Bloch rezoning recommended

Independence Township Planning Commission has voted unanimously to recommend rezoning of property to permit Developer Harry Bloch to construct an equestrian village on 208 property. It is across Oakhill Road from another 300 acres in Brandon Township acres of agriculturally zoned land at Oakhill and Perry Lake Roads.

Bloch said the property would be divided into 41 3-to-10-acre parcels with bridle-paths laid out through the which has already been approved for the same use.

Bloch said no public stable facilities would be included, however an existing barn complex on Oakhill would be retained for common use of the residents and for such activities as 4-H shows.

He said residents were expected to build their own barns in addition to homes, restricted under subdivision covenants to 1,750 square feet for ranch-style and 2,600 feet for two-story.

Several residents appeared during the public hearing conducted Thursday night to question various phases of the plan. Roy Gallipo of Perry Lake Road asked about road access to the property since Perry Lake is expected to be closed once Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department develops the property around Crooked Lake.

He was told most of the residents of the new development will use Oakhill Road, and that emergency routes will be open through the park for fire equipment.

Mary Beardsley asked what controls would be imposed for manure collection and was told that pickup would be enforced. She was also informed that three horses would be the most permitted on any parcel.

It was pointed out that plat approval is still needed for development to insure proper septic and well facilities.

The commission also approved the site plan for a 40 by 60-foot church school addition to Clintonville Social Brethren Church on Clintonville Road near Pine Knob Road.

Approval of site plan for a 20 by 145 two-story addition to House of Maple was accorded owner Boris Bronson. The presentation was made by Planning Commission member Edwin Manley, a contractor, who excused himself from the commission proceedings during the presentation.

The additional room will be used for storage, Manley said. Bronson had already received zoning board of appeals approval to extend the building to the rear lot line and within one foot on one side and five feet on the other of abutting property lines.

High interest rates hurdle for realtors

Bankers are certain that the conventional mortgage rate will never go below eight percent again, North Oakland realtors were told last week.

The interest rate for home mortgages, which has doubled since the '50's, now is at about 8.75 percent.

Bill Russell, real estate educator from Birmingham, gave those attending the North Oakland Chapter of the Women's Council of Realtors some tips on "how to overcome resistance to high interest rates."

The rate is expected to fall somewhat after the first of the year he noted, but the decrease will not be worth waiting for.

"It is not going down that much so that your customers can save appreciably" he said. "If interest rates go down after the first of the year, the market will get tighter and houses will go up."

Russell, who heads the Russell Institute, noted that "everytime the rates go up one percent, about five percent of the market is lost."

He estimated that 20 percent of the families in the United States now cannot afford to purchase homes.

"Despite the interest rates, the needs of people to move have not changed," he noted. "Since the '50's, interest rates have doubled, but so have incomes. And the desire for homes has tripled."

Three fishermen lucky

Three fishermen clinging to an overturned aluminum boat on the north end of Oakland Lake Friday, Oct. 26, can be thankful that the Oakland County Sheriff's helicopter happened to be in the right place at the right time.

Particularly lucky was Edward Smith, 41, of Pontiac, who was attempting to keep afloat while hampered by a full leg cast.

Also dumped into the water when their boat flipped over about 11:30 a.m. near the Sashabaw Road crossing were E. J. Miles, 49, and Henry Adams, 66, both of Pontiac.

With a water temperature of about 40 degrees, the men had a life expectancy of four and a half minutes, according to Lt. Donald Kratt, director of protective services for the sheriff's department.

He and pilot Terry Cranston happened to be flying over the Lake shortly after the boat turned over.

A resident of the area, 61-year-old Elmer Tode of 4960 Clinton, Drayton Plains, rowed out to the overturned boat and brought one of the men in. The other two were tied to the pontoons of the helicopter, which taxied them about 150 feet into shore, Kratt said.

The three victims, who appeared to be in shock, were wrapped in blankets by area residents before they were returned to Pontiac.

woman raped

A Clarkston woman driving on Sashabaw Road was forced off the road by another motorist and raped at gunpoint late Thursday night, October 25, according to Oakland County Sheriff's detectives.

The incident reportedly occurred about midnight near the Maybee Road intersection. Police are continuing their investigation of the case.

Stereo equipment netted in break-in

A home on the north side of Deer Lake was broken into last week, with stereo equipment accounting for most of the more than $1,000 worth of loot taken.

The burglar or burglars apparently entered the house sometime in the morning by cutting a screen and prying open a window in the family room of the home, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's detectives, who are continuing their investigation of the break-in.

Three seriously hurt in M-15 two-car accident

A teenage girl and a couple in their 70's, all of Ortonville, were seriously injured in a two-car collision on M-15 near I-75 Monday afternoon.

Listed in serious condition in Pontiac General Hospital's intensive care ward Tuesday were Renne K. Johnson, 16, of 3081 Hadley Road, and Verner McCrum, 77, and his wife Bernice, 71, both of 45 W. Glass.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies were continuing their investigation of the accident, which occurred about 2:30 p.m. just north of the I-75 interchange.

Mrs. McCrum was the driver of the automobile in which she and her husband were riding, according to sheriff's deputies.

Renne was the passenger in a car driven by Lynn M. Pangus, 16, of 350 Wolfe Road, Ortonville, who was treated for injuries she sustained in the crash and released from Pontiac General.

County hunts for private food handlers

The food and beverage facilities at Springfield-Oaks Golf Clubhouse and Springfield Youth Activities Center will be operated by private concessionaires in the future, according to a resolution adopted by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission last week.

The facilities have been operated by the county, but challenges from private entrepreneurs over the past year led the commission to a decision to take bids for the operations at Addison-Oaks, While Lake-Oaks and Waterford-Oaks, as well as the Springfield centers.

Parks spokesmen said there is no timetable to choose candidates but every attempt will be made to have the concessionaire available as early in 1974 as possible.

Basic criteria for selection will be previous success in business and extensive experience in the food and beverage business, the commission said.

Food service reservations made for 1973 and 1974 will be handled by the county until new concessionaires are chosen, the commission said.

Authority agrees to purchase park

Independence Township Building Authority met Thursday and agreed to purchase for about $60,000 a 35-acre Independence Township Park from John B. and Marion Walker.

The property is located just off Clarkston-Orion Road at the curve north of I-75. Eighty percent of the cost will be paid for by state and federal grants, approved for that purpose.

Two stipulations were attached to the purchase in regard to access off Clarkston-Orion Road and rights of forfeiture.

The authority, which was organized more than two years ago, will pay $16,000 of township funds down, and reclaim the 80 percent due from the Federal Land and Water grant and the State Recreation Bond Fund, Supervisor Robert Vandermark said.

Other costs will be reimbursed as they are made, he added.

Planning Commission determines

Housing is expensive, and not much can be done

House size minimums will stay at 1,000 square feet in Independence Township.

The decision to retain the present minimum was arrived at after considerable discussion Thursday night by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

It was accepted despite the picture drawn by Building Director Ken Delbridge that apartment construction currently underway in the township is of minimum quality, and that more mobile home parks will likely make their way into the township to meet low cost housing needs.

Delbridge said he would favor retaining a 1,000 square foot minimum despite housing problems which he classified in the economic category.

High interest rates and the high cost of construction, as well as land, has made monthly payments too much to bear for many middle income citizens, he said.

Planning commission members pointed out that should minimums be lowered, the township would open itself to tract development, something none of them wanted to see happen.

They also pointed out that people wishing to build homes smaller than that prescribed by the minimums could, with sufficient reason, obtain variances from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Commission Chairman Mel Vaara who also serves as chairman of the appeals board said there had only been three such applicants during his service on the board.

The discussion arose when Commissioner Floyd Tower pointed out two weeks ago that present zoning laws discriminate against the elderly and the young.

While agreeing that is true, the commission decided it saw no way to improve matters.

Hospital group forms

Clinton Valley Center (formerly known as Pontiac State Hospital) is establishing a new group of concerned citizens to be known as Friends of Clinton Valley Center. The organizational meeting of the group will be 8 p.m. November 6 in the auditorium of the hospital.

One more magic moment

by Pat Braunagel

There are magical moments in everyone's life—and these are highly personal experiences.

Some of these are created magical moments, produced by professional entertainers whose business it is to touch our hearts and minds.

And yet, I'm certain, even when the magic comes from a manufactured situation, it is still a personal experience.

If all of us who comprise the audience jump to our feet at the end of a performance (not for the kind of automatic standing ovation that is becoming so increasingly obligatory and offensive), we are reacting as individuals who have been personally moved.

I have been privileged to have been so affected three times, although the number of meaningful experiences is much higher.

But those magic moments stand out, solid and shining in my memory.

The first occurred after James Earl Jones' powerful performance in "The Great White Hope" on Broadway. His presence had filled the stage in each of his scenes.

Portraying Jack Jefferson, the first black heavyweight champion in a world unprepared for a black champ, Jones was battered physically and psychologically throughout the play and finally beaten in its last scene.

As he came out for his curtain calls, head bloody and neck wrapped in a towel, he did not smile graciously and break from his character.

He was still Jack Jefferson, firing a look at us which said, "I felt that, damn it, Whitey. I'm no Mr. Bonjangles up here to entertain you—I'm trying to tell you something."

He flung his towel down on the stage and exited, leaving me standing there shaken.

Then there was Hume Cronyn and his magnificent performance as "Hadrian VII" at Stratford, where he brought to life the neurotic, n'er-do-well author who aspires to become a priest and suddenly discovers himself Pope.

As the man of diminutive stature stood center-stage taking his bows before a cheering audience, I knew why some of us aspire to be Actors and I felt what that accomplishment must mean.

The third magical moment before a stage came for me Oct. 19 at the Music Hall in Detroit, where I found myself enraptured with Cleo Laine, and Englishwoman who at least one local critic described as "probably the best pop singer in the world."

Her voice, ranging from husky half-spoken lyrics to daring high notes, blithely made its way from Bessie Smith's "Gimme a Pigfoot" to a set of Shakespearean songs. There seemed to be nothing this voice could not accomplish.

But my heart was grabbed and twisted when her husband, Johnny Dankworth stepped up from his role in her back-up ensemble to join her in a duet of "I'm Going to Set Right Down and Write Myself a Letter."

He led on the saxophone. Her voice matched him note for note until she burst into the lyrics. Back and forth they went, complementing and building on each other.

I lifted my glasses to wipe the tears from my cheeks, and I emotionalized.

If every marriage could work as the Dankworth-Laine combination had on that one song, I thought, the world would be free of most of its discord.

I am not proposing that we all become performing artists with spouses, but that we seek and appreciate the harmony in our day-to-day dealings with each other.

That's a lot of thought to be provoked by one number in a stage presentation. I was not ashamed to weep or to stand, and I thank the Music Hall for giving me the opportunity to do so.

In Switzerland, according to an authority, sun-bathing is done seriously and scientifically; people are absolutely forbidden to take uncontrolled sunbaths. When overdone, rays of the sun can be dangerous. First of all, you must oil all exposed skin with a cream that filters out harmful rays. Never expose your head, but keep it shaded. Sun baths should never last for more than half an hour.

Keep your hair in good condition. Come to BONNIE JEAN'S HAIR STYLISTS, 5488 Dixie Hwy. Tel. 623-1411. Open 7-8:30. Sat. 7:30-3. We are a high fashion, quality salon catering to discriminating women who care enough to look their very best.

Drop box now available

For the convenience of anyone wishing to have newsworthy items appear in this school column, a special marked box for The Clarkston News has been placed in the school library.

Realizing that many times the idea or desire to see an article published in the paper lacks the time or timing to get it to the main office, students and faculty are encouraged to drop their items in the slotted box. The items will then be read, checked and verified for accuracy.

All items must have a name and phone number on them in order to be considered. However the name will not be used unless requested.

Children of all ages are invited to attend the University of Michigan's drama club presentation of "Reynard the Fox".

General admission for the Saturday, November 3 play will be 50c. The performance begins at 3 p.m. in the Clarkston High School Little Theater.

A busy schedule faced the Journalism Class as they prepared for a November 1 seminar at the MSU School of Journalism.

Held in the school's student union building, the schedule began after breakfast with a film which preceded the guest speaker, Attorney General Frank Kelley.

The active conference covered learning in all fields of writing, printing, interviewing, publishing, school paper financing, page make-up, and many other interesting facets of journalism.

Seniors who may have missed ordering their graduating announcements and other accessories, such as name cards, thank-you notes, appreciation folders, memory books, senior keys, etc. are advised to contact the class advisor before November 1st.

A challenge to try your chess skills is being offered with the formation of a Chess Club. The players will be meeting in Room 224, at 3 p.m., the first and third Monday of each month.

Young men reaching the age of eighteen are advised to contact Mrs. Hanson about the proper procedure for draft registration.

Last Friday found students deep in self debate as they were required to choose their courses for the next nine week period.

Mr Genshaw will be in charge of the Tuesday and Thursday after school meetings of the weight lifting class. The club will begin regular meetings from 3 to 4. Any interested in joining may contact Mr. Genshaw.

College minded seniors will have the opportunity to hear representatives from area colleges speak to them in the following months: on November 1, a speaker from Albion College and December 3, Adrian College.

Seniors interested in a Michigan Business School Scholarship should see Mrs. Hanson.

A knotty problem

The job of attempting to guide a community to its best development is not an easy one and we can sympathize with members of the Independence Township Planning Commission.

The group has lately been debating whether or not minimal house and lot sizes are discriminatory against senior citizens and young marrieds; and while agreeing that they probably are, the commission has come to no decision as to what to do about it.

Fears were expressed that should standards be lowered, developers would fight to get the lower standards applied to tract developments throughout the township. It's a possibility that we could end up with far more of the smaller homes and lots than we really need or want, they believe.

Yet, the failure to provide smaller and less expensive living quarters seems to be pushing us headlong into apartment and trailer development. The fact that some of the apartment construction is minimal in standard was brought out at a recent planning meeting.

Are we avoiding one kind of undesirable development only to be inundated by another?

Apartment complexes change hands frequently and are subject to the absentee landlord syndrome. Trailer parks, while not particularly desirable neighbors, at least afford their occupants some privacy, but it has been pointed out that they, too, are not the financial investment they've been touted as being.

Small, well-built homes can be resold and they do afford their owners the dignity of privacy and independent ownership. Yet the price of land and construction has put them out of sight for a good segment of the population.

Older homes, which are apt to be less expensive than new construction, offer the opportunity to recondition and preserve from the past, but they alone cannot accommodate the expanding market.

Personally, we'd like a choice.

Some smaller, well-kept developments need not affect all future developments, and we believe they'd be less likely to deteriorate into suburban slums than would large apartment complexes.

Big wigs can't float

By Jim Fitzgerald

Photographers caught up with Elliot Richardson the Sunday morning after he quit being Richard Nixon's man for all jobs. The result, in newspapers all over the world, was pictures of Richardson in short pants, running when he could have been walking.

Just when I was beginning to trust him.

The trouble with this country is it is run by men who could sleep in on Sunday mornings, but don't.

I am sick of reading about presidential aides who chin themselves 1,456 times every morning before eating railroad spikes for breakfast.

I gag at congressmen who skip lunch and go to a gym where they pound on each other because it feels so good when they stop.

It was easy to stifle a sob when I heard about the sweat-suited senator who was mugged while jogging through a slum. What did he expect, rose petals strewn in his path?

If God had intended man to swim or sink, He wouldn't have invented Ivory soap. The big shots should learn to float with the tide, coast in neutral, and walk on the grass.

Relax. Sure, the fastest runner will get free TV time to explain his shortcuts. But what does it profit a man if he wins the sweepstakes but loses his place in line at the Laurel and Hardy Film Festival?

It is a paradox. The big problem is there are too many Gung Ho men in Washington. But a guy isn't Gung Ho, his kill'n gully

Think thin!

by Jean Saile

I wish I had lived in the time of Reubens.

It would be so nice for the world to recognize what I already know. I'm not getting fatter, only better.

Oh, for a return of the days when curvaceousness—the kind I'm developing—was a plus.

Now in the process of resurrecting what I can of last year's winter wardrobe, I am struck—all in the wrong places, naturally—with the need to diet.

Diets have always bothered me, and when I get bothered I worry. When I get worried, I eat. It generally takes about three days to surface from this maelstrom, in a great outpouring of common sense, and then I chuck the whole idea.

It's a system that works well. It's the same one I always use whenever I'm inclined to quit smoking.

There are inklings on the surface of our times that fat may once again become acceptable. Doctors have already agreed that it's much more difficult for some people to lose weight than it is for others, and maybe my time is coming.

I hope it coincides with that stage of my life in which I become a grandmother. What youngster can smother deliciously in the embrace of a skinny grandma?

There's a definite tendency to obesity among some of the females of our family. We are of the post World War II breed known as the "guilty fat," but mostly we grin and bear it.

My niece recently recounted for her grandmother's benefit how Grandma had once broken a yardstick over her behind for some nefarious kid scheme.

We allowed as how it was too bad the swelling had never gone down. She had the grace to laugh.

I personally think the ability to laugh at self is more important than a svelte body, but I guess, if you've got both attributes, you may be way out ahead.

Darn it!

Letters to the editor

Adamses are grateful

To the Editor:

We are very, very grateful to each and every person who bought tickets to the Tim Adams Benefit Hockey Game.

Special thanks to Jenny and Jack Hagen and the Clarkston Flyers, who put in so much time in organizing the event.

We would also like to thank Norma and Harold Gayette for their many hours of working with Tim.

Fred Ritter and the Clarkston Jaycees are to be commended for their hard work in helping to make the night a success, along with Dick Puritan and his side-kicks, also Harold Richardson for donating the ice time.

We would like to thank each and everyone personally for your kindness and generosity.

Sincerely,

Tim Adams and his family

Thanks for cooperation

Letter to the Editor:

The membership of the Waldon Road Drag Racing Association wishes to take this opportunity to formally and officially thank the township of Independence and the police agencies for their cooperation in allowing us the use of Waldon Road as our official drag strip.

For those of you in the area who are interested in the fine sport of drag racing, races are held daily from 7:30 p.m. to 6:45 a.m., weather permitting.

While the current races are somewhat informal, we have applied for sanction to the National Hot Rod Association and if it fails we will apply to the American Drag Racing Association.

We have made application to the Oakland County Road Commission and the Michigan State Highway Department for the installation of a "christmas tree" starting light at the corner of Waldon and Cherrylawn and our official quarter mile strip has been surveyed and our timing traps will be installed as soon as the proceeds from our recent candy and magazine subscription sales have been audited and returned to us.

We should also thank the residents of the area who have been real sports about getting their dead dogs off the roadway quickly so as not to delay the races.

Thanking all concerned for their fine spirit of cooperation and sportsmanship I remain,

John Witherup

Commission had right

Dear Editor:

We were distressed to learn of the million dollar suit against our township planning commission and the township board.

This is an outrageous attempt to stifle public discussion in an open public meeting, by using the threat of future litigation to brow beat public officials into making a decision in favor of any plan that is placed before the planning commission. A suit of this type seems to argue that the right to profit takes precedence over the right of governmental officials to make a free decision based on the welfare of the community.

We support the decision made by the planning commission and furthermore their right to make that decision.

Sincerely,

Donald and Diane Stephen

Use give and take

To all concerned:

The 372 acre development at the north end of Deer Lake seems to be getting farther away from a solution. It is regrettable that communications have deteriorated to the point that lawsuits must be initiated.

It is my understanding that the developer is willing to reduce the number of living units from the original plan of approximately fifteen hundred to nine hundred plus or minus. With a bit of give and take the objectionable 43 acres zoned multiple bordering on the north end of the lake could be traded within the total development to maintain a more natural shore. With the density reduced to approximately 2.6 units per acre and by using cluster development much open space could be preserved. With some additional imagination traffic problems could be solved.

It would be unfortunate if a satisfactory solution could not be worked out without resorting to the courts. There is much to be gained by proceeding with a mutually agreeable development plan at this time.

Escalation of development and building costs and legal delays can only lead to more density, less open space and undesirable urban sprawl.

Good people

Dear Jean,

A few days before we moved I picked up cleaning from the Clarkston Clothing Care Center on the Dixie Hwy. A bag of hats and scarves were left behind. Mr. Tang, the manager, discovered the package and took great pains to locate us out in Pennsylvania and then sent the package at his expense. We are most grateful to Mr. Tang for his efforts. It's great to know that there are business men who really do care!

Churches say thank you

Dear Sponsor:

I am writing in behalf of the Independence Township Pastor's Association. We at this time wish to thank each and everyone of you for sponsoring our "Spiritual Message" in the Clarkston News.

Because of your generosity we are able to reach the people of this area with a weekly spiritual message, especially those whom we otherwise have no contact with. You make this possible.

Again, in behalf of the Revs. Mark Caldwell, Frank Cozadd, Alex Stewart, Robert Walters and myself, members of the association, we thank you.

President

Brooks explains welfare

Dear Sir:

Critics of welfare reform have mounted a counterattack and are using the poor and the old as a shield to protect the dishonest and the greedy. In this brief letter two points must be made: first, had the critics bothered to read the welfare report issued by the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, they would have discovered the following paragraph on the first page:

"We must be careful to separate the attack on welfare fraud and those who abuse the system, from those who are legitimately receiving public assistance and are in need of help. It is the cheater, it is the greedy, it is mismanagement, it is bureaucratic waste which is the subject of this attack. The needs of the legitimate recipient are not to be overlooked, their plight is not to be ignored, and their reception of public assistance should not be at the forfeiture of their self-respect."

Secondly, the needy ARE helped by welfare reform. California, a state leading in welfare reform, reported the following statistics this year: 264,000 fewer people on welfare (down 12% over two years); one billion dollars saved from anticipated welfare spending; 852 million dollars state surplus; and most interesting to note, a family of four on welfare which previously received $255 a month (including food stamps) now receive $315 a month plus medical care; an increase to those who are truly needy by eliminating the dishonest and the greedy.

Honest criticism of our report we welcome, deliberate distortions we condemn.

Sincerely yours,

She was on her way to the doctor for a checkup, and is most always the case, she had to take a "sample" along.

She had looked all over the house for a container, and the only thing she could find was a Boones Farm wine bottle, and she used that.

On the way to the doctor's office she stopped at a Lansing shopping mall and found that the wine bottle had been stolen from the front seat of her car.

Cross country 8-4

By Mike Jewell

The Clarkston Varsity Cross Country team won an important league meet against Andover 20-42 as Steve McIlrath led the Clarkston runners with a second place timing of 16:46. Gary Mason and Paul Glowinski tied for 3rd place with timings of 16:51 each. The win insured the team of a third place finish in the W-O league.

Clarkston also beat Fenton this past week, 21-36, as Glowinski finished second for Clarkston with a time of 16:46 and Mike Crosby finished third with a 16:51 time.

The two most recent wins have increased the team's record to 8-4 overall, being 3-2 in the league. The team also finished third in the league meet with a total of 80 points while it was West Bloomfield taking first place with only 20 points.

George Bellairs, a senior, should receive credit as he is the only member of the team to start every Varsity meet so far this year.

Sigler places 3rd

Fred Sigler of Clarkston ran third with a time of 20:33 for the four-mile run as the Highland Lakes Cross Country Team captured its fifth straight Eastern Collegiate Conference championship October 19.

High School marching band takes to the field in practice. A warm autumn day, a game this Friday -- what could be better?

Clarkston 35, Clarenceville 0

By Mike Jewell

I was purely a Clarkston evening at Clarenceville last Thursday as the wolves dominated everything in the game. Not only did the offense have its best game, tacking up 33 points on the scoreboard, but the defense also had its best night as it forced a safety and gave up only one first down to Clarenceville, that coming on a penalty.

The win increased the team's league record to 3-1, 6-1 overall.

Clarkston started off its scoring spree at 10:49 of the first quarter when quarterback Larry Bennett scored on a 10-yard touchdown run. The Wolves had already scored on a Mike Pritchard touchdown run of 22 yards a few plays earlier, but a penalty killed the play. Tom Bosquez made good with the PAT giving Clarkston a 7-0 lead.

At 8:35 of the second quarter the Wolves' Gordy Riddle blocked a Trojan punt giving Clarkston possession on the Clarenceville 34-yard line, setting up the Wolves' second touchdown. It was again Bennett scoring the Wolves' second touchdown as he plunged in from 4 yards out. The PAT attempt was no good, leaving the Wolves in front 13-0 with six minutes left before the half.

At 2:25 of the 2nd quarter it was Tim

CHS girl wins national track honors

Sue Latter of Clarkston High School has claimed honors with the nation's top 440-yard performance by a high school girl last season.

Sue, now a senior at CHS, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Latter, 6516 Almond Lane.

The National Federation of State High School Associations released the report of Sue's achievement on the 1973 Girls National Interscholastic Track and Field Honor Roll.

Sue posted a time of 57.1 in the Lower Peninsula Meet to win this recognition. She also ran a 2:17.7 half mile in the same meet, fourth best in the country.

Partlo forcing a fumble on a punt with Ken Grable finally recovering it on the Clarkston 43-yard line. That play set up the Wolves' next touchdown which came with only 33 seconds left in the half. The score came on a Bennett to Partlo touchdown pass of 31 yards. Tom Bosquez booted the PAT attempt through the uprights, giving the Wolves a 20-0 halftime lead.

Bosquez then took over the quarterbacking duties in the 2nd half and hit Welden Grahm with a 44-yard touchdown pass. The PAT was blocked, giving the Wolves a 26-0 lead at 6:07 of the 3rd quarter.

Scott Seawright, on the next play, recovered a Trojan fumble giving Clarkston possession of the Clarenceville 19-yard line. The offense was stopped on the one giving the ball to the Trojans. On the next play it was Seawright charging in to tackle the Trojan runner in the end zone, giving Clarkston a safety and two more points, making it 28-0.

A 45-yard touchdown pass from Bosquez to McCallum rounded off the Clarkston scoring as Grable put his PAT attempt through the goal posts making the final score 35-0.

There was no scoring in the 4th quarter, mainly due to the Clarkston defense and the interception thrown by Bosquez.

Coach Paul Tungate comments on the game were "it was a perfect game to get everybody in to play." The JV's next game is home against West Bloomfield this Thursday evening.

Wolves clinch W-O League second

By Mike Jewell

The Clarkston Varsity Wolves are known primarily by most teams as a team that gains its offensive yardage along the ground.

The Lakers of West Bloomfield were surely thinking along that line last Friday night when Clarkston surprised everybody by going to the pass, and pass they did.

Quarterback George Porritt threw 26 passes, completing 14 of them for 203 yards and three touchdowns, having none of them intercepted. The running game could muster only 70 yards giving the Wolves 273 yards in total offensive yardage and 10 first downs.

The game was as close and exciting as the final score of 18-17 would indicate. The win increased the Wolves' overall record to 6-1 and gave them a league record of 4-1, a record which insures the team of a second place finish in the W-O league.

The defense played one of its best games, if not its best game yet. They started off by halting the Lakers' first drive when they recovered a fumble on their own 10-yard line.

Porritt then took the offense by the reins and had them moving when, near mid-field, he fumbled the ball back to West Bloomfield.

With 2:36 left in the first quarter the Lakers blocked a Clarkston punt back through the wolf end zone, this giving West Bloomfield a safety and a 2-0 lead.

Rod Rumsey then fumbled away a punt to the Lakers, giving them possession on the Clarkston 15-yard line with only 48 seconds left in the first quarter. West Bloomfield scored less than a minute later when, at 11:52 of the 2nd quarter, they hit on an 18-yard pass play for a touchdown. The PAT was good, upping the Laker lead to 9-0.

The Wolves then started to come back as they turned on their air assault. At 9:03 of the 2nd quarter, George Porritt hit split end Brian Powell on a 62-yard touchdown pass. It was a great throw by Porritt but the PAT was blocked as Clarkston cut the West Bloomfield lead to 9-6.

The Lakers were again driving downfield near the end of the first half when a big defensive play by Yogi Richardson halted the drive. The key play was an interception which came at 2:35 of the second quarter, making sure the Wolves were down by only three at the half.

Clarkston came out into the 2nd half fired up and wasted no time taking over the lead at 10:32 of the third quarter, Porritt threw a 31-yard touchdown pass to Mike Fogg, who made a great catch in the end zone. The PAT was blocked, giving the Wolves a 12-9 lead.

West Bloomfield came right back, though, when at 6:04 of the 4th quarter they scored a touchdown on a 3-yard run. The two point conversion was good which made the score 17-12, Lakers.

With only minutes left in the game, the Wolves offense got a drive going from good field position. When they were 32 yards off the Laker end zone, they were faced with a third down and 13 yard to go. Instead of going for the first down, Porritt decided to go for the score. He then promptly dropped back and hit Brian Powell in the end zone to put Clarkston up by one. The touchdown pass to Powell came with only 1:49 left in the game and it was his second touchdown catch of the night giving him a total of 94 yards to lead all Clarkston receivers. The PAT no good, leaving the Wolves on top, 18-17.

Two 15-yard penalties against Clarkston gave the Lakers good field position with only seconds left but the defense and penalties killed West Bloomfield's last scoring attempt. It was the first time in 7 years that a Clarkston team had beaten West Bloomfield in Varsity action, getting only a tie against them 6 years ago.

Coach Bob White's comments on the game were "It was the best hitting put out by the team so far this season and every player put forth 1000% in effort. We played a great game against a good team."

The Wolves' next game is home against Rochester Adams this Friday night.

Assistant Coach Roy Warner moves the Wolves along.

Girls' basketball stands at 7-0

The girls' basketball teams from Clarkston each added two games to their win columns last week. The Varsity team defeated Livonia Clarenceville and Walled Lake Western. The JV girls took their victories from Oxford and Walled Lake Western. Halfway through the season, both teams at Clarkston are enjoying a 7-0 record.

On Tuesday of last week, Clarkston's Varsity team took command of the game early in the first quarter and allowed Livonia Clarenceville only one field goal for the entire game. The final score was Clarkston 69 - Clarenceville 2.

All ten of Clarkston's players figured in the scoring; three of the girls ended up in double figures (Sheryl Stickley - 14 points, Cathy Bunton - 13 points, and Nancy Foster - 10 points.) The team shot 41.3% from the floor for the game. Laurie Miller and Kathy Coates brought down the most number of rebounds for Clarkston's team.

The preliminary game was played between Clarkston and Oxford. Clarkston came out on top by the score of 47 - 30. High scorers for the JV's were Nancy Chartier with 17 points and Dede Miller with 13 points.

Walled Lake Western came to Clarkston last week with high hopes of taking home two victories. Their JV team had lost no games, and their Varsity had lost only two games -- to Livonia Stevenson by one point and to Livonia Churchill by two points. Clarkston managed to shatter their hopes.

The varsity game was slow scoring in the first quarter, as both teams were feeling the pressure of good competition coupled with strong defenses and low shooting percentages. A fast running game was played by both teams; and Clarkston eventually began finding the range on their shots.

Although WLW pulled to within 3 points of Clarkston during the third quarter, Clarkston met the challenge and went on to stretch out their lead in the fourth quarter by 14 points. The final score was Clarkston 44 - Walled Lake Western 33.

High scorer for the home team was Cindy Hunt, who played the entire game and scored 17 points. Honors for high number of rebounds went to Sharon Bachand and Paula Speace.

In the JV game, Clarkston's team helped the WLW girls experience the "agony of defeat" as the two undefeated teams faced one another. Despite the illness of three players on Clarkston's team, they came out with a 36-29 victory. High scorers were Diane Curry with 12 points and Nancy Chartier with 8 points. Sharing the rebound honors with 7 each were Autumn Matlock, Fern Smith, and Michelle Stroehn.

On Tuesday of this week, the varsity team traveled to Waterford-Kettering for a W-O League game, while the JV's hosted the team from Lincoln Junior High of Pontiac.

On Thursday (today) both teams will go to Waterford-Mott to play non-league games. Both of Clarkston's teams will be at home on Tuesday, November 6, when they play West Bloomfield to begin the second round of W-O League games. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

Cougars bounce back

After losing to Bloomfield Hills Junior High 30-12 and to East Hills Junior High 37-22, the Cougars bounced back to beat Milford 34-28. The Redskins ended the half with a substantial lead of 28-0. The Cougars scored 8 points in the third quarter and 26 points in the fourth quarter while holding Milford scoreless in the second half.

George Thompson scored on a 50-yard pass from quarterback, John Hardy. He also scored on a five yard run and ran for the extra 2 points.

Don Blower also scored on a 50 yard pass and Bob Edwards made 8 points on a ten yard run and a successful conversion attempt.

John Hardy also scored 6 points on a quarter back sneak.

The Cougars' final home game will be Wednesday, November 7, at 7 p.m. at the high school field where we will host the Wolverines of Clarkston Junior High School.

Snowmobile classes

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department will co-sponsor with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department snowmobile classes December 4, 6, 11 and 13 at Clarkston Senior High School cafeteria. The meeting time is 7 to 9 p.m. Registrations for the free classes must be made by December 3.

Independence League play "wild and wooly"

by Mike Jewell

Independence Township Recreation Department PeeWee Jets, coached by Kurt Richardson, rolled to their fourth victory in as many games last weekend.

Bill Turk led the Jets to their 18-0 victory over the Lions, who are now 0-4. He scored touchdown runs of 20 to 40 yards. Jim Van Antwerp and Penny Link combined to force a safety and Danny Harken ran for an extra point to round off the scoring.

In the other PeeWee game, it was the Rams getting by the Chiefs 21-6 to increase their record 3-1. The Chiefs now stand 1-3. John Spiker started things off for the Rams when he went 25 yards for a touchdown. Mike Upcott ran the extra point to make the score 7-0. Pat Rauch brought the Chiefs back on an 11-yard touchdown run, making 7-6. Chris Wineman and Mike Upcott put the game out of reach as Wineman scored on a 35-yard kick-off return and Upcott scored on an extra point after going 10 yards for a touchdown.

The Junior League play was marked by a wild and wooly game between the Red Devils and the Dolphins. The Devils won the game 33-26, handing the Dolphins their first defeat. Both teams are now 3-1 in league play.

Don Mack was the hero of the game as he scored five touchdowns and three extra points, accounting for all of the Red Devil scoring. Mack's touchdowns were on runs of 40, 30, 40, 50 and 5 yards, two of which were kick-off returns and another two being a quarterback sneak and a double reverse.

Paul Johnson and Mike Welch kept the Dolphins in the game as Johnson scored on touchdown runs of 40 and 15 yards and Welch scored an extra point and a 30-yard touchdown.

The game changed leads five times and was tied 19-19 at one point.

Mark Johnson's 5-yard touchdown run and an extra point by Scott Waterbury wound up the scoring.

CHJ defeats W. Bloomfield, Pierce

Clarkston Junior High School has brought its football record to 4-2 by defeating West Bloomfield 14-6 and Pierce Junior High 16-8.

The victory over West Bloomfield marked the first time that Clarkston Junior High had ever defeated West Bloomfield in football.

On October 26, the Wolverines defeated a previously undefeated Pierce Junior High team by a score of 16-8. Both Clarkston scores came late in the game as players showed their endurance and the value of a two-platoon system. Pierce scored first and led by a 6-0 score at half-time.

Early in the third quarter Pierce caught Clarkston in the end zone and extended the lead to 8-0.

Late in the third quarter Clarkston made a long drive which ended with a quick pass over the middle from the three-yard line by quarterback Dick Armstrong to Jeff Williams. A run for extra points was good and the score was tied at 8-8.

The winning touchdown came with about five minutes remaining in the game. Jeff Breckenridge ran a Pierce punt back 75 yards for a touchdown and the final 16-8 margin.

Kevin Gould led Clarkston's rushing attack with 153 yards in 20 carries.

Coaches Warner and Sherrill had special praise for the defensive unit for their finest game of the season.

On November 7 Clarkston will end its season playing Sashabaw Junior High on the high school field at 7 p.m. The gates open at 6:30 and the price for everyone is 75c.

Gerburg follows the stars

There it is in the yellow pages under Astrologers -- Gerberge Frick, 4884 Lakeview, Clarkston -- only she calls it Gerburg, anglicizing both the spelling and the pronunciation.

No female Merlin, she presents the image of a Miss Universe, her hazel eyes sparkling with intelligence and her German accent emerging somehow as a lilt.

Born and raised in Munich -- a center of arts and science -- she married an American dye designer and they and their son now make their home in an attractive brick residence overlooking Walters Lake.

And the astrology? That started back in Munich when she learned it would cost 100 marks to have her horoscope cast, and she went to the library preparing to arm herself with the knowledge that the whole thing was a "humbug."

The books she obtained fascinated her, and soon the employe of the Lederle drug firm was studying all she could find about the ancient lore.

Admitting it's not yet a science, she hoped that renewed interest in the field, mentioned even in mythology, will help to make it one.

Now attending Oakland Community College to study anatomy and physiology towards obtaining a nursing degree -- and recipient of an honor certificate for her efforts -- she has become most recently interested in the planet's influence on fertility.

She cites European doctors who have had a high percentage of accuracy in predicting fertility periods according to the constellations, and even to pre-determining the sex of the child.

The cosmic fertility system can be set up for any woman, she says, and according to the findings of one doctor, not an astrologer, it is as effective as birth control pills, she insists.

She claims that the other authorities outside of the realm of astrology have proven the influence of the moon on mental well-being.

"If the moon is full, the atmosphere is full with positive ions. People are more excitable. In mental hospitals, a full moon produces outbursts of illness. When it wanes, they calm," she reports.

"Another doctor," she says, "determined that post operative cases bled more during the full moon and less when the moon waned."

Gerburg insists she is not a fortune teller. The study of the stars helps her determine character, she says, and character plays an important part in determining fate. She prefers to link her studies more closely with psychology than any occult endeavor.

Her advertisement in the yellow pages bring her many interesting contacts, many of whom have already been in touch with a psychiatrist, she says.

For $25 and the information of the exact time and place of birth, she will prepare a chart of the constellations with particular emphasis on the position of the sun, moon and planets at the time and place of birth.

Operating according to Greenwich time, she yet makes allowances for "real time", determining that we are 36 minutes away from the Greenwich hour.

The three or four page typed analysis that accompanies the chart attempts to determine personal traits and times when it is more favorable to undertake various activities or to hold back on them.

She says she's born under the sign of Cancer, while her husband is Libra and that general aspects of the signs would dictate that they not get along.

They do, though, she says, and that's because of the positions of the stars at the time of their births.

She lumps the zodiacal signs into four elements -- Fire, Air, Earth and water. People of the fire and air elements generally get along as do those of the earth and water, she says.

The fire category includes Aries, Leo and Sagittarius. Air includes Gemini, Libra and Aquarius. Earth is Taurus, Virgo and Capricorn while Water is Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces.

Fire, she says, symbolizes agility, mobility and creativity. Air symbolizes the world of ideas, intellects, agility and mental mobility. Earth is reality and tangible material while water is feeling, psyche, soul, drives and passion, dreams and fantasy.

And all of the signs, as of February, 1962, entered into the Age of Aquarius, a time of humanity and expansion of the human mind, she claims.

Gerburg believes that during the next

25,920 years, people will learn to live together peacefully and mankind will learn to be optimistic and enterprising, finding more important values than the material.

Aceys go back to the land

COUNTRY

LIVING

By Betty Hecker

"We took the house down to the 2 x 4's, which incidentally are 2 x 4," said Noni Acey, talking about the 100-year-old farm house she and her husband, Chip, bought and completely restored about two years ago.

A new heating system, new wiring for electricity, new plumbing, added insulation, and moving stairways and bedroom walls gave them the conveniences of a new house with the charm and spaciousness of the old one.

The center dining room was the entrance room in old farm houses long ago, with the kitchen on the right and the living room or parlor on the left. Noni asked Chip to move the front door from the dining room to the end of the L-shaped porch, opening into the living room.

When he cut out the wall, he found the header, jambs and frame were already there. It had once been an entrance and later walled over.

Also after the fashion of old farm houses, this one had two stairways. One led from the dining room to two upstairs bedrooms. The other was in the kitchen and led to the other two bedrooms, separated from the first two by a solid wall.

All that changed — Chip moved the upstairs wall partitions making three large bedrooms and a big bathroom, moved the kitchen stairway opening to the dining room, and closed off the other stairway.

The furnishings in the enormous

Handsome farm house and the opportunities afforded by its 40 acres made it well worth restoring.

living room - in fact, throughout the whole house - are early American, made of Carolina pine and stained a rich, dark walnut.

Two couches face each other, one a colonial red and the other a mellow green stripe. A distressed octagon coffee table has a brasier center that Noni uses to hold decorative accessories. "I get the gourds out of the garden for fall, and I use pine cones for winter. I change it for every season or special occasion."

A sculptured head on a shelf over the green couch attests to Chip's artistic talents.

The wall space between the tall front windows and over the red couch is occupied by an oval framed picture of Noni's grandparents and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Dallas and Sylvia. It was taken when Noni's mother was a small girl.

Chip found an empty wasp nest attached to a small forked branch. Its natural beauty bought it a place among their decorations - cattails in a classic Egyptian vase, strawflowers in a clear glass jar, a palm tree in a crockery pot, and antique wooden duck decoys.

The open weave draperies are an unbleached, natural color and the thick shag carpeting is a soft celery green color.

The stairway wall of the dining room is paneled with rough sawn-boards and hung with relics found in the barn, such as old pulleys, a pair of tongs, and a hand hammered sickle blade. A potted fig tree sits at the foot of the stairway.

The dark wood of the pine hewn table and buffet shines to reflect the wicker cornucopia, overflowing with more gourds, and the pewter tea service on the buffet.

A handsome and masculine den is paneled with rough sawn boards and decorated with ink drawings of Labrador retriever dogs, and the head and hooves of a deer Chip downed with a bow and arrow. The corner cabinet holds a stuffed mallard duck and a fur skin lays across the back of the black leather chair.

Adam's bedroom is bold and bright in yellow, bittersweet and brown. One wall is papered in an attractive jungle scene with cartoon monkeys, giraffes, and lions peering from behind the orange foliage. Four windows, with just a small white valance at each, lets in sunlight for the play area.

The same bittersweet color carpeting as in Adam's room covers the floor in the guest room, where a brown plaid spread on the double bed matches the drapes at the windows.

The master bedroom is decorated in white and yellow. The spread on the king size bed is a pastel floral design. Noni hopes to add a lounging sofa or a grouping of chairs to fill some of the space in the huge room.

The orange and brown kitchen is modern and convenient. Rows of home canned fruits and vegetables line the top of the cabinets. Noni said, "Everything came off our land. There is 40 acres and an eight acre lake. We had a big garden and there are fruit trees.

We raise ducks, geese, rabbits, hens, and two black angus steers - and they are all destined for the freezer. This year we tried to go to the grocery store as little as possible."

Standing outside the handsome, colonial red house with its white trim and surrounded with a rambling split rail fence and big wagon wheels, Noni stated an emphatic "No" when asked if she ever thought of moving back to Dearborn.

She said, "It's so beautiful here, we'd never go back."

Farm home is a fun home for Adam, here enjoying a gallop in his room.

The Art of Home Decor

by Boris B. Bronson

The use of various kinds of glass bricks and blocks has become fairly common in this country. Such materials have distinct advantages. They permit light to enter and provide exterior decoration as well. Glass is especially necessary, as most people will agree, when the view is a major source of interest in the house—the more glass, the better the view. Glass blocks are valuable when light is needed but not sight of what's outside.

Another day

The peddler from Germany

by Connie Lektzian

Life was easiest for those early settlers who had at least some money and a few skills. Esidore Jossman, landing in New York at the age of 15, had neither. In fact, he didn't have even the supportive presence of a family.

Around 1853, he had come to America from Germany alone. Leaving behind the grim prospects of compulsory army service, he had also had to leave behind his family. There is no record that they were ever able to join him. They had been able to give passage money - and that was all.

Esidore's first step toward survival in the world was to find a job. He went to work peeling slippery elm bark for a small drug company. It was a messy, evil-smelling job. He left it as soon as he was able.

With the most severe kind of self-denial, he eventually saved up $5. With this, Esidore bought a peddler's pack and filled it with needles, emery bags, and thread - all the little items dear to a housewife's heart. Today it's difficult to believe that these items were scarce and much in demand.

For two years, Esidore traveled over the state of New York, visiting the scattered hamlets and farms. More than one night his bed was the ground, but if he could reach a farm by nightfall, he was usually a welcome guest. Peddlers not only dispensed household items, but news that was scarce and welcome to the isolated farmers.

At one time, Esidore Jossman's store was located on the corner of Main and Washington.

The talk was often about the west-Michigan territory where land was cheap and plentiful. With thousands of other young men, Esidore caught the disease known as Michigan fever. Replenishing his peddler's pack, he left New York. Like many penniless immigrants, he walked along the tow trails of the Erie Canal, using the path of the canal as a guide.

In Michigan, his prosperity led first to a horse and buggy peddler route, then to a tailoring business in Holly. By 1864, he and his wife, also an emigrant from Germany, settled in Clarkston. They had bought out the general store and produce business of Captain John Knox.

Most of Esidore's transactions were by barter. Very often farmers were rich in produce and poor in cash and it was up to Esidore to find a money market for the things that came to him in trade. His own children early learned the value of hard work. His first son, Joseph, once wrote that he started helping his father at such a young age that he couldn't remember the first time he stood on an overturned packing box to serve customers. Esidore organized the town's first bank, the Clarkston Exchange Bank, with J.C. Bird. This savings institution had its beginnings in the back of Esidore's store. He opened accounts for the well to do and prosperous, but he gave just as much courtesy to the youngsters who came in to have their pennies totaled up in their savings books.

He had an affluent and comfortable life in Clarkston, perhaps far beyond the dreams of that young foot peddler in upper New York state.

Auto Vacations

A British doctor warns that the third day away from home is the most dangerous part of an automobile holiday. "That's when you are at your lowest ebb, physically and mentally, and most liable to have an accident," suggests Dr. Keith Jolles.

He said you should never drive for more than three hours at a stretch without stopping for a rest and light snack, such as a candy bar or a bag of nuts. Don't aim for more than 300 miles a day, "unless you are a very experienced long-distance driver in good training," he said.

Expressway or turnpike driving can cause boredom, anger and frustration. These can compound eyesight fatigue, caused by highway dust, glare and the wear-and-tear of concentrating on the traffic around you for hours at a time.

Seat belts can save from 50% to 80% of the people in fatal and serious accidents. "And your child needs its approved baby seat or junior harness as much as you need your seat belt," Dr. Jolles noted.

In dog-loving Britain, pets cause hundreds of serious accidents each year, both inside and outside the car. "Get your priorities right," he said. "Remember, human life comes first."

"If collision with an animal is inevitable, never be tempted into taking panic action by a violent swerve or harsh braking which may endanger your life or that of others."

Land and people

Progress and poverty

by Dr. Roger Marz

When I was young, Henry George's book "PROGRESS AND POVERTY" was still considered an important work. Nowadays, few people read it, but his basic ideas are still significant whether one agrees with his solution or not.

The first idea is that the value of a piece of land stems mainly from what society does rather than what the owner or user does. Henry George called this "the unearned increment" and thought that it should be taxed fully, by the government. Nowadays, economists refer to this aspect of land and development as an "externality". In any case, it is so important that one cannot really understand patterns of growth without appreciating it.

Ten acres of land in Northern Ontario is worth much less than ten acres of land on Manhattan Island. Even if the basic characteristics of the land were identical (fertility, drainage, and so on) and the uses of the land were identical (one can imagine some nut building ten acres of skyscrapers in Northern Ontario, I suppose) this would still be true. It is the uses of the surrounding land, and services and demands society makes on the surrounding land which leads to remarkable disparity in value.

On a smaller scale, an expressway, a shopping center, a stadium or a subway line all have effects on the value of land in close proximity to them. So do sewer mains and gas and electric service. Each of these would tend to increase the value of nearby lands, at least for some uses.

Conversely, and incinerator, a garbage dump, an airport, or a truck depot may depress the value of nearby property, again depending on the use.

We say the first pattern is one of positive externalities and the second of negative externalities. In either case the owner gets the benefit or the punishment not because of what he did but because of what the others did.

Positive externalities are very common. The modern super shopping center represents an attempt to capture those externalities for the developer. A large department store, or two or three, generates substantial shopping traffic. Many of these shoppers will look and buy at other specialty stores and will use the shopping trip to consume services: shoe repair, hair cuts, lunches, etc.

The large shopping center developer "captures" these new business opportunities with his enclosed mall and closes off competitors by centering the mall within his parking lot. As the mall itself becomes an attractor, surrounding land becomes more valuable for peripheral uses like office buildings, theatres, and the like.

This increase in value is a result of the original investment on which other owners make a profit. Obviously, the drive is towards larger and larger projects, limited by the fact that these require larger and larger investments and therefore entail bigger risks. The logical consequence of this process is the "new town" in which a single developer tries to capture all the profits involved in a planned rapid shift from open land to a new community of housing, shopping and industry.

Two factors which affect this kind of development are the interest rate and the property tax. These determine the carrying-cost of any project. If you invest money in land which you hope to develop you must either pay interest on the money you borrowed to buy it, or give up the interest you could have earned if you bought it with your own money. You must pay taxes on the land which are the result of its assessed value times the tax rate of the community in which it is located.

If the market-value of the land is rising faster than the carrying-costs, you will likely hold off development. In fact, sometimes peculiar situations arise which make it possible to make more money by not developing. A London, England, man has made millions by not renting out completed office buildings because office rents are rising faster than taxes. His capital gains are huge and are not taxed. If he rented the buildings, he would get income which would be taxed.

As taxes and interest rates go up, land which is being held for investment becomes too expensive to remain undeveloped and building booms begin. This happened in Oakland County when Southfield raised tax assessments on vacant land. If you like rapid development, this is progress.

Next week we will continue this discussion of property taxation and its effects on development and examine some of the ways that people are hurt by rapid growth.

Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center, 8211 Big Lake Road, will host its 4th annual open house and parents' night from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, November 5.

Director Herbert J. Olson has invited parents of students presently attending, future students and their parents, employers, school board members, teachers, counselors, those who might be interested in evening or summer school classes and other who would like to see how some of their tax money is used.

The school retailing and marketing outlet, NOVEC Boutique which is operated by students in Distributive Education, will be open for business.

Television cameras, manned by students in Radio and Television Repair class, will allow the visitors to see themselves on TV.

Colorful Christmas card displays, designed by students in Commercial Art, will adorn the walls along with the many other art projects.

The Total Office class with the latest in office equipment, activities taking place in Major Appliance Repair, Auto Body Repair, Modern Printing, Metal Machining, and Dental and Medical Office Assisting will also be open to public inspection.

Refreshments will be served in the conference room and teachers' lounge.

Olson reported more than a thousand visitors attended the event last year.

Student writings will be printed

The Clarkston News is once again saving space in its Christmas and New Year's editions for writing contributions from the area school children.

We will be happy to print as many poems and short stories during those weeks as we have room for.

Teachers may contact Editor Jean Saile if they would like further information.

Deadline for contributions is December 7.

Sashabaw plans open house

Sashabaw Junior High School will hold its back-to-school open house for parents Tuesday, November 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Introductions by the principal, G. N. Birtsas, and a performance by the Boys' Chorus will lead off the program. Parents will then have an opportunity to meet their child's teachers and see Sashabaw's facilities.

Coffee and dessert will be served.

New businesses firsts for Kathy and Chuck Roberts like to read the books they sell.

Two young couples -- Buck and Joan Kopietz of Clintonville Road and Kathy and Chuck Roberts of East Washington -- are entrepreneurs in the book and jewelry business, new in Clarkston.

They've been operating Kathy's Book Shoppe and Tierra (which means earth) Arts and Design at 3 East Washington.

The book store opened in August and during Clarkston Village Days the Kopietz couple met the Roberts and made the pact to rent part of the building to display and sell Joan's jewelry.

A former art teacher, she specializes in Sterling silver and feather jewelry, some of it of an African motif, and works with materials -- weaving, designing, silk screening, tie dying and batik.

She's also selling turquoise jewelry on consignment and hopes to get other artists represented in the same manner.

The store, Joan says, is Buck's idea. He's a child care worker for the Clinton Valley Center and a student at Oakland University. Joan studied art at California State and Long Beach. She moved here from Burbank.

The Roberts have been around the area longer -- both Chuck and Kathy having taken part in the Clarkston Village Play presentations. Chuck played the villain in two melodramas and was the dead man in The Fantastiks, while Kathy was Ruth in Blythe Spirit.

They're both teachers, Kathy teaching Title I reading at Andersonville in the mornings, and Chuck a teacher at Kennedy Junior High School in Pontiac. They're both English majors.

Chuck, a Shakespeare fan, grew up in Pontiac, but Kathy made the long trip here via Minnesota, Georgia, Kentucky and New Jersey with schooling in Pennsylvania. Her father was a Ford Motor Co. employe and traveled a lot, she remembers.

None of the four have ever been in business before, the Roberts having chosen Clarkston because they've always liked the area. When the Kopietz couple joined, the remodeling and refurbishing of the store became a family enterprise.

The books featured at the shop are primarily paper backs, however there are children's books and hard cover quality books on such items as antiques and gardening. They also have a used book selection. In all the store features about 5,000 selections.

Both business managers look forward to a long and happy relationship with Clarkston, Chuck reporting there have been 700 customers since the door opened.

They're anxious to please -- the Roberts willing to special order books and Joan happy to handmade special jewelry items, including wedding rings.

People turn to Yellow Pages they want answers."

that's why we list services in our ad," says Mrs. Rene Clark, Country Estate Mobile Homes, Inc., 58220 W. Eight Mile Rd., Northville. "It's our best advertising investment. Since we've had our ad, our business has increased by 50%! I think some business people overlook the fact that the Yellow Pages maintains a hard-hitting and effective ad campaign of its own. But we only have to look at our results to know that the campaign is really paying off in the form of more business for us."

Mr. Hershel Stuart, Federal Hardware and Supply, 29080 Southfield Rd., Southfield recommends Yellow Pages advertising highly. "My program includes display ads in the North Woodward and East Area Directories. These ads pull in literally hundreds of calls for fireplace fixtures, resulting in sales ranging from $20 to $200. I also receive a great deal of response from our ad at the 'Hardware' heading. This ad produces both calls and walk-in-business."

A lot of sales help, that's what the Yellow Pages gives Mr. Chester Podgorny, Venoy Realty Co., 32508 Michigan Ave., Wayne. "During the past 16 years we have found Yellow Pages advertising a very efficient way to attract potential real estate customers. The calls we get from the Yellow Pages are regarded as very important because these buyers are in the market now. We began with a half-page display ad. After we became established we switched to a smaller ad. However, we noticed a definite decrease in leads from the Yellow Pages and decided to return to the half-page ad we carry today."

"Springing up"

Surprise, Bud!

by Betty Hecker
625-5726

Last Saturday evening, Bud Temple of Cramlane was flabbergasted!

Many of his friends arrived all together and when Bud answered the door, they all wished him a happy birthday.

His wife, Christina, said, "It was the first time in 18 years that Bud was left speechless. He's always had a snappy comeback or some remark, but this surprise party REALLY surprised him."

Oh, and congratulations, Bud, on now owning THE coveted bowling ball.

Davisburg Area Jaycees were to present the annual Halloween party at the Springfield township Hall Wednesday. Free cider, doughnuts, and prizes for the best, the funniest, and the scariest costumes are provided by the Jaycees.

This year's pumpkin crop was almost a failure, and since the pumpkin sale usually provides the funds to finance the Halloween party, other arrangements had to be made.

The Jaycees decided to hold a rifle raffle, the prize being a Remington 30-06 semi-automatic rifle with case. The drawing was last Thursday evening and the big winner was Ray Dittmyer of Big Lake. Ray had purchased two tickets, and his wife had bought $3 worth. When Ray carried the gun into the house, she said, "Oh, I won!" He quickly explained that it was HIS ticket so it was HIS gun.

Now, don't fight, folks.

The North Oakland County Junior Girl Scout Olympics were held in Rochester on October 20. Clarkston

Troop 184 (kids from Andersonville School) participated and came away as prize winners.

Vicky Sandage won a gold medal in the frisbee-throwing contest against 100 other girls.

Tami Johnson took two silver medals, finishing second in the frisbee contest and second in the tumbling contest.

The other girls from Troop 184 participating in the olympics were Julie Rescoe, Brenda Pope, Karen Joldersma, and Tina and Laura Rice.

The adult leaders are Marilyn Pope and Carol Joldersma.

Lee Strine of Clark Road and his wife Joan's uncle, Curly Verpoeten from Indiana, were part of a party of nine who took a one-and-a-half week hunting trip to Wyoming.

Expecting to find cold winter-type weather there, the group was surprised to find it so warm that they hunted in their shirt sleeves. And the hunting was successful. All nine men got a mule deer, and the two with Elk licenses were also successful.

The Rescoe family on Bridge Lake Road went fishing near Frankfort last weekend; at least, Harold did the fishing.

Eleanor reports, "The big one got away! It took his line and all. He did catch two nice ones, though, two lake trout about four and a half pounds each."

"I thought walleye pike was good eating 'til I tried this trout! Oh, it was good."

JoAnn and Larry Tarp of Andersonville welcomed some funny looking people to their masquerade Halloween party last Saturday evening.

The "Granny" who brought the "hippie" in out of the rain was LaVerne and Ray Beaulieu. Jim and Laurie Venton arrived from Ferndale wearing their Hindu costumes. (Jim said they got some funny looks from other drivers as they came up I-75.)

The Arpoikas came as a Chinese couple to make the party an international one.

Batman and Catwoman live right here in Clarkston, disguised as Stan and Lois Schnabel. Chester and Jeannie Jones came dressed as ladybugs.

The host and hostess were "Cavepersons".

The fall conference for the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities was attended by 11 Clarkston teachers.

Morning and afternoon workshops were held at the Dana P. Whitmer Human Resources Center in Pontiac, dealing with learning disabilities related to reading, mathematics, medication, creative movement and the mandatory special education act.

Michigan Student Nursing Association has elected Vicki Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, 6327 Snow Apple, vice president of its group. Vicki is a student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital, Hancock.

Time to get your orders in soon for Girl Scout calendars. Scouts will be taking orders November 10 to December 1. The price is 65 cents and Mrs. Karen Hagadone, 625-2406, is neighborhood sales chairman.

Rotary Anns met October 23 at the home of Pat Beach to name the following committee chairmen: Vicci Hamilton, crippled children; Norma Goyette, dinner pail fund; Pat Beach, historian; Hilda Bruce, hospitality; and Pat Newlin, publicity.

The gals wound up the meeting with a look at slides taken by the Ralph Thayers in Mexico.

Davisburg Senior Citizen Joggers will meet at noon Saturday, November 3 for a potluck dinner and entertainment at the Springfield Township Hall.

The death of Harold A. Hughson, 67, of Manistique October 17 has been reported by his son, Donald, of Clarkston. Mr. Hughson was born November 29 in Grand Marais and married Hazel McNally September 8, 1926, in Manistique. He was employed at the Manistique Radio Center until his illness nine years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Hazel; four sons including Donald Thomas of Escanaba, W.J. of Menominee Falls and Harold of Highland; a daughter, Mrs. Chalmers LaFrenier; two sisters; 17 grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Serving as his pallbearers were grandsons Michael, William, Donald Jr., Steven, Mark and Jeffery Hughson and Alan Pace.

Junior Miss Pageant is next month

Clarkston Area Jaycees are hunting for a talented, personable girl who'd like to win a $700 scholarship to the college of her choice.

UNICEF nets $250

Youngsters from Sashabaw Presbyterian, Clarkston United Methodist, Episcopal Church of the Resurrection, St. Daniel's Catholic and Calvary Lutheran Church walked in the rain Sunday to collect $250 for UNICEF, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Because of the weather, not all areas of the township were covered, and contributions are still being accepted at the participating churches and The Clarkston News office.

The money raised by the 40 youth who participated will help fight malnutrition, disease and lack of education around the world.

Applications to compete in the Junior Miss Pageant are available now in the schools, according to Dave Hall, pageant chairman. High school seniors are eligible to compete.

Judging, which will take place at 7 p.m. November 23 and 24 at Clarkston High School Little Theater, will be based on character, scholastic standing, beauty, talent, and personality.

Students will be admitted to the preliminary program Friday night for $1. Admittance to the regular pageant Saturday night is $1.75.

Besides the top scholarship, others for $300 and $200 will be awarded to runners-up.

Church smorgasbord

Sashabaw Presbyterian Church will serve a smorgasbord dinner from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. November 10 at the church, 5300 Maybee Road. A free will offering will be accepted.

Church women gather for Community Day

Church Women United of Holly and Davisburg will celebrate World Community Day at 10 a.m. November 2 at Davisburg United Methodist Church. Theme of the day is "Where in the World is my Neighbor?"

Main feature will be the worship service patterned on the style of the medieval mystery plays. Based on the Parable of the Good Samaritan, the modern morality play will take the form of a pilgrimage in which the participants will play roles of the Pilgrim, Samaritan and Traveler.

Special concerns of the aging, single women, migrants, prisoners, draft resisters, blacks and other racial groups, minorities in all countries, American military and business personnel on overseas assignments, and political refugees who have fled their countries will be featured.

Good usable clothing will be collected and those attending will have the opportunity to purchase $3 gift certificates used to purchase other supplies for the needy.

Mrs. Paul Burton, chairman of the program, reports ten local churches will participate. The work of the Holly-Fenton FISH organization will be described.

OES plans bazaar, harvest dinner

Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294 Order of the Eastern Star will conduct a bazaar Saturday and Sunday and serve a harvest dinner from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Clarkston Masonic Temple.

Items offered for sale include hand made novelties, home baked bread and goodies, and Christmas gift items.

Dinner tickets are available at the door.

Spiritual Message

COMING AGAIN!

There is a gospel song which is sung in many of our churches which goes like this: "Marvelous message we bring, Glorious carol we sing, Wonderful word of the King: Jesus is coming again! Coming again, Coming again; May be morning, May be noon, Maybe evening, and maybe soon! Coming again, Coming again, O what a wonderful day it will be, Jesus is coming again!"

Every once in a while, world events jolt us into a sense of reality, and we begin to perceive that our lives are not permanent and that there must be a greater purpose for living. In fact, most of the time we become painfully aware of God's plan for our world and lives.

The outstanding fact is that Jesus is coming again. Take a rapid look at the Bible! "And now, what about the coming again of our Lord Jesus Christ, and our being gathered together to meet Him? — When is all this going to happen? — for you know perfectly well that no one knows. That day of the Lord will come unexpectedly like a thief in the night. When people are saying, 'all is well, everything is quiet and peaceful', then, all of a sudden, disaster will fall upon them—there will be no place to hide. (II Thess. 2:1 and I Thess. 5:1-3)

Jesus spoke of those days before His second return (Matthew 24): "What events will signal your return and the end of the world? Don't let anyone fool you. For many will come claiming to be the Messiah and will lead many astray. When you hear of wars beginning—the nations and kingdoms of the earth will rise against each other and there will be famines and earthquakes in many places. But all this will be only the beginning of the horrors to come.—Sin will be rampant everywhere and will cool the love of many.—And the Good News about the Kingdom will be preached throughout the whole world, so that all the nations will hear it—so when you see the horrible thing (anti-christ — persecution — days darkened — moon not give light — stars seem to fall—powers overshadowing the earth will be convulsed then—the nations of the world will see Me arrive in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory. And I shall send forth my angels with the sound of a mighty trumpet blast and they shall gather my chosen ones from the farthest ends of the earth and heaven."

BY THE THIRD EYE

I feel there is going to be another tragedy involving a school child on the Waldon Road hill just east of the village schools, unless something is done to insure greater safety for walking students.

I see a high cyclone fence -- at least six feet tall -- next to the road on both sides to keep children from getting onto the road. I feel this will be necessary in addition to sidewalks to avert future accidents.

As I look over the eastern area of Independence Township, a glow of happiness hovers above it. A turn of affairs both in and out of the home will make many people happy. In most cases where situations have seemed unsolvable, they will be solved.

Mostly boys will be born this winter to expectant parents in the area.

I see Editor Jean packing two large suitcases and plopping a knitted cap on her head. She must be going north or be on the scent of a hot story.

A struggling writer in the area will have a lot of luck. A story for a magazine will sell, after two rejections. After that the writer will find doors open and articles large and small gobbled up. That will lead to books, and movies. Clarkston will be put on the map once more.

In about ten years, two present school students will team up after extensive training and discover a cure for a disease that has red spots and does great damage to the eyes.

A local house will be raided on a tip of selling hard drugs. No drugs will be found, but a few local people will be found to be hard users.

Mrs. P.L. Please don't worry about your health condition. It will improve and your doctor will be giving you a different prescription without your asking. You'll find your doctor was right all along.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING October 22, 1973

Meeting called to order by President Johnston.

Roll: Present: Basinger, Granlund, Hallman, Schultz, Thayer, Weiss. Absent: None.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Trustee Weiss reported that he had checked with other communities to see what they did with their tax-exempt properties as far as sewer construction costs. He said that they had told him that rates could be set up based on Units, and they could pay this on a voluntary basis or an Ordinance could be adopted requiring this payment. The other alternative would be to charge no rates at all, except a quarterly usage fee. This was discussed by the Council. Trustee Weiss will do some more checking and try and determine what fair and equitable charges would be.

Trustee Granlund reported that he had talked with Mr. Leuders from Oakland County and that Mr. Leuders had told him that no sewer repair work in the Village had reached final completion, and that he would check with the Council before signing any releases from the contractors.

Blacktopping of the remaining portions of Pinehurst and N. Holcomb within the Village limits was discussed by the Council.

Moved by Weiss to proceed with blacktopping approximately 200 feet of N. Holcomb to the Village limits on the east side of this street, based on the approval of the Village Engineer; with the cost of this project not to exceed $1000.00. Seconded by Granlund. Roll: Ayes - Basinger, Granlund, Hallman, Schultz, Thayer, Weiss. Nays - None. Motion carried.

Grace Vaughn of N. Holcomb was present to state that the drainage problem on her property still hadn't been taken care of. The Council discussed possible solutions to the problem. President Johnston will do some more checking on it.

President Johnston recommended that the Council appoint the following people to the Village Planning Commission: One year terms, Douglas Roeser, Ted Thomson, and Henry Woolfenden; Two year terms, Jackson Byers, Carlos Hansen, and Bob Schwarze; Three year terms, Mrs. John Bisha, Fred Davidson, and Mrs. Brian Prucher. Trustee Hallman said that none of these names represented the Trades or Building businesses, which if they did, would be an asset to the Commission.

Moved by Weiss to approve of President Johnston's recommendation and to appoint these people to the Planning Commission. Seconded by Schultz. Ayes, Basinger, Schultz, Weiss. Nays, Granlund, Hallman, Thayer. President Johnston cast an aye vote to break the tie. Motion carried.

The Council discussed the Township's possible purchase of the Hawk Tool Building for a Township Hall. They indicated that they are interested in the idea, but that it is premature at this time to commit the Village offices to occupancy of this Building with the Township, until we determine what our specific requirements will be. Trustees Basinger and Hallman will investigate the proposal further, and report to the Township the various aspects of it.

Meeting called adjourned by President Johnston.

Village Clerk

the INDEPENDENT view

by Jean Saile and Pat Braunagel

D. I. Pettengill and a pleased and happy Miss Michigan applauded Pettengill's win of a Lincoln Continental Mark IV during the recent Jaycee drawing.

To borrow a phrase -- "the word is" that County Commissioner Richard Wilcox could be the next chairman of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

Wilcox, a Republican who lives in Brandon Township and publishes the Ortonville Reminder, is a long-time member of the board, now serving as chairman of its buildings and ground committee. He is a former supervisor of Brandon Township.

To gain the chairmanship of the Republican dominated board, Wilcox would have to defeat incumbent Paul Kasper, an attorney. Wilcox would probably have three sure Republican votes -- his own and that of Commissioners Mary Dearborn and Frank Richardson. If he can convince the nine Democrats on the board to vote for him, he'd need only two other Republican votes.

The offer of some committee chairmanships to the Democrats, a system which worked in reverse when Charlie Edwards was named chairman of the board, could be a possibility.

But Kasper has reportedly disenchanted some of his fellow Republicans over leadership of the board through such debacles as the reversed Oakland County Hospital and tax-cut decisions, and the offer might not be necessary.

All Wilcox would have to do would be to pick up nine Republican votes to get Republican caucus support.

Paul Egighian is still allowed to operate a sand and gravel business at Sashabaw and Waldon roads, but he's going to have to get rid of some of the machinery stored there. The court was to decide this week how long he'd have to remove it.

Egighian, who operates the business on a non-conforming basis according to the zoning laws, was taken to court by Independence Township and required to prove the business is still operational.

Egighian has previously agreed in court to reclaim the land once the area is mined out.

Ninth graders at Clarkston Junior High School, were assigned recently to draw up a legal contract in the words of the old Dick and Jane primers.

"See Spot run. See Jane run. See Dick run." Not one "Whereas" in the whole book.

Now, if we could just get the law schools to make the same assignment, there might be hope for all of us.

A note of interest--there were only five of the old primers left at Clarkston Elementary School.

Lucky Fletcher wandered in last week with a fading ledger kept by his grandfather, Robinson Fletcher, a farmer in Warren and Benton Counties of Indiana.

Robinson was no spendthrift. He relates that on October 9, 1909, he took 35 cents for church and entertainment for himself.

Of course, those were in the days when bread was five cents a loaf and butter sold for 10 cents a pound or 25 cents for a three-pound crock. Apples were 50 cents a box, and the ledger relates that on October 16 he paid $10 on last winter's coal bill.

The entries have been preserved in the fine shaded script common to the literate of that day.

Shades of Rocky Marciano -- the three Sashabaw Junior High boys fighting last Sunday at the CAI did well. John Flores won his match by default and Craig Grable and Sam Flores Jr., pitted against each other for three rounds, provided one of the better bouts of the evening. Craig won by a decision.

Benson Fruit Cakes sold annually by the Rotary Club to raise funds for service projects are now available in Clarkston village stores and from club members. Cost is $3.75.

The fire whistle blew at 11 a.m. Monday. No fire, just failure of the firemen to set their clock back an hour in accordance with the return to Eastern Standard Time.

Political re-evaluation at the neighborhood level is underway by the Oakland County Republican Party. Sheldon B. Smith, chairman, has announced the formation of the committee to make grass roots reviews. Named from Drayton Plains to serve are Mrs. Frank Sias, 6366 Dellwood and Mrs. E.P. Stanley, 3221 Sashabaw.

We have $1.44 in pennies, money earmarked for the Tim Adams fund. Tim has been ill since the first of the year and hospital bills have been mounting. The Clarkston Flyers hockey benefit raised $1550 last week at the Lakeland Arena for his cause.

Our penny giver sends word that "the time of discontinuance of penny sending is soon to be upon us."

It's lasted a full year and in that time the pennies have been directly or indirectly responsible for a POW bracelet, a new flag and flagpole for independence center, a tree for the township park, new windows for the Salvation Army, and a sizeable contribution to the coffee fund for the senior citizens who meet there.

Thanks go to Lt. Edmond Gamble Post No. 4626 VFW for the flag and flagpole, to Ritter's Farm for help with the tree, and to Guyett Glass for the windows at the Salvation Army.

Clarkston High School has experienced some vandalism recently and two juveniles are being checked out for possible involvement. Principal Bill Dennis said a window had been broken and entrance gained to the school store where 104 items including posters, cards and sweatshirts were taken. The same night a maple tree near the special services building was destroyed, he said.
