

School candidates spell out priorities

Some 30 Clarkston School District electors heard three candidates for the Clarkston Board of Education in the June 10 election list improvements they felt should be given priority consideration in the district.

David J. Leak, incumbent board president, cited media centers at all grade schools, an observatory, and small multi-purpose gym where both band and gym practice can take place. He also talked about the need for career education K through 12, and the responsibility the district has of seeing that any improvements made now can be financially maintained 10 or 15 years in the future.

Mrs. Katherine Fortin, mother of five and a student at Oakland Community College, said she considered the graduation of all students from the 12th grade, equipped to read, of prime importance. Physical education and art and music appreciation were next on her list. She had earlier spoken of a need for a change in school administration, and necessity of keeping up with changing curriculum, and the relief of overcrowded classrooms.

Gayle Bila of Springfield Township, with the Community Education Department of Waterford Schools, cited a need for multipurpose rooms and media centers plus total community involvement with schools. He had earlier cited overcrowded conditions in some of the schools, discipline problems and the need for more curriculum materials and physical education programs.

The audience quizzed the eight-year wait for the millage vote. Leak spoke of the need to get a consensus of the board in order to proceed with such a vote.

At one point he said, "Until the last 18 months we didn't even get a good start on improving the school system." He credited new board members and public pressure with the change in direction.

The use of modular building to relieve crowded classrooms was approved by all three candidates.

All spoke in favor of a later millage vote giving the district permission to bond for physical improvements, however a declining enrollment population rate was noted as a reason for being cautious in planning any new schools.

Balloon lands

Cloud 9, a hot air balloon which took off Monday night from I-75 and Sashabaw, flew over Pine Knob, landed again at Clarkston Road and Almond Lane, and then flew back across the expressway before being packed and taken home by owner Jim Lubber of Orchard Lake caused excitement for area residents Monday night. The Lubers say they often pack their balloon and drive until they find an area they'd like to explore. They were followed Monday night by a friendly car, pulling a trailer, to take them home again after the fun.

Low turnout forecast for school election

There are approximately 9,000 registered voters eligible to decide Monday, June 10, whether to increase school operating taxes by four mills and to elect a new member of the Board of Education.

Estimates of those who will turn out vary from 20 to 25 percent, despite the implications of the millage vote on the future of the school system.

The operational hike, school administrators say, will not increase the overall school tax levy. Now at $28.21 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, the levy is split $7 for buildings and $21.21 for operation.

State law required a decrease in the building levy just about equal to the proposed hike in operational millage. The operational hike is necessary, however, if the school district is to benefit from additional state operational funds made available under terms of the recently enacted Bursley Bill, school officials point out.

Vying for the four-year term on the board are incumbent David Leak, president of the board; Gayle Bila who is employed by the Waterford School District in its community education program; and Mrs. Katherine Fortin, mother of five and wife of a policeman, who is a clinic advisor at Oakland Community College.

Teacher sues for tenure

The Clarkston School System has been ordered to show cause in Oakland County Circuit Court why it should not be ordered to grant tenure to Karen Dryfuse, teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School.

Maintaining that her rights of the Michigan Teacher Tenure act have been violated, Miss Dryfuse has filed suit against the school board and school system.

Schools Supt. Dr. L. F. Greene informed Miss Dryfuse April 2 that the school board had accepted the recommendation of the administration to deny her tenure.

The show-cause hearing is scheduled for Wednesday, June 12 in the courtroom of Judge James S. Thorburn.

Commission urges township to adopt own landfill plan

The Independence Township Planning Commission went on record last week urging the township board and supervisor to formulate, in whatever degree of detail possible, a township landfill waste proposal plan for presentation to the State Department of Health by July 1, 1974.

It has also urged that if a specific site is now under formal consideration than an option to purchase be obtained by July 1 as evidence of intent to finalize a plan and tangible proof of action in that direction by the township.

The motion was unanimously approved.

Township to plan own landfill

By Pat Braunagel

Independence Township is going to come up with a solid waste disposal plan of its own in its fight to keep a 200-acre Oakland County landfill out of the northern portion of the township.

The township board Tuesday night agreed to invest $12,000 in the plan which must be prepared by July 1. A contract was signed with consulting engineers at Johnson and Anderson, Inc., who were given the task of devising a program to meet state requirements by the deadline that is less than a month away.

Oakland County's plan, which designates a general area centered in northern Independence Township as one of two desirable locations for large landfills, is solidly opposed by board members and a citizens' committee that was organized in the last two weeks.

The residents scheduled a meeting at the township hall at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, on the eve of a Thursday, June 6 meeting of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners at which the county plan was to be considered.

They also plan to come up with their own alternative to the county proposal, according to James Smith, Independence Township planning commission member and one of the organizers of the citizens' group.

The battle against locating a county landfill in Independence Township is expected to be carried to Lansing, where counties would need to obtain new legislation in order to condemn property for landfill purposes over the objections of the communities involved.

Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark said he hoped to obtain support from county commissioners at Thursday's session.

"Oakland County is counting on additional legislation," said township attorney Gerald Fisher. "There is no authority for the county to coerce the township to locate a landfill within its boundaries."

James G. Meenahan, Johnson and Anderson vice president, concurred, adding "but there is going to be a very strong push."

"More and more counties are finding it difficult to locate a landfill any place," he said.

State law requires municipalities of 10,000 population or more to have solid waste disposal plans by July 1. The Oakland County proposal excludes Pontiac and 14 communities in the southeast portion of the county which have their own facilities.

Vandermark said the township's aim on Thursday was to obtain for the local plan the same county recognition given Pontiac and the southeastern cluster.

"Essentially, we are capable of meeting the minimum requirements of the state act by July 1," he said. "Obviously, we will need more details after that."

"Trying to do such a report in such a short time is quite a stress," Meenahan said, noting his firm plans to take another three months to update it.

Board members voted to inform all other communities in the county of their opposition to locating the large landfill here and their plans to develop one to serve just the immediate community.

"We can't tell Oakland County, 'We don't want your landfill,' unless we have an alternate," said Independence Director of Public Works George Anderson.

"The county is snowballing a plan which isn't a very good one," Smith commented.

A second contract with Johnson and Anderson, for the engineering necessary to apply for a license for a sanitary landfill, was adopted by a 4-1 vote of the board. Trustee Jerry Powell dissented on the basis that work beyond the initial contract would involve an unknown amount of money.

The $12,000 for the first contract can come from a number of accounts in the township's general fund budget, Vandermark said—"land acquisition being one."

"We've seen it go from a minimum of $6,000 to $18,000," he said. However, the Johnson and Anderson spokesman commented that the township could withhold authorization of additional funds "until specific sites are designated in your plan."

Parade entries building

Many organizations in the community have signed up to participate and vie for one of three cash prizes in the annual Fourth of July parade in Clarkston, according to Bill Halsey who is chairing the event for the Independence Township Firefighters Association.

Halsey reminds groups of the new policy this year in which no candy is to be thrown from floats or vehicles. The only candy to be distributed will be that handed out by Jaycee clowns, he said.

Groups still wishing to enter the parade are asked to call Halsey at 625-4057.

Beach tested

Independence Township's beach on Deer Lake will be among those under scrutiny during the Oakland County Health Department's fifth consecutive season of water quality testing at public bathing beaches.

The testing program, which will begin June 10, will be conducted by four environmental health students from Indiana State University and four from Ferris State College.

Lakes scheduled for sampling are those known to have existing bathing beaches available to the public. During the 1973 program, 251 beaches were sampled on 137 Oakland County Lakes.

Recycling raises $8,000 for community

An increase in the price of recycled newsprint since August, 1973, has helped enhance Independence Township Bottles for Building Inc. community center fund by $1,283.64.

The total fund, in trust at Pontiac State Bank, now amounts to $8,000 according to Lew Wint, treasurer.

Mrs. Carolyn Place said newsprint prices have fluctuated from $6 to a high of $30 per ton and are now at $20 per ton. She said that prior to August, the local ecology group took its papers to the Oakland County Recycling Center but was unable to realize a profit. Since that time a van has been leased for paper transport, and is located on Burke Lumber Co. property on the Dixie Highway.

The profit was realized, Mrs. Place noted in spite of the group's allowing other various organizations to take papers for their projects.

A total of 922.45 tons of glass has been collected since January of 1971. The April contribution this year was 17.53 tons, Mrs. Place reported. Aluminum collections since November have netted the group $75.80, she said, which is earmarked as petty cash. The

Village eyes Hawk site

Plans for use of the 5 acre Hawk Tool site in the Village of Clarkston as a Civic Center are not yet dead.

Village President Keith Hallman in company with Lloyd Kirby, who for a time had the property listed for sale, appeared Monday night before the Village Planning Commission in informal session to spell out possibilities.

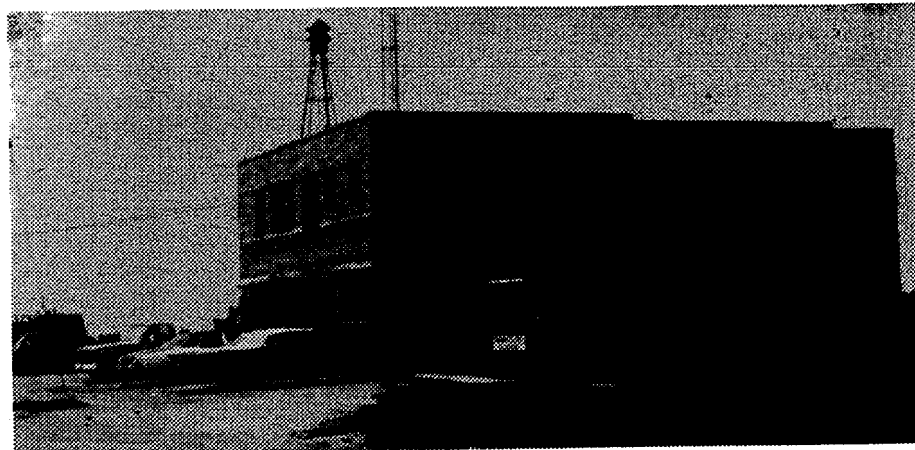

Kerby, who at his own expense had architectural drawings made of the property, showed four of nine commissioners present an outline which calls for the tearing down of the factory part of the building and the use of the remaining office space for Clarkston District Court and village offices.

The outline also provides space for a new Post Office off Depot Road, and accompanying parking. It also provides for a band gazebo on the banks of the Clinton River as it meanders through the property.

The Post Office is said to be presently interested in property south of the village, but Hallman said no final action has been taken.

The District Court, now located behind the township offices, is currently looking for more room. District Judge Gerald McNally has indicated a preference for remaining in the village as opposed to a suggested move to a county-owned Groveland-Oaks Sheriff's Department sub-station at Dixie Highway and Grange Hall Road.

McNally said in a letter read by Hallman the proximity of the banks and the post office is important to the court, and he also objected to the housing of the court with a police facility at the county site.

Where the county says the District Court should be relocated.

The Hawk purchase price, said to be flexible if the village were willing to buy, could be offset, Hallman said, by sale of a parcel to the Post Office and the rental at about $40,000 a year of space to the court.

Parking at the end of Mill Street would provide 47 spots for business oriented traffic. The plan proposes that Mill, itself, be turned into a pedestrian mall leading to the parking area.

Another 41 parking spots are proposed for the court and 22 for the Post office.

Space at the lower level under the offices could accommodate village vehicles in a protected setting, Hallman said.

The property until a few months ago was considered by the township for use as a Civic Center and combined village and township office space. The plan was ultimately rejected because of the cost and the belief the property was too small for long term township needs.

Kerby's plan calls for retention of much of the park-like area at the rear of the site. The gazebo, proposed as a project by the area bicentennial commission, would be located in a pastoral setting in the bowl of a natural amphitheater.

Though the planning commission was not in official session, those members present expressed approval and recommended to Hallman that he proceed to get financial data on the project.

Hallman said Billie S. Farnum, financial consultant to the village, had indicated the project could be feasible and that state and federal funds might be available to help in its purchase.

A tombstone mystery

An eerie mystery has presented itself to Mr. and Mrs. Lou Hoxsie, who recently uncovered a 132-year-old tombstone in the back yard of their East Washington Street residence. The well-preserved tombstone, face-down, had been lying before a basement entrance to their home ever since the Hoxsies moved in 16 years ago. Mrs. Hoxsie, here looking at the stone after cleaning it, sure would like a clue as to its origin.

Personnel changes

With varying degrees of enthusiasm, the Independence Township board Tuesday night agreed to create the position of a fulltime plumbing inspector, appointed a company chief for each of the township's three fire stations and welcomed two new auxiliary policemen.

The new post of fulltime plumbing inspector, who will receive a starting salary of $14,000, was necessitated by the increased calls for checks of sewer tap-ins.

Although Building Department Director Kenneth Delbridge said he had a man he would recommend for the job, township board members agreed the position should be advertised and they will consider applications at their June 18 meeting.

With fees for inspections by a parttime employe going as high as $1,800 during a recent 21-day period, the service is getting expensive.

Director of Public Works George Anderson called the fulltime position "vitally necessary," noting that inspections should be acted upon immediately.

"We've received a lot of complaints," commented Treasurer Betty Hallman, referring to trenches left open overnight or closed without an inspection.

While the vote on this was unanimous, Trustee Keith Humbert objected to the motion to increase the salaries of the three volunteer firemen who are in charge of stations from $900 to $1,200 and give each the title of company chief.

"I hate to call this cronyism," Humbert said, commented that he felt there should be competitive tests.

"These people are no longer volunteers," he said.

Fire Chief Frank Ronk said all three are volunteers and that they were assigned the positions on the basis of seniority.

Named company chiefs were assistant chiefs George Keyser and Ed Bailey and captain Rex Fenstermaker.

The two auxiliary policemen, appointed on a probationary basis to fill vacancies on the 12-man volunteer force, are George C. Barnier of 10160 Hadley Road and James M. Darby of 8425 Reese Road. Both were recommended by Director of Police Services Jack McCall

Heard about our used car operation?

If you haven't, we think it'd be worth your time. And we promise not to bore you. Not for a minute!

You see, we pay an awful lot of attention to our used car business. We take extra special steps to give every car we take in trade a deep-down physical. And if we decide a little surgery is required, we remove the trouble right then and there.

If we consider one of our trades a hopeless case, we get rid of it. As mercifully as possible. After all, we can't afford to pass somebody else's miseries on to our used car buyers.

Why this kind of extra care? Well, out here in Oakland County, we meet our friends and customers every day. In the coffee shop. At the bank. On the street. We can't afford to let a fast buck downgrade our longstanding reputation for fair dealing.

When we stick an OK Used Car label on one of our used cars, you know that car's got plenty of life left in it. And our fees are ridiculously low.

That's exactly how we operate.

Annexation to control Deer Lake traffic?

Village traffic to be engendered by development at the north end of Deer Lake might "just possibly" be controlled by annexation of the 66-acre, 115 single family development proposed around St. Daniel's Church off Holcomb.

That proposal was made Monday night as the Village Planning

Named district 4-H dairy winner

John Mark Cook recently received word from the cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University that he has been selected as a district winner in the dairy program.

John, 14, has been a member of the Seymour Lake 4-H Club for the past six years. He is a fres'man at Brandon High School and resides at the family farm on Seymour Lake Road, where he owns seven of the herd of 125 registered Holsteins.

John was county winner in both dairy and electrical in March.

He will be recognized at the dinner June 21 at Michigan State University.

Briney calls for Lodge resignation

James Briney of 62 East Iroquois, Pontiac, a former contender for the senate seat which serves Independence Township has called for the retirement of Sen. L. Harvey Lodge upon completion of his present term.

"Given his inconsistencies I find it unconscionable that he should seek public office," Briney wrote.

While not yet a declared candidate for the seat, there has been some speculation that Briney would challenge Lodge in the upcoming primary. Both are Republicans.

He said, "It is my hope that Harvey Lodge will see things as they are and grasp this opportunity to retire with dignity and bolster rather than weaken the image of his party.

"I make this call for his retirement on the basis of renewing the confidence of the electorate in our party and in trust that such action on the part of our senator will preserve and maintain the image of which he is so proud... that of statesman," Briney said.

Lodge was first elected senator in 1956 and was this year named president pro-tem of that body.

Commission in informal session reviewed a preliminary plat for the single family development which was presented by Jim Scharl of Kieft Engineering for Hugh Garner, developer.

The major part of one lot and parts of three others in the proposed development extends into the village, as does the development's major access to Holcomb Road.

The village will be required to act on the plat within 90 days. The township, in which most of the land lies, is currently in litigation with the developers over the property, however Scharl said the preliminary plat for the single family homes would be presented to the Township Planning Commission

June 13.

Fears that traffic from the whole development -- 372 acres including the 66 now zoned for single family and 43 zoned for multiple -- would funnel through the village led commissioners to consider several alternatives.

The possibility of making Holcomb Street traffic one-way headed north was reviewed, as was a requirement that developers cut an access road to M-15 south of I-75 from the project.

The possibility of annexation, said to be fairly simple for villages to accomplish when the land is vacant, was brought up with the idea that access roads from the rest of the development- including the multiples could then be denied.

Scharl said streets in the proposed single family development vary from 27 feet to 36 feet near Holcomb. He said drainage plans, which have been approved by the township engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson, call for a retention basin at the north boundary line of St. Daniel's property near Holcomb.

Access to Holcomb as planned in the preliminary plat is opposite Miller Road. "This is the important spot. It controls ingress and egress," said Ted Thompson of the planning commission.

As Scharl said, "If you're going to have most of the problems from the development, maybe you'd better get the tax base, too."

The matter will be further studied.

Millage won't hurt

Clarkston School District candidates will have the opportunity Monday—the first time in eight years—to vote for an increased operating millage for schools which will entitle the district to increased state aid.

The good news, according to school officials, is that the increase should not hike the overall school tax levy. Bonding money—levied at the rate of 7 mills per year—is due for reduction because of a change in state law. Officials feel sure they can keep the 28.21 mill school levy at or near its present total, despite a 4-mill hike in operational funds.

As Dr. Leslie F. Greene, superintendent, explains, "It's like taking money out of one pocket and putting it in the other, but we need the approval of voters in order to do it."

Administrators have been honest with the voters. They've told them the overall school tax package would be lowered—as a result of the need to lower the bonding millage—if the tax increase fails Monday.

That's your choice—to accept lower taxes and take the consequences in reduced financing of schools or to keep the millage at the same level and upgrade the system.

We think a vote for a 4-mill increase is worthwhile. Clarkston presently is the lowest operationally funded school district in Oakland County.

County should look in its own backyard

In view of the several county-owned parcels of land throughout the area, the consideration shown by Oakland County in positioning a giant landfill in the midst of one of Independence Township's most beautiful rural residential areas seems a little highhanded.

About six years ago, the county acquired and prepared to build a large airport in Orion Township. Because of the contour of the land and the need for fill, it was proposed at that time that a solid waste disposal unit be positioned there and the residue used to build up runway areas and construct the hard surface needed.

As we recall, the county still owns the land; and though it has been prevented from expanding the facility, it could still use the area for a worthwhile research experiment in turning solid waste to good use.

The Orion site has access to both I-75 and M-24, and soil maps of the area show it to have, at least in part, the clay base required for a landfill.

The long hassle over whether or not the county would expand the airport put the damper on development in the area for ten years. A landfill there would not create the problems such a facility would in Independence.

Make your love public

by Jim Fitzgerald

It is not enough that a guy tell his doll he loves her. He should also tell the world. Then the doll will be his sex object forever, no matter how late he gets home for dinner.

You read about Dan Edelstein and Mary Ann Snider. He took her to see the Braves and the Phillies play baseball in Atlanta. At the end of the 3rd inning she looked up at the scoreboard and there, in the same huge letters used to count Henry Aaron's home runs, it said: "Mary Ann, I love you. Will you marry me?—Dan Edelstein."

Immediately, Mary Ann gave Dan a lingering smooch while thousands applauded. At the end of the 4th inning, the scoreboard announced that Mary Ann had accepted. More applause. By declaring his love publicly, Dan had made Mary Ann an instant celebrity. Little boys asked for her autograph and envious women leaned close to sniff the scent that had turned a normal male into an adoring slave.

Mary Ann was so delighted with Dan's proposal she didn't even time his absence when he went to get a beer during the 7th inning and didn't return until the last of the 9th.

Which is what this is all about, guys. Forget Ann Landers. I am here with the best advice on how to be happy though married. If your wife does her cleaning in the nude, Ann Landers will simply advise you to close the drapes. What does she care if your wife is a street cleaner? That's not the kind of sloppy advice you get from me.

It 'vetches' me

by Jean Saile

We ought to have the most beautiful hill in town this summer.

If we don't, I'd rather not talk about it.

My green thumb is not all that it should be, and there are times when I think it might even be an embarrassment to my very ecologically minded parents who make their home with us.

They are people whose every seedling sprouts and whose every rose bush flowers.

There are times when I accuse them of having let success run to their heads, but I smile a lot when people say something nice about the yard.

Wednesday—which is my day off—United Parcel came to our house with 250 crown vetch plants, courtesy of Grandma and Grandpa, which according to the catalog, will bloom all summer and grow anyplace.

The "any place" we had in mind was what was left of the front hill after two batches of sewer contractors had succeeded in disrupting each other's work.

The cutaway hill in front of the house has been an eyesore for years. Though technically the property of the State Highway Department, I have never seen a State Highway Department man mowing the grass and/or weeds that sprout on its almost vertical face.

Landscapers had come in after the sewer was installed and planted and "hair netted" the ground. We carefully rolled back the "hair net" to plant our ground cover amongst the straw and struggling grass.

Things proceeded smoothly enough, I guess, if you discount the number of times my pail full of seedlings rolled to the bottom of the hill and the increasing soreness of my knees as I crabbed my way across the landscape.

All but about 75 of the vetch had been planted when our older son made the big mistake of returning home from work. He was given the job of finishing up.

And wouldn't you know it, the landscapers chose that particular time to pass by. They gave Mike a hard time, telling him the hill wasn't our property and what were we doing messing it up.

You can't win! There are still 25 vetch in the pail.

honk their horns at you.

The thing to do is buy a full-page ad in the local newspaper. In big red letters say something like: "Thank you, Susie Glutz, 1854 Elm St., for 19 years of wedded bliss. You are the most wonderful, beautiful wife in the world and I love you now more than ever. If it weren't for the opening of trout season, I would certainly be with you on this anniversary of the most important day of my life—Arnold Glutz."

Another idea is to get an airplane to tow your message of love over the ballpark during a World Series game ("When you say Susie Glutz, you've said it all"). Or paint the passionate words on a freeway overpass. Use a billboard, or a disc jockey. Rent space on Howard Cosell's forehead. The possibilities are limitless.

The important thing to remember is there is no real romance in whispering. When you tell her you love her, shout and turn hand-springs. Do anything to attract public attention. Your wife wants the woman next door to come over and ask to borrow a cup of aphrodisiac.

Don't ask why women are that way. I can't know everything. It's probably some kind of backlash from closing too many drapes. Ask Ann Landers. The important thing is that all husbands know this guaranteed formula for becoming household heroes who can get away with anything if they hire a skywriter to make their apologies.

My wife Pat likes to drive to the St. Clair River bank and watch the lake freighters go by, just a few yards away. My plan is to have my love message printed along the side of the biggest boat on the Great Lakes. Something like: "I'll always stand Pat."

Orion site is cheaper

Dear Editor,

Citizens of Independence Township are indebted to The Clarkston News for its May 16 article alerting us to the imminent approval of the Oakland County Solid Waste Disposal Master Plan by the County Commission.

At the Township Board meeting May 21, the writer unsuccessfully requested data from the DPW County representative regarding consideration of a landfill site adjacent to M-24 in southern Orion Township as an alternate to the proposed M-15 location in Independence Township.

Subsequent investigation indicates that there are several hundred acres vacant in this sparsely populated south Orion area. Some 235 of those acres, directly west of the County airport on Giddings Road, are already owned by the County, indicated by the County as surplus and available, and in an area having soil conditions the DPW and SEMCOG maps indicate to be desirable for land fill use. Close neighbors include only a trustee camp and the Humane Society Shelter.

Using figures and maps published in the County DPW Master Plan, and some figures used in the earlier 1968 County Drain Commission Refuse Disposal Study, it appears that the millions of tons of garbage presently intended for Independence Township can be hauled to an Orion Township location, such as the surplus County property, at a 20% savings in ton miles hauled. Over the 20-year period of the Master Plan, the savings will total at least $2,000,000—much more if projected inflation and faster traffic routes, possible with the Orion site, are included.

This savings arises primarily from the change from the SEMCOG plan to the County's own master plan. On this map, the major landfill in Avon Township, originally scheduled to serve much of North Oakland's needs, was turned over entirely to use by the 14 communities in the SEOCIA group. Re-sorting of refuse destined for Independence Township creates entirely new traffic patterns and distance factors which it seems may not have been fully considered in the computer programming plan.

If the surplus airport land—presently noted as being scheduled for "future industrial use" (zoning appropriate for landfill)—is used, further savings of nearly $1,000,000 in property acquisition costs: debt financing, condemnation and court costs and retention of taxes on prime residential land will all be realized.

For many Orion Township residents, it may also mean a welcome end, once and for all, of the lingering threat of a major jetport right in their backyard.

James B. Smith

Splitting community

To The Editor,

As a resident and taxpayer in Independence Township, as well as a supporter of the Clarkston Community Schools, I feel it is time our Freedom of Speech and Freedom of Choice be recognized.

The south Walters Lake area does not approve of Mr. Vaara's proposal to move our children from the Bailey Lake Elementary School. Why should it make sense to drive one bus with eighty-some elementary school children down Clintonville Road when the Junior High buses can not travel that same road because of its terrible condition most of the school year.

The whole Walters Lake area is a settlement of its own in the Bailey Lake School boundaries. To split our area would be like dividing a village. This area would be split in two not only at school daily, but we would be pulling in different directions for Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, School Fairs, and all school and other functions. This is not right!! Walters Lake has its own little organized Association and to split us up does not seem to be the answer to anything.

Therefore, I urge the Clarkston Board of Education to reconsider all the other possible solutions to this over-growing problem and recognize the rights of the people - for our children's sake.

Lewis and Audrey Hunn

She knows schools

Editor, Voters, etc.

What a laugh—to believe that I had never taken a tour thru the Clarkston Elementary!

My four kids went there one year, the rest of the years to Pine Knob Elementary, Clarkston Junior Hi and then on thru the years to Clarkston Senior High.

I worked in PTA and the Fairs of all, Cub Scout Packs of Clarkston El. and Pine Knob 6 years, Little League for 2 years.

I substituted in all Elementaries of Clarkston System, taught full time 2 1/2 years at South Sashabaw, ran for school board in the last two school board elections.

But this year, I'm working on stirring up voters, to vote or shut up!

What does it take to get people (property owners, parents, papas and mamas) potential parents - to care enough?

My only guess is Clarkston area school system people don't give enough of a damn.

They blame the "inactive school board", administration, principals, P.T.A., etc. but never blame themselves.

Mrs. Caverly

Supervisor endorses school millage hike

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my support for the school millage that will be voted on in the up-coming school election. The passage of this millage will result in a very good shake for the taxpayer for his tax dollar.

The voters are being asked to support an operating millage increase of four mills. This will result in a net increase in millage to the taxpayer of no more than one mill, because the School Board will be reducing the debt service millage by at least three mills, as per their own commitment. This will mean an increase to the typical home, with a $15,000 assessment, of about $15.00 a year. Because of the new Bursley Bill and State Aid formula, the citizens will receive for each dollar of new tax levy, about four dollars in total revenue available to the school district to provide for services.

Although our taxes, and especially the property tax, are a great burden to us all and have increased very substantially over the years, Independence residents in the Clarkston school District should look at how they fare in relation to other Oakland County communities. In the 1973 Report on Local Taxes for Oakland County, 149 tax jurisdictions have reported their total millage rates. In that year, 133 of those communities levied higher combined tax rates than those levied in the Clarkston Community District in Independence Township.

This indicates good fiscal responsibility in the spending of any additional funds.

Good schools are an asset to the community and to the future development of the community. Support of reasonable requests by the school district should deserve our backing.

Respectfully,
Robert O. Vandermark
Township Supervisor

Vote for millage

Dear Editor:

After a year of inflation, Watergate, layoffs, and the oil embargo a millage vote must seem as popular as the plague; however, let us put aside our differences and personal problems and protest our most precious treasure, our children. Children don't inflate but the cost of educating them does. If we don't care enough, they can devalue and be deprived of ever achieving their full value and worth in life.

I can think of no better bargain or value for your hard earned dollars than a vote for the school millage by you and bring at least 2 others to do the same.

Sincerely,
James A. O'Neill M.D.

Thanks for coverage

Dear Mrs. Saile:

I want to personally thank you for the coverage extended to our "Meet the Candidates" night on Thursday, May 30. The school board is an important and powerful local authority and all township citizens should be afforded the opportunity to meet the people who wish to represent them.

We, the Clarkston Jaycees, intend to continue this type of program for village and township elections as well. People can't be concerned unless they're informed. Again, thanks for your continued support.

Sincerely yours,
Martin Durlacher
External Vice-President
Clarkston Area Jaycees

Here we go again!

Sure, lower the water in the Mill Pond so you can clean your beaches. Why not?

I'll tell you why not!

It's always in the spring when the water level in Middle Lk. is too high to begin with. We've had flooding problems enough without you adding to it. In past springs, it's been the cause of lake pumps flooding out; boats torn away from decks and flooded yards and basements. Not everyone takes the Clarkston News so many have no warning ahead of time.

Now that's bad enough but who wants all your crap floating down into our lake? We work all year around cleaning up after the ice fishermen who throw beer cans, plastic cartons and logs on the ice. Some for the boaters and fisherman in the summer. Why should we put up with your added refuse. We are fighting like hell to keep this lake as free from pollution as possible. If you'd keep your yards and shore clean all year around and you wouldn't have this problem in the spring. I've had it!

Wants more tennis

Throughout the season many tennis matches went an exciting three sets, providing spirited entertainment for all that came -- the coach. It is an unfortunate oversight that the local gazette failed to recognize such a fast-growing sport, while the more traditional spring sports, wallowing in mediocrity, controlled the print.

County funds asked for roads

Nearly one-third of Oakland County's county road system mileage -- 866 miles -- can be in essentially new condition by the end of this year if the county is willing to contribute $1,000,000 in matching funds to help finance a second year of last year's emergency reconstruction program.

William M. Richards, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, told the Transportation and Aviation Committee of the Board of County Commissioners that a 1973 program, jointly financed by the Road Commission, the County and 18 townships rebuilt 437.5 miles of gravel roads. Additionally, he said, the Road Commission rebuilt the entire 110 miles of county primary gravel roads entirely out of Road Commission funds. The Road Commission also used $650,000 of its own money to resurface 24 miles of paved roads for a total of $571.5 miles of renewed roads in 1973.

Richards asked the County Commissioners to multiply results of the two year road renewal program by committing $1,000,000 this year -- $354,601 to match like commitments from fourteen Townships and the Road Commission to complete the gravel road reconstruction, and $645,000 to match a like Road commitment for resurfacing worn-out paved roads.

He said the matching fund program, plus Road Commission budgets for 1974 construction would, by the end of 1974, complete a two-year catchup effort resulting in 750.3 miles of reconstructed gravel roads and resurfacing of 116 miles of paved roads.

County financial participation in resurfacing paved roads would be new this year.

"Since the County's revenues come from both urban and rural taxpayers," Richards told the committee, "it is only equitable to balance the benefits of County funds for gravel roads with a comparable program to benefit road users in urban areas."

Richards presented a map on which were plotted Road Commission staff recommendations for specific resurfacing projects. He emphasized there was nothing final or unchanged about the location of repaving projects and invited County Commissioners to recommend changes on the basis of input from their local officials and constituents.

"We need the County's participation in this game of catch-up ball," Richards told the committee, "and that certainly buys County Commissioners, local officials and taxpayers the right to help determine precisely where the improvements are to be made."

Richards concluded that county commitment of $1,000,000 in matching money would permit construction of the full 60 miles of resurfaced paved roads and reconstruction of 203 miles of gravel roads provided in the Road Commission's supplemental programs for 1974.

Moving electors keep clerk

By Pat Braunagel

Persons who have moved here within the last 60 days may not be registered to vote in the June 10 school election, but they're not disenfranchised entirely.

They can go back to the district in which they are registered or apply for absentee ballots from their previous community.

This uniform realignment of the time gap involved when interested voters move around balloting time is just one of the election law changes which are constantly altering the record keeping in the office of Independence Township Clerk J. Edwin Glennie.

The laws are generally aimed at streamlining the registration process for the voters.

Another provision recently adopted in Michigan is an across-the-board residency requirement of 30 days. Previously, state and local requirements had varied.

The most drastic recent change in election laws came in 1972, when the requirement was waived that a person needed to vote every four years in order to maintain his eligibility.

"Under the state laws which became effective in 1972--and which have been changed several times since--the only basis on which we can cancel a registration is if we have good reason to believe that a person no longer lives in the community--if we're told by the person, a relative, neighbor, the post office or through a death notice," Glennie said.

Thus, because some people just don't bother to inform the clerk's office, about 10 percent of the voter registration lists will consist of deadwood.

The procedure for getting a name off the lists is somewhat complicated.

Once Glennie suspects a person no longer lives at an address, he sends a notice that the person's registration will be cancelled in 30 days if the clerk doesn't hear from him.

This notification must be sent by first-class mail, which is not forwardable.

For each of those notices returned to the township hall, Glennie requests a forwarding address from the post office, for which the township pays 10 cents per request plus 10 cents to mail it.

If the voter has moved to another home in the township, Glennie will send out a new registration card. If he's moved outside the township, a cancellation notice will be sent.

Names must be kept on the cancelled list for 10 years before they are discarded.

It's confusing, but the situation "is better than it was 10 years ago," Glennie believes.

He said there has been improved communication from the county regarding death notices and better cooperation from other clerks throughout the state.

"Clerks' associations also have helped a lot," he said.

More and more clerks are sending notification to a voter's previous community when he registers in a new one.

"However, we don't get any cooperation from out of state--period," he said.

Glennie said he does make a practice of sending out notices to other clerks when a new voter comes in to add his name to the list of approximately 9,500 persons on the "active" list, 10 percent of whom are inactive.

Clerk J. Edwin Glennie

Student aids police, merchants

Ellen Byerlein has gotten an insider's view of law enforcement and given the Independence Police Services Department a helping hand during the last three weeks of her senior year at Birmingham's Marian High School.

Ellen worked daily at the police office as her senior project, a volunteer undertaking allowed Marian seniors who have above C averages and good attendance records.

While on duty at the police department, Ellen set up an emergency index for businesses in the township. Merchants were asked to supply the names of all persons having keys to their buildings so they can be contacted quickly in case of after-hours emergencies.

Ellen reported she sent out 244 requests for the information and had received back about half of them by her last day, May 23. However, they can still be returned to be included in the file Ellen established.

Sutcliffe's purchase Quinlan's Emporium

BY Betty Hecker

Don and Bonnie Sutcliffe are the new owners of Sutcliffe's Party Store, formerly known as Quinlan's Emporium, 11316 Ember, Davisburg.

Don, a former painting contractor in Union Lake, was happily surprised at the people in the area. "They are so friendly! I didn't expect them to accept us as readily as they did."

The transition from housewife to store owner proved to be harder on Bonnie's feet than she had expected, but the first week's foot discomfort was greatly outweighed by the fun of running their own store and in meeting all the people that stop there.

Don doesn't expect to make many changes at the store—except of course, the new Coca-Cola sign now reads Sutcliffe's Party Store.

Bonnie reported that one young customer asked if it would be alright to just call it the "Maw and Paw store, 'cause Sutcliffe was too hard to remember."

The store will continue to stock a wide variety of items, everything from cold cuts, cold pop and beer, dry goods, to fishing equipment, bait and worms.

The store hours will be from 10:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and Saturday, and 10:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Sutcliffe take over the Emporium from the Quinlans.

Ann Quinlan to seek treasurer's post

By Betty Hecker

Annamarie Quinlan has announced her candidacy for the office of treasurer in Springfield Township.

Ann, 48, a lifetime resident of Oakland County, is married to Frank J. Quinlan and the mother of four children.

With experience working in the bookkeeping departments at Stark-Hickey Ford, Reichhold Chemical Company, Cook Coffee Company, and as head dispatcher at the Transportation Department at Fort Wayne Ordinance, Ann feels confident that she has the experience and knowledge to serve as treasurer in Springfield Township.

For the last five years, Ann has managed the finances and been bookkeeper for their own family business, Quinlan's Emporium, 11316 Ember Street, near Big Lake.

Her husband and campaign manager, Frank relates, "Last week, Ann was helping lay blocks for our new house, proving that there's not many jobs left that a woman can't handle. Women's place is not just in the home, but in all phases of life—business and politics."

Ann promises to establish regular office hours in the treasurer's office, to be available to serve the people of Springfield on a full time basis.

McDonald's refused additional sign

Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals has denied the request of McDonald's restaurant for a portable sign on the Dixie Highway in front of its place of business.

Leon Blachura and an agent of McDonald's said the additional sign is necessary to increase the restaurant's business. They reported that the local McDonald's is having less trade than the McDonald's at Walton and Dixie, and they said they felt the small conforming sign required in Independence Township is the reason.

The appeals board said any hardship endured by the restaurant is self imposed. Nearby buildings and signs block the view of the McDonald's sign in its present location. The board said the sign could be placed closer to the road, but restaurant spokesmen said they didn't want the expense involved in a sign move.

Cougars retain All-Sports trophy

In a twice postponed game due to inclement weather, the Sashabaw Cougars' freshman baseball team entertained and defeated their arch rivals from Clarkston Junior High on Saturday morning, June 1.

With each school having won 4 sports events, in matches between each other during this school year: the Wolverines - 2 basketball games, 1 football game and 1 track meet; and the Cougars - 2 wrestling matches, 1 football game, and 1 baseball game; the winner of this game would claim the All-Sports Trophy for this year.

The weatherman cooperated to make it a beautiful bright morning. A combination of a total team effort - tremendous pitching, excellent fielding and timely hitting, led the Cougars to a 9-1 victory.

The Cougar pitcher, Don Blower, pitched his greatest game of the season-allowing only 3 hits striking out 5 batters.

The Cougars scored 5 runs in the first inning. Mark Czinder opened with a walk; Glen Curtis hit a double scoring Czinder; Ron Fraley followed with a double sending Curtis home; Blower then hit his fifth home run of the season scoring 2 more runs; Rick Hensley singled and later scored the fifth run of the inning.

A couple fielding errors by the Wolverines gave the Cougars another run in the second inning.

In the Cougars' third inning, walks to both Hensley and Greg Pearson, followed by an infield out and a run producing single by Dave Callahan lead to 2 more runs. Then Czinder walked and Curtis beat out an infield hit to load the bases. Blower walked forcing in Callahan for the third run of the inning.

Leading the Cougar batsmen were Curtis with 2 hits; Blower drove in 4 runs; and Fraley and Kevin Brennan each contributed a double.

In the last 2 weeks the Cougars also played 4 other games.

On May 21st they traveled to Walled Lake Central and lost 8-2. Blower struck out 11 batters but fielding miscues and the lack of timely hitting led to the defeat.

On May 23, the Cougars played host to West Bloomfield Junior High.

Banging out 24 hits including 4 home runs and 3 doubles, the Cougars won 23-3 with the game being called after 4½ innings of play because of a 20-run lead.

The 23 runs represented the most runs ever scored by the Cougar baseball team in the 5-year history of the school.

Leading Cougar hitters were, with 4 hits each, Czinder (2 homes and 5 RBI's) and Blower (homer, 2 doubles, a single and 3 RBI's); with 3 hits each were Curtis (3 singles and 1 RBI) and Fraley (including a double and 3 RBI's); and those with 2 hits were Jerry Walker (4 RBI's); Brennan (including a homer and 2 RBI's); Duane DuBay; and Hensley.

Czinder was the winning pitcher scattering 6 hits and striking out 5 batters.

The Cougars visited Waterford Mason Junior High on May 29.

After blowing a 4 to 1 lead the Cougars came back in the top of the seventh to tie the score at 7-7. With 2 out in the bottom of the seventh, Mason scored the winning run on two walks and a single.

Leading the Cougar hitting attack were Blower (a triple, home run and 2 RBI's) and Curtis each with 3 hits; and Fraley with 2 hits.

Blower was losing pitcher after relieving Czinder in the fifth inning.

Waterford Pierce Junior High visited the Cougars on May 31 and went home with an 8-1 victory. Jeff Leach pitched the first two innings and DuBay did an excellent relief job for the last 5 innings. The Cougars hit the ball hard but usually directly to a Pierce fielder. Ron Fraley led the 6-hit Cougar attack with 2 singles.

Among the kids who claimed trophies in the 9th annual bowling banquet for Bailey Lake's B room were Don Jessie, who had the high average for boys, and Laurie Borka, who had the high average for girls. Jean Thompson, assistant manager of Howe's Lanes, presented all 10 youngsters who participated in the program with trophies provided by Howe's.

CHS tennis ends 10-6 season

The tennis team of Clarkston High School compiled the best won-loss record of the Spring Sport season as they closed Thursday by defeating Rochester High, 4-3.

Coach Larry Thibault and company turned in a disappointing--by CHS tennis standards--10-6 season and a third place finish in the W-O League. Perhaps frustrating is a better word to describe the way Mr. Thibault felt toward the season's work. First singles man Steve Mauti was unable to practice until two-thirds of the way through the year because of a basketball injury. Second singles player Lou Pope was unable to compete in the first few meets on account of sun poisoning. Three of the teams' six defeats came as a result of tough, hard fought three-set losses.

The surprise of the year had to be the incredible performance of junior Dan Saunders. Not having played varsity tennis his first year, he completed the regular season with a second-best record on the team. His almost assured victory at third singles aided in easing the tension pent up in the Coach's head.

Doubles was the Clarkston strong spot. The team of Jorgensen and Hitchcock were complete masters of their second doubles competition, winning almost at will. Their will brought them the team's best record and almost carried them to an upset win in the league tournament over Andover's top-seeded Kennedy and Dougherty. Not to be outdone, the first doubles pair of Olson and Mason tore their way to the finals of the W-O tournament only to be set back by the same Bloomfield Hills duo.

Rounding out the '74 squad were sophomores Neal Hoxie, Rick Miller, and Rob Kuechle; juniors Nancy Foster and Lorne Oles; and fourth singles man Lynn Surre, a three-year man.

Girls' record 9-2

The girls' softball team stretched its record to 9-2 last week with wins over Lake Orion and West Bloomfield. Lake Orion fell by a score of 15-1 and West Bloomfield was defeated 10-4.

Against Lake Orion, Billie Carroll pitched 6 innings of no-hit ball. Two hits in the 7th inning robbed her of the perfect game. The hitting attack was led by Sheryl Sticklely who collected 3 hits, and Jane Church who hit a bases loaded triple and collected 4 RBI's. The victory was especially sweet for Clarkston as Lake Orion spoiled last years' otherwise perfect season.

Clarkston held on to first place in the league with the 10-4 win over West Bloomfield. Winning pitcher Billie Carroll had a fine afternoon as she hit a triple and a home run. Sheryl Sticklely added 2 doubles in 3 trips to the plate. Relief pitcher Dede Miller helped put the game away as she pitched Clarkston out of a dangerous bases loaded situation in the 6th inning.

In JV action last week, Clarkston was defeated by West Bloomfield 9-6. Clarkston had a cold night at the bat as they collected only 2 hits. Vicky Verch had a double and Denise Gee connected for the other hit. Clarkston did display fine base running as they stole 8 bases in the losing effort. The JV record is now 4-5.

Falardeau wins Deer Lake Regatta

by Brooke Bennett

On Monday after the parade, Deer Lake Sail Club sponsored its Annual Memorial Day Regatta and drew a total of 26 boats of all different sizes and classes.

Unfortunately, the wind did not cooperate during the whole day but the first and third races were quite exciting with considerable skill exhibited by the sailors as they entertained the competition with great gusto.

Spectators were treated to colorful sails, frequent changed in leading boats, and the accompaniment of Bruce McArthur and his Civil War cannon crew as a starting gun.

Because of the many classes of boats racing, the Langstone Rating Tables were used to determine the winners under a corrected time basis, and Jim Falardeau was the eventual winner in his Sunfish. Second was Ron Chambers in his Challenger 15, and the third was Tom Waterbury in his Scorpion. The young sailors really cleaned up in this one!

Jerry Namowitz loaned his pontoon boat for a committee boat, which was greatly appreciated. In all, 14 different classes of sail boats were represented in the 26 boat regatta and 11 of the skippers were in the 16 and under bracket, including the winners of first and third places. The Sail Club welcomes the young sailors to come out and join them in their sailing activities throughout the summer. For information, contact Vic Luzi at 625-2078.

Catamaran races were exciting

The Deer Lake Sail Boat Club played host to an Invitational Catamaran Regatta over the weekend of May 25 and 26 with some unforeseen excitement included.

On Saturday the winds were ideal for the Sharks, Sizzlers, Prindle 16's, and Hobie 16's that participated. The highlights of the day included three of the boats joining the "Up-Side Down Club," one Hobie, one Sizzler and Shark National Champion - Tom Linton. (It even happens to the best of us!)

The spectators on the beach were treated to some spectacular sailing by Linton, Rankin Peck and Van Miles of Grosse Pointe, and Bud Volberding, the eventual winner. Pete Beagle in his Prindle 16 put on an exhibition back and fourth in front of the township beach which included several shore-to-shore speed runs on the "razors edge" - one hull in the air and his crew hanging from the wire in what the Catamaran sailors call a trapeze.

Sunday proved to be a pitiful let-down in wind, but did provide some exciting races with winners determined by mere boat lengths. The eventual winners were Bud Volberding - Deer Lake Sail Club - First, Rankin Peck - Grosse Pointe Shores - second, and a tie for third by Tom Linton - St. Clair Shores and Brooke Bennett - Deer Lake Sail Club.

Marie and Vic Luzi hosted a sailors' party with great success on Saturday night. Approximately 35 guests enjoyed a pot luck dinner provided by Sail Club wives and the events of the day were discussed with high hilarity. The observer wonders if a sailor could talk if his hands were tied?

There will be another Catamaran Invitational Regatta September 15 and interested spectators are certainly welcome to come down to the township beach to see these big boats go through their paces at speeds up to 25 miles per hour. There were several astonished remarks this weekend at the speeds attained with no noise, no motor, and only the wind for power.

Soil erosion and sedimentation act effective July 1

The Michigan soil erosion and sedimentation control act (Act 347), effective July 1, regulates all persons and businesses engaged in earth moving.

After that date, changes in soil contours must incorporate and maintain an acceptable soil erosion and sedimentation control plan.

"This plan must effectively reduce accelerated soil erosion -- the increased loss of land surface due to man's activities," says Dr. Lee Jacobs, cooperative extension environmental specialist.

He added that the plan must include a map of the area changed, survey of soil types and details of the proposed earth changes for the area under construction.

A permit must be obtained from an enforcing agency before changes are made that would disturb one or more acres of land or lie within 500-feet of a lake or stream, Jacobs stated.

The regulations apply to the following types of soil changes;

1) transportation facilities, including streets, highways, railroads, airports, etc., except for normal maintenance, minor repairs or alterations.

2) subdivision or lot development, mobile parks and multiple housing, except family dwelling site preparation.

3) industrial or commercial development (service facilities, including shopping centers, schools, etc.) and recreational facilities (parks, campgrounds, trails, etc.). Normal maintenance and landscaping activities do not require a permit.

4) utilities (underground pipelines, cables, etc.) except pole installation, service connections, similar minor earth changes and normal maintenance or emergency repairs.

5) agriculture practices after Jan. 1, 1979 except normal agricultural and land operations by owners of five acres or less.

Owners of more than five acres of land will be exempted from permit requirement if the operation is conducted in accordance with and is subject to a current soil conservation plan approved by the soil Conservation District (SCD).

Permits will not be needed where a formal soil conservation plan has been waived by the county enforcing agency which has determined, in consultation with SCD, that current agricultural practices meet the stipulations of Act 347.

6) permits must be obtained for water impoundments and waterway construction or improvements.

Procedures for obtaining permits will need to be structured within each county with the help of the Water Resources Commission (WRC).

Jacobs said that the county enforcing agency will probably participate in training sessions to obtain WRC certification.

Contact with a WRC spokesman revealed that there will be special training sessions in Lansing June 10 and 11.

These are by invitation for one person per Michigan county. Other similar programs will be held at a later date and will be publicly announced.

The Cooperative Extension Service will help with educational programs for the public and earth movers.

Jacobs added that most county boards of commissioners have, or will be designating, an enforcement agency before the act becomes effective.

But he feels that there will not be sufficient time to comply with the act's implementation date.

"Some violations will no doubt occur before people completely understand the requirements of the act," Jacobs opined.

He feels the best policy for farmers and businessmen to follow is to maintain close contact with the local county enforcer, county SCD or the cooperative extension office.

Special local meetings are scheduled for Reed City, June 19; Traverse City, Gaylord and Flint, June 20 and at West Branch June 21.

Contact with the local cooperative extension office is suggested for meeting time and place.

News-wise, what's the difference between a streaking incident and an indecent exposure?

A couple of weeks ago, a young man walked up Main Street with nothing between him and immodesty but a makeshift loin cloth which occasionally fluttered in the breeze.

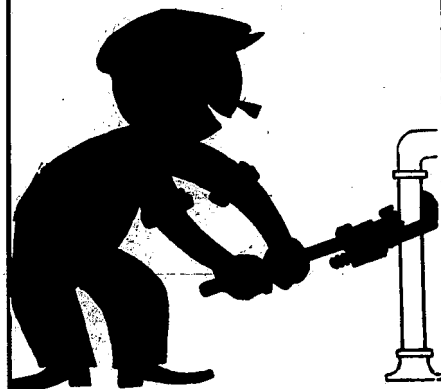

Yawn. It's been done.

There also have been reports of men indecently exposing themselves around the grounds of Clarkston High School, particularly in the woods separating the school property from Birdland.

Whether this is youthful exuberance, rebellion against society or just plain old perversion in bloom, only the performer—or a judge—can say.

Landfill plan clears committee

The specter of a landfill in Independence Township, large enough to serve at least 11 other north Oakland County Communities, still lingers despite township attempts Thursday to alter county plans.

The Board of Commissioners Public Works Committee voted it will recommend to the full board June 6 adoption of a solid waste plan that locates a potential 10-acre landfill at the northwest corner of the township, possibly extending also into Brandon and Springfield Townships.

It voted however, in recognition of objections spelled out by Independence Township officials and some 30 residents present, to accompany the resolution with a secondary resolution noting that Independence Township intends to file its own solid waste disposal plan with the state, and wants no part of the county plan.

This would not necessarily deter the county from placing a large landfill in Independence Township, it was reported.

It was also pointed out that though the map (accompanying picture) now spells out with a greater degree of accuracy the area under consideration, it is not final by any means.

Soil tests in many areas throughout the county will be taken before any one location is picked, said R.J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

He added he would be willing to meet with Independence Township officials to work towards a compromise location, more acceptable to residents of the area.

The Independence location on the county plan derives from a map prepared by consulting engineers for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments more than a year ago, Alexander said. He added that though it had been updated this year, the county would have to take comprehensive soil borings of its own before opting on a final location. There is $78,000 in the county's current allocation budget to provide for such studies, it was reported.

The landfill situation has come to a head, because of state law which requires that all communities over 10,000 in population and the counties must file with the state by July 1 a plan for disposal of solid waste.

Of particular irritation, Independence Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark said, is Alexander's report which notes the possible need for county to invoke the right of eminent domain in getting a landfill located.

Currently, Alexander explained, the county has the right to condemn for a landfill, but it cannot use the property for a landfill without agreement of the local unit of government and in accordance with its zoning laws. He said he still hoped to be able to proceed by that method.

Eminent domain, which would have to be okayed by the state legislature, would give the county the right to establish and operate a landfill where it chose, if such tactics should become necessary in view of the mounting waste problem, he added.

The solid waste plan, said to cost $48 million, would be paid for either by private industry or a more costly millage levy of up to 90 cents per $1,000 state equalized valuation, according to the report.

Under existing state laws, such millage would have to be voted by the people, Vandermark said.

However, the report notes that financing plans cannot be specific until after engineering plans and details cost estimates have been made "or more is known about the possibility of private sector capital and operations and/or

Clarkston News

The Clarkston (Mich.) News

Thurs., June 6, 1974 21

This landscape is within the landfill area designated by the Oakland County Department of Public Works possible fruition of a research and development project" now underway in Pontiac.

The report points out, "In order to improve on residential collection services and more nearly reach the goal of collecting from all homes, it is vital that legislation be enacted giving townships the same right to spread a collection and disposal millage as now enjoyed by cities and villages."

Vandermark who with a group of residents appeared before the Board of Public Works two days prior to the committee meeting reiterated objections made to the county at that time.

He noted the communities of the South Oakland Incinerator Authority and Pontiac have not been included in the county plan and he asked that Independence be accorded the same privilege.

"We can finance a solution to our own problem cheaper than the county plan will permit," he told the committee. "The township can finance its solid waste program through general fund levies, by special assessment districts, or through revenue bonds sold by the Building Authority."

He continued, "The county has shown complete disregard for the planning and zoning implications of this solid waste plan. The plan has had no review by the County Planning Commission or by local planning commissions prior to its creation."

He added, "A landfill of the magnitude and location indicated in the county plan would be absolutely detrimental to the growth and tax base of Independence Township. It would create a slum type environment in the area of $50,000 to $100,000 residential homesites. It would completely disrupt the planned development of this area, which is provided for in our master plan and zoning ordinance, and has been worked on and enforced diligently by our planner, planning commission and township board.

"We are opposed to having the county lobby for eminent domain legislation that puts the populous areas of South Oakland County in a position to dictate to North Oakland where solid waste facilities will be located and then taxing them for the privilege," he said.

Other landfills have also been spotted in Lyons and Brandon Townships, and Alexander said meetings in those areas with township board and residents' associations had calmed original fears.

"We will work with the local government on location," Alexander stressed.

Objections stated by local residents included those of Nelson Kimball who pointed out the increased traffic through Clarkston that could result in the need to widen Main Street "and destroy the character of the village."

A DPW official responded that most of the refuse would be trucked down I-75, but he did admit that those communities lying to the southeast would probably use the Dixie Highway.

Jim Smith suggested that land in the south of the county could as logically be used for a north Oakland landfill, as land in the north of the county, and he noted that no such sites had been outlined. He suggested sites should be positioned close to the point of refuse origin.

Planner Larry Burkhart pointed out that the county-owned Independence-Oaks park lies just a quarter mile from the proposed landfill site. He noted the beauty of the northern area, and said that landfills should be in industrial sites.

"This plan is one of the most flagrant violations of land use planning I've ever seen," he concluded.

Carrolls enjoy camp life

Country living

by Pat Braunagel

Among one of the two tiny clusters of tents and trailers initiating the Groveland-Oaks camping facilities this year, Lewis and Evelyn Carroll sat trying to catch a late afternoon breeze on the "patio" of their home-away-from-home.

They sat, cool drinks in hand, relaxed in two directors' chairs. Closer than the park noises which surrounded them were the sounds of a pot roast cooking in an electric fry pan on the picnic table.

The Carrolls were alternately chatting with each other, throwing quips at their daughter-in-law next door and listening to the tales of their two grandsons who were playing nearby.

It's a peaceful scene, and one familiar to the Springfield Township couple for whom camping is an integral part of their lives.

Of course, all has not been bliss when the hardy Carrolls, both in their early 50's, have taken to the road with their travel trailer.

While they were among the early birds at Groveland-Oaks, they've already been camping seven times this year, starting in Georgia in January.

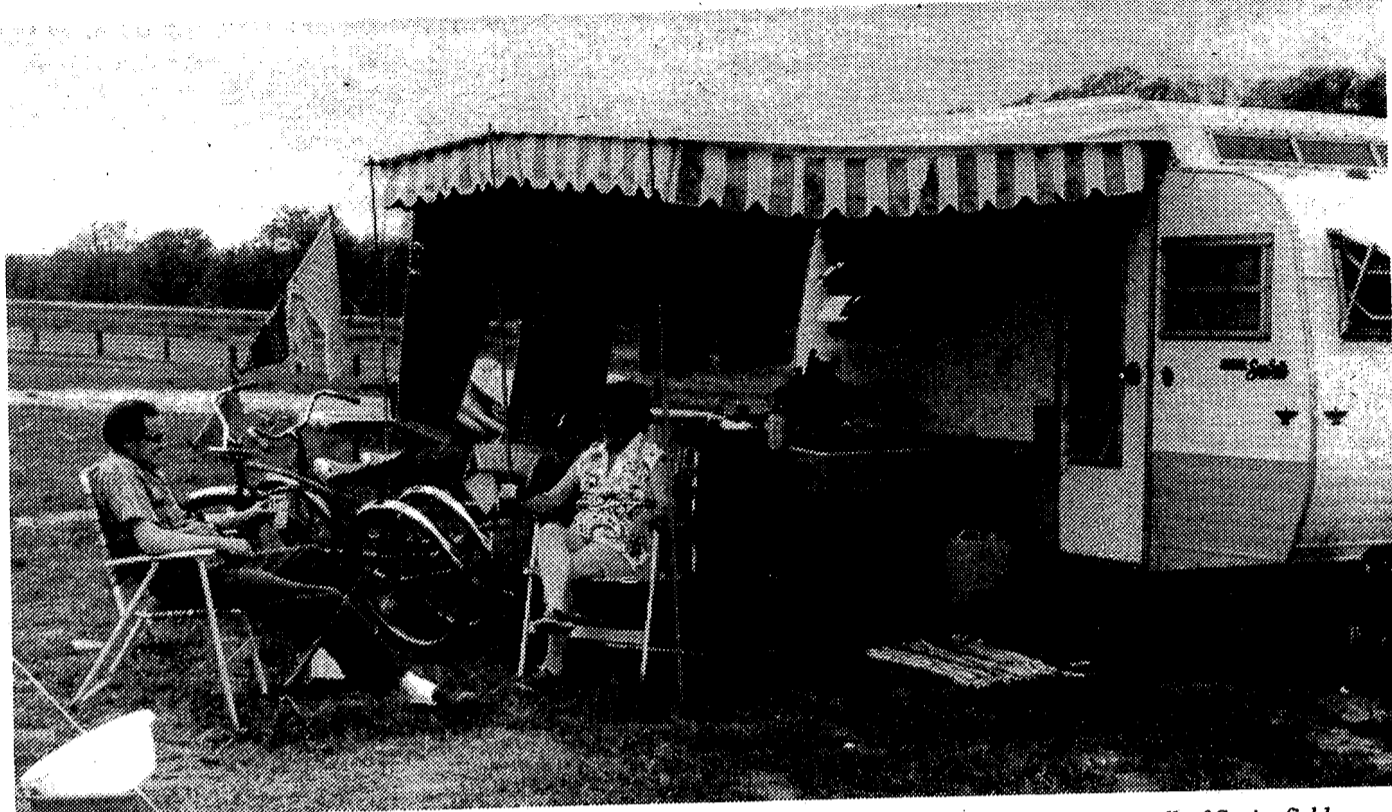

"We were in Ohio when it was eight above," Evelyn recalled. "We were in Oscoda when it snowed so hard we had to stay an extra day."

The weather at Groveland-Oaks had not been great, but neither was complaining.

"It's usually prettier than this," said Lewis. "We usually swim the first day."

They were going to return to their permanent home on Davisburg Road this week, having done "a little fishing, sitting around and bike riding."

In general, the point of staying out at Groveland-Oaks for the Carrolls and other area couples is "just to get away from the house."

Just relaxing outside their travel trailer at Groveland-Oaks County Park are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carroll of Springfield Township. They camped there recently while he commuted to work at Pontiac Motor Division. With their seven children grown, the Carrolls' camping has gotten a little less crowded.

"If we stay around the house, we have to work," commented Lewis, who got up at 3:30 a.m. daily to commute to his job at Pontiac Motor Division.

One of the treats for visitors to the 200-acre park at Dixie Highway and Grange Hall Road is watching the Canadian geese on Stewart Lake.

"We've seen three baby ones so far this year," said Evelyn.

The bicycles that are very much a part of the Carrolls' camping experiences were Mother's and Father's day gifts to them five years ago. Louis was 48 years old before he started cycling.

But the best part of camping, he believes are the campfires the Carrolls build every night it's possible.

With seven married children and 14 grandchildren, the Carrolls seldom are lacking for company.

"Generally we have one or two of them camping with us," Louis said. "When we get two or three families together at cook-outs, we have a pretty good time."

The Carrolls cook as many meals as possible over campfires, with weekend breakfasts being major events.

"We love it," Evelyn said of their enthusiasm for camping. "We went from a tent to a tent trailer to the trailer."

They also have a camper for their pickup truck. Each of the units has its own personality and distinctive touches which make it homey and yet unlike home.

The Carrolls last year added to their camping equipment a small television set to use on rainy days.

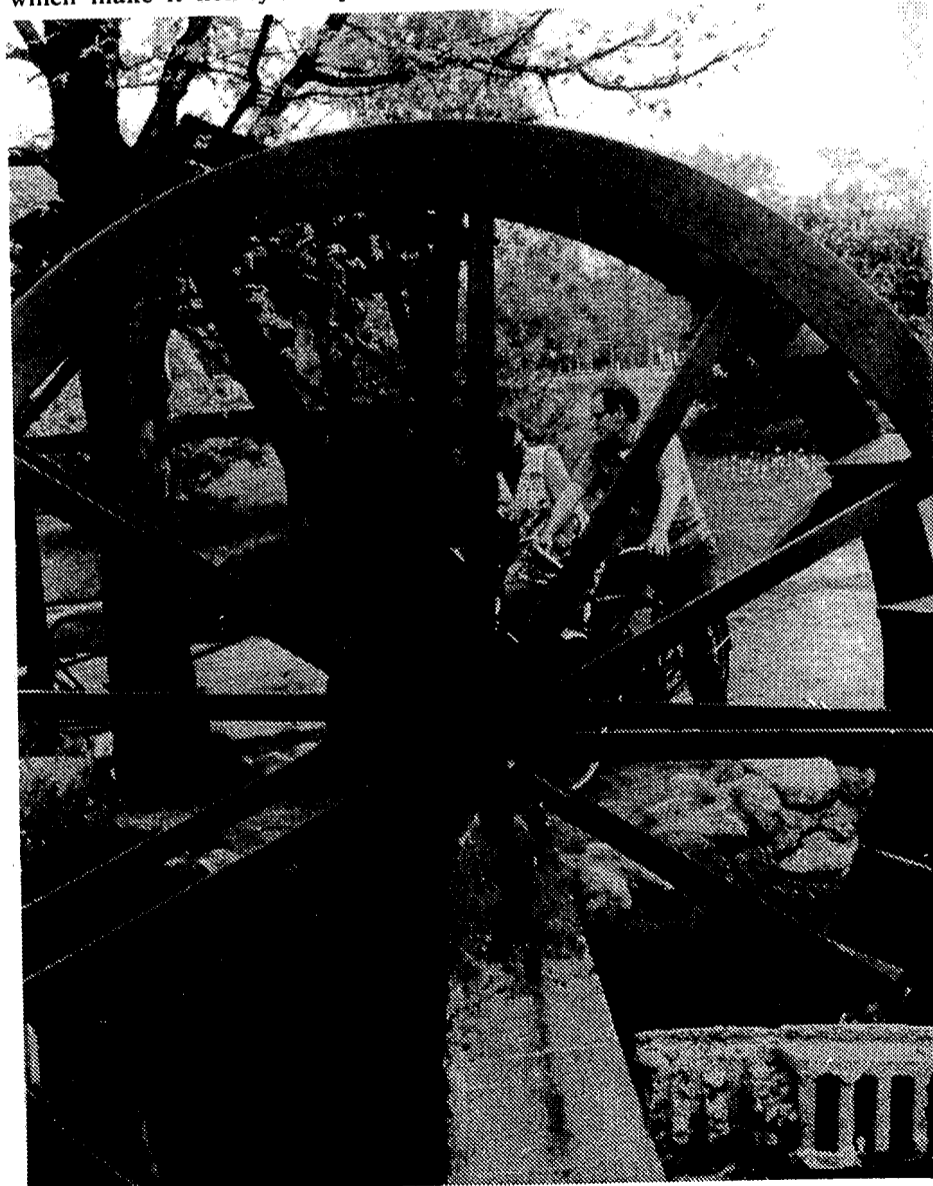

Staying as close to home as Groveland-Oaks, Evelyn runs down to the house to do the laundry. Otherwise, the Carrolls have all the facilities they need at the park.

Of the 600 campsites at Groveland-Oaks, about 240 have electricity. While the Carrolls are occasional visitors, there are families from the area who spend most of the summer camped there, with the working members commuting to their jobs.

Living close to nature, they're successfully combining the best of two worlds.

The Carrolls' daughter-in-law, Ruth Ann Mortz of Highland, helps her sons, Mark, 6, and Donald, 2, feed their pet rabbit on their campsite.

Bicycling through the 200-acre Groveland-Oaks County Park, Lewis and Evelyn Carroll pause beside a scenic waterwheel, next to which they can get spring-fresh drinking water.

Evelyn hangs another towel up to dry in the same breeze that will set her wind chimes a-tinkling in the outdoor portion of their home-away-from-home.

Handling stealing

BY JAMES AND ELLEN WINDELL

Psychological staff members of the Oakland County Juvenile Court and Clinical Resources, Incorporated

Danny, age nine, shoplifted a baseball cap while with friends at a local store. When his mother found out, she was irate and asked him angrily why he would think of doing something like that. He had not stolen before from a store as far as she knew, but she didn't want it to happen again. She wondered how she should handle it.

She felt he should be punished and she thought that grounding him at home for a month might be a lesson he wouldn't soon forget. But, she was not sure if this was being too harsh.

In this kind of situation, a parent has several options. Punishment for this anti-social offense seems called for, but how much punishment and what kind of punishment. Danny's mother decided on a new approach for her.

When her anger had subsided, she told Danny that what he had done was a serious matter and she wondered how he thought it could be handled. Danny thought he should be punished, but he wanted his mother to take the cap back to the store. She refused to return it herself, but agreed to go with him. She did agree with him that the punishment should be based on the value of the stolen article, even though it was being returned.

Together they decided on a list of chores that Danny would complete and they assigned a value to each one. They agreed that the number of chores would be adequate compensation and punishment for the offense.

While talking with Danny, his mother found that he partly blamed her because she worked in the afternoons and evenings. She told him that she could not change that, but they could arrange some time together, at least once a week. A one hour trip to a local drive-in restaurant on Saturday evenings was agreed on.

Although Danny's mother's inclination was to deal with the original stealing incident in a critical and punitive way, she was later happy about using a more rational approach. She helped Danny see the problem as his own problem for which he had to assume some responsibility.

Danny learned that serious problems can be solved by talking and that his mother could deal fairly with him while also responding to his needs.

The causes of stealing are rarely, if ever, due to material deprivation. An irrational, angry approach to the problem of stealing may perpetuate or increase the problem.

A THOUSAND CLOWNS -- Clarkston Village Players

By Phillip Purser

"All right neighbors, let's see some spirit for the Village Players. So let's snap it up!"

The Clarkston Village Players presented a laudable performance of Herb Gardner's A THOUSAND CLOWNS last Friday and Saturday nights, May 31 and June 1, 1974.

With Homer Biondi in the lead role as Murray Burns, a principled former TV writer, the play moved well from the beginning garnering laughs along the way. Murray Burns is a man who abhors phonies and conformity and will only consent to being a tourist when he is forced to visit reality.

This tends to get him into trouble and as the guardian of an abandoned twelve year old nephew, Nick, played by Lewis Sanborne, he is charged with being of questionable influence on the child.

Lewis Sanborne is a talented seventh grade boy who seems as precocious as the character he plays so well. In the role of Nick, he is like a middle aged child who is Murray's best straight man, singing partner, and co-celebrator of Irving R. Feldman's birthday.

The Children's Welfare Board, represented by Rick Wilson and Joyce Moffett as a social caseworker and psychologist team, visit Murray and Nick to check up on the environment provided for Nick.

Mr. Wilson looked and acted quite appropriately like an uptight social worker, while as an emotionally over-involved, just-graduated psychologist, Mrs. Moffett was quite believable.

The third act was considerably enlivened by John Witherup as Chuckles, the Chipmunk, the children's television character who feels that kids really hate him despite his financial success. Mr. Witherup brings to the part the right combination of huckster and despair that makes Chuckles an absurd and comic man.

No matter how many times you have seen Jason Robards or some other actor as Murray Burns, being forced finally out of fondness for Nick to face up to reality, this play is always worth seeing again. The lines which Murray and Nick throw around offer many pithy comments on the absurdity of life in a phony world. In this production, the audience was involved from the outset and appreciated the humor and sarcasm which is plentiful.

The cast, director, and production staff deserve a much larger audience and an improved theatre for their considerable talents.

A Thousand Clowns will be presented again on Friday and Saturday nights, June 7 and 8, at 8:30 p.m. at the Depot Theatre.

Coffee and punch is served free between acts and you can watch the 8:30 p.m. freight train rumble by and still make it to your seat before the curtain rises.

The Art of Home Decor

by Boris B. Bronson

Regardless of how you decorate your home, an essential appliance is a vacuum cleaner. Equip your home with a basic upright or canister cleaner. The upright combines suction with a brushing and/or beating action to clean both surface and deep down dirt from your rugs. The canister is more versatile and can be used for most every kind of household cleaning. It is a compact box, tank, or round unit used with a hose and attachments to clean rugs and carpets, bare floors, tables, walls, blinds, and more. Supplemental cleaners you could own are a lightweight upright cleaner, a portable hand vacuum cleaner, a heavy-duty cleaner or an electric broom. Be sure to ask for a demonstration to see which one does what you want, best.

Then choose complimentary furniture from HOUSE OF MAPLE & PINE, 6605 Dixie Hwy., 625-5200 to complete your decor. We offer an outstanding selection of early American and colonial furniture for every room in your home by Drake-Smith, Tell City, Sprague-Carleton, and Heywood-Wakefield. Ask about our lay-a-way plan. Hours: Daily 9:30-9; Tue. & Sat. til 6.

HELPFUL HINTS:

A short handled mop can be used to dust floors in tight corners. It can save moving heavy furniture.

Jim's Jottings

by Jim Sherman

Hats for men are out. Too bad, Comments about my attire double when I wear a hat. Which means that besides my wife one of the kids are critical of whatever color combinations I choose.

The male today is the peacock. Colorful and smelling. But, like the peacock, the male looks better with a top dressing.

With Memorial Day a light straw with a spring-like band should be donned to highlight the head as white shoes do the feet.

Man should also have a darker straw to give suitable contrast with other duds.

And, no golfer should take to the links without a hat. Whether it be a billed type or brim, turned up or turned down, a man should have a hat for protection from the sun and to give a completeness all golf outfits need.

Man should also have a captain's hat whenever he goes in a boat for other than fishing, when he should have a fishing hat, preferably old and felt.

A snowmobile hat is a necessity as is one for hunting. For winter and fall wear a man should have at least one Tyrolean, a snap brim, a plaid, a stocking hat and a cap.

One should never sit down to a euchre game without an eye shield hat and, of course, man has to have one working hat. Mine's blue denim and very stained.

Too, man should have a hat or two for laughs or to make appearances when something a little unexpected might get the evening off to a light-hearted start. Like a black derby and a stove pipe, top hat.

Now, to the point of this discourse. Man, or woman, has no trouble finding all of these hats except one.

Can you guess which it is? Look them over before going on.

Give up?

The summer straw.

I've been to Rochester, Lake Orion, Drayton Plains, Oxford, Imlay City, two malls and men's stores in larger cities and heard, "No, we don't carry them any more. Had some last year and they didn't sell."

Earlier this year I saw some at Osmuns in Tel-Twelve and I should have made my selection. Time and money stopped me then. I lacked both.

In Sarnia a couple weeks ago the second men's store I visited had a small selection. Actually, one. And, that wasn't exactly my size, but I was going into withdrawals. The middle of May and me without a straw hat!

All is better now.

And, there is hope that hat hunting might be easier in the next couple years. Some clerks told me the stylists say men's hats are coming back.

A cynic would say, "so's the iron horse."

BY THE THIRD EYE

While I was in the cemetery Memorial Day, I was aware of the cemetery filled with soldiers of previous wars, and they looked extremely sad.

I was told they were sad because when they fought and died they believed it was the war to end all wars. They could understand World War II, but they were upset about a coming World War III.

Their uniforms for the next war will be short pants and short sleeves. I was informed my son and my son's son would be involved in the fighting. The old soldiers let it be known that nuclear weapons would not be involved in the coming conflict, because each country will have nuclear weapons by that time. It will be unwritten that such weapons not be used.

Strictly hand-to-hand combat is the forecast.

Because of the uniform, I had the feeling the war would be in the Orient.

I see a van backed up to a building and records and tapes being loaded into it. I think somebody is going to be ripped off, either in this area or it will be perpetrated by people from this area.

There'll be triplets born soon now to a Clarkston area couple.

One of the leading school administrators will be offered a very lucrative job with another school system. He will probably take it unless a counter offer is made here.

I think people who live in the Lake Orion area should beware of an old wooden boat. I see the boat with a lot of children aboard capsizing, and there will be a search for bodies.

The Detroit Wheels are going to do well.

Garden pot pourri

by Dave Coulter

There's a line in one of the songs from "The King and I" that goes, "By Your Pupils, You'll Be Taught". The visitors at the Garden Clinics who talked with me and those who didn't talk with me taught me very much. The most noticeable lesson I learned was that people don't ask questions because it embarrasses them.

For instance, a family came in, bought two full flats of snap dragons. Almost every plant in these two flats was in flower. I casually asked the man with the money if he knew that snap dragons are not self branching as petunias are and that when he transplanted them he should "pinch them back" or remove the flower head or the "rosette" shaped growth tip because if he didn't, each plant would produce about only one flower spike. He replied that he didn't know that and thanked me.

It's true that many annuals no longer need to be "pinched back", but snap dragons do if you want them to flower all summer. The newer dwarf or "Floral Carpet" snaps are beautiful, very colorful, are very dwarf making, a change of pace from Alyssum or Ageratum, for low border plants and they do not need pinching. They should be in full sun. The best tall snap dragons are called "Rockets" and they do not need to be pinched back.

When I report that there is a

Marion seeks senate seat

Richard G. Marion, 270 Carriage Circle, Pontiac, has announced his candidacy for the 17th District Senate seat, now held by Harvey Lodge.

Marion, a Democrat, is currently on leave from his job as computer operator. Married and the father of a daughter, he is originally from Brown City, but has lived in Pontiac since 1972.

At age 23, he has attended Oakland University, having won a Michigan Competitive Scholarship at 1969. A past member of the UAW, he is a member of Teamsters Local 299, Detroit.

common bond between pickler and pansies you'll think, "that guy has flipped his lid," but truly there is one relationship between pansies and pickles -- both should be picked every day. Pansies are blessed with vivid colors, adaptability, and the "faces" on the flowers accuse me of not being all I could be.

However frankly we accept or reject the liberated new sexuality of people we forget that sexual reproduction produces the seed of most common flowers and vegetables. So, it's conclusive that if you pick the flower of a pansy you break its productive cycle and so it goes on producing more flowers to make more seed as long as you prevent the maturation of the seed, and when enough seed is produced the plant rests its flowering.

It wasn't too long ago that petunias were not self branching and needed to be pinched back as snap dragons do, but now most all of the varieties in use are self branching. Also it wasn't long ago that petunias needed picking as pansies do, but even now it's a good idea to pick from the petunia plants any and all of the mature or dried up flowers as this practice will enhance more free flowering.

Some people will disagree with what follows, but if you want to grow prize-taking zinnias they should be direct seeded rather than grown from transplants. Plants from direct seeded zinnias will be taller, stronger and produce larger flowers, that may be more successfully picked without damaging the plant from transplants. Also it's ill advised to plant zinnias near a stone or cement wall or walk. Zinnias are not very resistant to mildews and the stone or cement tends to hold the humidity at a high level and the mildews thrive in the humid areas.

Clarkston's current weather is conducive to two conditions that may cause you concern. Both of these condition are called "Damp Off". The most common damp off causes the seedlings to wilt and then flop over and die. If you examine the stem of the plant and it appears as if a beaver had gnawed at a tree, and the stem becomes so thin it can't stand alone. Chances are it's "Damp Off". An application of a good fungicide may save the rest of your plantings.

If some of your plantings seem slow in emerging, use a knife and carefully dip up a row in question. If after digging you find some seed that you have broken the seed coat and the tiny plant has emerged from the seed, but that the plant is black or gooey this may be the second form of damp off. This form of damp off is hard to eliminate and it's best to replant.

In my area, birds are robbing the gardens of both seed and just emerged plants. I advise you use some kind of scare crow. Try some aluminum pie pans hanging and banging in the breeze.

Graduates' future

by Bill Condon

In case you were not aware of it, about 500 Clarkston High School seniors will graduate this Saturday, June 8. The commencement will be held at the Pine Knob Music Theater at 11 a.m.

Now, it is the usual practice for me to congratulate the seniors, and wish them good luck, but I wanted to do something more than that. I decided to find out what the future had in store for them, so I would know for sure if I really need to wish them good luck.

In order to find out what the future will be like, I contacted the noted astrologer, psychic, and stock broker, Madame Volga. The following are her predictions for this year's graduates.

Members of the class should stand up for their convictions; if they don't, they may get 20 years.

A member of the class will be chosen to be on the first space mission to Mars. Unfortunately, the three-man mission will never take place because of disagreement over who gets to sit by the window.

A graduate will go into recording;

either as a famous singer, or as President.

A group of students will get together and make lots of money, unfortunately, they will not be able to pass it.

A member of the class will develop a cure for the common cold, and it will be nothing to sneeze at.

A student will invent a universal solvent, only to find he has nothing to keep it in.

Another student will create a way to make gold out of lead. The only problem will be that each ounce of gold produced will cost $5,293.

A student will become one of the world's greatest actors, and will appear on Big-Time Wrestling.

One of the graduates will become the United States Ambassador to Cleveland.

A student will spend 8 years in a famous engineering school so that he can run a train.

After looking at the above list that was sent to me from Madame Volga, I would like to wish the graduating students good luck.

Bullard-McDede wedding

Mrs. Leonard Bullard Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Bullard Jr. are residing in Toledo, Ohio, following a wedding trip to Jamaica.

They were wed May 19 at St. Mary of Mount Virgin Church, New Brunswick, N.J.

The bride, the former Patricia Ann McDede, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mc Dede of Edison. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Bullard Sr. of 6388 Snow Apple.

White roses and stephanotis complemented the bride's long white chiffon and satin gown, trimmed with pearls. Her maid of honor, Beverly Pekitis of Denver, Colo., wore yellow dotted Swiss styled with an empire waist and a picture hat.

Wearing blue were bridesmaids, Donna Rapisarda of Edison, N.J., Mrs. William Kowalski of Clarkston, Mrs. Mark Hayes of Somerset, N.J. and Denise Cost of FINDERNE, N.J.

Jean Marie Cost was flower girl and Matthew Kowalski ring bearer.

Orison James Bullard was his brother's best man. Guests were seated by Daniel Bullard, William Bullard, Michael McDede and James Sherman.

A reception at Forsgate Country Club Jamesburg, N.J., entertained 150 friends and relatives.

Engaged

Jack Sansom of Pontiac, Jill Sansom Agar of Oxford and Joy Sansom of Clarkston proudly announce the engagement of their mother, Mrs. Dorothy S. Sansom of 6461 Paramus to Robert Allen of National City, Mich. Mr. Allen is with the U.S. government and Mrs. Sansom is a nurse at Oakland County Hospital.

Mrs. Prucher heads garden club

Mrs. Brian Prucher has been elected president for a 2-year term of the Clarkston Garden Club. She will be assisted by Mrs. James Schultz, vice president; Mrs. Jack DeLorg, secretary; Mrs. Donald Balzarini, corresponding secretary; and Jerrold Wagman, treasurer.

Piano-organ recital

The annual piano and organ recital for the students of Mrs. John M. Cook of Seymour Lake Road will be June 8, at the Seymour Lake United Methodist Church.

Fifty-six pupils will participate in solos, duets, and piano-organ arrangements. The recital will be held in two parts. Elementary students will play in the recital beginning at 2 p.m. Advanced and adult students will perform at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

A busy man

by Pat Ripley 625-2215

Looking forward to a career as a professional potter, Chris Anthony is planning to attend the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit now that he has graduated from the Leelanau School in Glen Arbor.

Chris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Anthony, 55 Buffalo Street, was a member of the soccer, track and skiing teams at the college preparatory school.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Baynes of 6140 Havelock were entertained at an open house Tuesday in honor of their 55th wedding anniversary by their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Anderson, 6198 Cramlane. The Baynes' other children, Mrs. Ed Gunter of Clarkston and Stewart of Mason, Ohio, were also present to offer congratulations. The Baynes have ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mike Humphreys, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Humphreys of Laurelton, is a drummer with the Grand Memorial Band.

The band is a professional group, with engagements throughout northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

The members of the band are past and present northern Michigan college students.

Mike is also working in the day time for the Marguette recreation department. It sounds like he has set quite a pace for himself. Good Luck in all your endeavors.

The Chatham Dance Club had its summer dance June 1 at Paint Creek Country Club in Lake Orion. It was an enjoyable evening for those in attendance.

Mr. Robert Newlin of Princess was chairman of Pontiac Central's 25th class reunion, held June 1 at White Lake Oaks. He was also master of ceremonies. His wife, Pat was secretary of the event.

It took a lot of work but it was worth it as there were 220 in attendance.

The decorations for the dinner dance were black and orange except around the dance floor where the silver anniversary theme was carried out. A beautiful ice swan adorned the buffet table.

There were several honors given during the program.

Identification was made easier by each classmate wearing a name tag with his class picture on it. I'll bet there were a few surprises!

Randy Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carpenter of Pine Knob was recently accepted to the University of Michigan Medical School for next fall's class, after three years instead of the usual four. His undergraduate major was microbiology. Congratulations and best wishes for the years ahead.

Our apologies to Vicki Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnston of Snowapple, who recently graduated from St. Joseph School of Nursing, not the school of nursery.

A Gallen family reunion was held June 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Galligan of Amy Drive.

About 50 people were present to wish Thomas Gallen well. Thomas is on leave from Camp Pendleton in California and will be returning soon for jump school.

They had a beautiful day for the reunion. It was a good time to catch up on all business - ha, ha!

The fireman's auxiliary held its annual potluck dinner honoring fireman, on June 1 at Waterford Firemen Clubhouse. A good time was had by all.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coulter of Transparent are Barb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall of Zephyrhills, Florida.

They were here for granddaughter Sandy's 4th Birthday on May 27 and will also be here for grandson Terry's graduation. An added pleasure is Barb's brother, David Lewis from California, will also be here for Terry's graduation.

Boy Scout troop #126 enjoyed this past weekend canoeing on the Au Sable. Everyone had a wonderful time, even if they did get a little sunburned.

Former resident Dennis Galligan now of Brandon, Mississippi will be visiting his mother Mrs. Betty Galligan of Cherrylawn. The occasion being his brother, Norman's graduation.

Dennis will also be visiting brother Dave of Amy Drive and sister Mrs. Beverly Sherman of Ortonville. They plan to have a real big get-together. Have fun!

Mark John Christie son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christie of Laurelton graduated this past weekend from Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Mark received his Bachelor of Science in Architecture. He will go one more year to get his Bachelor of Architecture degree. Congratulations and good luck.

Clarkston Area Jaycees and Jaycettes gathered for their annual awards and installation dinner recently at Springfield Oaks. Jan Robinson, Jaycette 74-75 president, was named Outstanding Jaycette of the year. Second highest award was presented to Janeen Galligan as Outstanding New Jaycette, and Jan Lopucki won the Key Woman Award.

A group of MSU students enjoyed the James Gang Concert Sunday with a barbecue. Among them were Kyle Anderson, John Bourque, Kathy Hetu, Jan Reirson, Paul Davison, Lee Haight and Susie Francis. Also included in the party were Steve Gaylor of the University of Michigan, Dave Burland of Olivet and Daryl Forker from Ferris State.

STREAKER CAUGHT!

On May 26, 1974 at 10:53 a.m. Michael David was caught streaking in the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac. Witnesses to such an act, were the Doctors, Nurses, and the parents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Young of Holly. Michael weighed 8 pounds and 6 ounces (without clothes) and was 21 inches (without tennis shoes).

Grandparents: Mrs. Max Prosser of Clarkston, Mrs. Alice M. Young of Holly.

Great-Grandparent: Mrs. Bessie Bush of Holly.

Michael joined Laurie Ann, 6, and Tracie Lynn, 3, at home.

Donald Bump and his mother, Gladys, of Console Street attended the spring rally of Wally Byam Caravanners in Maumee, Ohio, last weekend and had a wonderful time. There were 810 trailers present. Mrs. Bump won a ribbon and the Goofy Gopher trophy for the bread baking contest.

D. Michael Erkfriz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Erkfriz of South Eston, was graduated Sunday from Oakland University with departmental honors. He was awarded a bachelor of science degree in business management.

Mrs. Nelson Kimball, 72 North Main, is hoping people will bring her pine cones as they fall from the trees this year. The patients at Clinton Valley Center use the cones to fashion Christmas decoration items which they sell. They need the raw materials to get started, she says.

Two Clarkston-area students, Robert R. Chapman and Nanette A. Giles, will be awarded bachelor of arts degrees Sunday in commencement ceremonies at Michigan State University. Robert has majored in hotel and restaurant management and Nanette in audiology and speech science.

'Cool in the Furnace' musical at Calvary

Wed recently in a double ring candle light ceremony at Davisburg First Baptist Church were Nancy Irene Geoit and Bruce Lee Sommers.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Geoit, chose a white satin gown with chantilly lace overlay and a train of lace. She carried white carnations and lily of the valley shaped in a cross.

Martha Kaye Geoit, maid of honor, wore a gown featuring a pink satin and chiffon skirt with cranberry velvet bodice trimmed with flowers. Pink netting held with a cranberry bow formed her headpiece.

Similarly attired were bridesmaids Donna Marie Geoit in green and Lynn Sommers in blue. Sarah Jane Geoit was flower girl, and Douglas Russell Geoit ringbearer.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sommers, was attended by Kenneth Wheatley, Dean Molnar and William White seated guests.

Following a buffet dinner at the Oakland County Sportsmens Club, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Niagara falls.

'Cool in the Furnace' is a delightful children's musical and will be presented at Calvary Lutheran Church, this Sunday, June 9, at 6:30 p.m. by the Children's Choir of Hope Lutheran Church, Detroit.

The musical is based on the experiences of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego and their encounter with King Nebuchadnezzar and his fiery furnace, from the Old Testament book of Daniel.

The choir is made up of 10 boys and 12 girls and is directed by James Harris. Harris, the band director at Cody High School in Detroit, also directs the Hope Community Youth Choir which has toured in Michigan.

This concert is sponsored by Calvary's Crusader Choir, made up of boys and girls in the third through sixth grades, directed by Sharon Scott and accompanied by Bea Wood.

Tickets are available at the door. The donation is $1 for adults with children accompanied by their parents free. Calvary is at 6805 Bluegrass.

Spiritual Message

"WAIT FOR THE TIDE"

There are two things which fascinate me—the mountains and the ocean. Everytime I see the ocean it fills me with awe. I can't grasp how big it is, but I am aware that it is the biggest thing on earth.

Standing by the sea, I feel small and helpless. Then I remember the words: "In his hands are the depths of the earth; the heights of the mountains are his also. The sea is his, for he made it . . ." This means there is One who is bigger, even, than the ocean. There is God who created it and the laws which control it.

Thinking about this strengthens my faith. I think of the song which says: "He's got the whole world in his hands." I really believe that nothing can happen in our lives or nothing can happen in our lives or in our world that can separate us from God.

Many times I have stood on the shore and watched the tide go out. But if I wait long enough, it will all come back. The law of the tides not only applies to the ocean but also to our lives. The old spiritual says: "Sometimes I'm up, sometimes I'm down." Sometimes I'm happy, sometimes I'm sad. Sometimes I'm encouraged, sometimes I'm discouraged. Sometimes I'm optimistic, sometimes I'm pessimistic. We can bear up under our sadness, discouragement, and feeling that there is not much hope when we realize that sooner or later the tide will change.

So, when life seems too heavy to bear, remember to wait for the tide to change.

In Christian bonds,
Frank A. Cozadd

How old is that house?

by Connie Lektzian

In 1824 - 150 years ago - there were no houses in the village of Clarkston. In fact, it wasn't a village. And there weren't any houses in the rest of Independence Township. Abstracts show who bought what land and when. Specifics are usually missing about when a house was erected on that piece of land. It often takes a lot of digging and detective work for the new owner of an old house to fill in the missing gaps.

Alpheus Williams, an early settler in Waterford Township, made the first land purchase in Independence in 1823. He apparently bought for speculation because he never settled here. Three years passed before the next entry was made in 1826 when John W. Beardslee bought on the Sashabaw Plains.

John Beardslee didn't move onto his land for five years - in 1831. His was the first purchase settled by the original owner. Many tracts were sold and re-sold before a settler actually came onto it. In October of that year, John and his family along with the Thomas Beardslee family and Marcus Riker were sheltered in a small shanty on John's land. Since it is a matter of record that his later home was built near the site of this original dwelling the shanty must have been torn down and not incorporated into a house.

However, in the early winter of 1831, Thomas Beardslee hired laborers from Drayton Plains to help him build an 18 foot square log house. At that time, it was "considered the best building in the township and was the first one really entitled to be called a house". This is a matter of record in the Oakland County History 1817-1877, a volume which gathered its knowledge largely from pioneers themselves.

Sometimes when these log houses were so well built, they were later incorporated into bigger dwellings. The cabin would become one room of a larger house, lath-and-plastered over. No mention has been found to date that says this cabin of Tom's was burned down or replaced.

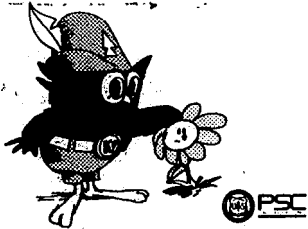

If there is anyone with an old house in the northern part of section 26 and their abstract has Tom's name somewhere on it, they might want to tap a few walls. At least a part of such a house and this is only a slim possibility would be 143 years old.

In 1830, Linus Jaycox' cedar pole shanty was the first house in the bounds of Clarkston. It wasn't built to last and it didn't. It was in section 20. He was a squatter at that time so his name won't appear on an abstract in that area. The second house was Butler Holcomb's who that same year, 1832, also built the first saw mill. All things considered, his house was probably a well built frame dwelling. Could it still be standing?

Proving such a claim isn't made easier by the fact that his entry was for 640 acres, all of which has been cut into many little plots -- and which little plot had the house? It would have been section 20, however.

In 1832, William and John Axford put up the first store in Clarkston village. It was only a shanty built in a spot hastily cleared of brush and trees. Soon after, they built a frame house to be used as a store-room. As recently as 1877, that frame building was being used as a dwelling. Unless it was in that stretch along Main Street's eastside (between Washington and Church) that was gutted by fire in the 1880's, Axford's old warehouse might be someone's family home.

There are many possibilities for tracking down information on the age of an old home. But the abstract is only the starting point. Researching the names that appear on the abstract, then ferreting out facts about the individuals can often pinpoint dates with more accuracy.

The old Davis house in its heyday.

Davis home work bee is Saturday

Springfield Township Historical Society has planned a work bee Saturday, June 8, at the Davis house on Andersonville Road, Davisburg.

Volunteers are asked to bring paint brushes, coffee cans, paints and cleaning rags, rubber gloves, gardening tools and a sack lunch to paint, clean and rake the yard at the former Springfield-Oaks Golf Course Clubhouse.

The home, the former James Harvey Davis property, and the Fred A. Schultz Harness Shop have been acquired by the society in the past year.

Work on the Davis home the past year has so far resulted in a new wood shingle roof, a revamped porch returning it to its original size, the handcrafting of more than 80 pieces of original gingerbread trim by Charley Hillman, the removal of lowered ceilings and old floor tile.

Hillman also built a window to replace the more modern picture window which had been installed in the west wall of the parlor. Asbestos siding was removed revealing original wood siding in good condition.

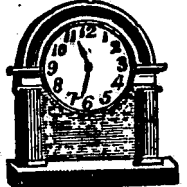

Society president Ralph O'Reilly has trimmed out fed existing trees and shrubs, and a sign identifying the house has been installed.

Marjorie David Haymond has located large pieces of furniture, a picture of James Harvey Davis, an original quilt and some of the original carpeting used in the home. She's also received promises of additional furniture from Canada and Nebraska.

The home, marked for removal or demolition by the county following construction of the new golf clubhouse, belonged to the Davis family, descendants of Cornelius Davis, first settler in Davisburg. Helen Hillman Parker started the train of events which led to the society's founding and acquisition of the home.

French horns are just a couple of the 64 instruments which will perform in tandem with the high school's 106-voice combined select choirs.

Members of the brass section of CHS's band are among the instrumental musicians blending their talent with the voices of classmates for the combined presentation at the commencement.
