Everybody loves a parade

by Jim Sherman

I don't do much of the family food shopping anymore. A dozen years ago I did most of it. The cupboard was always full of olives, mini sardines, sausage, weiners, and cheese.

A few weeks ago I stopped by the meat department of a chain store primarily to pick out some meat.

However, the news was making me very price conscious. I started checking prices and writing them down.

In particular I became interested in how much a pound people pay for prepared, packaged meats.

Take for instance, sliced cooked ham. Packaged in plastic and hung by its cardboard backing it's $1.13 for 6 ounces. That's $3.39 lb. Semi boneless ham was selling at $1.29 a pound that day.

Sliced big bologna in these neat, attractive plastic packages was 69c for 6 ounces, $1.19 for 12 ounces, and $1.49 for a pound. Big bologna in chunks were 89c lb. Customers were paying 60c a pound, at least, to have someone cut their bologna.

Back to the sardine and olive dept.

Recently we did a mini-survey on personal columns in one of our papers. Only Jim's Jottings drew unfavorable comments. One person said they never read it. Dumb person.

A couple said they look at it to see the topic, then decide if they'll continue reading.

The first item will give these people a chance to say, "Aw, bologna!"

Smokers are getting so they bother me in a different way.

Those who draw the smoke right to their toes are the ones I'm referring to.

The feeling varies from... you poor soul, why do you do it, don't you know what it's doing to you?

To... you dummy!

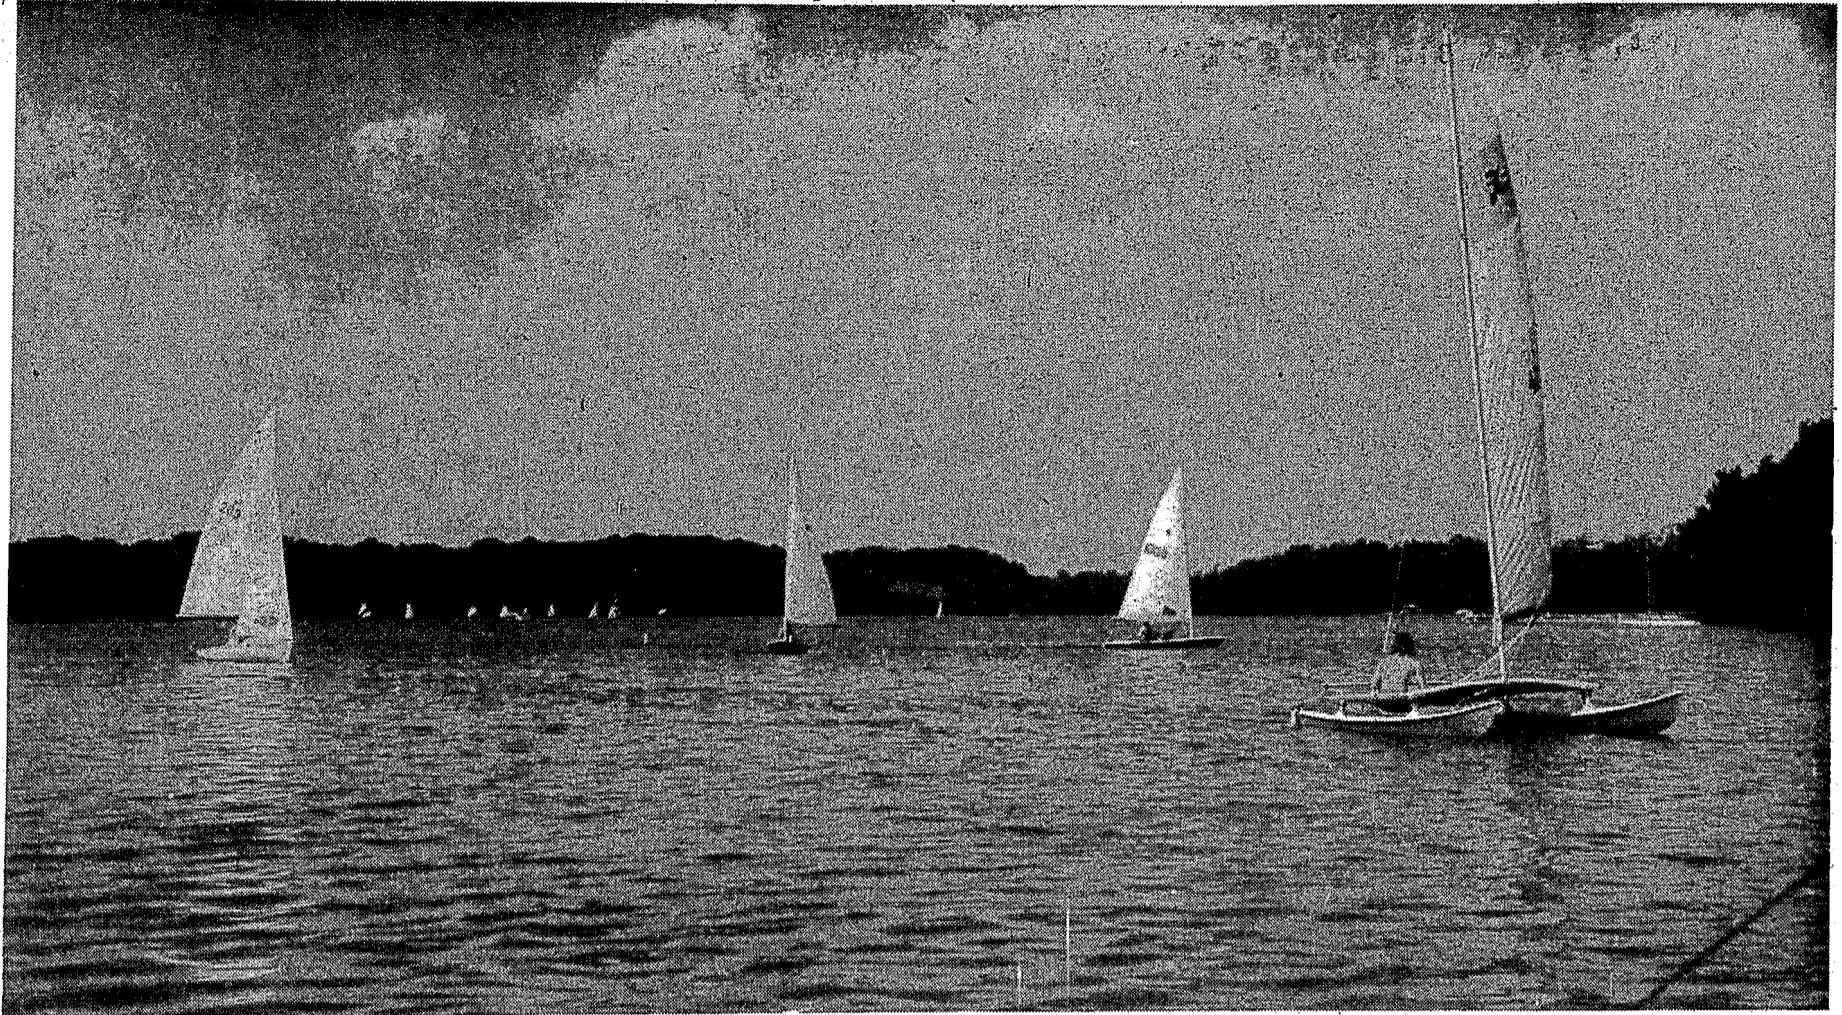

Some salesman has done a great job selling "OPEN" and "CLOSED" signs. Trouble is, in too many instances, he forgot to tell the store owners which to put up - when.

How often do you see the sign in windows when the meaning is reversed?

School's beginning prompts me to wonder when English and math teachers are going to get jackets of school colors to wear when they go to conferences.

Instead of "Coaching Staff" across the left chest, they would have "Teaching Staff". They could substitute double knits for nylon and wear stocking hats instead of baseball caps.

They need a bolder image... one that would make people as aware of their presence as coaches do. Yeah, Math! Slip that slide rule.

She deserves her break today

Lezlie Callahan, a counter charmer

By Pat Braunagel

While most of the rest of us were slogging through the last heat-filled days of August, 17-year-old Lezlie Callahan was hard at work bringing greater glory to Clarkston.

The Clarkston High School senior has come out a winner in three contests now, and next month she'll be going on to the state finals in the McDonald's All-American Team competition.

Lezlie's area of expertise: counter.

Other categories are shakes, fries and grill, and last being subdivided into bun, meat and dressing.

Lezlie won her first counter crown on the local level, when she was one of a trio picked to represent McDonald's of Independence Township, 6695 Dixie Highway, in the area "mini-market."

The judges there were impressed with her style in serving customers, so they awarded her a $50 savings bond and sent her on her way up the McDonald's All-American Team ladder.

Regional competition Aug. 29, with challengers from all over the Detroit metropolitan area, was tougher and more exciting.

"There was a 15-minute warm-up so we could learn to use to cash registers and find out where everything was," Lezlie said.

She noted there are differences among McDonald's stores, that even prices may vary between franchises and company stores.

After the warm-up, contestants are judged for 30 minutes as they wait on customers.

They are given points on a checklist which covers procedure, accuracy, cleanliness, T.L.C. (yes, that's Tender Loving Care), teamwork, personal appearance, hustle and attitude.

Heaviest consideration is given to procedure--which has six steps, beginning with greeting and ending at asking the customer to return--and to T.L.C.--of product, equipment and customer.

"There's a certain way to put ice in the cup," Lezlie said as she ran down the checklist by which she had been appraised.

Contestants in other categories are required to answer questions about their specialties--to know, for instance, how many ounces of french fries go into big and regular orders.

But in counter, the challengers simply are watched by a panel of store managers while they work.

At regional event, four winners were named to the counter team.

"I didn't expect it," Lezlie said of her victory. She figured a relatively new employee of a new McDonald's store didn't stand much of a chance. "I just couldn't believe it.

"In that split second before they called my name, I had convinced myself I wouldn't win. Then when they called me, I couldn't move. I just couldn't move."

At this level, Lezlie received a $150 Hudson's gift certificate and a plaque.

Lezlie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thoman Callahan, 5322 Chanto, doesn't know what prizes the state champs will get in Lansing. She also doesn't know whether her good showing in the McDonald's contest will change her attitude about after school plans, which are pretty hazy right now.

"When I first started at McDonald's about six months ago, I just took it as a job," she said. "Now I'm really involved.

"This will be one of the things I'll think about when I get out of school."

Trim changed his mind?

Springfield Township may not need a new supervisor after all.

There were some indications that Claude Trim, who resigned Aug. 1 giving a 30-day notice, might have changed his mind.

"I wouldn't want to say for certain--maybe Claude will continue," said Township Trustee E.L. Rundell. "He's got things worked out down at the factory.

"I can't say for sure, but maybe we won't need to find a new one (supervisor)."

The regular township board meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 5. "Nothing has been decided,"

Rundell said last week. "We haven't had a meeting yet. We've talked among ourselves, of course, but no decision has been made. The matter is still pending."

When Trim resigned at the Aug. 1 board meeting, he cited as his reasons "the increased work load and personal responsibilities" as well as the hours required to do the assessing and the work for the supervisor's office.

The township board took no immediate action on the resignation.

Among opinions expressed were "Trim was an honest man," "He's so dedicated" and "What are we going to do now?"

Teachers accept contract

The Clarkston Board of Education was to meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday to consider the tentative contract which had been ratified by school district teachers Friday.

The agreement, affecting some 275 teachers, was approved by a 103-4 vote at the meeting called by the Clarkston Education Association. There was one absentee.

Commission okays four site plans

Site plan approval for Clarkston Power Center's new 60 by 85 foot metal building, to be located on the Dixie Highway between the Oakland Motel and Kayo gas station, was provided last week by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

Owner Cliff Church said parking for the facility, placed on a lot with 100 foot frontage, would be accommodated on an adjacent 100 by 200 feet at the rear of the new Palace Restaurant.

The building will be fronted in bronze glass and steel, Church said. Shrubs will be placed along the north property line and a redwood fence will be erected between his parking lot and the Palace Restaurant property.

Site plan approval was also accorded for two barns housing 42 horses, an indoor riding hall and observation room on Clarkston Orion Road near Pine Knob. Dave Lackey said most of the 32.5 acres he intends to turn into an equestrian training facility will be undeveloped and left for exercising the horses.

Edward Krause, owner of the Nickelodion on North N-15, belatedly sought and received site plan approval for repairs he had undertaken at the property store and tavern.

Allowed as a non-conforming use in a suburban farm zoning area, the building requires site plan approval and a building permit for any changes Krause was told.

He reported he had restored two walls which had burned previous to his purchase of the building three years ago.

A 16 by 87 foot addition for storage and registration at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club was also approved.

Len Bullard, petitioner, said additional storage area was needed in the skeet shooting area. "Now," he said, "they shoot and all the tables and chairs fall down and everybody gets nervous."

Sashabaw improvement due in 1974

Relief is on the way for those who have endured long traffic jams in connection with events at Pine Knob, according to the board of county road commissioners, which has scheduled extensive road improvements in the area for construction in 1974.

The total project cost, according to William M. Richards, chairman, will be $200,000. He said Indusco Corporation, of Troy, owners and operators of Pine Knob, will pay $120,000 of the cost, with the Road Commission paying the balance.

Richards said improvements in the Pine Knob area will include installation of an extra traffic lane along the east side of Sashabaw Road, from I-75 to Clarkston Road; improvement of the Sashabaw-Clarkston intersection by installation of a left-turn lane in all four approaches; expanding the capacity and improving the traffic flow on the northbound I-75 exit ramp to Sashabaw road; installing a passing lane along the west side of Sashabaw, from the I-75 bridge to Waldon Road; and improvement of the Sashabaw-Waldon intersection.

Private road becomes battlefield

By Pat Braunagel
Shades of the Hatfields and McCoys—with just a tinge of a religious war thrown in for good measure!

The folks on Reeder Road are feuding, and no outsider is about to take a guess as to how the whole thing will turn out.

"We'd be crazy to get in the middle of that one," commented Independence Township Building Inspector Ken Delbridge after he and Supervisor Robert Vandermark had made one attempt to mediate the private road matter.

It looked for awhile there last week like they had been successful.

Rev. Ken Hauser, whose Pine Knob Community Church congregation is building a new house of worship on the south side of Reeder, reportedly agreed to put a layer of gravel and oil or chloride on the surface of the road.

Mrs. Marvin Sims of 3070 Reeder, across the road from the building site, is not happy about what Hauser originally did to the road nor the "corrections."

Although she claims even her husband isn't too happy about her crusade, she got five registered voters from Reeder to sign a petition objecting to the "misuse and destruction of Reeder Road by any individual."

There are nine houses along the road, which runs west off Clintonville south of Maybee. But the largest single parcel by far is that apparently being used as the site for the new church.

One of the residents is Hugh Remiley, who lives next to the church that he is helping to build.

"The road is better now that it's ever been," Remiley claimed, adding that "we own the road and we'll do anything to it we want."

Mrs. Sims said Hauser removed the iron ore base from the road and used it the foundation of his church.

"The road's a foot lower, and it was nothing but blow sand," she said.

She appealed to township officials, who have no real authority in the matter but did try to lend a helping, and perhaps cooler, hand.

"Rev. Hauser has verbally agreed to put in the gravel base and oil or chloride," Vandermark said. "I have no way to force him to do it."

What is now covering a portion of the dirt road is oil, the smell of which has been a source of complaints by some neighbors.

Remileys father-in-law, Eugene Cooper, who lives on the corner and the property along either side of Reeder Road, has always maintained it himself.

Mrs. Sims said he's never accepted any payment for the maintenance.

While all property owners must be given free access to their property, there are wide differences of opinion on the extent of any other rights Reeder Road residents may have.

Mrs. Sims, who said an attorney advised her to take no action until a heavy rain made the road impassable, claimed she's giving up.

"There's nothing we can do," she said.

"This is a typical situation with a private road," said Delbridge. "It's a very complicated situation."

Adversaries Mrs. Sims, Hugh Remiley face off across Reeder Road.

Teenage scene

Teenage and parent communication

by Diane Leaf

Is there a generation gap, or is there only a communication gap? After talking with other teenagers it appears the gap is more in communication than age.

Just ask yourself if you can really be with your parent or teenager and talk about the things that are important to each other. Not about school or the movies, but about viewpoints on life that are bound to be separated by years of living.

Even if you might completely disagree on what the goals or aims should be in other's life, can you listen and at least try to understand.

It isn't just important for parents to put themselves in the shoes of the teenager growing up in today's troubled times, but also that kids give some serious thought to the problems of providing the home life which is often taken for granted. It's like a swinging door that can be opened and closed from both directions.

Topping the list of necessities before going into an important discussion is for both to be in a calm mood. Words and ideas expressed in anger or under tension seldom come out saying what we really mean.

When you know the conversation is deadlocked by a disagreement that neither can solve, head for a compromise. There's always one there and it's better than closing the door.

If communication between you and your parents, or teenager, have always been very difficult, you might try something that has proven a godsend to our family. Just sit down and write the other a letter. Years ago I began writing short notes and letters to my mother.

At first I was unable to ask her for the help I needed, but it was the beginning of my being able to relate to her some of the problems I was experiencing. This in turn opened that door which led to us being able to sit down and talk face to face.

We are now able to discuss my views on boys, school, drugs and alcohol, dress codes and subjects that would have probably been a source of embarrassment to both before.

The letters also had several other advantages. Words that could have only hurt, instead of yelling, were erased and the letters could and are still kept for rereading. It's working out just great. I've begun writing letters to my father also. With his busy work schedule this form of letter communication has a special time value.

Many people have read and found true this appropriate poem, written by Frederick S. Peris.

I do my thing
And you do your thing

I am not in this world to Live up to your expectations

And you are not to live up to mine

You are You
And I am I

And if by chance we find each other
It's beautiful.

Think about this poem and its meaning in your own family relationship. It can't hurt to give it a try.

A pot of soft rouge is a welcome addition to any girl's collection of beauty aids. However, do be careful how you use it! Apply cold cream first. Any actress will tell you that cold cream forms a base on your skin which makes deep cleansing easier. Always use a clean finger. Blend up and out. Better to have no color at all than an unnatural painted look. Never use cake rouge or dry powders as they leave a tell-tale haze on your skin.

A good parade

There's something about a parade... And Clarkston's Labor Day parade was something special. A complete community turnout. People started streaming downtown an hour before parade time, and chose with some care shady side of the street watcher posts. Some brought lawn chairs and passed the time bantering with neighbors, some of whom they hadn't seen since school was dismissed. The work that had gone into the floats and other entries was evident and appreciated. Clarkston Rotary Club did a good job in setting up the parade, and the community did a good job in supporting their efforts. We enjoyed it all—from marching youngsters to intricate floats.

Ironing it out

by Jean Saile

More than freshly pressed shirts used to come off my ironing board in the good old days of domesticity. Stuck with a weekly ironing basket that could have kept the Salvation Army in business for at least a month, I learned early to automate. That is -- the arm moved and the back bent, but the mind wasn't with it.

Ironing time was thinking time -- time to resolve the great problems of the world -- time to rethink and enjoy again past pleasures -- time to anticipate coming events.

From my ironing board, for example, came the thought long before it was put into action that we needed vocational education centers to serve more than one district.

So did Rochester's Art 'n Apples festival. So did contemplation about being a better parent.

The Joseph McCarthy rampage in Washington back in the early 50's was sorted out over the ironing board, and he was fitted early into the sordid slot where history has finally placed him.

I have the feeling that if I were still doing the ironing and having unlimited time to think, some of the Watergate intricacies would have boiled down to a more understandable glob.

More than that, I think if all the presidential advisors had to do the ironing once a week, they might have time to sort our right from wrong and keep us all from being embroiled in such a mess.

Recent interest in various forms of meditation, whether it be associated with a religion or not, are a throwback to my ironing board.

And I didn't even have to chant. The swish, thump of the iron against cloth provided soothing accompaniment.

In my parents' day, there were any number of opportunities for meditation. Great thoughts and great poetry emerged from the milking of cows, the churning of butter, the manual operation of an old washing machine -- even while sitting on a plow drawn by four placid horses.

Today, if we do have a free minute it's more often than not spent with our head tucked in the idiot box. We let TV program our thoughts.

The pace of our life is to our detriment, and therefore I'm in favor of ironing boards -- for me and one for each member of the White House staff.

"If It Fitz . . ."

How to butter corn

By Jim Fitzgerald

My wife claims normal people wouldn't believe how it is that I can state, without fear of contradiction, that I always sit exactly 1 yard away from the TV set.

But what does she know? She doesn't even know how to butter corn on the cob.

The corn business really surprised me. And I live in a house ruled by cats, so I don't surprise easily. I guess the surprise came from the fact that she waited until we had been married 18 years before she criticized the way I attack corn on the cob. She usually doesn't wait 18 seconds before telling me what is wrong with me.

I would rather eat corn on the cob than anything you could name, except possibly fresh peaches on ice cream. I mention this only to stress that this is no trivial subject I am laying on you this week. As President Nixon might say, let other people fret about the small, unimportant things. We big people will get on with the business of running this country and eating corn on the cob.

I was preparing to attack my 3rd ear the other evening when my wife suddenly said: "You butter all of your corn at the same time!"

She said it the same way she might have said: "You just cut off your son's head!"

And she continued: "You are supposed to butter only the rows you are going to eat on 1 trip along the cob. They you butter and salt some more rows, and eat them, and so on. That way you don't drip butter all over your chin and my furniture."

"I want a divorce," I said. "I have always eaten my corn this way. I cannot butter particular rows and then eat them, and then butter some more rows, and then eat them. This is because I do not chomp evenly along the cob, like a typewriter. I sometimes spy some particularly luscious-looking kernels, perhaps above the rows currently under attack, or maybe below. I will often bite up, or dip down, as the case may be, to eat those kernels. I do this for fear the world might end before I reach that particular row under the normal scheme of things, and I would never get to eat those choice kernels. A man never knows what the future holds. You can't be too careful. Naturally, I don't want to eat any unbuttered kernels, so . . ."

"Divorce granted," she interrupted. And, as she left the room, she muttered a snide and typically irrelevant remark about how I reach the TV set.

Actually, my TV habit makes good sense, the same as my corn buttering. There is something wrong with the channel switch, but not much. The picture disappears every once in awhile but all you have to do is touch the switch and the picture returns. Naturally, I am not going to get up out of my chair every time that switch needs touching. So I jab it with a stick.

That's how I know for sure that I sit 1 yard away from the TV set. I use a yardstick.

My wife insists this is strange behavior. But I am not offended. I am not sure she is a good judge of strangeness. The other day, so help me, I overheard her asking the cats if they believed Nixon was telling the truth.

Onward and Upward, and it is OK to jump rows.

Oh, chute !

the chute Saturday from the basement, when I had taken refuge from the heat on the pretext of doing the laundry.

"If you want your Bermudas washed, you'd better bring them down now," I yelled up through the chute to my husband in the bedroom.

Seconds later I heard the fateful half-swish which was to determine the course of our entire afternoon.

I made the trip up to the second floor.

"Don," I said, the epitome of patience, "we do not throw clothes down the laundry chute. It is not big enough."

"You didn't get the shorts?"

"No."

"Then I'll bet you didn't get my softball uniform either, huh?"

"Why didn't you toss your shoes in, too?" I said, retreating to the basement.

Fifty minutes later, as I watched him poking up the chute with a broom taped to a yardstick taped to a fireplace poker, I got the bright idea of tossing a brick into the chute to force everything through.

Don propped a dish pan on the clothes dryer to protect the dryer and the gas pipe leading to it, both directly under the chute.

I went back up to the second floor with the brick, noticing it was not getting any cooler.

I dropped it and nothing happened. Back down in the basement, my husband suggested "the brick may have gotten stuck on my sneakers."

"Sneakers?"

"The ones you told me to toss down. I figured they'd unjam the clothes."

"I'm leaving you," I said.

I spent the rest of the afternoon in the living room in front of a fan, sipping lemonade and making occasional trips to the basement to finish my laundry.

As the hours wore on, my sweaty husband managed to dislodge the shorts and break both the yardstick and the poker.

"The season's over. What about leaving the uniform up there?" he wondered at one point.

"Your softball uniform? I won't even leave it in the hamper overnight. I'm certainly not going to bury it alive in a wall of our house."

I returned to my lemonade.

Eventually the uniform and a shoe came free.

The brick and one sneaker remained.

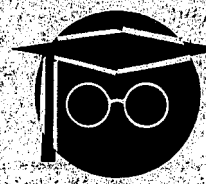

I returned to the basement with another bright idea. My husband was slouched against the wall, dripping and exhausted. He looked horrible.

"Why don't I turn off the clothes dryer?" I suggested. "It might make you a little more comfortable."

He rose up, staring at me, and turned off the dryer, still staring.

Then, with considerably more energy than he had displayed all afternoon, he rammed the broomstick-taped-to-a-mop-handle up the chute.

It was then, folks, that the brick hit the pan.

Two youths dead in auto-cyle accident

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department Tuesday was seeking a negligent homicide warrant against a 34-year-old Ortonville woman in regards to two traffic deaths.

Mary L. Evans of 3355 Hickory Ridge was expected to be arraigned before Clarkston District Judge Gerald McNally in connection with the Sept. 1 car-motorcycle accident on M-15 in Brandon Township.

Dead at the scene were motorcyclist John J. Hallman, 19, and his passenger, Daniel E. Doetsch, 18, both of Detroit.

The cycle was headed north on M-15 Saturday morning when the south-bound Evans automobile turned left in front if it at the Food Ranch Super Market south of Castleman Road, according to sheriffs deputies.

Tax deadline extended

Clarkston Village taxpayers have until October 15 to pay village taxes assessed in the summer billing. The village council has voted to extend the deadline from August 31.

Both youths were pronounced dead at the scene of the collision.

Zoning map wrong; a line missing

The zoning map run in conjunction with the new Clarkston ordinance last week contains an error.

A missing line makes it appear that all Main Street frontage on the east side of the street from Washington to the township hall has been zoned commercial. It has not.

Only that portion from Washington to a vacant lot situated between Clarkston Auto Parts and the Frank Russell home has been zoned commercial. The rest remains residential.

The Clarkston News regrets the inaccuracy.

Builders drop one case in Sunnybrook, fight another

Residents of Sunnybeach Country Club Subdivision No. 2 have won their court case against builders Koehler and Marcum, without opposition.

A second case, in which the builders are suing the Independence Zoning Board of Appeals, has been taken under advisement by Oakland County Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts.

In a hearing before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, residents won a permanent injunction against a variance granted by the zoning board of appeals. It would have allowed Koehler and Marcum to construct two houses on two undersized lots and a third on two more lots.

The Waterford Township builders, who had asked for a variance to build four houses on the four lots, were not represented in court on the matter.

However, they are pursuing their case against another decision of the zoning board of appeals, in which they were denied a variance to build a house on a 7,440-square-foot site.

Both parties are to submit briefs to Roberts on the question of whether he can and should require the township to issue a building permit for the site.

Basketball league

Independence Township Recreation Department men's basketball league, beginning November 5, will be limited to eight teams. The first ones in with the $40 entry fee will be enrolled, according to Tim Doyle, recreation director.

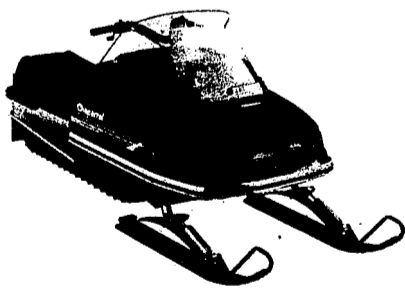

The oldest regular archery tournament known as the "Ancient Scorton Arrow", was founded in Yorkshire in 1673. King Charles II of England encouraged archery and about the year 1790, the royal Toxophilite (meaning "bow loving") Society was formed. The Grand National, a ruling body of British archery was established in 1844 and has conducted championship contests since that year. It was not until 1828 that archery began to be a recognized, organized sport in America. The National Archery Association was founded in Boston, Massachusetts in 1878.

Tension Relief

Psychologists have recently come up with some sound advice on how to stop tension that is as old as common sense:

TALK IT OUT, with someone you can trust. This not only relieves the strain but outsiders can sometimes help you get a fresh look at things. It's cheaper than a breakdown.

GET AWAY for a while and come back with new strength. Sticking with a problem isn't always the best policy.

OWN UP TO IT, confront it, admit it! It's no disgrace to be anxious and tense. Let it break free.

GIVE IN during your next quarrel or two. Remember, you must be wrong sometimes. If you yield, others will do the same and you'll both feel better.

DO SOMETHING for someone else, something you aren't expected to do. Take your mind off yourself and your own grief.

FORGET TRIFLES that bug you; fretting about little things can make you miss the whole purpose of living.

LEAVE YOUR SHELL. Emerge and greet the world. Don't sulk at home with old wounds and the feeling of being left out, slighted, neglected. Don't be too pushy, but don't just sit there waiting to be asked to the palace ball.

HAVE FUN. Take time out for pleasure; build it into your schedule. Relaxation absorbs pressure like a sponge does water.

LET UP on people who let you down. Relax. Get off their back and you'll get up off your own.

The questions people ask about . . .

NO FAULT

Child Care Benefits

QUESTION: I am a widow earning $150.00 a week as a clerical worker. I take care of my three children, age 8, 10 and 12. If I am in an accident and can't care for my children, can I be paid for getting someone to care for them?

ANSWER: Yes. You would receive $127.50 a week in benefits ($150.00 minus 15%). (Sec. 3107) In addition, you could receive up to $20.00 a day for the reasonable cost of child care -- so long as you were unable to care for the children, to a maximum of 3 years. But the total for wage loss benefits and child care benefits is limited to $1,000.00 per month. If the cost of child care is over $20.00 a day and if you could prove fault of the other driver, you could sue for the amount of the cost over what you collect from your own insurance policy. (Sec. 3135(2) (c))

QUESTION: I am a housewife with small children. Believe me I work 20 hours a day, seven days a week (sometimes it seems like nine), caring for the kids, but I get no pay check. If I am injured can I receive any benefits similar to a wage loss?

ANSWER: Yes -- up to $20.00 a day for 3 years for the cost of hiring someone else to perform your duties as a mother and homemaker -- up to a maximum of 3 years. If the cost of replacing your services exceeds $20.00 a day and if you can prove fault of the other driver you could sue for the amount of the cost over $20.00 day. (Sec 3135(2) (c))

"Huge savings on genuine junior Ski-Doo suits!"

Here's a tip from Yvon Duhamel:

"If you think new winter outerwear for the kids is going to cost you a fortune, think again! Now's your chance to get a terrific pre-season price on genuine junior Ski-Doo suits and jackets."

"Pay your Ski-Doo dealer a visit and see these junior suits and jackets. Since they're made by Ski-Doo, you know they're going to be well-cut and sturdy enough to take the kind of kicking around they'll get from young snowmobilers. And, if your kids are like mine, they'll love the Junior Racing Club patch we're including with each suit and jacket.

By the way, many Ski-Doo dealers have similar savings on other Ski-Doo sportswear items. But hurry—Sale ends October 14th."

The independent view

by Jean Saile and Pat Bräunagel

The photos we ran last week of last year's Labor Day crowds were the work of Jerry Bradley. Our belated thanks to him for making them available.

When a big semi truck goes out of control and turns over as it did last week on White Lake Road at the Dixie Highway, it leaves quite a mess. That particular truck was carrying sand, and what it did to the landscaping around Boothby's Gift Shop was sad. Add an oil slick to plants covered by sand and you can pretty much get the picture.

Nothing quite so forlorn as the morning after a celebration. Downtown Clarkston Tuesday morning displayed the litter of hundreds who had enjoyed the carnival and parade Monday.

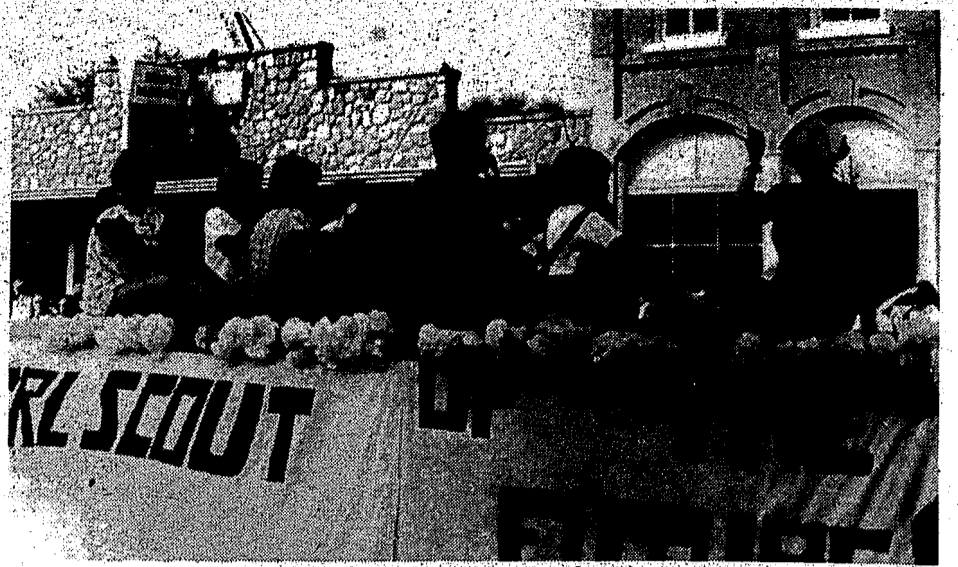

Consensus is that it was a really good parade.

We have $5.19 in pennies. They're earmarked for new windows at the Salvation Army, now used as a drop-in center for senior citizens. Winter is on the way and it might get cold without glass in some of the windows.

A first for Clarkston—according to our Labor Day Calendar, sail boat races were to take place Sunday on the Village Parking Lot. The gremlins were at work again, and the only thing that saved us was that the correct place was mentioned elsewhere in the paper.

Rev. Frank Cozadd of Clarkston United Methodist Church notes in the church bulletin that August has become the favorite month for weddings, replacing June. He reports 13 were performed in his church last month.

Members of the Independence Township Recreation Department Little League Widget Division and their parents were guests of Pine Knob last week for the Glenn Campbell concert there. A nice thing to do.

Mrs. Hubbard is a dynamo

If she were a few years younger, Mrs. J.P. Hubbard, 82 North Holcomb, might almost be classed as a member of the jet set.

Only recently returned from Alaska and Washington State, she's just back from Ohio, and now making arrangements to enter the Chelsea Methodist Home come October.

She figures that will be all right. She'll just make the calls on the sick she's been making right along in Clarkston -- do some of the less livelier guests' shopping on daily trips downtown, and teach some of the crafts she dearly loves.

Mrs. Hubbard is "81 past", but to see her or to talk to her you'd put her age more nearly 60. She credits working and walking, having only recently given up the weekly mile-and-a-half hike to the hairdresser, for her immense well-being.

"But you've got to accept being old," she philosophizes. She may accept it but it's obvious she hasn't given in to it.

A founder more than 50 years ago of the Oakland County Extension Council, she's maintained the crafts skill she learned then and is even now augmenting it with classes in Rochester.

"You've got to keep learning something, do something different," says this animated senior citizen. About the only craft she doesn't like is decoupage, that painstaking job of layer-after-layer of lacquer and sanding over art pieces. Results aren't quick enough, she says.

The trip to Alaska was the second one. "The first time we only got as far as Skagway and I wanted to see Anchorage and Fairbanks," she confides. She also took the opportunity to go up a mountain -- "not McKinley" -- in a chairlift.

Traveling with Mrs. Albert Peterson of Clarkston-Orion Road and a group of senior citizens from Flint, she recommended the experience highly.

She also stopped in Victoria, British Columbia, to see the famed gardens of that city.

At Chelsea, she intends to keep her own garden. Growing things are important. She travels with a telephone directory and collects impressive plant specimens which she then dries and uses to decorate stationary and cards. Having lived 59 years in Clarkston, she points out that Hubbard Hill in the Allen - Hubbard area is named for her family. Her husband's ill health -- he died in 1963 -- aided the decision to move into town, and he was for a time a parts and maintenance man for Henry Ford's experimental tool farm, now the James O'Neill place.

The county extension service came about because of a fiasco, Mrs. Hubbard recalls. She'd canned a lot of meat -- "open kettle and put up in two quart jars" -- and it spoiled. Through a sister who was attending the then Michigan State College, she arranged for a speaker to come into the area to address farm groups.

She recalls taking the "plow horse" and buggy to Clarkston Depot to pick up the guests, having first assured there was fire wood at the First Methodist Church, for the wood burning stove, and returning there for an early meeting. She learned how to can meat.

Those were the days when she was making butter and taking it by horse and buggy into Pontiac where it sold for $1 a pound. There was grass still growing between the ruts on the highway then, she remembers.

She recalls the depression of the 30's, and an Oriental teapot in a china cabinet of the living room bears testimony.

"A financially pressed family on South Main turned their home into a tea room. At that time, we couldn't get any money for milk, so I'd take five gallons of milk and make five pounds of cottage cheese and sell it for ten cents a pound. The lady in the tea room couldn't afford to pay me and she gave my that teapot," she remembers.

And as for the people of today -- she thinks they don't see each other as much as they should.

"I never know what I'm going to do in the morning when I get up, but I can stand staying around here only so long, and then I go call on people," she reports.

Twp to hire cop

The Independence Township Board has decided to go ahead and hire a township policeman, whose salary and car were included in this year's budget.

Seeking the township's first policeman was one of two decisions they made Tuesday night on how to spend some of the revenue sharing funds that come into the township from the federal government.

The board also decided to spend $18,300 toward a landfill dump for the township. Use of the sum had not been planned previously because its allocation falls between the fiscal years of the federal government and the township.

Main duties of the township's first police officer apparently will be to coordinate communication between local officials, Michigan State Police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the Clarkston Village Police Department.

Vandermark said he is "quite satisfied" with the contract the township now has with the sheriff's department.

"I don't have any intention of setting up our own full-fledged police department at this point," he said. "Dollar for dollar, this combination is a good buy."

Salary range for the officer was set at $12,000 to $14,000. Although the salary could be paid from a voted one-mill police levy, the township board has decided to set that levy at .7 mill this year and use federal revenue sharing funds for the officer's pay.

The board agreed to set aside the $18,300 sum in revenue sharing funds for purchase of a landfill site.

Required by the state to furnish plans for landfill development through 1990 by July of next year, the board agreed to investigate possible sites.

Trustee Jerry Powell, a garbage disposal contractor, abstained from voting on the matter, although he stated he was not interested in expanding into the landfill business.

In other action, the board authorized Vandermark to investigate the cost of grading and terracing the Woodhull Property Owners Association beach on Lakeview, to correct erosion caused from an abandoned township water pipe.

As wedge in negotiations with the owners of the Pine Knob complex, board members voted to deny transfer of a liquor license for the resort's cocktail lounge until the board gets "a completed proposal for a facility to properly handle the sanitary sewage facilities of this establishment."

Board members had been asked to transfer the license from Pine Knob Restaurant Services Inc. to Confection Cabinet Corp. and Indusco Corp.

Personal touches make this attractive house in Independence Township home for Webb and Marion Wood. Their artistic talents appear in every room.

Where to start? Tables, lamps, wall decorations, ceramic pieces, and so many other things have all been hand made.

The tables Webb made are in the pale celery green living room with its soft green carpeting. Marion picked out the tables she wanted from a furniture catalog. Webb told her he could make them, but Marion was skeptical, saying, "You can't make furniture like the furniture companies." That challenge sent Webb to work.

He teaches wood shop in the Utica school system, so he stayed after school several days and worked for a few hours. Presto—a drum table. Webb said, "After I made the drum table, and she saw it, she said, "Go ahead!" Then Webb built a long, glass-topped coffee table and a lamp table to match the drum table.

Marion made their lamps in a ceramics class. Especially beautiful is the classic Grecian maiden lamp base. A dramatic black and white Chinese vase is a copy of a Ming Dynasty piece Marion saw in a book, borrowed from the Independence Township Library.

The traditional sofa and chairs are upholstered in silk, an avocado brocade on the sofa and an antique gold on the two matching chairs. Two pieces of Webb's brass sculpture, a large spray of oak leaves and tiger lilies, have a look of movement, like they were swaying in a light breeze.

Marion carried the green color theme through into the country kitchen with celery color walls, a pale green pebble design floor tile, and green appliances. Yellow sheer cafe curtains with flocked daisies almost match the yellow and green flower design in the wallpaper above the dark wood cabinets. The kitchen, too, holds evidence of their handicrafts. Marion stained and finished the corner hutch that holds more of the ceramic pieces she has done. On the white formica countertop sits a cocky rooster cookie jar—example number 10.

A new home, or for that matter any piece of property, can be a real investment for you and your family. Most experts say that the land and home market cannot do anything but improve, and that is generally true. As our children grow, land and ownership of land become more and more important. Luckily for many of our young people, this, more than anytime in the future, is the best possible moment to invest in land and in houses in need of renovation.

Let the experienced salespeople at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 knowledgeable advise and assist you in home buying or land investment. And be sure to call us with your listing too, for broad coverage through frequent advertising in different papers. Open: 9-8 Mon.-Thur.; 9-6 Fri.; 10-4 Sat.; 2-5 Sun.; and by app't.

HELPFUL HINT:

If you are into buying an old farmhouse, be sure to take into consideration the funds needed for remodeling.

The master bedroom has antique gold walls, three tone shag carpeting, a bedspread with matching drapes, and furniture that Marion antiques. The low chest was found at a garage sale for $5, the night stand was unfinished pine when bought, the brass vanity bench was a premium from TV stamps. All these odds and ends were coordinated into a handsome complete room. And here again, wall arrangements and hangings are done by the talented duo, decoupage and papier tole plaques, slender and graceful candle scones, ceramic lava bowl and the lamps.

Marion said, "We've always been on a limited budget, so we started making things we wanted ourselves, when we couldn't buy them."

Six year old Tim and four year old Scott share a blue bedroom: sky blue walls, royal blue carpeting, and blue print spreads on their bunk beds. White curtains with blue ball fringe look fresh and bright. The boys have an aquarium that sits atop one of the two chests, a bookcase and a small rolltop desk, that once belonged to their grandmother.

A redwood pole fence around the back yard is bordered with Marion's flower beds. "I love roses, and I'm trying to get climbers on the fence all around," she said. A whole range of colors are there, in the zinnias, cannas, dahlias, Scotty's sunflowers, pansies, marigolds, petunias, mums, the many roses, and many, many more kinds of flowers.

Lottery adds new cars as bonus

A two-week bonus promotion offering Michigan lottery winners their choice of 1974 model cars gets underway this week when tickets go on sale for the September 13 drawing—the first two separate bonus drawings.

"In addition to regular prizes, as many as 32 cars may be given away during this two-week promotion," said Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison. "The number of winners will be a factor of ticket sales—with more sales resulting in more winners."

Harrison said an average of 5 million tickets have been sold each week since the first lottery drawing last November 24. This week's drawing in Manistique will be the 42nd weekly lottery drawing. Sales have been best in the two weeks when special bonus promotions were conducted:

May 17 "Michigan Week Bonus", 6,918,943 tickets sold.

July 5 "Fourth of July Bonus", 5,926,899 tickets sold.

"This bonus will be bigger and better than our previous bonuses, and we hope the public likes it," Harrison said.

20 bonus numbers to win. Matching only ONE bonus number in either week does not win a prize.

"Any available Ford, Chevrolet, American Motors, Chrysler, Buick, Pontiac, Lincoln, Mercury, Cadillac, Dodge, Plymouth or Oldsmobile may be selected by the winner," Harrison said.

"They may select a car with a suggested retail price of up to $5,000 or apply the $5,000 to the price of a more expensive American-made car and pay the difference," he said.

Once the Bureau determines that the car selected is available from the manufacturer, the winner will be advised to contact a specific dealership for delivery of the car.

Eight million tickets have been printed for each bonus drawing, which means that 16 winning tickets will be in circulation each week. If all were sold, there would be 16 winners each week—or 32 winners of new cars during the promotion.

For each of the two drawings (September 13 and September 20), two "bonus numbers" will be drawn. Persons having tickets dated September 13 matching both bonus numbers drawn September 13 will win their choice of any available American-made 1974 car with a suggested retail value of up to $5,000. Persons having September 20 tickets matching both September 20 bonus numbers will have the same choice.

Tickets dated September 13 must match BOTH September 13 bonus numbers to win, and September 20 tickets must match BOTH September

Barry - Curson vows

Linda Kay Curson became the bride of Richard M. Barry in a double ring candlelit ceremony August 23 at Clarkston United Methodist Church. Rev. Frank Cozadd officiated before an altar banked with white gladioli and yellow carnations.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Delford Curson of 6095 Sunnydale, chose a dotted Swiss high necked gown with ruffles and a floor length veil. She carried yellow roses and white carnations.

Carol Strehle of Clarkston was maid of honor and Laurie Curson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Both wore high necked ruffled yellow and white gowns and carried yellow and white carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Muriel Spencer of Flint, was attended by Allen D. Curson, brother of the bride. Tom Riley was groomsman and Tom Mauti and Mel Green seated guests.

A reception for 80 people followed in the church parlors. Following a trip to Northern Michigan, the newlyweds will reside in Clarkston.

Potluck slated

A sing-along and potluck dinner will entertain senior citizens at noon Monday, September 10 at the Salvation Army Drop-in Center, 29 Buffalo. Those attending are asked to bring a dish to pass and table service.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Hess, 6746 Almond Lane, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Ann to John Henry Sherman II, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Sherman of Walled Lake. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Jeffrey W. Jamieson

U of M students wed

Following a honeymoon in northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey W. Jamieson have returned to Ann Arbor for their senior year at the University of Michigan.

The bride, the former Deborah D. Davis, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolen Davis, 9509 Pine Knob Road. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Jamieson of Bloomfield Hills.

Clarkston United Methodist Church was the scene of their candlelight wedding Aug. 25.

Alencon lace at the neckline and cuffs trimmed the bride's gown of chiffon over taffeta. Her veil was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Nancy Caldwell of Clarkston was the maid of honor, with Jody Hawk of Clarkston and Nancy Jamieson, the bridegroom's sister, as bridesmaids. Flower girl was the bride's niece, Tracy Boetcher of Clarkston.

Their dresses were cream linen trimmed in a peasant motif with sheer pale blue sleeves.

Best man was Konrad Kohl. The bridegroom's brother, Peter joined David Lendt and Robert Mosher as ushers.

A reception at the Metropolitan Club of Pontiac followed the ceremony.

Food Co-op to reorganize

Marge Batchelder says it will be necessary to reorganize Independence Center Food Co-op this year. A meeting has been called for 7 p.m. Tuesday, September 11, at independence center. A board of directors is to be elected, Mrs. Batchelder said, to direct efforts of the cooperative purchase food program.

Larry and DeAnna Stelmach of 6280 Waldon Road are happy to announce that they are parents again. Their son, Scott William, was born on Friday, August 17, 1973.

Scott's big brother, 5 year old Shane, and his 4 year old sister, Andrea, first saw him in the hospital, seeing him through the nursery window. St. Joseph Hospital has a new maternity program, allowing members of the family to visit.

DeAnna said, "The husband is no longer a visitor. He can hold the baby and stay as long as he likes with the mother and baby. The babies are in the rooms with the mothers all day."

"It just happened that my doctor, Dr. Marshall, was there when the children came to see us, so they got to meet him, also. They felt that they were really part of it all."

Grandparents are Stanley Stelmach and great-grandmother, Mrs. (William) Edward Keeley, both of Clarkston, and Mrs. Hartley LaButte of Garden, Michigan.

Scott was named after one grandfather, whose name was Scott. DeAnna's father, the late William Ward, Sr. of Manistique, Michigan; and his great-grandfather, Keeley. Congratulations!

Congratulations are also in order to Darrel and Judy Blackett, who celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary on August 30. They decided to get away for a little while, so they had a mini-second honeymoon. Darrel made reservations for them at the Somerset Inn in Troy. They went to a German Inn, the "Little Club" for dinner "and ate like there was no tomorrow. You know how it is with German food", said Judy.

And speaking of German food... Helga Frey and three daughters, Heidi, Laurei, and Christina flew via a Jumbo Jet to Laus Pognitz, Germany, where they spent 6 weeks with Helga's parents.

Helga said, "The food, ok, it was so good! I gained about 12 pounds. Bob said to me right away when I got home, 'You sure must have enjoyed yourself'."

One of the first things that they noticed when the plane landed in Germany was how clean everything was in the cities. Helga reported that pots of colorful and beautiful flowers hung everywhere, from windows, from light poles, even bridges were festooned with bright pots. "But Germany has really changed," said Helga, who became an American citizen last spring. "I like the casual living of the Americans very much. The trip was very nice, but I'm glad to be back HOME."

There was much to see and do, since Laus is a very old town. "There, you walk places, and boy, I walked and walked and walked. There was a very old castle, and the museum and an old, old theater."

Helga and the girls stayed with her parents, Heinz and Hedwig Zahn. She says her brother Gunther and sister, Vroni. She also had a chance to plan a visit with 17 of the girls she went to high school with, and to catch up on old times. Helga said that she is the only one with 3 children. Most of the German families are very small, and that 2 children is a lot over there.

Some of the casual living Americans ate their dinner from a garbage can last weekend. "It was delicious!" reported one of the partakers, at the 'last fling of summer' party given by Bob and Sue Adams of Andersonville Road.

The New England boiled dinner really was cooked in a garbage can, admitted Sue, and all you need is a new, clean can, 15 gallons of water, 15 pounds of meat, a couple cabbages, some potatoes, and carrots, a couple pounds of onions, some green beans, rutabagas. Just keep throwing things into the pot, according to the amount of cooking time they need, and you can feed 10 couples.

David Arpoika is home and will be a senior this year at Clarkston High School. He spent his summer in Oklahoma, first on the 1000 acre cattle ranch of his uncle, Charles Arpoika, in MacAllister, Oklahoma.

After breaking his arm—darn that horse—he went to Oklahoma City, staying with cousins and other relatives in the large Arpoika family.

In August, he worked for some spending money and also his plane fare home by helping to build a cabin in the southeastern section of Oklahoma, which is quite a recreation area.

Spiritual Message

“RICH IN ENEMIES”

CLARKSTON UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Frank A. Cozadd, Minister

It is a natural desire to want to be liked. We read books on how to win friends and influence people. Christians are commanded to love their enemies, and make friends with those who use us badly. But the Bible supports the prayer of the person who prayed, “God grant that we may be rich in enemies!” We find support for this in Phillippians 1:28 (J. B. Phillips Translation): “... the fact that you have such men as enemies is plain proof that you yourselves are being saved by God.”

If you and I have no enemies we may become like Mrs. Fezziwig, (a character of Charles Dickens) “One vast substantial smile.” There are occasions when we must stand for Christ's cause in our society and time, and sometimes this means that we shall make enemies.

So, we are not only known by the friends we make, but also by the enemies we make.

In Christian bonds
Frank A. Cozadd

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON
MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING
AUGUST 27, 1973

Meeting called to order by President Johnston.

Roll: Present: Basinger, Granlund, Schultz, Thayer, Weiss. Absent: Wilford. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as corrected.

President Johnston mentioned that the Council had met last week to discuss the comments on the proposed new Zoning Ordinance that were raised at the Public Hearing on August 13th. The Council had agreed to change two areas in off-street parking and to change one area in off-street loading. These changes would decrease the amount of required parking and loading spaces for new businesses and are contained in the Ordinance. The only other change that the Council made based on the Public Hearing comments was to change Lot No. 36, owned by Frank Russell, from Residential to Commercial. The rest of the comments were considered and discussed, but the Council felt that no further changes should be made. The Zoning Map, including the Business District, was also agreed to be left as is by a majority of the Council members.

Keith Hallman didn't feel that enough consideration was given to businessmen on the new Ordinance. He also felt that new house sizes were too large and restrictive for the size of the lots available. President Johnston said that these sizes were considered, but it was felt by the Planning Committee members and the Council to leave them at the sizes in the proposed ordinance. Mr. Hallman said that this would be an ordinance without a plan and that there should've been a Master Plan proposed with it, and that there should've been better representation from all segments of the community on the Planning Committee. President Johnston said that a Master Plan would be very expensive for the Village to undertake and that the Council feels that the new Zoning Map has some very good points, like changing most of the Multiple zoning to Residential. He personally feels that it's a good ordinance—that it makes good use of what's here in the Village, and that it removes some possible problem areas. Any changes that might be contemplated in the future can be made by re-zoning requests.

Harold Reekwald asked if there were any local businessmen on the Planning Committee. He was told that there weren't, and he mentioned that there should've been.

Ken Hall asked what would happen if homes on Buffalo were to be replaced someday—that the lot sizes would be too small under the proposed ordinance. President Johnston said that the Board of Appeals could grant variances on requests like this. Mr. Hall feels that the proposed house sizes are too large. President Johnston said that zoning tries to make houses fairly uniform in size and price with others in the area.

Jean Saile said that it might be illegal to deny someone renting out part of their house (2 family usage) if the request was denied by the Board of Appeals. This use is still conforming under the proposed ordinance.

Trustee Thayer said that he agrees with the intent of the Ordinance, but is against parts of it. He said that Tod Kilroy, Village Planner, had told him that he didn't feel that the block east of Main St. to Buffalo St. should be zoned as it is proposed. He felt that it should have Commercial Zoning. He had mentioned it to the Planning Committee, but they had disregarded his request.

Ted Thompson, a member of the Planning Committee, said that he had attended all of the meetings of the Planning Committee, and that Mr. Kilroy had never stated that the request to the Committee. Trustee Basinger concurred with Mr. Thomson's statement and said that she had also attended all of the Committee meetings as a member of it. Mr. Thomson felt that with the number of people on a Committee such as this, that they could never come up with a unanimous opinion on a document such as a zoning ordinance. He said that they tried to do the best they could for the majority of the Village population.

President Johnston said that he would like to know Mr. Kilroy's professional opinion on the matter of the issue of what zoning should be on the block between Main and Buffalo. He said that Mr. Kilroy should've made his views known to the Planning Committee.

Trustee Granlund said that he would also like to hear Mr. Kilroy's opinion on this, and some specific complaints from the local businessmen.

Moved by Weiss to adopt Ordinance No. 72, the Village of Clarkston Zoning Ordinance. Seconded by Schultz. Basinger, aye; Granlund, nay; Schultz, aye; Thayer, nay; Weiss, aye. 3 Nays, 2 Motion carried. Copies of this Ordinance are in the Ordinance Book and the Village Files.

The Clerk read a letter from Jaycee President Mark Pankner that Ken Hall had brought in. It was a request that the Jaycees can be allowed to use the Village Parking Lot for the Labor Day week-end carnival, and to close W. Washington from M-15 to the alley during this time. Police Chief Jack McCall said that W. Washington should be closed as a safety factor, even though Holcomb St. would have to be used as a detour in its bad shape due to sewer construction. He also mentioned that Oakland County still hasn't approved the Labor Day Parade Permit yet. Trustee Weiss asked if there was a possibility of tree damage due to the use of the parking lot for the carnival. Ken Hall said that the Deluxe Ride Co. and the Jaycees would be responsible if there was. Tudor ApMadoc asked if the carnival could start after the parade was completed on Labor Day, due to the fact that the noise scared some horses in the parade last year and that this could be dangerous. The Jaycees said that they would comply with this request.

Moved by Weiss to approve the Jaycees request to use the Village Parking Lot for the Labor Day Week-End for their carnival, and to request that Oakland County close the portion of W. Washington from M-15 to the alley west of it during this time. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously.

Allocation of Revenue Sharing money for the money received so far and for money to be received during the next year was discussed by the Council.

Moved by Basinger to put this money in the Multi-Purpose and General Government category. Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously. Copies of this are on file at the Village Hall, and will be published in the Clarkston News on Sept. 6, 1973.

Moved by Schultz to extend the due date on Village taxes to the third Monday in October, namely Oct. 15th, as per the request of Village Treasurer Art Pappas. Seconded by Thayer. Motion carried unanimously.

The Clerk mentioned that Village Attorney Ed Sosnick had said that Independence Township could deputize Village Policemen so that they could cover the football games this fall. Other details of the proposed Police Dept. merger between the Village and Township are still being worked on by he and the Township Attorney. Chief McCall and Trustee Thayer will check on bonds and insurance, powers of law, powers of arrest, and who the policemen would be responsible to; and report back at the next meeting.

Moved by Weiss to concur with President Johnston's recommendation of Mike Thayer as the Village Police Commissioner. Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously.

The Clerk mentioned that Oakland County had offered to paint center stripes on Holcomb between W. Washington and Miller; the Village portion of Waldon off M-15; E. Washington between M-15 and Buffalo; and all of Miller Rd. The cost would be between $200-$300. President Johnston said that we should check with Keift Engineering on this, and on the final inspecting of the resurfacing of the Village Streets, which is now underway.

Trustee Thayer said the Village Sewer Contractor won't have to put sod on areas that weren't in good shape before they were torn up, such as some areas between the streets and sidewalks, even though some of this has been sodded already. He also said that Orion Rd. will be recapped before the end of this paving season.

President Johnston asked Sewer Committee members Weiss and Granlund to check into what we can do with tax exempt properties in the Village for payment for sewer construction.

He also said that Attorney Sosnick is still checking on whether Personal Property has to be levied on the Village ad valorem tax.

Trustee Basinger reported that the Oakland County Partners in Planning are working on our proposed Park and a traffic survey of all Village streets.

Trustee Thayer said that Gar Wilson feels that we will be needing a new truck soon, as salt use in the winter is rusting it away. The snowblade may cause damage to the new sewer manholes he also said. The Council discussed this and also the need for a new Village building, due to the deteriorating condition of the present Village Hall. President Johnston said that this should be put on the agenda in the future and discussed in detail by the Council. Meanwhile, Gar will check into some truck prices.

The Clerk read a request to re-zone Lot No. 82 of Supervisor's Plat No. 1, made by Rudy Schwarze and Don Short of Haupt Pontiac. They request the zoning be changed from Residential to Commercial. This lot is on M-15 across from Haupt's. The Council discussed this, but no action was taken.

Ted Thomson said that he was very much opposed to this rezoning request. He also wants the Village to take legal action on the Ordinance violation on this lot, as they are using it for Commercial use by storing automobiles on it and it is currently zoned Residential.

Moved by Weiss to write a letter to Haupt Pontiac, Inc. requesting that they move the automobiles off of Lot 82 in compliance with the Zoning Ordinance within seven days of the date of the letter. If they aren't moved by this time, then the Village will proceed with legal remedies. Seconded by Thayer. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Basinger to accept with regrets the resignation of Trustee Lucia Wilford, effective this Sept. 1st. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously.

Meeting called adjourned by President Johnston.

Sign request tabled

Tom Ritter will have to wait for a decision on his sign variance request until after Independence Township officials meet to review the township's sign ordinance.

Ritter appeared before the zoning board of appeals Aug. 28 to seek permission to display one permanent and one temporary sign at Ritter's Farm Market, 6684 Dixie Highway.

Under the ordinance, he allowed two permanent signs. Temporary signs must be removed after 10 days and must be no larger than 30 square feet. Ritter wants his to be 30 square feet and wants it left up about nine months a year.

Zoning board of appeals members, who had already scheduled a Sept. 6 meeting on the sign ordinance with the township board and attorney, tabled Ritter's request until Sept. 11.

Swiss steak dinner

The cooks at Clarkston Masonic Temple will resume monthly Swiss steak dinners September 9. The family style dinner will be served from noon to 3 p.m. at the Temple, Main and Washington. The public is invited.

Tentative contract for bus drivers

Negotiators for the Clarkston Board of Education and school bus drivers have arrived at tentative agreement on a contract.

The approximately 35 drivers involved had agreed to begin work Tuesday without a contract as long as negotiators continued.

The tentative agreement was reached Aug. 29. However, details will not be released until after the drivers and board of education have ratified a contract.

Copies of the tentative agreement now are being prepared for drivers and board members.

Police levy set

A levy of .7 mill has been approved for Independence Township police protection, marking a cut from the one-mill allowed by voters.

The police budget still has a $38,000 surplus carried over from 1971, the first year the extra millage was permitted. An estimated $66,815 will be realized from the levy in December.

The township board also has approved a $11,210 special assessment roll for street lights, adding Clarkston Gardens Subdivision to the 14 district already included. The roll was approved for December tax collection.

Historical Society wins float honors

Clarkston Rotary Club, which sponsored the Labor Day Parade, awarded Clarkston Historical Society the best float plaque. Second prize went to the Eagles and third to First Baptist Church.

Selected as most typical of the "Shaping up our Dreams" theme of the parade was Job's Daughters with honorable mention going to Independence Township Athletic Association.

The most original category was won by Clarkston 4-H Club with honorable mention awarded Clarkston Community Women's Club.

Best costume awards went to Clarkston Historical Society, Jim Rayman's Saddlery for the horse-drawn hearse, and the Davisburg Kazoo Band.

Honorable mention was won by Clarkston Wranglers.

Pontiac Unicycle Club won the President's Award. Band honorable mentions were awarded the Sons of Scotia, bagpipers of Lake Orion, and Clarkston High School Band.

Rotary Anns were awarded best children's float honors.

Honorable mentions went to the Shriners Arabian Horse Troop, Clarkston Girl Scouts, Clarkston Jaycees, and Deer Lake Sail Club.

Judges commented on the many outstanding entries and the difficulty in selecting winners. "It was one of the finest parades Clarkston has ever had," they said.

Awards were to be sent out this week.
