Supervisor faults plans for hard rock at Springfield park

Reservations and opposition to a plan to bring a series of hard rock concerts to the Springfield-Oaks Activities Center in Davisburg this summer have been expressed by Springfield Township Supervisor Claude Trim.

The announcement of the proposed series by Sunrise and Golden Goose Productions was made Sunday in The Detroit News. That paper quoted park manager Gerard Lacey and Mike Shobe, 22-year-old Southfield entrepreneur, as making plans for some 20 concerts between May 26 and mid-September in the outdoor amphitheater at the park.

Already booked are The James Gang, guitarist Roy Buchannon and Spirit for May 26. The quoted plans were to bring in such performers as Leon Russel, Steve Miller and the Grateful Dead during the summer.

Lacey, who left on vacation this last weekend, was not available for comment, but Trim cited "too many environmental problems" as the basis for his opposition.

"It's an over exaggeration," said County Parks and Recreation Director Eric Reickel. "Someone's thinking out loud."

"Yes," he added, "we do have The James Gang booked for May 26, and there are three other dates for rock concerts, but we have no intention of placing rock concerts back-to-back at Springfield-Oaks."

Trim added, as objections to the park began to build, that he really had more faith in the Oakland County Board of Commissioners and the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission than to believe that they would let the rock series develop.

He said he'd heard of a petition drive due to start in the area against the proposed series. He added, "This would have a most devastating effect on the township and county as a whole in the areas of health, safety and noise."

"Last year they had the circus and about 4,000 cars a night, and though the traffic was handled well, we still had numerous complaints from the people who live here," he said.

"There'd have to be wider roads, and I don't believe the 100 security men they were quoted as contemplating in the paper would be sufficient," Trim added.

He continued, "I took part in the dedication of that building, and I thought it would be a good thing for the youth of the area, but I think the basic dedication emphasis has been lost. I think Lacey is having financial troubles there, and he's getting anything he can to pay. The emphasis is off kids, and on dollars and cents," Trim said.

The supervisor pointed to problems Pine Knob experienced with traffic and parking during its fling with hard rock, and even the promoters recognize the gate crashing that resulted from the Pine Knob rock concerts.

Shobe is quoted as saying a double security fence, manned by a hundred security officers, should avoid problems, but Lacey was quoted that if crowd control becomes an overwhelming problem, "the whole thing may be short lived."

Ticket prices for the concert are viewed in the $6 to $8 category with concerts reportedly planned to start at 3 p.m. and continue for six hours with a headliner and three or four strong middle acts.

Reickel added he thought the seating capacity had been overstated; that it might be possible to provide seating for 9,000, but that he had no idea where the plans for the fence around the property were coming from.

"We've had criticism of some of the rock stuff we've had there, but we've proceeded on a 'let's try it' basis," he said. "We're willing to try the May 26 concert. If it runs well, maybe we'll do it again, but there's no idea of sticking in nothing but rock concerts out there. We have too many other commitments," Reickel said.

He admits that the park has not been paying its own way.

Wr-rr-ong!

Officer warns motorcyclists

Motorcycles may be fun, but they are not playthings.

So, they don't belong on playgrounds, ball diamonds or other places where they pose a threat to people attempting to enjoy themselves.

Independence Township Recreation director Tim Doyle got rather irritated, and several kids got pretty scared--by motorcyclists who buzzed sports activity areas. Fortunately, no one was physically hurt.

As spring weather is bringing people outdoors, the problem is again coming to the attention of township and school officials.

"There was a very serious condition last year when events were taking place," said Jack McCall, director of police services for the township.

The township board last fall enacted a motorcycle ordinance, and McCall is planning to charge wayward cyclists with misdemeanors under its provisions.

The ordinance is aimed primarily at cyclists who trespass or create public hazards while on their bikes.

Motorcycles are not to be operated on private or school property unless the rider has the permission of the property owner, McCall noted.

The permission must be in writing, must include the name of the rider and description of the property and must be signed by the property owner.

And, McCall emphasized, it must be in the possession of the rider when he's caught by a policeman on the property.

Although school authorities said they have no written policy on the matter, they added they have not given permission to any cyclist to use school property.

McCall also noted that parents have responsibility for allowing unlicensed children to operate vehicles.

To qualify to operate a motorcycle on public streets and highways, a motorist must have a special endorsement on his driver's license.

In Springfield:

Treasurer promises collateral

Springfield Township Treasurer Margaret R. Samuel has agreed to cover with personal funds discrepancies in her bookkeeping—on the demand of three of her fellow township board members.

She was denied her request for another month to clear up the situation disclosed by a recent state audit which showed an under deposit of $6,098.26 in the township's accounts.

"I'd like another month to work on it," Miss Samuels said at the April 3 meeting of the board. She noted she was hopeful the audit would be cleared up by tracking down two delinquent checks from the state which go back to 1969 and "another check from the county."

"That's what you told us last month," said Trustee Roger Horton, who moved that Miss Samuel be required to post the collateral.

The motion—passed by Horton, Supervisor Claude A. Trim and Trustee E. L. Rundell—climaxed a frequently heated exchange between Trim and the treasurer.

"I think the world of you, Margaret..." Trim began.

"Don't say that, Claude," Miss Samuel interjected. "If you did, you wouldn't have done what you did to me." She also cautioned him not to "judge other people by yourself."

If she were not granted the delay she sought, Miss Samuel said she would personally post the collateral.

"I will never forfeit a bond—I'll pay it first," she said. "I would never take money from the township. Our auditors will find that out."

Over the objections of Miss Samuel, Trim read a portion of state law which states:

"If at any time it shall be discovered that the treasurer of any township has received the tax assessed upon property which has been returned delinquent, the supervisor shall have power, and he is hereby required to collect the same, in the name of his township, from such treasurer or his sureties, together with interest and charges."

"I prayed about this matter and considered it," Trim said. "I've been criticized by some people higher up that I've waited this long. It's a reflection on me and the board."

Miss Samuel reiterated that she would post the collateral.

"I certainly would not forfeit on a bond. I've been bonded since I was 21 years old," she said, commenting that if the surety company became involved in the matter, it would bring in its own auditors "and you're going to have more trouble than you have now."

Dissenting on Horton's motion was Clerk J. Calvin Walters.

Trim said after the meeting that he had been willing to take the required action without the board vote.

"I'm going to consult our township counsel and see if, as a township board, we've fulfilled our obligation to the citizens of the township," he said. "If we've done this, as far as I'm concerned, the matter's closed."

The supervisor said he regretted that the issue took the form it did.

"With her doing it this way, it might make an element think she did take the money," he said. "I don't think she ever did."

"It's just been a matter of poor record keeping and poor bookkeeping—and now she has to go back a long way. As these discrepancies came up, I asked her about them. She always just kind of put it off."

In action prior to the controversy, the board officially adopted policies recommended by the electorate at the annual township meeting March 30.

These included placing on the November ballot a 1-mill levy to support a five-year road improvement program.

The board also wrote into the budget for 1974-75 a road gravel program to which it would contribute up to $10,000 in matching funds to the Oakland County Road Commissioner.

Raises approved were from $6,000 to $6,500 for the assessor, from $6,000 to $6,400 for the building inspector, from $2,000 to $2,100 for the deputy clerk and from $4,200 to $5,400 for the building department secretary.

Planning commission and board of appeals members will make $20 rather than $10 per meeting, and the park commission salaries were raised from $10 to $15 per meeting.

Garner seeks rezoning in Springfield

Public hearing on rezoning which would permit development of a motel-restaurant complex at the interchange of I-75 and Dixie Highway is scheduled for Tuesday, April 16 before the Springfield Township Planning Commission.

A $5-million facility has been proposed by Hubert S. Garner and Deer Lake Development Company, Inc. for a 13-acre parcel at the southeast corner of the interchange, according to Springfield Township Supervisor Claude Trim.

The parcel is adjacent to 359 acres in Independence Township that is the object of lawsuits in both federal district and Oakland County Circuit courts.

At stake in the suits is the size and density of basically single- and multiple-family communities Garner proposes building at the north end of Deer Lake.

Included in his total plans was a 30-acre commercial area on the west end of the development, which stretches between Dixie and Holcomb Road south of I-75.

Of the 30 acres, 17 lie within Independence Township, with 2.8 being zoned for commercial usage and the rest for single-family residential.

The rezoning request before the Springfield Township Planning Commission is to change the classification of the 13 acres in Springfield from single-family residential to expressway service.

Garner has planned "quite an investment" at the interchange, according to Trim. The developer also has applied for a Class C liquor license available in Springfield Township.

The public hearing before the planning commission has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Springfield Township Hall in Davisburg.

Rademacher Chevrolet Inc. at 6750 Dixie Highway was closed last Saturday and a threatened invasion by 400 to 500 pickets did not materialize.

The dealership was the last in the three county area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb to remain open on Saturdays after Detroit dealers got together last December and decided to close Saturdays in view of the energy crisis.

It had been visited by some 40 to 50 pickets March 30 and there was some damage done to a new car, said Tom Rademacher owner. He admitted he didn't know if the damage had been done by the pickets, but he said he had been the recipient of several threatening phone calls.

"It was indicated to me that if we were to remain open last weekend, some 400 to 500 pickets would show and the damage would be severe," Rademacher said.

The dealership did receive a bomb threat following the March 30 picketing, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Rademacher said most of the pickets who were present Mar. 30 were "pretty much local salesmen from Pontiac."

The local dealer objects to the threats and the force involved. He says that the universal Saturday closing is in reality an attempt to cut overhead and increase the gross profit on sales made during the rest of the week.

"This was the idea of Detroit salesmen who have learned they don't do much suburban business on Saturday anyway, and since their decision to close, the idea has spread out into the suburbs," Rademacher noted.

The Saturday closing does not fulfill the avowed objective to afford salesmen a five-day work week, Rademacher contends.

"Most salesmen could have taken a day off during the week. All of them taking Saturdays off has narrowed the customer's choice," he contends.

"We are a service business and those who need a new car often need it in the same way they need a loaf of bread," he says.

Rademacher, who says the same Saturday closing was attempted in the 1950's, reports that Flint dealers have not yet been hit by the spreading practice. He is the closest Oakland County dealer to Flint, and some of his customers come from that city, he admits.

For three Saturdays in March he and his staff -- which remains at the pre-energy crisis level despite cutbacks by other dealers -- withstood the pressure to close Saturdays.

"I just couldn't afford to take the risk of staying open last Saturday, but I think this whole practice amounts to price fixing," he added.

"You can make just as much of a profit on car sales this year as you did last if you pare your staff and cut hours," he reported. "We chose to keep our people employed and offer Saturday service," he continued.

"If unemployment were not so bad, it might be a different situation. We do close Saturdays in the summer, but the demand for cars is not so great at that time," Rademacher reported.

He feels the forced closings will continue to spread until somebody brings a class action suit against the dealers. "I fought it as long as I could, therefore we have closed on Saturdays," he said.

Springfield to lose 2 officials

Springfield Township Supervisor Claude Trim has announced he will not seek reelection this year. He has served two terms as supervisor and one term as trustee, but said he had not yet made up his mind and to whether he will seek any other elective office.

Township Treasurer Margaret Samuel has reportedly indicated she will not seek reelection, but Clerk Calvin Walters reports he has not yet made up his mind.

Roger Horton who ends a four-year term as trustee has indicated he will seek reelection. The term of Trustee Chum Rundell does not expire for two more years.

Trim resigned as supervisor briefly last year, but was then persuaded to take the job again. During his term in office he became a certified assessor and a licensed builder.

He is also employed in the engineering division at GMC Truck and Coach Division.

In Independence Township, the three Republican fulltime elected officials have said they will seek re-election for two-year terms in November.

Trustee Keith Humbert, the sole Democrat on the board, indicated he is undecided at this point whether he will run for a second four-year term.

"I got in this because I thought the township was going in the wrong direction," he said. "It's been turned around, and I'm almost inclined to go back to being a private citizen.

"I have not yet decided whether or not I want to take further abuse. I'm not a politician.

"However, it's been an exciting and interesting four years."

Planning to have their nominating petitions filed by the deadline at 4 p.m. June 18 are Supervisor Robert Vandermark, Clerk J. Edwin Glennie and Treasurer Betty Hallman.

Nominating petitions for Republican candidates require 21 signatures and those for Democrats 26, according to Glennie.

Trustee Jerry Powell's four-year term will expire in 1976.

Principal William Dennis announces that Clarkston High School report cards were mailed Monday from the school. If they haven't been received by now, they're either lost in the mail or held by the school, he says. In the latter event, he asks that parents contact the school.

Humbert sees need for four trustees

Independence Township has reached the point where it needs a seven-person board, with four trustees, to govern it, some of its residents believe.

Trustee Keith Humbert is one of those persons, and he read a written statement of his views at the last township board meeting.

Humbert Said:

Upon thinking over the remarks of my esteemed colleague Jerry Powell concerning four trustees at the annual meeting, I felt compelled to answer thus:

The township board are all trustees when the board meets. The supervisor is chairman and has one vote, as do we each. The clerk and treasurer are not yes "persons," why the trustees? Our job is to set policy, equally, as the statutes and Michigan law require. It is a serious responsibility to be trustee.

I believe we need four trustees for at least five reasons:

1. Greater representation. This seems enough reason in itself—besides the cost is not that great.

2. The fulltime officials would have to do their homework a little better in some cases to assure passage of their ideas. A "closed shop" would not be possible. Better communication would be necessary. Remember, these fulltime people only carry out policies set by the board of trustees.

3. A charter township requires four trustees. We have grown up enough to be a charter township.

4. M.T.A. (Michigan Townships Association) recommends four trustees because of our size. This is due to work load. There are committees like the Mill Pond cleanup, centennial commission, street signing, roads, etc. that are not really receiving the attention they should. There is work in a developing township.

5. The overriding reason is that it is harder to corrupt seven trustees than five. Our zoning problems are our biggest problems. They were brought about by a township board that, in polite terminology, acted in a questionable manner. Privately, I have other words. When a member of the board votes on issues that affect him financially, I would like seven "whistle blowers" rather than five. The township is safer. Our legal fees would have paid for four trustees many times over.

I will continue to push for four trustees.

Township gets sewer bill

Independence Township, which is getting what its director of public works calls a "real break" from the village of Clarkston on sewer tap-in fees, has opted to pay the amount over a 20-year period.

The township is being billed as are other nonprofit organizations, about half the rate for office buildings, DPW Director George Anderson said.

The $10,000 fee represents $2,500 a unit for four units.

"I think they're being quite fair with us," Anderson said.

The township board decided to pay the bill at the rate of $860.16 a year for 20 years.

2 Maceday youths drown

Two Maceday Lake area boys, one of them a kindergarten student at Pine Knob Elementary School, drowned Thursday.

The body of James Osborne, 6, of 7661 Austera was found early Thursday floating in a cove 15 feet from shore. The body of his cousin, John A. Lewis, 11, of 3238 Whitfield was found about 10:30 a.m. Friday by divers in about six feet of water 100 yards from shore.

Combined funeral services were Monday morning from Our Lady of the Lakes Church in Waterford with burial in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township. Arrangements were by Goyette Funeral Home.

The two boys had been last seen Wednesday when they reportedly left the Lewis home for a walk in the woods about 5 p.m.

John is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Lewis, and a sister Laurie, 9.

James was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Osborne. He leaves a brother, Daniel, 4.

Anderson to seek reelection as state representative

State Representative Loren D. Anderson (R-Waterford) has announced he will seek a fifth term in the Michigan House of Representatives. Anderson is the Assistant House Republican Caucus Chairman, elected to his leadership position by his colleagues in 1972, and serves on the House Committees and Public Safety, Insurance and Marine Affairs. He is Vice-Chairman of the Committees on Public Safety and Marine Affairs.

Anderson represents the 60th Legislative District. Prior to his election to the State Legislature in 1966, he served as a Trustee on the Waterford Township Board and was employed with the Michigan Mutual Insurance Company.

"I intend to run an active campaign carrying the issues to every corner of the District. I also intend to run a campaign entirely funded by the people I represent. I feel that my seniority in the Legislature, coupled with my committee assignments, will allow me to better serve the people of my district and the state," Anderson said.

Archaic procedure?

Somebody remarked following the annual meetings that the township system for arriving at salaries is about as archaic as it can get.

It was further suggested that in the future a citizens' committee study salaries and make recommendations to the electors.

It sounds like an eminently sensible suggestion which would obviate a given official packing the crowd to push his own raise.

The committee could be set up statutorily to include a representative from certain segments of the community—schools and business or churches—who would then be charged with appointing three other members at large.

This would do away with the temptation of the board to appoint people who would be favorable to increases against what might be the popular sentiment of the residents.

The committee could in turn evaluate the hours spent and comparable salaries in other areas.

Bigger board favored

There's talk again about expanding from a five-man to a seven-man Independence Township Board. We're in favor for a couple of reasons.

The expansion would mean adding two trustees at $2,000 a year, a relatively minor cost item in what is sure to be a well over $1 million dollar budget, once water and sewer and cemetery funds are added to the general fund.

That's a lot of money, and as a recent zoning map public hearing showed, there are many people of diverse thought who reside in this community.

Representation would be apt to more closely resemble the population make-up.

Also a seven-man board could help avert the polarization that took place here a couple of years ago. For months there was little accomplished because of pre-determined political alignments and personal animosities.

Independence Township is a far cry removed from the horse and buggy stage. It's time to get away from governmental holdovers of that era.

'If It Fitz . . .'

If Nixon comes, what'll I do?

by Jim Fitzgerald

By the time you read this, you'll know whether President Nixon called my bluff.

Just the other day I said I wouldn't listen to a Nixon speech if he gave it in my backyard. Now, as I type these words, it appears I might get the chance to close the drapes on my President. But would I really do it?

Jim Sparling, an ex-newspaperman who should know better, wants to be Congressman from my district. He's a Republican, the same as Nixon, and there's no getting out of it. Jim was even a Nixon aide for awhile last year. He distinguished himself by escaping indictment.

This district has had a Republican Congressman for over 30 years so, naturally, the nation's eyes are upon us. If Sparling loses, it will be because Nixon is a burglar and should be hung. But if Sparling wins, it will also be a victory for Bebe Rebozo, a defeat for Dan Rather, and proof positive that Julie Nixon Eisenhower does not belong on the list of endangered species.

That's what the political pundits say. Sparling doesn't agree, and I don't blame him. He has a perfect alibi for Watergate and he wants to run for Congress on his own merits. But the lousy Democrats keep flogging him with a smelly albatross. So what can a guy do? Sparling invited Nixon to come to Michigan and fight for himself.

It wasn't a friendly invitation. Sparling didn't exactly open his spare bedroom to Nixon. He simply pointed to the "shadow of guilt" on Nixon's brow and suggested he "come out of isolation and lay it right out." In other words, come battle the bullies in my block. If I'm home that day, I'll wave at you through the window.

But the GOP committee in my home county was much more magnanimous and specific. They sent Nixon a telegram, urging him to make a speech at Lapeer High. They have reserved the school cafeteria, gym and football field for him. And there's a clean cot in the lockerroom.

At this writing there has been no RSVP from the Oval Room. But just in case Nixon does come to my hometown, I probably should decide now what I am going to do about it. Will I thumb my nose at him? Or will I genuflect before the built-in majesty of the presidency?

2 U.S. senators, Griffin and Jackson, spoke in my hometown last

She was the type, however, who would stand and wait patiently for me to get up after I'd fallen off, and there were times we used her as a playground slide at school.

Her successor was black Dixie, black hearted and wily. Dixie always developed a serious limp when she didn't want to travel. Headed home, she'd have a marvelous recovery.

Dixie would elude a bag of oats for hours on end when she didn't want to be caught. I walked further many mornings trying to catch that horse than if I'd walked to school in the first place.

Tony was all show and speed, and I inherited him only after my brother joined the Air Force. That horse could outrace any horse in the country and look better than any horse in the country doing it.

Mounting Tony was like climbing aboard a whirling merry-go-round. Full of fire always, he could never wait to get started, and he was the horse of my dreams.

Successful car pool

We would like to take this opportunity to express a well-deserved thanks to Mel at Mel's Texaco station here in Clarkston. We have experienced the "$3.00 limit," "pumps closed," "We don't have any either," etc. We have also experienced the fine cooperation of Mel and others at his station for being more than accomodating in making our car pool successful.

On several occasions Mel has answered early morning phone calls and relayed messages such as, "I'll be a little late this morning", or "Go ahead without me." In addition he has provided immediate services for unexpected minor car repairs that were necessary. At times the only statement for services rendered was "Have a good day."

From our view, "We get more from Texaco."

Bob Baynes
Kathy Welsbacher
Sue Louisignau

P.S. If anyone is interested in joining our car pool, please contact Bob (625-2816), Kathy (391-3074) or Sue (625-5989). We leave the Texaco station about 7:15 a.m. and arrive at The Michigan School For The Deaf in Flint by 8:00. We leave Flint about 4:00 p.m.

An oversight

Dear Mrs. Saile:

Through an unintentional oversight on my part, I omitted the name of Ron Herron, Trustee from the list of new officers of the Democratic Club. The omission leaves me red-faced because Mr. Herron has been a dedicated worker in Democratic politics at both the state and local level for a number of years. Please allow me to correct the error through the public letter box of your paper.

Supports novel

To the editor of The Clarkston News:

I'd like to comment on the letter written by Mrs. Gatton concerning the novel "Flowers for Algernon." I read the book twice; once in 8th grade and again in 9th grade English class. I also saw the movie, which was rated PG.

I felt the book "Charley" was a very touching story about a retarded man. It dealt with real life situations, and made me aware of how so-called normal people like you and me sometimes treat "abnormal" people cruelly. By reading "Charley", I realized even more that people like this can love anything or anybody, even a rat called "Algernon," if they feel it in their hearts.

I feel by the age of 16 I should be able to read a book with a few sex situations and a few dirty words without giggling or acting childish. Having a few "off-color" words does not necessarily mean a book is trash; even great Literature may contain a few "dirty" words. Unfortunately, it wouldn't be real life if there weren't a few of these words.

If after reading "Flowers for Algernon" all a person can think about is the language or little sex, then I feel they must be unaware of what started are treated like and also, just did not see the true warmth and love that is put across in this or any other book.

I'm glad Mrs. Gatton is concerned with the students and CHS and I do respect her opinion, but I feel I must congratulate CHS for including this moving novel in the English classes.

Respectfully,
A CHS Student

Congratulations chief!

This department would like to extend our congratulations to Don Beach with regards to his receiving the "liberty under law" award from the Grand Order of Eagles April 6, 1974.

We would also like to commend the Eagles Order 3373 for the selection of Don Beachy for this award. It is our belief and feeling that there has never been any two more dedicated public servants in our township than Don and Henrietta Beach.

Thank you for believing as we and many others do.

Clarkston honors a chief

Good food is an Eagle's trademark and Sally Warden, Teresa Csiki and Dot Strine served up the meat at the buffet dinner.

Beach received congratulations from Jay Green. The Liberty Under Law award was presented for the first time last year to former Sheriff Frank Irons. Beach was instrumental in organizing the Independence Township Fire Department in 1940 and served as its chief until his retirement two years ago.

Clarkston amends zoning code

The Clarkston Village Council Monday night adopted the first amendment to the village's new zoning ordinance, to correct what was considered an oversight regarding single-family construction.

Single-family homes, additions and accessory buildings will not require site plan approval. Construction under $200 in those zones also will not require building permits nor inspection.

Councilmen voted unanimously to make the revision in the seven-month-old ordinance.

Ruth Basinger, senior member of the council now serving her third term, was named president pro tem by new Village President Keith Hallman.

Her appointment headed a list of those confirmed by the council, including a reappointment of three members each on the zoning board of appeals and the planning commission.

Named to new three-year terms on the board of appeals were Howard Huttenlocher, Jim Schultz and Ted Thomson.

Doug Roeser, Ted Thomson and Henry Woolfenden will continue service on the planning commission for one-year terms.

Appointed to council committees were Mrs. Basinger and Schultz on legislative and planning, Neil Granlund and Kathy McCall on sewer and finance and Mike Thayer and Jim Weber on police and streets.

Primarily due to the increased funds he will be handling because of sewers, the bond on Village Treasurer Art Pappas was increased from $20,000 to $40,000 after a discussion with representatives of Huttenlochters, Kerns and Norvell Inc.

Huttenlocher also raised a question about and agreed to investigate the village's liability under its contract for police services with Independence Township and for the sewer pumping station in the village.

With an eye to planned remodeling of the village office, the council agreed to seek fire-marshall inspection of the building as soon as possible.

The Independence Township Fire Department is in the process of checking all commercial and public buildings in the community, and work done at the village office will be contingent on the results of that inspection.

Dunleavy named to state committee

The Michigan Association of Counties announced today the appointment of James Dunleavy, Oakland County Commissioner, to the state association's Committee on Taxation.

Dunleavy has been active as a member of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners in equalization and taxation matters over the last year introducing resolutions aimed at clarifying state laws relating to the inequities in the present state tax program.

Dunleavy, representing the western side of Oakland County, (including part of Independence Township) has also been active in the county road graveling program which has placed gravel on roads that have not had any in over twenty years.

Rademacher promotes gasoline economy

A consumer program developed to help drivers check cars for maximum engine efficiency and gasoline economy was announced today by Rademacher Chevrolet.

It is part of a national campaign with the potential of saving U.S. car owners "literally millions of gallons of gas" this year, Tom Rademacher said. The program, titled "Energy Check USA," is being sponsored by General Motors Parts Division, which serves GM's five automobile divisions.

"Most of GM's 12,000 dealers are participating in the Energy Check effort," said Rademacher. "If all car owners would check their cars for economy and keep them properly tuned, they'd not only save a lot of gas for themselves but millions of gallons would be saved for all of us."

The dealer said that his company is not just promoting the idea, but is setting lower prices on related services. They include an economy check-up and the more familiar engine tune-up.

The national Energy Check program will include a direct mail invitation to over 12 million GM owners to have their cars checked. Newspaper and radio advertising will also be used to support the local dealer's invitation to owners to have their cars "energy-checked."

Fire activities

Fourteen grass fires, 13 car fires, 5 house fires and 7 rescue calls kept the Springfield Fire Department busy in 1973, according to a report submitted at the annual meeting.

There were three known cases of arson, three false alarms, and three haystack fires. Firemen were called for two resuscitations, two cases of fallen wires, two oil furnaces, two oil burners and two overheated furnace investigations and two overturned autos.

Other calls ranged from a burning mattress to a fire in a towel container at Holly Greens.

A snowmobile, a coin collection and 200 pounds of beef were reported stolen from three Independence Township residences last week.

James Rowe told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that an $800 snowmobile he had left beside his garage was taken late Friday night or early Saturday morning, April 5 or 6.

Sometime between April 1 and 5, while the owner was away from home, a $500 coin collection was stolen in a break-in at the George O'Brien home at 7151 Perry Lake Road, according to Sheriff's deputies.

Robert Campbell, 5231 Maybee Road, told deputies someone broke into the locked freezer in his garage and made off with 200 pounds of beef, valued at $1 a pound, Tuesday night, April 2.

INDEPENDENT view

by Jean Saile
and Pat Braunagel

Politicians all, members of the Independence Township Board were willing to exaggerate just a wee bit to claim the distinction of having been streaked.

Before last week's board meeting, they eagerly claimed that two unclad youths had run along Main Street before the township hall. They didn't know who the streakers were or whether they were male or female.

"With the length of kids' hair these days, who can tell the difference?" quoth one official.

Intensive interrogation uncovered the fact that the streakers were toddlers-- "about two and three years old" said one and "about four and five" said another. They couldn't even agree on the ages.

And they wonder why there's a credibility gap.

Lyle Abel of Eeve Road came through Kentucky Wednesday and Thursday during and in the wake of the terrible tornados that hit that area. The Abels, who had been in Florida for the winter, reported destruction everywhere -- terrific clouds, continued lightening, signs down and buildings wrecked. They'd spent Wednesday night in Georgetown, Ky., and were without power and light for eight hours.

"Some radio stations were on standby power, and reports were coming thick and fast," he said. The Abels passed close to Xenia, Ohio, where devastation was the worst, but they reported I-75 passable all the way.

Rev. Bob Walters went to the Post Office Friday morning and found a note in his box telling him to pick up a package. It turned out that Fred Luth, an employee at the Post office, wanted to tell Bob about a very important event -- the birth of a grandchild. Parents are Donald and Virginia Nolen of 5166 Cecelia Ann.

Sally Smith of Pine Knob whose husband bowls with the Pontiac Motors Men's League at 1 a.m. on Wednesday mornings has seen everything. She says she was sitting in Howe's Lanes about 1:30 a.m. with a couple of other wives when there was a yell and she turned around to see who had made a strike.

She remembers, "I saw three men streaking through. I saw them coming and going. I didn't even see the hoods over their heads."

One woman who drove down from Caro with her husband said she considered the drive well worth it, Sally reported.

Independence Township officials are considering removing a source of irritation for residents who have business to do with the township and only a lunch hour free to do it.

At its April 16 meeting, the township board will discuss the possibility of keeping the township offices open from noon to 1 p.m.

Locked doors and unanswered phones during the lunch hour reportedly have caused more than one resident to go away mad.

Clerk J. Edwin Glennie noted the township now has evolved to the stage where lunch hours of employees should be staggered so the offices could remain open without increasing the staff.

"I feel very strongly that we should be open the whole day, from 9 to 5," he said.

How we wish people would sign the letters they send to us! For legal and just plain good business reasons, we cannot print unsigned letters. We need to know the author, even if the name is not made a part of the story.

We have such a letter in hand -- a protest against developers -- that winds up: "I don't know about you, but I get a good feeling when I see people turn out to protest the raping of our township by outsiders who are out to make a killing at our expense. We have the ball rolling, but even more people must support the movement. A township meeting is a lot more interesting than anything you're ever going to see on television and besides the property value you save may be your own."

Right on! But give us a name so we can run the whole letter!

Through a recorded message, Michigan Bell is attempting to correct an error regarding local police services in its new telephone book.

Despite notices from Clarkston officials, the directory lists the old Clarkston Village Office number for emergency police calls.

Persons dialing that number will now be informed that emergency calls are handled by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-4911.

The new village office number, necessary because of the mix-up, is 625-1559.

The tires of five cars were slashed in the parking lot at St. Daniel Catholic Church while the owners were at a church service Saturday evening, March 30, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Frank Minton, 5070 Waterford Road, received a Christmas card from 84-year-old M.C. Barrett of Arkansas on March 27. The card had been mailed December 8.

Minton recalls that Barrett was once an Arkansas mailman who made his rounds on horseback, and Minton figures Barrett could have made better time delivering the card on horseback than the U.S. Postal Service did with its up-to-date facilities.

The Clarkston News has its yearly shipment of new Michigan State Highway Department maps. They're yours free, if you stop in and ask for one.

The Flyers.....versus.....Police Chief Jack McCall

Police - Flyer game to benefit player

Independence Township auxiliary policemen and firemen will take to the ice of Lakeland Arena April 20 to battle the Clarkston Flyers in a benefit hockey game for Al Frieberg.

A 1972 graduate of Clarkston High School, Frieberg was in his third season with the flyers when his leg was broken in a mishap on the ice last Christmas Eve. His parent are the Lionel Friebergs of Bronco Drive.

Treatment for the unusual fractures was only partially covered by insurance, according to Mrs. Jack Hagen, wife of the team's coach.

"His insurance paid up to $1,900.," she said. "By now his expenses have run over $4,000, and they're still not finished."

A defenseman who has played with the team ever since it was organized, Frieberg was checked into the boards when the accident occurred, she said.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. benefit can be purchased from players on either of the teams, at the arena of 7330 Highland Road, Pontiac or from the Hagens, 625-4349.

Admission is $2 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12.

Annual player draft called

The Independence Township Recreation department will hold its annual player draft for boys 7-15 this Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. in the Clarkston Senior High School cafeteria. This meeting is for managers only. All boys who have registered in school will be placed on teams that evening, and will be notified by April 17. All old and new managers are asked to attend this draft meeting. Managers who want to study draft rules can come at 6:30 or pick up copies in the Independence Township Recreation Department.

CORRECTION

SPRING RECREATION PROGRAM Independence Township Newsletter

Junior Baseball Program should be ages 7 to 19 years old, instead of 7-9.

Girls Mighty Ms. Softball should be from 4:00 until 6:00 P.M., instead of 10-12.

There is also a possibility of morning play of baseball and softball.

In both the Jr. Baseball and Girls Softball information, the time from 10 A.M. until 12 noon appears. There exists a possibility that both the boys and girls youngest age bracket league will have to play in the morning hours if the program expands to make it impossible to handle all league play in the late afternoon and evening hours. The desire is to keep all league play in the late afternoon, but the time is coming soon where morning play will be inevitable.

Trackmen win opening meet

By Mike Jewell

The Clarkston Wolves track team claimed the season's first victory, winning a tri-meet at Lake Orion last Thursday. The weather was windy and cold, making the event a teeth chattering affair as Clarkston, Lake Orion, and Pontiac Catholic competed to a 76-62-12 final score, respectively.

Clarkston, despite the fact that they had led for most of the meet already, really came on strong during the meet's last 6 events to clinch the win.

The score was 19-19-6 at the end of the field events with Clarkston and Lake Orion being tied for the lead. The field events featured the Wolves' Wayne Thompson taking a first worth 5 points in the long jump for his leap of 18'9 1/4". Thompson ended up with 10 points to lead in individual scoring. He claimed 3 more points in the 100-yard dash with a second place timing of 11.1. Clarkston also took a third place in the 100-yard dash as Vern McVety followed Thompson with a 11.2 clocking.

McVety also had a good day earning 7 1/4 individual points, getting 5 of them by running the 220 yard dash in 25 seconds flat, good enough for a first. Both McVety and Thompson were part of the 880-yard relay team that finished with a 1:38.6 second place timing. The rest of that squad included George Bellairs and Bill Rondo.

Getting back to the field events, it was Rondo taking second in the long jump as he catapulted 18'2 1/2" through air to earn 3 points.

In the shot-put the Wolves' Mike Millmine took second with a toss of 38'8" with Tim Doherty right behind at 38'7 1/4".

Dave Brown cleared 5'6" on his initial try to tie for second in the high jump, earning 2 1/2 points. Tim Westover also cleared 5'6", but it only put him in 4th place because it took Tim three tries.

In the pole-vault the Wolves took a third, thanks to Terry Johnson's 9' effort, and tied for fourth. Mike Humphreys earned the tie by going only 8' over the bar.

Mike Nurenburg had a good day surprising everybody by taking a first place in the 880-yard run with a time of 2:04.6. The Wolves also took third and fourth place in the 880-yard run as Mark Harris finished with a 2:10.7 timing and Howard Phelps followed with a clocking of 2:12.

Nurenburg also ran in the 440-yard dash and finished in third place with 54.8. Bellairs finished in second place with a time of 54.5 and Dave Kras took fourth as he checked in with a 54.81 time.

Nurenburg also ran in the mile relay along with Phelps, Crosby, and Bellairs. The quartet would have collected 3 points for a second place finish but Bellairs threw the baton in disgust when a Lake Orion runner passed him to take first. The throwing of the baton automatically disqualified Clarkston from that race.

Lee Booker also put forth some fine efforts for Clarkston as he took a first place in the 180-yard low hurdles by straddling it in 23.5. Booker also helped the 440-yard relay team of Klein, Thompson, and Rondo take a first place with a quick time of 45.9 to add 5 more points to the team's total and 1 1/4 points to his total 6 1/4 individual points.

Right behind Booker in the 180-yard low hurdles was John Fry who finished second with a clocking of 23.53 seconds. Steve Klein finished fourth finishing with a time of 24.1.

The Wolves took a total of 6 points in the 120-yard high hurdles despite not taking first place. Dale Barger took second with a 17.1 timing. Klein was next with a time of 18.2, followed by fourth place finisher John Fry with an 18.4 clocking.

The mile-run featured Clarkston's Mike Crosby finishing in second place with a 4:50 time followed by Paul Brown who finished with a 4:56 timing.

Clarkston took second and third in the 2-mile run as Paul Glowzinski finished with a 10:49 timing and Jeff McIlrath ended with a clocking of 10:52.

Mike Millmine readies for the shot put against Lake Orion in the April 4 meet.

Varsity splits twin bill

By Mike Jewell

The Clarkston Wolves baseball team started off the 1974 season by splitting a double header with Rochester last Saturday. The two games, initially to be played at Rochester, were played here at the CJH field due to a soggy field at both Rochester and CHS.

The Wolves won the first game 2-1 and lost the second game 3-0. In the first game it was Rochester getting off to a 1-0 lead in the second inning as Dieter hit a towering blast to deep right field off Ken Foster. It should have been only a long triple but the ball was overthrown, by inches, to catcher Dan Blower, allowing Dieter to score.

The Wolves first chance to score came in the third inning when they had the bases loaded, but they failed to take advantage of the situation.

In the bottom of the fourth, though, Clarkston tied things up at 1-1 when Tim Thompson punched out a hard grounder that shot down the third base line for a single and scored Dan Blower from second base.

Blower got on base by walking and then was sacrificed to second by Ken Foster. Clarkston would have scored one more run and possibly more but a sure base-hit by Jeff Harvey hit second base and died right there. The force out was made at second and the inning was over for the stunned Wolves.

Clarkston received the game's winning run in the bottom of the sixth when Mike Hooper collected his second single of the game to knock in George Porritt. Porritt walked to get on base and stole second on the next pitch.

Mike Coulter, who relieved starter Ken Foster in the sixth inning, got the win as he struck out 5 batters, walked 4, and gave up no hits. Foster struck-out 4, walked two, and gave up three hits.

Rec department to offer hunting licenses

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department will start selling hunting and fishing licenses beginning April 12. The department hopes to remain open the week prior to opening day for trout, deer hunting, etc. until 6:30 nightly.

Steve Ronk collected Clarkston's only other hit of the game as he went 1-3. Hooper was 2-3 and Thompson 1-3.

In the second game Dieter of Rochester pitched a 3-0 one-hitter. He also knocked in two of their 3 runs.

Ken Foster earned the only hit that Dieter gave up as the Wolves failed to threaten at all.

Dave Heffernan, who started, was tagged with the loss as he struck out 4 and gave up one run on two hits. Sophomore Steve Howe did a fine job in relief despite giving up two runs on two hits and striking out three batters.

Coach Paul Tungate said "the pitching was impressive in both games and the team played fine defense in the first game."

4 place in state meet

by Timothy R. Hewelt

One first place, two seconds and a fourth were captured by Clarkston Kids who participated in the U.S. Kids Wrestling Federation state tournament last week at Pontiac Central High School. A thousand wrestlers competed in four age groups.

First year wrestler Mark Karrick took a first place in the heavyweight bracket of the 9-10 year-old division. He won the medal by pinning five of his opponents and beating the sixth by a score of 8-5.

Warren Gritzinger took a second in the tough 105 lb. weight class of the 11-12 year old division. He didn't lose a match, but tied with the wrestler that took first place. The way the first and second place was determined in this case was by picking the wrestler with the most pins, the state champ had one more pin.

Mike Howe took a second in the 52 lb. weight class of the 9-10 year old division. This weight bracket had a former state champ competing and he repeated last year's feat by capturing the same title.

Jeff Kellogg took a fourth in the 70 lb. weight bracket of the 11-12 year old division. This was another weight class packed by former state winners. Jeff lost to the first and second place winners and tied the third place winner. The third and fourth place was determined by the number of pins.

The four Clarkston Kids have qualified for the National Wrestling Tournament that will be held in Joliet, Illinois on July 19-20. The boys are participants of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department's wrestling program.

Hobby clinches men's play

Hobby Painting won the recreation department's Men's Basketball League play-offs last Wednesday night by beating Ben Powell 99-85 at Sashabaw Junior High School. Painting had the lead throughout the entire game. Play was close in the first half, but Hobby Painting used the second half to slowly increase their lead until the buzzer.

Jerry Olsen of Hobby Painting led all scorers with 41 points, while teammate Bill Craig dumped in 22 points. Bob Murphy helped out he added 10 points to his team's total.

Dave McDonald led Ben Powell as he poured in 36 points followed by Chris Wakefield who chipped in 20 points. Duane Lewis helped out as he contributed 15 points.

Volunteers needed for township cleanup

Independence Township will once again offer citizens free dumping privileges at Ben Powell Disposal Co. on Clarkston Road the weekends of May 4 and 11.

A township-wide volunteer cleanup has been scheduled for May 4 in connection with the free dump days.

Letters of invitation to a planning meeting at 8 p.m. April 22 at the township hall have been sent to service clubs, churches, PTAs, Boy and Girl Scout leaders. Each organization will be given an area of responsibility, according to Mrs. Carolyn Place who is spearheading the effort.

Powell will provide free trash bags to cooperating groups and food and drinks will be offered to workers all day at the Independence Township Hall, Mrs. Place said.

"The township foots the bill to permit homeowners to get rid of such items as stoves, refrigerators and tires. I think residents should give one day in return to really clean up the roadsides," she said.

She asked that people noting areas of particular concern contact Tim Palulian, township ordinance enforcement officer, who is keeping a list of areas especially in need of cleaning.

Speculation a long race

There are a lot of people who are betting on a building boom in Independence Township, and those with the "win" ticket are the owners of property zoned for multiple dwelling units.

Most of the holders of "win," "place" and "show" tickets are viewing the "race from a distance, according to Supervisor Robert Vandermark.

"There's nothing unusual about it," he said. "That's just the way it is in a community like this."

Vandermark had commented at a recent meeting about the amount of vacant land in the township which is owned by speculators and developers.

"The assessment roll of large parcels of undeveloped land in the township reads like a 'Who's Who' of developers in southeastern Michigan," he said.

Of the 23,000-plus acres in the township, about 16,000 are either vacant or zoned for agriculture.

"There are two active farms in the township of about 400 to 600 acres," Vandermark said. He estimated that about five percent of the vacant land is owned by residents.

"Most of the addresses of land owners are in Southfield, the Penobscot Building or Huntington Woods," he said. "I've worked in three municipalities in the last eight years. I've seen a lot of tax rolls, and I've seen many of these names numerous times."

Most of the 713 acres zoned for multiple dwellings remains undeveloped, and it is such property that is most lucrative investment, according to township officials.

They recently compiled a list of the owners of the 127 vacant parcels which are at least 40 acres in size.

Vandermark ran a pencil down the list, checking "speculator," "speculator," "speculator."

The race may be a long one, but the guys holding tickets can wait.

County considers Clinton Watershed park purchase

Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission Director Eric Reickel has confirmed the county is investigating purchase of the Clinton River Watershed between Independence-Oaks Park around Crooked Lake and the newly acquired township park off Clarkston Road.

Some 90 acres of tamarack forest and marsh are involved in the wetlands under consideration. "I've been authorized to get appraisals, and then to see if we can get a Bureau of Outdoor Land Use grant from the federal government which would pay half the cost," Reickel said Monday.

Local reaction to the news was favorable. Supervisor Robert Vandermark said he was very pleased to see concrete steps taken to preserve the Clinton River Watershed, and that such preservation was one of the township's objectives when it purchased the township park.

The county has recently awarded the planning job for the park's development to Ellis, Arndt and Truesdell of Flint. Estimate of work to be undertaken on the site is $448,000, according to Reickel. He said plans are to receive leads the end of May and award contracts the first of June.

Plans have also been initiated to purchase a 22-acre site at the southern boundary of the park for use as a pike trap, which would be operated by the Department of Natural Resources.

With regards to Springfield-Oaks Park, the county commission has awarded a landscaping contract on a bid of $105,166 to Demminck's Nursery Inc. of Byron Center and an automatic irrigation system contract to Harris Irrigation Co. of Temperance in the amount of $54,000.

The work will be done on the back nine of the county owned golf course.

The commission voted to lease 8½ acres of the park site to Springfield Township Parks and Recreation for $1 per year. The land on Davisburg Road is separated from the park by a Grand Trunk Western Railroad track. The railroad is currently attempting to recover damages from the commission because of erosion there.

Reickel said considering a county-owned 12-inch drain empties into the railroad's 24-inch culvert, he did not feel the commission was responsible. He said he was to meet with railroad spokesmen Tuesday morning.

"Fiorello" gearing for May

Clarkston Players are in full rehearsal for the May 3, 4, 10, and 11 production of the Broadway hit musical, "Fiorello" which will be presented at Colombiere College auditorium.

The show depicts the life and loves of the "Little Flower" -- Fiorello H. LaGuardia, who fought and defeated the corrupt Tammany Hall political machine just prior the World War II and who later became the popular, funny paper reading three-term mayor of New York City.

A cast of 44 people will feature Gene Sherwood at Fiorello. Thea, the mayor's first wife, will be played by Carol Arend. Pat Schmidt will play the mayor's loyal secretary and second wife.

Russ Inman, Bob Arend, Dominic Cipperone and Ted Tavora will play the mayor's friends and political cronies.

The show is being produced by Jim Mahar and is directed by Jean Hendricks. Tickets are $2.50 and reservations may be made at Dr. Ernest Denne's office, 22 South Main, Clarkston.

The Clarkston Bell System, attired in smart green and white uniforms, practices for upcoming engagements. Hoping to book a wedding soon are Matthew Boberg [from left], Mike Boberg, Doreen Freitag, Bettijean Collins, Susan Stuphin, Lori Sutherland and Martha Kennedy.

They ring those bells

You might be hearing bells ring in Clarkston one of these days -- perhaps at a Girl Scout banquet or a convalescent home, or even at a wedding.

It'll be the Clarkston Bell System -- the euphemistic name adopted by seven elementary and one junior high students assembled by Mrs. Ann Hulsey of Davisburg.

Using the bells and Adele Thomas -- the heaviest weighing about 2½ pounds and costing $100 and the smallest about a quarter pound and costing $25 -- the kids turn out such selections as Handel's "Sonata for Bells" and "It's a Small World."

Mrs. Hulsey, a diminutive 22 years of age, looks just like one of her 12-year-old students, and she's been in several bell choirs and assisted in the junior high group which Ms. Thomas directed.

This particular group came into being last fall when Mrs. Thomas asked Ann if she'd like to start a group of her own. The kids practice each Tuesday at the Boberg home on Waldon Rd.

Most of them were originally friends of Ann's or friends of friends of hers. She says it takes them a week or two to get the hang of bell ringing. Several of them take music lessons or play in the school band.

They all attend Clarkston Elementary or Clarkston Junior High School. In the group are Matthew Boberg, 11, Mike Boberg, 10, Doreen Freitag, 12, Bettijean Collins, 12, Susan Stuphin, 12, Lori Sutherland, 11, Martha Kennedy, 11 and Paul Boberg, a junior high student.

Home construction down

New housing starts in Independence Township for the month of March were just about half what they were for the same month a year ago.

Permits for six homes estimated to cost $189,432 were issued as compared to last year's permits for 13 homes estimated to cost $394,972.

ADC changes

Rent or mortgage payments for Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) recipients who fall behind may now be made directly to the landlord or mortgageholder, according to procedures being instituted by the Michigan Department of Social Services.

The new rules follow passage of legislation (Section 27 of Act 131, Public Acts of 1973) mandating that when an ADC recipient has defaulted on his rent or mortgage payment for at least the equivalent of two months, "protective vendor payments" must be initiated.

Under federal regulations, such payments may be made when it is to the benefit of the recipient, but are limited to 10 percent of the state's ADC caseload.

Teen scene

"Fiddler" a success

by Bill Condon

During the past two weeks, the Clarkston High School Drama Club presented "Fiddler On The Roof", a musical based on stories by the Russian-born Jewish author, Sholom Aleichem. The musical, which played before capacity audiences at the Clarkston High School auditorium, featured the talents of many students, who, as a group, made the play an excellent production.

At the start of the play, the stage was transformed into a town of Anatevka, an impoverished village of Czarist Russia during the early 1900's, just prior to the Revolution. The little town is populated by all types of fascinating personalities: Tevye (played by Jon Saylor), the complaining but brave and lovable dairyman, who has brought up his five daughters, Tzeitel, the oldest, (Teresa Rademacher), Hodel (Christy Koyl), Chava (Angie Kraud), Shprintze (Holly Radoye), and Bielke, the youngest (Cindy Brown), in accordance with Scriptural wisdom, most of which is his own invention; Golde, Tevye's hard-working, superstitious wife (played by Sheryl Anderson), whose only goal in life is to get their daughters rich marriages; Yente, a professional matchmaker and local gossip (Jayne Kottke), Motel, a poor, young tailor (Ed Ball); Perchik, a student who tries to sway the village toward his radical beliefs (Dave Vanaman); Lazar Wolfe, a wealthy butcher (Jim Holloway), and many others.

All of the cast performed very well under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Gibson, the high school speech and dramatics teacher, and Miss Grayce Warren, the vocal music teacher. Mr. Keith Sipos directed the orchestra which added much to the performance.

In the words of the principal, Mr. William Dennis, "This annual musical has become more than a school production. In the development of this annual event the involvement has become far reaching into many more areas than only the musical production. Additions to the curriculum which allow the productive use of talents in the areas of home economics, music, industrial arts, and the art department contribute greatly to this production."

From the props, sets, lighting, costumes, programs, publicity, and tickets, to the acting, singing, and choreography, a lot of work goes into a musical production, but it's all worth it when the musical turns out as good as "Fiddler On The Roof."

There was no school at Clarkston High School last Tuesday and Wednesday, April 2 and 3, because of the lack of electricity. It seems that, during the bad thunderstorm on Monday night, the electrical transformer that supplies the school was struck by lightning, causing it to be no longer workable. So, the transformer had to be replaced and the job took all day, and most of the night, on Tuesday and Wednesday.

There will be no school Friday, April 12, or any of next week, April 15-19, because of Easter Vacation. School will resume on Monday, April 22.

Meadow Brook jazz line-up

Star-studded Friday nights will again highlight the Meadow Brook Music Festival this summer, and the world's popular and jazz greats reinforce a tradition that every year brings wildly enthusiastic capacity audiences to Meadow Brook.

Attractions scheduled for this summer include Tony Bennett, the George Shearing Quintet, Earl "Fatha" Hines, Count Basie, and Barbara McNair.

Add the music of Woody Herman, the Benny Goodman Sextet, Al Hirt, a Nostalgic Night of Glenn Miller Music, the Dizzy Gillespie Quartet, and for a change of pace, the intriguing ballads of Anne Murray, and it's a Friday night "Best of Jazz" series that will make '74 a banner year in Meadow Brook's illustrious jazz history.

Tony Bennett, who has been acclaimed by critics, audiences, and show business colleagues as "one of the world's greatest entertainers," will open the Friday night series on June 28. Appearing with him will be the incomparable Woody Herman and his Orchestra.

On July 5, the gala holiday weekend, Meadow Brook will present for the first time the George Shearing Quintet, featuring pianist, arranger, and composer George Shearing.

The Benny Goodman Sextet, featuring Benny Goodman, takes center stage on Friday, July 12.

Al Hirt and his Jazz Group bring the Dixieland Jazz Sound to Meadow Brook on July 19.

A "Nostalgic Night of Glenn Miller Music," which brought overflow crowds roaring to their feet in applause during last year's season, has been scheduled for July 26. Starring Ray McKinley, Ray Eberle, Paula Kelly with The Modernaires and their all star orchestra, such favorites as "Pennsylvania 6-5000," "Chattanooga Choo-choo," and "Moonlight Cocktail" will re-create the memorable moods of the early forties.

The lineup for Friday, August 2, will feature Earl "Fatha" Hines with his Trio, the sensational songstress Marva Josie, plus the Dizzy Gillespie Quartet.

Canadian-born Anne Murray will bring her modern ballad sound to Meadow Brook on Friday, August 9.

The brilliant final Friday concert on August 16 will be a Special Pops Show that features Count Basie and his Orchestra, with special guest star Barbara McNair.

It was one of those days (which seem to be coming more frequently) when I was "running a little late" as my friend George Wait says.

Naturally, haste was making waste and with each passing minute my nerves tightened a little more. Rollaids reduced the acidity, but I refuse to take tranquilizers.

As I continually slipped backward in my race to various junctures the most important appointment of the day was putting additional pressure on my mind.

At 12 noon I had to be at a person's house in Clarkston to take a picture. I left Oxford at 11:50. I resigned myself to being late, but no later than necessary.

Nevertheless, all that transpired for the day, through the time I finished taking the picture, and climbed back into my car had left me a nervous wreck. I needed no more tension.

Guess what happened?

As I looked through the rear view mirror to back out of the drive, 3 Oakland county sheriff dept. cars wheeled by and pulled to a stop almost across the road from where I was.

The deputies out of their cars, opened the trunk lids and took out shotguns.

I picked up my camera, left the car and screened myself behind a truck parked in the street.

One deputy ran along beside the house pumping a shell into the chamber. Another deputy did the same circling the other side of the house, while a third went to the front door, gun ready.

I snapped a couple pictures, then asked a man standing nearby what was going on.

He said someone had looked through the front door window of the house and saw a body lying on the floor. The body wasn't moving. The police had been summoned.

I edged my way between the truck and a police car, where another deputy had posted himself with a shotgun.

As I did so, the deputy went to the front door of the house, backing up the one who had by now entered the residence.

I stood with camera poised, consciously trying to appear the part of the cool, experienced calloused newspaperman. I felt I was shaking from the excitement.

I was ready when the first deputy appeared at the door.

I wasn't ready for the smile on his face.

The smile broadened as he neared his car and I asked, "What did you find?"

"Just someone drunk!" he said.

He's appalled

by Pat Braunagel

A resident of Independence Township for a little over a year, Art Elliott went to his first annual township meeting March 30.

He listened to the presentations. He voted on the salaries for elected officials.

He was "appalled", he told the township board at its next regular meeting.

"The primary purpose of that meeting is for citizens to set those salaries," he said. "If they're going to have that responsibility, someone ought to do some work to prepare them."

"The voting then could be based on fact, rather than emotions and personalities—which should be divorced from it," he said.

Art went home from that annual meeting and gave the matter some thought—a lot of thought. He came up with an idea—which all too often is not the case when matters of a political nature are given much thought.

"I just think there should be a committee that's independent of the township board representing the citizens as a whole in making an intelligent evaluation of the salary structure of our township officers," Art said.

Art believes the committee could be appointed by the board and still remain independent, because it would be limited by the board and still remain independent, because it would be limited in its deliberations by facts.

"If they're going to do it right, they would read and study the law as it relates to township offices, and their functions and responsibilities as they relate to law," he said.

Warming up to his idea, Art listed some of the information he thinks citizens should have when they vote on the salaries.

"A study needs to be made as to how each office—not the officer—has evolved. What are the strengths and weaknesses of the offices—not the officers?"

"Current officers could be requested to do basic job outlines of how the officers of Independence Township assume their responsibilities."

"An analysis is going to have to include the typical work week of a township officer, in the township hall and attending various meetings that they don't receive any competition for."

"There should be an analysis of townships of comparable size, in total assessment, population and services offered," Art said, noting, however, that "the same jobs don't evolve the same in different townships."

Annual township meetings don't all evolve the same either, Art. In fact, in 12 of the county's 25 townships they've evolved themselves right out of existence.

Independence Township electors

didn't like that idea when they voted on it a couple of years ago. They wanted their chance to have a say—and, despite how the vast majority may ignore it, the chance is still there.

Then along comes someone like young Art Elliott who not only wants to take advantage of that chance, but wants to be informed about it to boot.

It's enough to make you give the matter some thought—a lot of thought.

Detroit Schools could be closed for a whole year. I don't know how soon, but the closing will be a fallout from the residency issue.

Police in Detroit will also be affected by the results of the residency ruling. The whole situation could throw Detroit into chaos.

I see a new business opening on Shindler Road in Springfield Township that will be shut down for selling pot.

I don't think Independence Township will be subject to tornados this year. Maybe an old building in the northwest corner will be demolished -- I'm not positive it's in Independence Township -- but it is northwest, and only one minor injury will result.

I do see a very serious car accident on the Dixie Highway. More lives will be lost, and it's not teenagers who are driving, either.

I never have seen Patricia Hearst coming back, as I previously told the editor of The Clarkston News. I see only a skeleton. I would interpret it that some of these tapes and pictures were done ahead of time, however it may be that as she was known to the world, she no longer exists.

I see a motel eventually built at the corner of the Dixie Highway and I-75. It may start out as a Holiday Inn, but it will change its name and become church owned.

The Clarkston High School baseball team will have one fantastic hitter this year, who can really hit home runs. One boy will be suspended from the team. I guess he's not really contributing, and they think he's lazy. When they check, they'll find he has a health problem and once that's corrected, he'll be alright.

I see players carrying Mickey Lolich on their shoulders -- whether it's this year or next. Whether or not it's the Tigers, I feel he will be instrumental in winning the pennant for some team. Al Kaline will do a good job.

Gordie Howe's son will be sidelined with an injury -- the one with the darkest and curliest hair.

Drivers don't like air bags

Michigan motorists strongly dislike airbags, the seatbelt interlock, catalytic converters to reduce exhaust emissions and paying gas taxes to build or operate mass transit—if Automobile Club of Michigan members who responded to a recent Motor News survey are a barometer.

"Also, they believe the Clean Air Act is too stringent and are sure that a sub-compact car would not be adequate as their only auto," states an article titled "Members Speak Out" in the March issue of Motor News Magazine.

Motor News Editor Len Barnes writes: "If I were a United States Senator or Congressional Representative from Michigan, I would be concerned. For, if the more than 7,000 who answered the Motor News questionnaire in last November's issue are any measure, Auto Club's 1,170,000-plus members are very upset about what Washington is doing to take cars and to motoring."

Gerald Murphy and Associates, Birmingham market analysts, the organization which conducted the survey and analyzed the results, states: "A total of more than 7,000 responses, which is one percent of Motor News circulation, indicates a very real concern, especially when a reader who wanted to respond had to cut the page out of the magazine, find an envelope, then stamp, address and mail it."

"In fact," says Motor News, "they felt so strongly about these subjects that almost a third of the respondents accompanied their filled-in questionnaires with detailed letters, strongly worded."

To the question, "Are you aware of the government-mandated seatbelt interlock required in 1974 cars?" 97 percent answered "Yes." An overwhelming 76 percent disapproved of it.

Airbags were equally unpopular. To the question, "Assuming airbags are proven safe, should a law be passed requiring their installation?" 83 percent voted "No." Seventy-four percent would not want an airbag in their car.

Upholstered furniture is rich and lavish looking. It is built on a hardwood frame or skeleton which is not seen, but which is made of walnut, maple, mahogany, cherry, oak, pecan, hackberry, or birch. The thicker the wood, the more durable the piece. Joints are made by dovetailing. Major joints should be reinforced with a wood block. Springs rest on supports of crossed steel wires attached to the frame and extending from side to side and front to back. Convuluted springs are used for modern slimline furniture. Cushing goes over the springs. The covering, upholstery fabric, should be firm and well-made. You can order from a selection of fabrics. When sitting in the chair you should not be able to feel the frame or springs. The posh feeling is upholstered furniture.

MAKE A MENTAL NOTE

Should a child be allowed to get angry?

BY JAMES AND ELLEN WINDELL

Psychological staff members of the Oakland County Juvenile Court and Clinical Resources, Incorporated

Should you allow your child to express his angry feelings? If he is allowed to become angry frequently, won't he turn into an angry child or adult?

These questions are asked us by parents who feel that the expression of anger is bad for a child. Many of us have been raised by parents who didn't tolerate much angry expression or didn't show much anger themselves. Some parents see the expression of anger as disrespect, which must be punished.

There are some children who are too often angry. Some children or adolescents, such as many delinquents, feel much anger which they can only express in indirect ways through anti-social behavior. In either case, such anger is not caused by parents who too permissively allow the expression of anger. It is more likely that an angry child results from a parent-child relationship characterized by angry parents, physical or emotional cruelty, or a failure to set limits. Angry actions have to be limited and redirected.

Frequently, we see adults for counseling who are over-inhabited about the expression of anger or other feelings. This seems to result when parents discourage the feeling as well as the behavior - and also encourage guilt feelings related to the expression of the normal feelings of anger.

There is a difference between angry feelings and angry acts. Angry feelings should be identified and expressed in some way. Angry acts should be limited and harnessed so that the child learns to deal constructively with life's frustrations. The problem is not to eliminate aggressiveness in our children but to keep it within manageable limits while encouraging acceptable outlets for it. A child should be stopped from acting out feelings in a destructive way. However, he can be encouraged to talk about his angry and aggressive feelings.

There is another problem which we see and this relates to how the parents handle their own conflicts and their own angry feelings. In some families, angry feelings are treated as bad things which should be hidden from the children. Such behavior by the parents may promote unhealthy attitudes in the child. Children should not be led to believe that there are some good people somewhere who never have angry feelings. Neither should they be made to feel excessive amounts of guilt over angry feelings that they will inevitably have.

Some children because they have never seen their parents angry believe, in an almost literal sense, that if they do something to make their mother or father really angry that they will be killed. Parents are justified in letting a child know that there are limits to their tolerance. When a parent becomes angry, recognizes this anger, and deals with it in some sort of controlled, effective way, the child has been treated to an important lesson in expressing anger safely and without a loss of control.

Historical Society presents folk singer

The Clarkston Area Historical Society will feature Enne in a folk concert at 8 p.m. April 24 in the Fellowship Hall of Calvary Lutheran Church. The mill stream

Sheila is a district wheel

by Pat Ripley 625-2215

Mrs. Fred Ritter of Dixie Hwy. was elected Jaycette District 21 Vice President. The elections were held at Spring District at Springfield Oaks on April 4. They were hosted by the Davisburg Jaycettes.

Clarkston Jaycettes brought home the District Visitation award. Jan Robinson of Peach is the Clarkston entry for Outstanding Jaycette and Cheri Crites of Waldon is the entry for Outstanding Spokette at the next state meeting. Good luck girls.

Sherry Lindsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lindsey of Snowapple, celebrated her 7th birthday on Saturday, April 6 with a slumber party.

Sherry's mother took the seven young girls to see the movie, Mary Poppins. Then they returned home for refreshments that would delight any seven year old. They all had a wonderful time. I would guess there was a fair share of giggling that went on, right? Happy Birthday Sherry.

The Episcopal Church of the Resurrection on Orion Road had its 14th anniversary on Palm Sunday.

Each year they commemorate their anniversary by having brunch after the ten o'clock service. This year the gourmet cooks prepared Quiche Lorraine. I understand it was delicious. These gourmets happen to be men. Great!

Brownie Troop 692 delivered 27 Easter baskets to Pine Knob Nursing Home on April 8.

The baskets were made by the girls and in them they placed hand decorated eggs, candy and a small gift.

The residents of the nursing home were real happy to see the girls as they really like to have visitors. The girls also sang a few songs for them. Everyone had a nice time!

We would like to wish Frank Glowzinski of Warbler a speedy get well. For his friends and neighbors who would like to send him a card he is in St. Joseph Hospital, in Pontiac, room 366.

Virginia and Donald Nolen of Cecelia Ann are proud to announce the birth of their first child, a girl - Stephanie Jo born April 3 and weighed 6 pound and 13 ounces.

Delighted grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luth of Pine Knob and Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Nolen of Console. Congratulations!

If you happen to hear a few choice words, it's probably from seven Clarkston women who are taking a knit class. They are making a man's sport coat, pants, dress shirt and tie in a speedy eight-week class. If you happen to blink a couple of times, you find out you are a whole article behind. Keep moving girls and bite your tongue! We won't tell you who they are but you might be able to tell by the appearance of their husbands! That a joke girls.

Harvey Craft of Waterford Hill Florist has his fingers crossed that something will be done to change the date of Clarkston Senior High School's prom from May 10, the day before Mother's Day.

"There's no way we can double order and have ready flowers for both Mother's Day and the prom," Harvey said. "The prom alone took from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. last year, and though we've been proud of our high school business, we just can't tell some of them we can prepare their flowers and others that we can't."

The prom is now slated for May 10 at Bay Pointe Country Club.

Susie Bentley celebrated her 14th birthday Friday evening at her home on Eastlawn with a pajama party. Helping her have a wonderful time were Nan French, Patrice O'Neil, Renee Weaver, Shelley Johnson, Jodi Allen, Kathy Wyckoff, Ann Glover, and Kim Morris.

There was a surprise visit from the Easter Bunny and a great mystery gift from Shelley. Susie's brother, Rob and his friend, Jim Tallman had fun crashing the party.

Anne Haggart, 9050 Sashabaw Road, has been reelected for another three-year term on the Board of Directors of TOPS Club, Inc., popularly known as TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly). Mrs. Haggart has been active in TOPS for the past 17 years progressing from member to Supervisor to Regional Director and Board member. She has been a Board member for 15 years.

Waterford Township Book Review Club will meet at 1 p.m. April 15 at the Ungaua Bay and the sub-Arctic to Gaspe.

Shelley, a Michigan Outdoors TV photographer, has appeared previously before the group. Tickets may be purchased for any one of the 21 board of director members, at the door, or the Village Dry Goods and Hamilton's of Ortonville.

First time winner

Proud recipient of awards for outstanding creative work and quality at the 33rd Annual Professional Photographers of Michigan Convention recently in Troy was Ms. Beth Sayles, daughter of Ms. Alice Sayles, owner of Sayles Studio, 4431 Dixie Highway. Her winning pictures are titled Precious, Jennifer, Vogue and Please! This was Beth's first year to enter the competition.

Far north adventure film

The Ortonville Community Historical Society will sponsor a film by Howard Shelley, which he will narrate in person at 7:30 p.m. April 22 at Brandon Middle School gym.

Shown will be two 45-minute segments of high adventure pictures from Quebec's far north Eskimo Land, home of Mrs. Kenneth Valentine, 7684 Phelan, to hear Mrs. Rull Lasswell review "Child of the Century" by Ben Hecht. Mrs. Henri Buck will assist the hostess.

In the mail is the Lakeside Hills Estates News listing a vast array of activities for the winter. Floridians. An accompanying note from O.C. and Minnie Mae Adams of Clarkston reads, "The enclosed is our weekly news. You can see the time doesn't drag in Florida. Come down and call on us."

Inside the paper is the following: "Mike Layman caught a 3-foot eel off the fishing dock. After the dock fishermen had subdued the 'reptile' it was given to Orrie Adams who skinned it, baked it and ate it. He called it 'better than rattlesnake meat'."

Matthew Guy Wilson is the new 7 pound, 2 ounce arrival at the home of Guy and Cynthia, 7794 Holcomb. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Graves of Holcomb. Matthew was born March 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Loba of Clarkston, visited their son Cadet James Loba a plebe (Freshman) at the United States Military Academy during the annual "Plebe-Parent Weekend" activities March 27 through March 30.

Cadet Loba, a 1972 graduate of Clarkston High School, escorted his parents as they had an opportunity to meet faculty members and gain firsthand knowledge of the plebe's life at West Point.

"people helping people help themselves"

"PARENTS ARE PEOPLE TOO" -- Classes to help solve parent-child problems, and develop better techniques of communication with children are being offered at independence center. The classes will start April 17, and be lead by Chip Drotos of Oakland County Family Life Education. The fee for the class is $7 per person, or $10 per couple. For further information please call the center. ***

Professional counselors are available at independence center every Wednesday and Thursday afternoon. The counselors are from Oakland County Family and Child Services and Catholic Social Services. They take referrals from volunteers who work daily at the center. Anyone wishing an appointment please contact the center. ***

CENTER NEEDS -- The center's Clothes Closet is in need of infant, and pre-school children's clothes. These clothes are given to needy families in our area.

The closet is especially short of spring and summer clothes. Due to lack of space for storage of clothes, volunteers ask that you save winter clothes and bring them in during late August or September. Please help us to help people help themselves.

COUNSELING SERVICES -- Has your daily life become too complex? Your problems too big to handle? Is your relationship with your mate or your child intolerable?

There is help available. You can solve, or learn how to live with problems, but you may need some outside help in sorting out your life.

Spiritual Message

EMPATHY OR ALIENATION

Holy Week can be a strain for many people. Where the church was a rigid authority the whole season of Lent was approached with apprehension and some resentment.

Mardi Gras and related excuses were a fling before resigning to a discipline. Even for believers a similar apprehension may adhere to traditional Maundy Thursday Communion and Good Friday watches. So these acts bring mixed response. For disappointed believers whose faith has seemed to let them down as life wears away at them, these acts may turn them further away. For calloused cynics the atmosphere has always been an intrusion on their 'freedom'. But for believers, who through similar troubles in life have tried to stay close to God and have been sustained by His surrounding love, a special communion reflecting on a very human Jesus gathering to Himself bewildered followers, can be a cherished family ritual full of memories and present renewal. For such believers, a meditative pause of Good Friday is not wasted time nor intrusion, but thinking on a loved one when He faced crisis and ultimate tragedy on our behalf. His heroism there becomes our hope here. We draw near to Him. He draws close to us.

Chicano brothers say "Vaya con Dios" - "Go with God". Do you want Him to travel with you?

April 2, 1974

Meeting called to order 7:45 p.m.

The following items were acted upon by the Township Board:

1. Sewer connection of Township Hall facilities—Board unanimously agreed to pay for the connection to Village sewers by paying $860.16 per year over 20 years.

2. Annual Township Clean-up—Agreed to set Saturday, May 4 and Sat. May 11 as the days for the Township sponsored and financed neighborhood clean-up. Note: This will be advertised in detail in a subsequent issue of the Clarkston News.

3. Deerfield Hills Plat—Board unanimously denied a request by Mr. Hubert Garner to extend the previous approval (given in 1968) of the final preliminary plat of Deerfield Hills Sub. (located off Holcomb Rd. behind St. Daniel's Church).

4. Woodland Hills Plat—the tentative preliminary plat of this proposed subdivision (located east of Sashabaw Rd. between Pelton Rd. and Maybee Rd.) was tabled until more information was provided by the developer. Vote: Yes: Glennie, Hallman, Humbert, Vandermark; No: Powell.

5. Waterford Hill Consent Judgement—A consent judgement on the property known as the Waterford Hill Country Club, the zoning and use of which has been in limbo since 1970, was approved. Vote: Yes: Hallman, Powell, Vandermark; No: Humbert; Absent: Glennie.

This judgment allows for limited commercial use on the property fronting on Dixie Highway to a depth of 500'—the limitations prohibit K-Mart or similar type stores or any store in excess of 40000 sq. ft. to be constructed on this property. The remainder of the property can be developed to a maximum gross development of 6 units (multiple) per acre or a maximum of 300 units, also, at least 50% of this remaining land must remain vacant as recreation or natural conservational areas. Dixie Highway and Maple Drive are the only allowed points of ingress and egress for the commercial and multiple developments. Maple Dr. can only be used if developer can obtain access to it. Vote: Yes: Hallman, Powell, Vandermark; No: Humbert; Absent: Glennie.

6. Consent Judgement—Tally-Ho Sign—a consent judgement was approved which will allow the erection of a sign in front of the Paul-Lou Bar-Restaurant which must conform to the current sign ordinance and at the same time requires that the existing Tally-Ho Restaurant sign be lowered and modified to conform with the existing sign ordinance.

New Hire—Sewer Department—Mrs. Marilyn Parish of Clement Rd. was hired to assist with clerical duties in the Sewer Department.

Township Park Development—Tim Doyle, Township Recreation Director, was authorized to proceed with the planned park development.

Additional Park Grant—Mr. Doyle and Township Planner, Mr. Larry Burkhart, were authorized to complete the necessary forms for requesting additional Federal grant money for the Township Park program.

Other matters discussed, but not acted upon:

1. Future needs for new township facilities (money has been budgeted for land acquisition and studies continue by Township employees regarding anticipated growth, needs and a time table for the same).

2. Township Newsletter—it was noted that several residents are not receiving the newsletter. Note: If any resident is not receiving this newsletter we would like to hear from you so that this situation can be corrected.

3. Sidewalks—bids are going to be solicited for sidewalks along Maybee Rd. & Waldon Rd. in the vicinity of the elementary schools.

4. Road Chloriding—Township Roads—discussion of possible chloriding of all gravel subdivision roads and some of the major gravel roads completely at the expense of the Township Board. Cost estimates are being awaited from the Oakland County Road Commission.
