We need pictures

Old photographs of Clarkston and the surrounding area are badly needed by the Independence-Clarkston Bicentennial Commission if an authentic history book of this area is to be forthcoming.

Jennifer Radcliff, who has charge of the project, says she is especially interested in getting an overall view of the early town -- a shot that may have been taken from Deer Lake Hill.

Such pictures may be left at The Clarkston News or at Photos by Winship on Sashabaw Road. The pictures will be copied and returned to the owner.

Dealers say:

Rebates working

The rebate plan is working. That's the consensus of Clarkston's three auto agencies--Hahn Motors, Haupt Pontiac and Rademacher Chevrolet.

Immediate effect of the announcement of the rebates was an increase in dealership traffic, all three agree. All are reporting increased sales as a result and Don Short, owner of Haupt, says rebates have doubled sales.

"We had 43 Astres and 22 to 23 Venturas in stock when the rebate was announced," Short said. "As of Friday, we had 15 Astres and 7 Venturas," he reported.

While he'd like to see the rebate program continue beyond its February 28 deadline, he admits inventories are getting weak and he won't be able to get cars until March. "I think they've accomplished what they wanted to do," he said.

Tom Rademacher reports truck sales have increased as well as car sales due to the additional traffic the rebates inspired.

"By spring I think you'll see shortages of car lines," he says.

Rademacher feels, however, that reduced interest rates will have more effect than rebates on stimulating car sales. He said 13 1/2 percent prime interest rates last fall had caused some leasing and rental companies to stick with the '74 models. Now that the rate is down to about 11 percent, he feels they'll be buying and such companies can absorb as much as 20 percent of the market.

Jerry Townsend, sales manager at Hahn, calls the rebate program "fantastic."

"It's raised sales considerably," he said.

"I think we've got quite a bit of momentum going now, and it could carry us right on through to summer when the vacation trade starts," he said.

Townsend says where 25 to 28 customers a week were browsing through the dealership, they now see about 47 customers per week.

Explosion levels home

Three adults miraculously escaped serious injury when their home at 5198 Drayton near Sashabaw and Maybee exploded early Monday morning, the result, firemen believe, of leaking gas from a broken pipe in the front yard. Sewers had been installed in the area last fall.

A two-month-old baby, Stephanie Ann Smith, is reported improving at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac where she was taken for treatment of head injuries received in the explosion. She was still listed in fair condition as of Tuesday morning.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, and a cousin, Ronald Smith, 18, were treated for injuries and released.

The three elder Smiths had been standing at a living room window watching firemen who had been called a half hour earlier to Robert Longrie house next door at 5188 Drayton. An earlier explosion there had moved the house from its foundation, started a fire in the basement and broken windows. No one was injured in the Longrie house.

Robert Smith, when the explosion occurred in his home, was blown out, landing on the driveway, and suffering cuts to his legs. His wife crawled out of the rubble screaming that the baby was in its crib. Smith picked himself up, returned to the leveled house, entered through a hole in the wall, and rescued the baby.

The Smith house was reported as exploding in four different directions, allowing the roof to fall in. The back wall exploded with such force that a camper van parked in the driveway was shoved six feet through doors into an unattached garage, and another car was damaged.

A dog, still alive in the basement, was rescued.

The blast narrowly missed injuring several firemen who were approaching the Smith house to begin evacuation. Five homes on either side of the blasts were evacuated, the owners of all but the adjacent two allowed to return by 7 p.m. Monday.

The Smith blast also broke windows and caused minor interior damage to the unoccupied Lawrence Ash home at 5198 Drayton.

Firemen received the first call at 6:50 a.m. to the Longrie home. They reported Longrie, 29, awoke to go to work at 5:45 a.m. He got dressed and cooked his breakfast on an electric stove and left for work about 6:30 a.m. At that time he said he could not smell gas.

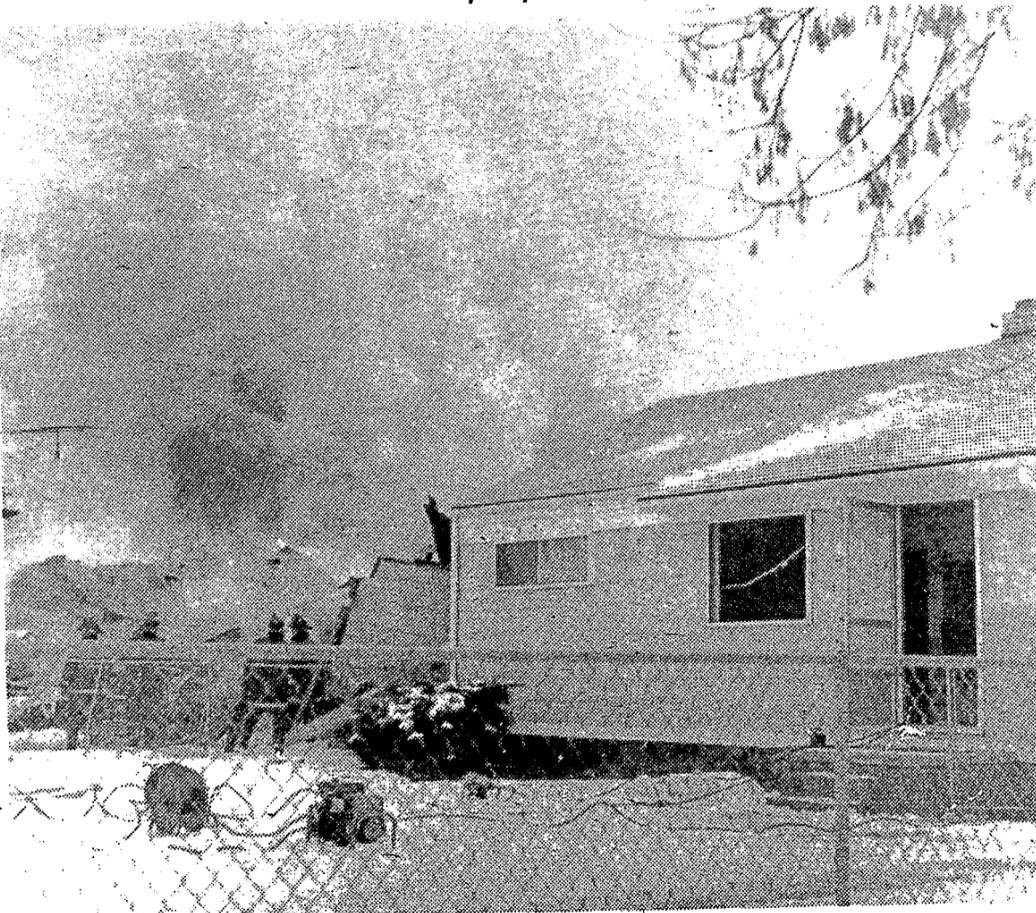

His sleeping wife, Lois, was awakened by the explosion. She said she went into the kitchen where she could smell smoke. At that time Jim Jensenius, a neighbor, kicked in the front door and took Lois and her two children, Michael, 2 and Robert 5, out of the home.

At 7:20 a.m. Consumers Power workmen arrived on the scene, just in time for the Smith home explosion at 7:26 a.m. Utility crews stayed on the scene all day and all night Monday, aerating the ground by forcing air through pipes into the soil.

Fire Chief Frank Ronk said the Smith home used no gas. Its furnace was fed by fuel oil.

Schmudes buy sanctuary as memorial to son

John R. Schmude

Papers were to be completed in the near future for the purchase of the John R. Schmude Memorial Sanctuary on Green Lake.

The $2,000 necessary for the transaction has been donated to the Independence Land Conservancy by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmude of Parview in honor of their son who was killed at the age of 19 while serving with the Army in Vietnam.

Mrs. Schmude said she became aware of the Conservancy's intention to purchase 20 acres of mainly swamp land on the lake in last week's Clarkston News.

"I'm in total agreement with what they're doing, and we talked to Nelson Kimball. This purchase falls right in with the ideas we had. Marsh land can be preserved for wild life. I'd much rather see that than apartments," she said.

Her son assisted his father who managed Waterford Hill Golf Course. He worked on the greens there, had been in Cub Scouting and was on the swim team at Pontiac Central High School.

Mrs. Schmude feels he would like the idea of the sanctuary purchase.

Kimball, who is president of the Conservancy, expressed delight over the "thoughtfulness and generosity of the Schmudes."

"Such memorials are wonderfully permanent and will remain for the appreciation of generations to come," Kimball said. He added such gifts would be protected by clauses in the registration deed on the property.

He said the Conservancy has received more than $300 in memorial contributions during the past three years, and that these funds constitute part of the revolving fund from which down payments on new properties are made.

"One of these days we will have enough of these smaller memorials to buy a memorial park in the name of those individuals who have been so well-remembered," Kimball added.

High school cracks down on absences

Clarkston High School is in the process of really clamping down on attendance, according to Principal William Dennis.

Attendance records for last semester are being reviewed and those students whose absences exceeded 15 percent are being put on probation.

Dennis said parents will be notified, and the counselors will become directly involved in an attempt to learn the reasons why the students are absent.

If this doesn't produce improvement, Dennis said parents will be called in for a conference with counselors, teachers, the building administrator and the student.

Dennis said he considered parental involvement essential to the program.

"We advise parents to call the school when they feel their child might be skipping. Information on absences is available the following day," he reported.

"We also encourage parents to call whenever they know their child will be absent. It makes the administrative job much easier," he added.

In the same push for better attendance, Dennis said the school would be notifying and commending those students with perfect attendance. Certificates will be awarded, he added.

He asked that parents who feel their children have perfect attendance and who have not received a certificate should contact the school.

Dirty powder puffs are not disposable items. In fact, you can re-use yours again and again. Just wash them when you wash your clothes, put them in the dryer, and they will come out looking like new. In fact, you can wash powder puffs regularly, and then you will always have a clean one to use. This will make your complexion look better, since you will not rub oil and dirt back into your face. Keep clean puffs in a dust-proof plastic bag.

Board likes child oriented education

But wants it defined better

by Jean Saile

of The Clarkston News

Alternative education methods, as proposed by Clarkston Community Child Oriented Education Committee, will be subjected to some more scrutiny before any major changes are made in elementary school curriculums.

The Board of Education decided Monday night to submit the plan to the District Curriculum Committee (composed of four administrators and 16 teachers) for an April 15 report regarding the number of parents and teachers willing to participate.

The committee will also be asked to define methods of pupil selection, the number of such classrooms to be operated in the district, and the training required for teachers and parents.

There were approximately 100 parents in the audience, and of those speaking, a majority expressed disappointment that the "alternative classroom proposal" had not been accepted. Some expressed fears that further study now would delay implementation beyond their September, 1975 target date.

One mother, however, spoke in favor of better definition as a means of selling her neighbors on the benefits to be achieved.

Response of the board was generally favorable to the concept, however it was pointed out several times during the course of the evening -- and agreed with by members of the CCCEO group -- that Clarkston now offers many of the programs the group proposes.

Said Sandy Andringa, leader of the CCCEO, "But these programs are not now offered to all children who might most benefit from them. We propose to make such classrooms available to any parent who might wish his child to attend such a class."

Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum for Clarkston schools, said such programs are now on a volunteer basis as far as teachers are concerned. "There are 136 elementary teachers and all are using alternatives in one way or another."

He added that placement of elementary school children in certain classrooms is not now a matter of chance. "Planning now goes into the placement of children," he said.

Clarkston Education Association board of directors had by unanimous vote February 3 supported the "concept and general philosophy" of the plan, however Larry Rosso, president, said at the board meeting Monday night, "We have some special concerns. We're concerned about the sanctity of the contract and the employer-employee relationship."

He referred to the group's recommendation for implementation in that a committee consisting of an elementary school principal, a teacher from each elementary school, an interested parent from each elementary school and five members of the CCCEO be responsible for putting the program to work. The CEA's contract is with the school board and not with parents. A clause regarding evaluation of the program would give parents considerable say, according to the group's presentation.

Rosso said the teaching of alternative education must be a voluntary program. "A small segment of teachers are very much behind it, some are very much opposed, but the vast majority is skeptical as to how to implement it. They are supportive of the idea, but ---" Rosso reported.

Slides had been shown at the beginning of the presentation which depicted alternative classrooms and individualized study, fostered by teachers with the help of parent aides, in surrounding school districts and also in Clarkston where such rooms are in use.

Trustee Carolyn Place had recommended the board's adoption of the program as presented, but her motion was later amended by Trustee Robert Walters who proposed that the board encourage those efforts already existing in our system, like team teaching and individualized instruction . . . that the board encourage existing programs and solicit further responsible adult/parent involvement the learning process . . . but that the curriculum committee become involved in surveying teachers and parents who would be willing to participate and that the present committee -- set up by the board last fall in conjunction with the CCCEO -- continue in its advisory role "as findings determine the directions we should take, especially in communicating to the public the possibilities of child-oriented education."

Mrs. Place was the lone objector to the Walters amendment.

Most trustees expressed interest and support for the concept, however Fernando Sanchez said he preferred discipline and good example. "Now when our students go to the secondary schools, they're all at the same level. We've been working on this co-ordination so that all students in the area received the same kind of education. This concept is no challenge. The students do what they want when they want."

He was told by Mrs. Andringa and Dr. David Smith, also of the CCCEO, that students would be required to meet existing curriculum learning goals, however, the methods in learning would be varied.

Dr. Smith said that evaluation of similar 20-year-old programs have shown that students, whether they participate in the open classroom or not, all end up about the same level.

"We choose to think, however, that the benefits do not show up on standard grading forms. Children who have benefitted from alternative methods of education are more creative and more independent," he said.

He noted that they would still be subjected to testing and the grading process used in standard classrooms.

Other members of the CCCEO expressed the idea that the program be gotten off the ground, even if goals of one classroom per grade in each elementary school could not be met. Another goal the group seemed willing to forego, at least in the beginning, was one classroom per school of multi-age grouping.

Transportation was another area seen as having problems. If such classrooms could not be made available in all schools, and if parents were to have the choice of whether or not their children should attend such a classroom, Assistant Superintendent Milford Mason said transportation procedures would have to be altered.

Council candidates view future

Village voters will be asked, in effect, to select their next year's council members at a village primary election February 17.

Since all four of the candidates still in race are Republicans, and since there are only three vacancies on the council, the general election March 10 will be nothing more than an endorsement.

Five names will appear on the ballot, however candidate Jim Brueck has since announced his withdrawal from the race due to other pressing commitments.

Three incumbents and a former councilwoman are left in the running for the three two-year terms.

The incumbents are James W. Schultz, 49 South Holcomb; Mike Thayer, 46 Orion; and James E. Weber, 55 West Main. Vying for a spot on the council is Lucia V. Wilford, 91 North Main.

Schultz, who has lived in Clarkston for six years with his wife and daughter, is director of Detroit Country Day School and co-owner of Main Street Antiques. He serves on several community groups, dealing primarily with environment and history.

He said, "My past performance as a village trustee bears evidence of my concerns and desires to be of continued help in service to the community. The establishment of the Bicentennial Commission, which will preserve our historic heritage and keep the village flavor, became a reality due to efforts on my part.

"The forming of the zoning regulations help maintain the Clarkston atmosphere was another area where I was instrumental in giving the necessary help.

"While on the Streets Committee, my recommendation was strong for the complete repaving and repairing of sidewalks. In order to help beautify the town, I also encourage the planting of trees and I am still active in this particular effort.

"To help improve local business and to provide conditions to attract new retail business into the village, I worked on the parking ordinance and the repeal of personal property tax for the sewers. I am very interested in retaining the Post Office within the Village. I would like to see Clarkston retain the 19th century flavor and remain as the commercial center of the township. I am against frivolous spending of money or raising of taxes and opposed the salary increases for local government representatives."

Thayer, who has lived here 37 of his 39 years, is married and has five children. He works as an installer repairman for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

He has also been a member of the Independence Township Fire Department for 18 years and is a director of the Northeast Oakland County Fire Fighters Association. He is a charter member of the Clarkston Area Jaycees.

He says, "I feel I have a good working knowledge of what is needed to maintain the village. I would like to continue in this capacity in the future."

Weber

Weber, who has lived all his 34 years in the village, has been employed for 15 years in the financial area at Pontiac Motor Division. He was named to the council last year to fill an unexpired term.

A 10-year member of the Pontiac Elks, he received his schooling from Ferris Institute and Pontiac Business Institute.

He says, "I'd like to keep Clarkston as I remember it -- a peaceful community. I am against widening of M-15 within the village and against changes on Holcomb Street. I would like to see M-15 under village control and to finish our tree planting program this year.

"I am for purchasing the Hawk Tool building for rental for the village if it does not affect the taxpayers. I am for keeping the Post office in the village, and I will support the Historical Society as long as it does not affect the taxpayer's money."

Mrs. Wilford has lived in Clarkston for 21 years. She is the mother of six children and member of the Church of the Resurrection. She served on the Independence Library Board and her group of affiliations include Clarkston Woman's Club, Clarkston Garden Club, Clarkston Village Players, Wednesday Night Dance Club and Independence Land Conservancy.

She says, "My chief concerns about Clarkston are that its growth and change will be of benefit to its residents and merchants; that historic buildings of value will not be destroyed, that trees will continually be planted to replace those that are diseased or dying, that polluted air and water will be freshened, that solutions will be found to cope with litter, noise and heavy traffic, that there will be a continuing development of parking areas, that ways can be found to give increased vigor to our business community and that Clarkston may continue to be a safe and pleasant village with an historic past and future.

"A delicate balance exists for Clarkston to remain a vigorous community and to retain the charm of its heritage. I believe the problems that beset the village can be met, and that we can hold on to what we cherish and move with the times.

"During my previous service on the village council I learned that it takes more than a few hours at the council table to solve the problems that are presented there. It takes hours of study, personal contact and thoughtful evaluation to meet the demands of the job. I have the time, the concern and the interest. I hope I am elected to serve the community."

Plan for new Springfield fire hall

A second fire station for Springfield Township would require slightly more than two acres of land, according to township planning consultant Tod Kilroy.

Asked for a sketch showing the best position for the building on a proposed site on the northwest corner of Dixie Highway and Rattalee Lake Road, Kilroy indicated the parcel should be 2.1 acres rather than the acre offered by the Oakland County Road Commission.

The parcel for the new station would be carved from property at the road commission's district headquarters.

The size of the parcel needed for a station was determined by the space required to maneuver fire engines and for parking at what would become the township's second voting place.

Township board members also noted that the location would require traffic control on Dixie if the highway were to be used by engines leaving the station.

The drawing prepared by Kilroy will be forwarded to the county. Local fire officials hope the second station could be operational by 1980.

Springfield wage study

A five-member commission will study the jobs of Springfield Township elected officials and make recommendations on their salaries at the annual township meeting.

The advisory wage commission was established as an alternative to a salary-setting commission allowed under a new state law.

Supervisor Donald Rogers said township officials across the state long have complained about the present method for setting their salary commission law last year.

"They thought they had the answer, but it wasn't it," Rogers said.

"I wouldn't want it to be binding, because I think the people at the annual meeting should have a say," commented Trustee E.L. Rundell.

Therefore, the commission appointed last week will simply make recommendations on salaries at the annual meeting.

In the meantime, the group will hold three meetings to study the tasks of local officials, their present salaries and the salaries of officials in comparable municipalities.

Board members set compensation for each commission member at $45.

Named to the commission were Gayle Bilya, appointed by Rogers; O.J. Fusilier, by Clerk J. Calvin Walters; Glenn Underwood, by Treasurer Patricia Kramer; Nelson Van Natta, by Rundell; and Laurel Conklin, by Trustee Glen J. Vermilye.

Noelle, 7, and Karen, 15, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Rose of Mary Sue are $75 richer because they participated in the Pontiac Area Realtors Association essay about How to Make America Better. Noelle thinks love will do it, and she won a $50 first prize savings bond in her age category. She's a second grader at South Sashabaw School. Karen, a sophomore at Clarkston High School, received a $25 bond for second prize in her category.

We won't take a back seat to anybody.

Not when it comes to selling cars. Or trucks. Or recreational vehicles.

Let's start right off with car prices.

Lots of "big city" dealers make claims about lower prices and higher trade-ins. There's no bigger myth than the volume dealer saying he deals lower because he sells more cars.

Know why?

Every Chevrolet dealer pays the same prices for Chevy cars and trucks. He can sell a thousand of 'em a day but he still has to make a profit. And that profit margin, believe you us, is just the same for the big guy as it is the smaller dealer. So watch it when you get the low, low price pitch.

Something else you ought to know. We're in the front seat when it comes to higher re-sale values. It's a matter of record we do better in this department up here in Northern Oakland County than in Metro Detroit. People just keep their cars in better shape around here. Score a big one for you.

Another thing. We're closer to you for service and warranty needs. No 80-mile round trips. Just down the street a piece where we're committed to make your service visit easier, friendlier, and more satisfactory.

See what we mean about not taking a back seat to anybody?

Hoopengartner retires from State Police

State Police Lt. Raymond J. Hoopengartner, 50, of Clarkston Road, commander of the Pontiac State Police Post since 1966, will retire February 21. He has completed more than 27 years of service with the State Police.

Prior to coming to Pontiac, Hoopengartner commanded posts at L'Anse and Warren.

He joined the State Police in 1947, serving first as a trooper at Ypsilanti and Center Line. In 1957, he was made a corporal and transferred to Jonesville. Upon his promotion to sergeant, he was given his first command at L'Anse. He was promoted to lieutenant in 1971 at Pontiac.

During his career, Hoopengartner earned two citations for meritorious service and was cited four other times for honorable mention.

The merit awards included his part in the quelling of a cell block uprising during the Jackson Prison riot in 1952 and in the disarming of an intoxicated subject intent on shooting another person in 1950 in Ypsilanti.

The honorable citations included his part in solving burglary cases at St. Clair Shores and in Macomb and Oakland counties, an auto theft in Macomb and an embezzlement in Detroit.

He was born at Ferndale and graduated from high school at Yale. During World War II he served in the Marine Corps for 24 months, 20 of them overseas.

He and his wife, Theresa, have a son and two daughters.

This truck went crashing through the ice at the north end of Lake Oakland Saturday afternoon—fortunately not far enough to injure the unidentified driver or make the vehicle unable to be retrieved. The truck skidded onto the lake near Sashabaw and Meyers roads.

Late tax penalty lifted

Independence Township Treasurer Betty Hallman is again facing the bookkeeping woes involved in giving township property owners a penalty-free period during which they can pay overdue taxes.

"I vowed last year I wouldn't do it again," she said, prefacing her request to fellow township board members to lift the penalty.

They sympathized with her—and also agreed that the current economic situation calls for some leniency.

So the 4 percent penalty which could be levied between Feb. 14 and 28 will not be.

On March 1 and thereafter, overdue property taxes are collected by the county.

The prime problem caused by not levying the penalty is that some taxpayers are not aware of the township board's benevolence.

"People who live outside of the township still think they have to pay the penalty," Mrs. Hallman said. When she receives their checks, she must deduct the penalty and send it back to the taxpayer.

A Valentine thought

One of the gratifications of working on a newspaper is that there's always something good to write about. This week we've had parents who turned sadness into something valuable for the whole community—the Schmudes who purchased 20 acres of land on Greens Lake as a memorial to their son who was killed in Vietnam. Shortly after talking to them, a cute youngster came in to get her picture taken. She's Noelle Rose who won a $50 savings bond from Pontiac Area Realtors because she thinks love can make America better. We also understand spelling is still important in the schools, and we hope we'll be getting the names of some spelling bee winners. Even the depression stories which we keep getting are tales of courage and stamina, and the fact that the people are still alive to write about them means they surmounted those days successfully. We've been talking to a number of oldsters lately, and the heritage they've left us—the aware approach they take to today's problems—and the tolerance they have for a befuddled world are all signs of hope. And lastly, it's Valentine's Day—a time to express love and hope—and we're carrying on the tradition.

The convention blues

by Jim Fitzgerald

Immediately after turning left into the hotel driveway, I knew it was going to be a convention-to-regret. A policeman gave me a ticket for making an illegal left turn.

I had paused under the sign saying "No Left Turn." My wife had said: "You can't turn left." But the hotel was on the left. If I had turned right, or continued straight, it might have been 5 minutes before I found the hotel again. I might have been late for a free drink. I turned left.

The cop was at least 12 years old. It took him a long time to fill out the ticket with his crayon. He paused over the long list of possible offenses on the ticket. "Just put an X before 'Didn't listen to his wife,'" my wife told him. It cost me $14.

But she soon got hers. It costs 25 cents to get out of the hotel parking lot. You insert a quarter and a big wooden arm lifts just long enough to let you drive through the gate. Some friends were driving through as we walked by. We chatted a minute and then they continued on, thus freeing the big wooden arm so that it came down on my wife's head.

"It could have been worse," I said as I helped her back on her feet. "It could have been me."

This is the annual convention of the Michigan Press Association. It is always held on the campus of Michigan State University in a 7-story hotel called the Kellogg Center of Continuing Education. It is called this because it was paid for with snap-crackle-pop money, and because it is a continuing education to rent a room there.

Some of the bathroom doors are tent flaps, offering the privacy of an army barracks. There are sliding doors on the closets and when you slide them they block the bureau drawers and hit your wife in the sore head. The twin beds are fine if you and your partner are twin dwarfs. If you want a cup of coffee between 10 and 12 a.m. on a weekend, you must drive to town. If you walk half a mile to the far end of the parking lot, and then discover you don't have a quarter to buy your way out, the hotel management doesn't like it when you scream and honk your horn and cry real tears all over their blacktop.

At these conventions it is my habit to wear a glass while making the rounds of hospitality rooms. It hangs around my neck on a chain, sloshing gently against my belly, thus freeing my hands for signing autographs. I have been attending these conventions for 23 years and no one has ever asked for my autograph, but I'm ready.

Actually, I'm being modest. I

On exercise

by Jean Saile

I have a friend who has lost three inches around her middle, another couple some place else, and another one where she'd rather not talk about it.

She hasn't lost any weight, but that's not the point. She has turned into a health freak, and quite frankly tires me excessively just by telling me how healthy she is.

This friend, who shall be nameless, has joined a health club and she won't rest—and consequently I'm afraid I won't either—until she induces me to try it.

I am holding out, however. I have always felt vaguely uncomfortable in beauty shops, let alone in health spas. If God had meant me to be beautiful, he would have taken care of the details, right?

Besides—there is nothing quite so discomfiting in my book as being able to overhear someone tell her hairdresser (and everyone else in listening distance) things she probably wouldn't even tell her husband.

If that can happen when only the hair is involved, think what might happen when it's the whole body that's getting the treatment.

Nevertheless I sit here in front of my typewriter getting flabbier and flabbier, while my friend demonstrates weight lifting and her new figure.

To be honest, there are times when I have thought I ought to get more exercise, and I tried jogging once. When I read about the man who got struck by lightning while jogging at 4 in the morning, I decided God didn't think much of joggers either.

I do, on occasion, bend over to pick up something off the floor, and once in a while—such as when a waitress in a restaurant spills a glass of water in my direction—I can move with an unusual burst of speed.

There are even days that I have walked to work, and then found out I needed the car immediately after I arrived.

What I really ought to do is start horseback riding again. It's something I enjoy, and more than that—the horse does most of the work.

Letters to the editor

What is "teaching"?

Dear Mr. Rosso,

Your response to my editorial as published in The Clarkston News on Feb. 6, indicates we have very divergent opinions relative to the position held by the CEA and the MEA in our society today.

A few of your statements made me pause to wonder what "teaching" really is. I always thought that a lot of teaching is done by example and the transfer of adademic knowledge from a text book to a student was only part of education.

I believe that instruction in citizenship and character is also essential.

You tell me that only 10 percent of some 600 school districts were "struck" in 1973. To me, that means 53 school districts' students, were exposed to teacher striking in defiance of the law. You say your members paid a fine for defying the law, but you showed the students, by example, what they can do if conditions are not entirely to their liking.

This worries me, Mr. Rosso, because I was taught to respect the authority and the integrity of the law and my teachers when I was a student many years ago. Has the program of education completely eliminated that respect?

The basic principles of unionism are beyond reproach. Originally organized to protect the workman from enforced labor at starvation wages, unions have developed to the point where they no longer are a movement but a business unto themselves.

What makes this? It is money, Mr. Rosso, and by the way where does the $46,512 go that the CEA collects through its "agency shop" clause? How much of this money is devoted to the improvement of the Clarkston school system?

I certainly want no bitter, emotional rhetoric. The Crestwood situation has provided enough of that to last us all a long time -- and I am well aware that our public system of education needs help.

The taxpayers in the Clarkston area have always helped whenever they were asked and a continual search for solutions and understandings is needed at all times.

Your grievances directed at the Clarkston Board of Education regarding class size, portable classrooms, additional teachers, splitting of classes, loss of a half step in pay by teacher due to pregnancy, and the use of leave days as described on page 5 of The Clarkston News of Feb. 6 is hardly conducive to better understandings and solutions.

In the interests of sound and improved education, I am Sincerely,
N.C. VanNatta

Harry Coldwell was one of the Vietnam veterans who used American Legion aid to apply for his recently approved bonus. John Lynch assisted him with the paper work. Campbell-Ewald Post had a relatively small turnout of applicants, Lynch theorizing that most of them had taken care of the application by direct mail. Coldwell said he thought his wife had plans to spend any money he might receive.

Literature—the special kind produced by youngsters—is discussed by Andersonville fourth graders Robby O'Leary and Roxana Detkowski with Sandy Sanford [left] and Kathy Roberts, two former Andersonville teachers who will speak at the Feb. 27 PTA meeting. Mrs. Roberts, owner of a book store, will talk about new books on the market, and Mrs. Sanford and first grade teacher Pat Medlen will give parents suggestions on how to encourage young authors at home. The 7:30 p.m. meeting at the school is being held in conjunction with the Andersonville book fair, scheduled for Feb. 19-28.

Rotary birthday

February 23rd marks the 70th anniversary of Rotary. The Rotary Club of Davisburg would like to thank the citizens of Clarkston who have helped make its service projects successful.

Seventy years of working to make communities around the world better places to live and work. That's the proud accomplishment of Rotary which marks its 70th anniversary on February 23rd. The members of the Rotary Club of Davisburg and their fellow Rotarians in 151 countries say thanks to all who have helped make this record possible.

February 23rd is a momentous day for the Rotary club of Davisburg and for Rotarians in 16,100 other clubs throughout the world. This year it will mark the 70th anniversary of Rotary, the worldwide service association of business and professional men dedicated to making their communities, countries and the world a better place to live. Although proud of their achievements, Rotarians know that they would have been impossible without the cooperation and assistance of many other organizations and individuals. To all of these your Rotary club says "Thanks" and pledges many more years of service.

Jim's Jottings

by Jim Sherman

Perhaps we should allow the Arabs to buy our banks, the Japanese our west coast, and West Germans Florida. Then we can nationalize them.

Take 'em over. That's what happened to American industrial investors in some countries of South America, the middle east and Cuba.

This done our Federal Government would be in a position to sell these newly acquired properties to private people and pay off the national debt, providing we inflate the value of Florida.

Without such a scheme there is no hope of reducing the enormous burden heaped on we lowly citizens by a stream of spending leaders... Democrats and Republicans.

Why can't there be fiscal responsibility—proposing and sticking to a balanced budget? Do our Congressmen, Senators and Administrators feel they can eventually declare bankruptcy and rid us of our obligation?

As long as we're suffering they should at least give us the comfort of thinking we might be headed toward living within our means.

All banquets should have humorous speakers—mixing their messages with stories. Leave the audience laughing as well as informed.

Such a speaker is Dr. Robert Samp of Wisconsin. He spoke on "Short Cut to Longevity" at our state press convention last week.

His message was to eat properly and live longer. "Eat a big breakfast then nibble the rest of the day if you want, but don't eat any more big meals," he said.

I think if he had his way Dr. Samp would make that first meal of the day a salad. For sure it would not be extremely heavy.

He said we should remember the number 3 when we eat. Use the three way approach to living and eating. A "Triumvirate" he called it. We should go in three directions to get the most out of life.

"Follow the three S's Dr. Samp told the over 700 present... Salad, Scotch and Sex."

He concluded, "If you could teach a rabbit to drink he would live forever."

Measles shots urged

Concerned with reports of increased risk of an outbreak of red, seven day, or hard measles (rubeola) this winter, Dr. Lowell M. Wiese, Director, Oakland County Health Department, announced today a program to encourage parents to immunize their children. In cooperation with school officials in the county, information regarding the availability of measles vaccine has been sent home this week to parents of elementary school children.

The purpose of this material, according to Dr. Wiese, is to bring to the attention of parents that this is the season for measles and to encourage them to protect all of their children. "We know from the records of children entering school during the past five years that approximately 85 percent are immunized against measles", he stated. "However, some parents still consider measles a normal hazard of childhood and do not recognize that it is a very contagious disease which may lead to serious complications, including deafness or encephalitis.

"We hope that parents of children not yet immunized will take these youngsters, including preschoolers and older children, to their own physician or one of the Health Department clinics to get them protected against measles."

The Oakland County Health Department offers free immunizations to any child from two months through high school age as part of the services provided to all county residents. Immunizations are available every weekday at the Health Department Centers in Pontiac and Southfield and at ten other sites at various times during the month. Information regarding the location and times of these clinics may be obtained by calling the Health Department at 858-1280 or 557-1400.

Sashabaw parents to meet at school

All parents of Sashabaw Junior High students are invited to a morning coffee at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, February 19, at Sashabaw Junior High.

A small group of mothers have asked for information about the programs at the school and have met twice during the last three months. All parents are welcome to attend for an informal question and answer session.

The curriculum will be discussed and parental concerns will be answered.

Village to study parking

The Clarkston Village Council Monday night agreed to establish a parking committee in answer to a request from Director of Police Services Jack McCall.

Village President appointed Trustee Kathleen McCall to serve as chairperson, asking her to get another council member to serve with her.

The goals of the committee will be to determine how available parking spaces in the village can better be utilized and to make plans for additional spaces.

McCall, reported that, with 44 business operations in the village, parking problems have increased.

"We have attempted to extend every possible courtesy before a violation has been issued," he said in his written request. "Parking spaces are limited, and a cooperative effort on everyone's part is necessary until additional parking can be provided."

CETA funds to be used

Independence and Springfield Townships have set in motion the machinery for the first round of hirings under Title 6 of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

The Independence Township board last week authorized Department of Public Works Director George Anderson to take applications for one clerk and three custodian-laborers under the CETA program.

The four positions will account for approximately half of the $80,423 allocated to Independence Township, with other jobs to be determined at a later date.

In Springfield Township, board members will use $51,453 of the $60,067 designated for the township by hiring three employes this month and three by March 31. The persons to be hired there include an assessor, two assistant assessors, two lifeguards and a public service maintenance employe.

In addition to the Title 6 program, Independence Township used Title 2 CETA funds to rehire four employes laid off last month.

Rezoning, plat fees boosted

Some alterations in the Independence Township Planning Commission's fee schedule have been approved by the township board.

Two fee increases were necessitated by rising administrative costs for office work and publication, according to Township Planner Larry Burkhart.

Increases of $50 each were approved for applications to the planning commission for rezoning and subdivision plats, with the former going up to $250 and the latter to $200 plus $1 a lot.

Also approved on Burkhart's recommendation were fees for conceptual plan review. These are $25 for one acre or less; $75 plus $3 an acre for commercial or industrial; and $125 plus $2 a unit for apartments, townhouses, multiples or single-family attached residences.

All other planning commission fees adopted in 1971 have remained unchanged, Burkhart noted.

Rejuvenation for fire truck

Old engine No. 311 soon will be making its second trip to Wisconsin, where it will be overhauled for another 10 to 15 years of firefighting in Independence Township.

The 1959 truck will be driven to Pierce Manufacturing Company in Appleton, Wisconsin for $10,330 to $11,330 worth of work. The final bill will depend on the amount of pump work necessary.

Pierce's bid based on a firm price rather than time and materials, was recommended by Township Fire Chief Frank Ronk. It was one of two sent in response to six requests.

Ronk recalled that when No. 311's chassis was delivered to the township in 1960, it was driven to Kenosha, Wisconsin to be outfitted as a fire truck. The trip to Appleton, he said, will take 14 to 16 hours.

CHS students in league

Some 20 students from Clarkston High School will participate in an all-league choir concert of the Wayne-Oakland County League tonight in the Clarenceville High School auditorium.

Appearing in the 8 p.m. concert will be a choir composed of 20 students each from Clarkston, Clarenceville, Bloomfield Hills, Andover, Milford and West Bloomfield high schools.

Guest conductor for the concert will be Gilbert Jackson, vocal music director at Pontiac's Washington Junior High and Central High schools and director of the semi-professional group called the Jackson Chorale.

Tickets can be purchased at the participating schools or at the door.

Y activities

A creative Gym and Art Program for pre-schoolers will begin Wednesday, February 19, at Colombiere College, 9075 Big Lake Rd. The Program is sponsored by the Lakes Extension Department of the North Oakland YMCA.

The program is designed to help participants learn new skills, become stronger and more co-ordinated, create things with their own hands, and function in a group. Activities will include running, jumping, throwing, climbing, tumbling, painting, Easter crafts, etc. Three Clarkston residents, Betsy Travis, Chris Kittredge, and Sue Zanotti, will be instructing and supervising the program.

Participants in the six week program may register for mornings or afternoons. 3 and 4 year olds 9:30 - 10:45 a.m., or 1:45 - 3 p.m.; 5 and 6 year olds 10:15 - 11:30 a.m. or 2:30 - 3:45 p.m.; walking to 3 year olds (with parent participation) will be gym only from 11 - 11:30 a.m., or 1:15 - 1:45 p.m.

Program fee for the 3-6 year olds is $10 for YMCA members, and $15 for non-members. Walking to 3 year olds is $7 for YMCA members and $12 for non-members.

Participants may reserve a place by calling the YMCA at 335-6116. Reservations will be completed at the first class session. For additional information call the YMCA.

Clarkston falls

Clarkston lost to Waterford Township Tuesday night 68-57, and Friday night Clarenceville just made it past the Wolves for a win, 54-52.

Being a former skipper from Waterford Township, it doesn't seem possible that Clarkston could have lost. I have never seen Waterford win more than 4 games per season, but Tuesday night Township and Clarkston went into the game each with 5 wins, and the Skippers came out with six.

The Wolves trailed by only 1 point at the end of the first quarter and 3 points at the half. Jeff Ferguson and Ben Bullen displayed their talent with 10 points each, the only double figures for Clarkston. Wayne Thompson and Mike Coulter pipled in 8 points each, while Mark Blumenau added 6. Randy Miller followed with 5.

Weldon Graham hit 2 baskets for a total of 4 points. Bob Fuller got 2 points from a couple of free shots and Dave Brown got 2 points from a basket.

In the clicker against Clarenceville, the Wolves came up just a few points short. The Wolves attempted 63 shots but hit only 17. According to Coach Dave McDonald, they were good shots but they just didn't go in.

Coach McDonald also commented that the guys were a little down about losing to rival Kettering and had lost a little heart.

Ben Bullen was high scorer and the only player in double figures with 20.

Bring your skates...

A hockey rink and a free style skating rink emerged on the Lower Mill Pond over the weekend, thanks to the efforts of Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, Clarkston Area Jaycees and the Independence Fire Department.

and rinks formed Friday, the ice having been sprayed several times since, with the help of Everett Gard of the Jaycees and Fire Chief Frank Ronk.

He said the Jaycees have a string of lights they plan to erect on the Mill Pond rinks, and they will remain in use as long as there is no vandalism of bulbs.

A third rink is planned for Deer Lake, according to Tim Doyle, parks and recreation director.

The Deer Lake rinks will be lit by the security lights at the beach off White Lake Road, Doyle said.

Good snowmobiling

Recent snow has made conditions ideal for snowmobiling at the 700-acre Addison-Oaks Park, located eight miles north of Rochester on West Romeo Road.

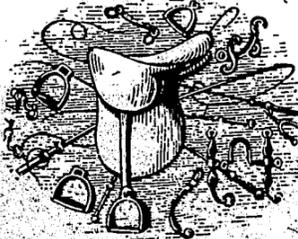

The Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission maintains 13 miles of marked trails, numerous open fields, a warming house and concession building.

Entrance fees are $1.50 per car, for Oakland County Residents and $2.50 per car for non-residents. The fee includes one snowmobile; $1 is charged for each additional snowmobile.

When there is sufficient snow, the park is open to snowmobilers from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., seven days a week.

For up-to-date snowmobiling conditions at Addison-Oaks, call 693-2432.

Girls' volleyball 6-1

Clarkston's Varsity Power Volleyball Team raised their season record to 6 and 1 Monday night with a win against Milford. The team took the match easily in two games 15-6 and 15-10.

Dede Miller and Nancy Foster gave the team a large head start on Milford - each pumping in 7 and 6 serves in a row.

Thursday, February 6, Clarkston hosted a tri-meet with Waterford Township and Avondale. Clarkston beat both competitors in two games. Township went down 15-5, 15-10, and Avondale gave up 15-2, 15-10. Kathy Warren played an exceptional game with solid serving and spiking.

The real fight was Wednesday, February 5, at West Bloomfield. The Lakers defeated only by Clarkston were hot for revenge. The first game was close; Diane Curry served the tying point as time ran out.

In overtime, the team went on to defend Diane's next two serves to win the game 15-13. The Wolves lost it in the second game and gave up a 6-15 win to West Bloomfield. Trailing in the third game 4-12, Clarkston put on the steam and beat the Lady Lakers a second time 15-12 to take the match.

Clarkston's JV record is now 0 and 6. The team lost Monday 15-12, 15-3 to Milford.

Wolverines demolish Cougars

Clarkston Junior High 9th grade cagers evened the score Saturday night against arch rivals Sashabaw by defeating them 59-44.

The Cougars had won an earlier match this season, and the Clarkston victory tied up the All-Sports Trophy, which floats between the two schools.

Clarkston took the lead early and never trailed at any time during the game. At one time the Wolverines led by 20 points.

The third quarter found the Wolverines outscoring the Cougars 25 to 10.

Rick Jenks and Tim Fogg were high scorers for Clarkston with 13 points each. Jenks also had 17 rebounds.

Craig Czinder was high Cougar scorer with 15 points. Tom White had 10.

The victory was the fifth in a row for Clarkston, bringing the team record to 7-8.

The team, after meeting West Bloomfield Tuesday, was to play Bloomfield Hills away Friday night.

Coach Larry Sherrill looked forward to the games, noting the team is playing a lot better than it did at the start of the season. "I feel very confident about the rest of the season," he said.

Cheerleaders seek state win

Clarkston High School varsity cheerleaders will be competing for state honors Saturday at the University of Detroit. The team qualified for entry at District competition last weekend at Pontiac Catholic High School.

Seeking the state trophy will be Diane Sartell, team captain, Jill Brown, varsity manager, Vivian Booker, Tori Campe, Laura Ford, Brenda Lewis, Barb Neff and Pam Willits. Dorane Speraw is faculty sponsor.

They will be judged on cheers, routines, coordination, voice, appearance and originality.

Cougar cagers fall to Pierce

Sashabaw Cougars fell to Waterford Pierce 66 to 51 in recent play. The local kids just couldn't get it together against the strong Pierce team.

Pierce had only a one point lead at the end of the first quarter, but enlarged its margin to 15 by the half. Cougars came up in the third, ending that period with a 45-41 score, but Pierce scored 21 points to Sashabaw's 10 in the fourth.

Craig Czinder was the only Cougar scoring in double figures. He had 17 points.

It was the team's third loss in a row, their fourth of the season.

Service news

A Clarkston man has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the technical training course for U.S. Air Force aircraft mechanics.

Airman Ronald H. Craven, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Craven of 8555 Clement Road, Clarkston, was trained to repair current Air Force jet aircraft. Completion of the course enables him to receive academic credits through the Community College of the Air Force. The airman now goes to Holloman AFB, N.M., for duty with a unit of the Tactical Air Command.

Airman Craven is a 1974 graduate of Clarkston High School.

Airman William R. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton of 36 E. Church, Clarkston, has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Lowry for specialized training in the supply field.

Airman Hamilton, a 1970 graduate of Clarkston High School, attended Olivet College.

6th graders hit the baskets

Junior Sixth Grade Basketball has had an exciting two weeks.

On February 1, the Cougars led by Greg Wilson's 10 points dumped the Clinchers 21-15. Matt Hool also chipped in 7 points for the victors. The Clinchers were led by Rick Shebor and Dave Roosa with 6 and 5 points each.

In a real tight battle the Killers nipped the Supersonics 21-20. Jack Sprung and Scott Waterbury led the way for the Killers while Mark Hughes and Craig Schnabel led the Supersonics.

The Superstars dumped the Pirates 26-19. The Pirates led by one at the end of the third quarter, but a tough Superstar press proved the difference. Keith Becker and Phil Parker led the way with 11 and 8 for the Stars. Mark Hannah had 13 for the losers.

February 8 action saw the Supersonics behind a tenacious full court press dump the Pirates 16-10. Mike Ogan's led the way with 6 points for the winners while Mark Hannah had 4 for the losers.

Scott Weaver with 8 and Phill Parker with 12 led the Superstars to their second victory 28-14.

Their victims were the Clinchers, led by Kevin Williams with 12.

The most exciting game of the day saw the Cougars nix the Killers 24-23. Scott Waterbury of the Killers had 10 while Greg Wilson had 8 for the Cougars.

The boys play Saturday from noon to 2 p.m. at the high school. Parents are welcome to attend.

That depressing depression Remembering . . .

by Norma Davison O'Roark

I remember when I was 7 or 8 years old walking to the bakery five blocks away to buy day old bread for 5 cents. We couldn't afford fresh bread.

I remember putting hot water on dry cereal when the milk got too precious to buy.

I remember waiting, not so patiently, on a hot summer day for the ice man to come. My mother had a four-sided card in the window which told how many pounds was needed for the ice box -- 10, 15, 25 or 50.

As soon as he had his tongs on the block of ice and was on his way into the house, we kids would grab chunks of ice from the back of his truck or on the ground -- whichever was the fastest -- before he came back.

Once my brother and I switched the card to a larger amount which wasn't very funny to my mother because she didn't have the extra money.

I remember being all bundled up in the back seat of a 1923 or 25 Chevy touring car (open on all sides) in the cold of winter, going to my grandparents' farm 20 miles away to get vegetables -- potatoes, onions, turnips and 'beggies' so we'd have something to eat.

To this day I can't stand the smell or taste of turnips or 'beggies'. It was a very cold hour and a half drive one way.

I remember the Health Department man putting a red quarantine on the house when we had measles. Only my father could go into or out of the house. My mother kept the house very dark so we wouldn't go blind.

I remember sitting in the car waiting for my father to get out of work from a little factory by an open field. It was a long time before I learned it wasn't bright colored fairies dancing in the field but kids from high school practicing football. The field is now Wisner Stadium.

Once we forgot my brother, and after searching the neighborhood for two hours, down the road he came crying. Never did know how he found his way home from clear across town. He was about four years old.

I remember my dad walking home from work to save gas money after 12 to 14 hours of hard labor. He was one of the lucky ones still working, even though for half pay and sometimes for nothing, just to keep the company going.

I remember coming home from school one day and catching my mother sewing little dresses. I forget the answer she gave me when I asked her who had such a small baby, but I found out the next Christmas. I'm sure my doll was the best dressed in town.

I remember sitting in front of the radio after our baths on Sunday nights, listening to Fibber McGee and Molly, munching popcorn and drinking homemade grape juice.

I remember listening to Kate Smith and Amos and Andy on my grandpa's crystal set, sharing an ear phone with my brother.

I remember so many things that would seem impossible to the kids today, but I remember also being happy -- thanks to my dad in heaven and my mom in the hospital.

Her grandma remembers

by Chris Prince
10300 Reese Road

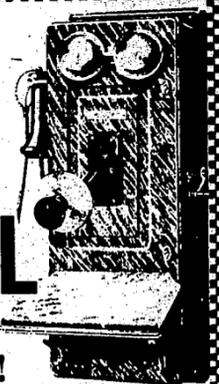

I am writing for my mother, because she told me things:

When my mom was little, she had to crush the metal cans because they needed them for the tanks, airplanes, etc. So my mom could say that the tanks, airplanes were partly hers!

My mom said that when my dad was small that my other grandma used to put over cardboard in the shoe soles, and that she used to take old clothes and shorten them so that he could wear them. The old clothes were my grandma's brothers and sons.

My grandpa used to take old food that they didn't eat and put it in the garden so they wouldn't have to buy fertilizer. And my grandma used to take hamburger and spread it on bread, then she would put it on a broiler to cook.

Bonding firm to pay Springfield

A $5,656 shortage in the Springfield Township accounts discovered during Margaret Samuels' tenure as township treasurer will be filled by the firm which bonded her, Hartford Accident Indemnity Company.

Springfield Township Supervisor Donald Rogers last week signed a release statement from the company after balking at an earlier version.

Hartford had revised the statement to substitute "misappropriated" for the word "dishonesty," Rogers said.

He asked other board members to back his signing of the waiver on an incident which occurred before Rogers was elected supervisor last November.

Trustee E.L. Rundell noted that the waiver is "just necessary paperwork" and moved that Rogers sign it. The rest of the board agreed, with the exception of Clerk J. Calvin Walters.

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

An admittedly "hurried" survey in response to a petition from parents seeking media centers and multi-purpose rooms in the schools shows that taxpayers are going to have to pay more if they want extras.

Nevertheless the Clarkston Board of Education has agreed to start the process which would take that question to the voters.

Clarkston School Superintendent Leslie F. Greene, using a theoretical plan which would provide 13,250 square foot additions on each of the six elementary schools (including South Sashabaw which has only the lower elementary grades), said such additions would cost taxpayers an additional 8.28 mills.

The debt retirement millage, now at 3.78 mills, would have to be increased another three mills, he said, to pay for the additional $4.7 million in costs. Another 1.5 mills which the state has this year paid toward debt retirement could be reduced by as much as 40 percent, Greene indicated.

He said minimum increased personnel would cost $270,000 a year, requiring another 5 mills in operating revenue, hiking that levy to 29.43 mills or $29.43 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

The total school millage would then become $36.49 per $1,000 as opposed to the present $28.21 per $1,000, he said.

Greene noted that rapid changes in valuation could change the figures significantly.

"This is not a proposal," Greene said. "It's an attempt to fulfill the request made by the Board of Education last month."

Trustee Bob Walters responded, "What you're talking about is not an untoward amount in comparison with surrounding districts. I'd like to proceed and let the public decide." He noted that Clarkston Schools are the only ones in Oakland County which do not offer a physical education program at the elementary level.

Greene said that preliminary work required in the district and at the state level would delay any election until September, 1975. He also said the additions could not be ready for use until September, 1978.

Several board members noted that not every school would need the same kind of facility and that studies would have to be made to see if large rooms now available in some of the schools could be converted to multi-purpose and media use.

Greene had pointed out that previous requests for district improvements had included such items as indoor skating, tennis and swimming facilities, a planetarium, industrial type warehouse, larger and better lighted stadium equipment, expanded food service, locker facilities at Clarkston Junior High and playfield expansion and improvement.

He also noted, and was supported by Board President David Leak, that the trend is to reduced school enrollment. Leak felt some of the needs could be accommodated by using existing facilities.

Greene stated Clarkston could have 20 empty school rooms by 1980 if present trends continue, however, he noted the board had been informed of a new Sashabaw/Maybee area development which could increase enrollment as much as 300 to 400 students.

He added that preliminary work on bond issues can also cost money, that architects generally collect 25 percent of their fee upon completion of preliminary drawings.

Said Leak, "You're talking about risking $40,000."

The vote was unanimous in stating the board's intention to proceed, at least until the venture should be proved unfeasible.

Court preparing to move

Oakland County Board of Commissioners is accepting sealed proposals until March 5 for the relocation of Clarkston's District Court.

The county is requiring 3500 square feet of floor area for a minimum of five years located in either Independence, Springfield, Holly, Groveland or Brandon Townships. Occupancy is to be available June 27, 1975, on lease arrangement.

Those interested in submitting such proposals have been invited to a briefing session at 10 a.m. February 21 at the Public Works Building, 1 Public Works Drive, Pontiac.

Overcrowded conditions in the Independence Township Annex now leased by the court have caused speculation for a year that the court would have to move.

Several attempts made with the approval of District Judge Gerald McNally have been tried to keep the court in Clarkston. The latest proposal is that the court should lease a building on Hawk Tool land which the village is attempting to acquire.

Other proposals have included locations at the north end of town and in the Groveland substation of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at Grange Hall Road and the Dixie Highway.

Village transfers CETA

The Village of Clarkston, which will hire at least four employes for a year under auspices of the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Title 6, also will transfer funds to the Clarkston School District for the employment of two more persons.

Robert Waters, in charge of administering the program for the village, said he had interviewed two local people who did not qualify for village jobs but are in need of employment.

He and Assistant Schools Supt. Milford Mason agreed on an arrangement by which the two unemployed people can work for the school system, with the district paying for their fringe benefits.

However, the $16,000 required for their salaries will be supplied by the village, the council voted Monday night. The agreement now must be approved by the Oakland County Manpower Program Department.

Waters also was authorized to hire two public works employes and a historian-clerk. He said he had selected two qualified Vietnam veterans for the public works jobs, but had not yet chosen someone as historian-clerk.

The person yet to be picked will substitute for the clerk-typist at the village hall as well as work with the Heritage Committee of the Independence-Clarkston Bicentennial Commission. Waters said he expected to have the clerk-typist, also to be hired under the CETA program, on the job in the village hall by Feb. 12.

With these positions filled, there still will be enough money from the $69,000 grant to allow the hiring of one more person.

Waters said he will make a recommendation on what that position should be at the council's next meeting.

DNR wants Parke Lake speed ban

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has determined that there should be no high-speed boating or water skiing on Parke Lake.

No objections to the proposed regulation were expressed by the approximately 16 persons at the DNR hearing at the Independence Hall Tuesday afternoon.

The DNR Spokesman said high speed is considered to be that which will make a boat plane on the water. He noted that high-power boats still would be allowed on the lake if they maintain slow speeds.

The remainder of the action necessary to put the regulation into effect could be completed before this summer, the DNR spokesman said. The proposed regulation must be approved by the Clarkston Village Council and the Independence Township Board, sent to the legislature for approval and then returned to the local municipalities for the drafting or ordinances which can be enforced.

Members of the audience Tuesday asked if the regulation would apply to snowmobiles and were told it would not. If such a restriction is desired, a drive for it will have to start on the local level again, as was the case with the boating regulation.

Serious business can be fun

COUNTRY LIVING

By Pat Braunagel

of The Clarkston News

People who approach work with the attitude that it should be fun are apt to create a fun place in which to work.

That, in essence, is the new look spreading throughout one of Clarkston's oldest buildings--the mini-mall in the making at 31 S. Main.

"We want it to look old, but also fun," said Barbara Wittenberg, co-owner of the building with her husband.

Therefore, it should not be surprising to find that the building contains a podiatrist's treatment room in which huge yellow rabbits parade across wallpaper above a yellow, orange, green and pink floor.

Another room has an equally bold "Noah's Ark" wallpaper in orange, red, and blue.

Between these, there's the office that Dr. Michael E. Wittenberg and his wife share. It's decorated in lime and hot pink.

From here they pursue the development of a mini-mall in a building which began as a livery stable more than a century ago and was a clothing store in its most recent incarnation.

As soon as the Wittenbergs moved here from Southfield in May of 1973, they decided to keep their eyes open for office space in the area. Dr. Wittenberg and his partner, Dr. David W. Gunsberg, practice in Flint, but saw Clarkston as a likely location for a second office.

When they noticed that the building on the southwest corner of Main and Depot was vacant, they began thinking in terms of its potential.

"We liked the building," Barbara said. "We could have rented an office, but we liked this building."

A registered occupational therapist, Barbara also has space in the building for her Associated Therapeutic Services Inc.

The suite of offices created across the rear of the building encompasses what formerly was a small apartment. Its living room and kitchen now are a reception area.

"We wanted to keep it like a living room so we could all hang out here and feel good," Barbara said.

The decor of the area complies with her idea of respecting the age of the building while using color emphatically.

Here, a red couch comes on vividly against dark wood and eggshell textured plaster. Early American striped wallpaper combines well with lace curtains "that look like they would have been here in the '30s."

Except for the couch and an area rug, "most of the things came from our homes," Barbara said.

Included among these were items contributed by Mitchell Dechter, a friend of the Wittenbergs who decided to move to the area and locate his law office at 31 S. Main.

Last fall, David McNiven, a Romeo teacher, spotted the building and thought it was the ideal location for his sporting goods store, Coach's Corner.

Joining the group in the mini-mall last month was Tom Libert, an area barber and hair stylist who wanted to establish his own shop. He brought 15 years of experience to Tom's Place, a styling salon featuring unisex cutting.

Laurie Stern of Birmingham is planning to open a plant store in one of the two remaining areas next month. A "P.H.D." (plant house doctor), Laurie also plans to hold classes in her shop.

Another friend of the Wittenbergs, Edie Hoffman, will shortly be operating a custom cosmetics booth in the mini-mall. In operation by April 1, the booth will allow women to select the correct cosmetics for themselves and have them mixed with a "favorite flavor."

While they've been working on the building, the Wittenbergs have been visited by Clarkston residents who have told them about its history.

But the building itself has also "talked" through some of the items they've found there--mementoes of a pool hall and ice cream parlor among them. Some have been incorporated into the building's new decor. Some remain in the basement.

"Someday, we'd like to renovate the basement," Barbara said. "That would give us another 4,000 square feet for a lot of little shops."

Right now, work is being concentrated on the street floor level.

In the summertime, Clarkston shoppers can expect to see the corner brightened with a flower cart and popcorn wagon -- more indications of a light-hearted approach to a serious business undertaking.

Dr. Michael Wittenberg at ease in one of his treatment rooms. Behind him is an "antique" metal cabinet given to him by a doctor who was retiring when he started practicing. The cabinet was painted bright yellow at Haupt Pontiac's body shop to go with the rest of decor.

Rough-hewn facade of David McNiven's Coach's Corner opens onto the mini-mall.

Getting it all together, Barbara Wittenberg surveys the corridor of Clarkston's mini-mall. Another shop and a brick floor in this area soon will be added to the Main Street building.

Real Estate
HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

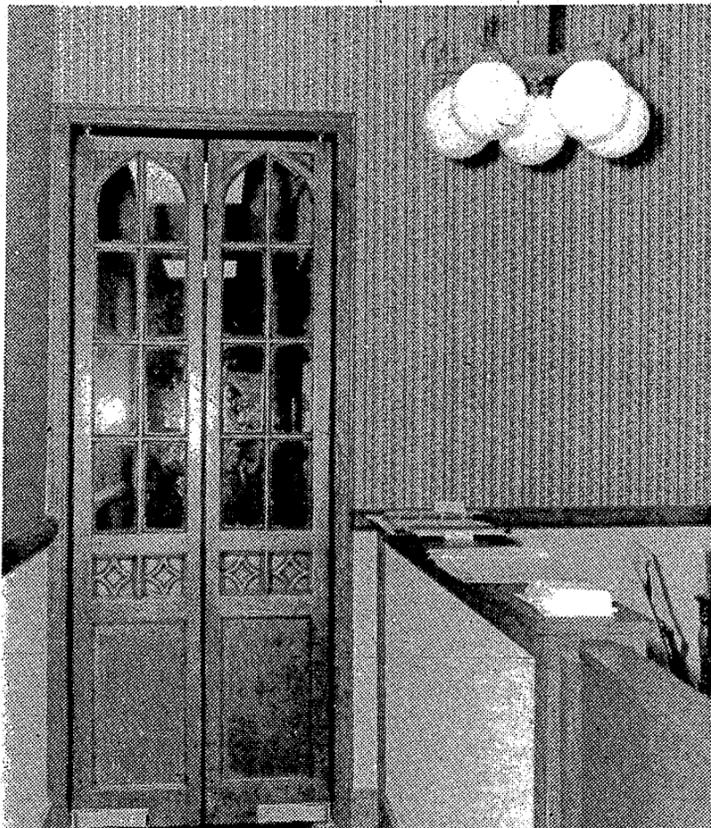

Perfection is an elusive goal. We all seek it, but compromise may be the better part of valour. This pertains to selecting the house of your dreams also. The best approach is to make a sort of balance sheet that weighs the pluses against the minuses. Compare all the advantages with what seem to be deficiencies to you. We all see things with different eyes. In some areas you may refuse to give an inch, and if it is that important to you, keep looking. But you should remember that even homes that are custom built may fall short somewhere. Compromise sometimes makes sense.

And it makes sense to seek the help of the professional salespeople at BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main St., 625-5821 whether you are buying or selling real estate. Your Broker in the Waterford-Clarkston area since 1947, we are members of MLS and cooperate with all real estate firms in the area; therefore, we can expose your property to the widest possible market and have access to the widest selection of property. Hours: 9-9 Mon-Thur; 9-6 Fri, Sat; 1-5 Sun.

Though quaint and unique throughout you will be impressed with every inch of its 2400 square feet of thoughtfully designed comfort. Add individuality to your way of life and see this distinctive home soon.

BY THE THIRD EYE

The daughter of a prominent citizen is going to have a new puppy, her heart's desire for Valentine's Day.

Somebody else's Valentine present isn't going to be so good -- a new cast on a broken leg -- all decorated with hearts. He'll love every minute of it.

One township official will get a Valentine with a big question mark saying "I know what you want."

John DiPietro will hit the lottery jackpot -- maybe when he buys 125 tickets all at once, but not in time for this year's Valentine's Day. He'll have another $25 winner by that time, though.

The editor will get her heart's desire.

Bob Lay of the Bicentennial Commission is thinking about a new car, which, sure enough, they will be getting after some thinking. The Village Sewing Basket business will pickup. Bicentennial dresses in the window will stimulate business.

Lucky Fletcher is starting to mellow. His heart is getting bigger.

Rusty Reekwald will be soon selling a very choice piece of property. It's something she didn't think would happen.

Joan Kapietz will be getting involved deeply in a new project, something to do with the Bicentennial.

A councilwoman will either be going to Florida, or company will be coming from Florida.

Jim Stiles will be getting a fabulous deal on a new shoe line. He's going to make money on it.

The Kimballs are packing, putting something into storage. An opportunity will arise that will cause some changes.

I see something new in Place's kitchen. It's really shining and she's looking at it with great satisfaction. There may be something extra, a surprise, in his pay check envelope.

The only bad news for this Valentine's Day column is damage in connection with the Jaycee signboard downtown. I don't think it will be malicious.

There will be a sudden changeover within the Jaycees. Someone will resign because of a move out of state and someone else will be appointed. That person will hold the position until election time, not seek reelection, and then they, too, will move out of state.

Forgotten lots

Independence Township is going to start proceedings in Oakland County Circuit Court to repossess 195 long-ignored, unused lots in Lakeview Cemetery.

Ownership of the lots can no longer be determined, said Department of Public Works Director George Anderson. The lots, all purchased at least 100 years ago, have been maintained by the township, although endowment fund payments for them have not been completed.

Street revenue down

Clarkston's fourth-quarter return in 1974 on state gas and weight tax rebates was $28,000 less than it was a year ago. The sum of $3,373 has been added to village coffers for street improvement purposes.

Plat approved

Final approval has been given to the plat for a 24-lot subdivision on the northeast corner of Andersonville and Farley roads. The Springfield Township Board last week gave the plat approval for Menzies Highlands Subdivision to be developed on 22.2 acres.

Jazz-rock concert at CHS

A jazz-rock concert will be presented by the Clarkston High School Varsity Chorus, performing with members of the school's wind ensemble, Wednesday night, Feb. 19.

The concert combining voices and instruments is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The program will include improvisations and numbers such as "Morning Has Broken," "Today" and "Answer for Our Time," according to vocal music director Grayce Warren.

Improvisations will feature

Chris Jacks at the piano and Mike Richards on drums.

Tickets for the concert are 50 cents.

Name negotiators

The Independence Township Board has named three of its members to its negotiating team for a new contract with township employees.

Representing the board at the bargaining table will be Clerk J. Edwin Glennie and trustees Jerry Powell and Fred Ritter. Glennie said negotiations are expected to start in about two weeks.

Bloch challenges other realtors

Bloch Bros. Real Estate has offered $100 to any of its 50 employees who purchase a new car prior to April 1, according to Harry Bloch.

"We're challenging all of the other real estate dealers in the area to do the same -- for their employees and their area," Bloch said.

The incentive plan was arrived at during a meeting of the board of directors Monday, Bloch said.

NOTICE

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

FEBRUARY 18, 1975

Notice is hereby given that the following public hearing will be held by the Springfield Township Planning Commission on Tuesday, February 18, 1975, beginning at 8:00 P.M. at the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway Street, Davisburg, Michigan for comments related to the following:

- (1) Creation of a new zoning district to be known as Office-Service and containing the following provisions:

ARTICLE X-A O-S, OFFICE-SERVICE DISTRICT

SECTION 10A.00 INTENT. The O-S, Office-Service District is designed and intended to accommodate office buildings and restricted related retail and service establishments. A major purpose of this District is to provide areas for office buildings and moderate land use activity in a low density community.

SECTION 10A.01 PRINCIPAL USES PERMITTED. The following uses are permitted in an O-S District subject to any limitations described herein:

1. Data processing and computer centers, including sales, service, and maintenance of electronic data processing equipment.
2. Any use charged with the principal function of office-type research or technical training.
3. Office buildings and related uses which perform financial and personal business services including banks, loan companies, insurance and real estate offices, doctors, dentist, technical laboratories, and related facilities.
4. Township Government Buildings, Township Parks, and related facilities, state and federal office uses, but not including outdoor storage.
5. General hospitals, and/or medical clinics including in-patient services, animal hospitals, and animal clinics not including kennels.
6. Commercial and retail uses are permitted as follows:

- a. Retail and commercial uses as permitted and regulated in the C-1 Local Business District provided that such use shall be contained wholly within another use permitted in the O-S District and said commercial use be intended to serve only as accessory thereto.
- b. The following uses shall be included within the office use structure or other principal structures as indicated in Section 10A.01 Principal Uses Permitted, or shall be attached to such structures by means of a fully enclosed structural attachment, and therefore shall not be permitted as freestanding structures. Such secondary structures shall be designed so as to provide a logical extension of the floor plan of the principal structures, and shall utilize exterior materials similar to such principal structures. Recognizing that such use tends to generate large volumes of pedestrian and vehicular traffic, these uses shall only be permitted after special approval of the Township Planning Commission.
 - (a) Restaurants or other places serving food or beverage, except those having the character of an open front store, drive-in, or carry-out establishment so called.

- (b) Entertainment facilities limited to the following: theatres and auditoriums.
- (c) Clubs, fraternal organizations and service clubs whose activities are not carried on as a business.
7. Other uses similar to the above uses.
8. Signs, as provided in Section 14.07.

SECTION 10A.02 ACCESSORY USES PERMITTED.

a. Accessory buildings, structures and uses customarily incidental to any of the above uses when located on the same premises and to include commercial uses as described in Section 10A.01-6.

SECTION 10A.03 AREA AND BULK REQUIREMENTS. Refer to Article XXIII for the "Schedule of Regulations", limiting the height and bulk of buildings, the minimum size lot or parcel permitted by land use, the maximum density permitted and providing the minimum yard setback requirements in the C-1 Local Business District.

SECTION 10A.04 REQUIRED CONDITIONS. All uses permitted in this District, except for accessory off-street parking, shall be located within fully enclosed buildings. Outdoor storage or display shall be prohibited.

SECTION 10A.05 SITE PLAN REVIEW. In an O-S, Office-Service District, no building or land, except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, shall be erected or used except for one or more of the preceding specified purposes, and shall be permitted subject to the review and approval of the site plan by the Township. In their review, the Township shall consider the following factors.

1. The relationship of the proposed development to the Master Plan.
2. That all development features including principal buildings and any accessory buildings, open spaces, service roads, driveways and parking areas are located so as to minimize the possibility of any adverse effects upon adjacent properties and so as to relate properly to traffic safety.
3. The Site Plan shall conform to all provisions of Article XVI of this Ordinance.

(2) Application of the Office-Service District to the following described property:

- a. The South 1867.98 Feet of the West 699.58 Feet of the Southwest 1/4 of Section 17, T4N., R8E, Springfield Township, Oakland County, Michigan containing 30 acres.
- b. Part of the West 1/2 of the Southwest 1/4 of Section 17, T4N, R8E, Springfield Township, Oakland County, Michigan described as beginning at point on the centerline of Andersonville Road Distant of South 1253.10 Feet from the Northeast Corner of the W 1/2 of Southwest 1/4 of Section 17, Thence South 120 Feet continuing along the centerline of Andersonville Road, Thence Due West 636.85 Feet, Thence N 00° 12'E 120 Feet, Thence East 636.43 Feet to the point of beginning, Containing 1.75 Acres and Reserving the East 33 Feet to the rights of the public in Andersonville Road.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the tentative text and any maps of the Zoning Ordinance to be amended may be examined at the Springfield Township Clerk's Office, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan during regular office hours each day Monday through Friday until the date of the Public Hearing.

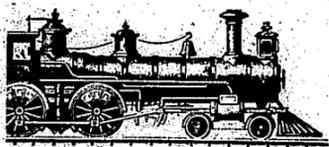

J. Calvin Walters

Change appointments

Two new members have been appointed to the Independence Township Board of Review.

Florence Blimka, 4266 Meyers Road, and George Gray, 6013 Middle Lake Road, were appointed last week to two-year terms on the board. They join Norma Lussier, who was reappointed for two years.

Before naming the new members to the board of review, the township board had to rescind action it took at its Jan. 21 meeting. Members learned that two persons appointed to the Review board last month are not qualified to serve, Robert Wertman because he is not a township property owner and Paul Wilmot because he is moving from the township.

REGULAR MEETING INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP BOARD FEBRUARY 4, 1975

SYNOPSIS

The following items were discussed or acted upon:

1. Cemetery lot repossessions — The Township Attorney was directed to initiate court action to repossess certain cemetery lots which have long outstanding payments due and others which were originally sold without perpetual care and which have not for years been taken care of by the owners.

2. Board of Review Appointments — Two previously appointed persons have since been determined to be unqualified due to residency or ownership requirements under the law. The Board appointed Mr. George Gray and Mrs. Florence Blimka to serve with Mrs. Norma Lussier. All members terms are for two years.

3. CETA II Funds — The Board authorized bringing back four employees who had been laid off due to an economic pinch. These employees will now be paid by CETA II funds.

4. CETA VI Funds — Also authorized was the hiring of four new employees under the CETA VI funds. These will be temporary employees. The purpose of CETA VI is to immediately get some of the unemployed back into some kind of work until they are able to find more permanent jobs. CETA VI is a federally funded emergency unemployment fund.

5. Condemnation — As long as there is continued progress by the owner on the dwelling on lot 129 Woodhull Lake Sub. the Board will not act on the final order for condemnation on said dwelling.

6. Fire Code — The Board has authorized the attorney to do a final draft on an amended Fire Code.

7. Board of Appeals Fees — A new fee schedule has been adopted to be effective April 1. The fees run from $45.00 for a request for a residential variance to $200.00 plus costs for a request for variance for a gravel mining operation. Anyone interested can check with the Building Department for more information.

8. Board of Appeals Meetings — The Board of Appeals has established regular meetings on the 2nd and 4th Wednesday of every month. The Appeals Board members will be paid $25.00 each per meeting. Both effective April 1, 1975.

9. Resignation — Mr. Robert O. Vandermark read his written resignation to the Board, to be effective Friday, February 21, 1975. His resignation was accepted.

10. Tax Penalty — The 4% penalty for late payment of taxes has been waived until March 1, 1975.

11. Fire Truck Repairs — A bid for $11,000 was awarded the Pierce-Mfg. Co. of Appleton, Wisconsin for repairs and modifications to Fire Truck #311.

12. County Data Processing Contract — Township Board ok'd a contract with Oakland County Data Processing Center to prepare tax and assessment rolls.

13. Bids for new chairs — Township Board rejected all bids for 50 new stacking chairs for the Township Hall. Reasoning being that they were not in the budget.

14. A new fee schedule under the provisions of the new Township Zoning Ordinance No. 83 was adopted. Copies available from the Township Planner.

15. Township Board is considering requesting bids for a new tractor with front end loader and back-hoe. Estimated cost $19,000. Would have to be put in next years budget.

16. The Township Board will be entering negotiations soon with the local chapter of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union. Representing the Board will be Ed Glennie, Jerry Powell and Fred Ritter. Meeting adjourned 9:00 p.m.

Next Township Board Meeting will be held Tuesday, February 18, 7:30 p.m.

Putting all the squares together they came up with a uniquely beautiful friendship quilt. The quilt was presented to the Siegles at a surprise party given in their honor.

Attending the party were Jaque and Ted Klingeler, Pat and Mike Crowley, Pam and Bob Lay, Joyce and Bill Lewis, Diane and Duane Austin, Margaret and John Priebe, Pat and Jim McArthur, Lois and Lon Harmon, and the originators of the project, Jan and Charley Webber.

Reports on old church

The Old Methodist Church, being considered for renovation as a community center, has some good points and some bad points, Clarkston Village Council members were told Monday night.

R.H. McClurg of McClurg and Associates Inc. sent the council a four-page structural engineering study detailing the building's strengths and weaknesses as he saw them in January.

"I do feel that the work required here will be quite expensive for a rather small building," he said.

But then he added, "As an engineer, I will refrain from commenting on the value of keeping this building as a 'period piece' and suggest that advice from architects interested in restoration be solicited."

Scripture study

Engrossed in his own review of scripture, four-year-old Mark Fry is among local youngsters who accompany their mothers to Neighborhood Bible Study sessions. This one was held last week at the J. W. Housefield home in Springfield Township. A workshop on the ecumenical study sessions will be held Thursday, Feb. 20 at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, 5300 Maybee Road. Spiritual Message

"Lord, who throughout these forty days
For us didst fast and pray,
Teach us with thee to mourn our sins
And close by thee to stay."

In our contemporary society, with its emphasis on individual rights and personal gratification, the traditional Lenten season which emphasizes self-examination, repentance and personal discipline is regarded as out-moded, unnecessary and foolish. Why! people are supposed to "celebrate" life, get every thing out of it that they can, and never worry themselves with feelings of guilt, conscience or contrition. This current philosophy even has made itself felt in the Church where some are suggesting shortening the season of Lent because "it just doesn't fit into today's life-style"; and others seek to change the forms of public worship because they feel that they are "overly penitential" in nature.

This attitude, contrary to traditional Christian teachings, promotes the belief of man's "essential goodness" rather than his primary perversity and selfishness, which we call "Sin". It is a short-sighted view which conveniently overlooks the effects of human behavior both historically and currently and says, in essence, that people always can be expected to do that which is right.

Lent, on the other hand, turns man around to face God. It pulls us up short and asks us, "Where are you going?" Remember, Jesus' first message to the people of His day was "Repent". All that word meant in the language Jesus spoke was "Turn around!" "You have been running away from God; now turn around and face Him." The Greek word used in the New Testament for "repent" merely means "Change your mind." Whereas we have been the center of our own affections, now God in Christ is to take that place in our desires.

When we "turn around" and face God we will begin to change our minds and when we have begun to change our minds we will change ourselves and the world around us. We never will change the world for the better by focusing our attention on ourselves but God will help us make the needed changes the more we focus our attention on Him.

The season of Lent, then, is not something out of the past with no meaning for the present but when properly understood and intelligently observed brings a much needed refocusing of our lives.

Peppy Linda's a music missionary

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News
You've got to start liking music if you listen to Linda Dewey. Chorus instructor at Clarkston Junior High School for the last four years, she bubbles with the enthusiasm of a job well done.

Her Harmony (Chorus 3) group, numbering 27 seventh, eighth and ninth graders, is making itself a name among community groups, and most recently sang at Pontiac General Hospital's Volunteer Awards Banquet.

They've been invited back, Linda confides—that enthusiasm sparkling again—but right now they're preparing for the Clarkston Schools Credit Union dinner February 19. After that they'll be attending the Pontiac Oakland Symphony and Christopher Ballet at West Bloomfield, and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at Ford Auditorium.

There are other banquets to sing at, as well—like the ones they performed earlier this year for Clarkston Eagles, Clarkston Jaycettes, and the Davisburg Rotary Anns.

Why, the group even provided its own transportation to sing during the Christmas holidays for a nursing home, she confides. A resident at the home for eight years told Harmony it was the best singing group he'd heard in all that time.

The fact that the evening was capped off with a submarine sandwich party at Linda's apartment may have something to do with student enthusiasm, but Linda thought it was pretty special that they gave up their own time to sing two nights before Christmas for others less fortunate.

What she's worried about is that enthusiasm for singing has been falling off at Clarkston Junior High School. While she only took on 40 new seventh graders this year, she'd like to be teaching 100 next year.

For the first time this year, chorus classes were reduced to three. She thinks it has something to do with inaccuracies spread among sixth graders who are about to enter the junior high.

"We do paper work only about every fifth day. The kids should know how to read and write music, and we do study music literature, particularly if we're about to see a performance.

"Last fall we saw 'La Traviata' at the Detroit Music Hall, and maybe we spent too much time learning about it before we got there, but it was a big success. The kids who attended amazed the rest of the school with how much they liked it. Only one boy went to sleep," she says grinning.

The big item as far as Linda is concerned is the kids' attendance at the semester concerts. Whether they sing or not is irrelevant. "It's my job to teach them how to sing, to get them to listen to themselves."

None of her students have had prior musical training, and yet she says she can have them singing two part harmony in one or two months. By the time they make Harmony, they can sing six parts.

She says one of the myths that hurt chorus participation is that boys who sing are sissies, "and yet the boys who sing in Harmony are well-rounded students, active in sports and many other school activities."

Linda, herself, who got her education at the University of Michigan and Oakland University, at one time didn't think she was good enough to be a music major. It wasn't until she'd tried being a secretary for a year that she knew for sure music was her field and teaching her special role. Now she's added to her childhood piano lessons with guitar and voice and she knows where she's at. As a full time substitution at South Redford while still at OU, she showed up for the first day of work in a maxi coat, floppy hat and her guitar over her shoulder. "The principal decided I really ought to work with junior high kids," she grins.

Though she empathizes well with that age group, she believes in the necessity of leading them out of rock and into experiencing new musical adventures.

"There's still rock though," she grins.

The 100 people at Monday night's Clarkston Board of Education meeting got a lesson on school financing they hadn't anticipated. Superintendent Leslie F. Greene went over the auditor's report, detailing finances which were printed in total last fall in The Clarkston News. The audience had to become more aware of how much school financing depends on state aid and the whims of the legislature.

A youngster, removed from the bus for two days, for reportedly "scuffling" on the school vehicle had his day in court Monday night at the Clarkston Board of Education meeting.

His father, Jim Peters of Maiden, contended the child had not had due process, that he had in fact not been using his fists and that he had reacted only when another passenger pulled his hair.

Peters contended no witnesses had been called on his son's behalf, and the youngster was invited to testify before the board. He agreed his hair had been pulled and that he had leaned across two people to return the favor.

The board let the original decision ride, deciding, we presume that school bus riding hadn't changed much since they were kids.

Over one million bushels of Michigan's 1974 apple crop may have to be dumped because of a lack of market, an apple grower's representative said Friday.

Robert Schmertz, president of Leisure Technology Inc., was indicated by a state grand jury in New Jersey last week on bribery charges involving an alleged attempt to secure approval of a $200 million senior citizen housing development.

The development in Manchester Township, N.J. is similar to the one Leisure Technology Inc. is planning for nearly one square mile of Independence Township. The firm's planned retirement community here is proposed for most of section 24, between Eston and Waldon roads on the eastern boundary of the township.

Schmertz, 48, of Lakewood, N.J., was indicated on charges of paying Manchester Mayor Joseph S. Portash $31,730 in bribes. Also indicated Feb. 5 was Donald Safron, a Lakewood insurance consultant who now lives in Florida.

Portash was not indicated, but the state investigation is continuing.

Schmertz, who is part owner of the Boston Celtics in addition to heading Leisure Technology, issued an immediate denial of any wrongdoing in his dealings with Portash.

Conviction on the bribery charge carries a penalty of 15 years in prison and $5,000 in fines.

Bob Waters reported last week that about 30 people had applied for the seven available federally funded CETA jobs which are opening up in the village. Only about a dozen, however, are from the village proper and he's referred the rest down to the township. Top priority is for veterans, he says. He'll continue accepting applications from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily at the village offices until the end of March.

Name The Park Contest, but before any decision is made judges hope to have a lot more names from which to choose. There a $25 savings bond in it for you if you submit the winning name for the park and its road prior to March 1. The contest is open to residents of the Clarkston School District.

Seems like with our Indian and early settler heritage and the fact that the Bicentennial is due next year, there ought to be a wealth of material to draw from.

What price comfort? Right now, it's a little too steep. The Independence Township Board had decided. Director of Public Works George Anderson last week asked for the go-ahead to purchase 50 vinyl or fabric stacking chairs to replace the hard, wooden folding chairs now used on the top floor of the township hall.

Among other things, the chairs are used by the audience at township board meetings, including department heads who make frequent appearances.

"Stacking chairs would take up less space and be much more comfortable," Anderson said. A stack of 50 would cost about $2,500.

The board decided against the expenditure. However, Supervisor Robert Vandermark, who has tendered his resignation and will become just another citizen, commented that "anything we can do to encourage citizen participation is wise."

A total of nine disadvantaged youth meeting poverty income criteria can start applying for jobs next week at Clarkston High school. Assistant Superintendent Milford Mason said there is a possibility another 12 might be hired for the summer.

Mason said the youngsters, either presently connected with the schools, drop-outs or recent graduates, would work an average of 15 hours a week at the hourly rate of $2.10.

The program, he said, is funded by CETA which has inherited the grants and responsibilities of the old Neighborhood Youth Corps program once controlled by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The vote was against it Monday night, but the Clarkston Board of Education may be reconsidering production of a district news letter at its March meeting. Trustee Carolyn Place, one of a three-man committee appointed to look into communication problems, said she would bring the item up again when Trustee Eric Reickel, a member of her committee, was present. Board members Monday night seemed more in favor of individual school newsletters or the use of Clarkston News space.

Clarkston Village Council Trustee Ruth Basinger said Monday night she thought there has been "enough sub rosa conversation" about the possibility of the village's acquiring the Hawk Tool building at 20 W. Washington.

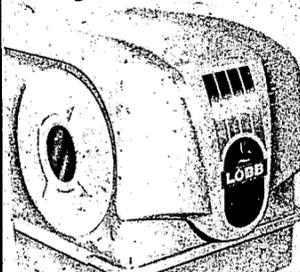

The council should seek the advice of a professional, she said, suggesting that Billie Farnum be asked to attend a meeting as soon as he can to discuss the matter.

Her fellow council members agreed, and Village President Keith Hallman asked Mrs. Basinger to extend an invitation to Farnum.

As Feb. 14 approaches, art periods in elementary classrooms become hearts-'n'-flowers sessions. Young maids and swains, like these surrounding Cheryl Dodd in her second grade classroom at Bailey Lake, indulge in a flurry of cutting and pasting to get their Valentine messages completed.

With a little help from her friend, Guy Davis, Michelle Darling makes a red-and-white placemat in preparation for the Valentine's Day party in Sharon Thomas' third-grade classroom at Bailey Lake Elementary School.

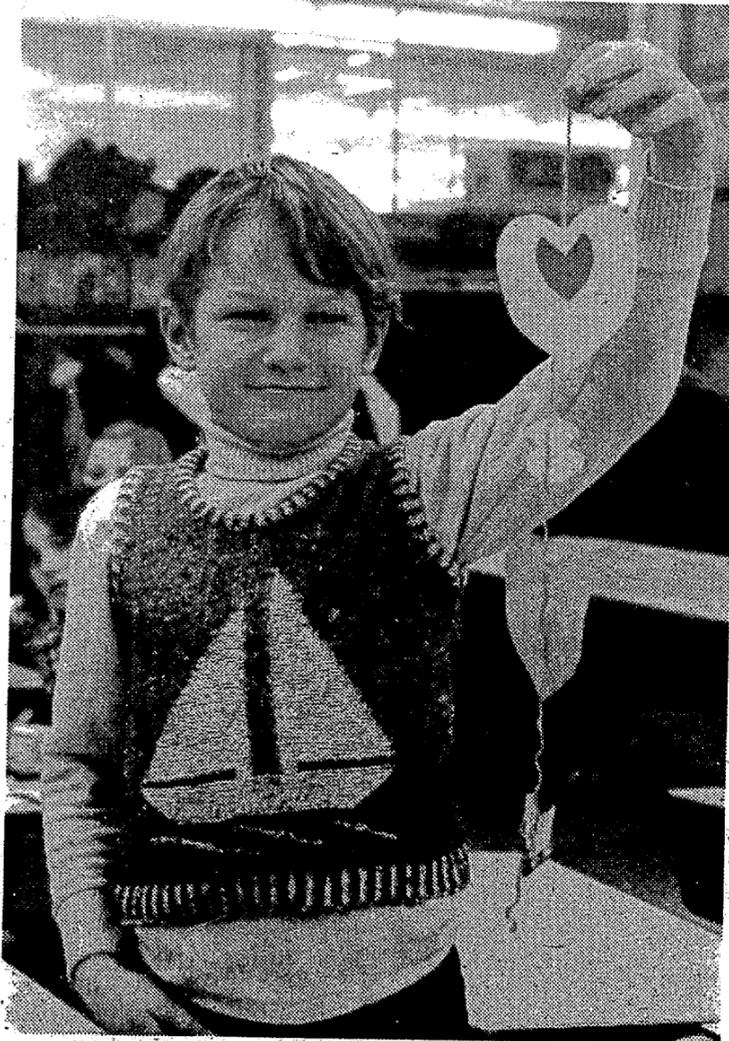

Art for love

Intent upon creating a Valentine, second grader Bridget Kilcline applies paste to get it all together.

No matter how you cut it, the message comes out pretty much the same for Valentine's Day. Just ask Anne Marie Maierle...

... or Johnny Planck, who, were among the second graders making mobiles in Nancy Malkim's classroom at Bailey Lake.
