Brueck withdraws from village race

Should not enough people know of his intention to withdraw, it is conceivable his name might also be on the general election ballot March 10. And if it is, County Elections Director Howard Altman says the cleanest way to clear up the problem would be for Brueck to take his seat on the council just long enough to submit a resignation. In that case, he added, the council would then be empowered to appoint another trustee.

Brueck will be "not running" against four others for the three vacancies on the council. They include incumbents Mike Thayer, Jim Schultz and Jim Weber and also Lucia Wilford, a former trustee who resigned while she resided a year in Scotland.

Since all are running as Republicans, the primary will, in effect, determine the outcome of the general race. Altman said that should Brueck be one of the top vote getters in the primary, his name would be on the general election ballot. His only alternative then to resignation would be to fail to qualify, which could include his refusal to take the oath of office.

Brueck, president of Clarkston Area Jaycees and chairman of the administration committee at St. Daniel's Church, has also recently been named to a steering committee of Community Resources to see about development of recreation in Independence Township.

"I didn't think I could do justice to the position of village trustee," he said. "I'm sorry to withdraw at this late date, but a review of priorities also indicated I ought to be devoting more time to my wife and four sons."

Lightning fires home

Lightning caused $4,000 damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Phillips, 6413 Snowapple, during an electrical storm at 4:22 a.m. Wednesday, January 29.

Phillips told firemen he was awakened by a loud crash that shook the house. He went to another bedroom occupied by his children where he saw the wall had been bulged out and a small fire started. Phillips said he put out the blaze with a fire extinguisher, but was still able to smell smoke and called the department.

Firemen said the lightning had evidently struck the peak of the house and traveled down the rafter to the side wall into the bedroom. Wood studding was ignited in the attic, and firemen were able to confine most of the damage to that area.

$22,000 flash fire damages home

A fireman surveys the smoldering remains of the Paul home

A flash fire the afternoon of Wednesday, January 29, did $22,000 damage to the home of Mrs. Norma Paul, 6301 Peach.

Neither she nor her sons were at home at the time. They are now living with a daughter, Mrs. Al Yates of Pontiac Township.

While firemen are still investigating the cause, they report the house as being alright when the last member of the family left at about 1 p.m. Within a half hour the blaze had become so hot it popped the windows in the home. It was reported at that time.

Firemen said the blaze is believed to have originated in the living room. High winds of 30 to 40 miles per hour made fire fighting more difficult.

The home is covered by insurance, however neighbors have collected $50 to tide the family over, and Larry Powell, who lives at 4 Fay Street in Clintonville Mobile Home Park, has volunteered his home as a collection center for clothing, furniture, bedding and other donations.

One Paul son, John, age 11, wears size 24-24 trousers and 12 in shirts. The other, David, 13, takes 30-30 pants and small in men's shirts. Their shoes are still serviceable, Powell said. He can be reached at 674-3784 with any questions regarding other donations.

Conservancy purchases 20 acres on Greens Lake

The Independence Land Conservancy has made the down payment on more than 20 acres of Greens Lake shore land which is being purchased from Timberline Estates Inc. The land is being purchased on a land contract for $2,000 total price.

Nelson Kimball and Janet McCord of the conservancy negotiated the purchase.

Kimball said the conservancy has been looking for a parcel of land which would be beneficial to the community for more than two years. He said it had to be land that a large portion of the township would consider to be important open space, and available at a reasonable price.

Dan McGrew and Homer Shingledecker of Timberline Estates settled for a price of less than $100 an acre for the largely swampy parcel.

The conservancy is now planning a campaign to raise the funds to buy the land. Mrs. Mat Hubschen, a member who lives on Bronco Road overlooking the property, has agreed to chair a drive to raise funds from the landowners around Greens Lake who will benefit by the purchase.

Kimball said the property is planned as a bird sanctuary, however it is possible that some of the dry land might have to be sold off to meet the payments.

Kimball said the property is planned as a bird sanctuary, can be avoided. It would definitely reduce the amount of undisturbed shoreline we now have," Kimball said.

Jim Brueck, 28, 5995 Middle Lake Road has notified Village Clerk Bruce Rogers of his intention to withdraw from the Clarkston village primary election February 17, but it might not be all that simple.

Brueck, who has recently been promoted on his job at GMC Truck and Coach and who finds he hasn't as much time as he thought he had, will still have his name on the ballot.

Dog saved in Mill Pond

The two Parker children and their dog, Daisy, are safe today thanks to the efforts of Independence Township firemen who rescued them from thin ice Saturday on the Upper Mill Pond.

Fire Chief Frank Ronk reported Barry, 12, and Corey, 10, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parker of Holcomb Street, had been skating on the pond when their dog strayed and broke through thin ice.

Firemen, who were called to the scene by an unknown neighbor, were able to warn the children back off the ice and then stretched out ladders which they crawled over until they were able to reach the dog's collar with a hook.

Thin ice in the pond very nearly created tragedy for two elementary school students a month ago. Firemen played a part in that rescue as well.

There have been repeated warnings about the safety of area lakes this winter. Weather has not been conducive to the formation of solid ice. People are advised to be very careful.

Vandermark resignation accepted

By Pat Braunagel
of The Clarkston News

Presiding over his last meeting as Independence Township supervisor, Robert Vandermark submitted his resignation Tuesday night. Vandermark, 34, is quitting the job to which he was re-elected for a second term three months ago in order to become assessor and finance director for the City of Madison Heights.

Board sets fee schedules

A new sliding fee schedule for applications to the Independence Township Board of Appeals was approved Tuesday night by the township board, which also altered some of the planning commission fees.

The fees recommended by the board of appeals are based on factors which generally vary with the type of case being considered, according to Chairman Robert Kraud. These include the number and length of hearings anticipated for a particular variance application; the amount of clerical work necessary, the possibility of paying for an attorney's opinion and the work done by the ordinance enforcement officer.

Kraud said Township Planner Larry Burkhart indicated that under the new zoning ordinance "we will continue to get the bulk of our cases from single family detached residences." The fee for these applications will remain at $45.

For commercial and office cases, the fee will be $75, and for cluster housing it will be $45 plus $1 per lot. Multiple residential and recreational applications will require a $100 fee.

For a sanitary landfill special exemption, which Kraud noted "probably would fill a gym twice," the fee will be $200. Gravel operations will involve a fee of $200 or $10 an acre, whichever is greater. For hotels and motels, it will be $100 plus $1 per room.

The special exemption fee for home occupation, animal maintenance, churches, nonprofit organizations and public hearings will remain at $45.

Trustee Fred Ritter said he would like to see the residential fee lowered "if we find it's economically feasible at a later date."

Supervisor Robert Vandermark commented that the schedule is "one of the lowest in Oakland County."

It will go into effect April 1, when the board of appeals will begin to hold two regular meetings a month and the three board members will each be paid $25 a meeting, rather than the present $10 a case. Applicants who choose not to wait for the next meeting can pay $100 for a special hearing.

His resignation was accepted, with regret, by his four fellow board members, who now face the task of appointing his successor. Vandermark, a Republican, will officially leave office at midnight Friday, Feb. 21. He and his wife Mary will depart for a two-week vacation this Saturday, leaving his in-laws in Clarkston with the Vandermarks' two daughters.

The four remaining board members have 45 days from the date of the resignation to appoint a new supervisor.

"We are looking for people who would like to serve," said Trustee Jerry Powell, who also is Independence Township Republican chairman. He announced that the board had met informally Monday and decided how it would proceed.

"We have until about April 1," he said. Powell asked that anyone personally interested in the office or anyone who has a name to suggest contact a board member by Feb. 11.

"We'll take no action before Feb. 18, if then," he said.

Board members first want to know of persons in the community who want to be considered for the job.

"Only after that will we try to make some kind of an intelligent decision as to what to do," he noted.

State law provides that Clerk J. Edwin Glennie be acting supervisor in the absence of a supervisor.

If the board fails to appoint a successor to Vandermark within 45 days, the governor will then call for a special election.

Facing an audience of approximately 18 persons, most of them township employes, Vandermark Tuesday night read a prepared statement, pausing frequently when his voice faltered.

"I have dearly enjoyed working with every one of you," he said. "I sincerely hope that the governmental affairs of Independence Township will continue to function smoothly. I strongly feel that our township has the potential to be the finest residential community in Oakland County. I am sure that you will all work towards this end."

"I would like to say thanks to the employes of the township for the support that each and every one of them has given me. The success of every individual depends 100 percent on the cooperation of his fellow man. It is this kind of cooperation for which I am grateful.

"I will support the efforts of the township in every way that I can as a citizen."

Planning to retain residency in Independence Township, Vandermark said last week he was accepting the post in Madison Heights because he really enjoys the mechanics of government more than the politics involved.

Vandermark came to the township four and a half years ago when he was appointed assessor by former Supervisor Gary Stonerock. He defeated Stonerock in the 1972 election for the top township office.

At the conclusion of Tuesday night's meeting, one citizen, Robert Waters of 20 Robertson Court, thanked Vandermark for his service to the community.

"Your further service as a citizen will be to our benefit," he said. "I'm proud to know you."

Recreation, emotional needs reviewed by group

A new effort to meet community recreation needs, providing perhaps a community center and swimming pool, has been initiated by the Community Resources Committee of Independence Township and Clarkston.

The parent group which launched independence center, the committee has appointed Don Place, Jim Brueck, Alex Stewart, Tim Doyle, Bill Dennis and Bob Brumback to a steering committee to determine if such needs still exist.

A community attempt through the schools to provide a swimming pool failed in 1968. Brumback, who is director of special services for Clarkston Schools, noted that school facilities are becoming less and less available to the community due to other commitments.

He said, "We're trying to look at the financial structure in the community, talking to service clubs and others to get a feel for their interest in such a project."

His group will meet February 25 with their reports.

Another service under consideration by the committee is the provision of emergency emotional crisis counseling. "There's no place in this community to go in the evening should such a crisis occur," Brumback said.

Representatives of the agencies which now offer services through independence center on a part time basis will be meeting with Brumback's staff to figure out what can be done, he reported.

Brumback noted that the state's new mental health code is putting more pressure on the local community to provide such services. "There's a move to limit court involvement in juvenile affairs to the same items that involve adults. Home and school truancy would become totally the responsibility of the local community," Brumback said.

"For one thing, we need a directory of the services that are now available," he stated.

Junk car moratorium

The high rate of unemployment has prompted a more lenient policy regarding abandoned and unlicensed vehicles in Independence Township.

Residents now have 90 rather than 15 days to remove or license vehicles which are in violation of the township's junk car ordinance, according to enforcement officer Timothy J. Palulian.

He noted that the revised limits are "of a temporary nature and are subject to change without notice."

Beginning this month, Palulian said he would send out violation notices for all unlicensed vehicles in the township. The conditional time for removing or licensing the vehicles begins with receipt of the notification.

"At the end of the 90-day period, vehicles still unlicensed shall be declared abandoned and court appearance citations shall be issued," he said. "If licensing and/or insuring vehicles cannot be done due to unemployment of the owner, special consideration and arrangements may be given these individuals."

Lodge accepts consultant job

Ex-Senator Harvey Lodge has accepted an appointment as consultant to the Judiciary Committee of the Senate. He says he expects to work a couple of days a week at the rate of $100 a day, and in the beginning concentrate his efforts on the field of medical malpractice insurance. Lodge will work both from his Waterford home and from the Senate counsel's office in Lansing.

Youth Assistance helped 103 kids

A group of people dedicated to the ideal of keeping youngsters out of trouble and out of the courts toted up efforts at an annual meeting last week.

Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee dealt with the lives of 103 youngsters in 1974, and of these only three wound up in Juvenile Court. Of the 58 cases which were closed during the year, 17 were rated as having been helped significantly by the group. Others were dropped because of family wishes, some moved from the area, and seven were referred for agency help.

The biggest caseload percentage came from the group 14 and 15 years of age, but grade 11 produced the highest number of individual problems.

School truancy provided by far the largest number of cases -- 54. Larceny was next high, producing nine referrals. Use of marijuana and being drunk and disorderly provided five cases each. Other offense categories included assault and battery, reckless use of firearms, possession of stolen property, arson, malicious destruction of property, breaking and entering, school and home incorrigibility, home truancy and there were some cases of neglect and a need for counseling.

The group expended $9,096 in the pursuit of its goals which included almost $2,500 used to send 63 children to summer camp. Planned to meet the needs of financially or socially deprived children, the program is financed largely by contributions and also by a fund-raising fashion show.

The group last week awarded certificates of Appreciation to Keith Hallman, village president; Milford Mason, assistant superintendent of schools; Dr. James O'Neill, pediatrician; and Jean Saile, editor of the Clarkston News.

Springfield prepares for some nostalgia

Making their picks from a stack of wax for an "Oldies but Goodies" dance at Springfield-Oaks are Davisburg Jaycees and Jaycettes Dean Lowery [from left], Sue Bushey, Shirley Thompson and David Bushey. Tunes of the '50s and '60s will be on the turntable and Bob Stone of WPON will be at the microphone for the 8 p.m. - 2 a.m. event Feb. 15. A dance contest will be featured, and the sponsors hope dancers will come wearing outfits from the era. Tickets—$5 drag and $3 stag—can be reserved in advance by calling 625-5594 or 634-3063.

Home's ok, but association reorganizes anyhow

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

An incident which several of the residents of Hi-wood Village (Birdland) have indicated they already regret has had one concrete development.

The subdivision association, inactive for at least the past two years, has been reactivated and new officers elected. Its purpose is to improve general conditions in the area.

Robert Wiar, 5576 Warbler, president; Mrs. Fran Norbury, vice president; Mrs. Fran Latoza, secretary; and Mrs. Janet Thomas, treasurer, were elected at a meeting last week at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Some 60 residents of the 120 home subdivision had previously gathered in an impromptu protest a week earlier in regard to a home being built at the corner of Maybee Road and Warbler Drive. They believed at the time the house was not in accord with subdivision restrictions.

A second meeting last week produced owners of the home in question, its builder and Supervisor Robert Vandermark who all agreed the home met both the subdivision and township building restrictions.

Hi-wood No. 3, that part of the subdivision in which the home is being built, has no deed restrictions as other parts of the subdivision do in regard to building a garage at the same time the house is erected, the group was told.

Ralph H. Beatty, licensed contractor on the job, said he is living up to all building codes.

The home itself is 1,260 square feet in size while the subdivision minimum is 1,040 square feet and the township requires 1,100 square feet.

Mrs. Rod Allen, who with her husband owns the house, told The Clarkston News, "We've no intention of devaluing anyone's property, let alone our own. We drew up our own plans, which included an attached garage, until we learned we had to pay $2,260 on the sewers before we could get a building permit. We had to attach that extra debt on the end of a 10½ percent mortgage—not 4.7 percent as those whose homes are already built are paying on the long term program. We had to eliminate the garage for a year, but it will be built."

Both Allens and Beatty said they would have been happier had some of the Birdland residents approached them about the home, rather than making it an issue of a meeting when not all the facts were known.

Perhaps better communication will result from the reactivation of the association. "Concerned people just brought to a head the fact that the association has had no active participation in a few years. Forming a strong association will help us to take advantage of portions of our by-laws," according to the new president.

Legion to assist vets on bonus applications

Vietnam veterans eligible to apply for the new veterans' bonuses can get some help from American Legion Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63.

Service Officer John Lynch has announced that the post will be open from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 5, to help with applications and again on Saturday, February 8, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Those seeking the bonuses must have completed 190 days of honorable service. Heirs are eligible if the serviceman died between January 1, 1961 and September 1, 1973. They cannot have applied in another state. The vet cannot have had a dishonorable discharge.

Vets are required to bring their discharge papers or form DD-214. Notary public Leon Johnston will assist with the applications. Mailings will be made directly after filing by the post, and should be returned in 30 days.

Combat vets will receive $500 and non-combat vets will receive $15 for each month of service up to $450. Bonuses are not taxable.

Oakland University Afram Jazz Ensemble performed in assembly at Clarkston High School. Soloist Peter Wanger, saxophonist, and 25 other music students from the university were present for the performance. The group can be enlarged by calling Professor Marvin "Doc" Holladay of Clarkston, director.

SJH band wins honors

Sashabaw Junior High School students have returned from the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Association District 4 Solo and Ensemble Festival in Utica with eight second places and three first division awards.

Those competing and receiving seconds were Richard Clements, Keith Sherwood, Matt Wenzel, Mark Siebert, saxophone quartet; Colleen Lambert, Liz Place, clarinet duet with piano accompaniment by Jill Thompson; Michelle Wenzel, Tammy Dryden, Jill Thompson, flute trio with piano accompaniment by Laura Acton; Sherry Green, Sheila Kelley, Cindy Brewer, clarinet trio; Sharon Cummings, Nancy Neal, Becky Ridley, flute trio with piano accompaniment by Mark Thompson; Kathy Conway, Pat Johnson, alto sax duet with piano accompaniment by Sharon Cummings; and Linda Niebauer, Lee Vedder, Renee Tezak, clarinet trio with piano accompaniment by Mark Thompson.

The three events receiving first division ratings included a trumpet solo by Mark Thompson with accompanist by Sharon Cummings; a trumpet trio featuring Mark Thompson, Shelley Vaillicourt and Kelli Harrod with accompaniment by Sharon Cummings; and a tuba solo by Steve Criger with accompaniment by Jill Thompson.

Douglas Doty, band director, said the band has now started working on music it will perform March 8 at the school Band Festival.

Think of us as your No. 1 Truck Stop.

Hundreds of happy haulers in Oakland County already do. Folks who've found out nothing beats a Chevy pickup for duty out here around the lakes.

Because a Chevy light hauler really acts as much like a second car as a truck. Plenty of room. Plenty of quiet, smooth ride. Easy for mom to drive, too.

The same folks will tell you any one of us Dealers Four knows what trucks are all about... what model best fills the bill for their needs. You see, trucks aren't just a sideline with us... like they are down Detroit way.

That's why you ought to come try our special recipe for successful truck selling: tasty model selection, lean prices, mouth-watering trades, and an extra helping of service whenever you ask for it.

We're easy to find. Just look for all the trucks parked outside.

Senator Kerry Kammer, D-Pontiac, has introduced a resolution urging the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) to speed up the payment of unemployment compensation benefits by mailing the checks to eligible workers.

"The MESC's current system for processing applicants is simply not good enough to meet the tremendous demand that is now facing them," said Kammer. "MESC already pays certain kinds of claims by mail and it would improve the administration of the program greatly if the option to receive benefits by mail were extended to all claimants."

Heavy construction equipment in use to develop Independence-Oaks Park has necessitated the closing on February 17 of parts of Perry Lake and Hoyt roads. The roads will remain closed as the park is developed.

Repair work was added to remodeling chores last weekend at the building which formerly housed the Town Shop, 31 S. Main, Clarkston.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported the front plate glass window of the vacant portion of the store was broken by an object thrown through it. Value of the 6-by-7-foot window was estimated at $350.

A 19-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods youth was arrested at Pine Knob Ski Lodge Saturday for possession of stolen property—a $120 pair of skis.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said Gregory J. Demar told them he had purchased the skis for $6 and painted them blue.

Herman Jaenichen came in Monday with a clipping from The Stars and Stripes - The National Tribune about how Sen. William Proxmire wants to limit the number of government limousines. "I'm for that," says Herman. "Sometimes it seems like they've forgotten we had a World War I, let alone the veterans of today, but they can afford cars."

We have on hand a personally autographed book about the Tombstone Epitaph, courtesy of Township Building Department Director Ken Delbridge who was in Arizona recently to help his parents the Ken Delbridge Srs., mark their 50th wedding anniversary. Also included in the packet of goodies was an 1881 copy of the weekly newspaper, which still frequently reports such stories as the shoot out at OK Corral.

Ken reports state troopers were busy throughout the whole trip, handing out tickets for people going more than 60 miles per hour on expressways all the way to Mexico.

It was Mexico where he was able to (legally) bring out a quantity of sugar which sells there for 10 cents a pound.

Clarkston Education Association has lost its grievance regarding class size in South Sashabaw second grade rooms on a technicality. The association failed to meet time limits as proscribed in the contract for grievance steps. The CEA reports in each room the class size exceeds 31 students.

CEA teachers working on the grievance said they would accept only a portable classroom with additional teacher or paid aides. They rejected splitting of classes, the use of 9th grade cross-over helpers or maintaining the situation as it is.

Another grievance involving a teacher who reportedly lost a half step of pay due to pregnancy leave has also been lost by the association. The ruling was handed down by an arbitration committee.

Arbitrators also ruled in another case that a teacher could not use emergency leave days as opposed to personal business days for an appearance in court on a case she had instituted.

Waterford Parks and Recreation Department has started a coupon discount deal for some winter activities. They include, reduced ticket prices to Detroit Piston games, reduced prices for ice skating at Lakeland Ice Arena, swimming at Oakland University pool, and bowling at Savoy Lanes. There's also reduced prices in effect for men's open gym and creative dance class.

When Abigail E. Ragatz became the bride of Paul H. Lake, Jan. 25 she was attended by all of her four sisters, rather than the three we listed in last week's paper.

Mrs. Michael Peterson of Clarkston was the matron of honor. Other sisters who were bridesmaids at the wedding were Paula and Ruth Ragatz and Mrs. Bruce Goodrich.

We haven't got a Jimmy, the Greek in Clarkston, but odds are that J. Edwin Glennie will probably be the new Independence Township supervisor.

Trustee Jerry Powell is sticking to his story that he's not interested in the post, and so far there hasn't been a lot of action for the position from anyone outside the board.

Independence Township Planning Commission is making arrangements to have school shop classes fashion service plaques which will be presented to retiring members. Keith Humbert was the most recent member to vacate his spot on the commission.

We have an unsigned letter from some people who think we ought to print at least the Senior High School honor list. We agree, and we do every time we get one from the school. Publicity is a two-way street, and while a paper tries to mirror the community it serves, it must rely on that community to provide the information for the material used.

Monday, February 10, is the last day to register for the village election March 10. The village primary election to choose three of five candidates for trustee will be February 17.

Storm thoughts

by Jean Saile

Congratulations to Independence Land Conservancy which has moved to preserve these 20 acres on Greens Lake for future use. A bird sanctuary is planned in part of the area, but funds are needed if the project is to be a total success.

Letters to the editor

Attend B of E

Dear Mrs. Saile:

Monday night will be an important one for the children of Clarkston. The Board of Education will be considering two important issues:

1. Will an attempt be made to make multi-purpose rooms and media centers available to all elementary school children?

2. Will alternative classrooms become a part of education in this community?

With the answers to these questions we will know much about the future and growth of Clarkston Community Schools.

The meeting will be held at the administration office on Clarkston Road, Monday, February 10 at 8 p.m.

If you care, you'll be there!

Sincerely,
Sherry H. Elliott

The cedar tree, when we first moved into our home, was a five trunked beauty which provided a sheltered platform about a foot off the ground. Liz, our youngest, was only three then and when she disappeared, we learned to look for her in her secret hide-away in the cedar tree.

Lightning has since struck that tree twice, and two of the trunks are gone. There are damaging cracks in some of the other trunks, and we tend to wonder how long they will last.

But the apple tree is the

'If It Fitz . . .'

There shouldn't be a law

by Jim Fitzgerald

OK, I'm convinced. This really is a lousy world.

There's a bill in our state legislature which would make it against the law for newsboys to carry money.

Good God!

I remember in 1940 when the circulation manager of the Port Huron Times Herald first approached my parents with the idea of their only son going into business for himself. He said it was a marvelous opportunity for a 14-year-old boy to learn how to handle money.

I got a 60-customer route, the smallest in town, thus learning how to handle $12 a week. I learned that the first $9 went to the Times Herald or I couldn't have any more papers to peddle. The next $2 went to my mother to pay for my gruel. The final $1 was all mine, if I could get it.

The most bitter lesson a new businessman can learn is that some people never want to pay their bills. Most of my customers paid up Saturday mornings. But there was a hard core of cheapies, about $1 worth, who never answered the door on Saturdays because they knew it was me. I could hear them inside, laughing and handling my money, but I couldn't knock them to the door.

The only answer was to sneak up on them; to knock on their doors when they were expecting friendly callers, not a runny-nosed little paperboy. Once the door was open, they were sunk. The bill was only 20 cents a week and I delivered papers in my own neighborhood. These people were too proud to tell that Fitzgerald brat they didn't have 20 cents.

It would be a disgrace to owe money to that skinny kid who couldn't walk right because his corduroy pants were frozen.

This futile collecting required working all hours, most of them after dark. I even collected at midnight from a night-shift factory worker. I would be waiting for him on his porch. A few years later I worked in that factory alongside the same guy and only then did I learn how close I'd come to getting my head opened with a lunchbucket.

But nobody beat up on paperboys in those days. No one robbed them. It wasn't risky for me to walk down dark streets with cash in my pocket. Geez, many of my customers left the 20 cents on an outside windowsill or under a floormat. No one swiped it.

Not today. Our legislature is seriously considering a law which would require customers to pay their newsboys by check, by mail. This is because so many paperboys are getting slugged and robbed. Some have even been killed for a few dollars.

What can be done? The lawmakers say remove the temptation. If paperboys don't carry money, no one will rob them.

This is the same brilliant logic that has gas station attendants sticking cash through slots into underground vaults that can't be opened until noon the next day, with the sheriff watching.

This is the type of anti-crime thinking that has taken cash away from bus drivers so they can't change a dollar. This thinking has also encased motel clerks in plastic cells where they do business through double-doored slots, talking into microphones.

Marvelous. The way to stop the thieves is to forbid innocent citizens from owning anything worth stealing. The next logical step will be to stop murders by making it against the law to die.

There has gotta be a better way and I suspect it must start in homes and hearts, not in legislatures.

In the meantime, this is a world where it isn't safe for a little boy to walk down the street with $2 in his pocket. A lousy world.

Letters to the editor

The following letter was received from Red VanNatta of Springfield Township. Before printing it, we asked the Clarkston Education Association to respond. Here are both their views on what has become a very controversial subject. The editor.

MEA has gone far enough

by Red VanNatta

The United Teaching Profession (National Education Association, Michigan Educational Association and the Crestwood Education Association) believe they have reached the stage of organization where they can defy the elected representatives of school districts and the courts of law without fear of retribution.

They believe they have reached a position in our society where they can dictate all the terms of our present public school educational system to the people elected to our school boards for that purpose.

The creeping power of unionism over our educational system has been apparent in the past five or six years. The Detroit Federation of Teachers won its fight over the United Teaching Profession some time back.

Our state legislature aided the cause of unionism by determining that qualified teachers cannot enter into a contract with a school board except through a bargaining agent and a master contract.

Using the Crestwood Educational Association as an experiment, it appears that the Michigan Education Association is willing to risk the future of the entire movement of unionism in our educational system now and believes that it will receive complete support from the Teachers Federation, the AFL and the UAW-CIO. The MEA is even considering sympathy strikes (secondary boycotts) to support the Crestwood venture.

The teachers unions had better review their position in the overall scheme of our society. They had better get in perspective the fact that they are not coercing capitalistic profit-making corporations by staging these strikes, but are openly refusing to educate the children of the people paying taxes and their salaries.

Much sympathy has been extended to the teachers by these tax-paying citizens in the past, but there is a limit and the unionized teaching profession has, in this writer's opinion, reached that limit.

The State of Michigan certifies that individuals are capable and qualified to teach in all public schools. In defying court orders to return to work, the Crestwood Education Association has forfeited any legal rights they may have had under the Tenure Act and other Michigan laws.

It is not logical to defy the law and then ask that same law to defend you. Therefore the Crestwood School Board has the duty to fill the vacated teaching positions with certified personnel of their choosing. Certified personnel have a right to earn a living even if they are not members of a union. They have spent the same time, effort and money to become qualified teachers and should not have to expend more money to pursue the livelihood of their choice and qualifications.

CEA responds

by Larry Rosso
President, Clarkston Education Association

On January 17, 1975, the Michigan Court of Appeals Division I issued a nine page opinion and order regarding the situation between the Crestwood Education Association and the Crestwood Board of Education.

A reading of that ruling will show on page 2, "On December 4, 1974, the teachers again refused to report for work. Contempt proceedings followed, resulting in fines against certain teachers which were paid."

Teachers and their organizations are not above the law, must pay for defiance like anybody else, and want the freedom to negotiate as equals with elected boards, not the power to dictate to them.

In 1965, the State of Michigan enacted Public Act 379, which among other things extended to public employees (including teachers) the right to negotiate with public employers.

In June, 1973 Governor Milliken signed into law Public Act 25 which provides for the use of exclusive bargaining representatives and the legal collection of service fees from bargaining unit members.

Thus, agency shop, as this is better known, has been included in a great many teacher contracts through negotiations. Detroit, Clarkston, Holly, Oxford, Lake Orion, Waterford and most other districts in the metro area and throughout this state have such agency shop clauses. Simply put, teachers unions and associations are required by the same laws to represent everybody their contract covers equally and fairly. The law provides for those unions to recover the costs for such representation, negotiation, legal fees, etc. from teachers who share the benefits but may not want to be a part of the organization.

By enacting PA 25 this state recognized the fairness of the agency shop concept. A qualified, certified teacher can and does enter into a contract with a local school board without the formal involvement of the teacher group in the recruitment, interviewing, or hiring of that teacher. If the school board has agreed to agency shop with its teacher group through negotiations, then the teacher must join or pay an equivalent fee.

Since teachers started negotiating under PA 379 in 1965, illegal strikes have occurred every year. These strikes happen when the orderly bargaining processes envisioned by the legislature break down. In 1973, a record 53 teacher strikes occurred in Michigan. Out of over 600 school districts, less than 10 percent couldn't settle contracts peaceably. In the last two years much ado has come forth as a result of Detroit, Garden City and Crestwood strikes and it looks like orderly changes will occur in the form of amendments to the law.

Since everybody, including teachers, want the law changed, we can rest assured it will happen. The changes may or may not improve the whole situation as only time will tell.

If exercising rights under law is "creeping unionism" in its ugliest connotations as Mr. VanNatta declares, then we say, "So be it!" Michigan has a proud heritage of leadership in labor relations and education which we as teachers will continue to believe in. The Michigan Education Association (MEA) is right now working on constructive changes in the law to try to keep the Detroit and Crestwoods from happening. We've recognized the inadequacies and conflicts in the current laws for years and have tried hard before now to change things for the better. We think the legislature is finally listening with intent to go beyond hearing to enacting.

We believe sincerely that the taxpaying public wants just what we want—quality, uninterrupted education for their children. We know many people are hurting economically because we've been there too, and most of us are also victimized by inflation and loss of buying power. It seems to us that bitter, emotional rhetoric doesn't solve our mutual problems but only adds to them. If we continually search for solutions and understanding together as teachers and citizens, we can solve any educational or other problems that cross our path.

Reading problems

Dear Editor:

I am urgently in need of help. Should of written sooner, but my hand was badly mangled. Probably my own fault, for during that first cold snap we had, I was weather-stripping the trap door in my Long Johns and the trap door blew shut and it really busted up my writing fingers.

Firemen are great

Letter to the Editor,

Early last Wednesday morning during the thunder storm, my house was struck by lightning. After a few bewildering moments and, after being certain my family had not been hurt, I called the Independence Township Fire Department.

These gentlemen are to be most highly commended for their IMMEDIATE response (less than four minutes by my estimate) and for the manner in which they expressed genuine concern for my family and our home and contents while putting out a rather tenacious fire.

Fire Chief Ronk and Assistant Chief Beach managed to reassure me that things were going well even while they were busily directing their men, thereby settling a most anxious and nervous person—me. These men are exemplary and we in this township should be proud of them.

I would like to single out one man in particular—my friend, neighbor and volunteer fireman, Tom O'Brien and extend to him my heartfelt gratitude and admiration. He arrived on the scene ONE minute from the time I called. His calm, professional approach was a steadying influence on me, my wife, and two small children. He stands out among a group of firemen.

Birds vs. people

To a Few of the People of Hi-Wood Subdivision:

Isn't it strange we have lived in Clarkston all of our lives and really never knew Birdland was named Hi-Wood Sub. I can remember when this land was nothing but beautiful trees and probably filled with beautiful birds. Isn't it a shame that times change everything, (even people).

Many people who reside there we have known for years. It really makes you wonder if they are as happy as the birds, that once lived there and never bothered anything or anyone. We all wonder what's wrong with our children and world today. I think if you look around, here's our answers. It's not our children at all. It's the selfishness in our world today.

God didn't make any of us different as to where we live, even though some people don't agree with this. How can we help but feel bitter after this past week? And hear what a few people can do to a couple who worked hard and who will be respected by their friends and family?

Very Proud to be
The parents of this couple
Rebecca and Bill Allen

My complaint is, I had the Township and Village title of being the dumbest, stupidest, ignorant, no nothing, know nothing and the only qualified jerk and unloyal nincompoop around.

Now you know what, recently the hi-rollers came to town, all 88 and the unlisted ones. They got by me and the coordinator of our police effort, that Mac whatcha Call feller. They apparently got by the baker's dozen of Fuzz that are apparently back up men for writing parking tickets and five mile over tickets in a twenty five mile zone. They also seem to have got by that edgedkated feller with all those alphabet letters behind his name to help him give council on how to catch all them dangerous criminal (?) hi-rollers. Now all this fuzz-wuzz supposed to know and this coordinator was and is being paid to know about crime in the area. I don't know how fuzz works. When I try to find out, they hide the records and call me snoopy and a trouble-maker.

Maybe this Fuzz Coordinator is mad at me. A while back, I asked him to remove pictures in a local news-stand. Before it was over he told me, to take the magazine out of the Township Hall. That Big Chief apparently thought the magazine was to filthy for the virtuous adults in the Township Hall, but when I first saw the magazine in a local news-stand, there was a ten or eleven year old girl and her little brother looking at the pictures in the magazine.

Vandermark told me on this day, he did not have time to talk to me about the magazine. There was for a short time that day, I thought Mac the fuzz was going to take me off to jail in handcuffs. All because I wanted him to help clean up a local magazine stand, so our children would not be exposed to pornographic drawings.

At one time, I thought of sending photostat copies to the various churches asking their help. When told I would be involved with the postal authorities, if I sent that type of material through the mail and later it was pointed out to me that possibly most of the Churchin' folks read the Magazine, I gave up all together.

I will sure appreciate it, if you talk to the local policin' effort and ask them if they will let me have my title back. Just because they are the Fuzz, doesn't mean they have are the right to grab my title without giving me the chance to prove I am stupider than they. To put it straight, I worked hard for that Title and I want it back.

Anything you do in my behalf will be appreciated.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING JANUARY 27, 1975

Meeting called to order by President Hallman.
Roll: Present—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Absent—none.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.
Gar Wilson showed the council a new street sign pole that he had made. After a discussion, it was decided to have him install one of them and invite citizens comments on it through the newspaper.

The planning commission will study the idea of obtaining the village portion of M-15 as a village street.

Moved by Basinger to sign the agreement to apply to the Community Development and Housing Assistance Agency for applications, plans, programs and projects eligible under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Seconded by Schultz. Motion carried unanimously. A copy of this Agreement is on file at the village hall.

President Hallman discussed with the council the correspondence that he had written to the Postmaster General concerning the site of the new Post Office, offering to build one for them on village property through the creation of a building authority.

The council discussed adopting the proposed Construction Code Ordinance and the proposed Construction Code Fee Ordinance. Final action on this will be taken at the next meeting.

Trustee Schultz reported that he had investigated the flagpole that has been offered to the village, and that he found it to be satisfactory. Gar Wilson will move it to the front of the parking lot when the weather permits.

Mr. Waters was present to discuss with the council some aspects of the CETA program. He is presently maintaining office hours at the village hall from 10 to 1 daily. He said that we may hire up to seven unemployed people under the terms of the program. He suggested hiring a secretary as the first position to be filled, to do clerical work and relieve the president, clerk and treasurer of some of their paperwork. Job descriptions, employee benefits, equipment, having a clearing house for summer and other jobs, and number of employees to be hired were all discussed. It was agreed to take the initial step and hire a secretary when the program begins on Feb. 10th. The other jobs will be discussed at the next meeting.

Moved by Basinger to authorize the clerk to purchase a typewriter for use by the new secretary. Seconded by Granlund. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried.

Moved by Thayer to authorize Bob Waters to hire a secretary under the terms of the CETA program. Seconded by Basinger. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Weber to declare the week of January 26 through February 1 as National Junior Achievement Week. Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Schultz to grant permission to the American Cancer Society to solicit funds in the village from April 21 through 28, 1975. Seconded by Thayer. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Thayer to enter into an agreement with Oakland County to use their Data Processing Service for village tax billings. Seconded by Weber. Motion carried unanimously.

The Dept. of Natural Resources will hold its second public hearing on watercraft controls on Parke Lake on Feb. 11, at 1 p.m.

Moved by Weber to authorize Trustee Schultz to purchase seedlings through the Oakland County Soil Conservation Agency. Seconded by McCall. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried.

Meeting called adjourned by President Hallman.

Y has new drug approach

The YMCA of North Oakland County is offering a new approach to the problems of poly-drug abuse. The federally-funded program titled "Alternative Lifestyles" emphasizes an adult one-on-one approach.

Director of the program Joe Therrien, a graduate of Oakland University, is people-oriented. He and his staff recognize drug abuse as a manifestation of life style deficiency. Therrien advocates going directly to the source of this problem, the environment, and offering alternatives.

To achieve this goal, the "A.L.S." program is offering "Emotional Growth" counseling for the individual, group, and family. Comprehensive testing and referral services are also offered under this phase of the program.

In the area of "Physical Growth," the YMCA facility is utilized to promote individual physical fitness, as are team sports such as basketball, floor hockey, volleyball, and baseball. All programs are supervised and instruction will be offered.

The critical area of "Social Growth" will include culturally enriching field trips, community action projects, and a "Drop In" center, featuring table games, ping-pong, pool, and plenty of good rapping with people who care.

"Intellectual Growth" in this program will go beyond the usual "Dick and Jane" concept of remedial education. Along with G.E.D. tutorials, a remedial clinic will offer materials employed in a relevant manner. Counseling in the areas of vocational choices, continuing educational choices will be offered, as will drug and alcohol information.

School Board Trustees Albert Foster [from left], Charles Smalley and Carolyn Place were escorted on a visit to individualized classrooms at Bailey Lake School recently by members of Clarkston Citizens for Child Oriented Education. Mrs. Nancy Planck and Mrs. Karen Eckert of the organization are in the background. The group has approved a proposal for alternative classrooms which it is presenting to the Clarkston Board of Education at 8 p.m. Monday. Such classrooms would be an addition to regular traditional rooms, the group suggests.

Wolves still losing

Clarkston lost two more basketball games this week, one to Rochester Adams Tuesday night 66-62, and one to Bloomfield Hills Andover Friday night 89-48.

In Tuesday's game with Rochester Adams the Wolves came close, but again, not close enough to win. Clarkston was left only 2 points behind at the end of the first quarter and at the end of the third they were 2 points ahead. Into the fourth quarter, the game was kept close, tying 19 times in all. With only 56 seconds left to play and the score tied, Rochester Adams grabbed a rebound and shot for a 2 point lead.

With only 14 seconds left, Rochester took 2 free shots that gave them a 4 point lead and the victory.

Jeff Ferguson came up the high scorer with 18 points. Wayne Thompson piped in 12, and Randy Miller followed with 10. Scoring 7 points each for the game were Ben Bullen and Barth Hoopengartner. Bob Fuller put in 6 and Weldon Graham added 2.

In a heart-breaking game Friday, Andover ran all over Clarkston 89-48. Clarkston had only two players in double figures Randy Miller with 12 and Jeff Ferguson with 10. All the rest of the team were under 6 points.

The high point of the game was when Randy Miller threw a ringer from the side with the buzzer going off, marking the end of the first quarter.

Barth Hoopengartner scored his one point from a free shot, the only free shot scored by the Wolves in the first half.

Ben Bullen and Mark Blumenau, usually high scorers, gave only 1 point each for the game. Weldon Graham, Wayne Thompson and Bob Fuller did a little better with 4 points each.

In the fourth, Coach McDonald put in all the players that sat on the bench all year but they couldn't undo what the others had already done.

Tim Westover scored 2 points from free shots, Larry Bennett scored 6, Dave Brown shot 2 and and Kevin Ridley got 1 point.

Friday night the Wolves will go up against Clarenceville at an away game.

Cougar matmen have 23-0 record

Sashabaw Cougars wrestling team traveled to Avondale January 28 and for the eighth time this year was victorious, 41 to 15. The Cougars took 10 of 13 weights wrestled.

Winning on pins for the Cougars were Ed Jameyfield, Joe Messing, Chris Howe, Phil Standing, and Harvey Fulk.

Winning on decisions for the Cougars were Claude Gourand, Eric Fortin, Mike Nagle, Dean McCarrick and John Robb. Syd Standing and Nick Kolos both won on forfeits.

The latest win extends the Cougar streak for this year and last to 23 and 0.

Sashabaw loses 2

by Ted Hall

Sashabaw played poorly and lost to VanHoosen of Rochester 56-40 and then to Mason of Waterford 52-48 recently.

At the end of the first half in the VanHoosen game, Sashabaw was down by only eight points, 28-20. Tom White kept the Cougars as close as they were. Steve Evans was keeping Van Hoosen from rolling the score high by playing super defense.

In the second half Sashabaw just couldn't put it together to keep up with VanHoosen.

Tom White was the only person in double figures for Sashabaw with 14 points. Steve Evans was high rebounder with 12.

Mason gave the Cougars a rough battle the 30th of January. The Cougars were handed their third defeat in twelve games. Again, the Cougars had only one player in double figures. Craig Czinder had 11 points.

Paul Piltz played a great game with 6 points and 10 rebounds, an excellent defense. Steve Evans also had 10 rebounds.

Wrestlers fall to Kettering

by Bill Condon

Clarkston High School wrestlers lost their second league meet in a row to Waterford Kettering last Thursday, January 30, by a score of 33 to 21. The loss left Clarkston's record at 2-2 in league competition.

Pins in the dual meet for Clarkston were turned in by Kirk Peoppe (187), and Rowland Hayword (121). Hayword is undefeated in dual meet competition with a record of 8-0.

Other Clarkston wrestlers who won their matches were Ray Funk, (100), Lyle Shelton (107), and Rick Moshier (heavy weight).

Clarkston's next home meet will be with Pontiac Northern on Wednesday, February 12.

Callison hits 36 points; sets new grade school record

by Robbie Davidson
Two more records were broken in the Recreation Department grade school Biddy Basketball program last week.

In the newly formed fourth grade league, Dean Callison (who is just a third grader) made 18 out of 20 long shots to score an outstanding 36 points. This breaks the record set by Kevin Williams last year with 33. Dean's hotshot shooting led his team (the Mustangs) over the Bulldogs 48-12, also a new team record.

The Aces beat the Globetrotters 32-27, led by Matt Covorrobias with 22 points. Jimmy Townsend pumped in 15 points for the losing Globetrotters.

The Panthers beat the Magicians 34-17, led by Brian Sommer with 18 points and Mike Dearborn with 8 points. Mike McCormick scored 11 points for the Magicians.

In the 5th grade games the Cougars stomped all over the Panthers 47-4. Scott Coleman scored 12 points for the Cougars followed by Mark Dobay with 11 points and John McConashin with 10 points.

The Bulldogs almost shut-out the Globetrotters 22-2. Enzo Duva led the Bulldogs with 8 points followed by Tirk Nona with 6 points.

In the final 5th grade game, the Wolves defeated the Hawks 38-12. Kim Lair sunk 18 points for the Wolves, followed by Gary Anderson with 11 points. Jeff Roberts, Brian Donnelly, and Rob Bishop all scored 4 points for the Hawks.

Golden Gloves competitors

Four Clarkston area wrestlers were to enter Golden Gloves quarter final competition Tuesday night at the Flint IMA. Craig Grable won his place in the eliminations by defeating Joe Farrar on a decision last Friday. Sam Flores Jr. fought Joe Moltus the same night and won a first round knockout. Ken Grable earned a berth in the quarter finals on a default and Mike Nurenberg on a bye.

Were they to win Tuesday, they'd fight again this Friday at the Flint IMA.

Girls in Clarkston High School's Mat Club don't wear fancy uniforms or lead cheers, but they're plenty important to the wrestlers. They're the ones who drag out the big mats for the games, set them up and keep them clean for the wrestlers. They also keep score and set up all the meets. Front row from left to right are Donna Bedore, Bonnie Parker and Dianne Boldin. Sue Mastis, Gloria Frick and Lynn Peters are in the back row.

Hello!
It's been a while since I wrote, we have been so busy that it makes time slip away. We have some good sales here at the store you should know about.
In the wine cellar we have a Classic French Beaujolais and a private vineyard bearing my recommendation Valley Blend or match a half case at 10% off for as little as $14.53 (six bottles grenache) or if you want a case or more we're giving 15% off. As you know my recommended wines are always good buys anytime, so this is a good sale. Betty doesn't want to be outdone in the cheese shop, so she is giving away free one of her large fresh baked bread loaves when you buy two pounds (mix or match) of cheese a more. Our specialty food bulk spices, herbs and store ground grains are on sale on the main floor for as much as 20% off. These sales end February 23 and we will be here till 6:00 everyday except Monday. As ever, Uncle Bob

Colonial dinner for nature center

The traditional George Washington's birthday is the date chosen by the Drayton Plains Nature Center for its annual gourmet-buffet dinner at the clubhouse of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

Nature Center members are currently busy preparing for a colonial feast to be presented on Feb. 22 much as it would have been 200 years ago. This popular event will include displays of native seasonings and food preparation methods in addition to tasty buffet selections.

Another addition this year is the two serving times. Family hour from 5 to 7 p.m., adults $4 and children $2. The colonial dinner with wine service will be from 7:30 until 10 p.m. at $5.

Call the nature center for reservations, 674-2119.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

That depressing depression

Cold memories

by Everett MacDougall

In 1933 I was a senior at Central High School in Detroit. Things were very tough in those days. I used to go down town to the penny kitchens and get a real meal which I couldn't get at home for 7 cents. Meat cost 2 cents, vegetables 1 cent, bread 1 cent, milk 1 cent, dessert 1 cent and it was good food.

In our high school class a lot of kids were not coming to school because they felt ashamed of the clothes they had that were wearing out. So we got together and formed the Depression Club, everyone joined it and we all agreed to wear old but clean clothes to school. We took old sheets and cut strips of white cloth six inches long and printed "Depression" on it and everyone wore the white cloth with Depression on their shirt or blouse.

It was amazing how the enrollment jumped when everyone joined in the spirit. We aren't in a depression yet, but it sure doesn't look good with the oil crisis and inflation—greedy businessmen, for example, the cost of sugar, anti freeze, etc.

It was Jan. 5, 1935, and I remember it was the 5th because it was 5 below zero. I had heard they sometimes hired the first few men at the beginning of the employment line at the Ford Motor Company, so I decided to go out and get in line about 1 o'clock.

I was further surprised that night to find I was not the first in line, but that three other men were already in line when I got there. It was 5 below and a cold wind made it seem even colder. The last time I had stood in line for a job, the man told me when I got up to the head of the line that I was too young and I ought to go home and peddle papers. Seven o'clock finally came and a man came out and counted 8 men and told the rest to go home. There must have been 150 men in line by this time. It felt so good just getting inside the building and the thrill of my life came when the man said, "Sign your name on the bottom line."

I tried to sign but I couldn't write. He saw me struggling to write and said, "Are you a dummy?" I said, "Oh no, I'm a high school graduate, honest I am, but I think my hands are frost bitten or something."

He took me into the washroom and ran cold water over my hands for 2 minutes and I was then able to sign the card and I got a job on the final assembly line putting running boards on at 60 cars an hour.

Depression economics

Supper at our house tonight was bean soup and Johnny Cake, a meal my husband and I thoroughly enjoy and our eight and five-year-old daughters are learning to accept without too many complaints. And so I'm passing along my depression heritage to a new generation.

Another meal I recall from my childhood is to open a quart of home canned tomatoes, cook with a chopped onion and add cooked spaghetti. The only seasoning is salt and pepper. Try it sometime, it's not bad.

My dad earned money to feed his family at one time by digging a basement - by hand. He picked apples and cherries and worked for the CCC counting the cars entering and leaving one of our parks. He could still recall with a smile traveling with friends and stopping at Teds (when it was a trailer). Their little girl had coaxed for an ice cream cone and he spent his last dime to buy it for her.

I guess I've never worked as hard in my life as my Grandma the day she picked strawberries, bent over in the heat all day and got paid 25c.

That's how I learned my economics. If you wanted to eat you worked. If you wanted to buy something you figured where the money was coming from to pay for it and after you bought it you took darn good care of it and made it last.

Maybe in God's greater wisdom it's time for another depression.

PSB extends car loans

Pontiac State Bank announced a new policy today which reduces monthly payments on new car loans by extending the repayment period to 48 months. This gives the new car buyer an additional 12 months to pay and reduces the monthly payments significantly, according to William Belaney, Senior Vice President.

On a $3,000 loan, the payments will be about $20.00 less each month, according to Belaney. This is the difference between a payment of $98.21 for a 36-month loan and $77.53 for the new 48-month loan when the annual percentage rate is 11.0%. "The biggest barrier to new car sales is the monthly payment," Belaney said. "That's why Pontiac State Bank has introduced the extended rate. In our opinion, it will do more to stimulate new car sales than any other change the bank could make."

Pontiac State Bank will issue 48-month loans through the critical spring buying season. New car buyers may apply for such loans at any time up to May 1.

FEB. 10, 1975 -- Last Day

From 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m.

THE FIFTH DAY PRECEDING SAID ELECTION

As provided by Section 498, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954
As Amended.

at 29 E. WASHINGTON ST.

From 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m. on each said day for the purpose of REVIEWING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP, CITY or VILLAGE as SHALL PROPERLY apply therefor.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

ELECTOR UNABLE TO MAKE PERSONAL APPLICATION, PROCEDURE

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. (As provided under Act 116, P.A. 1954.)

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION, APPLICATION, TIME

SEC. 506. Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Such transfers shall not be made after the Fifth Friday next preceding any election or primary election, (unless such Fifth Friday shall fall on a legal holiday in which event registration shall be accepted during the next full working day).

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION ON ELECTION DAY

SEC. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City, or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village and has not recorded such removal with the local Clerk shall execute a transfer of registration request, listing the new residence address thereon over his signature, with the election board in the precinct in which he is registered at the next ensuing primary or election. The inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and, if the signatures correspond, then the inspector shall certify such fact by affixing his initials upon said request. The applicant for transfer, after having signed an application to vote as provided in Section 523 of this act, shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that primary or election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

Lessard kids at home in Lansing

by Tudi Robinson
Special to The Clarkston News
They all live in a big white colonial house on East Lansing's Grand River Ave. In the neatly furnished Victorian living room, a fireplace warmly glowing and mugs of hot chocolate set on a coffee table, one would think he was in either an MSU professor's house or a family dwelling. It is a family's house, with one thing missing: the parents.

Clarkston residents, Louis and Marian Lessard, of 6431 Havenlock, have to drive up to East Lansing to see their children: Cathy, Judy, Louis Jr. and Joseph, who have formed a new home together near MSU's campus. Former students at MSU, the Lessard children made East Lansing their homebase.

"Our parents and grandparents just love the fact that we're all living together," Louis Jr. said looking a little embarrassed. "Our grandparents stayed here for three weeks during last fall's election when Cathy ran for representative in the 59th district, and we loved it. Grandma cooked us good meals and Grampa gave the house a thorough cleaning." With the addition of a Lessard first cousin, Michael V. Kaul, the transplanted Clarkston family is complete.

Joseph G. Lessard, 20, sat in a comfortable living room chair with his legs up on a matching stool and, between readings in his organic chemistry textbook, said that the biggest problem in living with his relatives is a "lack of respect for each other. It's hard to maintain individualities around here," he said putting a pencil between his book to mark his place. "It's almost like living back home."

Joseph works 20 to 25 hours a week at the cyclotron laboratory on MSU's campus, where he helps in research projects, in addition to carrying 13 credit hours. He is in a pre-med program and hopes to enter medical school upon graduation or apply for a biological engineering program. For his first two years in college he lived in university housing, then he moved into the house with his brother and sisters.

"Cathy and Judy lived in the house first," he said, "then one by one we all eventually moved in. It's ideal because it's quiet. Studying is the number one priority over everything else that goes on in the house, so sometimes it gets pretty messy around here." Joseph said that since he is the youngest member of the family, he is the only full-time student left.

Sister Judy, 24, takes a few math classes at MSU and hopes to finish her degree in the Resource Development department soon. Michael, a recent graduate of Oakland University, is taking courses in economics.

Everyone in the house has a job in addition to other unique and time-consuming activities.

Louis Jr., 23, a 1974 graduate of MSU in zoology, works at Provincial Hospital and Surgical Clinic in Lansing while he applies to medical and osteopathic schools. Even though he has worked there for only a month, he described the clinic as "fascinating" and detailed a tricky operation he assisted in.

"My room is in a state of disaster," he said apologetically, "because when I get home from work I just throw my clothes on a chair in the corner." His brother, Joseph, added later that there are no clothes anywhere in Louis Jr.'s room but on that chair in the corner.

"We all know each other's habits so well that at times it becomes a little too much," Joseph said.

While the Lessard men are pursuing medical fields, their sisters are heading in opposite directions. Judy is very involved with horses and belongs to several MSU Block and Bridle clubs. She mostly wanted to talk about the Sixth Annual Intercollegiate Rodeo coming up in February. Cathy, 26, is actively involved with Michigan politics and ran, but was defeated, last fall for the 59th district representative seat, by Rep. Lynn H. Jondahl.

"I hate politics," Judy said, "and I hated campaigning. Politics is a melodrama and not a life for me."

The pride for her sister was evident but equally as evident was her distaste for the political strains involved. "I'll let my sister take care of it. She is an honest person and strong enough to endure the hurdles, I can't."

Judy works as a receptionist at the Interior World of Gladstones Inc. in Lansing, but said it is "dull. I work there to make money for my horse and myself and it makes that boring job worth it for me."

Judy, with reddish-brown short hair and a bright smile said that frequently the grandparents come up from Pontiac and give the house a spring cleaning. "Actually," she said, holding a cup of hot chocolate, "our parents come up here more often than we make it home. We all went home to Clarkston for Christmas day but had to come back the next day for our jobs."

Cousin Michael is the cook for the Lessard household and works 22 to 23 hours a week in the Advertising Services department of the State Journal, a Lansing newspaper.

The Lessard men are proud of their sister in politics and all agree that it is the person, not the sex, that determines a good politician. "There are so few women involved in politics, it's good to see any woman involved, regardless of her party affiliation," Michael said. "Cathy has a lot to offer and she's interested in it for its own sake, not the money."

Everyone in the house helped Cathy in her campaign last fall, so it truly became a family affair.

"I did a lot of odd jobs during Cathy's campaign," said Louis Jr., who plays guitar and reads in his spare time, "everything from passing out flyers to accompanying her to cocktail parties. But I found it extremely frustrating when three-fourths of the MSU electorate, when surveyed just before the election, couldn't even name the candidates running in the 59th district. Right away I could see Cathy was in trouble. The voters were obviously planning on voting by party instead of by candidate."

Louis Jr. said even though he dislikes politics, he feels his sister is needed in the political field. "She works well with people and is patient. I am not. She can stand it but I couldn't," he said throwing another log in the fireplace.

Joseph said that Michael, Louis and he are 100 per cent behind Cathy's political career. To them, the usual situation of brothers backing up a sister in a political career, when it is more often the other way around, "is purely natural."

Their household is set up so that everyone has their own room. Joseph lives in a basement den that has a fireplace, a waterbed and pieces of a 10-speed bike he is in the process of rebuilding.

"Joe eats all the bugs in the basement for us," sister Judy said suppressing a laugh.

Joseph gave a mild chuckle and told of a recent nightmare of a centipede crawling across his moustache. "When I woke up I touched something awful and let out a scream that woke the whole house up. There really was a centipede on my moustache!"

Everyone laughed until Joseph gave the signal that it wasn't very funny any more.

Brothers and sisters. "We seem complacent but we do get on each other's nerves. The grandparents think it's just 'swell' that we're living together," Joseph said in a lightly sarcastic tone.

Judy's room is a tiny closet, covered with rodeo posters and little decoupage plaques she makes for friends. Everyone had one hanging in their room. Michael's room is small and neat, with a book about Dick Cavett on his bedside table.

In the living room, Joseph threw another log on the already crackling fire and took another sip from his hot chocolate. "I think the fact that we all have different lifestyles and interests keeps us together and as a family unit here in East Lansing," he said smiling. "It's nice because it's our home."

Mike Kaul [left rear], a cousin, is a part of the Lessard Lansing menage. Standing next to him are Judy and Louis Jr., while Cathy and Joe sit at front.

Pilot Denny Carpenter kept his cool

Captain Dennis Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Carpenter of Bridge Lake Road and a pilot with the Strategic Air Command flying out of Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Oscoda, recently received accolades in SAC's Combat Crew magazine.

Just after lifting off from Thule Air Base in Greenland, Capt. Carpenter had to call for the dumping of 92,000 pounds of fuel following an onboard explosion.

As the article says, "Engine instruments confirmed the internal failure of number three engine and the throttle was retarded to idle. At this time only number two engine was producing planned takeoff power, the tanker was only a few hundred feet above the ground, and the flaps were still down,"—a hairy situation at best.

He managed to get to 15,000 feet after dumping the fuel and then was able to make a three engine approach and landing back on the field.

Says the magazine, "The outstanding skill and airmanship displayed by Crew S-102 in controlling a serious takeoff emergency resulted in the safe recovery of a valuable tanker and crew."

Captain Carpenter attended Clarkston schools before finishing his education in Indiana. He's been eight years with SAC and was recently home on leave.

High wind damage

Name your weather, and Clarkston has had it in 1975. High winds last week very nearly felled this sign above the Village Inn Coffee House. Firemen came to help finish the job before anyone got hurt, and this week the sign is back in business.

Butterfly takes wing

COUNTRY LIVING

By Pat Braunigel
of The Clarkston News

From the comfortable cocoon of housewifery, a butterfly is tentatively spreading her wings and taking some flights which are proving to be quite delightful.

The early 30's for Judy Blackett have been a period when she has allowed herself to become more casual about things such as fingerprints on cabinets and the regular ritual of cleaning windows and to become more intense about herself.

She has emerged as the creator of "Keepsakes by Lady Papillon," taking the name from the French word for butterfly.

Judy identifies with the butterfly in feeling "free of spirit and open to new ideas."

Right now, she's "winging it" in a rather specialized area--creating dried flower arrangements from precious mementos such as bridal bouquets.

Technically, there's no secret in preserving the blooms by emersing them in silica gel.

"Dried arrangements are getting to be very popular," Judy said. "It's not uncommon to see women beside roads picking weeds."

But few have the talent and patience necessary to work with another person's keepsakes.

"It's time-consuming, puttering work," Judy said. "A lot of people just wouldn't bother. When you're working with the flowers, the least little bump will mean you'll be gluing them back together."

Judy does glue the petals back together when necessary, does painstakingly coat each to preserve it and is willing to devote the attention to details which are so much a part of the delicate arrangements. Each of which takes about 10 days to prepare.

Because of this, she is able to offer a service rare in the area--an alternative to pressing flowers in a book.

Judy is not a "craftsy" person.

"I'm a plant person, as you can see," she said. "I like things from the earth."

Motioning to an antique trunk full of large pine cones, she noted "I can't walk under a pine tree and not pick up cones."

On the 10-acre Blackett home-site, in Springfield Twp., Judy finds many things worth bending over to pick--dock, yarrow, timothy, cardolas... all find a place in her work or decorating her home.

Darrel and Judy Blackett, their son and two daughters love the outdoors--their animals, the pond behind their house and the above ground pool which gets plenty of use in the summertime.

Their house, a two-story Colonial which they built five years ago, while living about a block away, offers views of the woods, water and fields. The family's four horses are generally within eyesight. A breakfast balcony off the master bedroom affords easy access to the outdoors, and a circular stairway leads from it to the pool.

With the family's interest in the outdoors and Judy's dedication to her new enterprise, the house still is obviously not neglected.

In fact, her commitment to striking out on her own profession led to the freeing of the home's dining room.

Last November, Darrel created a studio for Judy over the attached garage in a former attic which is just six steps down from the master bedroom.

Before that, the dining room had been her headquarters for drying flowers at home while she worked in a floral shop parttime. Besides the clutter factor the dining room was unsuitable for Judy's project because of its humidity.

She'd start something in the morning and return later in the day to find the petals curled.

The humidity which was a disaster to her flower-drying is a blessing to the many plants Judy has growing through the house.

Tiffany-style lamps are among family's favorite things.

Also among Judy's favorite things are tinted glass windows and lamps.

Darrel, a carpenter, made special arrangements to install three decorated windows Judy had purchased in the living and dining rooms. Leaded glass doors from an old bookcase were hung on a built-in china cabinet.

One of the areas in which Darrel's ingenuity is spotlighted is in his use of a Tiffany-style shade which was badly damaged. He cut the shade in half, turned it upside down and installed the undamaged half over the kitchen sink.

Individualistic ideas show up throughout the house. In the family room, for instance, a portion of the fireplace wall is covered in old magazine advertisements from the late '20s and early '30s. This is not wallpaper, but a collage of actual ads which Judy's brother gave to her some time ago and she kept around until she found a special place for them.

Judy referred to wallpaper when she talked about her need to find alternatives for herself. It was when she found herself wallpapering walls she had wallpaper the year before that she began to wonder where her true interests lay.

Two years ago, she went to work for a florist. She still works at a flower shop parttime, but now she is increasingly spending hours in her home studio.

It's a personal room, furnished with cherished items, and yet it's also a room used for public display of her work.

Judy talks about her current project, decides to demonstrate how her work is done and for a moment becomes totally distracted.

"I could stay here from morning to night" she comments.

Judy arranges blooms she is processing in long boxes

Plants thrive throughout Blackett house, including here in living room.

Magazine ads are unique wallcovering in family room.

One thing that has impressed me most about Clarkston is a prevailing "I care" attitude. On the day of my first sojourn into the village I read a poster advertising a group concerned with the direction of public education and since then I've read about the M-15 and post office relocation squabbles with more than interest. For I find that the feeling of involvement is contagious.

As a result, one of the things I've been doing is attending school board meetings on a fairly regular basis, and it is encouraging to see that proposals from citizen groups are being made.

I've come away surprised and heartened that the signs of apathy and imposed insignificance which dominate other places don't seem so strong here. Maybe it's because in a larger city, one succumbs rather easily to the futility of being only one. In this sense, Clarkston reassures a newcomer that our system works well.

On the other hand, I am personally disappointed in the schools themselves. It is disturbing that children in Clarkston Elementary do not have substantial programs in art, music, or physical education.

It is particularly unfortunate that there is no physical education because physical fitness is a problem for our country as a whole and ignoring this area of development in children is unjustifiable. Recess periods look like free-for-alls and do not teach children much about playing together or about various physical exercises, games, or sports.

If any of these or other things are on your list of "peevances" the school board meets the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. at 6389 Clarkston Road. The meeting this month will deal with new facilities and new classroom opportunities.

Schools are just one facet of a community and I am aware that Clarkston, like other villages, is changing, growing and resisting change which is also important.

However, to continue to meet the needs of an ever increasing cross section of people it must carry on the tradition of an "I-care" attitude and elicit help from all of us—those who have been here for years as well as those who've just arrived.

Skinny eyebrows go in and out of vogue, but here are some tips to remember: skimpy eyebrows can give the face a vacant look. So if you pluck, do so carefully. If brows are light in color, they can be dyed with a special brow dye to make them look more prominent. First aid for skinny eyebrows: pencil with a brow pencil sharpened to a flat wedge to sketch on tiny hairs, and then gently brush them to blur the edges, so they look natural.

Make sure your eyebrows are properly plucked. Come to "SALON OF BEAUTY" BONNIE JEAN'S HAIR STYLISTS, 5488 Dixie Highway to have your eyebrows arched. Tel. 623-1411. Open 6:30-8:30. Sat. 6:30-3. styling, Coloring, Cutting, Permanents, Artificial Eyelashes by Duralash.

To C. in California: The coming year is great. Unforeseen medical problems might arise. Just keep taking the pills.

To S.: Watch when you're packing or shipping any large objects. Pack with care.

I see a thoroughbred race horse making news. He seems to be favoring a front leg. I see a lot of money in front of him, so I would interpret he's quite valuable.

Believe it or not, race tracks will really make money this year. People will be more interested than usual in getting something for nothing. Some of those people who are out of work will become addicted to horse racing.

I see the Dixie Highway being dug up for some reason just north of Waterford Hill and in further spurts all along the line. That won't help the businesses there.

I believe there will be a shooting in the township. It seems to be in the northwest area. Police don't seem too upset. A handgun seems to be involved.

Canning jars are available now. Get them for next year's crop. They won't be in very big supply next fall, and the prices will be increased.

Independence Township will make the headlines again, but I don't feel that it's about politics. It will be something totally different.

When shopping for a house to buy, take time to study the land site carefully. For the moment, objectively disregard the structure itself. Is the setting on a hill or steep slope? You may have to shorten one leg when you cut the grass in the summer, or you may need a bobsled to navigate the driveway in the winter. Conversely, if the setting is in a hollow, you may have to live with perpetually damp basement and run a pump every time it rains. A critical eye can spot potential headaches you don't need.

It's a taxing problem, but she likes it

It's that time of year again when business starts to boom for Barbara Wood. And things will pick up steadily through March.

Mrs. Wood is self-employed as a tax preparer in her home on Oak Vista. She also works part time for Beneficial Finance preparing income tax statements.

She is a person who really enjoys her work because she says, "You never do two tax returns that are the same. That's what's interesting about this work."

There are, for example, those people who talk about claiming Annie or Fred as dependents. Then Annie turns out to be feline, and Fred is a member of the canine family.

"People joke about claiming their pets as dependents. But, no one ever seriously thought they could claim their pets. Most people are quite aware that they can't," Mrs. Wood explained.

Being a tax preparer at times requires a certain amount of tact, too.

Mrs. Wood told of a couple who came in to have their tax forms prepared. The couple had a child but were not married. The man wanted to claim the woman and child as dependents.

"When I said, 'I'm sorry, you can't claim someone that's not a relative,' the woman got rather indignant and said, 'This is his son!'"

Then there are those people who find they are entitled to more deductions than they thought they were and express their gratitude.

A divorced man who was totally supporting his ex-wife and daughter came to see Mrs. Wood. The ex-wife had no other income, and no one was claiming the daughter as a dependent.

"I amended his tax return and got him a considerable amount of money back," Mrs. Wood said.

Other people expect quite a bit for the preparation fee, she indicated.

A married couple who lived in one house and rented out another house brought in a paper bag full of their business receipts for the whole year.

"They thought I should understand which receipts were for the rented house and which were for the residence," Mrs. Wood said. "They wanted me to do their bookkeeping for them."

It's a rare person who does not grumble about having to pay taxes. And, filling out the tax form is no joy either. But, filing tax returns year after year does get to be a habit, Mrs. Wood said.

"If two people are retired, over 65, and have an income under $4,300, they don't have to file. But filing tax returns are something they've done all their lives. Elderly people just can't give up the habit," Mrs. Wood said.

"Even though they owe no tax money and have no refund coming back, I have people who insist on filing anyway. They think they will get in trouble if they don't," she indicated.

Tax rules can be tricky, which is when a trained tax preparer comes in handy.

"One of the reasons people request the services of a tax preparer is they feel that person can tell them things to deduct that they would never think of," she said.

Barry Woods visits church

Barry Woods will be the guest of the middle and high school students of Lake Louise Church of the Nazarene this weekend, February 7, 8 and 9.

A native of the eastern Michigan area, Barry began his music training in elementary school with the piano and several brass instruments. While in high school his interest in the guitar led him to many hours of practice until he taught himself to play and also to write music of his own. His music experience of the last five years has included country, folk-rock, and contemporary gospel music. He has appeared in coffee houses and churches throughout the midwest and was a musician in the "Common Ground" playing background music for Roy Clark.

Coin show

Coin collectors and wooden nickle buffs will find nearly 30 coin dealers and exhibitors at The Pontiac Mall's Coin Show, February 15 and 16.

Public services are Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The church is located on M-15 at W. Seymour Lake Road, Ortonville, Michigan.

Free pap smears

The North Oakland Unit Office of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, a Torch Drive—United Way agency, will sponsor two days of free Pap testing in the Holly area the week of February 17.

Testing will be conducted at St. Rita's Catholic Church, 309 E. Maple, Holly, on February 17 and 18 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Appointments may be made by calling Lorraine Lohaus at 634-4233 of the MCF unit office at 332-5620.

Bernice Alexander will coordinate the scheduling of volunteers for the Holly Clinic. Members of the Vicariate Society will be among those donating their services.

New chorale forms here

A new singing chorale is being organized in North Oakland County.

This group is not affiliated with any organization or club. "If you love to sing, and want to meet a real fun group of fun people, don't pass up this opportunity. Step up now," group organizers said.

Rehearsals are every Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the Education Building at the First United Methodist Church, 21 E. Burdick, Oxford.

Vocalization is under the direction of Dorothy Jean Valentine.

Town Hall speaker

Sander Vanocur, veteran broadcast journalist, will speak at 10:30 a.m. February 12 at Kingswood Theatre. He appears as part of the Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall series.

Clarkston's Junior Miss Katie King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al King of Chickadee, has $700 more in scholarship money than when she entered the contest for Clarkston High School seniors last fall. Now officially fourth runner-up in the state and winner of the $100 offered by Breck Hair Styling, she has added $200 to the $500 won locally. Katie was also offered two other scholarships to out-of-state schools and turned them down because they don't offer chemical engineering. She plans to attend Oakland University for two years, transferring later to Michigan Tech.

The Clarkston Tennis team representing the East went down to a resounding defeat in the finals of the World East-West Invitationals this weekend. The Best of the West from Greenville with their usual display of tennis magic so overwhelmed the Least of the East that the outcome was evident from the first.

The losing team from Clarkston was Ken and Jeannett Barks, Warbler; Bob and Doris Beattie, Kingfisher; Gus and Carolyn Birtsas, Robertson Ct.; Bob and Judy Brumback, Church St.; Rich and Marty Johnston, Middle Lake; and Chuck and Kay Robertson, Hummingbird. The favored crowd pleasing winners from Greenville consisted of Dick and Marcia Burk, Bill and Harriette Cook, Byron and Dee Cook, Paul and Barb Drake and former Clarkstonites Don and Sharon Cooper.

Bay Valley Motel and tennis facilities were this year's scene for the Winter World East-West Pro-Am Celebrity Invitational Finals. All participants began as soon as possible to relax and enjoy a weekend of fun, merriment, swimming, saunas, whirlpooling, dining, dancing, and o'yes tennis. All was not lost however, as the Clarkston team scored a TKO victory over their opponents in the toasting contest during the awards banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muscat of Robertson Court recently suffered a double consequence. Mr. Muscat had surgery on his knee Monday, the sixth of January and was released Thursday, the ninth. Shortly after Mr. Muscat returned home from the hospital, their son Jon was brought home from Pine Knob skiing resort with his leg broke in two places. Mr. Muscat and Jon are both on crutches and reportedly doing fine.

Mrs. Val Wagon and Mrs. Loraine O'Rourke recently chaperoned 27 high school girls on a skiing trip to Boyne Mountain. The girls stayed at the Rustler's Den for the weekend. Despite all the rain they had on Saturday the girls skied the whole time. They got drenched, but had lots of fun.

Maryann Huff of Dixie Hwy. and Jeanne Berquist of Andersonville Rd. are seniors at Clarkston High School and are trying to earn extra money for a summer trip to Colorado. They are selling homemade cakes decorated to order. They are specializing now in Valentine cakes for Mothers and Sweethearts, but make cakes for all occasions.

Clarkston Co-op Nursery School, located at United Methodist Church, 6600 Waldon Rd. is now accepting registrations for September Classes. There are openings for the current session for 4 year olds in the Monday, Wednesday, and Friday sessions from 9:30-11:30 a.m. For further information call Gail Joyal, 394-0111.

Happy Anniversary to Bob and Nancy Tilley of Transparent. They celebrated their 20th on Tuesday. Another happy anniversary to Fran and Don Brown who celebrated theirs on Friday.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James Armstrong of Holcomb on the birth of their new baby son. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Morris Carlson.

Cathy Connelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Connelly of Waldon Rd., recently graduated from Specs Howard School of Broadcast Arts in Southfield. She received a third class radio license, and an outstanding achievement award for her work on station WNLD. Cathy is currently working at Station WNIC, AM and FM in Dearborn, and residing in Taylor. She is a 1974 Clarkston High graduate.

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brock. Matthew Robert was born January 24 and weighed 7 lbs. 3 oz. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brock, Ortonville Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones of Warbler.

January 25, the K of C sponsored an open dinner dance. The annual Rathskeller featured German dishes and entertainment by the Internationals. Attending the dance were 250 couples.

Happy Birthday wishes go out to Lisa Higginbotham of Meadowlawn, Alethea Rose of Dixie Highway, Steve Dennis, Matthew Tilley and Jim Amesse.

A tea honoring Clarkston Schools Title I staff will take place from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, February 12 at South Sashabaw Elementary School. The staff has been recognized as conducting one of the outstanding programs in Michigan schools. Further honors came from the United States Office of Education which judged the Clarkston project exemplary, one of six in the nation. Information about the project has been disseminated to all states.

Parents whose children have benefitted from the program are invited to attend.

It's "Kiss Your Baby Week" and Clarkston area Jaycettes are handing out material which tell you how to nuzzle and look for signs of cystic fibrosis at the same time. More information is available at independence center, doctors' offices, drug stores, Rudy's Market and The Clarkston News.

Saturday night was party night for Clarkston Area Jaycees. Karnack the Magnificent visited the Ron Crites' home to demonstrate memory tricks. Records and refreshments rounded out the evening.

A Certificate of Appreciation was presented to Terry Lopucki for years of support and work with the Jaycettes. A plaque and cup were also presented to the Jaycees in commemoration of their 13 years of service to the Clarkston Community. Jaycette President Jan Robinson presented the awards to Jaycee President Jim Brueck.

The occasion was National Jaycee Week.

Eight Clarkston area Eagle Scouts will be among 112 recognized at a special reception at Oakland University Feb. 23.

Featured speaker at the Clinton Valley Council reception will be Reuben R. Jensen, General Motors executive vice president in charge of overseas operations and the non-automotive and defense group. Jensen is past president and a member of the executive board of the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council. He has received the silver beaver award for outstanding service to boyhood.

Boys in this area who have attained the Eagle Scout rank are Paul J. Glorzinski, Mike Glorzinski, Cory K. Leslie, Kevin J. Sutherland and Geoff M. Becker of Troop 126; Michael Pitts of Troop 134; and Leif Gruenberg and Mark Zelenak of Troop 189.

Jeffery Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. David VanCurler, of Walled Lake, made his debut January 29 at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. He's the first grandchild of Mr.

and Mrs. Douglas VanCurler, 5090 Waldon Road, Clarkston. Mrs. VanCurler, a proud grandma, reports he weighed 6 pounds, 6 ounces.

Joseph G. Lessard, 6431 Havelock, a student of biological sciences at Michigan State University, and Linda A. Slade, 5484 Waldon, a student at Justin Morrill College there, have been awarded straight A's during the fall term.

Pastor Bob and Bev Walters will show slides of their recent trip to Japan at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Calvary Lutheran Church, 6805 Bluegrass. The trip included the rural area of Kyushu, Nagasaki and the Atom Bomb Museum, pottery making in Arita, the industry and church life of Kotakyushu including a tour of All Nippon Steel, largest in the world, Kyoto which is the cultural capital of Tokyo. Everyone is invited. A contribution to alleviate world hunger will be accepted. The door prize, according to Bob, is a sip of sake.

Cadet Tech. Sgt. James R. Martin of the Clarkston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, recently earned his solo wings through the CAP Flight Scholarship Program-Solo at Commander Aviation, Oakland-Pontiac Airport.

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin of Orion Township. His sister Lori, is also active in CAP.

The CAP Flight Scholarship Program is open to eligible cadets and funds one-third the cost of flight instruction, the other two-thirds to be made-up by the cadet and local scholarship programs.

CAP, in Clarkston, meets every Wednesday night from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Clarkston Senior High School cafeteria.

Some recent stories of the old printer on tv leaves me with the impression he didn't live by his own words.

Many of the writers of feature stories in dailies in New Jersey are going to be upset this spring when they find they didn't win their press contest category.

We were asked to judge the feature writing for last year. It was a tough, tedious job. Over forty articles were submitted, many in series.

But only 4 or 5 will be winners. That's their rules, just 4 or 5 places. We'd like to name 20. Many articles are outstanding, and their publishers and readers are winners.

One general criticism, which we won't put in our list, is the lack of imagination in many papers to better display a story. Golly, if a story is good, display it. Give it space and readability.

Through the year we get survey sheets from various government bureaus. Before they get done with the opening request to complete the form they threaten us with fine and jail if we don't do it.

Spiritual Message

"CHURCH TALK"

CLARKSTON UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Frank A. Cozadd

It is very easy, and quite fashionable to take pot-shots at churches. In the midst of this kind of thinking let us remember that the Church is the only institution in our community that speaks about ultimate matters. It speaks of the meaning of our existence in terms of a merciful, relentless drawing-out of history toward a God-planned, God known end.

"Why are we here?" is the question which comes in middle age as we face those unfulfilled ambitions we had, in the flower of youth when we ask for a focus of life, or in the time when we walk through the valley of the shadow of death.

The Church, almost alone, keeps on talking about these things and trying to relate them to life. It talks about suffering and the evil in men which causes suffering. It does not explain the reasons for suffering and sin to everyone's satisfaction. But it insists that God works in all things for good for those who will let Him.

The Church also points out that we are not our own bosses—all that we have or are is a gift, freely given to us, unearned and unmerited. And the Church calls us to answer the gifts of God's love, by some loving acts of our own, not done for credit but simply out of gratitude.

Nobody but the Church goes in for this kind of talk. We like it! It nourishes our souls.

In Christian bonds,
Frank A. Cozadd

Age-appropriate discipline

by James and Ellen Windell

Psychological staff members of the Oakland County Juvenile Court and Clinical Resources, Incorporated

In the last column, we discussed discipline that is suitable for the infant and the toddler. Discipline was defined generally as guidance and direction. In this column, age-appropriate guidance and direction techniques for the pre-school child will be discussed.

Although the 18-month to two-year-old child may be resistant, the three to five year old is more easily managed. With the younger resistant child, it is best to put directions positively without asking questions.

Instead of "Would you like to go to bed now?", it is perhaps easier to say, "Alright, time to go to bed." The three to five-year old must be seen as a child in the process of growing up. They should not be judged by adult standards and they should be given much "learners leeway."

To give them learner's leeway means that they should be expected to spill milk, get their clothes dirty, scuff their shoes, swear, keep a messy room, and so on. You may remind them of a goal you have for him or her later in life, but for the present time, the parent must be content with a child who is far from perfect.

Throughout childhood, it is important that only one standard of discipline be used in the home. If parents use different standards, children in the pre-school years will be very capable of playing one parent against the other to achieve some gratification. If this happens, expect a child to become upset and confused.

Usually, parents have had another child by the time they have a pre-schooler. This may lead to jealousy and rivalry which manifests itself in behavior which a parent may feel requires discipline. If the young child hits or teases an infant sibling, spanking is obviously not appropriate. Perhaps some discipline is required, at least for the safety of the little one, but this could be accomplished by removing the older child to another room and telling him that if he is going to hurt his brother or sister, he cannot be allowed around the baby. Then, more importantly, a real understanding of the situation is required by the parent.

When the pre-schooler is isolated, the parent should kindly indicate how he understands that the child is unhappy but that hurting someone else cannot be allowed. Since the child is fearful of not being loved, he must be reminded that the parents still love him very much and that the baby, because he needs more attention, may seem to be loved more. Regardless of the discipline used with the pre-schooler in such a situation, it should not increase feelings of rejection and that the baby is loved more.

At John Laffrey's Old Mill

Hints of things to come

Changes and more changes are being made inside the temporarily closed Old Mill Tavern, a Waterford landmark at 5838 Dixie Highway. When the establishment again opens its doors, one of its three bars will be behind these railings on a balcony overlooking the main dining room.

Monk's cellar doors have leaded glass windows.

Tinted glass on door highlights the warm colors being used throughout the Old Mill.

Textures—like this barn wood—are an integral feature of the real materials being used. You'll search in vain for artificial bricks or plastic "wood."

Huge chandeliers are to hang from the exposed beams being incorporated into the decor of the Old Mill.

Decorative features from a Georgia mansion—like this carved arch—are being integrated into the remodeling. Standing amid building materials yet to be installed, the arch gives a mere hint of the elegance anticipated at John Laffrey's Old Mill.

The new main entrance to the Old Mill will be at the rear of the building, with patrons crossing a bridge after leaving their cars with attendants.
