Chilly nights portend an early autumn - Animals graze closer in, and the strange malady known as football fever grips the people.

Skunked?

There's a variety of treatments
-- none of them too successful

Are small holes appearing in your lawn these chilly nights? Could be skunks, according to several homeowners. They're invading Clarkston as at least one teenager will attest. While on her way home from a Friday night football game, she leaned over to pet the pretty kitty and got the fright of her life.

The invasion is common in the fall, according to Mike Van Gordon, naturalist at the Drayton Plains Nature Center. He advises an "impractical" method of keeping the animals clear of a given area through the use of mothballs.

It's been a good year for skunks," Van Gordon said. "They've been relatively disease free for a while and their numbers are increasing."

At the DNR, Barb Rockwell said soil insecticides applied to the lawn will reduce the food supply. "If they're digging it up, there must be a lot of grubs, insects and worms there," she said.

If you're afraid they're in the house, try a cops and robbers method to determine for sure, she advised. Spread flour where you think they might be entering and then check during the night for tracks. Take note of which way the tracks are headed and act accordingly, she said.

If they're headed out, use netting and cement to seal up the entry. If they're headed in, use your imagination.

If they're in a window well or a pit, you'll have to put down a cleated ramp for them to use to gain freedom. "Skunks are notoriously poor climbers," Barb added.

Lt. Carl Metheny at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department says there's no law against shooting them if they're destroying your lawn or invading your property.

"Get downwind and aim for the spine," he advised.

New advisory signs installed on Maybee

One of the two experimental speed limit signs which were installed in the Sashabaw schools area of Maybee Road last week gets a nod of approval from Independence Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark, one of the local officials working with residents to get the speed limit lowered there.

An experiment in controlling speed in school areas on major thoroughfares has been initiated on Maybee Road in front of the Sashabaw Schools.

Advisory signs noting "Pedestrian crossing next 1/2 mile — please reduce speed to 25 mph when children are present" were installed last week.

The 45 mile limit remains in effect, however.

Paul Van Roekel, county highway engineer with the Oakland County Road Commission, said the commission is still examining the possibility of a traffic signal between the schools or use of an automatic flashing device to lower the limit 10 miles per hour at pre-set times during the school day.

"It's our understanding," he said, "that the problem on Maybee is not just with the school and not just during school hours. Recreation events produce traffic there during weekends and evenings. In that case traffic lights or reducing the speed limit would not be the total answer."

He said that the new signs, which he admitted were experimental and the first of their type to be used in Oakland County, should help and complement anything else that might be done there.

He noted a Michigan State Police traffic survey was to take place this week in the area. "We're not insensitive to the problem, but we realize we have similar situations elsewhere in the county, and whatever we do there we must be willing to repeat in other areas," Van Roekel said.

Parents of the area became upset following a traffic fatality in the area this summer. Another child was killed there four years ago. Neither accident occurred during school hours, but parents petitioned for lowered speed limits.

The campaign to have the speed limit officially lowered continued with a meeting of various local, county and state officials Tuesday morning.

"We're very frustrated at the red tape involved," Independence Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark commented.

He said State Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford, who attended the Tuesday meeting, has pledged to "do his best to cut through the red tape and find where the responsibility lies."

Also at the meeting were Clarkston Assistant Schools Supt. Milford Mason, Independence Township Police Chief Jack McCall and representatives of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Oakland County Road Commission and Michigan State Police.

"One of our frustrations is that apparently the people who call the shots in this thing aren't local people," Vandermark said.

Representing the Michigan State Police at the meeting was Sgt. David Ford of the Redford post. He now is to write a report to send to state police headquarters in Lansing.

Ultimately, Vandermark said, the speed limit in a school zone is set by the state police, road commission and superintendent of schools.

The Independence Township Board has gone on record favoring lowering the speed limit on Maybee to 25 miles per hour in the school area and 35 between Sashabaw and Clintonville roads.

A newly described allergy to cold can pose dangers to swimmers, because exposure to cold water can bring on an attack of hives, light-headedness and shock. Several drownings have been blamed on this extreme sensitivity.

Clarkston's future is in the stars

By Jean Saile

Clarkston is not a very aggressive small town, split between its past and future, and facing a decision of that nature somewhere between 1976 and 1977.

It's written in the stars, according to Carol Joslin of Snow Apple who started studying astrology a year ago, and who based her findings on the village's date of incorporation by the state legislature on March 13, 1889.

The hour of incorporation she determined to be 9:30 a.m. by transits taken in succeeding years. Carol used old copies of The Clarkston News to learn of significant happenings and the stars' positions at the time in order to determine the village's beginning.

She used such events as a traveling circus which came to town at 7:30 p.m. September 27, 1935, and a manhunt organized for the hit-and run killer of a girl at 6:30 p.m. Friday, August 2, 1946, to make the determination.

Carol says she's not a fatalist. She views astrology more as a road map which points out detours. "But a road map doesn't tell you whether you're going to go by a brick house or a barn. You can work with the things in your chart. Flaws in your character that need work are pointed out," she says.

"The moments we live are the way they are because of the time character stamped into each of us," she says, and adds that goes for a village, or a mouse or a man, equally.

"We all have our choices, taking into account heredity and environment, but even twins, born a few minutes apart, have some differences in their charts," Carol states.

A former art teacher, she now talks fluently about the three most important signs in a beginning.

For the village of Clarkston, the ascendant was in Gemini—the point in the sky closest to the geographic point on earth in which we're interested; the sun was in Pisces (a la the daily horoscope); and the moon was in Leo—the moon changes its sign every 2½ days due to rotation, she reports.

Since Gemini is for things of a small nature, Clarkston is a small town. It is religiously oriented, has strong values, but can be fooled by its leaders, particularly in terms of community property.

The Moon Saturn in the third, according to Carol, indicates the village to be quiet and withdrawn, not aggressive and yet willing to fight sporadically for what it believes is right.

In terms of business, the more usual type of business doesn't do as well here as the unusual. Things that would do well here, she says, are shops related to the arts, electronics and communication.

People won't come here for the items they can get in a shopping center. They'll come because of unusual commodities indicative of their own personality, she reports.

Some push is necessary if these types of business are to be implemented, however. Remember the town is not aggressive, she warns.

The chart shows the village's background to be good, but it should also support the future, she says. It's somewhat erratic in terms of what it wants to do, and there will be a decision along those lines following the Bicentennial.

As for the Bicentennial itself, Carol believes care ought to be taken to prevent damage. "The moon is conjuncting Uranus in opposition to Mars which speaks of masses of people worked up to a peak of activity. There might be the need for law," she points out.

Care should be taken to be law abiding, because at no time should the village go against its law abiding nature, she says.

"Change seems to be a dominant theme, but it will be gradual until after the Bicentennial celebrations," Carol forecasts. "Something that wasn't particularly good for the village started in 1971 and 1972. It's got to have something unusual to bring it to life."

These are the things she says the stars portend, and from looking back over her own chart and that of friends, she believes there is validity to the predictions.

Astrology to her provides a lot of the answers to the characters of people not found in psychology books.

Book sale to augment Artrain gifts

Donations for Artrain have been received and more are expected according to Mrs. Gwenn Phillips, chairman of the committee that is bringing Artrain to Clarkston.

Mrs. Phillips pointed out that any contributions received would be used to pay for the electricity that Artrain would use during its six-day stay. Also, money will be expended to give the train depot a face lift.

The improvement of the appearance of the train depot on White Lake road has begun and volunteers are needed each Saturday until November 20th. Area residents interested in a more impressive-looking depot can join in the scraping, painting, nailing and raking every weekend. Lunch will be provided free by the local Jaycettes.

A used book sale, according to Mrs. Phillips, will be held on two successive weekends to raise money for Artrain projects. The book sale will take place on the sidewalks in front of the Clarkston News on Friday and Saturday, October 4, 5 and October 11 and 12.

Donations of books for the sale can be delivered to Tiara Arts on Washington Street or to the Clarkston News office. Donations of money for Artrain can be delivered to Joan Kopietz at Tiara Arts or sent to Artrain, Box 362, Clarkston, Michigan 48016.

Carol Joslin examines back issues of The News

Sign restrictions will be eased

Independence Township Planning Commission members have indicated they favor a sliding scale from 50 to 100 square feet for commercial signs posted in Independence Township.

The group met Thursday night with representatives of the Business Association of Independence Township.

No action was taken. The sign restrictions are part of the master zoning ordinance due for action by the commission October 24.

Planning Commission Chairman Mel Vaara notified the audience that the meeting to adopt the zoning ordinance and map has been put back two weeks from the previously announced October date.

BAIT officers were accompanied by Al Mills, an Independence Township resident who serves as secretary of the Southeast Michigan Sign Association.

He said 50 square foot signs are not large enough to do the job in promoting local businesses, and indicated that several businesses—particularly franchises—are avoiding Independence Township because of the sign limitations.

Township Attorney Gerry Fisher said several alternate type provisions could be included in the ordinance. "We could start with a basic size with exceptions," he said. "Or we could use a sliding scale based on front footage or one based on the footage of the building. Signs farther back from the road could be bigger," he added.

Fisher recommended that the variations, if chosen by the commission, still adhere to a maximum limitation.

Variations to any adopted standards would still have to be heard by the Board of Appeals, he said.

A report from Bob Kraud, member of the appeals group, disclosed that of 12 sign requests heard by the board in the last two years, 10 were denied, one tabled and one compromised.

"If you don't agree with our philosophy, you have to admire our consistency," he said. "We've taken a lot of heat on this that I don't think we're totally entitled to. We have adhered to the ordinance," he said.

The only commissioner to speak in favor of larger signs was Barb Howe of Howe's Lanes. She said the business people are in favor of a limitation, and said she preferred 100 square feet as opposed to 50 square feet.

"If all we had (in Independence Township) were residences, the average residence doesn't pay enough taxes to keep the children in school. We have to have businesses for the tax base. The whole deal on advertising is to get the name before the public," she said.

Those favoring the smaller signs in Independence Township pointed to the visible differences along the Dixie Highway between Waterford Township and Independence Township. Waterford Township reportedly has a 300 square foot maximum.

They also asked what effect an increased maximum would have on those business people who have been required to purchase smaller signs.

Harvey Craft, president of BAIT, said conversations with some of them had revealed that they would be happy to be able to add a line to the existing sign.

Note was taken of recent cooperative efforts between BAIT members and the township to settle sign problems out of court. Enforcement officer Tim Palulian said more had been accomplished in the last four weeks than in the nine or ten months previous to come to out-of-court settlements of disputes.

He added however that his biggest enforcement problem is with temporary signs. "Some have been up more than two years," he said.

Sheldon Fuller, vice president of BAIT, said Independence Township is becoming a second class business area because businesses can't compete here. "The 50 foot sign is too small," he said.

He noted the only recent development on the Dixie is construction of a new Clarkston Power Center and the addition to the House of Maple. "Businesses that move out are not being replaced," he said. "One of the reasons is the sign ordinance."

Effects of a declining economy were also given part of the credit, but Mrs. Howe seemed to sum up business feelings when she said, "This sign ordinance was literally crammed down our throats. We had no chance to voice our opinions. All we got was a letter two years ago telling us to tear down that junk along the road."

Vaara agreed that people should be notified when changes are contemplated which affect their property.

Supervisor Robert Vandermark, present for the meeting, noted that in some respects Independence Township's sign ordinance is tougher than Bloomfield Hills.

Whatever the planning commission decides will have to be approved by the township board, and Vandermark said he had not made up his mind yet regarding what his vote will be.

Pine Knob meetings start

Expert opinion on some possible safety measures at Pine Knob Music Theater is going to be sought before post-season talks continue between theater operators and government officials.

Independence Township Supervisor Robert Vandermark said he was optimistic following the first in what hopefully will be a series of talks with theater manager Wayne Nederlander and Richard A. Whitte, attorney for the theater operators.

Other local officials at the session last Friday were Clerk J. Edwin Glennie, Treasurer Elizabeth Hallman and Police Chief Jack McCall.

Among ideas which came out of the meeting was the possibility of installing a signal light at the main entrance on Sashabaw Road and another at the intersection of Sashabaw and Clarkston-Orion roads.

The light, operating during the hours the theater is open, was seen as a possible protection for Oakland County Sheriff's deputies who patrol the area.

Also discussed were the need to assure emergency vehicle access to Pine Knob and the possibility of posting anti-litter signs, Vandermark said.

Suggestions and cost estimates on these ideas will be sought from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the Oakland County Road Commission before the meetings resume.

Meanwhile, the Nederlander operation has agreed to pay for chloride on Pine Knob Road as it is needed, Vandermark said.

He said representatives of the two county departments would be invited to the next meeting, which may also be attended by Pine Knob property owners at Indusco Corp.

Daylight break-in

Some $410 worth of stereo equipment was stolen from the Larry Nicol home at 7205 Clintonville last Friday during a daylight break-in, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Beauty

by JEAN

To protect your face against dryness and irritation, nature gives your skin a balance of natural oils and acids. Unfortunately, the daily life most of us lead tends to make washing with harsh soaps necessary. This often washes away nutrients provided by nature for the skin, including a layer of moisture and emollients. Analyze your skin type, and make sure that it is not only clean, but adequately moistened. A mild soap, one that does not use detergent action on the skin, is most valuable for everyday skin care.

Take care of your hair as well. Have it conditioned periodically at "SALON OF BEAUTY" BONNIE JEAN'S HAIR STYLISTS, 5488 Dixie Hwy. Tel. 623-1411. Village to control Deer Lake traffic

The Clarkston Village Council has voted to have the village attorney begin investigation of ways to ward off the possibly damaging impact a proposed Deer Lake subdivision development might have on the village.

The council moved to "instruct the village attorney to carry out intense and careful research for that part of the law which will support the village objective, which is to divert traffic generated by the Deer Lake development from the village streets and to prevent the widening of village streets.

The motion was made by trustee Ruth Basinger, and was passed 4-2, with trustees Michael Thayer and James Weber abstaining.

The council also voted to request that Oakland County reactivate a study the county had begun on potential traffic problems that might be encountered by the village from the proposed development.

The council recently approved a tentative preliminary plat submitted by the Deer Lake developer Hubert Garner, for a small portion of the proposed 322-acre development.

They will be considering the traffic problems when the plat comes up for various other planning approvals.

The council also drew up a request that village residents "please refrain from feeding migratory water fowl" in area lakes. The council cited recent complaints by citizens that the large duck population on the village lakes was causing a problem.

Trustee Basinger cited a recommendation by the Oakland County Health Department that ducks not be fed, as an over-population of ducks could cause "swimmer's itch."

Village President Keith Hallman also instructed the council that efforts to solidify a planned community center at Hawk Tool in Clarkston are still in progress, and that Oakland County has temporarily stopped plans to locate the 52nd District Court in Groveland Township.

Bike registration still on in Independence

Bicycle registration continues to roll along in Independence Township, with over 1,000 bikes identified so far.

The program sponsored by the Independence Department of Police Services and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department was kicked off with two weekend registrations at shopping centers.

Last week, 97 youngsters had their bicycles registered at North Sashabaw Elementary School, and another session was planned to follow at Clarkston Elementary School.

Area residents still can have their bicycles registered between 3 and 5 p.m. Wednesdays at the Independence police station beside the township hall.

Sashabaw Cougars beat CJH Wolverines

By Mary Warner

The Sashabaw Cougars freshman football team beat the Clarkston Wolverines freshman team 28-2, last Wednesday night in both teams' season opener.

First-game penalties plagued both teams, but the Cougars still dominated all four quarters.

The Cougars took the lead quickly, scoring on the first series with a 43-yard pass to halfback Chris Camp. An extra point attempt failed.

The Wolverines then succeeded in driving down to the Cougar four-yard line, only to fumble the ball. The ball was recovered by Sashabaw's Dave Taggart, and the Cougars brought the ball in for their second t.d. on a dive play from Craig Czinder to Scott Hool.

A second conversion attempt was successful this time, when Czinder passed to Steve Evans, making the score 14-0.

Sashabaw scored again in the second quarter on a 14-yard reverse to Craig Grable. Scott Hool ran the ball in for two more points, and the score at the half was 22-0.

The fourth and final Cougar score came during the third quarter, when Czinder fired a 15-yard pass to Grable. A pass to Evans for the extra points was blocked.

A Wolverine interception set the stage for Clarkston's only points of the game. Tim Fogg intercepted a Cougar pass at the Cougar 30-yard line, and ran it back to the 10-yard line.

But the Wolverines could not get past the Cougar defense, and were stopped on the Cougar one-yard line.

The Cougars took over the ball on their own one-yard line, and Clarkston scored when running back Scott Hool was tackled in the end zone by Clarkston's Brian Snyder, giving a safety to the Wolverines.

The Cougars play Cray next Wednesday in Waterford, and the Wolverines tackle Walled Lake at Walled Lake.

Cougars outplayed the Wolverines 28-2.

Politicos pervert "unified" concept

Seeds are being sown for a first class snarl in the division of power that could at its worst nullify the effectiveness of county government for the next two years, while costing taxpayers more than they now pay for its operation.

Much of the blame is being laid to "a very poorly written State Act 139" under which unified county government became possible. The rest is attributed to the machinations of elected county commissioners facing reelection in November.

Voters last August elected unified county government in the belief that consolidation of powers and the elimination of several autonomous boards and commissions would be a more economical method of getting the services we need from county government.

At the same time the voters chose that the official to run this streamlined government should be elected by the people. Daniel T. Murphy, Republican, chairman of the former board of auditors, and Eugene Kuthy, Democratic contender, vie for that spot in the November election.

If Kuthy or Murphy were to be elected while a majority of the board of county commissioners represented the opposition party, there is reasonable doubt now that the new official would have powers to make any changes at all.

The state act for unified county government phased out the old board of auditor system of doing business as of last week. The new executive will not take office until January 1, so the Board of Commissioners acted responsibly in putting those divisions that were under control of the auditors into control of the full board of commissioners.

What the Republican majority failed to do, however, was attach any phasing out date to the transfer, and it seems quite likely—particularly if the new executive and the majority of the board were of opposing parties—that the divisions will remain under commissioner control.

Those divisions acted upon last week by the county board included auditors administration, accounting, central services, data processing, facilities and operations, personnel and planning.

The new county executive will have veto power, to be overridden only by a 2/3 vote of the board, and it is conceivable some control could be achieved were he to threaten budgets. Kuthy, in effect, promised such action if it became necessary.

The executive, if he does not have control of any of the day-to-day function of government, could rightfully be expected to create a staff of his own to provide liaison with those functions. An opposition board could deny him the funds to hire such a staff.

Several department head positions will become open to political appointment. Getting political opponents to agree to such "political plums" could be difficult.

Meanwhile steps have already been taken to circumvent some of the aspects of Act 139 which would have provided for discontinuance of certain governmental bodies. The Department of Public Works board was continued by action of the commissioners Thursday—to facilitate sale of bonds and to continue to take responsibility for paying off bonds bought previously, the public was told.

There has been some discussion of lobbying for state permission to continue the Planning Commission and the Board of Health, both of which were to be absorbed by the "streamlined" operation.

Last week the board voted to create a new position of "county executive"—a move bitterly fought by Democrats in that it would give Murphy an incumbency type edge in the coming election.

His salary of $42,100 a year was continued as were the $33,500 and $33,000 salaries of his old assistants named to continue with him.

The appointed county executive designation will have to be dropped in favor of the elected county executive come January, according to Civil Counsel Robert Allen. State law provides for that, he said.

Murphy reported state law needs to be amended to smooth out some of the difficulties. It's probably going to take some law suits to do it, several officials are saying.

Hello again, Bach!

by Jean Saile

All's right with the world! I have mastered staccato with the left, while holding and phrasing with the right—and if that doesn't make sense to you, it's been a long time since you took piano lessons, too.

For years I've thought—I've dreamed about—sitting down and wowing assorted friends with my rendition of Rhapsody in Blue.

Five years of lessons when I was a youngster had not prepared me for that social feat, and Ivan Rouse at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music has come to the rescue.

He did not start me on Rhapsody, however. Some foul and diabolical instinct within him encouraged me to start on Bach fugues. To play a fugue well you have to know everything I'd managed to forget over the years.

Our house now rings to the sound of repeated passages and mutterings—even an occasional obscenity—as mother goes back to structured learning.

Structured learning—I can now understand why we have perpetual students. You know that if you can just get that phrase or that passage correct, all will be okay.

Open to a wide variety of mistakes daily, both as the wife and mother in a large family and as the editor—that most public job—of this paper, it's nice to know that routine followed strictly is secure.

Undiscovered and unrecognized pitfalls are not there waiting to trap you in a structured learning program. Play the scales, do your arpeggios, master that darned fugue and you're home safe.

I'd advise it for the mother of any teenagers. It's an ego builder is what it is, and few mothers of teenagers have much ego left.

There's even an added benefit. Everyone should learn one real "pounder"—and then when you're sitting there frustrated, angry and disillusioned, you can take it out on the piano. It's grand therapy.

There will probably even come a day when I can soothe my soul with Chopin—just as soon as I get those darned fugues mastered.

Mother is becoming a middle-aged virtuoso.

'If It Fitz . . .'

It's for my own good

by Jim Fitzgerald

As a United States citizen, I can't understand why I don't feel better.

What I mean is, public-spirited officials are continually doing things for the good of the country. I am a part of the country, truly an average citizen (1.5 TV's, 1.2 cars and 2.5 children). I should feel fine. So how come I break out in a nervous sweat every time Eric Sevareid clenches his teeth?

Spiro Agnew was innocent and he could have proved it. He only admitted he was a crook to spare me the humiliation of watching my Vice President explain the virtues of graft to a dumb jury.

Richard Nixon didn't have to resign. In a Senate trial, he could have proven himself innocent of an impeachable offense. But he quit the highest position in the land simply so I could have a fulltime President to keep an eye on the Middle East for me. He wanted to spare me the uncertainties of being led by a President who was continually summoned from summit conferences to answer burglary charges.

Gerald Ford didn't have to pardon Richard Nixon. He knew the liberals would crucify him. But Ford did it anyway, simply so I could put Watergate behind me and devote all my time to worrying about inflation. Also, he wanted to spare me the terrible trauma of possibly seeing a former President go to the pokey.

It was a good thing I had these fine men looking out for my welfare. Fool that I was, I didn't think it would bother me to see Agnew on trial. Fact is, I was anxious to hear him explain those envelopes full of cash that people kept handing him. And I was curious to see if all nattering nabobs would be automatically excused from his jury.

Likewise, I wasn't worried about being bombed by Cambodia while President Nixon was tied up in court. I figured General Haig could handle things and, if he needed help, he could call on his brother. I was silly enough to think this country might experience a spiritual uplift under the influence of Haig & Haig. (Forgive me, but this has been a tough year).

I was even dumber about the pardon. I didn't want Watergate behind me, any more than I wanted Dan Rather out of the White House. The 6 o'clock news is dull without Ron Ziegler explaining to Rather that Nixon couldn't have lied to the American people on April 21, 1973, because all of 1973 has been declared inoperative. (Except for Christmas and the day Julie was hired by The Saturday Evening Post.)

Even worse, I must admit I was terribly concerned about the possibility of an ex-President going to jail if he were found guilty of a felony. Nixon always said the guilty should be punished, didn't he? They'd lock up your Uncle Jake, wouldn't they? And besides, it would have been interesting to see if the warden could fit Nixon's throne through the cell door.

But I was wrong. I didn't know what was good for me—and the entire country. Agnew, Nixon and Ford did. In my own best interests, despite my ignorance, they generously spared me all those traumatic experiences. They took the divisiveness out of my future. Now I can move forward and concern myself with more important problems. For instance, how long has it been since you asked yourself whatever happened to Eddie Fisher?

I should be grateful. I should feel good. But I feel lousy.

I guess I'm just an ingrate. The trouble is, I keep thinking of your Uncle Jake.

Letters

Supports Artrain

Dear Jean:
I thought your article last week (Editorial Opinion) was excellent. I agree. Artrain has the potential of involving our total community in working together towards a common goal. The arrival of Artrain to Clarkston will be significant in that it will provide a unique cultural experience and opportunity for all to enjoy.

Artrain's arrival will only be successful if the Depot and surrounding grounds can be fixed up properly. This will provide an ideal location and once fixed up a focal point for Art appreciation.

The Clarkston Jaycees fully support the Artrain and encourage everybody to pitch in, work together, and help however they can. This Saturday, Sept. 28, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. there will be a work session at the Depot to fix it up. Last week much was accomplished, but there is still plenty to go around.

Sincerely,
Jim Brueck, President
Clarkston Area Jaycees

BY THE THIRD EYE

To Us and 1 Cat: Your family will have a run of good luck—more highs than lows in the next six months. Your in-laws' health is failing, but they will decline at a slower rate for the next two to three years.

Keep track of your dreams, they are open doors to your future.

Your daughters will cancel her wedding plans and will marry another within two to three years. Your husband will be getting a money increase unexpectedly, there's a sinus problem there, too. Enjoyed your letter.

I see arts and crafts, with demonstrations, and a museum in the old Methodist Church at Church and Buffalo. It should be in operation by the bicentennial. Women operating the facility will be attired in long skirts and old fashioned dresses.

Teddy Kennedy has said he won't seek nomination for president in 1976. He will run again, but he'll lose. I don't know whether it will be in 1976 or not.

It seems there are more tragedies ahead for the Kennedy family, and it will really shake them up.

Sugar will naturally go down in price a little. I have a funny feeling there is a purpose behind the rising price of sugar and the shortage of jars and lids to keep the people from canning. It's almost like they're forcing them to have to pay the higher prices that are coming up instead of allowing them to economize. It has earmarks of a pre-arranged agreement on the part of some within labor and management. Other shortages may be similarly caused, and a lot of the extra money gained going into Swiss banks.

Alcoa, Sears stocks bought now and sold the first part of January will make a great deal of money. They shouldn't hang onto them after the first of the year, however.

Those who have stock that has gone way down should hang onto their losing investments. Within four or five years those stocks will start producing again. Many will consolidate. Panic should be avoided in selling off stocks that are down now.

Someone in the area will win a Reader's Digest award.

Realtors may soon be having homes that they can't sell. People will be leaving the area for all parts of the country. Their homes will be standing empty for a while.

A prominent area doctor will be giving up his home and practice within two or three years at the most. There's a ship involved, and it seems likely that he will be moving across a great body of water with his family.

The dredging of the mill pond will be a good job, but there will be some dissatisfaction, I don't know what over.

Developers out

Dear Editor:

A land developer recently told the Independence Township Planning Commission that it will be at least five years before any significant development takes place in the township. I sure hope he is wrong, I'd much rather he would predict 25 years.

He also stated builders, public utilities, developers are in a difficult position. He says they claim they are going broke. "Bull." If anything, they are causing the taxpayers to go for broke.

Let the builders and developers pay the cost of sewers and water, etc. They are the ones who are the greatest beneficiaries of the sewers by allowing denser development and eventually this denser development will dry up most of the wells creating more costs to the taxpayers for piping water. I sincerely hope it will be many, many years before we reach the 25,000 people mark.

When the township purchased signs to place at the township boundaries to welcome people to the township they should have printed a small exception underneath the signs, "does not include builders and developers."

Very truly yours,
Walter F. Grogan

Drivers' ed begins

An Adult Driver's Education Course began classes Monday night at Waterford Township High School as part of the Waterford schools' adult education program.

Those who wish to join the nine-week course can still sign up. The deadline for registration is Monday, Sept. 30.

The course includes one class period every Monday night, and one night of driving on both the school range and on the highway.

The other day Leon Storm told about buying some doughnuts with the holes bigger than the doughnut, and a picture snapped into mind of my mother letting me help cook dunkers.

I was just a lad. Had to stand on a chair to get high enough to look in the big pot of bubbling grease to see when to flip the doughnuts over.

Were they ever good, especially warm. I don't recall their being lightweights. I do recall that they were brown, crusty and super tasty.

Thinking about it again, I wonder if your mother was the world's greatest cook? Don't get into comparisons that will break up the happy home, just let your memory cover your pre-teen years.

Mother was the supreme high being of gravy makers. My wife says her mother-in-law could cook a small roast and make enough delicious gravy for a banquet.

Gravy could well be my favorite food if it could be made like I remember mother's tasting. After getting done with potatoes and gravy, and bread and gravy, we'd just put the gravy on the empty plate and spoon it.

I tried to come up with other great dishes mother made and the only other one that can't be duplicated is her fried hamburger. On pay day she'd go shopping in Durand and sometimes returned with hamburger.

She'd arrive about the time we got home from school and fry up a batch. She'd mince it up and put it on a slice of fresh bread. I don't know what she did to it, but it was great. I've tried a dozen times to match it. Nothing.

The more I thought about mother's offerings, the more foods came into mind I didn't like. It was the early 30's and foods were stretched. There was also some improvising.

Beet greens for one. Hayen't had 'em in 35 years and don't have in mind ordering them now. Even heavy with vinegar they were bitter.

Rutabagas, turnips, and rhubarb are a few more delicacies I forgo. Back then, Dad insisted on rutabagas in the stew and I'd try to separate them onto the edge of my plate.

"Eat 'em or get to bed without eatin'," he'd say. I swallowed 'em.

Mother cooked heart, which I sorta liked, but the dumplings were too much. The only thing that saved them was the gravy. Super chicken gravy.

Salt pork was on the menu rather frequently in those days. When it was in the baked or boiled beans I could put mustard on it and it wouldn't be too bad.

Fried it was good, but mother would make milk gravy that had to be put over it. That is the only gravy I can't make a diet of. Couldn't then either.

There were a few more foods that were common then and not served at home today. Corn bread had to be made when boiled beans were the main course. Gingerbread wasn't bad, home made bread was great and outstanding when warm, graham muffins are well behind me, as is head cheese.

Used to have a lot of head cheese after butchering the hogs. It filled many a lunch bucket.

One thing I just can't recall having as a boy at home is steak. Of course we didn't have lobster tail either... and maybe for the same reason.

Commission recommends rezoning be denied

The Springfield Township Planning Commission has recommended denial of a rezoning request for a proposed golf course and multiple dwelling in Springfield Township.

Petitioner John Szeremiet of Waterford asked that the commission recommend the rezoning from residential to recreational and multiple residential of 244 acres north of Bridge Lake Road on the Dixie Highway.

Commission chairman Al Lopez said the commission voted to deny the request because the area was zoned for single family residential and the master plan for the township also specifies the area as single family.

Lopez said there was no reason, according to the commission, why the area could not be developed as single family. The commission did not object to the proposed golf course, he said.

At the Sept. 17 commission meeting, members also approved recommendation for the rezoning of 10 acres on the corner of Crosby Lake Road and Andersonville from residential to light manufacturing.

Petitioners Leroy and Ellen Smith, owners of the property at 8493 Andersonville, plan to use the property for a cement contracting firm.

The commission approved the piece, according to Lopez, because it conforms with the township master zoning map, which shows the area as light manufacturing.

Youths charged in gun theft

An Oct. 1 pre-trial examination date has been charged for three youths charged with breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny.

Charged in the Aug. 1 break in of the Chris J. Theresch home at 4002 Mill Lake Road, Lake Orion, are Steven B. McGowen, 19, of 2000 Hopefield, Pontiac; Steven F. Wade, 21, of 6220 Ascension, Clarkston; and Michael R. Dewey, 18, of 2000 Hopefield.

Two shotguns and a rifle were reported stolen from the home.

At their arraignment Sept. 18, McGowen and Wade entered pleas of innocent. McGowen was placed on $10 thousand cash or surety bond and Wade was placed on $5 thousand cash or surety bond.

Dewey entered a plea of innocent at his arraignment Sept. 19 and was also placed on $5 thousand cash or surety bond.

Memories

By Jean Saile

It was a 1938 Plymouth, and I used to sit in it during the long hot summer afternoons, shifting gears, turning on buttons, sometimes forgetting to turn them off again, and dreaming.

I was about 10 years old, and the idea that some day I would be driving that car engrossed me.

The old car was black in color, had a trunk that stuck out in a very fashionable manner today, and I think it had running boards.

For the uninitiated those were the steps leading into the car, and the height of freedom was being allowed, to stand on the running board while your father or your brother drove the car very slowly around the circle drive.

If it wasn't the Plymouth with running boards, the 1928 DeSoto it replaced definitely did have. The Plymouth replaced the DeSoto in the drought of the 30's largely because the DeSoto had become temperamental. It sometimes balked at approaching hills, and in order to fool it, we had to turn it around and go up the hills in reverse.

The DeSoto in turn had replaced a much earlier car whose antecedent lay in one of the very first Model T Fords in that part of Saskatchewan. My dad was easily recognizable as the driver. With his long legs, his knees stuck up higher than the steering wheel, the oldtimers out there still recall.

One time he swerved to avoid a chicken along a sandy patch of road and turned the whole thing over. He got up, brushed himself off, and neither he nor the car were much the worse for wear.

Those were the days when they built cars to last, and it was a good thing. Few Saskatchewan farmers in those days could afford the luxury of a new car very often. The money went instead on tractors, combines, trucks — something with a producing factor.

The day did come when I began driving the Plymouth. Nobody much checked driver's licenses in that farming community and I was taking it to town for the mail at a very early age.

And then came the day when I got my own very first car — a 1942 Mercury coupe purchased in the days immediately after World War II, it was a lemon from the word 'go.'

There was no 'little old lady' in its background who only drove it around the block on Sunday. The solenoid would stick and you'd have to get out and hammer it before you could get the car to start.

There was also an episode with a leaking hose and cold water added to the radiator while the motor was off. I learned then about the benefits of adding waterglass to the radiator to seal off holes.

Tires never lasted long on that car, either, and when the opportunity finally came to get a replacement at a reasonable price, I was first in line.

The new car never had the same personality, but life became smoother and more economical.

High fuel pump pressure or volume Hard re-starting; stalling; poor idling; high gas consumption; smell of gasoline.	Swollen diaphragm; bind or bend in pump linkage; too strong a diaphragm spring; too thin mounting gasket; plugged diaphragm vent hole.
Low fuel pump pressure or volume Carburetor starving for fuel; engine operation uneven at cruising speed; flat spot on acceleration; poor performance.	Air leak in pump body or cover; too thick a gasket between pump and crankcase; worn camshaft eccentric; stretched or leaking diaphragm; weak diaphragm spring; improperly seated valves; restriction in fuel supply line.

BEATING OLD MAN WINTER

With motordom always offering something new, it should be no surprise that winter now presents bigger and more puzzling car problems. We used to be stymied by hard starting and cooling system headaches, but having jumped these hurdles with reasonable success we now find ourselves facing new situations such as positive crankcase ventilation, exhaust manifold heat valves, brake freezing and new heating systems.

Did you know, for example, that a 12-volt battery is more likely to self-discharge than a six-volt job if there is water on top of its case? The possible amount of current leakage is doubled in a 12-volt battery but the effect on battery discharge will be four times as much as in a six-volt system. So, after adding water, be careful to wipe the top dry. In a driving snow it is possible for the battery top to become quite wet because of its forward location. You may need to install a shield.

When the old mare ain't what she used to be there's not much you can do about it. With an ailing car, it's different. There's a whole cornucopia of tricks that will make it move along again.

The big factor in restoring zing is giving importance to little things. Many a car regains lost performance merely by having its carburetor rebuilt. A can of tune-up oil poured into the gas tank may cure a sticky valve that is robbing the engine of normal power on hills. Replacement of a weak pull-back spring can check the power loss due to a dragging brake shoe. Little things. But put them all together and you've got rejuvenation.

The 1975 FORD LTD Landau

Designed to replace longer, heavier, more expensive luxury cars like Buick Electra Limited and Oldsmobile 98 Regency.

The 1975 Granada
Elegance in a new efficient size.

THE DESIGN:

Ford Granada is designed to help deal with such problems as crowded roads, increased fuel cost and maintenance. Granada is about 2 feet shorter and a half ton lighter than most standard-size cars. So you can expect excellent gas mileage. Yet there's family-size room inside.

THE ECONOMICS:

A luxurious car today has to earn its keep. Granada doesn't back away from that fact. Its trim design helps reduce needless weight and excessive fuel consumption. Granada's base engine is a Six that's economical and easy to maintain. Gas-saving radial ply tires.

THE COMFORTS:

Granada is planned for riding comfort and durable good taste. Appointments have such a rich look you'll wonder whether you're admiring the top-of-the-line. Supple vinyl trim is standard, and both front seats recline. Granada Ghia provides extra styling and elegance.

Clarkston's 2nd shutout: Wolves 56, Lakeland 0

By Bill Condon

Whether September 20 will long be remembered as the night when Gary Molina ran 309 yards in nine attempts scoring four touchdowns as a result is a topic for debate, but if you were at the game Friday night, it will not easily be forgotten.

Even if one forgets about Molina, one would still recall the final score: Clarkston-56; Milford Lakeland-0.

The game started off as the Lakeland Eagles kicked the football into the waiting arms of Steve Klein, who with a little help from his blockers carried the ball 90 yards downfield for the Wolves' first touchdown. A good extra point kick by Rick Gunter brought the score to 7-0, Clarkston's favor.

The second touchdown occurred on the play following Lakeland's first punt. Gary Molina carried the ball 74 yards for the t.d. A blocked kick left the score at 13-0.

After that touchdown, both teams played on even terms, one team moving the ball upfield a ways, and the other team moving it back. With 10 seconds left in the second quarter, Clarkston quarterback George Porritt threw a 60-yard pass to Ed Leichtnam, who carried it into the end zone. The try for the extra two points failed, leaving the score at 19-0.

In the third quarter, 16 points were scored, 14 of them by Molina. The first score came midway in the quarter as Molina ran across the goal line 34 yards away. A quick pass to Steve Ronk scored two more for the Wolves. The next scoring occurred near the end of the quarter as Molina ran the ball 62 more yards for another touchdown. A run through the middle of the Lakeland defensive line by Molina for two more points brought the score to Clarkston 35 — Lakeland 0.

The fourth quarter started with the ball in Clarkston's control on the Eagles' 38-yard line. In two plays the ball was moved down to the Lakeland 10-yard line where it was a simple matter for Porritt to throw a short pass to Steve Ronk for another touchdown. Gunter's kick brought the score to 42-0. Wayne Thompson kicked off to Lakeland, but a fumble on the return, recovered by Clarkston's Jim Dyke returned the ball to the control of the Wolves on the Eagles' 21-yard line. Thompson, now at quarterback, ran the ball to the 7-yard line, from where, on the next play, Rick Esser scored a touchdown. Gunter's kick was good for another point, and brought the score to 49-0.

The next time the Wolves got the ball was when a refused penalty left the ball on their own 4-yard line. It finally looked like the Wolves might be in trouble, as it was fourth down and they were only able to move it down to their own 6. On that fourth down play, the ball was again handed off to Gary Molina, who found an opening, and ran the ball 94 yards down the field for his fourth touchdown of the evening. The extra point kick by Gunter was successful, and the score was now Clarkston 56 — Milford Lakeland 0.

In the few remaining seconds of the game, it was easy for the defense to hold the Eagles scoreless until the end of the game.

Clarkston is doing a great job of defense. The offense has been doing a great job, too (111 points in two games is nothing to ignore), but no offense, no matter how many points scored, is going to keep the opposing team from scoring, as the Wolves' defense has done two times in succession.

Before one starts thinking what a great victory this game was, remember this is Milford Lakeland High School's first year in operation and there are nothing but sophomores and juniors attending the school. The football team doesn't have the benefit of any experienced seniors (Clarkston has 30 seniors on its team). All this means is that in a year or two, the Eagles might cause a little trouble for the Wolves.

In looking ahead to this Friday's game, the Wolves will find themselves up against the Redskins of Milford High School (not to be confused with Milford Lakeland), at Milford. The game against Milford will offer the Wolves their first crack at a school in the same league, and the Wayne-Oakland league title (aside from going the whole season undefeated) is what the Wolves really want.

Mark Blumenau, 32, and Tom Ross, 61, lead the way for a touchdown by Gary Molina.

White's Wolves

Big wins don't mean big heads

by Rob White

Many people throughout this last week have asked me if the team is over-confident after winning by scores of 55-0 and 56-0, and after being rated 12th in the state of Michigan.

My answer has always been the same. My team has confidence in themselves as players, their coaches as instructors and the entire team as a unit.

Our confidence is based on hard work, mental toughness and competitiveness. We will never become over-confident because of our scores or publicity in the papers. It is my job to overcome our publicity and put it in perspective.

There will be times when we may look a little sloppy, but this is normal. We cannot run every play perfectly for an entire game, although this is one of the goals we strive for.

Our rating of 12th in the entire state is a source of pride for the whole community, especially for the parents of our players. It is, most certainly another first for Clarkston football.

Our defensive unit gave up only 54 total yards to Lakeland and stopped them inside the 15-yard line early in the game to prove Clarkston is no longer an average defensive team. I like to think of our defense as our "eleven-man wrecking crew." The wrecking crew more than anything else has enabled us to control the ball on offense and score. Incidentally, Lakeland averaged only one yard per-carry against the defense.

Let's not forget the offense, they have scored 111 points in two games and the second team has scored every time. They have played in both games.

Gary Molina had another outstanding night, scoring four touchdowns and gaining 309 yards in only nine carries. Rick Esser, a sophomore, Ed Leitchnam and Steve Ronk, seniors scored their first varsity touchdowns, along with Steve Klein, who also scored the week before.

We have eight outstanding running backs, including the quarterbacks, and although they haven't been used to their fullest, we will definitely use them all by the end of the season.

This week we will have our best test thus far in the season, at Milford High School. They are 0-2 but are capable of playing good football. With good practices this week and our usual large crowd for the game it could be an exciting game.

Our attendance at the games has been fantastic and the enthusiasm of the crowd, led by the cheerleaders and helped along by the band, all help us win.

Clarkston rates 10th

Clarkston climbed two notches in the Associated Press rating system for Michigan high school football teams this week, earning a 10th best class A team in the state rating.

Joe McDermott of The Oakland Press, chairman of the rating division, said the Wolves in their last two games have earned 111 points and haven't given up any.

He said the five sports writers from around the state are impressed with the team. The ratings are made each Monday.

This is the first year Clarkston has made the poll ratings, local officials said.

Tom Ross, defensive linebacker, tackles a Lakeland player.

CJH baseball coach named

A new freshman baseball coach has been named at Clarkston Junior High, CJH, to take over the 9th grade program.

Dave McDonald, science teacher at Clarkston Junior High, CJH, to take over the 9th grade program.

Lewis said that in keeping with his policy of trying to hire coaches from within the building, he has employed McDonald will replace Rob White, varsity football coach at the high school who has been 9th grade baseball coach since the 1972-73 school year.

David Blower's freshmen battled to a scoreless tie-Sunday. the offensive unit moved the ball well, but could not quite put it together for a score.

Tim Ellis had a 69-yard touchdown run called back because of illegal procedure. Another 73-yard drive led by Adam Kline, Bruce Berwitz and Scott Coleman was halted on the Wolverines' 1-yard line.

Coach Blower cited Brian Fogg, Jim Moffett, Robert Boyt, Brad Crandall and Ernie Helton as defensive standouts.

Sashabaw gets cross-country

Sashabaw Junior High School will have a cross-country team this year. Sashabaw Athletic Director John Kirchgessner said he has found enough meets for the team, after questioning earlier whether he would be able to set up enough dates.

Six meets have been scheduled. In the first meet of the season Sashabaw placed last against Lake Orion and Clarkston Junior High Monday night in Lake Orion.

Lake Orion captured honors with a score of 32, Clarkston Junior High had 33 and Sashabaw Junior High 67.

Junior Varsity 0-6

Coach Dick Heath's Jayvees put in a hard day and came out with a 6-0 loss at the hands of Madison Heights. The score by the Wolvreines resulted from a stolen pass. Defensive Coach Rich Lamphere cited fine performances by Norm Helzer, Gary Newton, Mike Smith and Evan Simion.

Varsity 35-6

Coach Darrell Williams' team scored at will, literally blowing the Madison Heights Wolverines off the field and running up a total of 385 yards and a score of 35-6.

Warren Gritzinger scored three touchdowns and two extra points. John Walenski had a 50-yard touchdown run and Bobbie Foster jaunted 30 yards for another score.

"Outstanding blocking on the part of Steve Pike and Keith Gilchrist played an important part in our running game," Williams said.

Kevin Hartland threw only twice all afternoon, completing one long gainer to Mike Hoeksema.

Defensive coaches Bill Lang and Jack Anderson spoke well of the efforts by Ben Thompson and Mike Ogans.

The Chiefs will play host to Walled Lake Hawks at 1 p.m. this Sunday at Clarkston High School field.

JVs squash Hazel Park Lapeer defeats Clarkston

The Clarkston JV football team once again cleaned out their opponents, this time dumping Hazel Park last Thursday 26-0.

Halfway through the first quarter the Wolves scored their first touchdown on a 34-yard pass from Don Farnsworth to running back Mark Czinder. They then ran for a two-point conversion, but were called back on a backfield in motion penalty, and failed to score the extra points on their second try.

A 60-yard pass play netted the second t.d. for the team, with Czinder running in for the score. A second conversion try failed, and the score remained 12-0.

Defensive cornerback Glenn Curtis set up the third Wolves' t.d. by intercepting a pass on the Hazel Park 35-yard line in the second quarter. The Wolves then brought the ball to the 11-yard line, where Farnsworth ran for the touchdown.

Another conversion attempt was again stopped by Hazel Park, and the score at the half was 18-0.

The fourth and last Wolves' t.d. was made in the third quarter via a 54-yard pass from Farnsworth to Czinder, which brought the ball to the four-yard line, where Farnsworth ran it in.

A fourth conversion was finally successful for two more points, and the final score was 26-0.

JV defensive coach John Craven said good defensive performances were put in by middle linebackers Ken Ballard and Glenn Curtis, and by cornerback Doug Stevens.

The JVs play Rochester Adams this Thursday at home. Coach Paul Tungate said the Rochester team has a new JV coach, and Tungate is unsure of just what to expect from that opposing team.

Golf team bounces back

The Clarkston High School golf team won two and tied one of its last four matches, leading coach Doug Pierson to speculate that the team may yet have a winning season.

After suffering a series of defeats, the golfers came back to beat Rochester last Wednesday 154-171. They also downed Milford last Thursday 161-167, and tied with Holly on Friday 174-174.

A match with Andover Monday was lost 173-164. Medalists for those games were John Anderson, with a one under par 35 against Rochester and a 38 against Holly, and Bob Heath, who played a 38 game against Milford and netted a 41 score against Andover.

The team has 14 more matches scheduled, including a Wednesday game against Waterford Township and a Friday game against West Bloomfield.

Y offers classes at Colombiere

North Oakland YMCA is offering physical fitness programs for men and women beginning the week of October 1 at Colombiere College.

A class entitled Housewives' Hookey has been set for Wednesdays from 9:30 to 11:15 a.m. The fee is $11 for a program of stretching exercises, jogging, volleyball, and socialization.

A men's fitness class has been scheduled from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. Costing $20, it will offer exercise, fitness testing, jogging, volleyball, paddleball and basketball.

A program for both men and women will be offered from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. Wednesdays costing $15 per couple. Called a low gear fitness program for those who do not exercise regularly, it offers warm-up exercises, minimal jogging and volleyball.

The classes will run six weeks. Registration information is available by calling the YMCA office at 335-6116.

This year, Clarkston's cross-country team has been plagued with defeats, handed out by Rochester Adams, West Bloomfield and Lapeer.

"We should have beaten Rochester and Lapeer," Coach Erroll Solley said. But we're a young team, with only three returning lettermen from last year's team. But the main factor is that they're improving!"

At Clarkston, the Harriers were defeated by Rochester in a dual meet September 9.

Finishing first for Clarkston was Paul Glowzinski with a clocking of 17:03 for 3 miles.

Against West Bloomfield finishing first for Clarkston and fourth in the meet was Jeff McIlrath with a clocking of 16:54, followed by Paul Glowzinski.

On September 20, Clarkston traveled to Lapeer and lost a close meet. Finishing first, second and third for Clarkston were Paul Glowzinski, Paul Brown with a time of 16:37 and following right behind was Jeff McIlrath.

The Wolves varsity dual meet record is 2-4 and their league record is 0-1.

Earlier in the season the JV team placed 4th out of 20 teams at the Holly Invitational with Dave Brown taking home a ribbon for 8th place.

The Junior Varsity team is undefeated in dual meets with a record of 6-0 and their league record is 1-0.

FOR

GENERAL ELECTION TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1974

To the Qualified Electors of the Township of Springfield (Precincts No. 1 & 2); COUNTY OF OAKLAND, STATE OF MICHIGAN.

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law", I, the undersigned Clerk, will upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may APPLY TO ME PERSONALLY for such registration.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I WILL BE AT THE FOLLOWING PLACES ON

9 A.M. to 5 P.M. MONDAY thru FRIDAY, at 650 Broadway and on Monday, October 7, 1974 -- Last Day

From 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m.

The 30th day preceding said Election

And on Saturday, October 5, 1974 — 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As provided by Section 498, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954 As Amended

From 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m. on said day for the purpose of REVIEWING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP, CITY or VILLAGE as SHALL PROPERLY apply therefor.

In addition the Clerk's Office will be open from 8 o'clock a.m. until 5 o'clock p.m. on the Saturday preceding the 30th day.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

ELECTOR UNABLE TO MAKE PERSONAL APPLICATION, PROCEDURE

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

UNREGISTERED PERSONS NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE

SEC. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided under Act 116, P.A. 1954.)

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION, APPLICATION, TIME

SEC. 506. Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his resignation to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Such transfers shall not be made after the 30th day next preceding any election or primary election, unless such 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday in which registration transfers shall be accepted during the following day.

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION ON ELECTION DAY

SEC. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village and has not recorded such removal with the local Clerk shall execute a transfer of registration request, listing the new residence address thereon over his signature, with the election board in the precinct in which he is registered at the next ensuing primary or election. The inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and, if the signatures correspond, then the inspector shall certify such fact by affixing his initials upon said request. The applicant for transfer, after having signed an application to vote as provided in Section 523 of this act, shall then be Girl cagers trounced Pontiac Catholic 56-22 in season opener.

Girls win opener

By Jan Modesitt

The girls' basketball teams from Clarkston High School opened their playing season last Thursday against Pontiac Catholic High School. The Varsity team looks as though it should have another strong season, as it out-scored Pontiac Catholic 56-22.

Leading the scoring for Clarkston were Nancy Chartier and Cindy Hunt with 12 points each, Dede Miller with 10 points, and Nancy Foster with nine points. Clarkston's hustling defense (including 28 steals) caused many turnovers by Pontiac Catholic and led to several easy lay-up shots for Clarkston.

The team shot 44.8 percent from the floor for the first half, but cooled off in the second half for an average of 35.3

percent field goal shooting for the game. Nancy Foster and Cindy Hunt were tied for the most assists with five apiece. In the rebound department, Laurie Miller hauled down eight, while Cindy Hunt had seven.

After an almost scoreless first quarter, the JV teams settled down to play some basketball. Clarkston's team came out on top, winning 22-18. The scoring was spread throughout the team members.

This week Clarkston's teams played on Tuesday at Avondale and will have their home opener on Thursday (Sept. 26) against Lapeer. Game time is 6:30 p.m. for the JVs and 8 p.m. for the Varsity. Admission to the home games this year will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students.

permitted to vote in such precinct for that primary or election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

Violin training offered

Ivan Rouse, director of the Clarkston Conservatory of Music, has announced the beginning of Suzuki violin classes for young children.

Rouse said American teachers and parents have become interested in the Talent Education program of teaching violin to very small children, a program developed in Japan by Shiniki Suzuki.

He said Suzuki believes that the success of the program is based on three factors:

- 1.) The earlier the better, not only for music but for all learning.
- 2.) The individual is a product of his environment . . . and young children have a natural ability to conform to their environment.
- 3.) Repetition of experiences is important for learning. Cultural sensitivity is not inherited, but is developed after birth.

The Suzuki classes will be taught by Janice Turano Ryan. A native of Farmington, New Mexico, she studied violin at Webster College in St. Louis, Mo., and did graduate work at St. Louis University. She has been a member of the St. Louis Symphony and St. Louis String Ensemble. She studied the Suzuki method of violin teaching with Mari Nishizawa, a pupil of Dr. Suzuki.

Enrollment is now being accepted for children three years of age and older, Rouse added.

Junior Miss contest

Clarkston Area Jaycees will conduct their annual Junior Miss Pageant November 9 at Clarkston High School Little Theater.

High school seniors have until September 30 to sign up for the contest. They will be judged on the basis of scholastic ability, poise, appearance, talent and physical fitness. The winner will receive a scholarship and a chance to compete in the state pageant.

Work now being carried out at the Sashabaw Bridge across I-75 involves a new deck. Paul Van Roekel, county highway engineer, said the State Highway Department is engaged in a program involving replacement of two inches of surface material and new railing. He said the old bridge surface had deteriorated, exposing some reinforcing steel. Several such jobs have had to be performed in the Detroit area, Van Roekel said. "Don't discount the effects of salt on bridges," he added.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is taking a very dim view of those who would steal its property or vandalize service. A $5,000 reward has been offered in regard to four recent acts of telephone sabotage in Southfield, and the $1,000 reward offered in the case of Lake Orion's recently missing cable still stands. Bell spokesmen said four telephone terminal boxes were forced open and telephone connection wires cut September 7 in Southfield. Those offering information may remain anonymous by identifying themselves by a code name or number. The place to call is 872-4465.

Three Milliken-Broomfield Campaign Telephone Centers have been opened in the 19th District, according to Republican Chairman John F. Cartwright. The Lake Orion Center, 185 South Broadway, serves the townships of Addison, Brandon, Oakland, Orion and Oxford. A Waterford-Pontiac office at 242 South Telegraph, Pontiac, will serve our area, and a third has been opened in Birmingham.

Springfield Supervisor Claude Trim and his assessor, Ken Gottschall, weren't in the office three days this week. They were attending classes for certified tax assessors sponsored by the Michigan Tax Assessors Association.

A new student to Clarkston Junior High is Rafael Hernandez Ramirez, 14, an exchange student from Bogota, Columbia, S. America.

Rafael speaks Spanish, and came to the United States Sept. 3 without knowing any English. His host family, school mates, and teachers are helping him to learn, though, and armed with three dictionaries, Rafael is getting along.

He is living until next June with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maloney, 8315 Reese Road, and their three children, David, 10, Terri Anne, 7, and Randy, 5.

To help his English along, Rafael is going to night class at Waterford Mott High School, and will study English until he has a workable English vocabulary.

At the same time, Rafael is helping others with their Spanish, including one of the high school Spanish teachers.

Money's tight for teenagers

By Pat Braunagel

Gasoline costs almost twice what it did before the "energy crisis," and the price of bubble gum has doubled over the last year.

These two indicators can give us some idea of the effect of today's economic trends on today's teenagers.

While hardly a pocket of poverty, Clarkston High School nevertheless is the scene of a general tightening up of funds by students.

Many arrived at CHS this fall with smaller back-to-school wardrobes.

Many are looking for jobs to augment allowances or funds left from summer work.

Many are changing their plans for college.

And many are complaining about the two-cent bubble gum in the Wolves' Den, a student store at the school.

Renee Bennett

James MacArthur, vocational coordinator for distributive education, said the kids haven't seen the worst of it. Right now, only the price of gum has been increased, because the Wolves' Den still is selling last year's stock in its clothing and gift lines.

"New shipments will be up," MacArthur said. "The salesmen have indicated there will be a substantial increase in the cost to us."

Ann Bickerstaff

Marilyn Hanson, director of guidance, said the main effect of the economic situation she has noticed so far has been on young people preparing to go to college.

"A lot of kids are looking for colleges close to home so they can commute," she said. "They're also looking for part-time jobs now."

The school runs an informal job referral service by getting students together with residents in the community who are seeking young people to do babysitting and house and yard work.

Anyone who would like to hire a student can call Mrs. Hanson at 625-5841. She noted that some screening is done.

Other than in these two areas, Mrs. Hanson has not noticed a particular difference in the financial status of the average CHS student.

"There are just as many kids driving just as many cars," she estimated.

The kids who are driving cars, an important asset to a suburban high school student, are paying more for their gasoline and maintenance.

Roxanne Livingston, a junior, has her car almost three months. Her father bought it, and she's paying him back with money earned at a waitressing job she started last week.

Working part-time six days a week, Roxanne is no longer receiving an allowance now that she's getting a salary and tips.

Although she babysat this summer, Roxanne bought just one new top for her back-to-school wardrobe, "because I spend half of my money on gas."

Other funds went to her mother, who had made the first insurance payment on the car.

Nancy Bindig

"There's another one coming up," Roxanne sighed.

Dave Cowdrey, a senior who has his second car "just about paid for," claims he's not feeling any pinch.

Dave's worked part-time as a cook for a year and a half, maintains the car himself and pays for his insurance.

"I make money go as far as I want it to go," Dave said.

Renee Bennett, a sophomore, also said the economic situation "hasn't bothered me."

Both her allowance and her babysitting rates went up when she entered high school.

With the money she earned this summer, she bought school clothes and started a savings account, putting aside funds for "nothing in particular."

"I can't buy as many clothes," Ann

Roxanne Livingston

Bickerstaff, a junior, noted. "Everytime I want to go somewhere, I never have any money. Everywhere you go you have to pay. So there's nothing to do."

Ann now is working part-time in an optometrist's office. She has bought some clothes and has made a real effort to color-coordinate them, so the separate articles will be more versatile.

Nancy Bindig, another junior, agreed with Ann about the problems with clothes and going places.

"I have to put gas in the car when I use it," Nancy said, referring to the family auto.

Nancy has started a five day week babysitting job to bolster her budget.

Both Ann and Nancy work in the Wolves' Den, one of the places in which students are seeing their money not go as far.

One young shopper, who said her weekly allowance is $4, commented, "That's just enough to buy gum."

William Martin, 60, dies prior to home fire

William L. Martin II, 60, died of a heart attack early Saturday, according to the Oakland County Medical Examiner's office, shortly before a fire destroyed the rear of his home at 58 North Main Street. He had been in ill health for a long period of time.

Jerry Bisha who was taking care of Mr. Martin said he checked him at 1 a.m. and everything was all right. When he checked again at 4 a.m., the entire family room where Mr. Martin was sleeping was in flames and Bisha said he could not get into the kitchen or the family room.

Fire Chief Frank Ronk whose Independence Township Fire Department answered the call at 4:09 a.m. said damage to the house was estimated at $7,500 and damage to contents at $3,700. At one time, he said, flames were shooting out the rear window as far as 30 feet.

Mr. Martin was born August 12, 1914, in Cheboygan and graduated from Shattuck Academy, Fairbault, Minn. Most of his business career had been spent with Chrysler Corp. and he was sales manager of the Amplex Division when he retired because of health in 1973.

A former member of the Birmingham City Commission and a life member of Birmingham Village Players, he was also a member of the Detroit Recess Club and Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Surviving are his son, William L.

Martin III of Lakeville, Minn.; a daughter, Mrs. J. D. Miller of Cannon Beach, Ore., three grandchildren; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Martin of Birmingham. His wife died September 2.

Memorial services were Tuesday at Episcopal Church of the Resurrection. Memorial gifts may be made to CARIH, a division of the National Asthma Center, Denver, Colo., Church of the Resurrection, or the American Cancer Society.

Springfield tour varied

By Pat Braunagel

The Springfield Historical Society, set on the task of preserving a bit of Midwestern Americana, will demonstrate the "melting pot" variety which is at the heart of the country with its first homes tour.

There is the 97-year-old Sam Miller home, a Victorian mansion set in the middle of rolling farmlands.

There is the smaller, right-in-town house of Cal and Iva Knox, a Davisburg couple whose glass collection is particularly representative of the work of Michigan and Virginia artisans.

Also on the tour will be the brick ranch-style home of the Lloyd Virgins, one of the houses on a two-generation farm.

Another stop will be the Japanese garden of Ralph O'Reilly, where visitors will find centuries-old traditions creating a mood of serenity.

Then there is the Davis home itself, the first preservation project of the society and the impetus for the group's formation.

It is to raise funds for the renovation of this house and the Schultz harness shop in Davisburg that the year-old historical society is sponsoring the homes tour Sunday, Sept. 29.

Headquarters for the homes tour will be the Springfield Township Hall in Davisburg, where participants can start the tour from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and enjoy refreshments.

The $1.50 tickets can be purchased either at the township hall or the Clarkston News office.

A landmark in the area for almost a century, the red brick Miller home is distinctive among farm houses which still survive from the 1800's. It sits on its centennial farm site with its 18 rooms holding treasures of the past.

Mrs. Knox is like many another antiquer who comments that "other people's junk is my treasure."

In their home overlooking the Shiawassee River, Mr. and Mrs. Knox have several collections, most of them of various types of glass. The glass—from utilitarian canning jars to decorative vases—may be relatively new or as old as the Dutch onion bottle which Mrs. Knox says dates back to 1690.

Among the newer features in the home is a stairway runner which was a seven-year project for Mrs. Knox, who hooked it from bits of scrap wool. A grandfather clock built prior to 1815 is a family heirloom.

The youngster among houses on the tour is the Virgin house, built in 1957. With a combination of country French and early American decor, the home also features some heirlooms. These include an old churn, baby rocker and Jennie Lind cradle.

Added to the Ralph O'Reilly home five years ago was Fu San Yin Lin, "The Hidden Garden from Japan, the Land of the Fu San Trees." Water runs softly into pools in the garden, creating a soothing background. (Continued on Page 28.)

Zoning laws are intended to protect communities from dissonant and erratic uses of land which would disrupt the harmony of a given area. These laws are promulgated by municipalities usually, but in some cases are being superceded by state law. Certain areas are designated as residential, commercial, or industrial, limiting use to the specified purpose. Limits are set for minimum land area, building height, boundary setbacks, and ecology conformation.

Whether your concern is residential, commercial or industrial real estate, the experts at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 can competently assist you. We offer complete and personalized real estate service and urge you to call us with your listing for the extensive exposure that brings results. 24 hour answering service. Hours: 9-9 Mon.-Thur.; 9-6 Fri.; Sat.; 1-5 Sun.

for viewing the beautifully balanced plants growing there. Besides the approximately 100 bonzai trees in the garden, other plants of special interest are the 125 orchids thriving in a greenhouse.

Focal point of the fund-raising event will be the James Harvey Davis house which the society is attempting to preserve in the Springfield-Oaks County Park. Thought to be at least 100 years old, the house reportedly was built by one of the sons of Cornelius Davis, who founded Davisburg in 1836.

Under terms of an agreement with Oakland County, the historical society has started transforming the house from a deserted golf course clubhouse into a historic site. Thus far, the exterior of the house has been much improved and some pieces of furniture from the home have been returned.

Persons taking the homes tour Sunday will be able to see the progress made by a group of area residents dedicated to preserving a relic of America's past.

The Art of Carpeting & Draperies

by Bill Wanke

Today, we live with our treasures instead of storing them away in drawers as our ancestors did. Even a modest collection can individualize a room, enhance the furnishings, spark a conversation. But you must remember to group small items so each piece heightens interest in the others. You also need a good eye for composition. Make sure whatever you're grouping, whether it's a group of china plates, seashells mounted on a mat, or even a coin collection, that the grouping is balanced proportionately especially if it's over a chest or commode. A collection of any kind can give a lift to a room.

Give a lift to any room in your home with beautiful new carpeting or draperies from CUSTOM CARPET INTERIORS, 6670 Dixie Hwy., Clarkston, 625-5229. Some of the fine brand names we carry in carpets are: Monarch, Magee, Presto and Mastercraft. We will be happy to come to your office or home and give you a free estimate. "Quality Carpeting and Draperies at Economical Prices." Master Charge and BankAmericard honored. Hours: Daily 10-9 Sat. til 6.

Club sponsors blood bank

The Clarkston Community Women's Club is again sponsoring the Blood Bank Thursday, Oct. 3, from 2-8 p.m. at the Clarkston Methodist Church on Waldon Road. The purpose of the blood bank is to provide a readily available reserve of blood in large amounts and wide variety of types which residents of this community can use in time of need.

Coverage includes the donor's husband/wife, dependent children, children over 18 who are unable to give, unmarried donors' brothers and sisters, and parents and grandparents—even if they don't reside in the area.

Donors who leave the area will retain eligibility for a period of one year. Non-donors lose eligibility upon departure from the community.

This is the only community blood bank that is available to all Clarkston area residents; therefore, all able residents are urged to donate and perhaps save the life of a loved one. Further information or appointments may be obtained by calling Nancy Gruenberg, 625-4583, or JoAnn Darling, 625-2578.

If you donated at Calvary Lutheran Church on Aug. 2, enough time has elapsed for you to donate again.

Walk-ins are welcome.

Requirements for donors include:

- Are you under the age of 18 or over the age of 65?
- Do you weigh less than 110 pounds?
- Have you donated blood any place in less than eight weeks?
- Are you taking medicine to control diabetes?
- Have you ever had jaundice, hepatitis or malaria?
- Have you taken medication to prevent malaria in the past two years?
- Have you ever had a heart attack?
- Have you had a blood transfusion within the last six months?
- Have you had penicillin by injection in the past month?
- Have you taken antibiotics in the past two weeks?
- Female only — have you been pregnant in the past six months?
- Is your occupation considered hazardous? If so, wait twelve hours before returning to work.

If all the questions have been answered "no" the donor is probably acceptable. Eat within four hours of donation. Avoid fatty foods. Please feel well the day of donation.

Alfred L. Carter is truly dedicated to giving blood, as his arm can attest. Carter, a Clarkston resident and Clarkston Youth Assistance chairman, has given a total of 16 gallons of blood over the years to community organizations.

Carter is type O-negative, which makes him a "universal donor" and a prime candidate for blood-giving when the American Red Cross needs to supply someone with a rare blood type.

Here Carter shows his well-used arm to Clarkston Women's Club Blood Bank chairman Nancy Gruenberg, while Blood Bank co-chairman Joanne Darling gives an example of just how much blood goes into a gallon.

Orion is their home

Sunlight filtering through the stained glass windows of Oakwood Community Church cast a subdued glow over those gathered to witness the marriage of Deborah Anne Moshier to Richard Paul Kroninger II on Sunday afternoon, September 15.

The two exchanged vows before an altar graced with baskets of pink and white gladioli and carnations. The Rev. Robert Service presided over the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of the Delbert Moshiers of Wooley Road. The bridegroom is the son of the Richard Kroningers of West Drahnner.

OES to hear about Artrain

Representatives of the Clarkston Artrain Committee will address members of Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294 Order of the Eastern Star at 7 p.m. Tuesday, October 1 at the Clarkston Masonic Temple. A potluck dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Slides and explanation of the program offered by Artrain, due in Clarkston in November, will be presented.

The chapter's annual meeting will follow at 8 p.m. Installation of new officers will take place October 18 at Davisburg Masonic Temple, according to Mrs. Marshall White, incoming Worthy Matron.

She wore a gown fashioned of white eyelet with satin underlay which she had made. It featured a ruffled neck and hemline. Floral appliques edged her full length veil. Phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and ivy made up the bridal bouquet.

Maid of honor Linda Moshier fashioned a hot pink floral gown for her sister's wedding. The floor length, sleeveless gown was underlaid with solid pink satin. Her wide brimmed picture hat was banded with a sash of the floral fabric. She carried a bouquet of roses, statice and baby's breath.

The bridegroom chose David Moshier, brother of the bride, to serve as best man.

Kristine Kroninger and Leanne Moshier, wearing floor length gowns of mint green and yellow respectively, seated guests.

Out of town guests came from Southfield, Ann Arbor, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Organist was Tim Kroninger.

Mrs. Moshier chose a light blue floor length gown for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Kroninger, mother of the bridegroom chose a deep aqua.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds were whisked away to their wedding reception in a "real" love bug. Attendants had decorated their little yellow Volkswagen with hearts, balloons, appropriate signs and the usual tin cans.

The reception was held at the Elks Club in Rochester.

The couple will reside in Lake Orion upon return from a Niagara Falls honeymoon.

County sponsors Immunization

An Immunization Clinic will be held at independence center, 5331 Maybee Road, Clarkston, Michigan on October 3, 1974, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m.

This service is offered to infants, pre-schoolers and school-age children by the Oakland County Health Department. There is no charge.

It is suggested that parents and/or guardians bring previous immunization records at the time of immunization if they have them.

The next clinic scheduled will be held on November 7, 1974.

For further information please call independence center at 673-2244, or the Oakland County Department of Health at 858-1280 or 858-1390.

Doin' the steak trot

by Mary Warner, phone 625-3370

The Chatham Dance club met Saturday, Sept. 14 for a steak dinner, dancing and the installation of new club officers.

The dance was held at the American Legion Hall, and outgoing officers barbecued 198 steaks for members and their guests.

They danced to the washboard band of the Waterford Jaycees.

The new officers, who will get together shortly and delegate their administrative duties, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tilley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Glennie, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hennig, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Whitenton, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamaker.

Lee Clark, 93-year-old descendant of Clarkston founder Jeremiah Clark, has been transferred to the Bloomfield Hills Nursing Home, 50 W. Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Clark was formerly staying in the Avondale Convalescent Home, recovering from a broken hip. He is now in good health, according to his daughter, Mrs. Virginia Owen. He moved to the Bloomfield facility last Thursday.

An "infallible" computer has selected Jim Smith as the new president of the Wednesday Night Dance Club. Members who gathered for dinner recently at Episcopal Church of the Resurrection listened in some trepidation as the computer ground, coughed, moaned and "tilted" in a strictly undemocratic process of choosing new officers.

Jeanette Hitchcock, who was absent and didn't even have a chance to complain, was named secretary and Alicia Duncan treasurer. Jeri Wertman resumed her job as membership chairman.

The computer—whose main functioning parts consisted of an orange crate, an electric light bulb and a tape recorder—was the brainchild of outgoing president Herb Rose.

Selection of officers is always a surprise and the office once conferred cannot be refused.

Kathy Ronk who ably substitutes for Donna Fahrner in our business office each summer has returned to school. This week she's back at classes at Michigan State University. We're sure they couldn't possibly be as much fun.

September has been a busy month for the Blaseys of Middle Lake Road. Dick attended the Michigan Bell Marketing Round-Up at Harbor Springs from the 6th to the 8th, returning home a golf champion.

Sharm ended up in Pontiac General Hospital for major surgery on the 10th, and the night after her surgery Dick received a call telling him his grandmother had to have major surgery the following day. He went to Petoskey on the 14th to visit his grandmother at Little Traverse Hospital, returning home to spend more time with Sharm at Pontiac General.

Sharm's mother, Mrs. Jack Bosworth of Central Lake, arrived on the 17th, the date Sharm was released.

The Blaseys' daughter, Kim, who is a senior at Hurley School of Nursing in Flint, has been committing to give Mom extra special care.

All seems to be quieting down now and the Blaseys are hoping it will stay that way.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lambert of Main Street is now home from the hospital, we're glad to report.

Clarkston Community Women's Club would like to remind area women of its first meeting of the season on Sept. 26 at 8 p.m., independence center, 5331 Maybee Road. This meeting will be a celebration of Women's Club's twenty years, and will include in the program a history of the club.

Former members are urged to attend and share with us their part in the club's past. Any area women interested in community involvement and friendship are invited to learn more about the club.

Up and coming programs for the year include an arts and crafts auction, Artrain demonstration, a wine-tasting party, fashion shows, a discussion on the legal rights of women and much more.

Kim Robertson of Clarkston has been enrolled as a freshman at Arkansas College, Batesville, Ark. Kim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Robertson, is a 1974 graduate of Clarkston High School.

Jeffrey Robert, born September 19 at Lapeer General Hospital, is the new and welcome addition to the family of Robert and Cynthia Heath, 4326 Seeden, Drayton Plains. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Glavach of Waldon Road and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weir of Rattalee Lake Road.

A group of four Clarkston women got together for cocktails and dining last Saturday night. Mrs. Ronald Walter, Mrs. William Johnston, Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk and Mrs. Earl Terry met at Virginia Walter's house for cocktails, and then the group had a buffet dinner at the Clarkston Cafe.

After their dinner, the women were entertained by amateur magicians Jeff Leak and his assistant Susan Huttenlocher, who have developed a magic act at the tender age of 13.

Mrs. Jerome Wilford, 91 N. Main, recently returned with her son Jay from a year in Scotland, where she, Jay and husband Jerome had been staying.

They lived on the west side of Scotland in a town called Rhu. Jerome Sr. is still in Scotland, and is due home anytime.

When the Wilfords first came to Scotland, Lucia said, they had to watch TV for two weeks to get the hang of the Scottish brogue. Jay's first day at school was also pretty bewildering, she said. When Jay came home he said he didn't understand a thing the teachers or students said.

But Jay's second day was much better, and the Wilfords went on to learn the country's dialect and much of its history.

They also had time to appreciate its beauty, Lucia said. "We were only nine degrees below the arctic circle," she said, "but it doesn't freeze there." As a result, she continued, the highlands become the epitome of the poem "I give you a host of golden daffodils."

She said the people in Scotland live on a par with the old-style southerners, where living was slow and easy and "people had time for sitting and chatting."

"I found it very exciting," she said.

Early 1900's is wedding theme

Marriage vows were exchanged August 17 by Carol Lynn Humbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Humbert of Clarkston, and Lynn Charles Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thompson of Clarkston.

Rev. Dale E. Evanson officiated at St. Stephen's Lutheran Church of Drayton Plains.

Gowns of the early 1900's were chosen by the bride. Her own of white eyelet was complemented with baby stephanotis, baby's breath and small roses and ivy.

Carol Humbert, her sister and maid of honor, and Candi Defran of Chicago and Sue Griffiths of Clarkston, bridesmaids, wore blue and white checked gingham gowns and large white picture hats trimmed in gingham. They carried wicker baskets of blue and white daisies and baby's breath.

Lisa Humbert of Midland, flower girl, was similarly attired.

David Rowden of Rogers City was best man and Glen Thompson, brother of the groom, and Richard Curtis of Clarkston served as groomsmen. The 300 guests were seated by Ronald Hillier and Donald Hartly.

A buffet dinner at the American Legion Hall on M-15 followed the ceremony. After a 10-day tour of the south, the newlyweds are now residing in Kalamazoo where both attend Western Michigan University.

Local GOP to meet

Independence Township Republicans will meet at 8 p.m. Friday at 6900 West Church. President John Lynch said anyone interested in joining is welcome to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Haslip of 5562 Pine Knob Road have announced the engagement of their daughter, Flora Jean, to Larry Albert Yingling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren K. Yingling of 4464 Elmdale, Drayton Plains. A May 10 wedding is planned.

Spiritual Message

LIVING WATER

Everyone is thirsty for something that will satisfy their longing needs of human experience. We all want life to have meaning, fulfillment and permanent peace. Many are discovering that their desires cannot be satisfied with pleasure, activities, success, popularity or money.

What they are learning however, is that all of their desires can be satisfied by living water.

Jesus said,

"Everyone who drinks this water, physical water, will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks of the water I will give him will never be thirsty again. For my gift will become a spring in the man himself, welling up into eternal life."

John 4: 13, 14

Permanent peace, fulfillment, and meaning of life can be ours by accepting the invitation of Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

He says,

"If any man is thirsty, he can come to me and drink! The man who believes in me, as the Scripture said, will have rivers of living water flowing from his inmost heart."

John 7: 38

Two new clubs form at CHS

Two new clubs are being organized at Clarkston High School, both of them in the area of vocational education.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) is an organization whose program of leadership and development is designed specifically for students enrolled in distributive education—a program of instruction dealing with marketing, merchandising and management.

Business and Office Education Clubs (BOEC) is a similar student club for those students enrolled in business/office education.

Ann Reeves, office coordinator, will head BOEC while Jim McArthur is taking on organization of a DECA chapter.

Flowers displayed

A record number of Clarkston Garden Club members participated in this year's Pontiac Mall Flower Show, bringing home their share of ribbons for their arrangements.

Winners of red second place ribbons for their small table arrangements were Mrs. James Hitchcock and Mrs. Daniel Travis, while Mrs. Rockwell Bullard took a second place for her capsule table.

A third place yellow ribbon went to Mrs. Malcolm McCord, and Mrs. Jerrold Wagon and Mrs. Donald Balzarini won white ribbons.

Five local youngsters—Angela and Andy Balzarini, Scott and Mark Coventry and Ray Stutzman—participated in the show's junior division last week by making vegetable animals.

University Women meet

An international theme dinner and new member orientation will be the featured attractions at the first meeting this year of the Waterford branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW).

The meeting is at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 3 at the home of Mrs. Don Maxim, 6857 Wellesley Terrace, Waterford, and the dinner will feature dishes from France, Italy, Mexico, and Japan, among others.

The AAUW is an organization for women who have graduated from a college or a university.

The first meeting will be a kick-off for other AAUW activities scheduled throughout this fall, winter and spring. Some of those activities include a report on court watching done by members this past summer; a discussion on "Women in Politics"; and a discussion of the past and future of Waterford Township.

Future meetings will be at independence centers on Maybee Road in Independence Township.

A long wooden old-style kitchen table offers a perfect display area for the ironstone products Mrs. ApMadoc will be selling, while in the corner soft paste ware is ready for sale.

Antique shop opens

An open house will be held this Saturday and Sunday from 1-5 p.m. to inaugurate the opening of the new Wooden Peg antique shop at 14 N. Main in Clarkston.

The shop, formerly located on South Main Street, is owned and operated by Mrs. Fontie ApMadoc, who has collected antiques for many years.

Mrs. ApMadoc has been working out of her home on Cranberry Lake Road giving antique shows for the last two years after the South Main shop closed.

She and her husband had the present shop built as part of an apartment complex, where she and her husband

William, a sales representative for a pharmaceutical company, are also living.

The shop is specializing in soft paste ware, spatter ware, white and decorated ironstone, and butter molds. Also for sale will be pieces of rough-hewn, called "primitive" farm furniture.

The shop will be open for business every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Appointments can also be set up during the rest of the week and week-end.

The shop will have antiques collected from all over the country by the ApMadocs, who travel a great deal.

Eagles to build on Maybee

Independence Township Planning Commission has given the go ahead to Clarkston Eagles to construct a 4,400 square foot building on 10 acres on Maybee Road.

The property, zoned C-2 last year, is located on the north side of Maybee about a quarter mile east of Sashabaw.

Bernard Feldhauser Thursday told the commission plans are to construct the building to the rear and east of the barn now on the property. Parking will be provided for 108 cars, and a circular driveway will service the property. The proposed building is one story with no basement, he said.

Construction of the $125,000 clubhouse was to begin immediately.

ABSENTEE VOTER BALLOTS

Applications for absentee ballots can be obtained at the Township Clerk's office any time up to 2:00 P.M., Saturday, Nov. 2, 1974, for the Nov. 5 General Election.

AMENDMENT

SECTION 14 PENALTIES

A. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of the Code, hereby adopted or who fail to comply therewith, or who shall violate or fail to comply with any order made thereunder, or who shall build in violation of any detailed statement of specifications or plans submitted and approved thereunder, or any certificate or permit issued thereunder, or who shall fail to comply with such an order as affirmed or modified by a Court of competent jurisdiction, shall severally for each and every such violation and noncompliance respectively, be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $15.00 nor more than $500.00 or by imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The imposition of one penalty for any violation shall not excuse the violation or permit it to continue; and all such persons shall be required to correct or remedy such violations or defects within a reasonable time; and when not otherwise specified each ten days that prohibited conditions are maintained shall constitute a separate offense.

B. The application of the above penalty shall not be held to prevent the enforced removal of prohibited conditions.

First clash of the season

Sashabaw Cougars won the first of nine sports contests with Clarkston Wolverines last week towards retention of the All-Sports Trophy. Clarkston took the trophy home after the first three years of contests, having won each year. Sashabaw now has two winning years under its belt and got a good start on the third year by drubbing Clarkston 28-2 in the season's first football clash.

Scott Hool, 32, carries the ball for Sashabaw.

Sashabaw Cougars outscored Clarkston 28-2 last week. Identifiable in the pileup are Mike Morse, 73, Eric Richard, 51, Don Short, 30, and Tony Thompson, 66.
