43 bikers warned in Stickney area

Independence Township Police Services officers issued 43 warnings to motorcyclists during a six-hour stretch Sunday in the Stickney Road area.

2 nominating petitions out

Only two candidates have so far taken out nominating petitions for the school board election which will be June 9. Incumbent Fernando Sanchez, 5173 Sasabaw, and Mrs. Janet Thomas, 5614 Warbler Drive, a housewife involved in independence center and Pine Knob PTA, have until next Monday to file.

Eric Reickel, the other incumbent appointed to his post last summer, had as yet not taken out petitions by Monday. There are two four-year terms open.

Voters will also be asked to renew 5 mills operating tax at the June 9 election.

Director Jack McCall said the tickets were about evenly divided between local bikers and those who had come from as far away as Warren and Detroit.

He said reception had been good. The warnings were issued only to those people who did not have written permission of the owner of the land.

McCall reported that the area -- a treed, hilly site -- abuts residential property around Walters Lake. There had been some incidents of bikers leaving the trails to ride over lawns, and several complaints had been received.

"We've also received numerous complaints from the Clarkston Gardens area where people object to unlicensed vehicles on the street," McCall added.

An Independence Township ordinance provides that bikers must have written permission when using another's property.

The state vehicle code prohibits use of mini-bikes on the road.

Reese Road can eater

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morley don't like to see beer and pop cans littering the scenic roadway of Reese Road, so last week they tied an old garbage can to a tree and lettered it to read, "PUT BEER CANS HERE." They've thought of suspending a basket from a tree and trying to turn the cleanup into a game—anything to stop littering.

Trash the target in Springfield drive

Junk cars, roadside trash and large items due to be discarded are the targets of the Davisburg Area Jaycees during the week's annual spring clean-up, which began May 3 and will last through Saturday.

Members of the Jaycees and other volunteers from the township will be making a concentrated effort May 10 to clean up the local area, and will be holding a daylong trash pickup drive.

The drive is scheduled for 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will be spearheaded from the township hall. A free lunch will be served for all workers. Plastic bags are being provided, and can be picked up at the township offices.

Township supervisor Don Rogers can arrange for junk cars to be hauled away--call him at 625-1664. A space is also being provided in back of the township hall to dump large junk items.

If transportation is needed to get the large items to the township hall, also notify Don Rogers.

Anyone wishing to volunteer for the March 10 cleanup day, contact Dennis Omell, chairman of the cleanup week, at 625-8361 after 7 p.m.

For more information on the cleanup days, call the Springfield Township offices at 625-4802 or 634-3111.

Getting the jump on cleanup in Independence

Getting a jump on the Independence Township cleaning days is Clarkston Junior High teacher Mike Humphreys [right] and CJH student Dave Lawrence. Mike and his class spent three hours Friday cleaning up litter in the stream bed of the Clinton River west of the Clarkston United Methodist Church. Cleanup days in the township are scheduled for May 10 and 17. A road cleanup is scheduled for May 10, with independence center scheduling the areas to be cleaned. Those who wish to volunteer to help in the project can call the center at 673-2244. Collected litter will then be picked up by the county road commission May 12. Powell Disposal will be providing free plastic bags to aid the cleanup effort. Also on May 10 and 17, the township has provided for free disposal service at Powell's, 6440 Orion Road, for anyone wishing to dump their junk.

Four truckloads of garbage were hauled out of this area of Big Lake Road near Hillsboro in Springfield Township during last year's spring cleanup days. From the looks of the area when Dennis Omell, chairman of the cleanup this year, examined it Friday, four more loads of junk could be collected.

Quinlans offer Irish collection

Mrs. James Navarre of Wealthy Street inspects some of the heraldic art offered at Quinlan's Emporium, which opened Saturday in the Mini-Mall at Main and Depot roads. Frank Quinlan, owner, reports experts in the field will look into your family background and prepare the shield for costs ranging from $38 to $165.

Campaign promise kept

Fulfilling one of his campaign promises in last November's election, new Springfield Township supervisor Don Rogers has promised that a newsletter will be sent out every three months beginning May 15 to all the registered voters of the township.

In the newsletter will be such things as registration and election notices from the clerk's office, a supervisor's report by Rogers, and possibly notices of the Parks and Recreation Department's upcoming events and schedules.

Rogers is also thinking of running a contest to name the newsletter.

The newsletter is being financed via a $3,000 allocation from the township board, and will be published every three months at first, and will perhaps eventually be published every two months, Rogers said.

Quinlan's Emporium, the home of fine Irish imports, opened Saturday in Clarkston's Mini-Mall, corner of Main and Depot roads.

Owned by Frank Quinlan, formerly the owner of Quinlan's Emporium party store on Big Lake, and his daughter, Christine, the store features everything from etched glass windows to Irish knits.

There's even a spot for the creation of heraldic art, the formation of family coats of arms from historical reference books, and Quinlan's offers the service in a price range of $38 to $165.

A browser in the store, located behind the plant shop in the mall, can find pewter, Wade porcelain, Dresden china, jewelry, Irish linens, crystal and even tobacco. Old pub mirrors hang along one wall and in the order is a book display featuring Irish writers.

Legion prepares for Memorial Day parade

Lakeview Cemetery will be decked with flags by members of Campbell-Richardson Post No. 63 American Legion on Sunday, May 25.

The annual tribute to the dead veterans of past wars is in preparation for the Memorial Day parade which will take place at 10 a.m. Monday, May 26.

Legionnaires and marching groups will form at Church and Buffalo streets, marching down Church to Main, along Main to Washington, and out Holcomb to the cemetery.

State Rep. Claude Trim (D-Davisburg) will be guest speaker with Rev. Phillip Somers Sr. reciting the Gettysburg Address, and Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie placing a memorial wreath.

Post Office bids due June 9

Bids for construction of a new $500,000 to $1 million Clarkston Post Office will be opened at 4 p.m. June 9, according to information from the United States Postal Service.

The building, which is to be constructed on M-15 adjacent to the Dairy Queen, is to be 8,000 square feet in size of masonry and metal construction. Work, due for completion within a year, is to include grading, paving and landscaping of the site.

Land for the Post Office was acquired last fall, and plans for the building have been underway since that time at the Flint architectural firm of Samborn, Steketee Otis and Evans, Inc.

Estimated cost of the project is $500,000 to $1 million, the Postal Service reports.

Eyeing the golden foot

Dree Chartier and Amy Bixby are two Clarkston Junior High School students who will be competing for the "golden foot" award in the Jaycees bike and walk-a-thon May 17 from the high school. Proceeds will benefit independence center. It's a 15-mile course for walkers and a 28-mile course for bikers. Sponsorships are being sold by the participants at so much a mile.

Flooding not his

Rhoades says old drain responsible

It's an old drain, broken now for some unknown reason, that has created the change in drainage patterns and the flooding of Beechwood Street in the Walters Lake area.

That's the contention of Joseph Rhoades, who was criticized last week in a Letters to the Editor column in connection with new ponding situations in the area.

Rhoades, a leading conservationist in the area for some years, reports the equipment seen last fall in the area was used only to create a driveway to the home of Frank George, who lives near one of the ponds.

No work was done to lay tile, or even to clean out a culvert, which would serve to drain the swamp that lies adjacent to his home on Woodlawn and send the water deeper into the residential district, he says.

Rhoades, who has lived in the area for better than 20 years, says the flow has been changed along a 50-year old drain field which once carried run-off water from the intersection of Vinewood and Mohawk to a ditch along Lakeview.

That blockage, he believes, is responsible for the flooding of Beechwood and the encroachment of flood water on the William Taff property.

Teachers begin negotiations

The Clarkston Education Association began contract talks with the Clarkston Board of Education last Monday. The CEA is the representative for the district's 315 teachers.

Chief negotiator for the teachers is Keith Conklin, sixth grade teacher at Andersonville Elementary School. Conklin has taught in the Clarkston school system for eight years.

Also on the main team is Linda Dennis, mathematics and language teacher at Clarkston Junior High. She has taught nine years in Clarkston. Carol Arend and Al Bartlett, two high school teachers, complete the main bargaining team. Both have bargaining experience and have taught in Clarkston for the past eight years.

Assisting the CEA bargainers are Bud McGrath, Clarkston Junior High counselor, Ron Jacobson and Paul Tungate, mathematics instructor at the high school, Marlene Sewick of North Sashabaw Elementary and Dale Lage, instructor at the Northwest Vocational School.

The Clarkston teachers are completing the current one year agreement which expires June 30.

The CEA has made cost-of-living increases and class size guarantees as the top priorities for teachers in this year's negotiations.

EDC attempts Hawk purchase again

Clarkston's recently formed Economic Development Corporation has decided to reopen negotiations for the purchase of Hawk Tool Co. on West Washington as a possible site for a new District Court.

Decision to pursue purchase of the largely vacant factory property was reached last week at a board meeting of EDC officers. They include Nelson Kimball, president; Robert Waters, vice president; Henry Woolfenden, secretary; and Cliff Gardner, treasurer.

The second chance came about as a result of county rejections of all bids previously submitted in regard to providing new quarters for the District Court, which is currently housed in the township Hall Annex off Main Street.

Overcrowded conditions in the township offices have caused officials to put a June 30 vacation date on the annex.

Kimball, who favors the Hawk Tool site as a location for the court, said, "There is a question whether the new specifications being drawn up by the county will be flexible enough to permit use of the Hawk Tool plant. One of the principal reasons for rejection of the original bids was that the original specifications were too general to provide for automatic acceptance of the lowest bid."

He added that the new specifications may call for a new building for the court, and that, in that case, the remodeling of Hawk Tool would be out.

Bids were rejected also on the basis that they were considered too costly. Prior to that time the EDC bid had been thrown out because it had not yet become an official organization of the village at the time bids had to be submitted.

It's original bid was for construction for a new facility on Depot Road, behind the Mini-Mall. Objections to parking space congestion have been largely responsible for the EDC's attempt to renegotiate purchase of the Hawk property.

An attempt, prior to the submission of the Depot Road bid, failed.

The non-profit group, which has the right to sell bonds to finance construction or purchase, was formed in March with the idea of buying or building to suit District Court needs in an attempt to retain the facility within the village.

Under terms of the contract, the court building -- once paid for -- would be turned over to the village.

Kimball said the EDC is also interested in finding tenants for other space available in the Hawk Tool plant.

Traffic count in village upcoming

A traffic study to determine the amount of cars that travel on Clarkston Village streets will be conducted beginning the last part of May by Clarkston Village, with the help of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Clarkston will use Comprehensive Employment and Training Act personnel to conduct the study, which may include checks on such things as whether parking signs in the village need updating, and an examination of parking accommodations on the village streets.

The village planning commission has been working on making the traffic count on request from the village council, who asked them to study the traffic and parking problems in the village.

The counters for the study will be made available by AAA May 12.

The planning commission recommended to the village council Monday that the survey be extended to all village streets, rather than just M-15 as was recommended by representatives from AAA when they met with village officials April 11.

That motion was made by Commission member Doug Roeser, who wanted to find out via the study what homes cannot feasibly provide off-street parking, and also what kind of parking usages there are now in the village.

Other things suggested for study by AAA representatives Robert DeCorte and Leonard Price included a traffic count for trucks alone in the White Lake, Depot Road area, the addition of flare lanes and marked lanes in areas of heavy congestion and a possible ordinance regulating bush height on major corners.

A 210 Michigan scraper levels the swamp off Lakeville in Walters Lake. The work is being accomplished in connection with the finish work on sewers by Armstrong Construction Co.

Matches blamed in playhouse fire

A play and storage house at the Thomas Walker home, 6377 Paramus, was destroyed in a blaze Sunday. Fire was reportedly caused by two small children playing with matches.

Federal funds for Mill Pond Dam?

Don Rogers, Springfield Township supervisor, was expected to find out Wednesday whether federal funds would be available to help finance the building of a new Mill Pond Dam.

Rogers and members of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department planned to meet Wednesday morning with federal disaster aid representatives.

Rogers expected to find out what funds they could possibly get to repair areas damaged after the April 18 rainstorm, and also find out what kinds of preventive programs, such as the new dam, could be funded.

The county recreation department has decided it has province over the Mill Pond problem, Rogers said, and Springfield and the parks department will be working together to find a way to construct a new dam.

In the meantime, the County Road Commission has promised to return Davisburg Road, reduced after the April storm to one lane, to two lanes within the next two weeks, Rogers said.

The Road Commission will put a temporary concrete lane in where the road was washed out by the storm.

The road would remain that way until it was decided whether a new dam could be built. If it is, the road bed would probably be moved 20 to 30 feet to the north of its present location, Rogers said.

Controls to ease Pine Knob traffic jam

New traffic controls ordered for the Pine Knob area by the Board of County Road Commissioners are expected to reduce the casualty toll of off-duty Oakland County Sheriff's officers who directed traffic during Pine Knob events. Last year, three sheriff's officers were injured by departing Pine Knob traffic.

William M. Richards, vice chairman of the county road commissioners, said the Oakland County Road Commission and the management of Pine Knob worked out the improvements together, that Pine Knob will share expense of the improvements with the Road Commission, and that some of the new controls will be in operation for the first Pine Knob event on June 13, while the others will follow shortly.

The Road Commissioners, according to Richards, approved the following improvements:

- two overhead signs on Sashabaw between I-75 and the Pine Knob entrance advising that right turns into Pine Knob may be made from both the right lane and the one just to the left of it. Pine knob will pay for the installation.

- a signal on Sashabaw at the Pine Knob entrance that would operate only as traffic is leaving the site to regulate right-turn traffic heading north on Sashabaw and to give alternate stop-and-go indications to two lanes of departing traffic turning south on Sashabaw. Installation, electrical service and maintenance of this signal will be paid entirely by Pine Knob.

- installation of traffic signal light at the Clarkston Road-Sashabaw entrance, at Road

The picture of young drummer Eugene Bucheister won the honorable mention in the feature category of the statewide competition.

Media centers aired at board meeting

Plans for media centers and multi-purpose rooms to be added onto existing elementary schools in the Clarkston District will be outlined for the Board of Education at its meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday.

Richard Prince, architect, is expected to present plans, which is implemented, could cost the district $5 million.

In other business, the board will be hearing the dismissal case of Mark Davis, a teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School, and the expulsion of a student for alleged sale of drugs.

A minor boundary line change, involving some 25 students, will also be considered. The area to be affected lies along Perry Lake Road, south of where the road was cut for Independence-Oaks Park.

The students, who attended Bailey Lake and Sashabaw Junior High schools, are proposed for transfer to Clarkston Elementary and Clarkston Junior High School.

M-15 project due for bids

Bids will be opened May 14 by the State Highway Department in Lansing for the repaving of 1.7

miles of M-15 between US-10 and I-75.

The project, according to Independence Township Department of Public Works Director George Anderson, involves widening of the surface by two feet on either side and the construction of turning lanes at Miller, Laurelton and Waldon Roads.

Estimated cost of the project is $150,000 with completion due by fall.

Sashabaw paving

Resurfacing of four-tenths of a mile north of Pontiac State Bank branch on Sashabaw is due this summer, according to the Oakland County Road Commission.

Stolaruk Asphalt Paving Inc. has been awarded the contract in the amount of $20,657.

Factory land downtown hope

There are now people in this village of ours who decry the creation of more office space in town. Recent revampings of buildings and the possibility that the District Court might still locate here seem to have brought on the reaction.

For the most part, these are the same people who won't tolerate further commercial development and who have backed the council in a zoning ordinance which is unrealistic and strangling to those who would open new businesses.

Ten years ago the question of extending business zoning to Buffalo Street brought on a reaction that almost split the town. Ditto for an attempt to annex property around the village.

We have had queries from many businesses who would like to locate here. The unavailability of parking and space has been the deterrent.

The factory land on West Washington seems our only solution. Now zoned industrial, if it were to go commercial it would provide its own parking space. It would also provide room for the kind of businesses the people of this town seem to desire.

Good luck to the EDC if it is able to obtain the property, both for District Court and private use, and the same for any private individual who would feel it worthwhile to launch such an enterprise.

PEEKIN' into the PAST

25 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS

Patricia Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wood was elected Honor Queen of Clarkston Bethel No. 25 at the annual meeting held in Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. James Quick will occupy the J. Thompson Miller apartment on South Main being vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett Mann.

10 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS
May 13, 1965

Donna Joyce Ruggles and Ray Thomas Scott exchanged wedding vows recently at the home of her parents, the Raymond Ruggles of Reese Rd. in Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Erickson of South Main have returned home from a vacation which took them from New York on a cruise to Nassau and Bermuda.

You can protest high taxes

Residents of Michigan, who object to the state income tax increase from 3.9 to 4.6 percent, will have an opportunity to state their objections at 2 p.m. May 5 in the House Chambers, the Capitol Building in Lansing.

Those wishing to testify are asked to call 5-7-373-8360.

The hearing is held in conjunction with the effort on the part of some legislators to pass a resolution placing a limit on how much in total state taxes can be levied by the Legislature, according to Rep. Claude A. Trim (D-Davisburg).

The measure would also provide a ceiling for how much the legislature can spend, he noted.

Anybody noticed how babies seem to come out like crocuses in the spring?

Sprouting pastels, they emerge along sidewalks, in restaurants and on play yards, busily exploring the world—delighted and frightened at what they find.

And often what they find is somebody else's dog. The dogcatcher was in town last week, doing what was a necessary job, but with the usual amount of overkill the bureaucracy employs.

A neighbor of ours was ticked because their spayed female dog—which does not wander the streets—was sitting on their front porch without a leash and without fencing.

Several other dogs were justly tapped, however, including the Saile Beagle, "Trapper," who was out calling on his friends when I got home from work.

That's life, and he's been introduced to a chain again.

Out in Woodhull last week giant earthmoving machines were working on streets and an unsightly area, and it dawned on me that the sound of heavy equipment is part of the sounds of spring—one which we haven't been hearing as much of anymore.

We're told however that building permits have increased this past month. Maybe it's just seasonal—maybe it means that there are still people with faith in the economy.

The daffodils are in full dress array at our house, the pussy willow in bloom and the magnolia in bud. Grandma's kitchen garden is beginning to show green in delicate rows.

New ideas—new enthusiasm

Regrets

A neighborhood altercation is something to stay away from, and we ended up in the middle of one last week -- the flooding problem in the Walters Lake area.

Though we talked with all the official bodies concerned -- more interested in the fact that drainage could be altered and laws couldn't prevail against it -- we did not talk to Joseph Rhoades, the man implicitly criticized in connection with the change in drainage in one of our Letters to the Editor.

The pictures we used of the flood problems created in connection with the drainage change referred to the letter. The problems are valid problems; the letter is one person's point of view, now denied by Rhoades.

We regret the reference.

'If It Fitz ...'

This honky isn't proud

by Jim Fitzgerald

My daughter was walking alone on the campus of Western Michigan University. 3 black girls pushed her off the sidewalk. "Get your white honky ass out of the way," one of the girls said while the other two laughed.

What does the great white liberal father tell his daughter? Lena Horne would never act that way? Henry Aaron hit more home runs than Babe Ruth? George Washington Carver squeezed miracles out of a peanut?

I told her about the white dude who sat across my desk the other day. He came to talk about bowling but there was also the usual small talk about the weather and such things. He casually remarked that he had moved out of Flint "to get away from the niggers."

No matter how often I hear them, remarks like that pain my stomach and make my nerve ends twitch. It isn't that they surprise me. I know the world is full of bigots. But I am angered that these bigots take it for granted I won't be offended by their racial slurs.

It happens often, usually at polite parties where rich people meet to tell each other how poor they are. Someone says it's raining and someone else blames it on bused Negroes in Detroit or mouthy Jews in Miami.

Years ago I would argue back, usually gaining attention by revealing that my mother was Jewish and my father was black and my skin had turned white from the crawling caused by the smirking racists I met at church suppers. I don't do that anymore. My wife pointed out I wasn't winning any arguments or changing any minds, but I certainly was ruining a lot of parties.

So now I just calmly walk away, or bury my nose in ice cubes, when the bigots start spewing their crud. But I'm boiling inside. Granted, there is room in this world, and in that family room, for more than one opinion. But where does the white bigot get off assuming only black people are stung when some idiot condemns the entire black race because one Negro stole his aunt's purse?

I think racism is the most evil and dangerous thing in the world today. But I won't buy you a beer just so I can tell you your kids should be bused to Africa. Peace. I won't spit in the bigot's beer, so why can't he keep his dirty thumb out of mine? Peace. Your hostess may have just had the carpet cleaned.

Once in awhile, when prompted, I'll lay it all out in this column. This way I can make you mad without ruining your birthday. And if you want to answer, you can mail me a bomb which I'll be careful to open where it won't ruin anyone else's good time. (However, I am not soliciting mail. When I want to do that, I attack a really serious problem, such as Mickey Mouse).

Obviously, this week's sermon was prompted by the 3 black girls who shoved my daughter around. All they did was prove that bullies come in all colors. They didn't prove that all blacks are bullies.

I am angered by the ignorance of those 3 girls. But I can understand it. They are a product of their environment. Their lives have been warped by generations of racism.

Millions of lives, all colors, have been warped. Bigotry still thrives. I calmly walk away.

And I am not proud of my white honky ass.

Music, art and gym wanted

Dear Ms. Saile,

Children do not learn from buildings and equipment. They learn from fine teachers and varied experience.

While our community makes its decision about gyms, swimming pools, and alternative classrooms, please let us include physical education, art, vocal and instrumental music in all of our elementary children's curriculum. A basic daily physical education program is required and we need to provide qualified instructors to expose our children to regular art and expanded music programs.

It would, of course, be ideal to have a gym, multi-purpose area, media center, art and music rooms as a part of each school. But at this point let us provide the funds for fine teachers of physical education, art, and music who can "make do" with our present facilities. They can prepare our children NOW to be the well rounded, healthy and intelligent people they have the potential to become.

Thank you,
Sally L. Binard

Dear Mrs. Fahrner

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to you and your company for supporting the office cooperative program. Your continued support, guidance and inspiration to the youth of this community is gratifying to me as a coordinator and to our total program at Clarkston High School. I will continue to be of service to you in any way that I can, and I want to personally thank you for your part in the success of my first year as a coordinator.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) Ann Reeves
Office Coordinator

She recalls one-room country schools

Andersonville School (the old one) is at corner of Andersonville and Ware Rd. at the turn to Rep. Claude Trim's home, about 500 feet from the new brick one. Some people would not recognize that that was the "school" so many of us attended because it is so run down now.

I graduated from there May, 1935. My father, William H. Sommers, now 83 years old, spent all his school years there. Charles Hillman and all his brothers went there too, in other years.

Ware, Halsey, Halfpenny, Lowrie, Beardslee, Studebaker, Alexander, 2 families of Sommers kids, were just some of the families who attended K thru 8th grades. At one period of years every country school 7th and 8th graders had to take "county exams" to decide "if they passed" to either leave school or go on to high school.

Pat Shaughnessy and Hazel Sommers at Andersonville School in May, 1936.

That school was a lot bigger than 14 feet by 20 feet. It is 24 by 36, (I measured it today). During the depression years, with Miss G. Church, there were 45 pupils in beginners thru the 8th grade, crowded together along with the big round coal furnace.

Mae Pennell was one of my dad's teachers. Miss Jennie Scott, of Scott Road, Davisburg, taught there till 1926, but returned some time after 1935 for a few years.

Throughout the whole 8 years, Susan Lowrie Smith and I had three country school teachers, Miss Dorothy Tallman at 1927 for 3 years, Miss G. Church, at 1930 for 2 years and then Mr. Murlin Vaughn in the 6th, 7th and 8th grade. He retired as principal of Pontiac Lake Elementary just a few years ago.

Mrs. Crowley recently retired from Pine Knob Elementary, also was teacher at Andersonville. Gertrude Lunette Granger De Pietro, now of Bailey Lake Elementary taught there in 1945 with about 28 students thru all 8 grades. Mae Pennell returned to teach in the same school she had started teaching in so long before and then taught for years in the Davisburg Elementary.

The old country school that was on Andersonville Rd. at White Lake Rd. corner (on the Price Company land until it was burned) was called the Clarkston Station School. That district did NOT want to consolidate with the Waterford System, back in 1942, so the little country schoolboard had the schoolhouse picked up out of Waterford Township and moved into the Springfield part of that intersection!

Nevertheless, later it did finally consolidate into the Clarkston area school system, along with other outlying country schools.

Both of these two schoolhouses were used since the "consolidation." Springfield School, on the Dixie also joined Clarkston Area Schools.

There was another Andersonville School at the same site, but before my father's time had been burned down. Years before then there had been another one-room country school on Clark Rd., Davisburg, where my grandmother, Mary Elmira Simpson Sommers, said she went to school. This was on the hill just east of the area where M-275 is to cross Clark Rd., near the boundary between the present Holly and Clarkston school bus routes.

I don't know about the Fair School at the corner of White Lake Rd. and Teggerdine in White Lake Township. This is the school my mother, Sarah Eliza Harris Sommers, now 79 years old, attended prior to going on to Pontiac Business Institute, sometime before World War I.

These are the type of one-room country school that education is turning to look back and study, because reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic was stressed. College students from that background did not have to be taught elementary basics at the college level, like nowadays - for all the money our taxes put into educating ALL our kids.

Several bike thefts were reported in the past week -- on Shappie Road, Independence Street, Main Street, another on Independence Street; a mini-bike was reported missing on Ennismore; and a motorcycle from a locked garage on Oakhill.

A 19 inch color television was taken from a home on Center Circle, entry gained by breaking a window; a radio, old coins and antique Long Tom gun from a home on Rattek Road, the door kicked in; a chain saw stolen from a garage on Colgate, a $700 stereo from a home on North Bay in Springfield Township; a battery from a car parked on Woodlane; and a stereo, press box binoculars, jewelry box, shaver and "six armed dragon statue" from a home on Jerome.

Sheriff's deputies have some successes to their credit. Reports show a car stolen from the parking lot of the Paul Lou Bar on Dixie Highway May 3 was recovered on the parking lot of Clarkston's First Baptist Church. The keys were still in it, as they were when it was stolen.

A suspect was arrested on the scene at Clarkston Golf and Country Club after he had allegedly broken windows to gain entrance. He was heard by owner Paul Frechette over the intercom which connects the club with the house. Vernon James McVety, 19, of Oneida was arrested.

Four youngsters, aged 13 and 15, were arrested in the process of towing a stolen Volkswagen motor down Ennismore following its disappearance from a home on Jerome Street in Drayton Plains.

A $1500 boat missing from its dock on Lake Oakland was recovered later afloat on the same lake.

A man who was moving his furniture wasn't so lucky. A chair was blown off the back of his pickup truck on M-15 north of I-75, and when he returned to retrieve it, he was just in time to see someone else deposit it in the truck of a car and head north on I-75. He was unable to follow.

Neither was Claude Brewer of Lake Grove Road, Davisburg, very lucky. Someone slaughtered one of his heifers and dragged it to a vehicle where it was removed from the area.

Springfield Township Fire Department is warning residents of the need to obtain permits before setting large trash fires, and the laws which state that all trash must be burned in a covered container.

Householders are reminded they can be held liable for equipment use and damages occurring from a fire for which no permit has been obtained.

Grass fires have been at an all time low this year in Independence Township, according to Fire Chief Frank Ronk.

"The long, wet spring and now the green grass has just about eliminated the possibility of serious fires," Ronk said. "If we get a dry spell later on, it might be another story," he added.

Most of the people who suffered wet basements in the late April storm had no flood insurance, according to Fire Chief Frank Ronk. Some of the homes were located on elevations, and had never experienced dampness before. Those might be the people interested in disaster relief, he suggests.

Dr. Leslie F. Greene, superintendent of Clarkston Schools, is in hopes that the newly resurrected busing case will not involve Clarkston Schools.

"As I understand it, only those districts which can be proven to have drawn boundary lines with the definite intention of segregation can be held accountable," he said.

People who shop in the village during the next two weeks will be getting an added bonus. Tickets entitling them to free drawings during Village Stroll days will be dispensed along with merchandise. The drawing is planned for 3 p.m. Saturday, May 24.

Due to a typographical mistake, the phone number to call if you're interested in having your children in a new drum and bugle corps forming in the area was printed incorrectly last week. The number to call is 627-2537 after 6 p.m. Plans are to prepare the corps for Bicentennial appearances both here and across the country. The group practices at 7 p.m. Wednesdays at Sashabaw Junior High School.

State Representative Claude A. Trim (D-Davisburg) has introduced legislation which would disqualify from unemployment compensation benefits anyone who voluntarily quits his job.

The Trim proposal would amend the Michigan Employment Security Act. The Act presently disqualifies those who leave their work voluntarily "without good cause attributable to the employer or employing unit." Trim would broaden this to cover those who leave their work voluntarily "for any reason."

A cache of 15 wallets and purses was discovered last week at Clarkston High School behind a ceiling tile in one of the boys' lavatories. The monie is missing, school officials report, but identification remains and the purses are being returned to their owners as quickly as possible.

Scott Parker on Holcomb is the winner of a ten speed bike raffled by Clarkston Area Jaycees last Saturday. A back pack was awarded to Mark Adams, a baby bike seat by Frank Hill, and 10 safety flags were also presented.

Independence Township Police Services will sponsor a car wash beginning at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, May 10, in the township parking lot. The event is to raise funds for youth programs.

School board terms are for four years, not six as reported in last week's paper. The deadline to file nominating petitions is May 12. There are two openings.

PARTRIDGE REAL ESTATE INC.Providing Complete Real Estate
ServiceGARY W. PARTRIDGE,
President

Whether you are interested in real estate for an investment, recreation property, farm, business or a home, every transaction should be fully investigated by someone with experience extensive enough to insure you that both parties receive dollar for dollar value.

For the best interest of any readers contemplating selling or buying any type of real estate we honestly believe that the wisest preliminary step would be to consult with Partridge Real Estate Inc. located at 1050 West Huron in Pontiac, phone 681-2111.

This firm can be relied upon for astute judgment as to values of all types of property for miles around. At the same time they have established a reputation for fast action on buying or selling and completing transactions.

Partridge Real Estate Inc. is one of the most dependable real estate firms in this section of the state offering all kinds of city and country properties. Your best investment today is real estate, regardless if you invest in a homesite, farm or business location. And by being a member of Partridge & Associates with 53 Realtor Offices throughout Michigan they can provide fast offering of properties all over the state, especially in business and investment property and raw land.

It's with pleasure that the staff of this Review are able to unhesitatingly bring Partridge Real Estate Inc. to the attention of our friends in this 1975 Review.

The place to go to pick up something for that late night snack or for something to eat or drink anytime is Harry's Opdyke Market, conveniently located at 2485 N. Opdyke Rd. in Pontiac, phone 373-6141.

The idea behind their business is to serve the people of this area with a wide variety of name brand merchandise, and fast friendly service.

They have stocked their shelves with party items often forgotten at the supermarket, and items we all need at unusual hours of the morning and evening.

One of the reasons this party store is so widely patronized is the fact that when people shop here for their favorite party beverages and mixers, they can be sure of getting the brand they like. You will find a galaxy of domestic and imported wines and liquors and you will always find your favorite brand of beer or malt liquor in stock. They offer free parking and fast check out service.

The writers of this 1975 Review compliment the management for their efforts to offer what is needed, when it is needed. Make it a point to shop at Harry's Opdyke Market for party beverage supplies.

HARRY'S OPDYKE MARKETKNIGHT ELECTRONIC SYSTEMS

MEL CHAMBERS - Owner

Many businessmen and homeowners nowadays have come to enjoy the satisfaction of knowing that their place of business or home is protected with not only just a good lock on the front door, but with an approved alarm system guarding their business with the utmost of reliability for only pennies a day.

The authors of this 1975 Review commend this agency for their fine service and honest representation to our readers. They can make your vacation as enjoyable, and relaxing as you really want it to be.

Wolves headed for championship

by Dave Johnson

It has been a score of years since Clarkston last witnessed a first place finish by its varsity baseball team. But midway through the season, it appears that the 20 year wait for a championship team is over.

The Wolves kept their unblemished league record intact by defeating both Bloomfield Hills Andover and Waterford Kettering. Their Wayne-Oakland league record now stands at 5-0. Clarkston also split a double-header with highly rated Royal Oak Kimball. The Wolves over-all record stands at 6-3.

In the first game against Kimball, pitcher Bill Mathews held Royal to only one run on four hits, but still suffered the defeat. The Wolves got only one hit and were held scoreless for a 1-0 loss.

Fortunately, the bats which were held silent in the first game came alive in the nightcap. The Wolves banged out four hits and scored three runs in a fifth inning upsurge. Clarkston added an additional run in the sixth inning when Dan Blower tripled home Tom Ross. This run proved to be the winner as Clarkston won, 4-3. Paul Breinenger picked up the victory in relief of Ross.

In a league game against Andover, Clarkston scored all the runs they needed in the fourth inning as they won, 3-0. Dan Blower reached first on an error and was forced to second when George Porritt walked. Mike Hooper followed with a double which scored two runs. Two outs later, Steve Ronk singled home Hooper.

Pitcher Steve Howe achieved his third victory on a three-hitter, walked two, and struck out nine. It was his second consecutive shutout.

Clarkston continued their dominance in the Wayne-Oakland league by defeating Waterford Kettering, 2-1. The Wolves scored both of their runs in the initial inning as Rod Hool singled home

George Porritt and Mike Hooper. The Captains lone run scored in the second inning, but was unearned.

Winning pitcher, Tom Ross, went the distance giving up two hits, four walks, and struck out six.

The Wolves resume their quest for the championship this week in games against Clarenceville, Milford, Pontiac Catholic and West Bloomfield.

Top athletes of the week named

Clarkston High School initiated a new practice this week of naming the outstanding boy and girl Athlete of the Week. The students are selected by coaches and administration.

Nancy Chartier, a junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chartier, 6311 Peach, was the first girl so designated. She played an important part in last week's softball victories over Andover and Kettering. A short-stop, she has been on outstanding defensive player and last week collected 7 hits in 10 trips to the plate.

Wayne Thompson, a junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Thompson, 7988 Perry Lake Road, is the boy athlete first named for the honor.

Wayne has set several school and track records already this season -- a new school record in the 100-yard dash at 9.95 seconds, a new school record in the 220-yard dash at 22.9 seconds, and a new Clarkston track record in the 220-yard dash at 22.95 seconds.

He also set a new school record in the long jump with a leap of 22 feet, 4 1/2 inches, and a new Clarkston track record in the long jump with 21 feet 2 1/2 inches.

Wayne is undefeated in the 220-yard dash and the long jump in dual meet competition, last Saturday in competition with 14 other teams in the Lake Orion Invitational Relays having won the long jump, taking second in both the 100-yard and 220-yard dash, and leading off the 440-yard relay team which took fourth place.

Basketball: What game can match it as a test of a team's strength, endurance, speed, and accuracy? In fact, basketball is a world-wide sport, played on courts throughout many nations. But have you ever heard of basket endball? This game, although similar to basketball, is not nearly as popular. Dribbling is forbidden in the game, and players must always stay within their assigned zones. The game is divided into three periods in which members of the teams rotate so that each gets to play all the zones.

Ariens

WHAT A WAY TO HOE!

Flower and vegetable gardening can be back-breaking work what with all the spading, cultivating, aerating and composting that's required. On the other hand, it can be a very rewarding and relaxing hobby with the help of an Ariens Tiller. Ariens, America's first garden tiller manufacturer, offers three styles of rugged tillers — the gear-drive Jets and Rockets and a brand new chain-drive model. Powered with engines ranging from 3 HP to 7 HP, some models feature two speeds forward and reverse and the popular side-to-side adjustable handlebars to avoid walking in tilled soil.

Track team loses to Kettering

by Dave Johnson

The Clarkston Wolves lost the only track meet they had last week, 64-59, at the hands of Waterford Kettering. The Wolves placed first in nine of fifteen events, but couldn't score enough second or third place finishes to stay with the Captains.

First place finishes included Tim Doherty in the shot-put with a toss of 45'5", Mike Nurenberg in the 880-yard run with a time of 2:07, Paul Brown in the 1-mile run with a time of 4:48, Paul Glowzinski in the 2-mile run in 10:26, and Dave Kras in the 440-yard dash with a time of 54:5

seconds. The Wolves also won the 440-yard relay with a time of 47.5 seconds.

Wayne Thompson picked up three first place finishes himself and took part in the 440-yard relay. Wayne won the long jump with a jump of 18'11½", the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.9 seconds, and the 220-yard dash in 24 seconds flat. Thompson is also the leader in team points.

Clarkston's record stands at 3-1 and they are tied for second place in the Wayne-Oakland league with West Bloomfield. The Wolves take on Andover Tuesday in their only meet of the week.

Girls' varsity downs Andover, Kettering

The girls' varsity softball team extended its record to 4-1 last week with victories over Andover and Kettering.

Clarkston collected 18 hits defeating Andover by a score of 22-16 in a game otherwise marred by fielding errors. Catcher Cindy Hunt led the hitting attack with a triple, a double, and two singles. Nancy Chartier added 3 singles and Lynette Marino a triple in the winning effort.

Dede Miller turned in a fine pitching performance as she held Kettering to 4 hits in the 13-7 Clarkston victory. Shortstop Nancy Chartier made some key defensive plays and collected 4 hits in pacing the Wolves to victory. Michelle Stroehn hit a long triple and Autumn Matlock added 3 singles in Clarkston's 13 hit attack.

The JV's dropped two games last week, losing to Andover by a score of 20-6, and to Our Lady of the Lakes' varsity by a score of 16-11.

Brenda Bunton hit a home run and Jill Vedder added a triple in the Andover defeat.

Despite good hitting, the JV's failed to overcome to older, more experienced Lakes team. Anne Van Loon was 3-4 for the afternoon, and Brenda Bunton, Tammy Campbell and Jill Vedder added doubles. Jill Vedder collected 4 RBI's.

This week the girls travel to Clarenceville and Milford, and host West Bloomfield on Friday.

Henry Germain

First in men's singles

Henry Germain, lead pro at the Deer Lake Racquet Club in Clarkston, has won the Michigan Indoor Tennis championship for men's singles.

He defeated Phil Norville, pro at the Beverly Hills Racquet Club, by 6-7, 6-0 and 6-3.

The tournament was held at the Genesee Valley Racquet Club in Flint, Sunday.

Germain of 7 Robertson Court in Clarkston, is in his second year as pro at Deer Lake. He has been competing in Michigan tournaments since he was 10, played on the all-Navy tennis team, and will be playing all over the state again this summer.

As summer approaches, the racquet club will be sponsoring a number of programs.

They will be holding their club tournament finals May 18. About 20 area residents will be competing for honors in the men's singles, men's doubles, mixed doubles, ladies' singles and ladies' doubles in two divisions.

The club is also sponsoring a clinic for the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Oakland County beginning May 17.

June 16 is the start of the Club's summer camp program; anyone interested can sign up by calling 625-8686.

CJH trackmen undefeated

Clarkston Junior High School's 9th grade track team has gone undefeated in its first four meets this year, having beaten Milford, West Hills, Sashabaw and West Bloomfield.

In the process, many school records have been broken. Johnny Baker has run the 100-yard dash in 10.4, followed by Ray Bell -- also an outstanding long jumper -- at 10.5.

Rick Jenks turned in a time of 17.9 in the high hurdles and 22.55 in the low hurdles. Strong backing has been provided by the Collins brothers, Bruce and Barry, and Dobbins brothers, Dave and Dennis, and Kit Pappas. John also holds the school record in the high jump at 5 foot, 8 inches.

Consistent performances in distant events have been turned in by Don Guye and Kevin Sutherland in the 880. Paul Maas has been first many times, his best time being 5:10.6. In the two mile, Matt Harris' best time is 11:08.

Rick June, Barry Davis and Tim Saylor, who with Sutherland run the mile relay, have been turning in steadily improving performances.

Bill Singleton's best vault is 10 feet, 6 inches with Chris Leaf close behind.

The 440 relay team of Singleton, Bell, Leaf and Baker have broken the school record each time they've run, their present best 47.4.

Hunting bans still being considered

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News

A third public hearing regarding the banning of hunting in certain sections of the township will probably be required as a result of a meeting in Independence Township last Thursday.

At that time some 20 people appeared at a hunting ban hearing to object to plans for control of firearm use south of I-75 and in the Hubbard Road and Perry Lake Road areas.

They prevailed to the point that a hunting control committee comprised of Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie, Deputy Stan Clark of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Sgt. Steve Snowaert of the Michigan State Police and Bruce Andrews of the State Department of Natural Resources law enforcement division decided to make some changes.

The committee is expected to recommend at its next meeting that all firearms, other than shotguns using less than No. 2 shot be banned from the area south of I-75 in the township. Hunting is to be banned entirely from three-quarters of a section in the shape of an inverted L in sections 28 and 29 (which involves the Birdland area), Greens Lake, between Cranberry Lake Road and Hubbard Road and M-15 and Allen Road (including 450 feet north of Hubbard Road) and for 1500 feet on either side of Perry Lake Road for a mile north of I-75.

People of the Birdland subdivision succeeded in convincing the committee it should also ban hunting for 450 feet east of Chickadee in order to protect the homes along the street.

The original cut-off point had been Chickadee Lane, the remainder east of there to be left open to all but rifle fire. Residents pointed out that pistols had been used in the area, and succeeded in getting pistol use prohibited.

Andrews repeatedly told the group the ban could be enacted only for reasons of safety. He said the original recommendations had been made as a result of an on-sight inspection, and that the township board would yet have a chance to accept or reject the committee's findings. State legislative approval would also be needed, he said. The ban would take six months to a year to become final, he added.

Several hunters as well as residents opposed to any hunting south of I-75 were in the audience. One man who lives north of Hubbard Road objected to the extension of the no-hunting ban into his area.

A letter from Camp Fire Girls which own Camp Oweki, already closed to hunting in the Gulick area, stressed the danger involved from hunters outside the property.

Andrews stressed that it is already illegal in open hunting areas to fire a gun within 450 feet of a house, unless the hunter is on his own property or has permission of the property owner to do so. He said the firearms must also be handled in a safe manner. In no hunting areas, not even the property owner can fire a gun, he added.

Residents spoke of the frequent futility in trying to get law enforcement officers to the scene in time to apprehend violators, and Andrews said the same would apply were the area to be banned entirely to hunting.

JV in first place

by Dave Johnson

Clarkston Junior Varsity baseball team took sole possession of first place in the Wayne Oakland League last week by sweeping single games from Bloomfield Hills Andover and Waterford Kettering. These victories lifted the Wolves win-loss record to 4-1.

In a game against Andover, the Barons struck first with an unearned run in the second inning. Clarkston retaliated with two runs of their own in the second inning as Todd Himes stroked a home run with a man on base. The Wolves increased their lead to 3-1 as Kevin Ridley drove home a run with a third inning single.

That was all the scoring until the sixth inning when Clarkston pushed five more runs across the plate. Don Blower started off the inning with a walk and was followed with a single by Larry Bennett. Both runners scored on errors committed by Andover's catcher. Meanwhile, Dick Armstrong and Jeff Schatz each singled to set up a three run homer by Dave Johnson.

The Barons scored two more runs in the seventh inning, but it wasn't enough as the Wolves won 8-3. Winning pitcher Todd Himes picked up his first victory against no losses, gave up six hits, walked two, and struck out six. Jeff Schatz earned his first save as he pitched the last 1 1/3 innings.

Clarkston picked up their second victory of the week, outlasting Waterford Kettering, 9-7. The Wolves scored the first run of the game due to erratic pitching. Larry Bennett singled out the first pitch, advanced to second on a balk, and scored on two consecutive wild pitches to give Clarkston a 1-0 lead.

However, the Captains scored five runs on only two hits to take a commanding four run lead in the first inning.

The Wolves, nevertheless, pecked away at the Kettering lead, until they finally tied the score in the fifth inning. Don Blower knocked in a pair of runs with a two-run homer and Kevin Dutcher knocked in a pair.

Clarkston took a two run lead in the sixth inning as Kevin Ridley and Dick Armstrong picked up RBI singles. Doug Manigold added an insurance run in the seventh inning as he belted a solo home run.

Jeff Schatz pitched seven strong innings giving up seven hits, walking two, and striking out thirteen. The victory was his third against no losses.

Larry Bennett led the offensive attack with three singled and a pair of stolen bases. Don Blower provided the power with his three RBI's.

The Wolves have four games this week

Girls have first win

After four track meets, the Clarkston Wolves female track team, coached by Pat MacArthur, has one victory. They have lost to Pontiac Central, 92-12, Lake Orion, 80-25, and Rochester, 72-32, but did roll over Walled Lake Western, 55-49.

First place finishers in the Wolves victory over Walled Lake Western included Carol Hubbard in the high jump with a jump of 4'2". Vadna Seyler in the 880-yard run with a time of 1:54, and Vivian Booker in the 110-yard hurdles.

Clarkston's relay team won both the mile relay and the 440-yard relay. Their times were 4:37.2 and 56.7 seconds respectively.

Marie Rathsburg won two events including the shot put and 100-yard dash. Her toss covered 29'8" and she won the dash in 13.1 seconds.

The girls track team have two meets scheduled this week. They're away at Milford Lakeland on Monday, and host Milford on Wednesday.

Fishing derby to aid center

Have you always fancied yourself a trout fisherman?

There'll be a chance to prove it May 10 and 11 when the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club sponsors its annual fishing derby at the Drayton Plains Nature Center.

Ponds stocked with trout 10 to 16 inches in length will be opened to the public at the rate of $1 per hour, proceeds benefitting the center.

The Sportsmen's Club has also arranged for exhibitions on casting and the use of lures by the Southeastern Michigan Bass Association and other demonstrations in fly tying.

Children between the ages of 3 and 12 must be accompanied by an adult, club members say.

It's a fight to the finish at Clarkston Senior High next Wednesday, May 14 when the Clarkston bus drivers challenge a team of the Clarkston Junior High girls' volleyball league to a volley ball game. Revving up for their supergame with a superbowl, scheduled for 7 p.m., are members of the Clarkston Junior High volleyball team. From left are Linda Moody, Irene Temple, Peggy Westlund, Marcia Mason, Jane Tatu, Carrie Stanton and Gina Fritzinger. Flexing their mighty muscles in back are Pat Killian [left] and Anne Vaara. Tickets are being sold by the bus drivers or at the door for 25 cents. Proceeds will go to the girls' athletic programs at the junior high.

'Hot Summer Wine' regatta winner

Clarkston sailors Jim Roettger and Don Slaven took second place in this weekend's Invitational Regatta at Deer Lake, sponsored by the Deer Lake Sail Club for the Michigan-Shark Fleet.

Winner was Tom Linton of St. Clair Shores. Jim Vandevier of Farmington took third, Stan Smith of Grosse Pointe took fourth and Bob Ward of Clarkston took fifth.

Three races were held each day, with 11 starters sailing the four and one half mile course in strong wind.

Everything went off smoothly thanks to race organizers Bob Hazlett, Jim Falardeau and Ken Whitenton, all of the Deer Lake Sailing Club, according to Brooke Bennett, a member of the Deer Lake Club and also secretary of the Michigan Shark Club.

Everyone was racing Sharks, which is the largest of the regularly raced class of catamaran in the United States. Roettger and Slaven finished in their shark

"Hot Summer Wine."

Fastest time recorded around the court was just over 35 minutes, Bennett said, which was, because of the strong winds, "really hauling."

The top five winners received engraved mugs.

Junior High track team wins

The seventh and eighth grade track teams at Clarkston Junior High won two victories last week, defeating West Bloomfield Abbott 78-50 Friday and downing Sashabaw last Wednesday 79 1/2 to 43 1/2.

Nearly half the points at the meet against Abbott were won by seventh grade runners. Six out of nine of the first place finishes were made by seventh graders.

In the meet against Sashabaw, Clarkston Junior High collected 11 out of 15 of the running events.

Springfield rec programs enrolling now

Springfield Township Recreation Department is offering golf and tennis lessons for the family and a women's slow pitch softball league. Residents can register by calling Dave Conklin at 634-3111 or 625-4802.

Men's golf lessons are offered from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Holly Greens beginning May 14 for 10 weeks. The fee is $15.

Women's golf is 10 to 11 a.m.

Wednesdays beginning May 14 at Holly Greens, the fee $15.

Children's golf lessons are offered from 4 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays beginning May 13 for 10 weeks, the cost again $15.

Beginning tennis lessons are offered from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays for eight weeks at Colombiere College, the fee $15.

Slow pitch starts May 17 and will run about 12 weeks, Conklin said.

Sports Sale benefits center

North Oakland Civitan Club will sponsor a spring sports sale May 17 at independence center, 5331 Maybee Road. Proceeds will benefit the center and the work of the club.

All kinds of sports equipment from travel trailers to tennis balls will be accepted at the center during the hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day and also on sale day.

Articles will be marked with your selling price, and if they are sold Civitan will collect 25 percent.

Further information is available by calling the center at 673-2244 or Bill Kunse at 625-5030.

Wolverines drop two games

Clarkston Wolverines baseball team dropped two games last week -- a 6-2 decision to Pierce and a 5-2 decision to an undefeated Walled Lake Central team.

Through the first six games this year, Tim Fogg has led the way with five extra base hits and 34 strikeouts in 22 innings pitched. Pat Allen, Tim Birtsas, Mark Foster, Brian Snyder and Ski Kulazewski added support to Fogg's and Birtsas' pitching.

The Wolverines play three games this week with West Bloomfield, Lake Orion and West Hills.

Places to go, things to do

Continuous lessons on a year round basis are now being offered at the North Oakland YMCA.

Beginning May 12, Mr. Chang Whang Lee, 6th degree black belt master will be instructing his school on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 6:00 - 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Lee has trained the Vietnam and American armies as well as trained the Cambodian President's personal guard. He is a retired Korean army captain and a master in Karate and self-defense techniques.

The second annual Central Michigan Youth Baseball Invitational will begin June 14 in Swartz Creek. It consists of two age divisions, 11, 12 and 13 years old, and 14, 15 and 16 years old, for girls as well as boys. Letters of intent should be mailed by May 1 to Maurice Jeffers, director, 2035 S. Morrish Road, Swartz Creek, Mi. 48473.

Mid Michigan Community College at Harrison will sponsor its Mid Michigan Mushroom

Festival May 16 to 18 in honor of the elusive Morel. Campers will be accommodated and a carnival atmosphere will prevail, however classes in identification of the mushrooms will also be conducted and field trips will allow the gathering of underground delicacy.

"The Assemblage of Property by Options" will be Bruce J. Annett's topic before the Pontiac Area Board of Realtors at 8:30 a.m. May 13 at White Lake Oaks, 991 North Williams Lake Road.

South Oakland Unit of the Michigan Cancer Foundation will sponsor a free, one-day pap test clinic from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. May 14 at Oakland County Community College, Highland Lakes campus.

The New Miles Davis Band and the Eleventh House with guitarist Larry Coryell will appear in concert at Oakland University on Saturday, May 24.

Tickets for the 6:30 p.m. concert are $5, $4, and $3.50 for seats in Baldwin Memorial Pavilion. Lawn seats are $3.

Ticket are on sale at all Hudson stores, White's Records (Detroit), the Music Saloon (Pontiac), Full Moon Records (Rochester), and the OU Campus Ticket Office.

County takeover of private roads made easier

24 miles of private roads lie in Independence Township.

by Jean Saile
of The Clarkston News
Independence Township residents living on the 24 miles of private roads within the township might find it easier to shift their responsibilities of ownership onto the county now.

Recent state legislation has provided for two means of getting the Oakland County Road Commission to take over the work on the roads, both of them less involved than previous regulations which controlled such transactions.

One route involves a special assessment district for maintenance purposes alone, according to Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer with the county. Ownership of the road in those instances would still remain in private hands, and any new construction required would have to be handled separately and paid for over and above the maintenance contract.

The possibility seen as having the best chance for better upkeep involves petitions through the township and the Circuit Court to transfer ownership outright to the Road Commission.

Legislation has enabled 65 percent of the people living on a private road to initiate petitions to the township board requesting transfer of ownership. The township board then notifies the road commission which sets up certain standards for the road, each case to be treated individually, Van Roekel said.

Once such standards are accepted by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners -- and the Road Commission indicates it can no longer require paving of gravel roads for this purpose -- the township then has the right to require a deposit from the residents covering legal fees and to levy special assessments for the required improvements before taking the matter to court.

Van Roekel said he expected the road commission standards for privately owned gravel roads would involve "at least six inches of gravel on the road, 'some fairly continuous' open ditch drainage on both sides, culverts at driveways and across the road where needed."

"We're most interested in having a maintainable road, both in good weather and bad," Van Roekel said.

While he expects the new process to be time consuming with a fair sized assessment involved in most cases, Van Roekel admits the new process is easier than the old. It used to be that before the road commission would take over ownership of a private road, the road had to be of standard width, and grade, paved and drained.

Poorly maintained paved private roads would have to be repaired to the point they were also maintainable, Van Roekel added, before the county would assume ownership.

No such petitions have as yet been filed, Van Roekel added, before the county would assume ownership.

No such petitions have as yet been filed, Van Roekel said, however preliminary work is being done to transfer ownership of a private road in Highland Township.

Washouts like this on privately owned roads can become the county's responsibility under new rules adopted by the state legislature.

Big Ben is the prize

"Big Ben the St. Bernard" being cuddled here by Bailey Lake students Inga and Sven Girsuhner, is one of many stuffed animals that will be given away for prizes during Bailey Lake's annual school fair. The fair is set for Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. It features games, prizes, food, cakes, plants, a white elephant sale, clowns, balloons and a spook house. The school will also raffle off a 10-speed bike.

John Wayne will make the news again in a few months due to health.

A tidal wave will hit a Pacific Island destroying half of it completely.

A famous horse, dark in color, will have an injury to the left side, right flank and leg. The decision to destroy this fine animal will be put aside in a desperate hope that medical treatment will help.

Ted Kennedy is often in the news and has not given up the thought of running for president, but this time his wife, Joan, will ripple the waters which will turn into big waves. No matter what is said, she will not change her mind.

Elizabeth Taylor will be flashing a diamond ring, but any statements of being engaged are false. I see the ring being changed from the right hand to left and back again, as if she can't make up her mind. Elizabeth is still in love with Richard Burton.

There will be fewer divorces even though marriages are on the upswing.

More married men will take over important roles in the Catholic Church, which before have been the priests' duty. The local parishes will broaden their views and it will draw many converts.

A happening to Bob Hope, long loved, will bring tears and sadness to the world.

Johnnie Carson shows brightly, and those watchers will have a surprise when he steps forward and announces his retirement from TV to go into other branches, including acting for his own company, of course. Ed will follow along with him. They'll never be poor if they start in August.

There will be a lot of rumors, which will be reported in a metropolitan daily as fact, resulting in a law suit.

Jim's Jottings

by Jim Sherman

There is one guy around, who will go nameless because he's called so many it's hard to pinpoint one, also who cannot be embarrassed.

But Wow! can he be the embarrassment.

The other day he left our office with a rather loud remark, "Hazel, I'll return your pajama tops in the morning."

Another favorite is for him to stick his head in the front door of a business place, full of people and shout to the owner, "Hey, (whoever), is your brother out of jail yet?"

Or, "Is your husband still drunk?"

Of course, he isn't the only needling, wisecracker around. Midst a pre-golf warmup session someone put the thought into the conversation of my merging a couple papers.

One quick response was, "Yeah, and you could call it Delsey."

When another came back with, "No. Whoever heard of 'Please don't squeeze the Delsey?'" I headed for the first tee.

I'm fascinated and perplexed at many sorts of happenings including coincidences of dates and things. Like the date of April 12 for Harold and Pauline Pickford of Oxford.

On that date he was liberated from a prison camp in Germany. The first Jeep through the POW gate had the name "Pauline" on it. President Roosevelt died on April 12, and of course Harry Truman was sworn in as president the same date.

It is also the date of Pauline's parent's wedding anniversary.

I was told once that people tend to make major decision in a particular month. Like they will buy a house, car, etc. in a certain month.

I was told that by my brother, Don, who will also have an answer as to why my major decisions have been made in May, October, December, and July.

Detroit Edison has been exchanging light bulbs for residential customers since they went into business in 1903. Now the courts have ruled what Edison is doing is legal (not in violation of anti-trust laws).

Some good does come out of the courts.

Now let's have a round of applause for Edison and the 15 million bulbs they distribute each year.

Let's hear a round of boos for the state legislature who saw their increase in state income tax go into effect this week while their counterparts in Washington gave you the money to pay it.

One really can't win for losing.

Increased assessments don't help

School superintendent outlines complicated financial structure

"Each student attending Clarkston District Schools is entitled to a budget of up to $975.

"The figure has been arrived at through use of the Gilbert E. Bursley School District Equalization Act of 1973, and was attained by use of a $39,000 figure, the average taxable wealth said to be behind each school age child in the state during the year 1974-75.

"To arrive at $975, the district valuation behind each student was subtracted from the $39,000 figure and the results multiplied by the local tax levied for purposes of school operation. Up to and including 25 mills or $25 per $1,000 of assessed valuation was allowed for this purpose.

"The Clarkston School District, however, levied a tax of only 24.43 for operation so the maximum amount available for each child in the 1974-75 school year was $[39 \times 24.43]$ \$952.77.

"Theoretically then, if the valuation of each child in our district were zero, the district would raise no money for school operation and the state would provide the total $952.77 school operation.

"Conversely, if the valuation per child in the Clarkston School District were $39,000 or more per child, the local district would pay the total cost of operating the schools and the state would contribute nothing.

"As the local valuation per child increases, the state's contribution to defray the cost of school operation diminishes - and conversely - as the local valuation per child diminishes, the state's contribution to defray the cost of school operation increases.

The above is an explanation offered by Dr. Leslie F. Greene, superintendent of schools, in regard to complicated financing of the schools and why it is important that voters renew a 5 mill operating levy next month.

Increased local assessments do not help the schools, he contends. Only the millage rate is important and he offers the following to substantiate that contention:

Exhibit I

Clarkston School District has a state equalized valuation of $115 million in the 1974-75 year. The official enrollment, taken the fourth Friday of last September, was 7,012 students. The local tax spread for school operation was $24.43 per $1,000 valuation. Operation funds available from state and local sources during the school year was (39×24.43) or $952.77, of which the state share is $552.12 and the local district share $400.65.

Exhibit II

The 1974-75 state equalized valuation is now promised as increasing 14 percent to a total of $13,770,000 in the district. Projections are that enrollment would stay the same at 7,012 students, and the tax spread -- if voters renew 5 mills in June -- remains at $24.43 per $1,000 equalized valuation.

Therefore, the school district valuation per child becomes $131,770,000 divided by 7,012 or 18,792. The state's share of equalization is then $($39,000 \text{ less } $18,792)$ or $20,208.

The state would now pay the Clarkston School District $(20,208 \times .02443)$ \$493.68 per student for operation and the local district would raise through taxation $(18,792 \times .02443)$ \$459.09 per student, while the total amount per child would remain the same at \$952.77.

The state would, in effect, be paying $58.44 less per student and the cost would be picked up by local taxes.

Exhibit III

If the school district were to lower the operation tax millage in the same percentage as the assessment increases, the income per child would not remain the same but would decrease.

A 14 percent reduction in local operational millage would put the figure at 21 mills or $21 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

State equalized valuation per child would remain the same as in Exhibit II and the state share of equalization ($20,208) remains the same.

The state would now pay the school district $($20,208 \times .021)$ or $424.37 per student and the district would provide $($18,792 \times .021)$ or $394.82.

Total revenue per child from the state and local sources would be lowered from $952.77 to $819.19, a loss of $133.77 per child or a total loss to the district of $935,961 in one year.

The state would save $127.75 per student or $895,783. The local district would save only $42,086. Dr. Greene emphasized that school districts are the only municipality whose income is determined by a fixed dollar amount shared through an equalization process between state and local funds.

He said the formula for this is designed in part to compensate the burden in districts of low taxable wealth.

"As valuation per child increases through higher assessments in the local district, the reimbursement from state sources is correspondingly reduced," he added.

"Other municipalities such as townships, intermediate school districts, counties, villages and cities are not so affected as no deductible is applied to their incomes, and any increase in local valuation applied to the same levy results in a dollar income percentage gain equal to the percentage increase in the equalized valuation of the municipality."

Garden questions answered in clinic

Gardening problems—what to seed and how to grow it, what to do about pests, landscaping, soil preparation—will be answered during The Clarkston News third annual Garden Clinic from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18.

Dave Coulter, Clarkston News garden editor, and Tom Ritter of Ritter's Farm Market, 6684 Dixie Highway will be available at the market to answer all questions.

Dave, who's been 40 years in the garden seed business and who has always had a garden, has established a reputation for knowing the answers about home gardening. He had appeared in several garden seminars throughout the country.

Tom, with an associate's degree in landscape technology and experience in plant entomology and ornamental horticulture, will be able to answer questions about those phases of growing things. He also has information about disease and pest control.

Anyone with questions about their gardens are invited to stop in and visit with the two experts. The service is free.

Rolling out the mat

A new landing mat at Deer Lake was installed Friday night, just in time for the Deer Lake Sailing Club races on Saturday and Sunday. The mat is an old World War II metal ramp that used to be placed over swampy areas and other soft areas so planes could land. It was procured for the club by Al Valentine, and paid for by the township. The sailing club installed the mat because cars were getting stuck in the sand at the Deer Lake boat landing.

VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING

April 28, 1975

Meeting called to order by President Hallman.
Roll: Present—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Absent—none.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.
Gar Wilson reported on prices that he had received for sidewalk and curb work, and for materials to revamp the village hall.

Moved by Weber to purchase materials, at a cost not to exceed $400.00, to panel the walls, install a dropped ceiling, and re-cover the floor of the village hall. Seconded by Granlund. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried.

President Hallman recommended that Trustee Weber be appointed as the Village Police Commissioner, and that John Sackrider be appointed to serve the vacant three year term on the planning commission.

Moved by McCall to appoint Jim Weber as the police commissioner. Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Thayer to appoint John Sackrider to a three year term on the planning commission. Motion died for lack of support.

Moved by Basinger to appoint Lucia Wilford to a three year term on the planning commission. Motion died for lack of support.

President Hallman asked the trustees to submit names to him for this appointment by the next meeting.

Moved by Weber to pass the Resolution requested by Police Chief McCall, to apply to the Oakland County Road Commission for parade permits for the Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, and Christmas parades this year.
Seconded by Granlund. Motion carried unanimously.

Joe Gulash, president of the Village Business Association, was present to request that the council approve a resolution naming the week of May 16-24, 1975, as a week of downtown business promotional activities, to be known as the Village Spring Stroll.

Moved by Basinger to proclaim May 16-24, 1975 as The Village Spring Stroll for the downtown business area.
Seconded by Weber. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Basinger to allot the 1975-76 Revenue Sharing Funds for the Village of Clarkston, in the amount of $5633.00, in the Public Safety category. Seconded by Weber. Motion carried unanimously.

Trustee Weber will work with Chief McCall on a possible dog ordinance to control the increasing problem of dogs wandering about the streets.

Trustee Schultz arrived at the meeting.

Treasurer Art Pappas presented the proposed 1975-76 budget to the council that he and the budget committee had worked on. This was discussed by the council.

Trustee Thayer will investigate raising the rent for the barber shop next door to the village hall and metering our own electric usage instead of having them pay for it.

Moved by Granlund to transfer $3953.72 from the Septic
Fund to the General Fund. Seconded by McCall. Roll:
Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber.
Nays—none. Motion carried.

Moved by Granlund to levy 12.5 mills for sewer construction payment and 2.5 mills for the General Fund, which would be the same tax rate as is currently being levied.
Seconded by McCall. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund,
McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried.

Moved by Granlund to accept the revised 1974-75
budget. Seconded by McCall. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund, McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none.
Motion carried. A copy of this budget is attached to the Minutes.

Moved by Granlund to adopt the 1975-76 budget.
Seconded by McCall. Roll: Ayes—Basinger, Granlund,
McCall, Schultz, Thayer, Weber. Nays—none. Motion carried. A copy of this budget is attached to the Minutes.

A letter will be sent to Juanita Bennett, thanking her for her donation of a flagpole to the village.

The council discussed floor plain designations, and decided to do some further research on the matter.

Correspondence from the attorney was read, concerning his proposed changes for the Building Permit Approval Required Section of the Zoning Ordinance, namely Section 12.07. Trustee Basinger will do some further checking on this matter.

Meeting called adjourned by President Hallman.

When the grocery store came to the settlers

Frank Walters, who ran a general store in Clarkston in the building now occupied by The Clarkston News, once found it paid to take his wares to the people. This is a picture from the collection of Erwin J. Teggerdine showing Walters and his grocery wagon at the Urch farm which was located on White Lake Road near Andersonville. The woman at left in the picture is a Mrs. Phetteplace, Teggerdine recalls.

How to get disaster relief

Federal Disaster Assistance Administration provides temporary housing assistance for individuals and families whose homes have been made unlivable by the flood and tornado. This help is available until their homes have been rebuilt, or other adequate alternate housing becomes available.

Anyone whose primary residence was damaged should apply, since other help may be available. For instance, minimal repairs might be authorized, meaning the homeowner could stay in his own home rather than move. Any Rehabilitation beyond the basic repairs authorized under this program would be the homeowner's responsibility.

Individuals displaced from rental properties by the owner because his home was destroyed also may be eligible. In addition, eligible applicants for temporary housing assistance who also need basic furniture items where their losses were not covered by insurance will be given priority for placing into furnished apartments or referred to local organizations with furniture on hand.

Temporary housing is provided to disaster victims on a first-come, first-serve basis, regardless of race, creed, color, age, sex, or national origin.

After an application is made to HUD, a Damage Assessment Officer inspects the property involved and verifies proof of residence to determine eligibility. The applicant is then contacted and, if eligible, an appointment is made to identify the most adequate temporary housing for the family's needs. A HUD representative then makes arrangements for HUD either to lease the property or to negotiate a direct reimbursement agreement with the family.

The lease or agreement is for an initial period of three months, renewable on a month-to-month basis for up to a year, the maximum rent-free period under the law. After that time, those still in need of such temporary housing will be charged a fair market rent, subject to hardship adjustment.

The Federal Disaster legislation required HUD to use existing housing units, both government-owned and controlled and those units available on the private rental market within a reasonable commuting distance from the pre-disaster residence first.

Each occupant of temporary housing is expected to fulfill all requirements normally expected of tenants, including payment of all utility bills.

After all eligible applicants have been temporarily housed, the HUD advisory services staff will assist each family or individual in carrying out their permanent relocation plans.

HUD will maintain offices in the affected areas until all occupants of temporary housing either have returned to their pre-disaster homes which have been rehabilitated, or have been relocated to other adequate permanent housing.

Additional information about HUD's temporary housing programs can be obtained at the "one stop" disaster assistance center named above, or at the Disaster Field Office.

HEALTH HINTS

BY Keith Hallman, R. Ph.

Doctors are becoming much more aware of arthritis developing in children. It is rare, but special ways have been found to care for it. If the arthritis is detected early, treatment can have a beneficial effect and the long-term outlook is good. Neglected the complications can be serious.

Spring questions

By Greg Patchan
Extension Horticulture Agent
Michigan State University

Submit questions to Greg Patchan, Cooperative Extension Service, 1025 N. Telegraph, Pontiac MI 48053. All questions will be answered.

Dear Plant Doctor:

Every year we have great numbers of mushrooms that appear in several areas of our lawn. How can we stop these unsightly mushrooms? L.B.

Dear L.B.:

Unless the mushrooms appear in large circular rings, your problem is due to buried and decomposing organic matter such as wood, tree stumps or dead roots. The mushrooms are the fruiting bodies of the fungi that are decomposing the organic matter. Surface treatments with chemicals are usually not effective; however, you can eliminate the problem by digging up the organic matter. In time, the organic matter will decay, and the mushrooms will disappear. If the mushrooms appear in rings with darker green grass, you have a different problem called fairy ring. In this case, a mass of fungi are living and expanding in the soil. The mushrooms and the darker green grass are in the area of greatest activity. You can eliminate the problem by removing one foot of soil from the ring area, and then backfilling the hole with clean topsoil. Of course, you must re-establish a new lawn in this area. Perhaps, a better solution is just to aerate the area and fertilize your lawn to hide the ring.

Dear Plant Doctor:

Our rhododendrons are no longer a dark green color. The leaves have slowly turned yellow, but the veins are still green. What happened? M.G.

Dear M.G.:

Your rhododendrons are suffering from iron chlorosis, that is, a lack of iron. We have sweet (alkaline) soils in this area, and rhododendrons require acid soils. Complex chemical reactions in sweet soil make the iron unavailable to the plant. I suggest you treat your plants with an iron compound (Sequestrene) and also try to acidify the soil. You can do this by applying two pounds of sulfur per 100 sq. ft. In addition, mulch with peat moss and only phosphorus acid type fertilizers.

Dear Plant Doctor:

I have heard that I should use a transplant fertilizer when I set out my vegetable plants. Is this advisable and what kind of fertilizer is this? A.N.

Dear A.N.:

A transplant fertilizer or starter solution is a high phosphorus water soluble fertilizer such as 15-30-15, 10-30-10, etc. This fertilizer promotes rapid root growth and helps the transplant become quickly established. Even though you fertilized the soil before planting, you should apply this fertilizer when you first water your plants. Follow the package rates and apply about a cup of solution per plant.

Commission 'passes buck'

Buck-passing was the word in Clarkston Village Planning Commission used to describe action taken by them Monday concerning a proposed village zoning ordinance.

The ordinance would require site plan approval for anything other than residential building. But, according to Commission member Fred Thompson, he could not see whether or not there was any provision in the ordinance for the requirement of building permits.

He felt this was in the province of the village Zoning Board of Appeals anyway, so the commission voted to send the ordinance, already passed back and forth between the various bodies of the village several times, over to the board of appeals for their comment.

Ordinance clarification

Independence Township Planning Commission is preparing to amend its zoning ordinance to clarify the placement of swimming pools and accessories in backyards.

The current restrictions can be interpreted two ways, according to Township Planner Larry Burkhardt—either that swimming pools can be built right on the line in the backyard or that they must have a 50 foot setback from the rear line.

It all has to do with the difference in definition of structure and building, Burkhardt said.

Steps are also being taken to erase all references to a retirement village zoning classification from the text of the ordinance.

Retirement community rezoning delayed

Independence Township Board has tabled for two weeks the rezoning of 614 acres at the easterly edge of the township, once proposed for a retirement community.

Now designated for single family attached housing as requested by Leisure Technology which planned the retirement community, the land has been recommended for a return to R-1-R which permits three acres minimum lot sizes.

The reason, said six planning commission members present at the Tuesday night board meeting, was that planned retirement zoning has been questioned in the courts due to age restriction clauses, and that most of the land which surrounds the parcel in Independence Township is zoned R-1-R.

Appearing before the board was owner Donald Hirschman, who objected to what he termed "vacillating zoning." He said he did not now have a buyer for the property, and thought it might be difficult to find one because of the changes.

The retirement designation was given in January, the planning commission recommendation to revert coming in March.

Hirschman noted that there are 8,300 square foot lots on the Orion Township side abutting the property, and said that some 200 acres he owns there is being contemplated as an expansion for Keatington.

A neighbor living south of Waldon Road from the property said he preferred the three acre zoning.

Hirschman said the attorney which represented Leisure Technology and which also represented him for 30 days has been dismissed. The attorney had threatened legal action were the land not left in its single family attached designation.

Trustee Fred Ritter voted for immediate action. "The sooner we get R-3 zoning off the map, the better. Let Mr. Hirschman find a buyer, and we can reconsider from there," he said.

Trustee Jerry Powell prevailed. "We've worked two years now on zoning the property and this is the first time we've met Mr. Hirschman. I think we should give it some thought, and I'm not sure I'm going to vote for R-1-R."

Nickelodeon

license denied

Independence Township Board has recommended that the Michigan Liquor Control Commission deny the request of Ed and Jeanette Krause for a Class C liquor license at the Nickelodeon on M-15, north of Clarkston.

Recently granted commercial zoning, the Nickelodeon now is equipped with a tavern license which permits sales of wine and beer by the glass and an SDM license allowing sales by package.

Board members agreed they'd like to wait to see what he does with plans for remodeling before considering any change.

Road name stays

Those portions of Ellis Road in Independence Township will remain as Ellis Road, according to township board action Tuesday night.

Student takeover

Twenty Clarkston High School students will have an opportunity to participate in township government May 21.

As part of the Michigan Week Observance, Township Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie has announced that 10 students will be named to elected and appointive positions, and another 10 will make up a student planning commission for the day.

Ordinance change

An ordinance change to allow for appointment rather than election of the township's seven Building Authority members has been approved by the Independence Township Board. Once the ordinance becomes effective, membership will have to be confirmed by the township board.

Independence asked to dispose of Brandon land

Independence Township is being asked to give or sell 10 acres it owns outright and its third interest in another 10 acres in Brandon Township to that township.

The neighboring territory originally came into Independence Township hands when the county in the 1940's deeded the property for landfill purposes.

That's the story, remembered and researched to the best of their ability by Brandon Supervisor Bill Wright and two of his trustees who appeared before the Independence Board Tuesday night.

Brandon wants the land because it now has the opportunity to trade it for other land that would be suitable for township recreation purposes.

The property in question lies along M-15 and half of it was used for a time by Groveland, Independence and Brandon townships as a landfill.

A deed on the land owned outright by Independence shows that it was sold for $500, but, as township officials noted, the old deeds are not required to disclose the full selling price.

What the future of the parcels are will be debated by the township board for the next two weeks.

As trustee Jerry Powell asked Wright, "What's our property selling for an acre now?"

Wright grinned.

COUNTRY LIVING

by Mary Warner
of the Clarkston News

Colonial is the word that describes the home of the Donald Van Pelts in Independence Township. Colonial lamps hanging from the ceiling, the walls are papered in bright colonial prints and most of the furniture in the large tri-level is colonial.

Marge Van Pelt, wife of Donald and mother to five Van Pelt children, is the force behind the home's atmosphere.

"She's a colonial nut," Ron, 19, said of his mother. "Every time we've moved, we kept moving into bigger houses. We had to buy more furniture, so she kept buying more colonial until now practically everything is colonial."

And when she went to pick out a house in Clarkston, "she came back saying, 'I found this great colonial house . . .'," Ron joked.

The house does fit into the style, with its beamed ceilings, large fireplace in the family room and even the large oval bathroom mirror, which "it took us two weeks to figure out was really a medicine chest," Ron related.

Part of the ceramic nativity scene being fashioned by Marge.

The house's decor is added to via the talents of the entire family, who like to refinish furniture, and may of whom are artistic.

Ron paints in oils and pastels, and his mother does ceramics. Her older married daughter Donna and Donna's husband just finished a table and chair set in the basement, and Ron is waiting to refinish an antique bed he discovered in a field and dragged home.

Most of the rooms are done in browns and greens, oranges and golds -- with the exception of sixth grader Karen's bedroom, which is pink with a white bedroom set.

"She's into yellow now, so we're going to get rid of the pink soon," Mrs. Van Pelt said.

The family--including Mr. and Mrs. Van Pelt, Ron, Karen, high school sophomore Bill and senior Donna at home--just moved here from Pennsylvania.

They are originally from Bay City, then moved to Pennsylvania, and then back to Michigan.

They like to travel--Don instigating trips on the spur of the moment, like the last minute trip to Washington D.C. before the move back to Michigan.

"Dad just came in one day and said let's go to Washington--we'll never be this close again. So we did."

They also take a yearly two-week vacation to northern Michigan, renting a cottage on Lake Huron.

That trip involved calling friends from Germany, Scotland, Ohio and Indiana to make sure their vacation times are the same for the annual outing.

Besides traveling, the family is very sports minded, Don coaching baseball while in Pennsylvania, and Bill playing on a championship high school baseball team in Pennsylvania.

Even Donna, the elder married daughter, was on a basketball team during high school that challenged the Michigan State University women's team and beat them.

They all bowl, Don deer hunts and fishes, and Ron likes to play tennis.

Perhaps they come from a very sports-minded background. Don's cousin is football and baseball star Brad Van Pelt, formerly from Michigan State University.

Marge and Ron are musically inclined, also, Ron playing five instruments during school, and Marge playing the accordion, piano and organ.

Marge said she began playing the organ when she was eight, and by the time she was nine, began playing professionally in a music hour at Detroit's first television station.

To top it all off--the entire family knows how to knit and crochet.

The dining room looks off into the Van Pelts' family room. Marge likes this house because the wallpaper and light fixtures fit her colonial tastes.

Mrs. Van Pelt's love of plants and her talent for ceramics adds to the colonial decor of the living room.

A lovely ginger jar in the living room was fashioned and hand-painted by Marge.

Kitchen is both large for a large family, and colonial for Marge.

The focal point of home activities is the family room, which is dropped at a slightly lower level than the main portion of the house. Granddaughter Angie Struthers, two and one half years old, was visiting that day.

Home the center of active family

COUNTRY LIVING

Daughter Karen's room is the only place in the home that is not done in the colonial style.

Marge Van Pelt made the pitcher and water vase. The table beneath it is an antique she refinished.

Ron likes to scavenge for things, as he did these old bottles. He found a large collection of them, only part of which are pictured here, in an old dump.

Hi ho and away they go—to the Kentucky Derby, 15 strong, the "Stroh's Beer Lovers Club of Independence Township." In a giant bus the group of friends rented, they took their third annual trip last weekend to the Derby. Horse followers include Bill Wertman [top left] Jeff Richardson next to him and Bill Gould. Next row down from left is Bruce [wrong way] Baxter and Ann Latoza. Next row is Cheryl Lemke [left] Raoul Duke, Cindy Ford, Jani Hart, Leslie Bell, Mary Ann Hennig and Kurt Maslowski. Front left is Klaus Voorman and Craig Hutchins. Not pictured is Dave Osgood, who was in back guarding their namesake.

Save lemon skins in the kitchen, and put them on your washstand. Lemon skins are beneficial when you use them for a brush when you wash your hands and clean your nails. Or, you can boil lemon peels, and use the water, cold, to wash your face, arms, and neck. If lemon peels are dipped in borax, they clean the hands even better, and make them both soft, and white. Many also use the juice of a lemon in the final rinse of their hair, since it seems to make hair even brighter and lighter.

Groveland-Oaks master plan

The Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission has approved a master plan for Groveland-Oaks, which expands the present 600-campsite facility to 735 campsites, including 145 group campers and 60 platform tent sites. The design utilizes a cluster concept with self-contained comfort stations and playgrounds. A major activities center is also planned.

Bikeways and walking paths throughout the park will encourage pedestrian movement.

Cost for the master plan is estimated at $2.5 million.

Groveland-Oaks is located at the corner of Dixie Highway-U.S. 10 and Grange Hall Road.

Changes proposed for handling juveniles

by James and Ellen Windell

Psychological staff members of the Oakland County Juvenile Court and Clinical Resources, Incorporated

Truancy and incorrigibility may soon be referred to as family problems instead of offenses that could result in Juvenile Court action.

There is a national movement, spearheaded by the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, to remove such offenses as home and school truancy and home and school incorrigibility from the juvenile laws of every state in this country.

Such offenses, if committed by an adult, would not be crimes and, therefore, they are called status offenses. Michigan currently has a bill pending in Lansing which would eliminate all status offenses (including not only truancy and incorrigibility, but smoking, idling away one's time, and so on) as juvenile "crimes".

There are emotional reactions on both sides of this question and we have been asked our opinion.

The issue can be placed in perspective by following the decade-long trend in juvenile courts toward legalization along with the emphasis on the right of children. Juvenile Courts have been steadily moving from a social agency to a legal institution.

Proponents of the bill argue that children should receive earlier and better services to prevent the need for court intervention. They also say that labeling a child as delinquent or incorrigible early in life may assist a child in living up to that label in adulthood. Sometimes children enter the court system when they are basically going through an adolescent adjustment phase in life which will pass with time and greater maturity.

On the other side of the debate, it is certain that there are young people who have received adequate professional help, but have failed to respond to it and constitute a danger to themselves and society. Opponents of the bill, sponsored by Representative Jondahl of East Lansing, suggests that the proposed revision of juvenile law should at least be tempered by allowing families to come for assistance to a Juvenile Court as a last resort after valid attempts to seek help in the community.

Our opinion is not that the removal of status offenses is good or bad. We believe that at some point in the future, they will no longer be considered a legal offense. We hope that when they are considered as family problems, parents seek help at an early age and that there will emerge sufficient resources in the community to handle such problems.

Spreading the word about counseling

A need to educate people of the area relative to counseling services available at independence center on Maybee Road was studied last week by the professionals who dispense the counseling.

Meeting as a committee of the Community Resources group, were several representatives of county and local counseling services who deal with family and juvenile problems.

Part of the problem might lie with the route such counseling requests now take, members agreed. A more direct link-up with the center itself might be beneficial, they said.

Programs to tell what is available at the center were also cited as another means of spreading the word, and a closer link-up between school workers and the other agency workers was suggested.

THE BASEMENTS ARE IN ...

... come and watch us build your home!

The woods are starting to bloom ... Construction has just begun on the first homes ... homes that will be exciting and of fine quality craftsmanship ... architecturally blended to their natural setting. There will be a reproduction of an Early Dutch Colonial ... complete with stained exterior clapboard. Another, an old English Tudor cozied by a heavily pined lot ... a traditional ranch nestled just behind an old cobblestone fence row ... and near THE WOODS entrance will be an impressive Connecticut influenced Salt Box Colonial.

Though these homes will be special in themselves ... what will give them extra personality is THE WOODS is deed restricted so as not to allow any two homes to be the same. Thus, your residence in THE WOODS will be as individually expressive and unique as you choose to make it.

If you haven't discovered THE WOODS yet ... do so this week end. Take M-15 to Cranberry Lake Road (just north of I-75) ... east a short distance to the far end of the lake.

You will find THE WOODS to be a tranquil display of rolling terrain, magnificent pines and mature trees.

The views from the high points are fantastic ... and underneath all this beauty are sewers and water lines and utilities (no septic, wells or unsightly utility poles!)

Real Estate HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

In early historical days, the kings were the absolute owners of all the land in their domains. Individuals merely had the right to use the land in return for taxes paid. Gradually ownership filtered down to certain lords, who became known as landlords. They had the obligation to govern their grants and furnish revenues for the king. Gradual social reform ultimately brought ownership rights to the common man. But ownership rights are still subject to some form of control by a state or municipality, and taxes are still levied to support their operation.

When you're in town, don't miss it

By Jim Sherman

Some Torontonians would have Ed Mirvish run out of town. Some would have a monument erected to him and give him free reign to do with the town as he wished... knowing it would be for the better.

Without learning more from each side we would just shake his hand and offer kind words for his creating an atmosphere of excitement that gave Hazel and I a few hours of joy.

We more or less happened on Mirvish village. While looking for additional antique stores in Toronto recently, we were directed from Queen Street to the Bloor-Markham district.

Two subway rides later we rose from the depths to the dash and color of an area developed by Ed Mirvish.

We were told by an antique dealer in the area Mirvish owns both sides of one block of Markham between Bloor and Lennox. Except for the corner stores, the blocks have 3 and 4 story (depending on whether you count the basement) brick houses closely aligned.

Each is painted a different color. Each houses several artists or businesses. We were told 200 artists make their home in these two blocks. There are about a dozen antique stores. By the way, the prices seemed a trifle high.

Ed's Whacky World dept. store is the biggest commercial attraction. It wreaks with bawdiness, conceit, medicine show, and blatant merchandising. It's an exciting, crowded, and confusing store with walk ups and walk downs all over the place.

Our friendly antique dealer said, "That's all for show." Then he informed us this same Ed Mirvish is owner of the famous Ed's Warehouse restaurant, which is downtown, near the water.

Honest Ed's "There's no place like this place, anyplace" store where showmanship and salesmanship abound.

Further, this same Ed Mirvish took an old theater that was about to be demolished, remodeled it and made it into a going concern.

While the city, the disgusted dealer said, let the O'Keefe brewery build a theater for commercial interests, saw it losing money and bought it... only to lose $4 million a year for the last 2 years.

"They should give it to Ed with 3 years free rent," he suggested.

Our man was only slightly prejudiced. He said Mirvish never gives a lease and pushes no one in his "block" for rent. Nor does he evict anyone.

Ed's son, David, has a "world famous" art gallery in the block. He apparently leans toward big canvases with straight lines and pastel colors. That's my non-artist viewpoint.

There are street vendors for popcorn, etc, lightbulbs on the trees, Christmas decorations still up on Ed's, bathtub street planters, decorative lighting and a variety of shops and restaurants.

It's all geared for the tourist dollar, but it's more than worth the 40 cent subway ride even when that's all the money you got.

A vendor on a cold day outside Ed's.

Wrought iron, village signs, bathtub planters... there's a lot that meets the eye in Mirvish Village.

How about a guillotine for a restaurant sign? It seems to fit Gaston's.

Crazy lady back again

Some crazy lady is hanging out at the Clarkston News. She thinks she's an Oxford Leader Reporter, and she's driving everyone else crazy by insisting local calls are dialed with a 628 prefix, by calling everyone Oxford residents, and by driving madly up and down Main Street asking which way to OHS.

She has begun writing notes to herself, and tacking them to doors, ceilings, light fixtures and typewriters, simply saying, Clarkston, Clarkston, Clarkston, Clarkston, Clarkston, Clarkston, Clarkston, Clarkston.

She has left telephone messages stating "call Mary Warner at the Oxfo-uh, the Clarkston-eh-well, call 628-uh, I mean, 625-34-uh 33-uh--forget it, I'll call back."

She has wrecked two cameras, (thinking they were in fact, the ones without the shutter cock, the ones without the bigger lens, the ones without an automatic advance or the ones with the automatic advance, or the ones with no advance at all, who knows, she doesn't, and everyone is shaking their heads as they wait patiently for this peculiar person to figure it out so they can get back to work.

She has wasted a week's supply of Clarkston News copy paper, tossing out reams of X'd out paper with a single notation at the bottom: "625/34? typewriter."

That lady is, as you have probably already guessed, me. And once again I will be gathering community news for this column. For awhile, I think. But if I accidentally title it "Roundabout," as per the Oxford Leader, bear with me.

New officers were chosen by the Women's Silver Lake Golf League at a pre-season board session April 29.

Carol Ackerman was chosen president, Fran Hudson secretary and Fran Tate treasurer at the meeting, held at Spring Lake Golf Club.

The league also chose several committee chairmen, including Isabel Gunther, flower fund; Dorothy Killen, Rules; Donna

Richardson, Constitution; Irene Blaylock and Jo Stevens, weekly prizes; Norma Pack, Georgianna Donnelly and Evaline Rogers, social; Bea Geng, trophies, Naomi Johnston, handicap; Leonora Wilton, golden rule; Pat Valentine, publicity; Lil Weber, tournament; and Gloria Hoyt, Miss Inspiration.

The league began playing in four flights of 12 members each May 6, and in addition plan four monthly get-together luncheons.

A new 4-H group has been formed in the Clarkston area. The Clarkston Conservationists met recently and elected officers. President is Tammy Mosier, vice-president is Mike Cooper, secretary is Scott Cole and Treasurer is Liz Place. Gretchen Mosier is in charge of recreation, Kathy Cooper is their news reporter, Jolyn Gay is in charge of the health department, Ralph Messing is in charge of safety, and Delores Messing is their song leader.

Some of their starting activities include a trip to the recycling center in Pontiac May 17. May 24 they are traveling to Hasen Hill for a tour of the educational center and for a picnic.

For more information on the new group, contact Tammy Mosier, 625-8507.

CHS vocal students in concert at school

Vocal Music Department of Clarkston High School will present its annual spring concert at 8 p.m. May 14 in the school auditorium.

Under the direction of Grayce Warren, the Mixed Chorus, Girls' Chorus, Varsity Chorus, and Madrigal Singers will perform songs in the theme of "people and places".

Senior members and those with a B or better average of each chorus will be honored. New members of the Madrigals will be announced.

Featured numbers will consist of a medley of songs dealing with ourselves as individuals and relationship to people around us, sung by the Girls' Chorus.

The Mixed Chorus will offer selections involving man's influence in the world, concluding with a number in Spanish and Hebrew. David Miguiri, exchange student from Argentina, will sing folk music of his native land.

The Varsity Chorus will present music of man's religion, including the Negro spiritual.

Madrigal Singers will conclude the program with a variety of music representing many periods of time. Elisabeth Lindgren, exchange student from Sweden, will be featured.

Tickets are available at the music department, from music students and at the door. $1 for adults and 50 cents for students is requested.

Spiritual Message

THE DAY HE WAS TAKEN UP
"... as they were looking on, He was lifted up, and a cloud took Him out of their sights." Acts 1:9

Today is Ascension Day in the church calendar, anniversary of that day in c. A.D. 28 when Jesus met for what was to be his last post-Resurrection appearance with his fellow-man on Mt. Olivet outside Jerusalem.

Before they even knew it was to be Ascension Day, the disciples were impatient to know whether 'Second Coming Day' was just around the corner and if so, when. We are always so impatient to know when. "Mr. President", we demand, "When are you going to recognize that dastardly Viet Cong government in Saigon?" and "When will this recession be over?" Have you asked your pastor recently, "When will Christ come again to judge the world and vindicate the believers?"

It is worth noting that Jesus was as hard on calendar-watchers, even more so. In effect He said, "Throw your calendars away." Literally, "It is not for you to know times or seasons which the Father has fixed by his own authority."

In other words, it is none of our business when the Father chooses to act or when Christ shall return.

Instead, He said, "What I have for you on Ascension Day is a job to start doing while you wait for the Father's own good time."

This job has been acknowledged by virtually every Christian group as its very reason for existence. The job description is not hard to set down, though considerably harder to work at. He said we are to wait for God's Spirit to convey power on each of us. Then we are to use that power to explain his new Kingdom of faith and love to all people in ever-widening circles from where we are.

Yes, the Master will return, but we are not to wait for him on a mountain top, but rather on the job.

Garden beans

by Dave Coulter

BEANS

Ranking second to tomatoes, beans are America's second favorite home garden vegetable. They are easily seeded, generally free from troublesome diseases or insect pests, very productive, easily picked, and nutritional, but there is a bewildering array of types and varieties.

The basic types of beans are: Bush Wax, Bush Green, Pole Green, Pole Wax, Bush Limas, Pole Limas, Green Shells, Fava and Dry Shells. With nine basic types and upward to 40 varieties available in Bush Green Beans alone it is confusing. And wouldn't you know there is a variety that fits none of the above categories—White Half Runner which is green podded, but neither bush nor pole, but some of each. Most seed houses classify White Half Runner as a Green Bush Type.

* Varieties especially noted for flavor Bush Blue Lake is sweet and Bush Romano or Italian is beany. Dry shell beans are White Navys, Cranberries, Great Northern and Red Kidneys.

Generally the seed for the dry shell beans isn't available in seed displays or in bulk at garden centers, but is most usually available at farmers' elevators or seed catalogues. From record high market prices in 1974, dry shell beans have descended to very low prices.

So, I believe home garden space would be more productive than growing dry shell beans. Fava or Broad Windsor beans require a special taste for them, so few grow them. And don't forget Scarlet Runner beans. They are a fast growing pole type, having quite a dense vining habit that may be used on arbors or fences. They have a scarlet bloom and they are edible.

The third annual Clarkston News Garden Clinic will be held at Ritters Farm Market Saturday, May 17th. I hope you will meet me there with lots of questions.

Firemen train for emergencies

Independence Township's volunteer firemen spend upwards of 50 hours a year learning to do their job better and become equipped to handle all kinds of emergencies.

Last Sunday about 40 of the men turned out to brush up on first aid and resuscitator use. Instructors Mike Stitt and Dan DeLongchamp demonstrated use of oxygen equipment, inflatable splints and backboards.

The department is anticipating receipt this fall of a fully equipped and modern resuscitator truck, capable of handling all first aid emergencies except transport of victims.

If the township should ever take on ambulance duty in addition to first aid, both Stitt and DeLongchamp are or have completed courses and are taking advanced training in para-medical work.

Several township residents have recommended such a course of action during recent meetings.

Last year the department made 75 resuscitator runs, mainly involving heart attacks, however some involved suicides, drownings and car accidents.

"People don't realize the full extent of our services," says Stitt. "Oftentimes we can be on the scene in four minutes, when it takes an ambulance about 15 minutes to make the run from Pontiac. We can assist and administer first aid until it arrives."

Mike Stitt [left] and Dan DeLongchamp are two Independence Township volunteer firemen training in para-medical practices. Mike is attending Macomb Community College and Dan has completed a course at Oakland Community College. Both plan to take advanced courses which would give them the training they would need were the department ever to start a full para-medical service.

Rick Stockton is the practice victim, being strapped to a backboard by Dan DeLongchamp and Mike Stitt. The backboard is used frequently in connection with auto accidents where back injuries may have been sustained.

Mike Stitt uses an inflatable splint on Gary Mason's arm during practice training Sunday at Independence Fire Hall, Clarkston and Sashabaw roads.

Approximately 40 firemen turned out for the training session Sunday morning. They're anticipating the arrival this fall of a fully equipped and up-to-date resuscitator truck, capable of all first aid functions but the transport of victims.

Past elegance comes to life at the Old Mill

Old plantation door gets final touch from workman

The elegance of the past has come alive this week in John Laffrey's totally remodeled Old Mill Tavern on the Dixie Highway at Andersonville Road.

Due to open Wednesday, it was still the scene of harried workmen Monday as final touches to construction were made and staples for the restaurant were already being delivered.

"Our goal is a good Mother's Day," said restaurant manager Dick Greenfield.

Carved ornamental wooden pieces from old Southern plantations, stained glass and tiffany lamps lend an aura of yesterday, and in the Mill Steam Tavern, wall size murals depict the restaurant in its glory days at the end of the 1920's.

The main dining room is a two-story affair equipped with a large balcony which overlooks the main floor. Exposed beams, a massive fireplace and collector chandeliers dominate.

Off to one side is the patio room, done in lattice work and featuring wire wine storage. Designed as a cocktail room, it will probably also be used for family dining, Greenfield said.

Another room, as yet unnamed, resembles the ice cream parlors of the past -- the high wooden booths providing privacy and tiffany lamps casting a soft glow.

Even the phone booths in the hall feature stained glass panes in the doors, and a service bar across the way is outlined in stained glass.

Greenfield says 250 can be served dinner and another 225 at cocktails.

A new rear entrance carries guests across the mill stream in covered bridge atmosphere to the restaurant. The old Dixie Highway entrance has been removed.

Stained glass adorns service bar

Entranceway, now off the rear, is reminiscent of a covered bridge
