Deny White Lake rezoning

Independence Township Board has given developer Jack Friedman the commercial rezoning he requested on 1.6 acres on the Dixie, south of White Lake Road, but denied the same request for 5.32 acres on White Lake Road.

In both cases, the vote was unanimous. The board acted in opposition to recommendations of its planner, the planning commission and the Oakland County Coordinating Committee which had approved both rezonings with reservations.

The White Lake Road acreage, south of the intersection of White Lake Road and Dixie Highway, will keep its residential status, and the reaction of the approximately 35 people in the audience was favorable.

Many of them had turned out Friday night to voice opposition to the extension of commercial zoning along White Lake Road, and to object generally to Friedman's plans for a shopping center in the vicinity.

Friedman already had 24 acres zoned commercial. The action of the board Tuesday night gives him nearly 26, which as board members pointed out is still adequate for a K-Mart store if Friedman is successful in attracting one to the area.

The developer told the board that while the previously industrial 1.6 acres off Dixie Highway had been planned for parking were both rezonings to be accomplished, he in no way felt bound to previous plot plans submitted to the township which concerned the whole 33 acres. He said access road plans off the Dixie could change.

Planning Commissioner Barbara Howe was given credit both by Trustee Fred Ritter who moved denial of the White Lake Road piece and Trustee Jerry Powell who seconded the denial. She had voted in the commission's 6-3 approval of rezoning to okay commercial only for the Dixie Road piece.

Ritter said, "Let's see what the future brings before we rezone any property on White Lake Road."

Powell moved and Ritter seconded the approval of the Dixie property.

Powell commented, "With this rezoning there will be better access to the Dixie. We all realize that sooner or later there will be commercial development in that area."

Only Alan Buchmann, president of Timberline Estates Homeowners, signified disapproval with the Dixie rezoning. Tom

Boothby who has a home/business on the corner in front of the property in question said he considered a change from industrial to commercial to be an upgrade in zoning, and "just returning it to what it was zoned originally."

Charles McArthur of Royal Oak has a wooden plate and a horn cup from which to enjoy his noontime snack.

Court rent going up

It will cost Oakland County $2,250 a month plus utilities to maintain its Clarkston District Court in the Independence Township Annex after June 30.

The township board took action to hike the rates from the present $11,000 a year "to hasten the court's move out of the annex," according to Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie.

He said the increased cost would also serve to offset township costs in making the third floor of the township hall available as a jury room at no cost as has been done in the past.

The future location of the district court is in doubt, the county now attempting to straighten out a bid situation involving a new building.

Located since 1969 in the annex, the county originally paid the township only $4,800 a year plus utilities for the first five years of the lease. As of January 1, the cost became $11,000 a year, Glennie said.

The court is now renting on a month-to-month basis with no expectation that it can be out of the annex before August at the earliest. The parking problems caused in the township parking lot plus the need for additional township office space were cited as reasons for encouraging the court to move.

Cleanup days in May

Independence Township will clean up May 10 and 17.

The township board chose those days for the fourth annual township funded clean-up drive. A contract with Mrs. Mary Powell of Powell Disposal Co. was approved, guaranteeing her $512 for trash cover up at the land fill and the sums of $2 per carload, $4.50 per pickup and $16 per dump truck load.

Residents of the township will be permitted to dump free on those days, Trustee Jerry Powell pointing out that the rates to the township have remained constant for the three years the program has been in existence.

He said the township paid Powells $5,213 for the service last year.

The only change is that this year there will be no drop-off points. Indiscriminate dumping of garbage in the past had led to that decision, Powell said. He abstained from the vote.

A new fire truck rescue unit to be attached to a new pickup truck purchased eight months ago will be purchased from Pierce Manufacturing Co. of Appleton, Wis.

Pierce submitted a bid of

Fire dept. adds 3

Fire Chief Frank Ronk has been given the go-ahead to test, interview and hire three new full time firemen.

Independence Township Board voted 4-1, Trustee Fred Ritter in opposition, Tuesday night to let Ronk carry out budget plans discussed at the township annual meeting. The sum of $33,000 is budgeted for the positions.

Ronk said he would attempt to fill the positions from among already trained volunteers, taking into account seniority and classification.

"These men will be more than truck drivers," he said. "They will be expected to do maintenance, housekeeping and probably some fire prevention work."

Ritter said he feared the township is creating a monster, that though the costs are foreseeable this year, the chief had stated he foresaw the need for ten full time men in the future, and that money should be provided for equipment purchases and land expansion.

Ronk contended the hiring of what makes six full time employees is not jeopardizing the department. "All three stations are covered by equipment purchased in the last five years, and we're about to outfit one of the best rescue units in volunteer or paid departments in Oakland County. The stations and equipment are adequate for the next two to three years," he said.

Fire rescue unit bid awarded

$11,980 for the aluminum unit, low by $7,500 of the only other bid received.

Fire Chief Frank Ronk said that while the unit will not be able to transport patients, it will be able to carry more equipment than has previously been transported.

Trained crews from among the volunteer fire department are available to man it, he said.

Country Greens opens in Mini-Mall

A couple of young adults who met while working at a plant store in Birmingham have converted part of Clarkston's Mini-Mall in the old Town Shop into a delightful green and growing business.

Country Greens, 31 South Main, has been opened by Laurie

Stern, 23, and Charles Mahnken, 25, and features many of the more exotic plants as well as the old standbys last cactus.

The store has all the items needed to make plants grow and "lots of free advice as well," says Laurie who became interested in them six years ago.

For a time she had her own business making sand crafted terrariums. Using colored sand, she's fashioned sea and landscapes of the soil in which the plants grow. Some of them are for sale in the store, and she plans later to start classes in the art, and that of growing healthy plants.

Ceramic hand-crafted hanging and table pots are also on sale, and though the store has been open less than a week it has been crowded with customers looking over the ferns, the cacti, the succulens and such items as pony tail palms, prayer plants and string of pearls.

As for the boom in plant stores which has recently struck the area, Laurie theorizes that people are finally tiring of a mechanical world and they want something green to tend and watch respond.

She, herself, became interested in plants on a visit to Holland where she says every window sill has its own bed of plants.

Land use amendments drop density

Ultimate population seen for Independence Township has been dropped from 93,000 to approximately 88,000 due to amendments to its land use plan adopted Thursday night by the Planning Commission.

About a half dozen people present for the hearing heard

Planner Larry Burkhart stress that ultimate population might not be attained for as much as 100 years.

While the land use plan is not to be confused with the zoning plan, Burkhart said it did provide goals that zoning should follow.

The action taken Thursday night was to amend a land use plan adopted 14 months ago, and drop density goals in three areas -- Section 18 which is bounded by Ellis, Holcomb and Allen roads;

the north end of Deer Lake, and Section 24 on the Orion township line which had originally been planned for a retirement village.

A three-acre minimum lot size has become the goal for Section 18, a 33,000 square foot lot size for Section 24, and Deer Lake development encompasses multiple, open space and single family residential.

The land use goals are in line with recent zoning action, Burkhart admitted.

Peter Orhrnberger questioned the township's ability to defend the larger lot sizes in court.

Burkhart said that while some attorneys say the smallest lot size defensible is 33,000 square feet, "I don't think we're doing our job if we don't look at what we might be able to defend."

He continued, "I've heard the comment this community is trying to be Bloomfield Hills. I don't think that's true. We can accommodate horses on three to five acres here. If we planned all lots smaller, we haven't gained a thing."

Mrs. Iva Mae Caverly asked what would happen if the economy fell off again and people couldn't afford to live on the larger lots. She pointed out that Burkhart, himself, is a resident of Sterling Heights.

Burkhart replied that the township wants essentially what the people want, and implied that should such changes in the economy take place, there would likely be changes in land use planning.

Commissioner Ed Manley was told only two or three non-conforming lots were created in recent rezoning of Section 18.

Jaycees horsing around again

Tom Ritter is trying to stay away from both the biting end and the kicking end of "Snitch", one of the two Shetland ponies delivered to his home last Saturday evening.

Tom, Jaycee Regional president, was attending a meeting in Bridgeport Michigan. After he had finished speaking to the 450 members in attendance, the Bridgeport delegation presented Tom with a bale of hay - and the announcement that the two Shetland ponies had been delivered to his home.

Meanwhile, back at the ranchhouse, Tom's wife Pat, had her hands full. She said, "One kept biting the other. We tied one up to the fence and left one in the garage. She kicked the dog in the mouth. They made a mess which smelled quite bad."

Tom has traditionally given monthly awards (equivalent to the pony's posterior) to area presidents. With this in mind, Richie Groll, the U.S. Jaycee Director instigated with the Bridgeport Jaycees this special presentation.

Tom thinks this is the highlight of all gifts. "Presidents have received gifts before, luggage and pen sets, but I'm sure I'm the first president to ever receive live ponies."

He also made this offer - "If anyone in the area wants the ponies, can arrange to pick them up and to give them a good home, the ponies are theirs."

Alternative education given qualified approval, left to individual schools to implement

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

Clarkston Board of Education voted 4-3 Monday night to support the concepts of alternative education with certain controls.

Voting for the motion were Trustees Carolyn Place, Bob Walters, Eric Reickel and Board President David Leak. No votes were cast by Albert Foster, Fernando Sanchez and Charles Smalley.

Members of the Clarkston Community Child Oriented Education Committee (CCCOE) which had proposed that the alternative concept be adopted expressed varied reactions.

"We've gotten it out of committee-eeze," said Donald Keyes, a spokesman for the group. "Now it's broken down to individual schools."

Sandy Andringa, who had spark plugged the movement, said, "It remains to be seen how it winds up being implemented in each elementary school."

More than 100 parents -- divided about evenly between those who opposed and those who favored the concept -- were in the audience when Walters presented the motion which was finally adopted. An amendment offered by Leak failed on voice vote, a recommendation from Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara was not put to a vote, nor was a simplification of Walter's motion as proposed by Mrs. Place. A request for an implementation committee comprised of a cross section of the community was also turned down.

Walters motion read, "Since there are many valid teaching methods for the variety of students' educational needs, we affirm the validity of all responsible methods, from the so-called traditional to the so-called alternative style of teaching.

"Within these styles, and given our present curriculum, we encourage individualization of programs for each student, the opportunity for students to advance to their maximum capability, firm and appropriate discipline, the encouragement and utilization of parent and other adult volunteers, the achievement of basic language, writing, and mathematic skills as first priority, and the understanding that the teacher has to have the basic classroom authority.

"Grateful to our staff and administration, the Curriculum Committee, the concerned citizens for child oriented education, and the parents who responded to the recent survey, I further move that:

1.) teachers be encouraged to use professional days and other opportunities available to explore additional possibilities for effective teaching.

2.) when sufficient teacher interest is shown, the administration assist in the organization of formal programs that will better equip them in their work, be it in the traditional or alternative style.

3.) each elementary staff initiate and implement a program for alternative classrooms consistent with the teacher and parent interest existing in that school as soon as possible.

4.) responsible parent input be welcomed and encouraged in planning and carrying out such classrooms in each school, and

5.) we in no way suggest that one responsible method is better than another, respecting the integrity of each teacher and his/her approach."

Leak's amendment, which failed, had carried the additional restrictions that parents nominate the student candidates for alternative classes, but that the educators choose the candidates; that the rooms be carefully monitored, that the program include career education, and that there be a progress report every six months to the board.

Action followed presentation of a report from Ron Jacobson of the district curriculum committee which had been working on the program for two months.

The committee had recommended, on the basis of surveys taken among parents and teachers, that some method of gaining additional staff response to the program be sought. Though there had been no teacher volunteers for the program, 38 had expressed an interest in learning more about the program.

The committee also recommended that visits to other schools using such a program be encouraged among teachers, and that "only when a sufficient number of staff have committed themselves to entering into a formal program should further training with outside agencies be considered."

The committee reported it felt that neither classroom structure nor selection of students could be investigated effectively until it had been determined that administrators and teachers were jointly supportive of the program.

Several parents present expressed objections to the program. Mrs. Nancy Harding said she thought the program might be fine for the exceptional child, but not for the hyperactive child or one with learning disabilities.

Mrs. Carol Gretch called alternative education the same as open classrooms and spoke of instances wherein children so educated couldn't read, or count and wandered the halls.

"An elementary student is not old enough to make decisions," she said. "We pay tax dollars for education, and I wish the schools had gym facilities. We do have music and art, and I don't see where my children are lacking. They are getting discipline and guidance now in the schools, and there are many children who don't get it in the home."

Some parents who were educators spoke of the difficulty in defining alternative education and the confusion inherent in the questionnaire sent home to parents.

Said Lawrence Beemer, who favored alternative methods, "Education ought to be what parents think it ought to be. I don't want my three children educational deprived. I don't want a teacher dominated classroom, but you who think differently, please don't deny what I want."

Said one mother, Mary Jane Chaustowich, said rather than polarizing the community over alternative education the goal should be better teaching--"Not open or closed classrooms or whether parents or teachers are ready to choose who will take part. I want my child to have a mixed experience in the class-

George White, a teacher at the high school and a member of the curriculum committee, said he was worried about how far parent involvement goes, and would it interfere with his role in the classroom or with his contract with the district.

Board members seemed agreed that the new program could not be forced down the throats of people who did not fully understand it, however Walters, while admitting the problems of implementation were hard, said he'd like to see the program begin in some schools as soon as possible and happy to have some in operation by fall.

Smalley told some of the audience they wanted change only for the sake of change.

Vaara proposed that the district continue to operate on the same basis that it has, but that each building use all available information to work within the proposal to develop its own alternative plan for the fall of 1975.

Court location still up in the air

Committee can't decide

Oakland County Board of Commissioners finance committee gave up Monday afternoon on what to do about bids for a new Clarkston District Court. The vote failed 5 to 5 to accept the apparent low bid of Dale E. Millward and again 5-5 to reject all bids. The matter has been referred to the full board for decision Thursday.

An Oakland County Board of Commissioners finance committee meeting sometime this week was to add another brick to the hodgepodge concerning where Clarkston's new District Court should be erected.

The full board, in a make-up session last Wednesday, referred the most recent recommendation of its planning and building committee to finance for funding. It will act on the finance committee recommendation April 17 in full board session.

A previous vote by the planning and building committee to reject all bids submitted for the facility had been reversed, with the committee voting to award the bid to the "apparent low bidder," Dale E. Millward who proposes to make the court part of a shopping center he is building at M-15 and Cranberry Lake Road.

Millward's bid was for 4,100 square feet at a cost of $6.59 per square foot or an annual cost to the county of $27,000.

Meantime, Warren Newsted of 5873 Dixie Highway, Waterford, was hired legal counsel to contest the committee's acceptance of Millward's bid as the lowest.

His bid was for a 5,000 square foot facility to be erected on Sashabaw Road south of Maybee Road. Square footage costs would be $6 -- the total annual tab $30,000.

He contends all commercial buildings are rented on a price per square foot basis and that since none of the bidders, including himself, based their figures on the 4,200 square feet specified by the county, the bids should all be rejected.

"The price per square foot should be considered as the court may need additional space as this area continues its growth," his attorney Robert E. Kostin noted in a letter to the county board.

Clarkston District Court has been given until June 30 to seek new quarters other than those it rents from Independence Township in the annex behind the township hall.

Kostin has also asked if all bidders have guaranteed a date with a penalty clause and whether or not each of the bidders has guaranteed financing. Other questions involved availability of utilities, room for expansion and proper zoning.

"As all of these questions should be answered by all legal bidders, selection cannot be made unless all bidders are present to provide the answers. A public meeting to make the final decision should therefore include all bidders. Unless these questions can be answered, all bids should be stricken from (the project), and the project should be rebid with these specifications required in the new bids," Kostin wrote.

Should his contention prevail, Clarkston's Economic Development Corporation (EDC) would have a chance to submit another bid. Its first bid, to place the court on Depot Road behind the Town Shop, was rejected for legal reasons, because the EDC did not become a legal entity until two days after the bid deadline.

EDC is composed of Clarkston citizens -- a non-profit group which would sell bonds to finance the project -- and keep the court within village limits. Ownership of the building would revert to the village once the bonds were paid, in about 10 years, its officials say.

Granlund named mayor pro tem

A new mayor pro tem was appointed by the Clarkston Village Council Monday night. Trustee Neil Granlund was chosen on the recommendation of President Keith Hallman.

Hallman noted that the former mayor pro tem, Trustee Ruth Basinger, has done an excellent job, but indicated that the position should be passed around to give everyone on the council some experience.

Several reappointments were also made at Monday's meeting. The council reappointed Jack Byers and Bob Schwartz to the Clarkston Planning Commission for three-year terms. Clarkston Board of Appeals members Bud Yoh and Bull Rausch were reappointed for three-year terms.

For the village council committees, Trustee Mike Thayer was reappointed as the street administrator, and Trustee James Weber was reappointed to serve on the streets committee.

The council reappointed Trustees Ruth Basinger and James Schultz to the legislative and planning committee. Trustees Neil Granlund and Kathy McCall will continue to serve on the sewers committee.

Center donations total $162

Another $127 has been added to the coffers of independence center, in addition to the $35 donated last week. The center is desperately in need of funds in order to remain open. A total of $4,210 would do the job. Checks are tax deductible.

Food store entered

Pizza, beer, wine and cigarettes were stolen in an April 13 break-in of Stop-In Foods, 10759 Dixie Highway. Dianne Dunckel of Flint told officers the rear window of the Snip and Klip Salon next door had been broken and entry gained to the market by cutting a hole in wall paneling and kicking in a door.

Water main break

A water main break at Mary Sue and Columbia left 20 homes without water from 9:30 a.m. Saturday to 2:30 a.m. Sunday. Department of Public Works Director Andy Anderson said the main ran over a sewer trench, that it had apparently settled and broken. A large hole left in the street was being filled Monday.

PSB special on new car loans up to April 30

If you'd like to buy a new car soon, come to Pontiac State Bank right away. We're still offering a 48-month loan to reduce your monthly payments.

The difference could be as much as $24 a month. It depends upon how much you need. So, to give you a clear picture, we printed the chart below. It shows a practical way to put yourself in a brand-new car and still keep control of your budget.

Our rates are good news, too. PSB has always charged less on loans but, now, the difference is even greater. Others have raised their rates this month -- up to 12.8% annual interest. Our rates haven't changed. Our highest rate on any 1975 model is only 11.0%. On some of our loans, you can do even better.

But now is the time to see us. PSB introduced the 48-month loan last January and there are only a few days left for the special offer. It ends April 30, and you know that date will soon be here. Come to any PSB office and arrange your loan right away.

Voters asked to renew 5 mills

Clarkston School District voters will be asked to approve a renewal of 5 operating mills for ten years at the June 9 election.

The board voted Monday night to seek renewal for the millage, which expires at the end of this year at the same time voters cast ballots for the trustee positions now occupied by Fernando Sanchez and Eric Reickel, whose terms are expiring.

A renewal of the millage will not change the total tax structure of the district, according to Supt. L.F. Greene.

The district would like to spend $8.4 million in the next school year, according to its allocation budget which will be presented to the County Allocation Board later this month.

The allocation board has the job of divvying up the 15-mill non-voted tax between the school, the county and the township.

Greene said that while the allocation budget is not a firm budget, it is the best estimate the district can make, not knowing yet what the property tax yield will be or what the rate as determined by the allocation board will be.

"Obviously we won't get that much," he said. The budget for the current year is $7.5 million, he reported.

Greene differed with Township Assessor Rick Huffman who wrote in a newsletter published by the township that the only way to reduce the tax rate would be for schools, the county and the township to cut back.

"School funds are paid partly by the state and partly by the local tax levy," Greene said. "We can have tax increases and raise more money locally, but wind up with less in the budget because the state reduces the amount it contributes to the education of each student."

He added local cutbacks do not mean that the state will pay more.

Art for camp

Representative pieces of art and sculpture which will be auctioned Sunday at Rademacher Chevrolet are held by Lucille Parker and Dick Mullane, who are chairing the event in order to send disadvantaged youth to camp. A champagne preview is at 1 p.m. with the auction to begin at 2 p.m. Tickets are $1, available at the door, and all proceeds goes to Clarkston Area Youth Assistance camp fund.

LSD found on youth arrested at high school

The arrest Thursday of a 17-year-old student at Clarkston High School allegedly in possession of a large quantity of pills believed to contain LSD has focused the limelight back on the drug scene here.

Principal William Dennis said he believed drug usage had been tapering off until six months ago when incidents of usage appeared to increase.

Oakland County Sheriff's Department said investigation is being made into the most recent case.

The apprehension of the student on a tip led to a public plea to the students to deposit into the library drop box the 200 pills reportedly already distributed by the youth. Several pills were accumulated in this manner, school officials said.

Another large quantity of pills was found on the youth by Principal William Dennis.

Not only is drug usage increasing, but so is alcoholic consumption, the principal reported.

"Of 450 seniors in the building, probably 400 are old enough to be served beer at lunch when they eat off the premises. We don't find out about it until they're back in school and see the affects later," he said.

There has been one expulsion for alcoholic use and another for drug use so far this school year, Dennis reported.

We don't need malls yet

Living in the Woodward Avenue corridor as we do, we tend to forget there are towns and cities where central business districts thrive and the large shopping mall is unknown.

Port Huron and some of the smaller towns leading toward it are admirable examples of what can happen when shopping center developers leave an area alone, or when local officials resist the inroads of the big complexes.

Stores serviced by service drives off major roads look most inviting after having battled crowds at the big malls. Angle parking in front is often sufficient, and the customer is assured of fast, personalized service.

Clarkston is not so big that it must succumb to the malls and the blight of existing central business districts which seems to follow. That day may come, but we don't have to encourage it.

Cats beat politicians

by Jim Fitzgerald

President Ford and Governor Milliken, 2 of Michigan's most famous products, have raised the phony art of baby kissing to a height lofty enough to give vertigo to an eagle.

I mean they make me sick. Sometimes I think I like cats better than most politicians.

The curious just a position results from something I recently read in the newspaper plus something I saw on TV the same day.

I read about a new use for cats. Constant readers (Mother and Aunt Madeline) will recall I have always regarded cats as essentially useless creatures. Previously I thought they were good only for testing myths -- do cats really have 9 lives and do they always land on their feet no matter how far you drop them? But now the manufacturer of a noisemaker has revealed another worthwhile use for cats.

James Grice, the president of a St. Louis novelty company, is angry because a Michigan city has banned the sale of Snap-N-Pops. These are goober-sized missiles that go BANG when you throw them against a wall or squeeze them between your fingers.

Troy city officials claimed the noisemakers are dangerous explosives. Grice said nonsense, they won't hurt a fly -- or a cat. The issue is currently before the courts and Grice may call a cat to testify.

The Snap-N-Pops were laboratory tested by a cat. Grice said 20 of the devices were set off simultaneously inside the mouth of a cat without doing any physical harm.

So there is one more way for cats to earn their keep and keep out of burlap sacks. And I am glad for them.

Now what the world needs is a worthwhile use for those politicians whose reach has no limit when they are grabbing for votes. Perhaps their self-serving gyrations could be harnessed so as to produce a source of energy, something like a windmill.

What I saw on TV was President Ford alighting from an airplane he had just boarded. In his arms was a Vietnamese orphan. A few minutes later, on another channel, Gov. Milliken was performing the same chore -- different plane, different orphan, but same war and same grandstand play for the voters.

Ford and Milliken were not adopting these unfortunates. The orphans could have been carried off the planes by any Tom, Dick or Harry employed by the airlines. In fact, Vietnamese orphans have been flown to this country hundreds of times in recent years and Tom, Dick or Harry always carried them off the planes. But things are different now.

The anguished flight of refugees from collapsing South Vietnam has suddenly made war orphans big news. They are on every front page and every TV news show. This is the type of public exposure that makes many politicians drool.

Suddenly men like Ford and Milliken are great humanitarians, waiting at the airport to hug the poor little orphans. And don't get between them and the TV cameras or you might be trampled by 16 Secret Servicemen.

The plight of the war orphans has been desperate for years. Where were the bleeding politicians then? The orphan problem will be just as severe next month, and next year. But Tom, Dick or Harry will be back unloading the kids who will be adopted by marvelous people you never heard of. The politicians will be off somewhere else, preening for votes wherever the spotlight shines brightest.

Comparatively speaking, cats are fine. You could explode 20 nuclear bombs inside the mouths of 500 politicians without damaging one conscience.

Whether weather

by Jean Saile

So your husband comes home scowling, and the kids are in trouble again, and your best friend snubs you and the woman across the street says you're a poor housekeeper -- blame it on the weather.

Winter has gone on too long this year, and while I have no psychological proof for the foregoing claim, I do believe that events are triggered by the weather.

In a newspaper office, it's possible to sit through Thursday and Friday with no news happening anywhere. Then on Monday, the sun comes up same as usual and news breaks in every direction possible.

It can be the same kind of Monday, or Thursday or Friday as in the weeks preceding, but suddenly everybody's an extrovert.

Maybe it's barometric pressure -- maybe it's the moon phase. I can suppose -- but not really believe -- that it's something entirely unrelated to the weather.

There are natural periods of increased activity -- like the first nice days of spring -- the period approaching a holiday -- the first day schools let out, but these aren't the kind of days I'm talking about.

My reference is to the days when the phone rings off the hook and people are lined up four deep to talk and news events are happening all around -- and there is absolutely no common thread that can be used to tie any of them together.

There are also those days when you'd really prefer not getting out of bed at all, because you know that whatever you do, it's going to be wrong. But that's personal -- that's from too late a night the night before -- a carryover from the preceding bad day -- or an appointment you'd really rather not keep.

There's no way at all to chart the "activity" days. They just happen, and without them, a newspaper would be a less exciting place to work.

Reports of script money in use during the Depression prompted Herman Jaenichen of Springfield Township to bring us this 1933 issue put out by the City of Detroit. The script is further enhanced by the autographs of aviatrix Amelia Earhart and Oliva Dionne, father of famous quintuplets.

Letters to the editor

Opposes Pine Knob rezoning

To the editor:

With reference to the notice in the Clarkston News (April 3, 1975) of a Public Hearing to be held by the Planning Commission of Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan on April 24, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall concerning:

Rezoning of 85.5 acres on Pine Knob Road (N of Clarkston Road) from R-1R to R-1B and with reference to my visit to the Township Hall on Monday, April 7, 1975 in order to familiarize myself with the detailed map showing the proposed change in zoning.

I wish to go on record, urgently requesting that the rezoning of above property be denied.

REASONS:

1. The recently approved and accepted land use plan for Independence Township does provide R-1R Zoning for this area and from the adjoining land-owners point of view there is absolutely no justification for a change at this time.

2. If this request for rezoning of a property as large as 85.5 acres from R-1R to R-1B is approved, more requests from other profit seeking developers are going to follow.

3. The people of Independence Township, residing in this area, do not feel protected by the R-1R zoning anymore, if it should be that easy for an outsider who does not live on the property in question, to have it rezoned to his liking.

As I understand, much time and thought and effort has been spent to establish a land use plan for Independence Township with respective zoning restrictions for the benefit of the majority of the people. I therefore urgently apply to the Independence Township Planning Commission to enforce the existing laws and zoning restrictions.

Since, however, as Mr. Burkhardt pointed out to me, the law does provide the right for each citizen to appeal the existing laws and regulations including zoning restrictions, the law must also protect those citizens that wish to keep the existing laws in operation.

Sincerely,
I.M. Girschner
Pine Knob Road

Kudos for bus drivers

Dear Clarkston Bus Drivers:

I want to publicly thank all of you who donated your time and effort last week in the benefit volleyball games at Sashabaw Junior High. Although you were not victorious in competition, you certainly were in cooperation.

The $219.00 raised by your enthusiasm created the largest crowd ever in attendance at an event held at Sashabaw. As you requested, the money is earmarked for our girls athletic program and will be spent to meet their needs.

You have done much to increase the present sense of cooperation between students and employees of our schools. This is just one more example of your dedication to the young people of Clarkston. Again, thank you very much.

Sincerely yours,
John Kirchgessner
Assistant principal
Sashabaw Junior High School

Woodworking class excels!

Dear Editor and Parents:

This is an open letter to all parents of children who were in Mr. Moscovic's wood shop class at Clarkston High School. How proud each of you must be of your child and his project. I know we were and are.

When we arrived at the high school to view our child's project, my hubby and I just walked around the room in awe at such fabulous projects these youngsters had produced. It was indeed a credit to Mr. Moscovic's teaching ability plus much perseverance on the students' part. So many hours of concentrated work went into each project it was as if we were walking through the aisles of a good quality furniture store. How I wish as a homemaker I could have had or purchased an item from each category.

If this is the quality of furniture our younger generation will be producing in their future years then the craftsmanship of furniture to come is an item worth waiting for! What a pity more parents during open house could not view what this younger generation is able to accomplish once they set their minds to a goal.

Would the students be interested in a club after school to build items to sell to residents of Independence Township thus, raising money for either the high school or new tools for wood shop? I'm sure most people cannot really afford to purchase such items of durability and workmanship from furniture stores as they possibly would be able to purchase them cheaper from a fair such as that.

I, as a parent, am continually amazed as to what these youngsters' today can do if motivated by the right teacher. Clarkston is fortunate indeed to have Mr. Moscovic teaching in our school district for the past 3 years and hopefully many years to come. Congratulations to Mr. Moscovic on such genuine interest in the students and to each student whose project we were able to view for a superb job. Each item in my opinion deserves a blue ribbon for they all excelled in every aspect. You as students, teacher, and parents have a reason to be proud. CONGRATULATIONS TO ALL!

Substitutes concerned

We, substitute teachers of the Brandon Schools would like to bring something very important to your attention. The Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act, Act #104 of the Public Acts of 1974, which extends Unemployment Compensation to substitute teachers, will be harmful to substitute teachers, school districts, and to the students. Because of this act many school districts are limiting the time a substitute can teach to less than fourteen weeks within a year to avoid the extra burden of paying Unemployment Compensation.

We feel that substitute teachers should not be covered by Act #104. We ask you to please write to your Michigan State Senator or to your Representative to request an immediate amendment to this act to exclude substitute teachers.

Sincerely,
The Brandon Substitute Teachers
(Signed by 21 Teachers)

'Low bid' disputed

To the Taxpayers of Oakland County:

Since none of the bids for the rental space for the 52 Court met the County's specifications for 4200 square feet, it would seem that when the selection of one of the bids occurred the bidders should have been present to answer further questions regarding their bids - including whether they could supply the exact square footage requested at the same price.

Instead the lowest apparent bid was selected. While this bid seemed the lowest to the commissioners, its merits would not be apparent to anyone familiar with commercial rentals, which are based on square footage price. If $6.59 a square foot is lower than $6.00 a square foot, then the commissioners must be using a different kind of arithmetic.

As one bidder I certainly would like to have been at the meeting at which this selection was made for a lesson in this math. Maybe this is why our taxes are so high. If my business was run like this, it would not remain solvent long.

Perhaps this math is more related to the party politics which caused the Building Committee during its April 7th meeting and the Finance Committee during its April 14th meeting to vote as the leader of their party voted, rather than determining right from wrong in their own minds.

This kind of voting without questioning can certainly cost taxpayers money. If a court house can be leased for $6.00 a square foot instead of $6.59, but party politics selects the $6.59 price, the taxpayers pay the difference.

Phooey on Jim Fitzgerald

So you don't like Mickey Mouse or Disneyworld. Well, spare us your feeling of self pity because you went. Not all people feel the same way you do.

We just returned from Disney World and had a lovely time. We found it charming and very well planned. They do have a great ability for handling large crowds. And they must remind you where to step left or right whatever the case may be. I'm sure someone like yourself would love to make the wrong turn and cause confusion just so you could tell about it.

As far as your comment about a big gift shop and hot dog stand, we enjoyed ourselves the entire day and evening without getting gypped by them.

I think it's wonderful that Walt Disney and his staff have the ability to bring so much entertainment and happiness to the world.

The very fact that the 12,000 car parking lot was filled proves that some people find it a refreshing change from all the violence and sex that has permeated our society.

I suppose you would even have a derogatory comment about the Hall of Presidents.

Could it be you have become cynical with life.

By the way we happened to be there on the days the parking lot was filled to capacity and had to be closed at 12:00 noon.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Robert Futrell

Rezoning decision faulty

Dear Sir:

I wish to voice my objection to the unpopular rezoning decision made by the Independence Township Board concerning the Nickelodeon property on M-15. Counter to the wishes of the homeowners of the community and the recommendations of the Planning Commission and the Master Planner that parcel of land is now zoned commercial. The new zoning allows unlimited change in the size and type of commercial operation in a residential area; it encourages further zone changes along M-15.

The businessmen of this area including the Township Board, itself four business persons and a supervisor, showed an uncanny singlemindedness in their support of a fellow businessman's interest. I question this type of interest group politics.

Several supporters of this rezoning present at the April 1 Board meeting said that a highly built-up and commercialized Clarkston was inevitable. They offered this as a reason for the zoning change. Isn't the purpose of our government self-determination? Aren't we in a position to determine the growth of Clarkston for ourselves?

Independence Township would be better served by a larger and more varied Board of Trustees that included concerned homeowners. Perhaps the next local election will alter the profile of the Independence Township Board and any further deviations from the Master Plan will be determined by a more representative group.

Sincerely,
Vera Palladino

Cpl. Potts named to command post here

Sheriff's Department Cpl. Robert Potts, a resident of the Clarkston area, has been assigned as command officer in charge of 12 deputies working out of Independence Township and the Groveland Sub-station.

Potts has been with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department 13 years in July, having been promoted to corporal in 1970. He has been assigned to road patrol since serving for four years at the booking desk in the old County Jail.

Besides providing supervision to officers patrolling Independence, Springfield, Holly, Groveland and Brandon Townships, he is available for attendance at local meetings and to answer questions from the residents. His job, he says, is to provide liaison between the community and the Sheriff's Department.

While intending to spend much of his time on the road, he has office space at the Independence Police Services building and will also operate out of the Groveland Sub-station where he says negotiations are now underway to turn the building over on a lease basis to the Groveland Fire Department. Space will be reserved, he says, for sheriff's needs, including a radio and squad rooms.

As one of the first county officers to attend crime prevention school at Macomb County College, Potts is interested in furthering programs to cut down on crime. He has high praise for Operation Identification, handled by Independence Police Services, which allows homeowners to engrave their social security numbers on appliances that might be stolen.

Also a proponent for the deadbolt lock, he fears a valuable security tool will be removed should lobbying prevail to remove the lock from legal use.

"The lock is a security lock. People shouldn't use it at night or when they are in the house. That's when they should use their regular locks," he says.

"Deadbolt locks prevent a thief who has broken in by a window any means other than that of entry of getting his loot out," Potts says.

A deadbolt lock makes it impossible to open a door from inside or outside without use of a key.

Potts is not employed on contract with the North Oakland community, such as the five deputies which serve Independence Township or the two which serve Springfield. His costs are borne by the Sheriff's Department.

Neighbors protest shopping center

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

A large shopping center, whether it contains a K-Mart or not, is not welcome in the White Lake Road and Dixie Highway area, according to 40 people who attended a hearing Friday night at the township hall.

They said they feared traffic congestion on local roads and what such a center would do to already existing stores in the area.

The meeting had been called by Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie to give neighbors a chance to air their views regarding rezoning of two small parcels adjacent to a presently zoned commercial site of 24 acres back from the intersection and north of the present condominium development.

Jack Friedman, developer, who has requested the rezoning, said he had no firm commitment from K-Mart that it would build there, whether or not the rezoning is obtained.

"They'll talk again after the rezoning is accomplished, but they've been burned in Independence Township already and they're leery," Friedman told the audience.

K-Mart was originally planned on the site of the previous Waterford Hill Golf Course, but a voter referendum and later a court administrated consent judgment resulted in its being removed from that area.

Friedman said the 1.6 acres off

Farm Bureau sponsors essay contest

"What America Means to Me" is the topic of the eighth annual America and Me Essay Contest sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group. The contest, open to all Michigan eighth grade level students, ends April 30.

The purpose of the essay contest is to stimulate parent-student-teacher interest in the American way of life.

Honor certificates will be awarded to the top three essayists of each school; and an engraved plaque with the top essayist's name will be presented to each participating school.

Any one of the 450 Farm Bureau Insurance Group agents throughout the State can be contacted for further information.

the Dixie Highway, now the site of R&D Welding and zoned industrial is needed for additional parking and that he already has the permission of the zoning board of appeals to use it for that purpose.

Another 5.32 acres off White Lake Road southwest of Boothby's is zoned residential and Friedman has asked that it, too, be zoned commercial -- in order, he reported, to comply with township planning requests for better access onto White Lake Road.

He showed plot layouts depicting the K-Mart off Dixie with a row of related stores running perpendicular to White Lake Road, some of which are on the 5.32 acres.

The total parcel, Friedman said, would provide 250,000 square feet of retail space, half the additional needs of the township seen for 1985. K-Mart alone would provide only 90,000 square feet, he said.

The original parcel was rezoned for commercial in 1972 in conjunction with the establishment of Northcrest apartments south of the intersection.

White Lake Road as seen in the county's master road right-of-way plan would be a 204 foot road sometime in the future, continuing westerward from Maybee Road after a jog along the Dixie.

Most of the people who spoke, many of them neighbors along White Lake Road, said they had moved to the township to get away from shopping center development. They contended that other area stores were close enough to fill the needs of residents, and that existing stores, particularly in the village, would be hurt by the development.

Wayne Viergever pointed out the dangers of extra traffic along White Lake Road in front of Deer Lake beach.

"If anything goes up there (on the corner), it will behoove the planning commission to tell us how we'll protect our children," he said.

Several people spoke about cement truck traffic along White Lake Road now and the hazards incurred. Others pointed out increased traffic along Holcomb and Parview which such a center would generate.

While Glennie noted that the highway department does not take action on proposals, but waits for the actual problem to present itself before doing anything Friedman said he would be required to fund a left hand turn and another acceleration lane on the Dixie and that the state would then put in intersection improvements.

Many of the people present felt rezoning of the two additional parcels should be withheld in the hope that K-Mart would not then consider the site feasible for building. They contended the need for a store of that size has not been shown here.

Both Glennie and Friedman said economics would dictate the development occurring, and several times Glennie told the audience that the township has no business zoning to keep any given store away from the area. "We can't say no to rezoning on the basis of who's asking," he said.

Other questions brought up by homeowners included drainage into Greens Lake. They were told the Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Act would have some control in that area.

Said Tom Boothby, "The planning commission has succeeded in reducing commercial zoning on the Dixie only to turn it into the side streets."

An improved airship [1889]

AN IMPROVED AIRSHIP

A light and strong machine for navigating the air, designed to be readily controlled by the aeronaut to give the best results in flight with the least expenditure of power has been patented by Mr. John P. Holmes, of Oak Valley, Kansas, U.S.A. The horizontal frame of the machine is suspended by hanger bars or rods from an aeroplane, which is a rod frame covered on one face by a silken fabric. Towards its rear there is attached to the side bars of the horizontal frame a canvas forming a rest or support on which the aeronaut will lie, face downwards, on his breast and stomach, so that his hands may conveniently reach two transverse cranked shafts, by working one of which can alter the incline or pitch of the aeroplane, while with the other he can rotate a propeller wheel journalled [i.e. on bearings] at the front of the machine. At the rear is a rudder sail, on the sides of which lie sacks to receive the legs of the aeronaut, and allow him to guide the machine by his legs in flight. The aeroplane is arranged to be rocked up and down, and locked at any desired adjustment, for utilizing wind currents and the propelling force of the wind to the best advantage. This may just be the answer we are all looking for to solve the ever-present parking problem in beautiful downtown Clarkston. We could have roof-top parking facilities and hoist ourselves down to street level with "tarzan type" hook-ups. We would probably keep Tink Ronk busy anyway. Can't you just see Jean Salle passing Keith Hallman in the air beating him to a parking space?

Cheese canapes

No. 1, 2 & 3

FOR SPECIAL COCKTAIL PARTIES!

ONE-HANDED NIBBLE #1: GOUGERE PUFFS

Crisp and light, these cream puffs have Swiss cheese in the dough. Mix ahead; bake when needed.

- 1/2 cup hot water
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 3/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- Dash cayenne pepper
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup shredded natural Swiss cheese (2 ounces)

In small saucepan, combine water, butter or margarine, salt, and sugar. Beat till butter melts and mixture boils. Vigorously stir in flour, dry mustard, and cayenne all at once. Stir over medium heat till mixture leaves sides of pan. Remove from heat; by hand, stir in eggs, one at a time, till blended. Stir in cheese; drop from teaspoon onto greased baking sheet. Bake in 450° oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 375° and bake 15 minutes, till puffed and golden. Turn off oven and let puffs remain inside 3 minutes more. Serve hot. Makes 20 appetizers.

ONE HANDED NIBBLE #2:

SALMON CHEESE CANAPES

Make a two-layered cheese roll—salmon outside, blue cheese inside. Chill, slice, and serve on little bread slices.

Beat together one 3-ounce package softened cream cheese, 1 ounce crumbled blue cheese (1/4 cup), 1 teaspoon grated onion, and a few drops bottled hot pepper sauce. Shape into roll 10 inches long. Drain, bone, and flake one 8-ounce can salmon; beat together with one 8-ounce package softened cream cheese, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish. Beat smooth. Pat salmon mixture evenly around outside of the blue cheese roll.

Cover entire roll with 1 cup snipped parsley. Wrap in foil or clear plastic wrap and chill overnight. Cut into 1/4-inch slices; serve each atop a slice of dark party rye bread. Garnish with caviar, if desired. Makes 40 canapes.

ONE HANDED NIBBLE #3: GREEK CHEESE BITES

These super crisp, flaky packages of phyllo pastry have a cheese filling.

Thaw half of a 16-ounce package frozen phyllo dough. Beat together 2 cups shredded extra-sharp cheddar cheese, one 8-ounce package softened cream cheese, 2 eggs, and 1/2 teaspoon instant minced onion. Stack 2 sheets phyllo dough; brush top with 1 tablespoon melted butter. Cut dough lengthwise into 6 strips about 2 1/2 inches wide. Cut strips in half to make twelve 2 1/2-inch strips. For each appetizer: place 2 teaspoons cheese filling in corner of one strip; pick up adjacent corner and fold over filling, forming a triangle; continue folding in a triangle to end of strip. Repeat with remaining phyllo, more butter, and the filling to make 12 triangles from each 2 sheets dough. Cover; chill till needed. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in 400° oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 60.

EDISON'S TALKING MACHINE

Ten years ago, in December 1877, a young man entered the editorial office of the Scientific American and showed the people present there a simple machine of his own design which he had completed only the day before. Having given a brief explanation of his invention, the visitor turned a crank and, to the amazement of those present, the apparatus said: 'Good morning. How do you do? How do you like the phonograph?'

Eleanor Viereger [from left], Daisy Dowling and Kaki Whitmer are among women who have taken on the job of hand appliqueing historic scenes on Bicentennial quilt squares, but more seamstresses are needed, according to project director Ginny Schultz. There will also be a need for quilters come June 1st, Mrs. Schultz says, and she'd be happy to accept volunteers. You can call her at 625-3062. The quilt will be raffled during the Bicentennial celebration.

Bicentennial book due in mid-summer

Jennifer Radcliff, who has charge of the Independence-Clarkston Bicentennial Commission's history book project, says the book should be on sale by mid-summer.

Prices have been chosen in keeping with the 1776 theme -- the cost of the paperback to be $5.76 and the cost of the hard cover $10.76.

Mrs. Radcliff has been collecting stories of earlier days from older residents and pictures of earlier times for several months, and has recently arranged for the book to go to the printer.

Bill McClean, chairman of the commission, says hopes are to raise $150,000 for the sale of the books, money which will be spent on the Bicentennial project.

"We'd like to restore an older building for use as a community center," he reported.

Village "downtown days"

Joe Gulash, president of the newly formed Village Business Association of Clarkston.

The newly formed Village Business Association of Clarkston will promote Michigan Week with special sales and activities in "downtown days" the week of May 16-24.

All business people in the village have been invited to meet again at 7:30 p.m. tonight (Thursday) at the Village Inn Coffee Shop to complete plans for an event centering on a hospitality day and evening May 22.

At its meeting last week, the group planned to keep stores open until 9 p.m. that night, offering free coffee and refreshments and street entertainment.

Billed tentatively as a "Stroll Downtown Night," the group sees it as setting a precedent for repeat performances.

Sidewalk sales are being considered in conjunction with the downtown days.

The group in other business made plans to proceed with the writing of a constitution and by-laws.

Joe Gulash of Village Inn Coffee Shop is president of the group and Mrs. Kathy Roberts of Kathy's Book Shoppe is secretary-treasurer.

Sunnybeach lot variance denied

A zoning appeal for a Sunnybeach Country Club lot which drew a number of objections from neighbors was denied by the Independence Zoning Board of Appeals, April 9.

The prospective buyer, Robert G. Williams, asked for variances in square footage, frontage and rear yard to enable him to build a 1,200-to-1,400-square foot house on the 8,300 square foot lot on Mohawk Street.

Citing strong objections from neighbors, boardmember Jerry Powell entered a motion to deny the variance for health, safety and welfare reasons. Robert Kraud voted for denial of the appeal. Mel Vaara did not support the denial.

Powell's motion also declared the site unbuildable, drawing reasons from presentations by Joe Rhoades and Jack Raisin who live nearby in the Walters Lake area.

Raisin maintained that Mohawk is a main arterial road with heavy traffic, and that a house on the lot in question would produce traffic and parking problems.

He also contended that if the house were built it would cause problems with water draining off the lot onto others' properties.

"This condition of putting houses on top of one another is not what the zoning ordinance allows for . . . and, it would not be in keeping with the rest of the area," Raisin stated.

Raisin further asserted that the drainage, by affecting public health, would result in a reduction of property values nearby.

Responding to Raisin's claim, Vaara said, "I question the objection that building a $35,000 house on the lot would bring down property values."

Both Rhoades and Don Wallace who lives next door indicated that Williams would have trouble with his well.

"If he puts his well on the pond site of the lot, he will have problems with pond seepage into his well," Rhoades said.

Declaring that any sale of the lot for building purposes was illegal in the first place, Rhoades said, "I would deny it if I was sitting on the other side of the table because it is an unhealthy lot."

Wallace informed the board that he had made an offer to purchase the lot for $2,000 for purposes of expanding his yard, but the present owner, Clarence Smith, Jr., turned him down.

Kraud responded, "We have made an extreme effort in this area to expand lots. The only argument I heard that would cause me to deny it is that there is no hardship because buying depends on variance approval. But, denial does not solve the problems of the lot. You might get something less desirable."

Calling the past practices of the building department "pretty sloppy work years ago," Kraud said, "We inherited the problems."

In other action, the board granted tentative approval for a frontage and size of lot variance for lot number 1 of the proposed Rolling Meadows subdivision on Reese Road off Overpine. Bill Weeks, prospective buyer of the property, requested the variances to enable the building of a home.

The variance approval was tentative because the wrong lot number was advertised due to clerical error. The board indicated that formal approval will be granted at the April 23 board meeting after the correct lot number has been advertised.

Earl and Roberta Fortin were granted a lot split enabling them to renovate a 40-year old barn into the residence on Perry Lake Road.

Citing the historical value of the barn, the board granted the lot split which creates a nonconforming lot.

The board also granted a variance for an unconforming lot owned by George Scheuern at 7007 Clintonville Road.

Scheuern requested a split of land because he wanted to sell part of it to help put his son through college.

Rear and front yard variances were granted to Mike Hofer for a lot at the corner of Boyne Highland and Caberfae Trail. (Pine Knob North #2) Hofer indicated he would build an 1,800 square foot house on the property.

Scout Olympics are Sat.

Karen Geukes, [left] and Julie Wright are getting in shape for the Girl Scout Olympics which will draw 800 youngsters to Clarkston High School Athletic Field Saturday.

Seventy-six troops from the Michigan Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council will be represented in the 1975 Girl Scout Junior Olympics, April 19, at the Clarkston High School athletic field.

Over 790 girls have enrolled to compete in the 16 events which include the 50-yard dash, the 400-yard relay, the three-legged race, the Frisbee throw and the wheel barrow race. Sixty Cadette and Senior Scouts, as well as many adults will supervise the event.

The day will begin at 9:30 a.m. with the Grand March. Events are scheduled to commence at 10. Presentation of awards will be made at 2:30 p.m. by three Pontiac-area Junior-Misses.

Director Penee Easton and events coordinators Mrs. Mary Lynn Colwell and Mr. Donald Kelly were amazed at the large amount of applications. Last year's enrollment was around 500 girls.

Obedience classes for dog

Would like a well-behaved dog around the house?

Southern-Michigan Obedience Training Club is conducting classes which began April 9 at the Waterford CAI on Williams Lake Road and will accept new entries until April 23.

Dan Marlowe is the trainer, and the cost is $19 for the full 12-week course. Classes for novices are conducted at 7:30 and 9 p.m. Wednesday nights. Information is available by calling Mrs. Marlowe at 625-3039.

Dogs that have already received training may be entered in the AKC sanctioned obedience fun match April 20 at Bloomfield Andover High School. The match begins at 9:30 a.m. and Mrs. Marlowe has more information.

Springfield's front 9 renovation

J.D. Armstrong Landscape Co. of Fraser has been awarded a $254,300 contract for a Phase 3 development at Springfield-Oaks golf course.

The contract provides for the rebuilding of the front nine holes of the course, and there is a possibility that the course might have to be closed for two weeks during summer when the job begins, according to county parts director Erick Reickel. He said the back nine, which was built largely last year, may be ready when the front nine has to be closed down.

Waterford Disposal Co. has been awarded the trash pickup contracts for Springfield-Oaks and Groveland-Oaks parks.

More than any other feature, the eyes tend to retain their color. Decreased vitality, lack of zest for life often lead to the impression that they have faded. A bit of eye shadow, chosen to complement the iris, blended with the finger to warm the oils, and then applied sparingly with the finger to the outer half of the upper eyelid; this is really all it takes to complement the color of your eyes. Eyes are the barometer of age: do all you can to keep yours young looking.

Your hair color is important. Expert hair coloring technique is available at "SALON OF BEAUTY" BONNIE JEAN'S HAIR STYLISTS, 5488 Dixie Highway, Waterford. Tel. 623-1411. Open 6:30-8:30 Sat. 6:30-3. ## DNR hears horse people

by Mike Saile

Some 50 residents of North Oakland County including members of the Dixie Saddle Club and United Horsemen turned out last week at Independence Township to ask for more and better marked bridle paths in the area.

Plans for proposed building, extension and marking of numerous miles of riding trails in Southern Michigan were presented to the audience by Roger Whiteman, chief project officer for the Department of Natural Resources in Lansing.

Whiteman said plans for the immediate area include extension and marking of existing trails and construction of a proposed campground in the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area.

He said work would be completed within three years, depending on funding.

Long range plans proposed by the DNR include construction of a statewide horse trail system from the North Oakland County area south to Monroe, west through Livingston, Washtenaw and Jackson counties through the Kalamazoo area to South Haven then north along the shore of Lake Michigan in Muskegon.

This proposed trail would connect with another, proposed to run north from Hillsdale County through Grand Rapids and connecting with an existing statewide horse trail at Traverse City.

Another trail proposed for completion in seven to ten years Whiteman said, is one that would run along the northern edge of the Upper Peninsula.

Whiteman told the audience that the horse population of Michigan has grown from 60,500 in 1968 to 171,000 in 1971, according to a Michigan State University survey. He added that 81 percent of the horses are located in the southern third of Michigan, yet the only existing trails of any length of scenery are located in the Middle Third between Traverse City and Tawas City.

The projects he proposed would more than triple the number of miles of trails and camping and staging facilities for the Michigan horseman, he said.

Mill Pond cleanup financing

Independence Township Lake Improvement Board was to meet Wednesday night to figure out what to do should participants in the Mill Pond Cleanup want to pay the full sum at once.

The board has contracted with Charles L. Purves Excavating Co. to clean out the Upper Pond at a cost of $32,500. Using a five year payment plan, the cost to 13 owners whose property fronts on the Pond would be $2,700.

Another 12 owners whose property abuts the Clinton River which flows into the pond would be charged $1,360.

"We've got it figured right to the penny if they take the time payment plan," Glennie said, "but we'll have some refiguring to do is some one of them want to pay cash."

The whole project, including interest at the end of five years, would amount to $52,300, Glennie said.

Wells on Ennismore have dried up while the construction firm of R.J. Sillers sinks a pumping station along the street, homeowners report. They're not complaining too much, though, because they say Sillers is a far better contractor than the sewer outfit that was in the Woodhull area before. Hopes were that the station would be done this week.

As of Monday, the Edgar Joyal family had not yet received their Vietnam orphan, however they'd heard that he's in San Francisco and "one of the chubbiest babies to come out of Vietnam."

"I think there's been some paper work lost. That seems to be the only reason they'd hold a baby four days," said Mrs. Joyal.

They're keeping their fingers crossed and hoping 2-month-old Troy Oliver makes it home this week.

Boy Scout Troop 126 will be conducting its annual paper drive May 3. A truck will be parked at the Clarkston United Methodist Church. Pick-up service is available by calling Harold Sutherland at 625-3356 or Sandy Sanborn at 625-5311.

Recent winners in an Independence Township Firefighters' Association benefit drawing were Rich Coy of Pontiac, Jeane Olson of 66 Washington and Jim Scharl of Hubbard Hills. They won $150, $50 and $25 gift certificates to Food Town.

Jack Hess, president of the association, also won a $25 certificate for having sold the most tickets -- 152.

Two television sets and personal checks worth $450 were taken from a home on Parview and a color television worth $350 from a home on Caberfae.

A Sashabaw Junior High student was expelled for the balance of the school year for possession of drugs in Board of Education action Monday night.

Davisburg Senior Citizens Joggers are seeking signatures for petitions to maintain public broadcasting's right to carry religious services.

Now with the Bicentennial approaching and items of historical interest appearing in most newspapers, the following recipe for preserving same might be useful.

Dissolve a milk of magnesia tablet or one tablespoon of milk of magnesia emulsion in a quart of club soda, recap tightly and let stand in the refrigerator overnight. Pour into a pan large enough to accommodate the flattened newspaper. Soak newspaper one - two hours, remove and pat dry. The solution cannot be reused, but the estimated life of the finished product is 200 years.

The explanation offered by Richard Smith, assistant professor at the University of Washington for the success of his formula is that the magnesium oxide combines with the carbon dioxide in the soda to form magnesium carbonate which neutralizes acids in the paper that cause deterioration.

Negotiation between Independence Township and its employees over new contracts are moving ahead rapidly. "I'm very pleased with the progress," said Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie.

Both union and township spokesmen indicated there would be probable agreement within two weeks.

Board of Education Trustee Carolyn Place says the board could provide the Haptic method of physical education in elementary schools at the relatively low cost of $500 per building.

The money would purchase a trampoline and balance equipment, the use of which, she says, a federal program has proven most efficient in relation to learning abilities.

She has proposed the board seek a demonstration of the Haptic method, which was presented here in a program last weekend but none of the board members with the exception of Robert Walters were present to see, Mrs. Place said.

The federal government has sent the Clarkston Village Council a letter and a map drawn up by a Pennsylvania engineering firm designating the flood plain area in Clarkston.

President Keith Hallman told the council Monday night that he had shown the map to Keift Engineering. The local engineering firm reportedly told Hallman that the portions designated as flood plains on the Pennsylvania firm's map were inaccurate.

Hallman said the village has several months to respond to the flood plain designations. What parts of Clarkston that are termed flood plains will require flood insurance, Hallman said.

Trustee Ruth Basinger indicated she would take the map and the letter to the Clinton Valley Watershed Council meeting Tuesday, April 15, for discussion.

Two school break-ins were reported to officers this week. Two juveniles were arrested Saturday at Sashabaw Junior High School and another pair on Sunday at Bailey Lake Elementary School.

In both cases supplies taken from the school were confiscated by officers.

Elsewhere in the township, house thieves were busy. A radio and trading stamps valued at $500 were reported taken from a home on Sashabaw Road, a stereo worth $1200 from a home on Allen Road, and another stereo worth $500 from a home on Thendara Road.

It's unfair. Only men seem to get "ring around the collar." That commercial has got to be vying for worst spot. Why can't all TV advertisers get the Alka-Seltzer agency to do their commercials?

Do you get as upset as I do when someone remembers an item they just have to have during the first 3 miles of a long trip?

One does not have to go to the library and borrow the book of goofs pulled by newspaper writers and broadcasters. Last week the Clarkston News had... "APAC has collected almost enough money to charter a 747 for an evacuation trip, and Monday President Ford was altered to help them get a plane into action."

He would probably prefer the word came out "altered" as intended

Being awakened by clock or kid is not always easy to take, but being aroused by an incessant doorbell in the middle of the night has got to be worse.

The ding-donging got to me right at midnight a few weeks ago. Absolutely no thoughts went through my head before I got to the door.

I didn't think of an emergency, a neighbor out of sugar, a friend wanting respite for the night, or a worse friend wanting to continue a party to which I wasn't invited nor could I catch up to.

I opened the door on two excited young men, saying rather fast and loud, "Can you call the police and ambulance, there's been an accident out here."

A peak past one lad's shoulder was proof enough he was right. A car's lights were separated by a tree.

I don't know if I was first to call the sheriff's dept or not, but they were at the scene by the time I pulled my pants on. Of course, I'm not the most anxious person in the world when it comes to seeing tragedy.

I haven't seen a lot, but dead or cut and bleeding bodies are not unfamiliar in a reporter's life. I never will get used to the sounds of a person moaning from injuries or a crying child in the arms of a comforting parent.

In this case a young husband was comforting his wife, and thank God she was not too bad.

The deputies did a fine job and the ambulance crew was right behind, also doing a fine job, quick and confident.

In 45 minutes both cars were towed away and only some broken glass remained in our front yard.

One thing happened during the exciting first 10 minutes, when the emergency vehicles were there with many flashing lights and there were parked cars along the road -- something that always happens.

Some clown barely slowed his car. It was then I learned that that action is just as upsetting to a deputy as it is to me. The deputy was in the middle of the road waving his flashlight trying to get the driver's attention.

When he didn't, he said words just like I use... short and not kind.

Produce at a co-op bargain

by Betty Hecker

Springfield-Oaks Youth Activities Center is a beehive of activity on Wednesdays as members of the Springfield Food Co-op place, sort and receive orders of produce purchased from markets in Detroit.

Last Wednesday the order, costing $4.25, provided a bag of carrots, a head of cauliflower, a head of lettuce, three pounds of rutabagas, three pounds of sweet potatoes, a bunch of green onions, three pounds of bananas, eight Delicious apples and 10 tangerines.

Members can also choose to buy eggs at 60 cents a dozen, many cuts of beef, hams, pork and bacon and a wide variety of lunch meats and cheese in bulk.

Each week the buyers select only the freshest produce, guided by a selection sheet which members have been asked to fill out regarding their favorites of all that's available.

More openings have occurred in the membership since residents of Holly and the northwest corner of Springfield Township recently separated from the Springfield-Oaks group. The co-op will run through the first week in June.

Home needed for a 'Lady'

Lady is looking for a home.

Lady is a dog, black and white, one-and-a-half years old, lovable, good with children, about 20 inches high, and in need of a new family.

She is currently living with Jean Wilson, and has been since last July. Jean is the secretary at Andersonville Elementary School, and last July Lady dropped in to visit. Identification tags on her collar led Jean to contact the commander of Selfridge Air Force Base. He reported that Lady's master had been transferred overseas, but that his wife still lived at the base.

Jean tried twice to contact her, without response. No explanation was given as to how Lady strayed so far from home. Jean said, "The commander was very nice," but the lack of answer from Lady's owners clearly told her that they didn't want her back.

Most of the expenses for the dog have already been taken care of, as Jean has taken her to the veterinarian where she received all her shots. She has been spayed, and now has a license.

Jean can be contacted any evening at 623-0874.

Millers love the country

COUNTRY LIVING

by Betty Hecker

Five years ago, Al and Dottie Miller selected a gently rolling hillside in Springfield Township as the site for their three bedroom ranch house. Instructing the builder to use the natural terrain of the land, they positioned the house to have two levels taking advantage of a walk-out basement.

That basement, with a large window and glass double-door wall facing west to receive the afternoon sun, has become a wintertime greenhouse. You see, Al has a green thumb!

Rows of geraniums blooming out of season, creeping Jew plants in hanging planters, and flats of tomato and green pepper starts promise that warm weather and a summer garden are in the near future.

The hanging planters were fashioned in Al's workshop, (another section of the basement) along with birdhouses, summer furniture, toy boxes and little chairs for six-year-old Brian and three-year-old Dennis.

Dottie reports, "Al has made so many of those square hanging planters, he's given away more than a dozen already, and when the weather gets warm enough to hang them outside, he'll have some more for our friends."

A special workshop project was the pair of early American lamp tables Al built for Dottie and the upstairs family room for Christmas. The family room color selection and furniture style reflect the Miller's warm hospitality. Warm browns, gold, orange and rust in plaids, tweeds and solids cover the comfortable, thick cushioned sofa and pair of rocking chairs.

A third rocking chair, sitting near the white brick fireplace wall, was purchased one Sunday in Frankenmuth. Al ruefully explained, "That was the most expensive Sunday dinner we ever had."

The Spanish sofa and chair in the living room are complemented by a third matching piece of furniture - a cushioned and upholstered cocktail table, perfect for extra seating or use as a hassock. Right at the moment, we visited it was a play table for Dennis and his castle.

The living room colors are gold and green with white walls and a triple width front window. Gold color sheer drapes are almost always left open, to allow the sunlight and open feeling, along with a view of the cedar deck and front porch and the hillside beyond.

In winter the yard is used as a toboggan run and ski slope by Brian, Dennis and the neighbor boys. Dottie relates, "One Saturday, the boys next door came over wearing their skis. It just happened that Al was in the family room, trying on his ski boots. He grabbed his skis and was right out there with those kids in a minute."

Skiing has been one of their loves for years, taking them to Aspen, Colorado and Lake Tahoe, Nevada. Dottie's tall vase holding pussywillows in the kitchen is really a souvenir from a trip to Basement greenhouse promises a lush summer garden.

Lake Tahoe, once holding a drink called a "Sneaky Tiki". Dottie said, "They serve these drinks in the Polynesian room. One of them and you're pie-eyed. Two and you're flying high - but they give you the glass. Boy, what you have to suffer to get a whole set."

Another love is traveling and camping. Past summers have taken them to points as far away as Vancouver and a campground west of Seattle, on a point of land extending out into the Pacific.

Back at home, Al and his boys, one on each knee, plow and disk the fields and garden area, or mowing the grass of the almost five acres they use as a front and back yard. Plowing, planting and building, it all means togetherness. "Even when Brian spilled a quart of paint all over," Dottie said, "Al just said, "He's got to learn sometime and it might as well start now."

Construction of a red and white carriage house and of a large pole barn with a cold storage Michigan basement for keeping last summer's cabbages, carrots and apples have been projects of past summers.

Plans for fencing in an area for chickens and the construction of a windmill to provide electric power are being considered for the coming summer.

Al explains, "The way the wind blows out of the west almost all the time, the windmill could keep batteries charged to provide almost all of our needs."

Each spring Al plants more evergreen seedlings, always adding to the 5,000 that have been planted and growing for the last five years.

The grape arbors, the raspberry and strawberry patches all contribute to making country living a really pleasant way of life -- especially at harvest time.

Trim seeks 4-year terms for reps, twp. officials

State Rep. Claude Trim (D-Davisburg) has proposed four-year terms for both state representatives and township officers.

"When I came into the legislature," Trim said, "one of my priorities was to do all that I could to take the waste out of government. One of the large wastes we have at present is the amount of money we spend on elections every two years. There is no sound reason why we have to go to the expense of electing state representatives and township officials every two years when so many other public officials are elected every four years.

To get a four-year term for representatives would require a constitutional amendment, Trim said. If his resolution to do so is approved by the legislators, the matter would be brought to state voters.

Four-year terms for township officials would require only an act of the legislature and Trim has introduced the necessary bill.

Trim reports that under present conditions a representative no sooner takes office than he must think about his reelection. What he does in office is tuned to the thought that he will soon have to return to campaigning.

"Many times a representative is more concerned about continued campaigning than he is in working on legislation need by the people, and the public is being short-changed."

Trim pointed out that Senators are elected every four years and that representatives and senators do basically the same work.

In regard to local elections he pointed out that county officers are elected for four years, yet township officers serve only two years.

"It has been my experience that a two-year term is not sufficient time for a supervisor, clerk or treasurer to enact programs. I feel they could do a better job and serve the people better with a four-year term."

Lower property assessments

Rep. Claude A. Trim (D-Davisburg) has announced he is adding amendments to his property tax bill to allow property to be assessed at 46 percent this year.

The amendments also provided that in 1976 the assessing level would be 43 percent and in 1977 40 percent.

Edward Rahja

Edward M. Rahja, 69, of 6205 Overlook died April 1 in Pontiac. He had been a group leader for General Motors Truck and Coach.

Mr. Rahja, a resident of Oakland County for 40 years, was a member of the NRA and Eagles Club.

He is survived by his wife, Grace E. whom he married in 1939; two daughters, Mrs. Gary (Patricia) Lessel of Clarkston and Mrs. Gary (Martha) Bramble of Waterford; two sons, Martin A. Rahja and Edward W. Rahja, both at home; four sisters, Mrs. Elsie Syria of Melrude, Minn., Mrs. Lillian Goodwin of Pontiac, Mrs. Helen Adamatis of Indianapolis and Mrs. Elvira Marchand of Duluth, Minn.; and two brothers, Hugo Rahja of Omaha, Nebr., and Ernest Rahja of Janesville, Wisc.

Rev. Alexander Stewart of Episcopal Church of the Resurrection performed the funeral service April 4. Burial was in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Lorna Little

Lorna Marie Little of Farmington Hills, formerly of Davisburg, Avon Township and Royal Oak, died Saturday in Livonia. She was born August 22, 1897, in Beloit, Wis.

Her husband, Harry, predeceased her in 1970.

Mrs. Little was a member of the Davisburg United Methodist Church, a charter member of VFW Post No. 3908 Ladies Auxiliary of Rochester, Clinton Valley Barracks No. 2803 Ladies Auxiliary of Davisburg, Davisburg Senior Citizens, All-American Kazoo Band of Davisburg and Holly, Methodist United Women of Davisburg, Tuesday Morning Bible Study Group of Davisburg, and a former member of Rochester Blue Star Mothers.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Floyd (Mary) Cobb of Avon Township and Mrs. Richard (Kathryn) Postiff of Farmington Hills; three sons, Joseph of Caro, George of San Jose, Calif., and David of Lansing; a brother, Harold R. Gunderson of Livonia, and 17 grandchildren.

Funeral services were Tuesday afternoon at Price Funeral Home, Troy, with Rev. Charles R. Jacobs of Davisburg United Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy. The family suggests memorials to Davisburg United Methodist Church.

John W. Stoppert, 50, of Independence Twp. died Sunday, April 13. Partner in Stopperts Appraisal Service. Services were Wednesday, April 16 at 11 a.m. at Christ Lutheran Church.

Police contract in negotiation

Independence Township officials have begun negotiations with Oakland County Sheriff's Department over new contracts for the five deputies who work in the township. The present contract expires May 1.

The sum of $86,000 is budgeted for that purpose this year, according to Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie. Four of the deputies are paid $17,870 from funds generated by the one mill police tax. Another officer is hired under the CETA program, the township picking up the balance over the $12,000 in CETA funds.

Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie has proposed that if the county were to keep its rates the same, the township would take on one additional CETA funded employee his assignment to be made by the county and the township together.

Whether or not that will be possible, Glennie doesn't know. The county board of commissioners last year passed a resolution to increase costs to the township. "If they do that we won't be able to hire the extra man," Glennie said.

The county, at the time of its resolution, planned that within three years the townships would be picking up the full cost of the deputies, said to be then in the neighborhood of $23,000.

Contract negotiations with deputies are now in process, and even the county reportedly doesn't know what its full cost will be, Glennie said.

"We'd like to get as many deputies as we can for our $86,000," he added.

Theatre licensing ordinance discussed

Independence Township officials were to meet Wednesday with attorneys from Pine Knob Music Theatre and Indusco Corp. to work on an ordinance which would provide for the licensing of operations at Pine Knob.

"It's simply a matter of our getting some insurance that community problems will be taken care of," said Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie.

The ordinance originally started out as the idea of a head tax, permitted in an 1890s law, but Glennie said the idea has changed. "The township attorney has drafted a licensing ordinance which has been sent to resort and theatre attorneys for their perusal, and they are now ready to respond," he reported.

The proposed ordinance is an attempt to give the township some powers in correcting such situations as traffic and noise which officials feel detrimental to surrounding residences. Whether in extreme instances it could be used to shut the theater down will be discussed, Glennie said.

SJH students to camp

Thirty-one Sashabaw Junior High 9th grade science students, six teachers and three parents, will take to the wilds of the Highland Recreation area this weekend in a second outdoor learning experience sponsored by the school.

Planning attendance count taken

Attendance reports were due at the Independence Township Planning Commission Thursday night and Planner Larry Burkhart presented Chairman Mel Vaara with statistics regarding meeting appearances since January 3, 1974.

The poorest record was that held by Norman Sholler, who attended 16 of a possible 31 meetings. Sholler has since been replaced by Charles Whitlock who since January 9 has maintained a perfect attendance record.

Floyd Tower has attended 22 of 37 meetings and was absent for the report presentation Thursday night, as were Holly Stephens who has attended 80 percent of the meetings and Art Riple who has attended 86 percent of the meetings.

Ed Manley has attended 26 of a possible 37 meetings for a 70 percent record.

The best record for the time period was set by former Commissioner Keith Humbert who attended 28 of 29 meetings. Jim Smith has an 86 percent attendance rate, Vaara has a 91 percent rate, Barb Howe 91 percent, and Fred Ritter a 71 percent rate, having attended five of a possible seven meetings since having been named to the commission December 12.

Commissioners are paid $20 a meeting in Independence Township.

Due to leave Friday in parent driven cars are science teachers Roger Bower, Clifford Irwin and Jim Tyrrell whose teaching staff is supplemented by Neal Sage, Vicki Montgomery and Bernie Bidinger.

They and the students will camp two nights in tents, learning something about ecology, biology, water chemistry, astronomy, compass reading, and they'll also be planting trees in the Highland Recreation Area. The group will make use of the Haven Hill Environmental Education Center located on the property.

Last year a one-night camp-out during the winter, with the temperature dropping to 12 below zero, was tried, according to Bower. He has hopes the weather will be warmer and the two night stay will enable some more learning experiences.

Locker room bids opened

MTB Co. of Davisburg is the apparent low bidder on renovation of the locker room at Clarkston Junior High School.

The company has proposed a total bid of $53,210, including mechanical and electrical work, to bring the locker room up to health standards.

The bids of MTB and nine other companies will be reviewed by Richard Prince and Assoc. Inc., architect for the schools.

They will not be awarded until final approval by all state agencies involved is received on the plans, according to Schools Supt. Leslie F. Greene.

Criticism of the plan's failure to include facilities for the handicapped was leveled by Trustee Carolyn Place. She said that in five to ten years the school might be turned over to the community for a community center and such facilities would be more important than ever.

She was told state reviews would determine whether or not such plans would have to be included.

Several people in the audience of more than 100 criticized the district for using the same architect as in the past without seeking bids for new architects.

They were told the Prince firm has saved them money consistently and that no decision has yet been made on the architect used if the district proceeds with the erection of multi-purpose rooms at the elementary schools.

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP

AN AMENDMENT AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP, OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN, known as the Springfield Township Zoning Ordinance #26, 1973, By Amending the Township Zoning Ordinance, to create a new zoning district known as Office-Service District.

The Township Board of Springfield Township, Oakland County, Michigan, hereby ordains:

SECTION I.

ARTICLE X-A O-S, OFFICE-SERVICE DISTRICT

Section 10A.00 Intent. The O-S, Office-Service District is designed and intended to accommodate office buildings and restricted related retail and service establishments. A major purpose of this district is to provide areas for office buildings and moderate land use activity in a low density community.

Section 10A.01 Principal Uses Permitted. The following uses are permitted in an O-S District subject to any limitations described herein:

1. Data processing and computer centers, including sales, service, and maintenance of electronic data processing equipment.

2. Any use charged with the principal function of office-type research or technical training.

3. Office buildings and related uses which perform financial and personal business services including banks, loan companies, insurance and real estate offices, doctors, dentist, technical laboratories, medical clinics, animal hospitals but not including kennels, and similar related facilities and similar uses; but not to include drive-in type self-service facilities as a principal use permitted.

4. Township Government Buildings, Township Parks, and related facilities, state and federal office uses, but not including outdoor storage.

5. General hospitals, except those for criminals and those solely for the treatment of persons who are mentally ill or have contagious diseases, not to exceed a height of three (3) stories of forty (40) feet, subject to the following conditions:

a. All such hospitals shall be developed only on site consisting of at least ten (10) acres in area, and providing a minimum of two thousand five hundred (2,500) square feet of lot area per bed.

b. All ingress to and egress from the site shall be directly onto a major thoroughfare, having an existing or planned right-of-way width of at least one hundred and twenty (120) feet as indicated on the Major Thoroughfare Plan.

c. Ambulance delivery and service areas when visible from adjacent land zoned for residential purposes shall be obscured from view by a wall at least eight feet in height.

d. The minimum distance between any structure and a property line shall be seventy-five (75) feet.

6. Commercial and retail uses are permitted as follows:

a. Retail and commercial uses as permitted and regulated in the C-1 Local Business District provided that such use shall be contained wholly within another use permitted in the O-S District and said commercial use be intended to serve only as accessory thereto.

b. The following uses shall be included within the office use structure or other principal structures as indicated in Section 10A.01 Principal Uses Permitted, or shall be attached to such structures by means of a fully enclosed structural attachment, and therefore shall not be permitted as free-standing structures. Such secondary structures shall be designed so as to provide a logical extension of the floor plan of the principal structures, and shall utilize exterior materials similar to such principal structures. Recognizing that such use tends to generate large volumes of pedestrian and vehicular traffic, these uses shall only be permitted after special approval of the Township Planning Commission.

(1) Restaurants or other places serving food or beverage, except those having the character of an open front store, drive-in, or carry-out establishment so called.

(2) Clubs, fraternal organizations and service clubs whose activities are not carried on as a business.

7. Other uses similar to the above uses.

8. Signs, as provided in Section 14.07.

Section 10A.02 Accessory Uses Permitted.

a. Accessory buildings, structures and uses customarily incidental to any of the above uses, when located on the same premises and to include commercial uses as described in Section 10A.01-6.

Section 10A.03 Area and Bulk Requirements. Refer to Article XXIII for the "Schedule of Regulations", limiting the height and bulk of buildings, the minimum size lot or parcel permitted by land use, the maximum density permitted and providing the minimum yard set-back requirements in the C-1 Local Business District.

Section 10A.04 Required Conditions. All uses permitted in this district, except for accessory off-street parking, shall be located within fully enclosed buildings. Outdoor storage or display shall be prohibited. All uses permitted in the O-S District shall have direct access to a paved County road or a County road that meets the current minimum specifications of the Oakland County Road Commission and provided further, where any entrance to an O-S development intersects the major thoroughfare, a widening strip shall be constructed within the right-of-way of the Major Thoroughfare so as to provide adequate ingress and egress from the entrance. Said widening strip shall be constructed in such a manner and in such a location as determined by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Section 10A.05 Site Plan Review. In an O-S, Office-Service District, no building or land, except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, shall be erected or used except for one or more of the preceding specified purposes, and shall be permitted subject to the review and approval of the site plan by the Township. In their review, the Township shall consider the following factors:

1. The relationship of the proposed development to the Master Plan.

2. That all development features including principal buildings and any accessory buildings, open spaces, service roads, driveways and parking areas are located so as to minimize the possibility of any adverse effects upon adjacent properties and so as to relate properly to traffic safety.

3. The Site Plan shall conform to all provisions of Article XVI of this Ordinance.

Section 10A.06 Deletions from Ordinance. The following provisions shall be deleted from Ordinance 26 as follows:

1. Delete Section 6.02—Subsection 6 dealing with General Hospitals as a Principal Use Permitted Subject to Special Conditions as this use will now be permitted within the O-S, Office-Service District.

SECTION II.

This Amendment shall be effective from and after May 17, 1975.

CHS's Dottie Allen is tops!

Clarkston High School secretary Dottie Allen

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

Dottie Allen, a secretary at Clarkston High School the past 24 years, has been named one of the top secretaries for 1975 by the Michigan Association of Educational Office Personnel.

She will be feted at a luncheon April 26 at the Dearborn Inn and presented with a trophy and certificate.

To Dottie, it's all a little strange. She's usually been the one making arrangements for other people's luncheons and honors.

It's all a part of her job -- from keeping track of the athletic funds to patching up cuts from shop class, taking care of visitors, helping teachers set up appointments, answering the phone, taking dictation and more or less adopting a family of 1,600 youngsters.

Dottie, who with her husband, Ron, has raised two children and a grandchild, is partisan on the side of youth.

"There's nothing wrong with kids. I never lose confidence in them, and I never had a child be disrespectful to me," she reports.

There are even times when she thinks they're super special. Last year, four of the boys learned it was Dottie's birthday and got permission to leave study hall for the home economics room where they baked her a cake. When she returned from lunch it was sitting on her desk.

Many of her students continue to check in through the years, calling when they're in town or dropping in to visit at the school.

"Sometimes I guess I function like their mother away from home," she grins ruefully.

That leads her into such areas as lending lunch money -- "I like to eat so well myself. I never could stand to see a kid go hungry," she says.

She laughs and recounts how far that particular sentiment took her once at a basketball game. She was selling tickets and drinking a coke when a boy came up asking if he could borrow a quarter to buy a coke of his own.

"I told him I'd lend him the money, but I'd locked my purse in the office and didn't have any with me. He just stood there watching me drink my coke and finally I couldn't stand it anymore and got someone to take my place so I could go get my purse.

"When I came back, he turned about $2 in change out of his own pocket. He only wanted to see if I'd really lend him the money."

Any number of little stories pop up when Dottie talks about her long term job.

"Back when the school office was a one girl operation, the student office girl would answer the phone if I had to leave. One time she answered and the practical joker on the other end told her it was the telephone company and that they were about to blow out the lines. He asked her to cover the phone so she wouldn't get dust all over the office.

"When I got back," Dottie laughs, "the phone was wrapped in a towel."

Sometimes her own flipness has caused events she wouldn't have believed possible. A young teacher wondering how to fill out a form for an in-service day didn't know what conferences she'd be attending.

"I told her I needed to turn in the forms and for her to put something on it -- even if it's just you and me having a party. After I'd turned them all in at the board office, I found that was exactly what she'd put on it."

Every day is different, Dottie says, but one thing is constant -- kids are terrific!

YWCA marks 30th birthday

International Women's Year will be the theme of the 30th annual meeting of the YWCA of Pontiac Saturday, April 19 at 11:30 a.m. at the Beef N' Bourbon Restaurant in Drayton Plains.

This meeting is a kick-off for National YWCA Week, April 20 - 26 and is especially significant in Pontiac because of YWCA participation in the Oakland Crisis Center for Rape and Sexual Abuse.

Guest speaker will be Wilma Ray Bledsoe, director of Urban Affairs and Community and Human Development Centers at Oakland University and the first director of the Pontiac Regional Office of the Civil Rights Commission.

Musical entertainment will be provided by Minnie Cummins, Messiah Baptist Church. Reservations can be made by phoning the Y - 334-0973.

Chairpersons for the event which will also spearhead a Membership Drive are Juanita Baker and Kay Johnson.

Voc school open house

The North Oakland Vocational Education Center will be having an open house on Sunday, April 27 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Staff members and students will be present to greet visitors and parents and to demonstrate and explain the work done at the school.

The distributive education students will be modeling in a fashion show, sponsored by the school in cooperation with local merchants.

The vocational center is located on Big Lake Road, and I-75 and Dixie Highway.

Concert reception

by Dana Goodell, phone 625-3370

Following the Michigan Youth Concert presented Sunday afternoon at the Clarkston High School Little Theater, Dr. and Mrs. J.B. Dolven entertained the Clarkston area members and their parents with a buffet dinner. The special guest of honor was Harry McTerry, director of music at the University of Michigan. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dennis, Mr. Keith Sipos, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Connors, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Doty, and the officers and their families of the Michigan Youth Band Booster Club.

There are 45 communities represented in the Michigan Youth Band and seven of the 80 members are from the Clarkston area. They are Alan Baker, Tony Becker, Dave Brown, Shelley Connors, Craig Dolven, Sharon Irwin and John Steele.

Grandpa Hal sez: "You may never be on time when the bell rings but you will be when the bell tolls."

Kim Pursley was 18 years old on Saturday, April 12. To celebrate the event, her parents, Shirley and Ronald Pursley of Waldon Road, hosted a buffet dinner for 15 friends and relatives. Kim is a senior at Clarkston High School. Happy birthdays are also in order for Jewel Pearson, Michael Carter, Anne Tungate, Tom Hecker, Jack DeLorge and Jo Anne Beach.

Nancy Bryan of Clarkston recently competed in the Block and Bridle Horse Show at Michigan State University. She rode an eight-year-old palomino quarter horse gelding and placed in several events, including a 3rd in reining, 3rd in hunt seat equitation, 5th in western pleasure, 4th in western horsemanship and 5th in western horsemanship stake. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bryan, 4945 Clarkston Road, and is a freshman majoring in animal husbandry and a 1974 graduate of Clarkston High School.

Nicholas Bell, brother of Leslie Bell 7995 Perry Road, was named to the honor's List at the Leelanau School in Glen Arbor, Michigan. To be eligible for this distinction, a student must have maintained three A's or better. Nick is a junior.

After having to cancel their March meeting because of bad weather, Clinton Valley Barracks No. 2803 and Auxiliary met for potluck dinner last Saturday at Springfield Township Hall.

A memorial service May 10 for two recently deceased World War I buddies and Lorna Little, a member of the auxiliary, was planned. Officers will also be elected at that time.

All buddies, wives, widows, and sisters are welcome to join.

Don and Hope Hoff, of Wealthy, celebrated their 25th anniversary on the 13th of this month. Stan and Joanne Darling of Cramlane Drive had dinner at the Country Squires to celebrate their 20th anniversary. Also celebrating anniversaries this week were Yvonne and Ron Russell, Sue and Bob Moshier, Janet and Ed Manley, George and Lee Arnold and Vince and Ruth Zukowski. Happy Anniversary!

The University of Michigan has honored several area students at its 52nd annual Honors Convocation. Among them were Orval Blair Warren of 9840 Sashabaw, a student in the college of pharmacy, and Margaret D. Williams, 5079 Parview, a student in the college of nursing.

Christoph Dabrowski, 747 Hadley Road, and Cynthia Ann Rogers, 3079 Grange Hall, both students in the college of literature, science and the arts were also honored. Miss Rogers receiving the Branstrom prize.

David Ray Koskela, 3766 Lotus, a student of architecture; Kathleen Ann Martin, 2144 Crane, Janis Sue Merkowitz, Jill Ann Merkowitz, 3058 St. Jude, all students in literature, science and the arts; and Roxan Mary Steehler, 4069 Lakewood, an art student were also honored. Kathleen and Janis being named Angell Scholars.

Mrs. Maude Davison of Clarkston is still in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after having surgery in February. She really appreciates all the cards and letters she gets.

Welcome back to all those returning from their long winter stay in Florida and coming back to Clarkston's bright sunny weather!! To name a few, there's Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Boadway of Deer Lake Road, H.W. Huttenlocher of Middle Lake Road, Mrs. George Jilbert of Guyette, Mr. Russell Colbert of Church and Mrs. William Johnston of Davisburg.

Clarkston High School's BOEC (Business Office Education Club), has something to be proud of. Last week 1,200 students attended a conference at the Sheraton-Southfield Hotel to compete for state titles. Jeanne Berquist came out the big winner as she was awarded Miss BOEC, the outstanding business student of Michigan. She also received a trophy for job interview and her Job Manual. Kitty MacEacher, a junior, also received a trophy for Steno I. Other girls attending from Clarkston were Nancy Fairse, Maryann Huff, Fran Himmelspac, Brenda Holey, Sandy Greenacre, Cindy Inman, Diane Armstrong, Vicky Caverly, Debbie Beck and Pam LaRocque. The club sponsors are Mrs. Joan Becker and Mrs. Ann Reeves.

To all the High School guys in Post 88, I'm sorry I called you a pack, but being a Brownie drop-out I didn't realize that a Pack was Cub Scouts.

Nancy Hoskins, a senior at Clarkston High School, is now recovering from recent surgery. Also recovering from surgery is Rex Fenstermaker of Church St. Denise Kraud of Holcomb is doing fine after major surgery at Pontiac Osteopathic hospital.

There will be a smorgasbord served at the Clarkston Masonic Temple on Sunday, April 20 from 12 to 4 p.m. Admission will be $3 for adults, $1.75 for children under 12, with children under 5 admitted free. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fillmore and son Donn, 14, of Sashabaw Road flew out to Las Vegas recently to attend a ski show there. After that, they then went on to a beautiful week of skiing at Sun Valley. They had wonderful weather and enjoyed the trip.

Members of Clarkston United Methodist Church are saving their junk for the church's Unique Junktique sale which will be 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 17. Proceeds aid the World Service fund.

Clarkston pastor to speak at Bob Jones baccalaureate service

Dr. Paul Vanaman, pastor-educator of Clarkston, Mich., will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the 1975 graduating class of Bob Jones University on Sunday, May 25, at 10:30 a.m. in the 7,000-seat Founder's Memorial Amphitheater. This will be the largest

Senior gathering

The 21st annual senior citizen regional get-together sponsored by the Michigan Recreation and Park Association will be 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, May 23 at the Waterford CAI Building, 5640 Williams Lake Road.

Reservations are being accepted on a first come, first serve basis. Tickets are $3.75 each.

graduating class in the school's 48-year history.

In 1954 Dr. Vanaman founded the Dixie Baptist Church of Clarkston and has been its pastor ever since. The present membership is in excess of 2,000 with an average Sunday attendance of about 1,100.

Dr. Vanaman founded the Clarkston Christian Academy in 1972. The school has an enrollment of 200 students in Kindergarten through the ninth grade.

The baccalaureate speaker was a member of the faculty of Midwestern Baptist College in Pontiac, Mich., for 18 years. Ten of these years he served as academic dean.

He authored the chapter,

"Building a New Congregation," for the book "Planting the Independent Fundamental Churches: Pastors Tell How To Do It Successfully" which was published by the Bob Jones University Press.

The Michigan Minister holds the honorary degree of doctor of humanities from Bob Jones University and the honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Midwestern Baptist College.

Bob Jones University, known as the "World's Most Unusual University," is a liberal arts, coeducational, Christian institution. Each year the university matriculates more than 5,000 students who come from every state in the Union and about 40 foreign countries and territories.

A June 7 wedding is planned by Robin Louise Slade, daughter of Mrs. Robert Slade of Drayton Plains and the late Mr. Slade, and D. Michael Erkfritz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Erkfritz of 7905 South Eston Road. Both are employed by Oakland County, the groom a graduate of Oakland University.

Spiritual Message

One of the greatest qualities of character, if not, the greatest, is forgiveness. In fact, it is a great healer of human hurts and broken relationships. But it is tough on our pride.

The fisherman disciple of Jesus one-day asked Him, "Sir, how often should I forgive a brother (neighbor, business partner, wife, husband, etc.) who sins (hurts by word, action, attitude) me? Seven times?" "No!"

Jesus replied, "Seventy times seven!"

The Lord's Prayer which we repeat in church, at home and most of the time on special programs really brings the matter into focus, and is scary, says, "—and forgive us our trespasses (debts, offenses) as we forgive others their trespasses, (debts, offenses)." It becomes a self-condemning request made to God. It can also become a motivation for living the kind of life where a clear conscience is maintained at all times.

The missionary Paul of Tarsus instructed the young minister and missionary Timothy, "Cling tightly to your faith in Christ and always keep your conscience clear, doing what you know is right. For some people have disobeyed their consciences and have done what they knew was wrong. It isn't surprising that soon they lost their faith in Christ after defying God like that." In other words, a clear conscience determines our faith in God, or at least the continuing relationship with God—thru trust.

The high percentage of our problems and conflicts would be resolved if we could live out forgiveness, the ability to say "I was wrong" without communicating the slightest feeling of "you were wrong too." We must learn to accept the responsibility for our wrong, and resolve it—through saying, "Will you forgive me? I was wrong!"

Robert Kratt is polishing the inlaid walnut woods which make up the base of his table.

CHS woodworkers prepare for fair

Betsy Kennedy has logged 27 weeks and 280 hours of work by semester break in January on this old-fashioned desk whose top lifts up to reveal a secret compartment.

Sue [left] and Amy Thomas, 11th and 12th graders respectively, finish off the tables they've made.

John Zubalik chose his woods with care for the chess table he will enter in the show.

Roland Hayward will enter three tables in the show.

Dick Moscovie's woodworking class at Clarkston High School was making preparations last week for the Regional Industrial Arts Fair in Pontiac, and the polishing rags were much in evidence as students put the finishing touches on their entries.

Rob Tibbits displays the gun cabinet he's made.

Light table fools indoor plantings

Greater love hath no woman for her plants than that she'll purchase water to feed them.

That's been happening in the Julie Smith household recently as sewer work in the Woodhull area progresses with completion of a pumping station next door to the Smith home.

Meantime the well is dry, Julie reports, and she and her daughters have thirsty plants. The water furnished by the county has too much chlorine, and that's why Smith trips to the grocery store include purchases of bottled water.

The Smiths recently purchased a light table which has enabled them to grow prize winning African violets, and they're looking forward to next winter when they expect to grow their own fresh tomatoes indoors.

The table and its fixtures are not expensive, Julie says, and at night it provides a psychedelic glow to the home.

Right now the artificial sunlight is nourishing about 150 plants, many of which will be transplanted to the outdoor garden once the weather improves.

Free pap smears

The North Oakland Unit Office of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, a Torch Drive - United Way agency, will sponsor a free, four-day Pap Test clinic in Pontiac April 29 through May 2, 1975.

Testing will be conducted at the YMCA of Pontiac, 131 University Drive, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. On Thursday, May 1, the clinic hours will be extended to 7 p.m.

Hubbach to display water colors

Andress Galleries Ltd. will feature a showing of the water colors of Robert Hubbach in its display rooms at 18 West Huron, Pontiac.

The public is invited to meet the artist at a reception from 7 to 10 p.m. April 24 at the galleries.

Linda and Lisa Smith, 12 and 14 years old, look over the African violets they grow in a light table at their home on Ennismore. The girls recently took first place at the Border City African Violet Club Show in Detroit.

Hubbach, a native of Baltimore, Maryland, now resides in Springfield Township with his wife and three daughters. He has been an automotive designer with General Motors and is presently on the design staff at Chrysler Corporation.

Hubbach has studied at the Maryland Institute of Art and the Art Center College of Design in Los Angeles, Calif. He has participated in several area exhibitions, winning first prize at the 1972 Pontiac Mall Art Show. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 6

NOTICE

TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE RESOLUTION

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP REQUIREMENTS & STANDARDS FOR SOLID WASTE COLLECTION

BE IT RESOLVED that the following provisions shall constitute the requirements and standards for solid waste collection in the Township of Independence, to be read and construed with, and to be an incorporated part, the Township of Independence Refuse Collection Ordinance.

A. DISPOSITION OF REFUSE.

All refuse collected and/or transported by a refuse collection service shall be forthwith transported to a licensed refuse transfer facility, refuse processing plant or disposal area, as defined and provided for in Act 87 of the Public Acts of 1965, as amended, or a licensed and authorized resource recovery facility, waste disposal facility or waste facility, as defined and provided for in Act 366 of the Public Acts of 1974, as amended.

B. LICENSURE OF MOTOR VEHICLES.

All trucks and other motor vehicles used as a part of a refuse collection service shall be licensed by the Department of Natural Resources for the State of Michigan and by the Oakland County Department of Health.

C. DUTY TO FURNISH INFORMATION.

The person constituting the refuse collection service shall furnish the following information to the Township, and shall continuously update said information to reflect current operations:

1. The name, address and telephone number of the official office of the person constituting the refuse collection service.
2. The name, address and telephone number of one individual designated as the agent of the refuse collection service for purposes of receiving notices, service of process and conducting other communications with the Township.
3. The number of motor vehicles utilized in the refuse collection service.
4. The name of each municipality in which the refuse collection service collects refuse.
5. The name and address of each and every site to which refuse is transported by the refuse collection service.

D. STANDARDS OF OPERATION.

In the operation of a refuse collection service no person shall create a nuisance, or permit refuse to fall or be spilled or dumped upon, or transported or delivered to, public or private property which is not duly designated for such purpose, as set forth in Section A, "Disposition of Refuse", above.

In the event that a refuse collection service shall cause or permit refuse to fall or be spilled or dumped upon, a place which is not designated therefor, as aforementioned, the said refuse collection service shall, upon 24 hours notice by the D.P.W., cause said refuse to be removed and transported to a site duly designated therefor.

E. FEES

A fee of $ 25.00 shall be paid incidental to, and as a condition to the issuance of, a permit under the Refuse Collection Ordinance. A fee of $25.00 shall be paid incidental to, and as a condition to, the renewal of a permit.

This Resolution is hereby declared to have been duly passed and adopted at a duly called meeting of the Township Board of the Township of Independence held on the 15th day of April, 1975, to be effective immediately following publication.

Effective Date: April 26, 1975

ROBERT D. LAY,
Independence Township Clerk

They're fighting Revolutionary war

There are few people who will be busier the next couple of years than Capt. Caldwell's Company of Butler's Rangers.

A British company of soldiers which attracted loyalist colonists to its ranks, the company operated during the Revolutionary War in the Niagara, Detroit and Mackinaw region and was billeted later at Fort Amherstburg, Ont.

And while the men who comprise its ranks are not soldiers anymore, they are enthusiastic and as authentic as possible.

A group of them met Sunday at Bruce McArthur's Flint and Frizzen Gun Shop on the Dixie Highway to begin practice for events that lead off this year with an appearance at Fort Michemackinac on Memorial Day.

They'll be fighting the Battle of Bunker Hill June 4 in Madison Heights and making a later appearance at Greenfield Village.

Five of the men are from this area, but they've located suppliers of the original linen from which their green with red lining coats, green weskits and breeches are made. Their shirts are India cotton gauze and while they haven't been able to find an exact duplicate for the buff leather the British wore (made originally from the hides of African buffalo) they do have an acceptable substitute.

Even their tents are being handsewn according to old patterns and from linen. They've investigated the colonial process of waterproofing them with beeswax and turpentine, but so far haven't tried it out.

Their English muskets—some with barrels 42 inches long—are flintlocks of 69 to 75 calibre and are being reproduced now for the Bicentennial in England, Italy and Japan.

Paper cartridges are fired by flints in the discharge, and it's no easy process. The men are practicing every two weeks now to be able to pass inspection by the Brigade of the American Revolution.

Lunch was a picnic Sunday as the men of Butler's Rangers gathered around a blanket on the grounds of Flint and Frizzen Gun Shop, Dixie Highway. Present were James Hestick of Dearborn, Gerald Martin of Northville and Chuck McArthur of Royal Oak.

Field maneuvers executed by Captain Caldwell's Company of the Revolutionary War Butler's Rangers drew interested spectators Sunday as motorists along the Dixie Highway checked in to see what was happening.
