definitely an impressive sight, this group got the audience ready for the hometown boys. Welcome home, Temptations.

A look at a model senior citizen community

By Jean Saile

Not all senior citizens who live in New Jersey's three Leisure Village developments call them perfect, but about 30 percent of those interviewed hail them as "paradise."

Located near the ocean halfway between New York City and Atlantic City, N. J., the village are designed for retirees 52 years of age and older. Shielded from the crime of the cities by a fence and controlled access plan, they offer one-floor living in condominium units plus a recreation program that seems to keep many of them active most of the time.

The developments are the same kind of facility proposed by Leisure Technology Inc. for Independence Township's eastern boundary, and last week the company flew members of the township board and the planning commission and the editor of The Clarkston News to have an on-the-spot look.

We saw three villages, one in existence ten years whose operation has been turned over completely to a homeowners' association, one just completed, and another just starting.

The developments varied from 1,500 units to 4,500 units. The one proposed for Independence is approximately 3,000 units. Costs of the units varied from $23,200, a one-bedroom no garage model, to $41,400, which featured a huge living room, separate dining area, two extra-large bedrooms and a two-car garage.

Average income of those living in the villages is given as $9,000. They had previously earned an average of $18,000 in active employment. Most of those interviewed had held jobs at the supervisory level in variously large and small companies, and all asked said they were able to live on interest from their principal. About 90 percent had paid cash for the homes.

While several had gripes similar to those of new home owners, they admitted that complaints were eventually remedied. The most long lasting gripes seemed to involve neighbors and "cliques," gripes which were also probably existent in former lives.

Only one man professed to boredom, and only one, who allowed he could buy a new car every month if he wanted to, wanted to get out.

The boredom was probably the result of a lack of employment, because certainly there were enough activities going on and advertised for the future to keep anyone busy.

Golf courses wound their way through all the villages, fishing gazebos, fitted with ramps for the benefit of the elderly, highlighted sometimes man-made lakes. Posters advertised shows, shopping trips, tours and any number of community activities. Classes were available in many fields and original art work by seniors was featured in some of the areas.

We attended an afternoon dance of the Serenaders Club at Leisure Village East where several hundred oldsters (more women than men) danced to the music of a 12-piece senior citizen orchestra.

The guitar player had made his own guitar, we were told, a benefit of the village's woodworking facilities.

Men filled a card room where bridge, billiards and poker seemed to be the order of the day.

Those seniors who had guests seemed to gravitate to the pool area and young people were visible at all three sites.

"That's one of the advantages of Leisure Village," said Irwin Chess, an official of Leisure Technology. "They're built within easy commuting distance of the residents' former homes, and visits from family are a constant event."

The homes are constructed with the use of pre-prepared panels. Chess added, "We never been a day late in signing a closing yet."

Comments gathered from various citizens included:

"I don't feel old. Ten years ago I wouldn't have thought of going to a retirement home, but I like it" — a woman.

"We get promises, not delivery, regarding construction problems" — another woman.

"I came from the high crime area of New York City and it's paradise here. It's lovely to go away from home and not worry" — another woman.

"All our activities are here. It cuts down on expenses" — another woman. (A fee of $25 to $45 a month insures entry to every activity, even the hiring of a teacher for a desired course. It also takes care of all maintenance.)

"We're all 54 and up. It's a good thing. I'm 60 now and I can't participate with the younger children" — a man.

"There are always young people around, otherwise it would be different I think" — a woman.

"It would be nice if we had a doctor on the premises. There is one in the original village" — a man.

"We had an ambulance donated and our own volunteers to man it, but the company didn't want us to get the image of being a decrepit community so we had to turn it down" — a man.

"The bus routes are not necessarily convenient" — a woman.

"We'd like a coffee shop on the premises" — a man.

"We are told we'll never need stepladders, hose or lawn mowers, but if you want your backyard kept up, you'd better do it" — a man.

"There's not enough bachelors" — a woman.

Nathan H. Oris, president of the Serenaders, summed it up. "The houses will outlive us. We do have some problems regarding complaints but they eventually get fixed. Some have looked all over before deciding to settle here. Some have never looked anywhere else.

"The only thing—we shouldn't have any clubs that exclude anyone. The Serenaders admit everyone.

Jaycees set golf tourney

The annual junior golf tournament of the Clarkston Area Jaycees is scheduled for Friday, July 27 at Spring Lake Country Club.

The tournament is open to all residents in and around Independence Township, according to chairman Tim Kaul.

Age groups will be 10-13, 14-15 and 16-17 for both boys and girls. A $3.50 entry fee is charged, with the exception of girls in the 10-13 division, who pay $2 and play just nine holes. Lunch is included in the entry fee.

First and second place trophies will be awarded in each division.

Applications can be picked up either before or at the tournament at the country club on Maybee Road. The tournament will start about 9 a.m.

Additional information can be obtained by calling Tim Kaul, 674-1162 or Dale Fitch, 625-4828.

Woodhull says 'no' to rec department

Independence Township Recreation Department was investigating alternative playground sites Monday in response to a letter from the Woodhull Lake Property Owners Association Inc. which has discontinued availability of the Woodhull Lake community center site for playground activities.

Albert E. Mann Jr., president of the association, wrote Recreation Director Tim Doyle, "We regret to advise you that our association is no longer to make available to the Recreation Department our property located on Center Street and Circle Lane for use as a summer playground.

"It was decided, by a majority vote of the members present at our meeting held July 8, 1973, that because of possible liability to the association, its trustees and members, the property's non-compliance with health department requirements as to toilet facilities and because of the small size and limited area of our park, that it was necessary to terminate the township's summer playground program being held there.

"We wish to take this opportunity to thank you and your staff for the fine job you have done and express our appreciation for the time you have spent with the children in the area."

Some 20-30 children played daily at the Woodhull facility under guidance of recreation department employees. A fix-up week, scheduled by the department, apparently ran afoul of homeowners' feelings a week ago.

Department spokesman said alternate sites, requiring the use of busing, were now being considered.

T-ball terror

Eight-year-old Mike Suran, on the McDonald Cheeseburgers T-ball team, scored an unassisted triple play in a game with the McDonald Quarter-Pounders last week.

With runners on first and third, Mike caught a pop fly on the pitcher's mound, then tagged third and first before the runners could return to their bases. When asked why he didn't throw the ball to the bases, Mike said he was afraid of an error.

Despite Mike's personal moment of glory, his team lost 28-16.

Junk car clean-up

Junk cars continue to plague Independence Township Ordinance Enforcement Officer Timothy J. Palulian.

Most of the 67 ordinance violation notices he issued in June were for abandoned vehicles, he said in his monthly report.

Thirteen of the violators had complied with the ordinances by the end of the month, and two had been issued court appearance tickets, Palulian said.

He noted that about half of the violators comply within a month of the first warning.

Since Palulian has been on the job, in May and June, he has issued 17 tickets for 111 violations.

As he continues with his inspections, he continues to spot junk cars.

"I had 13 on one street that was less than a mile long," he reported.

Cyclist killed

A 66-year-old motorcyclist was killed Wednesday, July 18 when his bike flipped over on a hill south of Stickney off Pine Knob Road in Independence Township.

Clarence J. Hertz of Warren was pronounced dead at the scene, which is reportedly a favorite site for cross-country cycling.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, Hertz apparently was headed down a hill in an open area when he lost control of his bike and it flipped over.

Local youngsters win skating honors

Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Stiller of Sashabaw Road are receiving congratulations on their roller skating granddaughters, Terry Lee and Kim Campbell, who have just returned with several honors from the Great Lakes Regional Amateur Championship in Akron, Ohio.

Terry took a first in freshmen American figures, a first in freshmen international figures, and with her partner, Greig Patton, took first in international freshmen dance. Greig, who lives on Waterford Hill, also took second in American freshmen figures.

Kim was awarded a first in elementary figures and with her partner, Barry Hunt, took first in elementary international dance and second in elementary pairs. Barry also took a second in elementary singles and a third in elementary figures.

Terry and Kim are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, formerly of Clarkston.

Tennis season in full swing

The Independence Township Recreation Department will begin new tennis classes for both beginners and advanced beginners the week of July 30.

Beginners—any players who have never taken lessons—will meet from 9-10 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Advanced classes are scheduled from 10-11 a.m. Monday and Wednesday and 7:30-8:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

All players must register at the recreation department office by Friday, July 27 for the classes, which will be held at Sashabaw Junior High School.

Another tennis activity which will begin the same week is a ladder tournament. Participants will be divided into groups of boys and girls under 14 and men and women 15 and over.

There will be a 50 cent charge for all participants except Tennis Club members. Deadline for signing up for this event also is July 27.

First practice session for the Independence Township tennis team will be held from 10-11:30 a.m. July 27. All club members and other interested players between the ages of 9 and 16 are invited to attend the practice at Sashabaw Junior High.

The second annual Independence Open Tennis Tournament will be held the week of Aug. 6.

Further information on all these activities can be obtained by calling the recreation department office, 625-8223.

The closest game of the evening at Sashabaw Junior High last Wednesday proved to be the battle for second place. Griswold's was able to move into a tie for that position by defeating Haupt 56-53. The difference between the two ball clubs proved to be the rebounding of big Bob Davis. In addition to keeping Haupt off the boards, Bob tallied 20 points.

Bob White continued his one-man scoring show with 44 points in a losing cause against the Clarkston Chiefs. The final score was Chiefs, 73, and the Town Shop, 68.

Jerry Ostrum scored 40 points for the Credit Union as they defeated McGill 78-69.

The Hambletonian is a family of harness or trotting horses. These horses are known for their versatility as riding or driving horses. In line with this is the Hambletonian Classic, a trotting race for three year old horses, corresponding in importance to the Kentucky Derby for thoroughbreds. Where did the name come from? In the nineteenth century there was a fine sire from whom the standard bred Hambletonians are descended.

Village of Clarkston
Minutes of Regular Meeting
July 9, 1973

Meeting called to order by President Pro-Tem Basinger

Roll: Present - Basinger, Schultz, Thayer, Weiss

Absent - Granlund, Wilford

Minutes of the last Regular and Special Meetings were read and approved.

Moved by Schultz that the following Bills be paid:

P.E.P. Wages	$923.52
Municipal Services	67.94
Police Dept.	716.29
Clarkston News	51.60
Administration	317.38
TOTAL	$2076.73

Seconded by Weiss. Roll: Ayes - Basinger, Schultz, Thayer, Weiss.

Nays - None. Motion carried.

Trustee Weiss reported that the latest tentative completion date for the Village sewer construction is this Oct. 1st.

Trustee Thayer reported that Gar Wilson was still working on getting bids from Great Lakes on resurfacing some Village streets. The tree planting on Village property should be starting soon, he mentioned.

The Clerk read parts of the proposed Parking Ordinance and the Council discussed it.

Moved by Thayer to adopt Ordinance No. 71, the Village of Clarkston Parking Ordinance. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously. A Copy of this Ordinance is attached to the Minutes and is on file at the Village Hall.

Some residents in the audience complained to the Council about their Village bills not showing what portion is going to finance sewer construction.

Mr. Hawke was present to ask the Council why a sewer line has to go across Middle Lake Rd. to service four houses including his, when he felt that it would be cheaper to go in back of these homes instead. Trustee Weiss will check with Mr. Leuders about this.

Independence Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark was present to discuss the possible combination of Township and Village Police services with the Council. He said that this would start by: having the Village and Township attorneys draw up a contract that would include the exact dollar commitment by both municipalities; advertising for a full-time director of Police Services to act as a liaison between the Township, Village, County, and the Township Fire Dept.; making the Village Auxiliary Policemen Township Auxiliaries; having physical examinations for all officers; making the first few months of operation organizational in nature; the new Dept. would be a liaison and help on special events and problems at first; and after about six months recommendations could be made on which directions to then pursue. He recommended that the Village authorize a Council member to sit with him and begin drafting an agreement. The advantages for both the Township and the Village to have a full-time police force was discussed by the Council and Mr. Vandermark.

Moved by Weiss to appoint Trustee Thayer to meet with Mr. Vandermark to discuss a joint police services venture between the Township and the Village. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Vandermark mentioned that the Village needed to have a representative on the Lake Improvement Board, since part of their jurisdiction falls within the Village.

Moved by Thayer to appoint Norman Rousseau as the Village Representative to the Lake Improvement Board. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Vandermark also mentioned that he felt that a majority of the Township residents would want the Village Council to work on a program to maintain and vitalize the downtown Clarkston area. With the large growth occurring in the Township, this could hurt the downtown business district, since new shopping centers would probably be built, he said. Parking and Zoning changes might be necessary. He feels that if nothing is done, that major tenants would eventually leave, and the downtown area would eventually deteriorate. Then both the Township and the Village would lose a central identity.

Township Planner Larry Burkhart was also present to concur with Mr. Vandermark's comments. He mentioned that the Township was presently working on new land use and zoning plans, and that both municipalities are intertwined in certain areas of interest. He also felt that the Township is very much in favor of seeing the present Village commercial area survive, and suggested that the Village make use of present vacant areas for parking, which is desperately needed.

Mr. Buetel and Mr. Campbell of Pinehurst Street were present to request that the Village pave the remaining portion of their street that lies within the Village boundary on the east side of the bridge.

Mr. Milzow was present to complain about the Village Septic Tank overflowing behind his office building on Main St. Trustee Weiss said that he had talked with Mr. Leuders about the problem and that the County will start working on it tomorrow.

Mr. Hallman, Mr. Milzow and Mr. ApMadoc stated that they were very much against levying personal property on the Village ad valorem tax. They also complained about the ad valorem method itself. Mr. Vandermark mentioned that taxing personal property for sewer construction is disadvantageous to businesses. The ad valorem tax was also discussed by other people in the audience and the Council. The Council members said that they might reconsider levying personal property on the ad valorem tax.

Moved by Thayer to give Village approval for a Labor Day Parade. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously. Police Chief McCall is presently working on an alternate parade route that will be satisfactory to the State Highway Dept.

and will still be able to run along Main St.

Mrs. Lambert was present to complain of the many bicycles riding on the sidewalks that are interfering with pedestrian traffic and are creating a hazard. Emptying the trash barrels in town more often and maybe hiring students to pick up litter downtown was discussed by the Council. Trustee Thayer will check with Powell's to see how often the trash barrels are emptied by them.

A letter from Fire Chief Ronk was read to the Council, relating his concern in keeping the alley in back of the stores on the east side of Main St. wide enough to allow fire fighting equipment to get through and work there if necessary. He feels that the Village should condemn a portion of the privately owned portion and maintain it as a Village alley. Mr. Hallman repeated his offer to sell 10 feet of his part of it to the Village for one dollar of the others will do likewise. Trustee Thayer will study the situation.

Moved by Schultz to adjourn. Seconded by Weiss. Motion carried unanimously.

Clarkston Education Association members are disclaiming any intentions of major strikes throughout southeast Michigan this fall. The paper quoted by The Detroit Free Press Sunday was a confidential working paper, not approved by anyone, they say. The paper outlined expenses for a public relations campaign, etc., in event of strikes.

"A long, hard summer" seems to be in store for negotiators hammering out a contract between the Clarkston School district and its teachers.

That's the current message on the "hot line" installed by the Clarkston Education Association to report progress on the negotiations.

The "hot line" number is 625-3934.

Mowing of the empty lot next to The Clarkston News has given the area a park like appearance. Now if we could just convince all the kids who toss candy wrappers and pop bottles to put them in the trash cans, and if we could make sure the trash cans would always have room, we'd be on the road to progress.

I still think a picnic table and a couple of benches would look nice there, but it's that area that's being considered as a spot to increase downtown parking facilities, something we also sorely need.

Keith Humbert presents a copy of a letter mailed September 26, 1972, to Jim Lueders of the Oakland County Department of Public Works as a result of last week's Townmouse column. The letter informed Lueders of a resolution passed by the township board which directed the DPW to replace trees which have been or might have been removed along the sewer right-of-way with a sapling tree and charge it against the contingency fund.

At it but not in it—that's the proper perspective for the Mill Pond, according to the Oakland County Health Department.

The Mill Pond is meant to provide a placid, pleasant vista for residents and passersby, but it should not be used for swimming, a health department spokesman noted.

"The source of the water, its color and bacterial count and the layout of the whole area put it far below standards for approved bathing," he said.

Will the pond be posted that it's not fit for swimming?

"There's no place to post it," he said. "We post beaches, and there are no beaches on the Mill Pond."

"Besides, it's not a place for swimming, so no one's going to swim in it."

Got that, all you people who aren't swimming out there in the Mill Pond?

Dave and Ruthann Couture, owners of Custom Floor Covering, report all office space has been leased in their newly expanded 8,500-square-foot building at 5930 M-15.

Arnold Electric already is located there. Others expected to move in within the next few weeks are Carpenter Real Estate, Little Caesar's Pizza Treat and the Clothes Tree, a dress shop.

Clarkston Area Jaycees will be presenting the money collected from their Walk for Independence center officials on Sunday. Just a reminder—there is still outstanding money to be collected. The places to pay it are the Town Shop, Independence Center, or call John Schoff at 625-8434 or Mike Luchenbach at 623-9469.

Venom Drugs

Scientists have recently learned that the venom from spiders, snakes and scorpions can have a useful effect, as well as a deadly one. They have studied more than 300 such venoms, and found them to be extremely complex and powerful drugs—so complex, in fact, that some cannot yet be sorted out with present methods.

Some parts of a venom can prevent blood from clotting; another will make it clot, or speed up the process. Other components block pain, interfere with nerve messages and muscle movement, or increase blood pressure.

Milking a snake, to extract a minute quantity of venom through the hollow fangs, is a tricky business. The procedure attracts thousands of visitors to one South American snake farm that is close to a major venom research laboratory.

Milking a tiny spider, without killing it, is even more delicate. Sometimes it is possible to anesthetize the spider, and then pass a microscopic electric probe through the venom gland. The gland contracts, forcing out a drop of venom to be collected and stored.

When the biochemists run out of spiders and snakes, they can still study the venom from other poisonous creatures in the sea: starfish, some catfish and sharks, sponges and coral. It is possible that drugs even more remarkable than those already described will be discovered.

Artist preserves historical Clarkston

Jean Harding Brown and the Gardner home on Main Street

Jean Harding Brown says she loves Clarkston. An artist of some note in Detroit, she has been busy the past month sketching various old buildings in the Clarkston area, and the results of her efforts are now on display in The Clarkston News.

Jean looks at her work as a method of preserving the lore of the past. If it weren't for sketches made during the time of Dickens, she points out, we would have very little idea of the lifestyle of that era.

Creator of the Metropolitan Detroit Series, she says, "The bulk of my painting has been 'peopled'. Sketching constantly, I find I am equally interested in the performance and the 'behind the scenes' views of people at work and at play.

"Music, the theatre, backdoor views of business—ranging all the way from stamping machines to seam stresses—all enchant me.

I suppose in a sense I am a vague kind of reporter, and use this library of information as reference for later simplification and impact in my painting."

The slow, including sketches of private homes as well as public buildings, will be on display at The News through July 27. Most of the pictures are for sale.

Road improvement plan set

The Independence Township Board Tuesday night gave the go-ahead for some $190,000 worth of road improvements, $20,000 of which will be paid for by the township.

Largest of the projects will be the widening of Sashabaw Road along the Pine Knob ski resort-music theater complex.

Owner of the complex, Indusco Corp., has agreed to pay up to $120,000 to add one northbound lane on Sashabaw between I-75 and Clarkston-Orion Road.

The Oakland County Road Commission will cover engineering fees and contribute $30,000 to the project. Tuesday night's action allows the county to establish a special assessment district to spread the Indusco bill over a 20-year period.

Board members voted to spend $20,000, to be matched by the Oakland County Road Commission, to begin an improvement program for secondary roads in the township.

The work this year is to be the start of a rebuilding program which should extend over two or three years, according to Township Clerk J. Edwin Glennie.

"This will take care of most of the worst areas this year," said Supervisor Robert Vandermark. "The greatest priority was given to roads that were completely impassable during the spring thaw."

Roads to be improved this year include Reese from Holcomb to Oak Hill, Allen from Holcomb to Cranberry and from Hubbard to Oak Hill, Rattalee Lake from Reese to M-15, Hubbard from Allen to M-15 and Cranberry Lake from Allen to M-15.

Others are Cranberry Lake from Allen to M-15, Hadley from M-15 to Shappie, Shappie from Hadley to Perry Lake, Perry Lake from Cranberry Lake to Hoyt, Pine Knob from Whipple to Indianwood from Dartmouth to Baldwin and Eston from Whipple to Indianwood.

Also included are Mary Sue south of Maybee and Sunnyside from Oak Park to Pine Knob.

The board also approved a $1 lease which will allow the township recreation department to use the 58-acre Baycourt Camp, owned by the United Foundation, as a day camp.

The recreation department plans to begin Monday busing youngsters from township playgrounds to the camp for nature study. The facility includes a lodge, cabins and a beach.

Arthur Ripley, 6729 Amy Drive, was appointed to the township planning commission to fill the unexpired term of Jack Belby, who resigned recently with six months left in his term.

Township board members will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 24.

COUNTRY LIVING

By Betty Hecker

This young couple's first home is a dream house. Jan and Bill Mackson and their 2-year-old son Eric have been in the house that Bill designed, and practically built single-handedly, less than a year.

Situated high on a hill, this huge four-level house is in a wooded area in Independence Township. "The house is really a four-level house, but the garage is two steps down from the kitchen floor, so it's listed as a five level house," Jan said.

Bill hired a contractor to rough in the shell and brick the front. Then he set to work—wiring, insulating, plastering and flooring. In fact, Jan said, "He did everything but lay the carpeting."

"He had laid carpeting when we lived in the apartment. He had never done anything like this before—I mean, the carpentry work. He's a teacher, and now people want him to work for them on summer jobs. He just finished a rec (recreation) room for someone. They wanted the same beam effect as ours."

The "beam" is a foot square barn beam, used as a support in the recreation/family room. Jan reported that she took out all her repressed feelings on that beam, roughing it by hacking and gouging and "distressing" it before it was stained black.

A rugged look was achieved in this family room through the use of barn wood paneling, brown brick fireplace and wall, the extra wide black slate topped hearth, the brown brick base with leatherlike formica topped bar and the handsome carpeting, patterned with various sizes of gray, black, brown, beige and tan blocks.

The black leather furniture, arranged in a conversation grouping in one section of the large family room, is accented with brightly colored throw cushions and a lemon yellow hand-crocheted afghan.

The dark pieces are contrasted to one orange and two bright yellow parson's tables and one large bright yellow bean bag chair.

Bill built the orange parson's table and the black barn wood cocktail table. Another piece of Bill's handcraft is the white enameled lamp with a black shade.

The enormous kitchen has a shiny, brick red floor, yards of walnut cabinets with a snow white formica countertop. Jan made the tie back curtains for the window over the sink from red material, very close in color to that of the floor.

The dining area has a doorwall, looking out on a wooded hillside. The round table is accompanied by black upholstered swivel chairs. The carpeting is a mellow green, yellow and gold shag and continues from the dining area into the living room.

The roomsize foyer has white pebble-like inlaid flooring. Bill and Jan have covered the walls with an olive green tweed effect paper. The hanging light is modern, with shiny bands of chrome and round glass bulbs.

The stairway leading up has bittersweet color carpeting, as does the upstairs hallway and the master bedroom. Alive and bright are the colors of the bedspread in the master bedroom, — lime, orange and yellow. These colors are used in the painting hanging over the bed of the "lovebird" owls. White walls are enhanced by dark stained woodwork. The bath off the master bedroom has a shower stall tiled with dark brown, and black rectangular shaped ceramic tiles, unique and different.

Eric's room is still a combination of baby and boy. There is a crib and lots of stuffed toys, but when Jan made his curtains, she was planning for the boy. They are done in a vintage car print, in the colors of the brown and beige shag carpeting.

The guest room has yellow carpeting. "We've still got a lot of wall papering and work yet to do. We want to panel and beam the living room, and of course, we still need furniture," Jan said.

Heatleys find big treasure

Now enjoying a three-week vacation are Dr. and Mrs. William Heatley of Clarkston, whose investment in a treasure hunting concern has rewarded them with a share in a $600 million find off Florida.

The Heatleys and a son were on hand last week to assist in the salvage of a heavy solid silver bars, ancient silver coins, cannon balls, guns and golden rosary beads from a 17th century

Spanish galleon which sank about 30 miles southwest of Key West more than 300 years ago.

While planning to put their share of the treasure "to a use the good Lord would want," the Heatleys realize it may be some time before they collect on the treasure, most of which is still in the sea.

Dr. Heatley is an osteopath with offices on the Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

Small touches make the big difference in decoration. A room grows dull if it has no subtleties to be discovered as you live in it. Accessories—that just right lamp, the little table and, of course, the pictures on the walls—bring life into the big furnishings in the room. So do “intimate” objects that reveal the personalities of the people who live among them. The little things that turn a room into a success aren’t always tangible objects. The way the plants are arranged, the pictures hung, the braid trim used, etc. In the weeks to follow, we hope to make you aware of all the little subtleties that will enhance your home.

You’ll find many ways to enhance your home at HOUSE OF MAPLE, 6605 Dixie Hwy., 625-5200. Featuring Michigan’s largest selection of Early American and Colonial furniture, we have been serving the needs of the community for over 20 years. Come in, join us for a cup of coffee, and browse through our name-brand collections. Hours: 9:30-9 Daily; Tues., Sat. ’til 6.

HELPFUL HINT: Large pictorial maps are an inexpensive decoration for your den or TV room. Use colored pin markers to point out places you’ve been, or want to see.

Check Land Sales Act

Mrs. Beverly J. Clark, Director of Licensing and Regulation today reminded persons, who are contemplating purchasing resort or recreational property (subdivided land) this summer, that Michigan's new Land Sales Act will become effective October 1, 1973, the Land Sales Act will become effective October 1, 1973.

She stated that on October 1, 1973, the Land Sales Division of the Department of Licensing and Regulation will have the authority and responsibility to examine, register and regulate the promotion and sale of recreational and resort property (subdivided land).

In order to assist those persons who are interested in purchasing land before October 1, 1973, Mrs. Clark offered these checkpoints when considering land purchases:

Recommend that you visit the property for personal inspection prior to signing any sales contract.

Request a copy of the federal property report if one is required by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

If the property inspected is being offered as a homesite:

Check with the County Health Department (where land is located) to see if water supply and septic system permits are available.

Check availability of utilities; i.e., telephone, electricity, gas or propane.

Check accessibility to the site.

Check availability of an abstract or title insurance for the property to assure a clear and marketable title.

In addition to quoted selling price of property, inquire about finance or service charges, taxes, closing costs, special assessments, association or maintenance fees.

Read CAREFULLY all forms presented to you by a salesperson. BEFORE you sign a contract for the purchase of land, make certain:

It contains all verbal promises made by a salesperson.

All blanks are filled in on the forms.

Do not waive any rights offered to you as a purchaser.

Receive a copy of all documents. Mrs. Clark advised that the Michigan Real Estate License Law also provides certain safeguards for those persons purchasing property through licensed real estate brokers or salesmen. These include:

Offerings made by a licensed broker or salesman must not be made so as to mislead.

Purchase agreements must contain all the terms of the transaction.

Misrepresentation and false promises are prohibited.

All money received in connection with the offer of purchase must be placed in a trust account pending consummation or termination of the transaction.

Mrs. Clark further stated that a person should request to see the real estate saleperson's license card in order to determine whether the person is actually a licensed broker or salesman.

In conclusion, Mrs. Clark said if any person has any questions or comments regarding the purchase of subdivided land, they may call the LAND SALES DIVISION, DEPARTMENT OF LICENSING AND REGULATION, HOT LINE, Toll Free, 1-800-292-2431.

"People helping people help themselves"

by Holly Stephens

If you have a child with emotional problems, a child causing conflict at home, a child whose learning is impeded by emotional conflict, there is help available.

Fairlawn Center (Children's Pre and After Care Clinic), an agency offering help to children from the North Oakland area, has representatives each week at independence center, 5331 Maybee Road.

The children's clinic was established through the combined efforts of the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board and Pontiac State Hospital to handle children's mental health needs within the area. Fees for this service are based on family income.

In addition to helping children with existing problems, the agency consults with individuals and groups in the community regarding the maintenance of children and detection and treatment of illness as early as possible.

Peggy Hlavoc and Tom Jones from the center have been involved this past year in the area of preventive therapy.

They have several early teen groups which meet weekly in group sessions. These groups are able to talk out their problems and counsel other teens.

The agency psychologists and therapists would like to see more parents seek help early before their children's problems become severe or cause further family conflicts.

Call independence center—673-2244 for an appointment.

ASSISTANT COORDINATOR — The board of directors of independence center is happy to announce the appointment of Betty Bond as assistance coordinator at the center.

Mrs. Bond is presently one of the volunteers at the center. She has attended all the training sessions offered there on mental health and how to help people work out problems and has gained hours of experience working at independence center.

The board would like to thank her for the work she has done in transporting counseling and helping those who appeal to the center for help, and wish her well in her new position.

A big chow line

by Betty Hecker

Cleon and Eileen Kortge and their three sons, Chris, Joel and Gary, are home from a vacation in Colorado. (No, the glowing report I gave Colorado about a month ago didn't convince the Kortges to go — Eileen's brother and his family live there.)

They visited a tourist ranch one evening for dinner—a real cowboy dinner, eaten off tin plates. The owner and master of ceremonies for the evening gave all the assembled directions on how to get their dinners. After the orders were given, Eileen reported, people started moving through the line—and 1,300 people were served dinner in 20 minutes! However, the camp biscuits left something to be desired, she said.

Betty Birkle and Doris Kurzava planned a luncheon and farewell party for Sandi (Mrs. Herb) Adams of Olympus Drive. The Adams family is moving to California.

The luncheon at the Voyager Restaurant gave about 40 gals from Waterford Hill and other friends a chance to say goodbye to Sandi, who is "a friendly gal to everyone. She's the kind of person who never meets a stranger. And she's always so happy!" said Delores Fagan.

So that Sandi will remember the day the gals presented her with a gold charm bracelet and the charm — A Date to Remember.

After spending some time with her grandparents, the R. M. Parkers of Main Street, Frances Ann (Hancock) Durand and her husband, James and their children, have now gone to Louisville, Ky., to visit James' parents. They then plan to return to their home in Virginia. Frances Ann is a former Clarkston resident.

Chuck and Judy Hancock and their family have started their return trip home to Bradenton, Florida. They also visited with his grandparents, the R. M. Parkers in Clarkston, and with Mrs. Homer Hancock of Pontiac.

Romance is not dead! Bill Hubbard and Coleen Quinlan eloped! On June 24, they drove up north and were married.

On Saturday, July 14, more than 130 friends and family members came to an open house given by Coleen's parents, Frank and Ann Quinlan of Big Lake, to wish the new couple well. Evelyn Hubbard of Andersonville is the mother of the groom.

Congratulations to the happy couple!

Airman Joseph A. Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crosby, 8660 M-15, is expected home soon for a two to three week recuperation period following hospitalization at Fitzsimmons Army Medical Center in Denver, Colo.

Stationed at F. E. Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming, Airman Crosby is reported to be recovering steadily after six weeks in the hospital.

Boris Bronson, owner of the House of Maple on the Dixie Highway, reports his son, Dr. Richard F. Bronson, was promoted to major at Ft. Devon army base in Massachusetts.

Maj. Bronson's wife and his two-year-old daughter are visiting proud Grandpa Bronson this week.

The annual fun day of the Grace Miner Golf League was held July 10 at Springfield Oaks Golf Club. The event was attended by 25 members, who enjoyed a luncheon in the clubhouse at which prizes were awarded.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rioux of Davisburg was the scene of the July picnic for Clinton Valley Barracks 2803 and its auxiliary.

Some 29 members sat down to a co-op dinner. A short auxiliary business meeting preceded a social afternoon.

The August picnic will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Landen of Holly, Aug. 11.

A baby girl by the name of Rachel Anne has made the David Myer duo a threesome. The first child of the Myers, who live at 5300 Mary Sue, was born July 6 at Pontiac General Hospital.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Myers of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of Drayton Plains.

Gladys Bump, her son Max and daughter Joyce returned Saturday from a four-and-a-half week vacation in the western and southern states.

Highlights of the trip included the 17th International Rally of the Wally Byam Caravan Club in Bozeman, Mont., Yellowstone National Park, Mount Rushmore and a stop in Atlanta, Ga. to visit relatives. The Bumps live at 5490 Console.

Is there a new baby at your house? Are you home from a fantastic vacation? How is your garden growing? Keep me posted, folks, and I'll pass it along to your neighbors! Call me, I'm home!

Davisburg postmaster happy fellow

Mickey Gonzalez

By Betty Hecker
The other day I met Mickey Gonzalez—a happy man.

He was recently appointed postmaster of the Davisburg Post Office.

His history with the United States Postal Service began in Waterford in 1962 when Mickey became a substitute carrier. During the next nine years, he walked to deliver the mail, he drove, he was a swing man, he had a regular appointment and then he became a letter carrier trainer. For 3 years, he served as the President of National Letter Carriers Local No. 4884.

In May, 1971, he was transferred to Davisburg as a rural carrier steward, and with his four-wheel drive Chevrolet Blazer, never missed a delivery.

"I loved the day-to-day contact with the people, especially the kids," Mickey said.

On June 30, 1972, with the retirement of Davisburg Postmaster Lucille Krause, Mickey was appointed as officer in charge.

This position more or less kept him in the office, in the attractive 11-year-old building. Numerous improvements have been made to the post office during the past, and Mickey anticipates more improvements to offer better facilities in the future.

"The projected increase over the next 10-year planning period indicates a growth factor of 84 percent for the volume of mail. We anticipate an increase of the work force shortly," he said. There are presently seven employees.

His quick smile and easy manner show his love for and interest in people. A new resident reported that Mickey knew her by name on her third trip into the post office, which surprised her as she was accustomed to "big city post offices."

She reported that on one of her trips to the post office, she found Mickey barefoot, pant legs rolled up, mopping the floor and singing lustily.

When asked about unusual items that pass through the office, he reported that worms, ladybugs and chickens sometimes required special handling.

Mickey assists with deliveries on overburdened routes or during heavy snows (such as last St. Patrick's Day).

"The biggest degree of satisfaction is the kids I meet along the route. I love it at Christmas, and I sincerely believe the mail is the world's greatest bargain at 8 cents a letter," he said.

Mickey and his wife Victoria expect a new baby, their third child, in August.

Their other children are 9-year-old Michelle and 4-year-old Anthony. They live in Waterford.

Mickey is an accomplished musician, who plays the organ and the cordovox every Saturday evening at DeLisa's in Rochester. On Wednesday evenings, he entertains at the Rochester Elks Club.

New Salvation Army staff member in the area is Lt. Ward [Robin] Haynes, whose responsibilities include work at the Clarkston Salvation Army outpost.

Spiritual Message

"Last of all as to one untimely born, He appeared also to me." II Corinthians 13:8

We have a curious use of the words 'timely' and 'untimely'. If a beloved friend dies suddenly in the midst of a full life we call it an untimely death. But if some great good fortune falls on one who is thereby relieved of a pressuring problem, we call it a timely stroke of luck.

St. Paul in his Corinthian letter called himself that one apostle among all others unique because he was 'untimely born' and the Lord had appeared to him specially.

July would normally be timely if we recognized it as the season for vacations and travel and ball games and swimming. But just as St. Paul was a renegade to his fellow-religionists and was called by God sort of 'out of his time' to turn his life around and really live for God, so even in lazy summer days important 'untimely' but good things happen to people and people around them also reap benefits.

Good News is always timely. A baby is born on a sweltering hot day. A man's life is spared to be used far better than he ever used it before. A surprising act of kindness in a cynical situation confirms that God is at work. Don't turn Him off just because it seems like an 'untimely' season for things divine.

She's a sitter for setters . . .

Shari Bray, a 14-year-old Sashabaw Junior High School student, has turned her summers into exciting adventures full of new friends with a unique enterprise: animal-sitting.

An avid animal lover, Shari watched classmates turn to babysitting for extra spending money and pondered what she might do with animals. An advertisement was placed once last summer in a weekly newspaper and the telephone began ringing non-stop. It read:

Don't leave your pet in a cramped kennel while you go on vacation this summer. Young girl with country home, experienced with animals, will give your pet (any type) TLC (tender, loving care) in your absence."

In August, December, April and again this summer, Shari still gets inquiries from the year-old ad, which potential customers have clipped, filed and saved until needed.

At one point, her mother was somewhat shocked to discover that the 18-acre Gordon Bray farm on Pine Knob Road was providing temporary housing for a total of nine dogs, not including the Brays' own St. Bernard and collie. After that reservations were limited.

Shari's dog sitting (plus a couple of cats) generally has proved to be thriving, humorous, hectic and rewarding. More important than even the monetary gain, which at the end of last summer enabled her to purchase a second-hand horse trailer, is what her mother calls the "side benefits" of spending her teenage summers busily occupied and happily giving and receiving love from over 30 foster pets.

After careful health screening, each "guest" is accepted as a truly loved member of the family during their visits, which have ranged from two days to several months.

"Every one has a distinct personality," Shari maintains.

The "babies" are babied, often sharing the same bed with Shari; the insecure are cuddled and talked to reassuringly; special diet preferences are obtained; and the rough-and-tumble are often seen chasing balls and sticks with Shari and her brother, Bob, 12, across the open fields. They say all, from the tiny Chihuahua to the huge Great Dane, have proved to be extremely friendly, and on repeat visits often seem to excitedly remember the place as a second home.

Shari Bray enjoys summer's dog daze.
