

Townships destined for clean up

Flemings Lake Road -- a mattress by the wayside

*Short trip to the dump?
Too many roads look like this*

You can "clean up" in Independence or Springfield Townships on Saturday, and nobody's going to object.

Somebody will even probably give you a bag to help.

May 4 has been designated as the official Springfield Township Clean Up Day and as one -- the second to be May 11 -- official Clean Up day in Independence Township.

Township landfills will be offering dumping privileges at no cost to residents on the designated days. Ben Powell Landfill on Clarkston Road served Independence Township, and Marlowe Landfill on Rose Center Road serves Springfield Township.

No cycles

Motoreycles and church services don't mix--and hopefully won't be required to if area pastors have their way.

The Independence Township Pastors Association has decided to inform parents and young people that there is no permission for motorized recreational vehicles to be operated on the property of Clarkston area churches.

"Several congregations have experienced disruption of services by loud motoreycles," Rev. Robert Walters, association secretary, said in making the announcement.

The policy of the churches is to withhold permission for the operation of motoreycles and snowmobiles on church property. Written consent of a property owner is required to be on the person of cyclists using other than their own land, under provision of township ordinance.

Besides the noise factor, pastors also are concerned about the safety of persons on church premises, Rev. Walters noted.

About 15 groups, primarily Boy and Girl Scouts, have been assigned roadside areas in Independence Township. Eric Caldwell of Sashabaw Presbyterian Church has had 5,000 flyers printed for school children to take home in the hopes of recruiting more volunteer workers. They can sign up by calling independence center at 673-2244.

The Knights of Columbus on Maybee Road have volunteered their hall for use as a pickup center, and have made available a dozen pickup trucks to assist in the clean up. They've also contributed $25 towards the food fund which will be distributed from Sashabaw Presbyterian Church between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. McDonald's have provided an orange drink dispenser for the day.

Group leaders are being encouraged to pick up the lunches at the church in order to avoid congestion there.

Mrs. Carolyn Place reports Oakland County Road Commission has agreed to drive the roads on Monday following the clean up to dispose of large items which the volunteers were unable to handle.

Ortonville Salvage Co. will station trucks at the American Legion on M-15 and the K of C Hall on Maybee to receive large items destined for disposal. The Eston-Clarkston Road intersection has been designated as a drop-off spot for bagged trash.

In Springfield, free lunches will be provided at the township hall in Davisburg. Free pickup service for large disposable items will be available by calling 625-4802 or 634-3111.

Plastic bags are available at Springfield Township Hall and independence center.

In case of rain, the Independence clean up will be postponed one week, Mrs. Place said.

Springfield supervisor announces for House

Claude Trim

Springfield Township Supervisor Claude A. Trim today announced his candidacy for Democratic nomination for Michigan House of Representatives in the 60th district. The seat is now occupied by Republican Loren Anderson, who says he will seek reelection.

Trim, 38, is completing his second term as supervisor. He previously served one term as trustee of the township. During his term as supervisor, Trim received his certification as an assessor and has served the township in that capacity.

He is supervisor in the experimental engineering department of General Motors Truck and Coach, Pontiac. He served his apprenticeship for sheet-metal layout in that department and has been an employee of the division for twenty years. He was a member of Local 594, UAW.

A life long resident of Springfield Township, Trim promises a basic, grassroots campaign during which he intends to reach all the people of the 60th district.

"My daughters, Julie, 14, and Terri, 10, and I plan to spend our time going door-to-door throughout the district, while my wife, Geraldine, will be taking care of our campaign office at home," Trim said. Home is 5969 Ware Road, Davisburg.

In announcing his candidacy, Trim said, "My years in government and industry have made me increasingly aware and sensitive to the disinterest of many of our governmental officials. Too often you only hear from them when they want you to do something for them. I believe it should be the other way around--a legislator should be there to serve the people.

"I agree with the people of the 60th district who are worried about the continuing increases in property taxes and the trend to take more and more control away from the local units of government.

"The 60th district is made up of townships and the residents of those townships are hard-working people who are too often at the mercy of absentee land-developers and the other special interests.

"I will work in Lansing as a full-time legislator for the best interests of the people who live in the 60 district. I will work to return the control of government to the people.

Trim's concern over the prospect of uncontrolled gravel mining in Springfield led to the formation of a group of township supervisors, gravel companies and county officials which resulted in control standards now being employed by townships in gravel zoning cases.

Recently he has worked to prevent a proposed series of hard rock concerts scheduled for the 4-H facility in the township from becoming a hazard and nuisance to the local residents.

A charter member of the Davisburg Baptist Church, Trim served as its first building committee chairman. He is a former treasurer of the Davisburg Jaycees and was a coach for the Independence Little League.

Trim has promised to make full disclosure of all campaign contributions as well as the expenditures necessary to run for public office at regular intervals during the campaign. A copy of his 1973 IRS report will also be made available upon request.

The 60th district includes the townships of Holly, Groveland, Brandon, Rose, Springfield, Independence, Highland and the northern and western portions of Waterford.

Trim said he welcomes questions concerning his candidacy. Interested citizens may phone his home, 625-5516.

Clinic copes with 'coping'

by Jean Saile

You watch the price of meat and gasoline escalate, and you get an uneasy feeling in the pit of your stomach? Signs of stress show up? And you and your husband seem to spend more time out drinking.

You're not alone.

One of the results of inflation is the need for adaptation, and while many of us can live a routine existence with certain prescribed rituals, we have a whale of a time adjusting to new factors.

That's the word from a whole battery of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers and problem specialists who have moved into the basement of Dr. James O'Neil's office on M-15. They have begun dealing with the many faceted upsets we as suburban dwellers encounter.

Their group is unique. Besides dealing strictly with emotional and mental problems, they include two remedialists (whose work is to prepare children for school, whatever their difficulty), and audiologist (ear specialist) and even an alcoholic specialist.

The clinicians are all employed elsewhere and have made their services available to the Clarkston-Independence area on a part time basis. Yet, they say, no emergency goes untreated. Somebody is available, whatever the hour, to lend a helping hand.

They're now involved in the lives of some 100 Clarkston area residents, giving counseling -- both individually and in groups, treating all from pre-adolescents to adult.

The basement quarters, long a vision of Pediatrician O'Neil, are pleasant, comfortable and contain such refinements as discussion rooms with one-way mirrors, several private counseling rooms, and a sophisticated radio control type room which is headquarters for the audiologist.

The building is also wired for closed circuit television, but the fellows haven't gotten that far yet in practice to be able to afford to make use of it.

O'Neil felt that more than physical medicine was needed in this area, that emotional problems were being dealt with only on a limited basis.

As Louis Goldman, social worker explains, "A few of us heard Jim had this new building and we got together and formed Clinical Resources Inc. to provide not only for mental health, but a comprehensive kind of care.

The staff now includes one psychiatrist, six psychologists, two social workers, a remedialist, and audiologist and the alcoholic therapist.

A patient comes into the clinic and is referred to the specialist who can help most in view of the particular symptoms. Costs are reimbursable through insurance, and the clinic members admit they have a sliding fee scale based on ability to pay.

Family problems make up a host of their cases. "This is a complex, mobile society, and as it becomes more complex, the problems of living get more complex," said one of the specialists.

They note the effects of job transfers and divorce on the family, and see the whole drug culture as a reflection of the complexity of living. They also believe that the demands for education are greater than ever, and that kids are exposed to sexual and material stimulation long before they have the tools to deal with it.

They talk about "super saturation society" and "the loss of neighborhood community," and they note happily that some of the stigma associated with getting mental help is seemingly declining.

The clinicians' view of their work is that they are more than just listening posts, that problems can be treated if they can be viewed objectively, and that people can adapt to handle their respective problems.

The objectivity is important, the clinicians say, and they admit that they have the most problem helping their own children because of their inability to remove themselves from the problem.

Social worker Louis Goldman counsels a married couple.

Right now the center is engaged in remedial programs for elementary students with academic and behavioral difficulties. The program is designed to get these students back on the right foot so they can face their teachers with more confidence come fall. The students' change in behavior can trigger a change in teacher behavior, and hopefully the youngsters will be well on the way to satisfactory lives.

Another project dear to the hearts of the specialists is a consulting program with Pontiac Schools, evaluating and providing educational prescriptions for youngsters who have learning problems.

The majority of their work deals with common, everyday problems, however. The depression that results from job lay-off, the reaction of children to a mother returning to work, the problems of retirement, divorce, and that age old problem of parents who tell their children, "Do as I say, not as I do."

The professionals note an interesting result of Michigan's adoption of no-fault divorce laws. Where the battleground was once the courtroom, it now often centers on the children.

The no-fault laws moved the breakup out of the adult arena into kids' territory, and many parents are not mature enough to answer their children's questions honestly and without rancor.

"If a child can't find a reason for the split up, he'll become it in his own mind," one of the men say.

There's a lot of feelings of helplessness abroad in today's world, the men agree. National events, the pressure of society, all those things contribute. Some people can't cope alone, and that's why the clinic came into being.

County approves 3 concerts

The James Gang rock performers will play at Springfield-Oaks on May 26.

Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission after considerable debate and an attempt at a closed executive session arrived at that conclusion Friday morning. County Commissioner James Dunbarry cost the love 'no' vote.

Also guaranteed as concert dates, per agreement in the original contract with Golden Goose and Sunset Productions, are June 14 and July 2.

The June 14 concert (changed from June 16) will feature Leon Russell, a Memorial Day parade planned

Clarkston's Memorial Day Parade is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday, May 27.

Marching groups will form at the corner of Church and Bullalo at 9:30 a.m., and march down Church, Main, Washington, Holcomb, and White Lake Road to Lakeview Cemetery.

Bike and horseback riders and float makers are requested to wait for the July 4 parade, but groups such as veterans, Boy and Girl Scouts, Pioneer Girls and Camp Fire Girls are requested to contact Jonn Lynch at 625-3994 to receive their parade entry.

Lakeview Cemetery will be decorated on May 26 by Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63, American Legion. Flags will be placed on all graves of veterans.

country western and rock performer. The act has not yet been selected for July 2, but the park commission intends to have the okay on any performer booked. An original July 4 date was moved back two days to avoid holiday traffic.

Following the May 26 performance, the commission will review a proposed schedule for four other diversified programs, including the Mercy College dinner theater performance of Jacques Brel is Alive and Well on July 12.

Folk singer Anne Murray or Van Morrison are being considered for the 4-H Fair on August 1, a Blues and Jazz Festival on September 1 and a band day featuring local high school bands on September 7.

The proposed lineup was presented to the commission by parks Director Eric Reickel.

"It is felt that this is a cross section of musical activities on a test basis and narrows down the proposed schedule for Springfield-Oaks," Reickel told the commission.

"It would not be wise to expand without further evaluation after the first two concerts. These dates will integrate very well with other scheduled activities at the fairgrounds and we should be able to develop the confidence and good will of the community on this basis," he said.

Reickel noted that discussions with Undersheriff Leo Hazen had taken place in regard to security patrol and that the Sheriff's Department would provide protection at the rate of $10 per man per hour.

Hazen has requested proper medical facilities on the scene, a service both the promoters and Girard Lacey, park manager, have said will be provided.

As a stipulation to the agreed upon three concerts, Mrs. Marjorie Walker, a new commission member, moved to have all advertising stress the fact that no tickets will be sold at the gate, and that ticket printing be limited to 10,000.

The details for medical and sanitary facilities provision were to be worked out with the staff in the understanding that promoters would bear the cost.

Petitions containing 500 signatures were presented before the commission in special meeting two days prior to Friday by Springfield Township Supervisor Claude Trim. The petitions objected to rock concerts at the park.

The inability to get out of the contract approved by the commission previously with Golden Goose and Sunset productions without the necessity of paying them money defeated Commissioner Dunleavy's proposal and to cancel and series.

He said he objected on the basis the facilities were not designed to care for that big a crowd, and noted problems Pine Knob Music Theater in Independence Township encountered when it presented rock programs.

"I think some of the problems were due to the theater's proximity to the expressway," said Mrs. Walker. "That and the fact advance ticket sales were not handled well."

Dunleavy noted traveling distance of almost 7 miles from the expressway to the park. He contended the commission had not been treated in good faith on the contract.

Speaking in direct opposition to Dunleavy was Donald Nick of Royal Oak. "We've already had several thousand at Springfield-Oaks, and I believe we should give them (the promoters) a chance. Youth should be afforded the opportunity to see this kind of talent. I'd be willing to go along with Dunleavy if the May 26th program is not handled well," he said.

Some of the commissioners pointed out that the last four proposals presented to the commission were probably financial losers and Oakland County Road Commission Chairman William Richards expressed fears that some of the performers might be changed. He wanted a commission approval on any changes.

Lew Wint, who noted he was not present the first time the contract was voted before the commission, said, "You can't convince me they'll promote anything at a loss."

Lacey said local groups have been contacted to provide ticket help and security patrol. He said an ambulance would be obtained to standby the park during the performance.

Get ready for school election

Residents wishing to seek a spot on the Clarkston Board of Education or vote in the June 10 school district election should circle May 13 on their calendars.

That's the deadline for filing nominating petitions and registering to vote in the election.

The single vacancy on the board is a four-year term.

Board President David K. Leak, whose term is expiring, has indicated he will run again. However, two weeks before the election, no candidates had picked up petitions from the board of education office.

Requiring the signatures of at least 20 registered school electors, the petitions must be returned to the board of education office by 4 p.m. Monday, May 13.

That day also is the deadline for unregistered voters to get their names on the roll in time to cast ballots in the election.

The Independence Township hall will extend its regular office hours to 8 a.m. - 8 p.m. on that day to register township residents for the Clarkston School District election. Independence Township residents who vote in either the Lake Orion or Waterford School District elections must register at the hall by 5 p.m. May 13.

Clarkston School District electors who live in either Springfield or White Lake Townships can register for the election at their respective township halls during regular office hours, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., through May 13.

Arts Council seeks members

The newly organized area Arts Council will conduct a membership meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 8 in Clarkston High School library. Prime order of business is to organize help for the appearance here this fall of the Michigan Artrain.

Mrs. Isabel Yoh

Former Clarkston resident Mrs. Isabel Yoh, 79, died April 25 at Clark Memorial Home, Grand Rapids. She had been a resident of the area since 1939.

Funeral services were Tuesday afternoon from Clarkston United Methodist Church with burial in Lakeview Cemetery. Arrangements were by Huntoon Funeral Home, Pontiac.

Mrs. Yoh was president of the Oakland County Medical Society Women's Auxiliary and past president of the Clarkston Women's Society of Christian Service. She was a former member of Clarkston Rotary Anns.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. Harry B. Yoh, sons Harry W. (Bud) Yoh of Clarkston, and Rev. David S. Yoh of North Muskegon; a daughter, Mrs. Frank (Helene) Russell of Clarkston; four grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and two brothers, Harold M. Stephen of Birmingham and Willard R. Stephen of Lake Orion; and a sister, Mrs. Orrin (Helene) Huntoon of Clarkston.

Hunting ban hearing set

The second public hearing on the closing of certain areas of Independence Township to hunting or the use of firearms will be held Tuesday, May 21.

The session is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the township hall.

Added to the list of areas to be considered, at the request of the county, will be the 759-acre Independence-

Oaks County Park around Crooked Lake.

Also to be covered at the hearing will be the area generally bordered by M-15, Hubbard, Allen and Cranberry Lake roads; all of Greens Lake and the shoreline to a depth of 450 feet; and 1,000 feet on either side of Perry Lake Road from I-75 north one-half mile and east one-half mile.

Heard about our used car operation?

If you haven't, we think it'd be worth your time. And we promise not to bore you. Not for a minute!

You see, we pay an awful lot of attention to our used car business. We take extra special steps to give every car we take in trade a deep-down physical. And if we decide a little surgery is required, we remove the trouble right then and there.

If we consider one of our trades a hopeless case, we get rid of it. As mercifully as possible. After all, we can't afford to pass somebody else's miseries on to our used car buyers.

Why this kind of extra care? Well, out here in Oakland County, we meet our friends and customers every day. In the coffee shop. At the bank. On the street. We can't afford to let a fast buck downgrade our longstanding reputation for fair dealing.

When we stick an OK Used Car label on one of our used cars, you know that car's got plenty of life left in it. And our fees are ridiculously low.

That's exactly how we operate.

Pine Knob plans season of variety

While still working on bookings to fill their schedule this summer, Pine Knob Music Theater spokesmen have announced a partial list of the entertainers who will appear there.

These are definitely committed to appear during the theater's third season, while others are still in the process of being lured here or making contractual arrangements.

Although operators of the theater hope to have an earlier opening date, Sammy Davis is the first performer who has signed a contract. He is to bring his show to Pine Knob June 12-16.

Among those whose acts will follow his are Vickie Carr, June 20-22; Bob Hope, June 27-29; Merle Haggard, June 30; Andy Williams, July 10-14; Herb Alpert, July 15; Johnnie Mathias, July 17-21; James Taylor, July 23-24; and John Denver, July 31 - Aug. 3.

The above entertainers, representing a broad cross-section of American music, are just a portion of those who eventually will be signed to appear at Pine Knob and whose schedules will be announced later.

There'll be new names -- like Hope, Haggard, Davis and Denver -- on the walls of the corridor leading to the Pine Knob pavilion this summer.

Pine Knob must pay for police

With a "no pay, no play" threat hanging over them, the owners and operators of Pine Knob Music Theater have agreed to meet with local and county officials to settle their police protection debt from last year and negotiate a contract for this year.

Some $34,000 is still owed to Oakland County on the $42,000 debt incurred during the 1973 season for police protection and traffic control contracted for through the sheriff's department, according to Independence Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark.

"That money has to be paid, and they have to have a signed contract for police protection and traffic control before they open," he said.

Joseph Z. Nederlander, theater entrepreneur who plans to open his Pine Knob operation for its third season June 8, and Vandermark have arranged a meeting for Tuesday, May 7.

Others attending the session will be Joseph Locricchio and Gary Francell, co-owners of Indusco Corp., from whom Nederlander leases the theater. Representatives of the Oakland County Sheriff's department and civil counsel also will participate in the meeting.

"It appears that arrangements are going to be made to pay the bill," Vandermark said this week.

Earlier, the supervisor had voiced pessimism about Pine Knob's financial commitment and the necessity for a new police contract.

He had sent Locricchio a certified letter in February when he learned that installment payments on the contract were not up to date, he said.

"I've had no formal reply," Vandermark noted. "There have been phone call discussions, but I've had no indication of what they're going to do."

PSB declares dividend

A semi-annual dividend of 50 cents per share has been declared for Pontiac State Bank's capital stock, payable June 1.

The dividend, which will be paid to shareholders of record on April 30, was declared at the April meeting of the bank's board of directors. This regular semi-annual dividend is payable on the bank's 436,198 shares which includes 109,050 issued as a stock dividend last month.

Think clean; don't litter

Time to clean up and start fresh! This Saturday, May 4, several neighborhood and organizational groups will be out in force to clean up debris along the roadways in Independence Township.

A similar clean up is scheduled in Springfield Township.

Residents of both areas will have free dumping privileges at their respective landfills.

If enough people in both areas turn out to help, we could have spic and span communities.

It might even jog us into remembering during the remainder of the year the unsightly mess which accululates each time we throw a candy wrapper or milk shake carton out the car window.

Wouldn't it be nice if the area were clean year around?

Psychedelirium Themens

Remember when HIPPIE meant big in the hips?
 And a TRIP involved travel in cars, planes and ships?
 And POT was a vessel for cooking things in?
 And HOOKED was what grandmother's rug might have been?
 When FIX was a verb that meant mend or repair?
 And BE-IN meant simply existing somewhere?
 When NEAT meant well organized, tidy and clean?
 And GRASS was a round cover, normally green?
 When lights and not people were SWITCHED ON and OFF?
 And the PILL might have been what you took for a cough?

'If It Fitz . . .'

A job for body counters

by Jim Fitzgerald

You have probably worried about the employment problem faced by the U.S. military specialists who used to count dead enemy bodies in the Vietnam war.

It is only natural that the American public has lost interest in the number of North (or was it South?) Vietnamese killed. The war continues but, after all, we are no longer doing the killing in person. We still supply the guns but somehow it's just not the same thing when you don't pull the trigger yourself. Did John Wayne conquer Iwo Jima by parcel post?

But remember, Lest We Forget. Just because we no longer care how many enemies are killed, we shouldn't forget the heroic job of arithmetic done for us during those precarious days when it had to be done. We at home awoke every morning secure in the knowledge we would learn today exactly how many enemy were killed yesterday.

And it was never a sloppy job. General Precise never announced "around 1,000 enemy died yesterday." He said "today's body count was 1,563 enemy soldiers, 543 unfriendly civilians who got in the way, and 15 Communist arms and legs not otherwise identified."

No patriotic American could help but admire the precision of General Precise and his counters. It was not easy to go into battle with a hand calculator instead of a rifle. It was not easy to make certain no enemy body, no matter how limp, was not recorded as dead until it really was.

Just because the body count is not necessary to our national survival, patriotic Americans should not forget the counters. We should be concerned about how they are getting along today. Other than working for the Auto Club on holidays, there's not a big demand for body counters in civilian life.

That's why I was so tickled to learn about Operation Sanguine.

That's the Navy project that aims to bury a vast antenna over 3,000 square miles in northern Michigan. The antenna would be part of a radio communication system that would send messages to our nuclear missile submarines sailing at great depths anywhere in the world.

The idea behind Sanguine is beautiful. If the Russians push the big button first, they could wipe out the entire U.S. before we could push back. Our only survivors would be our submarines but they'd be so far underwater they wouldn't know what the dirty Russians had done. The problem is how to notify the subs so they can push their nuclear buttons and destroy Russia. Thus 2 nations would be razed for urban renewal. Planned Parenthood chapters could cancel all meetings, and the world would be safe for Democracy.

Operation Sanguine is the answer.

what it wants. More than that, readers, being human, tend to remember the "bad" stories far longer than they remember the "good" ones.

The job of balancing the news has fallen to weekly newspapers—to feature people like Jack Hess who has given ten seasons to Little League baseball, or kids in the schools who accomplish good and meaningful things, or even local government (which isn't all bad.)

Weekly newspapers are the vehicle by which the majority of our citizens (who'd never make the headlines in the competitive market) can have their stories told.

After reading a weekly newspaper, we hope you wind up with an air of optimism—that you realize the great majority of us are common, ordinary citizens doing good in unobtrusive ways—and that we are not all headed to Hell in a handbasket.

That's our goal, and we need your help—your tips and contributions—to accomplish it.

Letters to the editor

Kindness is needed

Dear Editor:

I wonder if perhaps the ultimate in failure by us parents is our failure to teach our children sympathy and compassion for other children (their neighbors or schoolmates) who have already suffered because they are not either physically or mentally perfect.

Shouldn't we bring our children up suggesting they put themselves in the place of children who have been cruelly burned, are handicapped physically or are retarded, and then ask our children how they would also bear the additional burden of being ridiculed or called names?

Each child has a name. Wouldn't it be wonderful if we all learned these children's names and used them with a cherry "Hi!" Might it not make both the giver and receiver of that small kindness feel a bit better than day?

I believe we each make our lives here on earth a heaven or hell. If we are deliberately cruel to others (particularly those who are already suffering through no fault of their own), I do believe that it is almost a certainty we may one day learn first hand what pain we have inflicted. We have a long life ahead.

If you doubt that your child is cruel, ask him or her what he calls the retarded or special education students in his school. If you have a high school student, ask about the open ridicule of the handicapped. We could all do better, if we tried, to spread a little kindness.

M.D.

A good turnout

I wish to publicly thank everyone connected with our recent parent program, "Living with Today's Young Teenagers."

The three sessions were attended by a total of over 400 parents and according to their evaluations, they felt it was very beneficial.

The entire success is due to the tremendous cooperation of the local professionals who participated: Dr. James O'Neil, Robert Brumback, Don Kevern, Rev. Robert Walters, and Marilyn Hanson. Also a special thanks to the moderators, Milford Mason and Rich Johnston.

Clarkston is indeed fortunate to have such dedicated and concerned individuals as these fine people for neighbors.

Once again, my sincere thanks to the professionals and the parents for their participation.

Clarkston Junior High School

Things are rough

Dear Editor,

As a resident of the Deer Lake area, I'd like to "chip in" with anyone else who'll go along with me in paying for a subscription to The Clarkston News for Mrs. Ethel Buckheister. I'd pay for the whole thing, but it's tough keeping up with my '69 Plymouth payments.

Recognition for mothers

Mother's Day is May 12, and The Clarkston News will accept nominations of women whose children or neighbors believe she is especially deserving of recognition.

Submit her name by Monday, May 6, with 50 words or less describing why you feel she should receive special recognition, enclose a black and white picture if you have one, and we'll see that your efforts are printed.

Jim's Jottings

by Jim Sherman

by Jim Sherman

I don't believe I've ever seen a more windy spring . . . unless it was the last election year.

Question and answer from me to myself.

What do you think of the Milliken vs Levin campaign?

It should put us all to sleep. These two guys combined couldn't generate enough excitement in their voices to make me believe they are so for or against something they wouldn't change their minds.

They do present a choice, however. Do we re-elect a man of considerable means or a guy who makes $14,000 a year? That's the governor and candidate, respectively.

For some reason or other I'm a little skeptical of an attorney who makes only $14,000 a year. But then, I'm skeptical about a man who inherits a lot of dough then sets about devoting his life to serving the public.

I'd like to see a slam bang, arm waving, hell bent politician, man or woman, put some interest in the coming primary whether it be on the local, county or state level.

Which prompts a question about county government—What do you think of county home rule of county manager government?

It would probably be more efficient, less controllable. More expensive and less interest in north Oakland county. More government-by-committee and less answerable to the electorate.

We went from 87 supervisors to 27 commissioners and the cost went way up. With a change to a single person as leader we can expect the same.

But, it's coming, folks. And, when we get it some leader will say the public "demanded" it. Just like you demanded income tax and castor oil.

How about those 1974 Detroit Tigers?

They're the best 8-inning team in either league. Unfortunately, Bowie hasn't shortened the length of the games or decided to skip the first inning.

The swingers (they're not hitters) can't connect, the throwers (they're not pitchers) can't get the ball to the catcher, and the old boys (they really are) are too numerous.

But, dog my cats if I don't listen to them at every chance and ask the score every day. I'm still condemning and rooting.

So, what have you been doing lately with all your spare time?

Furniture refinishing. Hazel gathers things that have somehow missed being part of a sanitary landfill, and carts them home. She filled my work-play area in the basement and I had no choice but to go to work with paint remover and putty knife.

For the most part it's enjoyable. Seeing what's below those layers of paint, gluing it back together, and refinishing with sealer, oil, wax or staining it.

It's these last choices that make me respect professional furniture refinishers. What stain does what to what wood must only come with experience (error.).

When do you use Swedish oil, when Deft, when Woodsealer, and when Min-wax? Can one be applied over the other?

I will never know the answers to these because it's getting into fishing-golf season and I cleared a way through the basement when I finished the round oak table.

MAKE A MENTAL NOTE

Does psychotherapy work?

BY JAMES AND ELLEN WINDELL

Psychological staff members of the Oakland County Juvenile Court and Clinical Resources, Incorporated

Psychotherapy is a means of intervening in a person's life with the idea of changing that person. This usually means changing either the person's thinking or his behavior. Psychotherapy most often involves two people in an interaction that is primarily verbal and relatively prolonged. This relationship has as its definite and agreed purpose changes in the behavior of one of the participants; the client or patient.

Psychotherapy is usually an intense, personal experience which generally defies measurement or quantification, but the question asked increasingly over the past twenty years is: Does therapy help people?

In the early 1950's, Eysenck, a now-famous research psychologist, wondered whether anyone has demonstrated that psychotherapy does better than no therapy or the mere passage of time. Because of his original studies, mostly with psychoanalytic or Freudian-oriented psychotherapists, it became popular to say that sixty-four percent of the patients improved within two years whether they were treated or not.

The flaw in Eysenck's research seems to be that he lumped good and bad therapists together and averaged out their success. Since the early 1950's more has been published on the results of various kinds of therapy. Some therapists report up to ninety-five percent of their patients are greatly improved, while other therapists report success that is not that high, but still is significantly greater than two out of three (sixty-four percent). Other therapists are much less successful, while it has been found that effective counseling can be done by untrained persons. Also, it is of interest to note that therapists using the same theory of therapy can have vastly different success rates.

These findings suggest that successful therapists have certain common personality characteristics. Having empathy (the ability to understand another person's feelings or ideas) and warmth may be the most important characteristics a therapist can have. When the therapist is interested in his client and is able to communicate this back to the individual without condemning him, the client will likely improve.

The ability to make contact with the client's inner experience and to communicate a sensitive, accurate understanding of his current feelings and experiences is vitally important in bringing about a positive personality change, but it is not something that can be taught. People who are born with the unique personality traits required to relate to others can become successful psychotherapists.

Some 11 check points have been designated through the city of Pontiac route. Free refreshments and music will be supplied.

Procedure streamlined on youthful offenders

A "procedural breakthrough" negotiated by the Independence Township police services will make it easier to file complaints against wayward juvenile motorcyclists.

The Oakland County Juvenile Court has agreed to process alleged violations of Independence Township ordinances as simply as it does traffic violations.

Previously, charges against juveniles were divided into two categories--traffic and formal complaints.

To file a formal complaint required considerable paperwork involving an application through probate court, said Director of Police Services Jack McCall.

The main area in which this procedural streamlining will be effective is in the department's dealings with motorcyclists, McCall said.

In their continuing attempt to control motorcycling in the township, Independence officers issued six violations last weekend--four to adults.

More than 20 warnings were issued to other cyclists and/or parents.

"Most of the problems were on highways this weekend," McCall noted.

Madrigals to sing

Bell seeks new rate hikes here

Michigan Bell Telephone has applied for "rate relief", and if they get it, your monthly bill will increase.

The Clarkston area falls into Bell's Rate Group D, which means that monthly one-party line billings would increase 75 cents to $6.50.

It also means that suburban service would increase $2.10 to $9.90, rural service would increase $2.10 to $8.90, metro line service would go up $2.50 to $19.25, metro trunks up $4.30 to $28.85, and semi-public up $2.20 to $10.15.

The costs overall are estimated as costing a nickel a day to the basic charge for most residential customers.

Increases on long distance calls within Michigan would range between one and six cents a minute. This applies to all operator-assisted calls, such as credit card, person, third number, collect, coin, etc. Customers would continue to receive the current 20 or 40 percent discounts for dialing their own calls. These increases would also affect Budget Dialing Service although BTDS customers would continue to receive a 60 percent discount as at present.

Local calls would be increased 1/4 cents for business customers, going from five to 6 1/4 cents a call. Wherever such charges apply, residence customers would pay five cents for each local call, up from 4 1/2 cents each.

For interzone calls, the increases are proportionate to those for long distance with increases of one or two cents per minute. A discount of 40 percent applies to all customer dialed interzone calls.

Residence extensions would cost $1.35 per month, a 30-cent increase. The monthly charge for Trimline telephones would be $1.25, up 15 cents, and Princess sets would be increased 10 cents a month to 75 cents.

The charges for service connections would also be adjusted. The present $20 charge for installation of a residence line and one or more phones installed at the same time would increase to $25. For businesses, the present charge of $20 for installing one line and one instrument would also go to $25. The charge for each additional business phone installed would be $12.50. The one-time charge for installations where there has been no prior service would decrease from $15 to $12.50.

David K. Easlick, Michigan Bell president, said the total increase being sought is $111 million, but he pointed out that the company would receive less than half -- about $53 million -- after payment of $8 million in additional federal and state taxes.

Easlick also noted that since 1967 telephone rates have gone up 16 percent, compared with a rise of 43 percent in the Detroit Consumer Price Index.

He said the company had increased its net investment plant facilities by $230 million last year, but its earnings were up only $1.1 million -- a figure which he said earned less than 1 percent on new investment.

"We could have earned six times more just putting the money in the bank," he said.

Springtime is airing time—and Mrs. Delray Hall of 7165 Sashabaw Road was among those women who eagerly took advantage of a warm, windy day to string up clotheslines for her laundry.

6 arrested in drug raid

An early morning drug raid Friday in Waterford Township resulted in the arrest of six young persons from the area and the confiscation of about $250 worth of drugs, according to Oakland County Sheriff's detectives.

Among those arrested was Brenda S. Gale, 24, renter of the raided house at 3232 VanCampen, Drayton Plains. She and Edward Holmes, 19, of 5122 Waldon, Clarkston, were charged with possession of dangerous drugs.

Also picked up in the raid and charged with being disorderly persons frequenting a house of illegal occupation were Robert Eslick, 19, and Kenneth Eslick, 18, both of 17069 Kropf, Davisburg; Richard Uplegger, 20, of 6695 Fall River, Holly; and a 16-year-old youth.

Uplegger pleaded guilty at his arraignment before Drayton Plains District Judge Richard Hempstead and is awaiting sentencing. Preliminary examination of the others is scheduled for May 10. All were released on bonds.

The raid was conducted about 12:30

Quick-change artists at work

Merchants in Independence Township are being warned to be on the alert for quick-change artists who have been operating in the area recently.

"The procedure is based on confusion," according to a bulletin sent to businessmen by Independence Township police services.

It is at busy times that the quick-change artist work, using a simple technique that probably could be detected at slower periods.

"In the past few weeks several individuals have been successful in quick changing cashiers in the Clarkston area," notes the bulletin.

The procedure usually involves presenting a large bill—like a $20— to purchase an item for less than a dollar. When the cashier hands the customer his change the customer will hand back a $5 and ask for change.

He will then maintain that the second exchange involved a larger bill.

"This procedure sounds simple to detect, but in busy times it has already proven effective to the criminal," the bulletin says.

"When a customer asks for change, just after receiving change, this should act as an automatic alarm in the cashier's mind."

The people respond to Anderson quiz

More than 85 percent of the people responding to State Rep. Loren Anderson's recent questionnaire circulated among voters of this area feel there is widespread fraud in the state welfare system.

Another 59 percent feel a standard should be legislated to guard against pornography, and another 57 percent feel the state should adopt a land use program.

Most of them -- 52 percent -- feel that land use planning should remain, however, a responsibility of local government.

A total of 82.9 percent would like to see stricter regulations for mobile home parks, and 62 percent think judges should be elected.

A bare majority, 51 percent, feel local government should not be permitted to prevent halfway houses and mental facilities from locating in communities.

Anderson also learned that 78 percent of the people think the death penalty is an effective deterrent to criminals, and 59 percent would like the environmental protection standards eased in view of the energy shortage.

Most people were opposed to lowering the sales tax by increasing income tax, and 80 percent thought tax incentives should be allowed farmers.

In the area of education, vocational training and special programs for the retarded are viewed as a prime need, however most thought special programs for the gifted are satisfactory as they are.

Sixty percent of the people answering the quiz believed teachers should not have the right to strike. Nearly half also believed teachers should not be accepted under Civil Service.

If there is a strike, more than half thought teachers ought to be fined.

Eighty-seven percent thought tenure laws should be changed with a review of teacher qualifications each five years.

Most would enforce the new law to regulate advertisement and sale of land, and they would also repeal the law allowing the state use of tax dollars to protect consumers.

Seventy-seven percent do not want licensing of auto mechanics or personal authorization of work above estimate, the survey showed.

More than half think most Michigan politicians are honest, and that the current system of voter registration is adequate.

Lodge would axe $1 uninsured motorist fee

Senator Harvey Lodge has introduced a bill designed to eliminate the $1 fee charged all insured motorists for the benefit of the Uninsured Motorist Fund.

Senator Lodge said that unless the bill becomes law that $1 registration fee will be reinstated on October 1, and the State's general Fund could be held responsible for claims against the Uninsured Motorist Fund, which will continue until October 1, 1976.

Insured motorists have already contributed in excess of $25,000,000 to the Fund in insured motorist fees for which they received no direct benefit, Lodge said. In addition, the record of the no-fault trial referred to previously shows that over 95% of insured motorists also purchased annually uninsured motorist coverage for several more dollars, thereby subsidizing the fund and uninsured motorists.

"The House of Representatives has passed a bill requiring that $22.50 of the $45 paid by the 265,000 passenger vehicle and 23,000 commercial vehicle registrations be refunded this year," said Senator Lodge.

"This legislation is now in the Senate Committee on Commerce, of which I am chairman, and I am sure the committee has no intention of reporting it out to the Senate floor because its passage would render the Uninsured Motorist Fund actuarially unsound.

"Michigan's new no-fault automobile insurance law became effective last October 1 and it eliminates most of the need for the Uninsured Motorist Fund but the Fund remains liable for millions of dollars in claims arising from accidents which occur under the new law which is correct. It will also be liable for some accidents that have occurred since that time. The Fund must remain in existence at least until 1978 and we must see to it that it remains actuarially sound," Lodge added.

A new synthetic drug, developed as an anesthetic, has the advantage of stimulating breathing and heartbeat, instead of depressing them. It is remarkably fast-acting, and its effect usually lasts five to 10 minutes. One side benefit: vivid dreams in the last stage of "sleep."

1,100 boys sign for baseball

"Eleven hundred boys will play baseball this summer on '74' teams in five leagues," reported Bob Davidson, Baseball Commissioner for the Independence Township Rec. Dept.

"We are creating two new fields and borrowing two from Waterford just to accommodate the boys and girls wanting to play. We will play four nights a week on 24 diamonds and we will be scheduled tighter than we were last year."

"Everyone wants to play at 6 p.m. and you can't just keep making playing fields to keep up with the increased growth each year," stated Davidson, who feels that next year (summer of '75") will definitely see all boys and girls under 10 playing morning ball.

All boys have been placed on teams and all teams have managers. If your son has not been contacted please call the Recreational Department (625-8223) to find out your son's Manager's name and phone number. Several managers have reported wrong numbers or disconnected numbers and have not been able to contact every player on their list.

The Recreational Department says that all boys who want to play will be placed on teams.

Does end paper seem old hat to you? Not if you are using mesh type rollers. In fact, with these rollers, end papers are your only protection against your ends of hair which catch in the rollers. End papers also set the ends of your hair much more smoothly, and prevent their frizzing or breaking off. Always place rollers as close together as possible to keep your style from separating when it's combed out.

You will be happy with the way your hair is styled and set as "SALON OF BEAUTY" BONNIE JEAN'S HAIR STYLISTS, 5488 Dixie Hwy. Tel. 623-1411. Open 7-8:30. Sat. 7:30-3. Expert hair coloring includes tinting, frosting, tipping and bleaching.

CHS girls win 2

Clarkston High School girls' varsity softball team opened their season last week with two league victories. The defending Wayne-Oakland League Champs handed Milford a 21-10 loss and defeated West Bloomfield by a score of 15-7.

Milford was ripped by a second inning Clarkston hitting attack which accounted for 8 runs. Although everyone on the team received RBI's, big bats for the afternoon belonged to Cathy Bunton who went 4 for 6 and Sheryl Stickle 3 for 4. Sophomore Autumn Matlock got the longest hit of the afternoon with a triple to left center.

West Bloomfield experienced pitching problems in last Friday's loss. Three different pitchers were rapped for runs by the Clarkston offense. First Baseman Autumn Matlock hit 2 doubles, a single and collected 5 RBI's in the winning effort.

Now in her third season on the mound, Billie Carroll received credit for both victories.

The JV was not so fortunate last week as they lost to Milford 33-8 and to West Bloomfield 14-6. These were the first game of the season for the JV.

At Milford, losing pitcher Allison Booker collected 3 of the 7 JV hits. The JV displayed much improved fielding against West Bloomfield only to be rocked by 13 strike-outs. Losing pitcher in the effort was Sherry Nowicki.

This week the girls will be facing Andover and Clarenceville in league contests. The next home game will be May 6 against Kettering. Game time is 3:30.

JV wins 1

After beating Waterford Township last Thursday the JV baseball team lost to Lake Orion here last Saturday.

In the game with the Skippers the Wolves were losing 1-0 until the sixth inning when they came up with two runs to win 2-1. Clarkston opened up its scoring with a run on a wild pitch. A couple batters later, Ken Grable came through with a run-scoring single to put the Wolves in front for good.

Jeff Schatz started and got the win and was relieved by Bill Mathews in the final inning. Schatz gave up a run in the second, 3 hits, walked 4, and struck out 11. Mathews struck out both of the men he pitched to.

The Wolves fell to the Dragons 5-3. Clarkston came up with 3 runs in the final inning to balance somewhat a 5-0 score. Steve Pearson knocked in Ferguson for Clarkston's first run and Tom Ross sacrificed in Pearson. The Wolves' other run scored on a wild pitch.

Ross was the starter and loser giving up all 5 runs on 9 hits, walking 2, and striking out 5. Bill Mathews relieved him in the 5th inning, giving up 2 hits and walking none. The JV's are now 4-1.

Girls' softball triples in size

Looking forward to the summer girls' softball league—because they're fortunate enough to have parents willing to serve as managers—are [from left] Vicky Verch, Jerri Dyke and Shari Ross. They will be in the 14-17, 11-13 and 8-10-year-old divisions, in that order. Additional managers still are being sought for the league cosponsored by the Independence Park and Recreation Department and the Independence Township Athletic Association. Who had hoped to organize 28 to 30 teams.

This year's girls' softball program, organized by the Independence Township Recreation Department and sponsored by the Independence Athletic Association, has tripled in size over last year's program.

Three hundred and fifty girls will take to the playing fields when school is out in June to play in three leagues and on twenty-five teams.

Girls 8, 9 and 10, will play in the MINI-MISS League with games tentatively scheduled at 4 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday at the Sashabaw School playing fields.

The MIGHTY-MISS League for girls 11, 12 and 13 will play 4 p.m. games on Tuesday and Thursday at the same locations.

Older girls 14-17 will play in the MAXI-MISS League with games scheduled for 6 p.m. They will also play teams from other communities.

Several teams have been formed without managers and interested adults are asked to call the Recreation Department to manage these teams. This Saturday all girls on Rec. teams without managers will report to the Clarkston High School gym for their first practice at 10:00 a.m.

A rules meeting will be held this Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Clarkston High School Cafeteria for all interested.

Runners sprint past Kettering

by MIKE JEWELL

The Clarkston Varsity track team upped its perfect record 5-0 as it whipped Waterford Kettering 79-44 last Tuesday. That meet was also the team's first league meet, so the Wolves are now 1-0 in league competition.

Clarkston again took 11 of the total 15 first places as Wayne Thompson led the assault earning 13 individual points.

Thompson did so by taking first in the long jump at 18'10" and a first in the 100 yard dash with a quick 10.8 second run. He was also on the 880-yard relay team and the 440-yard relay team, both of which captured first. The 880 team, which includes Vern McVety, Brian Carlsen, and George Bellairs, ran its race with a 1:38.4 clocking. The 440 team consists of Vern McVety plus Lee Booker and Steve Klein. They clicked off a 46.7 timing for their race.

Tim Doherty's toss of 43'9" was good enough for first place in the shot put while Tim Westover jumped 5'8" to gain a first in the high jump.

Mike Nurenburg was involved in two first places, one being a solo performance of 2:08 in the 880-yard run. He was also part of the first place mile relay team. The rest of that team included Mike Sawyer, Brian Carlsen, and George Bellairs who did the mile in 3:42.5.

The mile run was won by Clarkston's Paul Glowsinski, his time 4:58.2 followed by Paul Brown's 4:59.

The two mile run was won by Mike Crosby with a fine time of 10:31. Jeff McIlrath ran 10:57.9 which put him in third place in that event.

Clarkston also took a first and third in the 220-yard dash. McVety took the first place honor with a swift time of 24.1 while Rick Gunter took the third spot with a .25 second timing.

The 180-yard low hurdles was won by the Captains but Steve Klein and Lee Booker of Clarkston finished two and three. Booker was also in the 100 yard dash and finished second while Klein was also in the 120-yard high hurdles finishing third in that event.

The Wolves took second and third places in the 440-yard dash with Bellairs and Nurenburg.

Other points earned by Clarkston were a second place finish by Barger in the 120 yard high hurdles, Whitehead's third in the long jump, Brown's third in the high jump, and Humpreys third in the pole vault.

Varsity nine evens record

by MIKE JEWELL

The Clarkston Wolves' Varsity baseball team evened their record at 6-6 by winning two of three games last week.

They started off last Tuesday losing 1-0 to Waterford Township. Steve Howe, who pitched the distance and received the loss, gave up the game's only run in the 5th inning. He also gave up 6 hits and struck out two batters. Clarkston could scatter only 5 hits against the Skippers.

Clarkston played its first league opponent last Thursday beating Milford 9-1. Dave Heffernan pitched a one hitter against the Redskins as they scored their only run, that being on error, in the 5th inning. His record increased to 3-1 as he fanned two batters and walked only 3.

The game was scoreless until the fourth inning when the Wolves came up with 4 runs. Paul Breninger was credited with one of those RBI's while Jeff Harvey singled in one of the others.

The Wolves came up with 4 more runs in the 6th inning when the Hesse brothers put it together. Kurt came up with a two run double while Kevin knocked in a run with a fielder's choice. Four of the Clarkston runs were on account of Milford errors.

The Wolves had 8 hits, two each by Mike Hooper and Ken Foster.

Last Friday, Steve Howe struck out 14 batters while the rest of the team stroked 11 hits to end up beating Lake Orion 6-4.

Mike Coulter started the game but was relieved by Howe after he walked the first four batters to give the Dragons a 1-0 lead. Howe went the rest of the way to get the win and set his record at 2-1.

That 1-0 Dragon lead didn't last long as Clarkston came up with three doubles by Kevin Hesse, Jeff Harvey, and Mike Hooper to make it 3-1 Clarkston at the end of the first inning.

Paul Breninger, homered in the fourth inning to make it 4-1 but Mike Orion came up with a 3 run blast in the fourth to tie the game.

Clarkston scored the winning run due to an error in the 5th inning and George Porritt made it 6-4 in the sixth inning when he homered.

Clarkston's Steve Howe studies his opponent.

Couple teamed up on house

By Pat Braunagel

Take a husband who is a professional builder and a wife with a background in interior designing, give them a few years to think about constructing a home and another couple years of physical labor and you're bound to come up with a house that has a personality as distinctive as that in which Walter and Joanne Rumiz now are living.

The house, a bi-level built into the side of a steep hill, is "modified Bavarian" in design, according to Joanne.

The modifications were made by both Walter and Joanne as they came up with the design while living in a house they were completely remodeling in Drayton Plains.

Walter is a brick mason, a fact that has to be taken into consideration as one views both the exterior and interior of the house the couple built in Independence Township. Included in its construction materials were about 18,000 bricks.

In the 10-room house are five brick archways. Where the walls aren't white, they're brick. Where the floor isn't carpeted, it is covered in brick-textured vinyl.

There also are large quantities of glass, in either windows or window-walls.

The western walls of both the kitchen dining area and the formal dining room on the second level open onto a balcony wide enough for sunbathing, relaxation or casual entertaining. The glass along these walls is tinted, to cut the harsh glare of the sun.

The dining room, with a fireplace which compliments the shape of the arches on either side of it, is carpeted in rich dark brown plush. Also in this room, as throughout the house, are dark beams on the ceiling. In other areas, the beams are also used around doorways.

Also on the upper level are the master bedroom, with white plush carpeting, and another bedroom, each of which has its own bathroom.

Walter and Joanne began building the house in 1971, moving in about a year ago. That they have not yet completely executed all their plans for a house is evident on the lower level.

There, off the family room which is structurally much like the dining room above it, is one room built for a pool table and another for a bar. Completing this level is the house's third bedroom, a full bathroom and a sunny laundry room.

One of the house's most remarkable features is its natural lighting, coming into large rooms.

It's a big house--and something the couple probably won't tackle again.

"We've done this big house and gotten it out of our system," said Joanne. "We'll do something smaller next time."

The mood of the Rumiz home is exemplified by the brick and glass dining room, with its dark brown carpeting, fireplace and arches softened by hanging plants.

Watered ham is ok

When a ham label includes the term "water added," don't feel you're getting an inferior product, says Ada Shinabarger, MSU consumer marketing information agent.

In taste tests, water-added hams are generally preferred because they are juicier. Most consumers say smoked hams without added water are too dry, Miss Shinabarger explains.

Federal and state regulations require hams weigh no more than their weight before curing, if they are to be labeled "smoked ham." Those with 1 to 10 percent added water be labeled "ham with water added."

Home gardening

Mini gardens

by Dave Coulter

Several species of common garden vegetables conform to mini space requirements. These are radish, beets, Swiss chard, carrots, kohlrabi, parsley, leaf or butterhead lettuce and parsnips. All of these may be grown in rows that need to be no greater than a foot apart.

There are also some varieties of sweet corn, such as Butterfingers, open pollinated Golden Bantam, Tom Thumb and mini hybrid, that may be grown in rows no more than 2 feet apart.

Recently several vegetable varieties have been developed and released just for mini gardens. One of these is Lilliput cabbage. Lilliput has a small head seldom exceeding 2 pounds in weight, but more importantly it has a small "frame" or supporting wrapper leaves and they may be grown as closely in the row as 1 foot apart.

Then there is Bit O Honey cantaloupe, or muskmelon, which ever you care to call it. Bit O Honey has dwarf vines and produces a fruit about 4 inches in diameter.

As a result of breeders' work to produce a pickling cucumber that will lend itself to very high plant populations for machine harvesting, there's a cucumber now on the market that has vines seldom more than 2 feet long and has a heavy setting of fruit.

If you have a chain link or woven wire fence guarding your lot, along any sunny section of this fence conventional cucumber, either for slicing or pickling, may be grown, utilizing the fence as a trellis.

Carrots may be grown in rows no greater than 10 - 12 inches apart. Bunny Bite (ridiculous name isn't it?) is a miniature carrot with excellent color and flavor and should work well in a mini garden.

Parsnips, which have better flavor is they are left in the soil all winter require no more space than beets or carrots. Parsnips are difficult to germinate and some gardeners put a plank or board right over the row, to keep the seed and soil moist and remove the plank or board when the seedlings have emerged.

About the tiniest garden you can grow are gardens in 8 - 10 - 12 inch clay pots. Many people, even apartment dwellers with a balcony, grow chives (perennial, milk flavored green onions) and curly or plain parsley. Like potted flowers, potted vegetables require frequent watering.

One of the western seed firms has released patio cucumbers and patio tomatoes. If you should try either of these varieties, they should not be grown in clay pots with less than 12 inches in diameter, and strong stakes should be placed in pots when they are filled with soil so the stakes may support the vines. Two other tomatoes that should be successfully potted are Tiny Tim and Atom.

Some people, who have beautifully landscaped home sites and feel that the plan shouldn't be disturbed but might want to grow some vegetables, will find that some vegetables will blend into an ornamental plan. If a foundation planting is in a sunny location and the planting are not broad leaved evergreens, which require acid soil dwarf or determinate tomatoes, Rhubarb, Swiss chard, (which has red midribs), ornamental, dark opal, basil, radishes, kohlrabi and many herbs may be successfully interspersed among foundation plantings.

Saturday, May 4th from 9:30 a.m. till 4 p.m., the second annual Clarkston News Garden Clinic will be held at Ritter's Farm Market on the Dixie Highway. To make a successful sales call, a salesman is helped greatly by "feed-back" from his customer.

It'll need all the "feedback" from your readers for subjects for future columns I can get, -- so please, ask questions, and make suggestions for future columns.

Tom Ritter will have a cleared area where I plan to demonstrate how to mark rows for a typical vegetable garden, that is if the weather cooperates and the soil isn't too wet.

Camp Fire candy

The Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls is conducting its annual candy sale through May 11. Proceeds will be used to fund Camp Oweki near Clarkston and for other program developments.

Clarkston women helping to direct the sale include Mrs. Marge Dieball and Mrs. Shirley Binjoe.

Tax fund to cover delinquencies

Oakland County Treasurer Hugh Dohany's revolving tax fund has weathered objections put forth by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, and is preparing within the next two months to reimburse local units of government for delinquent taxes.

The fund, as set up by the treasurer, sells bonds to cover the cost of those taxes not paid before the annual deadline. The county then assumes responsibility for collecting the taxes, and keeps all penalties and interest involved to meet bonding costs.

Dohany said some $12.6 million had been extended last year in providing local communities with the delinquent tax returns, and it is anticipated that $15.5 million will be spent this year.

Last year Independence Township received $24,038.31 from the fund, the village of Clarkston $184.25, Springfield Township $5,527.20, and the Clarkston Community School District $216,094.90.

Before the fund was organized, these units of government might have had to wait as long as three years to receive the money due.

50's dance

Last Friday, April 26, the student government of Clarkston High School sponsored a 50's dance at the high school gym. The dance, which was run as a "sock-hop", featured the music popular back in the 1950's as performed by "Angel Baby and her Daddy-O's", a fifties' group that looked like they belonged in the cast of the movie, "American Graffiti". The dance was attended by about 250 high school students, a majority of whom dressed, and danced, in the style of 20 years ago.

As for their dress, the student government declared the school day on Friday "Nostalgia Day", and a contest was held to find the students, and teachers, who wore the best 1950's costume. The winners were Jesse Diaz, for the best boy's costume, Brenda Lewis, for the best girl's costume, Grayce Warren, for best female teacher's costume and Tolbert Carter, for the best male teachers costume.

As a whole, everyone seemed to enjoy the dance. "This is the best school sponsored event of the year," according to David L. Arpoika, president of the student government. This thought was shared by most all who attended.

This Friday, May 3, the seniors leave on their senior trip will be leaving for Nassau. Those students that are going are reminded that the bus to Metropolitan Airport will be leaving at 6:30, instead of the originally planned 7:30, Friday morning.

The Independence Center Board of Directors is eager to develop a teen consultant group to work with them in planning programs. The center wants to offer services and programs to teen-agers and young adults in Independence Township. If any students are interested in serving as a consultant to a community agency that believes in "people helping people to help themselves," sign up with your counselor.

Interest in the movie, "The Exorcist," has caused a lot of comment. I believe those things do happen, and I believe that many people in mental institutions have that problem.

I believe possessions take place more frequently than most think. Some mild forms can be described as temper tantrums.

I feel possession is a matter not to be taken lightly. If the book and movie have done nothing more than to bring the problem to the attention of priests and ministers, it has done well. These are not all long ago events. They happen here and now.

I personally feel that the ouija board is one instrument of the devil, giving possession to chance to occur. Basically, if a person doesn't feel good about something, he shouldn't do it. People usually don't get hurt if they restrain themselves. The problems occur when they do something that they feel they shouldn't.

are going through with the divorce, but I feel that she will be with him when he dies. The divorce will not be the end of their friendship or relationship. She could be a widow before she's divorced.

I still see a bad accident on the Dizie Highway involving a motorcycle and red and blue cars, near the A&P I believe. I see a child, a junior high student, on a smaller bike getting pretty well scraped in it. The right side will be injured.

I believe a drowning will be averted in Deer Lake. Some light haired person will be saved. It looks like an older youth. The incident will occur farther out and to the right of the life raft.

A tan canoe with red and white stripes will tipover and the people in it will lose an expensive camera. The only thing that saves a pair of binoculars is that they are hung around the neck of one of the two passengers. The lunch will float away. The people will be okay.

Teen of the week

Jim Falardeau

Budding musician Jim Falardeau, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Falardeau, 6529 Pehlan, is Clarkston Youth Assistance Teen of the Week.

Jim is treasurer of the Honors Band at Clarkston Junior High and plays bass, trumpet, baritone and electric guitar. He's also served as a school public address announcer and made the honor roll three times last year. He received a perfect attendance award in 1972.

Jim was Rear Commodore of the Deer Lake Sail Club. He was top junior skipper in the last two years and second overall in Sail Club adult season standings.

He works summers and weekends during school as a handyman and is a member of Clarkston Methodist Church. He belongs to the school ski club and Pontiac Model Club.

He's also participated in football and track, and is working towards a pilot's license. He's a former member of Boy Scout Troop 189.

Color is personal. When you are about to exercise your taste in choosing wall colors or furniture colors, be sure you are fresh and ready. Also, do not work too long at it, or try to make too many decisions at one time. Be entirely sure before you give the final word on any shade. Color builds the effect of every room. It also expresses your own personality. It can create many special effects as well, including enlarging, brightening, or even dulling, if that is your need. Make all your color choices carefully.

The careful shopper knows he can rely on HOUSE OF MAPLE, 6605 Dixie Hwy., 625-5200 for quality, selection and service. Serving the community for over 20 years, we feature an extensive array of early American and Colonial furniture for every room in your home. Come in for a free consultation. Open: Daily 9:30-9; Tue. & Sat. til 6.

Fishing for Lib

by Pat Braunagel

Betty Hallman and I were talking about the precaution of women by men the other day.

(That's the great thing about writing a column—I'm under no journalistic compulsion to attempt to stick strictly to reporting the facts, as I would if I were relating what Ms. Hallman said at, say, a township board meeting.)

What the Independence Township treasurer, a woman of few words, did say was that she now is selling fishing licenses.

Quite honestly (darn my journalistic compulsions!), that was about the extent of her comments on the persecution of women by men.

I took it from there. (This little sally onto a soapbox may appear illogical to you, Dear Reader, but my husband would have no trouble understanding it after years of similar experiences.)

Betty's announcement reminded me that for centuries women have been dependent on men for their identities.

My own mother was among those good wives victimized by this insidious scheme.

You are aware, I hope, that men in Michigan can, when purchasing a fishing license, fill in the stub to allow their wives to fish without buying their own licenses.

My father benevolently bestowed this privilege on my mother annually.

One year, his first fishing trip of the season was up north with "the boys". He bought his license in a small town sporting goods store next to a tavern, at which he had paused before making further preparations for the outing.

It happened that my mother took it in her head that year to look at her portion of the fishing license.

Her first reaction was strictly feminine. She cussed my father out good for having messed around in Kalkaska.

Then her native intelligence came to the fore.

She realized that Dad could have spent his whole fishing trip in the tavern and he still wouldn't have been messing around with someone who weighed 350 pounds and was six-foot-four, even if she did have "long red hair" and "Flashing black eyes."

She tossed her brunette head, flashed her blue eyes and gave him the cold shoulder. Feminine.

And feminine she remained for the rest of the summer, as she climbed in and out of various row boats, tackle box in hand, murmuring about the fate that awaited Dad "if anyone asks me for my license."

I betcha she caught more fish than he did that summer, mainly because my dad was too busy chuckling to concentrate on the business at hand.

The next summer she struck a major blow for Women's Lib—she bought her own fishing license, which my father maintained was "carrying the joke a bit far."

A nice-guy award was presented recently to Dr. James A. O'Neill by Mark Zelenak [center] and Leif Gruenberg in gratitude for his service to Boy Scout Troop No. 189.

Bride's father performs rites

Laura L. Claus, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Ralph C. Claus, 9680 Sashabaw, became the bride of Mark E. Altemann April 26 at St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Waterford. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Altemann of Pontiac.

Yellow roses decorated the altar for the traditional candle lighting ceremony. Two hundred guests were present.

The bride carried a white Bible, used by the bride's mother and sister, and white gardenias, baby's breath and white sweetheart roses.

Her gown of ivory satin peau de soie featured a bodies of reembroidered alencon lace, long sleeves and a cathedral train. Her cathedral length veil was bordered and trimmed with matching lace and held in place by a headpiece of lace and pearls.

Mrs. Douglas Abend of San Jose, Calif., sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

She wore crystal mint featuring a empire waist and A-line skirt. Forget-me-nots made up her headpiece and she carried long stemmed yellow roses.

Cathy and Sharon Altemann, sisters of the groom, and Kerry Ann Murphy of Chicago were bridesmaids. They wore daffodil yellow gowns styled like that of the matron of honor.

Matthew Abend was ring bearer.

Chris Altemann, brother of the groom, was best man and Ralph C. Claus Jr., Carl Pittner of New York and Donald Duluk of Dearborn seated guests. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Michael Claus.

Following a reception at White Lake Oaks County Club, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Orlando, Fla. They will live in American Heritage Apartments, Waterford.

Stuart-Cooper

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cooper, 5990 Middle Lake Road, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Vicki D., on April 20 to Mark O. Stuart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Stuart, 4806 Hillcrest.

Rev. Don Gabler performed the ceremony before 300 guests at Christ Lutheran Church. Following a reception at the Community Activities, Inc., the newlyweds left on a northern honeymoon.

The bride chose a white pearl enhanced gown trimmed with venis lace and featuring Elizabethan sleeves. Her fingertip length veil was handmade by her grandmother, Vivian Randenbaugh.

Ann Cotton of Iowa, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Kathy Weaver, Patricia Mosier and Lori Cooper, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Kathi Cooper, another sister, served as flower girl. The girls wore red and white dotted Swiss.

Gale Mosier, best man, was assisted by Mike Roy, Frank Bigger and Dave Fife as groomsmen. David Cooper, brother of the bride, was ringbearer and Kirk and Neil Stuart, brothers of the groom, seated guests.

Hawaiian vacation

by Pat Ripley 625-2215

Mrs. Al Hamilton and daughters, Kim and Linda of Middle Lake, and Mrs. Ray Loba and daughter Sue, and friend Sharon Zukowski flew to Hawaii on April 11 and stayed until April 22.

They visited four islands and stayed in five hotels. They found out what it's like living out of a suitcase. The weather was beautiful as was their stay.

Everyone had their share of fruit while there, but Kim and Sue figured they ate at least one pineapple a day-setting a new record. I understand Betty Loba did pretty well also having one half Papaya a day.

They met an interesting tour guide while there. He also happened to be the singer at their hotel. It seems he had spent 15 years on the mainland entertaining and had sung with Bing Crosby. At dinner he dedicated several songs to the girls. He is a falsetto singer. His name is George. I can neither pronounce or spell his last name but it sounded real Hawaiian!

Dr. Hamilton and Mr. Loba stayed home and kept the home fires burning while the women were gone. Good Boys!

Cheryl Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Phelps of Kingfisher, gave a surprise sixteenth birthday party for Kim Hamaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamaker of Kingfisher.

There were 20 girls present to make it a happy occasion. It was a slumber party and there turned out to be wall, to wall, to wall, to etc. girls.

Everyone had a real good time, even if they didn't get to sleep until five. There are always a few surprises at a slumber party, right? Best Wishes Kim.

Bruce Domitroff of Placid Court just received his BBA Degree from the University of Detroit.

The senior class held their banquet at the Royalty House in Warren on April 27. Bruce was class treasurer.

On April 28, the entire family then went to Toronto for a wedding, in which son, Scott was junior usher.

With all of this happening on April 30th, Bruce and Jean celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a sigh of Amen. Sounds like they have been real busy as of late. Congratulations to the both of you.

Glen Milner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Milner of Kingfisher, recently became Junior Champion of Hunter's Safety.

The class is sponsored by the Multi-Lakes Hunt Club of Commerce. There were two divisions, over 14 and under 14. Five weeks are devoted to shooting and five weeks to class work. So if you happen to see a young man sporting a shiny new medal - it's Glen! Good work and well deserved.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Austin of Sunnyside are proud to announce the birth of a daughter - Heather Ann - born April 27 at Pontiac General Hospital. Heather weighed 7 pounds 4 ounces at birth.

Big sister Dana, three years old, is anxiously awaiting her arrival home.

The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. David Willson of Waterford and Mr. and Mrs. Ellison Austin of Kier in Clarkston. Congratulations.

Mrs. George Newlin (Pat) of Princess is home this week recovering from minor surgery. To help keep her out of mischief, give her a call. She has all of her drawers cleaned out so I offered mine, but that really didn't turn her on. We are real glad to hear you're doing so well.

The Rotary Anns met April 23 at the home of Mrs. Milford Mason of Cramlane. Mrs. Harold Goyette of Main was co-hostess.

There were 18 members present to hear the program by exchange student Maria Arizaga of Ecuador.

The Rotary Anns will have their installation of officers on June 18.

Pine Knob and Clarkston Girl Scouts joined forces Tuesday, April 30 for a real fun time roller skating at University Center in Rochester.

Money made on this project will go to camp redevelopment.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Snowapple and daughters Robin and Jody recently returned from a week's stay in Orlando Florida.

It was the first time the girls flew and they really enjoyed it.

They spent Easter at Disney World and found it to be real crowded. The girls enjoyed the Mickey Mouse Review so much they saw it twice!

The rest of the week was spent in the sun getting a great tan. Boy, that's some class.

Fifteen Civil Air Patrol cadets from Clarkston and several of their senior officers attended a Cadet Officer Candidate School last weekend in Battle Creek.

Purpose was to acquaint cadets with the leadership positions they will assume at the Michigan Wing Cadet Summer Encampment August 3 - 10 at Phelps-Collins Air National Guard Base, Alpena.

Former Clarkston resident Major Gerald Lawrence, CAP, conducted the program.

Local officers attending include Captain Barbara Glover, 1/Lt. Arthur Peltier, 2/Lt. Barbara Carey and CWO Mike Saile.

An introduction to a course in Relational Mediation will be offered by New Directions Foundation at 8 p.m. May 6 at the home of George and Gwen Phillips, 6413 Snowapple. Further information is available by calling 625-1739.

The Waterford Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet Thursday, May 2, 7:45 p.m., at independence center, Maybee Road.

The Media Study Group will present a program giving an overview of it's activities this year. Included will be discussions on cable TV, conglomerates in the media, childrens' television, sex on TV, and the group's visit to the Oakland Press.

Hostesses include Mrs. Gary Elwell, Mrs. Kenneth Wyse, and Mrs. Ralph Lewis. Women qualified for membership are invited to attend.

Thirty women met weekly this year to combine fun with fund raising. In September a "Camp Sherwood Bowlers" league was formed at Howe's Lanes to raise money for the redevelopment of Camp Sherwood. Camp Sherwood is the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Camp located in Lapeer. Phase I of the redevelopment process is now underway with the end result being a new multi-purpose building.

The group, headed by President Mrs. Jan Dunlop of Clarkston, Vice President Mrs. Sue Clark of Ortonville, Treasurer Mrs. Nancy Provost of Ortonville, and Secretary Mrs. Jan Townsend of Ortonville raised $583. At the league's luncheon, Mrs. Barb Howe donated the awards for the first place teams and high series bowlers. The league, composed of Girl Scout leaders, voted to donate the money to help purchase equipment to furnish the new kitchen of the multi-purpose building.

The Jiggers Senior Citizens group will meet at noon Saturday, May 4 for a pot luck luncheon and entertainment at the Springfield Township Hall.

A Mother-Daughter Brunch will be served at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 11 at Calvary Lutheran Church.

Spiritual Message

FOOD FOR THOUGHT:

Everyone is talking about the problems in the church. I agree there are many. Listed here are seven I think are very critical PROBLEMS in the church.

May we each take a look at ourselves. If we see us in the above let us pray Lord forgive and help me to do thy will. Bend the knee more, read the Bible, attend church, pay your tithes, realize the Cross of Christ, have a passionate heart, and care for the lost.

1. Unbended knee
2. Unread Bible
3. Unattended Church services
4. Unpaid Tithes
5. Unrealized Cross of Christ
6. Unpassionate Heart
7. Unconcerned for lost ones

Another day

A time remembered

... by Connie Lektzian

Adam Fisher and Peter Voorheis were among the earliest settlers to come to the Sashabaw Plains area. Jersey men, both, they survived the harsh pioneer life.

The story of their struggles is remembered in the memoirs of a grandson, the third Peter Voorheis, whose mother was Mary Fisher. In the closeness of 19th century families; children and grandchildren were told and retold family tales of the earlier time.

In 1919, in an effort to preserve these recollections, that latter day Peter Voorheis wrote them down.

Adam Fisher didn't choose an easy route from New Jersey. For whatever reason, he and his wife and children made the long journey by wagon. It was a slow trip for them. With wagons already overloaded, they covered most of the journey on foot, taking turns riding in the one spring buggy that was known to have come with them.

Adam found his claim surprisingly easy to clear. Generations of Indians had formed the habit of burning off the underbrush to improve the hunting. They were reluctant to leave these hunting grounds, but not in a way that caused trouble.

On their annual trip down from the reservation, the Indians would often stop and help these white men with the haying and harvesting on the land that had once been theirs. One of the Indians, who had spent too much of his treaty money on fire water, fell from the hay shed window in Adam Fisher's barn.

Anxious to return the man to their reservation, the Indians insisted on starting out the next day with the victim on a stretcher. He died on the way back. The tribe never returned to the Fisher farm, claiming that an evil spirit had taken possession of Sashabaw Plains.

The first Peter Voorheis was a large and powerful man, well suited for the heavy work of a pioneering settlement. One of the most arduous jobs was that of road building, which apparently most of them took a hand in. The Saginaw Trail was planked part way through Independence. In the eastern part of the township, however, near Sashabaw, the road was swampy and often impassable. Here logs had to be put down into the mud for a road bed, then covered with brush and dirt.

Peter Voorheis was drawing logs one day when the ox-yoke broke. This repair work needed a blacksmith and the nearest one was at Clintonville. It was dark when Peter got back, walking and carrying the yoke on his shoulders. He started a young cub whose howl of fright brought the mother bear scrambling out of the woods. Even though the Voorheis cabin was near enough for Peter to see the light in the window, no one heard his cry for help.

He grabbed a handpike and when the bear rushed toward him, brought it down on her back with all his strength. It didn't stop the bear, but the force of the blow knocked Peter to the ground. Picking up the yoke, he crashed the end of it into the bear's nose, the one really vulnerable spot. Wheeling about, the bear left the battle. Peter went home and found his boys all peacefully sleeping. That was too much for even his iron nerves. He woke all of them up, now only to hear a blow by blow recital of his battle with the bear but to receive the tongue lashing he gave for not coming to his rescue when he called for help.

Springfield Township Constable Don Rogers, a Democratic candidate for township treasurer in 1972, has announced he will obtain nominating petitions Friday at the Oakland County Courthouse.

Rogers will seek the supervisor's post being vacated by Claude Trim, who has this week announced his candidacy for the House of Representatives.

Indications are that Trustee Roger Horton, also a Democrat, is considering the supervisor's race.

Jim Brueck, newly elected Jaycee president, points out that a pair of Footes (and you can't call them Feet) got mixed up in a story last week. It's Don, not Mike, who was elected to the Jaycee board of directors.

Congratulations to Lewis Carpenter of Pine Knob Road who won the Kawasaki cycle offered as first prize by Clarkston Power Center during its recent open house.

The "Walk for Independence Center" on May 18 will be open to bike riders as well as hikers. Time to grease your bikes and oil your feet, we guess.

Jim Briney, a former senatorial candidate for the seat occupied by Senator Harvey Lodge, is reportedly considering reentering the race this summer. He would face Lodge in the primary as a Republican candidate.

The word is a Flint doctor is purchasing Clarkston's Town Shop with the idea of turning it into a mini-mall for small shops. The doctor was unavailable for comment this week.

The 400 people who turned out for the Good News concert Sunday raised $200 for independence center. Those attending Clarkston Youth Assistance fashion show Thursday night raised $400 to send needy youngsters to camp.

Congressman William S. Broomfield has made public the list of contributors to his annual Birthday Breakfast April 10. Gross income from the $50 a plate affair now totals $30,215 with expenses of $7,067. Arthur G. Elliott, general chairman, said a few checks are still arriving and a few small bills remain to be paid, but the breakfast should clear in the neighborhood of $23,000 to $24,000.

A newspaper release from the U.S. Civil Service Commission in regard to projects designed to improve the quality of public service:

"Specifically, a study will be conducted to demonstrate the technique of the synthetic validity approach to test validation and the feasibility of its use by state and local governments."

I hope they know what they've found out after they get done.

A stalker streaked Clarkston High School grounds last Wednesday night as a couple of tennis players and some female type practicing golfers looked on in amazement.

As we got the story, the youth, a male, alit from a car in the parking lot, shucked his clothes on the hill in front of the school, and when last seen was headed south.

House of Maple has completed remodeling and invites all and sundry to its open house from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 2-4. Refreshments will be served and you could win a 7-piece maple dinette set.

Roberta Underwood isn't Detroit Edison's new Queen of the Kitchen despite her selection as one of the ten finalists in the recent contest. We're proud of her, anyway.

Her recipe, if you're interested, is for Sauerkraut Alsatian Style and goes like this:

- 3 pounds sauerkraut
- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds (optional)
- 1 tablespoon black peppercorns
- 2 cups white wine
- 1/2 pound bacon, thickly sliced
- 4 pork sausages
- 4 bratwurst or knackwurst
- 4 frankfurters
- 8 porkchops
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Freshly ground black pepper
1 pound smoked or cooked ham, cut into small pieces

2 pounds potatoes, boiled
Rinse sauerkraut under cold running water and squeeze dry. Place sauerkraut in large skillet. Add caraway seeds, peppercorns and white wine. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Fry bacon until crisp and all the fat has rendered. Drain bacon and reserve bacon fat. Return 1 tablespoon fat to skillet. Brown pork sausages, bratwurst and frankfurters in hot fat. Drain on paper towels. Add two more tablespoons reserved bacon fat to the skillet. Brown pork chops in hot fat for 8 minutes. Turn, season with salt and pepper and cook 8 minutes on the second side. Brown ham in the same skillet. Arrange pork chops and sausage on a bed of sauerkraut. Place in 375 over for ten minutes. Serve hot with boiled potatoes.

Zapl Just like Cinderella's carriage-turned-pumpkin, unlicensed vehicles in Independence Township became junk cars as of May 1.

Ordinance Enforcement Officer Timothy Palulian had declared an unofficial one-month moratorium on ticketing unlicensed vehicles following the April 1 deadline to purchase 1974 tags for vehicles being operated.

He said he gave residents a month to make up their minds in cases in which they were uncertain whether they wanted to invest in another year's license fee.

Those who have not decided to buy the tags by now have pumpkins on their hands, and Palulian's not about to let them go to seed.

The paper hadn't been out a half day before we started getting calls about an item in "The Millstream" where it was reported that a woman's group learned to protect itself from a Michigan State Trooper.

Now, Pat Ripley wasn't responsible for that item, and I'm sure you all know what was really intended. Michigan State Troopers are no more dangerous than a lot of other types, but this particular one apparently had information for the women on how to protect themselves from other sordid characters.

The story, in fact, was similar to one we ran last year about the school district hiring two mentally retarded teachers. Teachers to teach the mentally retarded, that is!

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS

On behalf of the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee, I would like to thank all the wonderful people who participated in our very successful fashion show last Thursday evening.

Fashions by Osmun's of Pontiac and Fashion Gallery were sponsored by the Youth Assistance Committee in support of our 1974 fund raising campaign for the "Send a Child to Camp" program.

It is most rewarding to see the young executives, housewives, students along with many others, taking time from their busy schedules to unselfishly donate their thoughts and energy in support of this very worthy cause.

Clarkston Village Players present:

Air Force Major Fiorello LaGuardia (Gene Sherwood) and two members of the AEF - T.J. Johnson and Rick June.

Carol Arend is Thea, Fiorello's first wife. Here she is talking to a street crowd to enlist their support for the "Little Flower".

Tammy Hughson plays Mitzi, the epitome of chorus girls.

Life of LaGuardia, the "Little Flower" comes to Colombiere

Ticket sales are brisk for the May 3 and 4 and May 10 and 11 Clarkston Village Players production of the Broadway hit musical "Fiorello". Performances are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in Colombiere College Auditorium just north of Clarkston off Big Lake Road. Tickets are $2.50 each and may be obtained at 22 S.
