Boy, 13, saves cousin

Johnny King knows his cousin Mark is something special.

by JEAN SAILE

Mark Hubbard doesn't look like a hero. He looks like a 4'9" freckle-faced 13-year-old who probably enjoys summer vacation as much as anyone.

Yet Mark on June 19 is credited with saving the life of his three-year-old cousin, Johnny King, who was drowning in Mandon Lake between Round Lake and Cedar Island Lake.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hubbard, 6966 Tappan, he and his younger brother, Bryan, 9, spotted Johnny floating face down in water about 15 feet from shore. There were no adults around so Mark, who isn't even sure he can swim, plunged in, swam to the youngster and lifted him out of the water.

He found on the way back he could walk through the shoulder deep water, holding Johnny well above the surface of the lake. The adults took over from there, and all Johnny needed was a quick trip to the doctor to make him all right again.

Asked if Johnny were his favorite cousin, Mark grinned and said, "Now he is!"

Johnny had escaped the house because of a faulty latch on the rear door, Mrs. Hubbard said. She explained, "We were all there helping my sister move, and unloading the truck, when we noticed Johnny was missing. We were looking for him in the house when the boys called."

Art auction to feature varied work

A July 4 Art Auction sponsored by the Clarkston Area Arts Council will feature the works of local artists. Included among the items for sale will be paintings by Ralph Brackett, weavings by Nancy Prucher, and photography by George Phillips.

The auction, to be held at 11 a.m. on Main Street on July 4, will feature an array of works involving various techniques, according to its chairman, Joan Kopietz.

In addition to paintings, glassware, and weavings, she explained, there will also be flower arrangements, original pottery, and jewelry.

Donations of art work for the auction, to raise money for Arts Council community projects, will be accepted up to the day before the auction.

Mrs. Kopietz can be reached by Tiara Arts on Washington Street in Clarkston or at 625-2511.

You're needed in Clarkston film

Bill Sandy Co. plans continue to progress for the filming of Clarkston in an auto-sponsored national movie, according to Steve Israel of the film production crew.

A crowd scene -- for which 400 area residents (adults and children) are needed -- will be shot from 10 a.m. to noon July 6 at Clarkston High School Football field, Israel said.

The company is awarding $200 to the Area Bicentennial Committee for the use of the town and its "Portrait of a City." The 35-minute feature is expected to serve as a reminder of Clarkston during the country's 200th birthday celebration.

Springfield-Oaks concert offers tribute to Sousa

"The Detroit Concert Band plays the music of John Philip Sousa better than any other musical organization in the world," according to the British Broadcasting Corporation.

That band will be performing some of Sousa's works at 8 p.m. the evening of July 4 at Springfield-Oaks Park in Davisburg.

Cost is $3 per carload to hear Dr. Leonard B. Smith conduct the orchestra and Imogene Bird, soprano, sing "If Ever I Would Leave You" from "Camelot" by Frederick Loewe.

The program is as follows:

- "America The Beautiful" - Samuel Augustus Ward
- Overture "Orpheus in the Underworld" - Jacques Offenbach
- "Fascinating Rhythm" - George Gershwin

July 4th parade a big one

Plans are shaping up for the area's big Fourth of July parade at 10 a.m. Thursday in Clarkston. The theme is "What is Freedom?"

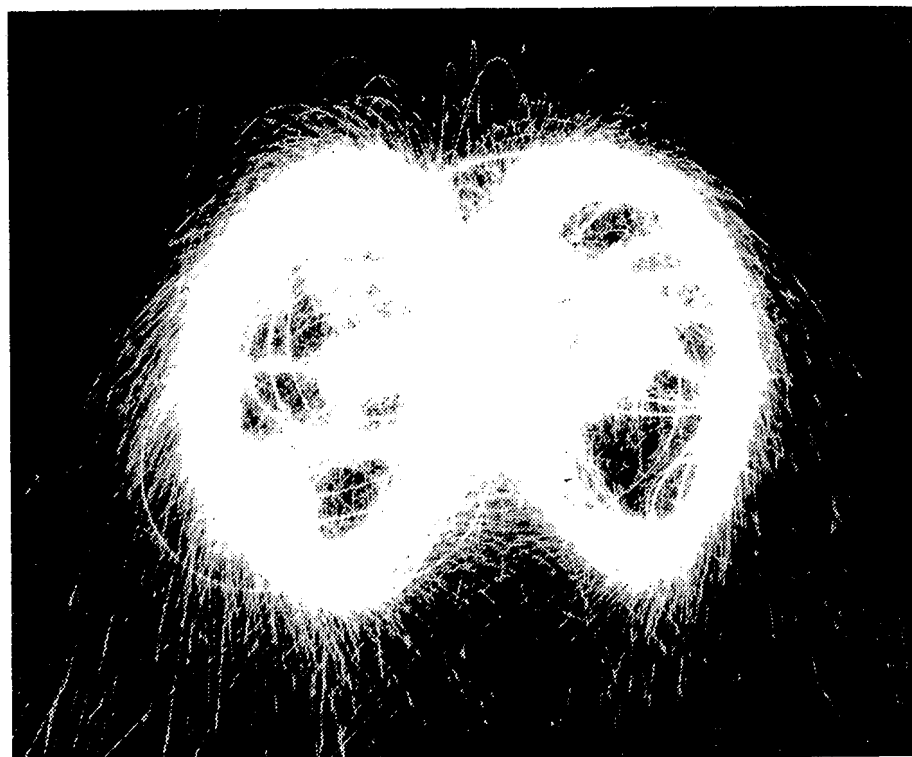

Some 50 floats, marching units, bikes, horses and old cars are expected to participate in the hour long progression down Church from the Clarkston Junior High School to Main Street and along Main to Orion Road and Miller Street, according to William Halsey, parade chairman for the Independence Firefighters Association.

Entries are expected to meet beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the junior high, Halsey said. He stressed that due to safety factors, the throwing of candy from floats would be prohibited this year.

Bikes are booty

Bikes are extremely vulnerable to thieves, and bike owners should keep reminding themselves of this when they leave the two-wheelers unattended.

Last Wednesday, two boys reported their bicycles stolen from downtown Clarkston. During the previous Monday night, a bicycle was taken from an unlocked garage on Waterford Hill.

Rob Kloustin, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kloustin, 7104 Holcomb, captured this picture of sparklers in a time exposure on his Pentax camera. He's been taking pictures about six months, he says. The print is just in time to get us in the mood for Fourth of July.

Truck for sale

Laurie Miller, co-op student who started working Monday for the Independence Township Fire Department, gives the department a hand by putting a "For Sale" sign on the 20-year-old truck Chief Frank Ronk has been authorized to sell. Planning to get at least $3,000 for the truck, Ronk also is investigating the proposed purchase of a new pumper truck for $34,000 to $36,000.

Indusco pays some

Oakland County has received an undiscolored but "substantial" payment on Pine Knob's $34,000 debt to the county sheriff's department for traffic control at the music theater last year.

The amount paid to the county by Indusco Corp. represents "a good, substantial payment and a good-faith effort to resolve this as soon as possible," according to Assistant County Civil Counsel Jack Hays.

Thus, the county agreed to continue providing deputies for traffic and crowd control at the theater for another week, with the exception that the remainder of the sum owed would be paid Friday, June 28.

"We're trying to work this out amiably," Hays said.

New fire pumper sought

In an effort to circumvent a long waiting period and to purchase before new price increases go into effect, the Independence Township board has empowered Fire Chief Frank Ronk vary big procedure in the purchase of a new 1000 gallon pumper truck.

Ronk said he would attempt to pare costs by getting a standard production model, hopefully from Pierce Manufacturing Co. of Appleton, Wis., which would be able to provide delivery in eight months.

Ronk figures the price will be somewhere between $34,000 and $36,000.

Standard procedure would have caused a wait of one and a half years, Ronk said.

A 1954 pumper with half the capacity and force of the new truck sought will be sold to make room in the department. The old truck, stationed at the Maybee Road fire station, should bring at least $3,000, Ronk said.

Ronk said he has been asked to report back to the township board once the prices are received on the new model, and the bids taken for sale of the old one.

Break-ins reported

Two daylight break-ins through glass doors netted burglars some hefty hauls in Independence Township last week.

A Rattalee Lake Road home was entered during the afternoon of June 17, and locked bedroom doors were kicked in, giving burglars access to four pieces of jewelry with a total value of $2,000, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies. They said nothing else was reported taken from the house.

The French door of an Oak Park Road home was pried open during the morning of June 18. The estimated $1,935 worth of items taken included a television set, tools, tool box, vacuum cleaner, sound equipment, jewelry and cash, deputies said.

There are five kinds of lighting which affect the coloring of your make-up in different ways. The first is natural outdoor light, which calls for understated make-up. You can't hide anything from pure sunlight. Natural indoor lighting is much less bright, but calls for heightened make-up. Artificial incandescent light, fades out yellow reds, and gives a better effect to reds tinged with blue. The fluorescent light gives a cold blue-white light that is unflattering, and calls for restrained day-time make-up. Of course candlelight is the most becoming of all, and demands a softened and heightened effect.

Handmade flag to fly

The Great Star Flag which will fly at the Independence Township Hall on July 4 is admired by Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark, who praised the handiwork of Mrs. Harold W. Austrow. Approved by President Monroe is 1818, the flag was the first to limit the number of stripes to 13 and allow for a varying number of stars as the United States grew. Mrs. Austrow has been campaigning for a stamp to commemorate the flag.

Council disputes vacated street

A dispute involving a vacated alley on the corner of Buffalo Street and Washington in Clarkston, fronting Parke Lake, split the Clarkston Village Council last night.

Village trustee Ruth Basinger maintains the lot is still owned by the village, and should be retained as a public access to Parke Lake.

The lot was vacated by a former council, and ownership reverted to the property owner next to the lot. The present owner is village clerk Bruce Rogers.

Basinger said the village should fight to retain possession of the strip because many residents enjoy the lakefront usage, despite a law which states that once a lot is relinquished, the village cannot reclaim it.

Basinger said the vacation required a court order, which the former village council did not obtain.

She succeeded in convincing two other trustees - James Schultz and Neil Granlund, that the council should have the village lawyer "do everything possible to reaffirm village ownership" of the property, and a resolution to that effect was passed.

Dissenting in the vote were trustees Michael Thayer and James Weber. Thayer said he felt the village was getting rid of the problem of maintenance of the property and liability of accidents on the property.

Village President Keith Hallman echoed Thayer, saying that Deer Lake and Middle Lake provided enough lakefront facilities.

Schultz countered by contending that "this place is booming, and anybody with foresight will see that someday we're going to need a space for recreation."

The council also decided to consult village building inspector Kenneth Delbridge as to whether the old Methodist church is structurally sound. Trustee Basinger said she hoped the village would purchase the church as a site for the village offices, a counter plan to the one offering the Hawk Tool site for use of offices. Basinger said she hopes to present more information on the site at the next council meeting.

Teacher negotiations slow and fruitless

Negotiations between Clarkston Schools and the Clarkston Education Association seem destined for a late settlement -- both parties accusing the other of delay tactics.

The CEA's hotline -- a telephone service for teachers reached by calling 625-3934 -- talks about a "long, hot summer" and the disappointment of the CEA team which hoped for a settlement by the time school was out.

The fifth meeting between the teacher organization and board negotiators was to be this week, the board presenting its counter proposal to the latest teacher offer.

Board of Education negotiator George Barrie contends, "We'd like to settle next week if we could, but the teachers seem to be committed to settling late."

"There seems to be no pressure from their side to get an early settlement, and we can't pressure them," he reported.

Meanwhile the two groups have been unable to settle even on a school calendar, and as Barrie says, "We are not involved yet in the salary issue too deeply."

Other issues yet to be resolved include fringe benefits and teaching conditions, of which class size will be a big factor.

Barrie reports, that teacher accountability is not expected to play much part in negotiations. "Accountability has not been brought up and I don't believe it will be," he said. "I don't think accountability is something that can be defined in a contract."

Accountability has made the headline in other districts as boards strive to get a written prescription for teacher performance.

Both groups seem committed to a one-year contract, Barrie pointing out that the state is enacting legislation making it mandatory that school districts pay the five percent of the teachers' contractual salary for retirement. Having already passed the House, the legislation is now in Senate committee -- reading now that the change be accomplished in 1977. Teachers presently pay the retirement fee out of their own pockets, Barrie said.

Center gets $601; more due

Clarkston Area Jaycees report $601 collected from the Walk for Independence Center which took place last month. The club notes that the sum does not include that due from Sashabaw Elementary School. Walkers are asked to turn over their outstanding donations at independence center.

While the pending legislation would have no effect on this year's contract, Barrie feels it would alter conditions in future years, hence the probability that a one-year only contract will be negotiated.

Humbert runs amuck of code

Keith Humbert, an Independence Township trustee, has committed an error "common among homeowners who aren't up on the code requirements" for building permits, according to Kenneth Delbridge, head of the township's building department.

So, Delbridge has issued a violation notice to Humbert, one of his five bosses.

The potential violation came to Delbridge's attention when a fire caused about $50 damage to the insulation in the attic of the Humbert home at 6440 Snowapple. The fire reportedly was started by a gas torch Humbert was using on a plumbing project.

Sent by certified mail to Humbert Wednesday, the violation notice is for the installation of a water softener without the necessary permit.

Included with it is a request that Delbridge be allowed to inspect Humbert's remodeling project.

"The violation is that he started the work without a permit," Delbridge said. "Minor repairs don't require permits. They are required if the homeowner is making electrical, plumbing or structural changes."

Delbridge said that while professional builders expected to be familiar with the local ordinance, homeowners frequently are not because "it's a half-inch thick."

He noted the permit fee is doubled if it is acquired after the work has been started.

MacArthur named to planning group

The Clarkston Village Council Monday night approved the appointment of James MacArthur, 61 N. Main, to the village planning commission.

MacArthur will replace former commissioner Fred Davidson, who recently resigned. MacArthur will serve the two years left of Davidson's term.

MacArthur is a vocational coordinator at Clarkston High School, where he helps direct the high school co-op program and teaches co-op related courses.

He has a bachelor's and master's degree in business administration from Central Michigan University.

MacArthur is 30 years old, and has a wife, Patricia, who also teaches at the high school.

Village president Keith Hallman said MacArthur will be an asset to the commission.

Coed gym old hat here!

Co-educational physical education classes, mandated last week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, are old hat in Clarkston.

Similar classes were conducted here for seven years and phased out just last year, due to difficulties encountered in their administration, according to Clarkston High School Principal William Dennis.

While no rescheduling is planned for the fall term, Dennis anticipates that the change back will be accomplished in steps during later marking periods throughout the coming year and put once again into full use by next year. The HEW ruling is to be interpreted only as guidelines for the coming year, Dennis pointed out.

There are coed health classes scheduled for fall, Dennis noted, in line with HEW's ruling on sex education.

Phys ed in Clarkston was broken once into various sports offerings, such as archery, golf and tennis. Both boys and girls signed up for them, and they were discontinued when phys ed teachers felt some of the girls might be showing signs of intimidation when participating with the boys, Dennis relates.

Some of the fellows got pretty rough, Dennis recalls. There was also the problem of a teacher of one sex not being able to supervise the locker room devoted to members of the other sex, he remembers.

Problems also arose when weather prohibited participation in the agreed upon sport, and students, Dennis remembers, chose not to take any exercise as an alternative.

That's when the district went back to general physical education courses, incorporating individual sports in the overall program.

Now, Dennis feels, the district is headed back to a combination of the two -- some general programs and some specialty programs.

There is still a coed set-up in the gym, Dennis reports. Boys and girls participate together all the time, but in separate classes, he said.

"Fast Eddie" Roberts, driver of "Buck", the 1955 Buick pictured here, is getting set for a rough ride Friday night at the Demolition Derby which took place at the Waterford C.A.I. Fairgrounds during the Oakland County Fair last week-end. Buck is Haupt Pontiac's entry in the derby.

Kath and Saul subjects of DeMolay honors

Cedar Chapter Order, of DeMolay will honor two outstanding workers during special festivities beginning at 6 p.m. July 17 at Clarkston Masonic Temple.

The chapter will confer the Degree of Chevalier on Doug Kath, who has earned many other honors and titles in working with the Order, and in his own words, "Getting this Chevalier Degree is like getting an 'Oscar' at the Academy Awards."

The degree is a citation for outstanding DeMolay activity and labor and is the second highest honor a DeMolay can receive. It is conferred by several other Chevaliers from over the state.

Joseph Saul of Drayton Plains, a past dad advisor, will be invested with the Honorary Legion of Honor Award, which the Supreme Council confers upon a Mason and who has performed unusual and meritorious service in behalf of DeMolay.

Members say their showcase full of trophies in the temple lobby are due in large part to Saul's untiring efforts in encouraging the boys to participate in activities and then making sure they had transportation to take them to the various functions.

Many district and state DeMolay advisors and officers are expected to be present to confer the honor.

The group also plans to confer the Majority Degree on all those members who have attained the age of 21. Chapter officers will perform the rites at 6 p.m., and a potluck dinner will be served at 6:30 by the Mother's Club of the chapter. The honors ceremony will follow at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Time for a showdown.

That's what we reckon.

Seems we're up to our holsters in brand new automobiles. Beautiful new 1974 Chevies. Impalas, Chevelles, Caprices...you name your favorite brand, we got 'em.

And the nice thing is, we got 'em at sensationally reduced low prices. The kind of top-grade stock you'd never expect could cost you so little after you figure in the trades we've got in mind for that Old Paint of yours.

Oh, one other thing. We've got even more special deals going on our '74 Novas, too. Been telling folks around Oakland County about these tough little critters...how they give you plenty of riding room and how nice they behave when feedin' time comes around.

So maybe it's time you and us talk a spell. A nice friendly sort of showdown. With the kind of action that makes sure you ride away a winner.

Ackron pulled off sewer

The Oakland County Department of Public Works has officially ordered Ackron Contracting Co. of Belleville off sewer work in Independence Township.

The DPW, which is now in the process of hiring a new contractor to finish cleanup work in the Woodhull and Birdland areas, told Ackron June 21 to discontinue all work under the contract, in view of no work having been performed by a June 20 deadline.

The company has reportedly been in financial difficulties.

Jim Lueders, DPW project manager, said it would probably take until the end of July or the first of August for a new company to finish the cement, fencing and landscape work left undone by Ackron. The township has received several complaints from property owners whose land has not been restored.

"Of prime importance now is the replacement of the fence around the Camp Fire Girls property on Waldon Road," Lueders said. The fence was torn down during sewer construction, leaving the camp without its usual security, Lueders said.

Springfield plots, rezoning okay

Springfield Township Planning Commission has recommended approval of two small single family plats and a rezoning to permit relocation of the Four Seasons Inn and construction of three small stores on the Dixie Highway.

The action was taken last week following a public hearing on the planned unit development concept for Holly Greens.

Commissioners postponed for a month a decision on the 540-acre golf course, commercial, apartment and single family development at Holly Road and Dixie Highway.

The plat approvals, requested by Alfred E. Salter and his son, Ed, both residents of Springfield Township, involved a 10-lot subdivision on Hillsboro at Schaffer and a 12-lot development contains lots of 1.7 acre minimum size, while the 10-lot development promises lots of 110 foot minimum width, exceeding the ordinance requirements by ten percent.

Robert Cavanaugh of Cavanaugh Construction, Troy, was the petitioner for commercial rezoning on the Dixie at Rattalee Lake Road. The land involved extends along the Dixie 800 feet and was narrowed in depth to 350 feet, to prevent commercial development on a canal which traverses the rear of the property.

Cavanaugh said he intended to build a new building for the Four Seasons Inn, which is now located directly north of the property in a leased building.

Small benefits

One of the benefits of small government is individualized attention. Residents of Clarkston are reaping the reward in sewer cleanup work now underway.

Gar Wilson, village public works manager, is working with contracting crews, contacting the residents as the crews proceed and restoring everything to a state at least as good as it was before the sewers arrived on the scene.

In some cases, because of the attention, homeowners have been able to get improvements at no extra cost to the village. A little asphalt left in the truck at night may as well be dumped on a resident's driveway as anyplace else.

That's nice.

Terrible Jean strikes back

by Jim Fitzgerald

The question most-often asked me is: "Is there really a Terrible Jean?" My sterling prose has made my big sister famous and, typically, she doesn't even appreciate it. Instead, she is threatening my life, as you soon shall read.

Yes, dear readers, there certainly is a Terrible Jean. Her official name is Mrs. William Fitzgerald of Southfield, Mich. Besides being the mother of 5, she is also a talented artist. She paints pictures for all of her friends, and sometimes stops strangers on the street and insists they allow her to sketch them. But she has never painted anything for me, not even my kitchen.

A natural question is, how come she is a Mrs. but her last name is still the same as mine. Her explanation is that by astounding coincidence she fell in love with a guy named Fitzgerald, no relation. But the truth is his name was really Schwartz.

Terrible Jean forced him to change it under threat of death by being pounded into the ground. She didn't want to change the initials continuous game of Follow the Leader with me always following 18 blocks behind Terrible Jean—but still lost in her shadow. She has DEMANDED equal space to retort. All of a sudden I am 5 years old again and whimpering. All editors are beseeched not to change a word of the following letter which was carved into a boulder and thrown through my front window from 70 miles away.

Dear follower:

"What an apt description of yourself, James. A 'Follower' you were. You followed me to the drug store, the tennis court, my girl friends' houses—even to the bathroom where you remained screaming and kicking at the door til I made my exit. You even followed me on my first date—my runny-nosed weasel of a little brother."

You devoted your entire little life to making me miserable. You should have grown up to be G. Gordon Liddy. Your literary career transgressions for future blackmail use. Witness your lifetime of complete sloth around the house.

"If your wife Pat—God bless her—hadn't come to the rescue you would probably be living in our basement now, and following me around the house—a typical no-good Irish bachelor."

"I ask you readers . . . if there are any of you out there besides Mother and Aunt Madeline . . . wouldn't you have pounded him into the ground too?"

"While my lawyers prepare my libel suit against you, I decided I must defend myself against further growth of my monster image. I didn't mind so much when I heard you were getting mail addressed to 'The Brother of Terrible Jean'. But when brother-in-law Tony, who recently began working for Mueller Brass in Port Huron, told me of his experience, it was too much. It seems there are several old-timers around Mueller's who remember when Dad worked there. When Tony told them he was married to

Every small town should have a great pigeon race or a chicken flying meet or a largest cat in town or the dog with the most pups contest.

There comes a time that the inanities of the world should be celebrated. Enough of corruption in high places, inflation, the hot air of political campaigns.

What this world needs is to enjoy, and how better to enjoy than to watch several dozen chickens elevated to 15-foot high mailboxes for a meticulously judged flying contest.

I'm referring of course to the Bob Evans third annual International Chicken Flying Meet which took place recently in Rio Grande, Ohio.

It turned out that last year's winner, Lois Laid, who flew an unprecedented 163 feet, was not present for the re-flight. She had been eaten by a dog in April. Harry Reasoner Chicken, entered by an ABC film crew, exited the elevated mailbox backwards and immediately plummeted to earth, which may give a few people comment in regard to the media.

And over in Farmington, they're planning their third annual International Pigeon Race July 18 featuring an elusive 250-pound pigeon named Pauline who last year couldn't make it off the ground. Pauline laid a giant egg, we're told.

Greased pig contests, mud fights, greased pole climbs, log rolling contests and liar exhibitions are all part of the American scene, even as Pauline—the pooped pigeon.

It strikes us that adults ought to be inveigled to enter some of these contests. Why let the kids have all the fun?

This newspaper will be collecting ideas for a local festival—its only criteria that the theme be meaningless. It's time to laugh a little and let the world pass by.

Dear sir,

I would like to express my opinion on an article I read in the June 13 issue under Independent View.

I feel Mr. Smalley has the wrong attitude about commencement services. It is a family affair and should not be restricted from children under 10. Every child has the right to see a big brother or sister graduate. Maybe they don't realize what's going on, but they know it is important and special and a major step for a person in their family.

A solution could be to have the speaker speak louder.

Not all the noise should be passed onto the younger children. The graduating class I was in was quite noisy themselves.

Performance quizzed

Dear Editor

As a resident of Clarkston, I would like to know what goes with the local government. I read in your paper where thousands and thousands of dollars are being spent without specification or competitive bid. In the past in other units of government this kind of performance was associated with corruption and fraud.

Not long ago a street was closed. Whose yard was enhanced? A member of the local government. Then comes a precast curb effort and who benefits? Another member of the local government. This curbing leads from an alleged alley. Why not tell it like it is? It begins at an access point on private property. This member refused to yield a small footage to allow for a fire lane or delivery access.

Now it has been indicated, that thousands of dollars are to be spent for shade trees. Let us keep our eyes open. Will these shade trees provide shade for other member of local government unit? With the small fortune that is being spent, there does not seem to be enough for a flag pole. Anyway how much payola could you rip-off a $200 Flag Pole?

I say it is time the Grand Jury comes marching in to the performance of our Local government. If there is not an immediate improvement in performance by the local government, I am going to ask the Attorney General of Michigan for an investigation of the local Government.

A Reader of Your Paper,
Bill Cole

No movie thank you

Dear Editor:

I enjoy the limited privacy and security we have in Clarkston and I resent having it all nationally advertised in the planned film to be shown through out the country.

The unforeseen effects of this project on our community aren't worth any price--not even $200.

Thank you,
Nancy Prucher

Poor Mr. Humbert

Dear Jean Saile Editor:

I think it is terrible what they are trying to do to Mr. Keith Humbert our finest Township Trustee. Accusing him of plumbing without a permit, so what, he is an Engineer, definitely he knew what he was doing. Sure maybe those water lines he was putting in the attic could freeze, that could happen to anybody. Anybody could set their own house on fire. You don't have to be an Engineer to do that.

Surely, Mr. Humbert did not need to get a permit. Don't Public Officials have Executive Privilege? Mr. Nixon claims, he has executive privilege. What is good for Republicans should be good for Democrats.

It is close to election, so I suppose all kinds of false stories and smear tactics will be used against him. This is a most terrible way to treat him. If, I were old enough to vote, I would vote for him. He is such a nice old man and so self dedicated.

If he goes into court and gets 90 days and a $500 fine, will they impeach him or will he be allowed the same privilege as Mr. Nixon?

Mr. Humbert should be given the chance to run again. If, elected he may do it right the next four years. You don't condemn a man just because he had a four year failure. Everybody, including Mr. Nixon should have one more chance.

Sincerely,
Barb Holder

Doll collection open to public

A doll can be so many things to a child—someone to hug when you're afraid of the dark; a friend when no one else will play; the one who always loves you even if you're naughty.

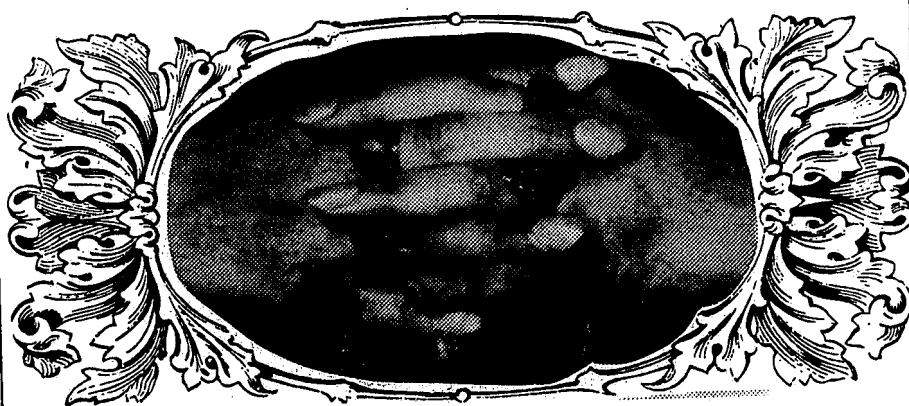

And when a child grows up, dolls remain a symbol of all the lovely days that never come again. Kept carefully on a shelf or in a trunk, they wait for another generation of children to repeat the legacy of childhood fantasy.

You'll find the dolls of such an heiress, lovingly kept and preserved at Knole Cottage in Rochester, Michigan.

Knole Cottage is the fairyland playhouse that belonged to Frances Dodge, daughter of auto pioneer John Dodge. Located at Meadow Brook Hall on the campus of Oakland University, this carefully designed mini-mansion was built in 1926 at the cost of $10,000 as a present for Frances on her twelfth birthday.

Beginning July 1, visitors may tour this little dream house any day but Monday.

Home runs abundant in men's softball

by MIKE JEWELL

Home Runs were no rarities last Sunday in the Recreation Departments Men's Softball League. A total of 11 were blasted by stunned outfielders.

Three of those homers were chalked up by Mike Turk as he went 3 for 3 and knocked in 4 RBI's to lead Howe's Lane's to an 18-1 romp over the Fire Department. The game lasted only 3 innings. Head umpire Linc Smith called the game due to the rowdiness of a player. Also helping out Howe's Lane's were George King and Rick Prasil. King went 3-3 with a triple and a homer for 5 RBI's while Prasil also cracked a home run worth 3 runs.

The closest contest offered by the league was the game between Benny and the Jets and Warrior's of Winship. The game went right down to the seventh inning before Dave Passmore of the Warriors, with two outs, singled in the winning run and beat the Jet's 20-19. Harold Ballough was a big help for the Warrior's as he went 3 for 5, collected two doubles, and knocked in 4 runs. Steve Snover also had 4 RBI's with Tom Smith adding 3 RBI's. Bill Craig and Mike Applegate kept the Jet's close as they each went 3 for 5 with 4 RBI's apiece. Craig and Applegate had two doubles and a homer each.

The other game played Sunday was a short 4 inning affair as Ben Powell crushed the Pharoah's 24-7. Lanny Jackson led the Powell attack, going 4-4 including a double and a triple, scored 4 runs, and knocked in 5 more. Jerry Henning also performed well as he hit a homer in route to going 4-4, scoring 4 runs, plus collecting 4 RBI's. Mike Madison was a big help, going 3-4 including a double and a round tripper to knock in a total 5 runs also.

Howe's Lanes	4-1
Warrior's of Winship	4-1
Benny and the Jets	3-2
Ben Powell Trucking	3-2
Pharoahs	1-4

5 pound bass taken from Criger Lake

The Robert Steele family of Kingfisher dined well Monday night on a 19½ inch, 5 pound bass caught by John, 13, Saturday in Criger Lake off Silver Lake Road in Waterford Township.

John cleaned and cut his fish before The News had a chance to take a picture of it.

He was fishing with his dad and a friend, Ronnie LaPere. Ronnie caught two 12½ inch bass, weighing about a pound each, and John's father caught one 12 inch bass as did John, who also nabbed the big one.

John said he caught the big one with a night crawler on a night crawler harness. Using a 10 pound test line, it took him about 3 minutes to net it.

Boys and girls 17 years of age and under now have a chance to match their golfing skills with each other.

The Clarkston Area Jaycees are sponsoring a Junior Golf Tournament July 1 at the Spring Lake Country Club for all area junior golfers.

An entry fee of $4 will be charged for boys 17-12, and girls 17-14, and $2.50 for boys 11 and under and girls 14 and under.

The fee includes the tournament, a hot dog and coke lunch and trophies for the winners.

Registration forms can be obtained at the Spring Lake Pro Shop up until 8:30 a.m. July 1. Call Tim Kaul, 674-1162 for further information.

Young bowlers excel

Tim Buell, 14, [left] made the all-state team in the junior division and Barrie Craft was named to all-state team in the prep division as a 12-year-old by the Youth Bowling Association of Michigan. Both boys represent Howe's Lanes.

Mike Rose gets some good-natured advice from Brian Weber and Tim Buell as the three members of the eastern area championship prepared for further competition. Team members not present for the picture were Stan Mayes and Scott Bower.

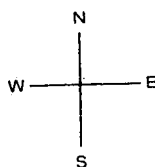

State graduating senior champion Lee Booker, 18, compares scores with 9-year-old Denise Letang at Howe's Lanes. Denise tallied an actual series score of 420—or 666 with her handicap—to win the state championship for peanut girls. Lee's average is 157.

The department also invites anyone between the ages of 9-16 to join the Department's tennis team, which will be competing with teams from other cities.

For more information, contact the Recreation Department, 625-8223.

Outdoor venture planned

The Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department has come up with a new concept in outdoor recreation that has never been done in this area before.

In a new program called the 'Teen Outdoor Venture', the department hopes to incorporate four outdoor activities—camping, canoeing, back-packing, and bicycling—all at once. The program features two scheduled trips to Grayling, Mich., and will be open for all teenagers between the ages of 14 and 18.

The trips will include a bicycle trip to Grayling, with camping along the way, a trip down the Au Sable River in Canoes, back-packing from down-river back to Grayling, and a return on bikes to Clarkston. The trips are tentatively scheduled for July 24-Aug. 6, and Aug. 14-Aug. 22.

Heading the project is Norm Goebel, a teacher at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills and an outdoor enthusiast. Goebel will be going on the trips, and will be holding training session beginning July 1 that will teach those who are going on the trips basic first-aid, cycling and camping.

Goebel says the success of the venture depends in part on how many people sign up for the trips. For further information, contact the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 625-8223.

REGULAR MEETING INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP BOARD June 18, 1974 SYNOPSIS

Meeting called to order 8:50 p.m. following a special meeting of the Board of Health.

Present: Glennie, Hallman, Humbert, Powell, Vandermark. The following items were considered.

1. Township DPW Director George Anderson was appointed as township contact man for the solid waste disposal plan.

2. Formal resolution was adopted stating that Independence Township would handle their own disposal of solid waste. This resolution accompanied the township plan for disposal which has now been sent to Lansing in compliance with the July 1, 1974, filing deadline.

3. Three persons were hired. A replacement for an employee in the Water Dept. at $3.70 per hour. A new clerical employee in the Police Services Dept. at $3.70 per hour. A new plumbing inspector at $6.73 per hour.

4. Action was tabled on whether or not to join the Michigan Township's Association and pay the membership fee of $1350.00.

5. Mr. Sushil Lahiri, formerly the Chief Librarian at the Independence Township Library, has been named Director of Library Services, a management position.

6. Payment of $1500 to the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance was authorized as per the 1974-75 budget.

7. Increasing the current 3-man Board of Appeals to a 5-man board was discussed—no action was taken.

8. The Board authorized the Fire Chief to hire a co-op student to work part time in the office at Fire Station #1.

9. Bids were authorized for the sale of fire truck which is no longer of use to the Township Fire Department.

10. The Fire Chief was authorized to negotiate for an existing fire truck to function as a front line pumper—hence by-passing normal bid procedure policy.

11. Volunteer firemen will be paid for painting as necessary the 3 fire stations rather than hire outside contractors.

Next Board Meeting July 2, 1974, 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall.

Boy killed in gun mishap

A 4-year-old Independence Township boy was accidentally killed Saturday by his cousin with a pellet rifle the victim's uncle frequently kept loaded to shoot at bothersome birds.

James Wiggins of 4752 Rattek was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital shortly before noon.

He had been playing at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Martin of 4990 Rattek, with their 5-year-old grandson when the accident occurred, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

The boys were playing in the garage when they suddenly became quiet, Mrs. Martin said, so she started out the door to check on them.

She then heard a shot and saw her nephew clutching his chest, she reported to deputies.

The five-year-old told investigating officers he had been "showing Jimmy the gun" when it went off.

Martin said he kept the gun in the garage to shoot at starlings when they got near the birdhouses and that it remained loaded if he didn't get a shot.

Also in the garage was a .410 shotgun and ammunition for it.

In a shooting accident Friday afternoon, Ferdinand Reiner of 9331 Dixie shot himself in the right foot when he tripped in a hole while shooting rats at his house, according to sheriff's deputies.

Reiner was treated for wounds from the 22 caliber bullet and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

MTA value questioned

The value of the Michigan Townships Association to Independence Township is going through its annual examination as dues time rolls around again.

"I think we're tending to outgrow it," said Supervisor Robert Vandermark, repeating the opinion he expressed this time last year.

Vandermark has favored membership in the Michigan Municipal League as being more valuable for the township.

"We're larger and more sophisticated than about 90 percent of the townships in the state," he said, noting there are times when the MTA does not represent this community's best interests nor provide the kind of resources it needs.

"I have called for services that they just didn't have," he said. "The Michigan Municipal League, SEM-COG and even the county have been more helpful."

Regarding the MTA, Vandermark said, "It's my opinion we're not getting our $1,350 worth."

Heading the list of resources available to the township through the municipal league are labor relations assistance, civil service examinations and classes for personnel. The supervisor said associate membership in the organization would cost the township about $1,324.

He noted that Bloomfield and West Bloomfield townships are members and Avon is considering joining.

Before the Independence Township Board continues its consideration of the MTA membership, Township Clerk J. Edwin Glennie will seek additional information on the availability of an MTA sponsored pension program to non-members.

Involved in condemnation

William Gershenson, owner of the former golf course, said he planned to have the clubhouse leveled, and Waterford Hill Development Company reported it has a prospective buyer for the deserted barn. At the same hearing, Carr gave the owners of two houses in Woodhull Subdivision specified periods of time to either fix up or tear down the vacant buildings, one on Glenalda and the other on Cobden Lane.

J. CALVIN WALTERS, TOWNSHIP CLERK

INDEPENDENT view

by Jean Saile
and Pat Braunagel

There are two ways to proceed when a deadline of public interest falls due at the same time as the newspaper deadline.

One way is to wait and get it all at once, and the other is to write as much as you're sure of ahead of time. Both ways aren't entirely satisfactory when the phones are ringing and the production people are tapping their feet for complete pages.

We were operating on Drain Commissioner George Kuhn's previous announcement that he would seek the Republican nomination for county executive along with Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors. Mr. Kuhn surprised us and didn't file.

How we identified Calvin Nelson as incumbent treasurer in Springfield Township is beyond us. Mr. Nelson is running as a Democrat, and though he has run before, he's never been elected.

Royal McGill, of 4788 Hillcrest, Clarkston, is looking for someone who banged on his door at 6 a.m. last Saturday morning.

"Here it was, six o'clock in the morning, and somebody knocks on the door. Not being entirely coherent, McGill said, he never asked the man his name or address. Now he wishes to find that early morning visitor to thank him. What for?"

"He was returning a wallet my 21-year-old daughter had lost in a phone booth in front of Champs on the Dixie Highway," McGill said. "Anyone who'll do that deserves thanks."

The world ain't all bad, Royal.

The Clarkston Village Council saved the day for the Clarkston Youth Assistance Committee when Monday night they appropriated $171.50 to the committee for bus fare to send a youth group to camp for a week. The committee planned the trip and then found out they could not use school bus transportation to transport the group. The council bailed them out, and the trip is on.

The council also appropriated $5,173.94 for a new salt spreader and scraper for the truck recently purchased, and approved a $2,106 expenditure for improvements of the Village Hall on Main Street.

Dad's Day

by Mary Warner

Ah, Father's Day. When all those hardworking papas are pampered and petted for a whole day for all the good things they've done all year to make their family comfy and secure. A day spent in the hurried scurrying of little feet and light pipes and present slippers, a day devoted to watching every possible sports program on the tube, a day for presents and relaxation. Huh?!!

Well, not at my dad's. Instead of relaxing, my dad had to navigate a washing machine down a flight of basement stairs. Coordination not being one of my family's better assets, my brother dropped the washing machine, tearing out the top of the machine and just missing the top of old dad.

But that was only the beginning. After my pa spent a good deal of time trying to get his only flashlight to work to fix the run-away washer, he had to run upstairs and fix his starving hoard a Sunday Dinner. Not for our pa would we tackle the kitchen!

Matters came to a head when the uncomplaining man dropped a week's worth of lunches in a friendly poker game. As we scooped our winnings in, Dad at last spoke out for fatherhood, asking us to please let him win "just one for all the dads that get bilked by their bving sons and daughters."

Unmoved, we pocketed the cash and walked out, leaving a sinkful of dinner dishes in our wake. We almost tripped over the hammock set up outside. It was Dad's only Father's Day present -- a gift to himself.

A lot of loving went into that day, because we were happy to be together and know that each of us cared for the others.

You can't beat love for the best Father's Day present of all.

With the first deadline for tapping into the Independence Township sewer system only a month away, the township board has received it's first request for relief from the financial burden of the compulsory tap-in.

"We have had verbal complaints, but this is the first letter we've received to my knowledge," Clerk J. Edwin Glennie said.

After discussing the matter with fellow board members, he sent letters to state representatives "to find out if they are going to do any thing, or if we're going to have to on the local level."

A bill was proposed last year by State Rep. Mel Larsen R-Oxford, to allow property owners with limited or fixed incomes to postpone capital charge payment until their property is sold.

Meanwhile, the board is faced with the communication from a couple living on a fixed income who claim they cannot afford the $2,260 charge.

"These people will not be put out of their house," Supervisor Robert Vandermark said, noting that a lien could be put on the property.

"The township board has the power to make exceptions or deviations," he said.

A $40 window was broken at Andersonville Elementary school Sunday afternoon, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies. They said a rock apparently was hurled through the window, but could find no other traces of the thrower.

"Many of the major problems involved in the malfunctioning village septic system have been solved, and we are hoping that the lift station will be opened soon so people can start tapping into it," said Village President Keith Hallman at the council meeting Monday.

Merchants along the west side of Main Street had complained about the odor emanating from the system off Depot Road. A spillover had thrown unprocessed sewage to the surface of the land.

by Mary Warner

Picture the Village of Clarkston back in the early 1900's, and you will see a bustling community with a proliferation of general stores, blacksmiths, millinaries, bakeries, hitching posts and horse and buggies.

Picture the old Opera House upstairs from the Maccabee Temple on the corner of Main Street and Washington (now replaced by Hallman Apothecary and a coffee house), where weekly dances would bring out all the Clarkston townsfolk. Picture a time when young girls frowned upon boys who "drank beer", and put a boycott on dances with those boys.

Picture a closeknit community where everybody knew everybody else, and everyone pitched in in times of trial. Picture a time when the only way to get to Pontiac was by taking a "hack", sort of an old-time taxicab, out to the White Lake Road railroad depot and riding on a train to the city—a sure 'overnight venture.

Picture all this, and you will have seen what it was like when 77-year-old Doris Hursfall first came to Clarkston. Mrs. Hursfall, who is now living on the Millpond in Clarkston in one of the first cottages built there, first came to Clarkston in 1903 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jickell and two sisters. Her father was a blacksmith, and bought a shop in Clarkston.

Mrs. Hursfall has lived on and off in Clarkston ever since that time, and has been associated through the years with many of the things that were happening while Clarkston was growing up. She was the single telephone operator for the community, and thus knew "everything about everybody". But her oath to Michigan Bell Telephone Co. forbade her from ever divulging anything, including all of the "secret romances of the townspeople."

Back then, Mrs. Hursfall said, she was kind of a "personal secretary" to all the businessmen in Clarkston. For when the town doctors, undertaker, and anyone else wanted to leave a message where they would be found, they would just "ring the operator" (on crank-up phones) and give her the message. Back then all calls were made through the operator, and Mrs. Hursfall would wind up tracking down doctors and others for emergencies.

And twice, Mrs. Hursfall even oversaw a clogged switchboard overloaded with calls from worried townspeople while fires raged in the town as near as twenty feet away from her. For staying on duty during the two fires, one in 1922 and another in 1927 which demolished practically a whole block, Mrs. Hursfall received two Vail Medals, awards for heroism, from Michigan Bell Telephone.

Mrs. Hursfall remembers the depression years in Clarkston, where "you could buy bread for five cents, but who had five cents?" She said there wasn't much to laugh about during that period, as hardly anyone was employed, and she was thankful that she was one of the few who had a steady job.

She remembers her father, who "was such a stubborn Englishman that when his rent went up to $4.50 a month from $4, he refused to pay that much and moved to another location."

She remembers when people used to come from as far away as Pontiac and Detroit in the 1920's to eat the famous dinners served by the Caribou Inn, now a village parking lot on the corner of Main Street and Washington.

Things aren't what they used to be, Mrs. Hursfall said, but she and her son (realtor Duane Hursfall) can still sit and chuckle over the old days, when it seemed like nobody drank, tornadoes were unheard of, and Mrs. Hursfall oversaw village communications in front of her switchboard.

Board agenda altered

Independence Township Trustee Keith Humbert has won one victory in his continuing crusade to alter the format of the township board meetings—bills will be considered earlier than they have been.

Humbert frequently has averred that matters involving the outlay of money should be taken up at the beginning of the meeting—while there are still citizens in the audience.

"It looks like we're spending the money after everyone's gone home," Humbert commented at the June 18 meeting.

He said he would like to see the agenda reorganized so that payment of bills, hiring of personnel, rezoning and citizen's comments would come before both old and new business.

Bills and statements by citizens were in the eighth and ninth slots on the 10-category agenda.

However, citizens may obtain a position on the agenda under new business by contacting the township hall by noon of the Friday preceding the meeting.

The board generally has followed a policy of bringing an item up at one meeting and acting on it at the next, leaving two weeks for study of the matter.

Humbert also has frequently complained that tabled matters are lost in the bureaucratic shuffle.

"We need a running account of how things are coming along," he commented.

One of the methods of keeping all board members informed on happenings in the township has been executive sessions, which Humbert and Supervisor Robert Vandermark agreed have been totally satisfactory. They noted that information discussed at the meetings frequently undergoes several interpretations as it is repeated.

Vandermark spoke in favor of not altering the agenda to any great extent.

"I kind of like what we have now," he said of the format outlined by the Michigan Township's Association. "It's working as good as anything we've had."

"Everyone want to be first," he noted, commented he felt the board should stick to its policies of assigning agenda positions in the order they're asked for and not deviating from that order.

Clerk J. Edwin Glennie noted that if the board follows its policy of tabling items for one meeting, all personnel and money matter will come under old business, therefore relatively early during the meeting.

"I think we should stick to a first-come, first-served basis," said Trustee Jerry Powell. "However, I do think we should consider bills before midnight."

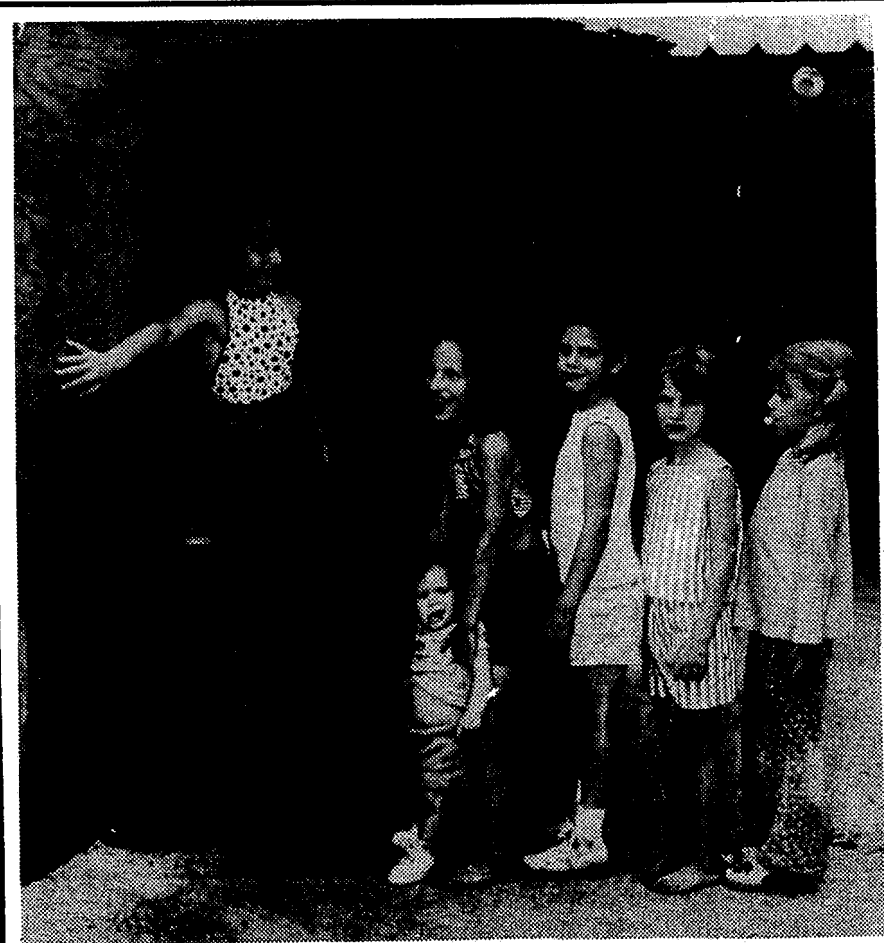

He commented that by the time the list of bills is presented, board members frequently are tired and anxious to adjourn, and therefore do not scrutinize them as well as they might.

Improvements due at Herron Lake State Park

Some $645,000 in federal and state matching funds have been made available for improvements at Herron Lake State Park in the Holly Recreation Area in Groveland Township.

A $322,500 federal grant to be matched by State Funds will be spent by the Department of Natural Resources for construction of one mile of new road, improvement of an existing road, parking areas, five restroom facilities, three picnic shelters and landscaping.

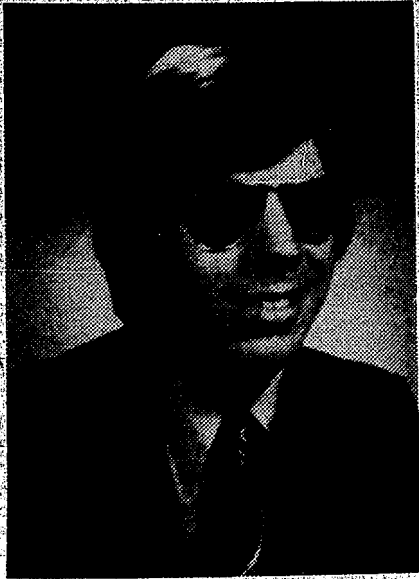

The area bordering Wildwood and Valley lakes in the park, located off Wildwood and McGinnis roads, will be used as a picnicking and day-use center.

Shades of the past

Queuing up to visit an antique type of comfort station are some daughters and neighbors of the Larry Castle family, 5630 Sally Road. The men in the neighborhood got together one night last week to help Larry build the facility to be taken to the Castle's cottage near Gladwin. However, while Larry was at work Friday afternoon, they returned and—with a bit of malt serving as their muse—decorated the outhouse with some modern graffiti. In Gladwin, the words will be covered with shingles, but the thoughts will linger on.

Meet your candidates

FREDERICK P. RITTER

Frederick P. Ritter, 25, 6674 Dixie Highway filed nominating petitions June 5 as a Democrat for Independence Township trustee. Former owner of Clarkston's Town Shop; Ritter is active in Clarkston Area Jaycees having held the office of vice president. He is a graduate of Waterford Township High School, and has been active in Democratic affairs the past two years.

Ritter says he sees improved police and fire protection a priority for the area. He is opposed to the township's present sign ordinance contending that those who erect $200,000 buildings should have a better way of being able to advertise that which they sell.

A believer in controlled growth, he thinks the present rural character of the area can be maintained through careful planning.

He is totally opposed to the use of Independence Township as a landfill serving most of Oakland County, and has vowed to do everything in his power to help those who have so far waged a successful campaign against the project.

Park Improvement and continued improvement of local roads are also among his goals.

A believer in local government, he feels dedicated individuals are needed to provide services required by a growing population.

EDWIN L. MANLEY

Edwin L. Manley, 37, 6570 Green Haven, has filed for the Republican nomination for trustee in Independence Township.

Married and the father of four, he has been a township resident for ten years, serving the past two on the Independence Township Planning Commission.

A firefighter for the city of Pontiac for 15 years, he was president of the Firefighters Association for four years, and in 1972 was elected chairman of Save Our Schools Clarkston Chapter.

He said, "I'm running for trustee because I want to serve the whole of Independence Township. I'm for growth in the township, but not at the expense of the people who have made our township a great place to live, and I'm against growth just to make money for developers."

"I think government is too large and believe me we need to have less government telling people what they can and can't do, and all the time charging higher taxes for that service. Township government should be small in size, thereby holding down costs and making it easier for a resident to reach someone who can help him with his problem. A township should operate to help its residents, not to hinder them."

"I'm very much opposed to our township being used as a dumping ground for half of Oakland County. We have an obligation to solve out township's solid waste problems, but I do not believe we must solve Oakland County's."

Due to the number of candidates seeking office, both in Independence and Springfield Township, The Clarkston News will accept biographies and pictures only until July 19. These will be run intermittently in papers through the July 25 issue. The August 1 issue [immediately prior to the August 6 election] will then be devoted to candidates' pictures and brief summaries of their candidacies as prepared by The News staff.

Where we have space, we will also run information and pictures on candidates for county commissioner and county office as they affect the residents of our area.

MY THANKS

To those who have expressed trust and confidence in me by circulating and signing petitions.

MY SPECIAL THANKS

To Mrs. Nancy Callahan who unselfishly assumed managerial responsibilities for the Morrow Dairy Queen Pony League team, that I might have the time to devote to this campaign.

To my wife, Thelma, who has devotedly relinquished our annual vacation money to allow me to enter the race for Township Trustee. Also, for the support shown for my ideals and principles.

MY SINCERE GRATITUDE

For those who have offered contributions for my campaign. It is with all due respect that I have rejected those contributions; although financially restricted, I feel it important that I be totally free of obligation to any individual or group.

Put your political dollars into this township's most valuable resource, your future leaders. The Little League's "Fun Day" is June 29th. Find your closest Little Leaguer and help him or her support their activities.

MY REGRETS

That we have thousands of dollars to allocate for the professionals to do our thinking, planning, and legal research but cannot legally support Little League programs.

Approximately 1200 or more participants in the Little League were required to pay a $5 player fee and now are requested to solicit more funds through ticket sales for their "Fun Day".

Charles W. Robinson [right], retired Clarkston banker and insurance executive, is congratulated by William R. Robbins of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., president of Rotary International, upon being elected top Rotary official for his home area by delegates to the Rotary International convention June 13 in Minneapolis, Minn. Robinson is one of 357 men from 150 countries of the Rotary world elected as a distinct governor for the 1974-75 year. As governor of District 638, he will coordinate some 51 clubs in his district. He has been a Rotarian since 1945.

Jaycees plan busy year

A variety of projects from a burns awareness program to a VIP raffle are under consideration by Clarkston Area Jaycees for the coming year.

During a planning session earlier this month, the board voted to raise money to help train doctors and nurses and to establish more facilities for burn treatment.

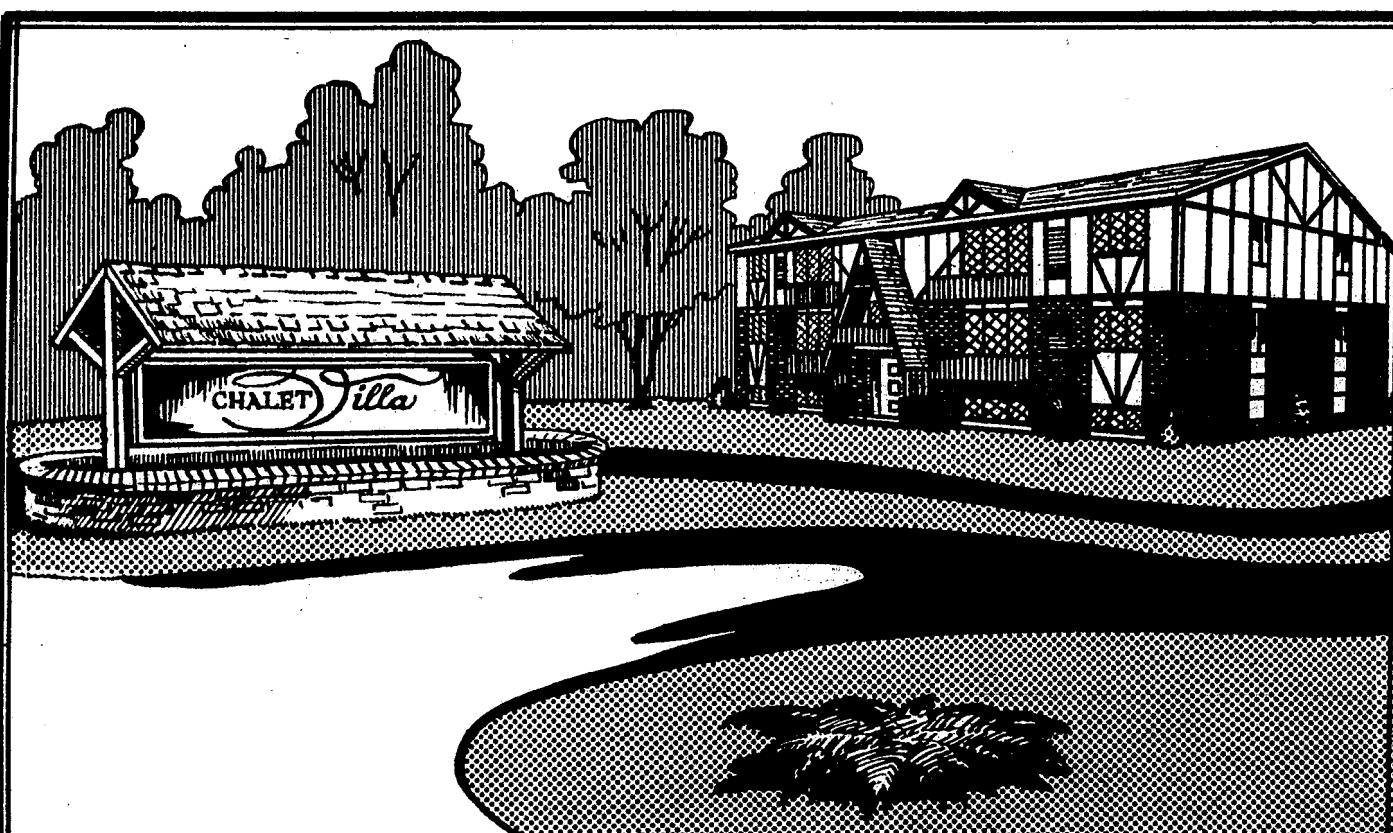

Funds will also be made available for development of the new Independence Township Park, the club decided.

Two high school career nights -- one in October and one in March -- are planned to help students decide their futures.

The club will also be sponsoring the Junior Miss program and the VIP raffle which last year had a Mark IV Lincoln as the grand prize.

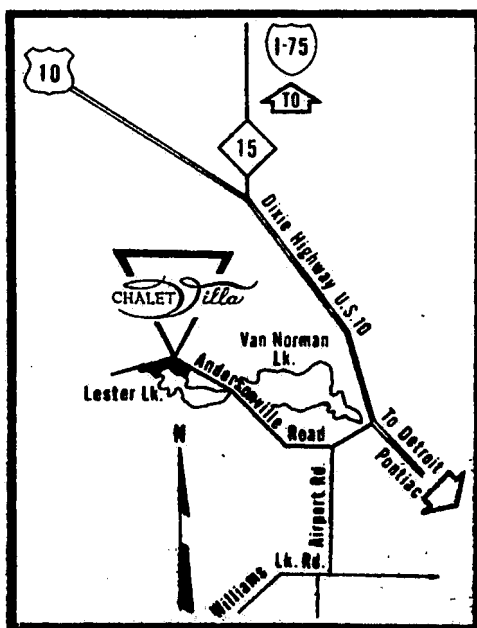

Also listed are a demolition derby and snowmobile races.

The group will be putting a float in the July 4 parade, and Jaycee clowns once again be passing out candy. Members are investigating the possibility of a street dance July 5 featuring live music at the Clarkston High School tennis courts.

CHARLES WHITLOCK

Charles T. Whitlock, 52, 5364 Drayton, has filed nominating petitions for Republican trustee in Independence Township. A lieutenant in charge of administrative services with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, he served in 1965 and 1966 as investigator for the Oakland County Grand Jury which returned 21 indictments with a high rate of conviction for corruption in government.

He has been with the Sheriff's Department for 20 years, and served before that with the Pontiac Police Department, The Oakland County Prosecutor as chief investigator and the Waterford Township Police Department where he helped set up the original department.

Whitlock says:

Because of the rapid growth of the Township, these are times when crucial

Youngquist withdraws

David Youngquist of 17070 Coventry Lane, Holly, the Democrat who filed for both Springfield Township trustee and County Commissioner District 2 last week, has withdrawn from the Springfield race, according to township officials.

and vital decisions must be made that will affect residents for years to come. Administration of the township involves the efficient and economic management of a complex organization. The people deserve the utmost in foresight and concern for proper development of the community.

Zoning issues and planning must not be decided with reckless abandon nor without concern for the individual property owner. If the individual becomes subservient to the interests of the township, then the whole concept of democracy is adversely affected.

I am concerned about the lack of voice in the township government for those in the outer areas who are the most-affected by the actions of those in authority. I would like to assume that responsibility and give voice for outlying residents.

Officials don't do what you expect - they do what you inspect! So easily can cooperation become conspiracy. My experience on a Grand Jury that investigated corruption in township governments would give the people an "eye" on their government. And you better believe that I am not afraid to take an unpopular stand.

As for "Executive Sessions", I realize that there must be some private conversations for harmony and productive discussion. However, there must not be any conclusive decisions made in private. The people have the right to know - and to oppose. Executive Sessions are dangerous and must be controlled. Otherwise, harmony can become collusion, a condition not healthy for anyone, including the participants.

A real priority need in the township is the establishment of proper personnel services for its employees. The township performs its functions through the actions of its employees and is obligated to improve the employees' abilities to render their services. Concern for their welfare and security and mandate and steps should be taken forthwith to ensure the public receives maximum efficiency from the highest caliber employee available. Most public employees have a great desire to render a service, but Administration must anticipate their needs and meet them.

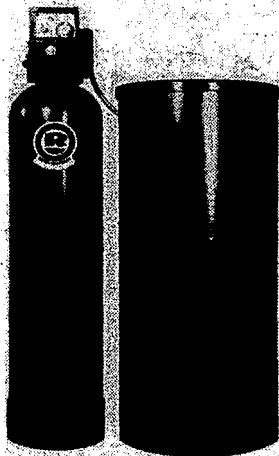

Donna M. Buhl, 9383 Eston Road, has filed for the office of township treasurer on the Democratic ticket. Treasurer of the Independence Township Democratic Club, she says, "A situation exists in Independence Township which is putting too much political power in one village business family. Mr. Hallman, president of the village council, and Mrs. Hallman, now serving on the township board, upsets the delicate balance of power that is essential in the representation of the wishes of the constituency."

She adds that if elected to the township board, she would "vigorously represent the suburban interests of the community."

Wilcox to seek reelection

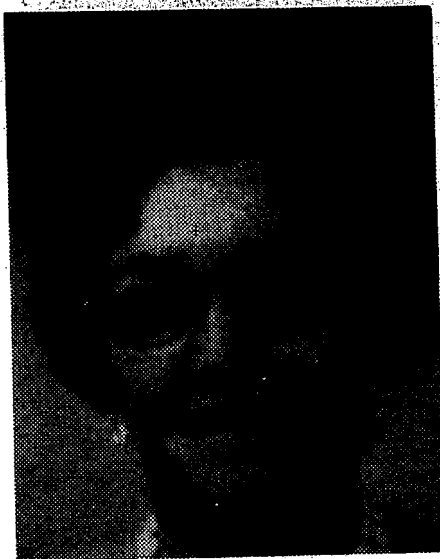

County Commissioner Richard R. Wilcox, elected chairman by his fellow commissioners last January, represents district one which includes the township of Oakland, Addison, Oxford, Brandon, Groveland and a large portion of Independence. District one also includes the villages of Leonard, Oxford, Ortonville and Clarkston.

In announcing his re-election bid, Wilcox said, "District one has the lowest population density in the county and is developing into one of the nicest areas in which to live and raise our families. I am determined to do what I can about the county and that the wishes of the local communities are not ignored."

He cited as an example his recent success in getting the county solid waste disposal master plan referred back to committee for more comment and input from local communities.

Wilcox, 44, was the township supervisor of Brandon for four years prior to his election as County Commissioner. He is presently the second vice president of the Michigan Association of Counties.

LOLITA (SALLY) HORSCH

Lolita E. (Sally) Horsch, 58, a township employe for the past eight years, has filed nominating petitions on the democratic ticket for the position of township clerk. She has been employed in the building and assessing departments.

A graduate of Clarkston High School class of 1934, she is married to Harry and has two sons, Charlie, a teacher at Clarkston High School, and John Reynolds of Bakersfield, Calif.

She says she hopes to be available to listen to the problem of residents and work towards their solution.

Class recalls 1944 graduation

by Mary Warner

Thirty years ago Eldon Rouse was considered quite a popular man by his classmates at Clarkston High School. "What do you mean, WAS?" Eldy, as he is called, rejoined. "I still am". At least, Eldy said, he has been successful in his chosen field--he is a basketball coach and teacher at the Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor.

Rouse was one of 13 classmates of the graduating class of 1944 in Clarkston who gathered Saturday night at the

Clarkston once owned Hawk site

Clarkston Village Council, now in the process of trying to work out financial methods of acquiring the Hawk Tool property on Washington Street, has learned the land was once village owned.

Village President Keith Hallman reports that a search of deeds shows that the land was deeded to the village by Henry and Clara Ford in 1934. The village retained ownership of the land until 1940 when the council sold it to Ford Motor Car Co. for $1 and other considerations.

Hallman admits that, in the light of present day activity, the return of the land might sound unusual; however he points out that at that time there were no structures on the property and the area was in rundown condition.

The Ford company guaranteed construction of the plant later by Allen Hawke and his family, built a proper dam, cleaned the Mill Pond and paved the streets around it.

He also built the village septic system which is only now ready to be abandoned.

"The action was not foolish at the time. Further," Hallman said, "when Ford sold, he sold to other very fine tenants who were assets to the village."

He points out also that the village was later able to acquire from Ford its present park property along Depot Road for $7,000.

Holly Greens Golf Course and restaurant to celebrate the 30th reunion of their class. There were 34 members in the class together--"a little bit different than the 500 who graduated this year, huh?" Arnold Pacer, another classmate, said.

"There was more than a class size difference in 1944, Pacer, who works for GMC Truck and Coach, continued. There were no buses, so most of the students had to walk from their homes--many of them farms in the country--to the high school which is now the Clarkston Junior High. The town only boasted 500 residents, he said, and most of the kids' activities were centered around the school sports. "There were some dances, but not many," he said. "Most of us would just pile in cars and go to the different schools we were playing."

There was more than just school to think about back then, too. After Pacer was graduated, he enlisted in the service--something almost everyone of the 14 boys in the class did. For World War II was not yet over, and Pacer said that every guy there Saturday had done a stint in the service--like Robert Henry, who was drafted his junior year and had to finish his requirements for graduation after service in the South Pacific.

Mrs. Hazel McGill, now a housewife in Clarkston, said there was no yearbook to record class mottos and prophecies when she graduated. So no one knew who was most likely to succeed, or who was class flirt. Mrs. Nadine Horn, of Owasso, Mich., was unofficially elected, but denied it. "Oh, no, not me" she laughed.

Mrs. Horn said she thought the class prophecy was 'We'll Ring the Bells of the Future with the Ropes of the Past.'

"Probably the most likely to succeed was Wilbur Adams", she said, "But he was accidentally drowned a year after we graduated." Adams was class vice-president.

Mrs. Horn said that one man in the class, whom she jokingly referred to as the class "wino", was now a minister. She said he recently sent a letter to the class at one of their earlier reunions, saying that "God moves in mysterious ways."

There were 23 people at the gathering, including wives and husbands, reunion organizer Robert Clark, who now owns a filling station in Springfield Township, said. But many old classmates couldn't make it. There were two deaths in the class, he said, and some members lived far away in Racine, Wic. and Roanoke, Va. He said one member has never been located. Clark has been the chief push of the four class reunions the group has had. Did he expect back then he would be where he was now? "Oh, I don't know," he said. "We didn't have much time to think about what we wanted to do."

Ralph Tower, who works for Fisher Body in Flint, echoed Clark, saying that he also went into the army and hadn't a chance to plan a future. Tower is one of two class members who haven't married. "When all my dreams come true," he said. "When I win a million dollars in the lottery. Then I'll be happy."

But most of them, as they sat sipping drinks and gnawing on chicken, seemed content in the way their lives had turned. Like Mrs. Betty Grant, of Sashabaw Road in Clarkston, who said "I've got a good husband, four beautiful children, one grandchild and one more on the way. What more could I ask for?"

Parable of talents relived

Country living

By Pat Braunagel

The members of Clarkston United Methodist Church have plenty of talent going for them--something they're proving through an unusual fund-raising venture.

Appropriately, the program is based on Jesus' parable of the talents--and it's an idea which 20th Century Clarkston area residents are finding continues to have merit.

Rev. Frank A. Cozadd sees much value in the program outside of raising money for the church's missionary fund.

"It's a good way to raise money, but there are other benefits," he said. "It is unique in that each member is given an opportunity to do something for his church, something creative."

The idea was proposed by Don Fox, who had heard about it from a relative.

All members of the church were asked to relive in their own ways, the story in which three sons were given talents--or units of gold--by their father as he departed on a journey.

One son was given five talents, one received three, and the third was given one.

Upon his return, the father questioned each and found that the first two sons had invested their talents and doubled their amount. The third son had hidden his so as not to lose it.

Because the first two had managed small amounts well, the father put each in charge of a larger amount. From the third, he took the single talent.

At the Clarkston church, an anonymous donor gave $914 to get the program started.

Along with a copy of the parable, each member received a "talent"--$1.

Fox, who is serving as chairman of the "Talents for World Service" program, wrote members that the talents "is being sent to you for safe-keeping and 'investment' in any way you choose."

"You may use it to buy supplies to make something of greater value which you may then sell to someone. You may buy an item and resell it at a higher price. You may use this 'talent' in any of a hundred ways. Or... you may 'bury it' like one of those in the story."

The program started the first week in April, with June 2 set as the accounting date.

Although 372 of the "talents" have been returned so far, several members have asked for extensions.

"Some people wanted more time because they had planted something," Rev. Cozadd said.

The minister was sporting one of the tie tacks he, his wife and son had made from stones they have collected during their travels. That's how they used their talents to offer good to fellow members of the congregation.

Several others have shown ingenuity in investing their "talent."

"Their first reaction was, 'How am I going to use this?' After this anxious stage, they commenced to get excited, and everyone had a lot of fun," Rev. Cozadd said.

Items brought to the church for sale to other members included baked goods, bird houses, aprons, candles, ceramics, shell decorations, wooden items, games, jewelry, leather goods, plaques, dolls, paintings, purses, ties and hats.

Fifteen-year-old Chris Cowden used his money to buy gasoline for a cultivator. Then he plowed people's gardens and turned $17 over to his church.

One of his own best customers is Rev. Frank A. Cozadd, adjusting one of the stone tie tacks he, his wife and son Bruce made to sell for the benefit of Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Another teenager, Tom Sowerwine, sold plants, but also offered silver dollar tree seeds with the offer to "grow your own dollars."

One couple "invested" in a bingo game in Florida and brought home a healthy return. Another member put his money in the commodities market.

Families worked together on projects. One effect of the project has been an increase in fellowship.

Several families have given dinners and luncheons to which they purposefully invited persons they did not know too well.

The project has shown to many church members how their ingenuity can be applied, and it has been fun.

Not only that, but the church's missionary fund to date is richer by $372 in "talents" and an additional $1,856.45 earned by them.

Renee Weaver, 14, mixed up a batch of "Stickies," snack rolls which her father took to work and sold on coffee breaks, and earned $5.

Adding their handicrafts to the items for sale at Clarkston United Methodist Church are Anne Tungate (left), whose contribution is crewel work, and Sandy Cool, who created dried flower arrangements in little wooden boxes.

Chris Cowden, 15, of 628 Cramlane invested his $1 gasoline for his cultivator, plowed five gardens and made $17 for his church.

Raising funds, having fun

Bird houses and feeders are the contribution of Bob Walters of Robertson Court to the "Talents for World Service" program at his church.

Sprucing up cemetery on Independence docket

Independence Township is going to get a Double A start with asphalt and architectural plans on improving Lakeview Cemetery.

To do so, the township is going to dig into the cemetery's perpetual trust fund in the hope of attracting new lot purchasers.

A contract for the paving of the front drive and circle and drives in the newly platted portion of the cemetery was awarded last week to Stag Paving Co. of Drayton Plains, lowest of two bidders with an $8,237.50 offer.

Meanwhile, Gordon Andringa, an architect who lives in the township, has volunteered to collaborate with several of his associates to design a small memorial chapel for the cemetery.

With the paving done this summer and the chapel hopefully constructed next year, Department of Public Works Director George Anderson feels the cemetery can remain competitive with private facilities in the area.

Real Estate HAPPENINGS
by Bob & Marvel White

The "real" in real estate is a literal truth. The value in buildings and land does not disappear over night or melt into a disaster like other investments often do. Real property rides the waves of inflation and stays on top. Unlike the people who are "still waiting for the right time", those who bought homes in the past, now have the comforting security of principal savings and price appreciation. When all else seems to evaporate, this is a nest egg you can hold onto.

Whatever type of property you decide to invest in, call on the experts at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 to find it for you. A complete real estate service, we handle commercial property, raw acreage and parcels of land as well as residential real estate. We will be happy to discuss any aspect of your real estate needs with you and provide the utmost in competent personal service. Open: 9-8 Mon-Thur; 9-6 Fri; 10-4 Sat; 2-5 Sun; & by app't.

Dave Rood, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press has an idea about dividing Michigan.

IS THE U.P. FOR SALE?

Downstate reports to the contrary, the Upper Peninsula is not for sale.

It all started when a disc jockey on a Detroit (where else?) radio station heard a rumor from some people in Grayling, and "just threw it out" on his show, saying that Wisconsin wanted to buy the U.P. for a "cool $1 billion."

Naturally, some people believed it, and the radio station described the mail response as heavy. The Associated Press carried a story about a 12-year-old Farmington girl writing to her state representative and pleading "Please don't sell the U.P. . . the whole shape of our state will be changed."

It is just possible, of course, that the shape would be changed for the better, but we have an even more striking solution. Why don't we sell the lower peninsula to Ohio instead? If the U.P. is supposedly worth $1 billion to Wisconsin, surely we ought to be able to get $100,000 or so from Ohio for the portion below the Straits of Mackinac. That seems a fair price.

There are periodic stories from California about the San Andreas fault, which is sort of a crack in the earth that may split wide open one of these days and tilt Los Angeles and environs off into the Pacific Ocean. These stories always make one wonder if maybe there isn't a similar fault running across Wayne and Oakland counties that conceivably some day could split wide open and tilt the entire Detroit metropolitan area off into Lake St. Clair. Were this to come about, there is the possibility that Ohio might even decide to go as high as $200,000 for whatever was left.

There are other, less drastic alternatives, however. The suggestion has been advanced that the whole problem could be solved simply by having Michigan and Wisconsin merge into a single state. We could call it Wishigan or Michwish or some other combination of the two names.

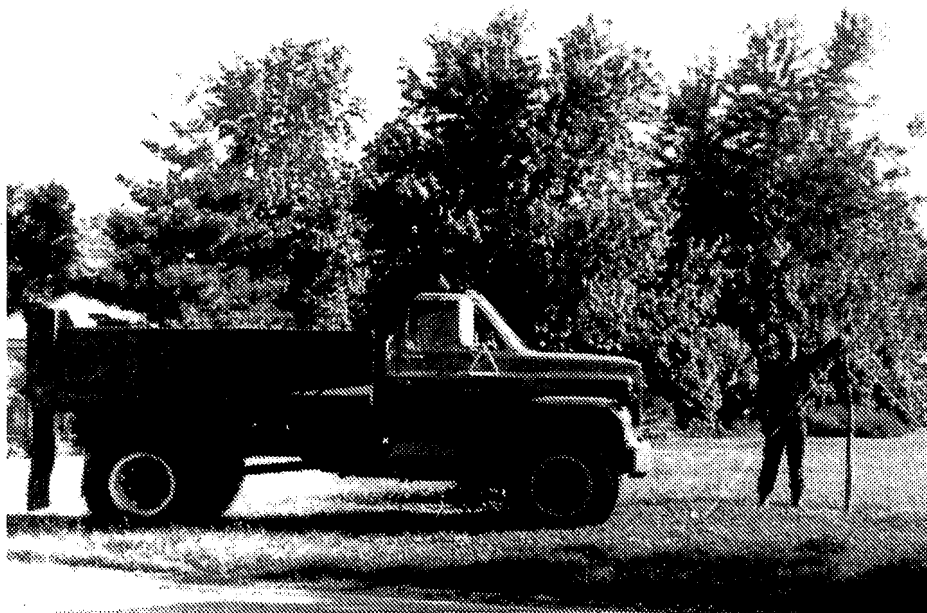

In order to put the state capitol in the most central location possible, we could establish the seat of government at Engadine, for instance, and convert the existing capital buildings at Lansing and Madison into McDonald's or instant muffler repair shops. There is plenty of space in Engadine, of course, to throw up a few buildings to house the necessary functions of government, and there would be the added blessing that the Legislature would probably not find the fortitude to stay in session during the long and cold winter months. They would probably adjourn well in advance of Nov. 15, as any public servant in his right mind would not want to be in the U.P. during hunting season, when thousands of taxpayers are roaming the woods with guns in their hands.

The other solution, of course, is the old familiar one of just divorcing ourselves completely and forming our own state—a proposal that has been advanced in varying degrees for at least the last quarter century.

Some folks still say we couldn't afford it, but I'm sure we'd think of something, like raffling off rutabagas or exporting 100 proof pine extract properly aged in popple casks.

Where there's a will there's a way.

Gar Wilson of the village maintenance department tries out the new village truck as he proceeds with the planting of trees in residential districts recently undertaken by the council.

When you are decorating windows, remember the function of the window and do not interfere with it. In a modern home or in an informal room, keep the treatment simple. If draperies and curtains are to be featured, make them gorgeous. If they are to be in the background, make them subdued. Be sure your draperies are hung well and that they do not conflict with the opening and closing and use of the windows. And remember, that no matter what the view by day, the glass will be black by night unless you have something to cover it.

And remember that HOUSE OF MAPLE & PINE, 6605 Dixie Hwy., 625-5200 has a wide selection of early American and colonial furniture for every room in your home. "I'll help you pack"

BY JAMES AND ELLEN WINDELL

Psychological staff members of the Oakland County Juvenile Court and Clinical Resources, Incorporated

Children have probably been threatening their parents ever since there were children and families!

Children have said: "I hate it here. I'm going to run away." Or: "Nobody ever gives me my way; I'm going to kill myself."

Such threats are often used for manipulation or to attract more attention. They can also be an indication that the child is emotionally disturbed.

No threat should be disregarded even though, in fact, it may be an obvious bluff or attention-getting device. When the threat involves death or injury, it should always be considered a serious matter. Fortunately, when serious threats are made, the child is expressing some feelings which tell the parent that trouble has developed somewhere. The child who is troubled and doesn't express his feelings, the quiet child, is more of a puzzle.

When a threat is made, parents can respond in various ways. Most parents have at one time or another reacted in a way that was later regretted. For instance, after Carl and his mother argued about going to the Dairy Queen, he said: "I never get to do what I want to do. I'm going to kill myself."

His mother responded, "That suits me just fine."

This kind of response, understandable on a day when the child has been quarrelsome and the parent tired, is usually later regretted with good reason.

It is similar to the exasperated mother saying to the youngster threatening to run away. "Good, I'll help you pack."

Since most threats are a bluff, this kind of response may call the bluff forcing the child to back down.

However, when the child threatens suicide or death, a straight forward, responsible reply might be:

"John, death is final. Once your dead, you don't come back. Don't ever forget that."

Which ever response is employed by the parent should not attack or belittle the youngster and should indicate that there is willingness to listen and understand the situation. Even in calling the child's bluff, the parent, if he is right, has understood.

The parent's response must not reward or promise a reward because this reinforces the threatening behavior, and it will surely reappear.

A youngster, regardless of age, who repeatedly uses threats, especially ones of serious nature, is very likely an unhappy and disturbed person.

Threatening death suggests that the child wishes to be dead and the parent needs to evaluate and understand what is happening in the child's life. Finding the root of the unhappiness may require professional assistance, but the earlier it is attended to, the better.

Even though I saw that President Nixon would become ill, I was still surprised Monday night to learn that it had actually happened. I still don't feel he will go to Russia. I might be wrong, but I don't think he will go.

The Middle East will not calm down for a long time. There'll continue to be raids and reprisals for another three generations. So far my earlier prediction that hostilities would stop and start, stop and start in that area are proving true.

There'll be a turnover in Russia. All of a sudden it seems like something is going on over there. I see a test tube in the picture. It looks like something new will be tried, and because of it heads will roll. I would guess that a man now in power will lose, and a woman will step in and take over his place.

The stars guide, but they don't command, and I believe that they have an influence over us. Since the passing of Kahoutek, the comet, there have been problems, out of the ordinary ones, that have beset most of the major governments of the world. Many heads of state have fallen.

I believe this is due to more than just chance.

I also see the Queen of England becoming ill with a high fever. I see three months. I don't know what it means but I feel she will have to be careful for an extended period of time. I think she is seriously considering retiring in favor of her son, but she wants to let him have three to four more years to enjoy life before he takes on the responsibilities of the kingdom.

BY THE THIRD EYE

I believe you'll find there'll be changes in forthcoming seasons. It will be warmer in September, October, and November while it remains unseasonally cool for this time of year.

I believe the polar axis is slowly shifting and where it's tropical it will be cooler and where it's normally cooler it will be warmer. I don't think we'll have another ice age.

Things to do in June

The following gardening tips for June are offered by specialists at Michigan State University. When using pesticides follow all labeled directions and cautions.

--Check for rhododendron, dogwood, lilac and mountain ash borer. If present spray with Lindane.

--Check for holly leaf miner. If present use a Cygon systemic insecticide.

--If your birch tree is dying from the top down, check for the bronze birch borer. If present, trim out and destroy the dead parts and spray the bark with Lindane.

--If American plum borers appear on sycamores, apply Lindane to the trunk and branches. Apply three times at three-week intervals.

--Remove old flowers from spring flowering bulbs.

--Check for birch leaf miner. If present spray with Malathion, Sevin or Cygon.

--Prune shrubs that have just completed flowering.

--Check ornamentals for mealybugs. Use a high pressure application of Malathion to control them.

--Remove old flowers from perennials that have finished blooming.

--Shrubs can be propagated now from softwood cuttings.

--If sawflies are seen on Scotch pine trees, spray with Sevin.

--Poinsettia cuttings (three inches long) can be taken now to have blooming plants by Christmas.

--Remove old flowers from rhododendrons late in the month.

--Check for juniper scale and cottony maple scale now through mid-July. If evident, control with Malathion plus Methoxychlor.

--There is still time to fertilize trees and shrubs.

--If little white moths fly in zig zag pattern above the lawn surface when it is walked on, it might mean sod webworms are damaging the lawn. Check the lawn for larvae and damage. If present treat every four weeks with Sevin or Diazinon until they are gone.

--Examine tomatoes that have been outside for aphids, mites, hornworms, and leafhoppers.

--Sow cabbage and cauliflower seeds for a fall crop.

--Most house plants will enjoy the outdoors now that it is getting warmer.

--Thin crowded root crops.

--Fertilize asparagus in late June. Use 2½ to 3 pounds of 5-10-10, 5-10-5, 6-24-12, or 10-10-10 for every 100 square feet of garden.

--Pick ripe strawberries in early morning when they are cool. Pick only the red berries and refrigerate them soon after picking. Remove any damaged berries.

--Keep an eye on hanging baskets -- they will dry rapidly as the weather gets warmer.

--If your spring flowering bulbs didn't do well this year, they might need to be thinned and transplanted. After the bulb coat turns light brown, dig them up and store them to be replanted in the fall.

--Remove the top half inch of each shoot for bushier mums.

--Rambler roses should be pruned after they finish flowering. Do not prune large flowered climbers severely.

--Plant dahlias and cannas in the first half of June. Gladiolus can be planted any time this month.

--Potted azaleas should be moved to a partially shaded spot in your garden.

--Water your lawn only when it is dry.

Wet the soil to a depth of five inches or more. Deep infrequent watering is best -- approximately one inch of water per week is needed during midsummer.

--Thin the fruit on apple and peach trees to improve size and quality.

--Remove and destroy diseased plants and plant parts from your garden throughout the summer.

Attack the insects attacking ornamentals

Your beautiful ornamentals might be the target of several insects this time of year. Entomologists at Michigan State University recommend that you become acquainted with these pests and control them at the first sign of arrival.

APHIDS are the most common, coming in all sizes, shapes and colors. They don't often kill the plants they attack but they can ruin their appearance by secreting a clear, sticky liquid on which a sooty, mold fungus lives. Aphids reduce the plant's vigor by sucking juices from the foliage, twigs and small branches.

Aphids appear in the spring and stay until fall. They are especially common during cool and damp weather.

To control aphids, spray with Malathion or Diazinon. Be sure to cover all parts of the foliage. If aphids reappear, repeat the treatment.

Woody ornamentals are the target for lecanium scales. They are oval, mahogany colored insects that suck the plant juices causing the leaves to yellow and wilt. These insects can kill small or immature plants.

A spray containing Malathion, sevin or Diazinon will control lecanium scales. Be sure the entire plant is sprayed and repeat the application 10 days later.

The Oystershell Scale is one of the most troublesome scale insects in Michigan, attacking a wide range of woody plants. They cause retarded growth and yellowing of leaves. The oystershell scale is grayish-brown, about one-eighth inch long, and found attached to the bark of ornamentals.

To control the oystershell scale, spray the entire plant with Malathion, Sevin or Diazinon.

The ROSE CHAFER prefers rose buds and leaves but also attacks grapes, cherries and a number of other plants. It is about one-half inch long, has a reddish-brown head and a black underbelly. The entire body is covered with short yellow hairs giving a fawn colored appearance.

As soon as the insects appear, spray the entire plant with two sprays of Malathion or Sevin, 7 to 10 days apart.

Be on the alert for adult May or June beetles which may defoliate small trees (oak, birch, maple) during the night. To prevent defoliation spray with Sevin or Methoxychlor.

Club installs new officers

The Clarkston Community Women's Club held its end-of-the-year luncheon and meeting last Friday at Holly Greens Golf Course, installing new officers for the coming year. They are: president, Linda Irwin [left], vice-president Pat Booth, recording secretary Judy Smith, corresponding secretary Gail Ferguson, treasurer Charlotte Cooper and board member Mary Vandermark.

The mill stream

Where have they all gone?

by Mary Warner, phone 625-3370

Now that summer has come, it's time to say a few words about what all those students and teachers liberated from the Clarkston schools are going to do this summer.

Seems quite a few of the high school students are working out at Pine Knob. CHS 11th graders (seniors next year, I am emphatically reminded) Vivian Love, Cathy O'Rourke and sophomore Anne Bennett are working at the concession stand. Juniors Mark Wagnon and Yogi Richardson are working in the valet parking lot at Pine Knob. And senior Lee Surce was made assistant manager of the concession stand.

Clarkston teachers will also be on the move, some of them back to school for courses towards their permanent teaching certificate, and some of them, like Rick Powers, a science teacher in the Clarkston Junior High, will be traveling. Rick just bought a new Dodge Van, and will be sight-seeing and doing a little back-packing out west.

Linda Dewey, a CJH geography and chorus teacher, will be traveling with a friend to various campgrounds in Michigan. She will also be attending Michigan State University summer graduate school.

Jack and Char Frost, from Cramlane Drive in Clarkston, had a surprise visit from Jack's brother and his family last Monday, June 17. It was the first time in 15 years the Frosts had seen Major J.D. Frost, his wife Pat, and their seven children. The J.D. Frosts live in Fort Knox, Kentucky, where J.D. is stationed with the Army Corps of Engineers. The Frosts stopped on their way home from a vacation. Their seven children spent the day in the swimming pool, despite cold and rain.

Somebody among us is smoking up the floorboards of area roller skating rinks and grabbing up trophies. Diana Hyatt, 6512 Church St., Clarkston, took third place in the American Sophomore Ladies' Singles Division of the Michigan Roller Skating Championships, held at Northland Roller Rink in Detroit. Diana also went to Akron, Ohio for the Ohio Invitational recently and placed second. Before that, she placed second in the Northland Skating Invitational.

Diana is a senior at the University of Michigan, graduating from Clarkston High School in 1971. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Hyatt of Clarkston. Her home base for roller skating is the Flint Rollhaven. She will now be eligible to compete in the Great Lakes Regional Championships, and if she places, to the American National Championships.

Picnicking on homemade pasties and going to the Detroit Zoo were weekend activities of the Ken Wolvens of Plum Street in Clarkston and Mrs. Wolven's sister Sharry Doty and Sharry's husband, Doug. The Wolvens and Doty's were entertaining their friends, Mike and Diane Conant and daughter Beth, from Omer, Mich. The Conants were weekend guests of the Wolvens. Doug and Sharry were Clarkston residents four years ago.

Happy Birthday to a staff member, Dana Goodell. Dana is a CHS co-op student working for us, and was 17 Monday. Dana celebrated the occasion with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodell at Whitey's Steak House in Davison Monday night. Also attending the dinner were Dana's grandparents from Clearwater, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Topham, Dana's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Maier and their two sons, Bill and Kurt and Dana's 15-year-old sister, Lori. The occasion was not only a birthday celebration, but also an anniversary party. Mr. and Mrs. Goodell had their 17th wedding anniversary Tuesday.

It seems like 17 is a lucky number, because that's how many years that the David Bixbys have been married as of Saturday. The Bixbys of Snowapple Drive in Clarkston, celebrated their anniversary with an outing to Pine Knob Saturday night to see Vicki Carr. Accompanying them was Mrs. Jean Chartier of Peach Street in Clarkston.

Here in Clarkston for three weeks were Mr. and Mrs. Don Kirkendorfer, of Glendale, Arizona. Mrs. Kirkendorfer is the former Jackie Hoopingarner, and here with her husband visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoopingarner of Church Street in Clarkston. While here the Kirkendorfers attended Jackie's sister, Martha's graduation from the Hurley School of Nursing in Flint on June 21. The Kirkendorfers were on leave from the Luke Air Force Base in Arizona.

Holly Hawke, graduating senior from Clarkston High School, is at home and coming along fine after oral surgery at Mt. Sinai Hospital in Detroit last week. Holly came home last Friday after five days in the hospital and is sufficiently recovered to continue plans for summer counseling at Sherwood Girl Scout Camp in Lapeer. Holly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. Hawke of Middle Lake Road in Clarkston, and plans to attend Eastern Michigan University in the fall.

Dana Whetsel of 9879 Klais Drive, Clarkston, received his master's degree in vocational education from Wayne State University Tuesday night at a graduation ceremony at Cobo Hall in Detroit. Dana is an architectural drafting teacher at Hazel Park School in Hazel Park.

From all reports, three boys from the Higginbotham little league team are having a ball down in Williamsport, Penn. at the official little league baseball camp. Kevin Williams, 11, Kim Lair, 10 and Kurt Norman, 10, went down to the camp on June 15 and are expected back this Friday. Mrs. Darrel Williams, wife of the boys' coach, said. The boys are playing baseball five hours a day, and played a game in the Little League World Series Stadium.

A bridal shower was held last Sunday for Carol Humbert, of Snowapple Drive in Clarkston, up in Tawas, Mich. The shower was given by Carol's aunts, Mrs. Harold Cholger and Mrs. Allen Anschuetz, and her cousins Karen Cholger and Debbie Anschuetz, and was held in Mrs. Anschuetz' home. It was a miscellaneous shower, and Carol received many nice gifts. Carol is engaged to Lynn Thompson of Clarkston and is planning an August wedding.

Six area students have been included on the dean's list of Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C. Earning at least a B average during the second semester were James Todd Vanaman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul S. Vanaman, 6600 Almond Lane, Clarkston, a senior in the School of Religion; Susan Kay Deaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Deaver, 6136 Ormond Road, Davisburg, junior in the College of Arts and Science; David Gene and Mark Mason Parker, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Parker, 12490 Big Lake Road, Davisburg -- David is a freshman in the School of Education and Mark, who earned an A average, is a senior in the School of Fine Arts; Glenn Ralph Aittama, son of Mrs. Carol Aittama of 3600 Shoals, Drayton Plains, School of Religion; and Elizabeth Ann Coombs, daughter of Cecelia Coombs, 5565 Walling, Drayton Plains, a freshman in the School of Education.

William Grant and his 17-year-old son Ray, 6669 Shelley Drive, come home with the third place prize in class A of the recent Detroit News Family Bowl.

Bill's average was 166 and Ray's was 139. Besides $300 in cash, they won a trophy that is nearly three feet high.

Dave Barks, 5872 Warbler, is among a group of boys leaving June 26 as part of the 18th annual Alaska Trip for Boys, sponsored by Edward J. Kuhn of Pontiac. He'll be stopping at Toronto and Edmonton, seeing Calgary, Banff, the Columbia Icefield, Jasper and Vancouver B.C., where he'll board the SS Princess Patricia for a 7½ day cruise to Alaska along the Inside Passageway. There they'll visit many points of interest before returning home in three weeks. Sounds like a real adventure!

The Jogger Senior Citizens of Springfield will meet July 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rioux, 9997 Davisburg Road, for a potluck picnic and games.

Among the 1406 students honored by Ferris State College for scholastic excellence during the spring quarter were Sandra L. Nagel, 9930 Ortonville; Nancy L. Donaldson, 2275 Kohler; Thomas P. Gates, 4401 Elmdale; Kenneth L.J. Huffman, 3893 Anoka, and Steven E. Williams, 3116 St. Jude. They were named to the Academic Honors List.

St. Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church will have its second annual July 4 picnic at 1:30 p.m. at the church property on Sashabaw Road north of Clarkston Road. Races, contests, games, card games and softball are planned.

Dr. E. Robert Falardeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Falardeau of 6529 Phelan, has received a PHD degree in chemistry from Utah State University. Bob is also a graduate of Denison University and Michigan State Graduate School. During the next year, Bob and his wife Pat will reside in Manhattan, Kansas, while he is conducting research at Kansas State University.

Being an officer in Civil Air Patrol (CAP) even a cadet officer requires a measure of Leadership.

So, CAP Cadet Mike Klann of Clarkston, Michigan, and approximately 200 other teenage cadets are learning something about the principles of leadership in a two-week CAP Cadet Officers School being presented at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama. The course is designed to increase the effectiveness of Civil Air Patrol cadet officers.

Cadet Klann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klann.

Sawyer-Steward rites

Claudia K. Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Sawyer, 6121 Clarkston Road, Clarkston, became the wife of Daniel O. Steward, 2940 Hensman, Keego Harbor, June 1 at the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Honor attendants at the ceremony were Jo Gordon and Larry Walczak, and junior attendants were Tammy Steward and Ronnie French. Other attendants included Chuck and Mary Siple, Gary and Peggy Stockford, Walt and Shirley Steward and Bruce and Connie Sawyer. Flower girl was Debbie Steward.

The bride carried yellow roses, daisies, and babies' breath; her bridesmaids carried yellow roses.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the David Belisle Hall in Waterford.

After a honeymoon in Niagara Falls and Toronto, the Stewards are making their home at 5280 Pine Knob Lane, Clarkston.

Spiritual Message

Robert D. Walters

Two very important groups of people are talking with each other to determine how education will continue in the Clarkston School District this coming year. Representatives of the administration and the Board of Education are negotiating with representatives of the Clarkston Education Association as to calendar, working conditions, salaries, and benefits.

I believe that the tone as well as the goals of these negotiations are of profound religious concern. The two sides can see each other and treat each other as enemies, or at least adversaries—objects over which to triumph. Or they can see each other as comrades in arms, seeking a compromise that will benefit the students most, at the same time that they contend within an atmosphere of mutual respect for the legitimate or selfish concerns of those they represent.

It is indeed true that how I treat someone else is how he will treat me. Taking the lead of his Old Testament fathers, Jesus urged us to treat each other in the same way we want the other to treat us.

I pray that Jesus' lead will more and more be held up as the model, instead of the contentious labor-management model. It's tragic when manufacturing cars is seen on a par with educating persons.

How refreshing when teachers seek to give more as well as receive more, and when the community and administration are willing to invest more fully in education with resources and the risks that accompany innovation, as well as save money.

I interpret the passage of the recent school millage as the community's willingness to continue its support of education by ministering to the needs of the youngest of these who are God's children among us. This reflects credit on both the parents and non-parents who voted to support the millage 2 to 1.

Let's pray that God will bless our teams of negotiators as they seek to be wise and loving stewards of the resources, opportunities, and personnel of Clarkston Community schools.

Down thru the years ...

There are men, a number of them from the Clarkston area, whose hobby is reenactment of the country's great battles. With the approach of the Bicentennial, their pageantry assumes meaning for us all. These pictures were taken during a recent shoot at Addison-Oaks. Greenfield Village was the scene of a similar shoot recently.

Like a picket from the Civil War a member waits the signal to fire
