A total of 9,655 registered voters in Independence Township and about 2,300 in Springfield Township will be eligible Tuesday to help dictate the future of their areas and their country.

Six-year-old girl traffic fatality

A six-year-old Lake Orion girl who was visiting friends in Independence Township was killed Monday afternoon when she was hit by a car on Maybee Road, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Gayle E. Cocking dashed out into Maybee from Cecelia Ann, although the three older children she was with came to a halt at the Maybee intersection, deputies said.

Wendy, Gayle's eight-year-old sister, told investigating officers she realized the approaching car was too close to allow the youngsters to cross.

Driver of the auto, Doris J. Stapleton, 42, of 5200 Stevens, Clarkston, told officers she saw the children running down the hill on Cecilia Ann, but she was unable to stop or swerve fast enough when Gayle ran out into Maybee.

Gayle was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

She and Wendy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cocking, 2448 Cole Road, Lake Orion, were staying with the Delbert Greens at 5430 Columbia while Mrs. Cocking kept an appointment with a doctor.

Wrecker, tools returned to Roy Brothers

Oakland County Sheriff's detectives early this week made one arrest and recovered most of the items stolen during a bizarre burglary at Roy Brothers service station, 6480 Sasabaw, during the weekend.

Burglars stole the service station's wrecker, damaging the garage door as they left, to carry away 10 tires, two tool boxes containing a total of $6,300 worth of tools and at least $100 in cash.

The break-in occurred between 10 p.m. Saturday and 7:15 a.m. Sunday. It was suspected that the German shepherd left inside the building to guard it had been drugged.

The wrecker was discovered with the key in the ignition on a Pontiac street Monday night.

Detectives earlier had obtained search warrants and recovered all of the stolen goods except the cash from a house in Pontiac. Warrants were issued for the arrest of three suspects, and one was arrested Monday night, detectives said. He was to be arraigned Tuesday morning.

Speculation is that not many of them will vote. Political disenchantment arising from the Watergate investigation, plus the fact that Republicans do not have a statewide race on which to concentrate are the reason cited. Gov. William Milliken has no opposition in the primary.

The results of the races are also in doubt, some guessing that Democrats will far outpoll Republicans because of the Washington scene and other voters confiding they won't elect anyone who has ever held office before, regardless of party.

At the national level Republican incumbent William Broomfield is unopposed as is his Democratic contender, George Montgomery, for Congress.

County-wide, voters will be asked to determine whether or not Oakland County should have an appointed or an elected chief executive, and voters in Independence and Springfield will be asked to help choose three nominees for Oakland County Commissioner.

One new probate judge position, newly created by the state, is open and one unexpired Circuit Court bench term is also available.

William Travis, administrator of the Probate Court, seeks the new position along with attorneys Barry Grant and John O'Brien. Robert Webster, appointee to the Circuit Court, is opposed in that race by Pontiac District Judge James Stelt and Attorney Stuart Brickner of Oak Park.

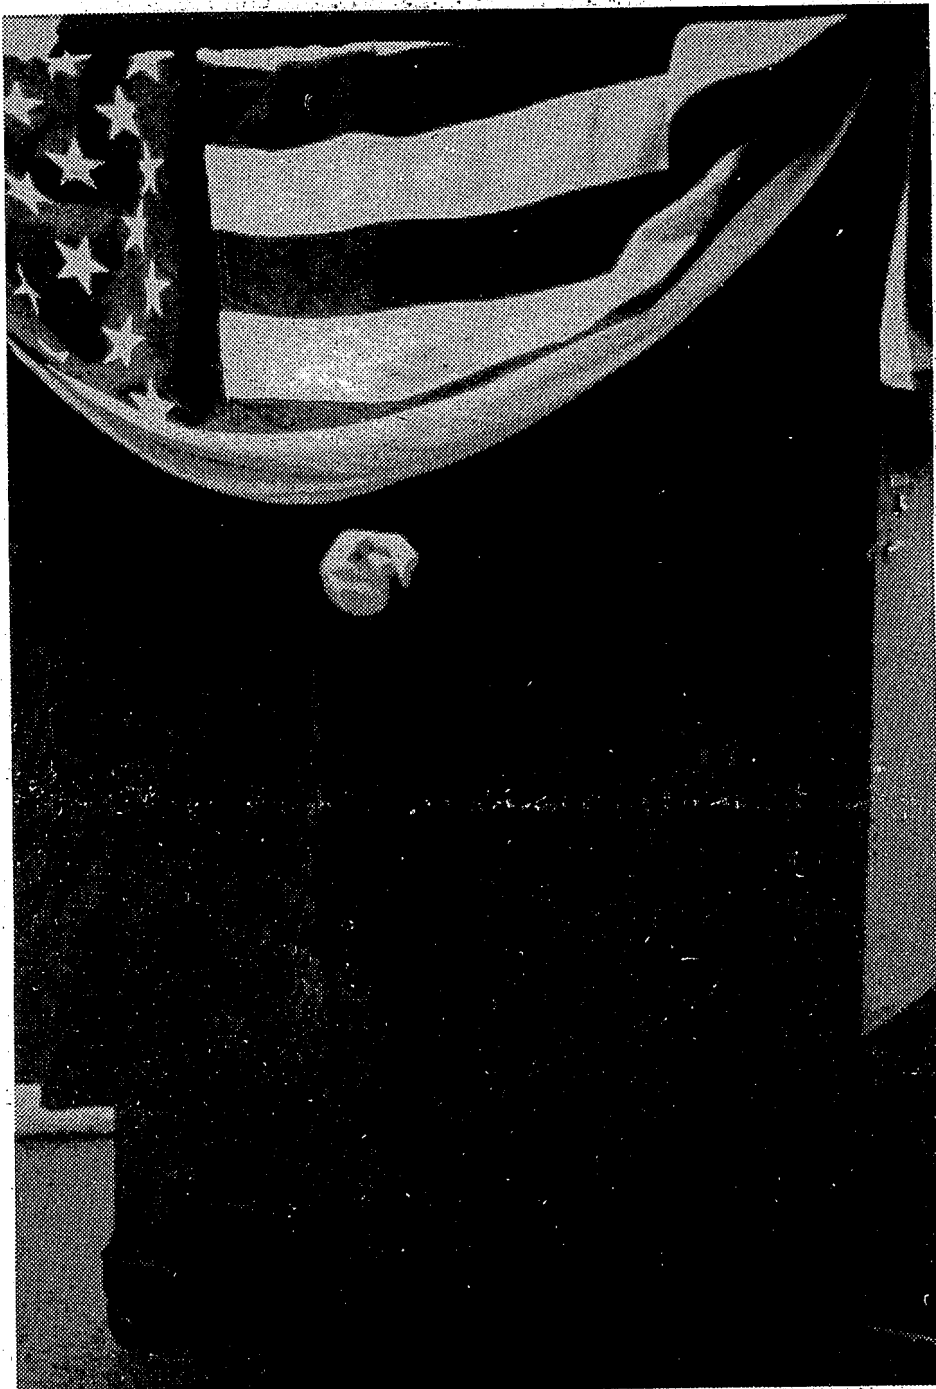

In the county commissioner race, those who vote at Independence precincts 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 will help determine the nominees in District 1. Incumbent Republican Richard Wilcox of Brandon Township has no opposition. Seeking the Democratic nomination is former Independence Township supervisor Gary Stonerock, 7990 Ortonville.

District 2, which covers all of Springfield Township and Precinct 1 in Independence, features a Democratic contest against incumbent Republican James Dunleavy. Frank Crowley, a former state representative, David Youngquist of Holly and Charles Oaks of Highland vie for the Democratic spot.

District 3, which involves precincts 2, 5 and 11 of Independence, features a three-way Democratic race between incumbent Niles Olson of Lake Orion, Irene McCabe, the anti-bussing leader from Pontiac, and Karl Randall of Pontiac. Bruce Yuille of Pontiac is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

In the 60th District House of Representatives race, Claude Trim, supervisor of Springfield Township, seeks the Democratic nomination against Donald L. Collier of Pontiac. Incumbent Republican Loren D. Anderson has no opposition.

The 17th District State Senate race appears wide open as incumbent Harvey Lodge attempts to defend his seat against Robert C. Irwin of Pontiac and Kerry Kammer, Pontiac City clerk, is the apparent front runner in a Democratic run-off featuring William A. O'Brien of Drayton Plains, William D. Munro of Waterford, and Richard G. Marion of Pontiac.

At the local level, voters of Independence will be asked to approve up to 1 1/4 mill for 10 years for the purchase of open space, park land and wildlife land, the yearly levy to be assigned by the township board.

The sum amounts to $1.25 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation and could cost owners of homes equalized a $20,000 as much as $25 per year.

In Springfield Township, voters are being asked to approve 1 mill for five years for the improvement of roads. Equal to $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, the levy, if approved, could cost owners of homes assessed at $20,000 the sum of $20 per year.

Proponents have argued, however, that used in connection with the county's matching fund program for roads, it could double benefits for the amount expended.

Springfield voters will also be asked to renew Detroit Edison's franchise in the township. A "no" vote would cause no change; it would simply require another vote until the franchise were approved, company spokesmen told a recent board meeting audience.

In the Independence races, three people seek the post of supervisor; two vie for the treasurer's position; four for the clerk's spot; and seven for the one open trustee's spot. All incumbents seek reelection.

The unusually high number of candidacies is extended to Springfield Township where four seek the about-to-be vacated supervisor's spot; three seek the about-to-be vacated treasurer's position; Clerk Calvin Walters has no opposition; and seven seek the about-to-be vacated trustee's position.

In Independence three men seek the constable's position, and in Springfield one man is running. Two would-be park commissioners seek the only available openings in Springfield.

Elsewhere in the paper, information is presented on all candidates who responded to a questionnaire sent out by The Clarkston News.

Sewer station opening stalled

While residents on the south end of the village are holding their noses and praying for a lack of rain, county officials and a contractor are working out details standing in the way of the opening of the Clarkston sewage lift station.

"It's strictly a contractual matter," said project engineer Jim Leuders in referring to his negotiations with contractors for the lift station, Weiss Pollution Control Corporation of Farmington.

Meanwhile, village residents are warily eying the "pond" created in the old septic system area west of Main Street and south of Church.

"It's more a nuisance than a health hazard," said Leuders, who noted the Oakland County Health Department is aware of the situation. The pond, which reportedly includes raw sewage as well as polluted water, is being contained by a dike consisting primarily of earth, concrete chunks and tree stumps.

"Let's just hope it doesn't rain," said Village President Keith Hallman, pointing out the proximity of the septic pond to the creek west of it.

"The problem is," Hallman commented, "that there's no one at the county level who can say to open the lift station and let the chips fall where they may."

Leuders, representing the Oakland County Department of Public Works on the local sewer project, said he hoped it would be open by the end of the week. "I can't guarantee a thing," he said. "However, I am working diligently to iron out the details."

He noted the lift station "appears to be ready to be operated," although he claimed it has been approved by no agency.

Safety equipment must be operational, and there are electrical inspections which must be made, he said.

"We are trying to get it ready for service," he said. "The station is not done, although it can be used."

Leuders now is attempting to reach agreement with Weiss on items which he feels need to be completed before the $350,000 contract is complete.

"We have yet to agree on what he has yet to do and which part we will accept," he said.

Northview slaying puzzles police

By Jean Saile

Al Diericks, who lived with his wife and one of her two children in a neat grey home just off Main Street on Northview, was a nice man.

His neighbors, who've known him for 11 years, say so. So, do the local businessmen with whom he dealt.

They and members of his family can't figure out why someone would wait a week ago Tuesday night near his home and gun him down with one shot to the head and one to the chest.

Sheriff's department officers say there was evidence that someone had waited for him, and that his schedule was fairly regular. In the daytime he went to work at Pontiac Motors, and in the evening he ran Al's Party Store, which he and his step-son, Mike Church, had built on Baldwin Road eight years ago.

"We believe that whoever killed him, anticipated killing that one man, but we have no motive and no suspects," said Lt. Carl Metheny of the department.

"From all indications there was no robbery. He did not have a store receipts with him and the only money he had on him was pocket money. He did own a gun, but we do not believe he had that with him.

"We've made contact with some people seen in the area, and ruled them out as suspects," Metheny continued. "The description we were originally given was for a younger white male, about six feet in height and of medium build. That's a vague description," he commented.

Mrs. Valerie Church of Holly, Mike's wife, said Diericks had worked 32 years at Pontiac Motor Division and would have retired from there in October. She also reported he was about to sell the party store, and the Diericks had made plans to return to property they own in Armada and do some farming.

"There's a garden there right now that needs tending," Mrs. Church said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dierick's previous mates had died, Mike's father, Norman, having suffered a heart attack 14 years ago. The Churches also lived on Northview and it was there that the widowed Mrs. Church met her future husband. His wife had also died, leaving him with two sons, now grown. The Diericks were married 11 years ago and moved to Armada, returning to Clarkston about eight years ago.

Said Mrs. Church, "He was a good man. He was good to everyone. If someone had needed money, and they were sincere, he probably would have given them some. He was that kind of person."

Neither she nor the neighbors have been able to figure out any motive for the killing. There was some panic on the street for a while after the shooting and Mrs. Penny Easton reports that probably more lights burn longer at night now, but the neighbors just don't know.

"They were both well respected. They'd worked so hard for so long, and both were looking forward to retirement," Mrs. Easton added.

Mrs. Harold Brittain who lives further down the street said most people slept through the shooting, but were awakened by police who showed up after the crime.

Lt. Metheny reported a party had been in progress across the street, but none there heard anything either. Some neighbors reported seeing someone leave the area after the shooting, but the leads haven't checked out, he added. Neither has a search for possible enemies, he said.

Diericks, who was 54, was buried Saturday from Armada in West Berlin Cemetery near there. An immigrant from Belgium at the age of 15, he believed he'd just about got it made to the point where he could start taking things easier.

Attending the funeral were his wife, his children, his step-children and three grandchildren. "We'll really miss him," said Mrs. Church.

Watering a pot full of pot, Beth Tower could be in plenty of trouble if she weren't a clerk in the Independence Township Police Department and if she weren't tending the marijuana plant as "part of a pending investigation and study."

Sign ordinance action urged

By Pat Braunagel

Impatience over the lack of action on proposed changes in Independence Township's sign ordinance has been expressed by one segment of the business community.

The Business Association of Independence Township has passed a resolution urging township officials "to immediately take action on any and all matters before it pertaining to the sign ordinance."

The resolution, passed by a voice vote of the approximately 30 persons at the July 25 B.A.I.T. meeting, is to be presented at the Aug. 7 session of the township board.

The action came after a report by businessman Tom Ritter, chairman of a six-member sign ordinance committee appointed by Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark.

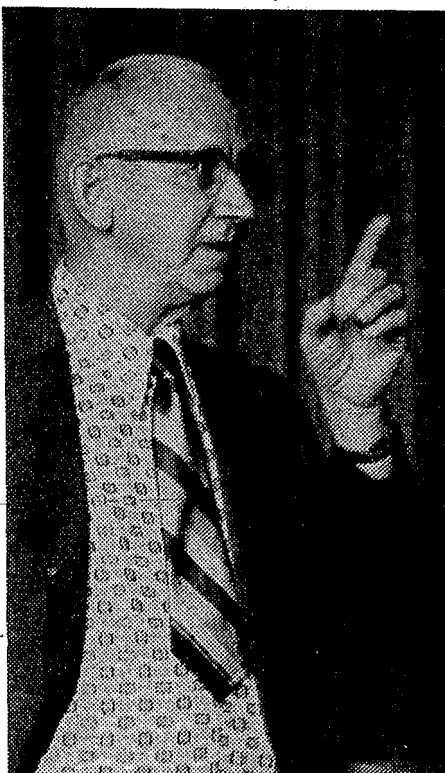

Recommendations made by the committee, hammered out during seven sessions between Jan. 7 and Feb. 18, have been "in limbo" since then, Ritter said.

Business representatives indicated they would like, and intend to get, copies of the four pages of recommendations made by the committee.

The sign committee consisted of Ritter, Dr. Forrest D. Hunt, Kenneth Winship, Edwin Manley, Keith Humbert and J. Edwin Glennie.

Ritter said the group adjourned until a separate section of the ordinance could be written to cover shopping centers.

"We had six men in those meetings, and, very frankly, we had six men with different ideas," Ritter said.

Luther Fletcher cited lack of expertise.

One of the committee's recommendations which has been turned down by Township Attorney Richard Campbell and Building Department Head Kenneth Delbridge is that a planimeter be used to measure the size of signs.

With the instrument, only the surface of the sign would be measured in determining whether it is within the 50-square-foot limitation. Both Delbridge and Campbell have recommended that the committee's suggestion not be accepted.

Another major area of disagreement was over temporary signs, Ritter noted. He said it is in this area that new businesses are at a disadvantage, being unable to afford an estimated $1,200 for a new permanent sign when they are in the process of just getting underway.

The sign ordinance is one portion--Section 7--of the township's zoning ordinance which currently is being revised.

Glennie, Independence Township clerk, has said proposed sign code changes would be included in the final proposed zoning ordinance to be considered at a public hearing.

"I'm extremely disappointed with the inaction of the board," Ritter said, commenting that township officials have given special consideration to some businesses and have made no attempt to sell the ordinance to the business community.

Revision of the sign ordinance should be forthcoming as soon as possible, he said.

Luther Fletcher questioned the makeup of the sign committee, pointing out there were no members from the sign field on it.

He said such factors as time slots, lane loads and background should be taken into consideration.

While he did not question the sincerity of the people involved, Fletcher said, "I do believe they tried to use you people."

He moved that the group ask the township board to withdraw Section 7 of the ordinance "subject to study and advisement by those who are knowledgeable in signs."

Tom Ritter reported on sign committee work.

Fletcher's motion died for lack of a second, as did that of Chris Nicholas who suggested that the group endorse candidates in the forthcoming election because "I think the people in office right now are not interested in changing the sign ordinance."

The motion adopted by the group was offered by Carl Karlstrom, attorney for the business association.

They've got a plan

Billy Pfeil, 10, [from left] and his friends Kevin Winship, 9; Jim Reppuhn, 10; and Bill Weeks, 9, think something ought to be done to stop the traffic slaying of animals. And they got encouragement from at least one animal, the Pfeil family dog, Toby. So they filed a complaint this week with Police Director Jack McCall asking that signs to slow traffic for animals crossing be posted along Clarkston-Orion Road between Almond Lane and Main Street. The boys say they've seen dead skunks, birds, cats, frogs and snakes along the strip of road.

Village delays ordinance enactment

Lack of a quorum postponed until August 19 discussion and action by the Village Council on eight proposed ordinances Independence Township is asking the village to approve.

Only three village trustees attended the informal council meeting last Monday—Kathleen McCall, James Schultz, and James Weber. Trustees Ruth Basinger, Neil Granlund, and Michael Thayer were out of town.

The ordinances submitted to the council by the township involved control of litter, nuisances, soliciting, disorderly persons, abandoned vehicles, refuse disposal, junk yards, and motorcycles.

A letter from village attorney John Steckling was read giving his recommendations as to how the new ordinances would affect existing ordinances. Steckling stated that the ordinances "generally cover the area better and are as a whole, much more up to date."

"As to conflicting provisions in previous ordinances," Steckling continued, "I don't feel that there will be any loss of coverage by a repeal of the earlier ordinances."

Steckling advised that two of the ordinances, the disposal ordinance and the junk yard ordinance, were not required due to current village zoning and make-up.

He also recommended that the current village ordinance covering disorderly persons be maintained.

The township asked the village to approve the ordinances in an effort to coordinate police enforcement of them.

They're really working on playground

Teenagers who recently organized the Woodhull Lake recreation program have now begin operations to improve the recreation area they're using.

The teens, who are also acting as counselors in the daily two-hour program, held a car wash and solicited donations to improve the lot next to the tennis court they are using for the program.

The court and lot on the corner of Jerome and Cobden, are owned by the Woodhull Lake Property Owners Association, but were bare before the teens built a sandbox and added three donated swing sets, seven tractor tires, and a sign listing the program activities.

Plans are still in the works for a set of monkey bars, a teeter-totter, and a merry-go-round. The teenagers are planning more fund raising activities to help finance the improvements, including another car wash, a bake sale and a carnival.

Thus far, according to Valerie Smith, one of the organizers, participation in the program has been very good, and the teens who are working so hard to make the program work aren't a bit tired of all that hard work.

Auto mishap injures couple

A Goodrich man and his wife were in fair condition this week in Pontiac's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where they were being treated for injuries they sustained in an Independence Township auto accident early Sunday morning.

Both Mark Mitchell Jr., 39, and his wife Nolla, 40, were in the intensive care unit of the hospital.

Independence Township police said the car driven by Mitchell was southbound on Sashabaw when he lost control south of Oakhill shortly after midnight Sunday.

The car swerved off the east side of the road, then off the west, rolling over, according to the report. In the process, the auto ran up an embankment and was airborne for about 88 feet, police said.

We endorse --

The Clarkston News has no intention of endorsing political candidates for local office. These candidates are your neighbors and hopefully your friends, and we feel you are near enough to the situation to make your own valid decision.

In the Oakland County Commission races, three of which involve the Independence and Springfield area, we choose:

District 1: Precincts 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 — Republican Richard Wilcox and Democrat Gary Stonerock.

District 2: Precinct 1 in Independence and all of Springfield — Republican James Dunleavy and Democrat Frank Crowley.

District 3: Precincts 2, 5, 11 — Democrat Niles Olson. The Republican candidate is unopposed.

For the 60th District House of Representatives we endorse Democratic challenger Claude Trim. His Republican counterpart, Loren Anderson, is unopposed.

In the 17th District State Senate race we make no endorsements; however we feel that the candidacies of Robert Irwin and William A. O'Brien are equally as valid as their better known counterparts — incumbent Harvey Lodge and Pontiac City Clerk Kerry Kammer. Kammer and O'Brien are running on the Democratic ticket and Lodge and Irwin on the Republican ticket.

Whether Oakland County government should have an elected county executive presents little interest to the average voter. We believe it worthwhile in that in the interests of economy and efficiency, Oakland County government must be reorganized. Many of the pseudo autonomous county agencies should be brought under one head, and we believe an elected official would have more power to slash away at the fiefdoms which will be affected than one who merely serves at the pleasure of the Board of Commissioners.

Eugene Kuthy, the Democratic candidate for the position, has a strong record of public service and is a qualified candidate. Daniel Murphy, Republican, has been capably handling the appointive position for many years. We do not feel Daniel Barry, ex-Republican Drain Commissioner now seeking the nomination on the Democratic ticket, is a valid contender.

'If It Fitz . . .'

Don't pray for too much

by Jim Fitzgerald

A bunch of sincere people wearing sandwich boards recently spent 3 days on the U.S. Capitol steps, praying for President Nixon. They call themselves the National Prayer and Fast Committee, which naturally reminds me of my old basketball team.

I was brought up to believe God answered all prayers. I didn't begin to have doubts until I went out for 8th grade basketball. The coach was a priest and the first thing he told us was to make the sign of the cross before shooting each free shot.

What about field goals?

The coach explained about the 2-handed set shot, which was the only way to make field goals in those days. In the action of the game, a player had to keep both hands ready to shoot at all times. There simply wasn't time to make a decent sign of the cross which (for all you heathens) requires that the crosser touch his forehead, chest and both shoulders with his right hand while saying, "In the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost, Amen." This was pretty hard to do while dribbling.

However, it was different at the free throw line. A player had plenty of time for prayer before shooting. And the coach would tolerate no sloppiness. A kid had to pause plainly at all 4 stops — forehead, chest, left shoulder and right shoulder — and his lips had to be seen moving. If a kid made a careless circle instead of a cross, with no stops, he risked immediate benching.

The awful thing was, I made the slowest cross on the team, and my words were louder than cheers — but I still missed most of my free shots. God wasn't paying attention. My faith began to leak.

I took my troubles to the coach. He explained God knows best. If my shots weren't going in, it was God's will, and I should accept it. And when I prayed for God to put my ball through the hoop, I should always add, just before the Amen, "That is, if it is OK with You, God."

Which made my sign of the cross take even longer. And still the free throws wouldn't go in. God's will was against me. Finally I asked the coach for permission to kneel before shooting but he said no, it wouldn't be fair to the rest of the players for me to hog all of God's attention.

Toward the end of a miserable season, cynicism began to take hold. "Are you sure God really cares whether I make my free shots?" I asked the coach.

He looked both ways before answering. "Don't tell the Bishop, but I'm not even sure God comes to all our games," he admitted. "If I were you, I'd quit asking God to make your free shots. There are more important things than scoring. You should ask Him to at least let you hit the backboard."

From that day on, my life with God was easier. I finally realized it was wrong and foolish to ask for too much. And that is the advice I would give to the National Prayer and Fast Committee.

They shouldn't pray that God will smite the impeachers and enshrine Richard Nixon as our King forever. Rather, they should ask God to at least let Julie Nixon Eisenhower keep her job as an editor at the Ladies Home Journal.

Water, water --

by Jean Salle

Where I grew up, there were years when there was hardly enough water to take a bath — let alone learn to swim.

Back in the drought ridden 30s, a likely looking rain cloud could hold a Saskatchewan farmer's attention all day. He'd watch it flirt with the horizon, skitter closer and recede again, and meanwhile he'd pray.

The wheat would be turning brown in the field, long before it had headed properly, and dust would be filling the skies. For years I thought the sky was as apt to be rosy brown as blue.

The July drought we've just experienced may have triggered some of these memories.

I've watched Grandma and Grandpa, those old Saskatchewan homesteaders, agonize over their small garden and felt lucky because its produce is now considered luxury as opposed to necessity.

Grandma's pea crop all dried on the vine, despite hand watering. But they've been able to save the rest of the garden, and she is now loudly ballyhooing her first ripe tomato.

We've rhapsodized over the green beans and the fresh beets, and all the kids are keeping an eye on the corn tassels and testing periodically to see the state of ear development.

Anyway — as a result of this dirth of water in my younger years, I was a timid 15 and a resident of Michigan before I began getting it altogether and staying on the surface of the water instead of falling through.

When we first moved to Michigan, I lived next door to a member of the then state championship Saginaw Arthur Hill swim team. He and some of his friends decided it was time I learned to swim, and religiously they'd take me to the Saginaw Y where they'd put me through all sorts of rigorous training.

There came a time when I could do six laps of the pool without faltering, and it's true the lessons did save me once from a dangerous undertow in the Gulf of Mexico.

But I've got to admit it — I still prefer a hot shower to a cool dip. Blame those Saskatchewan rain clouds.

Letters to the editor

Letters must be signed

The Clarkston News on occasion receives unsigned letters. Some of them — such as the one received this week from a Clarkston High School student and another from the Rainbow Peoples Party of Clarkston, are well constructed efforts at getting a viewpoint in print. We wish we could use them, but until we receive the name of the author we cannot for various reasons. We do not have to use the name in print, but we must have it on file. If the authors would care to call us and give us their names, we will be pleased to run the letters. If your viewpoints are worthy of consideration, they are worthy of having your name affixed to them.

A tale of 2 tickets

Open letter to John Denver and his fans:

I apologize to you and all thousands of your fans for my seeming uninterested in your singing at Pine Knob this week. I just have no understanding of an ear for music of any kind.

I was trying to win the 100 gallons of gasoline in our Independence Democratic fund-raising raffle. Mr. B.J. Merritt of Waterford Hill won the gasoline and Mr. R.G. Joseph of Ortonville won the booby prize of the Watergate transcript tapes copy.

Those two tickets to your concert were put to double use then as I raffled them at a party for Gene Kuthy, the Democratic candidate for elected Oakland County Executive.

William Patrick of Clarkston's Democratic Club won them. Amazingly, he had no desire for them either. He increased our fund raising efforts even higher by selling them to a young fellow in the band.

Needless to say, this music lover was elated and went running to telephone his girlfriend of his luck -- two tickets to a concert sold out way back in June.

I'll think fondly of you as I see the controlled traffic behind my house on I-75 and Sashabaw with thousands of your fans coming and going to see and hear you each concert day.

But, a sad note too. My music loving son, Cecil, and friends came in from Oklahoma the day after the re-raffle of the tickets -- something they all would love to have. They had spent three whole days at a music festival in Missouri on their way to Michigan.

Council backs church

Recently opinions have been expressed proposing the village purchase of the Old Methodist Church on Buffalo Street. We, the members of the community Art Council, voted unanimously on July 24, 1974 in support of this proposal with the building to be used as village offices and a community center.

The significance of the church as a historical landmark in our community is an important one, especially during the bicentennial period. In addition to the historical value, the church could serve the whole community, old and young, as a community information and coordination center, a meeting place, and perhaps a place for the education and cultural entertainment.

Restoring the old church would be a move toward preserving the community's historical atmosphere and establishing a facility for holding community cultural events. We urge the Clarkston Village Council to support this proposal for the betterment of the community.

Respectfully,
Joan M. Kopietz
Co-chairman

Appeals board knock

Dear Editor:

In your July 25th issue you published a report of Variance Denial of two undersized lots on Monterey by virtue of adjoining property owner purchasing property.

The majority of property owners on Monterey Street wish the residents of Independence Township to know the truth, that we fought the Variance Board for three months, three separate meetings, the last two being unpublished with no notice of meeting to property owners.

The board I am sure was surprised that property owners were kept informed of meeting dates and times, and at the last and 3rd meeting a motion was made by one of the members of the Board "That Variance be denied, not because of Mr. Grogan's letters, but because most of the residents are against building on the lots, the lots are actually too small to put a building on and also may affect the water and sewerage systems of adjoining property".

This same Board member then sent a nasty personal letter to the undersigned which leaves me to believe that they did not want to deny the variance but were forced to do so because of the actions of the property owners.

Although most of my actions pertaining to the Board were actually as a spokesman for the residents of Monterey Street, I personally feel that more homeowners should take more interest in the actions and inactions of the variance board to prevent building on the small parcels and overcrowd some streets, causing more problems than is imaginable just to make some builder and or promoter richer.

Incidentally, adjoining property owners tried to purchase two lots in question from Mrs. Galiatsos prior to the first variance meeting on May 29, 1974.

Open space for all

First I thought it was garbage, but it turned out to be trash.

At one of the Clarkston Jaycee meetings, attended by Mr. Vandermark and Mr. Burkhart, a presentation of the now defunct consent judgement of the Deer Lake Development was made. I happened to be at that meeting and I presented my view as one of the residents around the lake.

At the meeting, Jerry Powell, township trustee made this comment "if a proposal was made to purchase the land around the north end of Deer Lake, and that Proposal was put on the ballot, would the homeowners around the lake work as hard for the passage of that proposal as they now fight against the development"?

To which I replied "I can't speak for the homeowners, I can only speak for myself, of course I would be for acquiring open space in the township." The choice was obvious. The choice between open space and a massive development, the slumification around the lake and the destruction of the lake is no alternative to open space.

So when Jerry Powell makes his comments, which will do nothing except create a lot of resentment, and polarize the township, they are not the kind of comments that an elected official should make.

So let's talk about open space in the township. On front page the July 28th 1974 New York Times features an article "Nation's cities fighting to stem growth" and to quote from the article "Limitations on growth, ranging from population ceilings to moratoriums on building permits, are proliferating by the day. Each place has its own reasons. Water supply and sewage treatment are overloaded. Open space or other environmental values are threatened. Taxpayers are outraged at the prospect of big new capital investments needed to provide community services for some populations."

I, as a resident of Independence Township, feel that if any part of the township is in danger because of money hungry speculators intoxicated with the possibility of ripping off windfall profits and consequently rape, ravage and destroy the land, than it is the responsibility of our elected officials to stand up and fight and not to cave in like spineless Jelly fish because of intimidating developers.

The proposal to acquire open space is a sound proposal. The acquisition of open space is not for the residents of Deer Lake, Pine Knob or for that matter any part of the township.

Open space is the fastest vanishing commodity today. Look what happens when a town is saturated by developments - and you really don't have to go very far. Pontiac is a good example. The only open space is the area that is left vacant through the demolition of old buildings and the Wide Track Drive.

We must plan ahead now. We must designate certain areas as open space and put the sign up for all developers to see "Keep Out!"

Our national parks and our state parks were preserved to be enjoyed by all.

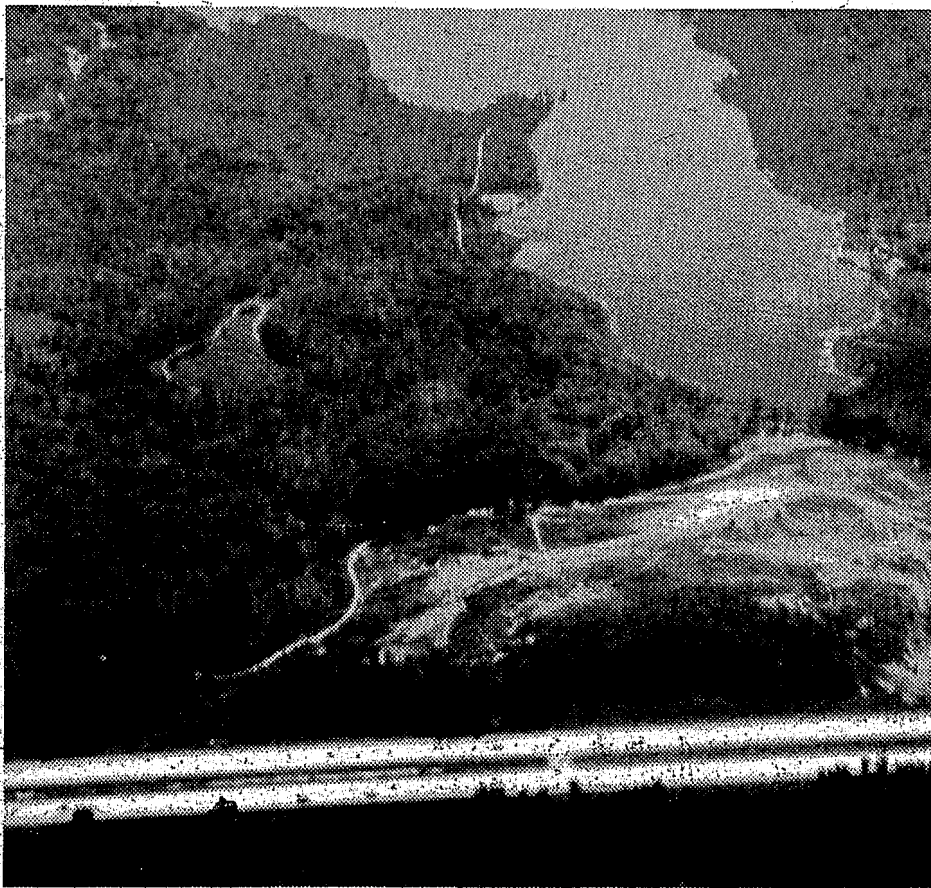

In most elections people vote not because of special interest, but because it is for the common good. So it is with open space. Plan for it while it is still available - and Jerry this is the Main Point. You plan for open space while it is still available, and not because the people around Deer Lake do not want to see a development. You have no right as an elected official to single out any area in this township and brand them as a special interest group. Deer Lake is for all the township people to enjoy.

So it is for all of us, now comes the choice. What do we really want?

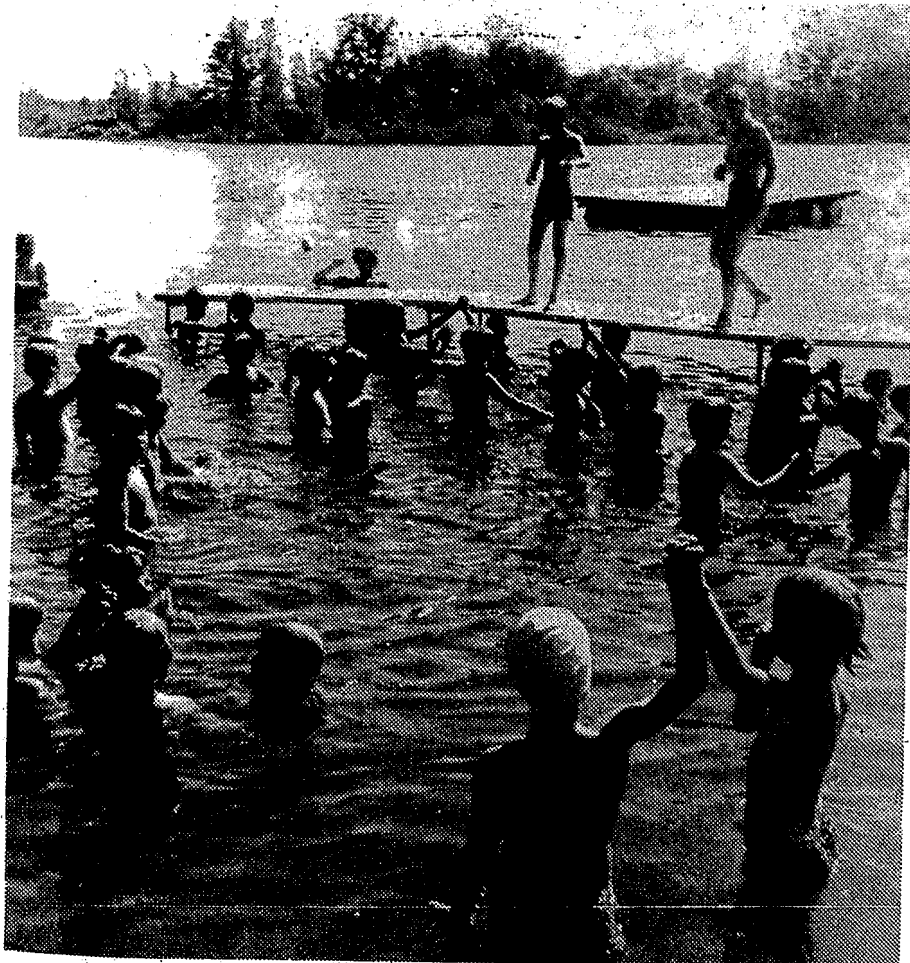

A rapidly growing township with no planning where one end of the township would start to decay while the other end is still being developed, or do we want a community that will be the pride of Oakland County?

The choice is up to us. The willingness of some of our township officials to compromise is alarming. My commitments as long as I am a resident here, is to Independence Township. My commitments is not to developers who talk about maximum permissible density. Independence Township has more potential to become one of the greatest communities than any other place in Oakland County.

Council considers insurance, church purchase

The Clarkston Village Council is thinking of updating its insurance policies to include increased coverage in areas of property and personal liability, fire insurance, and excess liability. The council discussed a revised insurance policy with insurance representative Rick Huttenlocher at an informal meeting Monday night. The new coverage would raise village insurance premiums minimally from $496 to $505, with an extra cost for possible additional coverage.

The council also received a letter from the Clarkston Community Art Council stating its support of the purchase of the Old Methodist Church on Buffalo Street for use as village offices and a community center.

"Restoring the old church would be a move toward preserving the community's historical atmosphere and establishing a facility for holding community cultural events," the letter stated.

Trustee James Schultz reported the progress he and Trustee Ruth Basinger have made on the church purchase proposal, stating they have located an engineer from Grosse Pointe who may be able to conduct an estimate on renovation costs.

Village council President Keith Hallman also noted that repairs on the current village hall are almost complete, bringing the building up to regulation fire codes. Hallman said the new fire escape, metal doors, fire extinguishers, metal storage cabinets, air conditioner and other improvements will altogether cost one-half of the $5,000 budgeted for the improvements.

Pine Knob fans happy
James Taylor
is on the road again

By Eric Mobey

DOWN IN FRONT!

After a year's layoff from recording and concert dates Taylor is on the road again. Taylor appeared at Pine Knob July 22nd and 23rd and proved that he hasn't lost the ability to captivate and move an audience.

Taylor strolled on stage unobtrusively, picked up his guitar and launched into "Close Your Eyes." He was later joined by five accomplished musicians augmenting the beautiful clear sound Taylor is known for.

It is most enjoyable to see an entertainer who sounds as good live as on your stereo. James Taylor takes very little time between songs and managed to please the crowd by simply tuning his guitar. It is this professionalism that makes him so popular.

A lot of material from Taylor's latest album, "Walking Man," was introduced and well received. I especially enjoyed a new song called "Me and My Guitar." "Please Don't Let Me Be Lonely Tonight," Taylor's current hit single, drew a large ovation as did "Country Road."

"Kicking Around the Zoo" is a tune about Taylor's experience as a patient in a mental institution and the sad reality and humor of the situation. When he introduced the song he made reference to his days in the "nut house." "Fire and Rain" is James Taylor's trademark song and is a true story of his life experiences and his relationship with Suzanne, a patient who commits suicide.

When he performed The Song at Pine Knob the audience lit the air with butane lighters and matches that added a certain ceremony to the song. The crowd brought Taylor back for two encores and, fittingly enough, he closed with "Sweet Baby James."

DONALD ROGERS

Donald Rogers, 30, Democratic candidate for Springfield Township supervisor, says he feels the most important issue concerning the position is whether it should be full - or part-time.

A customer service representative for Detroit Edison Co., Rogers is married, has two children, and lives at Semindale, Springfield Township.

He graduated from Livonia Bentley High School and attended Schoolcraft Community College, Lake Superior State College and Oakland Community College.

Rogers is past treasurer of Oakland County District 21 Jaycees and current treasurer of the Davisburg Area Jaycees. He is Springfield Township constable and has been chairman for Springfield Township Annual Cleanup for the past two years.

Besides his membership in the Davisburg Area Jaycees, he belongs to St. Daniel's Catholic Church and the Father Daniel A. Lord Council of the Knights of Columbus.

"Since moving into the area three years ago," he said, "I have attended 90 percent of all Township Board meetings.

"I chose to run for office because I feel I can be of service to the community and its residents.

"The most important issue concerning the position of supervisor in Springfield Township is the determination if this office should be a full or part-time position," he said.

"Springfield Township is growing. Since 1971 our population has increased over 50 percent. The problems of a growing community are many. The man who is going to govern this community will need many hours to remedy these problems.

"As a candidate for supervisor, I pledge to the people that I will devote a minimum of 40 hours per week to the community.

"There will be normal business hours at the Township Hall where residents can contact their supervisor. The position of supervisor would be my full-time employment.

"Another necessary issue is police and fire protection. Currently Springfield Township has a contract with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department to have one deputy for eight hours per day within the confines of our Township.

"I will strive to increase the police protection by working more closely with the Sheriff's Department for future law enforcement and crime prevention," he said.

Because The Clarkston News was unable to include all political biographies in last week's issue, three that were inadvertently missed are reprinted this week.

"Our Volunteer Fire Department does a terrific job, but other locations for future fire stations are needed to effectively protect the more distant portions of our Township.

"Due to the increasing population, I feel the township should have an accelerated program to investigate and obtain property for future fire stations.

"Working as a full-time supervisor I would have sufficient time to investigate the avenues to accomplish these goals," he said.

"The communication between the local government and township residents should be improved. Through local publications, citizens will receive pre-notification of issues to be discussed at Township meetings as well as the results of these meetings.

"As your full-time supervisor, I will have a schedule of future issues and events, as well as a list of accomplishments, in the form of a newsletter to be mailed quarterly."

ANN QUINLAN

Seeking the office for Springfield Township treasurer is Democratic Anna Marie Quinlan, 49, of 11381 Big Lake, Davisburg.

Bolstering her candidacy, she cites considerable experience following her 1942 graduation from Ferndale St. James High School.

She supervised the shipping and receiving department at Fort Wayne Ordnance during World War II. While her husband was in the Navy, she worked in the engineering department at Modesto (Calif.) Irrigation District.

She was a bookkeeper at Cook Coffee Co. and worked in the engineering department at Reichhold Chemical Co. in Ferndale. She owned and operated a party store at Big Lake for five years, taking care of all procurements and business accounts.

As goals to strive for if elected, she lists:

--Reestablishment of stronger local government.

--Equal treatment of all the people by elected officials.

--Service to the public, as the title "public servant" implies.

"I will strive to make the voter aware of his or her responsibility to get out and vote for the public (servant) officials who will do the jobs the people want done in their community. I hope to create in our citizens renewed interest in our form of democracy," she said.

"I desire to serve our community and its people. At this time, because of a few recent public incidents, citizens are losing confidence in our form of self-government, which if properly administered, can give them equality, security and fair treatment.

"I would work to form some educational programs which would remove the barrier of ignorance surrounding some citizens' concepts of the workings of our democratic system of government.

"This, I hope, would increase the people's awareness of the importance of our system of self-government and thereby renew their interest in becoming personally involved in our government, especially at the local level.

"Self government cannot achieve its ultimate goal of equality for ALL unless ALL are involved. So, let's ALL get out and VOTE.

Clarkstonites find

Pine Knob fined on liquor violations

Ogden Confection Corporation and Indusco Corporation have paid $200 in fines for acknowledged violations of the state liquor laws at Pine Knob Restaurant, 7777 Pine Knob Road.

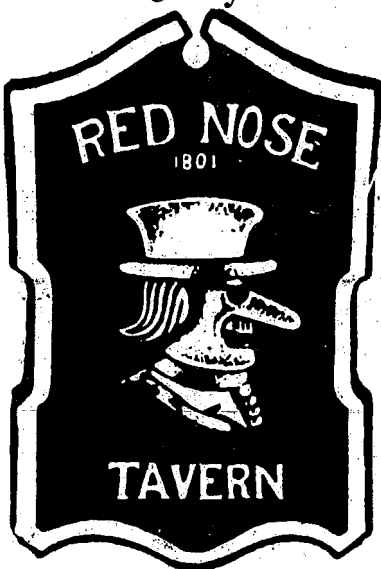

A Michigan Liquor Control Commission spokesman said $100 was paid by the business for illegally giving away raffle tickets on a sports car with the purchase of each all area ski pass, and another $100 was paid for adding onto the premises without first obtaining permission from the MLCC.

The restaurant has until August 17 to either seal off the addition from the licensed premises or to obtain commission approval for the addition, the spokesman said.

Mackinaw race an exciting event

By Mary Warner

"It's sorta like playing high school football and suddenly getting asked to play in the Superbowl," was Clarkston sailboat enthusiast Keith Hallman's description of his stint as a helmsman on the Naiad in the three-day annual BayView Port Huron to Mackinaw Island Sailboat Race.

The Naiad is a 41-foot Tartan sailboat owned by Dr. James Ballard of Cass City, and competed in the class B division of the 241-boat race which took place July 19-21.

Hallman and his son Mark were asked to join the ten-man crew for the race as the result of Hallman's association with Jim Sharl of Clarkston, who is the son-in-law of boat owner Ballard.

"We were off to a magnificent start," Hallman said. "We got a head start on some of the most famous racing boats in the Southern Ocean Racing Conference."

Hallman quoted a newspaper article listing some of the boats the Naiad beat the gun on, including the Sundance, Leading Edge, Aggressive, No-Go Seven and Fever, "which are all famous boats with excellent racing records," Hallman said.

"But you know, when you're knocking heads with all those pros," Hallman said, "it's kind of scary."

Hallman said the Naiad was one of the leaders for the first 24 hours of the race. All told, the Naiad sailed 392 miles in 72 hours, "and the longest period of sleep I got the whole time was two hours," he said.

He said the whole journey was charged with excitement and nervousness among the crew members.

"Everyone was in high spirits while the wind was up and we were logging good time," he said, "but it was very frustrating when there were periods of no wind at all. We even found ourselves drifting backwards at times."

The race was a slow one, he said, as heavy winds at the start of the race dwindled down to nothing. "We were completely at the mercy of the elements," he said. "We tried everything to get the boat going. We dropped heavy sail, put up drifters, and half-pound spinnakers."

But their efforts were only enough to put the Naiad in the top third of the finish line, Hallman said, a fate the crew hopes to change next year.

This was the 50th anniversary of the race, and boats ranging from 12-meter former American Cup contenders to 30-footers participated in the course from Port Huron to Cove Island in the northeastern end of Lake Huron and on to Mackinaw Island.

"It's an experience that anyone who likes to sail just can't miss," Hallman said. "It's exciting, physically trying, and I can't wait to do it again."

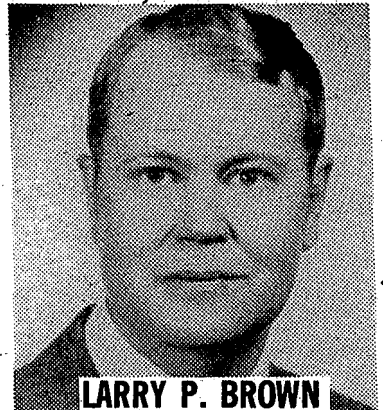

But while he's waiting for the next big race, Hallman, who has been sailing boats since he was a boy, will continue to sail the small Flying Scot he purchased three years ago. "I'm going up to Torch Lake for two weeks with my family," he said, and I'm looking forward to some fine sailing."

Cycling varied, but popular

By Mary Warner

There are big ones, small ones, medium ones, two-wheelers, three-wheelers, one-wheelers, double-seaters, single-seaters, 10-speeds, 5-speeds, 3-speeds, and pedal-pushin' speeds.

But there's one thing that's no different about them all over the country--bicycles are selling like hot-cakes.

"We can't buy them fast enough," was the word from area bicycle shop owners, who are experiencing increased sales as a result of the recent boom in bicycle riding.

"An early buying spree in March and April was probably due to the recent energy crisis, when more people were looking toward bikes as a cheap means of transportation," Tom Nell, owner of a bicycle shop in Union Lake, said.

But the energy crisis wasn't the beginning. Independence Township Bike Club member Denise Squies said she started riding a bike for the exercise. She and other bike club members will be getting a lot of exercise when they travel to Grayling on bikes later this summer.

Bike outings are another manifestation of the recent bike craze, and clubs such as the Waterford Wheelers sponsor many regular outings which are timed in accordance with the speed and the expertise with which one wants to ride.

Another result of the increased sales and use of bikes has been a mini-war between bike riders and automobile drivers.

Nell said many cyclists disobey the rules of the road set down by state law for bike riding and weave in and out of traffic, often causing confusion and irritation among motorists who have no way of predicting what the cyclist will do next.

The fight for riding space between the two vehicles was a partial cause for eight bike-related personal injury accidents this year in Oakland County, and five bicycle-rider fatalities the year before.

Currently the law for Oakland County is that the cyclists ride with the flow of traffic and observe traffic regulations.

The surge in the number of expensive 10-speed models has also provided a lucrative target for thieves, who made off with a reported 76 bicycles in Oakland County for the month of June alone.

Law enforcement agencies are working to combat the problem with increased bicycle registration and program designed to help people take precautions against the thieves.

A bicycle registration program will begin in August in Independence Township which will place a tag and a hidden engraved number on the bikes to help identify them if they are recovered.

James Curtis, chief of the Oakland County Sheriff Department's road patrol, said he has had a problem finding the owners of bikes after the police have recovered them, citing department figures for the last three months in which 10 of the 43 bikes recovered by the police are still unclaimed.

Curtis said off-duty police from his department will help the police from the township conduct the registration programs on weekends.

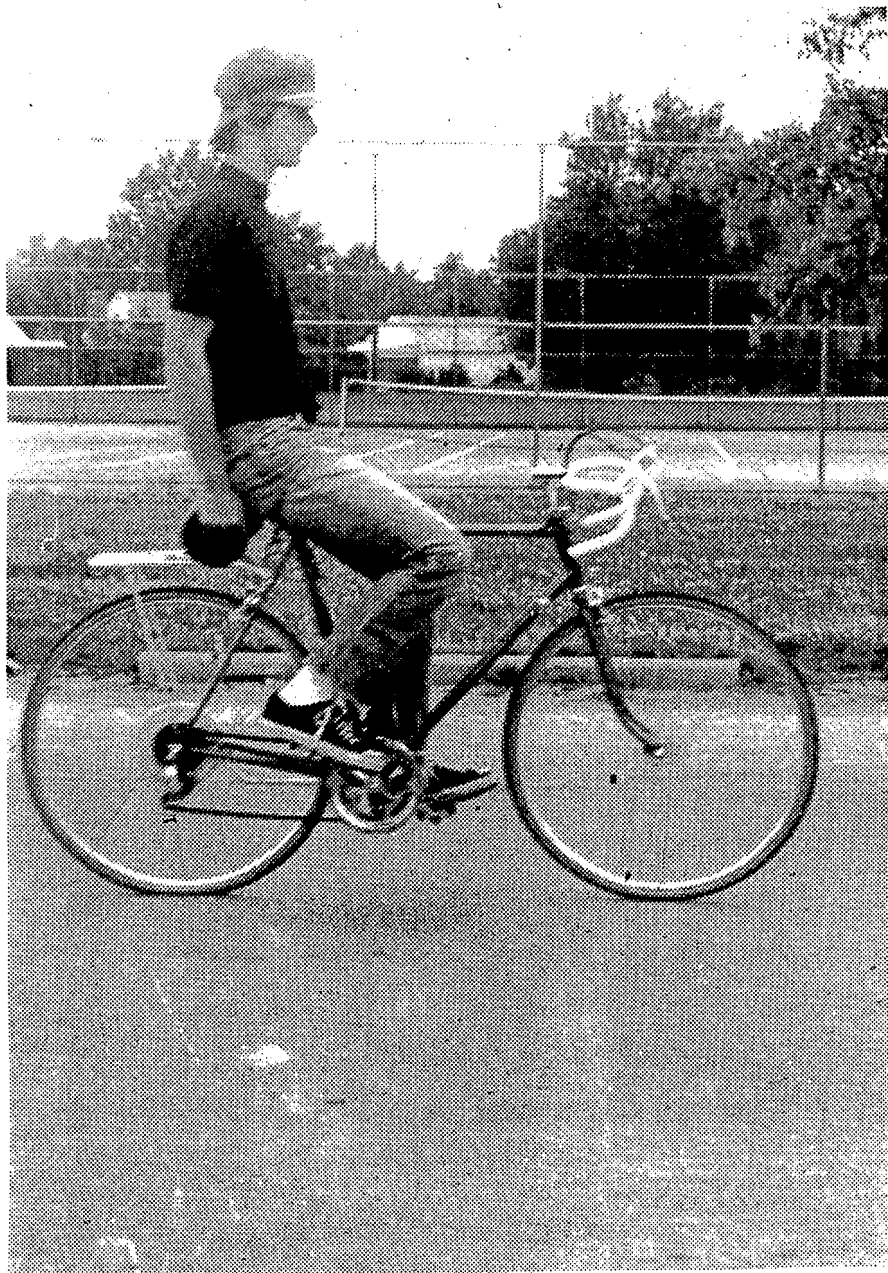

In the case of Independence Township, according to Police Chief Jack McCall, auxiliary police of the township will be helping conduct the registrations.

Eventually the townships and Oakland County hope to have a year-round registration program.

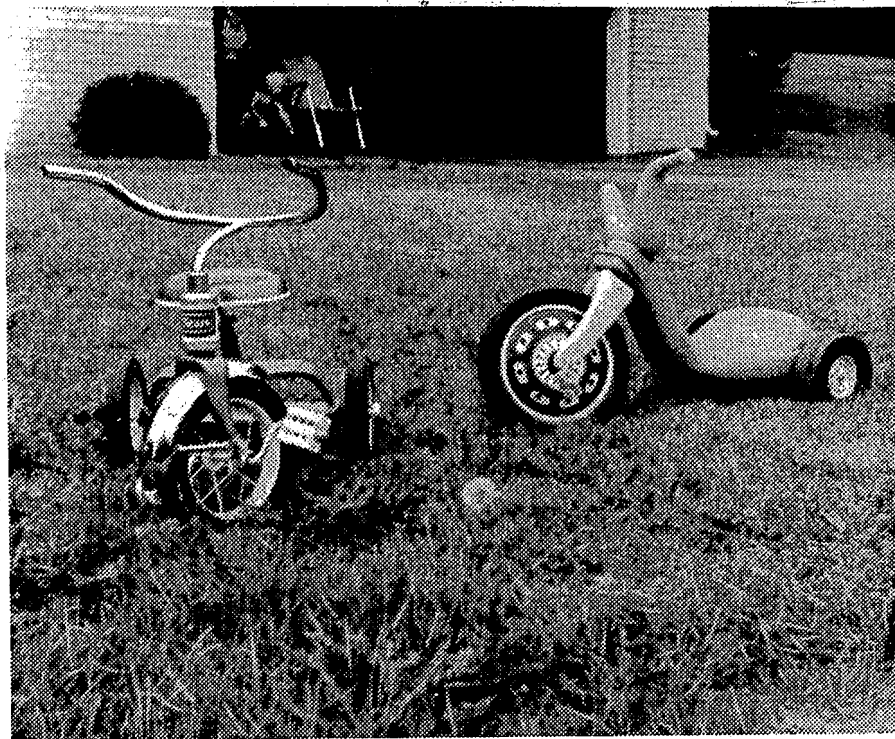

But despite bike thefts, many cyclists are still enjoying the fruits of the sport.

The Fred Van Cleves of Snowapple Drive in Clarkston are still going on family bicycle outings, taking their four bikes down to Deer Lake to save on gas.

And for all those who expressed the sentiment that the area needs more bike paths where riders won't have to fear heavy motor traffic, a new expressway going north to Holly will include 60 miles of bike paths if it is built.

Mike Sawyer, a senior at Clarkston High School, cruises along no-handed during an after-dinner bike ride.

Even little guys get in on the bike action, and these two small bikes probably get a lot of use.

KARL W. RANDALL

Karl W. Randall, 23, of 2732 James Road, Pontiac, who seeks the Democratic nomination for Oakland County Commissioner, District 3, works in the Oakland County Drain Commissioner's office.

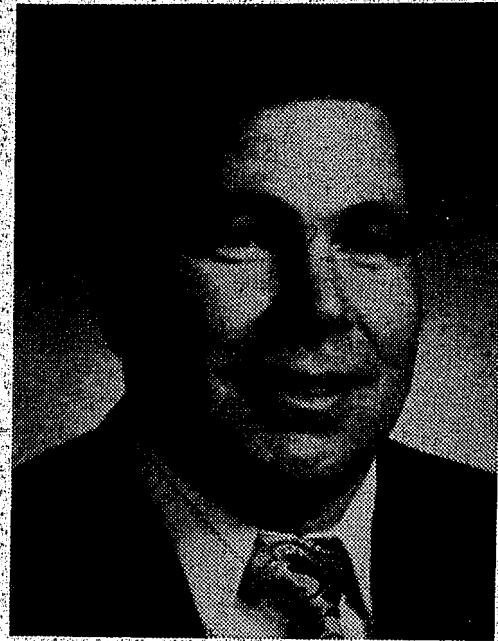

Randall is currently attending Wayne State University, and has previously received an associate's degree in Arts from the Michigan Christian College in Rochester. He also attended Michigan State University for a year.

Randall was involved in and held leadership positions in various student government and student-administration bodies while in school. In addition, he said, he has had much contact with and insight into the workings of the Board of Commissioners while working for the county.

His goals are: "I am seeking an opportunity to serve the residents of the Third Commissioner District because I feel that I can provide a truly representative type of leadership on the Board of Commissioners. Since I am not totally tied to party organization and I am not a "one-issue" type of candidate with my own special interests or projects to try to "push through" the board, I can be responsive to the desires and needs of the people in a manner that is objective, positive and constructive.

Park priorities recommended

Voters of Independence Township will be asked August 6 to approve up to 1 1/4 mills for the purpose of acquiring open space, park and wildlife land over the next ten years.

The levy, if applied in full by the township board, will raise $1.2 million at present property valuations over the next ten years.

The spending of that money has become the subject of a report prepared by Township Planner Larry Burkhart and Recreation Director Tim Doyle.

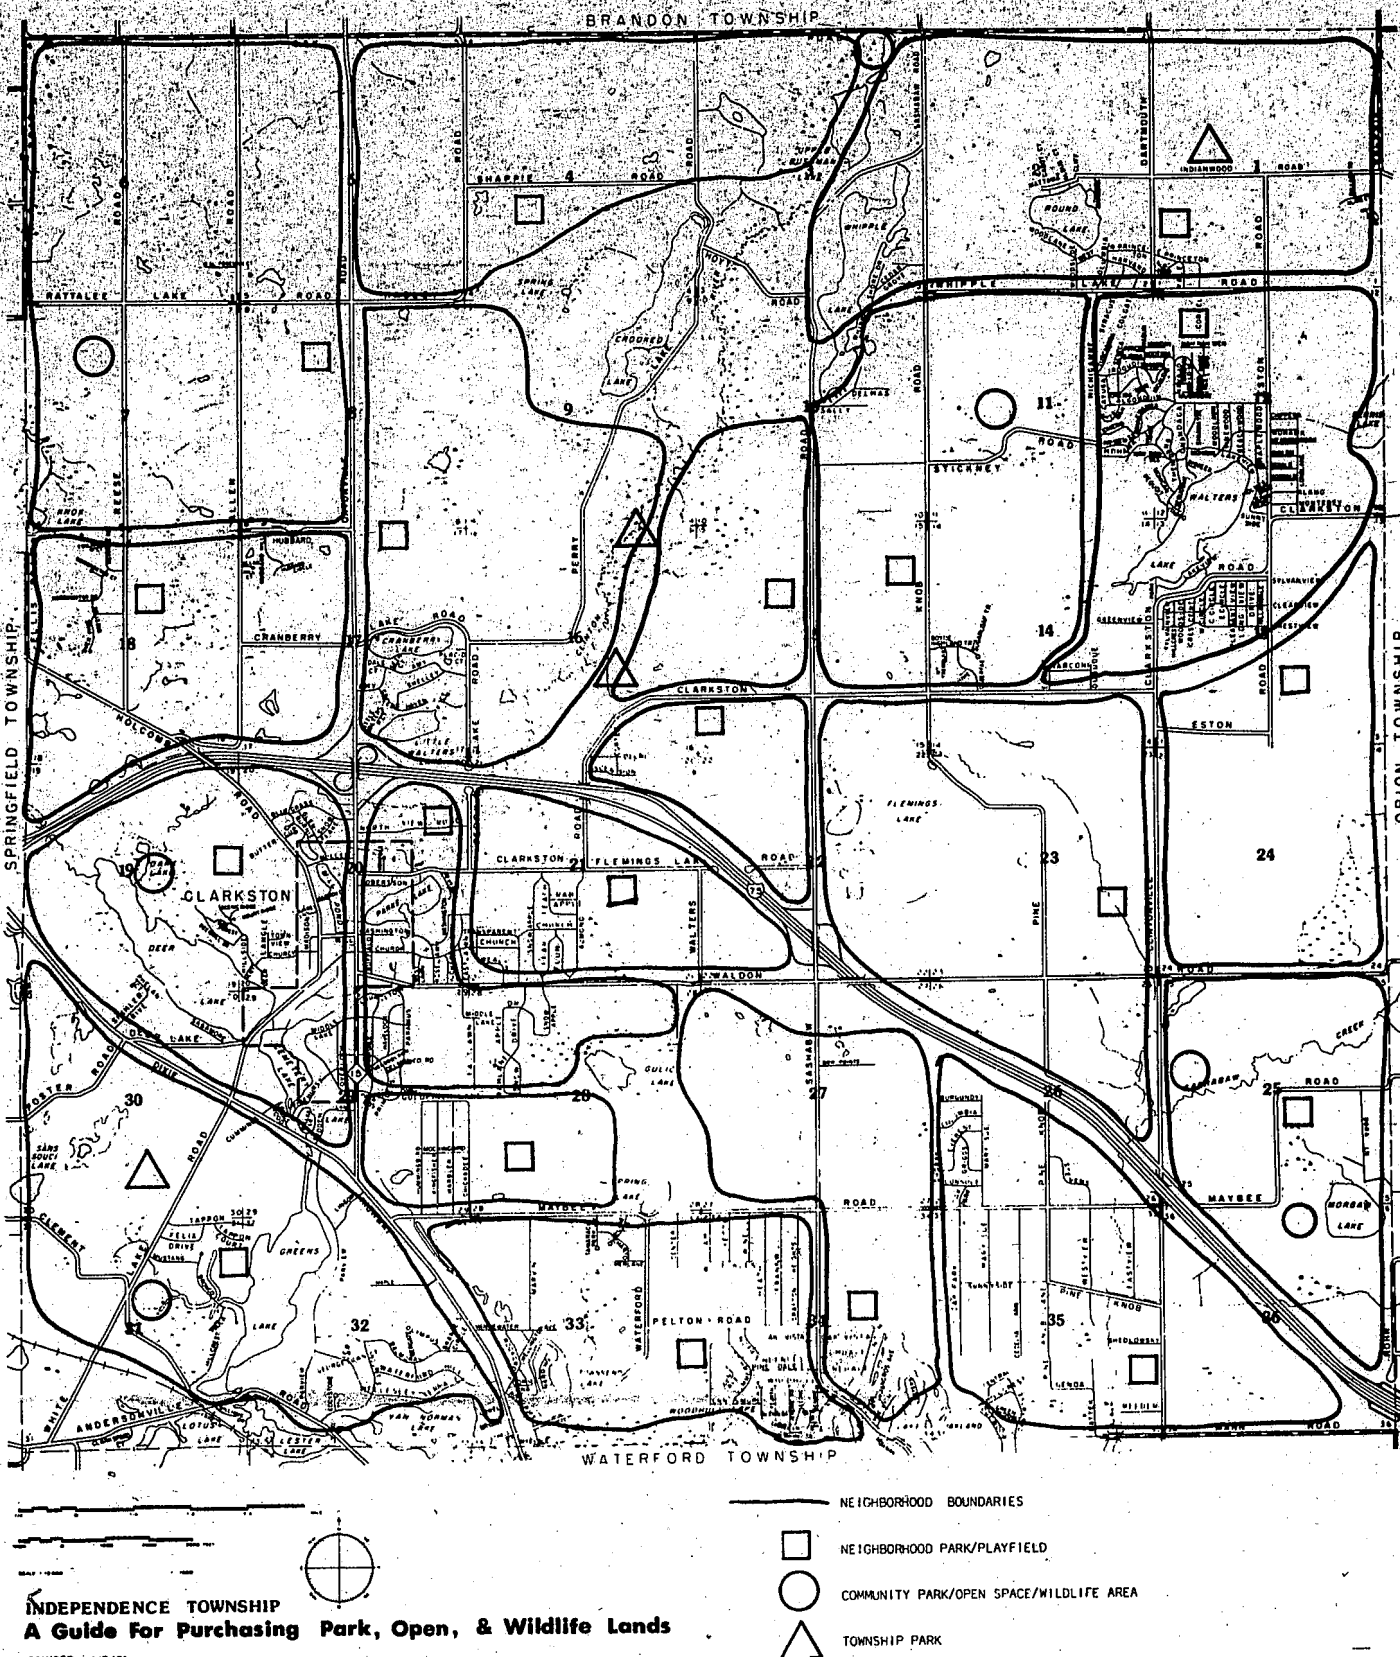

In the accompanying map, they have marked suitable locations for neighborhood parks and playfields; community parks and open space suitable for wildlife, and township parks for an ultimate township population of 80,000.

Basing their preliminary recommendations on a scale which says 2 acres of park should serve each neighborhood of 1,000 population and that community land should be preserved at the rate of 5 acres per 1,000 population, they have devised a set of priorities which are now under review by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

First on the list is acquisition of neighborhood and community areas, and the report recommends that a combination park-playground of 10 acres should be developed in every neighborhood when justifiable by population.

With that in mind, the two have devised the following recommendations:

1. Give uppermost consideration to those areas of the township containing the highest density of population with severe deficiencies in Township parks and playfields vis-a-vis the standards recommended in this plan.
2. Provide spaces and facilities which serve all age groups in the population.
3. Provide spaces and facilities that have multi-use characteristics and multi-seasonal use capacity.
4. Recognize the need to preserve areas of ecological or aesthetic significance.
5. Recognize that recreation spaces can be used as a vehicle for shaping the urban configuration in a more desirable pattern, which permits high accessibility to a natural environment.
6. Provide the greatest number of people with recreation opportunity for the least per capital cost.
7. That capital investment facilities give due consideration of use charge and revenue bond potential to those facility investments which place an indebtedness upon the community.

8. Recognize the need to strike a balance between active and passive recreation spaces.
9. Recognize that investment with the sole aim of achieving aesthetic ends is in keeping with the theme of improving the quality of the urban environment.

1975 — 1976 ... Land Acquisition:
Land at Indianwood and Dartmouth	60.00 Acres
White Lake Road (Section 30) land	30.00 Acres

Land at Stickney Rd. & Michigamme Rd.	100.00 Acres
Land E. Clintonville Rd. from I-75 to Waldon Rd. (wetlands)	50.00 Acres
Land adjacent to existing neighborhoods	35.00 Acres
	225.00 Acres

1979 — 1980 ... Land Acquisition:
Land at Clarkston-Orion Rd. additional land to expand present park	35.00 Acres
Lands adjacent to existing neighborhoods	40.00 Acres
Land near Reese Rd. and Rattalee Lake Rd.	70.00 Acres
	145.00 Acres

	110.00 Acres

1982 — 1984 ... Land Acquisition:
Lands adjacent to proposed neighborhoods	45.00 acres
Land NE corner of Clement and White Lake	15.00 Acres
Land near Oak Hill Rd. west of Sashabaw Rd.	81.00 Acres
	141.00 acres

Neighborhood Park/Playfield	Total = 186 Acres
Community Wide Parks/Playfields	Total = 465 Acres
Township Wide Parks	Total = 125 Acres
*Township requirement of 2.0 acres per 1,000 population = 160 (less 35 for existing Township Park on Clarkston-Orion Road)

Based upon current prices of $2,000 per acre, the cost for land acquisition would be $1,552,000 over a 10 year period. Over the ten year period, this would mean $155,200 per year would be needed to satisfy the needs of the plan. 1 1/4 mills would raise $1,200,000 at present valuations over the next ten years. Increasing valuations plus input from the township general fund, where necessary, could accomplish the program.

COUNTRY LIVING

By Mary Warner

Most college professors are habitual book collectors, and Mrs. Birgetta Vance is no exception. Lining one entire wall of her home is a collection of novels and text books she uses in her work and as recreational reading material.

In addition, some of the books are used in Birgetta's research she conducts on 20th century Spanish novels. As an assistant professor of Spanish at the University of Michigan in Flint, Birgetta is interested in Spanish literature, and has just completed a book of criticisms of Spanish Civil War novels.

She was just finished reading the proofs for this book when we dropped in to see what kind of lives professors lead, and galleyes were comfortably strewn around the kitchen table of the ranch-style home in which she lives.

In addition to containing the trapping of an active teacher, the Vance home is also filled with various collections of Birgetta's husband had started before he died three years ago.

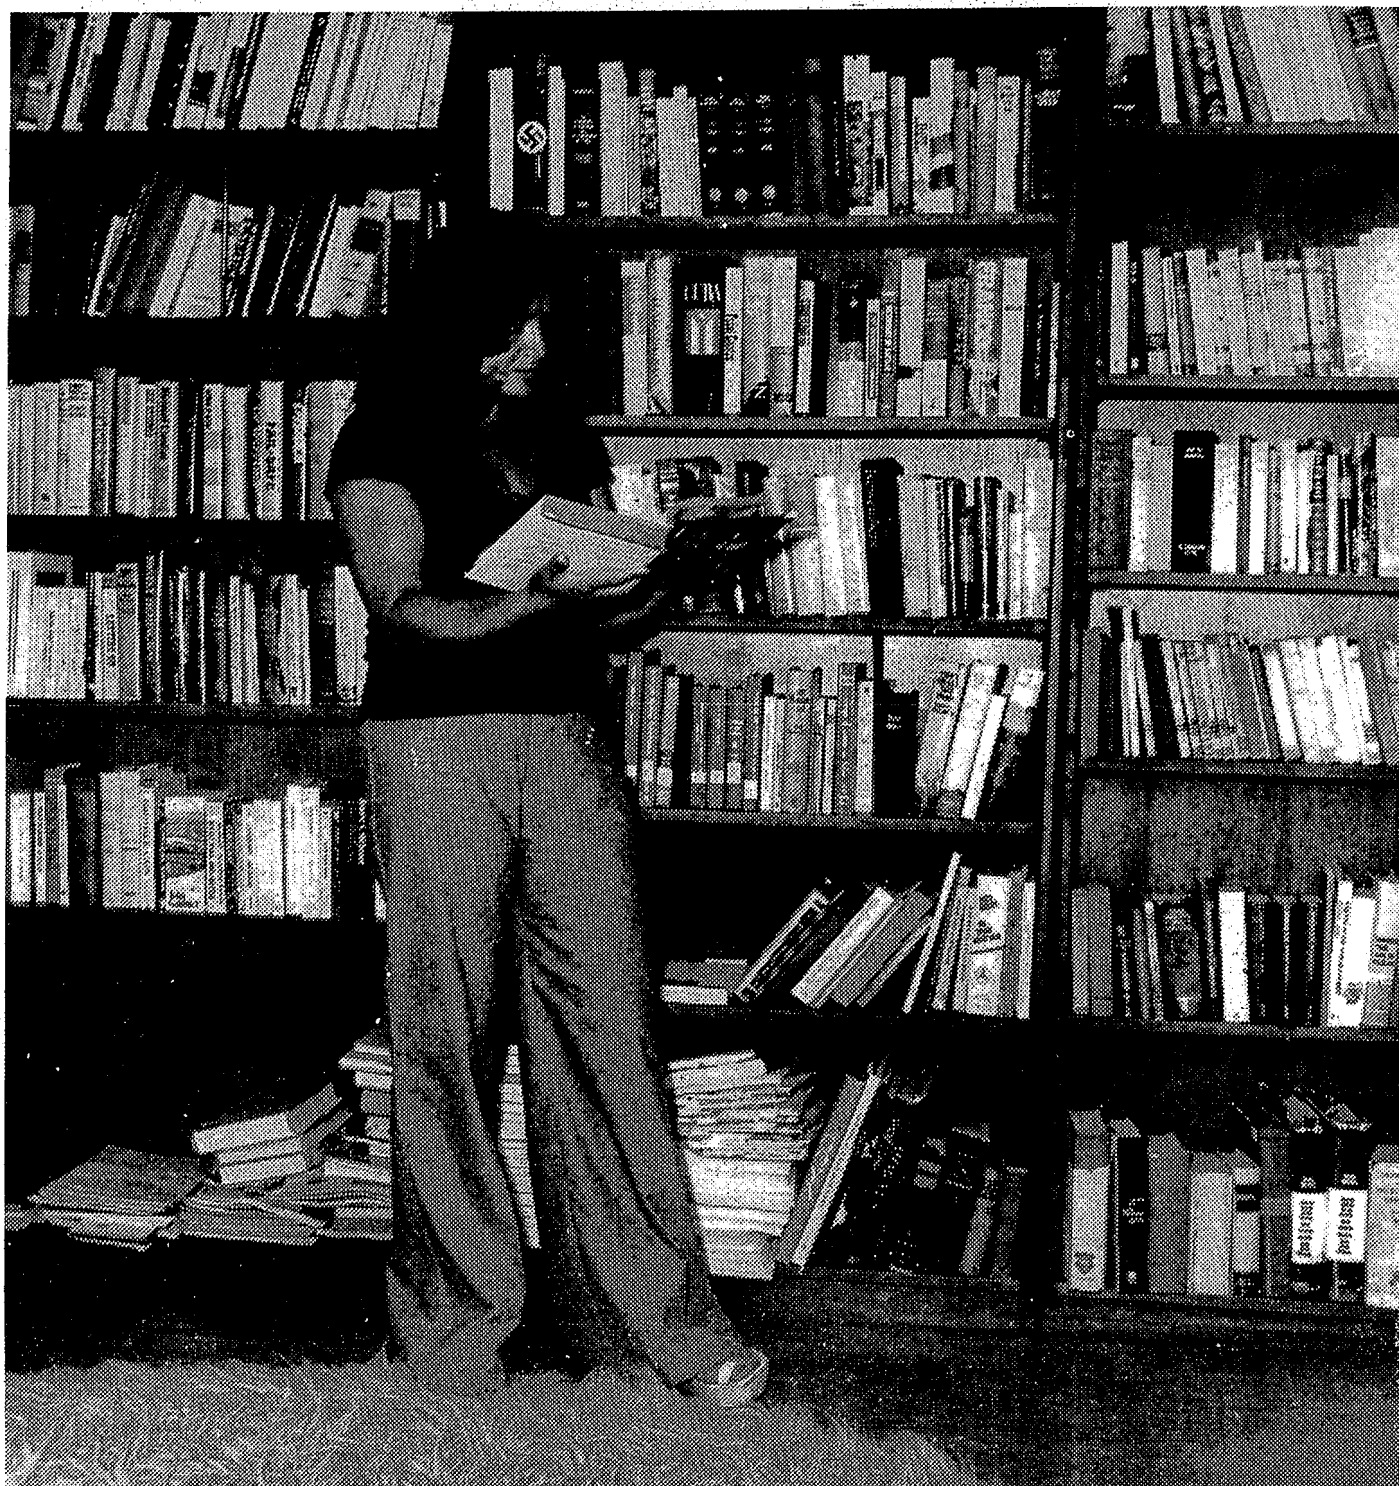

Two glass cabinets are filled with miniature lead soldiers, antique cars, battleships and tanks. Part of Mr. Vance's gun collection is also present, and a sicilian coffee table of wood and wrought iron that used to be a cart axle, sits in the living room.

Birgetta said her husband was a teacher of the mentally retarded, and minored in art in college.

"He had a flair for design," she said. "So when we drove by the gift shop, my husband saw the axle from across the street, and immediately thought it would make a great coffee table. We bought it, and put a piece of glass over the top."

We were lucky to catch Birgetta at home, as she leads an active life during school, and travels during the summer to Europe to keep up on the Spanish language. She visits Spain, and also travels to Austria to see her mother.

During school she is involved in many university activities, such as the recent convention at Flint U-M of the Michigan Women's Studied Association, where she headed a discussion group.

She also likes to ski, and to "just sit around and get to know people." A lot of her time is spent taking care of two active children, 12 and eight years old.

Birgetta enjoys her work, she said, but "teaching has certainly changed over the years. I see far fewer demands being made on the student, and the student not as willing to comply with those that are made."

"Even though language study is becoming more relevant today because of increased travel to other countries," she said, "the interest in foreign languages by students is dwindling because they don't see the study of it as a direct road to making money."

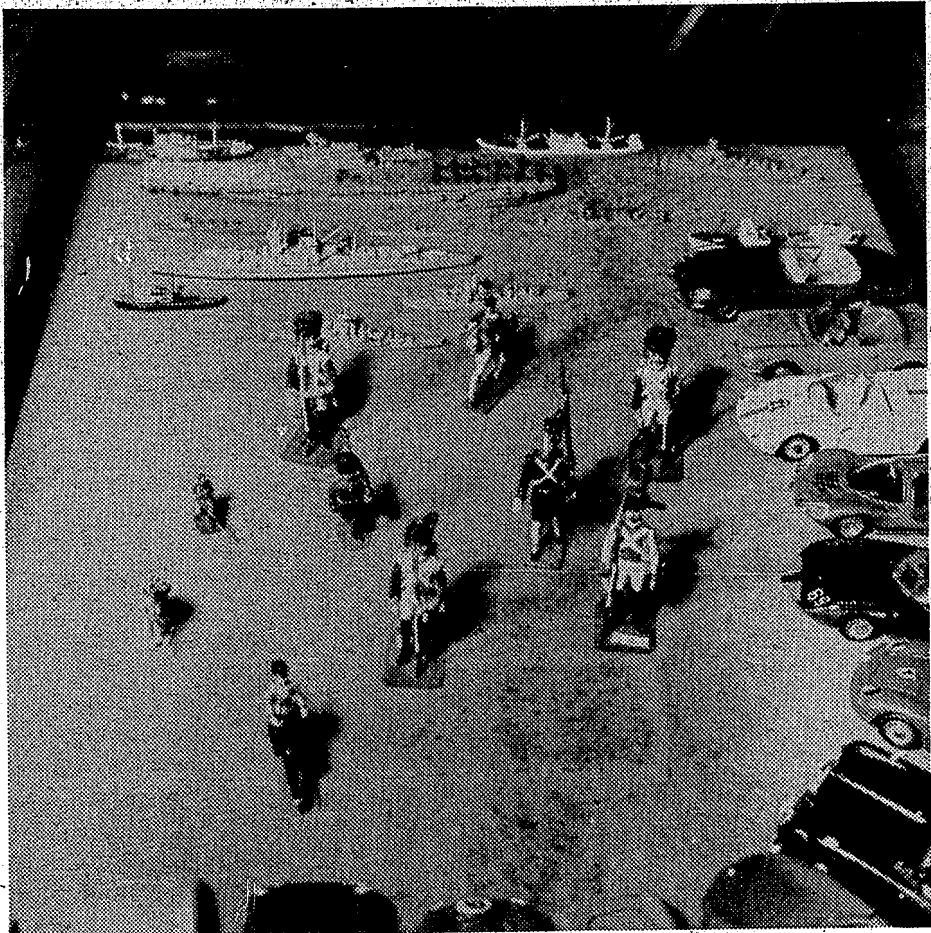

An old-fashioned muzzle-loading rifle hangs above the open fireplace.

The Sicilian cart axle serving as a coffee table in the living room has carvings of St. George, the patron saint of England, and the dragon he was slain by.

Collections were husband's hobby

A glass case shelters the heavy and intricate miniature soldiers, automobiles and ships Birgetta's husband collected.

Miniature tanks were bought through distributing companies in the United States by Birgetta's husband.

It's election week, but I'm not going to get very political. Just one comment involving Jerome P. Cavanagh. He started legal action against some people for $13 million, you know. And he sent us a couple letters referring to the suit.

Well, they're all Democrats and are or will be friends. But it struck me as unusual that Mr. Cavanagh would address the attorney general "Dear Frank," and his opponent as "Dear Sandy."

Though these two aren't mentioned in the suit, they have been mentioned. The inclination for me would be to call them "Mr."

First it was see-through blouses. Then it was bottomless dancers. Then it was x-rated movies. It's beginning to look like the only place people are still covering up is in Washington.

Did you ever think you would watch a late show rerun of "The Battle of Pearl Harbor" on a Japanese-made TV set?

Every once in a while we're asked to not print something. Usually it's because it might bring embarrassment, or might offend, or give someone or something a bad name. Odd ... no one would suggest a shoe salesman shouldn't sell shoes, but many people think nothing of suggesting a newspaper shouldn't print news.

Col. Joe Parisi, executive director of Michigan Townships Association, offered his thoughts as to "Why millage elections lose" in the latest publication from his East Lansing office.

He wrote:

Ever wonder these days why so many elections for extra voted millage (even those worth-while meritorious types) GO DOWN TO DEFEAT. Well, there is only one, old-fashioned cliché which tells it best — THE TAXPAYERS HAVE 'HAD' IT!!

In 1953 the local assessed valuations were $12,094,391,626.00; the Counties were equalized at $13,059,429,445.00 and the State Equalized Valuation was $15,720,900,000.00. Twenty years later (1973) the equalization process reveals the following: Local Assessed Valuations were $42,648,457,507.00; the Counties were equalized at $47,492,752,111 and the total State Equalized Valuation was: $47,612,673,966.00. This covers the assessment and equalization process. Now, what about taxes the citizens are paying today, as compared with 1953?

In 1953 the total (State-wide) Tax Collected was $443,291,648.45, representing a state-wide average millage or Tax Rate of 28.20 per Thousand of Valuation. In 1973 the total tax levy collected was $2,420,402,561.34, representing a state-wide average millage or Tax Rate of 50.84 per thousand of Valuation.

Do you wonder now why taxpayers have had it?

Choose apples to suit needs

Use the following guide to choose the apple variety that suits your needs, Michigan State University consumer marketing specialists advise:

APPLE VARIETIES AND USES:

Red Delicious — A crisp apple for fresh eating or for use in salads. Sweet, tender, not recommended for cooking.

Golden Delicious — Firm, mild, low acid. Ideal for salads, eating out-of-hand, and all baking uses, including pies.

Winesap — Very firm, tart, juicy, holds shape when cooked. Ideal for pies, sauce, salads or fresh eating.

McIntosh — Deep red, sometimes striped with green background; white flesh; slightly tart; cooks quickly; use for fresh eating, salads, sauce.

Rome Beauty — Bright red with yellow undercolor; firm, coarse skin; considered the best store-by-the-bushel apple. Firm, slightly tart. Ideal as baked apple. Flesh is exceptionally white. Excellent for cooking and sauce.

Jonathan — Solid deep red; most versatile Michigan apple; a favorite eating apple; good cooker. Very tart, juicy, firm.

Northern Spy — Bright striped and mottled red on yellow. An apple pie favorite. Good for baking, sauce.

York Imperial — Mild cooking apple. Tart, crisp. Good, firm eating apple.

Cortland — Flesh stays white longer than many apples when cut; popular for salad lovers.

Stayman — Good, all-purpose apple. Firm, mildly tart.

Newton Pippin — Primarily cooking.

Gravenstein — Tart; excellent for cooking.

Yellow Transparent or Lodi — Greenish white to greenish yellow; excellent for sauce; good for pies.

Wealthy — Bright red when fully colored; red splashes over greenish skin; good for pies, sauce, fresh eating.

Idared — Bright red, smooth finish; firm white flesh; stores very well; good for baking, pies, sauce, fresh eating, salads.

YIELDS:
Three medium-sized apples weigh about a pound. A 3-lb. polybag contains 9-12 apples. One peck contains about 46 apples; 1 bushel, from 96-144 apples. For 1½ cups applesauce, you'll need 1 lb. apples. One bushel makes 16-20 qts. sauce.

When baking apples, add sugar just before cooking; helps apples keep their shape. When making sauce, add the sugar just before removing the apples from the stove.

TO FREEZE:
Select full-flavored apples. Wash them in cool water, peel if you like, core and slice them. Add one-third cup water to each quart of apple slices and cook until tender. Cool and strain if necessary. Then sweeten the sauce until it's just the way you like it — ¼ to ¾ cup sugar should do it.

To freeze applesauce, pack it into containers leaving head space as follows: wide-mouthed pint containers ½ in.; narrow-mouthed pint containers ¾ in.; wide-mouthed quart containers 1 in.; narrow-mouthed quart containers 2½ in.

Seal the containers and put them in the coldest part of your freezer, leaving space around them so the air can circulate freely. Store at 0° F. or colder.

TO CAN:

To home can applesauce, heat it to simmering (185° - 210° F.), stirring to keep it from sticking.

Pack the applesauce hot into glass jars to ¼ inch of the top. Adjust lids and process both pints and quarts into a boiling water bath for 10 minutes.

Once you remove the jars from the canner, complete the seals if necessary and cool.

Flesher-Kojima rites at Methodist church

A double-ring ceremony united Holly Jean Kojima and Jeffery A. Flesher in marriage July 21 at the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Holly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kuga Kojima, of 5850 Dubai, Waterford. Jeffery is the son of Dallas Flesher of Crescent Lake Road in Waterford.

Rev. Robert Goudie officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by 175 guests.

The bride wore white organza with lace inserts. Her maid of honor, Colleen McConnell of Waterford, wore a peach dress with a white hat.

Other bridesmaids were Debi

Flesher, sister of the groom, and Heidi Newman of Pontiac.

Best man was Gregory Flesher, brother of the groom, and attendants were John Osborn of Holly and Jeff Morris of Pontiac.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church Fellowship Hall.

The couple are now home in Waterford after a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

The mill stream

In love with Clarkston

by Mary Warner, phone 625-3370

An athletic commissioner from Omaha, Nebraska who is in charge of all the wrestling activities in Nebraska visited Clarkston last week and "just fell in love with the town," according to Mrs. Evelyn Millward.

Seymour Seitchick and his wife and daughter came to visit the Millwards at their home on Cranberry Lake Road in Clarkston after attending a convention in Milwaukee.

Seymour and Evelyn's husband Dale were old World War II buddies who hadn't seen each other in twenty years. But they kept in contact since they worked together in the Air Force in Washington, D.C.

Evelyn said she and her husband took the Seitchicks on a picnic to Deer Lake and spent sometime at Groveland Oaks Recreation Area. She said Seymour was delighted with Clarkston's style and antiquity, and really liked the Mill pond and the fact that there were so many accessible lakes around here. "He said there wasn't anything like it in Nebraska," Evelyn said.

"They fed and watered us, and then we played cards," came the reply from Rotary member Dr. Ernest Dennie to my question about what 70 men let loose from their wives did at the annual Clarkston Jaycees-Rotary dinner last Monday night, July 22. Doc Denne assured me that there were no girls coming out of cakes in bathing suits or anything like that. Everyone just had a good time, he said. The annual gathering was held at the American Legion Hall in Clarkston. The Jaycees hosted the Rotarians this year, and about 60 members of the two groups attended.

As part of their summer fun sessions, Rotary also held an annual golf game and dinner at Holly Greens this Monday, and members will be attending a Tiger baseball game and a later pool party at Dr. Al Hamilton's house in Clarkston in the coming weeks.

A combination birthday and bon voyage party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Alexander, 9755 Davisburg Road, at their home for both Don and Marilyn's parents Tuesday, July 23.

Don's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander, and Marilyn's mother, Mrs. William Cadman, left last Saturday for a two-week trip to Hawaii sponsored by a traveling club they belong to called the Nomads. So the Tuesday party was to wish them a happy farewell. Don's father and Marilyn's mother also had birthdays last weekend and the group gathered to celebrate both the birthdays and the going away.

Joining the group for the buffet supper, cake and homemade ice cream were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Klein of Clarkston, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Alexander of Clarkston, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McAllister, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cadman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dixon, all of Waterford.

Another going-away party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bickerstaff of Langley Drive last Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Herner. The HERNERS are moving from Church Street in Greenacres subdivision to Ludington.

Co-hosts of the potluck picnic were Rev. and Mrs. Robert Walters. Most of the neighbors in the subdivision attended.

Out-of-town guests for the picnic were Mrs. Arlon Stubbe of St. Joseph, Mich., and her two daughters Beth and Dawn.

Five families of Rouses from the Clarkston area, plus more Rouse relatives from Michigan and Ohio, gathered together for a reunion last Sunday at Gulick Lake. Mrs. J.D. Powell, Ivan Rouse, Mrs. Ben Powell, Mrs. Jess Powell and Mrs. Winfield Koot and their clans, all from the Clarkston area, joined Mr. and Mrs. Clark Rouse of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Rouse of Ann Arbor, Mr. Mike Rouse of Dayton, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Zell of Riverview, Mich. for the festivities.

Altogether 50 relatives enjoyed a potluck dinner, fishing, swimming, canoeing and bingo. The group also enjoyed the music of "Sandy and his Polka Band."

After three children, 10 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren, Mrs. Wilda Waid of Eastlawn in Clarkston had her first birthday party. Wilda's birthday was July 27, and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waid of Clarkston hosted a birthday party for Wilda in their home Saturday night.

All three of Wilda's children, were three with their families, including the Robert Waid, Mrs. Roger Galligan, and Mr. J.T. Waid.

Sally Radoye, of 258 Surrey Lane, Clarkston, just returned this week from a vacation in California. Sally left July 12 for Laguna beach, and will return to her job with the Oakland County Health Department upon her arrival.

Six pound, nine ounce Kimberly Ann Blimka arrived in the world a little unexpectedly July 21 when she took matters into her own hands and was born in the back of an ambulance transporting her mother, Sandy to the hospital.

Perhaps her precocious entrance can be explained by the strawberry blond hair she has. Sandy and her husband Rick Blimka live at 5160 Pelton in Clarkston, and have one other child, two-year-old Christopher.

Kimberly's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Walts of Snowapple in Clarkston and Mrs. Lloyd Blimka of Clarkston. Her great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Leaf of N. Main in Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Ken James of Holcomb Road were visited for two weeks by Mr. and Mrs. H.T. Leaf of Venice, Fla. Dick Leaf is the elder Leaf's son, and Mrs. James is the Leaf's daughter. The Leafs flew to Columbus, Ohio to visit their other son before coming to Clarkston. Mrs. Leaf said they all "ate a lot" while her husband's parents visited.

Members of the Baron Engineering Widget Team honored their coach Michael Pitts last Thursday with a trophy expressing their thanks for coach Pitts' help. They gave him a trophy after their game held at Our Lady of the Lakes field. The team didn't do very well this year, according to Mrs. Diane Harken, but everyone had a good time, helped along by coach Pitts, who, by the way, is only 17, and a senior at Clarkston High School. "They were having trouble finding coaches," Mrs. Harken said, "and I thought it was really nice of Mike to volunteer his help."

Forty-two members of the "Girls with Grandma faces" chartered a bus Friday, July 19 for an all day outing to celebrate the "deleted birthdays" of seven of their members.

Mrs. Isabel Bullen, who was one of the seven who had birthdays this summer and celebrated it with her age "deleted," said the group of girlfriends who went on the outing jokingly refer to themselves as girls with grandma faces because they are all young at heart but all have grandchildren.

Other birthday girls were Mrs. Keith Leak, Mrs. Henry Woolfenden, Mrs. Richard Spohn, Mrs. Harold Bauer, Mrs. Gil Roddewig and Mrs. Robert Waters.

The trip took the girls to the new gift shop at Burke Lumber Co. in Drayton Plains, to lunch at Orchard Lake Country Club and to the Somerset Shopping Mall for an hour of shopping. The group held a drawing for small prizes, and gave the birthday girls a corsage.

Civil Air Patrol Cadet M/Sgt. Aaron Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lynch of Eastlawn, may never ride a rocket to the moon or be involved in the space program, but after last week he understands a lot more about such things. Aaron underwent an intensive five-day Space Flight Orientation course at Huntsville, Ala., under the guidance of National Aeronautics and Space Administration personnel at Marshall Space Flight Center. He stayed at the Army's Redstone Arsenal, site of the space flight center.

Robert Puddy, 6576 Cherrylawn, and Robert Cunningham Jr. of 6625 Laurelton were awarded BS degrees by Eastern Michigan University following the conclusion of spring session.

Jayne A. Kottke of 6686 Shelley Dr., has been awarded an Alma College Honors Scholarship, according to Dr. Ronald O. Kapp, Alma provost and vice president for educational affairs.

Alma's academic year, which features 14-week terms in the fall and winter and a four-week term in the spring, begins with fall term registration on Wednesday, Sept. 11.

The Clinton Valley barracks of World War I Veterans held its annual picnic July 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rioux on Davisburg Road.

Twenty-eight members and guests attended the dinner and a short business meeting. At the meeting, Lucille Gries and Jessie Coleman were elected as delegates to the national WWI veteran's convention, and Minnie Schneler and Margaret Cavit were selected as alternates.

The veterans will have another picnic in August at the home of Marie Green in Ortonville.

The Jogger Senior Citizens of Davisburg are holding their monthly potluck dinner and meeting Saturday, Aug. 3. The group will be electing new officers, and having a songfest and other activities after the meeting. Everyone is welcome to join the fun at the Springfield Township Hall at 12 p.m.

Good work in good weather is going on at St. Stephen Lutheran Church, 3795 Sashabaw, where builders are erecting an addition.

Fund raising goal set

The United Way of Pontiac-North Oakland (formerly Pontiac Area United Fund) has set its 1974 campaign goal at $1,523,612.

United Way Board of Trustees President Warren Eierman, president and chairman of the board of Community National Bank, who made the announcement, said, "The board weighed current economic conditions heavily in determining this goal, which represents the minimum sum our campaign volunteers will be aiming for during the fall campaign."

He said, "This figure ($1,523,612) represents only approximately a 3 percent increase over the card value of potentially reoccurring contributors on record at the United Way office. The board felt this 3 percent increase to be realistic and attainable and, in light of inflation, conservative."

Eierman said, "Our campaign team will be pushing hard to exceed this target amount by a sufficient enough margin to offset inflation, which has been a major concern for the agencies in recent years. Like the rest of us they have been hit hard by rising costs. At the same time the purchasing power of their dollars is being reduced, a need for expanding services is occurring."

Legion installs new slate

The American Legion Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63, which has recently established a new all-time high for membership, recently installed Merle Riddle as commander.

Ted Wrobel was named senior vice commander; Dave Froling, junior vice commander; Art Kelley, adjutant; Whitey Tower, treasurer; Bill Jens, chaplain; Ernie Head, sergeant at arms; Paul Rety, historian; and John Lynch, service officer.

Serving as delegates to meetings will be Riddle, Lynch and Tower with Louis Seffens and Head as alternates.

Spiritual Message

Everything has changed. Not only has Judge Roth died, but the very morning I write this, the Supreme Court of the United States voted 5-4 to reverse and remand the decision to achieve racial integration in our metropolitan schools by cross-district busing.

And many citizens have heaved a collective sigh of relief. The object of their fear that caused many to move and many more to take part in political activity has been stricken down by the Court's decision.

But in many areas, inequalities in educational opportunity still exist. And like it or not, in our inter-related world, what affects one person affects another, however separated they are by distance.

Where do we go from here? I don't claim to have many answers, but these are among my goals.

(1) To work for the best and most varied opportunities in education for all the students in the Clarkston District.

(2) To cooperate with teachers and administrators in the education of my two sons, getting in touch with them before problems arise, so that there will be effective communication when any problems do occur.

(3) To support efforts toward better educational opportunities for youngsters in Pontiac, Detroit, the Upper Peninsula, indeed, throughout the country.

(4) To help as many youngsters as I can, including my own, to have contact with all kinds of different people so they can discover their common humanity.

An episode in Jesus' life pushes me to suggest these goals to both the so-called pro- and anti-busing supporters:

A teacher of the law tried to trap Jesus. "What must I do to receive eternal life?" Jesus replied, "What do the Scriptures say?" He answered, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, strength and mind, and love your fellow man as yourself." "That's right," said Jesus, "do this and you will really live."

The teacher tried to weasel out by asking a precise definition of "fellow-man." So Jesus told the story of the man who was beaten and robbed, then ignored by the religious good guys, only to be helped by the outcast, no-good Samaritan (read "whitey" if you're black or "nigger" if you're white, "rich snob" if you don't feel affluent, or "poor slob" if you feel above many others.)

So Jesus concluded, "In your opinion, which of the three acted like a fellow-man?"

(He had turned it around. The question is not 'who is my fellow-man?' but, 'to whom will I be a fellow-man?')

The issue is still the same, whether in 28 AD or 1954 AD or 1974 AD.

Nothing has changed:

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Webber, 6275 Shappie Road, have announced the engagement of their daughter Robin Ann to Terry Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Klein of 9020 Ortonville Road.

Robin and Terry are both graduates of Clarkston High School, and plan an August wedding. The rites will be held at St. Ann's Church in Ortonville.

Married in Iowa

Wedding vows written by the bride and groom were exchanged by Lucinda Joan Ellert and Scott Thomas Schmidt at Herrick Chapel, Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa, May 24.

Chaplain Dennis Haas officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Ellert of 1330 Knox Drive, Boulder, Colorado (formerly residents of Clarkston), and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Schmidt of New Piasa Chautauqua, Illinois. The couple mutually agreed to keep their original names.

Attending the couple were Laurie Lee Casselman of La Canada, California, as the maid of honor; and P. Michael O'Connor of Madison, Wisconsin, the best man.

Mr. Schmidt is a 1972 graduate of Grinnell College and is employed by the Indiana University Library. He is concurrently pursuing a master's degree in Library Science.

Ms. Ellert, who was a 1971 graduate of Clarkston High School, is also employed at the Indiana University Library and plans to re-enter Grinnell College in the fall as a junior. She is likewise planning a career in Library Science.

Couple united in nuptial mass

A nuptial mass was held for the wedding rites of Dingena Weeks and James Wimsatt, Jr. Saturday, July 27, at St. Michael's Catholic Church in Flint.

Dingena is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Weeks of 6287 Snowapple Drive in Clarkston. She recently graduated from the Hurley School of Nursing in Flint.

James, son of Mr. and Mrs. James

Wimsatt, Sr., 217 Wroe Ave., Dayton, Ohio, is a graduate of General Motors Institute.

The bride wore a satin and nylon dress edged with lace and pearl beading. The dress and the dresses of all the bridesmaids were made by Dingena's mother Mary.

The bridesmaids wore blue dotted swiss and big floppy hats. They were all sisters of the bride, including matron of honor Judith Miracle, and attendants Cynthia and Patricia Weeks.

Tom Menker of Dayton, Ohio was the best man. Attendants for the groom were Robert Wimsatt, brother of the groom, and Paul Osborne, of Dayton.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Flint.

After a camping trip to northern Ontario, the newlyweds will live in Kettering, Ohio.

Minimizing the effects of marital discord

Psychological staff members of the Oakland County
Juvenile Court and Clinical Resources, Incorporated

A mother reported that her four-year-old child was experiencing nightmares and often woke up crying. The young child also was afraid to go to bed at night and was now crying whenever she was left with a babysitter. When the mother revealed that the home was often tension-filled because of serious marital problems, the child's new behavior could be properly evaluated.

Whenever parents are having arguments that signal a serious break in the relationship or are discussing a separation or a divorce, the children will be affected. Most parents make an attempt to keep such arguments or discussions secret from the children; however, in most cases the children have overheard or sense the problems.

A child can be expected to display different behavior if his security is threatened by parental disagreements. Disturbed eating or sleeping is to be anticipated, along with crying or other forms of regressive behavior.

This does not mean that parents should make greater efforts to hide serious discord. It does mean that they should remember to include the children in some discussions. If a separation or a divorce is to occur, the child's feelings must be considered and each child must be prepared before any important change takes place.

With most children, several explanations or discussions, even covering the same material, must occur. These talks should take place weeks and even months, if possible, before a separation or divorce.

It is important that the child be told what is to happen ("Your mother and I are not going to live together anymore"). Each child should be told how and why it is happening ("We argue too much and so your father is going to be moving into his own house.").

Children must be assured that they are not to blame and that they are still loved ("Even though I don't love your father anymore, I do love you and I know he still loves you, too.").

What may be very clear to adults may be quite hazy to children. They will have many questions about who will take care of them, when they will see their departing parent, and will their parents ever be reunited.

A poor marriage partner can still be an adequate parent. A parent should be able to separate in his or her own mind those qualities in the mate which led to marital problems from those which can be of value in the lives of the children. A parent can dislike the other parent, but should not use this feeling to destroy a child, as expressed hate surely will. It is important for children to continue to view both parents as exemplary human beings.

Marital break-ups appear inevitable. In light of this, parents should fully prepare children so that they can weather this important crisis in their lives.

Setting traps

Some parents are very adept at setting traps for their children. Because of mistrust, fear of failing as a parent, or other complex reasons, a parent may try to catch the youngster doing something wrong.

One father said, "I tell my daughter to be home at 6:30 p.m. and to always let me know where she is going. Then, when I come home early, she is never there."

This father set a trap for his teenage daughter by telling her one thing (be home at 6:30 p.m.) and expecting another thing (be home no matter what time I come home).

When this girl came home by the time her father told her to, she still found herself in trouble. She, therefore, began to think of him as mean and irrational. He said he couldn't trust her to live up to any of his expectations.

In setting this trap, this father found a way of "proving" that his daughter was a problem child.

Other parents give unclear messages in other ways that effectively set a trap for their youngster.

A child or adolescent who steals and does not hear from his parent, "that is wrong and you should not do that again," or "I don't like you to steal and I don't want you to do that again," may have been set up by the parents. The child is baited and later the trap is sprung when the child is in trouble.

In another situation, a parent may naively allow a young daughter to play with an older boy. The surprise and shock when sexual experimentation occurs suggests that the parent had set a trap.

Parents can avoid setting traps by giving their children clear messages. Parents can always be aware of their own complex motivations in terms of their children.

A child usually acts the way a parent really wants him to.

ROBERT W. KRAUD REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR TRUSTEE

Asks you to

THINK BEFORE YOU VOTE!

On August 6th a primary election will be held. Four of the five elected positions in Independence Township will be on this ballot. Each one of these positions represents 20% of the total vote on any important matter that comes before the Township Board. Each official on the Board has one vote and that vote can decide the future of your community. The vote on the Waterford Hill rezoning was 3 to 2 and it cost the people of this township in excess of $40,000.00 in legal fees alone to change that decision. The Singer, Kaplin rezoning was decided by a 3 to 2 vote, resulting in a referendum and more legal expense to change the decision. The poor judgment shown by the Board in the rezoning of a portion of the Deer Lake property a few years ago has now resulted in more expensive litigation and we won't even be in court for this for another year and a half.

I originally chose to live in Independence Township and I still choose to live here. Most of the people who live here are here by choice. It's a community that is special — a good place to live, to raise your children, and to become involved in your community affairs. Involve yourself on August 6th and vote. Think about each of the candidates and ask yourself if you want him or her to help plan your future. Decide and then participate — vote.

Burn wood this winter

Tired of giving your vacation money to the electric company? Need a computer to figure out your heating oil bills? Then do as your grandparents did: burn wood this winter.

Wood can save you money, says Dr. Mel Koelling, Michigan State University extension forestry specialist. He advises chopping your own wood as the cheapest approach.

If you don't own a woodlot, look for municipal wood waste lots, public woodlands or old logging roads. Do not trespass, Dr. Koelling cautions. Get permission before you start.

Permits are required in State forests. Obtain one from your local Department of Natural Resources forester or the DNR field office. In Federal forests, contact the district ranger at the nearest U.S. Forest Service ranger station. On private lands, get permission from the owner.

The small-time woodsman should have the following tools: an ax, saw, sledge-hammer and wedge. Automatic splitting machines and power saws are available for larger operations. These tools may be bought, or rented at local stores. Safety is advised with all tools.

The job of cutting down a tree is fairly easy. Leave as little stump as possible. Take care not to damage the surrounding timber with the falling tree, since damaged trees are easily infected with insects.

Trim the tree and spread the limbs and branches you don't want over the area formerly occupied by the tree. This helps prevent erosion and provides a refuge for wildlife, Koelling says. Then chop the tree into sections to suit your needs.

Use the sledge and wedge to split logs more than five inches in diameter. This allows the wood to dry faster. Do not use an axe as a wedge or a sledge; the axe head may come loose or crack.

At home, the wood must be stacked so it will dry or "season." Stack the wood to allow air to circulate.

If you store the wood indoors more than a year, check for insects. Carpenter ants and powder post beetles may be present, says Dr. Koelling, although they are rare.

Patches

A poor showing

by Pat Braunagel

During the last decade, the media people who keep their fingers on readers' pulses made a discovery.

They found that feminine, as well as masculine, heartbeats quicken when confronted with a photo of the opposite sex displaying a staple in or around the subject's navel.

Some women have been downright offended by this claim. Others have welcomed it, and the ensuing publications, with open arms and eyes and purses.

I have remained as noncommittal on this issue as I am on most others—willing to argue with anyone once I have determined their disposition.

No longer can I hide behind a cloak of disinterest.

I am about to fire off one of those missives which begin, "I've never written a fan letter before, but..."

What prompted this outburst was a recent item by a Washington personality columnist in which she noted that "200 letters from lonely females have poured into Rep. David Bowen's office since he was featured recently in a women's magazine as 'bachelor of the month.'"

He's about to get his 201st—from a female who isn't lonely but is curious to see what this guy looks like. I'll just ask for his picture, with or without autograph.

Frankly, I am shocked that a 41-year-old allegedly good-looking bachelor would do so poorly after agreeing to strip to his tennis shorts for a Cosmopolitan photographer.

Here you have millions of women gazing at this hunk of beefcake, their pulses quickening, and only 200 of them are moved to write fan letters.

Were I his campaign manager, I would be more worried about that figure than the concern expressed by one of his colleagues from Mississippi. That person wondered aloud about the effect Bowen's picture on the same page with a naked woman would have on the folks back home.

If I were his campaign manager, I'd advise Bowen to accept one of the proposals he must have gotten (I'll give him the benefit of the doubt) and retire from politics.

What are we to conclude from this incident?

That Cosmopolitan doesn't know what women want to see?

That women don't want to see men without all their clothes on?

That women don't want to see Rep. Bowen in his tennis shorts?

Far be it from me to grab any readers' pulses.

But I also am not going to grab next month's copy of Cosmopolitan to rev up my heartbeat.

There will be a shifting of position among several of the men in the school system this fall, and the majority will be promoted, but I see one leaving to go to another school system and a promotion there.

I think a couple of the women teachers will be very unhappy because of the promotions and they may get quite vocal about it.

I believe vandalism this year will be at a minimum. Interest in that type of activity is waning. Those who might have done it before are more interested in making money (maybe stealing). Most of those who would steal, won't have a fence to get rid of the stolen material, so they won't bother. Anything that is done will be very inexpensive as far as repairs go.

I don't feel the widening of M-15 due soon is going to help much in the area of safety, just make a big traffic tie up while it's being done. I guess it's lack of money, but they should widen it more than two feet on each side if they're going to do anything at all. I'm sure they'll have to wind up redoing it.

Independence center will get more volunteers working for it. There will be a stock of surplus items, almost more than they can store. They'll be helping needy people, but they won't run out of items. I feel they'll be helping someone who's been burned out shortly.

BY THE THIRD EYE

Committee work for Artrain which is due to visit Clarkston this fall will get a slow start, but workers will pull everything together in time and the people of the area will be well satisfied with its appearance here.

Problems are going to beset the Upper Mill Pond for some time. Lack of money and other disagreements will stop work on the proposed clean up. It may be that nature itself will work the clean up. I see a big fish eating the growth in the bottom of the pond.

Dos and don'ts for summer employment

For teenagers summer means more than freedom from the routine of school and studies.

It can be a time to experience a future career, earn money and be independent.

In order to be successful in securing a summer job, young people should familiarize themselves with state and federal laws that regulate youth employment.

Most states requires that working youth obtain a work permit or what is sometimes called an employment certificate attesting to their age. Generally these permits can be obtained through local high schools or State Labor Departments.

The Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) or minimum wage law was passed in 1938 to protect working Americans, including summer employees, from low wages and long hours. The Act was designed to cover most workers who individually engage in interstate commerce or produce goods for interstate commerce or who work in certain enterprises whose activities relate to interstate commerce.

The child labor provisions of the FLSA regulate what jobs can be held by young people in different age groups.

Since farming is the principle livelihood of many people in the U.S., it is important to know that 12- and 13-year-olds may work outside of school hours on any farm where their parents are employed or with written parental consent. Young people ages 14- and older may be employed generally in non-hazardous agricultural occupations outside of school hours. A 16 year-old minimum applies to employment in farm occupations declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor. These include operating tractors and certain farm machinery and equipment, working from heights of over 20 feet, and handling dangerous chemicals.

At 16, young people may work in any non-agricultural job except those jobs declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor.

Some examples would be jobs in explosive plants, most jobs in mining, some jobs in meat processing, excavation and roofing jobs, jobs in manufacturing brick, tile and kindred products, operating circular and band saws and guillotine shears, and working as motor vehicle drivers or helpers.

At 18 young people may hold any job. Teenagers searching for summer jobs should also be familiar with the new minimum wage provisions that regulate their pay.

The minimum wage differed for three groups of workers, and summer employees are found in all three groups.

Nonagricultural employees in jobs that are covered by the Act prior to the 1966 amendments must receive a minimum wage of $2 an hour and in most cases, overtime premium pay after 40 hours of work in a week.

Children of the Calvary Lutheran Church on Bluegrass in Clarkston gather around one of the booths prepared for the vacation church school beginning in August. The bottles and tubes they are holding are to be used in the crafts program, which will include weaving, pottery, macrame, and making sandals. The booth will be used in the market place that will be set up in the Fellowship Hall to display the work children have done during the week-long program. The classes last from Aug. 5 to Aug. 9. Standing inside the booth are Carrie Skillman [left], David Skillman and Tasha Vaara. On the outside are David Brancheau [left], Ingrid Vaara, Mike Walters, Bob Walters and Mark Brancheau. Five-year-old Darrell Humphrey plays in the sandbox recently constructed on the Woodhull recreation area.

Tax return checks back

Many Michigan taxpayers have undelivered refund checks waiting for them in the Internal Revenue Service. Any taxpayer who has not yet received his refund should call or visit his local IRS office as soon as possible. R.L. Plate, district director of Internal Revenue for Michigan, said today.

The most common reason for an undelivered check, according to Plate, is that the taxpayer has moved and left no forwarding address with the U.S. Postal Service.

In cases where the taxpayer suspects his check may have been lost or stolen, Plate urged the person to get in touch with his local IRS office as soon as possible so that the IRS can put a tracer on the missing check.

Some refunds may have been delayed because of errors of omission on tax returns, according to Mr. Plate. Taxpayers affected should follow the instructions received from the IRS in order to speed up issuance of their checks.

Plate stressed that in all refund inquiries to the IRS, the taxpayer should be prepared to provide the name and address as it appeared on the return, and actual name and address if different, the social security numbers, and the type of form filed.

Taxpayers in this area can call the IRS toll free at 800-552-8590.

WHITLOCK SAYS:

WOULDN'T IT BE LOGICAL TO WANT THE MOST QUALIFIED PERSON AVAILABLE FOR TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE? Wouldn't it make good sense to have someone in that office that is totally free of obligation . . . that could give you an honest vote on all matters? Wouldn't it be great to have someone listen to your grievances and give YOU a voice in your government?

Compare my qualifications with those of the other candidates. Determine what influences, biases or obligations the other candidates may have . . . decide for yourself . . . then VOTE!

DEDICATION—Over a quarter of a century in Public Service.

EXPERIENCE—25 years of public service has given me a real insight to people, their problems, and community needs.

KNOWLEDGE—The past several years of employment as a police officer has been in a supervisory capacity. Additional knowledge has been gained through college level courses in Administration, Management, and Public Safety Labor Relations.

EXTRA ADVANTAGE—Service in 1965 and 1966 on the Grand Jury that investigated corruption in government should certainly enhance the peoples' faith and trust in their local government.

GENERAL CONCERN—We must in the near future seek out a BALANCE OF INTERESTS. Zoning and planning must be done in balance with the interests of the people. We must ensure the interests of the peoples' right to know and find a true balance during Executive Sessions. There must be a balance in the township government giving outlying residents a stronger representation and voice. I would like to be that voice, balancing the interests of ALL the people.

DECISIONS MADE IN YOUR LOCAL GOVERNMENT REQUIRE THE UTMOST IN MATURITY, EMOTIONAL STABILITY, HONESTY, AND FORESIGHT!!

Race is over for one candidate

By Pat Braunagel

A week before the Aug. 6 primary, David W. Kiser announced his un-candidacy for public office.

Up to that point, he had been the official opponent of Gary Stonerock for the Democratic nomination in the Oakland County Commission District 1 race.

This week, however, he discovered he had lost his race, not to Stonerock, but to a building contractor.

The Kisers had been planning to move into a house being constructed for them at 10040 Ellis Road, which would have made them residents of Independence Township's precinct 7 and the county commission district 1.

While their house is being built, Mr. and Mrs. Kiser and their two children have been living with his parents in Washington, Mich., a Macomb County community about 20 miles from the district Kiser hoped to represent on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

On June 18, when Kiser filed as a candidate for the county post, he and his wife also applied for voter registration in Independence Township. They signed affidavits that they would have been residents of the township for 30 days before the primary.

As required by law, Independence Township Clerk J. Edwin Glennie sent voter registration cards to the Kisers at the Ellis address to confirm their residency.

The cards, mailed June 19, were returned to the township hall July 25 stamped "No Mail Receptacle." It is customary for the post office to keep undelivered mail for 30 days before returning it.

Glennie discovered that no occupancy permit had been issued for the Ellis Road house and, when he drove out there, no one was living in it.

So the clerk cancelled Kiser's registration, thus making him unqualified to run for the county commission seat.

Howard Altman, director of elections in the county clerk's office, said he would issue an order that Kiser's name on the ballot be covered with blank stickers so that he will not appear as a candidate.

For Kiser, a 33-year-old industrial rubber products salesman, the campaign will hold bittersweet memories.

"I thought everything would be okay," he said. "But the contractor is over a month and a half late."

The Kisers lived on Parview in Independence Township from Nov. 1, 1973 to June 1, 1974, but he was last registered to vote in Ohio.

Never having been involved in politics before, Kiser became intrigued when he read an article in a newspaper about political offices being thankless jobs.

"It sounded interesting, so I figured I'd give it a try," he said.

Not only has Kiser lost his place on the ballot, he's also out about $130. He paid $100 filing fee and bought three newspaper ads.

"I lost it all," he said with a sigh.

Balancing his financial loss is the experience he gained.

"Even the short time I was involved in it, I got a kick out of it," he said,

Springfield to weigh Garner rezoning

A request for the rezoning of 13.62 acres in the eastern side of Springfield Township for proposed development by Hubert Garner will be discussed at the Aug. 7 meeting of the Springfield Township Board.

The property lies between U.S. 10 and I-75 on the western boundary of 372 acres in the Independence Township currently involved in litigation between Garner and Independence Township.

Garner is asking that the property be rezoned from residential-3 to commercial-3, for use as an expressway service center.

Thus far, the Springfield planning commission has recommended approval of the rezoning, and the Oakland County Coordinating Committee has recommended denial of the rezoning.

Springfield Township Supervisor Claude Trim said he agreed with a statement made by Independence Supervisor Robert Vandermark that "this proposal should, in view of the unresolved access problem, be coordinated with the final land use of the adjacent parcel that it is part of. Isolated consideration is improper."

Just because the township line runs down between the two parcels, that doesn't mean that the people in the area don't want the same thing for both," Trim said.

But Trim said he had not heard anything from other board members as to their possible stands on the matter.

Summer tax aid available

Senior citizens, blind persons, servicemen, veterans and eligible widows who are residents of Clarkston are now entitled to advance help on meeting summer property tax bills, issued by the village.

Township Assessor Rick Huffman said he has been informed by the State of Michigan Department of Treasury that application for $100 advance payment -- if requested by September 15 -- will be honored.

The payment must then be deducted from the amount of relief normally available in connection with the December township tax bills.

The new system was undertaken, he said, to help these people avoid delinquency penalties in connection with summer tax bills.

Forms for applying for the early aid are available from the local state treasury office in Miracle Mile Shopping Center or by writing Individual Income Tax Section, Department of Treasury, Lansing, Michigan 48922, if sent to the attention of E.W. Potter.

Huffman and Village Treasurer Artemus Pappas said they also hoped to have some of the forms available in the near future.

The changes have been made in connection with the provisions of the Homestead Property Tax Relief Act passed in 1973.

Camp Fire Girls study nature

by Mary Warner

Ecology is not a word to a campfire girls of Camp Oweki--but rather an active pursuit included in the myriad of camp activities they participate in.

Last Friday the girls went on "pond-dipping" excursions along the shores of Lake Gulick, the lake the camp is located on southeast of Clarkston off Waldon Road.

Pond-dipping requires a net, a lake, and someone to dip up muck from the bottom of the lake to present to the girls. The girls then examine the muck for lifeforms. Friday they found a water spider, crayfish, beetle and a minnow.

The day before they found a walking stick. The girls are getting to know more about these watery creatures by looking in wildlife manuals and tracing the habits of them.

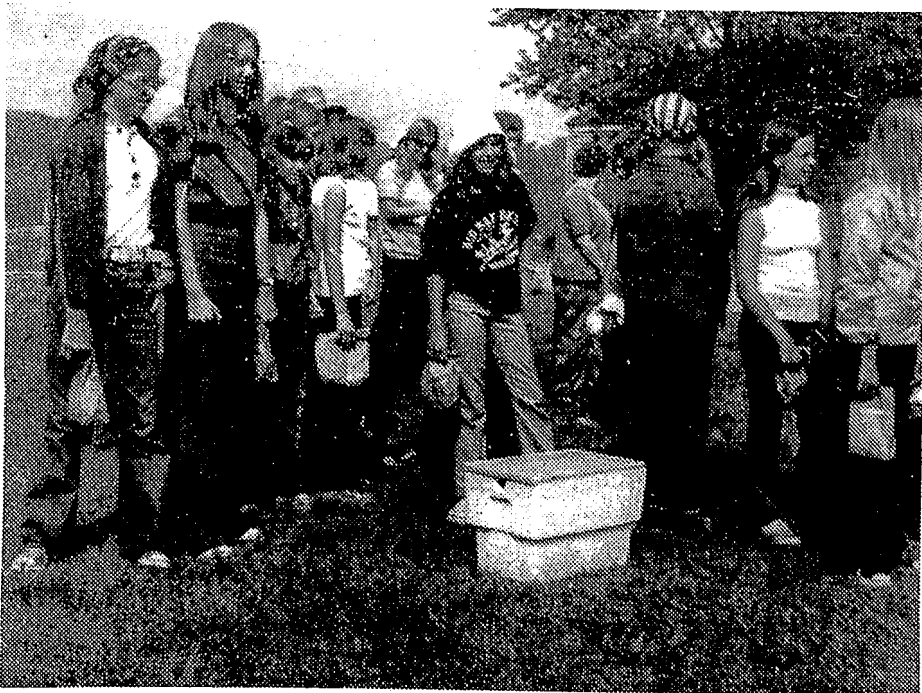

Pond-dipping is one of many camp activities designed to give campfire girls an awareness and appreciation of nature. The girls are also making crafts from natural and recycled materials to present at an ecology fair the camp is holding this week, Wednesday.

Camp Oweki is owned by the Pontiac Council of Campfire Girls, and is in the middle of the second of three 10-day sessions scheduled there this summer.

In addition to the ecology training, the camp is also involved in many different craft projects, nature projects, an outdoor cooking class, swimming instructions and various special activities such as water carnivals and Halloween days.

Rana Scutt, Brenda Rush, Kim Ferguson and Lee Long, all from Eston Street in Clarkston, join nature consultant Agnes Evans in looking for lifeforms in the mud of Lake Gulick, a project called "pond-dipping."

Amunda Hartler and Lynn Johnston were two Clarkston girls who joined a group of Campfire girls headed out with their lunches for a day of horseback riding at the Pontiac Recreation Riding Stable.

Making ecology mobiles as part of their craft work are these campfire girls from Rochester and Waterford.
